LIGHTNING KILLS COUNTY FARMER

Cage Says State Backs Lubbock Highways

STATE OFFICIAL VISITS LUBBOCK ROAD ENGINEERS

COMMISSIONERS ARE NOT READY YET, HOWEVER, HE CLAIMS

The State Highway Department of Texas is ready to proceed with Lubbock county's hard surface road construction program as soon as the county is ready to proceed with its part of the contract, John Cage, a member of the State Highway Commission said here today when asked the status of the situation. Mr. Cage is here on a regular inspection trip of this part of the state, visiting the various division offices, and gathering data for use in connection with recommendations that may be asked by other members of the Commission regarding roads in this portion of the state. He is accompanied by Mike McNamara, who, though not connected with the Highway Department directly, is interested in highway work and knows the Texas situation well.

The plans on Lubbock county's program have been approved by the state department some time, Mr. Cage said, but beyond this no action has been taken for more than one reason, one of which is the fact that the plans are now in the hands of Federal Engineers pursuant to approval of federal aid on the projects.

County Court Disagrees. Another reason for the delay, according to Mr. Cage, is the fact that the Lubbock County Commissioners' court is not yet in readiness, as at least one member of the court will not give his consent to proceed with the outlined program, which calls for hard surface projects in four directions from this city.

While he called no names, it was apparent that Mr. Cage referred to the actions of Commissioner H. D. Talley, of Slaton, who has not yet given his approval to the projects due to the fact that he says the Slaton project is not what he at first interpreted it to mean.

The program calls for an expenditure of $50,000 in each of the four precincts of the county, warrants having been issued to care for the county's expenses. In turn the state gave its approval to the program, and agreed to match the funds of the county dollar for dollar. Now efforts are under way to secure federal aid, which would furnish an additional $200,000 to be applied $50,000 on each of the four precincts.

In the opinion of local highway officials, federal authorities will finish examination of the plans within possibly another month, and it is believed that federal aid will be granted. Just what action the county will take in the matter is yet problematical.

Optimistic Over Situation. Mr. Cage is exceptionally optimistic regarding prospects for road construction throughout the state, and especially in West Texas. Every division is in excellent shape, and roads are now in the best condition, generally speaking, he said, than in recent years. He arrived here Monday night from Big Spring and San Angelo, where he visited division offices, and plans to leave here Wednesday morning for Amarillo, another division point.

He is traveling the highway that runs from Corpus Christi to Texline, in which it is proposed to place a national designation, running from Canada to the Gulf, and said that in his opinion, this highway offers the most practical and shortest route that could be found. The highway, now under state designation, leaves northwest from Corpus Christi through San Antonio, Fredericksburg and Brady, then in a westerly direction to San Angelo, where it again turns north-west to Big Spring, then north to Lamesa, Lubbock and Amarillo and on to the Texas boundary at Texline. From here it would take a northwesterly course through Colorado and into the fishermen.

Plane Rushes Two Doctors Here For Car Crash Victim

With Doctor Harris, eminent Chicago brain specialist, and Doctor Moreman, Dallas, prominent general practitioner, in constant attendance upon her since their arrival here this morning by airplane, Miss Frances Harris, Slaton, who was seriously injured in an auto wreck near Post Saturday night, is showing some improvement today, attaches at the Lubbock sanitarium announced.

Reports from the sanitarium, where Miss Harris is under medical care, said that while she had not fully regained consciousness she had been able to answer some questions and was generally better than at any time since the accident.

Physicians, however, fear meningitis may set in, and if such is the case there will be very little hope for the patient's recovery, Miss Ruth Slaton, a close personal friend, told the Journal this afternoon. Miss Harris' recovery is fairly certain, however, if meningitis does not set in.

E. E. Fogelson, Snyder geologist, with whom Miss Harris was riding, is also improving and should be able to be out of the sanitarium by the middle of next week. Fogelson is badly bruised and may have some internal injuries. Willis Edwards, Dallas, the third member of the car party, died enroute to Lubbock after the crash.

