Japs Issue New Warning To China

Situation More Tense Tuesday In Flare-Ups

Chinese Troops Given Until Noon Today To Quit Trouble Zone Or 'Independent Action' Likely

(By The Associated Press)

TIENTSIN, July 19.—The Japanese army warned the Chinese 29th army tonight it would "take independent action" unless alleged attacks of Japanese soldiers ended by noon tomorrow $10 p. m. cst., tonight) and Chinese troops quit the trouble zone west of Peiping.

The Japanese insisted on quick enforcement of an oral agreement made yesterday with General Sung

KAI-SHEK EXPRESSES VIEWS

KULING, China, July 19. (AP)—General Chiang Kai-Shek declared today that if the Chinese allow "one more inch of our territory to be lost, then we will be guilty of committing an unpardonable sin against our race."

In his first public statement on the state of Sino-Japanese relations, the head of the Chinese government said his nation does not want war but may be forced to defend itself.

Chen-Yuan, commander of the Chinese 29th army, which garrisons the Peiping-Tientsin region.

Truce Is Reported

General Sung was reported to have agreed to an immediate truce and withdrawal of his men. The Nanking government, however, has said it will not accept any agreement made with local Chinese officials.

A new flare-up between Chinese and Japanese soldiers was reported near Lukoughiao, 10 miles west of Peiping, where the hostilities first broke out July 7.

A Japanese communique declared Chinese troops fired on a Japanese patrol, seriously wounding Captain Misayoshi Yamazaki, but that the Japanese did not return the fire.

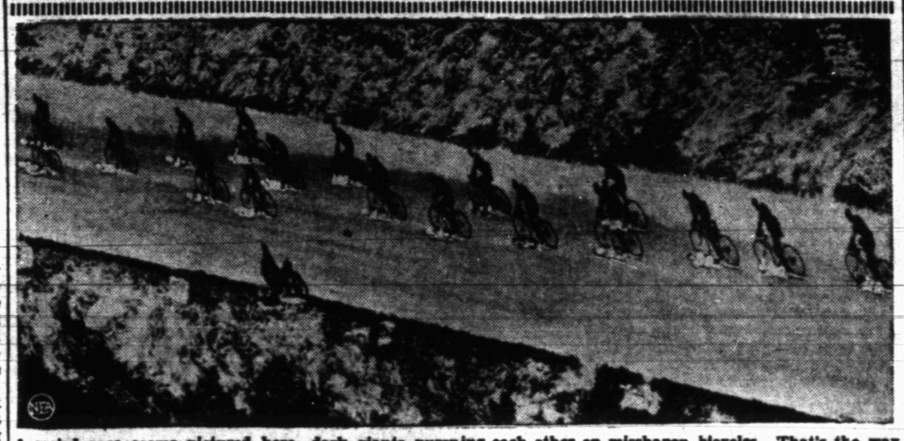

Despite the accord made with General Sung, Japanese soldiers continued pouring into Tientsin.

Chinese Say Jap Troops Must Be Withdrawn Too

NANKING, July 20. (Tuesday) (AP) Japanese sources declared today that China had replied to the virtual ultimatum to withdraw her troops from the Peiping battle area with a reiteration that no settlement would

Racing Shadows Overshadow Bicycle Race In This Unique Picture

A weird race seems pictured here—dark giants pursuing each other on misshapen bicycles. That's the way a famous French road race appeared to occupants of an airplane flying overhead. If you look closely, you will find each huge shadow accompanied by a tiny white mite—the real racers. To get a normal view of the race, turn the picture so the right side is the bottom.

Franco Gives New Hopes To Royalists

MADRID, July 19.—The greatest battle of the civil war raged through its fifth day today as the insurgents poured thousands of fresh troops against the government's newly won lines west of Madrid.

One hundred thousand men were believed to be fighting in each side.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco hurled his greatest strength against the salient in the government lines

HITLER WINS TRADE EQUALITY

BERLIN, July 19. (AP)—Reichfuehrer Hitler won trade equality with Premier Mussolini today in insurgent Spain through a treaty signed with Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

at Brunete, 12 miles west of the capital. The insurgent drive evidently was designed to wipe out the government's recent gains, which, in two-weeks offensive, had been driven far enough to constitute a grave peril to the insurgent forces besieging Madrid.

The battle roared over a 30-mile front. Hundreds of airplanes were aloft.

Already the conflict was called "the battle for Madrid."

Realizing the great danger to their Madrid front unless the government's wedge is wiped out, the insurgent's had drawn men from their Bay of Biscay front as far

LONDON, July 19—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden pleaded prayerfully for peace today as he reviewed the world's conflicts for the house of commons.

Warning that the Spanish civil war carried the seeds of still greater disaster Eden said in reference to the meeting tomorrow of the subcommittee of the 27 nations non-intervention committee seeking to isolate that war:

Should Be Signpost

"Whatever their difficulties, whatever their preoccupations, whatever their provocations, I pray that nations who begin their work tomorrow will never forget the alternative. It should be their signpost to success."

British rearmament, the foreign secretary stressed, was only for defense and "while we are determined to defend our own rights we have no intention of challenging those of others."

He held out the facilities of British diplomacy to arbitrate the Sino-Japanese dispute and cited as examples of international friendship the Anglo-Italian Mediterranean agreement, Anglo-American trade talks and "steadily growing confidence" between France and Britain.

Directs Attention To League

Eden also redirected attention to the League of Nations, whose prestige waned after Japan's Manchurian expedition and Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

"The League of Nations is neither dead nor moribund," he said and emphasized its conciliatory rather than coercive powers.

He bid for the friendship of Italy, where Eden and his politices have been frequently attacked in the press, came with his statement there was room in the Mediterranean sea for all.

"This country has no intention of pursuing toward any country a policy either of aggression or revenge. The word 'vendetta' has no English equivalent. No apprehension on that score should be allowed.

"What matters to us is not the way a government governs itself at home but the way it conducts itself abroad. If we will not join an international bloc against Communism—and we won't—neither will we join an international bloc against Fascism."

Navy Gives Up Search For Fliers

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, July 19.—The disappearance of Amelia Earhart and her navigator over the wide Pacific was written off as one of aviation's mysteries today as United States navy ships, their search abandoned, headed homeward.

The theory that the 39-year-old aviatrix and Fred J. Noonan perished on their 2,570-mile flight from NewNew Guinea to tiny Howland island, was held by navy officers who ordered the search abandoned at sunset yesterday.

Putnam In Seclusion

George Palmer Putnam, husband of the lost woman flier, was in seclusion at his Los Angeles home bus his close friend, Paul Mantz, said he was satisfied that the navy had done everything possible.

Mantz denied reports that Putnam planned to charter a yacht and search the Howland area of the Pacific, in which the Earhart plane was believed to have come down after its radio dispatched a last confusing message July 2.

Plan Not Considered

Mantz, who was technical adviser to Miss Earhart on her around-the-world flight, said:

"Mr. Putnam has not even considered such a plan. No one, even if he had ten million dollars to spend, could do a more thorough job than has been done by the navy."

Navy surface and aircraft covered more than 250,000 square miles of ocean and lonely South Sea island groups before the search was abandoned.

Death Demand Waived In Trial

(By The Associated Press)

DECATUR, Ala., July 19.—Possibility of death in the electric chair was dispelled from a "Scottsboro case" trial today for the first time in six years as the state waived a demand for capital punishment of Andy Wright.

Selection of a jury to try Wright, one of nine negroes accused of mass attack on Mrs. Victoria Price, was started today.

The state agreed to ask only an imprisonment sentence, it was announced, following a conference between Samuel Leibowitz, chief of defense counsel and Assistant Attorney General Thomas L. Lawson, prosecution head.

Not Regarded As Leader

Wright "was one of the younger negroes" in the case and "is not regarded by the state as a leader of the attacks," Lawson said.

Lawson declined to say whether the agreement in the Wright case would be discussed for other cases. Five negroes are yet to be tried. Two have been convicted in the new series of trials.

A death verdict was returned against Clarence Norris last week after Lawson had asked the electric chair "as a warning to other rapists" and "to protect the womanhood of Alabama."

New York Chief Executive Is Against Plan

Roosevelt's "Strong Right Arm" Of Gubernatorial Days Turns Against Him In Statement

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 19.—Differing with his old "chief," New York's Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman today opposed President Roosevelt's Supreme court reorganization plan, calling it "a greatly dangerous precedent."

Later the governor's secretary said "scores" of congratulatory telegrams were being received by the man whom Roosevelt, while himself governor, called "my strong right arm." Lehman was lieutenant governor at the time.

Opponents Are Jubilant

In Washington opponents of the scheme to add new judges to the personnel of the court expressed jubiliation.

In making public a letter to Democratic U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, asking him "to voice my opposition to the court bill," Lehman praised Roosevelt's "social program."

After declaring he was convinced enactment of the bill "would not be in the best interest of the country," Governor Lehman said:

"I look forward to the opportunity of continuing to support his (Roosevelt's) courageous leadership in matters that are in the interest of the social well being of our people."

Create Dangerous Precedent

Enactment of the court bill, Lehman asserted "would create a greatly dangerous precedent which could be availed of by future less well intentioned administrations for the purpose of oppression or for the curtailment of the constitutional rights of our citizens."

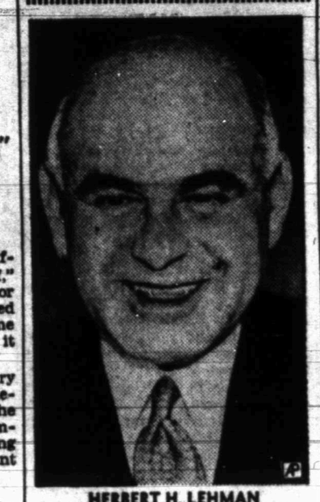

The governor's unexpected action on the eve of a "finish fight" on the bill threw a bombshell into political circles, coming as it did as the first opposition to any Roosevelt administration policy since he succeeded the president as New York governor in 1933.

Friendship of Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Lehman dates back to 1928, when they were nominated as New York's Democratic candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, respectively. They served two terms through 1932, when Mr. Roosevelt, looking toward Washington, supported Lehman as his successor.

Speeding back to the legislative battle-ground from the Arkansas

NOT TO DELAY "SHOWDOWN"

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Administration leaders passed the word tonight that they would make no attempt to delay a "showdown" this week on President Roosevelt's court revamping bill.

If the opposition makes a move to pigeon-hole the measure tomorrow or later in the week, an immediate vote can be obtained, the Roosevelt leaders said. They expressed confidence they have sufficient support to defeat such a move.

The last hours of the "armistice" occasioned by the death of Majority Leader Robinson, of Arkansas, were away with few signs of any new compromise. The battle will be on again in the senate tomorrow, when debate on the court bill is automatically resumed, perhaps about 2 p. m.

funeral of Senator Robinson (D-Ark) they said Lehman's message would result in defeat of the court bill before the week-end.

Asks Wagner To Oppose

Lehman, long a co-worker of President Roosevelt, asked Senator Wagner (D-NY) to oppose the court revamping proposal. He said orderly processes of government "should not be sacrificed merely to meet an immediate situation.")

Most supporters of the president's program read the open letter addressed to Wagner in silence. However, Postmaster General Farley declared:

"I was not at all concerned when I read the message."

Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) an enthusiastic proponent of the court bill, predicted that the governor's statement "will not make the slightest difference in the outcome.

