Guilty plea given in college theft, restitution slated

An investigation of missing funds at Western Texas College — first revealed by WTC officials last Oct. 17 — ended Thursday with the guilty plea of a former college cashier accused of the theft.

As part of the plea, full restitution of the cash identified as missing was pledged. This amount totals $24,479.

Admitting to the offense Thursday in 132nd District Court was Barbara Darlene Lee, 29, now of Austin.

As part of her plea bargain agreement, she was granted 10 years felony probation in addition to restitution and a fine of $500.

Lee, who resigned her position as cashier at the college and moved to Austin at the end of September, had been indicted by a Scurry County grand jury in November.

She faced charges on two separate counts of felony theft in connection with funds found missing at the college business office during the annual October audit.

Medical examiner testifies victim beaten before death

ODESSA (Special)–A head injury and bruises on the lips and eyelids of a slain Lubbock woman may have been inflicted before death, a Dallas county medical examiner testified today during the murder trial of the woman's husband.

Dr. Richard Fossum, who performed the May 22, 1985 autopsy of the 35-year-old Evelyne Feather MacLeod, told jurors that he found bruises on her eyelids and lower lip, as well as evidence of a blow to her skull, on the woman's severed head.

A dead person can be bruised only five or 10 minutes after death, the examiner testified, adding that the head injury and eyelid and lip bruises appeared to have been inflicted before the woman's death.

Lubbock school teacher Arthur Lee MacLeod, 36, is charged with murder in the death of his bride of five months. He stands accused of strangling Mrs. MacLeod, sawing off her head and hands and burying them in the couple's back yard, according to court records.

Mrs. MacLeod died from manual strangulation in the early morning hours of May 20, the day before her mutiliated body was discovered in a ravine by two Fluvanna ranchers, Lubbock County District Attorney Jim Bob Darnell said, summing up Fossum's autopsy report.

On Thursday, MacLeod dipped his head and periodically gnawed on his fingernails. He otherwise sat quietly as six prosecution witnesses filed through the stand.

Several testified they found what appeared to be blood and bone chips inside MacLeod's backyard storage shed, where investigators said they also discovered hair and some dirt attached to a shovel hanging inside the shed.

In an outlining of his intended prosecution Darnell has said that Mrs. MacLeod's head and hands were unearthed from beneath two newly planted Arizona Cypress plants in the MacLeods' yard.

During a Dec. 9 pre-trial hearing, Lubbock law officers testified that when MacLeod was arrested outside his home, his leg and shoes were spotted with what appeared to be blood.

Judge Tryon Lewis of the state's 161st District Court in Odessa is presiding over the trial after the case was moved from Lubbock.

Ask Us

Q. — If you are delinquent on your school taxes in the Hermleigh ISD and it was abolished, could you be sued for those taxes by Snyder ISD?

A. Yes. The district which would assume the abolished district assumes both liabilities and assets, and any unpaid taxes are considered an asset.

In Brief

Fire deaths

ETHEL, Texas (AP) — Firefighters say a man and his two children were killed early today in a house blaze in this Northeast Texas community.

Grayson County Sheriff's officers said they were notified shortly after 3 a.m. of the fire. But officers said the house was engulfed in flames by the time firefighters from Collinsville arrived.

Officials say the man and his children were apparently asleep and unable to get out of the house before being overcome by the smoke and flames.

Prices drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Futures prices for crude oil and heating oil plummeted to their lowest levels since the late 1970s, and analysts said oversupply and mild weather appeared to be the basic factors behind the plunge.

Many contracts for future delivery of petroleum dropped the daily maximum of $1 a barrel allowed on Thursday, hitting the lowest levels of the 1980s, the New York Mercantile Exchange said. The crude oil contract for February, on which there is no daily limit, fell $1.04 a barrel to $24.11.

Nephew out

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — A nephew of first lady Imelda Marcos said today he had resigned his diplomatic post and would support Corazon Aquino, the opposition challenger to President Ferdinand E. Marcos in the Feb. 7 special election.

Norberto Romualdez III told a news conference he was quitting his positions as commercial counselor of the Philippine Embassy in Brussels, Belgium, and director of the trade center of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations in Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Resident found by Hwy. 84

A 54-year-old Hermleigh man was found unconscious beside U.S. Hwy. 84 some 2 miles southeast of Snyder around 10 a.m. Friday.

Joe Dell Matthews of Hermleigh was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by units of Aid Ambulance-Snyder. He remained under treatment in the emergency room at noon.

According to Sheriff Keith Collier, Matthews was seen lying on the right shoulder of the southbound traffic lane by a passing motorist.

Collier said Matthews is known to walk from Hermleigh to Snyder along 84 on a regular basis.

Law enforcement officers at the scene speculated he might have been struck a glancing blow by a passing vehicle.

Investigators have not, however, ruled out the possibility that he had been beaten and dumped beside the road.

Collier said it may not be known exactly what happened to Matthews until he has recovered sufficiently to speak with investigators.

Hermleigh ISD future before voters

Hermleigh ISD voters will go to the polls Saturday to determine the fate of that school system.

The issue has already produced a record turnout for absentee voting in the area — with some 184 votes recorded at the close of absentee voting Tuesday.

The polls Saturday in Scurry County will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Hermleigh Community Center.

Voting will take place also in Fisher County, where a small portion of the district overlaps.

The election comes as the result of a petition signed by some 101 residents in the district and submitted to the county clerk's office in early November. The petition requested "an election on the question to abolish the Hermleigh Independent School District."

Once the petition's signatures were verified, County Judge Preston Wilson set the election date for Jan. 18.

On Dec. 9, county commissioners named Jerry Clift as election judge and Carol Haynes as alternate. On Dec. 23, the court approved a request for additional help and learned that assistance from the Secretary of State's office had been requested.

Elizabeth Blair from the state office in Austin will monitor election activities also.

This year, the district has been squeezed by an overall property value decline and a drop in state aid. This past August, Hermleigh school board members set a tax rate at 96.05 cents per $100 valuation, up from 67.1 cents last year.

The decreased valuations totaled nearly $2 million less than last year, coupled with a loss of $54,658 in state aid. These two factors forced the tax rate to 89.4 cents with another seven cents added to fund a budget increase, it has been noted.

If the vote favors abolition, the Hermleigh district would have to be absorbed by the Snyder ISD. This change would not have to go into effect until the end of the current school term, however.

Saturday's election marks the second time in seven years that voters have been asked to decide the future of the Hermleigh ISD.

On Jan. 20, 1979, voters in both Hermleigh and Snyder turned out to decide the issue of consolidating the rural school district here.

That proposal — also called by petition request — failed by more than 2 to 1 voting from both sides.

Hermleigh ISD voters cast 321 ballots against versus 107 for. At that time, there were an estimated 500 registered voters in the district. This estimate is now set at 650.

Dracula cast tops 30

When the Snyder Drama Department's production of "Dracula" takes to the stage Saturday, a cast of 31 players will be featured.

The three-act stage play has been adapted from the Bram Stoker novel by a student group headed by Tim Curfman.

Most productions of the gothic horror tale feature only six to 10 players, according to drama instructor Jerry Worsham.

King 1st black to get sculpture in capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coretta Scott King says she hopes the newly installed bust of her husband in the Capitol Rotunda will remind Americans that "we have much work yet to do" in achieving Martin Luther King Jr.'s dream of racial justice.

But Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., a leader in the long legislative battle to honor King's memory with a memorial sculpture in the halls of Congress, says his lasting monument is found elsewhere.

"When you see a lunch counter with black and white Americans eating together, when you see black and white children playing together in a school yard, when you see a bus in Birmingham or a voting booth in Selma, when you see black Americans and white Americans working together for a better life for all Americans, then you see his monument," Mathias said.

King, grandchild of slaves and martyred champion of racial equality, is the first black American to be accorded the honor of a sculpted likeness in the halls of Congress. His bust stands alongside Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and other heroes.

