WICHITA FALLS BACK IN GRID RACE

So This Is Texas

Texas Developing—
Some Cotton Figures—
$10,000 a Year Men—
Wichita Rich Country.

By H. N. Fitzgerald.

TEXANS who are interested in Texas development, agriculturally speaking and otherwise are reminded that in the Magic Valley and the socalled lower coast country and in certain counties or districts west of Fort Worth, cotton is grown in bewildering profusion.

* * *

WILBARGER was a wilderness not many years ago. Now it is announced that if all the cotton is picked in the fields of Wilbarger this year, the maximum production may reach 80,000 bales.

* * *

IN the Pease river valley the yield has been a bale and a half to the acre on many farms and a bale to the acre excited no comment.

* * *

THEN jump to the coast country, in the Neuces river valley, in the county of Nueces, where Corpus Christi may become one of the leading ports in future years.

* * *

ACCORDING to the government reports, Nueces county was the first in Texas to go over the 100,000-bale mark in 1926.

These figures for Nueces county are to November 1, when 3,569,048 bales has been ginned in Texas as compared with 2,852,535 on the same date last year.

* * *

Williamson county, for years the banner cotton county in Texas, ranked third with 80,733 bales.

Ellis always a rival of Williamson county, ranked fourth with 74,296 bales.

* * *

THE greatest jump happened in Guadalupe county which had only ginned 247 bales in 1925 on November 1 of that year, and came smiling with 35,101 bales this year.

Picking is early in Nueces and the valley counties.

Picking is very late in the West Texas counties and the December figures will tell the story of the yield in the banner cotton producing counties of West Texas.

* * *

JUMPING from cotton to $10,000 a year men in Texas, is another interesting story in itself.

According to treasury reports the number of $10,000 a year men and women in Texas is increasing based on the figures of 1922, 1923 and 1924.

* * *

ANALYSIS of the 1924 figures show there were a total of 4903 men and women with incomes of over $10,000 in 1924 compared with 4147, in 1923 and 3328 in 1922.

* * *

WICHITA county is omitted from the list of the 11 selected Texas counties which made the following showing in 1924.

Dallas, 881; Harris, 781; Bexar, 400; Tarrant, 201; Galveston, 180; McLellan, 155; El Paso, 147; Jefferson, 132; Travis, 78; Bottor, 47; Taylor, 45.

* * *

WICHITA is a very rich county. There are many millionaires in the county, but the exact number has not been made public by the experts of Mr. Mellon's big governmental department.

Petroleum has made many millionaires in Texas.

Petroleum has wrecked many small fortunes.

* * *

THERE are wildcatters today who were millionaires a year ago.

Now they are tempting fortune again.

Production is climbing.

New fields are being brought in.

New locations are being made.

New wells are being drilled.

Texas is on the way to the top of the list of states that are oil producers.

* * *

THEN jump to home-grown wheat.

A Texas miller says for the next 12 months Texas may eat bread from wheat grown in West Texas fields with more than 10 million bushels for export.

* * *

OF COURSE, the reader is aware that Texas produced $4,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1926, having a valu e of $40,000,000.

According to the aforesaid Texas miller, this year Texas' mills will use about 20,000,000 bushels of the Texas crop or a total flour production of more than 5,000,000 barrels.

* * *

MUCH of the surplus is moving to Europe through the Texas ports of Galveston, Houston and Port Arthur.

* * *

COTTON, why cotton will be dethroned as far as acreage goes in Texas in the near future unless the signs of the times are misleading and some day the prediction of Frank Kell may come true.

Not many years ago he said to Hale Holden, the president of the Burlington railway system, that

CHEST BUDGET THIS YEAR TO TOTAL $65,000

Committee Sets Fund At Mark Slightly Higher Than in 1925

TO FINANCE 13 MONTHS

Eleven Social Service Units To Participate This Time In Fund

Wichita Falls will be asked this year to raise $65,000 for its community chest fund, it was announced Tuesday afternoon following a meeting of the budget committee which met to study individual items submitted by all organizations to participate in the fund. As a matter of fact, the budget will only be $60,000 figured on a 12-month basis, but because of a change in dates of the campaign and consequent re-arrangement of the fiscal year, a 13-month period of work must be financed and provisions for this is made in the $65,000 total.

At $1 Per Capita.

The figure for the forthcoming campaign keeps Wichita Falls' social service expenses approximately on a $1 per capita basis which, it is declared, is about $1 per capita lower than the average cost of the work in other cities of the nation. A survey of community chest operations in numerous communities the size of Wichita Falls has revealed that the annual budgets in most cases run from $120,000 to $150,000 and higher.

No radical change in the financial program of this year as compared with that of last was instituted by the committee. In 1925 a total of $58,000 was subscribed in the annual campaign. The increase this year, therefore, is negligible.

Eleven Units.

To absorb the funds to be raised eleven different social service and allied units will participate. This compares with nine last year, two new ones—the Traveler's Aid and the Executive Board for Family Relief having been added. The latter is a newly created factor in social service work and will handle all family relief work in the city. It will take over much of the work formerly done by the Salvation Army and will, insofar as possible, follow out a systematized campaign of rehabilitation as well as strictly relief. The Travelers Aid has been functioning here for some time but never before has it received financial aid from the community chest.

Other Organizations.

Other organizations to participate will be, the Salvation Army, Y. W. C. A., Red Cross, Day Nursery, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, Children's Home and Aid society, Municipal Welfare board and Colored Day Nursery and charities.

The budget committee is composed of Raymond Myers, chairman; A. E. Myles, J. B. Hatchitt, N. H. Martin, Joe Huckins III, J. L. Jackson, Jr., C. J. Coffey, Rev. S. A. Barnes, Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, Sam Kruger, S. R. Featherstone, R. M. Waggoner, and J. B. Marlow.

Barbecue For 10,000 Visitors Plan Of Plainview Folks For Rail Fete

"BARBECUE for 10,000 people and the greatest celebration in the history of the South Plains."

This in brief is a message from Maury Hopkins of the Plainview board of city development in a telegram to the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce yesterday, urging as many business men as possible to attend the big celebration in that city.

"Plainview and this section appreciates the great spirit of cooperation shown by Wichita Falls to make this celebration complete," the message continued, "and we expect to show our appreciation when you get here Friday morning."

A special representative of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is now in Plainview. He is also visiting other places in that section to be benefitted by the proposed railway extensions, and to tell them of Wichita Falls as a wholesale center.

20 More Needed To Sign Up To Put Over Booster Special To Plainview Chamber of Commerce Announces

At least 20 more prominent Wichita Falls men are needed for the trip to Plainview Friday to assist the people of that city and section in celebrating the proposed railway extensions by the Denver lines. This was the announcement last night from chamber of commerce headquarters. About 25 had sent in checks for the trip. Time limit for reservations expires this afternoon and it is necessary that all checks be at the chamber of commerce offices not later than 5 p. m.

One Pullman Assured.

One Pullman car is practically assured, but Plainview is looking forward to a big delegation from Wichita Falls and for this reason the additional 20 are needed. This will give this city an excellent showing, it is pointed out, and will show the people of all the South Plains country that Wichita Falls is as much interested in the new road as are they themselves.

Plainview Plans Big.

Plainview has made great plans for the occasion. One big feature of the day will be a big free barbecue, at which meats for 10,000 people will be provided. A dozen bands or more from the cities and towns of the South Plains will take part in a huge parade. The event is expected to be the greatest in Plainview's history and on one occasion that city entertained the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Leave Here Thursday.

The Wichita Falls delegation will leave here at midnight Thursday, arriving in Amarillo at 7:30 Friday morning where 30 minutes will be spent for breakfast. The train will leave Amarillo at 8 o'clock and will reach Plainview shortly before 10 a. m. Leaving Plainview the train departs at 6:30, arriving in Amarillo two hours later. A two-hour layover will be had in Amarillo and the delegation will reach home at 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning, thus causing those who go to lose only one day from their business.

Wichita Delegation Leads.

Wichita Falls, it is understood, is sending the largest delegation of any large city in Texas. This was especially desired due to the fact that the extension of the Denver road into the South Plains country opens a vast amount of territory that comes well within the Wichita Falls trade boundary, thereby adding to the already presented arguments that Wichita Falls is ideally located as a distributing center for this section of Texas.

All Urged to Go.

Every business or professional man in the city who can possibly do so is urged to make this trip and if unable to do so personally to send a representative. As the proposed railway construction marks the dawn of a new day in the South Plains country it is likewise of great importance to this city and the bigger the showing Wichita Falls makes at this celebration the greater will the impression there be that this is a city of trade opportunities.

NAVY AVIATORS MAKE BIG HOP

Planes Start on Long Trip To Panama Canal Destination

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 23. (AP) Navy's all-metal seaplanes, PN-10 No. 1 and PN-10 No. 2, tonight were soaring their way southward in their attempted 2170 mile nonstop flight from Hampton Roads to Colon, Panama.

Heavily laden with gasoline and supplies and four men each, the planes took off here within eight minutes of each other, No. 1 at 4:18 p. m., and No. 2 at 4:26; and headed eastward to Cape Henry, whence they returned for the straightaway course down the south Atlantic seaboard.

At 6:20 p. m., naval radio messages placed the planes 35 miles off Cape Hatteras, having flown 135 miles at 94.5 miles an hour.

Because of their heavy loads, both machines had considerable difficulty in getting off the water and each made three attempts before it finally took the air. The first up, piloted by Lieutenant Bryon J. Connell and Lieutenant Lawrence W. Curtin, circled around until No. 2 plane, piloted by Lieutenant Commander M. T. Bartlett, flight commander, got off. Then both planes moved off and were flying close together when they disappeared from view.

In No. 2 plane, besides Commander Bartlett, were Lieutenants H. C. Bodd and C. H. Schildhauer and Machinist Mate Charles J. Sutter. Also in No. 1 were Aviation Pilot Skiles R. Pope and Radioman John R. Roe.

The planes were making good speed as they turned their noses into the gathering dusk for a trip that naval authorities hope will set a new record for long distance seaplane flights.

Each machine was carrying about 1500 gallons of gasoline and food to last for thirty hours, although it was expected the flight would be completed within 24 or 25 hours unless some mishap occurs.

ACTION TAKEN AS SEQUEL TO CELL BEATING

H. Bentley, Discharged When Frank Elmore Testifies To Clubbing

O. M'DONALD ACCUSED

Bentley Admits Him to Cell When Prisoner Beaten, Is Charge

Charges of billiard cue beatings administered to prisoners in the city jail were aired out in district court here yesterday and promptly got some action from the city police department.

Homer Bentley, motorcycle officer, was discharged from the force Tuesday night as a result of the case and Chief of Police George Hodgins intimated some more badges might be called for before his rigid inquiry was completed. He declared he knew nothing of any jail beatings until Frank Elmore, defendant in a theft case, explained it all to Judge P. A. Martin and a jury in the 89th district court. Judge Martin, after liberating Elmore, advised him to file some assault charges as a result of his treatment and he then severely scored the city police for allowing such things to go on.

Bentley Discharged.

Chief Hodgins took the attitude that the court was right and accordingly fired Bentley whom he blamed for the whole thing. Bentley, however, did not administer the beating to Elmore. But he was charged by Hodgins with having admitted Ollie McDonald, formerly a peace officer here, to Elmore's cell and then liberated him after McDonald had used a club with telling effect on Elmore's anatomy.

McDonald was under bond last night with an assault charge filed against him. After hearing Judge Martin's remarks from the bench, McDonald went to the county attorney's office where Elmore had already appeared to make the complaint.

Chronologically, the case started July 25, last, when Elmore was arrested by the city on charge of automobile theft. It was alleged he had stolen a car from McDonald, stripped it and disposed of some of the parts.

Beating In Cell.

Shortly after being locked up, which was late in the morning, it was alleged that McDonald appeared at the city hall, was booked on an "investigation" charge and locked up with Elmore. Bentley, Hodgins maintains, took McDonald to the cell and admitted him. About 10 minutes later, after the beating had been administered, Hodgins charges Bentley liberated McDonald.

Elmore was subsequently indicted for auto theft and his case came up for trial Tuesday morning. On the witness stand he testified that he confessed to sealing McDonald's car only after he had been unmercefully beaten by McDonald. He then denied that he was guilty as charged.

McDonald Admits It

McDonald was called to the stand and admitted beating Elmore with a club. When questioned by Defense Attorney Earl Kuntz as to "where did he hit him?" McDonald replied: "I hit him all over from head to foot."

"Did he bleed any?" Kuntz then asked.

"Yes, there was blood all over his clothing," the witness answered.

At this juncture, Assistant District Attorney E. F. Fruechte, who was prosecuting the case, moved for a dismissal.

"We don't want to convict anyone on evidence obtained that way," Fruechte told the court. "We don't approve of it and we're willing to dismiss it."

Acquittal Ordered

Judge Martin ordered an instructed verdict of not guilty and then unloosed his tirade.

"Young man," you are released from custody," the court said, "and I request that you go at once to the county attorney's office and file a charge of aggravated assault against this man; and if the county attorney sees fit, I suggest you also file charges against the police officer who admitted him to your cell."

Judge Martin then went on to say that he had no idea "such things were allowed to happen in Wichita Falls. It is the most reprehensible thing I have ever heard of in a long time."

Probe Is Ordered

He then directed that the district attorney investigate all phases of the matter and see that proper charges w re brought against every one connected with it.

McDonald, after he had perfected a bond of $100, said he did not feel he had been treated fairly in the case and that had he been allowed to continue he would have appeared in a better light.

McDonald declared that the beating he had given Elmore was a personal matter between the two. He insisted he believed Elmore had stolen his machine.

NORRIS CHURCH FACES TAX SUIT

Action Comes as Incidental Fact in Pastor's Fight With City Officials

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23.(AP)—The first Baptist and First Christian churches were sued in district court today for delinquent city taxes totalling $3,865.01 on property not used exclusively for religious purposes.

The First Baptist church is said to be reaping returns from its Sunday school building across the street from the church proper by leasing the ground floor to a gasoline filling station and variety store.

