Mine Blast Death Toll Is Set At 79

Some of 20 Injured Are Expected to Succumb Soon

MILFIELD, Nov. 6.—The inhabitants of this little mining village who were spared in the explosion at the Sunday Creek coal company's No. 6 mine resumed their normal ways tonight although still stupefied by yesterday's disaster. The explosion killed 79 persons, including seven officials of the Sunday Creek company, and injured 20 others who are in hospital. Some of the injured are expected to die.

There was a possibility, officials said, that bodies still were in the mine and might never be recovered. It was feared several others may have been blown to pieces by falling walls and shafts. Several investigations were under way, but actual search of the ruined "west eight" tunnel for the scene and cause of the explosion will not be undertaken until tomorrow, J. J. Forbes, director of the U. S. Bureau of Mines at Pittsburgh, will be in charge.

The bodies of 70 dead miners lay in the company store here until prepared for burial and claimed by their families. They were then turned over to relatives for private burial, and these solemn rituals will be repeated many times tomorrow.

Members of an inspection party which was approaching a recently constructed air shaft a mile and a half from the main entrance were killed instantly by the explosion. They included W. E. Tyson, president, and P. A. Coen, vice-president of the company, both of Columbia, and representatives of other mining companies.

To Determine Cause
When Smith, chief of mines, said it would be possible to determine both the site and cause of the explosion. Speculation turned chiefly to possibility of a spark from open lamps may have ignited it. It was also suggested that a blasting "blowdown" between entrances to the mine, which would have insured circulation of fresh air through the deeper parts of the mine and prevented gathering of gases, also was the cause. Spontaneous combustion of coal dust was discussed as a possible cause.

Death Claims Another Child

Malnutrition and Exposure Blamed in Death of Third Member of Poverty-Stricken Usery Family Here

As the poverty stricken family of J. H. Usery gained strength in a three-room home to which the doors had been thrown open to them here, death took the third child of the tenant farmer and his wife within three weeks.

A five-month-old twin boy of the family died at about 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in a Lubbock hospital. The death was attributed to malnutrition, as was that of a twin girl who died Monday.

Another in Ill
A 12-year-old girl of the family died nearly three weeks ago as a result of exposure and lack of food. An 8-year-old boy of the group was the only child reported sick Thursday and his condition was not believed to be serious.

Condition of Mrs. Usery was reported improving.
The Usery family obtained a tent and moved to the dump grounds north of the city about two and a half weeks ago, after crops on a farm near Wolffarth had failed. Condition of the girl and the twins was discovered and they were taken to the hospital. Charity workers immediately began working toward aid for the family.

Food, clothing, furniture and bedding had been received as voluntary donations for the Userys and charity workers indicated Thursday that they hoped to obtain a home for the unfortunate by Sunday. Lack of finances thus far has frustrated the attempt.

Although themselves handicapped by lack of living space, members of a Lubbock family which included several children volunteered to share the shelter of their small house with the Userys.

Bankers Favor Garrett Plan Of Reduction

Texas Association Seeks to Restrict Bank Credit to Farmers Who Agree to Cut Cotton Acreage

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—The executive committee of the Texas Bankers' association today endorsed the Garrett plan for cotton acreage reduction which would restrict bank credit to those farmers and landowners who agree to cut their cotton acreage 25 per cent below this year's plantings.

J. E. Garrett, of Corpus Christi, who originated the plan, explained the proposal before a special meeting of the committee. Garrett is president of the Southern Cotton Reduction association, recently organized at Corpus Christi, heads two banks in that city and himself plants from 7,000 to 8,000 acres of cotton annually in Nueces county.

The group of bankers listening to the plan included Lynn P. Taylor, governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank; Col. C. C. Walsh, chairman of the board, and J. E. McDonald of Waxahatchie, recently elected state commissioner of agriculture.

Garrett said that within the next few days a south-wide cotton acreage meeting will be called for either New Orleans or Memphis, Tenn., to act upon the plan. He proposes to go before the bankers of eleven southern cotton growing states seeking approval of the plan.

No Clue Found After Mystery Disappearance

President of Burleson College and Former Texas Tech Business Manager Missing Since Last Monday

RELATIVES, SCHOOL ATTACHES ARE MYSTIFIED CONCERNING WHEREABOUTS OF GREENVILLE BAPTIST LEADER

GREENVILLE, Nov. 6.—The search begun yesterday by Hunt and Dallas county authorities for Dr. Ernest W. Provence, president of Burleson college of Greenville, who disappeared in Dallas shortly after noon Monday, extended throughout the southwest today without any clue having been discovered.

Relatives and school attaches were as greatly mystified as ever concerning the college president's whereabouts.

Several members of the college board of trustees joined officers in attempting to trace the movements of Dr. Provence from the time he left from an automobile near Lakewood country club Monday in Dallas.

A meeting of the college board has been called for Friday. Classes at the college were suspended today, and students and teachers hurried to Dallas after news of Dr. Provence's prolonged absence was received. The drive divided into groups and visited hospitals and clinics, believing he could have suffered a lapse of memory.

Lapse of Memory Theory
Greenville friends advanced the theory that Dr. Provence had suffered a lapse of memory brought on by worry over financial difficulties of the college.

Rev. A. A. Dulaney, Greenville Baptist minister and a trustee of the college, said Dr. Provence had complained last week of being ill and refused an invitation to speak Sunday night in Dulaney's church.

Books at the college had been checked and everything was in order, Dulaney said.

Members of his family expressed belief he had met with foul play or he would have communicated with them.

Dr. Provence, formerly was a Lubbock resident and business manager of Texas Technological college.

Dr. Provence served the college from January 1, 1927, to July 1, 1929, when he left to accept the

Railroad Seeks Permission of I.C.C. to Build Twenty-Mile Extension in Hutchinson and Hansford Counties

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Panhandle & Santa Fe railway, a subsidiary of the Santa Fe system, sought from the interstate commerce commission today permission to build twenty miles of new railroad in Hansford and Hutchinson counties, Texas, and to operate by tracks rights over the line of the Rock Island in Hutchinson and Moore counties with which it will connect.

The construction is part of the Santa Fe extension which will give it its own route from Spearman, the present terminus of its line, to Amarillo territory.

It was alleged that Hester and Thompson hit Crabtree with their fists and stomped and kicked him with their boots.

Attorneys for the men had not made a move to obtain bail for the accused, but were expected to do so soon.

Crabtree is a well-known rancher, as are Hester and Thompson.

Fences Highway, Guards Property With Shotgun

Texan In Armed Protest Against Alleged "Injustice of Commissioners' Court"

GRAPESVINE, Nov. 6.—In a protest against what he termed the "injustice of the commissioners' court," Carl Yates this morning erected fences across the Fort Worth-Grapesvine road on each end of his property, just southeast of Grapesvine and guarded the barriers with a shotgun.

The property had been involved in condemnation proceedings. The county some time ago condemned his property for use as part of the right of way of the new highway No. 121. Yates appealed to the county court and was awarded $2,000 damages and $125 an acre for his land.

Barriers Erected
This morning he erected barriers at each end of the property 3,000 yards apart. The timber fence was constructed across the road with wire extending beyond the right of way. Signs on the fence directed motorists to detour around Yates' home. He also stationed men at each end of the fence to direct motorists. This was on the paved portion of the highway.

Yates was frank about the motive for his action. He said he had owned the land for four years and that for the last two and one-half years his pasture had been cut off from his house, forcing him to employ two men to drive the stock to water. He has about 165 head of sheep and several head of cattle. Yates estimates the damage already had amounted to $5,000 and the court had shown no disposition to rectify the matter.

He said he would accept the $2,000 award of the court if the county would build an underpass for his cattle. County Engineer D. A. Yates estimated the underpass would cost $4,500.

Execution of Luz Arcos Is Set for Today
Further Clemency Is Denied Convicted Slayer of Hondo Grocer by Governor Moody; Lawyers Make Final Plea

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 6.—Denied further clemency, Luz G. Arcos, convicted slayer of Joe Barrientes, Hondo grocer, killed with his two sons in an affray over a bottle of beer, was sentenced to the state prison here after midnight for murder.

Arcos' lawyer made a final plea to Governor Moody at Austin, but the executive was quoted as having said he had no intention of intervening again. The convicted slayer already had been granted three reprieves and had been given a sanity hearing.

The Barrientes were shot on Christmas day, 1928.

Arcos' wife, his eight year old daughter and a brother, all from Houston, visited him today. Prison officials reported he was "acting quietly."

DO-X Groomed for Next Leg of American Flight
AMSTERDAM, Nov. 6.—(AP)—DO-X largest flying boat in the world, probably will leave Saturday for England on another lap of the flight intended eventually to set the great craft down in New York harbor.

The DO-X soared from Alton-Hein yesterday and came down here after an easy flight, but was prevented from going further by the weather. When Dr. Claude Dornier, one of the builders, arrived tonight by train from Berlin he said forecasts indicated the weather would be excellent Saturday and hence a start would be made for Calshot.

Ranchmen Charged in Slaying Neighbor in Gray County
PAMPA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Indictments charging Carl Heiser and Emmett Thompson, with fatally injuring Homer Crabtree, who died yesterday, after he was found on his ranch badly beaten, were returned by the grand jury today.

It was alleged that Heiser and Thompson hit Crabtree with their fists and stomped and kicked him with their boots.

Attorneys for the men had not made a move to obtain bail for the accused, but were expected to do so soon.

Crabtree is a well-known rancher, as are Heiser and Thompson.

Drys Dispute Wet Claims of Repeal Gains

Prohibitionists State that Dry Cause Not Damaged by Sweeping Democratic Victories Throughout Nation

STATEMENTS MADE
Lack of Efficient Organization Among Drys Admitted by Methodist Board of Temperance, Public Morals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Wet claims of five senate and 70 house election gains for repeal of the 18th amendment were disputed today by prohibitionists in and out of congress who contended the dry cause had not been damaged by the sweeping Democratic victories.

