Space Shuttle Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has announced a 14-month delay in the launching of the first military payloads aboard the space shuttle because of a lag in construction at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Pentagon officials privately acknowledged that this development will affect the use of the space shuttle to send spy satellites and other military spacecraft aboard Titan III rockets.

Soviets Rebuff U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union recently rebuffed efforts by the Reagan administration to begin secret discussions aimed at reaching a political settlement of the fighting in Afghanistan, The New York Times reported today.

The Times quoted unidentified State Department officials as saying the U.S. has shifted its strategy in an attempt to get the Soviets to begin talking.

The officials reportedly tried to convince Soviet officials that since they could not defeat the rebels in Afghanistan, they should go along with the American offer to provide a "face-saving diplomatic exit that would take Soviet interests into account."

'Takeover' Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service today reported a "takeover situation" at the Iranian interest section of the Algerian embassy.

Agency spokesman Richard Hartwig said an undetermined number of people were involved in the "takeover" at the embassy at 2139 Wisconsin Ave, NW.

Secret Service agents and city police officers were sent to the scene.

A man who called The Associated Press identified himself as a member of the "People's Majority" and said the group had taken over the Iranian office, maintained in lieu of an embassy.

He said he was calling from inside the embassy.

Guest Workers

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Officials in this border city across from El Paso are bracing for what could be a massive influx of humanity if a guest worker program is worked out between Mexico and the United States.

"If the United States and Mexico decide that 1,000 or 5,000 people will be allowed in, there will be 20,000 people coming here from the interior," said Juarez Mayor Pro Tem Francisco J. Cuellar. "What do we do with the rest?"

Unless Bani Sadr Is Extradited...

French Embassy Takeover Possible

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A prominent Iranian religious leader warned France today its embassy in Tehran would be taken over if France refuses to extradite ex-President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and a leftist leader, Tehran Radio reported.

The warning came from Ayatollah Meshkini, the Friday prayer leader in the holy city of Qom, who took over the post from Ayatollah Hussein Ali Montazari, the heir-apparent to supreme leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, according to the broadcast. Meshkini's first name was not given.

Addressing French President Francois Mitterrand in a sermon delivered at a Qom mosque, Meshkini was quoted as saying: "If you do not agree to extradite these terrorists to Iran, in the same way that the Iranian nation stood up to America with clenched fists and the call of 'God is Great' and rubbed America's snout in the dust, it (the Iranian nation) will do the same to you."

This was a reference to the Nov. 4, 1979 takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the 444-day ordeal of 52 American hostages held by Iranian militant students.

The attack on the U.S. Embassy followed the admission of Iran's deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to a New York hospital for cancer treatment at a time the Iranian authorities were demanding his extradition.

Bani-Sadr and the other man Iran seeks, Massoud Rajavi, fled to France in an Iranian air force jet July 29 and were granted political asylum. Since then there have been mass protests outside the French Embassy in Tehran.

On Wednesday, Mitterrand advised the approximately 140 members of the French community in Iran to leave. Sixty-two French citizens obtained exit visas but were barred from leaving Tehran airport Thursday on an Air France jet sent to pick them up. A second French aircraft was not allowed to land.

Later that same day Iran announced it would allow French nationals in Iran to leave on Iran Air flights Monday and Wednesday, and a Foreign Ministry spokesman in Paris said, "We are not worried at the moment, we have no reason to be."

In addition to advising French nationals to leave, the French government recalled Ambassador Guy Georgy for consultations and reduced the French Embassy to a skeleton staff.

Iran claimed it ordered the French diplomat to leave the country because of Paris' refusal to extradict Bani-Sadr.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

The Texas Legion News came up with this one.

1. The year is 1921. A baby is born in Des Moines, Iowa, and the proud parents name him John. In the years that follow, John attends grade school, high school and completes two years of college before the draft calls him into service.

John serves his country for four years, including 18 months in the South Pacific. He is discharged on points and comes home with service ribbons and commendations, but no medals. He returns to college on the GI Bill of Rights and graduates with a degree in business adminitration.

John married while in the service and is the proud father of a son and a daughter. He has a series of jobs over the first few years after completing college, then settles into one he enjoys, selling major appliances for a furniture store.

John is active in his church, serving on the church board. He is a member of the local Kiwanis Club, but chooses not to hold office in it. He attends most meetings of his American Legion post and has served as adjutant and chaplain at various times.

In January of 1981, John suffers a massive heart attack, is rushed to the local hospital, but dies en route. His family is grief stricken.

In his 60 years on earth, John probably met and talked with thousands of people. His picture was in the paper one year when he was selected as outstanding salesman by one of the companies whose refrigerators he sold. The picture was seen by several thouand readers, most of whom did not recognize him as anyone they knew. The rest soon forgot.

2. The year is 1955. A baby is born and the proud parents name him John. He attends grade school and graduates from high school. From time to time he attends college, but finally gives up even trying. Over the next few years he holds a variety of jobs for a short time, but is mostly a drifter.

John falls in love with a young actress and to impress her decides to perform some great act of courage. So, he buys a pistol and shoots the President of the United States. His picture is in every daily newspaper in the country. His name is reported by every major network anchorman. His history (all 25 years of it) is printed and reprinted.

Over 100 million citizens of the Unites States and untold thousands in other lands know who this second John is. Only his family knows the first. God help us.

Looking For Replacements...

Reagan Considers Strike Is Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, saying it considers the air traffic controllers strike over, is looking for replacements for the thousands of controllers who continued picketing for a fifth day today.

The Federal Aviation Administration, which reported 75 percent of all regularly scheduled air traffic flying, continued the massive task of sending out dismissal notices to the strikers. Letters eventually will be sent to about 12,000 controllers, none of whom will work again for the government as long as President Reagan is in office, officials said.

"We see this as the first day in our effort to rebuild the traffic controller system in the country," Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis said Thursday night. The job, he acknowledged, might take two to three years and plans are being made to handle reduced air traffic for a year or more.

He said he considers the strike, which began at 7 a.m. Monday, over, although he acknowledged that striking controller picketed at many airports and control centers around the country.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan was "very encouraged by our ability to operate the system and the level at which we can operate."

Speakes said the White House also considers the confrontation with the controllers over and added that he knows "of no possibility there could be any change in our position."

FAA Administrator Lynn J. Helms said 75 percent of regularly scheduled commercial flights were operating, and he said he is freezing that level of operations until Sept. 8.

After that, a six-month flight schedule will be put in place aimed at increasing flights to 80 percent or 90 percent of normal volume toward the end of the year, he said.

But the controllers showed no signs of capitulating.

