U. S. READY TO HONOR ATLANTIC ACE

Faith

About Wichita Falls—
Texas Crop Figures—
Honor For Cline—
Dr. Dorothy Dix—

A WEALTH of information and keen observation is contained in the bulletins of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines, issued from St. Louis and distributed all over the nation. Commenting on the party of business men from Wichita Falls which will tour the poultry producing sections of California, the bulletin says:

"With its location, climate, irrigation system and railroad facilities, Wichita Falls offers unusual opportunities, in the judgment of those who have investigated, for the profitable production of poultry and dairy products."

TIME was when the general public considered the railroad a sort of enemy, an immensely wealthy but soulless corporation to be gouged of its money at any and all opportunities, both by the public and by individuals.

Now we find the railroads, not only the Katy but others in Wichita Falls and Texas, taking a leading part in the development of the areas which they serve. Perhaps it has always been so, but to The Record News it seems that of late more than ever, railroads and their officers and employes have been found actively aiding development projects in this and other sections.

HERE is comment on Texas from President C. Haile of the Katy in the Blue Book of Southern Progress:

"Texas in 1926 offset the tremendous shrinkage in the value of its cotton production through the increase in value of other agricultural crops, pointing the way to further stabilization of its income from agriculture by more intensive application of the policy of diversification. In the degree that experience in 1926 has emphasized the advantage and opportunity of developing other sources of farm income, the present cotton situation should result in permanent benefit. It has been proven that we need only to continue in development of our varied natural resources to secure stable and prosperous conditions, which not only will maintain the present buying power of the southwest, but also will influence its steady increase.

An appreciation of this development may be gained from the change in traffic of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines. Not many years ago cotton, grain, livestock, lumber and coal constituted 80 per cent of our total tonnage. Now, with an increase in the tonnage of each of these commodities, they together constitute only 32 per cent of our total tonnage."

WICHITA FALLS residents, as well as Rotarians, must read with a thrill the news from Ostend, Belgium, of the election of Walter Cline of Wichita Falls as a member of the national board of directors of the Rotary club. This Wichita Falls man, who has served both his club and his city in so many ways, richly deserves any honor and recognition that may be given him.

AND while Walter Cline represented Wichita Falls in Ostend, Belgium, at the International Rotary convention, his fellow members at home were carrying out the same principles of service, of wider fellowship, in their luncheon Thursday, when Vernon Rotarians were honor guests, and presented the program of the day.

Just as the international convention in Belgium is a vehicle for a better understanding and friendship between nations, so the inter-city meetings here are making finer bond between Wichita Falls and other cities of Northwest Texas. Each activity is equally important in its own and in the general scheme of progress.

THE following is taken from Arthur Brisbane's "Today" column: "Dorothy Dix is made a doctor of laws by Tulane university and is worthy of her degree. The laws Dorothy Dix understands are the laws of human nature. As an observer she is accurate; as a judge her decisions are sound. After Nelly Bly died Dorothy Dix took her place as the best reporter, male or female, in the country. Women, better than men, know how to "see a thing clearly and describe it simply."

Until The Record News published the memoirs of Dorothy Dix a few weeks ago, it is probable that the great majority of its readers considered this woman as simply a writer for the woman's page. These daily articles doubtless form the basis of her greatest fame, but "Dorothy Dix talks" are misnamed as "articles for women." They can be, and quite likely are, read with as much profit by men as by women.

SHOTGUN FIRED BY ACCIDENT INJURES TWO

Mrs. C. C. Pollard and Tiny Baby Are Treated At Hospital

POLICE INVESTIGATE

Firing of Gun Proven To Be Accidential Affair

Mrs. C. C. Pollard, 108 Patterson street, and Bonnie May, her baby only a few months old, were wounded by stray bullets from a shotgun as Mrs. Pollard was entering her home with the baby in her arms at 4:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The shotgun was in the hands of George G. Yancy, 101 Second street, when it was discharged, according to Motorcycle Policemen Cecil Sinclair and Speck Roberson who made an investigation.

Mr. Yancy, a night watchman, had been sleeping on a cot on the porch of his home and on arising, he picked up the shotgun, the hammer apparently having caught on his clothing, firing the cartridge, the officers said. Mrs. Pollard was across the street from Mr. Yancy's home.

Mr. Yancy was held blameless by the officers after the investigation had been ended.

Mrs. Pollard and her baby were rushed to the Wichita General hospital in a Merkle ambulance and an examination there showed that Mrs. Pollard had received seven bullets of the charge in her arm and shoulder while only one of the pellets had struck the child, slightly injuring its wrist. They were given first aid treatment and returned to their home.

Half Billion Bushels Of Wheat Is Forecast

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—Production of 537,001,000 bushels of winter wheat this year is indicated by the condition of the crop on June 1, which was 72.2 per cent of a normal, the department of agriculture announced today.

The condition of the spring wheat crop on June 1 was 86.8 per cent of a normal, compared with 78.5 on June 1 last year and 88.9 the 10-year June 1 average.

Gen. John Pershing Sails For America

PARIS, June 9. (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing, who has been in France several months in connection with his work as chairman of the battle monuments commission, sailed for New York today from Cherbourg aboard the steamship President Harding. During his visit in Europe, General Pershing went to Switzerland to see his son, who is in school there.

Anarchist Admits He Tried to Kill Il Duce

NINE VOTE ON BOND ELECTION

$20,000 Valley View Issue Passed Unanimously

Only nine votes were cast in an election which resulted in the passing of a $20,000 school bond issue in the Valley View common school district Thursday, with every vote favoring the issue. The election was ordered by the county commissioner's court in May, following a petition of residents in the community for additional funds to enlarge the present $40,000 school building.

Contract Let Saturday

Contract for the work will be let Saturday, June 11, at a meeting of the school trustees, and actual construction started as soon as possible, according to W. L. Hodges judge of the election. Four rooms will be added to the brick structure, and will be completed by the opening of the fall term of school.

Mr. Hodges stated that the board would not wait for disposal of the bonds before going ahead with the contract. He was assisted in the election by S. W. Wood and Lewis Hodges, clerks.

Model School

The Valley View school is one of the most modern structures among the rural schools of the state. At present there are six classrooms, a library, gymnasium, auditorium and offices in the building, and an enrollment for the past year of 469 pupils.

J. R. Steedman is superintendent of the school and P. C. Jones secretary of the board. The school is located 10 miles west of Iowa Park in a rich irrigated farming district.

Two Confess Slaying Boy For $440 Insurance

MARION, Ind., June 9. (AP)—Arthur Walser, 29, and his 16-year-old wife, Dorothea, who have confessed that they poisoned Mrs. Walser's 12-year-old cousin, Clifford Cox, so that they might obtain $440 life insurance carried by the boy, were indicted today for first degree murder.

The Walsers were arrested last week.

REVOLUTION SUPPRESSED

Hotel Here Ordered To Open Books For Pastor In Wife's Divorce Suit

AMARILLO, June 9. — Joe Huckins, manager of the Kemp hotel of Wichita Falls along with other Texas hotel managers, has been ordered to produce the official register for the purpose of taking photostatic copies of signatures in the divorce trial of Jewel Stuckey vs. Rev. Lewis N. Stuckey of this city.

The district criminal court here has ordered that either Reverend Stuckey of the Polk Street Methodist church or his attorney be permitted to make the copies between the dates of Feb. 13 and 14 and March 2, 3 and 4.

Similar orders were made for the Texas hotel at Fort Worth from Sept. 6 to 15 and Nov. 1 to 10, and the Baker hotel, Dallas, from Dec. 26 to Jan. 5 and from April 12 to 18.

Copies of telegraph and telephone messages between various points including Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Fort Worth and other cities of the section between other persons in the case were ordered to be produced by the court.

British Aviators Will Try For Non-Stop Mark

LONDON, June 9. (AP)—Another British effort to establish a non-stop airplane record, says the Daily Mail, probably will be made next week. The plane to be used as described by the paper will carry enough gasoline for about 4500 miles. The flight will be to Asia and it is hoped not only to make greater distance than that covered by Clarence D. Chamberlin in his New York-Germany flight, but if the wind is helpful to fly nearly 5000 miles.

OREGON TRAIN BANDITS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

D'Autremont Brothers To Waive Extradition From Ohio

HEAVY JAIL GUARD

Ohio Police Take Extra Precaution to Bar Jail Break

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, June 9. (AP)—Ray and Roy De Autremont, arrested here last night for the murder for four men in connection with the holdup of a train in Oregon four years ago, late today were arraigned before a United States commissioner and ordered held without bond as fugitives from justice.

Postoffice inspectors are on their way here from Washington to file charges against them for robbing the mails. After this charge has been filed, they will be taken to Columbus, Ohio, for hearing in federal court for an order of removal to Oregon.

In case bond is demanded federal officials indicated tonight the government will ask it be set at $500,000 each. Charges of murder also face the men on their return to Oregon.

Held Incommunicado.

The brothers, 27 years old, twins, were held incommunicado throughout the day in city jail here. A heavy guard has been thrown about the jail.

Both declared today that they would waive formal extradition proceedings. When arrested both admitted their identity.

By a queer quirk of fate Hugh De Autremont, their brother, went on trial at Jacksonville, Oregon, Saturday for his part in the slaying.

Ray, arrested at his home here where he had been living with his wife, a birde of a year, told federal officials if he had had a chance he would have killed them "because he knew what was ahead of him."

"If I had got a chance, I would have killed you and then myself. My life is worth nothing to me now," federal officials quoted him as saying. He had assumed the name of Clarence Goodwin.

Roy, arrested at an employment agency when taken to police headquarters for booking said:

$20,000 in Rewards.

"Well, it looks like some of you guys are in for a reward."

Rewards totalling $20,000 for the arrest of the men had been posted.

Ray's wife, whom he married at Ironton, Ohio, was prostrated when she learned her husband's arrest. He never had revealed his identity to her. When an officer came to the home last night he told her he was an insurance adjuster and wanted her husband to accompany him to the hospital where his brother had been taken following an accident. The wily fugitive fell into the trap and when he entered an automobile he found himself surrounded by heavily armed officers.

In a tunnel near Siskiyou, Ore., October 11, 1923, the three brothers were alleged to have held up Southern Pacific passenger train number 13, shot the engineer, fireman, and brakeman in cold blood, then dynamited the mail car killing the mail clerk. When the mail car took fire the bandits were forced to flee without obtaining any loot. But postal inspectors on examining the wreckage found alleged evidence which eventually led to their arrest.

Extensive Search.

An intensive search got under way leading to the most remote parts of the world. Hugh was arrested in the Philippines where he was serving in the United States army under an assumed name. It was soon after his arrest that federal officers were given information that led to the arrest here of Ray and Roy.

Hambone's Meditation

In Father's Footsteps

When the judicial board of Smith college came to elect a president, what was more natural than that it should choose Miss Ruth M. De Young, when you consider that her father is Justice De Young of the Illinois supreme court?

$300 Subscribed For Milk-Ice Fund To Help Hungry Children To Health

The milk and ice fund has almost reached the $300 mark since it was started one week ago, and with the cash on hand many hot and hungry kiddies of Wichita Falls have been made happy with cold milk and cold water to drink. And there are many more who look to the people of the city to help them until they can help themselves through additional donations to the fund.

Contributions have not been so large since a few cool days have come, but the sick youngsters are needing the provisions afforded through the fund just the same, and are being given all that the donations will allow. Several with typhoid fever are being given special attention and have been obviously benefited by the gifts, Mrs. Effie McHam said.

In many of the families where sickness and unemployment have rendered helpless those who provided the necessities of life, the only hope for health is founded in the generosity of those who have much and who will share what they have.

Contributions Wednesday included a second $2 from "The Yellow Dogs," organization of workers in the offices of the county assessor and collector, and $15 from C. E. Sternberg of Vernon.

Those who contributed Wednesday:

"The Yellow Dogs"	$ 2.00
A. E. Jameson	$10.00
Cash	$ 1.00
Mrs. J. B. Nail	$ 5.00
C. E. Sternberg, Vernon	$15.00
Roy M. Hanah	$ 2.00
Cash	$ 1.00
Thursday total	$ 26.00
Total up to date	$246.65
Grand total	$282.65

Your quarters, pennies and dollars will help give sound, healthy bodies to tots like this through The Record News Milk and Ice fund.

Use of Whiskey For Medicine Is Upheld

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9. (AP)—Bona fide use of whisky in Indiana for medicinal purposes on advice of attending physicians "has never been considered a violation of anything save the literal terms of the statutes," and "such literal terms have never been permitted by our supreme court to govern the law in such cases," Attorney General Gilliam said today.

Canton Police Chief Indicted For Murder

CANTON, O., June 9. (AP)—Seranus A. Lengel, deposed Canton police chief, occupied a cell in the Stark county jail today while plans were being made for his arraignment on an indictment charging him with complicity in the slaying of Don R. Mellett, vice crusading editor, last June.

Revival Service Opens At Quitaque Church

QUITAQUE, June 8.—A revival meeting started at the Methodist church Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour. The pastor, Rev. Stephens will conduct the services. Services were dismissed at the Baptist church Sunday night in order to attend services at the Methodist church. A large crowd was in attendance.

MOODY PLANS EXTRA SESSION IN SEPTEMBER

Governor Picks Tentative Date in Conference Thursday

BIG ISSUES TO FORE

Civil Service and Prison Reform Acts to Be Sumbitted

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, June 9.—September 1 was tentatively set by Gov. Dan Moody today for the calling together of the legislature for another special session.

The next special session of the state legislature will be called for September 1 was the declaration made Thursday morning by Governor Dan Moody to a group of friends in Austin, Roy J. Daniel, representative from Wichita Falls said Thursday night to The Record News soon after his return to this city.

Mr. Daniel who left Austin Thursday morning, said that Governor Moody made his announcement shortly before he started his return to Wichita Falls.

Contrary to public opinion, Mr. Daniel said, the proposed civil service, prison reform and administration highway bills were not permanently shelved during the past special session but were tabled for consideration at the coming session. In all probability the measures will be passed by both house and senate at the coming session, Mr. Daniel said.

The reason for the shelving of the civil service, prison reform and administration highway bills during the past session was due, Mr. Daniel said, that both the house and senate members were devoting their entire time to considering the appropriation bills which involved expenditure totalling $47,000,000.

WE WANT LINDY

Atlantic Ace to Be Asked To Try For Goal In Pacific Hop

WASHINGTON, June 9.(AP)—An invitation is waiting here for Colonel Lindbergh to participate in the Dallas to Hongkong flight.

Senator Mayfield of Texas has the invitation. The flight, which carries a prize of $25,000 is sponsored by William E. Easterwood Jr., of Dallas, in commemoration of Lieut. Jesse Easterwood, who planned a New York to Paris non-stop flight, but was killed in a crash in Panama before he could attempt it. Two stops would be permitted, one at Honolulu and one at either Guam or Manila.

400 WICHITANS GREET LINDY

Mail and Wire Messages Swamp Air Hero

Wichita Falls has responded generously to the "Welcome Lindbergh" call issued by Postmaster General New, according to O. P. Maricle, postmaster. Several hundred of the free cards have been called for and it is believed that about 400 will be sent to Washington by Friday.

Many Send Greetings.

Telegraph companies also report many messages sent from here by wire to the hero aviator. A sheet of sugested telegrams of welcome which could be sent for 54 cents was distributed over the city, and many of them checked for sending, it was learned.

Mr. Maricle stated that all air mail cards should have been sent Friday, but that they would received the same delivery if dispatched later than that date.

Some of the more favored telegrams follow:

"Gangway, Kings and Potentates! The American people want to greet their own. Welcome home."

Gangway, George.

"The flight was wonderful, the reception marvellous, but we are proudest of your modesty and eternal sense of the fitness of things. Welcome home."

"Lindbergh's fame is America's glory. Welcome home, Colonel!"

"We're for you, a hundred million strong. Welcome home."

"Back seats for George and Albert. We're prouder than kings. Welcome home."

"For superb courage, high intensity of purpose and profound commonsense, you are unsurpassed. America greets you."

Poison Potion Fatal For Lewisville Man

DENTON, June 9. (AP)—While being rushed to a local hospital from near Lewisville at midnight Wednesday, D. W. Quill, 34, Dallas, died of poisoning.

A verdict of death by suicide was returned Thursday morning by W. A. Mathews, justice of the peace.

Lindbergh Will Get Colonel's Commission

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—President Coolidge has approved a recommendation of the secretary of war to appoint Charles A. Lindbergh a colonel in the army air corps reserve.

The commission will be presented Lindbergh by Secretary Davis himself at the ceremonies in Lindbergh's honor at St. Louis.

Stock Markets Will Close "Lindbergh Day"

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—The board of governors of the New York stock exchange voted to close the exchange all day Monday in observance of the New York City welcome to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The curb market also voted to close Monday.

Nothing Serious With Carroll, Say Doctors

ATLANTA, Ga., June 9. (AP)—Earl Carroll's principal trouble is "an exaggerated introspection that magnifies his troubles and convinces him that he is seriously ill," said Dr. Charles T. Nellans, physician at the Atlanta penitentiary, where Carroll was committed yesterday to serve a sentence of a year and a day for perjury.

