US, Soviets To Submit N-Weapons Treaty Plan

By LEWIS GULICK

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union plan to submit to the Geneva Disarmament Conference shortly a joint proposal for a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

When the treaty draft goes before the 17-nation disarmament group, probably within the next few days, it may still be minus a provision for safeguards against violations.

U.S.-Soviet negotiators have been unable for months to agree on the safeguards, or inspection, clause. But U.S. diplomats are hopeful of reaching Big Two accord on this soon after submitting the proposed treaty at Geneva, if not by then.

This became known today following a dinner meeting Tuesday night between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. mission.

The Rusk-Gromyko session, a followup to the conferences last weekend between President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, apparently finished the last phase of the summitry of Glassboro, N.J., the site of the Johnson-Kosygin parleys.

Rusk had no further appointments with Gromyko scheduled. He arranged to return to Washington to report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Cabinet todal and to the House Foreign Affairs Committee Thursday.

Gromyko who arrived June 17 with Kosygin, was reported considering returning to Moscow around the end of the week if the U.N. General Assembly decides to recess its emergency session on the Middle East. Kosygin went to Havana Monday.

The Middle East crisis and the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty were the major topics discussed by Rusk and Gromyko, who met for more than three hours. U.S. sources said Vietnam was not discussed because the deep U.S.-Soviet differences on this topic had been amply aired in previous talks.

While Rusk told newsmen "I cannot report there was a great deal of progress" on the Middle East issue, other American sources said:

—There is some agreement between the U.S. and Soviet positions despite their differencs.

Both big powers have long recognized Israel's existence as a state, in contrast to the Arab view. The Kremlin may therefore agree that there should be a state of peace rather than war between the Arabs and Israelis.

The Soviets also probably favor economic development for the area, though it would be difficult to reach an accord on limiting arms shipments to the Middle East.

Moscow probably would not stand in the way of unrestricted passage for all ships in the Middle East waterways or of programs to help Arab refugees.

But Kosygin and Gromyko stood fast on Soviet demands for withdrawal of Israeli forces to prewar boundaries before a settlement can be negotiated. Since the United States favors linking a withdrawal with a settlement, the main argument is over the sequence of moves toward a solution.

Recent hints of a softening of the Arab stand against any negotiations before an Israeli troop pullback are, in the U.S. view, improving chances for a settlement.

On the nonproliferation treaty, both of the nuclear superpowers have long pursued parallel policies against giving nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them. Johnson and Kosygin agreed on the importance of such a pact, whose wording the Big Two have been negotiating for months.

The difficulty over the inspection provision is less between the Soviet Union and the United States than between the Western European powers and the Soviets, the U.S. sources said.

The West European Common Market countries have their own system under Euratom, their joint atomic energy agency, to insure that nuclear fuel is not diverted to military use. They do not want to give up their safeguards system, while Moscow says European atomic plants along with those elsewhere should come under the inspection system of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The nonproliferation treaty would bar non-nuclear signers forever from acquiring atomic arms—and the have-not nations at the Geneva meeting have been pressing the conference cochairmen, the United States and the Soviet Union, for their proposed wording.

Bombs Rained On Infiltration Routes

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — B52 bombers unloaded a rain of bombs today on Communist positions in two provinces where U.S. ground troops face threatening enemy buildups.

The bombers plastered 180,000 pounds of bombs on Red infiltration routes in Quang Tri Province adjoining the demilitarized zone—where a heavy Red rocket and mortar barrage killed nine Marines and wounded 125 Tuesday—and unleashed a similar attack in the highlands of Kontum Province where infiltrating Red troops recently decimated an American paratroop company.

Ground fighting reported by U.S. military headquarters also centered in the DMZ and highland areas.

A sweeping force of more than 300 U.S. paratroops from the 173rd Airborne Brigade jumped about 50 patrolling Reds early today. In a sharp skirmish in the jungles of Kontum Province the paratroopers killed six North Vietnamese and took one prisoner. Two Americans were killed and eight wounded.

In Quang Tri, around the isolated western flank outpost of Khe Sanh, U.S. Marines kept up continual patrols to thwart Communist assaults. Ten Marines were killed in clashes Tuesday and 27 were wounded, but the Leathernecks said they killed 28 North Vietnamese regulars.

South Vietnamese military headquarters also reported a series of clashes with guerrillas in the Mekong Delta in which 49 of the enemy were killed. In one savage fight Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, a band of about 20 militiamen suffered heavy losses while beating off a five-hour attack with the aid of circling American gunships that raked the atacking Reds with their fire.

North of Saigon, the toll from a mine that demolished a bus Tuesday rose to 40 South Vietnamese civilians killed as U.S. troops searching at dawn found 17 more bodies. Ten others were wounded in the explosion. The number killed was one of the highest in a single terrorist attack in the war.

Despite cloudy weather over most of North Vietnam, American pilots flew 126 strike missions Tuesday with no reported losses. Two Communist MIG17s were sighted but made no effort to fight.

The major effort was again directed at the northeast and northwest rail lines connecting Hanoi to Red China.

Air Force jets reported bombing and shooting up 49 rail cars of various types and blasting one puffing locomotive in a yard 39 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Three strikes were made against the northwest rail line up the Red River Valley and four raids went against the northeast line, the shorter, which carries about a quarter of the supplies and freight entering North Vietnam.

Navy pilots from carriers in the South China Sea made nine heavy raids on the Nam Dinh area southeast of Hanoi.

U.S. headquarters reported that part of an ammunition dump in Quang Ngai Province blew up this morning, wounding two American soldiers. A white phosphorous shell somehow exploded and the blistering heat set off more ammunition, but the spokesman said the over-all damage to the dump was light.

Assembly Has No Answer To Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly, nearing the end of its general debate on the Middle East crisis, remained far from agreement today on its best course to ease the bitter Arab-Israeli conflict.

"Everything is very much in a melting pot—nothing is crystallized yet," said one Asian diplomat close to the search for a resolution that could attract wide support among the 122 U.N. members.

Eleven nations were on the speakers' list for today's meetings, including Foreign Minister J.M.A.H. Luns of the Netherlands and Foreign Minister Georges Hakim of Lebanon. Fifteen nations are to present their views Thursday.

The general debate is scheduled to end Friday. A U.N. spokesman said assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan hopes to obtain agreement then on a deadline for submission of new resolutions.

The assembly has before it three resolutions—from the United States, the Soviet Union and Albania. None is given a chance of obtaining, in its present form, the two-thirds vote necessary for approval.

The assembly is expected to recess after the general debate ends, for prhaps as long as a week, while the private consultations continue.

Soviet sources said the Soviets are sticking by their resolution. It calls for condemnation of Israel as the aggressor against Egypt, Jordan and Syria, withdrawal of its troops from the Arab territory it seized in the six-day war that began June 5 and payment of reparations for Arab property destroyed.

Lake Catch Is Greatest Since 1962

Lake J. B. Thomas caught over 3½ feet of water from Monday's rains.

At 8 a.m. today, with the drain-off from Bull Creek and from the river virtually exhausted, the elevation of the lake stood at 2245.81. This is 3.65 feet higher than the elevation of Sunday, before the latest rains.

The newest catch was made despite a break in the Bull Creek diversion dam (see picture on page 9) which allowed some of the higher floodwaters to by-pass the lake. However, Bull Creek put a good stream into the lake for several hours as a result of heavy rains over Borden County and West Scurry County.

O. H. Ivie, Manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said that the latest rains made June the fourth most productive month for the Lake Thomas watershed. The lake has not made a greater catch during a single month since 1962.

This morning's elevation was only a little over 12 feet below the elevation of the service spillway.

Hussein Expected To Request Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan is expected to ask President Johnson to help bail out his battered nation—No. 1 loser in the Arab-Israeli war—when the two talk at the White House today.

U.S. officials said Hussein's expected appeal for help will meet with sympathy from the President. But they said Israeli occupation of some of Jordan's most valuable territory makes unclear what action the United States could take.

Behind administration sympathy for Hussein and his nation is the king's long-time stance as the most pro-Western head of state in the Arab world. There also is recognition that Jordan needs speedy assistance in easing the burden of daily increasing numbers of refugees from land now held by the Israelis.

Officials note, however, that the refugee problem is international in scope and has been handled most effectively by the U.N. Relief and Work Agency, financed to a great extent by the United States.

Hussein, officials feel, does not come to Washington to speak for all the Arabs. He accomplished this part of his mission when he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Monday.

On the main problem, how to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute and prevent new hostilities, there is little Johnson and Hussein can do immediately, officials believe.

Hussein must be very careful not to detach himself to the slightest degree from the rigid Arab policy line, American experts say. His grandfather, King Abdallah, was assassinated in 1948 when it was only rumored that he was ready to negotiate peace with Israel.

Hussein, then a young man, was at his grandfather's side and saw the assassination.

Muggy Heat Grips State

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muggy summer heat tightened its grip on most of Texas today, although showers skipping across the countryside kept parts of the Panhandle comfortable.