DRYS CONTINUE PRO-LAW FIGHT

High Churchmen Carry Brunt Of Attack Against Plans To Modify Amendment

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 20.—The drys continued their roll call of the churchmen today before the Senate prohibition committee and witnesses taken both from the cloth and from the laity responded with a swelling chorus of praise for the Volstead act.

With William F. McDowell, one of the ranking bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, taking the lead, the churchmen declared one after another that conditions had improved under the dry regime, and that the return of beer and wine would be a sorry blow to morality and sobriety.

Raps Modifiers. Bishop McDowell told the committee that the bootleggers and the law-breaking booze-consumer really were the plaintiffs in the suit for modification of the law. One of the bishops' colleagues on the Methodist Board of Temperance, Dr. Clarence True Wilson added that illegal American distilling interests were in league with foreigners to break down Volsteadism.

The law was defended by several witnesses on the charge that it has corrupted youth. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, head of the United Christian Endeavor, said the hip-flaked younger generation was not so numerous in the land as had been reported, and advised officers of the law to blame the example of the "grown up flapper," rather than prohibition, for the flaming modernism of some American sons and daughters.

Prohibition Director Heard. At the request of Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, the testimony of the churchmen was interrupted to permit Frederick C. Baird, of Pittsburgh, prohibition administrator for Western Pennsylvania to reply to the recent testimony of Dr. Samuel Hargrett Church, president of Carnegie Institute.

Declaring that he has a son and daughter in Carnegie, Baird took exception to Dr. Church's statement as to conditions among the students.

"We have investigated conditions among the students," he said, "and we have found no derelictions. If there were any they were so covered up as to be invisible."

They Must Have It

Every day—the Daily Journal, we mean, the only Associated Press newspaper on the South Plains. Yesterday, due to a breakdown of high-speed press, the Journal was two hours late. Anxious readers, all over the city, watched for their papers and when they did not arrive on time, called the Journal office to find out the trouble. During the two hour breakdown hundreds of calls were received by the circulation department, both of the Journal's phones being kept busy throughout the time. The Journal is sorry about the delay but proud of its hundreds of friends who must have the paper every day.

J. H. BURROUGHS, PROMINENT MAN, DIES INSTANTLY

WIDELY KNOWN CARLISLE COMMUNITY PLANTER KILLED TUESDAY

J. H. Burroughs, prominent farmer of this county, living in the Carlisle community, about 8 miles west of Lubbock, was instantly killed this morning about 8 o'clock when he was struck by lightning at the granary of his home, during a severe thunderstorm.

He was discovered soon after the shock by Mrs. Burroughs and was dead at that time. A son, James, was in another barn about 50 feet from the granary and was dazed by the bolt of lightning. He did not know that his father was near him and went to the house, about 100 yards from the granary, where the shock had been felt. Also, Mr. Burroughs was missed and members of the family started a search for him immediately. He was found about 10 or 15 minutes after he was struck. There was no one at the farm except the family when Mr. Burroughs was killed.

Funeral is Not Set. No funeral arrangements had been announced at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. R. E. Overstreet, district field representative of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, of which Mr. Burroughs was a director, stopped by the farm this morning on his return from Levelland and found that Mr. Burroughs was dead. He came to Lubbock about noon and returned to the farm with David F. Eaton, county farm agent.

Mr. Burroughs was a state director in the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association and a member of the Lubbock Farm Bureau Cotton association. He was one of the leading pure seed breeders of the county, specializing in grain and sorghum seed. He was prominent in all farm association activities in the county.

Lived in Robert Lee. He came here about 11 years ago with his family from Robert Lee, in DeWitt county, where he had been sheriff for several years. He has been living near Carlisle since he came here.

Mr. Burroughs is survived by his wife and eight children. Two of his sons, Orville and John, are students at the Tech and formerly attended the Lubbock high school. They have been prominent in the Boys' Club work of the county, under Mr. Eaton. Other children are Mrs. Pearl Barnes, Dawn; James Burroughs, Miss Opal Burroughs; Mrs. G. F. Seis, Carlisle; Miss Myrtle Burroughs, and Alexander Burroughs. Mr. Burroughs was about 59 years of age.