First Car Of Wichita Potatoes Ready To Ship To Market

Enough Wichita county potatoes to make a car load for shipment Friday were brought to the Wichita Produce company the past week, and will be shipped from here as the first car load assembled under the co-operative marketing plan, according to information received from the Wichita Produce company, which is marketing the crop.

This product is to leave here under the brand of "City of Faith" potatoes, with each sack holding 102 pounds. They were grown in the irrigated valley.

Farms from which the greatest output was received are those of J. N. Sherrill, R. O. Harvey and J. M. McFall. Mr. Harvey has over four acres in this crop on his farm on the Thornberry road and Mr. Sherrill and McFall similar acreage on their farms near the lake and near Iowa Park, respectively.

First loads of the crop raised on J. A. Kemp's farm will be brought to Wichita Falls Friday and prepared for shipment, it was learned.

AIR HERO WILL BE PROTECTED BY BIG GUARD

2000 Troops to Escort Lindy On Parade In Capital

FINAL PLANS LAID

Washington Will Accord Ace Great Welcome Saturday

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—Fearing that Washington's usually blase crowds may become over-enthusiastic when Lindberg comes home Saturday, military and police authorities are making elaborate plans for his protection.

Should the thousands which will strain against the protecting wires along Pennsylvania avenue break through when the knight of the air passes, cavalry, infantry, artillery, marines and sailors to the number of two thousand will surround his car to fend off the crowds.

Conditions surrounding his reception here will be materially different from those in France, Belgium and England where he landed on broad flying fields to be almost mobbed by those seeking to personally congratulate him on his solitary flight from New York to Paris.

Police On Guard.

The air hero will land at the navy yard, which will be closed to the public and will be under the escort of both mounted cavalry and police when his car swings out into Eighth street, southeast, enroute to the presidential reception and decoration at the Washingon monument grounds.

At Peace monument Lindbergh's car will fall in behind nearly 2,000 soldiers, marines and sailors for the march from the capitol over the stretch where the crowds undoubtedly will be the densest. These troops will be deployed around the official reception stand to protect both Lindbergh and President Coolidge should there be any mad rush by the hundred thousand or more people who will be gathered on and around the knoll from which rises the obelisk erected to the memory of George Washington.

From the reception to the temporary White House, Lindbergh again will be guarded by cavalry and police. Saturday night as he moves from one reception to another and during his trips Sunday to church, Arlington and Walter Reed hospital, police will guard him with the military held in reserve in case of need.

Besides the one hundred and more aviators who will accompany Lindbergh to Washington in the air, several hundred others including pilots of the army, navy, marine corps, national guard and army and navy reserve will greet him at the navy yard.

These fliers will be drawn up in double line and Lindbergh will pass through this human lane as he moves from the gangplank to the White House automobile in which he will ride to the monument grounds. An invitation to all aviators of the four services and the reserve to go to the navy yard was issued today by the official reception committee.

A new honor was conferred today upon the New York-to-Paris flier as he approached American shores on the cruiser Memphis. This was promotion to the rank of colonel in the army flying service reserve.

His commission was approved by President Coolidge and will be personally presented to him by Secretary Davis of the war department at St. Louis when he is welcomed back to that city.

As the Memphis steams in between Virginia's historic capes, Henry and Charles, tomorrow afternoon around 4 o'clock, she will be met by more than 60 planes from Langley field and the Hampton Roads naval air station. These will accompany her part of the way up Chesapeake bay and rejoin her Saturday morning after she has turned into the Potomac river.

Program Extended.

The official program for the entertainment of the world flying hero was extended today by the reception committee to include a breakfast early Monday morning at the Mayflower hotel by the National Aeronautic association. From there Lindbergh is expected to go direct to Bolling field to take off for New York.

Whether he will fly in the Spirit of St. Louis, or an amphibian plane of the army will be determined only after the pilot himself reaches Washington. There is a suggestion that he use an army plane and land in the harbor so as to avoid the enormous crowds that would gather at the landing field.

TOO MUCH CHICKEN FOR LINDBERGH'S TASTE?

U. S. S. MEMPHIS, June 9. (AP)—Here is a tip for President Coolidge and others who are arranging feasts for Colonel Lindbergh.

Don't feed him chicken—he's plumb fed up with it.

Lindbergh ordinarily likes chicken, but it has been placed before him in one form or another at nearly every formal luncheon since he landed at LeBourget field, Paris, from New York.

On the Memphis, chicken has been part of the daily menu also Lindbergh is longing for a good, old-fashioned steak, roast, hash or anything but chicken.

SAFETY BOARD FETES ROGERS

Council to Resume Meetings in September

Resolutions of tribute to the late P. A. (Pete) Rogers, and reports of various committee chairmen featured the closing meeting of the Wichita Falls Safety council Thursday night at the Texas Electric Service company building.

A luncheon was served members of the council through the courtesy of W. S. Abbott of the City National bank.

Advice to Vacationists.

Fire Chief J. L. McClure read the resolutions in honor of Mr. Rogers, an active member of the council and Judge J. S. Dickey gave a eulogy to his long service. The council voted to dispense with meetings until September, when W. B. Hamilton will be heard in a talk on his recent trip to the safety meeting in Kansas City.

Vacationists were advised to turn off the gas at the meter before leaving home, and to open by main line electric switch at the meter by J. W. Lyle, chairman of the fire prevention committee.

Frank Creighton of the Junior Safety council reported no children injured in accidents during the last term, and said the organization would be ready to function again at the opening of school. The People's Ice company and the Robbins company have purchased bulletin boards for use in safety work, L. W. Horn said in a report for Harry Gray, chairman of the publicity committee.

A. E. Kelly, chairman of the membership committee, announced the membership of the council at present as 493, a constant growth having been shown in the last few months. Arthur Rayzor was named acting chairman of the traffic committee to succeed the late P. A. Rogers.

A letter from Roy Carter, police commissioner, was read thanking the council for its assistance in handling the West Texas Chamber of Commerce traffic. J. H. Scott, traffic officer, reported a steady decrease in traffic law violations. Mayor R. E. Shepherd said he is counting on safety council to make the Texas-Oklahoma fair safe. T. F. Hunter, N. H. Martin and P. B. Roberts also made brief talks.

Approve Brake Tests

At the suggestion of C. H. Verschoyle the council voted to ask that a new moving picture, showing causes of traffic accidents, be shown here as soon as possible. The council also endorsed the brake testing week planned by Wichita Falls auto dealers. President Lester Jones presided at the last meeting of the summer.

Vernon Scouts Join Wichita Area Council

Affiliation of the Vernon Boy Scout organization with the Wichita Area Council was effected at a meeting of Vernon and Wichita Falls scouts and their leaders held in Vernon on Tuesday of this week. Frank Creighton, local executive, and J. H. Allison, president of the executive board, accompanied by members of troop 12 of this city to Vernon.

There are approximately 40,000 public school teachers employed in Texas.

Electra Appeal In Ouster Of Police Chief Sent To High Court

Notice of appeal from an injunction issued by Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court, restraining the City of Electra from ousting James T. Taylor as chief of police and fire marshal was mailed Thursday morning by Raymond Allred, attorney for the City of Electra, to the Second Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth.

Attached to the appeal was a motion for advancement of the case on the appellate docket. Texas judicial procedure permits appellate courts to give precedence to injunction appeals over other cases pending on the docket.

If the motion for advancement is granted the appellate court will probably set the appeal for hearing within the next 10 or 15 days, Mr. Allred said.

Legal proceedings for the filing of the appeal were started Tuesday when Mr. Allred filed an appeal bond in the office of Miss Eunice Jackson, district clerk.

The injunction was issued May 28 by Judge Cook and was a temporary restraining order.

Girl Who Marries Her Father's Slayer Wins Divorce From Youth

DALLAS, June 9. (AP)—The romance of the former Anne Payne, pretty high school girl, who married Harry Lawrence, son of a well known Dallas business man, after young Lawrence had shot and killed her father in 1924, was shattered Thursday when a divorce was granted the young woman and her maiden name was restored.

Miss Payne testified that she had been mistreated by the youth in whose behalf she testified when he was tried for slaying her father.

Lawrence was tried for the slaying of E. T. Payne, found guilty of manslaughter and was sentenced to five years in prison on September 18, 1925. Several weeks later after the case had been appealed the daughter of the slain man married Lawrence. Near the end of Governor Ferguson's administration the appeal was dismissed and the next day Lawrence was given full pardon.

JAIL THREE AS BANK ROBBERS

Tools of Burglar Trade Found in Auto

BORGER, June 9. (AP)—Three men were arrested here late Thursday afternoon by members of the sheriff's department, and are being held at the city jail pending completion of an investigation which the authorities believe will link the men with the bank robberies at Groom and Iona.

The three were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Ballard and McCormick a few blocks from police headquarters. Their automobiles contained a supply of tools which officers said were of the kind used to break into banks. Several automobile licnese plates also were in the car.

TWO MEN ARRESTED IN ATTACK ON GIRL

BORGER, June 9. (AP)—Two men were arrested here Thursday by city police in connection with an alleged assault on a 13-year-old girl, who also is being held at police headquarters for investigation. The girl told officers she left her home at Olney last Saturday to come to Borger. She was found in a downtown hotel Thursday morning.

Frank White and James Bradley were arrested in an apartment house Thursday afternoon and a statutory charge was placed against them.

Texas ranks fourth among the states in the value of mineral products.

Rotary Head Given Belgian Decoration

OSTEND, Belgium, June 9. (AP)—King Albert has conferred the Commander's Cross of the Order of the Crown on Harry H. Rogers, president of Rotary International. Other distinctions are understood to be in store for important delegates to the Rotary convention here.

A convention ball at the Kursaal last night was attended by 5000 persons.

Stock Exchange Seats Sell For Record Price

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Oliver J. Anderson of St. Louis and Paul R. Bosten of New York bought memberships in the New York stock exchange today for a new record price of $220,000 each, surpassing the former high mark by $3000. The previous transaction was at $217,000.

Brandon Named Head Of Roads Association

SAVANAH, Ga., June 9. (AP)—The report of the nominating committee naming W. W. Brandon, former governor of Alabama, president for next year, Governor Ben S. Paulen of Kansas, first vice president, and J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, Ala., to succeed himself as managing director, was unanimously adopted at today's session of the United States Good Roads association convention.

I. O. O. F. SMOKER

An "old time smoker" will be given by the I. O. O. F. lodge next Monday night at the hall, with a Dutch lunch and special entertainment in order for the evening. Several business matters will also be considered at this meeting, among them the selection of a temporary meeting place as the present quarters must be vacated this month, it was announced.

TRANS-OCEAN HOPS FEASIBLE

Levine Plans Air Service Across Atlantic

BERLIN, June 9. (AP)—Charles A. Levine declared today that he and Clarence D. Chamberlin planned a regular trans-Atlantic aerial service, using multi-motored machines capable of carrying 2000 pounds each.

Levine stated that he was ready to put $2,000,000 into the scheme and that both he and Chamberlin thought it could become operative within a year.

The plans envisaged by the two men who spanned the Atlantic from New York to Germany in the Bellanca monoplane Columbia would provide for regular trans-oceanic lines from America to various points in Europe.

Chamberlin said "the machine we intend to have built is unlike anything known here in Germany."

Ocean Anchorages.

As part of the development of trans-Atlantic aerial lines Chamberlin thinks floating landing places anchored in various parts of the ocean may be desirable for emergency laydings, but he does not seem to attach prime importance to this feature, which has been discussed in the European press as an absolute necessity.

"The main thing," he said today, "is the constant development of more eficient machines which can carry a greater useful load in proportion to their weight. During the war we carried one pound of mail per horsepower on jumps of from 20 to 300 miles.

"Ten years later we already carry 10 pounds per horsepower on jumps of from 500 to 600 miles. That is 10 times the former efficiency and shows what the possibilities of engineering development are.

"The reason we could cross the ocean was because we carried almost double the weight of our plane. The plane weighed 1850 pounds and we carried almost 3600 pounds."

Alterations Needed.

He intimated that the trans-oceanic machines under consideration might even take a form and shape hitherto unused.

"Too much horsepower is still absorbing by air resistance," he said. "To reduce this is one of the chief engineering problems."

Discussing German aviation the American pilot said:

"We were frankly surprised to see so few small flying fields. We have a thousand of them in America, while here there are only the official fields of the Lufthansa (German Air League' so far as we have been able to learn. Also, private planes here seem to be few, while in America private flying is widely developed. On the other hand, the Germans have developed commercial passenger service in a manner unknown to America."

The trans-Atlantic pilot does not think that a non-stop flight around the world is out of the realm of possibility, but that it is a long way off.

World Flight Costly.

"That is taking in a lot of space," he laughingly replied when questioned as to the feasibility of such an attempt. "We would have to have a million or two dollars to play with to arrange for a flight covering more than 25,000 miles. Money and motors are what is needed, but I do not look for a non-stop round the world flight for some time."

Graham Man Hurt In Auto Accident

R. E. Whatley is in the Hargrave-Walker hospital suffering with several broken ribs and possibly a punctured lung as the result of an automobile accident four miles north of Archer City at the bridge over the Little Wichita river about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

W. A. Whatley, father of the injured man, was also in the car as it turned over at the north end of the bridge, but was unhurt. C. P. Burton and Cecil Burton, Wichita Falls oil operators, had stopped their car at the bridge approach to allow Mr. Whatley's car to pass as the bridge is not wide enough to allow passage of two vehicles, C. P. Burton said after the accident.

In swerving his car to the right, Mr. Whatley drove off of the embankment.

The injured man was carried to the "66" farm house on the L. F. Wilson ranch where a Hines ambulance was called from Wichita Falls and. Dr. T. C. McCurdy of Archer City was telephoned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mobley of the "66" ranch rendered aid to Mr. Whatley before the arrival of Dr. McCurdy.

At the Hargrave-Walker hospital Thursday night, Mr. Whatley's condition was considered serious, although he is expected to recover, attendants said.

Longhorn cattle came from Mexico and Spain at the time of building the old missions that are still to be seen in Texas.

WATER SURVEY NEARS FINISH

Data to Be Submitted To State Authorities

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, June 9.—The recent decision of the state supreme court declaring a law for creation of fresh water supply districts unconstitutional, in no way effects the validity of laws for creation of irrigation and water improvement districts as contemplated in organization of the Pease and Red river valleys irrigation project, according to a report just received from the state supreme court by Judge Harvey Harris, attorney for the Pease and Red River Valley Irrigation association.

The fresh water supply district law involved in this decision has been in litigation for some three or four years and was declared unconstitutional on the ground that parties whose property would be indcluded in a district organized under this law were not given the right by the statute to appear and contest the feasibility of such district, but could only contest the genuiness of the signatures and the petition.

Contests Authorized.

The law authorizing creation of irrigation and water improvement districts provides that any party with property lying within the district has a right to appear and contest feasibility of such project and provision is made for hearings in which property owners may appear to show reason why the district should not be organized.

This report removes all legal obstacles which might have hampered organization of the Pease River Irrigation district and according to the directors and officials of this project, all preliminary investigations will probably be completed by July 1. The preliminary report will be submitted to the state board of water engineers and upon approval of this report by the state board, hearings as provided by law will be held and preparations made for elections to vote upon establishment of the district and making of a detailed survey of the project.

Opening the campaign for establishment of the new irrigation project, an open meeting will be held by the Electra Chamber of Commerce Friday night, June 10, where reports of progress made on this project will be presented.

Kemp Will Speak.

The principal speakers at this meeting will be Hon. J. A. Kemp, father of the Wichita irrigation project, and O. N. Floyd of the firm Floyd and Lochridge, consulting engineers of Dallas, whose firm has been employed to make the preliminary survey of the Pease river project.

Vernon Delegation To Study Dairy Plans

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 9.—The delegation of chamber of commerce officials and Vernon business men who are to make a survey of dairy conditions in the Panhandle section for the purpose of perfecting a three-year dairy program in Wilbarger county, left here Wednesday. The survey was to last two days, and Childress, Plainview, Panhandle and possibly other cities will be visited.

Miss Ann Fern Bickley Leads Race For Queen

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 9.—With a total of 870 votes, Miss Annie Fern Bickley continues to lead in the contest to elect a "queen" for Community week here June 13-18. Miss Leta Williams, Miss Mary Dodson, Miss Ruth McCulloch and Miss Sue Hiatt are tied for second place with 700 votes each. Miss Thelma Tull and Miss Bessie Hale of Harrold are also tied for third place with 650 votes.

Vernon Scouts Vote To Affiliate With Wichita Falls Council

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 9.—Decision to affiliated with the Wichita Falls area council was reached here Tuesday by the Vernon Boy Scout organization at a meeting with Frank Creighton, executive of the Wichita Falls' organization, and J. A. Allison, president of its executive committee. The local Scout organization will be under the jurisdiction of the Wichita Falls area council at least until January 1, it was decided.