One wet organization—the federal dispensary tax reduction league—replied all but 16 of 160 candidates receiving its support had won in Tuesday's voting.

"Results Not Wet"
While conceding the elections revealed a lack of efficient organization among the drys in many sections, the Methodist board of temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, held the results were "Democratic rather than wet."

The Anti-Saloon League took the view the dry cause had "weathered" the Democratic landslide and the improvement of the campaign in a remarkable way.

"Very significant" fact, it added, was that "no former dry who wobbled or betrayed primary declarations was elected."

The re-elected Senator Sheppard, co-author of the 18th amendment, in the introduction of the bill, would be swinging back to the Democratic party and prohibition would be safe in the new congress taking office in December, 1931.

"Tremendous wet gains" might be indicated to the average reader at first glance, but in reality the vote was a tie, said Edwin C. Dinwiddie, superintendent of the national temperance bureau.

Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee said it was "obvious" that prohibition cut both ways across the party lines, while forming a controlling factor in some instances, it developed no national trend.

Fate of Wiley Given to Jury

Attorneys Plead Alternately for Death Sentence, Liberation of Defendant in Murder Trial at Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Evidence heard in the murder trial of Drew Wiley, 23, alleged to have shot to death Rubie Huff, 40, of Queen City, during a quarrel over rules of a dice game, was considered tonight by a jury here.

The case went to the jury at 4:20 p. m. After a day of arguments in which five attorneys pleaded alternately for the death sentence and for liberation of the defendant.

District Attorney R. G. Waters vigorously attacked the self-defense plea made by Wiley's attorneys, declaring Huff had been turned down after being called into a clearing by the defendant and members of his family.

Hugh Wiley, father of the defendant, was assessed a five-year sentence at a recent trial after being convicted of being an accessory to the killing of Huff.

The outcome of the spirited race between the two young backsliders and world war veterans will await the official count, and it seemed likely a recount might be demanded by the loser.

The unofficial returns gave: Woodring 214,578; Hauke 214,653; Dr. John R. Ertley, independent, 180,970.

PEACE OFFICERS MEET
West Texas Officials Move to Stem Tide of Hoboes

SWEETWATER, Nov. 6.—(AP)—West Texas peace officers in session here today agreed the only practicable means of stemming the tide of hoboes would be widespread adoption of the chain gang system. They also agreed to urge motorists to "let hitchhikers walk."

Sets Record

Captain Frank Hawks, trying for a new air record over the 1,600 miles separating New York from Havana landed here at 6:11 o'clock tonight.

Captain Hawks left Curtis field at Valley Stream, N. Y., at 8:50 o'clock this morning and made the trip in nine hours 21 minutes, after spending 23 minutes in Jacksonville and 20 in Miami en route.

The flyer thus broke the present New York-Havana record of fourteen hours, set March 5, 1929, by William Stultz, who was accompanied by Charles A. Levine and Miss Mabel Bell. Theirs was a non-stop flight.

When Captain Hawks left New York he had been expected to make a refueling stop at Columbia S. C., but later he decided not to add weight on to Jacksonville, where he landed at 2:14 p. m. (E. S. T.) He took off again at 2:37 after the tanks of his monoplane had been filled.

Some two hours later, at 4:31 p. m. he set his ship down at Miami. After clearing customs he took off at 4:51 for this Cuban capital.

Officially estimated in the neighborhood of 3,500, the absentee ballots constituted a block of votes that could turn the result either way.

The outcome of the spirited race between the two young backsliders and world war veterans will await the official count, and it seemed likely a recount might be demanded by the loser.

Nation Awaits Final Returns For Decision

Election Indicates Almost a Tie Between Republicans and Democrats for Control of Both Houses of Congress

TWO SEATS IN DOUBT
Official Counts, Contests of Seats and Possible Deaths or Resignations May Change Standing of Party Power

BY FRANCES M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
The balance of political power in both the senate and house perched on narrow margins today as the nation awaited the final returns of Tuesday's election to learn the composition of its next congress. Late returns pointed almost a tie in Republican and Democratic Associated Press returns compiled to 8:50 p. m. (E. S. T.) Thursday on the contests for the 35 seats in the new United States senate showed:

Republicans elected 14 holders; Democrats elected 21 holdovers, 26; total 47. Farm-Laborers elected 0 holdovers, 1; total 1.

Necessary for a majority, 48. In the contests for the 435 seats in the house of representatives returns showed:

Republicans elected 218. Democrats elected 216. Farm-Laborers elected 1. Still doubtful 2. Necessary for a majority 218.

strength in both legislative branches. Whatever the outcome, control of either the house or senate may shift through official counts of the ballots, contests over seats and possible resignations and deaths before the new congress meets in December, 1931.

Two Seats Doubtful
Two senate seats—one each in Minnesota and Kentucky—remain in doubt. Senator Schuller overcame the lead established by his Democratic opponent, Elmer Hoidale, and triumphed to gain, as outlying friendly districts were heard from. His return would give the senate Republicans 48 seats, exactly half.

With M. M. Logan far ahead of Senator Robinson, the Kentucky Republican, senate Democrats seemed to have every opportunity to increase their number to 47. The remaining seat is filled by Senator Shipstead, Farm-Labor, of Minnesota, who was not up for election this year.

The struggle over control of the house concentrated on three uncertain districts—one each in Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky.

Already having taken 215 seats in the most successful raid on Republican forces in years, the Democrats were favored by late returns to win in Indiana and Kentucky. The Republicans held tenaciously to 216 seats and had a good chance to retain the doubtful Illinois place.

Should the Democrats gain the other two, they would have 217 seats and the Republicans 217, each less than a majority with the lot of the 435 held by a Farmer-Labor, Paul Kvale of Minnesota.

Rapidly overcoming a large gain given Walter Reuther, a Democrat.

Reduced Rate On Gas Given Out Thursday

R. F. Hinchey Claims Lower Scale Will Mean Saving to Many Lubbock Gas Users; Is Placed Into Effect

Reduced gas rates beginning with the last of October meter readings and affecting industrial and commercial as well as domestic use were announced Thursday by R. F. Hinchey, vice-president of the West Texas Gas company.

"We made a survey in each town during the summer to see what we could do in the way of reducing rates," said Mr. Hinchey.

"Reductions were made where we felt that reductions were due." Minimum rates of $1.50 per month for class 1 and class 2 remain the same. The minimum for class 3, industrial plants, is $25 per month.

Under the new schedule the price for the first 50,000 cubic feet is 67 1-2 cents, the same as the old rate. For all gas over that amount the new rate is 50 cents per thousand. "This is a new rate," Mr. Hinchey pointed out.

"You would be surprised" he continued, "the number of people who will be affected by this reduction. It covers practically every household who has a gas furnace and uses gas heating plants in the winter time."

Class 2, includes gas used for boilers for commercial purposes. Central heating plants in the following structures are included: offices, office buildings, apartment houses, factories, stores, churches, hospitals, schools, colleges, theatres, hotels, auditoriums and municipal buildings. Bakeries, restaurants, newspaper plants, grain elevators and rooming houses are also included.

Rates for the first 50,000 cubic feet—each month are 67 1-2 cents; for the next 50,000 feet, 30 cents; for the next 400,000 cubic feet 25 cents, with graduating rates on all plants using over 100,000,000 cubic feet.

"The average reduction for the first three classes is 2.7 cents per thousand cubic feet," Mr. Hinchey added.

In the third class are manufacturing and industrial plants, such as brick kilns, pottery and cement kilns, refinery stills, foundries, steel plants, cotton oil mills, gin, railroad shops, laundries, cleaning establishments and flour mills.

Mr. Hinchey said that between 70 and 75 per cent of the approximately 4,000 customers in Lubbock were domestic users and that nearly all of the 25 or 30 per cent were in class two. However, he said, there were a number in class three.

New rates, he added, include practically the entire area covered by the service of the company.

Simmons Cites Pen Progress

Manager of Texas State Prison System Visits Governor and Members of Board of Control at Austin Thursday

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP)—Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas state prison system, visited the governor and members of the board of control, reporting on the progress of work at the penitentiary and farms, and soliciting the board of control contracts on shoes for the state institutions.

The board completed several contracts with Simmons and other representatives of the prison system for order of shoes, which are made in the prison. The contracts were competitive, the prison system award being made on a basis of price and quality, according to the board.

Simmons said he had just started clearing 239 acres of timber land on the Ferguson farm, to add to the 30,000 acres of cultivated land used last season. Right now, he said, he is seeking a buyer for the timber, which is of little use for other than firewood.

While not familiar with that phase of the prison's activities, Simmons said he presumed that prison stewards planned to go ahead with their plans for printing plant, which would compete for state printing contracts.

Woodcock Called Back to Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock has been summoned to Washington to confer with Attorney General Mitchell on pending matters of a routine nature within his bureau.

Reports that he had been called to the capital by President Hoover were officially denied today, and this statement was made at the justice department.

Woodcock in San Francisco yesterday cancelled arrangements for a voyage to Honolulu after receiving a long distance phone call from Washington, and prepared to return here at once.

As the justice department, it was said several pending questions awaited settlement and it was desired they be disposed of before Woodcock went as far away from Washington as Honolulu.

The Army's Anti-Aircraft "Ears"

Hostile airplanes are sometimes pretty hard to see, but they can be heard long before they are sighted—and United States army engineers have taken advantage of that fact in perfecting defenses against aerial attack. This picture shows the Sixty-third Coast Artillery's "ears" elaborately camouflaged, set up outside of Los Angeles for the southern California war maneuvers. On the truck are Captain A. L. Explanation in Arrest Sought

Ambassador Culbertson Meets with Chilean Authorities After American Detained for Three Hours

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Nov. 6. (AP)—Ambassador William S. Culbertson today sought an explanation from Chilean authorities of the detention of Capt. Albert W. Stevens, aerial photographer for the National Geographical society, as he was about to leave Chile yesterday.

The ambassador said his complaint was not against the Chilean government but against Colonel Merino, head of the army aviation, who was understood to have ordered the arrest.

