Wheeler Stirs Up Great Storm In Senate Over World Charter

Solon's Approval With Reservations Brings One Charge Of Electioneering

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 24—Stormy Senate debate broke out today when Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) declared that while he would vote reluctantly for the United Nations charter, he would fight later to limit the use of American troops under it.

Senator Connally (D-Tex), Senator Barkley (D-Ky), and others immediately objected that to ratify the charter and then to refuse to back it up with troops to enforce peace would be to welsh on an agreement.

Electioneering Charge

Senator Hatch (D-NM) challenged Wheeler to try to make his reservations now, and Senator Pepper (D-Fla) commented that Wheeler intended to vote for the charter simply to get on record "before the next election."

Wheler said that if the American people understood "their boys are going to be sent abroad to fight at the dictation of one man (the security council delegate) they would be against this charter."

A debate also broke out on how the United States would ratify an agreement, to be drawn up later, providing for the use of American troops to help put down incipient aggression.

Wheeler's Position

Wheeler's position was this:

That John Foster Dulles, chief adviser to the American delegation at San Francisco, was of the opinion that allocation of troops was an issue to be settled in an agreement with the world security council, subject to Senate ratification by a two-thirds vote. Some senators disputed that, saying the agreement should be submitted to a majority vote of both houses.

Dulles also had taken the view in Senate Foreign Relations committee hearings that United States legislators would have the right to restrict both the size and use of American forces.

Obligation On Troops

Senators Lucas (D-Ill), Hatch (D-NM), Hill (D-Ala) and Connally declared that when the Senate ratified the United Nations treaty —which they called the "master agreement" — the United States will be under obligation to furnish troops.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said the Senate had the power to refuse to supply them, but he did

Sleep Shift Train 'Flops'

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, July 24—A different kind of troop train pulled into Fort Worth this afternoon. It was composed of sixteen cars—eight pullmens, five coaches two kitchen cars, and a baggage car.

To the Army and to the railroads it is an experiment, but many of the soldiers who rode it from Camp Kilmer, N. J., en route to Fort Sam Houston, had other and more definitely uncomplimentary names for it.

Known to the Army and the railroads as "a test train," it carried observers from the War department, Camp Kilmer, and from the railroads to see how the experiment of men rotating from pullman to chair car every 24 hours would work out. As an experiment, said First Lt. John W. Bowers of Harlingen, mess officer, whose job it is to ride troop trains as part of the administrative force, "it stinks!"

Left Sunday Night

The train carried 544 men of Texas returned from bitter European fighting with the 44th division. It left Camp Kilmer at about 9 p. m. Sunday night. At first it had been decided to give the men 12 hours shifts in the pullmans, then the 12 hours was changed to 24 hours, insuring the men a night's rest, rather than having one group always having the pullmans in the daytime, with its hazards to sleep and rest. Officers, too, were to undergo the same routine.

Even the observers were to take no privilege. This group included Robert S. Bird, reporter for the New York Herald-Tribune, and Major Samuel N. Farley, War department observer. Both men tried the coaches when it came their turn Monday night and both men wound up sleeping on sacks on the floor of a kitchen car, because it was more comfortable that way.

Uneven Proportion

The trip from Camp Kilmer to Fort Sam Houston is a two day and three night trip. Consequently, one group would get two nights of pullman travel, while the less fortunate group would be limited to one.

When asked how the group was chosen for the first and third nights, Major W. B. Hancock, train commander, said "it was entirely by chance," but would not elaborate on the statement.

Not Recommended

Major Hancock would not say whether he considered the experiment a success, or not. But First Lt. Charles Holzer, also of the Transportation corps, and who said his report to officials at Camp Kilmer would have a bearing on whether or not the experiment would be continued, said:

"I will recommend that no mixed trains be used for trips exceeding 36 hours."

Among the rank and file, the men were divided into groups. Those who were more or less indifferent as to the mode of travel, so long as it got them home quickly, and those who roundly cursed the mixed train idea.

All Production Of B-17 Ordered Halted

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — The Army Air forces have ordered all production stopped on the B-17 bomber, having built up a fleet of these heavy ships sufficient for "all foreseeable requirements" against Japan.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy airforce commanding general told a news conference today that with this action the AAF has canceled orders for 44,300 airplanes since V-E day.

Eaker said the cancellations will save $7,600,000,000 in appropriations scheduled to be spent through 1946 and that 750,000 tons of steel and 900,000,000 pounds of aluminum is thereby saved for other war or civilian production.

Fire Damages Fort Worth's South Side

FORT WORTH, July 24 (AP) — An early morning fire today did an estimated $100,000 in damage to a block of small business houses on the south side.

Starting at 1 a. m., the flames of undetermined origin raged four hours before brought under control. They started in a tire repair shop.

One fireman was seriously injured by falling debris.

Stormy Petain Trial Brings Out Secrets

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, July 24.—Under scorching cross-examination at the treason trial of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, former French Premier Paul Raynaud revealed the secret fact today that in May 1940 France and Britain considered buying off Mussolini's entry into the war by giving Italy territorial rights in Africa.

Reynaud said he made the suggestion to Britain himself, although he opposed the plan. The plans were scuttled, he said, by the opposition of Prime Minister Churchill of Britain.

World figures by the dozen, and the hidden history of France's collapse and her armistice negotiations with Germany, were dragged into the limelight as former Premier Edouard Daladier joined Reynaud in testifying against Petain on the second day of the aged marshal's historic trial.

In the steaming, crowded courtroom, the 89-year-old former chief of the Vichy state, charged with intelligence with Germany and with plotting against the security of France, listened unperturbed, his face expressionless, as he heard Raynaud call him a traitor.

Petain heard Reynaud, the last premier of the French Third Republic:

1. Accuse King Leopold of the Belgians with treason;

2. Assert Petain had obstructed the rearmament of France as far back as 1934;

Roosevelt Warning

3. Declare that the late President Roosevelt sent an "extremely strong-worded" telegram to Petain, saying France would lose America's friendship if she dealt with the Nazis;

4. Say that a French-British union, proposed by Churchill in France's last days, was "an ideal which some day must be realized," and

5. Describe his (Reynaud's opposition to the armistice with Germany and give the reasons why the British attacked the French fleet in North Africa in 1940.

In sharp contrast to the opening day of Petain's trial, the overheated courtroom was slightly less crowded and was calmer than yesterday, when a near-riot broke out. It had settled down to the serious business of trying a man for his life.

Reynaud, in his bitter narrative, asserted Petain had opposed the fortification of the northern frontiers of France long before th war. Petain, he said, also opposed a two-year period of military service.

Influence On Aides

Dapper and bird-like, the former premier charged Petain had influenced Adm. Jean Darlan and former Premier Camille Chautemps, a member of the Reynaud

Story May Clear Up Ranger Case

A newspaper story may lead to the positive identification by a Lubbock man of an evident amnesia victim at Ranger, Tex., as his 21-year-old daughter.

Showing a newspaper clipping from Tuesday's Lubbock Evening Journal, Thomas A. Ward, of 2801 Locust, appeared last night at the sheriff's office and related to Chief Deputy Raymond Land that he had been struck by the similarity of the woman's description in the clipping to that of his daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Nell Vick, 21, of Tucumcari and Grady, N. M.

Apparently Hungry

The Associated Press story said a well dressed woman, between 20 and 25 years of age, walked into a Ranger drug store, asked for a glass of water and then fainted. The woman seemed to remember the name "Dave" and in connection with it the song, "Sentimental Journey." It was reported the woman weighed 125 pounds, had blue-grey eyes, light brown hair, a tanned skin and a scar at the left corner of her mouth. Ranger Chief of Police George Murphy said she apparently fainted from hunger.

Ward said his daughter left Lubbock only "a few days ago" after a visit here with him and her mother. While here she learned that her husband had received a draft call, Ward said. Vick, he said, was on the road with a "show." He theorized that his daughter might have attempted to locate her husband to inform him of the notice.

Other Scars Coincide

In addition to the matching characteristics mentioned in the newspaper story, both in the New Mexico woman and the woman at Ranger have operation scars and a scar on the same knee that coincide. Land learned in a telephone check.

Ward told Land that the "Dave" the woman mentioned was, he believed, the man for whom her husband had worked.

He planned last night to go to Ranger.

13 Jap Ships Are Smashed Off Shanghai

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Wednesday, July 25.—More than 350 Far East Air force bombers and fighters of all categories returned to Shanghai Sunday after a four-day lull, to sink or damage 13 warships and freighters and crater three major airdromes.

General MacArthur's communique today announcing the strike 36 hours after Tokyo had acknowledged the raid, listed a destroyer, a 3,000-ton freighter transport and a smaller freighter definitely sunk; a destroyer escort, two submarine chasers, a 10,000-ton freighter-transport and six freighter-transports aggregating 27,000 tons probably sunk, and much small shipping damaged.

Break In Weather

First line combat planes of both the Fifth and Seventh Air forces, based on Okinawa, took advantage of the first break in weather since July 18 to drop bombs ranging from 20-pound fragmentation dusters to 1,000-pounders on shipping and airdromes.

There was no interception.

Tokyo claimed seven U. S. aircraft were downed by antiaircraft fire

Mitchells attacking from medium altitude, and Thunderbolts and Mustangs, racing at virtual water level over the muddy Whangpo river with wing bombs, went after shipping off Shanghai Bund with deadly effect to make the largest haul of recent weeks.

An eight-ship enemy convoy proceeding toward Shanghai was bombed and dispersed by Seventh Air force Liberators before dawn Sunday, several hours before the heavy daylight attack.

45 Planes Caught

An estimated 45 planes were caught on the ground and destroyed or seriously damaged at Kiangwan, Tachang and Tinghai airfields, where the attackers caused large fires and explosions.

Search planes ranging over coastal sectors bombed Fusan airdrome in Korea, scored hits on a munitions dump at Amoy, causing large explosions, and destroyed a river-boat near Saigon, French Indo-China.

Returning to Japanese skies after a typhoon-enforced absence of a few days, patrol bombers of the Far East Air forces attacked Miho and Yonago airfields on southern Honshu at night.

They caused large fires and explosions which lighted the entire area.

Other FEAF bombers and fighter planes attacked air facilities and military installations on Tanega and Amami islands in the northern Ryukyus.

Other Areas Slashed

A Seventh Fleet reconnaissance bomber downed a Japanese plane and destroyed another aground near Kota Baharu in Malaya.

To the south, a Navy patrol bomber destroyed a freighter and a lugger off the west coast of Borneo

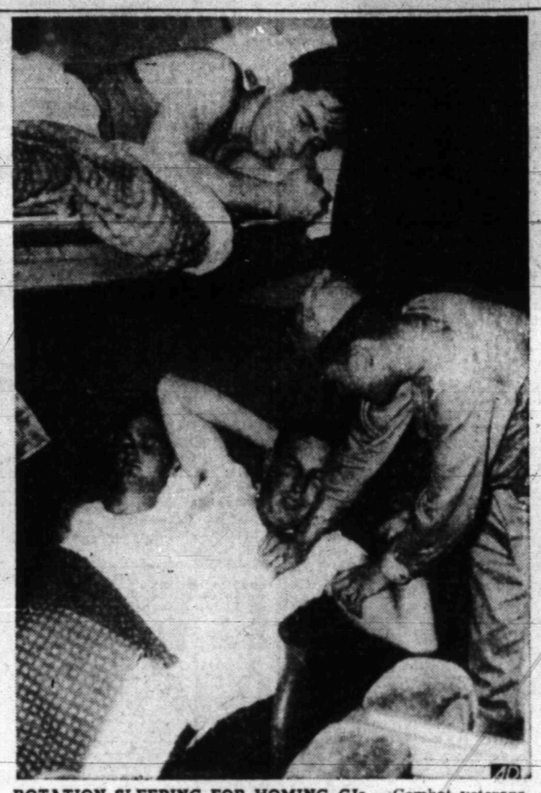

In the East Indies, heavy bombers and fighters of the Australian Air force struck enemy shipyards and air bases in Java and the Celebes. Coordinating their attack with light naval units of the Seventh Fleet, the harassed coastal areas, heavily damaged two schooners and sank two ammunition laden barges in the Halmaheras.