Filing of these suits and four against private property owners was termed by assistant City Attorney George Kemble as a revival of the city's delinquent tax drive started more than a year ago.

The cash taxes are for 1925, becoming delinquent February 1, of this year.

First action to collect first Baptist church taxes was followed by a campaign of denunciation of city officials by the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist paster, from the pulpit and in his "Searchlight" paper. An argument concerning these attacks is said to have preceded Norris' fatal shooting of D. E. Chipps, friend of Mayor H. C. Meacham, last July, in connection with which the preacher faces trial for murder in January at Austin on change of venue.

COYOTES WILL PLAY LUBBOCK HERE SATURDAY TO DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP OF DISTRICT

Wichita Falls Ruled Out Recently On Technicality Regains Place In Race At Rehearing In Quanah

BY BLONDY CROSS
Record News Staff

QUANAH, Nov. 23.—By a vote of four to one—Vernon being the dissenter and Amarillo's ballot by wire being thrown out unopened—the Wichita Falls high school football team was re-instated in good standing in district one of the state interscholastic league at a meeting of district officials here this afternoon.

This action of the executive committee voids a decision reached last Friday in which the Coyotes were ruled out of the district on grounds that they were receiving coaching assistance from a man not connected with the Wichita Falls schools. The action also paved the way for arrangements for the district one championship game to be played Saturday at 3 p. m. between Wichita Falls and Lubbock at Wichita Falls. A lengthy conference between officials of the two schools was necessary before the "agreement" was reached by the toss of a coin.

The controversy started with claims that the Coyotes had violated section 17, article 8 of the interscholastic league rules, in that Brown McCallum, brother of Head Coach A. Y. McCallum, was assisting in coaching the team. He is not connected with the Wichita Falls schools and the rule in question asserts that no team shall be tutored by any one not a regularly accredited member of the school faculty.

DOHENY DRAWN AS PATRIOTIC

Attorneys in Oil Fraud Trial Also Defend Name Of Albert B. Fall

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Occasional flashes of oratory by opposing counsel served to lift out of the humdrum the second day of the trial here of Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny on charges of conspiracy to loot the naval oil reserves in Elk Hills, Cal.

For five hours, counsel for the government and the defense drew pictures of the 65-year-old former cabinet officer and the 71-year-old multimillionaire oil man that were in as sharp a contrast as the vigor and the fire of the presentation.

Addressing the jury calmly and dispassionately, Owen J. Roberts required just an hour to outline the case as the government expects to present it by oral testimony and a great raft of official documents, the identification of which began before court recessed until tomorrow.

Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Doheny traced the history of all of the transactions involved in the oil leases and contracts step by step. Spending four hours in a vigorous and at times impassioned statement of what the defense contends the evidence will prove.

Doheny Called Patriot.

Instead of a $100,000 bribe given to Albert B. Fall as the government represented him, Doheny was described by Hogan as a patriotic citizen who acted in the national interests when he required his company to enter into the contract for the Pearl Harbor naval storage.

Fall was declared to be a man who had given his life in the public service and one who throughout all of the oil reserve negotiations acted in the best interests of the country and only with and by the consent of Secretary Denby and other high officials of the navy department.

The $100,000 transaction between Doheny and Fall loomed large in the statement of both counsels. Reports said the loan was made after negotiations had been opened between Fall and Doheny for the Pearl Harbor contract and that, when the senate oil committee found out that Fall had spent this sum in improving his New Mexico ranch holdings, the former secretary "did not tell the truth about it, but tried in every way to conceal it."

Hogan Denies Secrecy.

Calling attention that nearly a month after the loan was made Doheny had advised the government his firm would not undertake the Pearl Harbor development, Hogan insisted there had been no secrecy; that Fall had given his demand note; had used the money to buy ranch property, paying $10,000 in cash in the presence of witnesses, and making the other payments in the usual way by checks and drafts.

Hogan insisted that the project for the storing of 150,000,000 gallons of fuel oil for the navy at Pearl Harbor had originated with high naval officers after reports had come that the Japanese were planning to mobilize war vessels for attacks on the Philippines and the Hawaiian islands.

Defense Outlined.

Government counsel emphasized the secrecy attending the awarding of the original contract to Doheny's company and charged this was a part of the scheme to defraud the government. Hogan countered with the declaration that secrecy had been required by Theodore Roosevelt Jr., then acting secretary of the navy because confidential war plans of the navy were involved.

Defense counsel also said the evidence would show that the bids

HARRY LEAHY TAKES STAND

Leahy's Mother Testifies He Was Home on Night Of Ramsey's Murder

GEORGE WEST, Texas, Nov. 23. (AP)—Harry J. Leahy, on trial here on the charge of murder in connection with death last May 20, of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, spent the night of the murder at home in bed, Leahy told a jury here Tuesday. The defendant declared he was the victim of circumstances, that all of the details given by his discharged chauffeur, Roberto Martinez, up to the afternoon of May 20, were true, but that he discharged Martinez then and did not see him again until several days later .

"Were you present the night of May 20 when Dr. Ramsey met his death?" inquired the defendant's attorney, Martin Arnold, soon after Leahy took the stand.

"I was positively not," was the reply.

Leahy's Voice Steady

Leahy spoke in a firm but low tone which caused his attorneys to urge him several times to speak louder. After the defendant had detailed the incidents of employment of Martinez and their subsequent movements, Arnold asked: "Did Roberto Martinez ever dig a hole for you?"

"He positively did not," Leahy said.

"Did you dig a hole?"

"I did not."

"Did you point out the house of Dr. Ramsey to Martinez?"

"I did not."

"Did you send Martinez to Dr. Ramsey's house the night of May 20, or any other time?"

"I most positively did not."

"Where did you spend the night of May 20?"

"I spent it at home."

Sought to Aid State

Instead of being guilty of the murder of Dr. Ramsey, he was actively working toward the solution of mystery of his disappearance which he did not know until a day or two later in San Antonio, Leahy declared. He had entered into an agreement with Ed M. Dubose to aid in the search after a discussion with Dubose in Mathis, it was declared.

Leahy said Dubose had approached him on the street and attempted to borrow money.

The aged mother of the defendant, Mrs. Phillip Leahy, 75, was the first witness for the defense to substantiate the alibi which had been outlined by Marcin Arnold, attorney for the defense, in his opening statement.

Mrs. Leahy, who appeared very feeble, came in supported by Sheriff C. E. Key and Mrs. Leahy. The witness mounted the stand with difficulty. Her daughter-in-law remained beside her, fanning the elder woman with a large sombrero worn by Ed Leahy. She testified in a weak, but firm voice, raising it with difficulty so as to be heard by all the jurors.

Leahy Shows Emotion

While his mother testified Leahy sat with his face downcast and did not look at her. For the first time since the trial has begun he showed emotion. Muscles of his face quivered at times as Mrs. Leahy was speaking and he wiped his brow with his handkerchief. The woman didn't look toward her son.

Her testimony was short and the cross-examination considerate and courteous. Her story was that Harry was at home the night of the murder of Dr. Ramsey. He remained there until 9 o'clock, she said, when he went out, saying he was going to a school concert. Later she heard him go into the kitchen and get a drink of water. During the night Mrs. Leahy said, she had occasion to get up and passed the room where Harry and Ed Leahy slept. Both were in bed she said and she looked at the clock and observed that it was 11:30 o'clock.

Admits Eyes Bad

On cross examination she admitted her eyes were bad and that she did not wear her glasses when she looked at the clock. She might have been mistaken about the exact time, she said, but it could not have been later than 12 o'clock.

Phillip Leahy followed his wife on the stand but could add nothing to aid in the defense. He had served as an election Judge May 20, he said, and did not go home until 9 or 10 o'clock that night. He did not see Harry that night and did not know whether he was in the house.

It was the first time the parents of the defendant have appeared in court here.

55 Novices March Over Hot Sands As Maskat Nobles Stage Ceremony

The Ancient and Arabic Order of the Noble Mystic Shrine held sway in Wichita Falls Tuesday in the fall ceremonial when 55 novices crossed the hot sands into Shrinedom and a glorious ceremonial at the Majestic theater last night closed a day of fun. The annual fall parade, participated in by a larger number of nobles than on any previous occasion, was a big factor in making the day successful. The winning of the Shrine ring by Poe Greer of Abilene was a high point of interest. Festivities that concluded Tuesday night with a dance at the Golf and Country club.

At 4 o'clock the colorful parade started on its way through the business section. Headed by the Maskat Temple band, the divan came next with its members riding in separate cars, each designated to tell which officer the Shriners followed, estimated 800 in number. The parade was closed by the mounted patrol which was recently organized.

A Hula-Hula section of the parade, formed by the novices, featured one of the humorous sections of the group, but it was not outclassed by the "happy home," and other stunts performed by the novices who brought laughs from thousands who watched the line of march.

All officers were in full regalia and lent a colorful atmosphere in the parade.

One feature of the parade was the appearance of the Lions Club Boys' band, directed by Paul Seeds and the youngsters gave an admirable performance. The DeMolay patrol also formed a part of the parade which was three blocks in length.

15 BALES BURN IN COTTON FIRE

Blaze in Electra Cotton Yards Early Tuesday Does $720 Damage

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 23.—Fifteen bales of cotton were destroyed between 1:15 and 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, when fire broke out in the cotton yards, on Railroad avenue. The fire is believed to have started from a gin fire, or the interior burning of a bale of cotton which was ignited while ginning Monday afternoon and it was from the time of ginning until early in the morning burning to the outside. The local fire department was called and by working hard for several minutes kept the fire from spreading more. The damage is estimated at around $720, cotton selling for nine cents and the bale averaging 480 pounds.

Most of the cotton in the yard burned is believed to have been ginned by the Farmers Ginning ccmpany, although the old Electra gin also placed cotton in the yard.

To Start Anew On Upham Gas Line

Shipment of Pipe Now Delays Completion of Main To City

Work to bring the line of the Upham Gas company into Wichita Falls will be resumed as soon as a shipment of 16-inch pipe is received, according to information from D. A. Upham, president of the company, in a telephone message from Mineral Wells to Frank Kell.

A 12-inch line has been finished within six miles of Vernon and from that point to Wichita a 16-inch line will be constructed. Local officials of the Northern Texas Utilities company branch office of the Upham Gas company, said the line would be constructed at the rate of about three miles daily as soon as the pipe arrives. Dut to the great demand for pipe of larger kinds this year, the steel factories have been unable to keep up a supply, it was said.

NEW PAVING ISSUES AIRED

Several Protests Lodged On Proposal Projects In The City

A number of new paving projects were voted by the city council in regular session Monday night, however, not without considerable objections. A number of hearings, which had been held over for the purpose of giving Protestants an opportunity to better present their claims, were taken up.

The hearing on Forrest avenue, Lork to Lexington, was again brought up and this time postponed for four months after it developed that more than a third of the property owners objected to the project. These same property owners also claimed they would be ready to sign for paving next summer.

The paving of Victory street, Duval to Harrison, was also held over for another hearing.

Considerable personal protest was heard on the following projects, but they were ordered paved when it developed that protests represented less than one-fourth the actual area to be paved.

Mississippi street, Elm street to intersecting alley.

Elm street, Kentucky to Mississippi streets.

Adams street, Third to Seventh streets.

Huff street, Clark to Marshall streets.

Paving already finished on Bullington street and the street back of the post office was accepted by the council upon recommendation of the city engineer.

REFUSES PLEA

Cook Denies Application For Injunction In Electra.

Judge W. W. Cook in 78th district court Monday refused the application of Mrs. Martha McSpadden of Electra for a temporary writ of injunction against the Monroe Hopkins players. Judge Cook gave in his opinion the statement that it was his belief the plaintiff did not show proper evidence of any damage sustained from the action of the defendant.

The controversy came up over the attempt of the show company to show in Electra, the plaintiff objecting and citing a city ordinance which required that a show company could not erect a tent on a lot without the consent of property owners within 300 feet of the property.

The suit of the Security Casualty company versus E. A. Gibbs et al, on compensation, was settled out of court just before it was called for trial in the 78th district court.

Dr. Jones Small, evangelist, a native of Ireland and a resident of Kansas City was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club Monday when he talked on "Thanksgiving." Mike Ellis announced the Flonzaley quartet which is to give a performance at the college auditorium Friday night of this week.

Janie M'Calister And E. D. Willis Are Married

In a lovely setting of autumn colors, with background of autumn leaves, yellow, bronze, russet chrysanthemums and vines, with tall candelabra on either side holding cathedral candles, the wedding of Miss Janie McCallster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCallster to Ell Dewitt Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Willis, was solemnized at the First Methodist church Tuesday at high noon, the Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist, reading the ring ceremony.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd sang the pre-nuptial solo, "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., and Miss Reva Rae Brown played a violin obligato. Mrs. Akin also played the wedding march and recessional and played softly during the reading of the ceremony.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom who was attended by his brother, John Willis, as best man. She was charming in a handsome two-piece beige crown of crepe Romaine, with trimmings of brown velvet. Her hat was a large brown velvet creation with gold ribbon trimmings, and she carried a shower boquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Attendents to the bride wore autumn shades of velvet fashioned in basque style with collars and deep cuffs of gold lace. They also wore gold lace and metal hats. Mrs. John Willis of Pampa, matron of honor, wore a gown of gold colored velvet and carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. Misses Helen Knotts and Helen Snider, bridesmaids, wore gowns of beige velvet with arm bouquets of orchid chrysanthemums and Miss Alma Willis, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Mryon Lyle, sister of the bride, wore peach colored gowns and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Little Misses Jane and Selma Voelcker were flower girls and wore dainty frocks of peach georgette with feather trimmings. Ushers were Don Dale, Temple Shell, Myron Lyle and Walter Nelson.

Both young people are members of two of Wichita Falls' most prominent families and both attended the local schools afterwards, Mrs. Willis going to Ward-Belmont, and Mr. Willis to George Washington law school at Washington, D. C., and also to the University of Texas.

They will make their home in Panhandle.