Captain Stevens was detained for three hours, being released after Ambassador Culbertson had interceded in his behalf. His status was not clear today and it was not known whether he would be allowed to resume his journey.

The American officer, who has been detached for several months from active duty to aid the geographical society in an aerial survey in South America, arrived here October 21 from the Argentine and since has spent some time in making photographs of the Antilles, always riding in military planes piloted by Chilean aviators.

He was understood to have refused to submit the photographs to Colonel Merino on the grounds that the pictures were taken under his supervision. He obtained permission to leave Chile by yesterday's northbound mail plane, but when the plane reached Ovalle, its first scheduled stop, he was forced to leave it and return to the Santiago airdrome, where he was arrested.

Dow Gives Up His Place in Sunday School

Superintendent for Twenty-one Years Resigns Post in First Methodist Church; Dr. A. W. Evans Successor

Ending a 21-year period of service as superintendent of the Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal church, resignation of James L. Dow from the position was accepted Wednesday night at quarterly conference of the church in the chapel.

Dr. A. W. Evans was elected to succeed Mr. Dow as Sunday school superintendent. A leading layman in the church, Dr. Evans is head of the department of education at Texas Technological. He has been active in Lubbock five years ago.

Enrollment increased

Enrollment of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school increased from a few dozen to more than 1,000 while Mr. Dow was superintendent. The enrollment increased 30 per cent during the last year.

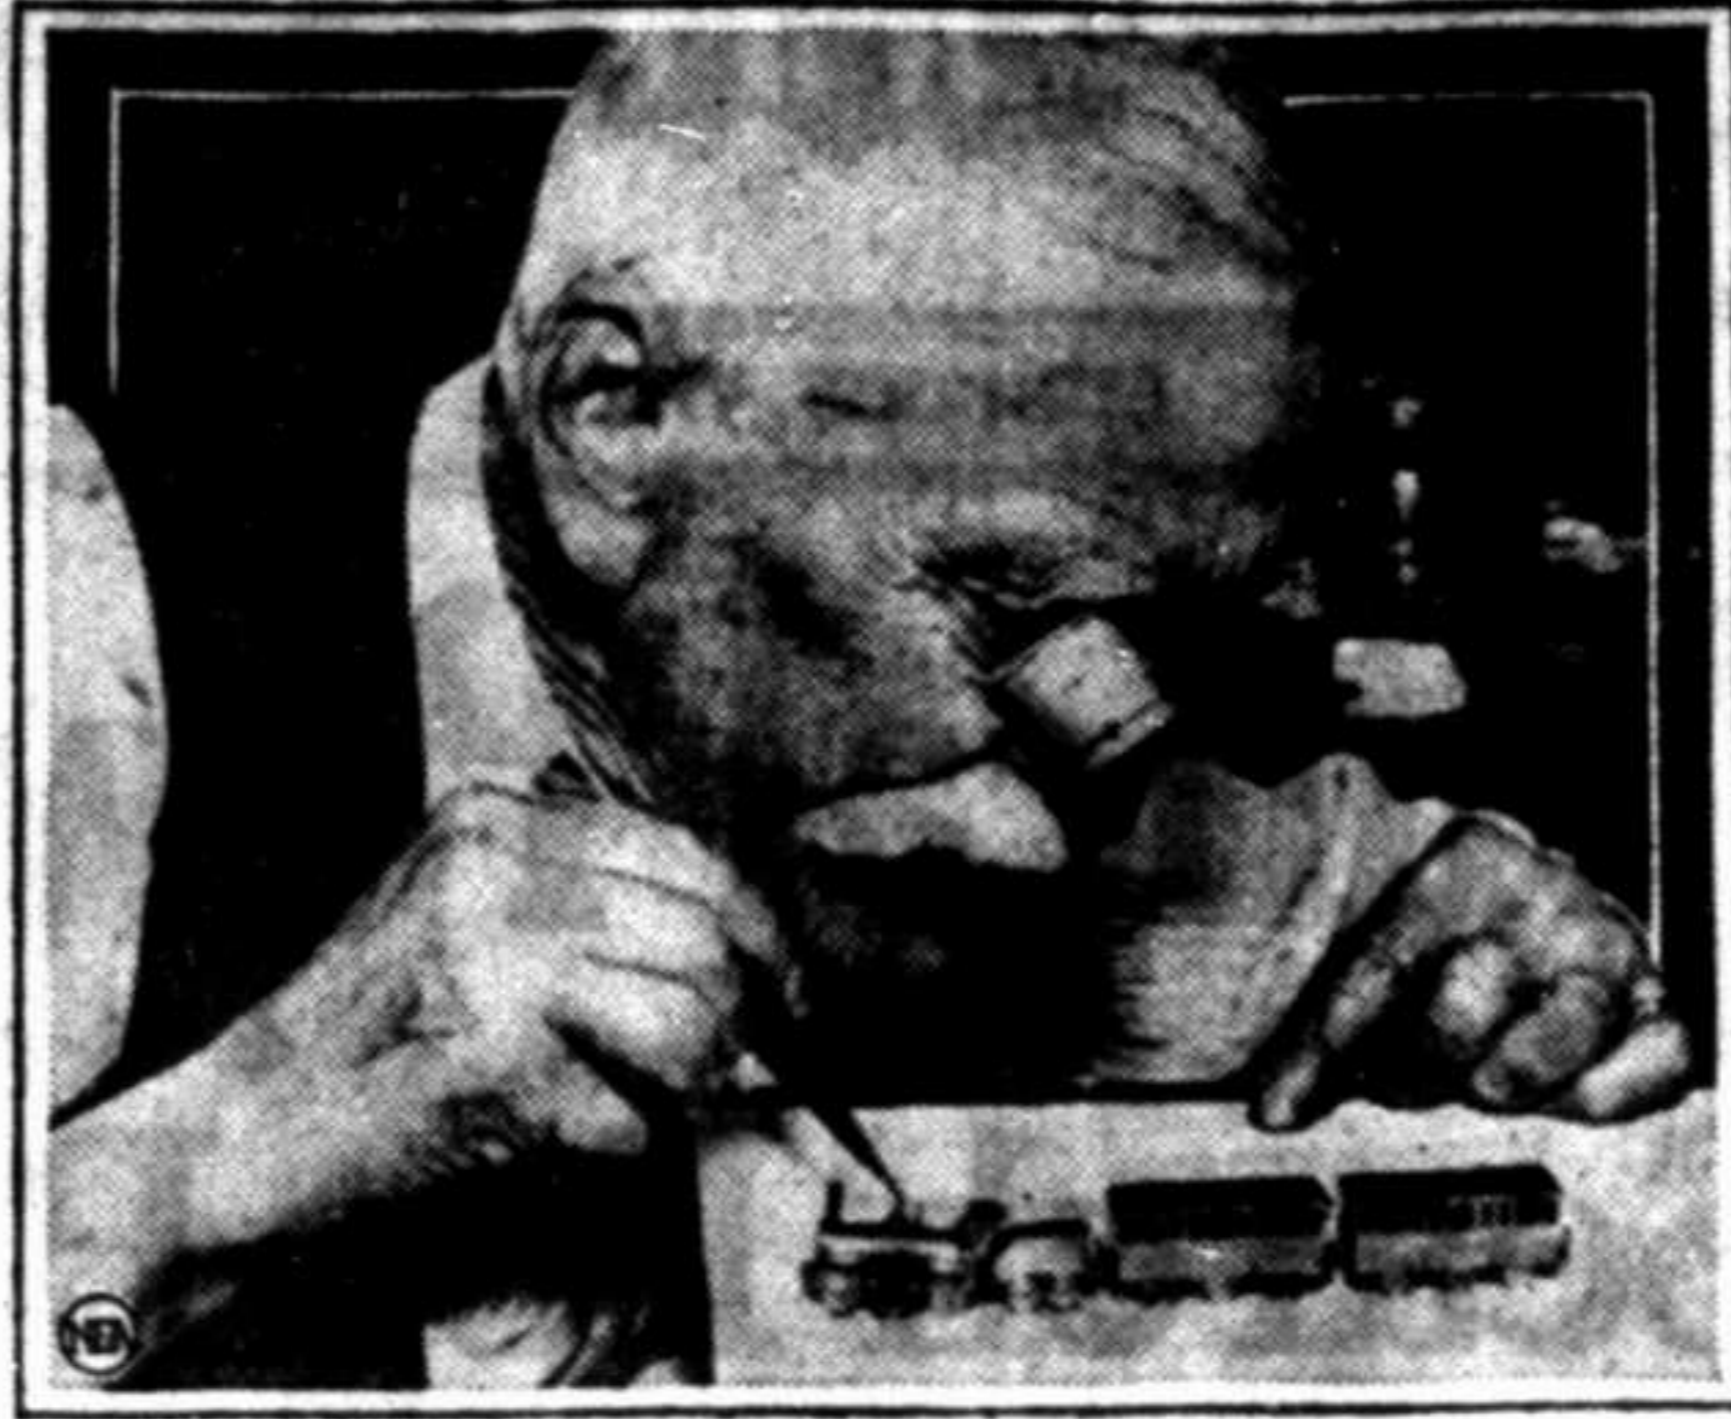

Length of time he had held the post, a desire to step down and let some other person assume the responsibility, were reasons given by Mr. Dow for his resignation, according to church officials.

A total of $14,000 was raised toward the church debt during the year, in addition to the regular budget. It was announced at the quarterly conference.

Rev. C. A. Bickley, presiding elder of the Lubbock Methodist Episcopal district, presided at the conference.

Lubbock ministers and laymen will attend the Northwest Texas conference of the church next week at Sweetwater. The group expects to leave Tuesday.

She had loved Allen, of course. But Allen was poor... while Bob could give her everything...

Hazy dreams of luxury passed through her mind. Travel. Clothes. Expensive cars...

Bank Support Is Predicted

Governor Moody Expects Deficit in General Revenue Fund to Be Wiped Out After Conference with Hatcher

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP)—After a conference with Treasurer Gregory Hatcher, Governor Dan Moody said today he had no doubt arrangements could be made with banks to carry all state warrants pending the wiping out of the deficit in the general revenue fund by tax collections in February.