In the Lesser Sundas, search planes strafed watercraft and caused fires at a barge staging point on Timor.

Tattoo Artist Gets Sixty Days In Jail

ELKHART, Ind., July 24 (AP) — Jesse O'Banion, 58, who admitted tattooing figures of unclad women on the forearms of 16 boys ranging in age from 12 to 16 years, has been sentenced to 60 days on the penal farm and fined $35 on an assault and battery charge.

One mother compelled O'Banion to trace a dress on the nude figures on her boy's arms.

ROTATION SLEEPING FOR HOMING GIs — Combat veterans, Texas-bound from Camp Kilmer, N. J., here get a taste of a sleep-rotation troop train, in which they are given shifts in bunks. The experiment, called by redeployment officials as 'successful' brought GI comment that getting home was the main thing. Shown at top is S/Sgt. Vernon Cheatham of Humble, and below are: left to right, T/3 Cecil L. Kirkland of Houston, and T/4 Bill Yoakum of Spur, being told by T/4 Victor Wunderlich of Spring, that the 'day in bed is over.'

Changes Announced In Aerial Command

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The Army today announced a triple change in Pacific aid commands to help blast Japan with a greater bomb tonnage than ever rained on Germany.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of Army Air forces, announced that:

1. Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, a veteran of the B-29 strikes against Japan, had been promoted from command of the 20th Air force to be chief of staff to General Carl (Tooey) Spaatz, commander of strategic Army Air forces.

Twining Succeeds LeMay

2. Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, will be head of the 20th Air force succeeding LeMay. Twining formerly commanded the big 15th Air force in Africa and Italy.

3. Major General John B. Brooks will be commanding general of the 11th Army Air force. Attached to naval forces under Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, the 11th has recently been active in attacks against Paramushiro and the Kuriles.

The bomb tonnage creating havoc among the Japanese already is 60 per cent as heavy as the greatest flung against Germany. Eaker pledged that the figure will reach a record 270,000 tons a month by next March. This compares with the peak 185,000 tons a month dropped on the Germans.

B-17 Production Halted

Eaker disclosed the Army had cancelled all remaining orders for production of the B-17 Flying Fortress, having a sufficient fleet of this type of bomber for the Pacific war.

Including a similar cutback six weeks ago on the B-24 Liberator, the Army now has cancelled orders for 44,300 planes which Eaker said would have cost $7,600,000,000.

Eaker said that a group of the B-32 bombers, a new heavy bomber larger even than the B29 Superfortresses, will go into operation against Japan by the end of the year

In outlining the increasing tempo of air strikes against Japan, Eaker revealed that 625 of the B-29s participated in today's raid on Osaka and Nagoya—a record raid so far. The prior record was made in a raid July 6 with 470 Superforts.

Eaker said he wanted to scotch an impression the air forces would reduce personnel sharply with a one-front war, that actually the AAF will go to 2,130,000 men from a peak 2,400,000.

Heavy Damage Left By B-29s

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, July 25.—"Heavy damage" to seven industrial targets of Japan's Osaka-Nagoya industrial area was reported today by the 20th Air force after yesterday's record-breaking assault by 625 Superfortresses.

"I could see our bombs go down and when I looked again, the buildings weren't there," said Cpl. Angelo Vassalla, Rochester, N. Y., reporting damage to the important Kawanishi Aircraft company plant at Takarazuka, 8 miles northwest of Osaka.

One B-29 Lost

Only a single Superfortress was lost, the 20th Air force announced but 180 of the big planes landed at Iwo Jima enroute home because of battle damage or dangerously low fuel. Pilots said antiaircraft fire was the heaviest they ever had seen over Osaka, although Japanese air opposition was almost negligible.

The 20th meanwhile claimed 89.5 per cent destruction of the Japanese city of Numazu in previous raids—the most complete ruin of any enemy city. Gifu, which was 74 per cent destroyed, previously was labelled the most completely destroyed.

Reconnaissance photographs show 1.2 square miles of a total of 1.4 square miles of the builtup area of Namazu burned out by the July 17 raid.

A more detailed study of photographs showing damage to sprawling Kure naval arsenal disclosed 2,949,690 square feet destroyed or damaged totaling 70 per cent of the total roof area.

Yesterday's announcement said it was 5¢ per cent damaged.

Unescorted by fighter planes, the 625 B-29s yesterday dumped almost 4,000 tons of demolition bombs on Nagoya and Osaka.

ADD INSULT TO INJURY

DALLAS, July 24. (U.P.)—Fifteen fire extinguishers, valued at $100, were reported today to have been stolen from the Lone Star Peanut company. And, to add insult to injury, the burglars set fire to the building. V. E. Nabors, an employee of the peanut company, reported.

Girl Witness Disappears, Trial Of Burglary Case Here Delayed

DISAPPEARANCE of a 17-year-old girl, a state witness, on the eve of a burglary trial of Weldon Webb, Tuesday afternoon caused 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue to postpone the trial to Aug. 7, issue an attachment for the witness and make judicial inquiry into her whereabouts.

The court called two witnesses to explain a story the girl, Eleene Mayfield, had disappeared after at least two men had appeared Monday night at the residence of Mrs. Lawrence Mayfield, a sister-in-law of the witness. They were Mrs. Mayfield and the girl's mother, Mrs. Zena Mae Mayfield, who had accompanied her daughter here from Hereford for the trial.

The women said L. T. Crawford and Frank Trim had gone to the residence and, failing to get the girl's permission, or that of her mother, to take her to a show, asked her to go to their automobile "and meet a fellow who wants to be introduced to you."

The girl, the two women said, went outside, clad in shorts.

She had not been reported seen or heard from by relatives since, officials said late Tuesday.

Miss Mayfield had answered Monday as a witness. Judge Pardue instructed all witnesses in the Webb case, charging burglary of Lubbock Sheet Iron and Metal company, to report back at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Miss Mayfield at that time failed to answer.

Witnesses said Crawford and Trim appeared at the Mayfield residence at 7:15 o'clock. Another witness it was explained, was of opinion there might have been four men in the car.

In connection with the case in which Webb is charged, Dale Haff, another Lubbock man, had pleaded guilty and received a sentence of three years in the penitntiary. That was at a previous term of court, and Doyle James was given a five-year suspended sentence for accessory to burglary.

The men also are charged in connection with a Lynn county burglary, officials had been informed.

An order was entered that Reyes Bustillos, Mexican charged with desertion, should pay $40 a month

Relentless Sea And Air Blows Continue

Cruisers, Destroyers Move Close Inshore To Plaster Base, Airfield

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, July 25—American and British carrier planes heavily damaged two Japanese battleships, two aircraft carriers, and three cruisers in coordinated attacks on Japan's great Kure naval base and at a Shikoku island port yesterday.

Admiral Nimitz, in today's communique, disclosed that the bombing and bombardment of the Japanese homeland was carried into its eighth day of the past 15 when cruisers and destroyers moved close inshore early this morning and shelled a seaplane base and an airfield on southwestern Honshu.

Plane Attack Renewed

Just one hour later, he issued a second communique reporting that American and British carrier planes renewed their heavy attacks on Japanese warships and merchant vessels at dawn today.

The new carrier attacks centered in the Kure naval region and at Kobe. Other military targets were objectives.

Nimitz did not report the strength of today's carrier assaults,

JAP TOLL IS HEAVY

(By The Associated Press)

Ships' guns, carrier planes and land-based aircraft under Admiral Nimitz' command have sunk or damaged 560 Japanese ships and small craft, and destroyed or damaged 655 enemy planes in the 16 days of rampaging fleet action since July 10's Tokio strike.

His communiques list 211 vessels and small craft sunk, 352 damaged; 255 planes destroyed, 382 damaged.

but it was presumed they were nearly as heavy as yesterday's when well over 1,000 Yank and British pilots struck along a 325-mile length of Japanese territory.

Japan had possibly its worst bombing of the war yesterday, for more than 600 B-29s (Tokyo said more than 700) joined in the strikes to attack oft-bombed Osaka and Nagoya war industries. Other Army air strikes at Japan ran the total spreading ruin over the Nipponese homeland to 2,000 or more.

Not Half Reported

With reports from Admiral Halsey covering less than half of yesterday's action by well over 1,000 American and British aircraft in a 325-mile sweep from northern Kyushu through the inland sea to Nagoya, Fleet Admiral Nimitz announced these results:

Two battleships, the Ise and Hyuga, heavily damaged.

Heavy cruiser Aoba damaged.

One large aircraft carrier damaged.

These warships were caught at Kure naval base and damaged by American carrier pilots.

The British, attacking to the north, damaged a Kobe-type escort aircraft carrier in waters north of Takamatsu on Shikoku island.

British Sink Shipping

The British also damaged two freighters near Suta, on the Shikoku coast, and sank a small coastal cargo vessel, three luggers and four junks, all caught also in the inland sea.

For the first time in the 15 days Halsey's fleet has prowled Japanese home waters, the enemy put up some aerial resistance.

Flagship reports said 18 Japanese took to the air. Nimitz reported eight were shot down by American pilots. There was no indication that any Japanese aircraft got even near the fleet, however.

A total of 64 enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged by the coordinated raids, in which some American planes were sent against Kure and Kyushu airfields from which the Japanese had staged their kamikaze attacks against the United States' Ryukyus forces during the Okinawa campaign.

U. S. carrier pilots destroyed 11 and damaged 20 grounded planes. The British destroyed 12 and damaged 13 on the ground.

Between the two days' concentrated aerial assaults, Rear Adm. J. S. Jones, jr., took a small force of cruisers and destroyers to the southwestern tip of Honshu to bombard Kushimoto seaplane base and Shionomisaki airfield, a radio station and other military installations in the vicinity of Kushimoto.

Steaming in to make their early morning attack, they encountered and sank a small ship, probably a picket boat.

Most of the Japanese warships damaged were caught in or near Kure naval yard, where five months ago 14 major units of the Japanese Navy were heavily damaged. It was apparent that Halsey was making certain the Japanese are not given a chance to repair them and put them in commission again.

The Japanese, abandoning their recent policy of negative resistance, put up extremely heavy antiaircraft fire as well as some fighter plane opposition. Nimitz made no mention of U. S. plane losses.

Although official announcements were not exact, the number of Allied planes over Japan yesterday included more than 1,000 British and American carrier aircraft; at least 625 Superforts; 93 P-51 Mustangs, and 40 to 45 Corsairs.

Battered Battleships

The Ise and Hyruga, 23-knot, 32,000-ton vessels, are not considered standard battleships since they have 200-foot staging decks on the stern from which aircraft could be catapulted. Constructed in 1917, they have seen little action in this war, although both were believed to have participated in the second battle of the Philippines last October.

No information is available here on the large carrier which was damaged, but it was believed to be one of the newer and most important of the enemy's flattops.

Fleet Starting Final Plunge

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24. (AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey, boss of the current fleet-aerial attack on Japan, said tonight that "the Pacific fleet has opened a new phase of naval warfare . . . the final plunge into the heart of Japan."