The afternoon program was opened with a hymn after which Mrs. J. C. A. Guest led the bible lesson on "Serving Through Prayer;" Mrs. P. E. Miller talked on "New Missionaries and Deaconesses," after which the candle ceremony symbolizing the source of light and strength was given by 26 new workers for whom a prayer was offered by Mrs. S. E. Trevathan. Mrs. Martin Rowe gave a vocal solo and "Korea" was discussed by Mrs. W. H. Downing. Mrs. J. A. Shepherd talked on Africa; Mrs. N. H. Martin talked on "Japan," and Mrs. G. D. Hall on "China." Mrs. Ben G. O'Neal talked on the "Brevand Institute" and Mrs. Roy Calvert talked on "Self Denial." Mrs. Dan Hardy offered a prayer for Mother Hartsook, a member of the society who has been ill for some time.

A generous free will offering was given by members of both the societies, the grown-ups and young people, and the money will be used for the advancement of the cause. Mrs. B. P. Williams, as president of the former, and Miss Annie Laurie Long, superintendent of the Young People's Auxiliary, expressed themselves as being grateful for the co-operation given them in the work being done by the societies the past year, which is said to have been the most successful in the history of these organizations.

What Women Are Doing—Sophie Loeb's Chats—New Recipes

Picture Lovers Have a Treat In Entertainment Now at Alamo School

BY MRS. LUTHER HOFFMAN

Lovers of fine pictures in Wichita Falls should not miss the opportunity of seeing the splendid exhibit sent here by the Southern Art League and two Dallas artists which are being shown at the Alamo school, under the auspices of the art department of the Woman's Forum. The collection is varied enough to please every taste. There are landscapes of many different kinds of scenery and technique; portraits executed in a most interesting manner and flower pictures so full of color and life they are almost fragrant with the perfume of the gardens.

The Southern Art League is composed of artists who were born in the south or resided there five years. Many of them have achieved inter-national fame as Frank W. Cuprien, who lived and painted in Texas for five years, but now has the Viking Studio in Laguna Beach, Cal. Mrs. Emma Richardson Cherry of Houston, has studied and painted in many places all over the world, and has received several awards and medals. Her pictures were shown here five years ago. This artist has a portrait in the present exhibit that is unusually full of character.

Frank Klepper of McKinney, Texas, has a picture in the exhibit and he also has won numerous honors.

Prize Winner Here.

Included in the display is a picture of "Rhododendrous," which won first prize for the best flower painting offered by the garden club of Houston in the sixth annual exhibit of the Southern States Art league.

The "Indian With Drum" picture by Catherine Critcher is typical of the art of New Mexico.

The pictures that are fullest of sunshine and rolling sweep of Texas prairies in the exhibition, were painted by Miss Jessie Jo Eckford of Dallas. She has a fresh color technique—her skies are luminous with beautiful color and her hills are warm with real Texas sunshine. She has an unusual feeling for West Texas landscape, with it's low blue hills in the distance and cactus and mesquite in the foreground.

Mrs. Gilleo of Dallas has a nice collection of flowers and still life pictures in the show.

The exhibit is open and free to the public until Friday afternoon.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Although midnight suppers are not considered generally healthful, nevertheless many who are engaged mentally or physically throughout the evening feel that they require food. The midnight supper dishes should be both light and digestible. When cheese is included in the midnight supper dish some type of liquid should be added to render it more digestible.

* * *

OYSTERS WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS

Cream 1 tablespoon of anchovy paste with 2 tablespoons of butter. Melt in a chafing dish or pan and add half a dozen eggs beaten lightly, with a pinch of salt and a dash of paprika. Cook, stirring gently and when the mixture begins to thicken add half a pint of oysters parboiled and cut fine. When the eggs are scrambled serve on toast spread with anchovy.

* * *

HALIBUT RAREBIT.

Flake a cupe of cooked halibut and add to it 1 tablespoon of olive oil, a few drops of onion juice, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, salt and a dash of paprika. Make a sauce of 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 tablespoons of flour, 1-4 teaspoon of salt and 1-4 cup of each of chicken stock and cream. Add the halibut and 2-3 of a cup of grated cheese. Serve on toast.

Cabbage Peppers

Parboil green peppers for five minutes. Season 3 cups of finely chopped raw cabbage (for 5 or 6 peppers) and mix with 1 cupful of minced cooked ham and 1-3 cupful of melted butter. Stuff the peppers, put in a baking dish and half fill the pan with water. Cook for about an hour, basting frequently.

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB Says—

The Touch of a Woman's Hand.

While traveling in the country a few days ago, I stopped at a little in in the heart of the mountains. The place seemed so far away from everything and everybody. It was between two big mountains, and we made it our objective place for the night.

As we entered we found a large, spacious living room—just like one you want at home. The dining room was a joy of blue and white, and the dainties curtains adorned the windows.

Everything that greeted one's eye bespoke comfort and refinement. Upstairs the bedrooms were spotless. Everything about them was cozy and restful. Pretty little cushions and dainty ribboned counterpanes made one feel as though they were a visitor in a friend's house and not merely a passerby spending the night on his journey.

On the walls were beautiful, well chosen pictures, though inexpensive. In short, all through this house was the touch of a woman's hand. It was a very old house, but paint and new paper had done much, utilized by an interested individual.

It was late at night when we arrived and the household was asleep. Only the proprietor greeted us. Immediately he made us welcome and when I complimented him on the place and suggested he must have a good housekeeper, he said: "Yes, I have had her for 25 years. She is my wife.

There were no modern conveniences in this place, not even running water, but yet one was loath to leave. In fact, you did not mind the absence of things found in the ultra-modern hostelry, in view of the "homey" feeling experienced in these delightful surroundings.

The personal interest here was to give of one's self in connection with the service, making the visitor glad to come again and to tell his friends about it, which we did to other travelers.

In direct contrast to this we found places, some of them run by women which we were glad to leave. Here the interest was to get the money and get "while the getting was good." Yet, such people lose out. The traveler soon learns to know by the looks of the place that the care and comfort of the guest are not the first consideration.

The success of all such enterprises lies in making them homelike, that is, making a home on a big scale.

In lesser degree, and of greater importance, is the touch of a woman's hand—a real woman—in her individual home.

I know one whose home is heavenly. Her husband earns so little that they are almost poor, but her house is most artistic. In the first place, it is so wholesome and clean. She has made it her business to purchase very little in the way of furniture, but in the best taste.

She makes pretty things, such as only a woman can, in the way of cushions and curtains, and spends little money in the process. Everything is sanitary, and her kitchen, although she does all her own work, is a joy to behold.

In short, this woman has made her husband's salary reach 100 per cent of its value by giving of herself in the fullest sense. And yet she has time to be her husband's "best fellow." She is a good business manager, but she has not failed to keep the womanly element in all of it.

Quite different from her is the woman who takes no interest and gives herself as little effort as possible. I have been in homes where women have had all the money they needed, and the difference in the two kinds of homes was evident on all sides.

Furniture was purchased haphazard and recklessly. There was little discrimination and much was spent with little return. Then there is the slovely woman who is always complaining about housework but does very little herself except talk.

When one realizes how little energy it takes to make the home attractive and ever-so-sweet one wonders at the laxity that many women display.

Besides, it is so easy to cultivate this womanly touch that makes for the home beautiful and promotes contentment.

Oyster Sandwiches

Chop one pint of oysters very fine and cook with one-fourth cup of melted butter, one-fourth cup of milk and two stiffly-beaten egg whites, four crackers crumbled into a fine dust, one-half teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Allow to cook slowly over a low fire and cool. The mixture can then be cut in thin slices and placed between thin slices of bread. Delicious to serve with tea at the afternoon bridge party.

Rare Entertainment to Come With Whitney Appears at Junior College

Entertainment of rare merit and instruction will be the opportunity of the people of Wichita Falls and community Thursday night when the Wichita Falls City Teachers association presents at the Junior college auditorium, Edwin M. Whitney, America's foremost dramatic recitalist and interpreter of plays by modern or recent writers. This is to be the first of a series of performances under the auspices of the city teachers organization, given under the same plan the teachers presented a number of programs last year.

Whitney is now on his 24th year of dramatic interpreting with the stage as the medium, beginning in 1902, immediately after his graduation from the Emerson School of Oratory of Boston and appearing to date before almost 6000 audiences in all parts of the country.

Distinctive in character and attitude himself, he puts into his readings a freshness that makes the characters portrayed live before his audiences like real individuals and not like mere stage puppets. Whitney is a typical clean-cut, wholesome American gentleman, trained in his art to the finest degree of perfection, of appealing idealism, and possessing an imaginative ability which attracts and holds the interest of the audience every moment of the performance.

To guarantee such programs, which cost from $200 to $400 a performance usually, the city teachers' association has evolved a plan by which a fund of membership fees is pooled at the beginning of the year so that money to make guarantees will be at hand. Teachers in this way are enabled to get good numbers of general public interest at low rates to themselves as well as for the public. Without exception these program tickets are being sold to the public at half or less the prices charged at other cities, as was done in the Creel and Grenfell lectures last year.

Courtesies have been exchanged between the city teachers association and the members of the Woman's Forum of the city by which holders of Forum cards may be admitted without extra charge in return for the same privilege accorded teachers at programs put on by the Forum.

Ticket sales are also this time in the hands of the high school seniors, who get for the Soyote, high school annual, a percentage of proceeds on tickets they sell. Tickets to the general public are offered at the same rate as to the schools, or fifty cents, according to A. K. Presson, president of the teachers association.

CHEERY SIGNS OF THE TIMES

IN the so-called "good old days" of Texas, Texans were large buyers of canned goods of every description. This included canned milk for the table. It included most of the butter that was served in the state. It included the bacon that was shipped from other states into Texas in carload lots, trainload lots for that matter. It included the corn necessary for the making of pork and the feeding of poultry.

Texas traveled a long way in recent years. In the year 1925 Texas produced a wheat crop sufficient to feed the population for 12 months, and to ship 10,000,000 bushels of wheat to the markets of the world. Texans produced a corn crop that will supply the home demand for a year and then leave a large surplus for export.

Texans produced vast crops of feedstuffs; indeed, in many sections of the west there is a large surplus for export. Now comes the news that Texas this year produced around $3,000,000 bushels of oats, with a market value of $30,000,000, as compared with a yield of only 13,250,000 bushels in 1925 when the crop was worth $8,000,000.

According to a grain expert about 40 per cent of the Texas oat crop is sold, the remainder being used for feed on Texas farms. In making the announcement of oats production in 1926, the expert added that in addition to producing nearly twice its normal crop of oats, Texas made a new record in barley production the estimated 1926 crop of 7,000,000 bushels, being more than twice that of the 1924 yield, the largest previously and having a value of $4,000,000.

Gone are the so-called "good old days," at least they are going. There are creameries everywhere in Texas and Texas butter finds a ready market in a hundred cities and towns of the state. There are canning establishments in Texas where vegetables and fruits and berries are preserved for future use. There should be a dozen where there is one. There are 10 swine breeders today where there was one in the not distant past. There are poultry farms from one end of the state to the other and the chickens are pedigreed. They are not the wild variety of the hen family.

In the "good old days" just on the fringe of a dead past, the farmers of Texas spent $250,000,0000 every year for food on feed products shipped to them from other states, when every one of the products imported could be produced on their own farms.

Thanksgiving is coming. Texans should rejoice. They are getting away from the crop idiocy. They are producing food for their tables. They are producing feedstuffs for their livestock and feathered tribe.

Cotton stung them this year for the reason that the largest acreage ever planted yield the largest crop ever grown.

NOT A REPEALER

MANY newspapers have carried stories that repealers of the Robertson insurance law will flock to Austin early in the session of the 40th legislature. Ray Holder of Dallas county is a newspaper publisher and he will be a member of the 40th legislature. He has served notice on the repealers that there will be one vote cast against their proposal, the Holder vote, for the reason that he believes in keeping Texas money in Texas. Of course, the repeal cat is coming back. Now who's going to bell the cat.

VERDICT OF A JUDGE

JUDGE MARCUS A. KAVANAUGH of the superior court of Chicago has a reputation that is almost international. This is an excerpt from the Kavanagh literature, "every rattlesnake shelters in his den a bat and an owl. The lair of every professional criminal feeds and shelters a shady lawyer and a crooked bail bondsman." It must be admitted that this Chicago jurist knows how to draft a stinging indictment. Is his indictment faulty or is it true?

TOWN TALK—By H. F. J.

ROYAL TRAGEDY

Queen Marie is rushing home to the turreted castle in far-away Bucharest where King Ferdinand, report has it, is in anything but satisfactory health.

When we hear of this, when we read that Marie's American tour is cancelled, that the grim shadow of death hovers over the royal household and promises to strike at any time, the glamor and glitter of royal greatness seems to pale somewhat. And, further, the narrowness, the compartive drabness of our own every day, workaday existence seems to dissipate.

We read of Marie being whisked all over the country in luxurious special trains; of receptions, banquets, entertainments, enthusiasm and homage in unstints damount. It all seems like a life of ease and enjoyment. We look at the clock, we look at the desk piled high with pressing matters—we rebel.

Then comes word of Marie's tribulations and the fact suddenly looms that, after all, she is no more than human, subject to the ailments that assail all of us and exposed to the fickle winds of fate that may waft untrammeled happiness one day and changing, bring the driving storms of disaster and grief the next.

Greatness is simply a matter of contrast. The Rumanian queen, apparently with the nation she is visiting at her feet, with only her beck and call needed to bring her anything she may fancy—in the material line—got here she is, called back by impending tragedy in her own household—a tragedy that even the influence of a queen cannot avert.

Dorothy Dix's Column

Sound Philosophy—Expert Advice On Perplexing Problems

"If You Desire to Live in Peace and Avoid Wrinkles and Nerves, Never Establish a Reputation for Excellence in Any Particular Line," Says Dorothy Dix; "There's Great Comfort in Mediocrity."

Next to a bad reputation, there is nothing that is such a handicap to one's pleasures and happiness as a good one. Indeed, it may be questioned whether a good one isn't worse than a bad one, for while a reputation for being wicked may lead the foolish to regard you as interesting, the reputation for being good elects you to martyrdom.