Vernon is probably large enough to be headquarters for an area council, but if such were established here it would be necessary to employ a scout executive and raise approximately $6000 each year for that purpose, it was pointed out. Rather than undertake the raising of this sum each year and other work necessary for the council, it was decided to come under the jurisdiction of the Wichita Falls' council.

Affiliation of Wilbarger county with this council completes the square of eight counties of this section of the state which are now members of the Wichita Falls area council.

BANK BANDIT'S TERM UPHELD

Lyter Huffman Must Serve For Odell Robbery

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 9.—Finding no reversible errors, the court of appeals Wednesday affirmed the sentence of 45 years in the penitentiary assessed against Lyter Huffman in connection with the alleged robbery of the Bank of Odell, December 18, 1926, according to information received here from Austin.

Huffman was charged jointly with Clyde A. Stratton and James H. Harrison with holding up and robbing the Bank of Odell of $7,596. Cashier Dewey Marsh and Assistant Cashier Levi Beach were covered with firearms while the robbery was committed. Stratton and Harrison have accepted sentences of 15 years each, after pleading guilty. Huffman pleaded insanity at the trial in the 46th district court here.

Fruit Dealers Seek To Pick Best Golfer

BROWNSVILLE, June 9. (AP)—The champion golfer among the fruit and vegetable dealers of Texas is to be revealed in a tournament to be held in Brownsville during the convention of the Texas Wholesale Fruit and Vegetable Dealers association, June 14-16.

This tournament, which is to be played on the course of the Brownsville Golf and Country club on the last day of the convention, is only one feature of the well rounded program of entertainment which will include boat rides at Point Isabel, a tour of the Lower Rio Grande valley, a barbecue at Olmito and a banquet at Matamoros, a boxing bout and an open air dance at the Spanish garden of the Hotel El Jardine.

Memphis to Number Houses and Streets

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, June 9.—An order was passed by the city council Tuesday night to number the houses of Memphis. The street and alley committee was instructed to make a contract with someone to do the work. This same committee will also decide the size and style of numbers, the way each house shall be numbered, and to make the contract for numbering.

The street signs were placed on the street corners a few days ago, which brought about the demand for the house numbers.

Mr. Ranchman! If you are contemplating buying a buck or billy, put it off until July 19, 20 and 21. The pick or breeding stock in the United States will be on exhibit at the annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas on those dates.—Adv.

DONLEY CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

Some Rain Still Needed For Planting

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, June 9.—Crop conditions remain practically unchanged in Donley county from what they were last week. Only light showers fell in scattered portions of the county ranging mostly from the north county line where a light shower fell Monday night to Clarendon about the center of the county where a shower fell Sunday morning. Moisture is still badly needed in most of the county and particularly the western part. Threatening weather has prevailed the last few days and it looks like rain will fall any time.

Humid conditions and cloudy weather will hold the grain crop up to about a normal crop or better in some sections of the county. Grain harvest in the wheat belt of the county the northern part will start in about a week or 10 days.

Considerable planting is being done in some parts of the county but in other sections farmers are waiting for more moisture. Rain must come in the western part of the county in the next 10 days to be early enough for cotton and feed to make unless there is an extra late fall this year.

As a whole conditions are favorable and planting is going forward with sufficient moisture in about half of Donley county, the northern and western portion suffering from dry weather most.

FOLLY'S DAUGHTER

By ANN LISLE

Jill Demands Information About Her Parents

By Ann Lisle.

"I WANT to know," said Folly Duane, and the question she put was ruthless and brutal and filled with ugly suspicion: "Who gave you that money? I insist on knowing how you came by it—"

ANN LISLE.

She stared at Jill with a smirk of wisdom on her lips. Jill read some of the evil in her thought. And the girl dropped her long, heavy white lids over her eyes and set her warm red mouth. She didn't know how full of vitality her face was. She didn't know what forces the wise Folly could read in her "ward's" magnetic silence.

"What did you do to get a man to give you so much money?" Folly asked.

"I sold him a package of cigarettes," Jill answered.

Folly laughed. Her laugh had all the accusations of the ages in it. She had called Jill wanton and trollop and far more terrible names without speaking a word.

"Funny he didn't give you a hundred or even a cool thousand for selling him a package of cigarettes," Folly said. Her voice was terrible. It was slimy with accusations. Jill heard the accusations. She did not hear the concern beneath them.

"Don't you know what you've done?" Folly asked. "Don't you understand? Don't you know I've got to protect you so you won't throw yourself away for—fifty dollars?"

"I wouldn't throw myself away like you seem to mean—for anything," Jill said quietly. "You're calling me a bad girl, aren't you? If you think such things about me, I guess I'm ready to take my $50 that you stole from me and go away."

Folly had hysterics then. Just when Jill thought she had brought the conversation around where it belonged and was showing Folly that the person before the bar of justice was not Jill Hathaway, but Folly Duane, the real criminal had hysterics. Jill felt that wasn't fair. But she got smelling salts and fanned Folly and sent for ice to put on her forehead and did all the little tricks of ministering to the suffering that Folly seemed to demand.

After a while Folly appeared to feel better. She looked at Jill with grave tenderness and she put her two little pudgy hands over the girl's long slender hand and she said gently and with a wan little smile:

"I'm sorry, dear. I never have been able to learn self-control."

That was perfectly true and summed up her whole tragedy. But Jill didn't know anything about the tragedy and didn't understand the little butterfly with soiled and drooping wings and a mad ambition to soar. And she said with youthful sternness:

"What right had you to open my bureau drawer and my purse and take the money I had hidden?"

"Instinct led me there," Folly said with odd firmness. "When I saw that measly little $3 % on the bureau I felt you were holding out on me. And since you did that and are so shameless about it and so ungrateful and have so little sense of what you owe me I shall have to hold the money as your just punishment.

"But I want to return it."

"What?" Folly couldn't believe her ears. "Why should you return it?"

Jill couldn't explain. The doors of her mind had closed against Folly. The place in her heart where she had hidden her hopes of a friendship with MacNeil Shannon was not one into which she was willing to look herself. Of course she wasn't going to have Folly tramping around in what she vaguely knew she had hoped was a lovely garden.

"I want to ask you a question," Jill said suddenly. "I want to know who my mother is."

"Why do you ask me that just now?" Folly demanded. "Just to change the subject? Or has something happened?"

"I want to know," Jill answered with sullen, furtive eyes that did not meet Folly's. "I've always wanted to know. And sometimes when you are so far away and I don't like the way you treat me and think I ought to get away from you, I get desperate to know who I really am and why you are my guardian."

She gathered courage as she spoke the portion of her thoughts to which she could give honest expression. She could not tell Folly of MacNeil Shannon, nor yet of the lovely lady who had thrilled her so. She felt that if Folly knew she'd manage to spoil it.

"I am your guardian," Folly said coldly, "because I was the only person in all the world who had enough love for your mother and you to stand by when all the world turned on her. Her disgrace cost her everything. I have stood by you. I have protected you. And now I am going to continue to protect you. And the most important thing for your protection is to keep you from knowing who your mother is and what her story was."

To Be Continued.

Our Rhyming OPTIMIST

—By Aline Michaelis.—

I WONDER where you wander, dear, across what lands, what seas, and are you far away or near? I stir old memories. Time was, oh, very long ago, your path and mine seemed one...at dawn, how little hearts can know what waits at set of sun! I wonder where your path may go, in high or humble ways. And do the passing years bestow the dreams of other days? Ah, can it be you wonder, too, and idly turn time's leaves to pages bright with youth's fair hue and gay with hopes youth weaves? Yet, dear, however strange the ways whereon your feet may pass, though life may lead through troubled maze and treacherous morass, still dark and distance raise no bar; wherever you may rove, it may be far, oh very far, but not beyond my love!

Paris Emphasizes the Jumper for Sports Ensembles

Republished By Special Arrangement With Harper's Bazar.

A GREEN coat sweater, a white crepe skirt, a white jersey with green bands and a white hat banded with green are the component parts of the first costume. Add to that a white gardenia and white oxfords with beige stockings and you have the last word in Summer sport apparel.

The white frock also boasts a sleeveless jumper of white broadcloth. It is worn with white hat and beige sandals and stockings.

A simple white wool jersey frock is worn with a yellow sweater and yellow chrysanthemum and white hat, bag and gloves.

High Blood Pressure May Be Result of Over-Eating

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

ON every hand now a days you hear of high blood pressure, until it has come to be much of a bugbear.

Of course, there is such a thing as high blood pressure, which is often said to be an outcome of the stress of modern civilized life. According to Dr. Weber, the ordinary stress of life cannot be accepted as the cause of high blood pressure in normal, healthy people, but some of those who participate in the serious business or the strenuous pleasures of life do begin to react at about the age of fifty by an increase in their blood pressure.

The typical person whose blood pressure increases at middle age is not the constitutional neurasthenic and psychopathic. The nervous system of these people is the safety-valve which protects them from stress. Nor is high blood pressure found among the victims of dyspepsia and sagging viscera, for their organs react by pain or discomfort to any undue pressure of life.

The person who develops a high blood pressure is generally rather fat than thin and has made a habit of eating more food than he should have, considering his mode of life. He has also as a rule, taken too much alcohol and smoked too much tobacco as well. The cause is probably to be found, as Prof. E. H. Starling has pointed out, in the fact that the normal brain needs to have its blood pressure well maintained, and it, therefore, takes care to raise the blood pressure of the whole body in order to compensate for any threatened shortage. Chronic toxic conditions, such as are caused by overeating, and by excessive drinking and smoking, cause a degeneration in the small blood vessels of the brain, or a blunting of the nervous centers. A higher blood pressure therefore, becomes necessary if the brain is to receive an adequate supply.

High blood pressure generally runs in families, and its subjects probably never come of a stock with a tendency to low blood pressure. As children they have generally been "blessed" with a good appetite.

It is natural for an adolescent to eat freely, because his or her body requires the wherewithal to grow as well as to function, but after puberty is over, the intake should be reduced. High blood pressure has generally not only failed to become reduced, but has even increased the appetite. He thus establishes a vicious circle.

Overfeeding causes not only obesity, but poisoning, for the body is not able to get rid of all the waste products. This poisoning causes a feeling of incompetence, malaise, and lack of appetite, so that the diet is made more stimulating, and the circle continues until a grave breakdown occurs or until the patient listens to reason and alters his ways.

Constitutional low blood pressure, although it may predispose to some ailments, seems to be a protection against stress, especially mental stress, and the weakly, low blood pressure types are apt to outlive their more robust fellows. But they don't accomplish half so much.

Household Hints

To remove a rusty screw, heat with red-hot poker. Screw it tighter first, and this will loosen it.

Broad beans, like green peas, should not be shelled too long before they are required, or they will harden.

Rusty tins should be cleaned with a rag dipped in whiting and sweet oil.

When Manners Are Correct

—By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman—

The Wedding Recessional.

ON another occasion I outlined and described the units of the wedding processional and the order of the "march" to the altar. Today I am going to outline the recessional.

Now, every bride who does not know what's what in the world of Good Form in Weddings will at once begin to plan how Bill is to walk with Mary, and Charlie is to walk with Julia, and Elise is to walk with Jack—and so forth. But the bride who does know what's what in wedding forms, will realize that, just as in the processional, the ushers walk together, two by two, and the bridesmaids walk together, two by two, so in the recessional, the ushers walk together two by two, and the bridesmaids walk together, two by two. In the well-planned wedding recessional, there is no "pairing off". The sensible, wise bride will see that the most dramatic moment in her life—the moment when she walks from the altar, a bride—will be kept as dramatic and effective as possible. Now the "high light" of this pageant, this recessional, whether the wedding is a simple church wedding or an elaborate church wedding, is the bride and groom. If other couples are formed, naturally they take away from the significance of the couple, just married.

So the bride and groom lead the recessional, unless there is a flower girl, when she usually goes before the happy couple, carrying her basket of flowers or scattering rose petals before them on their path to the vestibule.

Then comes the chief attendant of the bride—alone. This is the maid of honor or the matron of honor, and she does not walk with the best man.

She is the bride's chief attendant, and as such, she "keeps her state" to the end of the wedding ceremonies and the wedding festivities. There is no point of planning to have her "accompanied by" the best man, who is the groom's chief attendant. And, in the best-planned wedding in New York, for instance, the wedding which after all, set our standards, just as all social standards are set by people who are conceded to have the best taste, one never sees the best man in the recessional, nor the bridesmaids walking with the ushers.

After the maid of honor (or matron of honor, as the case may be), the bridesmaids come, walking together, two by two, exactly as they walked in the processional, except that now they walk before the ushers, whereas in the processional, they walked after the ushers.

Last in the recessional come the ushers, walking together, two by two, just as they did in the processional.

These are the units of the customary recessional—the bride and groom, the maid of honor, alone, the bridesmaids and, last, the ushers.

But if there are two maids of honor, they usually walk together in the recessional as they do in the processional, although of course they may walk alone, one behind the other, as they do in the processional.

If there are both a maid of honor and a matron of honor, the maid of honor usually walks first in the recessional, directly after the bride and groom. But if the matron of honor is closer to the bride in relationship or friendship, she may be given the greater place of honor—after the bride and groom, the maid of honor following her.

As I have said, the best man does not take part in the recessional. After the ceremony has been performed, he waits in his place a minute or two, until the recessional is well "under way," and then he goes quickly to the vestry room or the clergyman's study where he and the groom have waited before the wedding. Here he hands to the clergyman the small envelope, in which the groom has placed the clergyman's fee, either in the form of a check or a gold piece or bills. Then he takes the groom's hat and coat and walking stick, and carries them to the groom, who by that time has arrived either in the vestibule of the church or in the cab.

The audience remains seated, after the recessional, until the ushers have had time to return and escort down the aisle the important members of the families of the bride and groom.

DO YOU KNOW

The first gas for domestic use was conducted from the retorts to points of use through the utilization of discarded gun-barrels, of which there was an ample supply at the close of various European wars. The barrels were made into a continuous pipe by sodering the ends together.

So delicate is a new instrument now being made to measure heat in the more distant stars that fly wings are used in parts of its construction.

The Child Who Learns to Serve

By L. Lamar Matthews.

THREE young girls were enjoying a peaceful hour on a rainy afternoon, as they sat and talked about this and that.

"I'm keeping house while Mother is away," stated one of them. Then she laughed and said half-apologetically "I used to wonder why it was that Mother always didn't want any, when there was not enough of anything to go around. And now that I'm keeping house, I find myself taking what is left or deciding that I don't want any at all."

L. LAMAR MATTHEWS

"You know, I did the same thing, last Summer, when I kept house for two weeks," declared another girl. "It's funny how unselfish one becomes, all of a sudden, just because she is taking care of the rest of the family."

Then the conversation drifted into childhood experiences. "When I was ten years old," declared the third girl, "Mother taught me how to make biscuits. Mother was working then and every evening I used to go in the kitchen and make two pans of biscuits and have them all ready to bake when she got home. That made us friends and equals.

"I remember once when Mother had company, she told the women that I had picked out all the nuts for the salad. They said that was the best salad they had ever eaten and I was so puffed up over their praise that I walked on air the rest of the day."

The majority of people will find, when they look backward into their younger days that the glorified moments of childhood were those when they rendered some praiseworthy service for others.

The little girl who makes it her business to have her father's slippers, newspaper, reading lamp and pipe all ready for him in the evening is not only giving her father a much-needed bit of comfort, but she is giving herself a bit of happiness which she will remember all her life.

In most homes, it is necessary for the children to lend a hand in house-hold tasks. There is no reason why they should not give this assistance and every reason why they should. But even if it isn't necessary for a child to take part in the housework there should be some small service for others that he or she gives.

Children who are encouraged to think only of themselves are not receiving a square deal. The whole scheme of the universe is built on the plan of mutual service and it takes service to build the right kind of character.

A child derives a peculiar satisfaction from the performance of some task that brings comfort or good-cheer to others in the home.

Suggest services that your child may render to you or to others in the family. Doing something for somebody else is a fine tonic for the disposition and a mighty factor in the matter of self-reliance and self-esteem.

It is the spirit that older people show toward children that make them delight or complain at the service required of them. Children want appreciation for their efforts and they want recognition of their achievements. It takes very little time, effort or thought to give a word of praise and appreciation, and it is a leaven that works wonders.

Find something useful for your child to do and then pump him full of the spirit that makes the service a joy for everybody concerned.

Careful Cooking for Fresh Peas

By Hannah Wing.

ALTHOUGH the green pea is the sweetest and most tender of all the green vegetables, it is seldom sent to the table with its original flavor intact. This is partly because the green pea begins to lose its flavor and sweetness as soon as it leaves the vine. The longer it has been picked before being cooked, the less chance there is of keeping that peculiarly sweet, delicate flavor in the pea. Cooking immediately following the shelling helps somewhat, and, if peas have been picked some time before they are to be shelled, freshening them in cold water before they are shelled will help to bring back some of the original sweetness.

Peas are very tender and require little cooking if gathered when they are young and fresh. Fifteen minutes is plenty of time for the right kind of peas to become tender. Use only enough water to keep them from burning and allow most of this to evaporate during the cooking. Just before serving add plenty of butter or cream and salt, pepper and perhaps just a dash of sugar. Such peas are at their best when served with roast fowl, broiled steak or lamb chops.