Humidity mounted across much of the state as warm, damp air flowed inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

As much as .38 inch of rain fell at Dalhart before dawn.

Clouds moving toward the southeast also brought light rain at Dumas, Spearman, Pampa, Wheeler, McLean, Wellington and Shamrock.

Forecasters looked for scattered showers or thunderstorms again this evening and Thursday through the western third of the state. A little cooling was predicted for the Panhandle by Thursday afternoon.

Cotulla again was the hottest spot in the state with a top temperature of 103 degrees Tuesday. San Angelo and Waco recorded 102, Del Rio, Junction and Laredo 101 and Austin and Presidio 100.

Road Work Contract Let

The Texas Highway Commission has awarded a contract for construction work on 9.28 miles of Farm Roads 1606 and 1613 in Scurry and Fisher Counties.

T. M. Brown and Sons, Inc., submitted the low bid of $195,403.68 on the project. The contract calls for grading, structures, base and surfacing.

It is expected to take 125 working days, according to J. C. Roberts, District Highway Engineer at Abilene.

Homer Ray, Resident Engineer at Snyder, will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

High School Office To Close For Month

The Snyder High School office will be closed after Friday, June 30, until August 1.

Contestants may register immediately after the parade at the pumphouse on the Towle Park lake bank. The fishing rodeo will be conducted between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded.

Meanwhile plans for the annual July 4th Art Show were moving along. Entries must be brought to the Towle Park Barn between the hours of 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. July 3.

Art will show in three divisions, with first, second and third place ribbons to be awarded in the senior-professional division, the senior-amateur division, and the junior division.

Also, traveling trophies will be awarded to the overall best in each division.

Artists may enter landscapes, still life or portraits. The entry fee in the adult divisions is $1 per painting, and in the junior division the fee is 50 cents per painting.

Johnson To Ink Debt Limit Hike

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) —Congress has sent to the White House for President Johnson's certain signature a bill to raise the national debt limit on Saturday to $358 billion, highest ceiling in history.

The measure, which Johnson asked for and is certain to sign into law by Friday — when the current $336-billion temporary ceiling expires — would raise the limit another $7 billion to $365 billion on July 1, 1968.

In practical terms, the proposed over-all increase in the ceiling represents the amount of cash it would take to buy 9 millions cars costing $3,000 each or more than 1.2 million homes priced at $22,000 each.

The measure will bring an immediate $22-billion increase in the debt ceiling.

The temporary $336-billion limit expires Friday midnight. Without the bill, the ceiling would revert on Saturday to the permanent debt limit of $285 billion, established in 1959.

This would mean the government would be insolvent, since the actual debt will be an estimated $327 billion as of Saturday.

The full $80-billion increase in the permanent ceiling provided by the bill when the $365-billion limit goes into effect in mid-1969 is the second largest in history. During World War II Congress voted an $85-billion hike.

The Senate cleared the legislation to the White House late Tuesday on a 60-30 vote after an afternoon of debate in which administration forces narrowly beat off several amendments.

Had any of these been adopted, the bill would have been forced into conference with the House, causing uncertainty as to whether it could have gone to Johnson before Congress begins its 10-day July 4th recess Thursday.

Firm Refuses To Accept Own Card

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Postal officials said a Denver insurance firm refused to accept one of its business reply postal cards from a Tuscon, Ariz., man.

The card was pasted on brown paper wrapped around a brick. The postage due was $4.57.

The encased brick, weighing more than five pounds, carried no return address.

Solons Unlikely To Rush Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite prodding this week from two influential administration figures, Congress is unlikely to begin considering until late summer the income tax surcharge President Johnson proposed six months ago.

Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board renewed Monday the call for a surcharge, saying he would support a steeper increase than the proposed six per cent if needed to combat inflation.

Then on Tuesday, Chairman Gardner Ackley of Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers again urged congressional consideration of the surcharge, saying no figure lower than six per cent would do the job.

But the congressional timetable appears to rule out hearings at least until August, even if Johnson were to send to Capitol Hill legislation spelling out his tax proposals—which he has not done.

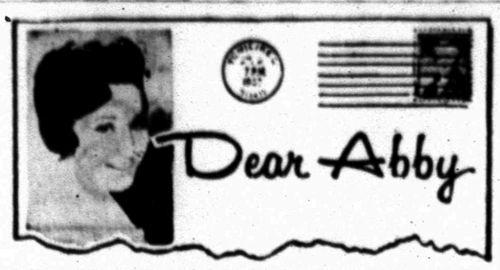

There were indications Johnson, who originally asked for an increase effective Saturday, might be happy to have one six months later.

The House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax legislation must originate, is nowhere near finished with its consideration of a complex bill to amend the Social Security System and related programs such as medicare. The House begins a 10-day July 4 recess Thursday, as does the Senate.

Commitee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has said the committee may have a Social Security bill ready in July, but other committee members speculate about dates like Aug. 15. Another week or 10 days would be required for House consideration and passage, and the committee would not take up another major measure during this period.

Hearings on a tax increase, if any are held, are likely to be prolonged. Although the administration would like to confine the issue to a simple yes or no on an increase in personal and corporate income taxes, spokesmen for a variety of views will be pressing for a chance to voice them.

Ackley, appearing Tuesday before the Senate-House Economic Commitee, ran into demands that the administration consider closing loopholes in present tax laws to increase its revenues, rather than seeking an across the board raise.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend is a brilliant college graduate with a Master's degree, and she earns $20,000 per year. I never went past high school, and I earn $5,000 per year. We go out three times a week and she likes to go to all the most expensive places, and she being sort of the leader, that is where we invariable go.

I could have just as good a time at a less expensive place, but I don't want to look cheap by making an issue of it, so we always end up going to the expensive places.

Naturally, I pay the tab. I am supporting my aged mother and a child by a previous marriage, and these dates are more than I can afford. My girl friend supports no one but herself and apparently doesn't realize my situation. I'm afraid if I tell her she will either have to go to less expensive places or help pay the tab, I will lose her. What is your advice in this case?

POOR MALE

DEAR MALE: Tell her that you enjoy her company, but you can't afford her tastes, and if that if she wants to continue to enjoy your company, she will either have to adjust to your standards, or help foot the bill. And if you lose her before you go broke, it'll be a break for you.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that an OPAL will place a curse on the person who buys it if it's not the person's birthstone?

LOVES OPALS

DEAR LOVES: Only if that person can't meet the payments.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal 17-year-old girl with very strict parents. The only time I get away from home is to spend the week - end with my girlfriend, and then I run with a pretty wild crowd. I've never been thrown in jail or anything like that, but most of my friends have, and I know a person is judged by the company she keeps.

I finally got a date with a decent boy for a change and I acted as nice as I knew how. All he got from me was a goodnight kiss. After two dates he stopped calling me. He must have heard about my reputation and it scared him off.

Abby, how can I let him know I'm really not that bad, and have a bad reputation only because of my friends? I like him very much and wonder if you can help me get him back?

BAD NAME

DEAR BAD NAME: Unfortunately a reputation can be damaged overnight, but it can't be repaired that fast. You earned it, so now you had better set about living it down and building up a "new one."

Only by consistent good behavior, and staying strictly away from "bad" company, can you prove to people that you aren't the kind of girl they thought you were.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am tired of people who insinuate that "working wives" have it made. They tell me, I GET to go out to work every day; I don't have to work in the house all day; the kids don't run me nuts, etc. Please inform them that I don't GET to go to work every day. I HAVE to.

I work in an office all day and then go home to do what the non-working wife has all day to do. I am dog tired, but I still have the same duties to perform. And get this — if any of my non-working relatives telephone me on Saturday morning and find me still asleep at 9 or 10, and make some remark about how "lazy" I am, I'll let them have it.

When I call them from work on my lunch hour the line is busy or I wake them up. I'd like all non-working women to know that the working woman really works!

Jury Wants Look At Powell Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury wants a look at Adam Clayton Powell's expense records as part of its probe of the elected but unseated congressman's affairs.

Powell, a Democrat from Harlem, was excluded from the House at the start of the current session because of alleged financial misconduct.

The grand jury's request for travel vouchers and telephone costs of Powell and his staff was revealed Tuesday when the House clerk and sergeant-at-arms said they have been subpoenaed to bring the records to a grand jury session Aug. 7 in Washington and the House gave its required approval.

Powell, a Negro, told a news conference Tuesday at his Bahamian retreat on Bimini that he would be willing to accept censure by the House—the punishment meted out by the Senate last week against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Connm, also accused of financial misconduct.

But Rep. Emanuel Celler, D N.Y., who headed the House committee that probed Powell's financial affairs, said he sees no chance his colleagues would be willing to admit Powell and then censure him.

Powell was re-elected overwhelmingly in April to the seat vacated by his exclusion from the House. But he has not attempted again to be seated: Instead he has pursued his court bid to overturn his original exclusion.

Edith Green May Win New Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., appears on the verge of another triumph over the Office of Education in her fight to enlarge the role of states in federal education programs.