If you desire to live in peace and comfort, and avoid wrinkles and nerves, never establish a reputation for excellence in any particular line. If you do, you are its bond slave for life. You cannot run away from it, or leave it behind. Go where you will, it will follow you, and you cannot rid yourself of it.

Every one of us who has a reputation for anything has to pay for it, because we have to live up to it.

The beauty must take much more care of her appearance than the homely woman. She must dress with more lavishness and taste than the woman who has no reputation for good looks to maintain. People expect it of her and they are quick to notice the least falling off in looks and the first sign of approaching age, whereas the plain woman can go through all the gradations from youth to middle life without any one being the wiser.

It is one of the consolations for never having been a beauty that nobody ever tells you how you have faded.

If you acquire a reputation for conspicuous excellence in any line, it establishes a precedent that you live up to, and in consequences you become a shining mark for criticism.

Take the woman, for instance, who is a notable housekeeper. Hasn't she let herself in for a life sentence of hard labor? Other women may have a picked-up dinner; other housekeepers may draw a blind down hastily to hide where the maid neglected to sweep in the corner; other cooks' cakes may be sad now and then and their bread heavy, and we think nothing of it. We don't expect perfection of them.

But no such blessed privilege is hers with a reputation. If everything in her home isn't spic and span and done to the minute, we say: "We don't see what people find in Mary Jones' housekeeping to be forever talking about. Of all the heavy, undigestible stuff we ever ate, that angel food of hers, etc., etc. And poor Mary Jones knows we are going to say it, if there is a single peg in her housekeeping left to us to hammer. So she works herself to death, trying to live up to the blue-ribbon prize standard that she has inaugurated.

It is sad to think that we have to guard against our most amiable impulses, but it is a fact nevertheless. A familiar example of this is afforded by the attitude we are forced to take toward children for the sake of our self-preservation. There isn't anyone with a heart as big as a nickel who doesn't love little children, but if you are rash enough to let this become known, your life will be made a torment to you.

Every time your neighbor gets busy making a new dress, or wants to go off and spend the afternoon playing bridge, she bundles her nursery in on you. "Of course I wouldn't do this with anybody else," she says, "but I know how fond you are of children." Fond! Bah! When you had planned a nice restful afternoon with a new novel. You feel like a female Herod. Is your fatal reputation for being fond of children coming home to roost.

Everyone likes to entertain friends, but once get a reputation for hospitality, and you had as well hang out a sign of free entertainment for man and beast. People you never heard of write and tell you they are coming to see you.

People you have met at summer resorts and on railroad trains descend upon you. Relatives who forget you until they see an opportunity to dodge a hotel bill look you up when the come to your town.

"You see," say these dead beats, "I am perfectly unceremonious with you, because I know how hospitable you are." And there you are, because you haven't the nerve to stand up and repudiate the reputation that is going to land you in the poorhouse.

Then there is the terrible thing of getting the reputation of being generous. Once give to a poor family, and you have established their claim upon you for life. Henceforth you are merely a dairy that they feel that they have a right to milk at pleasure.

You can't give what you can afford to give and then stop. Your pensioner not only feels that it is your duty to support her, but to send her boys to college and to give her girls a debut party. You are slated for life to toil for the lazy and idle and support the shiftless, because of your reputation as a philanthropist.

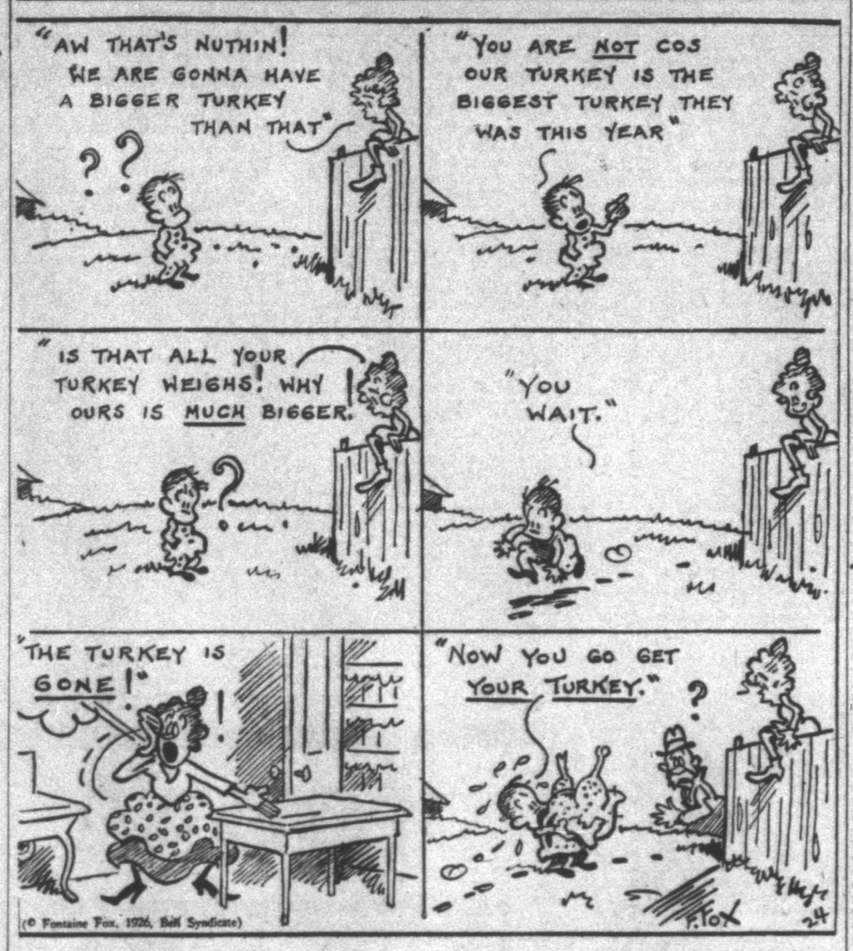

A funny phase of this subject is that after you once acquire a reputation for doing a thing you never get any credit for virtue in doing it. People seem to think that you have a morbid mania for work and self-sacrifice and that you enjoy it. They actually give themselves credit for gratifying your peculiar taste.

And the queer part of it is that once you have established your reputation for being unselfish and patient and kind and generous, nobody appreciates your self-sacrifice or your goodness. They think you are built that way and can't help it. And they give all of their plaudits and throw fits of gratitude before the people who only occasionally are good and kind or give anything away.

The moral of all of which is that we have to live up to our blue china and if we once get a good reputation we have to break our necks keeping up to the standard we have set.

Therefore, the only safe and comfortable plan is not to establish a precedent. There is a great peace and happiness in mediocrity.—DOROTHY DIX.

KELLYGRAMS ..... By Fred C. Kelly

TITLES AS SMOKE SCREENS

I often wonder what it is about me that causes my name to appear on so many kinds of sucker lists. I'm reluctant to believe that I'm any more gullible than the average fellow and yet my mail is regularly cluttered with circulars for worthless stocks and all manner of plausible but foolish enterprises to catch the unwary.

This morning I received a letter from a publishing house and the man who signed the letter had added a "Ph. D." after his name, indicating that he regards his Ph. D. as of prime importance.

That makes me at once suspicious and just for fun I took the trouble to look up the company this man works for. I learned that it is the kind of publishers concern commonly known as unethical, though a harsher term might be used. Their main business is with school teachers and others who write books of too inferior quality to interest legitimate publishers. An unethical publisher will accept such manuscript, provided that the author will pay in advance all costs of publication. These costs are enough to give the publisher a substantial immediate profit and he well knows that he will probably never dispose of many copies of the book after it is printed. In fact, he won't even make much effort to do so.

What I started to talk about though, was the stupidity of the man who placed the Ph. D. after his signature, for that let the cat out of the bag.

A man of real consequence who is a doctor of philosophy never says much about it, because he is intelligent enough to know that it isn't of all-embracing importance—probably obtained by preparing an inane and futile these is in a college, to be passed upon and approved by a group of old men with chin whiskers.

The man too eager to flaunt such a title is probably secretly ashamed either of his own shortcomings or those of the company with which he is identified. He is like the man, past middle age, who still wears a fraternity pin, or an extra large lodge emblem—because belonging to a certain "frat" or lodge is still to him the biggest thing he has ever done.

In other words, the man who brags about something trivil evidently hasn't anything better to brag about.

I notice, by the way, that men who had non-combatant commissions in the World war are the ones today most insistent upon being called by their military titles.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Josef Van Raalte

NEW YORK, Nov.(EFS)—The hostess of an Eighth avenue Dissipation Den was arrested several days ago charged with felonious assaults on one of her blonde-beaned entertainers.

The queen of the trottery thus voiced her defense to the magistrate:

"She come to me, Judge, in the company of her boy friend and says she wants to be payed off. I says to her that I'll give her what dough she has coming but I won't hand it to the boy friend like she wants me to do. Then she says: 'Bum, can you fight?'

"What would you ha' done, Judge, under them circumstances? You'd ha' done jus' what I done. I orders the 65 patrons out o' the dump—an' they was all payin' men too. I had the waiters move the tables to one side an' I says: 'Now, Kid, let's see how good you are!' She squares off an' the next minute I knocked her cuckoo. I was only tryin' to be a mother to her, Judge—th' same as I mother all my girls."

When the celebrity, unaccompanied by his press agent, steps from his particular pedestal to mingle unheralded with the milling mob, he realizes for the first time why Fame is always pictured with a fish horn to her ruby lips.

The Man in the Street has no time to bestow even casual attention on the chap he rubs elbows with. The individual who jostles him on the street corner may be the author of "Main Street," a pickpocket or a former premier of France. The woman who beats him to a taxi on a rainy afternoon may be the archbishop's housekeeper or the Countess of Oxford and Asquith. The taximan may be a former convict, or Lord Liverpill, down on his luck.

There's no telling, and the Man in the Street engrossed in his pursuit of dollars and distinction hasn't the leisure to inquire and wouldn't take the trouble to if he had.

It's the rule of all big cities.

Some years ago I walked a dozen or more blocks along Fourth avenue, to the offices of the Outlook magazine, with Theodore Roosevelt the elder. It was a glorious spring morning and the thoroughfare was jammed. The colonel was wearing a gray flannel shirt and one of his famous black sombreros. It hardly seemed possible that a face and a figure as well known as his could be veiled by the cloak of mediocrity with which the crowd covers the individual. I remember taking a mental note at the time that none of the hurrying thousands who casually glanced at the grizzled man beside me, flashed the least sign of recognition.

NATIONAL POLITICS ..... By F. W. Wile

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.(EFS) Resignation of the presidency of Amherst college by Dr. George Daniel Olds revives the suggestion that to serve his alma mater as its chief executive may be the post-White House ambition of Calvin Coolidge. The president's devotion to Amherst is, next to his hostility to conversation, perhaps, his outstanding personal characteristic.

Two fellow Amherst alumni are with him constantly at the White House—Edward T. Clark, his personal secretary, and F. Stuart Crawford, who succeeded Judson C. Welliver, last year as executive counseller on public relations. The latter title is not official. Then, of course, Frank W. Stearns, Mr. Coolidge's great and good friend of years' standing, is an Amherstian of the blood rolay.

Many authorities think the chieftaincy of his old college, and the agreeable intellectual activity it would afford him, would precisely suit Mr. Coolidge in his "lean and slippered years."

Amherst has become such a tourist mecca since its noblest son became president of the United States that the alumni recently built a fine modern hotel in the town. It's called "The Lord Jeffrey," after the college's famous British founder.

Wilson Saved Football.

One of the timely revelations of the season is that Woodrow Wilson in his day was a great football coach. The war president coached the Princeton eleven of 1878, which captured the first "Big Three" championship by trouncing Yale and Harvard.

In 1880 Wilson went to Wesleyan university, at Middletown, Conn., as a young professor, and soon became the faculty member of the football avrisory board. It was while at Wesleyan that Wilson actively co-operated with Walter Camp, at Yale, in eradicating many of the evils then harming the game. Particularly with regard to eligibility rules, Wilson worked closely and effectively with Camp. It was mainly through their joint efforts that the Intercollegiate Football association eventually revised the gridiron code.

Because of that achievement, authorities who have been delving into the musty days of football games are now designating Woodrow Wilson and Walter Camp as common fathers of the game as it is now played. Frank W. Nicolson, dean at Wesleyan for many years, goes the length of asserting that Wilson "saved the sport from wreckage" 37 years ago.

Football Hero in Congress.

There's a member of congress who takes vast and personal pride in the football honors that now seem definitely in danger of passing to Notre Dame. He is Rep. Nicholas J. Sinnott, republican, of Oregon, who has just been elected to an eighth term in the house. "Nick" was Notre Dame's star athlete and all-around track champion for two years before he was graduated in 1892. A sprinter, hammer thrower, jumper and long distance runner, he knew no peer at Notre Dame and few equals in mid-west colleges anywhere.

Sinnott is inclined to think there are many unnecessary frills in the business of modern training. He claims he never knew what a professional coach or trainer was. As for an athletic diet, "Nick" who towers several inches of six feet into space and is constructed accordingly, says the rule in his day was to eat anything that wouldn't president. "Well," said the vet-

"Uncle Joe" Story Fount.

Newspaper men of Washington will never cease to mourn "Uncle Joe" Cannon. On many a copyless day he was their sure shield. There was an unwritten law, sanctioned by Cannon himself, that whenever anybody had a good yarn which needed to be pinned on somebody, "Uncle Joe's" name could be used without danger of denial or decrimination. The privilege was liberally abused for years. When he lived in Washington following his disappearance from congress Cannon's favorite loafing place was the National Press club, and dominoes were his passionate pastime there.

One could compile an encyclopedia of "Uncle Joe's" clever lips. In his observer's judgement, none excels Cannon's reply to a query as to whether the republicans were going to nominate him for president. "Well," said the veteran, "they could go farther and do worse, and probably will."

Fletcher Shows He's Diplomat.

Who'll say henceforward that Henry Prather Fletcher, American ambassador to Italy, who has just left Washington for his post at Rome, isn't a diplomat to the manner born.