If, however, the peas you have at hand are not in the fine first state of freshness, one may as well make the best of it and cook them according to their condition. These somewhat toughened and older peas may need as much as forty minutes of cooking to make them tender. Bits of parsley, bay or thyme may well be cooked with them to make up somewhat for their own lack of flavor. Sometimes mint, or even onion, is used for the same reason.

There is also something to be said for canned peas, which are too often lacking in flavor. The elite French peas or the domestic sweet wrinkled peas are, of course, the best brands to select when flavor is important. If the can of peas is opened and the peas poured out into a shallow open dish for several hours before they are heated, the flavor will be much improved. Canned peas should be heated in the liquid in which they are canned.

Fashion Fads and Fancies

—By Mildred Ash—

"TWO is a couple and three a crowd" is again proven true, for a couple of belts—one for the blouse and the other, smaller, matching one for banding the crown of the felt hat——are very smart, but a third would surely be unnecessary. Plaited kid belts in any of the new sport shades are most attractive.

Long and Lean are the two dolls, cut out of fabric to match the coat's lining that are worn as proxy for the boutonniere. Dangling from the lapel, these quaint little figures have greatly exaggerated legs whose length is suggestive of ribbon streamers.

The Psychology of Print makes people believe what they see on the printed page. A page from this season's fashions cannot fail to make you believe in the style value of printed fabrics, the latest addition being printed jersey, which is fast becoming popular for sports frocks. Modernistic designs, printed in soft colorings upon a lighter ground, add distinction to this new type of figured knitted fabric.

Keeping secrets under her hat is quite as unusual for a woman as it is the usual thing, if she happens to have a pet poodle dog, to carry it under her arm. But if she's faddist enough to indulge in one of the new "poodle" purses of white or tan lambskin, fluffy as the little dogs they cleverly imitate, she can carry a secret under her arm—only the wearer knows where to find the hookless fastener, up the dog's back, that opens and closes this odd arm-bag.

The Glitter of Gold is outshining that of rhinestones in the newest millinery ornaments. Rather tiring of rhinestone pins, many of the foremost designers are using large gold wire or gilded metal novelties for small draped turbans and little felt shapes. Among these designs are starfish, birds, animals and fish of metal, and gilt wire wheels, whips, bowknots and spirals, many of which are set with large pearls.

Four Eyes Being Better Than Two probably accounts for the revival of the vogue for lorgnettes, which are being used in morning, afternoon and evening types. Those for evening have stone-studded mountings, while the afternoon ones are of white gold in filigree pendant form. Little cases of black enamel, with gaily colored motifs, hold those lorgnettes intended for sports wear. All types affect a pendant style, usually being in locket shape and having the glasses remain part of the pendant section, although some pull out so that they may be held separately from the casing.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

Help Him Out.

HERE is a little story of a young couple who married for love. They had just enough money to buy the necessities and bare comforts of life, without any allowance for recreation and the luxuries that are so pleasant.

They find themselves, after two years of married life, still in love with each other, but "discontented." What is the solution of this problem?

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"Will you please help me?

"I am a married woman, twenty years old. I have been married nearly two years. My husband is twenty-five.

"We have a flat. We bought our furniture and the things we need. My husband works every day, but only makes enough to pay our bills and enable us to live comfortably. We have very little money for enjoyment.

"My husband is so discontented. He gets tired of always doing the same thing—skimping and paying bills. He doesn't act like himself.

"He says he loves me as much as ever, but still he is tired of this kind of life. This makes me feel blue and discontented.

"We haven't any children and can never have any. That doesn't bother him, he says. But I feel badly about it. I will do anything that will make us more contented. I am planning to go to my mother's for a week, because he is always so glad to have me come back.

"DISCONTENTED COUPLE."

I AM sure your housework is very easy with such a small family. So why do you not take up part-time work outside your home, or else home work? I am sure you could find congenial work of this kind, whether typing, restaurant work, sewing, or baking home-made cakes for a Woman's Work Exchange.

This would add to your income and your husband's enough to pay for occasional good times together and to start a tiny savings account.

I believe your husband will let you try the experiment when you explain that it will take your mind off yourself and make you more contented.

Fiancee of Dead Man Files Claim To Widow's Share Of His Fortune

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Miss Isabelle Pope, fiancee of young William Nelson McClintock when he died three years ago, today further entangled the estate claimed by William Darling Shepherd. She asked that her interest in it be fixed as if she were the "lawful wife and widow."

Shepherd is alleged to have prevented the marriage by informing McClintock and Miss Pope that both would have to be present to obtain a marriage license. But McClintock was unable to go with her for the license because he was ill with typhoid fever.

The bill goes into all the sensational charges made against Shepherd and his wife in connection with the suit against them, holding them responsible for the boy's death. These charges were subsequently disproven.

Mayor Bill On Deck

REPRESENTATIVES of 27 states, all Mississippi valley states, held a great meeting in the city of Chicago to do something practical to aid in coping with one of the greatest problems of the nation—the recurring floods in the Mississipp river and distributaries. There were republicans and democrats in attendance. All the speakers insisted that partisan politics and petty sectional ambitions should not find their way to the convention floor.

Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago was elected permanent chairman of the flood control association. The mayors of New Orleans and St. Louis and Memphis were named permanent vice chairmans. Mayor Thompson in his opening address touched the keynote of the intentions of the convention when he shouted:

"We are here to lay out some sort of plan to cure the situation which is a continuing menace to the valley and a reproach to the nation, and to incorporate our ideas and suggestions and recommendations to congress. How successful this conference is will depend largely upon how wisely we frame the plan and our recommendations. If we decide wisely the power and influence of this representative body should be sufficient to secure for our recommendation favorable consideration at the next session of congress."

Flood control of the Mississippi valley is not a partisan question.

It is not a sectional question. There are 27 states involved or rather the people of 27 states. There are rock-ribbed republican states and rock-ribbed democratic states menaced by the annual flood.

This year the losses are beyond a billion dollars. More than 700,000 people are victims of the flood. It is a national question, a question where all the people are concerned regardless of party politics or creed affiliation. Big Bill Thompson made a big start as permanent chairman of the convention. He sounded a real keynote.

Verdict On the "Best Minds"

IT MUST be true that the "best minds" of the republican party dictates its nominees and platforms in national campaign years. Really there are 12 or 15 of these "best minds." Every four years these "best minds" are in working order.

James Francis Burke is a famous corporation lawyer of Pittsburgh, the home of Andrew W. Mellon. He is a former member of congress and former secretary of the national committee of the republican party.

"Best Mind" Burke has notified the president that a national survey of the "best minds" of the party had shown Calvin Coolidge to be the choice of 76 per cent as the most available presidential candidate, and that Farmer Frank O. Lowden of Illinois was endorsed by only 10 per cent.

It appears that the "best minds" are almost unanimous that President Coolidge shall be given the right of way as the standard bearer in 1928. James Francis Burke is a wise man. He knows that when it comes to republican nominations and republican platforms, only the "best minds" are given the right of way. They know what is best for the grand old party. They know what is best for the business interests of the country. They know what is best for the great financiers and great manufacturers.

Farmer Frank O. Lowden who is a banker and lawyer as well as a farmer and philanthropist must have been milking his cows when the "best minds" of the 48 states were subjected to the microscopic survey conducted by Prof. James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, Pa., the home of Andrew W. Mellon, the wisest financier of the country and the strong right arm of a president who knows when to talk and when to place a Vermont silencer on his lips.

A Chicago Man and His Cash

HUGH M'DONALD JOHNSON of Chicago bought a New York stock exchange membership for $250,000. He is said to be a great wheat grower, a large cotton grower, takes a hand in corn growing, and when it comes to stocks he is there with the goods. These Chicago and New York farmers know how to play the game—the game that gets the money. Business is business.

A Voice From California

NATIONAL committeeman Isadore B. Dockweiler of California has been swinging around the circle. He lit in the city of New York. He said he had spent the month studying political conditions the country over. He proclaimed Governor Smith of New York far in the lead for the democratic nomination for president; gave Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri second place and declared William Gibbs McAdoo much weaker than he was in 1924.

Furthermore, he predicted that former Sen. James D. Phelan likely to be the favorite son candidate of the California delegation in the early balloting. Senator Phelan made the nominating speech for Mr. McAdoo in the Madison Square Garden convention in 1924.

Prophet Dockweiler let it be known that the state machine in California is controlled by the anti-McAdoo democrats. Is there another monkey and parrot fight coming?

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK (EFS).—Nothing of far-reaching news importance ever happens that Tin Pan Alley, with a talent for melody rather than deep thought, doesn't embalm it in lofty lyrics.

When Caruso died they placed their cigarettes on their grand pianos and after a feverish twenty-four hours of concentration emerged triumphant with "They Needed a Song Bird in Heaven, So God Took Caruso Away."

When Valentino donned his celestial pajamas and headed for the Golden Stairs, they assuaged our grief with "There's a New Star in Heaven Tonight."

When word was flashed that Lindbergh had winged his way from the soda water booths of Long Island to the vin rouge conservatories of Paris, a hundred million pair of eyes turned toward Tin Pan Alley, and not in vain.

It's called "Lucky Lindy," and the lyrics are herewith appended. Read 'em an' weep:

"From coast to coast
We all can boast
And sing a toast
To one who's made a name
For being game.
He was born with wings,
As great as any bird that flies.
A lucky star
Guides him from afar.
CHORUS—
"Lucky Lindy, up in the sky,
Fair or windy he's flying high.
Peerless, fearless, knows every cloud
The kind of a son makes a mother feel proud.
Plucky Lindy, rides all alone
In a little plane all his own.
Lucky Lindy showed them the way
And he's the hero of the day.

Some day the process of reproducing newspaper photographs by radio transmission will reach a stage where the picture in some slight degree resembles the victim. In its present crude state there is not the slightest excuse for its adoption. After all, nothing contributes so much to the success of a photograph as its likeness to the original.

After earnestly gazing, the other day, at a radio picture of Lindbergh in the newspaper, a woman said to her husband:

"I'd just as soon they didn't publish pictures by air, wouldn't you?"

And he replied: "I'd rather."

If you are anxious to know the extent of a man's dignity and whether it is inherent or acquired, accompany him to New York and watch him as he scurries from one corner to another across some heavily congested thoroughfare.

If his dignity is the real thing he'll still be wearing it when he lands, panting and disheveled, on the opposite of the street. If it's something donned and doffed, at the dictate of circumstance, like the female complexion, you'll not be able to miss it as you watch him negotiate the narrow strip of asphalt, with death, in the form of an oncoming taxicab, striking at his heels.

If he's a gent he'll scurry like a gent. And if he ain't, he won't.

The Income tax detectives swooped down the other day on a dozen Broadway theater ticket agencies, charging them with holding out a few million dollars worth of returns.

Records obtained by the federal agents disclose amazing prices paid by some theater goers for an evening's entertainment.

Three months ago tickets for Ziegfeld's Follies were purchased from an agency at the Racquet club for a party of nine. The box office price would have been $49.50. The agency collected $112.50 for them. Instead of costing $5.50 apiece, they were sold at $12.50 each.

Two members of the Racquet club paid an agency $82.50 for a couple of tickets to the McTigue-Sharkey fight, that could have been purchased at the box office for $33.

As "Diamond" Jim Brady used to remark: "It's a wonderful thing to be a sucker if you can afford it."

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

The entrance of America into the world war finds Phillip Wynne Tracy IV suffering from the collapse of his passionate love affair. Before this he and Natlee Jones, who is the daughter of the Tracys' milkman, had had a childist engagement which, however, had been objected to by both Mr. Jones and Mrs. Tracy.

Phillip's mother plans to interest her son in other girls and tells him of the impending visit of her old friend, Mrs. Hilliard. He goes to the station to meet her and takes her to luncheon, and shortly finds he is falling in love at first sight.

On a midnight ride Lyra confesses her love to Phillip. The whole affair, however, sinks into nothingness because war is declared. Rod and Phillip are the first to enlist.

Natlee accuses Mrs. Tracy of sending her boy to war to save him from her, and Mrs. Tracy replies: "I am sending him to war, my dear, to save him from you."

Rod and Phillip start for the barracks. Natlee goes to the wrong depot to see them off and in her anxiety to see Phil, she ignores Rod entirely. This nearly breaks his heart, and for the first and last time in all his life, Phil sees Rod weep.

Here the story further enfolds—

CHAPEE XXVI

PHIL WRITES TO HIS MOTHER

"I wonder if you knew that somewhere on the way you lost your hat. The glow from that electric lamp just over your head made an aureole of gold of your beautiful hair. Sometimes, dear, I may have forgotten how much I love you, but I have never for one moment forgotten the beauty of your wonderful golden hair. I never think of it without a thrill. I am sure there never was such hair in the world.

"I hope I have made you realize this picture, for I shall carry it with me onto the battlefields of France if I am fortunate enough to be sent there. The moment you stood there in that gorgeous yellow frock I felt as though you were speeding us on our way, and then because there is always a ridiculous side to most tragedies, without the slightest warning you pitched forward into the gutter.

"My heart sank—was it an omen?"

"Both Rod and I started forward, but neither of us was able to save you from that mud bath. I think Rod must have helped you up, for before my hands could reach you, I felt your warm arms about my neck and your cheek, plastered with mud, against mine."

"I do not know what you said or what I answered. I only have a confused idea of trying to obey the command of 'all aboard.' I reached to unclasp your clinging arms. Some one took you from me and I was pushed up the steps to Rod, who swore at me, because in your excitement and hurry you had not noticed that he was right beside me.

"Natlee, you nearly broke poor old Rod's heart.

"For a moment he almost hated me because you had given to me the thing that he would have given his life to receive from you—but with his usual sense of justice, he soon told himself that I was not to blame.

"Neither could be blame you—I tried to tell him this, because in the darkness you did not see him.

"Nat, dear, I am afraid you have chosen the most unworthy person in all the world for whom to care, but I am selfish enough to be glad. I think I have never really cared for any other girl but you.

"As I am writing, I see you sitting up on the front seat of one of your father's milk carts, when you were about six years old, with your golden hair flying. It was my greatest joy to have the driver swing my sturdy 7-year-old body up beside him. I believe, Natlee, that that's my first conscious memory of you, and from that moment (when I have been in my right mind) I have always known that I care more for you than any other girl.

"Notwithstanding all this, and I hardly know what makes me confess it to you—I am sure you should have chosen Rod. He is worth a dozen of the poor stick you call

"WYNNE."

Phillip started to fold the letter and then he opened it and added:

"I am so glad, Natlee, dead, to hear you call me last night by the old childist name. No one but Rod and you must ever call me Wynne again.

"That other person will not call me anything in the future. If she does, I shall not answer.

"Please drop in often and see Mother while I am gone. You and she should be great friends."

Deliberately he folded the sheet, put it in an envelope and addressed it and then, on another sheet of paper, wrote the words: "Mother Dearest:

"I am sitting here trying to write, but it is almost impossible to tell you what is in my heart.

"The hardest thing I ever did in my life was to leave you last night, but I want you to understand that there is nothing for you to worry about, because I am very comfortable, although I believe for the first time in my life I haven't had my morning bath."

"Will you not try, for my sake, to comfort Natlee a little. At the last moment she found me at the station and her good-bye was heart-breaking. She seemed to feel as you did, that she was never going to see me again and, of course, you must know that the chances are about 99 out of 100 that I will find her married to one of the stay-at-homes when I come back.

"I ought not to have written that, for I am very fond of Natlee. In my heart I have never considered my life without her in it.

"Yop, however, will probably be glad to know, Mom, that our engagement which I mentioned so casually was broken the night of the party, and I could not tell poor Nat, in the short time she clung to my neck while I was trying to board the train, that I still thought more of her than I did of any other girl—which may or may not be much, at the present moment I confess I do not know anything about the state of my emotions.

"Mother, you'll be good to Natlee, won't you? I am sure she will be a great comfort to you if you will let her. Remember, I am telling you she is much too good for your son, dear—no matter what you may think about it. I wish I had been a better son to you. When I come back I'll make up for everything — I will be — oh, what's the use? I'm not going to tell it, but please God I'll get another chance to act it.

"I wish you would tell Nat to write to Rod. He was close beside me last night when she came to the station, but she did not see him at all. I almost wish that it had been me she had not seen, for you see he had no one else in all the world to say good-bye to him but Natlee, and I, of course, had you.

"She promised to meet him at the station, and she failed him, although she did not mean to do so.

"Be sure and tell her to write and tell him it was all a mistake—that she looked for him, but he was not there.

"I hope you are not thinking that I was cruel because I left you while you were partially unconscious. I knew you could not go through all that parting again, and to tell the truth, the only way I could get up enough courage to leave you was to go when I could not see through your tear dimmed eyes your growing grief and fear.

"There, that's enough of that, isn't it, dear? I dont' want you to worry about me, but I do want you to know that I love you, and that I'm all right—as right as about 500 other mothers' sons that are here this morning.