The Senate is expected to give approval today to a bill redirecting the Teacher Corps along lines laid down by Mrs. Green in the House Education and Labor subcommittee she heads. On Tuesday, the House overwhelmingly supported the new look for the Teacher Corps.

Coming less than a month after the House backed her effort to shift a major elementary school program from the Office of Education to the states, the latest move stamps Mrs. Green as one of the most powerful women ever to serve in the House.

When the Teacher Corps was launched two years ago, the U. S. commissioner of education recruited, trained and assigned corps members. Under Mrs Green's amendments, state and local authorities take over all these responsibilities.

The significance of the change was summed up neatly by one of the amendments, which changed the name of the program from National Teacher Corps to Teacher Corps.

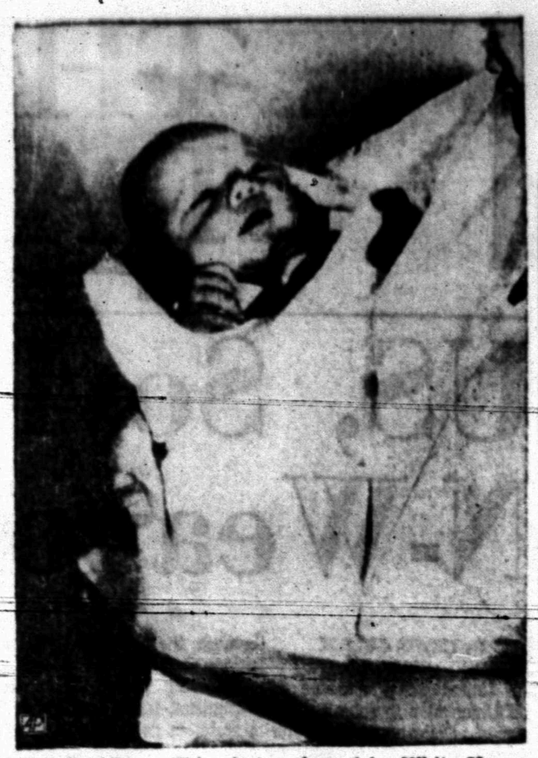

"It is now a local program carried out by local authorities to meet local needs," Mrs. Green told the House Tuesday. The bill including the Teacher Corps was passed 311 to 88, and no attempt was made to restore the commissioners lost authority.

House leaders and administration supporters on the Education and Labor Committee learned not to tangle with Mrs. Green, tagged by one colleague as "the gentlelady from Oregon," when the elementary school bill was on the floor last month.

Backed by Republicans and Southern Democrats, she routed her foes and put through several amendments that could alter other programs if the Senate goes along with the House.

With that bitter lesson fresh in their minds, her foes capitulated in committee, allowing a show of unanimity in the House Tuesday.

The final surrender came after an eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation between Mrs. Green and Education Commissioner Harold Howe II in the House Office Building. It lasted four hours, and it was Howe who blinked. His allies on the committee accepted her changes and the bill was approved.

Differences Seen In Havana Talks

By FENTON WHEELER

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro have disagreed in their talks, the official Soviet news agency Tass indicated today.

Tass reported from Havana that the two leaders had "a frank exchange" of opinions Tuesday on a number of questions of mutual interest.

Use of the word "frank" in such announcements normally means disagreement. There was no mention of "identity of views" or any other phrasing indicating accord, although Tass called the talks "friendly."

Tass did not disclose subjects discussed, but the makeup of the Cuban delegation meeting with Koygin indicated military matters were covered. Four of the nine top Cubans listed by Tass as participating in the talks were military leaders.

They were Defense Minister Raul Castro, Fidel's brother; First Deputy Defense Minister Juan Almeida, and Deputy Defense Ministers Sergio Del Valle and Guillermo Garcia.

It was the first report of Raul Castro's return to his defense post since an announcement March 24 that he had stepped down temporarily. Fidel had said earlier in the year that Raul planned to take time off to study military, political, economic and technical subjects.

Disagreement between Kosygin and Castro had been expected. Diplomatic sources said they believed Kosygin's chief aim was to get the Cuban leader to mute his demands for the overthrow of Latin-American governments with which the Soviet Union is seeking to trade and that Castro was certain to refuse.

Kosgin, who arrived in Havana from New York Monday, is expected to continue his talks with Castro until Friday, then fly to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle again.

French government sources said De Gaulle would receive Kosygin Saturday, apparently for a fill-in on the discussions the Soviet premier had with President Johnson.

Kosygin interrupted his journey to New York for the U.N. General Assembly session on the Middle East to confer with De Gaulle. The French sources said the meeting Saturday, like the one on June 16, was requested by Kosygin.

Informants said Kosygin was expected to spend today resting up from his crowded nine-day visit to the United States. He was reported to have taken time off Tuesday to tour sections of Havana.

TESCO Pushes Cotton Research

Can certain cotton products be manufactured right here in West Texas more economically than in other parts of the country?

That's what research economists are trying to find out in a study sponsored by Texas Electric Service Company.

The Cotton Research Committee of Texas and its Cotton Economic Research Division of the University of Texas are in the process of making a cotton utilization study in the cotton - growing areas served by Texas Electric Service Company in West Texas.

"Helpful information obtained from this study will be made available to major textile manufacturing companies and to chamber of commerce and industrial development groups of the communities served by Texas Electric Service in West Texas," said Burl B. Hulsey Jr., president and general manager of the company, in announcing the program.

The study will determine the quality of cotton grown in this area and what products can be manufactured from it. Market consideration will be explored to determine which products could be most logically manufactured in the local community and profitabley marketed throughout the southwest and entire nation.

"Cotton authorities and others involved in the textile industry have indicated that a study of his type will be most helpful in encouraging textile manufacturers to establish facilities in West Texas," Hulsey added.

"This study is part of Texas Electric Service Company's continuing industrial development program to help attract industry and create new jobs which are compatible with the raw materials and economy of the West Texas area we serve," he said.

Sharp Clash At Trial Of Medders

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

GAINESVIILLE, Tex. (AP)—A defense lawyer for Ernest and Margaret Medders accused their prosecutor today of trying to impeach his own witness.

Jack Gray made the accusation as Cooke County Atty. Bill Sullivant was questioning Colonial Acres Farm manager Eugene Riggs on direct examination.

The clash followed heated exchanges between the attorneys Tuesday after testimony began upon the seating of a four-woman, eight-man jury.

Riggs, called by the prosecution, commenced to give testimony which backed up the defense's contention that while Mr. and Mrs. Medders did sell mortgaged cattle, they did not try to defraud anyone.

Sullivant at one point charged Riggs with being a "hostile witness." Gray countered shortly thereafter that Sullivant was "trying to impeach your own witness."

Riggs is the son of Mrs. Medders by a previous marriage.

The Medders gained considerable social prominence in recent years through the lavish parties they threw at Colonial Acres, near the North Texas town of Muenster. They are now bankrupt.

The couple is under felony indictment for selling mortgaged cattle.

Gray and John Sullivan, another defense lawyer, charged repeatedly Tuesday that Sullivant was asking irrelevant questions and was trying to stray from the bounds of the indictment.

No Gloves, No Shoes, No Nothing

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON — What's the newest in swinging London?

The no-glove glove, and the no-shoe shoe.

What, no glove to a glove and no-shoe to a shoe?

None to speak of, but enough to write about.

The no-glove glove is a glove or tongs, or slings, that entwine a lady's fingers and wrists.

They are said to be wonderful for hot days and for girls who lose their gloves on hot, cold, cool or warm days.

In purple, celadine, orange, turquoise, white and black, the no-glove gloves cost about $1.75.

The no-shoe shoe is a bare sole, with thongs that coyly wrap around the big toe and then twine around the ankle. They are said to be super for the beach and night clubs.

As today's mod-dancing leaves a space of about a yard between the dolly and her date, those unprotected tootsies are not likely to suffer bruising from heavy-footed fellows.

The innovator of London's no-shoe shoe, Robert Lambert, says they are great for wearing with caftans, trouser suits and miniskirts.

The no-shoe shoe retails at $2 to $3.

The no-glove glove and the no-shoe shoe vogue started with the no-bra bra, and the no-need for garterbelt stockings.

Carried to its logical conclusion, this no-no business must lead eventually to the no-dress dress.

VARGAS OF BRAZIL, By John W. F. Dulles (University of Texas Press, $8.50)

Getulio Vargas pretty well dominated Brazilian politics from 1930 until he shot himself in 1954. At times he ruled as a constitutional president and at other times as a paternalistic dictator.

The ups and downs of this complex but colorless man are related in a political biography just published by The University of Texas Press and written by John W. F. Dulles, professor of Latin American studies at the University of Texas.

Americans are antagonistic to dictators of any shade. But there is this to remember. Vargas wiped out a budding Nazi Party in the days of World War II and then stopped a Communist build-up.

Both these actions were in line with United States policy without, apparently, being forced upon him. In fact, the United States had few difficulties with Vargas.