Tears Hole in Cap. Mr. Burroughs was standing in the granary looking out of the north window when he was struck, it is thought. The lightning bolt came through the granary entering the top of his head and tearing the top from his cap. It passed through his body and right leg, tearing the heel from his shoe.

Mrs. Burroughs is in a critical condition at the home, suffering from the shock of her husband's death.

Mrs. Cuberson's Funeral Arranged

Menus for the Family

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Baked rhubarb, cereal, thin cream, broiled bacon, soft cooked eggs, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Crab meat in tomato sauce, clover leaf rolls, jellied fruit salad, cheese cups, coffee.

Children's Luncheon—Baked potatoes, tomatoes with toast cubes, jellied fruit salad, milk, ginger bread.

Dinner—Broiled lamb chops, potatoes au gratin, buttered spinach, new onions and radishes, whole wheat rolls, strawberry shortcake, milk, coffee.

The luncheon menu is planned for "company." Every hostess likes to serve an attractive luncheon to house guests but sometimes if small children must be provided for the grown-ups' meal is slighted by necessity. This children's luncheon requires no fussing and with the exception of the baked potatoes uses the same foods in part that are needed for the main meal.

Crab meat in tomato sauce is quite out of the ordinary, easy to make and even easier to eat.

Crab Meat in Tomato Sauce.
Three medium-sized onions, 8 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups strained tomato juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup crab meat, pepper.

Melt half the butter and add onions cut in thin slices. Remove seeds and white fiber from pepper and mince flesh. Add to onions. Cook over a low fire until onions and pepper are tender. In the meantime melt remaining butter, stir in flour and slowly add tomato juice, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point and boil three minutes and when very hot add tomato sauce. Serve on triangles of hot toast.

SETTINGS MADE ON CRIMINAL CASES IN COURT HERE

Settings have been made on criminal cases that will be heard at this, the April term of district court here. It was announced Tuesday by Louis F. Moore, district clerk, following completion of the docket by District Attorney Walter C. Wiltcher. Fourteen cases, involving mostly forgery and violation of the prohibition law are set for hearing during the last week of the term.

Due to the congested condition of both civil and criminal dockets, only one week has been set aside for trial of criminal cases, and according to Judge Hill Stewart, special judge elected for the term, all defendants in the cases must appear before the court Monday morning, May 10, at 10 o'clock. Those who fail to appear will have their bonds forfeited, the Judge said.

A number of defendants in the cases are now confined in jail here, and for this reason their cases are given precedence over those in which the defendants are out under bond.

The following criminal cases have been set for hearing the week of May 10:

The State of Texas vs. J. H. Peters, Forgery.

The State of Texas vs. Walter Kemp, Fraud. Disposal of mortgaged property.

The Tech College Treasurer orchestra, one of the best in the Plains, was much in evidence during the two hour session, and brought vivid recollections to the ex-service men of the days that used to be when such music as was furnished last night was a rare occurrence. Miss Violet Grayson, soloist, also charmed the audience with several selections, with accompaniment by Mrs. Frank Barclay at the piano.

The Collier quartet rendered a snappy selection, and such was their reception that they were called back to the floor for two encores.

Harry Meyers, well known local sport lover, and director-extraordinary of amateur plays will direct the presentation of "The White Lie", a three-act play as a part of his program to assist the Legion financially. The cast for the play will be drawn within the next few days, and the rendition will be made toward the latter part of May, present plans provide.

Robt. F. Higgins, prominent local attorney, addressed the meeting on "San Jacinto Day", and in his usual pleasing and eloquent manner brought out many interesting points in connection with the day that is dear to the hearts of all Texas people, and especially to men who saw service during the World war.

Hill Hurts No-Hit, No-Run Game To Beat McMurry Indians In First Of Series; Two More Games Scheduled

Volley Hill, of Milford, husky speed ball artist of the Tech College Matadors, was a little too much for the McMurry Indians here Monday, holding them hitless and runless with a 3 to 0 shutout.