Burke Sees Bill Killed

A leading opponent, Senator Burke (D-Neb.), asserted that the bill would be killed a few minutes after the senate convenes tomorrow.

"It will be recommitted for further study by the judiciary committee without even a record vote," he said. "Lehman's message completely and finally disposes of the bill."

Three other opposition chieftains —Senators Wheeler (D-Mont), Clark (D-Mo.), and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) —agreed with Burke that the proposal could be promptly buried by a recommittal vote.

Favor Postponing Test

They said, however, that they favored postponing the test of strength until after Wednesday, when a successor to Robinson as senate Democratic leader will be chosen in a secret party caucus.

Crops In Donley Damaged By Hail And Wind

Hail and high wind played havoc with Donely county crops Monday afternoon.

An estimated 2,000 acres in Goldston community were wiped out over a 25-mile stretch. Farms in the Chamberlain community also were ruined.

Hail stacked up in six-inch drifts and the wind blew down telephone wires. Spotted rains reached flood proportions.

Other Areas Affected

Gusty showers also were reported between Olney and the Oklahoma border and between Clarendon and Bowie in northwest Texas. High wind and some rain also was reported at Bonham and Gainesville.

Olney experienced a half-inch rain which benefitted crops and dropped temperatures from 104 to 82 degrees. The precipitation was preceded by a wind and dust storm.

Clouds And Moisture Trace Fail To Relieve Heat Here

Partly cloudy weather late yesterday with only a trace of precipitation, recorded at the Lubbock Municipal airport, failed to give relief from an extended heat wave which has prevailed in this section since last month. And the official thermometer at the main line station of the West Texas gas company again climbed to a high of 100 degrees at 3 p. m.

Maximums dropped several degrees Friday of last week after yearly records were broken by official mercuries Thursday, but since have mounted daily.

Monday's low, the main line station's thermometer said, was 69 degrees, reported at 6 and 7 a. m.

Sunday's peak at the station was 97 degrees.

The main line station's top for Monday was 98 degrees. The airport's maximum for the day was 97 degrees.

Tax Setting Is To Be Delayed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 19.—Absence from the capital of Governor Allred gave rise today to the possibility that setting of the school tax rate would be delayed until the latter part of the week.

The governor's secretaries said he was recuperating at Mineral Wells from a "rundown condition" and probably would not be back in Austin until Thursday or Friday.

Allred is chairman of the automatic tax board. The other members are comptroller George H. Sheppard and treasure Charley Lockhart.

Board Meets Today

Sheppard said the board would meet tomorrow but likely would take no action until Allred returned.

The board will fix not only the school rate but also that for the general fund and Confederate pensions. Due to large deficits, however, the rates for the latter purposes were certain to remain at their constitutional maxima of 35 and 7 cents respectively on the $100 valuation.

Reduction Planned

The state property tax for school purposes has been 20 cents on the $100 valuation the last two years. The board indicated it would reduce the levy to approximately seven cents despite vigorous protests by persons connected with public schools.

Representatives of the state teachers' association, urging retention of the 20-cent rate, asked for a hearing before action was taken.

Coleman County Bond Vote On $200,000 Courthouse Ordered

COLEMAN, July 19. (AP)—Acting on a petition bearing 500 names, Coleman county commissioners today voted to call as $200,000 bond election for August 14.

The proposed bond issue would provide funds for building a new courthouse and jail. As tentatively outlined, one structure would replace the two old-fashioned stone buildings now in use. Each is more than 60 years old.

TACOMA, Wash., July 19. (AP)—A special convention of the federation of woodworkers, representing 100,000 forest and mill employes in the western United States, voted 358 to 71 today to affiliate with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The vote, taken at the end of four days of arguments, came technically on a proposal to ask the CIO to grant the federation a charter under the name, "International Woodworkers of America."

Dr. Piccard Plans Greater Strato Hop

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 19. (AP) Dr. Jean Piccard tonight pondered improvements on his multi-balloon aircraft with a flight into the stratosphere a possibility.

Heartened by his six-hour experimental ascension Sunday, Piccard said he would plan construction of a huge craft, lifted by 2,000 balloons, as soon as he found a sponsor for a stratosphere flight.

The take-off would come about a year after financial backing is assured, he declared.

Abandoned Taxi Is Traxler Clue

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, July 19.—An abandoned taxicab—its driver missing—provided Oklahoma officers with their one meager clue tonight in a widespread search for Roy "Pete" Traxler, southwestern desperado, and two companions who have eluded police since their escape from Eastham, Texas, prison farm ten days ago.

The convict trio, which includes Charles Chapman and Fred Tindol in addition to Traxler, faded into the hills of northeastern Oklahoma Saturday night after leading officers on a wild chase through this sector.

The focal point of the search shifted to Cushing, Okla., today after officers found a Tulsa taxicab abandoned on a highway near there last night. Paul M. Sanderson, 30, driver of the cab, had not been seen since 11 a. m. yesterday and was still missing tonight.

Sanderson's disappearance was not discovered until state highway patrolmen notified company officials here that the cab had been found with one side smashed.

Police Captain George Reif, who theorized Sanderson may have been abducted by th. three fleeing gunmen, said there was nothing about the cab to indicate a struggle had

Little Strip Of Tin Proves Life Saver For Community

(By The Associated Press)

SUNDANCE, Wyo., July 19.—A gleaming strip of tin, six inches wide and more than a mile long, saved this little Black hills community from Mormon cricket hordes tonight.

The tin, mounted atop eight-inch planks and curved outward, proved a fortification the pests, moving southwest from breeding grounds in the Bear Lodge forest, could not surmount.

Only a few hundred of the black, wingless grasshoppers managed to worm their way over the barrier. A second wall, behind the first, trapped them.

Thousands of the Mormon crickets—so named when they threatened crops of early settlers in Utah—fell back from the thin metal wall into traps where they were destroyed by poison and fire.

The bulk of the crowling invaders, however, veered from the town into the grain fields and pasture lands of Carbon county, threatening to wipe out ranchers' best crops in eight years. Farmers plowed deep furrows and filled them with oil to retard the horde's progress.

Montana Wheat 'King' And Raskob Form Partnership

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 19.—A Montana wheat "king" and a New York industrialist and financier, Thomas D. Campbell and John J. Raskob, have formed a partnership to conduct large-scale farming in New Mexico.

They already own 216,000 acres, which they bought last May—the La Joya grant in Socorro county and last week they took an option on the 70,000 acre Belen grant in adjoining Valencia county.

With the 286,000 acres they are among the state's largest landholders.

Raskob discussed his partnership today:

"I don't know anything about farming, but Mr. Campbell knows enough for both of us. I like the Southwest and for a long time have wanted to own a large tract of land which could, with irrigation and scientific farming, be turned into useful production.

The price of the La Joya grant, Raskob said, was "under $1

First Baptist Circles Elect Officers At Monday Afternoon Meets

THERE is something immeasurably sad about the futile South Seas search for Amelia Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan. If this marks the end for the tousle-headed flyer—and it surely looks that way at present—we hope that future generations won't be taught only of her last disappointing flight with utter disregard to her worthwhile accomplishments.

Before too much is said about Miss Earhart being a woman on a stunt flight we hope it is recalled that her navigator, the one supposed to keep them on the track and who was off over 300 miles, was a man. And that, too, while she said she was "flying for fun," she was looking out for possible new commercial routes.

We believe Miss Earhart waved farewell with a smile if the sea was her grave. Time after time as she was asked if she had no fears on her flights over waters the slender young aviatrix smiled. She was calm. That's why we feel that she faced her last greatest problem without dread.

POINTS ON DEPARTURE

A FRIEND, who has been bedfast for the last six months, sent us a clipping on "The Seven Points of Departure" by W. F. H. Godson, jr., that is a honey. Incidentally she discovered that the silver lining in her cloud during the days she has convalesced from a stubborn ailment is that she has caught up on long neglected reading. She has also found pleasure in copying especially appealing passages in books and articles.

But back to the article, we shall present analytically Mr. Godson's points of departure: 1. Stand up, 2. hold out your hand, 3. say goodbye, 4. go to the door, 5. open the door, 6. walk out and 7. walk away. Of course the writer elaborates on the points in a humorous vein but his solutions seem fair enough.

WE HAVE IDEAS

IF WE were a dictator we'd ban Sunday visiting and visits to hospitals first and later we'd get around to doing something about well-meaning persons who call on you in the midst of a busy morning; those who drop by for a few minutes and spend hours and those who get you up from a nap.

Believe us we think lessons on the etiquette of visiting are necessary but how can you learn them? In fairness to the callers we'll admit that there are hostesses who talk your arm off at the table, follow you into the bedroom when you get your wraps preparatory to leaving, beat you to the door so you find it impossible to keep rule five above, and keep you standing for half an hour before she lets you escape to the fresh air.

WE HEARD yarns of two unexpected callers recently that called for finesse. A couple, enjoying the newness of a beautiful home, was at the beginning of a dinner for several couples when the hostess answered the doorbell. Standing there was a friend who was "simply dying" to see their new home. The hostess, instead of explaining that she was entertaining and so someother time please, took her around, omitting the dining room uptil the visitor insisted on going there, too, so the doors were opened and a rather embarrassing situation developed.

The other unexpected guest was a young woman, not invited to a small dinner party given by a bride-elect, who happened to drop in to see the wedding gifts. Of course the bride-elect was mortified and invited the young woman in and she came and stayed. In fact she was the life of the party.

We just present those as case studies of paying calls. We'd like expressions of your opinions at any time.

Approximately $12,000 of the $22,230 loot taken by the robber in a holdup of the Citizens bank here Thursday was recovered in a vinegar jar found in his car and from his clothing. Officers surmised he either had hidden the remainder of the money or split with a confederate.

Ropesville Embattled Town On Monday

ROPESVILLE, July 19. (Special)—Ropesville was an embattled town this morning.

Men and boys peered down the barrels of rifles or nervously held fully loaded pistols. They kept behind closed doors, in the main.

It was long before the dawn.

A supposedly mad dog strayed into the town and successively was reaching house after house, its progress being marked by fresh outcries of other dogs, several of whom were torn badly by the mad black German shepherd.

Eventually, A. K. Krause, superintendent of schools, got a chance to shoot at the dog without endangering other persons—something several others were not afforded—and slew the rabid marauder.

Approximately 15 dogs had been wounded by the shepherd, said A. E. Richards, editor of the Ropesville Plainsman, who said the head of the animal had been sent to Austin by Bill Carter, Ropesville druggist.

The business of killing dogs was marked by scattered volleys during the day. Others tied up their pets for observation.

New Play Schedule Announced In City

New schedule for supervised play which establishes morning and afternoon recreational periods in city parks was put into operation Monday with several hundred children attending, according to information given by Bill Witt, WPA supervisor of the parks recreational project.

Henceforth, he said, play periods will be from 9 a. m. until noon and from 4 until 9 p. m. each day. Last week, while organization was being completed, only an afternoon period was provided while members of the supervising personnel spent forenoons attending a school of instruction.

Activities this week, Witt said, will center about the organization of three softball leagues for boys and one for girls. Boys' leagues will be for junior midgets, from 9 to 12 years of age; midgets, from 12 to 14; and for twilights, from 14 to 20. Girls' teams will be made up of those from 14 to 18 years of age.