The governor and treasurer will confer again Saturday, with the interim being spent in consulting bankers.

It is pointed out that the law provides that state depositories need not pay interest on state funds when they are carrying warrants, so that they do not stand to lose any money by carrying the warrants temporarily.

According to the treasury records, the state has about $4,000,000 on deposit in state depositories. The deficit now is less than a million dollars and will probably amount to nearly $3,000,000 before the deficit is wiped out.

Dielmann, defeated democratic candidate for congress in the 14th district, today resigned as back tax collector for the city. Dielmann was defeated for congress by H. M. Wurzbach, republican incumbent.

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL

..more than meets the requirements of today's high compression engines," says the HOCHSTADTER LABORATORIES, INC.

A STUDY of this report reveals a number of interesting facts about this new lubricant. It is definitely shown that the new Texaco Golden Motor Oil has a higher viscosity at high temperatures and a lower viscosity at low temperatures. It is an oil with a flatter viscosity curve, which means greater heat-resisting qualities and a longer-lasting body. It will hold its lubricating qualities throughout the entire range of engine temperatures with a very low oil consumption. This was substantiated and proved in a nation-wide road test under extremely varied driving conditions in which the thirteen test cars averaged 790 miles to the quart.

The new Texaco is manufactured in 5 grades: C, D, E, F, and G, conforming with Society of Automotive Engineers viscosity gradings. Sold in all of our 48 States under the Texaco Red Star with the Green T. 30¢ a quart (35¢ for Grade G).

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avantage Woman's Editor

My style note is coming first today. It concerns a red tweed dress with a white woolen collar with frayed edges and the fringe idea is repeated in red on the sleeves and tunic. Materials other than tweed can be used for these frayed edges.

SOME EVIDENCE

In case you think that women don't exert a powerful influence, just listen to the war nature is following their lead in style!

Not to be outdone by women in their pre-holiday rush for spring clothes, it seems that several trees have decided to don their spring regalia. The slender, red on the stem cherry tree blooming in the yard of W. R. Blake. This morning Mrs. Christine Hall said that one of her apple trees is in bloom and I read in the Children's paper today about some lilacs, a cherry tree and some peach trees blooming there.

A REAL BOY HERE

JUST now, I met the most engaging youngster I've seen lately. I don't know how old he is—probably eight or ten years—and more than likely I never would have noticed him had it not been for his grin. He was being led across the street by a man who was in a big hurry and the boy was letting the man do all of the work, while he hugged back and cast his engaging smile at strangers. I had to hunt among the freckles for the smile. And on top of all those freckles, there was a thicket of brilliant orange hair escaping from a black cap set awry on his head.

I don't know who that youngster was, but I'd like to know him, for I have an idea that he's real.

THOSE SPRING COLORS

IF you're interested this early, the hints for spring are in blues, beige-browns, greens and grays. The favored blues are guardman and admiralty, three sage shades are represented by sea sand, Burnside, a deep brownish tan, and Singalee, tan with dull brown cast sky gray and pistachio and chukker green are also predicted hues.

FORTY-SEVEN MORE DAYS
SINCE I'm writing of spring, I'm reminded that it is only 47 more days until Christmas, and the wise person is starting that holiday shopping instead of waiting until the middle of next month. The other day I saw a lot of toys piled in a store room, and on the day when they shall herald Santa's visit, a few local advertisers are mentioning the approach of the season and there is a placard in the postoffice warning patrons about the holiday load in the mails.

THE POOR AGAIN
NOT long ago a contributor to this paper sent in a story in blank verse about a poor family that needed some help in order to get on to relatives in Wyoming and related, also the story of a family was given by a group of individuals to send the father and mother and three children on their way.

The elegiac story was conducted with a verse saying that: "There are going to be others in the future who are going to do about what?"

It is true, there are going to be other cases in Lubbock this winter. They are here now and there will be cases next year. I'm not a hard hearted and I'm not a hater of humanity but I do not believe in growing emotional over poverty and trying to take up a collection for individual cases in a town the size of Lubbock, because I do not believe that the situation can be handled satisfactorily in this manner.

I'm not a trained social worker and I know it, but there are people who make their profession and they are able to take care of the poverty stricken people of our community in a manner that is most satisfactory to the one giving the money and the one receiving help. The citizens of the city are going to have to donate a certain amount of money to charity every year in the history of the city because the poor are going to be here in good times and bad. They need the help of those who are more prosperous and they should have it. But Lubbock's charity problem is not going to be solved until the various charitable organizations and individual units in their efforts to give assistance.

Right now we have no central unit for dispensing charity and I know that emergency cases are going to arise in which immediate assistance must be sought from individuals. But everyone who appears to be destitute is not in reality poor and the individual citizens can render the most assistance through giving his money to an organization or an individual who makes a business of helping the poor and knows something about making investigation of cases as they arise.

Every year since I have been in newspaper work the holiday season has brought calls from Camp Fire organizations, Sunday school classes and various clubs who want to do some charity work but do not know whom to send baskets of food. Sometimes these groups have worked through the Salvation Army, the Red Cross or some other recognized agency, and at other times they have gone to help.

Let us try to brighten the hope of the Christmas time in certain cases and make of us

Late Afternoon Gown Is Unique

Two Lelong models for late afternoon wear.

By LUCIEN LELONG
Special Cable to Central Press

THE LATE afternoon gown occupies an important and, really a unique place in the new mode. It is more formal than the afternoon gown of past seasons, though its degree of dressiness is the result of a gradual evolution, and it is less formal than the dinner gown, though it is sometimes more decorative.

My new gowns for late afternoon are a direct response to the increase of formal social functions held between the hours of half past five and nine. I have used heavy ottoman, faille, velvet and, more rarely, triple georgette or crepe satin in my darker, richer shades—dull bordeaux, plum and prune, brown and myrtle green—for the elegant woman to wear to twilight musicales, receptions and cocktail parties. Elbow sleeves and plain, ankle-length skirts give them a dignified air. Frequently I enliven the bodice by embroidery, beads or sequins, or when the frock is of faille or chiffon, by applique motifs of velvet embroidered on with beads. This embroidery is hidden for the street by a short jacket or a longer coat to match the frock. Short sleeved wraps are very elegant adjuncts to the late afternoon ensemble, worn with long gloves and fur or fabric muffs.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God; for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man.

But every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.—James 1, 13, 14.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

GEORGE W. DUPREE, Lubbock attorney and well-known club worker, addressed members of the local Rotary club recently, urging that business men everywhere help further the ideals of Americanism as a means of fortifying certain prevalent efforts to tear down the traditions of this nation.

Mr. Dupree's address is one which should be repeated in Lubbock and over the Plains section at meetings more largely attended than was the club affair here. His thought, bears along the line of fortifying the ideals of Americanism in the minds of our youth with fighting with knowledge, those assaults against our American heritage which have at last become so frequent.

Congressional and other investigations, on the part of our government and private enterprise, have proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that insidious methods of spreading foreign doctrines are being used in various parts of the United States. These efforts to overthrow American ideals and traditions have thus far been largely confined to the heavily populated sections of the country but we may rest assured that the time will come when the same screened attacks will be attempted in our own section. The time to fight such attacks is now.

The Morning American in these attacks against our principles and precepts the beginning of a long campaign, the first flush of added attempts to throw our nation into the maelstrom which largely dominates Europe and Asia. We have no doubt of the final triumph of right, of the perpetration of those ideals and principles so gloriously American. But we do say that a possible opportunity is being used in the United States to triumph at an earlier date than if we sit idly by while our children, and some of our elders, fall prey to sugar-coated pills of those who would change our morals, our methods of appointment, our institutions and our very lives.

America must be held for the Americans and those who do not choose to live under the flag of the United States as the majority of its good citizens wish it to be. There must be made to understand that Americanism intends to take no back seat for the jingos. Those who still persist in trying to tear down, rather than build up, must be shown that the doors of the nation are open for their exit.

Mr. Dupree's suggestion, coming as it does as a timely reminder of the major portion of the earth's surface is timely. It will be good for us to remember those famous and much debated words of Stephen Decatur: "Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong!"

A PROBLEM OF EDUCATION

In the last days before the war it was customary for many of the smaller denominational colleges to send forth, during the summer recess, members of their faculties, armed with catalogs and lists of recent high school graduates, to call upon the latter and to recruit from them as large a freshman class as the similar activities of rival colleges would permit. This practice has passed into history.

After the Armistice the young men who had left school to enter the service in most instances returned to resume their studies, and the young people who were then ready for college flocked thither in ever-increasing numbers. It came to pass that the facilities of most institutions of higher learning were soon taxed to the utmost.

The result is that instead of urging all who can meet the minimum entrance requirements to enroll, most colleges and universities are now rejecting almost as many applicants as they are admitting. They are now in the happy position, for them, of being able to raise the scholastic and moral standards to a level which many parents and faculties have for years been unable to attain. It is almost necessary to be an honor student in high school to enter college, and to stick there four years requires more than prompt tuition payments.

Whether this revolutionary change will effect a marked improvement in the representative college product remains to be seen. Competition between prospective students is good for the colleges but may mean a finished education to those who need it most. The best student is not always the one who makes the best use of his education.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

OUR ECONOMIC SYSTEM STILL AS IT WAS IN '28
By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A man who sits down to eat, with more food on the table than he can get away with, eats until satisfied, or possibly he even stuffs himself—and leaves the rest.

Too much never keeps him hungry. If he has more warm clothes than he can wear, the moths may get into his extra raiment, but he is able to dress warmly anyway. If his house is larger than he can fully occupy, he can occupy as small a fraction of it as he chooses; his vacant rooms don't drive him to sleep on a park bench or appeal to the Salvation Army for shelter.