In addition to the remarkable mound feat of a no-hit, no-run game, Hill was directly responsible for two runs, scoring one of them himself. Hitting in the clean-up position in the batting order, Hill drove out a triple on the first ball pitched to him in the first inning, chasing Hayden, who had walked, across the plate. In the third inning, Hill singled, advancing Hardwick who had reached first when West, at third, booted his grounder. Both Hardwick and Hill scored when Curtis, next man up, drove a long double to left center. Curtis, however, was thrown out trying to stretch the hit to three bases.

McCurry, who opened for the visitors, was faring fine except for the triple single by Hill in the first inning, but was forced to retire at the opening of the third due to a bad spike which he hurt sliding into second base. Nix was called in from left field to the mound, and was tapped for two hits and as many runs during the first session. Nix exhibited one of the most deceptive deliveries met by the Matadors this year, and after the third inning had passed, he began to warm up, and shut the locals out, holding them hitless the remaining five innings.

The Indians, though hitless during the entire game, made four menacing threats to score. These came in the first, third, seventh, and ninth innings, and during the third and seventh innings had two men in scoring position each time due to free passes and errors.

Four errors, two by Niehaus at third, and two by Rigany at second, marred the day for the Matadors, while West at third committed the only serious blunder for the visitors.

Tech is now playing a percentage of .714, with five wins, one loss, and one tie game out of seven starts. The two clubs are scheduled to meet again this afternoon on Tech field, although weather conditions early in the day were not the most propitious. Weather permitting, however, the clubs will battle again both this afternoon and tomorrow, beginning at 3:30.

Score by innings:

Eddie Collins Can't Tell Whether To Fire or Promote Chesty Rookie

Major league managers are often up against funny propositions in the training camp. Compelled to pass judgment on a score of more minor league recruits prior to the opening of the season, they are often hard to put to reach a decision.

While chatting with Manager Eddie Collins of the White Sox at Shreveport, La., and watching his rookies perform, remarked:

"That fellow is either going to talk himself back to the bushes or into a big league berth.

"I can't quite make up my mind whether I should call him down, tell him his place, or should pat him on the back for his spirit.

"Yesterday I took one of the young players aside, believing no one could hear our conversation, and explained to him why he had made the wrong play.

"Apparently this player has 'rabbit ears' because I had hardly finished when he broke into the conversation thusly:

"I got everything you said manager and it's all O. K. Why even a busher ought to be wise to that stuff."

"A little later I made some critical comment to another player and once again I heard the 'rabbit-eared' rookie cut in with the following:

"Tell it to him, manager, we don't want any boneheads on this ball club."

I guess Collins is still trying to make up his mind as to what disposition he should make of the rather chesty recruit.

Sisler's Brownies Finally Pound Out A Victory With Gaston, Newly Acquired Hurler, Filling The Gap

(By the Associated Press)

The St. Louis Browns, pennant hopes in the pre-season baseball predictions, have won a game after five straight defeats and now may be considered as in the race.

Though a chill afternoon Mill Gaston of the Browns, recently of the Yankees, hurled excellent ball yesterday and set back the Tigers.

Bob Groves of the Philadelphia Athletics, "Wildman" of a year ago, held the Red Sox to three safeties and won the morning holiday game at Boston.

Other Good Performances

There were also pitching performances by Carl Mays of Cincinnati, Hightstanger of the Cardinals, McGraw of Brooklyn and Dean of the Phillies.

Winnipeg, Edna Giant, twiddled it inings against the Cubs, permitting eight hits but lost in the fourth.

Wilson, former team mate in New York, found him for three blows. The score was five to four.

McGraw's effort at Philadelphia gave the Dodgers their second straight victory over the Phillies, 4 to 2.

Waner, Cuyler, Wright and Traynor of the champion Pirates gathered singles off the submarine servings of Mays at Cincinnati and managed to sport a run in the final inning. The Reds registered seven hits off Kremer and Oldham to win, 2 to 1.

Ryan Loses To Giants

The Giants pounded a former team mate, Rony Ryan, and defeated the Braves, 3 to 2. Lindstrom had a perfect day at bat with a triple and two singles.

After Groves had pitched his brilliant game in the morning, the Red Sox went back in the afternoon and gained revenge against the Athletics with Ruffing in the box, 2 to 1. Bischoff's single, following hits by Rigney and Hervey, accounted for the winning runs. Simmons of the Ath-

A cigarette as is a cigarette!