His demise did not mean that democracy arrived in Brazil. It only resulted in a military take-over. He killed himself while the generals still were in session and moments after they decided to depose him.

Dulles' generally favorable biography notes that Vargas did many things that helped Brazil.

Perhaps his major contribution was that he halted the power of the feudal lords of the states and pulled the country together to make a nation. He also provided a large measure of stability.

Vargas was a man who knew better than to move precipitously and thereby received considerably enmity. But this trait did help him maneuver successfully for many years in a complex situation where he was unwilling to use his great powers to cynically crush his foes. — The AP.

THE MEANING OF COMMERCIAL TELEVISION, a seminar edited by Stanley T. Donner (University of Texas Press, $4.50)

The average television viewer may decide that the pattern of programs and commercials is well set. But this is not necessarily the viewpoint of the more thoughtful of the industry's leaders.

This is discernable in a collection of speeches made at the Texas-Standord Seminar in 1966 at Asilomar, Calif. It was a closed session until now.

The industry is still struggling with many problems, including those of taste of both programs and commercials, the problem of reaching more persons and the lack of sufficient channels and the ways of filling some channels still open in some areas.

For instance, thrown out for consideration was the transmission of commercials in half-hour blacks, as is done in Germany. Amid the cry for better taste was one individual who said one channel should be set aside exclusively for persons of very low taste — that this was the democratic way.

One speaker noted that television had reversed the historical process where quality was set by those of education and discernment and the remainder of the citizens strove for this. The impact of television trying to reach a mass audience, often fails to improve the standards of the viewer.

The fact that powerful television does have real problems may be of some comfort to those in other advertising media.

The seminar did clarify some problems but really offered no solutions, for there is a vast gap between discussion and action.— The AP.

NO MORE THAN FIVE IN A BED, By Sandra Dallas (University of Oklahoma Press, $5.95)

"No More than Five in a Bed" is a new book of history about Colorado hotels before the start of this century.

The book describes hotels that ranged from little better than fleabags to costly, impressive establishments with the decorations and food as good as any in the nation.

Many of the hotels remain, although most have been converted to other uses.

The title, which indicates it is a rollicking story of early - day travel discomforts, is not carried out in the book itself. Neither is it well noted that many of the hotels were built for persons escaping to a more healthful climate before modern medicine made all climates reasonably healthy.

One of the hotels, we were glad to note, held a vast superiority over all the rest. It had a double-decker privy.—The AP.

Hearty Sandwich Uses Canned Hash As A Filling

If appetites loom large as out-of-doors activities take over, it's smart to look for hearty sandwiches to satisfy them.

Keep canned corned beef hash on the pantry shelf for a snappy sandwich filler. Catsup, soy sauce and onion add a zippy note to the meat-potato mixture while grated American cheese is a tasty topping.

Corned Beef Hash Sandwich Filling

1 can (15½ ounces) corned beef hash
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons soy sauce
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 cup grated American cheese

Separate corned beef hash with a fork. Combine catsup, soy sauce and onion. Add cheese and corned beef hash. Mix well. Chill. Yield: 2½ cups.

Know how to prepare tomatoes for stuffing? Cut a slice (about ¼-inch thick) from the top of each tomato. With a teaspoon, scoop out the pulp and seeds from the center, leaving a substantial "wall." Invert tomato cups to drain before stuffing.

Captain Of Texas Rangers Object Of Sharp Censure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee drew sharp censure Tuesday from a witness before a House Agriculture subcommittee.

Dennis Chavez Jr., lawyer son of the late New Mexico Senator, asserted Allee was "a known killer" being used to force Mexican - American field hands to work for 40 cents an hour.

Declaring Mexican-Americans in the Southwest have been abused and neglected by the government, Chavez also praised Reies Tijerana, accused of leading a recent outbreak over disputed land claims in New Mexico.

Chavez spoke of a farm workers' strike in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, where he said Mexican nationals have been used to replace Mexican-Americans demanding higher pay.

"In Texas they use the Texas Rangers led, by the notorious Capt. A. Y. Allee, the fastest gun, who is a known killer, a professional Mexican hater whose saying is, 'Shoot first and talk later,' to maim and pistol whip Spanish speaking Americans to pick melons for the entrenched growers at 40 cents an hour," he said.

"In 1948, Gov. Coke Stevenson, running in the primary against L. B. Johnson for the Senate, sent his notorious killer and his Texas Rangers to Jim Wells County to burn ballot boxes when he knew that 97 per cent of the vote was Spanish speaking.

"In California the growers use goons against a national union of the AFL-CIO to force Mexican-American farm workers to work for peon wages."

Chavez estimated that, including Puerto Ricans and Cuban refugees, there are 15 million people of Spanish speaking background in the United States. Previous witnesses have estimated there are about five million such citizens in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California.

Second Front In Valley Labor Rift

By GARY GARRISON

RIO GRANDE CITY (AP) — Counsel for both sides opened a "second front" today in legal wrangling over union efforts to organize farm workers and packing shed employes in Starr County.

Lawyers for La Casita Farms went into the activities of a labor union in support of their request for a permanent injunction against picketing at the melon and vegetable farm.

The injunction hearing entered a second day before Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin in 79th District Court while a National Labor Relations Board hearing on a disputed election at Starr Produce Co. opened a floor below in the yellow brick courthouse.

Word came from Washingtonn meanwhile, that the Senate subcommittee on migratory labor, scheduled to open a two-day hearing in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Thursday, may be delayed by a day. Subcommitee members are involved in legislation aimed at averting a possible nationwide railroad strike, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Lawmakers due to attend that hearing are Sens. Harrison Willd iams Jr., D-N.J., Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., meeting here Thursday and at Edinburg Friday.

The NLRB hearing on three cases arising over a Feb. 9 union representation vote at the produce firm opened this morning. The election ended in a 14-14 tie, but there were three challenged ballots.

Both the NLRB hearing and the injunction request hearing stem from year-long efforts of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee to organize the mostly Mexican-American field hands in this border county.

The union seeks a $1.25 an hour minimum wage and contracts for the farm workers.

La Casita lawyers presented 18 witnesses during two sessions totaling nearly nine hours Tuesday in an effort to win a permanent ban on picketing at the 1,700 acre farm.

"We intend to show there is no labor dispute — there are no grounds for what they have done," La Casita lawyer Morris Atlas of McAllen said.

His partner, Gary Guriwitz, obtained Judge Laughlin's permission to offer testimony about a dispute between two leaders of the union when it began options here 13 months ago.

Guriwitz argued, "This again shows the violence involved. That's the only way they know how to react, with violence, not only between the union and La Casita, the largest farm in Starr County, employs 50 to 240 workers, depending on the season. It has been the principal target of the union's campaign.

Eugene Nelson, the Delano, Calif., union organizer who started the local chapter but has been in the background since late last fall and now plans to return to California and write a book, testified that the union did and does have members at La Casita.

Plaque Tells What Not To Look For

MENTONE, Tex. (AP)—This tiny Loving County town has been accorded the dubious honor of a historical marker calling attention to its deficiencies.

The 18x28-inch cast aluminmum marker is at the intersection of U.S. 285 and 302, six miles southwest of the town (pop. 42) in neighboring Reeves County.

According to the marker's legend, Mentone is the "only town in Loving County, last organized, most sparsely populated county in Texas." Visitors are told what not to look for—including a municipal water, system, bank, doctor, lawyer, hospital, newspaper or cemetery.

Another Day Of Pouring Asphalt Under The Hot Sun

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For six years, Volume Dingle made a living pouring asphalt under the hot Miami sun.

He pinched his pennies and dreamed of the day when he would have a down payment on a house that would take him out of a Negro slum.

Every week, Dingle salted away $6 in a deposit box at the Post Office. In six years it added up to $1,800.

Dingle took the money home Monday and told a real estate company to send a man out. But the agent couldn't come until Tuesday, so Dingle put the money in a pair of old work pants and hid them in his room before going to work.

Ready to move to the new home, Dingle's wife cleaned house for the last time. She found the old pants and threw them on the trash heap.

When Dingle got home and heard what had happened, he rushed outside. The trash had been removed.

He searched the trash truck and the dump, talked to the truck driver. No pants. Authorities believe they probably were burned.

Tuesday was supposed to be moving day. For Dingle it was just another day of work, pouring asphalt under the hot sun.

The Needy Are Losers I
New York Welfare Dispu

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The young man and his wife sat on the wooden chairs in the sterile gray and green room and held hands. He was 22 and she was 18. They had been married four months. They were being evicted from their apartment and hadn't eaten in three days.

They were losers—two of the 650,000 persons on the city's welfare rolls.

This month many of them are losers—caught in the middle of a situation they didn't want, didn't cause and don't need.

It started 10 days ago when about 80 per cent of the Department of Welfare's case workers began refusing to do their assigned tasks in a demonstration to underscore a contract dispute with the city.

To avoid breaking a state law prohibiting strikes by public employes, they went to work but did no work, meeting in seminars instead.