Nevertheless, because, as a country, we have over-produced (which is to say that we have more of everything than we need, including food, clothes, houses, flivvers, radio sets and many other things) we find ourselves in the peculiar position of not having enough to go around—several millions of our would-be workers are out of jobs—great numbers of folk are under-fed, ragged and roofless—and former Police Commissioner Arthur Woods of New York is here, struggling with the national unemployment problem.

Too, much—hence not enough! It sounds like bushwa. However, Colonel Woods and the class he associates with the married into the J. P. Morgan family and calls himself "handyman" for the Rockefellerers) assure us that it isn't bushwa—it is a situation created by the economic system under which we live; an economic system under which the entire worth-while part of the world lives.

If so, may a plain, ordinary person be pardoned for remarking:— "Well, it's a heck of a system, then!" Believe me, a plain, ordinary person certainly will not be pardoned if he does drop such a remark. On the contrary, he will be mighty lucky if the congressional "red" investigating committee of Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr. does not get after him as a Communist.

But it will not necessarily follow that he is a Communist in reality. The Rev. Father John A. Ryan of the Catholic university of Washington, is about as far from being a Communist as it is possible to imagine—and the Rev. Father Ryan has jumped on our economic system with both feet recently.

He can qualify as a high authority on economic matters in America. In fact, the reverend father expressed regret the other day that there are not more Communists in the United States—because he said he thought a formidable Communist movement might scare some sense into our economy.

INJECTION OF DRUGS INTO HEART SOMETIMES WILL RESTORE LIFE
By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine.

When the heart stops the circulation of the blood naturally stops, and if the circulation is delayed over a five period, death inevitably follows. It is said that certain portions of the brain are damaged irreparably after some five to eight minutes of the stopping of the circulation. On the other hand, the hair follicles in the skin may continue to be alive and to grow hair as long as 72 hours after the heart has stopped beating.

La Follette Is New Governor

Sons of Robert M. LaFollette Carry on for Him; Philip Elected in Wisconsin and Robert Jr., in Senate

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6. (AP)—The sons of Robert M. LaFollette have carried on for him. Philip will be the next governor of Wisconsin. Robert, Jr., is U. S. senator.

In five years, Wisconsin has voted upon these two young men the honors it took their father more than 30 years to achieve. At the age of 33, Philip will assume the office his father first won in 1900—in the capitol his father built and he will live in the executive mansion where he played as a baby.

The voters made their preference unmistakable. They gave LaFollette a plurality of nearly three to one over Charles E. Hamnersley, Democratic nominee for governor. The governor-elect thus had won two battles. The hardest was the primary—in which he defeated Governor Walter J. Kohler. Yesterday's voting was largely a formal ratification of his initial victory.

YOUR EYES

A great many people know from actual experience that an eye examination made by a competent optometrist is thorough and complete; that a true test of vision is made by him without resorting to drugs; and that the care of the eyes and the fitting of appropriate lenses to correct visual defects can safely be entrusted to him.

Some, not so familiar with optometric practice seem to hold the opinion that optometry is limited to a certain few minor conditions which affect vision. To correct erroneous ideas concerning optometry, and to give a better understanding of optometry generally is the purpose of the following questions and answers.

Question: Can a satisfactory examination of the eyes of children be made without using the so called "drops" in the eyes?

Answer: Yes. By the aid of the retinoscope it is possible for the competent optometrist to make an accurate examination of the eyes of children who have not yet learned their letters. The retinoscope also makes it possible for him to examine the eyes and fit appropriate lenses to the eyes of deaf mutes, foreigners unfamiliar with the English language, and illiterates.

Question: What is a retinoscope?

Answer: It is an instrument with which an objective examination of the visual powers of the eyes may be measured and their condition determined. It is used extensively by optometrists.

Question: When one starts wearing glasses will he have to continue to wear them always?

Answer: Corrective lenses fitted to the eyes at the proper time, often relieve abnormal strain on delicate eye muscles to such an extent that the weakened muscles regain their natural tone. In many such cases glasses may be laid aside after the abnormal condition has been corrected.

Question: Is it true that the wearing of glasses will overcome headaches?

Answer: If headache is due to eye-strain or to ocular defects, such as astigmatism, properly fitted lenses will do much toward preventing and overcoming it. If you have persistent headaches after reading or sewing or after witnessing a moving picture you should consult a competent optometrist at once.

Question: In making an eye examination does the optometrist depend solely upon what the patient tells him he can see?

Answer: No. He relies chiefly for his findings upon instruments of precision—instruments designed for making accurate estimates of the refractive power of the eye. What the patient tells him is sometimes helpful, but the competent optometrist has the knowledge and the positive test of the eyes without the patient telling him anything.

Question: Can the condition commonly called "cross-eyed" be cured without an operation.

Answer: Strabismus or "cross-eyed" is a condition that frequently requires operative measures because such cases are not treated at the proper time in life. However, fully seventy-five per cent of such cases can be overcome by appropriate lenses and eye exercises if seen early. Many optometrists specialize in the treatment of strabismus and are doing notable work in straightening deflected eyes.

Question: Why is it when one reaches middle-age that different lenses are needed for distant and near vision?

Answer: It is due to a change in the crystalline lens of the eye. This condition is called presbyopia, and it usually occurs at about age forty-five. The first symptom of presbyopia is difficulty in seeing small objects or small print at the usual reading distance, which is about fourteen inches from the eyes.

Question: Do not some who need glasses put off wearing them because they think glasses make them look older?

Answer: The optometrist sees few such cases nowadays, for, fortunately, modern frames are made suitable to every type of face. Such frames really make people look younger instead of older. Properly fitted lenses help to overcome that tired, nervous, harrassed look about the eyes which is always present when eyes are over-strained. Appropriate lenses in one of the modern frames, not only improve sight but personal appearance as well.

Question: Can the defect commonly called "Near-sightedness" be reduced to give clear vision with weaker lenses?

Answer: Yes. Properly directed Optometric Treatment can accomplish this to a great extent.

Defective eye-sight reduces efficiency and greatly hampers the activities of those afflicted. The pity of it all is that so many are afflicted with fading and impaired vision, yet do not realize what is interfering with their work and slowing them down. They are so apt to attribute their condition to some other cause, and thus neglect the relief so easily obtainable, and so near at hand.

Lubbock Westerners Meet Quanah on Tech Field Today

School Officials Deny Proposed Split In Southwest Conference

Special Train Brings Quanah Rooters Today

Coach Stallworth confident of giving Westerners run for money; brings strong team to Lubbock

Defending their third place standing in the District Number 1 Class A high school race, the Lubbock Westerners will clash with the Quanah Indians this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Tech field.

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUP
Quannah	P. E. Lubbock
Norman	L. E. Martin
Harrill	L. T. Williams
Hurst	L. G. Abbott
Rogers	R. C. Pace
O'Hair	R. G. McGehee
Empe	R. T. Brawley
Horn	R. T. Watson
Hall, C.	Q. B. Lawson, C.
Lovell	H. B. Johnson
Patrolth	H. B. Teal
Shields	F. B. Watkins, C.

Signs of optimism as they chatted with considerable excitement before being sent to bed at an early hour. Confident that they will give the Franks a run for the money this afternoon, they are almost sure of victory. The Indians bring their strongest team of the season against the Westerners today. Like the locals, the Indians have been defeated twice this season in conference games. They will be fighting for third place and revenge.

Hungry For Revenge

Last year the Westerners slashed through a weaker Quanah team to take a 42 to 6 victory from the Indians, and remembering that assault today they are out for revenge. The Indians this year, too, they represent one of the strongest teams Quanah has ever had to offer, what with veteran team and some of the hardest hitting backs in the loop. The team was materially strengthened last week with the return of a pair of war horses who had been declared ineligible as a result of the ten-semester rule passed by the executive committee of the Texas Interscholastic League this year. The rule was recalled last week, however, and the two veterans were reinstated. Quanah's 35 to 0 victory over Tulsa High last Saturday showed that the Indians are not to be considered as weak starters.

Special Train at Noon

A special train bearing some 500 Quanah rooters will arrive in Lubbock about noon today, and a down town parade and demonstration will be held by the visitors shortly afterward.

In announcing his probable starting lineup, Coach Henry Frnkka of the Westerners said that he would more than likely present a shifted lineup against the Indians today. Moody Smith, star halfback, was injured in the Amarillo game and while he is able to play if his services are required, it is not likely that he will start today. Allen Johnson is his substitute and an able ball carrier, though not the accurate passer and speedy ball carrier that characterizes Smith. Other changes possibly will be made in the line. Rouser Abbott has been named to start at left guard in place of Grigg, and Bert Williams is due to start at left tackle. Williams is one of the best linemen of the Westerner team, but has not played in but two games this season, suffering a badly sprained ankle in the second game of the year. Williams has been named to start in McCaskey's place.

Possible Change at Center

Face may get the call at center, though Coach Frnkka said Crawford was likely to play most of the game. Face is considerably lighter than Crawford, but a willing worker in the line. Mack Soegren, 175-pound power house, may not start, but is almost certain to get in the backfield at some time during the game.

Coach Stallworth brought eighteen men to Lubbock, and announced that he had several other men than those in the starting lineup, probably would be called to service during the game. Following are the reserves on the Quanah squad: Blue, guard; Brazil, end; Campbell, quarter; Cox, half; A. W. Hill, half; Richardson, tackle; and Underwood, guard.

Jackrabbits Seek Win Over Chiefs

RALLS, Nov. 6. (Special.)—Coach Hendricks is putting the Ball Jackrabbits through stiff workouts this week in preparation for the annual Armistice Day clash with the Crosbyton High Chiefs.

The rivalry has always been great between the two teams and between the two Crosby county towns and although Ralls has never lost a game to the Chiefs, they are not in the least over-confident this year. While Ralls lost all but one letter man by graduation last year, Crosbyton has practically the same team this year and are out to revenge this year. The game will be played at Crosbyton.

Shades of Carnegie Foundation and Results of Famous Bulletin 23 are Noted by Author; No Credit Asked

BY TED YOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The year that has elapsed since publication of the Carnegie Foundation's famous "bulletin 23" on college athletics has seen considerable progress in remedying abuses, particularly the recruiting and subsidizing of athletes. Dr. Howard J. Savage, principal author of the bulletin, said today.