BOY, howdy! You'll say so the first one you roll with Prince Albert, the better tobacco for cigarettes. P. A. rolls slick as a whistle. Doesn't flutter away on the first breeze or spill all around. That's because P. A. is crimp-cut. It burns better for the same reason.

And that taste! There's the real test after all. A cigarette made with P. A. tastes so good you'll be making one right after the other. From morning right up to closing-time. Cool as a breeze from the North. Sweet as butter-taffy. Fragrant as wind-blown blossoms. That's Prince Albert! Good old Prince Albert, the better cigarette tobacco.

For good measure, the Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch. Millions of grateful tongues have spoken about this important feature of P. A. You just never tasted a home-rolled cigarette that gave you so much downright pleasure. Get a tidy red tin or a tippy red bag of P. A. today and see.

It's the quality tobacco in Prince Albert that makes such a cigarette. This same wonderful tobacco goes great in a jimmy-pipe also. Try it. Tuck a neat wad of P. A. into the business end of your favorite pipe and light up. Your face will light up at the same time... and for a good reason!

Editorials HOES AND KINGDOMS

"Now that April with his showers soothe the droughts of March bath percolated to the roots" — and "percolated" days well, if you ask the inhabitants of a major portion of this nation — poppa would be gardening.

The great American home is aglow with those seductive seed catalogues. Orange and scarlet and green and blue they gleam and glow upon the living room table like unto all the jewels of Aladdin.

Cabbages of a size to make a Roman holiday bedeck the pages. Asparagus with stalks which might lead to the lair of Jack the Giant Killer. Tomatoes fit to feed a kingdom of Gargantua.

The evening stillness is brake by the heavy work of pick and hoe upon that and rocky soil.

The even more resounds with the heated debate of whether those plain but good venches of the garden kingdom, radishes, beets, peas and cabbage, shall give way to such bedizened beauties as Erased sprouts, chard and remains.

What if the yield from a sowing of blistered heads and breaking backs be but a handful of speckled tomatoes and a withered radish? Without their family gardens the nations perish. Cincinnati was called from his plough and oxen team to lead the army against the Sabines. Victorious, the Mussolini of his day, he was offered rich rewards. He only asked to return to his farm and his fields.

In the happy simplicity of the Homeric ages the great heroes sought rest and peace in their garden plots, or over a mess of pulse or herbage.

Legend tells us of the cookery of such skill of such heroes as the mighty Ulysses who kindled the fire and laid the cloths, Achilles turning the spit; Patroclus drawing the wine, one continuous chronicle of the hero, the gardener. Cicero waxed eulogistic, even in the midst of his caustic lambasts, upon the succulent beet greens and tender lettuce grown in his garden plot.

The Egyptians raised altars to cabbages, adoring the huge obese heads as so many gods. And the Egyptian bowed lowest to the cabbage tilled in his own soil.

The mighty Alexander found the onion in Egypt and sped the war so that he could get home to grow tender onions and consume them each morning with honey dripping from the comb.

The pages of Ovid, Livy and Horace tell again and again of the delights of gardening, and what profit it a man if he rule the whole world or write a mighty saga and cannot hoe his own?

Did you say it was spring? Well, how do you know? The robin is a notoriously false prophet, and the violet can be lured forth with promises that are never kept.

We know a man who changes to long underwear on Thanksgiving and to short on Easter Sunday — and he lives in a city where the weather is as unreliable as a man describing his radio set. Beautiful though his faith is, it is misleading.

But there is a herald of spring that is more unerring than the calendar and less deceiving than the birds — and it is baseball. Baseball — when the very world seems to respond with the thump in the catcher's mitt, and the crack of the ash against a speeding ball, and the hysterical roar from the stands — baseball is the beginning of spring.

Weather is a small consideration; the season has started and it is time to be young again.

A Successful Operation

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON — Now the wets are blaming the dry for Congress' long delay to re-apportion the states' representation in Washington.