A few days later, the city decided that if the case workers wanted to hold seminars, they could hold them just as well on the sidewalk, and permitted only those willing to perform "assigned work" to enter the welfare centers.

At some of the city's 33 centers, those willing to work under the specified conditions numbered only two or three of a normal staff of 100 or more. Supervisory personnel and office help were brought in to replace missing case workers.

It hasn't been enough. Welfare Department spokesmen say that the temporary setup has been sufficient to maintain least emergency services.

Some doubt it.

"This is our third day he the young husband said. "T time we come about 10 i morning and at 4 in the noon they give us car tell us to come back to They give us numbers us in order. Today I g ber 87. About 12:30 they ber 45. They haven't another number since."

It was then 2 p.m

"We owe 3½ wee man said. "This landlord told us h any more. They us today."

The union's action now threatens to spread to the city's three children's shelters, the institutions run to care for children whose mothers cannot be with them during the day.

One of the welfare recipients affected by the dispute says he couldn't care less which side is right or who will win. All he knows is that he is losing.

There was one man who had to plead with a policeman to put him on a subway free so he could ride 54 blocks to his center to sit all day and hope someone would give him money for a small dinner and train fare home.

No one did.

Another man had been waiting for a welfare check two weeks overdue. He had been living for two weeks on handouts from friends. Tuesday, he said, "I ran out of friends."

The administrators who have continued working, and the office people filling the gaps, are distressed by the dispute.

"What are you going to do?" one working administrator said. "My people aren't striking for money. They're out fighting for protection for when they have to go into slum areas on field calls. They deserve the protection. But 650,000 people also deserve to eat and sleep with a roof over their heads.

"This isn't a clear-cut issue. It's just a tragedy."

Martin To Talk Against Wage Law

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is preparing to ask the U.S. Supreme Court to declare unconstitutional a 1966 law that provides federal minimum wage coverage for employes of state institutions and public schools.

A three-judge federal court in Baltimore issued an order Monday denying a permanent injunction against enforcement of the law and dismissing the suit against it by Texas and 25 other states.

Martin contends the 1966 amendment to the federal wage and hour laws is an unconstitutional interference in state affairs.

Martin has said all state employes are provided salaries over the minimum wage but added that a provision that they must be paid time and a half for overtime would add $14 million a year to Texas government costs. Employes now receive compensatory time off, on an hour for hour basis.

The Baltimore court dismissed the 26 states' case without entering an order on the constitutionality of the law. The three judges were divided.

In its order Monday, the court extended for 50 days its previous temporary restraining order against enforcement of the law and gave the states the right to request further extensions until the Supreme Court acts on an appeal.

An official in Martin's department said he expects the restraining order will be extende until the high court finally decides the case.

The three judges enter three separate opinions, one holding the 1966 amendmen the federal wage and hour l one holding it unconstitut and a third upholding the imum wage provision bu tending it is unconstituti require states to pay ti one-half for overtime.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Horne Phillips, handling the for Martin, said Texas ha days in which to appeal. said Martin probably wo wait a while before filing ice of appeal. The Supre ourt is in recess until Octo Phillips said the state want have the case up before th urt when it convenes.

"WE'LL SHOW THEM!"

Johnson's Reply To Critics One Of His Best Speeches

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every once in a while President Johnson reveals, after 30 years in public life, his extreme sensitivity to criticism. He doesn't do it often, at least directly and in public.

But it happened again in a speech he gave Tuesday at the national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Baltimore, although why he did it isn't clear. The speech patched together a number of things he had on his mind.

In most of this hectic month, with the Middle East war and the United Nations debate Johnson was crowded out of sight except for the few days covering his summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

This didn't leave much room for his critics, but they squeezed in.

After his first session with Kosygin last Friday, Johnson flew to a Democratic fund raising dinner in Los Angeles. About 7,000 anti-Vietnam war demonstrators some bearded, some in sandals, milled around the hotel where he spoke.

Some of their signs said "Stop LBJ's war" and "LBJ is blood to Vietnamese—the blood of 10,000 American boys." A three-page advertisement in the Los Angeles Times bore the names of 8,000 "Dissenting Democrats" protesting the war.

Johnson, who had just spent hours with the Soviet leader discussing the possibility of bringing peace to both Vietnam and the Middle East, was hustled into the hotel through a back door.

And after Johnson's final meeting with Kosygin on Sunday, when both men said they had reached no agreement on Vietnam or the Middle East, some of the commentators were pessimistic that much, if anything had been accomplished.

Still unknown of course, is whether the two men, although failing to agree on how to settle the two issues, agreed to work behind the scenes to bring a settlement about.

All this may have been high in Johnson's consciousness Tuesday when he talked to the Jaycees in Baltimore.

After talking about the progress of the American society—particularly under his leadership and administration—and about the problem of improving the life of mankind, he reminded his listeners: "Our problems are many, our solutions are few."

Then he hit the critics as the "cussers and the doubters."

But this wasn't the only side to his talk. In many ways it sounded like a campaign speech with its list of accomplishments, although the campaign is more than a year away.

Taken as a whole however, this expressed pride in American progress, with the numerous illustrations he gave, can be taken as part of Johnson's answer to his critics, indirectly.

Johnson used this speech to explain once again that his session with Kosygin was not a lost weekend.

He said he and Kosygin "religiously, dedicatedly and determinedly" worked for two days in the world's interest at trying to understand the American and Soviet motivations and commitments.

Nowhere has Johnson or Kosygin said they did not work out some understanding for working quietly to restore peace, through the various governments involved, in Vietnam and the Middle East.

In the sense of presentation Tuesday's was one of Johnson's best speeches, perhaps mainly becaue for part of it he spoke off the cuff without total reliance on the prepared text put together by his speech-writers.

In public Johnson is at his best and most convincing when he has no text. With a text he is at his worst.

Perhaps this is because his speech-writers manufacture what they think are short and simple sentences but which turn out to be unnatural because of the various literary devices they rely on.

Johnson does better when he relies on himself.

Most Typical New Yorkers Are Visitors

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the great American myths is "the typical New Yorker."

By tradition, the typical New Yorker is a sophisticated fellow who hobnobs with celebrities, dwells in a penthouse, reads all the latest best sellers, eats only at the fanciest restaurants, spends his evenings at night clubs, gets daily inside tips on what to buy in Wall Street, and knows whom to call at City Hall if he wants to get a traffic ticket fixed.

He's a "guy in the know," and compared to him anybody who dwells west of the Hudson River is a hinterland hayseed.

Ah, me, if life were only like that!

After 30 years of dwelling in O. Henry's fabled Baghdad on the Subway, I've decided that when it comes to "the typical New Yorker" of romantic legend, there probably ain't no such animal.

The "typical New Yorker," if you do happen to meet one, usually turns out to be an out-of-towner here for a lark on a Texas-sized expense account.

"I don't see how you stand the pace here," he says, leaving for home after a week or two spent trying to paint the big city a vivid crimson. "It would get me down."

Such remarks make a real New Yorker want to slit the out-of-towner's throat quietly. For the real New Yorker, like most of his brethren across the country, has to make do on a pretty tight budget. He doesn't see as much of the high-living side of the city in a year as a fast-buck visitor sees in a few nights.

There has been a steady exodus of middle-class white people from the city for several decades. Now the middle-class Negroes and Puerto Ricans are doing the same thing. As soon as they can afford to, they also are moving out to the suburbs in Westchester County and Long Island.

It isn't the mass of natives who keep the $20-a-meal glitter spots and the big expensive Broadway musicals running. New York is a work city, rather than "Fun City," to them.

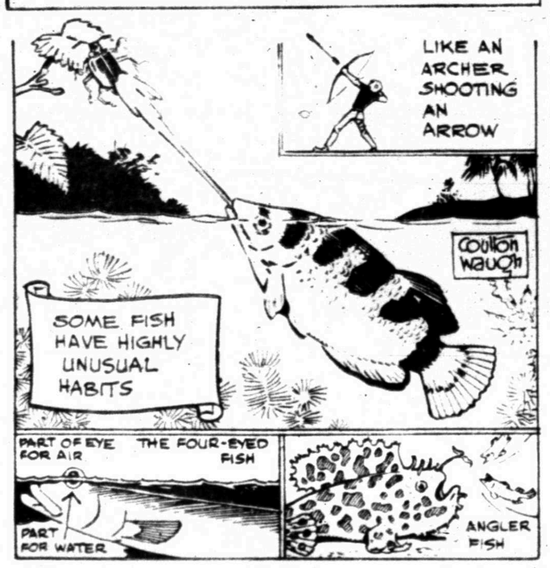

Your real New Yorker is a guy who labors at an anonymous skyscraper desk and selects his lunch from a drug counter menu.

Your real New Yorker is a Wall Street stenographer who pays more than she can afford for a tiny dark walkup apartment in a Greenwich Village building that would probably be condemned in Vermont as an eyesore.

But they all share that same big dream: to earn enough so they can move away to somewhere cleaner and less noisy and less expensive.