Halsey's broadcast, made from his flagship off Japan, was heard here by the American Broadcasting Co. shortly after it was announced that his carrier planes had returned to attack the Kobe-Kure naval base area for the second consecutive day.

Start Final Plunge

The Pacific fleet's new attack, he said, cannot be interpreted by our own people, or the Japanese, as anything but the opening of "the final plunge into the heart of Japan."

"I said after the far-flung battle for Leyte gulf that the Japanese fleet was beaten, routed and broken, and nothing has happened since then to change my opinion," Halsey declared.

"What is left of the Japanese Navy is helpless but just for good luck we will hunt them out of their holes."

Big naval guns inflicted tremendous damage on the northern steel plants, Halsey said, which had been safe before even from B-29s.

"In the northern part of the empire carriers have already wrought almost unbelievable destruction of enemy shipping, industry and transportation."

"If the Nips do not know they're a doomed nation they're even stupider than I think they are," said Halsey.

"My only regret is that the ships do not have wheels so we could chase them inland after we drive them from the coast," he concluded.

Interest Mounts And Attendance Increases At Short Course Here

By BILL BARNETT
Avalanche Staff Writer

A growing attendance — almost double the opening day Monday of about 75 persons — marked the second day yesterday of Texas Tech college's fifth livestock feeding short course, being held this week in the Agriculture building on the campus. Two sessions, morning and afternoon, are being held daily until the course closes Thursday at noon.

W. L. Stangel, professor and head of the department of animal husbandry, presided over the day's work when an almost capacity crowd in the building's auditorium heard five scheduled speeches and one short talk by a special visitor.

Strickland Presides Today

The third day's work of the course is to begin at 9 o'clock this morning with J. D. Strickland, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the college, presiding.

J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry of the Texas Agriculture Experiment station at College Station, opened Tuesday's work with his address on "Amarillo grazing experiments."

Jones said that progress had been too slow in the field of range management during the past, and gave a brief history of the cattle business to emphasize his statement.

He spoke of Texas as rapidly becoming a "finishing ground" in the cattle industry, rather than the "breeding ground" it had gained the reputation of being. He said it was said that Texas never finished growing cattle, but sold the calves and yearlings early.

Reseeded Pastures

Going into technical details on experiments conducted at the Amarillo station he said that reseeded pastures apparently give the variety needed to obtain the best results from the raising of livestock. Along this line he discussed experiments being carried out in various sections of the state.

Charles Whitfield, director of the Amarillo station, was asked by Jones to give the complete report on the work there. Whitfield said that Texas cattlemen were not able to keep cattle from 3 to 5 years, but must sell calves. He said his essential work was to tset grasses for their fattening qualities, to insure rapid gain in weight, and value. He gave statistics from his station to conclude his talk. He said that steers shrink less off of reseeded pasture than any other type and gave many other favorable reports on this method of grazing.

Protein Requirements

John H. Knox, head of the department of animal husbandry at New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts near Las Cruces, gave the second talk of the morning on "Meeting Protein Requirements of Range Cattle."

The veteran ranchman and educator said that supplemental feeding was originally intended, in the early days of the cattle industry, to prevent death loss. He said this still prevails in a few scattered sections.

One of the reasons for supplemental range feeding, Knox said, was to correct deficiencies of forage. This he cited as his main topic.

He said that to reduce to the minimum the amount of supplemental feeding a stockman should have a proper rate of stocking, be certain that forage was present and that only corrections was made —not supplying the forage itself— and to properly cull the herd. He went into further detail with the medium of charts to show the percent of protein in range grass through various types of years and the effects on cattle of different ages.

Three Way Cattle

Bringing attention to the rising group of men who form a new industry—those who raise their own feed for their own cattle—R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the Spur Experiment station, closed the morning's talks with his address on "Three-Way Cattle."

Dickson said that the ranges are gradually getting smaller and the farmers are beginning to grow some pastures. They are learning, he said, how to combine feed crops with grass and are approaching a method of balancing out the grain shortage that Texas has.

He said that each farmer and rancher had the responsibility of keeping "his mind open to benefit the country and the industry."

Stangel closed the morning session with an introduction, by groups, of the county agents, vocational agriculture teachers, Farm Security Administration representatives, Soil Conservation officials, ranchers, farmers and oil mill representatives.

Houston Man Speaks

Herman Engel, manager of the Houston Fat Stock show and a special visitor of the short course, gave a short talk, impromptu, following lunch. He spoke on cooperation among farmers and ranchers.

W. H. Dameron, superintendent of the Sonora Experiment station, gave the afternoon's opening lecture on "Range Management." He said that varied conditions bring varied methods, but that some specific things will work in all sections.

Along with statistical reports and technical discussions he said that the most critical time to graze a pasture is from March 15 to June 15. It was his opinion that the pasture should be rested during this time.

Best Results With Sheep

He said that a variety of feeds along with green weeds for the winter showed the best results on sheep. Quantity, quality and variety are needed, Dameron said, and a exclosure should be established in the pasture, studied and attempts made to duplicate it—this would obtain the goal.

E. R. Eudaly, director of the livestock division of the Universal Mills a Ft. Worth, closed the Tuesday session with his talk, "Minerals for Livestock." He told of the growing necessity for minerals through overgrazing destroying the mineral content of grasses and the better cattle raised.

He named salt, calcium, phosphorous, iron, copper, cobalt, manganese, magnesium and sulphur as "musts" in raising cattle. He added that the minerals and the salt should be kept separate for best results with stock.

Beef Cattle Judging

A round table discussion and beef cattle judging, led by R. C. Mowery and John White, closed the day's meeting.

Strickland will preside today when talks by Stangel, "Delayed Fattening of cattle"; Strickland, "Feeding and Care of Dairy Bulls"; Glenn Hackney, Lubbock farmer, "Feeding for Milk Production"; J. R. Gillham, teacher at Clarendon, "Feeding Swine Winners"; M. U. May, Castro County Agent, "Sears-Roebuck Swine Program," will be heard in that order through the day with a round-table discussion and dairy cattle judging by Mowery and White closing the day's work.

Maturity Date For 1944 Cotton Loan Is Extended Indefinitely

Maturity date for 1944 crop cotton under CCC loan has been extended for an indefinite period and will not fall due July 31, E. C. Munro acting district representative, Commodity Credit corporation's office of supply, USDA, has been advised.

All loans will be carried in past due status, subject to call by the corporation. The extension gives farmers an opportunity to repay their loan and take possession of the cotton or sell their equity after July 31. Lending agencies also may continue to hold certificates of interest in producer's notes and cooperative marketing associations to carry loan cotton for their members. Interest on certificates held by landing agencies will be one per cent per annum.

Of the 815,700 bales of Texas cotton which went into the loan from the 1944 crop, repayments have been made on 202,669 bales, leaving 613,031 outstanding, Munro said.

Franck No. 1 On Nazi Trials List

LONDON, July 24. (U.P.) — The Evening News today quoted a War Crimes commission official as saying Karl Hermann Franck — "The Butcher of Lidice" — would be the first war criminal to stand trial for his life.

Dr. Bohuslav Eger, Czech representative on the United Nations group, was reported by the newspaper as saying the Franck trial probably will begin in Prague on Sept. 1.

Franck will be surrendered to the Czechoslovak government for crimes committed in that territory but regardless of the outcome of his trial, will then be returned to the United Nations Crime commission for trial on other indictments.

Strike Vote Planned At Hillsboro Mills

DALLAS, July 24 (AP) — Paul Schuler, International Textile Workers CIO representative, said today a strike vote would be taken Saturday at the Hillsboro cotton mills.

The issue involves an employe who the union says was discharged without reason.

Schuler said if the company after the vote still maintains a state of non-compliance with a War Labor board order in the dispute, that there can be no other answer than to cease work in this mill.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Marine Fighter Pilot Does Job, Then Runs Into Double Trouble

By SGT. BERNIE MILLIGAN
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent
(Distributed by United Press)

ABOARD AN AIRCRAFT CARRIER, Off Sakashima (Delayed)—Jerome "Windy" Windham, a six-foot-two inch Marine Corsair fighter pilot from Canton, Tex., came "home" today; stripped of all Marine markings, a victim of souvenir hunters.

Windham spent a hectic 40 hours away from his flattop home, and finally showed up 36 hours late!

Last 500 Yards Worst

During the first four hours of his "leave" he traveled some 800 miles. But the last 500 yards required those extra 36 hours.

Windham employed various means of transportation during his travels. He flew, swam, climbed, hung on for dear life, walked, crawled and clawed. He was in a airplane, a life raft, a life jacket, a life net and a bos'n's bag, with a ride on a destroyer thrown in for good measure.

All seemed serene—the sky was clear and blue—when the tall Texan took off from our carrier at dawn for a strike against one of the Sakashima group of islands between Okinawa and Formosa. All was serene, as a matter of fact, up to the including early runs upon the target.

Supply Convoy Wrecked

Windham was having a field day. He and his Marine mates sighted a Jap troop and supply convoy sneaking along a dirt road. They made short work of the lot, destroying five truckloads and setting fire to a similar total of provisions vehicles.

Farther along the road he spotted something with which he, being a real Texan, was thoroughly familiar. It was a mule. And down in Canton, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Windham, live, Windham had seen mules before. But this one was different. It was a Japanese mule, not the Texas variety. And besides, it was drawing an enemy cart and the cart was carrying Jap soldiers.

Any "be kind to animals" thoughts he may have had were quickly brushed aside as he made short work of the entire procession with his 50-calibre machine guns.

Munitions Blown Up

Windham and his squadron playmates had been told about a possible ammunition dump, so they explored and found their information correct. They blew it up.

The Japs, meanwhile, were throwing up some antiaircraft fire, and one of the shells smacked into Windham's gas tank. His fuel gauge began slipping, so he headed for home.

Aboard the carrier we saw him circle for a landing, straighten out for the final approach, then suddenly glide into the ocean as the engine stopped—out of gas—. He made an excellent water landing just 500 yards off the carrier's stern.

Destroyer Moves In

Before the plane sank, Windham climbed from the cockpit, inflated his life jacket and signalled he was clear of the ship. An escorting destroyer raced to his assistance, tossed him a life net and life jacket, and hauled him aboard.

It was there the souvenir hunters went to work. Bit by bit his flight gear—helmet, wings, "Mae West" and other equipment—commandeered politely by the destroyer crew, disappeared from the pilot's husky figure until, as he put it, "I was darned near naked."

Prompt medical attention, a brisk rubdown, a few hours rest, and the Marine was none the worse for his experiences. One of the destroyer's officers was a fellow-Texan, Navy Lieutenant John Hyatt of Dallas.

The following day the destroyer pulled alongside, we tossed her a line and Lt. Windham completed the last lap of his trip home in a bos'n's bag.

Safely aboard our carrier he found the story had a happy ending—he had been promoted to first lieutenant in his absence!

Anderson Promises More Soap; No Need For Rationing Seen

WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said today there would be no rationing of soap.

He also promised civilians a 100,000,000 pound increase in their next year's supply of heavy-duty laundry flakes, chips and granulated soap.

If we were to have soap rationing," Anderson said, "it would be necessary for me, as secretary of agriculture, to authorize it. And I do not plan to issue such authorization."

The proposed increase in production, amounting to about 10 per cent, will apply only to so-called "strong" chip, flake and granulated soap used for heavy laundering, scrubbing and scouring.

It does not apply to "popular" chips or flakes used in washing silks, hose of other fine fabrics. Neither does it affect any kind of toilet, or bar soap.