In the smaller boys' and the girls' groups, teams will be formed at Seventh, Twenty-seventh and Mackenzie parks. Plans are to form a five-team league for the twilights, including the three parks, CCC camp and Mexicans. Diamonds are being laid out this week.

Witt extended an invitation to parents to visit various of the parks during recreational hours.

Separation Of Two Departments Urged

COLUMBUS, O., July 19. (AP)—Separation of newspaper business office employes and editorial workers in the American Newspaper Guild was advocated today by Heywood Broun, guild president.

Broun voiced his stand at a meeting of the Columbus guild unit which has proposed a national guild referendum on the question of the union's affiliation with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The Columbus unit opposed allowing office workers admitted to the guild to vote. Broun asserted that he also opposed the plan, which bore the approval of New York guild officials.

Federated Units

Broun said he now favored "organization of newspaper offices into federated units with editorial workers retaining their own autonomy" and that he had not realized there would be opposition to business office employes joining the guild.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, in a statement at Washington attacked Broun as a "stooge for avowed communists" and called on him to resign from the guild leadership.

Green said Broun admits "he has been deserted by his own international executive board which favors a referendum."

As a result of Broun's activities Green said, the guild has been "torn to shreds, with its subordinate officers set out like ducks on a rock for the publishers to shoot at."

The guild president did not comment on Green's statement.

HE ATE ALL-BRAN AND IMPROVED WONDERFULLY

Read this voluntary letter: "In regard to your ALL-BRAN, it is marked on the package 'best as a cereal, best for cooking,' and, as far as I am concerned, you might add best for health. Since I have begun to eat it, I have improved wonderfully."—Mr. H. E. Poole, 312 W. Franklin Street, Jackson, Mich.

ALL-BRAN corrects common constipation, due to meals low in "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs water and forms a soft mass, gently sponging out the system.

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. In chronic cases, with each meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Expanding Farm Income Has Bolstered For Consolidation Of Business Gains

Crops To Bring Most Since '29

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 19.—Expanding farm income has bolstered hopes of business observers for consolidation of trade and industrial gains.

Analysis have recently been chary of predictions on business trends. The outlook, they held, has been obscured by strikes, hostilities in the Far East, and political controversies at home.

Cast Undefinable Shadow

While strikes—particularly in the steel industry—could be measured statistically, fighting in the Far East and domestic politics could not, yet they have been casting an undefinable shadow across the business scene.

In farm estimates just released, on the other hand, business men profess to see at least one important yard-stick of the future.

Statistics prepared by the department of agriculture show cash income of farmers for 1937 will likely be around $9,500,000,000. This would represent the largest crop of dollars in pocket since 1929 and would exceed 1936 by nearly $1,500,000,000.

Significance Is Cited

The significance of this, business observers sketch as follows:

Steel output has jumped sharply following the strikes. But energy for this and other industries has been derived mostly from robust backlogs. At the same time new business has been dwindling.

More money in the hands of farmers, it is argued, means heavier demand for farm equipment, automobiles, wire, tools and other materials—and this in turn means fresh orders for the steel industry.

Three Men Escape Waxahachie Jail

WAXAHACHIE, July 19. (AP) — Three prisoners, two of them under heavy sentences for robbery, escaped from the county jail at Waxahachie today after one of them forced the jailer at pistol point to free them.

Decker said the two known prisoners had been convicted for tying up constables at Rockwall and Farmersville and looting the towns.

Waxahachie officers said that a gun had been smuggled in to the men.

Doubt Of Experts Is Cast On Stone Found By WPA Worker

KANSAS CITY, July 19. (AP)—The doubt of experts was cast today on a stone found recently by a WPA worker on the Missouri river bluff at Oak Mills, near Atchison, Kas.

Lettering carved in the brown limestone aroused belief the stone was left there by the Spanish explorer, Coronado and his men in 1541. That would place the expedition much farther north than history credits it.

Paul Jones, Lyons, Kas., editor, and a Coronado authority, viewed the stone here today and said certain letterings were at variance with those in use at that time.

But he added:

"If it is a fake, it's a half way good job."

Migrations To The North Predicted

SEATTLE, July 19. (AP)—A scientist preparing for a fourth Arctic research trip predicted today the far north some day will be an invigorating home for millions of the white race.

Dr. Victor E. Levine of Omaha, Neb., here to sail for the Artic with Delbert Foord of the University of California, aboard the coast guard cutter Duane, told interviewers civilization is gradually moving northward to occupy the cooler areas of the globe.

"The population of the world is steadily increasing at about the rate of 20,000,000 people a year," he said. "In years to come new areas will have to be opened up for human habitation. . . . The vast expanse of the arctic can and will in the future be occupied by millions of white people living in health and comfort."

Dr. Levine, who said he will study living conditions in the Arctic for the U. S. bureau of public health, declared food is available and climate healthful in the far north.

Big Project Is To Be Mapped

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—A Texas delegation led by Senator Morris Sheppard plans to discuss the proposed Possum Kingdom dam on the Brazos river in Texas tomorrow with budget bureau officials.

The group includes a committee representing the Brazos river conservation district and Texas congressmen from the river's drainage basin.

They expected to hear the reclamation bureau's report on the dam, based on a survey ordered by President Roosevelt to determine which of two proposed types of dams is preferable. Informed persons said the bureau favors the structure recommended by army engineers at an estimated cost of $6,600,000.

Estimates Increased

The conservation district engineers estimated the cost more than two years ago at $3,100,000. This estimate has been increased recently to $4,100,000 because of higher labor and material costs.

The conservation district engineers proposed a cantilever construction, and army engineers recommended a system of gravity type dams.

The government already had allocated $3,100,000 for the work.

Senator Sheppard said the additional amount needed would be asked as soon as it was learned which type of dam the reclamation bureau recommends.

URGES CONTROL

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 19. (AP) — W. S. Alexander, chief of the federal alcobol administration, told the national conference of state liquor administrators today that prohibition's return will be "far distant" if the liquor industry submits to sane control.

Refueling Ship For Hop Is Purchased

KANSAS CITY, July 19. (AP)—A tri-motored plane was purchased today from Transcontinental and Western Air for use as a refueling ship in Jimmie Mattern's proposed California-to-Moscow flight.

Mattern said the plane will transfer about 900 gallons to his Moscow-bound ship at some point over Alsaka.

He and his navigator, H. S. Jones, superintended installation of equipment in the polar ship, an eight-passenger Lockheed cabin plane, which arrived yesterday from California.

Mattern said the flight is being financed by eastern capital and "we have the full cooperation of the army and navy and the Russian government for our flight."

He expects to take off either from San Diego or Los Angeles about August 15.

A TRUE STORY BY ZANE GREY

HE WAS RIDING ON DYNAMITE AND NEVER KNEW IT UNTIL..

ZANE GREY
Famous Author of Popular Western Thrillers

"This Close Shave," says Zane Grey, "Should Make Every Motorist Think Twice Before Gambling on Tires."

THERE is one motoring mishap that the best of drivers cannot forecast. And it caught Edward Zachary of Hartford, Connecticut, completely off guard. He was whizzing along at a good clip. He had the Northford Road practically to himself when BANG—the right front tire blew out. An uncontrollable drag yanked the car smack alongside of a guard-rail. Flying wheels mowed down fence posts before Mr. Zachary came to a sudden stop.

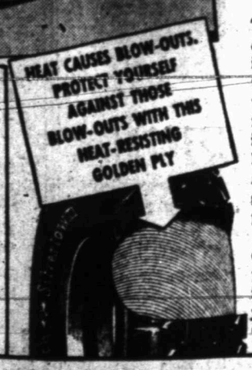

Special Goodrich Tire

Today's faster driving conditions call for a special tire. The Goodrich Safety Silvertown is just that kind of a tire. It's the only tire with the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This life-saving invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the internal tire heat that causes many of today's high-speed blow-outs. By resisting this heat inside the tire, these Golden Ply Silvertowns give you, and everyone that rides with you, real protection against those high-speed blow-outs.

From now on you'll find Edward Zachary's car equipped with Silvertowns. For your own peace of mind—for the protection of your family and friends make your next set of tires Golden Ply Silvertowns.

Brownfield Meets Collegians, Big Spring Battles Wolfforth In Tournament

Hubbers Defeat New Moore In Monday Game

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

At 2 o'clock—Brownfield vs. Lubbock Collegians.

At 4 o'clock—Cosden Oilers of Big Spring vs. Wolfforth Wolves.

Big Spring's Oilers will present a different team this time. They have conscripted strong players from other clubs of the vicinity, and are fitsed as a pre-tournament favorite. Fred Rich has rounded up an "all-star" aggregation from all over the South Plains, including Pitcher Doss Wright, former Lubbock southpaw and one of the best.

One team will leave the tournament today after Brownfield and the Collegians play. The other will remain to fight it out for a money position.

On Wednesday, the feature game, starting at 2 o'clock, will be between the Lubbock Hubbers and Tahoka.

Manager Sport Wooldridge directed his Lubbock Hubbers from his old familiar position, the pitching mound yesterday, but his players did all right with their warclubs and the Hubbers qualified for the championship bracket in the Seventh annual Avalanche - Journal baseball tournament.

A courageous New Moore team which took its swings at the platter slammed one of Wooldridge's offerings outside the park, rattled the boards with a triple, and a double, and bagged seven singles for a total of ten bingles which counted for eight runs. But the Hubbers, including the skipper himself, were in a hitting mood, and they mowed down three New Moore chunkers to score 18 times.

Join Amerada And Tahoka

Thus was another of the "stronger" clubs left near the top, along with the Amerada Oilers of Hobbs and Frank Larkin's Tahoka club, while the third of the weaker set moved down to the lower bracket to fight it out for a place in the finals with teams of more even disposition.

One club will be eliminated this afternoon in a game starting at 2 o'clock, and in the 4 o'clock game two "new faces" will be seen as the Cosden Oilers play the Wolfforth Wolves in a first round game. There was a slight change in the lower bracket schedule to accommodate the New Moore club, originally scheduled to play the first game today, but unable to return. Brownfield and the Collegians are pitted against each other in today's opener.

Tahoka's sluggers, considered an underdog until they upset a favored Brownfield team Sunday in the tournament lid-lifter, will be seen in action Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock against the Hubbers. The Amerada Oilers return Thursday to clash with the winner of today's Big Spring-Wolfforth game.

Extra Base Knocks

The Hubbers started against Pitcher M. Rogers yesterday, Graham drawing a walk, Bettes sending him to second, and Coppage scoring him with a loud triple to right. Thompson beat out a scratch infield hit, but Coppage was held. They both scored on Charley Presley's single for a three-run lead after Woolridge, who used to do some big league pitching for the Hubbers when Sled Allen had his championship semi-pro clubs here, had retired New Moore with a single in the first frame.

Woolridge pitched five balls for three consecutive outs in the second inning, almost repeated in the third, although A. Addison was safe on one of two Hubbers errors. Meanwhile, the Hubbers had scored five times in the second off Rogers, and Manager R. Sullivan replaced him on the New Moore mound to start the third. The Hubbers batted him for four hits and three runs, but Sullivan had things going his way for the next four innings. He blanked the Hubbers in the fourth, fifth and seventh, but committed a balk in the sixth to let in a run. He got in serious trouble in the eighth, and left the game with the bases loaded and nobody out. Pollard came in from right field, and Coppage greeted him with a double, his second of the day. It cleaned the bases, but Pollard got the next three

Meadowbrook To Be Host Again At Golf Joust

Lubbock and West Texas golfers are again reminded of the second annual Meadowbrook Open golf tournament, starting Sunday and continuing through the week.