Under the constitution, representation is supposed to be re-apportioned after each census — that is to say, every ten years. It hasn't been done in sixteen. This is in clear disregard of what all hands agree the "founding fathers" intended, but Congress simply doesn't get around to it.

It worked all right for a good many years.

No state ever actually lost any representation. New congressional districts were provided for as new sections developed. The old ones kept what they had or got more. However, Congress kept getting larger and larger, until now the House of Representatives is unwieldy already.

Another thing. Representation ordinarily was much more than half rural. As cities grew the proportion of urban representation increased but it still was in a minority up to and including the 1910 reapportionment.

Since then there hasn't been a reapportionment. If there should be —

- 1. States which haven't grown very fast would lose part of their representation to states which have grown like everything. No state likes to lose representation.
2. More than half of the country's population today lives in cities, so the new representation, for the first time in American history, would be predominantly urban. The ruralities, in the saddle hitherto, would be outvoted. And neither do they like that idea.

The tendency of a reapportionment, then, would be to strengthen the wets and to weaken the drys in Congress. This tendency might not go far enough to give the wets a majority but it would be in that direction.

That's the basis of the wets' contention.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY JUDREY MORTON, wildly in love with her guardian, HARRY MORTON, runs away from home because she is jealous of Morton's other women friends. She is found in a small village near CHICAGO and returns home. At the end of yesterday's installment, she has just telephoned to Nona, one of her rivals to come to her apartment while Morton sleeps. Morton, handsome, middle-aged, attractive to women and rich, has lived in PEORIA for 15 years, without the gossip there ever learning his past or what his business is. He also maintained an apartment in CHICAGO, and divides his time between the two. Now Go On With The Story (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.) CHAPTER XX It was a wonderful and very sleepy Nona who presently appeared at the Morton apartment. Audrey met her at the door, and giving her finger on her lips, pleaded for silence until they were in Audrey's own little study, with the doors closed and locked. "I haven't had any breakfast," protested Nona. Audrey gave a little cry of concern, and ran into the hall. "Bring some breakfast up to my study," she told the butler, "as soon as you can, but don't make any noise. Mr. Morton is tired and mustn't be awakened."

Audrey was waiting for him in the drawing room when he saw her he stopped suddenly.

"What in the dickens have you been doing to your face?" he demanded.

It works. If you're expert, and do the thing right, you may be able to find out a lot of things about men. When they reached their building, Parrish was just entering the elevator.

"Hello, Parrish," said Morton. "And good-bye." He kissed Audrey and hurried out the door. Parrish watched him until he was out of sight. Then he turned to Audrey. Seriously he looked at her rosy cheeks and reddened lips and sighed.

"What are you doing?" he asked. "Together they turned back to the street again." "Do you know," said he, as they fell into step, "there has been something I have been wanting to say to you for a long time."

She looked up at him interestedly. "What was it?" He pondered a moment and then continued. "Do you know, Miss Morton, that I have been wanting to speak to you about something, but I suppose it is none of my business? Something that I think you ought to think about?"

Her look was inquiringly, but he had difficulty in going ahead. "You see," he said, "it's like this. We saw Mr. Morton in that cabaret the other night. And we have seen him with that girl he calls Nona. Now here's what I wanted to say—you're his adopted daughter, and everything like that, but wouldn't it be better for you, as a young girl, if you lived some place else?"

Audrey whirled on him. "What do you mean?" she cried. "I mean I think he isn't the right man to be your guardian and to live in the same house with you."

He stopped abruptly. Audrey, stepping back a pace, slapped him in the mouth. (To Be Continued)

"But there must be some difference between you, Nona, and me!" Audrey said. "He says he loves me, but I must only regard him as if he were my father. And then he seeks the company of those girls, instead of mine. Nona, I want to know how to make myself more attractive to him. Can you tell me?"

Nona sighed. "I suppose women have been trying to learn that very thing since the world began," she said. "If we try to wamp a man, he doesn't wamp worth a cent. At least, if we really like him. If we don't care anything about him, it's not so hard. I don't know—it's queer!"

EATON URGES TEST ON COTTON SEED FOR PLANTING

The farmers of the South Plains are facing a dirth of trouble with their cotton crops this year if they are not very careful about the seed they use for planting, according to a warning issued here this week by David F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent, who with Tech College officials, has been conducting a series of germination tests on the seed crop available.