The increase will be effected by a change in the formula of the heavy-duty soaps. Overall production will go up without increasing the quantities of fats and oils used.

Average Returnee Is 28 And Single, Girls!

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga., July 24. (AP)—Any one of the returned veterans due to pass through the redistribution station here likely will be an infantry private with 24 months' overseas service—and notice girls—28 and single.

Based on the records of some 60,000 men who were processed by the station before it was transferred here from Camp Butner, N. C., the public relations office said today the "composite GI" also:

Would be five feet, eight inches tall and weigh 154 pounds, and would have attended but not been graduated from high school.

TAKE A QUICK LOOK AT A "VANISHING AMERICAN"

This car may have disappeared by the time you finish reading!

Every 17 Seconds (much less time than it takes to read this ad) another vitally needed car breaks down—so far beyond repair that it is gone forever.

This wouldn't be so serious if all of us lived within walking distance of our jobs. But we don't. And all you have to do is look at the acres of cars parked outside any big war plant to realize how much America's war effort depends on automobile transportation!

That's why, with 5000 cars a day going into the scrap heap, all of us have plenty to worry about. That's why Uncle Sam says, "Care For Your Car For Your Country!"

And it's not hard to do—especially with your Phillips 66 Service Man standing by to help you. Because he has a special Tire-Saving and Car-Saving Plan for motorists like you.

If you'll take your car to him regularly he'll check your tires—look out for cuts, bruises, and nails; warn you when re-capping is necessary; see that the air-pressure is right.

He'll take a regular look at your battery, cooling system, and air filter. He'll help discover the little troubles before they become big ones. And your Phillips 66 Service Man will tell you it's a mighty good idea to have a complete lubrication job done regularly—for it's often those unseen parts of a car that cause trouble.

The Phillips 66 Service Man won his reputation for service and efficiency in the days when tires and cars were plentiful. That same famous thorough way of doing the job is ready to serve every war-time motorist today. So stop at your nearest Phillips 66 Shield . . . the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

The Woman's Angle

By JEANE ENGLE
(Pinch-hitting for Margaret Turner, now on vacation.)

GALS, you are positively fascinating—and that comes staright from an American officer, Lt. Johnny Starkley, of Springlake, Lamb county, who was a guerrilla fighter in the Philippines for over three years. He is reported to have said upon arrival in the states, "The most fascinating sight after three years of terror, is an American woman." Girls, take a bow and don't crowd. The line forms to the right of the lientenant's doorstep over in Lamb county.

Hotels of America might make a note of the success with which the "sleep-shift" train was operated in the movement of troops across country this week. The train, half pullman, half day coach, was devised after veterans complained of being forced to travel from coast to coast in day coaches. Hotels might follow the War department's idea in offering "sleep-shift" hotel accommodations. Such a plan might be worked out on a 12-hour basis, one guest being allowed to sleep for that period and then retiring to the lobby to make room for the next sleeper. In view of the scarcity of hotel rooms, it seems absurd for one person, who is lucky enough to get a room, to occupy the bed for only a part of every 24 hours when there are so many people in the lobby who haven't slept in days.

The sleep-shift idea has conversational value, too. It would be possible to open a conversation with a stranger in the hotel lobby by asking, "What Shift are you sleeping?" instead of the pre-war query of "What part of the country are you from?", or the wartime greeting of "How in the world did you ever get a reservation?" The stranger could tell you how he wired in advance for a night shift, but upon arrival was told by the clerk that he was lucky to get a shift of any kind. A veteran wartime traveler, who has learned to expect robbery every time he leaves home, won't be disappointed either. He can pay a guest a bonus for a sleeping shift more to his liking.

HERE'S a gal that's riding for a fall: Dr. Imogene Bentley, dean of women at North Texas State Teachers college, has created quite a stir over an address she gives to civic clubs on "The Case Against Men." The redhaired spinster gives an authoritative analysis of the foibles of men. As for her personal handling of marriage, home and husband, she said, "I sit at home with a book myself." Remember a girl named Marjorie Hillis who wrote "Live Alone and Like It" several years ago? Well, she got married and was in for a lot of panning by the press. Knowing women, it's a bet that Dr. Bentley's statement may boomerang someday too. She'll probably sit at home with a book only until she finds something better she had rather sit with.

If you don't like your marriage, cheer up. There is only one chance in a million that you'll ever celebrate your 75th wedding anniversary, according to the statisticians of an insurance company.

Last Portrait Of FDR Displayed To Public

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—The portrait of the late President Roosevelt for which he was sitting when he collapsed and died April 12, was displayed to the public today at Gimble brothers, New York department store.

At unveiling ceremonies yesterday, the artist, Elizabeth Shoumatoff, said Mrs. Roosevelt had asked for the painting, and that it might be presented to the Roosevelt memorial at Hyde Park.

When baked for weddings, baklawa, a cake of the Near East, may have as many as a thousand paper-thin layers.

Jap Peace "Feelers" Reported Received By U. S.; Terms Urged

WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.P.)—Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb., said today that if peace "offers" received from Japan are not acceptable, the United States "ought to say definitely what terms we would accept."

He said a "high military authority," whom he refused to identify, had confirmed to him that peace "feelers" have been received from Japan.

Should Outline Terms

On the basis of them, he said, an also unidentified third party had written President Truman urging him to stop the Pacific "slaughter" by outlining specific surrender terms.

The State department recently confirmed that "feelers" had been received unofficially through various round-about sources but it said none of them was in any way a concrete offer.

Wouldn't Identify Writer

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew described them as intended to create disunity within the United States and among the Allied nations, rather than as legitimate peace proposals.

Wheery said the person who wrote the letter was not a "high military authority" but he declined to say whether or not the writer was a person of any standing.

DETAILED STATEMENT OF TERMS SAID PREPARED

NEW YORK, July 24 (U.P.) — The magazine Business Week said today that President Truman took a detailed statement of surrender terms for Japan to the Big Three meeting at Potsdam.

The magazine said that "top American naval officials now see the possibility of early capitulation by Japan, and it is to encourage such a capitulation—and to invite the Japanese people to put pressure behind it—that this move is being made . . ."

Can Retain Regime

The terms have the support of the Navy department and its sponsors believe that they are not a departure from unconditional surrender, the magazine said. The next step in defining surrender will be taken either by Mr. Truman, Churchill and Stalin, or by Truman alone when he returns to Washington, the magazine said.

"The memorandum . . . would assure the Japanese people that they would be unharmed, and that they can retain an imperial regime, if they wish, and their religious and social systems.

"It would require the return of all conquered territory, in accord with the Cairo declaration; the destruction of the Japanese fleet and air force; the dismantling of her shipbuilding facilities, and the elimination of heavy industries capable of being converted to future aircraft or munitions manufacture.

"Under these terms, the Allies would not invade or occupy the home islands, but rather would send token supervisory forces to make sure the military and industrial conditions were carried out."

The terms were prepared, at Mr. Truman's request, by "one of his most highly regarded Far Eastern advisers," the magazine said.

GERMAN GENERALS CAUGHT

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY IN GERMANY, July 24. (AP) — Capture of two more German generals—two and one-half months after fighting ended—has been announced by the U. S. Third army. They were Lt. Gen. Otto Hoffman of the Waffen SS and Col. Gen. Hans von Salmuth, formerly commander of the 15th German army in northern France and Holland.

Nation-Wide Publicity Given City Through Red Cross Keynoter

Lubbock received nation-wide publicity in the July 18 issue of The Keynoter, official periodical of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Marguerite Stiles, local chapter executive secretary, reported yesterday.

Picking up a news story, published in The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, describing the important role played by volunteer workers in Red Cross work, The Keynoter commended the article. It began: "Red Cross volunteer workers are the women who work without salaries. They cook, sew, scrub, knit, run errands, serve as chauffeurs, type, help inoculate the people against disease, fix flats, change spark plugs and do a magnitude of other tasks—including taking the place of an absent husband at the birth of a child."

Mrs. I. C. Enochs, public information chairman of the local organization, is responsible for the news story receiving such wide publicity.

Lubbock, Wichita Falls To Open Legion Tourney Today

The chips will be on the line, starting at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon when American Legion junior baseball clubs from Wichita Falls and San Angelo converge on the city to start firing in the regional American Legion tournament at Chapman field.

The host Lubbock club will get the first test today from the Wichita Falls nine in the one-game opener of the two-day program.

There will be a double-header on Thursday afternoon, the first game starting at 2 o'clock. The visiting clubs will play the opener of the Thursday twin bill, with Lubbock closing the schedule with San Angelo in the nightcap. In case of a tie, the deadlock will be played off Friday.

Manager Stoney Wall announced Tuesday night that his ball club was in the peak of condition, and ready for the opening battle. Bob Galey, mound ace of the Lubbock club will toe the rubber in the first game, with John Paul Jones behind the bat.

Deal To Pitch

Youthful Charlie Deal, the toast of the Wichita Falls nine, is expected to get the nod from Coach Harry Baumgardner, and oppose Galey on the hill. Deal is rated as one of the top mound prospects of Northwest Texas.

The pairing of Deal and Galey is expected to provide one of the most colorful mound duels of the season on the local lot.

The Lubbock club will have a slight advantage in experience, being in the second year of Legion ball here, and having played more baseball this season than the Wichita Falls nine.

The Lubbock club has won nine and lost four games this year, and looked more impressive last Sunday in winning a 20 to 0 victory at Lamesa than at any time this year.

At the latest report, Wichita Falls had played only three games, losing two to Altus, Okla., and winning once from Tipton, Okla.

The Wichita Falls nine is due into Lubbock about noon today, with San Angelo scheduled to arrive later in the afternoon. There has been no advance reports from the San Angelo team.

Sport Woolridge and T. M. Cox have been named umpires for the tournament, and will work all three games of the round robin. There will be a 30 cents admission charge on the gate to help defray expenses of the tournament.

The Lubbock lineup is pretty well set, except for one position, with Galey and Jones named as the battery, Billy Petree at first, Joe Arrington at second, Jack Vaughn at third and Jack Alderson at short. Folsom will be in left and Wall in center, but three candidates will supply the third member of the outer patrol.

Becknell, Gallegos or maybe Presley will get the nod in right field.

Indians Nip Solons For 4 To 0 Victory

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — Cleveland pounded Dutch Leonard for 11 hits in eight innings tonight to whip the Washington Senators, 4-0. Allie Reynolds was the winning hurler.

Jeff Heath's single, Lou Boudeau's sacrifice and two passed balls gave the Indians their first run in the fourth.

Cleveland put over a three-run clincher in the sixth on a double, two singles and Jose Zardon's error.

The Senators had only one scoring chance when they got runners on first and third and one out in the eighth.

LONDON, July 24. (AP)—Cardinal Michael von Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, has asked Gen. Eisenhower's permission to build a convent on the site of the notorious Dachau concentration camp and "make Dachau a place of pilgrimage for all Europe."

Cubs Romp Over Phillies, 8 To 3

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs improved their position at the head of the National League today by defeating Philadelphia, 8 to 3, but they had a lot of help from two Philly pitchers who couldn't find the plate. The game was played before 8,393 fans.

Dick Barrett, the starting pitcher, and Manager Ben Chapman, who finished the game, gave the Cubs a total of eight passes to first base and five of these eventually wound up in runs.

Chipman gave the Phils only six hits, and had five hitless innings, in winning his third game of the year. A wild pitch accounted for the first run he allowed in the fourth inning.

PIRATES NOSE BRAVES

PITTSBURGH, July 24. (AP) — Frankie Gustine's long fly with one out in the eleventh scored Jack Saltzgaver who had tripled to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6 to 5 victory over the Boston Braves before 20,168 fans tonight.