Then they can come back occasionally as tourists and enjoy the big city in the way that only the out-of-towner can, pockets loaded with butter-and-egg money burning to be spent.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHOOTING FISH

QUESTION: Can any fish shoot?

* * *

ANSWER: Fish have an amazing variety of accomplishments. There are fish that fly, fish that walk on their fins, fish that climb trees, fish that fish for other fish, and yes—there are fish which shoot. Our picture shows such a fish shooting. It is the remarkable archer fish of India and the Malay Archipelago. This little hunter is able to see from just below the surface and draw a bead on some insect crawling on a leaf or stem over the water. Then, splat! he shoots a stream of water at it, knocking it down to the surface where it can be grabbed easily. These fish can shoot up to 11 feet and rarely miss their victims. We show another wonder of the fish world, the four-eyed fish. It's large eye is divided across by a strip of skin; when the water level is just at this point, the upper part of the eye looks into the air and the lower part into the water. The angler fish grows a fishing rod from his nose with what looks like bait at the end. Small fish grabbing at the bait find themselves grabbed instead.

INJURIES STRIKE AL ALL-STARS

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski, still groggy from the effects of a persistent head cold, is the healthiest member of the American League's Big Three.

Yastrezemski had the sniffles today after returning to the Boston Red Sox' lineup in Tuesday night's 3-2 victory over Minnesota. But Al Kaline and Frank Robinson, the other two-thirds of the AL All-Star outfield, were far less fortunate.

Kaline, Detroit's injury-prone superstar, all but knocked himself out of the July 11 classic when he broke his right hand in a rare fit of temper during the slumping Tigers' 0-1 loss to Cleveland.

And Robinson, Baltimore's non-pareil slugger, was nursing a giant-size headache after suffering a slight concussion in a baseline collision with Chicago second baseman Al Weis as the first-place White Sox trimmed the Orioles 5-0.

Weis, however, was the unluckiest of all. He's out for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee.

In Tuesday nights other AL games the Washington Senators drubbed California 9-4 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 2-1 after losing their doubleheader opener 10-2.

The New York Mets whipped Pittsburgh 5-2; Philadelphia stopped the Chicago Cubs 4-2; Atlanta bombed Houston 13-5; Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 9-0 and San Francisco shut out St. Louis 6-0 in National League play.

Kaline, struck out by Cleveland's Sam McDowell in the sixth inning, returned to the dugout and slammed his bat into the bat rack, fracturing a metacarpal bone in his hand. He'll be out two or three weeks, according to Dr. Russell Wright, the Tigers' physician.

The 32-year-old outfielder, who led All-Star balloting with 242 of a possible 247 votes, was hitting .328, with 15 homers and 53 runs batted in. His freak injury, coupled with Detroit's month-long slump, dampens Tiger hopes for their first pennant since 1945.

McDowell scattered eight hits, and Chico Salmon drove in four runs with two doubles and a homer as the Indians extended Detroit's losing string to four games.

Robinson and Weis were injured when the Baltimore star slid into second base, breaking up a double play in the fourth inning. Robinson lay unconscious for five minutes. Both players then were sent to Baltimore's Sinai Hospital for X rays.

Robinson suffered a concussion and contusions over his left eye brow. He had trouble recalling the collision and was hospitalized overnight as a precautionary measure. He will be held out of the Orioles' line-ups for at least two days.

Weis was to fly back to Chicago today for immediate surgery. His injuries were diagnosed as a torn medial collateral ligament and a torn anterial cruciate ligament, both in the left knee.

"This takes away the taste of victory," Manager Eddie Stanky said after Joe Horlen, 9-1, had checked the Orioles on five hits. "I'd rather lose five games and have Weis."

Rookie Gary Waslewski posted his first victory in the majors, collaborating with reliever John Wyatt on a four-hiter as the Red Sox slipped past the Twins. Yastrzemski played 5½ innings after missing Monday night's game because of his heavy cold.

Tony Conigliaro clubbed a two-run homer off loser Dean Chance in the first inning and the Red Sox added a run in the seventh on singles by Jerry Adair, Bob Tillman and Reggie Smith. Tony Oliva homered for Minnesota in the second inning and singled across another run in the ninth against Wyatt.

Ken McMullen's three-run homer and a pair of bases-empty blasts by rookie Mike Epstein powered the Senators' 17-hit attack against the Angels. Paul Casanova had a single, double and triple for Washington as the AL tailenders ended right-hander Jim McGlothlin's winning string at five.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a three-hitter and Danny Cater drove in four runs with a single and double as the A's snapped New York's four-game victory streak in the opener at Kansas City.

The Yankees rebounded behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Verbanic and three relievers to gain a split. Horace Clarke and Dick Howser stroked run-scoring singles and left-hander Steve Hamilton stopped a KC comeback with 1⅓ innings of clutch relief.

Cards, Reds, Pirates Lose National Tilts

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the game, the Pittsburgh Pirates put on an act for Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. During the game, they put on an act worthy of Abbott and Costello.

The first act proved more profitable. At least several of the Pirates earned $100 each for it. They didn't get anything for the second act except a lot of confusion and a 5-2 loss to the New York Mets.

In the pre-game festivities, the Pirates and Mets acted out a triple play for a scene in the move, "The Odd Couple," which stars Matthau as a sloppy sports writer and Lemmon as his roommate who is obsessed with cleanliness.

In the scene, Bill Mazeroski—subbing for Roberto Clemente who rejected the $100 role—hits into the triple play.

In the game, the bizarre festivities centered around the part of the Pirate line-up that followed Mazeroski, the No. 5 hitter in the batting order.

In less zany National League games San Francisco blanked St. Louis 6-0, Atlanta clobbered Houston 13-5, Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 9-0 and Philadelphia stopped Chicago 4-2.

In the American League Chicago beat Baltimore 5-0, Boston edged Minnesota 3-2, Cleveland thumped Detroit 8-1, Kansas City walloped New York 10-2 before losing 2-1 and Washington defeated California 9-4.

The odd incident in the Pirate-Met game came in the third inning after Jose Pagan cut the New York lead to 5-2 with a two-run double. As Jim Pagliarone stepped into the batter's box, Mets Manager Wes Westrum emerged from the dugout.

"That man batted out of turn," Westrum told plate umpire Al Barlickm

"He did?" Barlick asked, somewhat surprised.

"Yes," Westrum coolly replied.

Indeed Pagan had batted out of turn. So had Gene Alley, who preceded Pagan with the second out in the inning.

As the puzzle became unraveled, the participants learned that in the official line-up handed Barlick and Westrum before the game, Pagan was listed as the sixth batter and Alley the seventh. But in the line-up listed on the scoreboard, Alley was No. 6 and Pagan No. 7.

And, unfortunately for the Pirates, they were following the scoreboard even though the correct, official line-up was posted in their dugout.

How did the scoreboard happen to be wrong? It seems a Pirate broadcaster asked Walker before the game for his line-up, and Walker reeled off—as it turned out, incorrectly—a batting order with Pagan following Alley.

"There were six million people asking me for my line-up," Walker said afterward. "I'll never give it out that way again."

The broadcaster, in the course of conversation, relayed the line-up to the man responsible for putting it on the scoreboard. So there it was.

Met coach Sheriff Robinson caught the discrepancy, but Westrum let it go through the first two innings when the reversal of Alley and Pagan did the Mets no harm.

The turn of events enabled the Mets to hold onto the victory behind a four-run first-inning outburst, capped by Ron Swoboda's three-run homer.

Mike McCormick scattered seven hits as San Francisco cooled off St. Louis, at least temporarily. Hal Lanier struck the big blow, a two-run double with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

Hank Aaron smashed his 19th and 20th homers, a grand slam and a two-run blast, for Atlanta. Houston starter Wade Blasingame, a Brave until recently, walked three men before Aaron connected in the third.

Don Sutton set down Cincinnati on two hits and received solid support from batterymate John Roseboro, who drove in four runs with a pair of doubles.

The Phillies snapped Chicago's winning streak at seven games. Don Lock's three-run homer in the third did the heavy damage to the Cubs, and Rick Wise stymied them on three hits before needing relief help from Dick Hall in the seventh.

Topple Tornado

NEW YORK (AP) — Sergio Silva scored two goals as the New York Skyliners defeated the Dallas Tornado 4-1 in a United Soccer Association match Tuesday night.

Silva's first goal came four minutes after Finn Dossing of Dallas tied the score at 1-1 with 22 minutes played. He added his second goal at 32 minutes.

A crowd of 4,213 watched the Skyliners win their second straight contest.

Juan Pintos opened the scoring at 15 minutes and Benedicto Ribiero added the final New York goal at the 64th minute.

Braves, A's Win In Little League

The Braves won again as they defeated the Giants 11-3, and the Athletics upset the Indians 7-1 in Tuesday's Little League action.

Steve Talbott, Ralph Lewis and Jimmy Dyess led the Braves to their eleventh straight win. Talbot collected three hits, Lewis hit a grand slam homer and Dyess struck out 14 batters in gaining the win for the Braves.