When Flecher was interviewed by New York reporters on the eve of sailing, they pestered him for his views about Mussolini. "How long will the dictator be able to dodge assassination?" the ambassador was asked.

"Strengthening the lira exchange rate is now the major occupation of the Italian government," Fletcher replied, "and the process is being materially aided by the great number of Americans who travel in Italy."

Attacks Job Dispensers.

In current "good Government," official organ of the Civil Service Reform league, William Dudley Foulke, restless civil service reformer, takes sundry and divers cracks at patronage-chasing congressmen. He names, specifically, Rep. Thomas S. Williams, republican of Illinois, as a statesman who believes unblushingly in the time-honored doctrine of victors ownership of the spoils.

"Investigation by the Civil Service Reform league," avers Mr. Foulke, "shows that a number of congressman share Mr. Williams' views." These views, Foulke alleges, are that the civil service examination is not a fair test of the qualifications of candidates because in involves no inquiry into party affiliations and services.

Unprecedented Era of Development Seen For Plainview In New Lines

Special to The Record News.

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 23.—An unprecedented era of development and colonization is anticipated on the Plainview section of the Plains with the building of the proposed lines of the Fort Worth & Denver Railway company and the Quanah, Acme & Pacific, made possible now by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission made public Friday, granting permits to construct these respective lines after the hardest fought case ever presented to that body.

Fast-Growing Area.

For many years this has been a fast growing agricultural section. The chief drawback has been inadequate rail facilities, and public spirited citizens of Plainview, Floydada, Lockney, Quitaque, Lubbock and Petersburg and other live Plains towns have realized this and have been working without ceasing to persuade major railway lines to build into this territory. An eastern connection to Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, and Dallas has been the clamor for years of all commercial interest of these Plains towns because these were called the natural markets for the ever growing amount of products raised in this section. Not until the Fort Worth & Denver made its application, early in 1925, for the authority to build did a major company interest itself in building such an eastern line. With that application came a number of others. The fight went through twenty months with the Denver emerging victorious along with the Frisco who will build into Floydada from McBain.

Plainview Benefits.

Plainview is perhaps the greatest beneficiary of the new lines. The new Denver line from Plainview to Dimmitt will afford Plainview the opportunity of becoming the distribution and concentration point for that vast section that is only partially developed. With oil development under way in Castro county, it is very probable that the line from Dimmitt to Plainview will prove of inestimable value to both cities within the very near future from that standpoint alone.

Plainview is already the grain and cotton concentration point of this section of the Plains. With the largest elevator capacity of any city south of Amarillo, will facilitate the handling of this commodity as well as give Plainview connections with territories where large quantities of grain are raised.

Cotton Concentration.

The cotton compress of Plainview will be greatly benefited. Castro and Briscoe county cotton will practically all be concentrated for compressing at Plainview and the eastern connection will facilitate the shipment of this commodity to the ports as with wheat.

The building of these lines of railroads will attract the attention of homeseekers in the estimation of local realtors. There will be a marked increase in the number of farmers coming to this section to fill up the land which will be touched by rail lines for the first time. The old drawback of having to live too far from the railroad will be removed for many thousands of acres of tillable, productive land that has laid idle except for pasturage since this country was first inhabited.

Thanksgiving Flock Disappears From Quanah Yard

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Nov. 23—Thieves robbed Mrs. J. P. McNabb of her complete flock of turkey last week, from her home, eight miles east of Quanah. Three different trips were made in order to secure the whole flock, consisting of 14 turkeys, five being taken the first night, two the second, and the remainder the third night.

HASKELL GIN DAMAGED

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Nov. 23.—On Saturday morning the cotton room at Duncan's gin caught fire either by a match bein~ carried in or by the electric loader being the cause. A larged number of unginned bales of cotton were burned and badly damaged by water, but the room was not burned. The loss was covered by insurance.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THE AWAKENING

Woke you ever after illness
In the convalescent stillness,
In the solitary gloom
Of a room?

Woke you ever slowly feeling
Once again the current stealing
Through your numb and naked frame
Like a flame?

Far below you heard the roaring
Of the human traffic pouring
O'er the cobbles of the street;
And the feet

Like a busy loom were humming,
Always passing, never coming
Up the lonely-creaking stair
Where you were.

And you wakened half-regretting,
Half-recalling, half-forgetting,
Half a member of earth's host,
Half a ghost.

Things forgotten come returning—
Little lessons you were learning:
Here a picture, and a chair
Over there.

Half in gladness, half-resistant,
From the dim and shrouded distant,
To an old world still the same,
So you came—

To an old world, yet a new one,
To a green and gold and blue one,
To the roses in a jar,
And a star.

To a new world, yet an old one,
To a blue and green and gold one,
To a world that knew you, you
Never knew.

For the roses, and the larches
And the blue and starry arches,
And the sunsets—long ago
They were so.

IN MISERABLE FIX FROM INDIGESTION

Mr. J. C. McAnally, who lives near Anna, Texas, makes the following statement:

"If I'm not mistaken, my first recollection of Black-Draught was in 1877 and 1878. I had typhoid, and after this I was in an awful bad fix; not able to work. I would eat, and eat so much, then would have indigestion. My system was clogged and I would feel awful bad.

"My brother-in-law came to see me, and I told him what a miserable fix I was in, just feeling so bad, dragging around, and he told me of Black-Draught.

"I believe, this was the first time I used it. I know I used it from then on to now. I remember the date, because it was the winter before I came to Texas, in February, '78, and Black-Draught has been my medicine ever since. It is a good purgative. It gives relief. It certainly is all it is recommended to be.

"If I have smothering after meals, or a disagreeable feeling, Black-Draught relieves this. I am never without it. I don't suppose my house has been without it more than a month since I began its use.

"Black-Draught has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I carry it in a little box in my pocket, and take a little pinch during the day, if I have the least disagreeable feeling, and it does me good."

Quanah Farmer Profits on 80 Acres By Practicing Diversification Rules

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Nov. 23.—An eighty-acre farm, much of which consists of "blow sand" has proved unusually profitable to a local farmer near here who has been practicing the West Texas Chamber of Commerce doctrine of diversification. L. W. Wefer, living about 15 miles northwest of the city, has freed himself of debt and operates strictly on a cash basis through diversifying on his farm with broom corn, berries, sweet potatoes, fruit, some cotton, livestock, garden and truck crops.

About $250 was netted by Wefer on his broom corn crop. Sixteen acres of corn were planted, from which were gathered 5600 pounds of baled broom corn that sold for $75 per ton. One acre of sweet potatoes yielded over 200 bushels and averaged each $1.65. Four hundred and thirty-five gallons of dewberries from 7-8 of an acre sold for 50c per gallon at the farm. From 700 young trees that are just beginning to bear in his new orchard, Wefer realized about $250. He has gathered 22 bales of cotton from 35 acres planted. Besides all this, he raises more than enough feed for hogs, his cows, and work stock. He also "lives at home" and realizes good profit from a large garden and truck (melon) crop.

Wefer is the father of a family of 13 children, all of whom have been educated in Hardeman county rural schools, all but one of whom are living.

Brown McCallum, while assisting his brother in handling the team, did so without any official recognition from the Wichita Falls schools; worked without any remuneration and understood from the start that he was giving his services simply as a personal matter. The Wichita Falls high school, it was argued, looked at all times to A. Y. McCallum as coach in title and in fact; he was responsible alone to the board of education and was the only man profiting financially at the expense of the board.

The argument in behalf of Wichita Falls was made by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools, who took up in detail before the committee all phases of the question as viewed by Wichita Falls. The opposition argument was made by W. T. Lofland, superintendent of schools at Vernon. Vernon was the prime mover in the initial action to throw the Coyotes out of the race.

A wire from T. H. Shelby of Austin, chairman of the executive committee of the state league, really swung the tide in Wichita Falls' favor today. Sufficient strength probably had been mustered to gain the desired objective even without Shelby's telegraphic intercession, but answers given by the Austin man to queries sent from here brought the needed reaction to favor the Coyotes.

Answers Two Questions.

Shelby answered two questions wired him by C. E. Davis of Quanah, chairman of the district one executive committee. These questions were:

1. What were the reasons for the state interscholastic league making the provisions embodied in section 17, article 8?

2. What is the state committee's interpretation of the rule?

On the questions Shelby answered:

1. Section 17, article 8 was included in the rule to center responsibility of coaching in the school board by making the coach a full-time employe of the board.

2. The committee interprets this section to apply only to regular coaches and does not prevent his receiving assistance which is subordinate to and responsible only to him.

These answers apparently impressed the committeemen. Shelby's answers, reflecting as they did the attitude of the state officials, evidently coincided with claims of Wichita Falls that unofficial and unpaid assistance could be given a coach without infringing on either the letter or spirit of the rule in question.

Dr. Cantwell backed up this opinion in his argument by going into specific detail on Brown McCallum's standing at Wichita Falls.

"McCallum was told at the outset," Cantwell asserted, "that whatever services he gave would be entirely voluntary, that he could not and would not receive a dime for his work and that he could not be considered as officially connected in any way with the school system. He has worked simply on this basis, gaining his only profit from the experience which he hopes to use to advantage later on. He wants to coach himself sometime."

At the outset Wichita Falls had the support of its own vote and that of Plainview. Lubbock adopted a hands-off policy and would have been better pleased had it not been called on to take sides in the matter at all. A ruling was made, however, that Lubbock must vote, which it did in favor of the Coyotes.

Electra Undecided.

Electra came into the meeting undecided. E. E. Rogers, principal of the Electra schools, said after the meeting that when he came to Quanah he had no intention of altering his vote of the previous meeting when he voted to oust the Coyotes. The Shelby wire, however, coupled with Cantwell's argument, changed his mind and when the final show-down came he voted for the Coyotes. That gave Wichita Falls her four.

Unofficially, she probably had five. Amarillo was not represented at the meeting, but sent in a wire ballot, which the committee ruled out. It was not opened, but since Amarillo sided with Wichita Falls in the first meeting, it is presumed the Coyotes would have had the Sandstorm support today also.

Lubbock was represented at the meeting by L. J. Von Tungleu, coach; Plainview by Guy Allen, coach; Electra by Rogers; Vernon by Lofland, and Wichita Falls by Cantwell and McCallum. Davis of Quanah presided.

Vernon Adamant.

Vernon stood adamant in its determination to boot the Coyotes out of the race. Had she been successful in her fight, the Vernon Lions would step in as successor to the dethroned Coyotes and meet Lubbock for the final fight.

Lofland argued long and earnestly in behalf of his school. He bespoke a strict adherence to the letter of all rules and poked some scornful derision at Roy Henderson, director of the interscholastic league, for the stand he had taken on the McCallum question. At the start of the season Wichita Falls officials sought Henderson's ruling on the matter and was told by that official that if Brown McCallum received no compensation, he might properly assist as a coach.

The controversy over where and when the titular battle was to be fought caused some more tension, although it was thoroughly amicable. Coaches McCallum and Von Tungleu each wanted the game, of course, and both debated at some length in his own behalf.

Coin Flip Decides.

When it became apparent that argument would not settle the question, a coin flip was resorted to. Coach Allen of Plainview tossed a quarter and "heads" was called by A. J. Dodson, father of Wilks Dodson, Coyote captain. It fell heads and Wichita Falls was assured of the game.

The Lubbock Westerners, as they are known, will bring a powerful and aggressive aggregation to do battle with Wichita Falls. They have lost but one game, that to Amarillo by a 3 to 0 score early in the season. Later, the Westerners took the measure of the Golden Sandstorm by a 12 to 7 count.

CADETS WORK OUT

Army Has Last Practice at Home Prior to Navy Game.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 23. (AP)—Army held its last long gridiron session today before the struggle with the Navy in Chicago Saturday. The varsity again stressed the defense against Middie formations, consistently smashing the efforts of team B as it reeled off Navy plays.

"Tiny" Hewitt, Trapnell and Murrell booted long spirals for almost an hour and "light horse" Harry Wilson tried his hand at placement goal kicking.

The possibility of Murrell displacing Captain Hewitt in the Army back field grew today. Murrell's kicking distanced that of his leader and his speed and shifty open field running probably will force Hewitt from the starting line up.

BROWN DRAWS EASTERN FANS

Undefeated Eleven to Get Main Attention of Turkey Day Grid Fans

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Lighting the gridiron sky in a farewell flash of ancient rivalry, old foes of the eastern football arena will battle in five colorful closing games on Thursday. With the mid-west claiming the Army-Navy classic, football followers in the east will see the campaign virtually ended in Thanksgiving day struggles between Columbia and Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Cornell, Pittsburgh and Penn State, West Virginia and Washington and Jefferson, Brown and Colgate. Another pair of traditional rivals meet Saturday when Holy Cross clashes with Boston college.

Interest will be focused in the attempt of unbeaten Brown to smash through Colgate for a record of ten straight victories and a strong claim on eastern as well as national honors.

In the Penn State-Pittsburgh melee, Besedek's men appear to be faced by a veritable "defeat complex." The Nittany Lions have won only one of their last thirteen games against the Panthers. In each of the last three games the Panthers have rolled up 20 or more points while in six years Penn State has scored only one touchdown.

Columbia facing powerful Syracuse here has not succeeded in turning back the orange since their modern series was inaugurated in 1901. Their closest approach to a victory was a six to six tie in 1902.

Pennsylvania's victory stretch in its series with Cornell extends only through 1924 and 1925 but in the 32 games they have played, the Quakers have won 24 times. Coach Lou Young's clean slate against eastern foes is basis for his eleven's position as favorite.

Washington and Jefferson will seek to wipe out the sting of two overwhelming defeats at the hands of the West Virginia mountaineers, who won last year by 19 to 0 after piling up 40 points the year before.

Cop Fired

the matter was brought to his attention.

"I knew nothing at all of this affair until this afternoon," he declared, "and I have worked out as much as I could on the case. No man can work for this police department while I am chief who abuses or mistreats any one, and if I find out later that any other member of the department was connected with this, they'll go, too."