Saltzgaver's pinch single in the ninth started a rally that tied the game after Boston had led from the second inning.

Tommy Holmes, Boston slugger who led the league in batting virtually all season, came out of his slump with a double, single and three walks. He had gone hitless 18 consecutive times before tonight's game.

Ken Gables, the Pirates' fourth pitcher, received credit for the victory while Don Hendrickson, Boston's third hurler, was charged with the loss.

GIANTS' DOUBLES WIN

CINCINNATI, July 24. (AP)—The New York Giants scored all of their runs on six doubles tonight as they defeated the Cincinnati Reds 6-4.

The Giants put together a pair of doubles and a walk in each the second, third and fourth innings, counting two runs in each frame. Cincinnati used four pitchers, but starter Howard Fox gave up four runs and Elmer Riddle was touched for a pair before Jom Lisenbee and Andy Modak brought the Giants under control.

The Reds started the scoring in the first inning when Frank McCormick hit his seventh home run of the season with one on base. A Cincinnati rally fell short in the seventh as a pair of singles and a double produced just two runs.

Pairings Drawn In Golf Tourney

Three flights of women golfers will tee off today in the first round of match play in the Lubbock Country Club Women's Open tournament, with Mrs. George Soash and Mrs. Charles Akey sharing medalist honors with 94s.

The two will play off the tie at a later date.

Mrs. P. F. Hallman won medalist honors in the nine hole flight with a 53.

There will be two flights of the 18 hole play and one flight in the nine hole play.

Pairings for the championship flight will match Mrs. Soash with Mrs. Morley Jennings; Mrs. M. E. Wagenfuehr vs Mrs. F. L. McRee; Mrs. Akey vs Mrs. J. H. Stiles, and Mrs. Fenner Tubbs vs Mrs. A. A. Foster.

In the first flight, Mrs. W. F. Helwig drew a bye; Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg will play Mary Jarrott; Mrs. Roy Autry drew a bye, and Mrs. Charlie Young will play Mrs. M. K. Dean.

In the nine hole play, Mrs. Hallman will play Mrs. J. D. McCauley; Mrs. F. M. Curtis will play Mrs. J. C. Young; Mrs. J. F. Pattok will play Mrs. Lewis Kerr, and Mrs. Adelle Schroeder will play Mrs. R. M. Jenkins.

Unknown Sets Pace In Women's Tourney

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—A bespectacled, 19-year-old girl who never before had competed outside her home state until recently, today paced qualifiers into the finals of the All-American women's tournament at Tam O'Shanter Country club.

She is Carol (Babe) Freese of Portland, Ore. She fired a three-under-par 73 to lead the field of 24 qualifiers into the finals which start Thursday.

The professionals compete tomorrow for qualifying places in the $160,000 All-American tournament. The male amateurs qualified yesterday.

Among the early competitors tonight, only two other ladies besides Miss Freese finished in the 70s. They were Dot Kielty of Los Angeles, with a 38-38 for a par 76, and Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., with a 38-36 for a two-under-par 74.

Cliff Dean On Look Honor Roll Of Track

Cliff Dean, Lubbock's state champion high school pole vaulter was named on the second team of the schoolboy All-American track team, picked by Look magazine, in the issue that went on sale in Lubbock Tuesday.

A number of Texas boys were named on the mythical team, while Dean's 12 feet, 6 inch mark at the state meet in Austin won him the second team honors.

Dean was the second Lubbock boy on win these honors in as many years, with Burl Gene Moore, flashy 440 yard dash man of last year, getting the honors on the first team.

Dean will enter Oklahoma A. and M. in the fall. Moore is now in the Coast Guard.

Kilgore Coach Takes Post In Tyler School

KILGORE, July 24 (UP)—Floyd Wagstaff, head coach at Kilgore High school for the past three years, resigned today to accept a position with the Tyler public schools, Supt. W. L. Dodson announced.

Wagstaff said he would become head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Tyler under Coach Chaddy Davidson.

During the eight years he has been at Kilgore, Wagstaff's basketball teams have won six straight District 11 cage titles.

He became head coach three years ago succeeding R. E. St. John, who later was killed in action aboard the Destroyer Brodie.

Laundrymen Assured Tie For Loop Lead

Blue Bonnet laundry's softball ten was assured of at least a tie for first place in the city softball league by nosing out the Section C club of Lubbock Army Air field Tuesday afternoon, 4 to 3.

The victory closed out the schedule for the Blue Hatters with a record of seven wins and one loss in the league. Only one other team, the LAAF MPs have lost only one game, and could tie for the top.

Ray Littrell hurled the victory for the Laundrymen, and closed out the schedule with an unblemished personal record on the mound.

Blue Bonnet will journey to SPAAF Thursday afternoon to play the undefeated soldier nine, and seek revenge for a defeat handed them last week by the Army team.

Jaycees Nose Past Rotary In Seventh

Morris Turner's single in the seventh inning scoring Harmon Greene won his own ball game as the Junior Chamber of Commerce edged out Rotary's junior nine 5-4 at the Boy's club Tuesday afternoon.

Turner and Wells began on the mound for the JCC and Rotary each hurling perfect ball for three frames. The JCC's began in the fourth pushing two runs across the plate on errors by Rotary catcher Cotman. Rotary loaded the bases in their half of the fourth and sacrificed one tally home.

Both teams scored twice in the fifth, bringing the count to 4-3. Whitehead reached first on error to begin the Rotary half of the sixth. Cotman struck out. Turner, decidedly weakening, gave Wells, English, and McCabe bases on balls to force Whitehead in with the tying run.

Greene walked with one out to begin the seventh. After stealing second, he was sacrificed to third by Conn. Turner's long single sent Greene romping home with the winning tally.

The line score:

JCC ..... 000 220 1—5 4
ROTARY ..... 000 121 0—4 2
Turner, Tosh, and Greene; Wells, McCabe, and Cotman.

Suppose The War'll Even Be Mentioned?

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25. (AP)—Radio Tokyo said today that subjects ranging from the state of the emperor's health to the war situation and foreign policy will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of Japan's totalitarian party, which will be closed with three "banzai" shouts of members.

Long Occupation Need Is Feared

SAN ANTONIO, July 24 (AP) — Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, whose Seventh Army conquered southern France, predicted the Allies will have to occupy Germany for 20 years, when he took charge of the Fourth Army at Fort Sam Houston today. He arrived from Washington last night.

Gen. Patch, one of the few high American officers who has served both in the Pacific and Europe, will have charge of the training of thousands of troops preparatory to the invasion of Japan. The Fourth Army comprises camps from Wisconsin to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Mississippi river to Arizona.

Probably More Raids

Commenting on the arrest of 80,000 Germans in raids by American forces of occupation this week, Gen. Patch said:

"No doubt there will be many more of these raids. There is no hope of re-educating the present German, at least among the younger generation, transifxed by Nazism. We must maintain a large, quick-moving standing Army capable of suppressing any uprising which might occur.

"I favor universal military training, and I believe that we could assign thousands of our young men to take part of this training in the elaborate fortresses in Germany. Use of these camps would save the American taxpayer large sums, and our youth would receive a broad education through travel as well."

Gen. Patch said a large percentage of the Germans still believe in the Hitler myth of might, and think he was merely ill advised by his party leaders.

New Methods Used To Burn Out Jap Troops

NEW YORK, July 24 (U.P.)—The Army's chemical warfare service revealed today that American invaders on Okinawa "reached" Japanese in hillside caves with an extension hose that carried streams of incendiary fuel from 50 to 500 feet from tank borne reservoirs.

When Japanese holed up beyond range of flame-throwing tanks, combat troops joined 50-foot sections of hose and carried searing fire to the enemy. Two tank crewmen aimed the nozzle gun as fuel pulsed through under pressure from tanks below.

Col. Lester W. Hurd, commander of the New York district of chemical warfare service, said Japanese industrial centers will be hit with approximately 150,000,000 incendiary bombs in the next 12 months.

This plan, he said, calls for doubling the next six months' production over the past six months and tripling the old rate for the first half of 1946.

Police Search For Four Jail Breakers

GREENVILLE, Tex., July 24 (AP) —Four men who overpowered jailer B. C. Walker and escaped from the Hunt county jail last night are believed to have fled in different directions in three automobiles stolen soon after the break, Sheriff Frank Wolff said today.

The sheriff reported that the men got out of the bull pen into a circular runway around it. They made a noise until Walker appeared, took his keys and escaped. Walker was uninjured.

The men were listed as Guy Long, Floyd Johnson and Obie Fugitt, all charged with forgery, and Harold Beck, charged with burglary and kidnaping.

News Briefs

Daylight breakin of Frosted Food store, at 1008 Sixth, was reported to police Tuesday. Nothing was reported taken. The prowlers forced open a rear door. Police said the offense occurred between noon and 4 o'clock yesterday. The store had been closed for the afternoon.

More than 450 persons attended a supper and dance for military personnel sponsored by the Lubbock post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Monday night at the USO, 1211 Thirteenth. Food was served cabaret style. Pappy Birnbaum and his orchestra provided the music. Former prisoners of Germany, Sgts. Laron Deering, William N. Evetts and Homer Jones, of LAAF, were introduced. Miss Margie West sang, "Sweet Soldier Boy," and Pfc. Fred Martin, "Umbriago." Al Glassman gave the welcoming talk. Chaplain A. R. Conard of LAAF spoke the invocation. P. T. West, VFW commander, was presented a basket of flowers by Mrs. J. J. Neihoff of Slaton, past president of the ladies auxiliary. P. L. McIntyre was chairman of the arrangements committee, and Mrs. George Farmer, president of the auxiliary, was in charge of food preparation and serving.

Legislation Extends Time Insurance May Be Converted By Vets

Recent enactment by Congress of a bill to extend the five-year term of the National Life insurance for three additional years makes it unnecessary for active servicemen or veterans to convert their government insurance within the original five-year period, according to Mrs. Roy Autry, home service chairman of the Lubbock Red Cross chapter.

The National Service Life Insurance act of Oct. 8, 1940, provided that all policyholders convert their insurance within a five-year period to 20-year pay, 30-year pay, or ordinary life. Under the terms of this act, many policy holders in the service from the time of the law's enactment and who remained in service through October of this year would have faced the possibility of having their policies voided through no fault of their own.

The bill signed by President Truman on July 7 extends the term of this insurance for a period of three years, Mrs. Autry explained. The new law will have the effect, she said, of giving veterans who are undecided on the matter of converting their insurance a more leisurely decision on this important matter.

"Too often, veterans drop their government insurance shortly after discharge because, at the moment, they do not have a job and cannot pay their insurance premiums," Mrs. Autry declared. "Our chapter is prepared to help these me because we know they may decide differently after they are well established in a job and know how much insurance they can afford to carry."

Veterans desiring counsel on conversion of insurance and other problems having to do with civilian readjustments are invited to the local Red Cross chapter offices on the first floor of the City Hall, she said.

WLB Upholds Closed Shop In Florida Case

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The War Labor board, following up its decision that it was not bound by Florida's "right to work" amendment, today upheld the closed shop at Miami radio station WFTL.

The National board affirmed the decision of its Atlanta regional board, directing continuation of a closed shop agreement which the AFL radio broadcast technicians had negotiated with the previous owner. The union represents nine technicians.

Florida voters last November amended the state's bill of rights to provide that "the right of persons to work shall not be denied or abridged on account of membership or non-membership in any labor union or labor organization; provided that this clause shall not be construed to deny or abridge the right of employes by and through a labor organization or labor union to bargain collectively with their employer."