Entries may qualify from Sunday through Wednesday. Match play begins Thursday and winds up with finals on Sunday.

The tournament is open to all golfers, anywhere, and especially is the invitation extended to those of neighboring towns.

It will be the fourth tournament at Meadowbrook this season. The City Open was played there last week, ending Sunday, and preceding that were the Texas Tech championship joust and the Meadowbrook club championship tournament.

For the nominal entry fee charged, players may use the course for practice and qualifying and for match play from Sunday, July 25, through Sunday, August 1.

Edgar Doherty, winner of the City Open Sunday, is defending champion.

McAfee Beaten By Doherty For City

Redheaded Edgar Doherty met stiff competition in W. L. "Cotton" McAfee Sunday afternoon and had to combine good iron shots with his usually long drives to eke out a 1 up victory over the Country club golfer in the finals of the City open tournament.

McAfee was dormie two to Doherty after the morning eighteen holes, but kept challenging to extend the match to the thirty-sixth hole. Doherty carded a seven-under-par score of 133 to McAfee's 134 for the day.

The loser gained a 1-hole advantage on the tenth green in the morning round after they finished the first nine all even. At the 13th Doherty started a killing pace, gaining a 4-hole edge through the 16th.

After going 1 up on the 17th in the afternoon, the new champion satisfied himself with a par and half on the final hole to win the title.

First flight honors went to Wright Kerr, who defeated E. B. Wheelock of Country club, 2 and 1, in their 18-hole final. The consolation prize in the first flight went to Bob Crawford with 1 up victory over H. J. Patterson.

The championship flight consolation final was won by Bob Hale, Texas Tech golfer, who was four under par through 15 holes to defeat Bill DeGarimore, 5 and 3. Hale was hitting the ball like a champion, and was strictly unbeatable.

Second flight winner was Delmar Sears, who won from Joe Bailey Powers, 3 and 2, in the final match yesterday. For consolations, father met son, and the father triumphed, C. W. Goodgion needing 20 holes to subdue Jack Goodgion.

The largest delegation, consisting of 15 athletes, was named for the trip to Japan. Ten will invade England, France and Switzerland, while eight will tour Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Finland. Meets also are being negotiated in Hungary, Holland and Italy for the latter.

Women Golf Stars Are Arriving

The vanguard of visiting delegates to the Second Annual Lubbock Country club Women's Invitation Golf tournament traipsed into town yesterday, several of them in time for a practice round.

The tournament officially begins Wednesday, with the qualifying round, but there'll be an official warm-up today when the women invited the men to pair off in a series of mixed foursomes. The event will be a handicap affair, and the winning duet will split a prize consisting of a dozen first rate golf balls.

Women Ask Support

Men golfers of the Country club are urged to show up at 1 o'clock this afternoon and have themselves paired with the fair sex for the 18-hole round. To members of the club, the women petition a large turnout so that all visiting women may be paired. "Help us entertain our visitors and make them glad they came by coming out for the mixed foursome," asked the tournament committee yesterday.

Among arrivals yesterday were three Big Spring golfers, with whom Lubbock enjoys pleasant golf relations. Mrs. Dan Stalcup, Mrs. Theron Hicks and Mrs. Gordon Phillips arrived in time to play over the course. Mrs. Phillips, although trying to "forget it," was handicapped by a sore arm, result of a ligament strained during the recent Big Spring tournament. She intended to qualify, however, and play as long as possible.

Two of the Clovis delegation arrived yesterday and practiced. They were Mrs. Hugh Skiles and Mrs. Dr. Worrell.

Miss Jones Arrives

Miss Elinor Jones, New Mexico state champion from Albuquerque, arrived on the scene and toured the course, complained of a suddenly developed weakness in iron shots, but looked impressive with her woods and putter. She is a pre-tournament favorite, having followed her state championship drive with victory in the Big Spring invitation.

Four entries were received from Meadowbrook, and it is hoped that other players from that club will enter. Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, Mrs. Bob Crawford and Mrs. J. R. Farmer are definite entries, and it is believed that Mrs. George and Miss Mary Jarrott will compete.

The Calcutta party and dinner will be held Wednesday evening at the clubhouse, following the qualifying round and the arrangement of first round matches, starting Thursday. Finals in the tournament are scheduled Sunday.

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—A baseball doubleheader:

Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey won't be fooling the next time they open their suitcases at the winter baseball mart. Disgusted over the showing of their St. Looey Cardinals this season, they're reported ready to swap or sell every Gashouser except Manager Frank Frisch and Ducky Medwick.

St. Louis baseball writers rate the 1937 Cardinals team the worst Red Bird outfit since the 1924 team, which finished sixth.

Rickey and Breadon may have trouble peddling the great Dizzy Dean even at bargain prices. Most of the moneyed clubs are skeptical of Diz, who doesn't do his own cause much good with that "I got mine and they all can go to the devil" talk.

"Hit Where They Are"

Medwick, now rated by Bill Terry as a greater right handed hitter than the famous Rogers Hornsby, says the reason for his improved hitting is because he "hits" 'em where they are." Instead of attempting to pull an outside pitch to left field, Ducky just smacks it to right and vice versa.

Joe DiMaggio, who has replaced Lou Gehrig as the big shot of Yankee stadium, expects to clean up $40.000 this year with his $15,000 baseball salary and $25,000 on the outside. Money is rolling into Guiseppe's pockets. He made $500 for six minutes on the radio recently and his voice sounded so good he received an offer to do a series of movie shorts.

Bobby Feller shouldn't feel so bad because the Yanks trimmed him yesterday. He was the first pitcher in 16 games to start and finish against the murderous crew, which forced him to throw 145 pitches the first eight innings. The Yanks think Feller needs another year in the minors.

Henderson Player Suspended After Assault On Umpire

MONROE, La., July 19. (AP)—Sam Hancock, Henderson outfielder, was fined $50 and suspended for ninety playing days for assaulting Umpire Zeb Howell at Henderson Friday night, J. Walter Morris, president of the East Texas league, announced here today.

According to reports of the altercation, Hancock struck Howell after a close play at first base during the Tyler-Henderson game. The Henderson player is said to have pushed Howell to the ground and then struck him above the eye when the umpire attempted to arise. It was reported it required seven stitches to close the wound on Howell's forehead.

President Morris said Hancock would be required to pay the fine before he could reenter organized baseball at the expiration of his suspension next season.

Marse Joe Slaps Suspension And Fine On Johnny Broaca

CLEVELAND, July 19. (AP)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the world's champion New York Yankees, announced here today that Johnny Broaca, righthanded pitcher, has been fined $250 and suspended indefinitely for quitting the team without permission and failing to report for yesterday's game with the Indians.

Budge-Mako Rally Monday To Beat Teutons And All But Clinch Interzone Finals

WIMBLEDON, England, July 19. (AP)—Don Budge and Gene Mako, won a heroic four-set doubles match from Baron Gottfried van Cramm and Heinrich Henkel today and gave the United States an all but insurmountable 2-1 lead over Germany in the Davis cup interzone finals.

Beaten in the first and trailing 5-3 in the second, the Americans uncorked as fine a rally as Wimbledon ever has seen to win four successive games in the second set, race on to take the third and then come back after the intermission to win five in a row for the fourth set and the match.

The scores were 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-4.

All the Americans needed tonight to gain the right to face Great Britain's mediocre team in the challenge round is one victory in tomorrow's pair of singles matches. Even should Henkel trip the "Atlanta Atom," Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, tennis experts regard Budge as a sure victor over von Cramm in the closing match of the series. The Oakland, Calif., sorrel top thoroughly whipped von Cramm for the All-England championship.

Tennis experts take it for granted that the British, minus the services not only of Fred Perry but also of George Patrick Hughes, are fore-doomed to defeat, whether by the United States or Germany in the challenge round starting Saturday.

Today's result was the Budge-Mako combination's second successive triumph over von Cramm and Henkel. They spotted the Teutons two sets before whipping them in the All-England doubles finals.

Allison, Seeking Ancient Tourney Title, Gets Rest

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 19. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, of Austin, former national champion, had a day of rest as the 45th annual Longwood Bowl tennis tournament, one of the nation's oldest, opened today.

The top-seeded Allison, who won the final at Spring Lake, N. J., yesterday, went into the second round on the default of Modesto Alloo, of Berkeley, Calif.

The day off proved most welcome, the Texan said, for he fell on his right wrist at home two weeks ago and last week's continuous play apparently aggravated the injury. He swings into action against Richard Harty, of Boston tomorrow.

The rest of the seeded list survived intact. Bob Harmon, of Oakland, Calif., seeded second, and Allison's victim in four sets in the semi-finals at Spring Lake last week, scored easily over William V. Tripp, of Boston, 6-1, 6-3.

With Bobby Riggs, of California, last year's winner, failing to defend his title, Allison and Murphy, who won in 1935, are the only former victors competing.

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

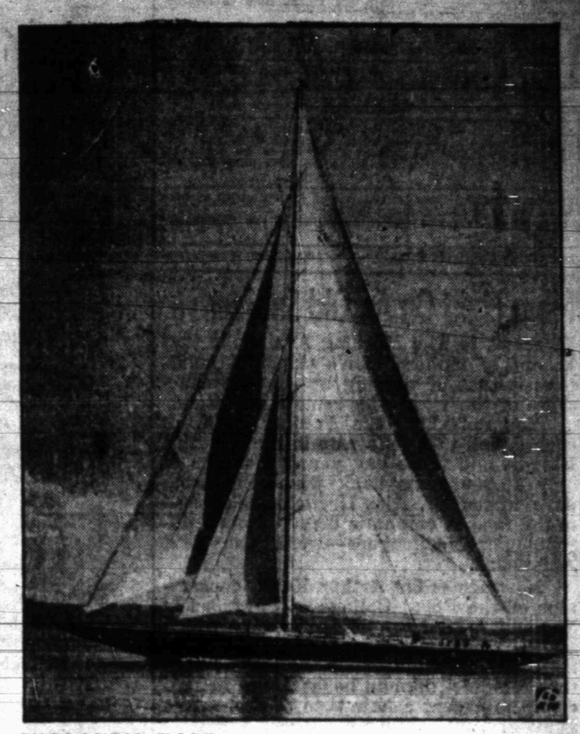

MILLIONS FOR MUG. For a $500 battered trophy dating back to 1870 and known as the America's cup, wealthy yachtsmen have spent millions. It has never left these shores, but T. O. M. Sopwith (above), wealthy British plane builder, this year is challenging for the Royal Yacht Squadron

SLACK TIME ABOARD. Here the crew of Sopwith's yacht, Endeavour II, is shown in a leisure moment. The boat is all-steel, even to the mast, and has many novel gadgets. It carries Sopwith's second challenge, and recalls the efforts of the late Sir Thomas Lipton and his Shamrock boats to win yachting's prize trophy.

TIMEKEEPER. Mrs. Sopwith, wife of the owner of the Endeavour II, is shown at the wheel. She is the official timekeeper.

ENGLAND'S HOPE The new Endeavour II is shown under sail off Newport, R. I. The craft was built to the full "J" class limit. It represents Britain's sixteenth challenge. Two years ago Endeavour I took two successive races, later to be vanquished by Harold Vanderbilt's Rainbow.