"You would know this if you could only look in this tent where so many of us are writing home. A boy in another cot has just asked, 'How do you spell "lovingly"?' You see, he also is writing to some one he loves.

"Have any of the other boys enlisted? It looks as though there was going to be a nice bunch in the artillery.

"Rod said yesterday he was glad we were in the same outfit, but I don't know how he feels today.

"I never knew before that I had so much and Rod had so little.

"He has just poked his head in the door and said we were called for medical examination. Perhaps, Mother, dear, your boy will be found to have flat feet or some other silly thing that will send him back to you, but whether I go or stay, probably you will have a boy at the front, for Rod told me to tell you you were the only mother he has ever known, and as such, he loved you. I must go now.

"PHIL."

The army doctor was waiting with a stethoscope.

"Take off your clothes," he said. Rod and Phil stripped. "That's all right," he said, "I can take two at once. Now trot around the tent. Faster. Stop. Open your mouths. Bend over. Again. Take a long breath. Spread out. Read that second line. You're all right—both of you."

The boys quickly scrambled into their clothes, and then they turned to each other and solemnly shook hands. They felt that now they were ready to march in the big parade.

Phillip never forgot the moment he donned his uniform.

It was the regimental O. D.

The heavy brown shoes hurt his feet. His breeches and gaiters were too big, as were his coarse flannel shirt and tunic.

As if to make up for it, his hat—a cross between a Stetson and a cowboy head covering — was too small; but even that, perched on the top of his head, could not take from him a certain gallant air that was to make all the old women's eyes fill with tears and all the young women's mouths wreath with smiles.

That ugly lot of misfit regimentals, represented in both Phil's and Rod's minds, the most glorious uniforms on earth — they meant the Homeland and the Flag—the land that had never been vanquished.

It meant to Phil at least, that he was to follow in the footsteps of the generations of ancestors behind him, who, whatever codes, had one tradition in common, which they followed much more unswervingly than they did their religion.

Both young men had plenty of money, and the first thing they felt absolutely necessary to do, after dressing in the uniform of the United States, was to obtain leave and go to the hotel in the town just outside the barracks, for dinner.

Here they comported themselves with great dignity, looking about at the young men who were in civilian clothes with scornful superiority as they ordered and drank a bottle of champagne, with the best food they could obtain.

Phil's eyes wandered over and lingered on the faces of all the girls sitting there at the tables in the room. He had a feeling that at last he was proving himself a man and accepted the homage and smiles of the young women who were captured by his handsome face, as his due.

It was late when the two boys left the dining room. Phil was a little in front and reached the barracks first.

He was accosted by the guard. "Halt! Who goes there?"

With perhaps more pride than he ever again answered the challenge, he answered:

"Recruit Phillip Wynne Tracy IV, United States army, from Flusing, New York."

To his surprise, the man in front of him laughed so heartily that it was some time before he could say:

"Advance, Recruit Phillip Wynne Tracy IV, United States army, from Flusing, New York—but for God's sake, don't come this way again, for I have to take this guard duty seriously."

One Good Test of Future Husband Is To Observe Fiance at His Home

There Are No Guaranteed Earmarks of a Good Husband, but One Good Test Is to Observe Your Fiance in His Home—For as a Man Treats His Mother So Will He Treat His Wife.

A young woman who is contemplating marriage asks me if there are any signs and portents by which she can tell beforehand what sort of a husband a man will make.

I am afraid not, daughter. If there are any infallible earmarks of a good husband, I don't know them when I see them. The scriptures have set down that a serpent on a rock and the way of a man with a maid are two of the unfathomable mysteries of the world. And if this is true of lovers, it goes double for husbands.

We have all seen the most ardent sweethearts turn into the most indifferent of husbands. We have seen a man break his neck to get a girl and then acquire a double compound fracture of his vertebra getting away from her. We have seen men who would sit up with their sweeties of an evening until the very clock yawned in their faces, who beat it away from their own hearth stones as soon as they got their dinner and out of whom their wives had to corkscrewevery word they got.

We have seen men who were spendthrifts in their courting days whose purses snapped automatically shut at the altar and whom their wives had to chloroform before they could extract the price of a new dress.

Therefore, when a poor girl attempts to estimate the husband material in a man she simply has no scales in which to weigh him. She cannot say this man will make me a tender, devoted husband and feed my soul on the adulation that every woman craves, because he is so crazy about me and spends hours telling me ever and over again how wonderful I am and how unlike all other women and how he worships me.

For that is wooing propaganda. Most men cut out the soft talk on their wedding day and thereafter their wives have to use force to get a compliment out of them.

Nor is it any indication that a man will make a considerate and attentive husband because before marriage he has spent time and money giving a girl a good time and has put her tastes and pleasure before his own. Witness the fact that the man who helped his sweetheart over a two-inch gutter stalks along 10 feet in front of his wife and lets her pack the baby and lug the suitcase. Also that the man who was always hunting something to do to entertain his sweetheart won't even take his wife to a movie without a row. Also it is a curious fact that while a man is courting a girl he can always remember her birthday and her taste, but after marriage his memory becomes a perfect blank on these points.

Neither can a girl tell how a man is going to stand on the money question by the way he acts before marriage. Some of the most lavish sweethearts make the most tightwad husbands, and many a wife spends the remainder of her life in paying for the presents that her husband gave her when he was courting her. He thinks those antenuptial chocolates ought to satisfy her sweet tooth for the balance of her days.

How, then, can a girl get a line on the kind of a husband a man is likely to make? The best way is to observe his attitude toward his mother and sisters, for this represents not only his natural reactions toward women but the ideas that have been bred in him and the habits that have been grounded in him.

Every man is what nature made him, plus what his mother has taught him. And mother's teaching is the more important of the two. A boy may be born with an amiable disposition, a kind heart and sympathetic impulses, but if his mother brings him up to be selfish and overbearing and tyrannical and to have a poor opinion of women, he will make a bad husband.

Now, every boy treats his mother as she has taught him to treat her, and he will treat his wife the same way, because that is the way his mother has taught him to treat all women.

If his mother has made a doormat of herself for him, he will wipe his feet on his wife. If his mother has been merely a servant to him, if she has cooked for him and washed for him and picked up after him without ever demanding anything for herself or making him help her with the work, he will expect his wife to be nothing but an unpaid drudge. If his mother has permitted him to abuse her and insult her, he will curse his wife in his rages and think he has a right to speak to her as he would to no other woman on earth.

But if, on the contrary, his mother has tuaght him to look up to her and to treat her with chivalry and tenderness, he will make a gallant husband who will always regard his wife as a little queen.

If his mother has taugh him to defer to her wishes, to pay her little attentions, to make her little presents and give her little treats, he will make one of the thoughtful husbands who pays his wife the compliments and shows her the attentions and courtesies that women hunger for.

So observe whether a young man defers to his mother or not. Note whether he ever takes her out or not. Listen to the tone of voice in which he speaks to her. See whether he tries to save her work and worry or whether he considers her merely a useful household utensil. If he leaves her to do the heavy work, if he never takes her to a show or out in his car, if he never makes her a present, if he sneers at her opinions, don't marry him. For as he treats his mother he will treat his wife.

But if he is as charming to mother as he is to flapper, if he is courteous and considerate and tender and sympathetic, grab him if you can. For as he treats his mother so will he treat his wife.

MODISH MITzI — Is Three Weeks A "Hurry?" — By JAY V. JAY

"You must have it made to order," some one advised Mitzi in Paris, pressing a dressmaker's address into her hand. So she is planning to have a dress made every stitch French. "Up four figihts," says the concierge. And no elevator! Mitzi grasps her feather boa firmly and ascends.

Madame, the dressmaker, shows Mitzi samples of materials. Millions of them. They plot and plan for two hours. The color of hte dress suit must match her hat exactly—that's a present day Paris rule. The hat is of felt with ribbon slipped through the fine handsewn tucks.

Here are drawings of the newest styles, handpainted sketches of models from Worth, Patou, Lanvin, Premet and others. Mitzi is to select the style and any material she prefers—and come for a fitting or two. Should it have a square, round, bateau or the newer slashed diagonal neck line?

Her own dress shows a round neck with a V effect which she covers with the ostrich scarf making it high. Of course she wants something different—and wants it in a hurry, please. "Yes," replies Madame. "Certainly. In three weeks, surely!" Well, by that time Mitzi will be home—shopping.

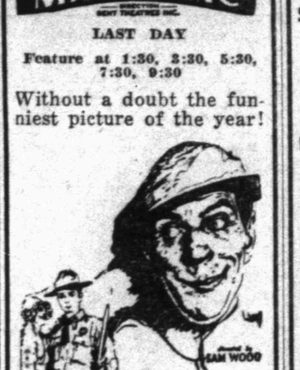

Tomorrow—Sports Dresses.

SOCIETY AGOG OVER SCANDAL

Poor Hubby Sues Wealthy Parents Of Wife

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Society was stirred today by an alienation case in which the defense is that a debutante was swept off her feet by an impecunious man.

Dr. Fenton Benedict Turck and his wife, Mrs. Avis Paine Turck, are being sued by their son-in-law, Alden S. Condict, for $150,000.

Condict charges that before her parents' "subtle influence" caused his wife to leave him March 10 he and she lived happily together.

Counsel for Dr. and Mrs. Turck denied the charges and characterized the suit "as the move of an impecunious man to gain something from a wealthy father-in-law."

"In Dr. Turck's answer," counsels statement said, "it will be shown that Condict is a man about 40 years old and that his wife is 23; that it was a case of the debutante being swept off her feet and marrying without sufficient reflection as to how the family larder was to be kept filled."

It was only with the aid of Mrs. Condict's father that "the pot was kept boiling" at the Condict home, counsel said, and Mrs. Condict had to return home "to live in the comfort of which she was accustomed."

Condict is a lineal descendant of John Alden and a great grand son of Jonathan Dickinson, first president of Princeton university. His marriage to Miss Katherine Paine Turck on November 7, 1925, was a social event of the season. The bride was a member of the Junior League, ultra fashionable organization. The Condicts have a six months old daughter, who is now with her mother.

Dr. Turck is a widely known biologist.

$2000 Fund Set Aside For Trinity Scholarship

FORT WORTH, June 9. (AP)—A $2000 fund for a scholarship at Trinity university, Waxahachie, will be created from the estate of Mrs. Sarah Duringer, pioneer resident of Tarrant county, who died June 6, 1926, and whose will was filed for probate here today. Balance of the estate of about $40,000 will be divided among children equally.

KID DUGAN — By Dick Dorgan

Friend Al,

Well, I'm supposed to pitch today in woman's clothes which shows this ain't a game any more but a vaudeville show. It won't make no difference to me because I could beat this here Cincinnati Club in my athletic underwear, but if I bust out of these clothes it may make a scandal. Don't tell the folks back home about it because they probably think I am getting along all right and don't have to dress up like Peggy Hopkins to make my living. But what with the Mrs. buying clothes and me losing dough at craps and poker, I'll do anything to make a little jack even if I have to get into a side show which is what I think I am in now. Here I am a big stropping pitcher what looks like a flapper turned professional. If anybody around there makes any cracks, bust them in the nose for me.

Yours,

Jack Keefe.

Home Boys Tighten Grip On League Tip

By ICHABOD TURNER

Manager Jim Galloway used 16 players to beat cur ten Thursday afternoon at Spudder park, but lost the game 4 to 3 when Freddie Fussell and George Payne hurled air-tight ball and held the eight Beaumont hits well scattered.

The Spudders bunched five of their six hits in the third and fourth innings and scored four runs which were enough to defeat the Shippers. The Spudders outfielded and outplayed the Shippers all the way.

Pete Turgeon was the only man in the game that could get mcre than one hit and he knocked out two of the six Wichita Falls bingles off Darrough.

Rally Falls Short

In the last four innings of the game Darrough hurled great ball and his mates made a great rally in the eighth, but they fell one short of the trying mark when George Washington Payne was rushed to the hill in time tc stop them.

Both teams made two double plays and fielded the ball in a brilliant manner all the way.

Fussell started off in the first two innings as if he was going to be in trouble. Dorman walked to start the game, but a bullet-like whip by Lapan cut him down at second base in an attempted steal. Connally shot a single through the box. Lamb got under Edingtcn's long foul after a hard run for the second out and Turgeon came up with Miller's hard grounder for the third out.

Galloway Hit

Beaumont scored in the second inning. Galloway was hit in the back with a pitched ball and stopped at second when Capes singled thrcugh the box. Benton came up with C. Robertson's grounder for a fast double play and Galloway stopped at third. Scholz shot a single down the third base line and Galloway romped home. Darrough rolled out to Fussell.

Dorman cpened the third inning by hitting to Benton and going on to second when Benton threw low to first base. Connally flied to right and Lamb herded Dorman back to third with a bullet peg to third base. Edington hit to LaFayette and was out, Dcrman taking third. Turgeon again came up with Miller's grounder for the third out.

Spuds Score Twice

Tre Spudders scored twice in their half of the third inning. Benton and Lapan walked. After a fruitless attempt to sacrifice, Fussell popped out to short. LaFayette hit to Galloway and beat him to the bag for a base hit, filling the bases. Turgecn's ball to short tock a high hop and went for a single, Benton and Lapan scored. LaFayette stopped at second. Fitzgerald forced Turgeon at second, short to second and for some unknown reason LaFayette was suddenly called out at third base. Interference or something was given as the cause. He ducked the ball to short on his way by with several inches to spare, and in no way did he interfere with Scholz forcing Turgeon at the base.

Fast and brilliant fielding in the fourth by the Spudders cut down what might have been a rally. Galloway singled past second. Capes made an effort tc sacrifice and Fussell charged in to make a nich catch of his pop fly. LaFayette took C. Robertson's hot smash to first and forced Galloway at second with a throw to Benton and Robertson was doubled back at first.

Lamb buggywhipped one to center for one base to start the last half of the first. Jenkins ripped one down the third base line for two bases and Lamb stoppe at third. Swenson lined out to second. Benton hit a hot single to center field that scored both Lamb and Jenkins. Capes heaved the ball to to second. Lapan flied to left and the plate too late and eBnton went Fussell rolled out to second.

Dorman opened the eighth inning for Beaumont with a long fly to Fitzgerald. Connally walked. Burns batted for Edington and popped tc Turgeon. Miller laced a double to left field sending Connally to third. Holtzhauser batted for Galloway and smashed a single down the third base line scoring Connally and Miller. Fussell left the scene of battle at this point and Payne took the hill. Tucker went in to run for Holtzhauser and Dunning batted for Capes and rolled out to LaFayette unassisted.

SPORTS 3, BEARS 2.

SHREVEPORT, June 9. (AP)—The Sports staged another of their characteristic uphill battles to beat San Antonio, 3 to 2, in the first of a three-game series here today. Bunches hits in the seventh and eighth innings off Messenger accounted for the victory. In the early innings Messenger's submarine delivery baffled the home guards and for six innings they made but two scratch blows. Williamson started for the locals but went out with a damaged finger in the fourth. The score:

RUTH PURLOINS HOME FOR RUN

Yankees Whip Sox For Third in Row

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Presenting a strong offensive in the seventh inning, the Yankees again overcame an early Chicago lead today and downed the White Sox for the third consecutive time by 8 to 3. Blankenship was knocked out of the box in the seventh and Cole relieved him. Morehart hit Cole's first pitch for a home run, driving in two runners. Ruth followed with a triple and stole home. Six runs were scored in the inning.

Pennock steadied after the early innings and won his sixth game of the season. The score:

Clarendon Golfers Defeat Estelline

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, June 9.—Clarendon golfers took the measure of the Estelline club over the Hillcrest course of this city by taking 14 out of 15 matches of the day's play. The day was ideal for golf, it having showered early in the morning cooling off the air and putting "pep" into the players. The Estelline men although turned away with the short end of the count were well pleased with Clarendon's course and are laying up revenge for a return match in Estelline to be plaed at an early date.

LINKS KINKS

by ROY GROVE

What is the trouble with your iron shots? Why do you top the second shot to the green or invariably dig into the turf to dub ycur poke?

That all depends on where you play the ball. It has often been said, by the beginner, that he cannot use the mashie to the green in executing an approach shot. He figures his fault is in looking up and decides that fault to be the extent of his troubles. He then turns to the business of keeping his head down and in doing so is wild on his touch for this delicate shot.

* * *

Few golfers realize that the club head is layed back for the various distances and in playing the club at the required angle. Face the edge of the blade with the line of the green and the hands will be held ahead of the club head.

The club will look as if it were kinked at the face. Get used to this kink. The clubs are so designed that the head is back of the hands. If correctly played the club will take the necessary turf to keep the ball straight, also the ball will take the back spin for holding the green.

Play the iron shot off the center or back of your regular stance. Play the shot on the down stroke. Try all this the next time out and you will be surprised with the results.

Cardinals' Catcher Knocked Out By Bat

ST. LOUIS, June 9. (AP)—John Schulte, Cardinal catcher, was knocked unconscious by a bat which slipped from the hands of Wattie Holm, Cardinal outfielder, during batting practice before the game with Boston Wednesday. He regained consciousness, but it was feared he might have suffered a fractured skull. Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club physician, announced after an examination that Schulte received only scalp lacerations and could be back in the game tomorrow.