Liberty Ship Brings More Soldiers Home

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—More than 500 troops came home today on the Liberty ship Ward Hunt, vanguard of six transports and a five-ship LST flotilla arriving in New York harbor with a total of 2,238 United States troops, 323 Navy personnel and 274 Dutch Marines.

Lt. Norman C. Wilmeth of Wichita Falls, Tex., who said he piloted gliders in the Normandy and southern France invasions and Rhine campaign, said his glider was shot down in Holland last September.

"I was alone bringing radar behind the German lines," he said. "After the crash landing I destroyed it and was hidden by the underground, which got me back to Brussels eight days later."

Wilmeth carried a German officer's dress sword, which he said he picked up in Leipzig.

"I started out with a pet dog, but it was run over by a truck just before we started home," he said.

Clarendon Man Is Released On Bond

CLARENDON, Tex., July 24 (AP) —Will Chamberlain, 44, charged in the fatal shooting of John Naylor, 43, has been released on bond of $20,000 and his trial set for Aug. 20.

Naylor's body was found last Wednesday in the front yard of the Chamberlain farm home by Sheriff Guy Wright. Two shotgun charges were in it. A grand judy indicted Chamberlain yesterday. He is a stock farmer and a former county commissioner.

Ration Book 5 Due Out Next December

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—New food and gasoline rationing books will be distributed in December.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said today war ration book five will be issued at schools and other public buildings throughout the country from December 3 through Dec. 15. It will contain stamps for meats and fats, processed foods, sugar and shoes.

At the same time and through the same channels, new A gasoline books will be distributed. They will go into use December 22.

Ration book five, smaller than a dollar bill and containing only half as many stamps as book four, will be used soon after the first of next year.

Train Wreck Halts Traffic Over Katy

FORT WORTH, July 24 (AP) — Traffic over the Missouri-Kansas-Texas between Waco and Fort Worth was blocked for hours today by derailment of 21 loaded cars of a 37-car train at Burleson, near here.

After the derailment, fire swept the wreckage, apparently set off by sparks which reached a damaged gasoline tank car.

A broken wheel was believed to have been the cause. The locomotive and the first five cars and the last 11 cars remained on the tracks. Five hundred feet of trackage were torn up. Communication lines also were damaged.

The train was No. 7, running from Waco to Fort Worth.

State Property Tax Is Raised 17 Cents

AUSTIN, July 24. (AP)—Texans will pay a bigger property tax bill this year.

The automatic tax board today set the state property tax rate at 72 cents per $100 valuation on taxes payable beginning Oct. 1. That's an increase of 17 cents over last year's rate.

Assessed valuations against which the rate will be levied is $4,084,993,824 gross, up $52,000,000 from last year.

The new rate is 35 cents for support of the general fund out of which the bulk of state operating expenses are paid; 35 cents for support of the available school fund out of which the per capita scholastic apportionment is paid, and two cents for support of the Confederate veterans' pension fund.

Governor Gives Aid To 'Price Violator'

INDIANAPOLIS, July 24 (AP)—An 11-year-old boy who bought a package of gum for a nickel and sold it to a man for a dime hurried up to Governor Ralph M. Gates in the statehouse yesterday and asked for some advice.

"The man said he was going to tell the OPA," the boy said. "Can they do anything to me for that?"

The governor assured him he wouldn't get into trouble and sent him on his way for four more packages of gum, a pat on the head and this advice:

"Go make yourself some more nickels."

Escaped Convicts Sought By Officers

HUNTSVILLE, July 24 (AP)—A search was on today for three convicts who escaped from Texas prison farms.

All made their breaks yesterday. Robert Hennan Stevenson, 26, who was serving two years from Colorado county for theft, escaped from Harlem farm No. 2. W. R. Hamilton, 40, serving life from Kimble county as an habitual criminal, and Raymond E. Smith, 31, a life termer from McLennan county for rape and robbery, walked away from the Eastham farm.

Hamilton and Smith were trusties.

Morganthau Says Resignation Not Of His Own Choosing

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., said today President Truman had requested his resignation as secretary and that "this departure from the Treasury was not one of my own choosing."

He made the statement at an interview after attending a luncheon of the New York State War Finance committee.

Morgenthau told the luncheon:

"My 12 years under President Roosevelt's magnificent leadership I felt ended when he died."

At the conclusion of his extemporaneous talk, reporters asked him for an elaboration of his remarks and he said:

"It all happened the fifth of July. I would have liked to stay to V-J day. It didn't work out that way."

He declined to be quoted further but said the President had asked his resignation in a letter and he had given it immediately.

Morgenthau said his future plans were to complete a book on Germany dealing with the so-called "Morgenthau plan" for the control of Germany.

Prominent Midlothian Farmer-Leader Dies

WAXAHACHIE, July 24. (U.P.)—Funeral services were scheduled tomorrow for H. D. Bunch, 54, president of the Waxahachie Co-Operative Oil mill at Midlothian, farmer and Masonic leader, who died yesterday at a local sanitarium.

Bunch, a native of Ellis county, had for many years been identified with agricultural enterprises of the county, and as a part of his farming operations he was growing a field of guayule in connection with the United States Bureau of Plant Industry.

Survivers include his wife, mother, Mrs. Catherine Bunch, three brothers, and three sisters.

Shipyard Manpower Said Badly Needed

DALLAS, July 24—Many crippled United States ships are lying at Hunters Point and Mare Island Naval yards waiting for repairs, James H. Bond, regional director of the War Manpower commission, reported after a personal tour of the area.

Many ships, Bond said, are returned to duty with but a small percentage of the needed repairs completed. Consequently they must put into port more often, thereby greatly lowering their fighting value.

Seven thousand men should be hired in Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico for these yards, according to Bond, who emphasized the fact that plenty of housing is available, meals and transportation are provided by the Navy, and that wages are good.

Men for these jobs will be hired through U. S. Civil Service recruiting representatives.

Texas And Oklahoma Given Sugar Quotas

HOUSTON, July 24 (AP)—Texas will get 6,000,000 pounds and Oklahoma 500,000 pounds of a cargo of sugar which arrived here today, B. E. Trigg of the regional OPA office in Dallas said today.

Lufkin will receive 80,000 pounds and Beaumont 160,000. Houston will get only 80,000 pounds because, Trigg said, this city's needs are being taken care of adequately by the Imperial sugar refinery at Sugarland.

Philippines Becomes Huge Jump-Off Point

MANILA, July 23 (AP) — The Philippine Islands, rapidly being converted from a battleground into a mighty jumping off point for the invasion of Japan, will be the scene of unprecedented activity, Lt. Gen. Wilhelm S. D. Styer, commanding Army forces in the western Pacific, said today in an interview.

The three star general who is handling the logistics of the "on to Tokyo" campaign, said that during July, August and September:

Almost a million more tons of supplies will pour into Manila and other Philippine ports than were unloaded during the entire eight months Philippine operation to date;

The number of service troops, many coming direct from Europe, to handle supplies and construction will be more than double the number already engaged in such work;

Millions of square feet of storage space, equivalent to 205 city blocks, will be required to handle incoming war goods, and, rear bases in the South Pacific, Australia and New Guinea will be "rolled up" as rapidly as possible with troops and supplies moving forward to the Philippines.

cabinet, into signing the armistice with Germany.

All through the armistice discussions, Raynaud said, he argued with Petain and Adm. Darlan over the future of the French fleet. He testified that Darlan — since assassinated in Algiers where he was collaborating with the Allied invasion — sent orders to the fleet command to sink the ships rather than let them fall into German hands.

"I immediately informed Churchill of this, but he had no faith in Darlan's word and the result was Mers El Khebir (Oran)—where the British attacked the French fleet in North Africa," Reynaud said.

toward support of two minor children. Action on his indictment was left pending his compliance.

The Roosevelt Taylor assault to murder case did not go to trial because of the condition of the complaining witness, a negro woman. District Attorney Burton S. Burks told the court the woman's condition admitted of a likelihood of her dying—"in which case the state would file a charge of murder."

The state charges Taylor, 18, a negro shot at another black and struck the woman, who was inside a residence here.

More Authority Is Sought For Congress

DALLAS, July 24 (AP) — Rep. Hatton W. Sumners said today that when Congress reconvened he would introduce a constitutional amendment which would enable Congress to pass legislation over a presidential veto by a simple majority.

At present, a two-thirds majority is required, Sumners said in an interview.

Polish Waif May Not Have To Leave U. S. If Story True

NEW YORK, July 24 (U.P.)—Joseph Eugene Paremba, fighting 12-year-old waif and mascot of a Second Division artillery battery, learned today that he won't have to go back to Poland if his story stands up.

In Washington, the Justice department said the voluntary GI, who came to America in a barracks bag, may stay in this country if investigators confirm that he was orphaned by German cruelty in a suburb of Krakow.

Joe was brought here aboard the transport Marine Panther by GI's of the 38th field artillery, 2nd division.

Ugo Carusi, commissioner of immigration, said there were several ways to establish Joe as an American, even though he entered illegally. One would be to take him to Canada and admit him legally from there.

Earlier, W. Frank Watkins, district director of immigration and naturalization, said Joe's case was being appealed to the attorney general. Cpl. Leory Ritchey, of Tulsa, Okla., wants to adopt the boy, but Carusi said that if Joe remains, he would be sent to a boys' school until he becomes adjusted to his adopted country.

Then, Carusi said, if persons of like religion and proper qualifications wish to adopt him, they will be allowed to do so.

Meanwhile Mike Paremba, of South Norwalk, Conn., said yesterday that Joseph may be his nephew. Paremba left Poland 35 years ago. If the boy is his nephew, Paremba wants to adopt him.

Charter Debate

not believe it would.

Wheeler said he would vote for the United Nations charter just to give the framers a chance to prove "their good intentions."

"I gravely fear that this charter will take away from the people of America the right to be heard on the crucial issues of war and peace," he said.

Individual Rights

In all the 111 articles of the new world organization charter, Wheeler said he couldn't find "one single clear specific provision for the protection of the individual human personality."

The hope that this would be "worked out later" was also "Wilson's dream," he asserted.

The charter, Wheeler declared, is still "nothing but a declaration of pious intentions."

Camp At Gainesville To Close August 11

GAINESVILLE, July 24 (AP) — The Infantry Advanced Replacement Training center at Camp Howze, near here, will be closed on or about Aug. 11, Col. Russell J. Potts, camp commander, announced today.

He said he had no information pertaining to the future use of the camp. The training program in the center already has ended.

Under the War department policy of overseas service for all eligible men, many of the personnel who have not seen foreign service may leave the center for these assignments.

Lubbock's Worries Few

We'll Remain As A "White Spot"

WHAT will happen when the shipyards, airplane plants, and thousands of munitions factories in the United States shut down after Japan is defeated?

Despite the gloomy predictions that have been made by some so-called economic experts, the fact is clear that the huge backlog of much needed civilian goods—automobiles, electric washers, sewing machines, and machinery of all kinds—will make jobs for millions.

War Production Board Chairman Julius A. Krug recently predicted that "about everything in the line of civilian goods will be on the market a year after V-Day."

He expects production to reach 1939 levels by that time.

Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilding miracle man of the Pacific Coast, is another who views the postwar period optimistically. Speaking in San Francisco last week, he declared that the West would take the lead in building an industrial empire which would provide employment for 30,000,000 persons in housing, transportation, highway construction and public health work.

Declaring that the Orient would provide an excellent postwar customer for West Coast industries, Kaiser said Europe would also prove an expanding market. He added that he would "not be confused by, or influenced by, rumors of depression, deflation, disorder or revolution."

