Nixon Welcomes Arabians In Closed Meetings

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon welcomed Saudi Arabia's second deputy prime minister to the White House today as he continued to stress improved U.S. relations with the Middle East nations he will tour this month.

Prince Fahd Ibn Aziz, who is also minister of the interior, met with Nixon in late morning in his Oval Office. A working luncheon also was on the schedule.

The greeting and meeting were closed to reporters.

Those participating inlciuded Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

A White House spokesman said the discussion would center on ways "to expand U.S.-Saudi Arabian cooperation in the economic, industrial, scientific and technological fields and in the area of the Kingdom's defense requirements."

Prince Fahd's oil-rich country is one of five Middle East nations Nixon will tour June 12-18. The others are Egypt, Israel, Syria and Jordan.

In a major foreign policy address at Naval Academy commencement ceremonies, Nixon said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiation of Israeli-Arab disengagement removed a roadblock to Middle East peace.

The President spoke, too, of his Soviet summit talks beginning June 27 as he cautioned that the United States should not seek to involve itself in the internal affairs of other countries.

In an obvious reference to the controversy over immigration of Soviet Jews, Nixon said, "We would not welcome the intervention of other countries in our domestic affairs and we cannot expect them to be cooperative when we seek to intervene directly in theirs."

Nixon is seeking congressional approval of most favored nation treatment for the Soviet Union, but a bloc led by Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., has stalemated the trade bill in an effort to force relaxation of Soviet immigration policies.

Nixon met later Wednesday with seven U.S. Jewish leaders, who reported the President reaffirmed his concern "for the plight of Soviet Jewry" and implied he would raise the issue with Kremlin leaders in the summit talks.

Meanwhile, Kissinger met privately with Jackson and Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to explore possible compromise solutions.

Afterwards, spokesmen for the State Department and Jackson said major differences remain unresolved but that more such meetings are planned.

Everybody has a number these days, which is regarded as a nuisance by some and as an unnecessary step toward total anonymity by others. But there may be some justification, according to the Social Security Administration, where the number business got its biggest shot in the arm years ago.

They say there are no less than 40,000 people named John Smith who have Social Security cards. That would represent a measure of anonymity within itself.

People in the Dallas-Fort Worth area are getting ready for the opening of a new type of wax museum. Called "Sportsworld," it is located in Grand Prairie, within shouting distance of other amusement and recreation attractions, such as the Wax Museum of the Southwest, Lion Country Safari, Six Flags over Texas, Seven Seas, Texas Stadium (home of the Dallas Cowboys) and Arlington Stadium (home of the Texas Rangers). The new museum will feature wax figures of all-time athletic heroes presented in the settings of some of their greatest triumphs.

Scheduled to be on hand for the grand opening at noon Friday are such luminaries as Dinah Shore, Bob Lilly, Larry Mahan, Don Carter and Kyle Rote Jr.

Dal Herring, who was born and reared in McCamey and now teaches journalism at Howard College in Big Spring, has come out with a book titled "Oil Patch Tales." It is a humorous book about the Permian Basin in the 1950s and before.

Primary setting for the blending of tall tales, funny stories and descriptive folkore of the Basin ranges through McCamey, Crane, Iraan, Odessa, Rankin, Monhans, Kermit, etc. Herring says much of the book is the humorous reflections of his father about the life he and other oil patch people knew from the time he came to Iraan and McCamey in the 1930s.

"The work was so demanding and the desert so harsh that the people who were denizens of the oil patch developed their own zany brand of humor," Herring recalls. "It was a choice of either laugh or go crazy.

The book is a limited edition and is being sold through the Howard College Book Store at Big Spring for $1.75 per copy.—WACIL McNAIR.

Wagering Proposal Rejected

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention has rejected an attempt to combine Baptist sentiment against horse-race wagering with Catholic love of bingo.

Delegates also defeated four other proposals on gambling in a three-hour debate. More debate was scheduled today.

Sen. Jim Wallace, D-Houston, and Rep. Neil Caldwell, D—Alvin, offered the convention the Baptist-Catholic "compromise" Wednesday after several close votes on the other proposals.

The Wallace-Cladwell amendment would outlaw lotteries, as does the present contitution, but submit church bingo and pari-mutuel wagering to the voters as separate issues. It was tabled, 96-68.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, spoke for the amendment, saying he and other Baptists lack the votes to put an outright ban on gambling in the constitution, and Catholics lack the votes to legalize bingo. "It's just that simple," he said.

The General Provisions Committee proposal on gambling tracks the language of the present contitution—which through silence on pari-mutuel wagering leaves it up to the legislature—but adds language allowing the legislature to legalize charitable lotteries such as church bingo.

Rep. James Kaster, D—El Paso, offered an amendment that eliminated any mention of gambling, leaving it up to the legislature. The amendment was defeated on an overwhelming, non-record vote.

Wallace proposed to ban all gambling. It was tabled, 89-74.