"We are more firm in our convictions and more determined in our resolve than we were when the strike started," union president Robert E. Poli declared as he visited a controller who had been jailed in nearby Virginia because of the strike.

"They can put our people in shackles and put them in jail. We will not go back to work," Poli said.

Administration officials said that option is no longer open to the strikers. They repeated there will be no amnesty and, as of 11 a.m. EDT Thursday, all striking controllers were considered subject for dismissal with no opportunity to return.

The air traffic system continued to be handled by about one-third of the 17,000 controllers who normally operate the centers and airport towers around the country.

Union members charged that the reduced staff — supervisors, non-striking controllers and some military controllers — threatened safety. The union claimed many were working excessive hours.

Lewis denied that the airways were unsafe and accused the union of using "scare tactics." While some controllers were working up to 58 hours a week none were working more than 10 straight hours, Helms said.

But he said the hours would be reduced to no more than 48 hours a week beginning Saturday out of a concern that a longer work week eventually may cause fatigue.

The labor movement, meanwhile, began to rally behind the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization but stopped short of agreeing to a PATCO plea that other unions honor their picket lines.

Immigration Plan Said Unrealistic

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says President Reagan's immigration reform proposals are "unrealistic" and he will oppose them if presented to Congress in their present form.

"This plan is no way meets what the governors of the border states have been talking about," Clements told a Capitol news conference Thursday.

Later, in a Dallas speech, Clements said he would oppose the plan unless it is "modified substantially"

"Our nation's immigration policy should place its primary emphasis on these temporary workers," Clements told a national convention of the American G.I. Forum in Dallas. "The Justice Department's proposal to admit only 50,000 a year (as guest workers) is unrealistic and is doomed to failure because it failed to deal with the other 99 percent of the three to six million workers now in this country."

Clements also said he had talked to U.S. Attorney William French Smith about the shipment of 100 Haitian refugees to Big Spring and French told him the move was a "mistake."

"He said it was a temporary measure and they would be sent back to Florida," Clements said.

"I want no Haitian refugees in Texas. We have enough refugees now plus a lot of undocumented workers," he told reporters.

The immigration plan, which still has to be drawn up in a form to be presented to Congress, calls for an experiment in which 50,000 guest workers would be admitted annually to the United States to work for nine to 12 months then return to Mexico. It also calls for employers to be fined $500 to $1,000 for knowingly hiring illegal aliens.

Clements said the U.S. attorney general estimated there are about 600,000 illegal aliens in Texas although other sources say there are about 3 million.

Course Due In First Aid

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a first aid course this fall, Bill Warner, chamber manager, said this morning.

The chamber had received several inquiries from area oil-related firms concerning such a course, and Warner said an informal survey indicated considerable interest.

The course will be designed to fulfill requirements of OSHA for industrial personnel.

Warner said a schedule of classes will be announced as soon as arrangements can be made for instructors.

A.—Snyder does not have a Blue Law. The law prohibiting stores from selling certain items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays, commonly referred to as the "Blue Law," is a state law, not a city ordinance.

Voting On Hobbs School Saturday

An election is scheduled Saturday to decide whether the Hobbs Independenct School District will be dissolved.

The Hobbs School, located at the west edge of Fisher County, serves a district that includes property in both Fisher and Scurry Counties. There will be voting in boxes in both counties, with polls to be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The Scurry County voting box for the special election will be located at the Sim Groves residence, about 1½ miles east of Camp Springs.

The Hobbs School removed the high school grades from its curriculum last year, with the high school students attending other area schools, and if voters approve, the district will be dissolved.

Commissioners courts in the two counties would determine where the pupils in their respective counties would be assigned if the Hobbs School should be closed. The Scurry County portion of the Hobbs District joins both the Snyder and Hermleigh districts.

Poland Calls Miners Strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — As sirens wailed, coal miners and other workers in Poland's vital Silesian industrial belt struck for four hours today in support of the Solidarity labor federation's campaign for decisive government action to end the food crisis.

A union spokesman said miners remained at the pitheads of at least 60 coal mines and refused to go underground when the day shift started at 6 a.m. He said workers in most big factories in the region joined the protest.

"In some factories, local Solidarity officials had resolved not to strike, but had to buckle and give in under pressure from the workers," said union spokesman Ryszard Kuszleyko.

"People are positively angry," he said. "Many have called for an immediate prolongation of the stoppage."

Light Rains Cool Area

Light rain moved into the Snyder area this morning as a welcome cool front arrived from the north.

Hopes continued for some thundershower activity as the front continued moving to the south, and forecasts promised cooler temperatures today and Saturday over West Texas.

The rainfall this morning ranged from mere sprinkles to a light drizzle and there was not enough to register at the 7 a. m. reading of the official gauge at the city water plant.

Great Plains Market 25th Year

Star Publishes Final Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The legend under the nameplate on the front page of today's Washington Star said "129th year, No. 219." There will be no No. 220.

The Star said goodbye to its readers in an 80-page edition full of reminiscence about the glorious days when it dominated journalism in Washington.

It is going out of business, leaving The Washington Post as the only daily newspaper here and making Washington the biggest one-paper city in America.

Time Inc., the Star's owner of the last 3½ of its 128-year history, says that in the last two weeks it talked to 60 potential buyers — and met with 11 of them — in an attempt to sell the newspaper.

But Time insisted that a buyer commit itself to spending at least $20 million and to keep the Star going at least a year, spokesman Donald M. Wilson said.

"We didn't want someone to come in and dispose of the paper's assets in three months and leave its employees high and dry" without the severance pay and pensions they will collect from Time, he said.

None of the potential buyers would make that commitment, he said.

The Star's final press run of 425,000 copies, 100,000 above the normal press run, began at 3 a.m. Above the masthead letters 1¾ inches deep proclaimed "Final Edition." Below was a letter from President Reagan.

"There is a great silence today in Washington," Reagan's letter said. "A fine newspaper is gone and a nobile tradition ended. ...It is a setback for the cause of diversity in the press and for that precious but always fragile freedom — the right to print and publish freely. All of us are losing a strong, reliable friend."

"We hope the press concept nourished by the Star for 128 years of responsiblity for change and growth of the nation's capital will never end," Editor Murray J. Gart wrote in a final editorial. "Above all, we hope our journalistic successors will be fair. Farewell."

In a story about art imitating death as well as life, the Star quoted Gene Reynolds, executive producer of the television series "Lou Grant," as saying the final days of the Star will be the model for the final show in the series about newspapering when its ratings wane.

"It's a tough thing, all of these lives being reversed," Reynolds said. "It will make a hell of a last show for us."

Guilty Pleas Entered Here

Several guilty pleas were heard in 132nd District Court Thursday. Judge Wayland G. Holt presided.