AFTER THE BALL. Keevich, Chicago outfielder, arrived at second base out of breath, out of luck and out. Crosetti of the Yankees made the put out, a forced play on a grounder by Walker. And aren't the boys showing action for Stadium fans?

EGYPT IN IT. Stylists touched this white lace evening dress with the air of Egypt. It is front-tied with black taffeta sash. The ribbon helps fashion the bodice; the round-neck underbodice is cut decollette in back.

MONSIEUR SMITH. Al Smith was doing Paris on his first European tour. Here he is at the American Club chatting with Theodore Rousseau, the president. It was not likely the well-catered food was responsible for the disappearance of his usual personable smile. Perhaps it was homesickness.

OH BABY. This guy is eleven months old and can lick his weight in calico cats. His name is Antony Jones of Wembley, a London suburb. He was one of the well-decorated and big attractions at the annual carnival-baby show staged by hospitals.

THE FALL OF A CITY. A solitary man gropes through smoke and wreckage; a house blazes like a white-hot inferno; buildings crumble. This is a scene of the fall of Bilbao, Basque capital in Spain, as insurgent troops were entering the city in the wake of heavy shell-fire and bombings.

ON THE BUTTON. Tommy Farr's little chum touches a timid finger to the jaw of Britain's new fighting man who this year bids for a bout with Max Schmeling. He has disposed of Max Baer and Walter Neusel, Germany's "Iron Man."

FAMILY RIDE. Here is Great Britain's first family, all in one coach. It was the occasion of their state entry into Windsor. Both king and queen acknowledge the cheers of the crowd. In the front seat are the Princesses Margaret Rose, left, and Elizabeth

More Light On An Old Subject

IT seems to The Morning Avalanche that one of modern man's principal industries is that of digging up—in the exact sense of the word—his remote ancestors.

You remember the Peiping Man, of course, and that fellow up in the Aleutian Islands, and those gay young moderns of only 10,000 years back whom Smithsonian's famed Dr. Ales Hrdlicka believes—in the face of emphatic dissent from anthropological colleagues—were the first Americans.

Now comes Sir Arthur Keith, conservator of the Royal College of Surgeons in England, with news of a discovery which seems more significant and interesting than the foregoing. Sir Arthur reports that fossilized human bones found in Palestine represent a new type of Stone Age humanity, probability the direct ancestors of the Caucasian race. The remarkable thing about the newly identified Stone Age human beings is this; although living side by side with the apelike Neanderthal man, they were away ahead of him in evolution. The remains found in Palestine are those of human beings who had "shed the coarse outward appearance of an ape and emerged as full-fledged homo sapiens"—75,000 or 100,00 years ago.

This discovery, apparently moving back the period of transition from apeman to man for at least part of the human race, was described by Sir Arthur in a paper read by his assistant, Theodore McCown, a young American, before the International Symposium on Early Man at Philadelphia. The Stone Age fossils described are those of seven adults and three children, found in a cave on Mt. Carmel, 15 miles from Haifa. In a nearby cave was found the skeleton of a young adult woman of the Neanderthal type. Sir Arthur and his assistants are sure that the Neanderthal young woman and the more advanced Stone Age people in the other cave lived in the same period as neighbors. Flint tools found in both caves were practically identical; animal remains in both were of the same strata, and there was other evidence of contemporaneous existence.

BUT there was a big difference in the physical attributes of those Stone Age neighbors. The Neanderthal woman had a small skull, beetling brow, chinless jaw and other simian characteristics. The Stone Age people in the other cave were human beings who looked definitely like human beings. They had skulls of even greater capacity than the average for today. Despite retention of the bristling brow ridge of the ape, that advanced Stone Age man had a brain capacity of 1,550 cubic centimeters. The average man of today has a brain capacity of 1,450 cubic centimeters and the average woman—whoops, you feminists!—of 1,350.

Sir Arthur believes that the Palestine discovery represents "a variety of man who may be considered as the prototype of the earliest modern Europeans" and that, accordingly, the Neanderthals whose bones have been found in Western Europe were no relation at all to the peoples now inhabiting that land. These ancestors of the Caucasions who dwelt in Palestine, side by side with Neanderthal men, later apparently expanded and crowded the backward Neanderthals out of the picture altogether.

It is interesting to think of those Stone Age pre-Caucasians, living as neighbors of the low-brow Neanderthals. Probably that 1,550-cubic centimeter brain capacity made the pre-Caucasian take a rather snooty attitude toward people who persisted in looking like apes. Did the Neanderthal man have sense enough to resent that snootiness?

Perhaps he did; but apparently it didn't do him any good.

With Our Contemporaries

"Some Muleshoe mothers who persist in bringing their sweet little dimpled darling babies to church would considerably enlighten the worship of others," Elder Jess Mitchell, the editor-pastor of the Muleshoe Journal retorts, "greatly increasing their spiritual inspiration. If they would attempt to make Christians out of them the moment they begin bellering like infidels."

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

Nonesuch House: London Bridge was formerly adorned with a solid row of habitable houses. Among them was Nonesuch ouse, referred to as "the most curious and splendid building adorning the bridge." The structure was made in Holland in 1577 and transported to London, where it was pieced together with wooden pegs. There was not a single nail in the entire edifice. Nonesuch House stood on London Bridge from 1577 to 1771. My drawing was made from an old engraving of the period.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CAROLEE COLTER, heroine, prospector's daughter.

STUART BLAKE, eastern "dude" tourist; Carolee's lover.

HENRY COLTER, prospector.

PAUL AND SILAS COLTER, prospector's sons.

NINA BLAKE, Stuart's sister.

Yesterday: Carolee befriends an old Indian woman who has broken her leg. And Stuart manifests very definite romantic interest in Carolee.

CHAPTER XIII

The two reporters slept late next morning and so missed some pertinent conversation incident to the search for Paul Colter.

Sheriff Watson arrived at the Lodge just at daybreak. He hadn't slept, and he wanted coffee badly enough to arouse the Lodge cook for it. Stuart Blake, deeply concerned over the matter anyway, was awakened by the sheriff's arrival and came out promptly.

"What luck?" Stuart asked anxiously, there in the kitchen.

"Plenty; maybe too much," was the laconic reply.

"What—what is it? Did you find Paul Colter?"

"Set down," the sheriff commanded. "I'll sip and tell you. We found him, right enough. We wasn't expecting it just that minute, but the dog run off to one side and howled. We want over there and by george there was Paul's body. That was about sundown. Old man Colter and that Silas, they sure took it on the chin."

Stuart was staring as if entranced. The sheriff resumed.

"Paul's body wasn't much bothered. We got his gun. It hadn't been shot. And he had some water and grub left, too. Damned if I can say yet what killed him, till we can git a doc to see the body. But there's one thing more—this."

The sheriff had reached into his coat pocket and removed a handful of rocks, four or five of them the size of walnuts.

"These here, Blake, are the daggondest pieces of ore I've ever laid my eyes on! I've hung around mines all my life, and I've never seen rocks that showed more gold!"

Stuart took the pieces and fingered them. The sheriff had not exaggerated at all. The pieces seemed to be two-thirds virgin metal—the prettiest possible deposits of free gold. Stuart knew nothing of ore specimens, but even he could sense the extreme wealth of them.

"Then he found his treasure!" Stuart breathed. "Even though he died!"

"I reckon he must've. This shows it, right enough. I sent the body back by some of the boys, with the Colter men, and I looked around. I couldn't find no claim monument, in the starlight. I couldn't see no more gold."

"But—but—where did you pick these up, Mr. Watson?"

"Right outen his hand! I'm telling you his fingers was clutched stiff around this gold! He knowed what he had, son! He must've been headin' out to tell it. But don't let it out, yet. Say nothing. Don't want no gold rush up here. It's Colter's anyway, if anybody's."

The sheriff was more excited than a sheriff is supposed to be, but then he hadn't had such a case before.

He swigged two cups of coffee, warmed himself by the stove, and finally regained his judicial calm. He was obviously doing some deep thinking, because he didn't speak any more except with "yes" or "no" for several minutes. Stuart went outside to see the cowboys and the guide who had ridden with the officer, and brought them in for coffee.

When they had gone back to their horses, Sheriff Watson lingered with Stuart again.

"Lemme ask you something, young man," he began. "When did you first meet this here Paul Colter?"

"Why, when I first got to town. To Phoenix, I mean. I ran into him in a clothing store, Potter's Store. Sells saddles and such, and—"

"Um huhm. I know. You and him had a little set-to there. Right?"

"Yes, sir. In a way. Nothing serious, but—"

"But he took a shot at you with his gun. Wasn't no accident—now was it?" He eyed Stuart hard.

"Well, no; since you ask. Matter of fact it wasn't. But it wasn't important. Misunderstanding. I got a sock on the jaw out of it, and I deserved it. The boy's sister—"

"Never mind. I know about you and the sister, too. Now you was up in the mountain the other day by yourself, and happened to get into some trouble. That right?"

"No! Not that kind of trouble, I mean. My horse got killed, but he fell over a cliff. You see, my dad had been shot at, and—"

"YOUR dad?"

"Yes. Why?"

* * *

The sheriff eyed Stuart keenly again. Stuart was obviously confused by the trend of the questioning.

"You mean yore own pappy, old man Blake, was up there and got shot at?"

"Yes! He was shot at, and never saw who did it! They might have killed him!"

"Hmmmmm! I hadn't got that," the sheriff mused aloud. "Well listen—did you know old man Colter, Paul's brother, had been shot at too?"

"No!"

"Fact. He swore to it, and one bullet creased his hip. I saw the wound. And now you say yore pap done likewise, leastwise got shot at. Colter said he hadn't done no talkin about it, but was laying low and waiting. I'll question yore old man before I leave, but I reckon it'll be the same tale. This puts a new slant on it all, though.

"I don't get it," said Stuart flatly.

"I don't neither, now," the officer admitted. "I thought I had something doped out, but maybe I ain't, with yore own pap mixed in it.

"I'll tell you, son, what I had figured. Old man Colter and that Silas—they had it doped out that you slipped up and put Paul Colter out of the way because he shot at you in the store. They figure you killed him."

"ME?" Stuart almost shouted it, so astounded was he. He had forgotten that Carolee told him the same.

"Yep, you. I sort of put two and two toegther on it myself, and it looked possible. Now it don't."

That evoked a lot more talking, but it didn't net anything. Pretty soon Stuart remembered that Paul had been found dead. He knew Carolee would be under great stress by it.

"I've got to go at once," he told the sheriff. "That girl—Carolee Colter—I'm fond of her. Fact is, Mr. Watson, I think a great deal of her. I'll go up there and do what I can."

The sheriff grabbed his arm.

"Nope you won't!" he commanded. "You stay away from them Colters. I don't know nothing about the women, but I been talking to the men. One killin' is enough in this case."

Stuart did a lot of thinking during the next hour or so.

"If somebody shot old man Colter," he told himself, "then we both have a third party to contend with. But who?"

Then a thought struck him, a possible answer. "The sheriff! Watson! He knew everything. He tried to minimize the accidents and the shootings. He wanted the gold discovery kept secret. Then he could go up there undisturbed, ostensibly hunting clews to Paul's murderer! Jump any claim he found! Sa-a-a-ay . . .!"

Early Completion Of Highway In Dawson Area Is Asked

LAMESA, July 19. (Special) — Early completion of the Lamesa-Stanton highway was recommended when members of the Lamesa planing board met with county commissioners.