Hodgin's gave Bentley's version of the affair by saying that at the noon hour, McDonald had come to the city hall while Desk Sargeant C. E. McConnell was out to lunch. Jailer Ike Johnson had been left in charge, but, he in turn, left to go feed the prisoners and left Clyde Bentley, another motorcycle officer, in charge.

Just a Joke, Told

Homer Bentley told Hodgins, the latter reported, that he came into the station shortly after McDonald got there and was told to lock McDonald up, Clyde Bentley issuing the instructions. Homer proceeded to carry these out, he told the chief, but immediately after returning to the lower floor after locking McDonald in the cell with Elmore, Clyde Bentley told him that "we were just joking, you'd better let him out." Homer returned to the cell and brought McDonald out, he said, but in the meantime the beating had been administered.

Chief Hodgins had a telephonic conversation with Judge Martin last night relative to the matter and is scheduled for a personal conference with him this morning.

Police Commissioner Frank Queisser had no comment to make, other than that he thoroughly disapproved of any such thing as had apparently gone on.

"We never have and never do countenance it," he declared, adding that the present case was entirely in the hands of Chief Hodgins.

TCU STUDENTS IN PEP RALLY

Fans Arouse Interest to High Pitch for Contes With S. M. U.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23.(AP) One of the greatest pep rallies ever held at Texas Christian university to boost an athletic contest was staged Tuesday night on the campus with about 500 students and a large number of fans from the city rallying around a giant bonfire in support of the Thanksgiving day football game between Texas Christian university and Southern Methodist university Thursday afternoon in Dallas. The bonfire was started on the large plot of ground south of the library and back of the west stand of the stadium. Boards, boxes and other waste wood was stacked about 15 feet high Tuesday morning in preparation for the gala event.

The program included performances by T. C. U. pep squads and an address by President E. M. Waits, expressing the good wishes of the university to the 12 football players who play their last game for T. C. U. Thursday.

The Horned Frogs took their last hard workout Tuesday afternoon. They will be out again Wednesday afternoon but only to get limbered up.

Doheny Drawn

for the storage contract were opened in the presence of competing companies and interior department officials. Roberts declared that the government would show that three oil companies had declined to bid because they did not believe such a contract was legal.

The government lawyer also declared that solicitors in both the interior department and the department of justice had held the scheme to be illegal but that despite this Fall went ahead with the plans under which Doheny's company got two contracts and a lease out of which the oil man stated his concern would make $100,000,000 in profits.

The jury was told by Hogan that the proposal had been approved as legal by the judge advocate general of the navy and that Captain John K. Robison, Secretary Denby's personal representative in oil matters, then went ahead with the secretary's directions, to develop the plan.

Doheny Re-interested.

Robinson re-interested Doheny in the first contract, Hogan said, by explaining in confidential detail the then threatened situation in the Pacific. After listening to the naval officer, Doheny, Hogan declared, agreed that his company would go in and agree to do the work without profit as a patriotic duty.

The contract as finally approved gave the Pan-American Petroleum company preferential rights in Elk Hills and it is the government's contention that this was all a part of the conspiracy by which the California oil man was to get possession of the reserves.

Hogan said the evidence would show that Fall had no part in the negotiations for the lease itself and that Doheny was called into the negotiations only at the last minute when officials of the navy and interior departments and the Pan-American company could not agree on royalty rates.

One Witness Called

When Hogan concluded, the government brought out from its first witness, George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, that he and H. Foster Bain, director of the bureau of mines, had called to the attention of Fall at the time the contracts were being negotiated that there was a large over production of oil which was sending down the price.

Dr. Smith estimated that the Elk Hills reserve contained 250,000,000 barrels of crude oil. He disagreed that wells drilled on adjacent land would drain some of this supply but said the operation of these wells might make it more difficult and costly to get out some of the oil from the naval lands.

PAVING DISMISSAL

Coleman Tells Realtors of Possibilities With Roads

The 17,500 square yards of block paving in Wichita Falls could be replaced with brick paving at a cost of $34,600 cash or $37,000 deferred payments; or it could be replaced with asphalt at a cost of $34,000 cash, or $36,000 deferred payments, according to estimates made by J. P. Coleman of the Plains Paving company in a talk to the Wichita Falls real estate board Tuesday noon at the Kemp.

The wood block paving is made up of three inch blocks with an inch of sand cushion between them and could be replaced with three-inch brick with a cushion between, or with asphalt with a sheet asphalt top, he said.

A round table discussion was held following the talk, and realtors agreed that the appearance of the city would be improved with the change of brick paving.

Discussion of the license law will be held at the next meeting, according to announcement made at the club.

BABE HERMAN WINS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Babe Herman of New York defeated Benny Bass of Philadelphia in the main bout of a boxing show here tonight. Herman received the referee's decision after twelve rounds. Bass weighed 126 1-2 pounds and Herman 128 3-4. Herman, wielding a heavy right, outfought Bass and took the decision by a substantial margin.

Rate For Shipment Over New Lines To Plainview Will Favor This City

Wichita Falls business men who have shipped extensively from this city to Plainview and Lubbock were looking with expansive glee yesterday at figures compiled by the chamber of commerce traffic department and showing the substantial savings to be effected in rates when the new Fort Worth and Denver South Plains extension into the Panhandle is completed.

The accompanying table, worked out by the chamber of commerce gives in detail the present mileage from Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas and Oklahoma City to Plainview and Lubbock; it shows also the present freight rates on first, second, third and fourth class matter; and further shows the mileage reduction and rate reduction to be effective when the new extension is in operation.

A study of the table will reveal the exact savings possible under the new schedule.

In the accompanying table the present schedule of rates on first, second, third and fourth class freight from Wichita Falls, Ft. Worth, Dallas and Oklahoma to Plainview and Lubbock is shown together with rates that will be in effect when the new Fort Worth and Denver South Plains line is completed. A curtailment of mileage will be effected between all points except Fort Worth, Dallas and Lubbock. Between these points a slight increase in mileage will be made by the new line, but the freight rates will be lower because a single line rate will apply. In shipments now, a joint line rate is in effect because shipments go from Dallas or Fort Worth to Sweetwater via the Texas-Pacific and then transfer to the Santa Fe for the balance of the trip to Lubbock. Inasmuch as the single line rate is lower than the joint line rate, a saving is possible in spite of the increased mileage.

STRONG SERMON

Evangelist Preaches Tuesday Night On Devinity of Christ

One of the strongest sermons on "The Divinity of Christ" ever delivered in this city was given last night by Dr. James Small, evangelist who is conducting the revival at Highland Heights Christian church. He said in part: "Jesus Christ is the greatest miracle in history. There are only four things that are possible for a man to think of Christ. He was an imposter; that He was a myth; a mere man or the Son of God."

The next was taken from Mathew 22:42, "What Think Ye of Christ?" "No imposter ever taught the world like Jesus did," said Dr. Small. "If Jesus was a myth who invented the character? It was utterly impossible for Mathew, Mark, Luke or John to invent the character if He did not live. It takes Jesus to forge a Jesus. No mere man has ever measured up to Jesus. The world never saw a full grown man until it looked into the face of Jesus Christ."

The sermon tonight will be on "The Print of the Nails." A special feature of last night's service was a picture drawn by Mr. Haley.

SOONERS PLAY OKLA. AGGIES

Victory for Farmer Team Will Mean Missouri Valley Titular Honors

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23. (AP)—The return of Captain "Polly" Wallace to his pivot position in the Oklahoma Sooner lineup today after being out with injuries, marked the high point of interest in today's preparation for the conference championship game between the Sooners and the undefeated Oklahoma A. & M. team at Stillwater Thursday. The Sooners expect no picnic when they travel to Stillwater as the A. & M. squad has sacrificed one non-conference game and pointed for this session since they defeated Grinnell November 13. If the Aggie team takes this game it will mean the championship of the valley by virtue of four wins and no defeats. Even a tie would still give them a 1,000 per cent record.

If they lose, the mythical honor goes to the Nebraska Corn Huskers who will celebrate Thanksgiving day at Seattle opposing the University of Washington. Thirty-four Huskers arrived at Seattle today and stretched their travel cramped limbs. Virtually the same line-up that crushed the impressive New York university varsity at Lincoln Saturday, will start against Washington. At Des Moines, Drake's Bull Dogs proved themselves skeptics by continuing practice against the elusive pivot shift which the Grinnell Pioneers have used up and down the valley with remarkable success this year.

Other games scheduled for this week were the invasion by the Quantico Marines of the Washington Bear field at St. Louis and the intersectional battle between Iowa State and the University of California, southern branch at Los Angeles.

BOTH TEAMS READY FOR STELLAR FRAY

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 23.—(AP)—With only one day intervening before Thanksgiving, when Oklahoma A. & M. college and University of Oklahoma football teams clash here in continuance of their long gridiron rivalry and when the Aggies have a chance to win the mythical Missouri valley conference title, Coach Johnny Maulbetsch turned today to mental preparation of his charges.

The Aggie regulars will be quartered in the gymnasium tonight and will be there again tomorrow night. Much of today's session was devoted to building morale for the varsity—getting them in fighting mood to face the greatest opportunity ever to present itself to the Aggies.

Maulbetsch today had Strack, giant tackle, and Stanard, sub half, spend some time in place kicking, with Kratz center trying his toe in drop kicking. Peery, quarterback, spent most of the afternoon punting.

SOONERS' LAST PRACTICE

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 23. (AP)—The Sooners went through their last workout of the season this afternoon and were pronounced by Coach Bennie Owen to be in good condition for their tussle with the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater Thursday afternoon.

(AP)—The hopes of Grinnell college football followers soared today with the announcement that West Stotts and Meeter, pioneer stars are in early season form for the Drake game Thanksgiving day. BETTING ON ARMY 6 TO 5

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Wall street betting commissioners have made the Army a six to five favorite over the Navy for the annual service gridiron classic in Chicago Saturday. The largest wager reported at these odds was $6000 to $5000.

Earl Combs, centerfielder of the New York Yankees, at the Richmond, Ky., golf club, made a hole-in-one. Two ministers and a banker witnessed the feat. It was a distance of 135 yards.

Jack Sharkey is under option to fight only for Humbert Fugazy until February 1 but that won't prevent him accepting a bout in Syracuse, N. Y., in January. Fugazy has released Sharkey for that one bout. The Boston heavyweight's opponent for his first match since whipping Harry Wills has not been chosen.

Vandy Will Play Steers In 1927

Contract for Game at Dallas Signed Between Two Big Teams

AUSTIN, Nov. 23. (AP)—The Vanderbilt University Commodores and the Texas University Longhorns will meet in gridiron competition again in 1927. It was announced Tuesday from the office of L. Theo Bellmont, athletic director of Texas University, that a new contract had been consumed calling for a game between the Vanderbilt and Texas football teams in Dallas on October 15.

Bellmont stated that efforts were made to have a home-and-home contract agreed to, but Vandy authorities objected to this with the single game affair as stipulated above, resulting as a compromise.

It is said that a large group of Vanderbilt alumni wanted the game played in Dallas, while Commodore athletic authorities were staunchly adverse to the home-and-home plan as suggested by Texas representatives stating that they did not wish to come to Austin for a game under any consideration.

KEMP TO CLOSE

NEBRASKA ON JOB FOR GAME

Cornhuskers to Play Washington University Eleven On Thanksgiving

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 23. (AP) Thirty-four University of Nebraska football players arrived here today for a Thanksgiving day game against the University of Washington.

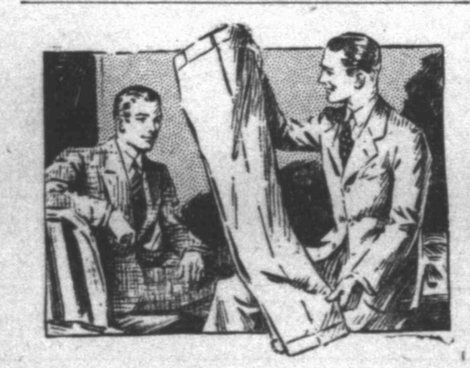

The Corn Huskers, who Saturday broke the University of New York eleven's string of eight straight victories by defeating it, 15 to 7, predicted that the fight here will be close, but that the trio of Nebraskan backs will plow through the purple and gold for a win.

Glen Presnell, halfback, was among the scoring leaders of the Missouri valley conference and is counted on to make heavy yardage here Thursday.

Bob Stephens, quarterback is rated as having an edge on Washington's kicker, Louis Tesreau, in the exchanges. Arnold Oehlrich, plunging fullback, has been a consistent ground gainer. Edward Howell is expected to start in the other back field berth.

Vin Lawson and Evard Lee or Leon Sprague and John Weir are favored to start in the wings. At tackle Captain Lennie Stiner and Cliff Ashburn or Ray Randels will be given the call. Dan McMullen and Elmer Holm or Bob Whitmore are slated as guards and Ted James as center.

It is said that Syracuse Athletic association collected $7,000 rain insurance on the Johns Hopkins game.

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

We might just as well tell you that Rogers Hornsby is going to take Dan Howley's place at Toronto. There is just as much reasoning to such a rumor as to listen to one that is going the rounds that Hornsby is going to New York for the Yankees or the Giants.

Now, on the other hand, there is some reasoning to the rumor. So many of the good boys have had the ax within the last few weeks that we cannot expect anything from anybody.

But the real situation in the ranks of the Cardinals is between Hornsby and his manager, Breadon, the owner. Breadon, it seems, reprimanded Mr. Hornsby for betting on the mud runners. He rather thought that a man of standing shouldn't play the ponies, or bet on anything, for all that. Of course, since Rogers comes from Texas and is quick to get hot, he retorts in his usual Texas manner, which is misconstrued among his "foreign" northerners.

The situation cannot be measured seriously. Don't think for an instant that Breadon is going to dispose of the only manager he ever had, one who has done so much for the club and is well liked by the St. Louis fans.

The Cardinals would ruin their ball club, from the attendance point of view, if they should let Rogers go.

The whole situation was just a case of blowing off a little steam.

There are not many of today who will remember J. Triplett Haxall of Princeton, of the team of 1883, who is credited with the longest field goal in the history of football.