Daniel C. Halley and Telena L. Halley, 2000 Ave. G, each drew three years probation and a $500 fine for possession of marijuana.

Stella Tavarez, Rt. 3, Box 479, was given three years probation on a theft charge.

Joe Barerra was given three years probation and fined $500 after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana.

John William Lowrance, 937 E. 13th, Colorado City, was given three years probation for forgery by passing.

Christopher M. Thompson was sentenced to five years in the Texas Department of Corrections for forgery by passing, and had a five year term of probation revoked.

James Christopher Pierce was fined $2,500 and given five years probation for possession of a controlled substance.

Gilbert Gonzales was fined $500 and given two years probation for driving while intoxicated.

George Washington first saw action in 1754 when he led a British raid on a French outpost near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Who are these people presuming to dictate to TV networks and advertisers?

What right have they to impose their particular moral code on the rest of us?

The so-called Coalition for Better Television claims to include some 400 organizations, including Jerry Falwell's Moral Majority.

The Coalition has been watching and rating TV programs— scorekeeping on the quantity of sex and profanity and violence— and intimidating sponsors with threats to boycott their products.

Enough sponsors have acquiesced so that a Coalition spokesman, the Rev. Donald Wildmon, says any boycott has been deferred for now.

Two networks—ABC and NBC—say that they have conducted separate studies showing that the Coalition's support is limited and that it's own members watch the programs which they identify as objectionable.

Are they hypocrites who are pious in the pew and sin in the dark?

There is some of that in most all of us.

Socrates said, "Every man is a chariot driver, riding behind two horses— a white one and a black one; the trick is to keep both horses pulling in the same direction."

Jounalist Daniel Henninger of the "now generation" explains the new morality contradiction like this:

"It was one thing to have some fun smoking dope in college. It's something else when you are a father or mother having to decide whether you are for or against the idea of some kid selling the stuff to your children in the toilets of the local grade school"

He remembers the counterculture of fifteen years ago doing its own thing independent of social and moral strictures...

Now that same generation is anxious about its own children and the rising incidence of teen pregnancies.

So whatever the personal experience of today's parents, they are building a new religion-related school every seven hours...

And they are monitoring television programs for the same reason...

However far you and I are from sinless perfection, that must be our direction.

Our country cannot dismantle a 200-year history of Judeo-Christian morality and endure.

History is uncompromising in its verdict. Any make-it-up-as-you-go morality based on nothing more than feelings and attitudes is doomed.

And a lot of us parents who are not yet ready to join hands with Falwell—are not comfortable with what we see on TV, either.

Mr. Henninger believes democracy is "regaining its equilibrium.

"This country is now bursting with reasonable, well-educated and very upset young parents who are quite willing to sit quietly while the un-dainty folks from the Moral Majority go out there and clean up the mess."

Chairman Likes Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of Conoco Inc. praised the merger of his company with Du Pont Co., but said other mergers would "not be in the best interests of the country."

Ralph Bailey said Thursday that he fears a wave of mergers that would "eliminate middle-tier energy companies."

"It would be a critical development to see the real oil and gas finders put out of business, and that's what it would amount to," Bailey said at a news conference.

It was his first public appearance since Du Pont won a three-way bidding battle for control of Conoco.

The first Italian immigrant arrived in New York in 1635.

Women Have An Option...

Winner Of Pageant Has Health Message

By KAREN MILLS
Associated Press Writer

EDINA, Minn. (AP)—Putting aside her modesty to enter the Mrs. Minnesota contest was a small price to pay, Joan Sewall says, if it meant she could help save the lives of other women and make those women happier.

Mrs. Sewall, who had both of her breasts removed and reconstructed two years ago, was crowned Mrs. Minnesota for 1981 and tied for fifth in the Mrs. America pageant in Las Vegas this year.

She said she didn't like the idea of beauty contests, but entered the competition because she had a message she wanted to get across and decided the competition would be the best way to reach a large audience.

Her message:

Women who face a high risk of developing breast cancer should know they have the option — although controversial — of having their breasts removed and rebuilt before the cancer develops.

And women who have their breasts removed and reconstructed, either as a preventive measure or because they have developed cancer, should know that clothing can indeed look great on them.

"I also wanted to show that age does not mean fat, cellulose and being put on the shelf," said Mrs. Sewall, a lithe, 46-year-old mother of three sons who stands 5-foot-8 and weighs 125 pounds.

"I was the oldest of all the contestants in both pageants," she said. "In Chicago, where the Mrs. Minnesota pageant was held, the average age was 26. In Las Vegas, the contestants ranged from 20 to 46."

Mrs. Sewall had a double subcutaneous mastectomy and reconstruction because she had fibrocystic disease and faced an extremely high risk of developing cancer.

"I felt for a time that no one would want to look at me again," said Mrs. Sewall, who worked as a model before her marriage.

But Mrs. Sewall is not a quitter. She resumed her modeling career, putting together a one-woman musical fashion show for presentation to women's organizations, conventions, luncheons, church groups or any other interested people. She works in cooperation with department stores.

Mrs. Sewell presented her fashion show in the talent competition of both the Mrs. Minnesota and Mrs. America pageants.

Not until the end of the fashion show does she disclose that she has had her breasts removed and reconstructed. And to those in the audience who didn't know before hand, the disclosure is usually a big surprise.

Competing in the pageants wasn't easy for Mrs. Sewell, however.

"I have my privacy and my modesty. I had a very hard time wearing that low-cut bathing suit that everyone has to wear in the swimsuit competition. I'd never wear anything like that normally," she said.

"But you put your toe in the water and you find that you can do it," Mrs. Sewall said, adding that she received strong support from her family and friends.

Mrs. Sewall is a veteran when it comes to knowing the importance of such support in a crisis.

She and her husband, Michael, found out 18 years ago that their oldest son, Christopher, now 22, is mentally handicapped.

"I didn't think I could handle it. It took several years. It's been a growing time," Mrs. Sewall said. "I've learned by having all these things happen that we all have our limitations in all areas."

Then, two years ago, she found herself facing another crisis — fibrocystic disease — which made her chances of developing breast cancer 2½ times greater than the average. She had many cysts in each breasts, any one of which could have become cancerous. There were too many cysts to make biopsy feasible in determining if any of the cysts were malignant, she said.

"Normally, one woman in 11 will develop breast cancer," she said, "and 35,000 women will die of breast cancer in the United States this year."

Mrs. Sewall said she had consulted with several doctors before making the decision to undergo the controversial surgery, in which doctors removed the breast tissue, then inserted silicone bags filled with saline solution behind the chest muscle to form new breasts.