The larger-than-life bronze bust of the slain civil rights leader was unveiled Thursday by his widow in the Rotunda, as the applause of members of Congress, King's family and many of King's former civil rights lieutenants echoed in the lofty chamber.

"I hope this statue always reminds us that America's strength is in its pluralism and its people's respect for one another," Mrs. King said.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. King met privately at the White House with President Reagan, who did not attend the unveiling or an earlier tribute to King by government employees in a downtown Commerce Department auditorium.

Attorney General Edwin Meese canceled a scheduled appearance at the federal employees' tribute, explaining through an aide that he was attending a White House meeting on child safety that lasted longer than expected.

Shuttle landing is delayed again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Rain-laden clouds blocked Columbia's astronauts from landing in Florida for the second straight day today, and NASA directed them to stay in orbit for another 24 hours and try again Saturday.

"We are waving from KSC (Kennedy Space Center)," Mission Control communicator Fred Gregory radioed the crew just 22 minutes before Commander Robert Gibson was to have fired braking rockets to start a descent toward what would have been the first shuttle landing at this spaceport in nine months.

Gibson was told to circle the globe one more time and to aim for a touchdown on the dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base in the Mojave Desert at 5:40 a.m. PST (8:40 a.m. EST).

But Mission Control said that was a tentative decision, with officials wanting to take a look at Saturday's forecast to see if there was a possibility Columbia could land at the space center then.

Even though the outlook was worse than today, flight director Gary Coen directed one more try to land here in an effort to preserve NASA's ambitious schedule of 15 shuttle launches this year.

A landing at Edwards would disrupt that schedule because of time lost returning Columbia here and possibly could lead to cancellation of Columbia's next flight in March. It would also cost the space agency an extra $.5 to $2 million. It already has lost $1.5 million on Columbia launch delays.

"We're going to take one more shot at KSC," Gregory told Gibson.

Earlier today, NASA said conditions looked unacceptable here Saturday and left open only the options of landing here or at Edwards today..

NASA officials ordered the waveoff when chief astronaut John Young, flying a weather reconnaissance plane over this space center, reported "there are several clouds with moisture" over the runway. This is an unacceptable condition because droplets could severly damage heat protection tiles on the fast-moving shuttle.

The seven-man crew includes Rep. Bill Nelson of Florida.

Clouds and rain also forced a wave-off on Thursday, when Columbia was trying to land a day early to help relieve pressure on the tight shuttle launch schedule.

Former Teachers Don't Enjoy Playing Students' Name Game

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired schoolteacher who would like to get an important message across to the general public. Please do not walk up to a former teacher and say, "I'll bet you don't remember me."

The chances are that the teacher will not remember you because you have changed a great deal since you were a student.

First say, "Hello, I am John Jones." (Or Mary Smith, or whatever your name is.) If you are a married woman, use your maiden name. It would also help if you mentioned the year you were in his or her class.

I have had at least 10,000 students in my classes, so please cut out the guessing games and give us old schoolteachers a break.

P.S. 26 in N.Y.C.

DEAR P.S.: Schoolteachers aren't the only ones who are irritated when someone comes up to them and says, "I'll bet you don't remember me!"

If the answer is no, the only appropriate response would be, "You're absolutely right. I'm sorry. I don't."

That precludes the guessing games in which there are no winners.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I know you must have advice in the form of a letter to "the other woman," telling her of the harm and hurt she is causing. I would like to send such advice to the woman who is interfering with my 24-year marriage, but I have trouble expressing myself without showing my anger and bitterness.

Our three children are extremely hurt and resent all the lying and deception that's been going on for nearly two years. They are 17, 20 and 22—old enough to understand, but they are hurting and confused as I am. Awaiting your reply.

THE WIFE HE PUSHED ASIDE

DEAR WIFE: Sorry. A letter from the wife to the other woman wouldn't justify the price of postage. Don't humble yourself hoping she will see the error of her ways and send her married lover back to his family. Deal with your husband directly. Unless he was hypnotized or kidnapped, he's a free agent and an equal partner in their illicit relationship.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Please help me! I'm really scared. I'm bulimic and I'm on the pill. I've been trying real hard to control my bulimia and have been doing real well. But I'm scared because I don't know if it lessens the effect of the dosage when I force myself to vomit.

I take my pill just like the doctor told me—I never skip a pill and I take it as directed. I can't have you answer me at home because my parents open my mail, and if they find out I'm on the pill, they'll disown me. I'm 21 and plan to get married next year, but my parents would never understand.

SCARED

DEAR SCARED: Bulimia is far more serious than you realize. You need to talk to a physician about this. You are 21, and old enough to make your own decisions with regard to birth control.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: "Stumped in Baltimore" seems upset when people ask her if her baby is her grandchild. She is 45 years old.

Our last child was born when I was 51 and my wife 42. This little boy was a much wanted child, and when people would ask, "Is that your grandson?" I would answer in the affirmative. "Yes, he is my grand son!" (With the accent on the "grand.")

That was 23 years ago, and believe me, he is still my grand son—even though I'm not his grandfather!

Garwood offers to go to Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert R. Garwood, the Marine convicted of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner in Vietnam, says he wants to go to Southeast Asia with a congressional task force and "help bring home live POWS."

Garwood volunteered Thursday to accompany the task force to Vietnam as "your personal interpreter" and show the group where he last saw American captives alive.

"I feel that due to my understanding and my intimate knowledge of the Vietnamese language that I can tell you when the Vietnam Communists are trying to lie to you," he wrote Rep. Gerald B.H. Solomon, R-N.Y., chairman of the Task Force on Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia.

Likely sites decried

By The Associated Press

Maine's governor accused the Reagan administration of playing politics in the selection of 12 proposed sites in seven states as underground nuclear waste dumps, and the heads of all seven states said the dumps should be elsewhere.

Gov. Joseph E. Brennan of Maine claimed that the administration offered to remove states from consideration where favored candidates were elected, but Hunter Weiler, northeast regional manager in the Energy Department's Crystalline Repository Project, on Thursday denied the charge.

"What you see is basically what came out of a computerized process," he said.

Leaders in the six other states singled out Thursday, Wisconsin, Georgia, Minnesota, North Carolina, New Hampshire and Virginia, said they did not want the facility to store highly radioactive wastes from nuclear reactors, weapons and other sources for 10,000 years.

Minnesota has three proposed sites, more than any other state, as well as five sites on an eight-site backup list, and Thursday's announcement brought swift criticism from Gov. Rudy Perpich.

BEAUTY BRIEFS

Winter bathing

In winter, hot baths can lead to excessively dry skin.

Hot water isn't relaxing. Actually it's hard on the heart and circulatory system. Water temperature should be comfortably warm, not hot enough to redden the skin.

Add bath oil or salts to soften and smooth skin. A scrub sponge, loofah, can be used to remove dead skin cells.

Black skin

The pigmentation of black skin gives it more protection against the aging caused by sunlight, but black beauty expert Al Fornay Jr. says that heredity and diet can also affect aging of skin.

As beauty expert for Ebony magazine, Fornay has found that black women particularly need a moisturizing eye cream.

I confess I hardly knew what was happening when I played today's hand, but somehow it worked out. Today's moral is "Don't go out of your way to do anything fancy." I won the spade jack and played the heart ace. When East played the queen, I thought he might have Q-J-10. If so, he would win the third heart and probably lead back a troublesome spade. So I decided to see if West had the club ace. When I played a club to the king, it held. East's holdup was the fancy play that scuttled his chances of setting my contract.

Now I played a diamond from dummy, intending to insert my nine, but East split his honors. I won the ace and reverted to hearts, playing king and another. West had to win the 10. East shedding the diamond eight. As you can see, East was desperately hoping that West had another club to play. No such luck. West returned his last heart to dummy's nine as I discarded a club. Now I played a diamond back to my king. I still thought West probably had the club ace, but it was now safe to clear the diamond suit. East had to win the diamond and play away from his ace of clubs, so I made an overtrick.