GIANTS ROUT PIRATE CLAN

Bucs Pitchers Unable To Stop New York

PHILADELPHIA, June 9. (AP)—New York slugged out a 12 to 1 victory over the Pirates today to take the leg on the present series by two games to one. Joe Bush started hurling for the Corsairs but lasted long enough to fill the bases with none out, and Yde, his successor, had no stuff to carry him through, the Giants taking a four-run lead. Yde was chased out under a six-run splurge in the fourth, Cvengros finishing.

Roush hit for the circuit with one on in the sixth. The score:

REYNOLDS TO MEET GORMAN

San Angelo to Be Scene Of Mat Classic

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, June 9.—Big Lake and San Angelo will blow the lid off the baseball season here Friday afternoon, opening a three-game series, and in the evening Jack Reynolds of Indianapolis and Jack Gorman of San Angelo will wrestle in what is billed as a title match for the world's welterweight championship. The majority of the Rainbows, as San Angelo's representatives are known, are fresh from T. C. U., A. and M. and the University of Texas. Big Lake also has many college players. Business men have subscribed $2000 a month for three months to support the team and Fort Concho Park has been rebuilt.

The James T. Goodfellow Jr., post of the American Legion is promoting the wrestling match, guaranteeing Reynolds $1000, win, lose or draw. Reynolds is recognized throughout the north and east and by the Wrestling News and Police Gazette as the world's welterweight mat king. He long has sought a match with Matty Matsuda, who is considered in the southwest and on the Pacific coast as the champion. Gorman is looked upon as outstanding among other contenders for the title. The Reynolds-Gorman match at the West Texas arena is expected to draw at least 1500 people.

Babe Ruth Autographs Balls For Army Teams

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Babe Ruth Thursday presented 53 autographed baseballs to Major General James H. McRae, commanding the second ccrps area, at Governor's Island, for distribution among the citizens' military training camps in the country.

A number of the balls will be given to the best amateur baseball players among the citizeners.

Horse Killed In Race Accident

Jockey Injured in Fall On Latonia Track

LATONIA, Ky., June 9. (AP)—Gloria Aspin was killed and Jockey G. Fowler was injured when the horse was forced through the fence in the running of the fourth race at the Latonia track today.

The horse was owned by J. P. Heamley. She was instantly killed and Jockey Fowler suffered a cut on the head and probable internal injuries.

Toro was making the pace and was two lengths ahead with Noble Wrack, Gloria Aspin, Cartago and Charles J. S. in line. Jockey Stratton astride Noble Wrack pulled over on Cartago and Charles J. S. which forced Gloria Aspin and Fowler through the fence. The accident occurred just before the first turn in the five furlong sprint. Noble Wrack was disqualified.

STECHER PINS JONES

LOS ANGELES, June 9. (AP)—Joe Stecher of Nebraska defended his claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship here Wednesday night by winning over Paul Jones of Texas. Stecher tock the only fall of the two-hour match. He obtained the fall through the use of his famous scissors hold after one hour of the match without either obtaining a fall.

IT'S the cigarette of the age — the triumph of all smoking history. Just reflect—at the time when more cigarettes are smoked than ever before—Camels passed them all.

Why? Figure it out and you'll find that Camel is made for the particular smoker whose taste, day by day, is more knowing of quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. And what blending! Camel's smoothness and mellowness are qualities distinctive to this cigarette.

If you haven't yet tried them, you'll find all your smoking wishes come true in Camels. Mild, clear and smooth from morning to night. Always so satisfyingly good! "Have a Camel!"

FAST RUNNERS ENTER RACES

National Intercollegiate To Feature Stars

By FRED VAN DEVENDER
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 9.—There never has been a college athlete who has won his event three years running in the national intercollegiate track and field meet.

But, used to doing the unusual, Herman Phillips is out to reverse that state of things this year in the national meet, which is scheduled to be held at Soldiers' field stadium Friday and Saturday of this week, under the auspices of the University of Chicago.

Phillips, who wears the blue and white of Butler college of Indianapolis won the quarter mile in 1925, and repeated last year, running the event the latter time in 48.7 seconds.

Never Defeated

During his collegiate competition, Phillips has never been defeated in his event, and never once has he been forced to extend himself to win. He always wins by enough margin that he doesn't have to be afraid of losing his race.

Phillips is one of the products of Harlan O. (Pat) Page, who used to coach Butler, but has transferred his ability to Indiana.

The Butler runner has not been quite to snuff during the present season and has not participated in any of the big events, but his entry in this event means that he probably is approaching something near his old form.

Among other of the numerous athletes who are going to participate in national is Judge of Notre Dame, winner of the mile run last year. He is still pretty good, and will be one of the ranking contenders.

The half-mile race is expected to be one of the most hotly contested events on the entire card. The entries include Sitting of Illinois, Charteris of Washington, Martin of Northwestern and Caulum, anchor man of the crack Ames two-mile relay team.

Montanan Stars

Another feature of this meet will be the running of Gillette of Montana, who runs both the mile and the two-mile events. Little of Purdue also will be a strong contestant in the mile event.

Capt. Anton Burg, the most consistent track man who ever entered collegiate competition, is favored to win the high jump. He won second place last year with a leap of 6 feet, 6 1-4 inches.

So, all in all, it looks like there might be two very large days for these athletes.

Helen Wills Shows Like Flash On Court

BECKENHAM, England, June 9. (AP)—Helen Wills' 6-0 6-0, victory over "Billie" Tapscott, of South Africa, in 18 minutes by the clock in the Kent county lawn tennis championships today, is heralded as a performance surpassing anything that Suzanne Lenglen, France's famous star, ever achieved.

Suzanne at her best never beat this time record, and British critics say that the French star never approached the variety and power of strokes by means of which it was achieved. Miss Tapscott, who is considered about the quickest and smartest mover over ground that women's tennis has produced, was flung out of the picture with drives of a pace and accuracy, both forehand and backhand, that almost beat the eyes of the spectators.

The Panhandle Longhorns gored the American Eagle in the dust Thursday afternoon at Katy park in their rained out game carried over from Sunday, 7 to 5 when the Lupher and his team blew up in the eighth inning. Panhandle scored four runs in the eighth to win on a timely single to center by "Kid" Rawls after three American errors had filled the bases. Rawls scored on an infield out. The Americans were leading 5 to 3 until the blow up in the eighth. With the loss Thursday the Americans must take the final game of the first half this afternoon from the Conocos, otherwise the Panhandle nine will go into a tie with them for first place.

The American scored first in the initial inning when Johnson walked, stole second and scored on Crouch's single to center. The Panhandle crew came right back and scored two runs on McMahon's single, Melear's double and an infield out. The Americans forged ahead in the third when four hits anda walke were good for three runs. Johnson singled to left, was sacrificed to secondand scored on Crouch's secaond hit of the game. Jordan walked and "Grandpa" Medford came to life by singling to right field, scoring Crouch and sending Jordan to third. Windham's single to left scored Jordan.

After Connally went out McMahon walked, Melear was safe when Lupher failed to cover first on his slow grounder to Crouch. Roberts flied to right, but Windham dropped the ball. With the bases full Rawls singled to center scoring Melear and Roberts, then scored a few minutes later on a steal and passed ball.

Crouch with two doubles and a single, Johnson and Medford with two hits led the American attack. McMahon and Melear accounted for four of the Panhandle's six hits. McMahon featured in the field with several sensational catches in center for the Longhorns.

Long Tom Hall bested Red Walker in a hurling duel Thursday afternoon on the City league diamond, and the Scotland Plumbers captured the game, 5 to 4, from Jackson Tire. Hall fanned an even dozen men and Walker whiffed nine of the Scotland Plumbers.

It was a torrid battle all the way and packed with thrills. In the sixth inning, Buss gave the Plumbers a great scare when he slapped out a long drive for a home run, coming within one run of tying the score. Jackson added to this scare in the seventh when he doubled with two down and stole third, but died when Allison flied to center.

The game Thursday cinched the first half champion for the Plumbers. They are holding a three-game lead now and there is no chance of bumping them off. With the first half safely under the wire, they are getting ready for their last drive and are confident that they can also annex this.

RING BAN ON PHIL KAPLAN

Fighter Barred For Foul In Courtney Bout

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The boxing commission has revoked the license of K. O. Phil Kaplan, Harlam middleweight, and ruled that under no circumstances would Kaplan ever be permitted to perform in local rings again. Phil was charged with deliberately fouling George Courtney in the second round of their rumpus at the Polo grounds last Friday night in the semi-final to the Joe Dundee-Pete Latzo jam.

Big Jim Farley, commission head, accused the Harlamite of deliberately using unfair tactics to find the easiest way out to save himself from a severe drubbing. "The likes of Kaplan do not belong to the game and the sooner they are weeded out the better the racket will be," said Farley.

"I cautibned Referee Kid McPartland to pay particular attention to the unfair methods of Kaplan before the battle, knowing that Phil was charged with several queer looking defeats through the same tactics. There is no question in my mind that the blow that rendered Courtney helpless was delivered intentionally.

"Kaplan's record shows that he lost on fouls to Jimmy Kelly, Jimmy Darrah and Harry Martone, while he has won several bouts the same way. This practice must stop and we are setting the example with Kaplan. In the future any boxer charged with fouling might meet the same fate."

Lamb Wallops Pellet Roundly

Spudder Star Collects Flock Of Hits

The Spudders' trip to Dallas had several features to it from the fans' angle. The two main things about this was the fact that Lyman Lamb went on a wild hitting spree and for the three days, Lambie slapped out nine hits in 13 times at the bat. On the first day he hit three for four, four for five, the second, and two for four the third and final day. In the series he slapped the old agate at a .692 clip.

In the field he looked great, hard chances were made to look easy and his pegging to the bases was above reproach.

The second big thing in that series was the catch Tom Jenkins pulled off in the last game. Jenkins raced far back to deep left and took Mulvey's drive with one hand. Jenkins was going with the ball when he leaped into the air and caught the ball in his gloved hand in a brilliant back hand manner. It was acclaimed as the greatest bit of daylight robbery ever pulled in Steer stadium and Tut got a great hand from the Dallas fans for the play.

Another great thing that stood out in that series was the pulling of that old jinx on the Dallas Steers, Freddie Fussell. Dick Shuman was going great until the eighth inning when the Spudders hammered him from the hill with six runs. When they got down in a pinch, Fussell was sent against the Steers and they were helpless. Dallas fans will argue that Rusty Pence was outpitching Fussell, but they just couldn't break that old ever-present jinx hold Fussell has over them.

Lefty Lybrand Joins Spudders

Former Bear Hurler To Perform Here

Lefty Lybrand, former ace of the Tyler Trojan baseball team, of the Lone Star league, joined the Spudders in Dallas Wednesday afternoon and was in uniform for the first Beaumont game Thursday.

Lybrand formerly played with the San Antonio Bears and for this reason he was ruled off of the Tyler team and picked up by Carl Williams. Lybrand was getting in line with a semi-pro team around Breckenridge when the call came to join the Spudders.

The big left hander was forced off the Tyler club by a rule of the Lone Star league that prohibits more than one former class A player being on a club.

Joe Bullock was also back in uniform with the Spudders Thursday and ready to go. Bullock tuned out with the club this spring and looked good enough to stick around until after the season had started but he was unable to break through Johnny Mann and Rabbitt Benton for a regular berth. Bullock has been playing ball and working in the oil fields at Olney since leaving the Spudders.

Herb Cobb, pitcher drafted last fall from Wilson of the Virginia league, is out of the game with a swollen ankle. Cobb was roaming about the field Wednesday at Dallas during the Spudder batting practice and was hit on the shins with a line drive. No serious injury is expected of the foot injury and Cobb will be back in uniform in about a week.

WEST TEXAS OIL MEN WILL MEET IN BRECKENRIDGE ON JUNE 13

OIL NOTABLES WILL ATTEND

To Form Oil Board For West Texas C-C

BRECKENRIDGE, June 9. — The hour for the West Texas oil men's conference to be held in this city June 13 has been reset for 4 p. m. This change was made following a meeting of local men in charge of arrangements with Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at which it was found practical to advance the hour to this time.

The conference of June 13 will bring together member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce executive board and outstanding oil men of the regional organization's territory. Representatives of the Texas railroad commission and the president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, as well as other prominent officials, will also be in attendance.

Co-Ordination Sought

The meeting will convene to more fully co-ordinate efforts for promotion of the oil industry in the west, and to determine upon definite action in organizing a bureau for its protection, advancement, conservation and exploitation.

The 4 p. m. conference will be held at the Breckenridge municipal auditorium. At 6:30, visitors will be honor guests of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce for a banquet. Elaborate plans and preparations are being made for this feature. It is thought that the whole program will be concluded by 9 o'clock.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is taking action in calling the oil and gas conference in line with the following resolution passed at its ninth annual convention at Wichita Falls, May 16 and 17:

Resolution Passed

"Second only in importance to agriculture and livestock raising is the rapidly growing oil and gas industry. West Texas has already assumed important rank in the protection of these great necessities and it is not limited to any one or a few localities, but it has taken on an aspect of commanding importance to this section. Our organization should foster and encourage the wise development of this great industry, which means so much to our material welfare. It should, furthermore, lend its every aid to their protection from unwise legislation. It should lend its every aid to encourage wise and wholesome legislation necessary not only to its development and operation, but to its conservation and legislation which may provide satisfactory marketing conditions. Particularly, should our organization lend its aid to prevent the enactment of tax legislation which would be confiscatory or impose on the oil and gas industry more than its rightful and just proportion of Taxes.

"We earnestly recommend that the executive board give immediate consideration to the question as to the advisability of creating an oil and gas division in our organization for the aforesaid purpose, and that said board be clothed with power to carry into effect its determination and conclusion when reached."

Small Wells Brought In New McIlroy Pool

BORGER, June 9.—Some small wells are coming in out in the new McIlroy pool of southeastern Hutchinson county, proving the theory advanced that it may be a small pool with some large wells.

Heorgan Petroleum company No. 2 Cockrell, in section 3, block B3 of D. S. and E. survey, swabbed six barrels an hour for six hours, after cleaning out when shot with 380 quarts from 2955 to 3059 feet.

Mudge Oil company No. 1B Cockrell in section 3, is a small well after two 90-quart shots from 2995 to 3030 and 3030 to 3060 feet.

McIlroy Oil company No. 10 Cockrell in section 4, made 400 barrels, and was drilling ahead at 3030 feet.

First National Oil company No. 1 Cockrell in section 3, swabbed 75 barrels from 3081 feet, steel line measurement.

Salt Water Ends Quest For Oil in Pandem Test

One-half mile east of the W. H. Thomas pool in the N. Thomas survey, north Archer county, the Pandem Oil corporation is pulling pipe to abandon its No. 1-B Thomas which tested the 1300-foot sand and failed to extend the pool owing to a profusion of salt water.

WOODWARD WILDCAT.

Woodward county, Oklahoma, has another wildcat test starting. It is being drilled by Farrand Oil company of Bolva, and spudded this week. The test is in 1-17-23w, on a 4500-acre ranch, and is two and one-half miles due east of Belva. It is three miles west of the Henry Randau, of Wichita Falls, test in Major county, which created so much interest when it had a shallow oil showing some time ago.

UPTON PRODUCER

Prairie Gets Sixth Well In Hurdle Pool Extension

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, June 9.—Prairie No. 2 Lane, northwestern offset to Texas company No. 1 Perry in section 3, G. C. and S. F. Ry. Co. survey, Upton county, flowed 50 barrels by heads Thursday from 1968 feet after topping the pay at 1965 and drilled to 1980. The well is the sixth producer in the southeastern extension of the Rundle district.

NEW WELLS IN ARCHER POOL

Atlantic Brings in Pair Of Producers

Atlantic Oil Producing company Thursday brought in its first producers in the Lyles-Wilson pool northwest of Archer City in Archer county. Atlantic's Nos. 2 and 3 L. F. Wilson are producers and extend the production slightly to the south.

No. 3 is the better well, swabbing at the rate of 200 barrels per day from the sand at 1529-44 feet while No. 2 swabbed 50 barrels from sand topped at 1530 feet and drilled to 1544 feet.

These new wells are just south of the Maer and Staniforth lease where six consecutive producers have been drilled and two tests are now under way.

The Gulf Production company is bringing in a well in its No. 3 L. F. Wilson, located in the Day Land and Cattle survey. The Atlantic and Maer and Staniforth leases are in the same survey.

East of the production a short distance, Ray and Massie have completed a dry hole at a depth of 1583 feet after testing three feet of sand in No. 1 Wilson, located in abstract 412, S. P. R. R.

This pool, which was discovered by the Plains Production company has been one of the busiest areas in Archer county since the discovery was brought in. There are now eight producers and five drilling wells in the pool.

Erect Tanks At Moore Test

AMARILLO, June 9.—A new pool loomed big on the Panhandle field horizon yesterday, as the Morton and company's No. 1 Reeder, in the northwest of the northeast of section 191, block 3T of T. and N. O. survey, in northeastern Moore county, stood with 1400 feet of live oil in the hole at 3375 feet.