Four miles of the road had been completed and grading and drainage of the next four miles will be completed in the next few days. Topping will be run. WPA labor is being employed.

The board also recommended that commissioners get a right-of-way for the Brownfield road from Lamesa to the Terry line. A farm-to-market road request concerning that route had been asked of the state highway department, and approval is expected soon.

Martin county officials have said they would take steps to extend the road through that county after the 15 miles from Lamesa to Martin county is completed. The Martin commissioners court will go before the highway commission at its next meeting to ask for a hard surface road.

Transfer Of Inactive Cases To Dormant Docket Ordered Here

Transfer of approximately 100 inactive civil cases pending two years or longer to the dormant docket was ordered Monday by County Judge J. J. Dillard as he convened the regular July term of his court Monday.

Attorneys W. D. Wilson and G. V. Pardue were appointed by Judge Dillard to prepare the order.

The judge explained that the order does not mean the dismissal of the cases, but merely retires them to a docket from which they may be recalled on the motion of litigants.

Dillard devoted most of the forenoon of the opening day of the term to calling part of the civil docket. The appearance docket is to be called at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

The civil docket will be called again August 30 for settings of jury cases during the week, for which the only jury of the court term has been summoned. Criminal cases will be set for the first two weeks of August and the first week of September.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

WORRIED White House friends have framed an "out" for President Roosevelt in the Supreme Court impasse which they believe to be a political and a statesmanlike solution. They planned to spring it later, but Senator Robinson's sudden death hastened its birth.

They propose that Mr. Roosevelt agree to reference of the judiciary reorganization to a body of distinguished citizens chosen from inside and outside the walls of Congress. As tentatively discussed, it would be composed of legislators, Supreme Court members and representatives of the American Bar Association. For chairman they favor somebody of the stature of the late Elihu Root or William Howard Taft—preferably a man not noted for partisan activity in recent years.

Such a group could quietly and slowly embalm any court bill, thus enabling the President to withdraw gracefully. Or it could frame a carefully rounded and considered reform that would not provoke the personal strife and party differences raised by the original or court compromise measure. Whether the President will accept this or some other substitute scheme isn't known—he seems determined to plow ahead—but his decision may be fateful.

FINISHED.—The quiet, measured words of an unassuming Texan as pronounced in a House chamber deathlike in its stillness actually produced a far deeper effect on the court conflict than Mr. Robinson's spectacular end. To those who know their Washington the speaker—Chairman Sumners of the Juliciary Committee—occupies a unique position.

He is generally regarded as the private liaison man between Congress and the Supreme Court—and on this occasion the jurists' personal spokesman and ambassador. When he revealed that the Hughes-Roberts majority had been swung over to the liberal view by earnest arguments against the long-time effect of their original attitude, his listeners were convinced he spoke from the book. And for the first time he publicized what he has been telling friends—that he had the promise of three resignations (McReynolds, Butler, Sutherland) provided the White House withdraws its court packing proposal.

What Mr. Sumners did was to persuade the House that "nature," if allowed to operate without presidential interference, would provide the very remedy Mr. Roosevelt seeks. No matter how the Senate disposes of the measure, the shy, quiet Texan has killed it in the House—for this session at least. The judicial jig is up.

VINDICATED.—Vice-President Garner has confidentially informed friends that he is in a mood to return to his seat on the Senate rostrum, provided a sudden move to adjourn doesn't pull the chair from under him.

Though not given to gloating over such a good friend as the President, Mr. Garner feels that his walkout partially achieved the three objectives he had in mind. His three worries were, in the order of importance, (1) the terrific increase in expenditures, (2) the White House-John L. Lewis tieup, and (3) the Supreme Court issue. He would have cast his vote for the judicialy bill in event of a tie, though he personally favored a two-man addition. But the fiscal and industrial troubles upset him physically and politically.

During his absence, however, Mr. Roosevelt partially accepted advice he had hitherto ignored. He ordered a 10 per cent cut in expenditures, he rebuked Mr. Lewis three times and he agreed to the Robinson compromise on the court. So Mr. Garner may go down in history as the most powerful first mate on the American ship of state.

EXAMPLE.—For the third time in a few months the Interstate Commerce Commission has exhibited startling independence of political or official influence. The I. C. C.-ers' courage will stand them in good stead when and if Congress votes on the measure placing this agency under presidential control.

The commission's latest exhibition involved Vincent Dailey, who happens to be Postmaster General Farley's political deputy in New York state. In the absence of "Jim" Mr. Dailey performs as state chairman, and has often been proposed for the post when the P. M. G. resigns. The Rochester man also published the Democrats' state magazine, and formerly ran the New York H. O. L. C. office. But when a federal judge named him as receiver for a railroad in northern New York, the federal agency disapproved on the ground that his experience did not equip him for the assignment.

Ironically, the Dailey decision was handed down only a few days after Joseph B. Eastman's reappointment—an honor delayed for six months because of other I. C. C. policies which administration higher-ups resented. Things like that aren't done by well-tamed commissions.

CLINCH.—President Roosevelt may climax his series of squabbles with Democratic politicos by opposing two powerful party machines—Tammany Hall in New York and Tom Pendergast's Kansas City organization. His friends have marvelled that a blowup didn't come long ago.

In the approaching New York mayoralty campaign the President is almost sure to antagonize the Wigwam. He may give quiet reinforcement to Mayor LaGuardia by keeping silent, or he may insure the Mayor's reelection by provoking a vicious Democratic primary battle. Tammany will probably line up behind Senator Copeland—a Roosevelt foe—while the Roosevelt-Farley faction may oppose him in the primary with Olympic Chairman Jeremiah Mahoney. Al Smith will hold the towels in the medico's corner.

In Kansas City U. S. District Attorney Maurice Milligan—a Roosevelt appointee—had obtained indictments and convictions of scores of Pendergast workers for vote-stealing. It threatens to smash a system of boss rule that makes Tammany seem like a kindergarten. Local politicos have demanded the Milligan scalp when his first term expires, but he is scheduled for reappointment on the Roosevelt-Cummings-Farley slate.

SUBSTITUTION.—Two normally demonstrative and rambunctious Republicans recently underscored their party policy of offering no affronts to Democrats engaged in a duel with their President. It marked some kind of a high in partisan restraint. It also signified the shadowiness of the line dividing the two sides.

When the House arose in an almost unprecedented demonstration at the conclusion of Rep. Sumners' court address, Minority Leader Snell was one of seven to remain in his seat. He showed no unseemly rejoicing, though his usually sour face was wreathed in smiles. And when Rep. Hamilton Fish raised the question of the Roosevelt family's tax returns, he got no reinforcements from Rep. Treadway of Massachusetts—the most rabid Republican on Capitol Hill.

The G. O. P.-ers continue to substitute subtlety for scavagery in their campaign against the smiling man in the White House.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

DAVID LILIENTHAL of the Tennessee Valley Authority is in a bit of a jam and New Yorkers are chuckling. The contract he negotiated with Arkansas Power & Light (subsidiary of Electric Bond & Share) has caught the disapproving eye of Congressman John E. (eat 'em alive) Rankin of Mississippi, an anti-utility extremist.

As this column pointed out at the time, the Arkansas company was not required to cut its charges to consumers in accordance with T. V. A. schedules as a condition of the contract. The yardstick was not applied. Instead, a very minor rate reduction was window-dressed to look like something big. Now Mr. Lilienthal is summoned to the White House by demand of the indignant Mr. Rankin to explain how come. The answer is really very simple. It was more important to T. V. A., as a practical matter, to find a paying customer for its power than to enforce idealistic rates on non-existent purchasers.

Lilienthal may suffer a few embarrassing moments, but is unlikely to be seriously disturbed in his prediminant position in the T. V. A. picture. Rankin makes lots of noise but carries very little weight.

Distilled Water Now Available From City; Install Equipment

Distilled water is now available at the city water plant, Avenue J and Fifth street, following installation of distillation equipment at request of a committee of Lubbock doctors, according to information given Monday by Mayor Ross Edwards.

Water will be sold in quantities of five gallons or more at two cents per gallon, he said. Five gallon glass bottles are available as containers at the city plant, the price being $1.35. The purchaser, it was explained, must supply his own container.

Physicians had asked that water be made available which is as nearly free as possible of the chemical, fluorine, which is blamed for discoloration of teeth. Fluorine, it was explained, is present in practically all domestic supplies of water, to larger degree in the southwestern United States than in most other sections of the nation.

Claim also is made that the distillation improves the quality of the water for cooking purposes. Enough mineral matter has been left, as determined by state laboratory tests, not to affect its value for drinking purposes. Water can be so thoroughly distilled, officials were advised, that it becomes unfit for drinking.

Woman Is Slightly Hurt When Struck By Golf Ball Sunday

Miss Adeline Ziegenhals, district WPA recreational supervisor, was listed Monday as one of the minor casualties of the discourtesies of golf.

She nursed a sore and badly bruised scalp as result of having been struck on the back of her head by a hard-driven ball while playing on Meadowbrook course Sunday. Friends said she probably escaped serious injury only because the blow was cushioned by her hat and hair.

The blow stunned her momentarily. She was at her desk as usual Monday morning, however.

Haskell County Voters Give Approval To Bond Issue

Haskell county voters recently approved a $60,000 bond issue for construction of a county hospital, M. C. Butler, local architect and architect for the commissioners court, said yesterday. The building fund is to be supplimented by a $45,000 PWA grant.

Plans were drawn recently for the structure. It will have about 25 beds and will be modern in every respect. Bids are to be asked as soon as definite advices form PWA on the grant are received, Butler added.

HOME IS DESTROYED

DIMMITT, July 19. (Special) — Fire recently completely destroyed the farm home of C. W. George, and only the living room suite, radio, several tables, and a few bed clothes were saved. The fire had too great a start when it was discovered, and buckets of water thrown on the blaze were useless. The fire was supposedly caused by spontaneous combustion. Mr. and Mrs. George are living about a mile and half south of their former home.

Old Timers Plan To Gather At Dickens

SPUR, July 19. (Special)—The Dickens county annual Old Timers picnic will be conducted Thursday and is expected to outshine all former undertakings of this type in Dickens county. The gala event is fostered by Dickens business men.

The D. S. Dudley carnival will furnish all sorts of joy rides, including skating. The main programs will be held in the hotel building, where cold spring water and other accomodations will be accessible.

Everyone is promised a good time during the two days and nights of the celebration, Thursday and Friday. The grounds will be lighted at night.

DUST CLOGS RAIN

CHILDRESS, July 19. (AP)—Variety of weather causes all sorts of complications here. When the rain gauge at the First National bank overflowed during a recent downpour, it was found that dust from another year was to blame.

Exemption Of Centennial Coins In Minting Regulation Asked

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Senator Tom Connally of Texas has asked the treasury to recommend exemption of Texas Centennial 50-cent pieces from pending legislation to prohibit future minting of commemorative coins.

Congress, in 1933, authorized the minting of 1,500,000 Texas Centennial coins, with the provision that profits from their sale would go to the construction of war veterans' memorial building on the University of Texas campus.

Connally said that while only about 289,000 of the coins have been minted, proceeds from the sale of the entire amount had been counted on.