Look how easy the defense is if East simply wins the first club trick and returns that suit while he still has a probable diamond entry. I can get out for down one by cashing two high diamonds and end playing West in hearts as before, but I can never make the contract.

District 2-4A cage matchup...

Tigers challenge Eagles at 8 tonight

Snyder's big matchup with rival Lamesa occurs here Tuesday, but the Tigers must first contend with an upstart Pecos team tonight.

Tipoff for the District 2-4A game is 8 o'clock, preceded by a junior varsity tilt at 6:30.

Snyder's girls play in Pecos tonight, also at 6:30 and 8. Tickets for either set of games are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Pecos' boys are 9-7 for the season and in the middle of the district playoff race with a 3-2 record. Snyder is 13-4 and 4-1.

The Tigers need a victory to stay strong in the running for a playoff spot. Snyder can help itself to that advantage when loop leader Lamesa comes calling on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, SHS Coach Larry Scott wants the fans out for tonight's game.

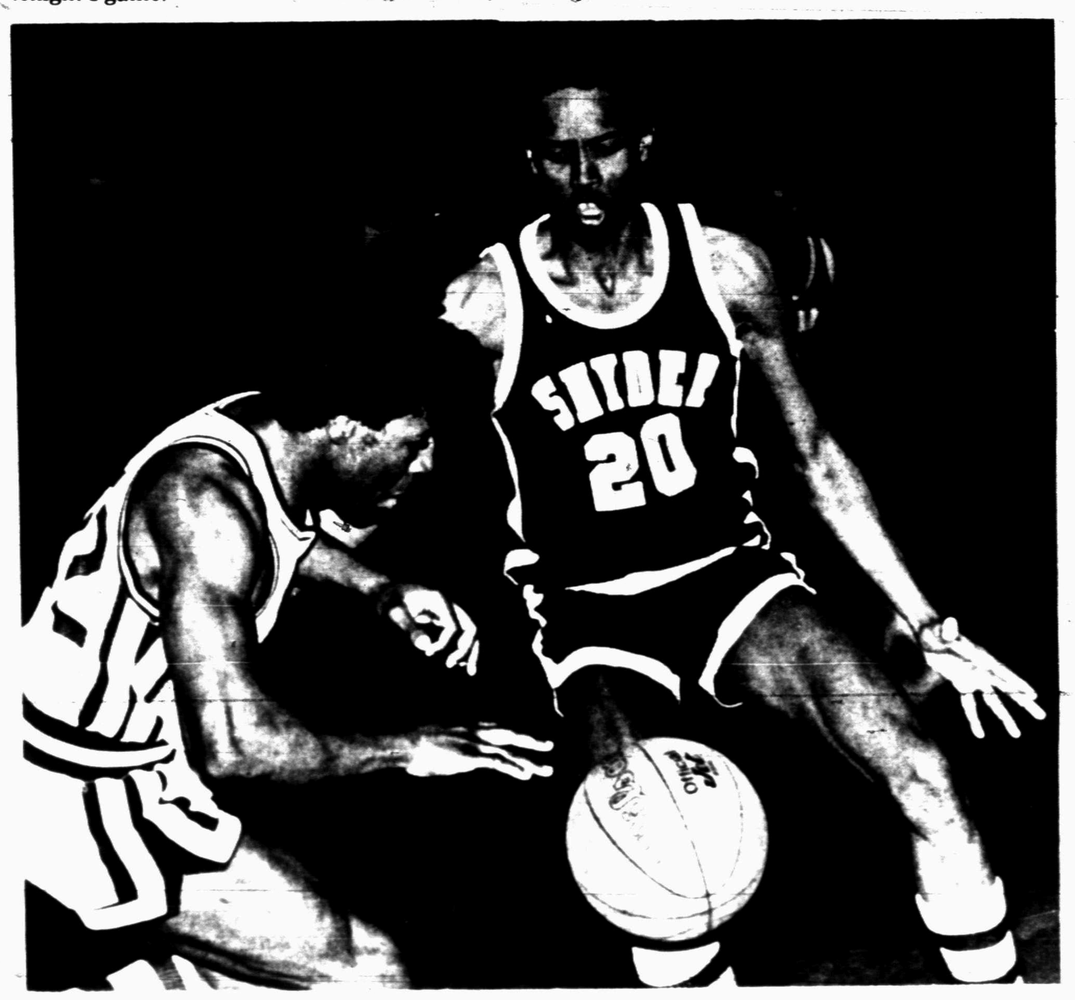

"Pecos has a good basketball team. They are in it just like we are. We're going to have to play well," he said. "We'd like to encourage our fans to come out and see the game."

Pecos' game is centered around 6-3 senior Henry Jones, who averages 18.6 points and 11 rebounds a game. Fili Talamantez, a 5-11 junior, adds 11 points.

"Jones is a good leaper, a good shooter and a good rebounder," said Coach Larry Scott. "He keeps them going inside."

The rest of the lineup includes 6-1 senior Oscar Mariscal, 6-0 senior Adan Herrera and 5-10 freshman Bobby Ray Smith.

Mariscal averages 7 points and Herrera 6.7.

TIGERS HOST EAGLES -- Snyder's varsity boys entertain the Eagles of Pecos tonight at 8 in Scurry County Coliseum. The show begins with a 6:30 JV game. The local girls also play Pecos, in Pecos, at 6:30 and 8. Above, Bobby Scott puts pressure on an opposing ballhandler. (SDN Staff Photo)

First off the bench will be guard Brian Foster. He's 5-9.

Snyder will have a slight height advantage with 6-4 sophomore Trey Tippens and 6-3 junior Chris Garrett inside. Jackie Anderson and Bobby Scott, a pair of 6-1 seniors, will fill two other starting roles. Guard Mike McWilliams, a 5-11 senior, will be the other.

Anderson leads Snyder in scoring with a 15.5 average. Scott gets 12.5 and Tippens 10.1. Garrett leads the boards with 11 rebounds an outing.

The task for Snyder girls is to not fall into complacency. The Lady Tigers face an 0-7 team in Pecos tonight, then matchup with a lackluster 4-3 Lamesa team on Tuesday. The following Friday, however, they entertain Andrews in a game that should go a long way in determining the girl's 2-4A race.

Pecos girls are 4-13 for the season. Snyder girls are 16-2 and 5-2 in district play.

Tubbs fights Witherspoon

ATLANTA (AP) - In the audience for tonight's Tony Tubbs-Tim Witherspoon World Boxing Association heavyweight title fight will be a man who once used both of the participants as sparring partners.

Muhammad Ali, the three-time heavyweight champion, will be marking his 44th birthday at the 18,000-seat Omni for the scheduled 15-round bout, scheduled to begin about 10 p.m. EST. It will be televised by HBO.

Ali sparred with both men this week, although each threw hardly any punches at Ali's head.

Both Tubbs and Witherspoon became champions by beating Greg Page.

Tubbs, 27, won the title at stake tonight on a 15-round unanimous decision over Page last April 29. He enters his first defense with a 22-0 record with 15 knockouts.

Witherspoon won the vacant World Boxing Council title on a 12-round majority decision over Page on March 9, 1984. He subsequently lost the title on a 12-round majority decision to Pinklon Thomas on Aug. 12, 1984.

Witherspoon's only other loss was on a 12-round split decision in a WBC title bid against Larry Holmes on May 20, 1983. Since losing to Thomas, he has won five fights and has a 23-2 record with 16 knockouts.

Page also will fight on tonight's card, as will heavyweight contenders Trevor Berbick, David Bey, Eddie Gregg and Mitch Green.

"If I get by Tim Witherspoon, there will be more money for me," said Tubbs, who reportedly is getting about $125,000, by far his biggest purse.

The 6-foot-3 Tubbs officially weighed 244 pounds Thursday. That was 15 pounds more than he weighed when he won the title. Witherspoon, also 6-3, weighed 227.