There is something positive and stimulating in Kaiser's prediction. It has also the ring of truth.

But regardless of what happens to some of the industrial sections of the nation, a community like Lubbock, dependent largely upon agricultural resources, will remain one of the country's white spots.

Will Mr. Kickes Be "Next?"

THERE are increasing signs that Harold L. Ickes, the last remaining member of the original Roosevelt cabinet, may resign as Secretary of the Interior within the next thirty days.

His offer to resign is now on President Truman's desk, awaiting the return of the President from the Big Three meeting at Potsdam. And only a slight frown from Truman is expected to be sufficient to influence the 71-year-old dean of the cabinet to reach for his hat.

Long regarded as a political liability, because of his sharp tongue and caustic sarcasm in defending the more radical adventures of the New Deal, there are many Democrats—especially Southerners—who will welcome Ickes' resignation.

They feel that the cause of Democracy will be strengthened and Truman's chances of re-election improved by the elimination of the stormy petrel from the Washington picture.

Ickes' oil conservation policies have been almost as unpopular in Texas as his championship of the return of American Japanese to California has been to the West Coast. He certainly cannot qualify as a practitioner of the Dale Carnegie system of "How to Win Friends and Influence People." And President Truman, despite his cautious precedure in urging changes, is too good a politician to hamper his own and the party's chances by taking a Jonah along to rock the boat.

It Won't Be Long Now!

WHILE nobody knows just what it is about Deaf Smith county that protects the fortunate citizens of that community from tooth decay, a group of that county's boosters are organizing to discover, produce and market the miraculous something.

Dr. George W. Heard, a Deaf Smith county dentist, who first called national attention to the perfect teeth of the county's citizens, and Dr. F. Melton Butler of Seattle have obtained a charter for the formation of the new organization.

Many dentists and scientists suspect that the magic tooth preservative native to the county is flourine. The quality of teeth in various communities is said to vary with the amount of flourine in the local water supply.

So if flourine is it, Dr. Heard and his associates may soon be selling Deaf Smith flourine pills throughout the country.

One can visualize the ads—wide open mouths showing rows of shining teeth!

Before a woman can twist a man around her little finger, she has to soften him up with flattery.

Perhaps the prophet is without honor in his own country because his fellow countrymen checked up on his prophecies.

"A man is no better than the woman he's with," asserts a philosopher. Not true. In some instances no man could be that mean.

This is a true story of the men who fly the "hump"—carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

China National's airport at Dinjan, in Upper Assam, India, had been cut out of thick jungle. It was square-shaped, about one thousand yards long on each side, and it lay deep in the valley of the Brahmaputra River. In addition to C.N.A.'s transport equipment the field accommodated planes and pilots of the Royal Air Force. Surrounding the field for miles in every direction was thick, impenetrable jungle, its green-black monotony as seen from the air broken only occasionally by brownish patches of rice paddies and neatly cultivated tea plantations.

The usual procedure was to send new men out on the regular trans-Himalayan flights as soon as possible after they arrived. Gingiss, Skippy Lane and I, for instance, made our first trips over the Hump within three days after reporting for duty. We were given our own maps, including "strip" sections about a foot wide and three fet long covering only the terrain over which we would fly in crossing the Hump. The maps and strips included much territory that had never been charted or surveyed, so on each of those early flights we would mark them as we went along, noting valleys and river bends and mountain peaks—giving them names when they had none, or adopting new ones when the formal ones were too hard to remember or pronounce. Thus the Nam Kiu River, running a twisted course down from lower Tibet to where it joined the Nmai River in Upper Burma, became the Red River, because it had a reddish color when seen from the air. The Nmai looked silvery-white, so it was the White River. The Salween, third in line as we flew east from Dinjan, patriotically assumed a bluish hue and became the Blue River; and the Lantsang Kiang, largest of them all and muddy as the Ganges, we called the Brown River.

There was little regularity as to how long a pilot had to fly the route before being checked out as a qualified C. N. A. C. flight captain. Some of the boys spent two or three months as co-pilots, others only two or three weeks. Even among the pilots who came to C.N.A.C. from the Flying Tigers after the American Volunteer Group was disbanded, there were several who spent a long time proving their ability to take a ship across the Himalayas entirely on their own. There were good reasons for this, because the Tigers were combat pilots; they were used to light, fast, single-motor planes; their previous training had taught them how to attack, to fight, to strafe—to always be on the offensive. And now they were jockeying flying freight cars; slow, cumbersome, DC-3's and C-47's, and their instructions were to run for cover whenever they saw a Zero. That was hard to take for some of those lads, but those who didn't catch on pretty fast were never heard from again.

There were a number of factors that contributed to my passing the final flight check after seven trips "over the Hump." In the first place, I had my instrument rating and was not only able to fly blind but liked doing it; secondly, I had a thorough background in navigation; and thirdly, my year in England with the A.T.A. had taught me how to fly in almost any kind of weather, to always be on the watch for enemy planes, and to always think first of my crew and passengers, then of the plane, and only after that of heroics. On that seventh day I went up with Captain Woods, the chief pilot at Dinjan, and he put me through all my paces. Flying at a thousand feet we headed due East (90 degrees) for 10 minutes; then East Southeast (110 degrees) for seven minutes; and due South (180 degrees) for three minutes. Then Woods said, "Head me into the station." Looking only at my instruments, seeing nothing of the ground below, I had to figure how far we had traveled, exactly how long it would take to return to the field, and at what angle I would approach it. We headed back, and halfway there Woods said, "Turn to the right 90 degrees." A moment later he said, "Turn to the left 75 degrees." Then, "Take a check on where you are." I told him where we were, and he said, "All right, head me into the station." We came in entirely on instruments and touched the runway exactly as planned. Woods shook my hand before he climbed out of the plane.

There was never a dull minute in the C. N. A. C. In my first three weeks flying the Hump my plane was attacked five times by Jap Zeros; twice I was forced to return to my base because of motor trouble; once a cargo of two Army jeeps broke loose from their moorings, and for two hours of rough flying threatened to tear out the sides of the ship; and on my last trip back from Kunming before leaving for Calcutta and a week of relaxation I fought my way through an ice storm that in something less than 24 hours brought destruction to three Army planes and their crews. That, of course, was in the early days of the Army Transport Command, and at that time, in spite of their superior equipment, they were losing eight to 10 planes a month over the Himalayas—compared to three or four a year in the C.N.A.C.

Californian And Child Killed in Plunge

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24. (AP)—The restless waters beyond the Golden Gate today held the bodies of August Charles DeMont 37, and his 5-year-old daughter, Marilyn, who preceded him in an inexplicable 265-foot plunge yesterday from the bridge across the outlet to the bay.

Demont was described as "very nervous" and ill from a back injury received three months ago in his work as an elevator repairman, when he left his home with his youngest daughter to visit his physician.

A note was hastily scrawled on cardboard and left in the front seat of his car on Golden Gate bridge. It identified its owner and said simply, "I and my daughter have committed suicide."

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

THE Bureau of Internal Revenue has decided that a man is entitled to only one wife in a year.

A man from Missouri claimed two wives as dependents in his income tax return. His first wife died and he remarried the same year.

The tax bureau refused to allow his claim.

BRANDEIS

We had some friends at the house over the week end, and as usual, when two or more married couples get together, marriage was one of the subjects under discussion.

We were talking about one man who is now married to his third wife and, apparently, very happy.

His two former wives died and, according to all appearances, he had been happy with them as well, and in love with all three.

So, naturally, we talked about love.

Can a man be in love more than once?

Or a woman?

Is there really only one Jack for every Jill, and vice versa?

Supposing that were so, and your particular soul mate lived in Australia and you in Pennsylvania, would you have to go through life without love?

The friends who visited us have a boy and a girl.

In a few years the girl will be of marriageable age.

Already the parents are worrying whether she'll marry the right kind of a fellow.

These two live in a suburb of New York where the people are rather class-conscious but where the butcher's, the baker's, the candlestick maker's—and the banker's children all go to school together.

Wouldn't it be awful, thought our friend, if the banker's daughter should fall in love with the butcher's son and marry him?

Well, I told the lady that I would be proud to have my daughter marry a butcher's son or a baker's son or a shoemaker's son.

If that boy has character, if he is decent, honest, industrious and if he loves my daughter, he'll be a better husband to her than some little society snip from Park avenue who'd make my kid unhappy and have nothing to give her but so-called background and a tinseled name.

IF my daughter were happy with the butcher's son and she should die, I doubt whether he would try to claim two wives in one year as dependents.

He'd be too broken up about her loss to marry again within "the taxable year."

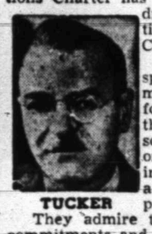

A Senatorial Dilemma

Charter Woes Strike Six Solons

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE SPECTACLE of stout, old Hiram Johnson standing by the isolationist colors of the 1919-1920 days has given a case of political heartburn to six distinguished members of the Senate Class of 1947, which consists of those senators who must face the voters in November of 1946.

Rarely have so many august legislators had to make so public a profession of whether they will listen to the voice of expediency or the United Nations Charter has provided an exciting, backstage drama to their colleagues and old-time newspaper correspondents on Capitol Hill.

TUCKER

The six men squirming on the spot that the veteran Californian made for them have no more use for the San Francisco agreement than they had for Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations covenant or the Connally resolution expressing Senate sentiment in favor of a world organization to preserve peace and security.

They admire the historic foe of international commitments, and secretly would like to fight alongside him, even though it be in a lost cause.

QUANDARIES: The six anxious fence-sitters, however, are ultra-smart politicians. And they figure that, for the moment at least, the electorate desires full American participation in the United Nations in an attempt to prevent future wars.

They suspect that this feeling may be tempered by future events and probable disillusionments, especially by resentment against the details of settlement of postwar problems. But they do not think that the shift will manifest itself before they have to go to the polls less than 17 months hence. So, according to their canny calculations, a negative ballot at this time against the post-Hitler pact may cost them their seats.

As a California institution whose independent thought and action are his most powerful assets, Mr. Johnson may be immune to ordinary political woes, but the lesser men are not so invulnerable. Therefore, their concern.

For the benefit of those who want a ringside seat at this bout of conscience versus political survival, the honorables involved are David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, Raymond E. Willis of Indiana, Robert M. La Follette, jr., of Wisconsin, Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, William Langer of North Dakota, and Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

COURT: President Truman's choice of a man to fill the Roberts vacancy on the Supreme court may exert a deeper influence on the American judiciary and bar — and millions of helpless litigants — than Franklin Roosevelt's unprecedented dominance of this third branch of the government. That statement holds true, even though FDR appointed or reappointed 294 of the 338 members of the federal bench.

The social and economic views of the Truman-named justice may trip the scales of the nine black-robed men to the liberal or conservative side. With Mr. Roberts, Chief Justice Harlan Stone, Associate Justices Felix Frankfurter and Bob Jackson usually composed the strict constitutionalists. Sometimes, as in his labor decisions, Frankfurter strayed away. But Justices Frank Murphy and Stanley Reed often shifted from the radical faction to join the Stone-Roberts group.

Justice Hugo Black has stepped out as the leader and mentor of the so-called Roosseveltian representatives. Had FDR lived, he would probably have become "the chief" when Mr. Stone resigns. Almost invariably Justices Bill Douglas and Wiley Rutledge vote with the former rampaging senator from Alabama. Thus, the Truman selection could easily determine which school of thought will represent the majority.