Caldwell and Rep. R. E. Green, D—Houston, reoffered the Wallace amendment with the addition of legalizing church bingo. A motion to table this proposal failed on a 72-72 tie vote.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D—Galveston, proposed to amend that proposal by taking out pari-mutuel wagering and expanding on the church lotteries that could be legalized. A motion to table the Schwartz amendment failed, 75-78, but the proposal was defeated on a direct vote, 75-89.

The convention voted 98-32 for a banking provision that continues present law with one exception: bank holding companies would be given constitutional recognition through a statement that they shall be regulated by the legislature.

LAST POWs EXCHANGED

UN Troops Patrol

By The Associated Press

Israel and Syria exchanged their last POWs from the October war today, and Red Cross planes flew them home from Tel Aviv and Damascus.

Israeli soldiers before dawn released 367 Syrians, 10 Iraqis and five Moroccans captured on the Golan Heights and loaded them on a Swissair jumbo jetliner and a United Nations Fokker Friendship for the hour-long flight to Syria.

As the planes left Israel, a third Red Cross flight departed from Damascus with 56 smiling Israeli POWs aboard.

The Israelis, in khaki fatigues and bare headed, entered the plane under the silent gaze of hundreds of Syrian men, women and children gathered to welcome their soldiers.

The POW exchange promised in the disengagement pact negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger began Saturday when Syria exchanged 12 wounded Israelis for 25 wounded Syrians and one Moroccan.

As the prisoners left for home, United Nations peacekeeping troops began patrolling the cease-fire line on the Golan Heights.

Wildly jubilant crowds of Israelis and Syrians poured onto the airfields at Damascus and outside Tel Aviv to welcome the POWs home.

Hundreds of frantic Israelis, shouting with joy after months of worry, surged around the plane from the Syrian capital and lifted the freed men onto their shoulders.

Welcoming ceremonies collapsed in chaos as the crowds fought past police barriers.

Girl soldiers in miniskirts pushed through the jostling mob, handing flowers to the bewildered POWs.

The scene at the Damascus airport was even wilder.

Thousands of jubilant Syrians broke through wire barriers and lines of paratroopers to surround the jumbo jet from Israel when it landed. The giant plane had to stop in the middle of the airfield almost a mile from the terminal as waves of men, women and children swarmed across the runways.

Two fire engines with sirens wailing raced down either side of the strip and tried to halt the crowd by spraying jets of water. But the crowd, which had waited for more than four hours under the hot sun, welcomed the cold shower with cheers and laughter.

It took half an hour to get the landing steps through the crowd to the plane.

She was returned to the Nueces County jail at Corpus Christi.

The arrest by Texas Rangers was on a bench warrant issued by District Court Judge Magus Smith of Edinburg, where she faces a contempt hearing.

Mrs. Parr had previously indicated she would stay locked in her Corpus Christi townhouse if officers came to arrest her.

Lawyer Confirms Grand Jury Vote

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair today confirmed published reports that a federal grand jury voted earlier this year to name President Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

St. Clair told newsmen he was informed of the grand jury's action three or four weeks ago by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Asked what the President's reaction was, St. Clair said, "his view, of course, is that they just don't have all the evidence ... I think he felt it was quite inappropriate ... He was confident that the true facts would come out in time and that he would be exonerated."

Unindicted co-conspirators are not charged with a crime and cannot be prosecuted under the indictment in which they are named.

The same grand jury returned indictments March 1 against seven former Nixon administration and campaign aides for allegedly conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The grand jury also handed U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica a sealed report and a satchel filled with evidence it had accumulated on the President's alleged role in Watergate.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the grand jury voted unanimously to include the President among the unindicted co-conspirators in the case. The Washington Post, which said it had confirmed the Times story from three separate sources, reported the grand jury vote was 19 to 0 with four members absent.

Alabama Lass Top Speller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julie Ann Junkin, 12, of Gordo, Ala., won the 47th annual National Spelling Bee today by spelling hydrophyte correctly.

Miss Junkin, representing the Birmingham Post-Herald, won out over Gail Meier, 14, of Bartlett, Tenn., representing the Memphis Press-Scimitar, who mispelled mantelletta.

Miss Junkin then correctly spelled mantelletta and then went on to spell the winning word.

Hydrophyte means a plant growing in water and mantelletta means a knee-length outer garment worn by prelates.

Tears coursed down Miss Junkin's cheeks as she accepted the trophy as 1974 spelling champion.

"I guessed at the last minute," Miss Junkin said. "I knew mantelletta but guessed at hydrophyte."

Miss Junkin said she had been so nervous she has gotten up at 4 a.m. the last two days. "It's been more fun but it's kind of nervous," she said. She said she prepared for the spelling bee by studying tapes of past contest prepared by the fourth grade teacher at her school.

Illness Fatal To Child, 9

Betty Lee Melton, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Melton, 2604 Avenue K, died at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she was being treated for an illness.

Graveside rites will be held Friday morning at Snyder Cemetery, with the time to be announced. The Rev. T.L. Leonard will officiate and burial will be directed by Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

In addition to the parents, survivors include four sisters, Violet Lee Melton, Janet Melton, Faye Nelle Melton and Brenda Lynn Melton, all of the home; and a brother, Billy James Melton, also of the home.