Haxall kiecked a field goal from placement from the 65-yard line against Yale at the Polo grounds, Nov. 30, 1882.

There have been just as sensational kicks and just as great, but not as long probably. The closest to this was the feat of a 62-yard drop-kick by Mark Payne, of Dakota Wesleyan against Northwestern normal, in 1915. That kick was the most recent and modern of present-day achievements.

Haxall's kick was in reality far more than 65 yards. He was fully 15 yards to the right of the center when he placed the ball for the kick. It was a sensational kick for those days, but every man at that time was supposed to be a good kicker before he could get on any football team.

Pat O'Dea, of Wisconsin comes into recollection when one speaks of the long kicks. It was Pat who took the ball and drop-kicked 62 yards against Northwestern in 1898.

I remember well of seeing Pat in action when Yale played Wisconsin in the east. It was Pat who drew the crowd that day in 1899. He was the only one the crowd had heard mentioned and they came out to see him perform.

It was during the early part of the play when he dropped back somewhere around the 45-yard line seemingly to punt. The ball was passed and he stepped along in a funny sort of side swipe, he had this combined with a twist, and dropped the ball for a drop-kick. The crowd was quick to realize what was happening and rose in a mass, breathless, to see the ball drop only a few feet under the bar.

Now that Bill Roper has won the Big Three title, what is he going to do about his football games next year?

Princeton is going to lose 12 men, 12 of his stars, who have been sensations on the field for the last two seasons, through graduation.

Of this total, seven of these men, two in the back field and five on the line, have played in the Harvard and Yale classics.

Except for the ends the entire line this year was made up of seniors.

Jake Slagle, who in Roper's opinion, is the greatest football player to be developed at Princeton, will go. Jake starred in his sophomore year and 1925 was his greatest season. That year he ran 83 yards through the entire Yale line for a touchdown.

He has been handicapped this season through injuries and sat on the bench through the Yale-Princeton game without a minute of play to end his spectacular career.

The list of men who have played their last game for the Tigers are Capt. John Davis of Brooklyn; Jake Slagle, Baltimore; Dan Caulkins, Detroit; Jeff Rosengarten, Philadelphia; Dick Baldwin, St. Louis; Ernie Bartell, Tarentum, Pa.; Bob Darby, Westfield, N. J.; Ted Williams, Stamford, Conn.; Charlie Weekes, Philadelphia; Joe Prendergast, Evanston, Ill.; Harry Mehlahu, Brooklyn, and Sam Ewing, Philadelphia.

Of these men, Slagle, Ewing, Weekes and Davis won their letters in their sophomore year, while Caulkins and Williams, originally in the class of 1926, won the coveted varsity "P" in 1923 and 1924 respectively.

As Coach Bob Zuppke, profiting by his personal observations of Ohio State embattled with Michigan Saturday, prepares the Illini for next Saturday's encounter with the Buckeyes, there is just one prediction in the local gridiron camp.

That is that the Ohio-Illinois battle will be another thriller, probably equalling in sensations and excitement the tight tussle over at Colubus.

Smarting over their defeat by the narrow margin of one point because of a missed try for goal after touchdown, the Buckeyes are girding themselves for their invasion of the Illinois stadium. It was pretty tough for Ohio to forfeit a tie with the Wolverines by that kind of an error.

But, if anything, the result at Columbus will send the Buckeyes into battle here next Saturday, raring and rampaging, with blood in their eyes, determined to conquer the Illini and be in a position to claim the highest ranking in the Big Ten that is possible.

For it is still possible for the conference race to finish in a complicated tangle. Should Iowa make an amazing come-back and overcome Northwestern, while Minnesota defeats Michigan, the victor in the Illinois-Ohio State engagement might be awarded a tie for first place.

At any rate, the final game in the Illini stadium promises to be full of thrills. Ohio, with a brilliant running and forward passing attack, probably has an edge on the Illini, according to the dope. Zuppke, with first-hand information of the Buckeye strategies, is hard at work building up a defense.

The Illinois regulars, fresh after a week of comparative rest, none of them battered or bruised from a Saturday game since none were used against Wabash with the exception of Wilson, should be in great form.

Harry Gamage's freshmen, wearing scarlet jerseys, are attacking the varsity with Buckeye plays. Zuppke proposes to stand pat on his usual lineup, but sturdy ref serves, such as Nowack and Perkins, young tackles, are being groomed for emergencies.

INDIANS SET FOR TUSSLE

Ludgate's Crew Ready For Turkey Day Clash With Decatur

"Everything's fine!" was the comment of Coach Ludgate when questioned yesterday about the condition of his squad for the critical battle with the power-packing Decatur Baptist college eleven which is to take place on Spudder park gridiron Thanksgiving day.

Stiffness from the Tarleton tussle is just about eliminated and the Maroon and Gold team will go into the game, barring intervening accidents, in the strongest mettle shown any time during the year. No injuries were suffered at Stephenville and such had been dodging the Tribe since earlier games have been practically overcome.

All Determined

There is a spirit of determination evident in the Indian camp that surpasses anything of the season thus far and the team has been noted all season for its fighting quality. This ability to fight under adverse circumstances has won the team of the Junior college several games which they were doped to lose and has brought them a relatively successful season as a whole.

The team realize to a man that the game Thursday is going to be as hard as any faced during the year, as hard as the Tarleton engagement, Decatur having thus far gone through an undefeated schedule. But the spirit that knows no defeat is going to make the Maroon and Gold of Wichita Falls, though the underdogs in both size and experience, a scrappy team which will make any opponents put into the battle plenty of energy to emerge the victor.

Expect Big Crowd

School officials are preparing for a larger turn out than any games thus far has had. The heroic efforts of Coach H. T. Ludgate in trying to mold his material, scant in number and green in caliber, into a smooth-functioning football machine, with the result that the young Tribe has played some of the prettiest football seen on local fields or played by local teams, all have served to attract considerable attention from fans of Wichita Falls and surroundings.

Ludgate Tuesday announced officials for the game to be as follows: Jarrell of Baylor university, now coach at Seymour, head linesman; White of Oklahoma university, now at Iowa Park, umpire; and Brewster, of North Texas Teachers college, now coaching Iowa Park's Hawk referee.

Snow Blankets Soldier Field

But Workmen Make Great Arena for Army-Navy Contest

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Snow blanketed the Soldier Field stadium Tuesday, but it brought no pause in the activity of the army of workmen swarming over the tiers of seats about the oval where Army and Navy renew their ancient gridiron warfare four days hence.

While a heavy canvas shielded the playing field from snow flurries and freezing winds, carpenters and brick masons manned the outer walls, adding the final touches to the field to which three times the 100,000 holding tickets are clamoring for admission.

Against the gray of Lake Michigan a giant score board took its place with the columns atop the stadium walls. A few hundred feet outside the stadium walls workmen started construction of a machine by which a newspaper will reproduce the game and give luckless thousands the benefit of the cheers within the bowl.

Yale sees a happy omen in the eleven's choice of William A. Webster of Shelton, Conn., as football captain for 1927. He has led three winning teams in his football career, Shelton high, Hotchkiss preparatory school and the Yale freshmen and the choice of a Connecticut youth has never failed to produce a winning team. Walter Camp, William Corbin, Jim Hogan and Ted Coy, all natives of the Nutmeg state, captained championship teams.

Alias

Senorita Alvarez, the Spanish lawn tennis player, took part in a hoax at the Cro covered courts tournament. Commander O. Locker-Lampson announced that an exhibition match would be played between A. Wallis Myers and Col. H. G. Mayes, on one side, and M. V. Summerson and Senor Alonzo, who had just arrived from America, on the other. The four "men" came out on the court and many spectators failed to realize until after the match that Senor Alonzo was Senorita Alvarez attired in white flannels and wearing a peak cap which hid her dark hair.

Grandfield Will Contest Vanies

Oklahoma Team, Twice Victor Over Wichita Falls, Has Many Wins

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., Nov. 23. The last conference game of the season on official schedule for Grandfield high school will be played here Thanksgiving day with the Vanies high school. If Grandfield wins this game, the team is entitled to play Ringling for the south central championship on December 3.

So far this season Vanies has been a losing team, and Coach Chamber of Grandfield plans to save some of the best men for the Ringling game.

Speckman, cripple threat man of the squad is slowly improving from injuries received in the game with the Wichita Falls Junior college. Eversole has been out of the line-up since November 5 and may not be able to play Thursday.

Grandfield 46, versus Iowa Park, 0.

Grandfield, 13, versus Frederick 12.

Grandfield 6, versus, Walters 0.

Grandfield 16, versus Wichita Falls Coyotes, 6.

Grandfield 12, versus Temple 7.

Grandfield 0 versus Comanche 0.

Grandfield 49, versus Ryan 0.

Grandfield 7, versus Wichita Falls Junior college 0.

Michigan has been noted a long time for its ends and centers, but many a season has elapsed since the Wolverines boasted the services of a more brilliant flanker than Bernie Oosterbaan, the lanky native son, who last year earned a berth on the All-American. From "Bennie Friedman to Bernie" is old stuff at Ann Arbor.

Another Queen

However, the present occupant of Buckingham palace has not been deposed, nor is there any danger that she will be. This "queen" rules over her sisters of England who are devotees of the game called golf. She is the new English women's golf champion and she won her crown in a spirited match at the nineteenth hole, from Miss Corbett, at Woodhall Spa.

Her name is Miss Molly Gourlay.

PRAYER AIDS GRIDIRON TEAM

Penn University Squad Has Religious Coach to Help Win

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.(AP)—Members of the University of Pennsylvania football team have played squarely and cleanly this season because they have resorted to the power of prayer, the Rev. John R. Hart, chaplain of the team, said Tuesday.

Mr. Hart added that no mass prayer meetings had been held nor had the men ever prayed for victory, but each one in the privacy of his own room had asked for a "finer and truer expression of life while they were in action."

1700 GIRLS IN GRIDIRON FETE

Big Dance Will Be Staged On Eve of Army And Navy Tilt

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Seventeen hundred girls were jubilent tonight because they have been bidden to a dinner dance on the eve of the Army-Navy football game at Soldiers' field Saturday and the 20,000 other young women are disappointed.

The list of feminine guests at the ball, which will be Chicago's major social gesture to the Cadets and Midshipmen here for the service classic was made public today.

About a 1,000 of the girls were invited at the specific request of members of the student bodies at West Point and Annapolis. The rest of the students asked the committee to invite Chicago girls for them at its discretion. Every state is represented in the guest list.

The 1,000 Cadets and almost twice as many Midshipmen will come to Chicago on special trains Friday morning, a day behind their football squads. Each school's contingent will have a downtown hotel to itself.

The Cadets will be luncheon guests of the Marshall Field department store Friday noon and 3,584 guests will devour two and a quarter tons of turkey and proportionate amounts of other foods. Howard P. Savage, national commander of the American Legion, will be toastmaster and Vice-President Charles G. Dawes the principal speaker.

Friday afternoon will see the dedication of Soldiers' field with Cadets and Midshipmen parading down Michigan avenue to the field.

But far from the sound of revelry will be the football squads, one quartered at the South Shore country club and the other at the Hotel Windermer along Lake Michigan's southern border.

1800 Cadets To See Austin Tilt

Big Delegation to Visit Scene Of Annual Turkey Day Grid Contest

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23. (AP)—Aggieland is astir with preparations for the trip to Austin on Thursday when the Texas Aggies will meet the Texas Longhorns for their annual Thanksgiving classic. Eighteen hundred cadets will leave here on four special Missouri Pacific trains Thursday morning, the last of which is due to arrive in Austin at 10:25 o'clock.

The cadets will parade in Austin immediately following the arrival of the last contingent. The corps will form at the railway station and march along Congress avenue to the foot of the capitol grounds. It is expected that the parade of the cadets will begin about 10:40 o'clock. Captain L. R. Besse is in Austin to arrange the parade details, Lieut. Col. F. H. Turner, commandant at the Agricultural and Mechanical college, said Tuesday. The cadets will return to the college Thursday night.

The college football squad which was given light workouts Monday and Tuesday will leave here Wednesday noon for Austin. It will be accompanied by Head Coach D. X. Bible, Line Coach Rothgeb and Business Manager Sullivan.

It now seems assured that A. C. Sprott, 185-pound regular at tackle will be in the Aggie line-up. Sprott was out of uniform for some time after the game with the Mustangs, due to an injury to his jaw. It has responded well to treatment, however, and he has been in practice scrimmages the last few days.

A feature of the "pep" rally will be music by the Aggieland Eight orchestra. A. and M. songs and yells will prevail. The program will open at 8 o'clock and will be broadcast over station WTAW, the college radio station, with E. E. McUillen as announcer.

Dallas Makes Ready for T. C. U.-S. M. U. Hordes

DALLAS, Nov. 23. (AP)—Fully 18,000 fans will crow into Owenby stadium Thanksgiving day when the S. M. U. Mustangs meet the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, S. M. U. officials predict. Figures show that 16,736 attended the game recently between S. M. U. and Baylor, and officials believe that a greater interest surrounds the Pony-Frog clash than the former game, despite the fact that the championship was at stake in the latter conflict.

TEXAS BOY CHOSEN

Joe Swofford of Weatherford Heads Missouri Team

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 23. (AP)—Joe Swofford, fullback, was elected captain of the University of Missouri freshman football team here last night. Swofford, whose home is at Weatherford, Texas, is a brother of Donald "Shorty" Swofford, sensational young halfback on the varsity team, who was kept out of the game this year because of injuries.

Emerson C. Carey Jr., Cornell's football captain and sterling tackle, has a record of 23 tries for point after touchdown and 23 bull's eyes. One of them, against Geneva in the first game of the season, was not scored, however, as a Cornell lineman was off side.