The only defending champions who weighed more than Tubbs were Primo Carnera and Jess Willard.

Page, 236, will fight Buster Doulas, 230. Berbick, 221, will meet Mike Perkins, 208. Bey, 236, will fight Wes Smith, 249. Gregg, 222, will box Walter Santemore, 237, and Green, 225, will fight Percell Davis, 248.

Gomez surprise semifinal entry

NEW YORK (AP) - West Germany's Boris Becker, who expected to do well, and Ecuador's Andres Gomez, who expected to have the week off, are nestled in the semifinals of the $500,000 Nabisco Masters tennis championships, waiting for the world's No. 1 player.

"My picture's not in the program," said Gomez, who was rushed into the 16-player field at the last minute when fourth-seeded Jimmy Connors withdrew because of illness. "People don't even know I'm in the tournament. It's like they came here and said, 'Who's this guy,' and what happened to Connors?'"

Becker, on the other hand, was considered one of the favorites in this season-ending tournament. And his way was cleared considerably when defending champion John McEnroe was a first-round upset victim to Brad Gilbert.

On Thursday, Becker blasted his way past third-seeded Mats Wilander of Sweden 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 after Gomez ousted Johan Kriek 6-3, 6-2.

Tonight, the semifinal pairings will be completed when top-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia plays Tim Mayotte and Sweden's Anders Jarryd takes on Gilbert. The Lendl-Mayotte winner will battle Gomez in Saturday's semifinal, while Becker will face the Jarryd-Gilbert winner.

Wolverines axed; UAB beaten, too

by The Associated Press

The Michigan Wolverines had been running roughshod over the Big Ten for nearly a year - until Minnesota ran them down.

The Gophers used second-ranked Michigan's own style to knock off the Wolverines 73-63 Thursday night. That ended Michigan's streak of 32 straight regular-season triumphs, including 19 in the Big Ten. The Wolverines are 16-1, 4-1 in the conference; Minnesota is 11-6 and 1-3.

Marc Wilson scored 22 of his 24 points in the second half as the host Gophers used a relentless fast break, something the Wolverines usually utilize to overwhelm the opposition.

"That's my game - transition," Wilson said. "There were a lot of open lanes and I just took them."

Wilson was 8-for-9 from the field and from the free-throw line.

Another ranked team, No. 12 Alabama-Birmingham, was victimized Thursday night, falling to Western Kentucky 75-72 in overtime.

Also, No. 3 Duke blasted Wake Forest 92-63; No. 10 Nevada-Las Vegas 79, Cal-Santa Barbara 65; No. 17 Texas-El Paso held off Hawaii 65-63; 19th-rated Purdue got by Northwestern 85-64, and No. 20 Bradley routed West Texas State 78-53.

Texas-El Paso needed 19 points from forward Juden Smith, including seven in the last four minutes, to hold off Hawaii. The Miners improved their overall record to 15-2 and 4-1 in the Western Athletic Conference, while Hawaii absorbed its 12th straight loss and fell to 3-13 overall.

Against Northwestern, sophomore forward Todd Mitchell had 11 second-half points, including six in a 14-point run to start the second half for Purdue, 4-1 in conference play and 15-3 overall.

Bradley, which has had some last-minute victories recently, was happy to have a breather.

Western Texas teams begin two-game trip to Panhandle

CLARENDON -- Clarendon College plays host to Western Texas as the Dusters and Westerners gear up for more conference basketball action here Saturday.

The women's game is scheduled for 6 while the men tip off at 8.

The contests begin a two-game road trip for Western, which will stay in the Panhandle over the weekend, then play Frank Phillips in a double header Monday at Borger.

WOMEN

Western Texas' women bring a four-game win streak into Saturday's game, including an impressive 88-70 conference victory over New Mexico Junior College. The Dusters, 16-6 for the season, defeated non-conference foe Ranger 68-57 on Thursday.

Western is 2-1 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference action.

Clarendon's women are 8-5 on the season and 1-2 in WJCAC play after being nipped 63-62 by South Plains earlier in the week.

Clarendon's Lady Bulldogs boast four players averaging in double figures. Victoria Peacock averages 15.7 points and 8.2 rebounds. Angela Tate follows with 14 points and 6.3 rebounds. Other key individuals are Sheilah Adams, 11.2 points, Linda Weatherton, 10.6 points, and Tia Stewart who hails figures of 8.6 points, 7.8 rebounds and a total 21 blocked shots.

Clarendon averages 68 points and is allowing 62.8 while shooting .457 from the field.

WTC's Dusters are shooting .514 from the field. Brenda Welch and Pam Cox lead the scoring with averages of 19.7 and 18.8 points respectively. They are currently the WJCAC's top field goal shooters, percentage-wise. Welch is hitting 62 percent of her field goals; Cox 59 percent.

MEN

Western Texas' men are 2-2 in conference play and are looking for a good performance Saturday, and next Friday in Borger (Frank Phillips) to stay in the thick of the WJCAC.

"We're one game out of second place. I think if we can win these two we'll be right there. We just can't let up," said Coach Phil Spradling. "We've got to play better defense and get on the boards and get back to not give up such easy baskets."

The Westerners are 11-6 for 1985-86 while Clarendon's Bulldogs are 6-8 for the season and 2-2 in conference play.

Clarendon's latest outing was a 63-60 win over NMMI.

Virgil Reagins keys the Clarendon attack. He averages 21.4 points - tops in the WJCAC - and is pulling down 8.4 rebounds.

Other top players include Vincent Mason, 14 points and 5.5 assists, LaVert Bizzle, 10 points, and Tim Moore, 8 points and 7 rebounds.

The 'Dogs are shooting .485 from the field while averaging 74.5 points offensively and giving up 73.6.

James Dawn, a 6-5 sophomore, leads Western with 17.7 points and 8 boards a game. Freshman Alvin Lee is averaging 17.4 - he had 30 in the loss to NMJC - while Alvin Hicks is scoring 14.7 and Cliff Langford is scoring 12.4.

The Westerners are usually a good shooting team. They hit .525 of their field goals on the average while scoring 89.8 points.

Dusters overcome Ranger JC, 68-57

RANGER -- Ranger must have thought it was playing on the road instead of serving as host.

The Rangers won from the field but lost this ballgame from the free throw line, 68-57 to the Dusters of Western Texas College here Thursday.

Western, which pushed its season record to 16-6 with the non-conference victory, shot 44 free throws. The Dusters made only 28 of them, but it was enough to overcome Rangers' 10-point advantage from the field.

Ranger went to the line only 11 times and made seven of them.

Western was led by dual 19s from Pam Cox and Brenda Welch. Gigi Robinson punched in 8 points while Diana Quincy and Angela Jeans popped for 7 apiece.

WTC led at halftime 40-26 and spent the rest of the game concentrating on good defense.

The loss was only the fourth of the season for Ranger, which fell to 14-4.

Thursday's game was the start of a three-game road trip for Coach Kelly Chadwick's Dusters. They travel to Clarendon now to take on the Lady Bulldogs Saturday, then play Frank Phillips in Borger on Monday.

Gramm-Rudman affects farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — When farmers get their 1986 wheat loans, they'll be 10 cents a bushel shy of what the Agriculture Department says is the going rate for this year's crop.

Corn farmers will see a deduction of 8 cents a bushel, according to USDA analysts who are studying the impact of the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law. Government supports for other commodities will be adjusted accordingly.

Further, some USDA employ cutbacks will occur either through layoffs or shortened hours, probably resulting in reductions in federal meat and poultry inspection, and conservation services to farmers.

The law calls for a 4.3 percent domestic spending reduction in many government programs for fiscal 1986, which began last Oct. 1.

Department budget officials said Thursday that food stamps and child-feeding programs are exempt but that other USDA functions will bear a total reduction of more than $1.26 billion.