The germination tests, which were conducted at the college under normal conditions, and by men who have made a special study of this phase of the farm program, show that at least half the seed on the Plains will actually test less than 50 per cent for germination, Mr. Eaton said. Only an occasional sample was found that went to 80 per cent or better, while one or two samples tested only 18 per cent.

Such a condition should be given the immediate attention of every farmer who expects to plant cotton, Mr. Eaton said, for even though a farmer grows his own seed he does not know the vitality of these seed until they are tested. He attributed the low germination to the freeze of last fall which cut the crop, saying that many of the seed were immature in the boll when growth was killed, with the result that they were run through with seed that were mature.

The farm agent urged that every farmer have his planting seed tested for vitality, and said that college officials had offered every assistance, and would conduct the tests free of charge as a part of the college program to assist the farmer. If seed do not show good vitality after the test, planting seed that will test out should be bought, or the seed to be planted should be planted thicker in the row, the thickness to be determined by the percentage of germination.

Run-A-Way Couple From Lamesa Held By Officers Here

Two children, a boy and a girl, who gave their ages as 12 and 13 and claim that they are brother and sister, were taken into custody by the law here Monday night. But instead of going to jail as is usual in such cases, the two were given nice, clean beds in the home of one of Lubbock's best citizens.

steadfastly refused to return home with the threat that if taken back they would leave again at the first opportunity. They said they were on their way to Kansas City and had left home following an argument with their people.

The two were turned over to county authorities after spending a night in the home of an interested citizen of Lubbock who had never seen them before, and officers were trying to prevail upon them to return home Tuesday.

MISS JEWELL DENNING BECOMES BRIDE OF OVIN SLATON, LAZARE

Miss Jewell Lee Denning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Denning of Idalou, became the bride of Ovin Slaton, of Lazare, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her parents. The Rev. Ed Throp, pastor of the Methodist Church, at Idalou, read the ceremony. Miss Denning has been the bookkeeper at the Daily Journal since September, resigning her position Saturday.

Miss Elsie Link, an employee of the Texas Utilities Company, whose home is in Idalou and who has been rooming with Miss Denning in Lubbock, was bridesmaid and Neal Denning, brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Denning wore an orchid georgette dress, heavily beaded, with accessories to match and carried a bride's bouquet. Miss Denning wore a going-away costume of blue flat crepe with tan hat and shoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaton left immediately following the ceremony for Oklahoma and Texas points where they will visit until May 1, after which they will be at home in Lazare.

not to be obvious. "The aspersions were particularly unwarranted and unfair about young men and women, many of whom are working their way through school."

"Young people who have the moral courage to do that should have the whole-hearted cooperation of the people.

Trustees Are Rapped
"Dr. Church is the president of this institute. If the trustees of that institute do not take serious consideration to his statements then the trustees themselves should be investigated."

Baird explained two cases of killing by prohibition agents, complained of by Dr. Church, and denied that agents searched 200 men and women patrons during a raid on Nixon's Restaurant in Pittsburgh.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asked "what animus" there might have been behind Dr. Church's testimony.

"I believe there is animus," Baird replied. "The only thing I think of was that one of his cars loaded with liquor was seized on the Canadian border and it cost him $1,000 to get the car back."

"Was he in the car?" asked Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia.

"No sir."

"Was any member of his family in the car?"

"Not that I know of."

"Was there anything to connect him with the car?"

"Nothing except that he paid the fines for the man who was running the car."

Recess Is Called

This brought the committee to the noon recess and Senator Reed wanted adjournment until tomorrow, explaining that he wanted to prepare a speech on the Italian debt. Chairman Harrell said he would have to be in the Senate for the public building bill.

On motion to adjourn until tomorrow the committee voted 2 to 1 in the negative. Harrell and Goff outvoting Reed.

"I can't be here and you won't be here," Reed said to Harrell.

"Then there will be only members of the sub-committee here. That is contrary to precedent. I'll take the matter to the floor of the Senate."