At the same time Dr. Savage stated emphatically the foundation did not claim credit for the changes but merely noted them.

While little has been heard from Dr. Savage and his associates on the subject of college athletics since the sensational results of their study were made public Oct. 24, 1929, they have been far from idle.

Carnegie Still Active
By means of letters to the presidents of institutions all over the country and personal visits by Dr. Savage to a few located in the middle west and in New England, the Carnegie Foundation has been and now is engaged in following up its original investigation and evaluating progress made.

Dr. Savage was unable to say when results of this check-up would be made public, but indicated it would not be for several months.

Makes General Statement
In the meantime he declined to amplify his general statement there is less recruiting and subsidizing of athletes now than there was a year or so ago or to cite specific examples of improvement.

The current agitation in favor of post-season football games for the Army to meet the Navy in a post-season renewal of the service football classic may be the benefit of charity.

Secretary Adams, questioned regarding the proposal, said the Navy was ready to play a charity game at the end of its regular schedule if a safe field could be secured.

Speaking for the Army, Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the military academy, said it could not participate in a post-season game because of the conditions which might result in injury to an Army player and consequent loss of time from his studies.

World Come Late in Winter
Adams agreed a safe field would be needed because "frozen ground in December is not a fit surface for any game."

He explained the Navy could not play until the middle of December because its regular schedule does not end until its game with the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia December 6.

Outstanding among proposals that came today was a telegram from George F. Getz, chairman of the Illinois unemployment and relief committee, to President Hoover, and Secretaries Adams and Hurley for a game to be played at Soldiers Field, Chicago.

Al Smith Named
In the list was former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator James Wadsworth, Judge George Olinvy, former head of Tammany Hall; Secretary of State Edward Flynn, James A. Farley, chairman of the state athletic commission and now Democratic state chairman, and a host of others.

By the influence he said was brought to bear upon some of these men by others of them, Tunney sought to show that Mars's political power, through which the bookmaker claimed it was possible for Gene to get his chance at Dempsey, was small in comparison to other influences wielded on his behalf. Most of the political figures appeared in Tunney's tale of the efforts made in 1926 to install him as the outstanding challenger for Dempsey's crown, at a time when the New York commission recognized the claims of Harry Wills, blacksmen of his time.

Reports Named 'Wild Rumors' By School Men

McDiarmid, Vice-President of Conference Brands Reports of Split as Unfounded; No Reason for Schism Seen

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6.—Reports that the Southwest Conference will split up were branded as "wild rumors" here today by Dr. E. W. McDiarmid, T. C. U.'s faculty representative to the athletic organization.

"I have heard absolutely nothing that would indicate such a break and I believe the report is a wild rumor," he said.

McDiarmid as vice president of the conference and a member of the appeals committee said he was in position to know the sentiment of the member schools.

Alumnus Starts Rumor
Gus Sapor of Houston, an alumnus of Texas A. & M. College, predicted the split would come "within the next few months" in an address before the Fort Arthur Aggie alumni club the other night. Newspaper accounts of the meeting quote Saper as having declared he had heard a prominent member of the conference appeals committee refer to the formation of a new conference because of the "hired athletes being attracted to various schools now in the southwest conference."

Six In Conference
"In this new conference," the item continues, "if rumors are correct, will be Texas A. & M., University of Arkansas, Louisiana State University, Oklahoma and Oklahoma Aggies. A definite break looks, with Texas, Texas Aggies and Arkansas pitted against Rice, S. M. U. Baylor and T. C. U." Saper said.

University of Texas Denounces Rumors
AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—Athletic officials of the University of Texas today expressed surprise when informed of the rumors that efforts might be made toward disbanding the Southwest Conference and establishing a conference of state schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Ed O'Leary, business manager of the Orange and White, declared that no discussion on this probability had ever taken place at the University of Texas and classified the report as "idle rumor."

Rice Official Says Reports Not Based
HOUSTON, Nov. 6.—Possibility of a schism in the ranks of the Southwest Conference, is remote, in the opinion of Dr. Gaylord Johnson, business manager of Rice Institute athletes.

"I don't consider a split likely at this time," declared Dr. Johnson. "A new alignment of teams, such as Texas, Arkansas and A. and M. on one side and S. M. U., T. C. U., Baylor and Rice on the other, would seriously impair the drawing power of each group. I have heard no rumors of any discord among member schools."

Jake Hess Missing From Rice Cagers

HOUSTON, Nov. 6.—Jake Hess, captain elect of the Rice Institute basketball team and high scorer in the Southwest conference last year, was missing when the team left for a game here today. Hess, a sophomore, was last seen at his uniform a bit sadly, nevertheless, and is assisting Coach "Pug" Daugherty in training the squad.

Ray Hart, runner-up in last season's scoring record, was seen as the team left for the game. Hess's absence was noted by the team manager, Harry Norman, center, the only other returning letterman, seemed assured of a place, though it was believed Blake, Sellers, six feet six inches tall, would crowd him.

Carl Spack, Howard Banner and Fouse Wolf were the other squad men to come back.

The varsity five will take a 10-day trip through the Middle West during the Christmas holidays, taking on such teams as Oklahoma City University, Illinois Wesleyan, DePaul University and Bradley.

OCEAN ROUTE
DUBLIN—German engineers have been surveying Cork airport for a site suitable for a contemplated base for a regular trans-Atlantic service between Cork and Southampton. Plans to institute weekly dirigible service between Cork and Lakshurst, N. Y., with spellings capable of carrying 120 passengers and 10 tons of mail, in addition to the crew of 46. The cost of such a dirigible is estimated at about $1,500,000.

HOTEL PLANE SERVICE
PARIS—One of the leading hotels here has inaugurated its own private airplane service for convenience of its guests. It maintains two planes at the disposal of its clientele. They meet liners at French ports, carry departing guests to their ships, or take them anywhere in Europe at standard rates.

Canadiana plan to ship wheat by the Hudson Bay route which was used for shipment in 1929.

May Start Against Indians Today

Strib Challenges World's Champion

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Young Scribbling, Atlanta, Ga., heavyweight, filed a challenge with the Illinois State Athletic commission today for a championship match with Max Schmeling, recognized as heavyweight champion of the world.

Ed O'Leary, business manager of the Orange and White, declared that no discussion on this probability had ever taken place at the University of Texas and classified the report as "idle rumor."

Equine Bluebloods Display Qualities At Madison Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Making his debut in the national horse show, Lieutenant Colonel W. F. Eaton of Canada and his Irish hunters cut a wide swath in the green hunters class today at the 45th equine blueblood show under way at Madison Square Garden.

With four of his five showhorses competing in the heavyweight and middleweight division of the green hunters class, Lieutenant Colonel Eaton carried off two firsts and two seconds.

Eaton's Ravenwing, a six year old chestnut gelding, carried off the honors in the middleweight division, with rainbow, a five year old second. Radiance, another of the youthful Eaton jumpers, accounted for the blue ribbon in the heavyweight section in close contest with his stablemate, Rathles.

W. T. Treadwell, St. Louis, Mo., gave the middleweight its first blue ribbon in sending out Rainbow Rose to defeat a classy field of novice five gaited broods. Second went to Rhododendron of the Borwood farm of Spring Lake, N. J. Mrs. Roth, of California, took third with Flora Dora after scratching the ace of her stable, Sweetheart On Parade.

Death Toll Is Boosted to 3

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 6. (AP)—The death toll caused by an explosion in the gas line in Panola county, Texas, near Bethany, La., late yesterday increased to three today when W. A. (Red) Wetzel, 28, succumbed to injuries. Wetzel, resident of Waskom, Texas, was married, leaving a widow and two children. He was an amateur wrestler.

Coleman Hardy, 30, brother of Thad Hardy, one of those instantly killed, was still alive but was in a critical condition.

J. P. Jones and S. C. Osborn, members of the crew, although only a few feet from those killed, escaped unhurt.

Clyde Honey, 28, was the third victim.

Matadors Trim For ACC Joust Armistice Day

Practice on the Texas Tech field was taken a little lighter yesterday afternoon, though the coaches stressed the importance of being in tip-top condition for the game here next Tuesday with the Abilene Christian College Wildcats. A brief scrimmage session, beginning the ending line in the day, topped off a routine drill of backfield and line players, practicing in separate parts of the field.

Coach Pete Cawthon expresses considerable optimism concerning the coming game with the Christians, confident that the Matadors will be in shape to give the Cats some real work. He does not take too seriously the 82 to 0 whipping given the champion Horned Frogs of T. C. U., and refuses to compare that score to the 38 to 9 defeat handed the Matadors by the Frogs one week earlier. The local collegians are anticipating a hard game Tuesday, and will be keyed up for what they hope will be their third victory of the season. Also, they will be fighting for revenge, remembering the beating handed them last season when the Wildcats came to Lubbock.

Tickets to the Armistice Day clash are on sale at the Hilton and Lubbock hotel drug stores. All seats in the west side grandstand are reserved for Lubbock citizens and out of town visitors, while students will occupy the stands on the east side of the field. Tech officials expect a large crowd, and are making special efforts toward comfort and entertainment. The game is next to the stars of the Matador card at home this season. Next week they go to Brownwood to meet the Howard Payne Yellowjackets, returning home to play the Simmons University Cowboys on Thanksgiving Day.

Eight Players and Big Purse Figure In Baseball Trade

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Four years ago, Rogers Hornsby all but chased Ed Baecht out of Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, when the youngster boldly announced he was a good pitcher looking for work.

Today the Cubs, now managed by the "Red" Slaughter, have bought him in one of the biggest deals of baseball.

Seven players and a large but unnamed amount of cash were sent to the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league for Baecht, now one of the stars of the minors.

In the deal, Catcher Johnny Schulte, infielder Eddie Farrell, Pitcher Al Shealy, and another pitcher to be announced later, will be turned over to the Angels as once while three more will be sent on option.