For example, said Robert E. Sherman, the department's deputy budget director, when farmers go to their local USDA offices to collect crop price support loans or apply for target price "deficiency" payments, they'll have 4.3 percent deducted from what they otherwise would get.

In effect, Sherman said in an interview, the 1986 wheat price support of $2.40 per bushel will be shaved to $2.30. The deficiency payments, which make up the difference between market prices and the target, also would be trimmed.

Although the law applies to the current fiscal year, Sherman said its curb on USDA spending will affect the entire 1986 crop year, meaning corn and other commodities harvested next fall.

The 1986 corn loan — the amount farmers can borrow from USDA by using their crop as collateral — would be effectively reduced to $1.84 per bushel from $1.92.

The 1986 crop loan rates were announced earlier this week by Agriculture Secretary John R. Block as part of his decision to carry out the new Food Security Act of 1985, the farm bill passed by Congress and signed by President Reagan just before Christmas.

Block, hoping to make U.S. commodities more competitive in the world market, reduced the 1986 wheat loan rate to $2.40 from last year's $3.30 per bushel, and corn to $1.92 per bushel from $2.55 in 1985, the maximum reduction allowed by the law. The Gramm-Rudman cuts will be on top of that.

The USDA has the equivalent of about 109,000 full-time employees, but Sherman said he could not tell now how many might have to be "furloughed" or laid off because of the cutbacks.

Most likely, he said, those would occur in the department's Food Safety and Inspection Service, which includes meat and poultry inspection, and the Soil Conservation Service, which provides technical assistance to farmers.

But virtually all USDA agencies will feel the crimp, according to figures provided by the department's budget people.

Episcopal Church slates meeting

Dr. Harold L. Miller, Bishop's Warden for St. John's Episcopal Church, has announced that the annual congregational meeting will be held at 7 a.m. Wednesday in the parish hall. The meeting will begin with a covered dish supper, with the main meat dish provided by the church.

Business to be conducted includes election of vestry members, approval of a new budget, the consideration of candidates for rector.

Additionally, the congregation will be presented with a proposed new statement of purpose, along with goals and specific objectives for the new year.

All members are urged to attend, and anyone interested in the Episcopal Church is cordially invited.

In 1915, transcontinental telephone service was inaugurated in the United States as inventor Alexander Graham Bell spoke over a phone line from New York to San Francisco.

Aluminum is an antiperspirant

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Do you know of any deodorants that do not contain aluminum chlorohydrate?

DEAR READER — Aluminum salts are not used as deodorants; they function as antiperspirants. Therefore, when you purchase a deodorant, check the container to see if it contains aluminum. Many nationally distributed deodorants are aluminum-free; check labels to see if aluminum is included.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Why is there such a controversy among doctors over taking INH? I was exposed to tuberculosis. My PPD was positive at 15 millimeters, and a followup X-ray shows a calcified area in my lung. One doctor tells me to take INH, while two others tell me I should not, but they won't tell my why.

DEAR READER — Isoniazide (INH) is an effective anti-tubercolosis medicine that is useful in the treatment of active disease. Many patients who have been exposed to TB develop inactive, calcified scar tissue in their lungs. They do not need treatment because, in most cases, the tuberculosis germs have been taken care of by the body's natural defenses. True, the inactive infection can activate at a later time, then treatment would be necessary.

In your case, the lung has walled off the TB infection and built a shell around it. You probably don't need INH now, but you will require medical supervision to detect any future activation of the infection.

Doctors often hesitate to use INH (unless necessary), because the drug can cause serious side effects, including nerve damage, eye disorders, bone-marrow suppression and a hepatitis-like liver reaction.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am an 18-year-old male and I have "bumps" on the underside of my penis. Recently one of them got slightly bigger, turned red and is sore. Are these penile warts? If I need to go to a doctor, should I go to a dermatologist, a urologist or a regular doctor?

DEAR READER — Your problem does not sound like venereal warts. Start with a regular doctor, because the infection you describe may be easily cured with antibiotics. If, because of the personal nature of your difficulty, you feel awkward seeing a family doctor, go to a VD clinic of the type sponsored by municipal agencies in most large towns and cities.

For Dr. Gott's complete discussion of problems and treatments of the prostate gland, write for your copy of Dr. Gott's new Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Births

Donald and Mary Horne of 1111 32nd St., are the parents of a baby boy weighing five pounds and three ounces born Jan. 16 at 1:51 a.m. in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The British Royal Navy defeated the Germans in 1915 in a battle off England's Dogger Bank during World War I.

Lawyer says worst is over for B. Goetz

NEW YORK (AP) — Dismissal of attempted murder and assault charges against Bernhard Goetz means "the worst is over" for the subway gunman, who now hopes "this nightmare will end for him," his lawyer says.

The charges against Goetz, who shot and wounded four youths he said were trying to rob him in December 1984, were thrown out Thursday by Judge Stephen Crane, who called the case "one of the most difficult of our generation."

The case attracted international attention and fired a debate over whether Goetz, 38, who had been mugged before, was a crime victim fighting back or a vigilante looking for trouble.

Goetz still faces charges of weapons possession and reckless endangerment, but Crane dismissed four counts of attempted murder and four counts of assault. He ruled that two of the victims may have lied before a grand jury and that a prosecutor gave a mistaken explanation of self-defense to grand jurors.

But the judge gave prosecutors the option to seek new indictments against Goetz and said that if the case is resubmitted to another grand jury, he should be allowed to testify with limited immunity from prosecution.

Goetz, asked what Thursday's decision meant, told WNBC-TV, "Hopefully, it means that the system will abandon the concept of prosecuting victims."

Mark Baker, one of Goetz's lawyers, described his client as gratified, satisfied and happy, and said, "He feels vindicated to a large extent." Barry Slotnick, another lawyer, said his client realizes "the worst is over" and hopes "this nightmare will end for him."

The next step in the case comes Jan. 21, when Slotnick said he will ask Crane to set aside the remaining charges "in the interest of justice."

Asked if he planned to resubmit the more serious charges, District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said, "We are studying the decision and will decide later whether to appeal."

Goetz shot James Ramseur and Barry Allen, both 19, and Troy Canty and Darrell Cabey, both 20, on Dec. 22, 1984. He said they surrounded him in a subway car and that Canty menacingly demanded $5.

Colon checkup is next

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said he was "not looking forward to" the first thorough examination of his colon since he had a cancerous tumor removed seven months ago.

The president's examination at Bethesda Naval Hospital just outside Washington called for a colonoscopy, an uncomfortable but rarely dangerous modern procedure used to examine the full length of the 5-foot-long large bowel. It is the same procedure that disclosed the 74-year-old president had a large malignant polyp at the upper end of his colon last year.

The examination was scheduled for this afternoon.

While posing for pictures with Coretta Scott King on Thursday, Reagan was asked if he were ready for the examination.

He laughed and replied he felt fine, but "some preparation continues overnight and into the next morning. I'm not looking forward to it at all."

The president then turned to Mrs. King and explained he was undergoing tests his doctors recommended he have six months after his surgery, which took place last July 13.

He mentioned that the preparations included "no solid foods since before lunch today." The president also must drink a purgative solution several hours before the procedure to ensure the bowel is clean before the examination begins.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might not exercise all the patience and tolerance you're capable of when dealing with those in your charge. This could cause friction.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you walk around with a chip on your shoulder today, it won't be long before someone tries to knock it off. Why ask for trouble?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Guard against being taken advantage of today by someone who has used you in the past. His or her tactics may be different but the aim will be the same.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Major decisions should not be made hastily today. If you rush to judgment, you are likely to overlook several significant factors.

Bill will hit infant care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite attempts to shield some programs for the poor, the Gramm-Rudman budget ax means that 150,000 mothers and children, most of them poor, will be denied access to a doctor this year, a lobbying group says.

Officials of the Children's Defense Fund, a liberal lobbying group for children's interests, said Thursday that provisions in the budget-balancing bill that protect Medicare and Medicaid from deep cuts will not assure quality health care for poor children.