Lewis' grand slammer came in the third inning when John Boren reached base on a fielder's choice, and Mark Hargrove and Dyess walked before Lewis connected.

The Braves started their scoring in the third when they picked up four runs. The fifth inning, however, proved to be even more productive when the Braves scored seven runs on only one hit, a double by Boren.

The Giants scored single runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings, but could never mount a real threat to the large Brave lead.

Talbott reached base every time he appeared at the plate for the Braves. He walked once and collected three singles. He also scored once.

The win left the Braves undefeated and untied in the National League. They have a record of 11-0, and the Giants have a 4-7 mark.

Two doubles by Daryl Stokes and Aaron Hartsfield, and a home run by Joe Dale Price gave the A's a 4-0 lead over the Indians in the first inning, and from there they easily coasted to the win.

It was only the third win of the year for the last place Athletics, and it moved the White Sox and Indians into a tie for second place in the American League.

Hartsfield had two doubles for the A's in three trips to the plate and he also scored twice.

Price's homer in the first inning was a two run shot, and the A's scored four times on four hits in the first frame, three of them were extra base knocks.

The Indians scored their only run in the fifth inning when Hubert Crayton doubled in Charles Anderson.

David Jones was the winning pitcher for the A's. He struck out seven, but his main asset was getting the Indians out when they had men on base.

The win left the A's with a 3-8 record on the season, and the Indians now are 5-6.

Surprising Pasarell, Powerful Aussie Vie

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Charlie Pasarell, America's dark horse at Wimbledon, was aiming today for his second big upset victory in three days.

The 23-year-old tennis star from Santurce, P.R., knocked out reigning champion Manuel Santana of Spain in the first round Monday. This time he was to face Bob Hewitt, the powerful Australian who is now a member of South Africa's Davis Cup team.

Hewitt is unseeded, but is one of the fancied players here following South Africa's Davis Cup triumph over France in the semifinals of European Zone B Davis Cup competition. Hewitt shared South Africa's singles with Cliff Drysdale.

Two more Americans—Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., faced tough second-round matches today. Both had a chance to upset the form book and boost the United States' sagging reputation after a humiliating Davis Cup defeat by Ecuador.

Richey was to play Tony Roche, Australian left-hander who is the No. 4 seed.

Riessen was paired against the eighth-seeded Jan Leschly of Denmark.

Meanwhile, as the fans got over the shock of Santana's early defeat they were asking one big question—Can anyone stop Roy Emerson?

The wiry 30-year-old Australian is going for his third Wimbledon title in four years—and he has one of the easiest draws of any of the seeded players. Emerson was seeded second, after Santana.

Emerson's second-round opponent was Peter Curtis, a young Englishman who is tabbed for a bright future but is hardly ready yet to upset world-ranking stars.

The bookies have made Emerson a 4 to 5 favorite for the title.

Meanwhile Billie-Jean Moffitt King, the women's title holder, came through the ordeal of her opening match on center court Tuesday and defeated Ingrid Lofdahl of Sweden 8-6, 6-2.

SINKS PUTT—Gardner Dickinson is grim as he sinks a 22-foot putt on the 13th hole in the Cleveland Open golf tournament, which he won with a 72-hole total of 271. The putt put him 10 under par for the tournament. He finished nine under to win by four strokes. (AP Wirephoto)

Buffs, Dodgers In TL Victories

The Buffs won the battle for first place over the Rebels 3-1, and the Sports were defeated by the Dodgers 7-1 in Junior Teenage League games played Tuesday.

Mike Morris and Stewart Sims scored for the Buffs in the first inning, and it turned out that it was all that was needed for first place in the five team league.

Morris reached base on a single, and Sims reached first on an error, both scored on Rebels errors.

The Buffs scored again in the fourth inning when Bobby Thompson reached base on an error and scored on a sacrifice by Jim Province.

Brad Morgan was the winning pitcher for the Buffs. He struck out 13 batters, and was in very little trouble at any time. He struck out the side three different times, and allowed only one run on three hits, all of them singles.

Randy Levens scored the only run for the Rebels in the second inning, and it was unearned. He scored on a Buff error. Levens had two of three hits off of Morgan.

Morgan had the only extra base hit of the game, a double in the sixth inning. Morris had two singles to lead the Buff hitters in that department.

The win gave the Buffs some breathing room at the top with a 6-2 record while the Rebels have a 4-3 mark. The Rebels are now tied for second place with the Braves.

The Dodgers exploded for six runs in the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie and take the victory from the Sports.

Alberto Hernandez had two hits in the fifth inning driving in three of the Dodgers' runs in guiding the victory.

The Dodgers took an early lead in the first inning when Larry Braziel scored on Sport errors. The Sports tied the game in the fourth inning when Johnny Ramirez scored on a single by Terry Arnold.

Glen Rambin was the winning pitcher as he allowed only one run and three hits. He struck out eight batters, and proved to be tough with men on base.

The Dodgers are in fourth place with a 3-4 mark, and the Sports are in last place with a 2-6 season record.

A's, Braves In FL Wins

The Athletics beat the Indians 8-2 and the Braves beat the Giants 16-6 in Farm League games played Tuesday.

The A's scored five runs in the third inning to insure their victory over the Indians.

Ricky Tate, Bobby Thompson and Johnny Eicke led the big inning with three back to back singles driving in four of the five tallies.

Thompson had three hits in the game to lead the offensive charge of the Athletics. Tate had two base hits in three trips to the plae.

The Indians scored single runs in the first and fourth innings to complete their scoring. Willie Tippens was a standout for the Indians.

Eicke was the winning pitcher for the A's in a fine performance. He allowed only two runs in the six innings he pitched.

The win moved the Athletics into a third place tie with the Indians in the American League. Both have 3-8 records.

The Braves scored eleven runs in the first inning to defeat the Giants. Joel McCommas, Gary Wittie and Gayland Vaughan provided the hitting power for the big first inning scoring spurge.

The Giants scored all of their runs in the second inning when Glen Prescot and Clay Hill provided two singles to drive in runs.

Brian Bowers was the winning pitcher for the Braves, and he had only one bad inning when he allowed the six runs to score, but he didn't allow any to score in the other four frames he worked in.

The Braves are now 2-8 on the season, and the Giants are 6-3-1 on the year.

Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets and Ken Harrelson of the Washington Senators are NOT related.

Spurs Rip Sonics, 10-5

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last-place Dallas-Fort Worth gave second-place El Paso a helping hand Tuesday night by defeating Texas League leader Amarillo.

The Spurs' 10-5 victory reduced Amarillo's lead to three games after El Paso edged Albuquerque 3-1. In the other league game, Austin defeated third-place Arkansas 2-1.

Dallas-Fort Worth scored five times after two were out in the first inning off starter Gary Kroll, who lasted only that frame. Archie Reynolds of the Spurs, who gave up nine hits and the first home runs of the season for Amarillo's Elijah Johnson and John Griffin, went all the way for his fifth victotry.

The triumph left Dallas-Fort Worth 11½ games behind Amarillo as the Spurs reached the halfway point in the 140-game season. Amarillo, El Paso and Arkansas play their 70th games tonight.

El Paso catcher Tom Egans bases-loaded double scored all the Sun Kings' runs in the eighth inning. El Paso put together half its six hits off Albuquerque's Jim Roberts in that frame.

Big Plans In Offing For Buckpasser

NEW YORK (AP) — Buckpasser, the 1966 thoroughbred Horse of the Year, has been syndicated for a record $4.8 million for stud duty in 1968.

Ogden Phipps, owner of the famed 4-year-old colt who has won more than $1.3 million, said 16 of 32 shares had been sold to promient owners and breeders for $150,000 per share. Phipps said he was retaining the other 16 shares, or half interest.

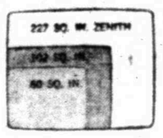

The syndication will not become effective until the son of Tom Fool-Busanda passes a fertility test. He is scheduled to stand at the Claiborne farm of Arthur "Bull" Hancock in Lexington, Ky.

The previous record for a syndicated stallion was the $2.6 million for Harbor View Farm's Raise A Native last February.

USDA Grading Is Guide In Selecting Suitable Meats

NEW YORK (AP) — It's probably easier to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear than it is to create a thick, tender, juicy steak out of the wrong grade of beef.

But a lot of people try anyway and end up with a disappointing mouthful of tough, stringy meat because they didn't pay attention to the little, shield-shaped purple stamp on their cut of meat.

"Success in preparing any meat dish," says the Department of Agriculture, "begins with the selection of a suitable quality and cut of meat."

Assuming the consumer knows what meat cut he wants, how does he determine its quality?

The five main USDA meat grades of prime, choice, good, standard and commercial are "plainly marked on the package or product" by a federal meat grader using a roller stamp. The stamp uses a "harmless purple vegetable coloring" as its ink and when the grade rolls it across the carcass it "leaves a ribbon-like imprint of the grade name on practically all the retail cuts."

Beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton and mutton are the types graded. Chicken, turkey, buter and eggs also are graded. Grades are available for a great many other products but these are not widely used.

Among the meats, pork is not graded because "pork basically is pork, it doesn't vary that much in quality," says a department spokesman, "also there isn't much demand by the industry for pork grading.

The grading service, unlike the government's inspections on a voluntary basis, but not at government expense.

"They pay a fee for the service if they wish to use it — and many do," a spokesman says. "They paid nearly $29 million for grading services in the year ending June 30."

Here is a breakdown of the meat grades and what they mean:

BEEF

—Prime is the top grade and is produced from young cattle. It is liberally marbled (fat interspersed within the lean), and roasts and steaks are consistently tender and juicy.

—Choice is of high quality but usually has less fat than prime. It also is tender and juicy.

—Good is lean but of fairly good quality. These cuts are relatively tender but lack juiciness and flavor associated with more marbling.

—Standard has little fat and a mild flavor. It lacks juiciness but is relatively tender.

—Commercial lacks tenderness and usually requires long, slow cooking with moist heat.

There are three other beef grades — canner, cutter and utility. Utility usually comes from cattle somewhat advanced in age and is seldom sold as fresh beef. Canner and cutter usually are used in processed meat products and are rarely, if ever, sold in retail stores.

VEAL AND CALF

Veal comes from animals that are three or less months in age. Calf is from animals ranging between 3-and-8 months in age. Prime and choice veal is more thickly fleshed than the lower grades with a higher proportion of meat to bone and also has more fat. The flavor, texture, tenderness and juiciness of calf lies between veal and beef.

LAMB

The meat of sheep is classified as lamb, yearling mutton or mutton, depending on the age of the animal when slaughtered. Lamb comes from young animals and in its highest grades is tender enough to be cooked by dry heat. Yearling mutton comes from animals between 1 and 2 years of ago is more flavorful than lamb. Mutton comes from mature animals and lacks natural tenderness.

LEVEE BREAKS — Surging waters broke the Bull Creek diversion dam north of Lake J. B. Thomas yesterday, (see arrow) but the lake still made one of its biggest catches from heavy rains on the upper reaches of the Bull Creek watershed. The water in the foreground was well below the break in the levee and went into Lake Thomas. Some of the higher floodwaters, however, went into the Colorado River below the Lake Thomas Dam.

Charged In Distributing Of Drugs

AUSTIN (AP) — The federal government charged three men Tuesday with operating establishments near the University of Texas to distribute LSD and similar drugs.

A fourth man was charged with selling LSD.

U. S. Atty. Ernest Morgan filed complaints with the federal court clerk in San Antonio. The information complaints were transferred here for prosecution in the Austin division of the U.S. District Court.

Complaints against the four, who were among 12 persons arrested last month in raids in the university area, contain a total of 33 counts of alleged violations of federal laws involving psychedelic drugs such as lysergic acid diethylamide.

Named in charges alleging operation of an establishment to distribute such substances were Timothy De Forest Jones, 24; Raleigh Shelton Bolling Jr., 24, and Charles Allen Broom, 24.

Curtis Lawrence Harris, 19, was charged with possessing and selling 25 tablets of LSD to a government agent on April 26. He is free on $1,000 bond.

Jones, Bolling and Broom were being held without bond in the Travis County Jail since their appearance early this month before a U. S. commissioner here.

All gave Austin addresses.

Local Lions Club Installs Officers

Officers for 1967-68 were installed by the Snyder Lions Club last night at the club's annual banquet at the First Methodist Church.

Some 75 persons attended the banquet and heard Dr. Charles Jarvis, San Marcos dentist and well-known humorist.

The officers were installed by Art Ayers of Lamesa.

Bill Seale took over the reins as president of the club, succeeding Frank Taylor. Seale then presented Taylor a plaque for his service as president during the past year and also his past president's pin.

Dr. Jarvis, who emphasized humor, admonished the group to work on public relations and human relations, which he described as being sadly neglected in business and social life today.

"Try to make the other person feel important," Dr. Jarvis said, "and remember that he has a right to those ridiculous, assinine opinions of his."

Other officers who will serve the Lions Club in 1967-68 include Jack Gorman, first vice president; Olin Bunch, second vice president; Horrace Bostick, third vice president; Bill Sikes, secretary; R. E. "Pat" Patterson, tailtwister; Ralph Wesson, Lion tamer.

Two-year directors are Bill Starnes, Harold Kornegay, D. V. Merritt and Arthur Roberts. One-year directors are Dale Stuard, Herman Elkins, Miller Robinson and Herman Trigg.

Law Would Shush Dogs

AUSTIN (AP) — Rover may get a special kick out of baying at the moon, but it could mean a fine for his master if the city council passes an ordinance proposed by Austin's woman mayor pro tem.

The council will consider the ordinance, suggested by Councilwoman Mrs. Emma Long, Thursday.

And as if the mutts didn't have enough problems, the council also will consider weather police should be allowed to go on private property to nab dogs roaming loose in violation of the city's leash law.

The proposed anti-barking ordinance would make it a misdemeanor, punishable by up to a $200 fine, "to keep or harbor any dog which makes frequent or long continued noise which is disturbing to persons in the neighborhood who have normal nervous sensibilities and ordinary tastes, habits and modes of living."

Nominations Told

Subways Deal Blow To Miniskirts

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Miniskirted girls riding London subways are finding new seats unbearable on their bare skin.

"It's a terrible shock to sit down on one of those seats early in the morning," explained one girl.

Railway Review, official magazine of the National Union of Railwaymen, says "London Transport is receiving a number of complaints" about fiber-glass seats on the Inner Circle line.

The London subway is operated by London Transport. A spokesman said: "We shall bear in mind the views of the miniskirted young ladies. Of course, we have some people who like these seats better than the old ones. The fiber-glass seats are experimental, and we are waiting for the public's reaction."

Most London dollies wear body stockings or tights beneath their minis in autumn, winter and spring. With the warmer days, they've returned to ordinary stockings. This leaves a patch of bare flesh between stocking top and panty bottom. This is the area that's causing the trouble.

The Railway Review said the seats were shaped to accommodate the body but admitted that early in the morning they can be cold. The magazine said other passengers find the seats too hard

"London Transport may unwittingly have dealt a blow at the miniskirt," it observed.

Mrs. Wallace Hears Plea From Eaton

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A condemned killer from Texas pleaded for his life in a dramatic confrontation with Gov. Lurleen Wallace Tuesday.

Gerald Eaton, 31, of Buckholts, who sat quietly at a clemency hearing while being denounced as a "worthless human being," approached the Alabama woman governor and asked her to spare his life.

Mrs. Wallace assured him she would give it "every prayerful consideration."

The Texan and three other men were sentenced to death in the slaying of Leonard Culpepper of Cuba, Ala., shortly before Christmas in 1963.

Culpepper was bound and blindfolded before being shot to death and his body thrown into a well. Culpepper's wife also was dumped into the well. She survived.

Blond, crew-cut Eaton was scheduled to die in the electric chair after midnight Thursday.

Shortly before the clemency hearing began, the Alabama Supreme Court granted him an indefinite stay pending a court appeal.

Eaton's lawyer contended at the clemency hearing that sentiment among people in Sumter County, where the slaying occurred, made it impossible for the four accused men to get a fair trial.

State Rep. Ira Pruitt, a special prosecutor during the trial, told the hearing that Eaton "has forfeited his right to live. This is a worthless human being."

Disturbance At Plant

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Tempers flared again Tuesday night at the Firestone Chemical Co. Plant here and Texas Rangers and sheriff's deputies dispersed a crowd of some 300 persons.

Sheriff's deputies said some 300 persons gathered at the plant's main gate. Officers were called in when the crowd began rocking automobiles. There were no arrests.

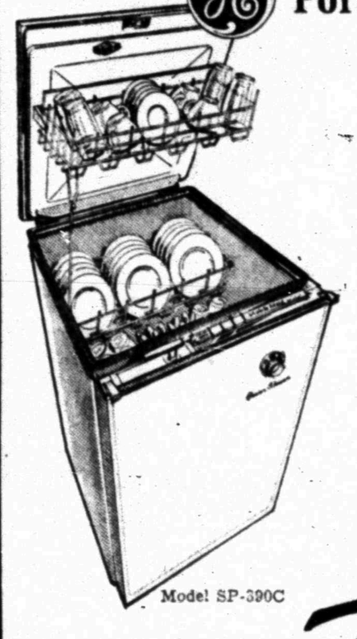

Texas Rangers were called in to support local authorities early this year when a bomb was set off at a gas pipeline leading from the Firestone plant.

The Firestone plant has been struck by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers (OCAW) since Jan. 20.

The plant has been operating with supervisory personnel and Firestone officials say some 70 union men have been crossing OCAW picket lines to work.

Developing new uses and improving present uses of milk and dairy foods is a continuous research program of the dairy farmer members through the American Dairy Association.