Slaton to Meet Lamesa Tuesday

SLATON, Nov. 6. (Special)—Slaton football fans, while hoping for a victory over Lamesa next Tuesday, are looking for a comeback battle with the Lamesa Tornados here, their annual Armistice Day battle at Lamesa, are convinced that it will be a very difficult victory to win.

The Tigers have not made an impression showing this season, although they staged a comeback here, Friday to defeat Tahoka, 34 to 6. Out of seven games, the Tigers have won three, tied one and lost three. The results are:

Slaton 6, Snyder 13; Slaton 12, Lamesa 6; Slaton 6, Colorado 7; Slaton 6, Brownfield 9; Slaton 6, Spur 40; Slaton 24, Idalou 9; Slaton 24, Tahoka 6.

Only the games with Idalou, Brownfield and Tahoka were conference titles. Slaton has a total of 87 points to 59 for her opponents.

The entry sheet is expected to be full Sunday afternoon when Lubbock golfers tee off for the "blind par" tournament at the Lubbock Country Club links. The tournament is the second of a series of Sunday meets, each complete with itself, and is open to all local golfers, regardless of club membership.

The match will consist of an 18-hole handicap tournament. W. J. Henson, professional at the country club, will deal out the handicaps, which, with possibly a few exceptions, will conform to the handicaps set last Sunday. The handicaps are derived from qualifying scores made in the city tournament early last afternoon.

Prizes will be made soon after noon Sunday, and the first entrants will tee off at 2 o'clock, according to the tournament committee. Three prizes will be awarded the three lowest scores in the tournament. Junior high school golfers will be made from club, valued at $5.50. Briand Policy Under Fire in Chamber Meet

Opposition Deputy Delivers Main Attack on the Foreign Policy of French Government on Thursday

PARIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Aristide Briand's foreign policy, particularly with reference to rapprochement with Germany, came under heavy fire in the chamber of deputies today.

Franklin B. Bouillon, opposition deputy, delivered the main attack. Briand probably will reply tomorrow.

Supporters Pleased
Despite the fact Franklin-Bouillon expressed sentiments which apparently pleased supporters of the Tardieu government, it was generally thought the dilemma in which they would place the government, if they should repudiate the foreign minister, will prevent defections that would endanger the life of the cabinet.

Directing his main fire at Franco-German relations, Franklin-Bouillon said:

"The German elections have proven that your policy for the past five years has been a mistake. I beg of you to admit it now and repair it by changing your attitude while there is yet time."

He referred to the parade of the steel helmet organization in Coblenz a month after the Rhineland was evacuated. He also cited President Von Hindenburg, Chancellor Brüning and other political leaders to show that nearly all parties and a vast majority of the German people were behind a campaign for revision of the treaty of Versailles.

"France must let it be known that never under any pretext will she tolerate that anybody, directly or indirectly, touch the frontiers of Versailles," he cried.

"Frontier Must Remain"
"The frontier of Poland is a frontier of France and the frontier of France is, and must remain the Rhine, despite the pretention in Germany that the Rhine is a German river but not the German frontier."

The socialists were excited to a high degree by the attack and interrupted it hysterically while the government majority applauded.

Earlier in the session Marcel Cachin, leader of the communist party, also delivered an attack upon the government's foreign policies.

Amarillo Mechanic Says Troubles Over
Argotane Built Him Up So He Is Now Working Hard Every Day

"When I sit down to the table now and eat a good hearty meal and enjoy it, that's only a part of what Argotane has done for me," said Alvin Boyer, a well known mechanic residing at 209 North Madison Street, Amarillo, Texas, in relating his experience with Argotane.

"I suffered from such an awful case of stomach and gall stone trouble," he continued, "that I could hardly eat a thing and nothing tasted right. The little I forced down didn't give me any strength and at times I would almost choke from the gas that formed in my stomach. I had pains in my side and often times a fainting sensation and was miserable that I often felt like not working at all.

"I commenced taking Argotane because I saw the good it was doing others and I could feel all the difference in the world right from the start. It simply made me feel like a new man. My troubles are over, and it built me up wonderfully and I am working hard. Getting my mechanic's tools every day and never have any more trouble with my stomach."

Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store. Ad.

New Theory Is Seen in Probe

Possibility that Dirigible R-101 Was Not Ready for Flight Which Ended Tragically Is Advanced

LONDON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The court of inquiry which heretofore has concerned itself with increasing the picture of the crash of the dirigible R-101 today considered the possibility the big ship might not have been ready for the flight which ended so tragically.

Sir John Simon, presiding, shot questions at air ministry officials called as witnesses, and there emerged a picture of Lord Thomson, the air minister who himself was killed, chafing to get away on the flight to India.

Star Created
Hugh Dowding, air vice-marshal, created a stir when he testified as soon as possible after the R-101 left her mooring mast on that last voyage but that apparently his order had been ignored.

He gave the order to Wing Commander Colmore, killed when the dirigible fell against a hillside near Beauvais, France, on the night of October 5. His idea, he said, was that should the full-power test reveal any fault in the craft she could turn about immediately and return to her base.

Ship Thought Fit
Others, while admitting Lord Thomson's haste to be off had hurried preparations for the flight, did not believe the R-101 was unfit. Lord Thomson himself, it was brought out, issued the certificate of airworthiness after a brief final inspection by two men who had not time to submit a formal report before the flight began.

Scotland yard was called upon to investigate statements made by a man who said he had overheard in a railway carriage conversations concerning a plot to wreck the R-101. This conversation, the man said, took place on a train between London and Southend on the day before the dirigible crashed. The authorities would not reveal further details of his statement.

POWERFUL AIR FORCE

PARIS—France is concentrating and developing its military planes, and the outcome is that it has one of the most powerful air forces available in case of war. The country now maintains under arms about 2,000 airplanes, capable of striking at the capitals and centers of population of any neighboring country within 24 hours' notice. A similar number of planes are ready for construction.

Jealousy Held To Blame for Murder Effort

Six Persons Under Arrest in Connection with Attempt to Cremate Kitchen Man in Hotel at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Nov. 6. (P)—To jealousy police attribute the slaying and attempted cremation last night of Alex Adams, kitchen man at the Davis hotel.

Six persons, one a waitress, were under arrest today and police worked on the theory that the waitress, Miss Billie Sutton, might have been the cause of the killing. Otto Schmidt, chef at the hotel, and the girl left the city together shortly after discovery of the body which was found stuffed into the hotel furnace. An iron pipe beside it was believed to have been used to inflict a fracture, found at the base of the victim's skull.

Police said Schmidt who was arrested when he returned from Lake-wood early today, admitted frequent quarrels with Adams. Police said Schmidt had burns on one of his hands.

GOES TO FT. WORTH

England's census will be taken on Sunday, April 26, 1931.

Seek Special Education Bureau for The Handicapped Children of America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—A centrally-located special education bureau for handicapped children—the lame, the deaf, the blind, the mentally and nervously defective, the undernourished—was asked today in the report on that phase of the child health problem prepared for the coming White House conference.

From such a bureau, the report argued, parents and teachers could readily procure information concerning the treatment and training of all types of handicapped.

The committee on these special classes, of which Dr. Charles S. Berry, of Columbia University, is chairman, also urged a nation-wide publicity campaign.

Not a single city in the United States, the committee set forth, is now providing special education for all its handicapped children who need it, and in small towns and rural districts any form of such education was said to be woefully lacking.

Teachers for blind, deaf, and crippled children were said to be inadequately trained, and state laws dealing with special education of the handicapped were pronounced "feebly and wantonly made."

Improvement was reported Thursday in the condition of Miss Willie Lykes, of Lamesa, who was injured Tuesday night when an automobile she was driving overturned on the Lamesa-Stanton highway. She was taken to Lubbock sanitarium.

Miss Lykes, who was alone when the accident occurred, suffered head injuries and body bruises. X-ray pictures did not indicate a skull fracture or brain concussion, attendants said. A blood clot was believed to have resulted from the head injuries.

Tea is being featured as a drink in a restaurant in Paris this season.

Turkey Prices Are Announced

Local Buyers Preparing for 1930 Thanksgiving Trade; Producers Urged to Hold Light Weights Until Xmas

Prices for the 1930 crop of turkeys was set Thursday by local buyers, according to reports from the several houses here buying birds for the Thanksgiving trade.

Prices are:
No. 1 young toms, 14 pounds or over, 12 cents.
No. 1 hens, 9 pounds or over, 12 cents.
No. 1 old toms, seven cents.
No. 2 or light weights, six cents.

The Titman Egg Corporation announced that it was advising all farmers and others who handle turkeys not to bring in light weights for the Thanksgiving day trade.

"We are insisting that producers withhold their light weights until the Christmas season," it was said. "We are urging that they feed them out so that by Christmas the birds will have more weight and will bring more than at present. Heavy weights bring twice as much as light weights."

It is expected that the first car of dressed turkeys for eastern markets will be loaded out by Sunday. Some birds are coming in, it was reported and dressing will start Friday.

FILES INCREASED

Fingerprints of 500 Persons Are Recorded Here

Fingerprints of 500 to 600 criminals and suspects are in the recently established identification files of the Lubbock police department, according to George Eubank, who has charge of fingerprinting and filing of records.

A comparatively large percentage of the prints are of persons arrested here, Policeman Eubank said. Copies of fingerprints taken in other cities are received and filed daily.

Prints are taken of all persons arrested and placed in jail, unless the print library here already contains such records of them, according to the officer.

morning Good day!"
Dr. Griswold's straw hat was clapped on his head and in another moment he was gone.

A little later Martha came down the stairs again and Celia greeted her.

"Martha," she asked timidly, "do you think I could see my grandmother for just a minute?"

"Oh, no, miss! No, I couldn't let you. The doctor said she was to be kept undisturbed! Nobody can go in to see her now!"

"But I thought—I mean I feel I ought to—"

Martha shook her head negatively, emphatically.

"I couldn't let you go in, Miss Celia."