Sara Rosenbaum, an official of the group, said health programs subject to Gramm-Rudman's 4.3 percent cut on March 1 will be vaccination programs; block grants for health; community and migrant health centers; family planning; and the National Health Service Corps, which provides physicians for the health centers.

Cuts in community health centers and the health service corps alone will mean that about 250,000 fewer patients will be seen by physicians in those centers this year, she said.

Of those affected, two-thirds will be mothers or children and 80 percent will be poor. And, she added, "We have only begun to look at the impact" of the budget-cutting act.

"We are absolutely stunned by the insanity of Gramm-Rudman," said Marion Wright Edelman, the organization's president. "I don't understand how the president and the Congress can play Russian roulette with the lives of poor infants."

Ask The Preacher

"...what does 'protestant' mean?"

By Randall Gray

This term comes, really , from the reformation movement in Europe begun during the early 1500's. The idea expressed by this term is that these churches came into existence as a result of strenuous protest against the Roman Catholic church and it's practices of that day. The Lutheran church is a classic example of this concept, Martin Luther being a great leader of the reformation.

Interestingly, there ws a movement in this country, begun in the late 1700's which historians call the "restoration movement." This was an attempt by several religious leaders, not to reform, or change, or even protest, but rather to restore the New Testament church, to establish in our day and in our country a church which was neither Catholic, Protestant or Jewish. This concept, when closely adhered to, really did not establish anything, rather it re-establishd and restored what Christ and the apostles had originally built some 1900 years ago.

The churches of Christ are a classic example of the "restoration movement" in this country.

Mistrial motion is now pending

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A ruling is pending on a defense motion for a mistrial in the state's four-month-old murder trial against Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. and four of its current and former employees.

State District Judge Don Morgan recessed the trial for the weekend late Thursday and said he would rule later on the motion.

The corporation and the individual defendants are charged with murder in the Nov. 20, 1978, death of Elnora Breed.

The 87-year-old woman died 47 days after entering an Autumn Hills nursing home in Texas City.

The move for a mistrial came after prosecutor Mike Guarino pointed out to defense witness Dr. Weldon Kolb:

"Although you are not a defendant, you are named in the indictment as recklessly tolerating the commission of murder at Autumn Hills."

"That statement was made. I do not agree with that statement," Kolb said.

Guarino then asked Kolb if he remembered invoking the 5th Amendment when he testified before a Galveston County grand jury.

Immediately, defense attorneys Roy Minton and Tom Sartwelle moved for a mistrial.

"There's not any question if you ask a witness if he invoked the 5th Amendment it's improper. It's probably reversible error," Minton said after court adjourned.

Minton said Kolb and his attorney worked out an immunity agreement with the state before the doctor testified before the grand jury in March 1985. The same grand jury had returned murder indictments against the current defendants four months earlier.

However, assistant attorney general David Marks said Kolb invoked the 5th Amendment in front of the grand jury and then the immunity agreement was reached.

"We believe case law says we can mention it," Marks said.

Kolb was Mrs. Breed's physician for 27 years up until the time she entered Autumn Hills in October 1978.

He testified he became medical director of the nursing home in August 1978. His job, he said, was to consult with the administrators and nursing staff about procedures and policies for care of patients.

Kolb testified he was aware state health inspectors had found several deficiencies in patient care at the nursing home in 1978.

"What did you do about that?" Sartwelle asked.

"I met with the directors of nursing, the administrators and other personnel and discussed what could be done," he said.

"You say you were at Autumn Hills every few days. Did you see at any time that Mrs. Breed was neglected?" Sartwelle asked.

"No," the doctor replied.

"Do you know of any nursing malpractice or neglect at Autumn Hills?" Sartwelle said.

"No," Kolb answered, adding he has continued to recommend to families that they send their patients to the Texas City nursing home.

The doctor said he operated on Mrs. Breed three times from 1961 to 1976 for colon cancer.

Even though tests in April 1978 showed no sign of a recurring cancer, Kolb said he believed it played a role in her death.

Under cross examination, the doctor admitted he did not diagnose a new cancer in April.

Ex-wife said singer was heavy drug user

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Friends and relatives of Rick Nelson have denied reports that the singer was a drug abuser but in papers filed in a 1981 divorce action, his former wife said he "'constantly takes cocaine, Quaaludes and many other drugs."

The issue of Nelson and drugs arose Wednesday when The Washington Post quoted federal investigators as saying the New Year's Eve airplane crash that killed the singer, his fiancee and five others may have resulted from a cabin fire ignited by "free-basing" cocaine.

The Post quoted unidentified sources as saying preliminary reports indicate Nelson's body contained a measurable level of cocaine not absorbed into his system when he died.

Nelson's friends and manager denied he had been a cocaine user and specifically that he indulged in free-basing, in which cocaine is mixed with solvents to purify the drug, which is allowed to dry and then smoked.

"It is all totally 100 percent false," Barbra Reinecke, the Nelson family's attorney, said Thursday. "It's somebody's malicious attempt to blacken his image."

The documents filed by Kristin Harmon Nelson's attorney during divorce proceedings said Nelson often held parties at his home where drugs were taken.

The divorce documents indicate Nelson's wife worried about the safety of the couple's four children.

Robert J. Nachshin of Los Angeles, who represented Mrs. Nelson, refused to discuss the case Thursday.

Mrs. Nelson filed for divorce in 1977. It was granted in 1981 and ended the 18-year-marriage.

Federal officials say they have yet to determine why the DC-3 crashed in Texas as Nelson and his band traveled from Alabama to a concert in Dallas. The pilot and co-pilot survived.

Autopsies determined that Nelson, 45, his 27-year-old fiancee, Helen Blair, four band members and a sound man died of smoke inhalation and burns.

The National Transportation Safety Board has not received any toxicological reports on the victims, which would indicate the presence of drugs or alcohol, said NTSB spokesman Ira Furman.

Public smoking restrictions ok'd

AUSTIN (AP) — An ordinance that limits smoking in public places and offices but offers broad exceptions to the rules has been approved by the City Council.

The measure, which goes into effect May 15, was unanimously approved by council members on Thursday. Under the ordinance, smoking is prohibited in public places — including stores, businesses and offices — except in designated smoking areas.

The council also approved an amendment that allows a business owner to declare his entire establishment to be a smoking site if he can prove that most of his customers want to smoke there.

The council argued at length over amendments placed in the ordinance by one member, Mark Rose. The amendments exempt most taverns and bar areas in restaurants.

Council member George Humphrey said several of the exceptions "completely reverse the spirit of this law.

"This is not a no-smoking ordinance," Humphrey said. "It places the burden on the non-smoker."

Unless proprietors decide to make their entire establishment a no-smoking site, they must set aside smoking areas proportionate to the preference of patrons, users or customers who normally request a smoking area.

Council member Sally Shipman, who sponsored the ordinance from its inception, said she feels business owners have a right to designate their sites as total smoking areas, "although you won't find me in them."

"I think this is a tight ordinance," she said. "I regard it as giving Austin some clean air standards."

The ordinance does not describe the method by which a proprietor or office manager determines the size of a smoking area. Assistant City Manager Barney Knight said the procedure will probably be determined in guidelines that will be presented to the council for action at its Feb. 27 meeting.

A non-smoking employee may, under the ordinance, object to an employer about smoking in any portion of a workplace frequented by the employee. Employers must make "reasonable" attempts to accommodate the non-smoker.

The ordinance described public places as any enclosed areas which provide employment or are used by the general public, including stores, offices, restaurants, public and private schools, health care facilities and nursing homes.

More AIDS cases

ATLANTA (AP) — AIDS, while still on the increase, appears to be slowing down, federal health officials say.

The national Centers for Disease Control said Thursday that 16,458 cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome have been reported in the United States since 1981. Of those, 8,406 were reported last year, 84 percent more than the year before.