TARZAN'S QUEST, No. 8

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"If we'd had a decent French pilot, we'd never have got into this," Prince Sherov shouted at his whimpering wife. "These Americans don't know anything about flying." Brown turned his head. "Say, guy, didja ever head tell of the Wright brothers, or Lindbergh?"

The pugnacious Brown started to tell the prince just what he thought of him, but that would take too long, so he turned busily to the controls and nosed the big ship down. After several tense minutes Jane cried out: "Look! We're below the storm!"

Brown shook his head. "Not much good unless we can find a landing place." He consulted the fuel gauge, then called into the cabin: "Be sure your safety belts are fastened. Put your wraps in front of your face. I'll have to make a forced landing soon!"

There was no sign of a clearing in the wildly tossing waves of green below. Suddenly the engine died. "We're out of gas. It's the treetops for us," Brown said calmly. Then he shouted again into the cabin: "Hold everything. I'm bringing her down!"

Fight On Closed Shop Is Urged

DETROIT, July 19. (AP)—James G. G. Stahlman, Nashville, Tenn., president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, appealed today to members of the National Editorial association to affiliate in opposition to a "closed news or editorial shop."

Stahlman, who was named chairman of "the newspaper committee" at a meeting of publishers and editors in Chicago three weeks ago, was principal speaker at the opening session of the 52nd annual concentration of the N. E. A. here. The organization is made up of publishers and editors of non-metropolitan papers.

Freedom Is Defined

"Freedom of the press" Stahlman defined "as responsibility to keep the people informed through a truthful and unbiased presentation of the news to which they are entitled and which will enable them to determine those things of a public nature which are either favorable or inimical to their own welfare and to act accordingly."

Prior to the opening of the first session, President Stahlman said that "there is no doubt the National Editorial association will indorse the newspaper committee's stand on freedom of the press and opposition to the closed editorial shop."

"Never in the history of the American commonwealth" Stahlman said, was there such an opportunity for constructive service on the part of its press. Never has there been such a clear call to duty."

Must Comment Fairly

"A free press does not mean my right, nor yours, as a publisher, to publish whatever we please, to violate any laws, to invade personal privacy, or to ignore the ethics of a great profession.

"It does mean our responsibility to comment fairly and intelligently in our editorial columns upon those things in order that we may help an informed people reach sound and enlightened decisions on matters most affecting their present and their future."

"A free press is nobody's right except a free people's. Newspapers are but trustees of that right and we can only deserve to hold it by proper and unselfish observation of our responsibilities in a republic such as ours."

Trouble In Orient

be acceptable unless Japanese troops also were withdrawn.

"The only terms acceptable to China for settlement of the crisis were contained in yesterday's note," Japanese said Wang Chung-Hui, Chinese foreign minister, had told Sinrokuro Hidaka, the Japanese charge d'affaires.

"Clear Intention" Shown

Yesterday's note declared Japanese troop movements indicated the "clear intention of Japan to resort to force" and proposed the two countries agree to simultaneous withdrawal of their armed forces to the positions held before the clash west of Peiping on July 7.

Japanese said their representative had informed Wang in the two-hour conference that Tokyo desired the Nanking government not to interfere with a local settlement of the incident.

To that Wang was said to have replied China had "no objection to a local settlement as long as the Nanking government approves of it."

Called "Last Warning"

Their conference was called under the pressure of what the Domei (Japanese) News agency said was the Japanese army's "last warning" that the hostilities in the Tientsin-Peiping area must be ended on Tokyo's terms.

Chinese commanders were warned by the virtual ultimatum of Major General Seiichi Kita, Japanese military attache in China, the news agency said, that they must "disregard minor differences" and "save the situation by prompt withdrawal of central (Nanking) government troops and air forces to their original stations."

Previously Hikada had been reported, apparently without basis, as having demanded Chinese acceptance of Japan's terms by last midnight.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Stock market leaders swung into a substantial if not especially brisk advance today as business news put a little more cheer into buying forces.

With old-line leaders stepping into the front ranks, gains of fractions to 3 points were widely distributed at the close.

U. S. steel set the pace at the start with a rise of more than a point on an initial block of 4,000 shares. It extended its improvement later and finished not farm from the top at 118⅛, up 2⅝ points.

Chrysler soon passed the steel bellwether and rose to 4⅞, at 106⅛. Short covering here as well as in "big steel," brokers said, was a lifting influence.

Besides steels and motors, rails, utilities, electrical equipments, farm implements, coppers, mail orders, oils and specialties were prominent on the upward trek.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks enjoyed its best recovery in two weeks, getting up 1 point at 68.6. Transfers totalled 949,780 shares compared with 704,280 last Friday.

Bright second quarter earnings reports and prospects of more favorable returns this fall, it was thought, contributed much to the market's performance.

In addition Wall street seemed more heartened over proceedings at Washington and tension over the Sino-Japanese war flare-up appeared to have lessened.

"But we will spend very much more than the purchase price in the next few years," he added, "in irrigation and soil development."

Campbell, who has long been known as the "Montana wheat king" and who was retained by the Soviet government in the agricultural development under the first five-year plan, will be in charge of farming operations for the partnership.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 19. (AP)—A decline of approximately 50 cents a bale on favorable weather and crop reports met good support in late trading on cotton here today and the close was steady at net losses for the day of only 2 to 3 points.

Liverpool cables were not up to expectations at the start here and were mainly responsible for an initial decline of 2 points on some positions. Other months opened unchanged.

A little buying was encountered after the start but the demand was supplied at levels 3 to 4 points net higher on active positions.

The weather map showed only showers in the cotton belt over the week-end with temperatures normal to above.

A rumor that a prominent New York official had announced opposition to the Roosevelt court bill was construed as bearish and was said by some commentators to have been responsible for a wave of selling around mid-season.

An official estimate placing the Chinese crop, including Manchoukuo, at around 4,000,000 bales was said to have been another inducement to liquidate contracts at the lowest asking months showed losses of 10 to 12 points.

October closed at 12.00, Dec. at 12.01, Jan. at 12.03, Mch. at 12.09 and May at 12.12. Spot continued quiet with middling closing 2 points lower at 12.35.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Cotton prices were generally lower on favorable domestic and foreign crop advices today. December eased from 12.00 to 11.88 and closed at 11.93 with final prices 1 to 3 points net lower.

The market opened 1 to 4 points lower under hedge selling and liquidation bu soon rallied to net gains of 4 to 5 points on buying promoted by complaints of boll weevil from Texas. In the early afternoon prices eased under renewed liquidation to net losses of 7 to 12 points but became steadier toward the close on a less favorable view of the eastern belt weather. The detailed reports showed showry conditions thre over the week end.

Cotton goods markets remained quiet. Exports today 4,313 making a total of 5,703,006 for the season thus far. Part receipts 4,380, U. S. port stocks 1,121,000.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Largely because of a new all-time record increase of the United States wheat visible supply, Chicago wheat prices today fell 2½ cents a bushel.

The total increase for the last week was 21,861,000 bushels, against 16,600,00 bushels shown in August, 1929, the previous greatest increase. A year ago, the increase amounted to but 13,739,000 bushels.

Contributing to the downward trend of Chicago wheat values were sharp setbacks of Winnipeg prices, a development ascribed more or less to heavy selling there against purchases here. Also, export demand for Canadian wheat appeared to be temporarily at a virtual standstill.

Closing prices of Chicago wheat futures were 1¼@1½ cents under Saturday's finish, July $1.26⅛, Sept. $1.26⅝@1.26⅝, Dec. $1.27⅞@1.28, with corn 3¼ off to ⅝ up, July $1.27¼@1.28, Sept. $1.10⅛@1.10⅜, Dec. 77¾@77⅞, oats 1⅝@ 3 cents down, Sept. 35¾@35⅞, and rye showing 1⅝@3 cents drop, Sept. 88⅝. Provisions results varied from 2 cents decline to 15 cents advance.

Franco's Assurance

the talents, discretion and understanding of Don Juan, who sought in the first days (of the civil war) to go to the front . . . I had to beg him to leave Spain.

"He asked a post in command of a warship as his rank and training warranted, but I could not grant his request. My responsibility was very great and I had a duty not to put in danger a life that some day may be very precious.

"I must bear in mind furthermore that there are two divisions of Spaniards in this war . . . and if, some time, a king becomes the head of state he must come in the role of peacemaker and not be listed in the ranks of the conquerors."

The royalists, a considerable strength in the insurgent ranks, were jubilant. They said the declaration would unify feeling among important insurgent leaders that popular Don Juan is the man to reunite Spain and eliminate the strife that has marked Spanish republicanism since Alfonso XIII left the country.

They regard the interview as Franco's most definite pledge for a monarchy possible under existing conditions.

Franco also spoke glowingly of many others of Spain's aristocracy who have supported the insurgent cause.

He implied again he would not consider the withdrawal of foreign fighters from his armies.

He added that the insurgent regime's relations with the Vatican, "while not exactly official, are cordial as befits a nation as deeply Catholic as ours."

quently felt keen disappointment that important legislative measures have been declared unconstitutional by a slim and unconvincing margin in the Supreme court," the governor wrote Wagner.

"And yet I believe that the orderly and deliberate processes of government should not be sacrificed merely to meet an immediate situation. From the broad standpoint of the public interest whatever immediate gain might be achieved through the proposed change in the court would, in my opinion, be far more than offset by a loss of confidence in the independence of the courts and in governmental procedure."

Loop Heads Decide Against Withdrawal Of Two Clubs

MONROE, La., July 19. (AP)—Cotton States league directors refused to allow Monroe and Vicksburg to withdraw from the circuit, it was announced here today by J. Walter Morris, league president.

President Morris said a telegraphic vote of the six other directors was taken after he had been notified that R. W. Burnett, owner of the Monroe team, would withdraw. The league voted to require the two clubs to continue operation or forfeit a $750 deposit which was posted to guarantee their continuance in the circuit, he stated.

Morris said the present owners must continue to operate the clubs or the league can take them over and finish out the season, using the deposits to defray expenses.

Frosh Netter Upsets Fourth Seeded Player In New York

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Diminutive Joseph Fishbach, 17 year old St. John's University of Brooklyn freshman, turned in the first major upset of the Eastern Clay court tennis singles championship today when he topped fourth-seeded Paul Newton, Berkeley, Calif., 2-6, 6-2, 6-0, in their fourth round meeting at Jackson Heights.

Fishbach, winner of the Eastern junior title last week, kept the California star on the run during the first set and although he lost it, the tactics tired Newton. The latter, earlier in the day, had beaten Mel Schwatzman of New York, another junior, 6-4, 7-5, to enter the fourth round.

out to end the inning.

New Moore Gets Started

New Moore, after three scoreless innings, landed on Wooldridge for a double and a brace of singles to start the fourth. Two runs came in, and on the second error of the day, a third came in. The side was retired in order in the fifth, but the New Moore guns banged again in the sixth, for four runs. Dickerson, Ted Rogers, E. Duncan hit singles as fast as they came to the plate, Dickerson scoring. Duncan was thrown out at second by Bettes on M. Sullivan's grounder. Wooldridge got his first strikeout victim next, but M. Rogers came up, jumped on the first pitch and sent it high over the left field wall. It was good for three runs. Next man hit a high, fast one to center and Harold Crites made a beautiful running catch, duplicating one made in the previous inning by Jack Thompson in right.

The eighth New Moore run came in the Seventh when Pete Rogers triple and scored on J. Rogers' single. Rogers was thrown out at second trying to steal, and the next eight men were retired in order as Wooldridge settled down again, striking out two in the ninth inning.