SEMINOLE LID OFF

Operators Increasing Production By Various Methods.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 23.—The lid on the Seminole field, that was lifted on the producing wells late last week, is being tilted further and by November 29, all semblance of restraint on developments in Oklahoma's newest major oil area will have been removed.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.(AP)—The cotton market was somewhat easier today under a little more southern selling and further near-month liquidation. January selling off from 12.56 to 12.48 and closing at the lowest. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of nine to 13 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of one to three points with active months lower under overnight selling orders from the south or elsewhere and some local selling which may have been encountered by the large crop figures. There was more or less trade buying in evidence and spot houses bought December with the demand showing a tendency to increase around the 12½-cent level for January contracts. This held the mid-day market, but offerings increased slightly in late trading when there appeared to be a little more southern selling here and further commission house liquidation. December sold off to 12.42, while March declined to 12.69, and last prices were at the lowest of the day on the active positions.

It was reported that while some trade buying orders had been cancelled following the government crop report, others had been placed in the market and brokers with continental trade connections were among the buyers. Spot house brokers continued to buy December against sales of later months and the near month liquidation in preparation for the notices expected tomorrow was absorbed within six or seven points of the January price.

Rumors were circulating that considerable cotton was coming here from the south for delivery before the end of next month and with December selling so near the value of January, local traders said they expected notices against a large part of the local stock tomorrow. Private cables said that calling and continental buying in Liverpool had been offset by liquidation and hedge selling and also that the bigger American crop figures were checking business in Manchester.

Exports today 77,615, making 3,700,051 so far this season. Port receipts 110,-764; U. S. port stocks 2,755,729 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.(AP)—The cotton developed no great amount of activity today and price fluctuations were within a narrow range. About the only feature was more or less liquidation of the December option in advance of the first notice day for that month tomorrow both New Orleans and in New York. A considerable volume of notices of delivery and looked for but it is understood that leading spot interests are prepared to promptly stop all notices issued. Following gain opening decline of one to three points on poorer Liverpool cables than due the market gradually eased off until around noon they showed losses compared with yesterday's close of three to 11 points. During the afternoon the market rallied moderately on some trade buying, recovering about half of the morning's losses. The market was also supported by the large exports and the forecast for unsettled weather. During the last hour of trading prices eased off again to the lows of the day. The close was at or near the bottom, showing net losses for the day of seven to ten points.

Soon after the opening the market eased off and continued to decline under mild pressure during most of the morning, near noon December traded down to 12.47, January to 12.52 and March to 12.66 or 10 to 11 points under the previous close.

The market rallied during the afternoon to 12.53 for December, 12.58 for January, and 12.71 for March, or five points up from the lows. Prices closed at or near the bottom. Exports for the day totalled 77,615 bales.

Financial

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.(AP)—Stock prices worked higher today under the influence of easy credit conditions which stimulated pool activity and covering operations by professional traders who had sold for the decline. Trading was in fairly heavy volume for a holiday week but public participation was still on a small scale.

The fac that several issues were being elevated to new peak prices for the year while others were breaking through to new low levels, indicated that buying was of a discriminatory character. Bararing some definite charge in the business situation, speculative opinion judging from commission house advices seems to be leaning to the theory that much called "selective markets" are likely to prevail for some time as there appears to be nothing on which another big "bull" movement could be based and nothing which could be used as the ground work for a sharp general decline. Meanwhile, activity centers in issues which hold promise of special dividend, merger or earnings developments.

Baldwin, which has held the center of the speculative stage for a week or more was in free supply for a greater part of the session, getting down to as low as 142⅝, but a sudden outburst of buying in late trading sent the stock soaring above 149 for a net gain of nearly three points on the day. Commercial Solvents "B" made the most spectacular individual gain soaring over 15 points to 237 and then yielding to 233 on realizing. Laclede Gas scored an extreme gain of ten points.

Among the two dozen issues to attain new peak prices for the year were American Sugar Refining, Cuban Cane Sugar, Columbia Gas (new), Consolidated Cigar, Eureka Vacuum Cleaner, Federal Light and Traction, Granby Copper, Great Western Sugar, Liggett and Myers "B," Public Service of New Jersey and Texas Gulf Sulphur. New York Canners broke over three points to a new low, coincident with the omission of the dividend. Moon Motors, Chandler-Cleveland preferred, Hayes Wheel, Electric Refrigeration and Worthington Pump also touched new minimum prices although early losses were reduced or converted into new gains in some instances.

Rails showed a tendency to move upward on the publication of a few October earnings statements, making favorable comparison in gross and net with October of last year. Special buying of the Rock Island issues, which touched new highs, revived rumors of dividend action next month.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent all day. Time money was reduced from a flat 4½ to 4¾ per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A further reaction in French francs, which carried them back below the 3½ cent level was the principal development in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly firmer around $4.85⅛, but most of th econtinental rates showed slight recessions.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.(AP)—Rail strike possibilities in Canada together with car movement restrictions now enforced on one Canadian line led to lower prices here today for wheat. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ⅜ to 1⅜c net lower. Corn finished 1¼@⅜ off to ⅛c up; oats ⅜ to ⅝c down and provisions varying from 25c decline to 5c advance.

Likelihood of smaller receipts of corn for some time to come tended to steady the corn market and oats as well.

Provisions averaged lower as a result of setbacks in hog values and also in cotton seed oil.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Honey Lou goes to work with Margret in the office of Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with the wily Angella and meets Jack's mother, whom Jack calls The Head, because she manages everything at home. She tells Honey Lou that "Grumpy" is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou meets Angela, who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up TIM DONEGAL, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack. Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she was tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

Honey Lou tells her mother that she is to marry Jack Wallack the next day but her mother asks her to wait and have a wedding. Honey Lou's engagement is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

She meets Angela downtown and she persuades her to open a charge account under the name of Mrs. Jack Wallack, Jr., and to put the shoes she is buying, along with some lingerie, on the account. But at home with Margret, who sees through Angela, she decides to take back the lingerie and Margret pays for the shoes for a wedding gift.

Jack and Honey Lou have a quiet home wedding and spend their honeymoon camping at Lake Tamay. In the meantime Steve visits the flat and breaks under the realization that Honey Lou is lost to him now.

Jack and Honey Lou return from their honeymoon and stay with the Wallacks while looking for a flat for themselves. Honey Lou tells Angela that they are anxious to start housekeeping. They find a se- - - - flat on the next street to the Wallacks and The Head says Angela told her Honey Lou could not wait to get away from them. This angers Honey Lou and she cannot understand why Jack's mother is so cool toward her. Honey Lou starts shopping for furniture. She stops at the Wallack Mills office to see Ann Ludlow.

Ann tells Honey Lou why she sent for her. Honey Lou sees Joe Meadows and tells him he must marry Ann Ludlow at once and he agrees to do so.

Honey Lou and Jack settle down in their own flat with Mary Delaney, the cook. Margret comes home with Honey Lou for dinner and Steve Mayhew calls to take her home.

Angela comes over to help Honey Lou prepare dinner on Mary's night out. Jack phones he will not be home and Angela says she will call Tim Donegal and ask him to play cards with them, much against Honey Lou's wishes.

Angela has her way and Tim comes over. Later they meet at Sabine's, but Honey Lou refuses his invitation to tea. On the way over to spend the evening with The Head, Honey Lou stops to see Angela. Angela asks her if she told Jack about seeing Donegal. The Head sends Jack upstairs to see his father and tells Honey Lou she wants to talk to her.

The Head shows Honey Lou the bill for the shoes and lingerie she charged to Mrs. Jack Wallack Jr., before her marriage. She scolds Honey Lou for the money she has spent furnishing her house. Honey Lou makes up her mind she must not spend so much, but the next day Honey Lou goes to the beauty parlor to have her hair done and then goes shopping with Suzanne Clemens. On the way home Honey Lou stops to see Angela.

Angela tells Honey Lou she is going to have a party for her and Jack Saturday night. Honey Lou goes home and finds Jack reading poems about little houses in the country filled with love and happiness. Honey Lou decides to let Mary go in the morning, do her own work, and try to make the kind of home Jack wants. The next morning Angela calls and asks Honey Lou to go to town with her to pick out a new dress for the party. Honey Lou sees a dress she would like to buy.

Influenced by Angela, Honey Lou buys a dress which she knows she cannot afford. Angela tells Honey Lou Jack seems very much interested in his new secretary, Miss Ayres.

At the party Margret overhears Angela talking to Jack of Honey Lou.

Now go on with the story:

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI.

At first Margret didn't know what they were talking about.

"I told her not to buy it," Angela was saying in the soft, soothing voice that somehow always rubbed Margret the wrong way. "I knew you couldn't afford it—but she's just like a

200 ATTEND ANNUAL MEN'S BANQUET AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

TWO COLLEGE HEADS SPEAK TO BIG CROWD

Howard Payne and Simmons University Presidents Give Addresses

More than 200 laymen of the Baptist churches of the city were present last night at the First Baptist church in the annual men's banquet when a varied program was presented. College presidents were the principal speakers and a round of jokes, new to the assembly, kept the house in a roar of laughter.

"This is the school age of the world," declared Dr. E. E. Godbold, president of Howard Payne college, Brownwood, in an address on "Christ's Call to Men." "God's call to us is for us to keep up with the progress of the world; keep up the progress in religion, and to get rid of the ignorance about us."

Dr. Sandifer Speaks.

Dr. J. D. Sandifer, president of Simmons university, Abilene, spoke on "A Manly Religion." "The manliest thing in the world in my opinion is to humble ourselves and let Jesus Christ into our lives to live and to reign. Men and women who make their mark in the world let Christ have a place in their lives. The manliest thing in all the earth is the virtue and the religion of men," he said.

Dr. T. L. Holcomb of Sherman, president of the First Baptist church of that city, talked on "Men and Stewardship."

Burton Stanton, president of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, was toastmaster at the banquet and introduced the speakers. Bert King, layman of the First Baptist church, gave a toast to "Our Women," in which he prefaced his serious remarks with humorous after-dinner stories. He praised the women of the church and of the world for their influence. Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, gave a toast to "Our Pastors," and after enumerating a series of jokes called the pastors "a splendid bunch of fellows."

Fuller Makes Talk.

E. E. Fuller, teacher of the Young Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, made a brief talk and introduced his class.

Preceding the addresses of the evening, a male quartette from the Mt. Pleasant church, colored, sang a group of numbers.

Alva Willigus sang "Rolling Down the Rio," and "Little Irish Girl," with Mrs. Willigus at the piano. Misses Juel and Adelle Ray sang two numbers, including "Blackbird," with Mrs. F. R. Collard at the piano.

Here's A Story of What the Y. W. C. A. Can Do and Has Done For Girls Who Find Wichita Falls A Pretty Big Place

Mary was just past 16 when she came to Wichita Falls from a little town a hundred miles away.

It was the first time she had been away from home, and added to the newness and strangeness of everything were the pangs of homesickness which brought choking tears back through the day.

She couldn't put her mind on her work. There was so much to learn. One miserable day dragged after another. She was lonely and unhappy and sometimes a little bit scared because to her, Wichita Falls was a big city. She didn't know a soul in its limits well enough to talk to or tell her troubles to.

She felt that she couldn't stand it another day and she knew that unless she could be more cheerful and get her mind on what she was doing she wouldn't have a chance to stay on that job much longer and she couldn't go back home because there was not enough to care for her there.

Then one night as she was going to her cold, cheerless little room to cry herself to sleep without the supper she felt that she just couldn't choke down, the brown-eyed girl from the toy department caught her by the arm.

"I just wonder if you wouldn't like to come with me to a little club meeting I am going to?" she hesitated,—"you don't seem to know anybody much."

"Why, of course," Mary agreed.

Junior Business Girls

"It's our Junior Business Girls' club up at the Y. W. C. A. and we have perfectly grand times and do many things,—my name's Elsie."

And so instead of going to her room Mary went along with Elsie and in 15 minutes had actually forgotten she had been the loniliest, unhappiest little mute in the state of Texas.

The 25 or 30 girls who gathered i nthe clubroom at the Y. were all busy fixing their supper which Mary found they always did on club nights.

"And," one of them told her "a lot of us eat in here every day at noon. We bring our lunch from home but it tastes so much better up here than it does just sitting behind the counter and we can heat things here on the hot plates and lie down and rest a little."

After the club supper the girls discussed their plans for service and Mary soon discovered that there was going to be plenty of interesting things for her to do every single minute outside of working hours.

Visiting the sick and taking them flowers, making scrap books for the day nursery helping other girls who were sick or without jobs or in trouble in any way—were just a few of the things the girls seemed to have on hand right at that time.

Their talk of hikes, picnics, gymnasium, all made her realise that her life in Wichita Falls was going to be full and happy as well as useful instead of being one miserable lonely day after another as she thought.

Then Look

A month later she heard the head of her department say, "Yes, I think I'll give this place to Mary. She is the best girl in the department and I thought I was going to have to let her go at the end of the first week because she seemed so dull and stupid. I never saw a girl come out so"—

Mary smiles and her heart swelled with gratitude, because she knew what would have happened if Elsie had not taken her to the Y. W. C. A. that night and if she had not met the Junior Business Girls and found the bright, cheerful home and friends which she did find up in those Y. W. C. A. rooms.

The Junior Business Girls are really making life happy and worth while for their members and for these young girls, many of them away from home for the first time. The Y. W. C. A. is the center of their universe. It is here that they have their social life, here that they render their bit of service to the world, here that they read and study and discuss their problems and come for advice.

When you contribute to the community chest December 5, 6, and 7, you will be helping this worthwhile way to look after the young girls who come to this city and who so keenly need the right kind of friends and advice.

Jury Refuses To Convict Youth

Boy Offers to Plead Guilty But Attorneys Get Acquittal

Freed by a jury after first pleading guilty and later admitting his guilt on the stand was the experience of M. T. Patterson, tried in 89th district court Tuesday on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Patterson at first offered to plead guilty to the charge but his attorney entered a plea of not guilty for him and Judge Martin ordered the taking of testimony.

On the stand Patterson admitted that he received a quantity of lead, knowing that it had been stolen, and had hauled it to a place, for which services he received $5 remuneration.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty for the defendant, and Judge Martin was so impressed with the verdict that he gave the defendant a good lecture in few words.

"Young man you are very lucky in getting this verdict, and it is evident that the jury did not believe what you said here on the witness stand," the judge declared.