But that increase was slower than the 115 percent jump from 1983 to 1984, which was less than the 184 percent jump from 1982 to 1983.

"Further increases are expected for 1986," the CDC said in its weekly report. "However, the percentage increase in 1986 is likely to be smaller than that noted in 1985."

The pace at which the AIDS case count is increasing has been slowing since 1982. At that time, the number of reported cases was doubling every five months, compared with 11 months presently.

Son of evangelist says he regrets gap

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Garner Ted Armstrong, an evangelist who eight years ago split with his famous father, Herbert W. Armstrong, said he tried repeatedly to talk to him during the past three years and regrets he was unable to do so.

"The great feeling of sadness I feel is largely due to our inability to have a complete reconciliation," Armstrong said Thursday after the elder Armstrong died in California at the age of 93.

The elder Armstrong, who used radio, television and magazines to spread the word of his 80,000-member Worldwide Church of God, died at 5:59 a.m. PST Thursday at his Pasadena, Calif., home, said Earl Reese, who works in the church's legal office.

The last time he spoke with his father, Garner Ted Armstrong said, was in his father's study in May 1978, at the time of their break.

At his father's request, he said, he left the 80,000-member Worldwide Church of God in a highly-publicized dispute that concerned fiscal policies of the organization but had mostly to do with his vocal opposition to the elder Armstrong's marriage to a woman 68 years his junior. The marriage later ended in divorce.

"I tried repeatedly to call him and get in touch through letters but he refused to talk to me. My biggest regret is not being able to see my father face to face during these past years," the son said.

Garner Ted Armstrong also became a well-known radio and television evangelist, first while substituting for his father and later after starting his own program and organization after their split.

After banishing his son, Herbert Armstrong named Stanley R. Rader as heir apparent to take over the Church of God empire.

After disassociating himself from his father, Garner Ted Armstrong came to Tyler, where he established an organization known as the Church of God International.

"There was no disagreement between me and my father on theological matters," he emphasized.

Herbert W. Armstrong, founder and first pastor general of the church, was regarded by his followers as an apostle of Jesus Christ.

For the past four months, he had been confined to his home on the Worldwide Church of God's campus and refused to see or talk to family members, Armstrong said from his church office in Tyler.

Armstrong said although his father's health had been steadily deteriorating, his death came as a shock. "I thought he would live five or six years longer," he said.

Armstrong said he would be going to Pasadena today to attend his father's funeral services. He said a private graveside service is planned for either Saturday or Sunday and that the Worldwide Church may conduct a public memorial for Armstrong's thousands of church followers.

Armstrong said his father will go down in history as being the first evangelist to use electronic media to spread his gospel. His father will be remembered through the church he left and his thousands of loyal followers.

"He apparently just went to sleep and didn't wake up. It's a blessing he died at night and at an advanced age," Armstrong said. "I'm sorry his children couldn't have been around him."

Senior board notes change

Gay Hickman has been named president of the Senior Citizens Center Advisory Council, part of several changes noted when the group met Thursday.

Hickman will replace the late Pete Glass, who died in December. In honor of Glass, the council observed a moment of silence Thursday.

Hickman had served as vice president of the council, an office which will now be held by board member Mort Ewing.

In other changes, Dr. Harry Krenek, acting chief executive officer for Western Texas College, was introduced as a new ex-officio member, replacing Dr. Don Newbury, former college president.

In addition, Buster Starnes was introduced as the new representative from the Golden K Kiwanis Club, replacing Glass in that capacity.

'Wild West' shown in new exhibition

"The Wild West in the Popular Press," an exhibit of more than 50 steel and wood engravings and lithographs primarily from the last half of the 19th Century, will open Saturday in the Diamond M Museum of Fine Art.

The exhibit will feature work by some of the earliest Western artists including George Catlin, Karl Bodmer and John Mix Stanley. Other examples will come from such famous illustrators as Frederic Remington, Henry Farny and Rufus Zogbaum.

The exhibit will feature a period of the Wild West portrayed as one of the most adventuresome and exciting of American history.

The original drawings were used by magazines popular both before and after the Civil War. These included Harper's Weekly and Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

Artists were commissioned to travel in the West and to send back their drawings, which were made into wood engravings.

The illustrations range from peaceful scenes of wagon train camps or cowboy dugouts to scenes of action and violence.

In addition to popular entertainment, the drawings are credited with such actions as Congress creating the national park system — said inspired by the depiction of the beauty and grandeur of the American Rocky Mountains as drawn by Thomas Moran.

One of the illustrations by Moran in the current exhibit is of Mt. Moran, named in his honor.

Three hand-colored lithographs of prominent Indian chiefs are displayed also. These are historically important since the original oil paintings were destroyed in a fire at the Smithsonian.

The Wild West exhibit is from a private collection and will remain at the Diamond M through Feb. 1. The museum, located at 909 25th St., will be open from 1 until 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

There is no charge for admission.

Stop sign, hydrant struck

A stop sign and city-owned fire hydrant one block apart were struck here Thursday night by a driver later charged with driving while intoxicated.

The mishap was reported at 11:42 p.m. in the 2300 and 2400 Blocks of Ave. M.

A 1973 Oldsmobile driven by Antonio DeLeon of Hermleigh reportedly struck a stop sign at the intersection of 24th St. and Ave. M and then stopped after striking a fire hydrant at the intersection of 23rd St. and Ave. M.

No estimate was available for the value of damage to the sign or fire hydrant.

The accident was one of two minor traffic accidents reported in Snyder Thursday.

Involved in the first — at 3:47 p.m. at the intersection of 38th St. and Denison Ave. — were a 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Sharon Bigham of 3119 Ave. T and a 1976 Chevrolet driven by Robert Jamison of 111 Birch St.

College case prompts plea

Investigators with the Scurry County sheriff's office — called into the case by college trustees in October — alleged that Lee had used her position as cashier to divert college funds for her own use at various times between December, 1984 and September, 1985.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong gained two indictments against her for specific transfers made on July 22 and August 12 last year.

According to investigators, the transfers were carried out by either falsifying records or omitting receipts for monies received through the cashier's office.

The amount of restitution agreed to represents not only funds connected with the two transactions for which she was indicted but a total of funds allegedly taken for the period from December, 1984 through September, 1985.

Delays blamed on increased interest

AUSTIN (AP) — Interest paid to taxpayers in five states as a result of delays in handling returns at the Internal Revenue Service regional service center here increased 79 percent last year, the IRS says.

However, Larry G. Westfall, who took over five months ago as director of the center, told a news conference Thursday that the computer and personnel shortages and computer programming problems that caused last year's delays and increased interest payments have been corrected.

The Austin center, a 409,000 square-foot facility, handles returns from Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas.

Last year's widely publicized problems included the destruction in late 1984 of as many as 6,000 separate case files from business taxpayers in Texas and four other states.

That incident prompted an investigation by the U.S. attorney's office in San Antonio. The inquiry, which is still under way, was not made public until April 1985, when union officials reported it to the Austin American-Statesman.

"I think that a lot of things have been done to make 1986 a very good filing season and I'm confident that things will not happen again that happened last year," Westfall said. "The taxpaying public is a little hyped up and perhaps a little confidence has been lost relative to how the service does the job, and I think it's important today that we communicate a message so that the tax-paying public can hopefully understand that this will be a good processing year."

Westfall said computer capacity has been doubled since January 1985 and now exceeds current requirements. Computer programs, which were so inefficient and inaccurate that they caused the processing of returns to be stopped for days during the past filing season, have been perfected, Westfall said.

Permanent staff size was increased by 700 people to a total of 2,700. Peak season employment will approach 6,000, he said.

"Employees are being brought on board earlier in order to facilitate more thorough training before they start working," Westfall said. "We got caught" in the problem of inadequate training last year, he said. "We don't want to be caught in it again."

Westfall said the quality control staff has been increased. He said more supervisors will be available to answer employee questions.