Doctors say Mrs. Sewall's chances of developing breast cancer are only 2 percent following surgery.

However, the preventive surgery is still controversial among physicians.

In Home Media Room...

Decorate For Better Sound

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

One result of the current proliferation of home electronics equipment is that for some people the concept of a home entertainment center is no longer merely academic.

Some families already own large-screen projection TV sets, videocassette players and a library of TV games as well as stereo equipment for listening to and recording music.

These people have the basics of a home entertainment center. It remains only for them to organize their listening and watching environment for greatest convenience and enhancement of their equipment.

According to one components manufacturer, the living room is usually the place where the equipment is used. Decorating decisions made there can serve either to enhance or to detract from the sound and viewing quality of the room.

The basic requirements for a good listening room are two, according to Del Eilers, audio technical service manager for 3M Co. First of all, you have to make sure that the parallel surfaces contrast hard and soft materials. And second, it is important to break up the boxiness of the typical square-ish room with a variety of surfaces off which the sound can bounce.

The soft surfaces will absorb the sound, while the hard surfaces will cause it to reverberate into the room. So a combination of these surfaces at various angles will create the richest sound.

The ceiling and the floor present the most obvious example of the principle. By carpeting the floor and leaving the ceiling bare, you have made a decorating decision that conforms to good acoustical practices.

To provide soft surfaces on two of the remaining four walls, draperies, textured wall coverings and fabric-covered walls are possible choices. It is not necessary to cover the entire wall surface. Approximately 75 percent to 80 percent coverage is adequate, said Eilers.

Today's popular diagonal room arrangements can contribute to good listening since a bulky mass set on the diagonal breaks up the parallel surfaces. The three-panel screen is another decorating deviee that can improve the sound in your room. A screen placed on the diagonal in one corner of the room provides a new surface for the sound to bounce off.

In general, highly textured materials such as tweed and linen are better for acoustics than smooth, slick materials such as vinyl and silk. On the other hand, don't opt for a totally fabric-swathed room. This leads to a condition of sound deadening in which all the sound is "swallowed" by the furnishings, said Eiler.

Abba Plans Two More Years Work

LONDON (AP) — The Swedish rock group Abba has decided to stay together for no more than two years, the magazine Woman reported today.

The magazine said the group, popular around the world, will make no more major tours and will split up because there no longer are any financial reasons for them to keep their act together.

The two couples who make up Abba — Bjorn Ulvaeus and Agnetha Faltskog-Ulvaeus and Benny Andersson and Anni-Frid Lyngstad — are divorced. Woman quoted Ulvaeus as saying, "I expect we'll be together for two more years, but that will be the tops.

Kennedy, Hubby Are Computer Match Mates

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mimi Kennedy, who as television's Nan Gallagher hired her butler through the want ads, found her real life husband through a computer dating matchup.

Miss Kennedy plays a talk show hostess on "The Two of Us," a bright new domestic comedy CBS introduced in four episodes in the spring. It returns in the fall, along with the other half of the duo, English comedian Peter Cook.

Miss Kennedy is married to actor Larry Dilg, starring in "The Rag Show," staged in Los Angeles by the Free Public Theater Festival.

"When I was a freshman at Smith I filled out a computer match mate," she says, "which was matched with those of men students from Amherst. Everybody did it on a lark — and lied a little about themselves. I got Larry's name back with computer printout stars around it.

"We didn't meet then. He didn't call me up and I didn't call him up. He didn't call me because he looked up my picture in the freshman handbook. A less-than-flattering picture taken when I was in a Catholic high school. He wanted to get loose — and I didn't look like the kind of girl to get loose with."

After graduation, she headed for New York as an aspiring actress and promptly got a job — as a secretary at $72 a week. His first opportunity came with a part in the touring company of "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," starring Sid Caesar.

A number of years had passed since that computer matchup. She says, "I had two friends, an aspiring writer and a rock composer. They kept talking about this actor friend on the West Coast. Well, it was Larry, my computer mate.

"The day Larry returned from California he drove straight to a bar where I was waiting. The minute he walked in I knew he was mine."

"The Two of Us," based on an English comedy, is about a couple no computer ever would bring together. Nan Gallagher is an easygoing television personality who lives in a New York townhouse with her 13-year-old daughter, Gabby. Robert Brentwood is a haughty English butler.

Their clashing cultures, as well as her desire for a casual lifestyle and his drive for perfection, keep them at sword's point.

"Nan bears no relationship to me," says Miss Kennedy. "But you might say of her life: 'There but for the grace of God.' If I had married my first love, had a baby, pursued my writing and become successful, I could be Nan Gallagher."

"The Two of Us" is her third series. After playing Jan in "Grease," both in the national tour and later on Broadway, she landed a role as one of the three singers in NBC's "3 Girls 3." It was an innovative idea, with a show within a show as it followed the struggling career of three young singers. It was quickly canceled.

She played in the movie "Getting Married," then returned to New York for more theater work.

NUTMEG MUFFINS

Cracked wheat, unlike bulgur, is not precooked. 1¼ cups fork-stirred all-purpose flour 2¼ teaspoons baking powder ¼ teaspoon salt ½ teaspoon nutmeg ¼ cup butter 1-3rd cup sugar 1 large egg ½ cup cracked wheat ½ cup milk

Stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg until blended. Add flour mixture, cracked wheat and milk; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into muffin-pan cups (each 1-3rd capacity), filling them twothirds full. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 25 minutes. Makes 10.

There are 6,660 streets in the five boroughs of New York City.

The student took his ace of clubs, led a trump to dummy, ruffed dummy's remaining club and led a second trump to dummy to get rid of the East-West trumps.

Then he thought for a while and thought a little more. Finally, he led a heart from dummy and ducked completely after East played the jack. East continued with the 10. The student ducked once more and East led the nine.

Again there was a long period of study. Finally, the student played his ace. West showed out.

The student led a diamond to dummy's 10 and East's king and eventually had to lose a second diamond trick.

"Sorry, I misguessed the hearts," said the student.

"Too bad," said the professor. "You had a perfect safety play to insure your contract against any and all heart-diamond divisions."

The Professor was right as usual. South should rise with the ace of hearts on the first heart lead. Then lead a second heart. It would not matter who won that trick or what was led next. In the actual hand East would win and might make his best play of underleading his king. Now the student could play his queen with certainty of success irrespective of where the king was stationed.

All other combinations can also be handled. You readers can work them out if you wish.

Bride's Wedding Clouded By Parents' Quarrels

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am terribly confused about what to do. I am going to marry a wonderful young man and have some tough decisions to make.

First, my parents have been divorced for six years. It was a very unfriendly divorce. My father remarried soon after. My mother is still alone and very bitter. My father is very well-to-do. He paid child support, and wasn't cheap about it, either.