SENSITIVE: The high court, moreover, is a far more human and sensitive body of men than most people realize. Its members no longer dwell or pontificate in an Olympian loneliness and spirit of detachment. As the Hughes-Roberts managed pro-New Deal switch revealed several years ago, they do watch the election returns in so far as they reflect a change in public mores, needs and sentiment.

The jurists recognize that HST is a keen reader of the public mind. For that reason the kind of man he picks will furnish an up-to-date tip to the more secluded judicial politicians.

The present supreme tribunal's mercurial behavior, which led Mr. Roberts to compare its conflicting decisions to a "railroad ticket good for this day only," may incline Mr. Truman to forget the ideologies in choosing a new member. It is expected that he will name a man who believes in interpreting the laws as Congress passed them, and in leaving it to that body to remedy obvious wrongs by amending or repealing unwise statutes.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE RECORD-SHATTERING Anglo-American attack is only the beginning of combined operations.

The word in military circles is that any day now the British will throw into this theater their Abraham Lincoln bomber, the newest and largest type plane ever built by them, surpassing even the giant Lancaster. When these team up with our Superfortresses, Hirohito's cavemen no longer will find safety underground.

We are now reaching the climax of strategic bombing which must proceed the landings which Vice Admiral Daniel E. Barbey hinted could take place within 90 days at any time. The layman will better understand the happenings of the next few weeks if he grasps the objectives of this particular type of aerial warfare.

Our present mission, according to Lt. Col. Dave Hornby of the Command and General Staff school is the "progressive destruction and dislocation of the enemy's military, industrial and economic systems to a point where his capacity for armed resistance is fatally weakened."

LEMAN

To ward off inevitable doom, the Japs must hurl into the skies an air fleet stronger than our own or they must disperse and bury their factories, as the Germans did — too late — in the final stages of the European war.

Production is based on gathering raw materials, manufacturing them into goods and shipping the finished articles to the desired locations. The Nips no longer have the means to protect all three steps.

One of our first jobs is to deny the enemy his sources of raw materials — mines and wells. For example, heavy bombers not long ago plastered a Manchurian coal mine so badly that experts estimate the Japs will be deprived of its use for six months. Everyone recalls what happened to Goering's Luftwaffe when the Ploesti oil well installations went up in smoke.

Almost everything dug or pumped from the ground requires processing. Steel mills and munitions factories will always be tempting targets. But they can be dispersed; a mine is fixed point.

Japanese manufacturing is now supposed to be widely distributed among homes and small workshops. But the "bits and pieces" must be assembled to make a plane, ship or tank. These assembly centers are vulnerable but they, too, can be scattered and buried underground.

However, they cannot operate without electricity, steam or gas. As it is not easy to put power plants in caves and tunnels they are nearly always exposed.

Even if all of the units — mine, factory, assembly center and power house — escape destruction, production is still tied to transportation.

Atlas will enjoy a long vacation beginning at an early date. For a century or so the taxpayer will be carrying the world around on his shoulders.

"The best way to live a long time is to work hard and eat sparingly," asserts a physician. What's the next best way, doc?

Former Customers Of Germany In Saddle

Group Control Council 'Stacked'

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One of the biggest problems faced by the United States and its Allies in the control of Germany is to prevent the revival of Germany's giant industries which furnished the implements of war.

For this purpose our government set up a Group Control council to operate in Germany in conjunction with those of our Allies. In this country the Foreign Economic administration — FEA — created a series of committees of consultants, known as Technical Industrial Disarmament committees, to advise on policy.

STOKES

It was disclosed in this column a few weeks ago that some of the key positions on the so-called TID committees were held by men connected with large American corporations which either had contracts formerly with German industry in those international monopolies known as cartels, or had been convicted or pleaded guilty to monopolistic practices in this country, or both.

* * *

Congress Given Report

This set-up was questioned, as was pointed out at the time, by government officials familiar with cartel operations.

Now it turns out that there is a counterpart to this situation in the set-up abroad which is probably more important, since the U. S. group Control council operates directly on the ground. This was revealed to the House by Rep. Jerry Voorhis (D., Calif.), a thorough student of this subject.

HE DISCLOSED that key spots in the Group Control council setup are occupied by men connected with industries that have investments in Germany and therefore a stake in the revival of German industry, including automotives, electricity, communications and oil, among others.

Although not questioning the motives of these men, Mr. Voorhis said they must "at the very least carry a burden of having to overcome a natural vested interest of their companies in a rebuilding of Germany's industrial system along the old lines" and thus play into the hands of Germany's future war-planners.

Some Officials Listed

There is General Motors, with its Adam Opel works, in which General Motors had an investment of $34,890,024 written off in 1942, according to its financial report. The Opel works were described by Mr. Voorhis as "an integral part of the industrial fabric" of Germany.

Peter Hoglund, formerly head of Opel, now on leave from General Motors, is listed as chief of the Conversion and Liquidation branch of the Group Control. Edward Edunek, formerly General Motors manager at Antwerp, is chief of the Light Engineering branch. Brig. Gen. A. R. Glancy, retired, a General Motors vice president, is on the TID committee here dealing the German automotive industry.

INTERNATIONAL Telephone and Telegraph has a German subsidiary, International Standard Electric Corp., as well as holdings in other European countries. Two of its vice presidents —Kenneth Stockton and Mark Sundstrom—were made brigadier generals to become advisers to the Group Control council, the latter as head of the Communications divisions over the protest of the State department, according to Mr. Voorhis.

Formerly on the top board of directors of I. T. and T. was Lt. Gen. Kirt von Schroeder, whom the California congressman described as "an official of the notorious Schroeder bank and lieutenant general in Hitler's own S. S. corps, which was the heart of the Nazi army."

Oil Represented, Too

Westinghouse Electric, which had cartel agreements with German firms before the war, is represented by Charles H. Powel, who is chief of the Electrical and Radio branch of the Group Council. The Fuel and Mining branch is headed by Philip Gaethke, formerly manager for Anaconda Copper Co. in Upper Silesia.

In the oil section with him is Brandon Grove, former head of Socony Vacuum in Romania, also a member of the TID Oil and Petroleum Industry committee, and assistant chief of the Petroleum division, FEA.

THE deputy chief of the Economic division of the Group Control council, Civil Affairs section of the Army, who has much to do with appointments to the council and its various units, is Robert E. McConnell. He was an official of General Aniline and Film Co., American subsidiary of I. G. Farben, when it was taken over by the Alien Property custodian.

STOCK PRICES STEADY

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Steadier tendencies appeared in today's stock market, with steels and motors leading a selective comeback, but dealings were the slowest in more than three month and losers plentiful.

A little buying was based on the idea a technical revival might be in the offing. Earnings and dividends still provided mild bullish inspiration.

Transfers of 640,000 shares compared with 750,000 Monday. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was unchanged at 64.2.

Among favorites, Pacific Tin edged into new high ground for 1945. U. S. Steel was up ⅛, Bethlehem, Chrysler 1 and General Motors ¼. Pan American Airways again was the liveliest performer, finishing ahead 1¼, but American Airways dropped 3 points.

On the declining side were Great Northern, Woolworth, Sperry, Anaconda, Kennecott, Union Carbide, J. C. Penney and Caterpillar Tractor.

Bond were uneven.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Cotton futures moved through a quiet session today with price movements narrow as traders awaited further crop developments and war news. Light hedging and liquidation depresses values 40 cents a bale in early trading, but mill buying and local covering rallied the list in later dealings. Final prices were 30 cents a bale higher to 10 lower.

Some buying by spot firms was attributed to covering against the recent sale of cotton to Spain. Traders anticipated aggressive bidding for the additional purchase program stocks to be made available by the Commodity Credit corporation beginning August 1.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — Grain futures with the exception of oats carried a firm undertone in today's trade.

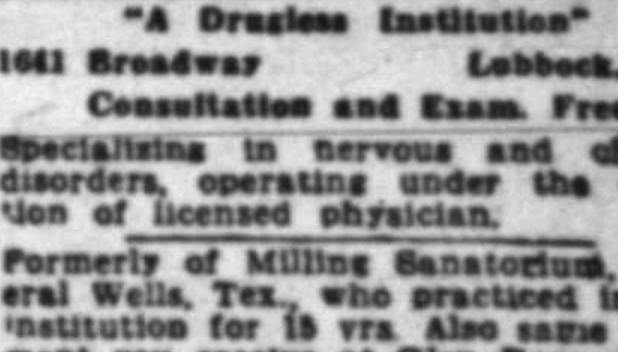

Reports of government purchase of cash wheat, combined with an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson that the national planting goal for 1946 wheat would be 68,875,000 acres were contributing factors in the advance of wheat. The government goal for wheat acreage is 67,000 acres more than this year, and was interpeted by traders as meaning a large part of this year's crop would go to feeding war stricken countries.

At the close wheat was 1¼ to 1⅜ higher than yesterday's close, Sept. $1.63⅛-¼. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ higher, Sept. $1.18½. Oats were ⅛ to ½ lower, Sept. 64⅛-⅝. Rye was 2 cents to 2⅜ higher Sept. $1.43⅛-¼. Barley was ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, Sept. $1.11⅛.

Jap Fleet May Be Whittled Even Beyond Use For Suicide Forays

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

Enemy warship casualty returns from the most massive naval air strike yet launched against Japan by Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet are incomplete but sufficient to confirm the impression that remnants of Nipponese sea power is holed up in the inland sea. It remains to be seen whether there will be enough of it left for even suicide forays when Halsey's dive and torpedo bombers finish with it.

SIMPSON

The Kure naval base, Japan's greatest, lies on the south shore of Honshu island. It affords anchorage for a big fleet of heavy ships in the deep bay on which it fronts and is ideally located for naval sorties into either the Pacific or the Sea of Japan.

By Japanese admission Halsey's pilots caught ships "at anchor" in their sustained attack favored by clear weather. It also is highly probable that Japanese warcraft damaged in previous sea engagements were in drydock undergoing repairs, sitting targets for the American carrier-launched planes.

Not Likely All There

It is unlikely, however, that all of Japan's remaining battle fleet would have been risked in the Kure bay anchorage with Halsey's ships and planes roving the Japanese Pacific coast.

The strike at Kure stirred up not only intense anti-aircraft fire but for the first time in weeks brought Jap interceptor planes into air. That of itself is significant of the desperation with which the enemy has been trying to conserve his badly depleted surface strength for suicide use when the first invasion move against the home islands comes.

Assuming, as many American high ranking naval commanders do, that Japanese sea and air power is being held out of action for invasion day use, it is questionable whether the morale of both enemy services is not suffering.

Rat-Proofing Work To Be Extended In City; Covers Garbage Cans

While the officials in charge of the anti-rat campaign here are now concentrating on the rat-proofing of downtown business buildings they plan to enforce the new ordinance No. 706 as it applies to home-owners, James H. Harris, of the sanitation control unit of the United States Public Health department, disclosed yesterday.

He praised the cooperation that the rat-proofing campaign is receiving from all city officials and from local property owners.

"Our only difficulties have come from absentee property owners who do not understand the problem or its importance," he said.

The local rat-proofing campaign, which got under way about ten days ago following adoption of the new city ordinance, is under the direction of Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

Section 12 of the ordinance specifies that no garbage or other waste material must be left where it will provide food for the rodents and aid in their increase. Section 13 makes it unlawful for any resident to leave lumber, bricks or other such materials so piled that they form harboring and breeding places for rats. All such materials, the ordinance states, must be placed on open racks not less than 18 inches above the ground.

Another requirement, under the new regulation, is that garbage cans must have covers sufficiently tight to keep out rats.

Three local business places have been rat-proofed to date, the officials reported.

Mount Morrison, on Formosa, is the highest point in the Japanese Empire—13,075 feet.