"We are spending the money necessary to make this a successful filing season," Westfall said.

Figures supplied by the IRS at the request of reporters showed the interest paid to taxpayers who had filed timely 1985 returns soared past $4.6 million. The 1984 total was less than $2.6 million.

Additionally, the processing of 2,000 of last year's returns filed on time remains incomplete, Westfall said. Those 2,000 returns were from the 12.1 million received.

Westfall said refunds due taxpayers whose returns are arriving at the center now are being mailed in from three to four weeks.

Burning car said stolen

Police and fire officials are continuing their investigation of a car reported stolen and found burning beside an east Snyder street early Friday morning.

A 1982 Pontiac owned by Dwight Fontenot of DeSoto and recently reported missing from that city was found abandonded and burning in the 3300 Block of Ave. M.

Firemen were called to the scene and extinguished the blaze at 6:31 a.m.

Fire Chief Terry McDowell reported that the fire apparently started in the interior of the vehicle and extensive damage was reported to the passenger compartment.

Play to open here Saturday

A recent Broadway production of the classic story featured eight.

Worsham credits the growth of the cast to the process of development of the play.

Curfman wrote original scenes based on the novel and then these were acted out and rewritten incorporating suggestions and ideas generated from the actors and writers.

Through the exchange of ideas, the roles of characters other than Dracula and Lucy Westenra grew and took on new importance, he said.

All the action in the show revolves around Dr. Quincy's Sanitorium — an institution for the mentally disturbed.

Featured in the role of psychiatrist Dr. Quincy is senior theatre student Patrick Malone.

Lucy Westenra — Quincy's goddaughter and victim of Dracula's powers — is played by Lisa Kimmel.

Lance Aldridge is cast in the title role of Dracula, joined by vampire brides played by Kristen Walton, Ashley Miller, Kirsten Miller, Cindy Tolbert and Melissa Hodges.

John Hamlett will portray Johnathan Harker — a Romanian victim of Dracula's powers who comes to Quincy's institution seeking help for his mysterious illness.

Characters from the sanitorium featured include Brad Vincent as Professor VanHelsing — a specialist in rare diseases; Robert Patterson as Renfield — an afflicted patient; Kyle Hawes as Dr. Quincy's assistant Grim; and Richard Lack.

Tracey Marvin and Robyn Fambro have been cast as nurses in the hospital.

Lee McCathern, Walt Floyd, Bryan Norris, Brandon Neely, Mike Cline, Shawn Rhodes, Jamie Cofer, Ricky Romero and Bundy Martin are featured as inmates of the sanitorium.

Other principals include: Monique Miller cast as Lucy's friend Mina Harker; Charlie McCormick cast as Lucy's fiance Arthur Holmwood; Elaine Smylie who plays Johnathan Harker's escort Miss Onya; Joy McSpadden cast as Lucy's personal nurse; Mike Cline playing Father Pilgrim — an old friend of the Westenra family; and Shannon Lunsford as Mrs. Fern, housekeeper for the sanitorium.

Spent life in hospital...

Baby still cannot go home

DANVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Tiny 16-month-old Megan Demchak, whose life began 12 weeks prematurely and has been a struggle ever since, is a classic medical "Catch-22," her doctors say.

The 11-pound-5-ounce, 24½-inch baby has spent her entire life in the hospital, trying to recuperate from the severe lung problems associated with her premature birth. Finally, she is well enough to go home.

However, because doctors were able to wean Megan from the breathing machine that kept her alive for a year, neither federal nor state money will cover the cost of her at-home care.

Megan is one of thousands of so-called "high-tech" children — no one is sure of the exact number though one national organization estimates there are about 10,000. Their lives are literally dependent on medicine's machines, but because public funds don't generally cover their at-home care, they remain hospitalized at a higher cost. Only about 10 states have programs in place to deal with the issue, officials say.

Several bills introduced in Congress are trying to address the problem, including one that calls for flexible use of public money to allow for home care when it can be proved equal to or cheaper than the hospital. But none of that helps Megan.

For Megan, the red tape means more of the only life she's known.

For Megan's mother, 21-year-old Maryellen Demchak, it means about 18 more months of sleeping in waiting-room lounge chairs and shuttling the 53 miles between her home and the Geisinger Medical Center. The trip that brings her together with Megan separates her from her 3-year-old son, David.

Miss Demchak, a single mother, supports her family on $493 a month in welfare and food stamps. She can't afford home care, and Megan's doctor says releasing a child with a tracheostomy and no at-home nursing help is a risk.

TDC plans to lease-purchase new prison

AUSTIN (AP) — State prison board chairman Alfred Hughes says the Texas Department of Corrections will go ahead with plans to lease a new prison building from a private firm, then purchase it when prison land can be sold.

The only alternative, Hughes told a Legislative Budget Board hearing Thursday, would be to release possibly dangerous inmates from the overcrowded system.

"We've already let go all the petty car thieves and hot check writers," Hughes said. "If we have to let more go you will see some deaths on the streets because some are dangerous."

The prison system is operating under a federal court agreement to release convicts if they cannot provide adequate housing.

"I think in general the leadership understands the problem," Hughes told reporters. "Nobody likes it but nobody has an alternative."

Assistant Attorney General Mary Keller told the financical leaders of the Senate and House that a lease-purchase deal would be legal, provided the state is not saddled with a long-term debt.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, head of the board, said at the beginning of the special hearing that the LBB had no authority to approve or disapprove the TDC proposal "but we thought this was an appropriate forum for it to be discussed."

The LBB took no action on the proposal nor did it have any official comment after the two-hour hearing.

Hughes told reporters the TDC would begin negotiations immediately with several companies interested in building the prison unit.

The proposed maximum-security prison, which would house 2,250 inmates near Tennessee Colony in East Texas, was authorized by the 1985 Legislature, provided the TDC got the $125 million from sale of prison-owned land. However, there have been no bidders on the land in Harris County in two offerings made by the State Land Office.

As an alternative, the TDC board recently approved entering into a contract with a private company that wants to build the prison on state land and lease it to the state. The TDC would have an option to purchase it.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said he planned a third sale later this month. He said he as confident he could sell at least enough land to finance $18 million to construct 10 trusty camps for non-violent prisoners, which TDC also wants.

Assistant Attorney General Scott McCown said "the attorney general is not pushing this proposal. That decision has to be made by someone else. We are stressing that the TDC has to comply with the court order."

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, and Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, questioned whether the lease-purchase plan would violate the state constitution's pay-as-you-go policy.

White proposes new utility panel

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says creating a separate state public utility panel to regulate the telephone industry might be one way to handle a fast-growing and complicated business.

White said recent developments in the telephone industry — including the court-ordered breakup of AT&T and the rise of numerous long-distance phone services — have opened up a huge number of new questions for regulators.

"We're in uncharted waters as far as the regulation of telecommunications," he said Thursday. "I think we've got some very difficult decisions to be made over the next several years."

The governor said the current Public Utility Commission, which regulates both telecommunications and electric utilities, is being forced to deal with two complicated but very different businesses.

"I think it's (separate panels) something we ought to be looking at. I want to make certain we have the finest expertise possible," White said.

White said he isn't ready to propose a new regulatory body, but does want to study the idea.

Asked whether he thought the current commission staff is fully versed in both areas, White said, "I think that's a concern, if they have it.

"There've been people that raised that" question. "If this Public Utility Commission has the expertise to deal with two really unrelated issues — one telecommunications, the other one is electric generation. And they don't bear a whole lot of relationship.

"They have the expertise — we don't create a new commission."

Establishing a new utility panel actually would give the state three bodies which deal with some form of utility regulation — an electrical regulator, a telecommunications regulator and the elected Railroad Commission, which regulates transportation and handles natural gas utility cases on appeal.

White said he was less concerned about the number of regulators or charges that he would be creating a new bureaucracy than he would be about the quality of decisions being made.

"I think the main goal is not how many but how well they do. That's a far greater issue," he said.