I've always wanted a big, beautiful church wedding, which my mother can't afford, but my father can. However, he says he will pay for any kind of wedding I want if he can walk me down the aisle and bring his present wife.

My mother says if my father brings his wife she will not attend, but if he comes alone, he can walk me down the aisle. And, if he stands in the receiving line, she will not stand next to him. (Won't that look awfully peculiar?)

These problems are giving me a big headache. I'd almost be willing to settle for a little, tiny wedding, but my fiance's family knows that my father is rich, and they expect a big, splashy wedding. What should I do?

WEDDING BLUES

DEAR WEDDING BLUES: Look at the facts. Your father has agreed to give you a big, beautiful church wedding only if he can bring his present wife. Your mother says if the new wife comes, she will not attend. So assuming they both mean what they say, you will have to decide whether you want the big fancy wedding without your mother, or the tiny wedding within your mother's means with both parents.

If you choose the big church wedding, you won't have to worry about where your mother will stand in the receiving line because she won't be there.

I think you'd be much happier with both parents at a "little, tiny wedding."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Lately at our family get-togethers, my children, who are themselves parents, use such foul language that it makes me ill. They never heard such language in our home.

Sometimes I feel I never again want to attend another family get-together, but since my husband's death two years ago, I need my children more that ever.

They all have college degrees and should know better. I am too embarrassed to ask my clergyman for advice.

Please, how can I stop the use of such foul language?

DISTRAUGHT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You can let your children know that you are very much offended by foul language, then hope that out of respect for you, they will clean up their act — at least in your presence.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's wise to force a child to join something — like the Cub Scouts or Brownies?

I have been accused of allowing my children to rule me because I have given them a choice in such matters. It has been suggested that children are not always good judges of what they will or will not enjoy, that after having been exposed to something they were initially negative about, they changed their minds. What do you think?

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I wouldn't force a child to join anything. But if I thought he would benefit from the experience, I would present it in the most attractive way possible.

Property Tax Changes Could Shift Burden

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senators have approved property tax changes that some claim would shift a greater burden to homeowners and could make the funding of public schools even more difficult.

The Senate overhaul of the 1979 Property Tax Code was returned to the House with amendments on a 23-4 vote Thursday.

One change that possibly threatens 6½ months of legislative work would wipe out property taxes on oil and gas shipped into Texas for temporary storage.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, said the amendment could have a "significant impact" on school revenue, especially in Harris, Jefferson and other counties with tank farms and petrochemical complexes.

"This will not be helpful to most taxpayers across the state of Texas," said Jones.

The sponsor of the proposal, Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, admitted he had no idea how much tax money the amendment might cost school districts, and he said he knew of no one who had asked for it.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, called the proposal "the major oil company amendment," and Jones said, "Its impact will be unrealistically tough on a number of (taxing) entities."

Jones also said an amendment that would extend the time for collecting signatures to roll back property tax increases "could throw a monkey wrench" into funding of public schools.

The tax code by Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, requires property taxes to be levied on full market value of real estate and income-producing personal property, as determined by countywide appraisal districts after Jan. 1, 1982.

The bill cleared the House 121-20 on Monday, but the House must vote on the proposal again because of the Senate amendments.

Jones said the only break school districts got in Senate debate was the adoption of an amendment 14-13 that would raise from 5 percent to 8 percent the tax increase needed to trigger a rollback election.

"A vote for this amendment is a vote for a stronger school system," said Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls. He said the 8 percent trigger would allow school districts to make up for inflation and federal spending cuts in education without facing an election that could block the increased expenditures.

A change in the 1979 law raises from five to 20 acres the amount of land on which a person may claim a homestead exemption.

Farm and ranch implements would be exempt from property taxes.

The bill says elderly and disabled taxpayers need apply only once, instead of each year, for special homestead exemptions.

Local taxing units would be required to advertise future property tax increases in the newspaper only if they would exceed 3 percent.

The bill offers two options for delay.

Governing bodies of two-thirds of the taxing units in a county could postpone the start of the single-appraisal system for a year or phase it in over a three-year period ending in 1985.

On Santiesteban's amendment, Truan asked, "What is there in the public interest?"

"Equality and fairness," said Santiesteban. "I just want to make one major corporation equal to another major corporation."

Goods, wares, ores — other than oil, gas and other petroleum products — and merchandise in Texas in interstate commerce for less than six months already are exempt from taxes.

The amendment was adopted 17-11.

Senators voted to remove a requirement that taxes could not be rolled back unless 15 percent of the qualified voters turned out. They also reduced from 15 percent to 10 percent, the number of voters who must sign a petition for a rollback election and expanded from 60 days to 90 days the time to collect the signatures.

Jones said the additional time for collecting signatures would only delay the completion of tax rolls and "would make it extremely difficult to collect taxes."

"Several amendments were put in today that were poorly advised," said Jones.

The bill, however, gives taxpayers a better chance of winning appeals from appraisals they think are unfairly high.

Studies required by the bill — called ratio studies — would give Texans a better idea whether their property was over-appraised and provide evidence they could use in their appeals.

Also in the bill is a new provision designed to avoid situations, such as those that arose near Seguin last year, where agricultural land came out with a taxable value of zero.

The bill says estimates of income to rural land may not be less than half what the land would bring in rent.

Snyder Baptists Help Build Montana Church

Some 70 persons from Southern Baptist Churches in Snyder were among 160 who just completed construction of a church building in a week at Polson, Mont.

Their work resulted in a new, 60-foot by 34-foot building for use by the 30-member congregation of the Rev. Larry Cochran, pastor of the Polson church.

The Polson residents had excavated for a basement and poured concrete, and also had installed floor joists. Upon their arrival, the visitors erected the main building and attended services in it before they left for the return trip home.

Delegations organized by both First Baptist and Colonial Hill Baptist Churches in Snyder participated in the project. Others came from churches in Rotan, Roby, Rule, Amarillo, Pampa, Quanah, Anson and Stamford in Texas, and from Russellville and Red Bay in Alabama.

Overall director of the project was T. O. Upshaw of Stamford, director of two Baptist Mission associations. The Polson congregation raised a total of $35,000, which was augmented by $25,000 contributed by the visitors. Of the latter, $5,000 was given by the Alabama churches.

Only one injury was reported during the construction. Bob Hammack of Snyder suffered a fractured colarbone and rib injuries when he fell from a scaffold, requiring treatment in a hospital.