Being just seven and one-half miles to the northeast of Dumas, which promises to become the center of the Moore county play, some of the oil scouts are already calling it the Dumas district.

The oil pay was found at 3373 feet, and penetrated two feet, it began to fill up. The first five hours it put 475 feet of oil in the hole and for the first full nine hours it stood approximately 1400 feet.

Drilling work was suspended pending the erection of two 250 barrel tanks and the cleaning out of a 500-barrel tank already up. When the tankage is ready the well will be cleaned out and tested.

Production was found in a sandy lime, and the tools stopped in it. The finding of the pay followed the discovery of a good show at 3325 feet on Monday evening. From 3335 feet to 3370 feet the drill was in a coarse sandy lime, which was followed by a thin shale break and then the sandy lime pay.

The bailer was run twice and the last time, about 9 a. m. Wednesday it was followed by two small flows that added considerable to the coloration of the 84-foot rig, that had successfully withstood a flow of wild gas, estimated at 70,000,000 feet from 2805 to 2855 feet.

Moran Resumes Work On Young County Lease

J. J. Moran is resuming operations on his G. P. Stewart A lease in the David Dawson survey in the northeast portion of Young county. After putting dow nfive producers Moran let the lease stand for more than a month but he is now preparing to drill No. 6-A Stewart, 300 feet north of No. 4.

Boller et al, Have Third Gregg Producer

C. W. Boller and associates have brought in another nice producer on their remarkable Gregg lease in the A. Rohus survey of northeast Young county. The new producer is No. 3 which has an initial production of 80 barrels per day from sand at 760 feet.

Panhandle Field Work Increases While Mid-Continent Is In Slump

Oil operations in the North Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico area of the Mid-Continent field dropped to the low figure of 3408 during the week just ended, the Oil Weekly will say Friday. This figure is 66 less than that reported for the previous week.

In North Texas, all districts contribute to the state's decrease except Panhandle. In the Panhandle district field work is on a slight increase.

Following is the table prepared by the Oil Weekly:

Cotton--Stocks--Latest Market Quotations--Grain--Cattle

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—An advance of approximately ½c featured the cotton market today on a renewal of more or less general buying stimulated by unfavorable features in the weather news and favorable trade advices. December contracts sold up to 17.47, or 50 points above the closing quotation yesterday, within 10 points of the recent high record, and closed at 17.45. The general market closed firm, at net advances of 45 to 54 points.

The market was firm the entire day. The opening was 11 to 13 points higher. Early advances of 17 or 21 points from yesterday's closing quotations met considerable realizing, but it was absorbed on slight setbacks. Traders with both Liverpool and continental trade connections were buyers here, while here was active evening or re-buying by recent sellers, who appeared to be influenced by failure of the weather map to indicate any further rains in West Texas, and reiterated reports of overflows in the Mississippi valley.

A report that sales of standard cotton cloths in the primary markets for the month of May had exceeded production by 41.5 per cent and that unfilled orders on June 1 were 30 per cent larger than a month ago, being equivalent to nearly ten weeks production at the May rate of output, no doubt contributed to the advance. There were also private reports that boll weevil were apearing in some sections of Alabama, Georgia and Texas, which may have had a sentimental influence. Except for realizing, offerings were light during the day and the highest prices were reached in late trading when July sold at 16.90, October at 17.25, and January at 17.53, or 50 to 56 points net higher on the general list. The close was at about the best figures of the day.

Part of the buying from abroad was supposed to represent evening up of commitments in preparation for the holidays in Liverpool, but it was also reported that European and Japanese interests were buying new crop cotton in small lots for shipments extending from October to January.

Exports crossed the 10½ million bale mark today, some local statisticians estimating the season's movement at something over 11,000,000. Exports today 28,100, making 10,508,241 so far this season. Port receipts 7214; U. S. port stocks 1,517,705.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 9. (AP)—Unfavorable news and the continued dry weather in the drouth sections of the belt caused an advance of from $2.50 to $2.75 per bale in today's cotton market. October traded from 16.72 to 17.21 but in the late trading eased off to 17.19 and closed at that figure. The general market closed steady at net advances of 53 to 56 points.

The opening was five to 11 points up, due to the favorable Liverpool cables. The market continued to advance during the morning with minor and infrequent reactions until nearthe middle of the day July was trading at 16.75, October 17.05 and December 17.27, 39 to 40 points above the previous close.

The market was quiet after mid-session and prices eased off four to seven points on realizing. In the late trading a report from Memphis that the weather bureau estimated that the present rise in the river there would come within five feet of the previous flood stage, caused another sharp upturn and July traded to 16.93, October to 17.21, and December 17.41, 54 to 57 points above yesterday's close.

Prices eased off a few points in the late trading but the close was near the highs. Exports for the day totaled 25,100 bales.

Oil Stocks Hold Main Attention As Other Listings Show Little Activity

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 9.—As the balance of the list backed and filled in hesitation aroused by reports regarding the reserve board activities, the "Cats and Dogs" of the oil group were brought forward by pool work and monopolized most of the interest in trading on the stock exchange today. General Motors was held in rather aggressive manner during the session but was about the only recent favorite to feature in the day's developments.

Bankers and many brokers could not entirely credit the rumor that the rediscount rate would be cut after the close and therefore many of the pools suspended operations almost entirely during the afternoon.

The pound and the French franc moved slightly higher in a fairly active exchange market. Cotton options spurted on renewed accumulation from the south but the grain markets turned weaker as professional pressure continued.

The Washington dispatch telling of meeting the reserve board and promising "important announcement" later in the day caused widespread reports to the effect that the rediscount rate would be reduced but that warning against "speculative orgies" would be issued. The board met in Washington and refused to issue any statement, while the local rate remained unchanged.

The failure to change the rate here, however, does not mean that such action is not under discussion. Current report indicates that it is seriously considered and that some bankers favor it as a help to them in placing the new certificates. The one factor to raise doubt was the slightly higher acceptance rate but it was felt that this was but a temporary condition and would pass away with the mid-month turnover of funds next week.

Knowledge that the Baltimore & Ohio directors would meet late in the day to authorize a new stock issue failed to influence the rails to any extent. They backed and filled as activity was confined largely to professional operations. With the Baltimore & Ohio stock issued, there is every reason to expect early action on the three cornered deal which will involve the Reading and the Jersey Central.

The bankers interested are tied up also with other railroad amalgamations and it was pointed out that they must be confident of the New Chesapeake & Ohio amalgamation plan meeting the approval of the commerce commission or else they would hold back activity in connection with the Baltimore & Ohio and other eastern carriers.

Industrials, also, are reflecting the influence of consolidation negotiations. Along the more active stocks recently that are expected to be influenced by mergers now under consideration are Collins & Aikman which is talked of to go into the General Motors organization; Underwood and other business machine manufacturers, Certainteed products with Glidden and others, while there is revival of reports concerning desire to acquire control of Chrysler, which is held by the dominating interests in other automobile manufacturing companies.

Transcontinental Oil was the most active stock of the day while other oil "Pups" to be pushed into the spotlight included Pierce Oil and Superior Oil. All the talk was "West Texas" and if but 50 per cent of the reports as to the future of that district were to prove correct it would mean that it will be the greatest oil producing district ever located or operated.

However, it will mean further that instead of the oil industry enjoying stabilization this fall it would remain in a disturbed condition for some time to come as there have been no steps taken to control output in the West Texas field up to this time.

It is true that Transcontinental and others would be able to sell oil produced there at a profit but for them to enjoy sufficient amount of income to warrant excited advance in the stocks would mean they would have to get a quantity of crude that would of itself force further cuts in crude oil prices.

Some profit-taking was in evidence toward the close as a result of expectation that the exchange would close on Monday because it would be impossible to safeguard movement of securities with Lower New York City crowded with the millions expected to welcome Colonel Lindbergh; trading will be resumed next week, therefore, just a day before the income tax payments and treasury financing money turnover so that preparations are likely to start tomorrow and result in renewed irregularity in the money market.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, June 9. (AP)—Stimulated by predictions from Secretary Jardine that wheat prices would be better this year than last, the wheat market today took a brick upward swing. Government crop estimates issued after today's trading was ended proved to be much more bullish than had been looked for. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1⅛ to 1⅝c net higher, corn 1⅛ to 2⅛c down, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions varying from 2s decline to a rise of 10c.

Improved weather for field work led to declines in the corn market. Oats sympathized with corn, the fact being unknown that the government report on the condition o foats is lower than any of the private figures.

Provisions were firmer, reflecting strength of hog values.

Silver Strike Reported In Fort Worth Suburb

FORT WORTH, June 9. (AP)—Visions of another Comstock lode and bonanza mine danced in the minds of local mining men here today when it was reported that a vein of silver, samples of which were assayed and found to contain a considerable amount of the metal, had been discovered in Sycamore heights, east of Fort Worth, a residential district.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Highly erratic fluctuations again characterized today's stock market, operations for the rise being successfully conducted in some stocks while others were sagging under the weight of selling pressure for both accounts. Another flock of new high records was created during the session, including General Motors and about a dozen rails. For the 16th consecutive full session total sales crossed the 2,000,000-mark.

Wall street was excited during the afternoon by a report on the financial tickers that "an important statement" would be given out at the federal reserve bank after the close of the market. This was generally construed as foreshadowing a change in the discount rate, but no statement was given out by the bank, other than the routine announcement that the 4 per cent rediscount rate was unchanged. Call money was again in plentiful supply, dropping to 4 per cent after renewing at 4½.

Rails showed surprising strength in the early trading in view of the decline in freight car loadings and the official denial of reports that the New Haven road had disposed of its New York, Ontario and Western holdings, but many of the gains were reduced or wiped out before the close. Lehigh Valley, for instance, after touching a new high at 137½ fell back to 130 for a net loss of 3 points on the day. Rock Island also closed at a loss after touching a new top of 110⅝. Among the other issues to reach new high ground were Illinois Central, the three Wabash issues, New York, Ontario and Western; Reading; Texas and Pacific; Denver and Rio Grande Western preferred and Norfolk and Southern.

"Shorts" in General Motors who have sold the stock rather freely on expectations that the competition of the new Ford car would cut into its profits, received further punishment when the stock crossed 204 in fairly heavy volume.

Renewed selling of U. S. Rubber common sent that stock to a new low at 40⅝. Other rubbers held fairly steady. Miller selling close to the year's high on reports that 1927 earnings were running way ahead of last year.

Time money was slightly firmer, being quoted at 4⅝ to 4½ instead of 4 to 4⅝. Prime commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A brisk recovery of about 13 points in Spanish pesetas which again sold above 17½ cents, was the only change of consequence in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly firmer at $4.85 5-16 and French francs were unchanged around 3.91½ cents.

P. H. Brown, president of the new concern, has had a wide commercial experience. He was with the Wichita School Supply company since its organization. Mr. Brown was reared in Wichita Falls.

Albert Erwin will be associated with the Western Office Supply company as manager of the stationery department. Mr. Erwin is moving to Wichita Falls from Dallas. For the past 20 years he has represented one of the largest stationery and office equipment houses in the state.

Ray Sheet Metal Wins Auditorium Contract

A contract for the sheet metal work on the new city auditorium was given a local plant, the Ray Sheet Metal Works, according to an announcement made by F. A. Ray, the manager. The contract was given by Joseph E. Morgan and company of El Paso, general contractors in charge of the building of the auditorium.

STATE NEEDS GENERAL RAIN

Crops Suffer For Lack Of Moisture

HOUSTON, June 9. (AP)—Crops, both grain and cotton, in all parts of the state except probably in east Texas and other spotted sections, are suffering for lack of rain, according to reports to H. H. Schultz, government statistician here.

Scores of his correspondents in all parts of the state report that conditions of June 1, approach those of a drouth.

In North Texas correspondents at Muleshoe report little rain for six months; no cotton has been planted at Floydada; near Clarendon wheat production is fair, at McCauley the ground is so dry seed in the ground will not germinate. Small grains are dead from the drouth near Spearman where all fields are being plowed up; at Haskell grain crops are almost a failure; cotton, corn and oats are dying for lack of rain at Avoca; about 50 per cent of the cotton is yet to be planted at Jayton, because of lack of rain; at Follett much wheat is being plowed up and other fields are not worth cutting; at Amarillo stock is suffering from want of water and grasses; conditions are reported distressing at Kress in Swisher county; cotton has made only 75 per cent of a stand in Young county and at Graham corn is beginning to suffer while cotton is slowing in coming up.

Drouth in North.

In North Texas, drouth, greenbugs and high winds have caused a poor grain crop near Byers; at Henrietta hot winds are burning up the corn while at Farmersville rain has ruined the oat, wheat and potato crops and a late freeze has killed the fruit; cotton is well up to a stand at Sanger in Denton county but near Krum greenbugs and excessive rains have caused low fields of oats and wheat but at Pilot Point corn and cotton crops have improved. All crops are from two to four weeks late owing to a wet spring near Dodd City in Fannin county where cotton is just coming up; at Bonham crops are in good shape; Honey Grove has had too much rain until the last week in May but at Ivanhoe, while corn needs rain, pastures are fine and hay and oats are doing well. At Denison wheat, oats and cotton are doing well but at Tom Bean farmers are greatly discouraged. Sherman reports drouth and greenbugs have almost ruined the grain crop and pastures and gardens are burning up but at Lone Oak in Hunt county oats yielded ten per cent better than expected on a large acreage. At Pesater in Parker county cotton is looking fine and near Fort Worth wheat has improved, but oats are poor and labor scarce.

In Northeast Texas, some cotton has not been planted in Bowie county due to too much rain in May. Cass, Delta, Franklin, Hopkins and Rains counties report too much rain and a backward season but in Smith county dry winds are beginning to hurt all crops.

Drouth in Central.

In West and West Central Texas the drouth has amost ruined small grain crops in Brown county while a freeze and hail has destroyed all fruit except pears. In Coke county it has been too dry to plant cotton and in Concho county most of the April planted cotton has been killed by frost and high winds. Mason county reports a good rain with a generally good stand. In Mills county wheat, corn and livestock are in good condition but oats are poor and in Nolan county cotton is 60 per cent planted. The same condition exists in Runnells county and in Tom Green county dry weather is affecting pastures and all growing crops.

In Central Texas, Smithville in Bastrop county reports a good stand of cotton, well cultivated and vigorous, but weevils are considerably in evidence with cotton hoppers appearing. In Bell county about 50 per cent of the wheat has been mowed for hay. In Bosque county rust, greenbugs and drouth have injured crops and from Caldwell in Burleson county comes the report that cotton is shedding squares on account of weevil and cotton hoppers; grass hoppers are numerous, but except for insects the prospects is called fine. At Dale in Caldwell county cotton is up to a good stand and moisture has been plentiful but at New Braunfels all crops are below normal. At Bradwell in Ellis county insects are destroying cotton and at LaGrange in Fayette county cotton is two weeks earlier than usual. The oats crop at Cleburne is called poor, due to greenbugs and drouth, corn needs rain and cotton is up to a very good stand. At Thornton in Limestone county, no hoppers or weevils have appeared and cotton acreage has been cut 15 per cent. At Waco rust has cut the oats crop short and some cotton has been replanted after much rain. In Milan county cotton is reported doing very well and at Corsicana oats have been badly damaged by rust and corn needs rain. Some damage is showing up at Hearne from weevil and grass hoppers. At Georgetown cotton is late and corn needs rain while at Taylor crops are two weeks early but need rain.

East Texas Slow.

In East Texas crops have made slow growth due to cold and rain and at Jacksonville cotton is late but is growing well. The correspondent at La Rue, Henderson county, says the potato crop is very promising but all crops are late on account of too much rain. At Crockett cotton is late and has been damaged by too much rain and in San Augustine county where cotton is 30 days late, all crops are in bad condition with fields growing up in grass and weeds. At Timpson in Shelby county cotton is reported to have reached a perfect stand with no signs of weevil but at Groveton in Trinity county cotton has a late start on a 25 per cent reduced acreage.

In South Texas, where the first bale of 1927 cotton was grown, ginned and sent to market at Houston, rain is badly needed. At McCoy, Atascosa county, drouth and hot winds are hurting all crops; San Antonio reports insufficient moisture. Falfurrias calls the dry spell the most severe in several years and Cuero reports, while cotton hoppers are present in small squares and weevil are numerous, cotton plants are blooming unusually well. In Duval county all crops need rain but in Goliad county cotton is in good condition except that weevil are numerous. Gonzales reports cotton doing well but is late; Hidalgo county calls the drouth the worst in 13 years. Near Karnes City corn is practically a failure due to the drouth. Corn and other crops of grain are suffering from lack of moisture in Uvalde county bu tcotton is doing well.

Crops Need Rain.