Reed Makes Promise Good

Senator Reed made good his promise and brought the question upon the Senate floor and his action produced a lively session during which Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, a wet leader, proposed postponement of the hearing until after the vote tomorrow on the Italian debt settlement. His resolution was not acted upon.

During the debate, Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, another wet declared he did not expect any measure of justice from the committee, constituted as it is.

Senator Walsh protested against this statement and Senator Bridge asked why he should have any confidence in the committee when Senator Walsh did all in his power to prevent any hearings at all.

Oregon and Washington, with the possibility of a branch somewhere in the middle west that would go north into Canada.

It now remains, Mr. Cope said, for the counties interested in this highway to find some means of gaining concerted action to pull the deal across with the ultimate end of placing the entire route under hard surface. Efforts are under way to divert this highway eastward at several points in north and central Texas, but it is the opinion of Mr. Cope that it can be signed up along the route mentioned if proper steps are taken immediately.

New Designations Proposed

He explained also that there are three proposed state designations in this particular section of Texas that are of great interest to the various towns, but that action on them is being held up pending receipt of the division engineer's report in connection with them. It is to be the general policy of the Commission to make new designations only twice a year, in July and January, he said, but this would be deviated from under certain conditions.

One of the proposed new designations would be from Big Spring directly north to Clarendon; the other from Midland north to Muleshoe through Seminole, and the east portions of Yoakum, Cochran and Bailey counties; and the other, more or less a horseshoe route, would be an extension on the second route running from Midland to Sterling City, Sterling City north to Colorado, Snyder, and Clairmont, and joining Highway No. 15 between Jayton and Spur.

Mr. Field expects to submit his report on these proposed extensions, all of which are in his division, within the next two or three weeks.

WORTHAM SHOWS PLEASE MANY PATRONS

All the many attractions that were promised by the advance agent of the John T. Wortham shows and some more were presented last night on the campus lot, and though the weather was somewhat unpropitious there was a goodly number of people on the grounds that by their liberal patronage of the many different shows and rides attested their approbation of the clean, meritorious offerings.

Standing prominently above the many attractions might be quoted the bathing girls revue, the fancy swimming and diving beauties where in addition to spring board dives, one of the young ladies ascends a 70-foot ladder and from its peak dives into a shallow tank of water only 4 1/2 feet in depth. In addition to the many startling novelty acts that Miss Shirley Frances' premier bathing beauties present, one cannot possibly overlook Napoleon, the famous big diving clown, an artist in his line and on the job continually with a new laugh for every breath, that kept the large audience that watched his monkey antics, in an almost continuous roar of laughter.

Then, there was the colored minstrel show, unquestionably the largest and best aggregation of colored artists ever assembled under canvas, funny comedians, singing and dancing as only darkies can do, concluding with a duet of Charleston dancers, that amuse and astonish another large audience that witnessed them last night. An entire change of program will be presented every night during the engagement this week.

In addition to the many shows, there are several riding devices, including the very latest thrilling and a minute and many other new and novel attractions are to be seen at the John T. Wortham shows every afternoon and night this week during their sensational ride, the Hey-day, purchased by Mr. Wortham at the cost of fourteen thousand dollars; the trained wild animal circus; the athletic stadium; the monkey circus, with its Simian actress; Crazy Cannon Ball Bell, and his fancy trick riders dashing around a perpendicular wall at a mile engagement in this city.

Rev. R. R. Brooks, pastor, led the lesson at a meeting of the Ladies Bible class of the Church of Christ Monday afternoon in a meeting at the church. There were 31 members of the society present. Mrs. E. B. Green gave a report on Tipton's Orphanage, one supported by the church of Christ.

Moody Replies To New York Bond Men

AUSTIN, Apr. 20. (AP)—Holders of Texas road district bonds whose counties have made no attempts to repudiate road district bonds, need expect no co-operation from the state in collecting principal or interest. Attorney General Dan Moody has notified a New York bond company.

A copy of the message sent last Thursday by Moody to the bond house was made public today by W. T. Bagby, attorney for Lavaca county, in the suit brought by Guy C. Dunn who is seeking to recover from the county $150,000 proceeds of a road district bond sale.