The delegation from First Baptist Church in Snyder included the Rev. and Mrs. Ken Branan, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Necessary, Christie Necessary, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Trevey, David Trevey, Scott Trevey, Jennifer Trevey, Mrs. Miriam Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hammack, Kaye Hammack, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Morrison, Judson Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Williams, Darrell Williams, LaFon Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Monroney, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Raborn, Sam Raborn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cross, Robin Cross, Matt Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Foy Dennis.

Also traveling with the First Baptist group were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cross of Green Hill Baptist Church, and Mrs. Ruth Lollar of San Antonio.

Those from Colonial Hill Baptist Church making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tefertiller, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cumba, Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Rumpff, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCathern, Lee McGathern, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wittie, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Preston, Dee Anne Preston, Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, Sonya Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Foreman, Tanya Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clark, Patti Clark, Dora Rumpff, Andy Rumpff, Molly Rumpff, Kurtis McCathern and Jeff Adams.

Slowly smothering in smoke?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column about emphysema was very timely. I just lost a brother to this disease. I saw him literally smother himself to death for his last five years, even though he had stopped smoking 10 years ago.

My son, age 38, is also a smoker. These people do not know how it will be in later life for them. Would it be possible to demonstrate at an early age the smothering effect by use of a machine? Perhaps they could be put on a machine that limited their intake of air so they can feel what it is going to be like to smother. This might make some of these early smokers realize what they are in for.

DEAR READER — Theoretically it would be possible to hook a person up to a device with a restricted air flow that would make him work harder to breathe.

And there are methods of measuring the early resistance in the airways that accompanies emphysema of the lungs. Emphysema is associated with dilated air sacs in the lungs and obstruction to air flow through the air passages. The early stages of emphysema and chronic obstructive lung disease cause a delay in the lungs' ability to exhale air. By such measurements the early obstruction can be detected, even when the person is asymptomatic and still has a normal chest X-ray. Such measurements are called pulmonary function tests.

As we get older we all have some emphysema but it is usually limited so that it doesn't interfere with our normal activity or normal breathing. While cigarettes are a major cause of emphysema and chronic obstructive lung disease, it can be caused by other air pollutants. Certain air pollutants make cigarette smoking even more hazardous.

You might want to direct your son's attention to The Health Letter number 17-8, Chronic Bronchitis and Emphysema, that I am sending you.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Incidentally, there are inherited characteristics that make some people more susceptible to such problems. With a family history of such a disorder, it is even more important that your son should stop the cigarette habit as soon as possible.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like some advice on diabetes. I have a friend who has diabetes. He has tried to be careful with his eating and the medicine he takes by mouth but the blood sugar seems to stay high. What foods should he avoid to keep the blood sugar down? We know sweets are not allowed. What about potatoes, bread, salt and fruit?

DEAR READER — Your body can convert some of the amino acids in protein to glucose sugar. In this way a diabetic can still have a high blood sugar even if carbohydrates have been limited in the diet. A lot depends upon how severe the diabetes is.

All carbohydrates can be used to form glucose. Starch in potatoes or bread is broken down to glucose before it is absorbed into your bloodstream.

Your friend should review his problem with his doctor. The first step is to limit calories to the point that an ideal body weight can be achieved and that there are no unwanted body fat deposits. If the diabetes cannot be controlled after that with a sensible diet, he may need insulin rather than oral diabetic pills.

ASTRO·GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

August 8, 1981

Something unexpected but quite beneficial could suddenly develop this coming year, enabling you to make a desirable change of residence. You could find exactly what you've been looking for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your outward appearance of self-assuredness could be hiding uncertainties inside today. If you forego all forms of pretense you'll eliminate a case of butterflies. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The aspects indicate you could get more than your usual share of bright ideas today. Because they occur so swiftly they might be forgotten, so jot them down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) When going through your possessions today, look them over very carefully. There's a chance you may discover a forgotten article of value.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you wait for approval of your ideas or plans today you may suffer unnecessary delays. Have faith in your ingenuity. Begin to move forward.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your impulsive generosity is your noblest attribute today. Instinctively, you'll help the less fortunate in ways which won't call attention to yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't hesitate to go places today w..ere you have a chance to meet new people. You'll make an excellent impression on the mighty as well as on the lesser lights.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You could be rather apathetic about today's happenings until competition or challenge enters the picture. Once awakened, you'll earnestly strive to win.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you are interested in items of a foreign origin, this is a good day to brouse your favorite shops. Your bargain hunting could net valuable trophies.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unusual business opportunities could suddenly develop today. Beware of dawdling or daydreaming, or the profitable parade might pass you by.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may not be afforded the luxury of prolonged deliberations today regarding decisions you must make. You're good at thinking on your feet, so trust your judgment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be afraid to experiment with new equipment, materials or methods today if you feel any of these will do the job better. Old is out, new is in.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could prove to be more of a fun evening if you bypass your usual haunts and seek a new place to wine and dine. Interesting developments could ensue.

Mail Truck Hits Bridge

An empty 1978 International U.S. Mail Truck was moderately damaged at 7:20 this morning when a new route driver attempted to drive the truck under the College Ave. bridge on 28th St. where there was insufficient clearance.

Barry Jackson, driver of the truck, had just moved to Snyder and it was his first day on the route, said Bob Broker, who witnessed the accident. Broker said it was his last day and Jackson had just dropped him off at his house, then turned and attempted to take the truck under the bridge.

Jackson was uninjured. Officer Robert Harbin took the accident report.

In other activity, Elizabeth May, 505 16th, reported someone had entered her home and assaulted her and her cousin. Two assault charges and one of criminal trespass were filed.

Cattle Theft Investigated

Sheriff officers are investigating a report of an alleged cattle theft from Jack Nachlinger three miles northeast of Hermleigh. The theft was reported Thursday and was beleived to have occurred sometime since Monday.

Five cattle were reported missing and one was found dead. But authorities believe the animal died from lack of water as there was no water available.

Voted In Thursday...

Split Season Passes

CHICAGO (AP) - The grand old game will be showing a new wrinkle when play resumes Monday following a 21-3 vote by major league baseball owners to endorse a split season.

"Because of the strike, we were dealing with a unique situation. We needed a unique solution," Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said after Thursday's meetings, during which the National League approved the plan by a 9-3 margin and the American League by a 12-0 vote.

Two AL teams - the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles - did not vote. NL teams voting against the plan were the Cincinnati Reds, the Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals.

"It was close," NL President Chub Feeney said of the National League vote, which needed a three-fourths approval of its 12 members. "We had a long discussion, and it was in doubt. But we only voted once."

Under the system which was spelled out in the agreement with the players' association - teams in first place in their respective divisions when the strike began will meet the winners of the second half of the 1981 season.

If a first-half winner also wins the second half, that team will meet the division contender with the second-highest percentage during both halves of the season.