Southeast Texas conditions are reflected in reports from Chambers county which says that some cotton and corn are yet to be planted after no rains in May. In Liberty county the cotton acreage is about 60 per cent of that of last year and near Bay City cotton is blooming with insects doing some damage. Weevil, meantime, are more numerous than last year. In Orange county drouth is damaging crops; in Waller county cotton is two to three weeks earlier than last year but need rain badly and El Samp reports the cotton crop about a month early with weevil unusually numerous. All crops, however, need rain.

COTTON GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Higher temperatures have stimulated retail sales of wash fabrics and the improvement is being reflected back to wholesale and primary markets. Gray cloths were firmer today with business in fair volume. Production for May showed some falling off from earlier months. Burlaps were steady here. Raw silk consumption continues high, due to the large use of the material in the knitting trades. Summer silks were in better demand.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS.

LIVERPOOL, June 9. (AP)—Cotton spot quiet; prices steady. American strict good middling 10.03; good middling 9.68; strict middling 9.28; middling 9.03; strict low middling 8.58; low middling 8.13; strict good ordinary 7.83; good ordinary 7.38; sales 6000 bales, including 4800 American; receipts 6000 bales, American 160c. First Home Grown Peaches On Market Here; Texas Onions Lower Wichita Falls produce wholesalers reported Thursday that fresh, home grown peaches are now on the market. The new peaches are of high quality and the quantity is believed to be rather large. The supply of local turnips is practically exhausted.

Wholesale price on peaches is $2.50 per bushel.

Wichita farmers have practically disposed of their bunch vegetables for this season although this class of fresh food is still to be had from other sections with the exception of turnips.

Green beans stay at 17 1-2 cents per pound in wholesale quantities. The demand for green beans is greater than the supply, produce men report.

Texas onions are lower in price with the sections outside of the Rio Grande Valley starting shipments. The wholesale price in Wichita Falls is now $3.25 per crate as compared with $3.50 four days ago.

Cantaloupe receipts are getting heavier while the water melon shipments to Wichita Falls are light, one produce house not listing them and another offering them at six cents per pound. The melon crop from Wichita and North Clay county has not yet put in its appearance.

With the exception of grape fruit, citrus fruits are higher than usual although no change in the prices have been made within the past few days. Lemons are still quoted at $7.50 per box which is unusually high. The very best quality of grape fruit is now in the reach of all, the wholesale price being $6.50.

The following prices are those quoted by the Wichita Falls wholesalers to retail dealers. Unless otherwise indicated, the prices are subject to continual changes:

The Wichita Falls and Beaumont baseball players are to be guests of the Business Council at lunch Friday at noon, with the invitation accepted Thursday for the members by managers of both teams. "Jim" Galloway, manager of the Beaumont club, and Carl Williams, Spudder manager, both expressed an appreciation of the courtesy to officials of the club, and stated that all members would "be on hand."

Fred Weeks of Wichita Falls will address the club and the players on "Baseball," at the meeting.

Col. J. Riley Green, Noted Stock Breeder, Claimed By Death

Col. J. Riley Green, 55, noted livestock auctioneer and breeder of jersey cattle, died at Wolfe City, Texas, Thursday, according to telegrams received here by R. D. Kennedy and L. H. Gould.

Col Green had been a visitor to Wichita Falls many times, coming here to attend the Texas-Oklahoma fair. He was last here during the past winter when he visited friends.

Col. Green had many friends whom he had never seen, having gained them through his negro sermons broadcast over radio. He was a leader in the Methodist church and had made many contributions to the church and to charities of which the public never knew.

He was a pioneer in the breeding of fine jersey cattle in Texas and his wife became practically as well known as himself, accompanying him over the south in his activities as secretary of the Texas Cattle club for many years.

Burial will be in Wolfe City Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

25 Girls Sign For Camp Fire Outing

Twenty-five Camp Fire girls of Wichita Falls have registered for the first week of the annual camp at Craterville, Okla., according to Miss Mary McIlheran, executive. The camp is to be held for two weeks beginning June 13, with girls 14 years of age and under going the first week and those older attending the second.

Registration for the second week will be open for the next ten days. Councillors for the camp are: Mrs. George Henry, Dallas, swimming; Edna Kay, Wichita Falls, nature work; Edith Crump, Camp Craft and Helen Buss of San Antonio, hand craft.

ROTARY PICKS WALTER CLINE

Wichita Falls Man Named U. S. Director

OSTEND, Belgium, June 9. (AP)—Arthur Sapp of Huntington, Ind., was unanimously elected president of Rotary International today. Rufus Chapin of Chicago was elected treasurer.

The following directors were elected for the United States:

J. L. Knoeppel, New York; Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls, Texas; Leonard T. Skegs, Youngstown, Ohio; Norman S. Black, Fargo, N. D., and Cornelius Garrison of Wilmington, Del.

CLINE PROMINENT IN CLUB'S WORK HERE.

Walter D. Cline, 1500 Tenth street, Wichita Falls independent oil operator, who was honored in being named one of the directors for the United States in Rotary International at the convention in Ostend, Belgium, on Thursday, is well known here as one of the most active and influential citizens in the city. He has become especially identified in the past few years with the Wichita Falls Rotary club, has served as its president and has devoted much of his time to furthering projects sponsored by the club.

Mayor at Burk.

Mr. Cline brought in the Fowler well which started the Burkburnett oil boom in 1918. He was then living in Burkburnett and served as mayor of that city.

Since coming to Wichita Falls, Mr. Cline has held several important offices and held the reins of city government as mayor through a very successful term. He was potentate of Maskat temple, president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce(AP) president of the Rotary club, chairman of the library board and other important committees, chairman of the Community Chest and active in all phases of community and civic welfare work.

First District Governor.

As first district governor of the Rotary organization in this section of the state, Mr. Cline did much for the advancement of the work, aiding in the organization of several clubs and furthering all philanthropic movements inaugurated in the district.

He is at present a director of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and a vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and holds several important places on committee work in the city.

Mr. Cline was born and reared in Louisiana, owned several plantations there, and still retains large holdings in that state. His family is at present visiting in Louisiana during his absence abroad.

Morgan Arrests Three In Auto Tire Thefts

Constable Frank Morgan Thursday held in his office 20 automobile tires and rims, valued at about $300, which he recovered in an extensive round-up of casing thieves during Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Three negroes are in the county jail charged with theft of tires, and as accomplices in disposing of the stolen property.

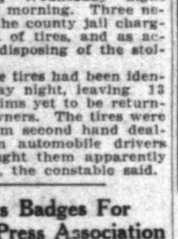

Seven of the tires had been identified Thursday night, leaving 13 casings and rims yet to be returned to their owners. The tires were recovered from second hand dealers and from automobile drivers who had bought them apparently in good faith, the constable said.

C-C Orders Badges For Texas Press Association

Two hundred and fifty badges that will proclaim "Wichita Falls 1928" to the Texas State Press association in El Paso on June 16, 17 and 18, were ordered by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, Thursday, and will bedeck each person's coat on the special train from Fort Worth.

The train is scheduled to leave Fort Worth at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 14, will allow a three hour's stop at Mineral Wells, and arrive in El Paso the night prior to the opening day of the convention. Wichita Falls will place a strong bid for the convention next year.

Sinclair Lewis Needs Good Dose Of Rotaryism, Says Vernon Pastor

Speaker at Luncheon Here Replies to Author's Criticism Of Ministry in Novel, "Elmer Gantry"

Alluding to the significance of Germany's being recently admitted to International Rotary, R. H. Nichols of Vernon told the Wichita Falls Rotary club and its visitors that the fellowship exemplified in this organization would be one of the principal factors in establishing international peace among the nations. Mr. Nichols was one of the speakers on the Thursday luncheon program which was presented by a group of Vernon Rotarians.

Will Solve Problems

"The fellowship we have with one another as individuals will solve our problems, wipe out our differences and help us to understand the other fellow's motives. Through it is offered the fruition of our hopes, good will and understanding and as it works in our individual lives we must give it a chance to work between the communities and the people of the world," he declared. Mr. Nichols is editor of the Vernon Record, and was introduced by George Backus, program chairman for the day.

Following a brief address of welcome by J. C. Mytinger, presiding for Wichita Falls, and a response by W. T. Lofland, president of the Vernon club, Mr. Backus introduced the Rev. E. L. Moore, pastor of the Vernon Presbyterian church, who spoke briefly on the lives and works of Sinclair Lewis and William Allen White as related to the principles embodied in Rotary.

Terming Elmer Gantry, Mr. Lewis' most recent book, a "criticism or a caricature of the ministry," Rev. Moore affirmed that Mr. Lewis was characterized by his magnifying the faults and weaknesses of men "to the disgust and often the hurt of his readers," and that the only reply to be made to Elmer Gantry is the belief that 95 per cent of the men in the ministry are clean, straight and right-minded.

"And if it were not for the influence of these 200,000 ministers things would be in a much worse condition than they are," the speaker said, disclaiming any vocational reason for his opinion.

"William Allen White sees through the faults to the virtues and to that which is written by the hand of God in the characters and lives of men," he continued. Rev. Moore concluded with the statement that the difference in two such characters lay in their varying reactions to such ideals as Rotary promulgates.

Musical Program

"White is a sincere and native member of the Emporia, Kan., Rotary club, Lewis is not. And a good dose of Rotaryism will immunize any man from the cynicism and pessimism that has been expressed in Lewis' books and make of him a miniature William Allen White," he said.

Leo Underwood favored the club with two cornet solos, accompanied by J. S. Pittman, and Paul Goetze, Vernon piano teacher, played two piano solos, one which was his own composition.

The following members of the Vernon club were present: Mike Napier, Steel Starr, Gene Moore, Cliff Clifton, R. H. Nichols, H. L. St. John, Chas. Ladd, Paul Goetze, Emory Rhoads, George Backus, Bill Bailey and Will Lofland.

Local and other visitors at the meeting were: E. B. Lehrack, Jack Murchison, W. E. McBroom, L. M. Underwood, of Wichita Falls; R. G. Colvert, Ardmore, Okla.; John F. Wright, Waco; Bob Hood, Fort Sill, Okla.; Erwin L. Blum, Burkburnett and Joe G. White, Dallas.

Assessor to Raise Levy After Paving

City property which has been improved by street paving will carry a higher assessment value this year than in 1926, however property upon which no improvements have been made will carry the same value in 1927 as in 1926, Ralph Hyer, city tax collector and assessor, said Thursday.

Mr. Hyer said that he expected that the total assessment value in Wichita Falls would be approximately the same in 1927 as in 1926.

IN DAYS OF OLD

They Pitched Horse Shoes, and Still Do On Courts Here

In the days of King Arthur's court, the grand old game of horseshoe pitching was the favorite sport, except when the various knights took a day off and jabbed each other with spears. The game is still a favorite, according to Will Ward, superintendent of the recreation department.

The game has retained its popularity to such an extent that Mr. Ward has installed 30 horseshoe courts on the playgrounds in the city.

In a few weeks, Mr. Ward said, a city horseshoe tournament for young and old will be started.

Negro Granted Delay In Murder Hearing

Motion for a continuance in the case of Ned Runnels, negro, arraigned Thursday in the 89th district court on a charge of slaying Fred Blake, negro, April 2, was granted by Judge P. A. Martin.

The motion was made by attorneys for Runnels on the plea that a material witness for the defendant was ill and unable to attend the trial.

Runnels is alleged to have shot and killed Blake during a negro celebration.

Following the postponment of the trial, E. F. Fruechte and Sam Spence, assistant district attorneys, announced that the case would be set for trial during the next term of district court.

City Weed Cutting To End This Week

Cutting of weeds on vacant lots in Wichita Falls will probably be completed this week, Dr. L. I. Lucey, superintendent of the sanitary department, said Thursday.

Two city mowers have been cutting the weeds for the past few weeks. The weed cutting has been done by the mowers at a small cost to the lot owners, Dr. Lucey said.

GIRLHOOD TO MOTHERHOOD
Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful
Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seventeen years old I had to stay at home from school. I finally had to quit school, I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up one of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirteen years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. Frank Sellers, 510 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

Many girls in the fourth generation are learning thru their own personal experiences the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mothers who took it recommend it to their daughters as a dependable medicine.

"The World at Her Feet" seems destined to do exactly that for Florence Vidor as those who have already seen the film are still engaged in heaping flowery adjectives on it.

"The orchid lady of the screen" appears as a woman lawyer in her new Paramount vehicle. She and hubby are quite happy until a sudden abundance of money gives him an urge to retire. However, Jane decides to continue her professional career. Of course, as might be expected, no one is surprised when "the world and his wife lay their troubles at her feet." So engrossed does she become in legal problems that thoughts of home and husband disappear. He finds himself drifting further and further away from the woman he loves. In despair, Richard finally hits on a plan to win her back. What it is and how it works will be disclosed at the Olympic next Sunday. Arnold Kent is featured. Luther Reed directed "The World at Her Feet."

For the June Bride

By Jacqueline

JUNE brides have no excuse for disillusioning their new husbands this year! Unbecoming wisps of straight locks in the early summer morning are entirely unnecessary when Fredrick permanent waves may be had at $12.50. That is the price Oran Deshazor's Beauty Shop, located in the Marchman Hotel, gives.

Call 2-2266 for an appointment then travel, swim and dance to heart's content—the coiffure will survive.

PARTIES for June Brides gain much in spirit and prettiness from Colvert's molded ice cream. Tinted wedding bells and Cupid hearts (Cupid himself perched on a plump pink heart) are among the specialties. The color scheme of decorations carried out in brick is another suggestion for the hostess.

Of course, every one knows how delicious this cream is—it reminds you of the best home-made you ever ate with something better, — that something better is Colvert's secret!

NEXT to saying "I do" the most important part of the groom in the wedding is sending beautiful and correct bouquets to the bride and her attendants. For the greatest moment in Her life flowers count so much that beauty and not economy should be the great consideration.

Mother will always be glad of turning the home or church decoration over to the Wichita Floral company—their ideas and execution are incomparable for both high noon and night weddings.

Flowerphone 3300 or drop by 911 Indiana to decide just what flowers will fit into the happiness of the approaching day. Correct and beautiful they are sure to be from Bebbs.

AN ARTISTIC portrait of a bride is a thing to be prized by husband, parents and the bride herself always. The happy time of the wedding should never be allowed to pass without photographic record.

Nossett's Studio portrays the particular charm of the bride and her attendants. Call 6970 for appointment.

A NEW and different gift that every bride will adore is a Hotpoint electric toaster. It happens "in the best regulated families" that toast comes to the table pale in color (scraped), stone cold or hard. An electric toaster will not only be an attractive gift used every day on the bride's breakfast table, but it will save her those aggravating moments.

This is one of the many gifts the Texas Electric Service Company offers which the bride and groom will most appreciate. Special prices make them very reasonable.

THERE are things that satisfy all expectations and requirements. The beautiful bridal set of lingerie shown at the Orchid Shop is one of them. White satin, with yokes and bands of princess lace, deft touches of pleats and French flowers (all in white), it is the wedding suit of dreams! Flobert has designed something extremely lovely in this set of matching gown, teddies, slip, step-in and bandeau. Oh, the trousseau that includes the Orchid Shop's bridal set!

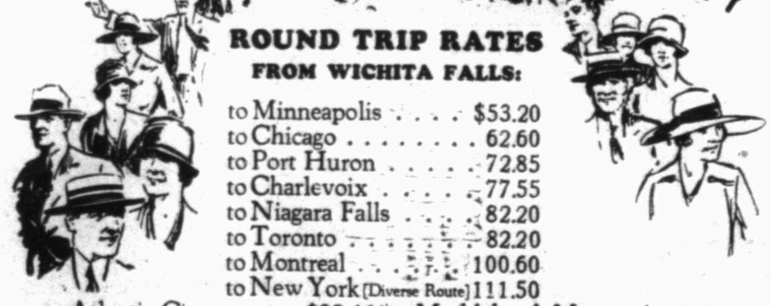

THE pride of the bride-to-be is most often the beautiful lingerie in her trousseau. Ted and gown sets from Estella should certainly be included — Miller-Ferguson shows these advanced designs and a complete line of dainty silk undies.

The July Clearance Sale in June offers a wonderful opportunity for getting several cool summer dresses at the price ordinarily paid for one.

GAY little breakfast sets in English porcelain, beautiful dinner sets in Lanox china, and fostoria and crystal glass wear, in the newest tints and patterns, are among the things which fascinate brides in the China Shop at Bailey-Moline's. Lenox china, you know, is used in the White House, so there is quite a thrill in following the First Lady's taste. Dozens of suggestions for wedding gifts also make the China Shop popular in June.

HAVE you seen page 82 of the June Vogue? There is an article on "Week-end Luggage and What Goes in It" that mentions all of the new pieces at F. B. M. Company. Indispensable for the honeymooners is the Wardrolette designed for the airplane but, needless to say, used more widely on Pullmans and in the rumble of stylish motors. This and the many fitted cases, miniature Gladstone in colored lizard and odd soft handy bags, are among smart new bits of luggage which companion travelers will recognize as distinctive. The Wheary Wardrobe is the gift supreme for the bride. The fact that a Wardrobe makes such an attractive piece of storage furniture in hotel or home, and that it rolls open instead of dragging back, places this far above the old wardrobe trunk.