Old Rivalry Coming Up

For Lubbock, nearly every player fattened his batting average, Jack Thompson getting four straight hits, including a double, and Coppage blasting a triple and two doubles. Graham hit three singles, Bettes two singles and a double. Coppage's hits came with men on the sacks, and he sent seven runs across the plate in addition to two he scored himself.

The old Hubber-Tahoka rivalry will get under way for fair Wednesday at 2 o'clock, and the Tahokans are definitely no setups for the Hubbers.

Tahoka looked plenty impressive in defeating Brownfield, 14 to 5, in the tournament opener. The clouting of Pete Edwards, Evans, Thomas and Skipper Larkin himself brought three runs in each of the first two innings, another in the sixth and a lusty seven-run finish in the ninth.

Better Matched Games

Brownfield, a favorite to win its first game, had pitching trouble and went down to Tahoka by a decisive margin, but the club is expected to have its full roster, including pitchers who did not show up for Sunday's game, against the Tip-Top Collegians today.

Manager Beri Huffman of the Collegians also promises a better job today. "We just need to get out "sea-legs," he said, "and then we'll be back after the championship again." The club finally gave it up Sunday when pitching and defense went to pieces and the game was called in the sixth inning, the Amerada Oilers of Hobbs showing a marked superiority but it was Tip-Top's weakness rather than Amerada's strength which broke up the ball game. Things'll be different with the clubs when Brownfield and Collegians clash today.

Greatest Battle

away as Coruna in the northwest.

Government officers estimated the insurgents had not less than 150,000 men concentrated on the Madrid-Sierra front.

In addition to thrusting at Brunete from the south, the insurgents were driving toward Villaneuva del Pardillo from the east.

Air Attacks Feature

Violent air attacks were the most striking feature of the operations on both sides.

Scores of planes already have been shot down, but insurgent losses were reported larger than the government's.

The amount of war material used up was described as staggering. Barrages of World war intensity were laid down by both sides. Government officers expressed gratification over their army's attacking power, as shown in its capture of a strategic tow in the Brunete sector.

Government observers said they counted 320 insurgent planes over a 30-mile area. It was too early to count losses and gains in a major air battle over Villafranca del Castillo.

Riding A Surf Board To The Rescue

The Hawaiian surf board held by Swim Director Dean Longfellow, Camp Manatoc, Akron, O., is gaining favor with U. S. life guards.

Hearing a cry for help, Longfellow dives with the board and churns the water like a "side-wheeler." His craft is faster than a canoe.

He maneuvers the buoyant and stable board into position and grabs the victim's hands just before he goes down for the third time.

Stradling his craft, Longfellow lifts the swimmer onto the board. Hollow, it will hold up more persons than could get on it.

With the exhausted bather resting easily, Longfellow sculls his facile craft ashore. It is a faster, surer, safer rescue than by swimming.

Lehman Opposes Court Reform

nounced that "not by a single nod or the head or bat of the eye" would he express "any intimation of preference" for either candidate in the leadership race.

Friends of both contestants—Senator Barkley (D-Ky), and Harrison (D-Miss)—asserted victory was in their grasp, but they conceded the vote would be close.

Garner Declines Comment

Garner, who boarded the special train at Little Rock after hurrying to the funeral from his Uvalde, Texas, home declined to comment on the court controversy or the prospects for enactment of the rest of the president's legislative program.

After scanning Lehman's statement, O'Mahoney said the governor's letter "sets at rest any contention that opposition to the bill involves either any lack of sympathy with the general aims of the administration or lack of personal loyalty to the president."

Others Make Comment

Other comment included:

Senator Clark: "This expression from a great liberal governor is a remarkable manifestation of the overwhelming sentiment developed in the country against the proposal for packing the Supreme court."

Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich): "Governor Lehman's intellectual honesty has driven him to a courageous and invincible conclusion. All that remains is to call the coroner."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.): "The governor has taken high and strong ground. His statement is sound, and expresses the essence of the position of all of us who have opposed the plan from the beginning."

Refuse To Comment

Leaders of the fight for the court bill, including Senators Hatch (D-NM) and Barkley, refused to comment.

Later in the day, however, two Democratic senators committed for the bill issued brief statements.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) remarked that Lehman's letter "shows how even our great leaders sometimes fail to study a subject very deeply."

Senator Green (D-RI) said that the the governor's statement "contains nothing new."

From end to end, this luxuriously-appointed train hummed with open battle over the two issues which have threatened to disrupt the Democratic party—the court bill and the selection of Robinson's successor as senate leader.

Both administration spokesmen and opposition chiefs agreed that a showdown on the Supreme court reorganization program, bitterly debated for the last five months, would come this week.

Few senators in either camp expected action at this session on remaining items in the president's legislative program.

Mexican National Labor Body May Outlaw Aviation Strike

Mail Stoppage Is Main Issue

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, July 19.—Representatives of the Mexican Aviation company and its striking employes were ordered today to appear before the National labor board tomorrow to determine whether the strike should be outlawed.

The company, declaring an unexpired contract with employes provided that strikes should not stop air mail service and that labor disputes should be submitted to a commission for arbitration, appealed to the labor board to outlaw the strike.

Air Service Further Curtailed

Air service to Mexico was further impeded when Pan-American Airways announced temporary curtailment of service between Brownsville, Tex., and Guatemala. For the time being Pan-American ships will not land in Mexico.

Mexican Aviation company representatives said they were expecting the labor board to order the strikers back to work tomorrow.

A plan which President Lazaro Cardenas was reported to have suggested, to use army equipment to maintain domestic airmail service, was discarded after company pilots, most of whom are members of the army reserve, protested that government planes lacked necessary radio and blind flying equipment.

Will Travel On Burros

They will journey by train to Guadalajara, where the line ceases, and from there will plod on burros to Uruapan and to Arteago, closest postoffice to the mine, 18 miles away. Twenty miles westward is the sea.

In the 22,874-square-miles state, mostly in the high elevation of mountains, they will seek the rich gold and silver and other mineral deposits, for which Michoacan is as distinctive as it is for the volcano of Jorullo and its capital of Morelia.

Mine Producing Daily

At the mine, which daily is producing, has been rigged up machinery. A mill that crushes the ore is drawn by an old engine from a well-known American motor car. The engine, oddly enough, burns gas made from destructive distillation of wood—or gas of charcoal.

Tales come out of the section—tales not authenticated, but rich in descriptive. What nearby mines assayed; the difficulty of getting ore to shipping points; the danger of Mexican brigands, and numerous others.

Charles A. King, jr., former assistant county agent of Lubbock county, no longer is with the mining group, having elected to accept work in the county agent's office at Falfurrias.

LONDON, July 19 (AP) — The United States was charged today by an official of the Church of England with "debasing England's social standards."

Second Term To Begin Today

Classes for the second term of summer school at Texas Technological college will begin at 7 o'clock this morning. Registration figures yesterday afternoon, at the end of the first day of registration, showed that 668 students had enrolled for work this term.

This figure is the same as the one last year on the first day of the second term. A total of 1459 persons were enrolled the first summer session.

Special Army Training To Be Offered Men In This Area

Nine men will have an opportunity to secure special school training in the medical corps of the U. S. army or the armored car division, Sergeant Rex A. Taylor, local recruiting officer, said yesterday afternoon.

The army needs four men for medical corps work and five for the first armored car squadron. If they enlist right away, they probably will get a chance to go to school in September for a special training session.

In addition, men are needed for the field artillery, the calvary and the sixteenth qquartermaster squadron.

Quake Is Felt In Manhattan

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Manhattan residents were intrigued today by the knowledge they had been next door to an earthquake—but their information about it came solely from out-of-town.

Many residents of Long Island complained last midnight their homes had trembled for three minutes, but the police asserted there was nothing they could do about it.

Although seismographs at Harvard and Weston college, both in Massachusetts, recorded tremors "on or near Long Island" at 11:52 p. m., Eastern daylight time, the seismograph closest to the scene, operated at Fordham university in the city, obtained no record of the phenomenon.

Busy With Heavy Quake

The Rev. Father Joseph Lynch, Fordham's seismograph expert, said his recording instruments were busy with a heavy quake which began at 11:16 p. m., daylight time, and continued nearly 50 minutes, but that the epicenter was 9,000 miles away. The surface waves of this quake reached New York at 12:05 a. m., daylight time, but only a seismograph could feel them.

"I suspect, said Father Lynch, "that there may have been a slight quake in Long Island sound of such negligible intensity that it was not recorded through the big quake."

The shocks were felt in sections of Connecticut and Long Island, but did not extend to Manhattan island, where a majority of the metropolitan area's rock-ribbed skyscrapers tower, Bungalows at nearby beaches were shaken.

First Day's Enrollment For Classing School Is 74

First day's enrollment for the annual cotton classing school sponsored by Texas Technological college, was 74, M. E. Heard, head of the textile department of the school, said. A number who had planned to register yesterday are expected to come in today.

Class sessions started in the morning after registration. President Bradford Knapp spoke briefly to the class at 11 o'clock. Texas Ginners association is cooperating with the college in the class work.

Leavern Lackey, New Orleans, La., a government classer, will be the chief instructor. H. Fehleison and C. F. Wilson, local cotton men and representatives of two large concerns, are assisting.

Two were here from New Mexico and there were 41 towns in all represented. West Texas Gin Co., has 13 of its ginners here; Keisling and McBride, Lamesa, eight; Lockettville Gin Co., three from Ropesville and Williams and Miller, Big Spring, four men.

Paving Project For City Is Launched

Availability of WPA labor made possible the start of laying base for seven blocks of paving in the southern edge of the city Monday, according to information given by Marlin R. (Red) Smith, city engineer.

WPA workers had been off duty since last July 3, after having worked their maximum hours for the month.

Base To Be Laid

Present program of work will be laying of base on Avenue S from Thirty-fourth to Twenty-ninth street, on Twenty-ninth from S to T, and on T from Twenty-ninth to Twenty-eighth, there to tie in with pavement to connect with Nineteenth. When completed, the paving will provide a new and important paving outlet from Nineteenth into the southern part of the city.

Another improvement project to receive attention soon, the engineer said, will be on S from Nineteenth to Twenty-third. When all is completed, an unpaved stretch will be left on S from Twenty-third to Twenty-ninth, but that is a project tabbed for early attention.

The city engineer estimated that about 10 days will be required for putting the base on projects started this morning. Toppings of approximately an inch and one half of asphalt will follow as soon as the base has set.

Carmichael To Stage Inquiry

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—Col. H. H. Carmichael, head of Texas rangers, planned to leave late today for the lower Rio Grande valley to make a personal investigation of recent developments in the Blanton disappearance inquiry.

Carmichael last week suspended Ranger Power Penner for his participation in the arrest of a special investigator in the case and his courtroom difficulty with a news photographer.

To Learn Details

The ranger chief said he wanted to learn more details concerning Fenner's actions because Fenner might appeal to the public safety commission for reinstatement. He said he would talk with County Judge W. E. McCharen of Raymondville and others.

Two of the three commissioners, including Albert Sidney Johnson, chairman, were here today and Carmichael said he would discuss the Blanton investigation with them. He claimed Fenner disobeyed instructions not to take any part in the inquiry.

Additional men will be assigned to the case within the next few weeks but Capt. Bill McMurrey will remain in charge, Carmichael said.