Both presidents, Feeney and Lee MacPhail of the American League, insisted the split-season plan is for the 1981 season only.

"Normally, I wouldn't be for it," MacPhail said, "but this is a one-shot deal, and only because of the strike problems and the unbalanced season."

Feeney said the National League owners "wouldn't want to see a peculiar result where the team with the best record, winning both halves of the season, somehow didn't win its division title."

Kuhn said the league presidents, who will attend the All-Star Game Sunday in Cleveland, would announce during the weekend how the pre-championship playoffs would be structured and which teams would get the home field advantage in the best-of-five series.

Prior to the voting on the split season, the NL announced it had approved the sale of the Chicago Cubs by the William Wrigley Co. to Tribune Co. of Chicago for $20.5 million. The vote was unanimous.

The matter will now go to the stockholders Aug. 28 for a vote, which is expected to be a mere formality.

Gonzalez-Duran Bout Sunday In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) - Junior middleweight Nino Gonzalez gave up a title shot to get the fight. Manager Bobby Rooney, a protection officer in a bank, quit his job because he couldn't get a leave of absence to come here with his fighter.

The reason for their sacrifices is Roberto Duran, the man who built a reputation as the most feared fighter in the ring until the night he quit in the eighth round at New Orleans and lost the World Boxing Council welterweight championship back to Sugar Ray Leonard.

"This is the biggest thing in my life," said the 22-year-old Gonzalez of Bayonne, N.J., who is getting $50,000 to fight Duran Sunday at the 9,000-seat Public Auditorium. This is $10,000 more than he would have gotten for a title shot at Wilfred Benitez, the WBC super welterweight (junior middleweight) champion.

The contract for the Duran-Gonzalez fight calls for the junior middleweight class limit of 154 pounds, give or take a pound.

Gonzalez has youth on his side and, obviously, figures Duran's reputation has not been tainted to the point that it is not worth the risk of fighting him. A victory over Duran, which almost certainly would send the Panamanian into retirement, should earn Gonzalez a title shot against Benitez or maybe against the other 154-pound class champion, Leonard, for lot more than $40,000.

Gonzalez, who sparred three rounds with Duran when Duran was getting ready for his rematch with Leonard, fits into Duran's plans as a step toward a hoped-for third fight with Leonard.

Murphy Cards Single Stroke Advantage, 66

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Bob Murphy has sensed that winning attitude was rebuilding, but he didn't expect it to blossom this week in the 63rd PGA national championship.

Certainly not after he had been forced out of the Canadian Open last week following a freak accident.

Murphy was surprisingly shocked when he shot an opening 66 - 4-under-par over the testing Atlanta Athletc Club course for a one-stroke lead over non-winners Mark Lye and Bob Eastwood.

"I can't say I was mentally prepared for this, but I was relaxed," he said Thursday, referring to a week at home nursing a thumb injury.

"I've been playing well enough to win," said the 38-year-old veteran, winless since his fourth Tour victory in 1975. "I felt it coming for the last three or four months. And it's a good feeling when you do it under the gun, too."

The fourth and last of this year's major championships opened in unusual, if not bizarre, fashion. Consider:

-Defending champion Jack Nicklaus went 4-over par in his first eight holes in a bid for a record sixth PGA and 18th major professional title. He then fired three straight birdies after a 55-minute weather delay for a menacing 71.

-Lee Trevino forgot to sign his scorecard for the first time in his long, successful career, leading to his disqualification after a 74.

-None of this year's previous winners of major tournaments shot better than the 72 by British Open king Bill Rogers. Masters champion Tom Watson, No.1 on the 1981 money list, and U.S. Open winner David Graham matched 75s.

-A second storm wiped out the finish of the round just before darkness swept over this course northeast of Atlanta. Fifteen players were forced to complete their first 18 holes today.

And this $400,000 tournament faced the prospect of more weather problems today and Saturday. The forecast called for 60 percent chance of thunderstorms.

Cowboys Gear For Preseason

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Saturday night's preseason opener against the Green Bay Packers will be a crucial game for many of the rookies still with the Dallas Cowboys, coach Tom Landry says.

"We'll start our starters, but we'll skip over our backup veterans to look at rookies in this game," Landry said. It's not that the rookies are better than the backup veterans, it's just that we've got to look at them."

"It's a very crucial game for the rookies because, after this one, it's just harder and harder to get people into games. There are too many veterans who need the work," Landry said.

Offensively, Landry said he and his staff will be looking very closely at tackle Howard Richards, the No. 1 draft choice, guard Glen Titensor, the No. 2 draft pick, free agent tackle Steve Wright and wide receivers Mike Wilson and Nate Lundy, the No. 9 and No. 12 draft picks, respectively.

No. 2 pick Doug Donley, a wide receiver who made the strongest impression early in camp, will not play because of a groin pull.

On defense Landry will be looking at even more rookies. He said he will be watching free agent defensive end Ron Spears, middle linebacker and No. 5 draft pick Danny Spradlin, outside linebacker and No. 4 pick Scott Pelluer and free agent outside linebacker Angelo King.

At cornerback, Landry wants to see free agent Everson Walls plus draftees Ron Fellows and Ken Miller, both 7th-round picks. Free agent safety Mike Downs also bears close watching, Landry said.

Of the returning starters, only wide receiver Tony Hill (hamstring), fullback Robert Newhouse (hamstring) and center John Fitzgerald (thigh) will not open against the Packers.

Landry said Hill and Newhouse could play, but they will be replaced by Butch Johnson, Ron Springs and Robert Shaw.

Landry said quarterback Danny White will split the game with backup Glen Cerano, but said he was not sure if he would alternate them by halves or quarters.

The Cowboys had a team meeting Thursday morning and an afternoon practice.

Rogers' Father Charged With Vehicular Homicide

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) - George Rogers Sr., father of Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, has been charged with two counts of vehicular homicide, police say.

Gwinnett County Police Investigator Mike Jenkins said Rogers, of Duluth, remained hospitalized Thursday after a July 31 auto accident in which a Lawrenceville man and his 16-year-old daughter were killed.

Jenkins said blood tests indicated Rogers, who was driving one of the two cars involved, was intoxicated at the time of the crash.

Two warrants were sworn out against Rogers, but Jenkins said they would not be served until his condition improves.

Rogers, who suffered several broken ribs, internal bleeding and a collapsed lung, underwent surgery Wednesday, Jenkins said.

His son, the first choice in the National Football League draft last spring, was excused from practice with the New Orleans Saints Wednesday to be with his father. The younger Rogers won the 1980 Heisman Trophy as a 6-foot-2, 220-pound running back at South Carolina.