The girl waited a while, then returned to her own room. She had no place in this house now. She felt like an interloper. For a long while Celia stared out the window.

Suddenly she became alert, rose to her feet and set to work. She was still there when John Mitchell knocked on the door at five o'clock.

Celia hesitated, then opened the door.

"How do you do, father. Will you come in?"

"Why, Celia—what are you doing?"

She stood before him in the brown silk traveling costume. Margaret Rogers had made a brown felt hat that was pulled down over the girl's head. She looked exactly as she had the day they arrived from Baltimore. Spread open on the bed was a half-filled traveling case.

"I had to wait to see you, the girl said slowly. There isn't quite enough in my purse. I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to lend me five dollars. I'll send it back."

"What's this nonsense? Why are you packing that traveling bag?"

"I'm going home. Back to my mother."

Mitchell turned and closed the door behind him carefully.

"So that's it," he said. "What the matter? Don't you like it here? Tired of the place?"

Celia had expected to hear something rather when she confronted her father. She had supposed it would be a good deal like their interview after she arrived home late from the party. This time she was prepared to surrender quickly.

"It's not that," she answered. "But I'm going. I telephoned about trains and there's one at seven o'clock."

"Determined to leave, are you?"

The girl was embarrassed. Was it possible he didn't understand? She tried to make it plainer.

"I can't stay here," she insisted. "Grandmother doesn't want me. Have you seen her? Martha wouldn't let me go in, but I thought perhaps you could. I hope she isn't very sick. It was my fault—I know I shouldn't have said what I did only I couldn't help it."

"Celia," said her father. "I've seen my mother. Will you sit down beside me and tell just what it was that happened? Here, take off that hat."

Mitchell tried clumsily to smooth the girl's cup back, but she drew on the side of the bed and drew her beside him.

Celia darted him a quick, suspicious glance. She could not read what was in the man's mind, but he did not look angry. Her courage rose slightly.

"I didn't mean to be rude," she began. "I said it before I thought, but oh, don't you see I couldn't have anyone say such things about my mother? Mother's not common! I couldn't listen—even to grand mother—and hear a thing like that!"

A dark glow spread slowly over the man's face.

"What was said about your mother?" he asked steadily.

Celia was talking excitedly now. She had to make this clear before she went away.

"We were at Charlotte's," she explained. "Grandmother was having her tea gone filled, and the filter dropped a ball of pins. I said 'let me see it' and handed it back. After we got into the car to come home grand mother said I was never to speak to working people or treat them as equals. She said they were common! That was when I couldn't resist it any longer. Why—mother's a Disher! She had said as though grand mother was talking about her."

"I told her she didn't have any right to say such things. Then I said working people were as good as she was, or better."

"The girl looked up, flushed and defiant. She had said the whole story. Now she was ready to go. Mitchell gazed at the floor.

"Is that—all?" he asked.

"Yes. After that grand mother didn't speak to me. She went to her room and then I heard Martha telephone for the doctor. I'm sorry she's sick."

The man studied it. It was several seconds before he spoke. "You see, Celia," he said slowly, "my mother has some ideas that are—rather old-fashioned. She was trained to believe they were right. She doesn't realize times are different now. I'm sorry for what has happened. It's very hard for an old person to understand—"

The girl was amazed. Could it be possible that he was taking her side?

"I was willing to say I was sorry," Celia mumbled. "Martha wouldn't let me!"

"That was right," Mitchell agreed. "You couldn't mend matters. But, Celia, I know your grandmother didn't honestly mean to say anything to reflect on your mother. She didn't realize how it would sound to you."

His arm moved around the girl. In an instant Celia had hid her face against her father's shoulder. Hot, quick tears came.

They sat there until shadows began to darken the room. At last Mitchell said, "Put away these things now, Celia, and dress for dinner. We'll talk later."

The two dined at seven o'clock. Later Mitchell went to his mother's room. He returned to inform Celia serious. Mrs. Mitchell was subject to such illnesses. He believed in a few days everything would be all right.

The household storm was not calmed so easily. After two days, it was decided, on Dr. Griswold's advice, that Mrs. Mitchell should go to her country home in Connecticut. Celia would stay with Evelyn Parsons.

It was the widow's suggestion and solved a problem for Mitchell. The girl herself was pleased.

She was in the living room, idly turning the dials of the radio, on her first evening at Larchmont, when suddenly Celia became aware of another presence in the room.

She turned to confront Tod Jordan.

"Why—Tod?" she cried.

Evelyn Parsons watched them from the doorway. Her smile was sinister.

DIAMONDS STOLEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Diamonds valued at $40,000 were stolen from him last night by three bandits who snatched him near his home. Abe Rothblum, a diamond broker, told police Rothblum said he was held up shortly after he had left home to take a train for New York, forced into a car, taken out on a prairie, searched and beaten.

Motorcycle manufacturers in Germany have decided not to attend the next automobile show in Berlin on the ground that 85 per cent of their sales are to the working class who are unable to travel and visit the exhibition.

Mitchell turned and closed the door behind him carefully.

"So that's it," he said. "What the matter? Don't you like it here? Tired of the place?"

Celia had expected to hear something rather when she confronted her father. She had supposed it would be a good deal like their interview after she arrived home late from the party. This time she was prepared to surrender quickly.

Government to Seek Kidnapers

Chairman of Jackson County Board of Elections in Missouri Captured Tuesday by Armed Abductors; Released

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 5. (AP)—The federal government set out today to find the gunmen who kidnaped Rex V. Hedrick, chairman of the Jackson county board of elections. Hedrick, seized Tuesday morning as he was motoring from his home in Buckner, Mo., to the board's offices in Independence, was released that night after the police closed. He had been blindfolded, gagged and beaten by the abductors, who officers said overtook him near Ripley, shoved him into their automobile and held him, lashed to a chair, while Jackson county voters cast their ballots and Hedrick's wife began to despair for his life.

Department of justice operatives, already active in a war upon election fraud that has resulted in the indictment of four election judges here, questioned Hedrick at length in an effort to obtain clues that would lead to the abductors. Hedrick, who is cashier of the First State bank of Buckner, was released near a filling station in down town Kansas City.

The gunmen, Hedrick said, took $30 from him but he was certain robbery was not their motive. Associates on the election board believed Hedrick had been victimized because of his stand for a clean election and against "padding" at the polls.

Booze Party Ends In Girl's Death

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6. (AP)—Liquor drinking and a resultant fight, police said, apparently preceded the death of Gwendolyn Truscot, 34, whose badly beaten body was found in a rooming house here today. Two men, allegedly participants in the drinking party, were arrested. Jesse Adams, 48, whose bloody clothes caused his arrest by a traffic officer, was the first suspect. Police said he admitted having attended the drinking party.

Police said Jack Teel, 33, was found in the woman's room intoxicated. He denied engaging in any fight, declaring several persons attended the party.

Both men were held pending investigation.

TIRED OF PROHIBITION

GALVESTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The people of the United States are heartily tired of prohibition and the election returns show this conclusively, Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago criminal lawyer, declared here today.

Young Cuckoo Gangster Shot

Hoodlum with Record of More than Fifty Arrests Slain by Sheriff of St. Louis in Fight Over Weapon

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—James Dormondy, 23, a Cuckoo gangster with a record of more than 50 arrests, was shot and fatally wounded early today by Sheriff Al Lill of St. Louis county. Dormondy died two hours after he had been wounded. The shooting occurred at Sappington and Lemay ferry roads, in St. Louis county.

Lill recognized the gangster, searched him and found a revolver which he seized. In a hand-to-hand fight, which started when Dormondy attempted to regain the weapon, the sheriff was not injured and managed to draw his own revolver. Four companions of Dormondy escaped in a motor car, from which Dormondy had alighted just before the shooting. Lill sought to question Dormondy and his companions regarding two filling station robberies in St. Louis county last night.

Vivid Account Of Storm Told

Chief Engineer of Steamship Lydia Tells How 22 Persons Met Death in High Winds and Floods in Mexico

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 6. (AP)—Vivid accounts of a storm which is reported to have cost the lives of 22 men, women and children in Tuxpan, Mexico, were given today by Francisco Maruri, chief engineer of the steamship Lydia arriving here from Mexican ports.

Anchored off the reefs near Tuxpan, a small city on the east coast of Mexico, the Lydia wallowed in troughs and was swept over the crests of mighty waves raised by a wind estimated at 80 miles per hour. The storm reached its highest point on October 23, and for four hours the ship tore at her moorings.

Twenty-Two Drown
The wind backed water up into the river and flooded Tuxpan. Maruri said he heard 22 Mexicans were drowned.

After the wind passed, men and officers of the ship went ashore to load bananas. The water was almost shoulderhigh in the store houses.

A number of corpses floated by the steamship and were swept out to sea in the strong current following the disturbance, Maruri said.

INCUMBENT DEFEATED
VICTORIA, Nov. 6. (AP)—Miss Helen Stierberg, incumbent and democratic nominee for tax assessor of Colquhoun county, was defeated in Tuesday's election by John K. McDonald, whose claimed nomination in the primary she successfully contested in district court.

Borah to Accept $10,000 Salary

BOISE, Idaho, November 6. (AP)—Senator William E. Borah, will accept his $10,000 salary as senator when he begins his next term in office March 4.

He made this statement tonight in reply to a direct question, only after he was assured that his election was a certainty by a plurality of probably three to one.

The senator declined during his present term to accept an increase in salary from $7,500 yearly to $10,000 voted by congress on the grounds he was elected by his constituents to a job paying the lesser sum.

"I do not feel that I could accept an increase in good faith without giving them an opportunity to express themselves," he said at the time.

STORM CAUSES DAMAGE
PALERMO, Italy, Nov. 6. (AP)—A violent storm in the Tyrrhenian sea has done enormous damage to shipping. The sailing vessel Santa Anna II was lost with three sailors and the English freighter, Seven Seas Trader, and the Italian freighter, Nuova Felice were driven aground. Regular passenger services were delayed.

Fruit and vegetable canneries in Italy are now operating on full time.