Jenkins said the accident occurred when Rogers' car crossed the center line of a suburban Atlanta highway and struck the car in which Clifton Elbert Black, 34, and his daughter Wanda Jean, 16, were riding.

Rogers was paroled last year from the Georgia Training and Development Center at Buford, where he had served eight years of a life sentence for murder. He was convicted in connection with the fatal shooting of a woman friend.

Game Indicates Pitchers Survive Inactivity Better

ARLINGTON (AP) - If the Texas-Houston exhibition game was any indication, baseball's hitters will need more time than pitchers to recover from the 50-day layoff imposed by the players' strike.

The Rangers and Astros played 10 innings Thursday night and Houston needed a walk and a mis-played line drive to score the winner in a 2-1 contest played before 35,776 fans.

The Rangers offered free admission and free parking for the evening, the first organized baseball game in this area since June 9.

Astro manager Bill Virdon used six pitchers in the tune-up, Ranger skipper Don Zimmer used four and the batters could manage only four hits per team.

"I have said all along that pitching has got to be ahead of the hitting," said Zimmer. "Pitchers can work out every other day. Where can batters work out? In the bathroom?"

Joe Sambito, the fifth Houston pitcher of the game, said he believes hitters and pitchers both lost some sharpness during the strike. He said pitchers, however, probably slipped less than batters, but the hitters will return to top form sooner.

Texas designated-hitter Al Oliver, who had one of the four Ranger hits, wanted to blame the feeble Texas hitting not on the layoff but on the Houston arms.

"It was just one of those nights when nobody hit, but when you're talking about the Houston Astros, you're talking about one of the best pitching staffs in the game. Personally, I'll be ready Monday," Oliver said.

Former Ranger Dave Roberts, who signed with the Astros as a free agent during the off-season, had two of the four Houston hits and drove in the winning run.

Dave Roberts won it for the Astros with a 10th-inning line drive which Leon Roberts mis-played in right field. It went for a triple and scored Harry Spilman, who had walked.

Frank LaCorte got the win, John Henry Johnson took the loss.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Tony Degrate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Degrate of Snyder, signed a football scholarship with the University of Texas last spring. In town between workout sessions, the 6-4, 250-pound tackle has been working out daily at the high school and visiting friends and family. The following are excerpts from conversations with him, compiled in letter form.

I'd like to say thank you to the many people who have helped me during the past years. Things are going very well at Texas, though it's quite a change for me. I've enjoyed the workouts and really can't wait until the season starts. I'm optimistic about getting some playing time as a freshman, but the competition is very tough.

I'd like to tell the people of Snyder how much I appreciate their help. Some of the people who have meant a lot to me in the past years include Boxie Weems, Kenneth Parker, Wayne Preston, my junior high coaches, Albert Lewis, Mike Jenkins, George Byerly, Rick Howard, Tommy Doyle, Wes Poarch, Winfred Shipp, Larry Scott, Ronald Herrera and Jim Carson.

Others are Mal Donelson, Bill Pace, Howard Limmer, Bill McClellan and The Snyder Daily News, the Bobby Cumbies, Hub Evans, Calvin Johnson and Charles Jones and a special thank you to my parents.

There may be others who I've unintentionally left out. I'd like to thank them also.

Sincerely,
Tony Degrate

Coach Elrod Slates Volleyball Workouts

Workouts, square one of a season which will hopefully end in a second consecutive state volleyball championship, will begin Aug. 10, reports Coach Joyce Elrod.

Varsity volleyball workouts will be held from 8 until 11 a.m. and from 4 through 6 p.m. Monday.

Junior Varsity workouts will be held from 8 until 11 and from 2 until 4.

First freshman workouts will be held Aug. 17 from 6-9 p.m.

Snyder loses three seniors - one full time starter - from last year's district, regional and state championship varsity team.

Speedy Scot, an American horse, paid a record low mutuel price of $2.70 in winning the 1964 Roosevelt International Trot.

Speedy Scot won the 1964 Roosevelt International Trot and in 1972 his son, Speedy Crown, won the event. In 1980 his daughter, Classical Way, also won it.

New Oiler Coach...

Biles Cops First Win

HOUSTON (AP) - Rookie head coach Ed Biles went to great pains to be modest after his Houston Oilers won the first game since former coach Bum Phillips was fired last winter.

"It was good to win the first game, but I really didn't think that much about this being the first win for me personally," said Biles, whose Oilers beat the Philadelphia Eagles 13-10 in a National Football League exhibition game Thursday night.

He also praised new quarterback Gifford Nielson, who was pressed into services as the club's No. 1 quarterback after veteran Kenny Stabler surprised team officials and announced his retirement after summer training camp had opened.

But it was a couple of old hands - Earl Campbell and Tony Fritsch - who scored most of the the points for Houston.

Campbell, who sat out the second half, scored a touchdown from four yards out on the Oilers' first possession, and Fritsch kicked a 41-yard field goal in the third quarter that broke a 10-10 tie and put the Oilers out front to stay.

Philadelphia unveiled a new shotgun formation which produced the Eagles' only touchdown, a 10-yard pass from Ron Jaworski to Alvin Hooks near the end of the first half.

The two teams earlier traded field goals - a 35-yard kick by Bill Capece of Houston and a 33-yard boot by Tony Franklin of the Eagles.

The Eagles' new shotgun was slow to get on track. Jaworski threw four incomplete passes and got sacked once in his first six tries.

But on the next two plays he scrambled 33 yards and threw the touchdown pass.

"(Guy) Morriss did a good job with the snaps for the first time out," said Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil. He said he was generally pleased with the new formation, which he said he devised because of the success Dallas and Buffalo have had with it.

Nielson completed 15 of 25 passes for 156 yards, but quarterbacks on both clubs had trouble dodging defenders. Houston suffered five sacks and Philadelphia got caught for four.

Oilers veteran defensive end Elvin Bethea, who led the charge on one sack, said it felt great to win even though it was only exhibition.

Tonight, two more former assistants (offensive coordinators) make their head coaching debuts - Dan Reeves in Denver and Joe Gibbs in Washington. The Broncos host the New York Jets and the Redskins take on the Kansas City Chiefs.

Reeves was one of the architects of the intricate multiple-set offense with which the Dallas Cowboys buffaloed so many teams. And Gibbs was one of the men who turned the San Diego Chargers' aerial attack into one of the most potent in NFL history.

On Saturday night it's Pittsburgh at Cleveland, Detroit at Buffalo, Cincinnati at Tampa Bay, Baltimore at New Orleans, St. Louis at San Diego, Green Bay at Dallas, Miami at Minnesota, Atlanta at Oakland and the New York Giants at Chicago. New England visits Los Angeles next Monday night.