The child, a student at Central Elementary School, was born on June 5, 1965, in Snyder.

Cost-Of-Living Hike Is Granted Snyder Teachers

Snyder school trustees, who began putting the finishing touches on the school district's proposed budget for 1974-75 last night, gave their formal approval to some cost-of-living pay raises.

Included is a $300 per year cost-of-living hike for classroom teachers granted by the local district, which also will include principals and some other administrative and special personnel. This will have the effect of putting the Snyder pay scale for teachers $1,300 per year above the state minimum. Since the state scale provides a $600 per year hike beginning this year, this will increase the pay scale for a beginning teacher with a bachelors degree from $7,000 to $7,900 per year. The $300 hike locally had been requested by the Classroom Teachers Association.

Other adjustments reflecting an inflationary situation in the country also gained approval. Travel budgets were increased to provide 12 cents per mile for use of private automobiles, an increase in the per diem allowance from $18 per day to $22 per day, and an increase in allowance for meals from $2 each to $2.50 each.

Adjustments upward in salary formulas will affect virtually all school personnel except the three top administrators—the superintendent, assistant superintendent and the business manager. They requested that their salary formulas remain unchanged.

A pay hike for substitute teachers also got approval in a formal vote. The rate for non-certified substitutes will increase from $15 to $17.50 per day and for certified (with college degree) the increase will be from $17 to $20 per day.

Salaries for cafeteria personnel, maintenance personnel and school secretaries still are to be discussed in work sessions which are due to be completed within the next two weeks. A hearing on the complete budget proposal is due to be held late this month, with final adoption to come later in the summer. The school district's fiscal year begins on Sept. 1.

Army Tops Objectives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The volunteer Army topped its enlistment objective in May for the first time this year.

Citing this and other indicators, Pentagon officials now predict the Army will hit or come close to its target of 781,600 men by June 30, the end of the first full year since the draft law died.

This is a marked change from their predictions last winter that the Army probably would fall about 20,000 men short.

Figures just compiled show that the Army enlisted 14,848 men and women in May, which was 103.9 per cent of its objective for that month.

Army officials, some of whom have been doubters of the all-volunteer concept in the past, credited the improvement principally to better recruiting.

One Injured In Lubbock Blast

LUBBOCK (AP) — A postal employe was injured Wednesday night by an explosion in Lubbock's main post office.

Investigators feel the blast may have been set off by a pipe bomb in a parcel post package.

The injured employe, Humberto Hernandez, 25, was operating a parcel dumper when the explosion occurred. He was treated at a hospital for cuts on his face and neck and released.

Parcel post supervisor Gerald Touchette said the blast knocked a hole in the ceiling, smashed several light fixtures, and started a small fire.

Governors Okay Ethics Proposal

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — The nation's governors have endorsed a far-reaching ethics proposal calling for broad financial disclosure by public officials and reforms in campaign financing.

The resolution, a bid by the 66th National Governors' Conference to bolster the image of government amid the Watergate scandals, was passed unanimously on the meeting's closing day Wednesday, with two abstentions.

A move by New York's Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson to scale down the measure, offered by Wisconsin's Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey and Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, was rejected 16 to 9.

Although the conference ended without addressing itself directly to Watergate and the possibility of a presidential impeachment, the need for higher ethical standards in politics was a recurrent theme throughout the four-day session.

Both the governors and many outside speakers said states have outpaced the federal government in the field of political reform and in providing measures to help the nation's consumers.

The resolution declared that "a shadow has been cast across this land that can be best be erased by the bright light of public scrutiny" and pledged vigorous efforts at all levels of government in four areas:

—Campaign financing, including limits and disclosure for contributions and spending, "selected pilot projects to determine feasibility of public campaign financing," independent enforcement and strong penalties.

—Strict ethical codes for government officials, including clear definitions of conflict of interest, "appropriate and timely disclosure of personal finances" by both public officials and candidates and independent enforcement.

—Open meetings of public bodies except in "limited, specific circumstances," with penalties for noncompliance and requirements for advance public notice and written minutes.

—Registration and full disclosure of lobbying activities by all special interest groups.

The governors called on Congress to make permanent the five-year revenue-sharing program adopted in 1972, under which some $5 billion in federal funds is being returned each year to states and localities.

They urged prompt enactment of a federal health insurance program without endorsing a specific plan.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, a Utah Democrat, was elected to head the conference for the next year.

House Kills Fed Sugar Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has killed the 40-year-old federal sugar program, but opponents and supporters disagree over what effect the action will have on retail sugar prices.

The bill's chief supporter, Rep. W.R. Poage, D-Tex., said Wednesday's 209-175 vote will cause sugar prices to more than double.

However, a leading opponent, Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., said the bill would have significantly raised the price to consumers.

Peyser and other opponents argued that the bill contained a formula that would have boosted the retail price of sugar by at least a half-cent per pound over the highest price allowed under the present Sugar Act.

Peyser charged during debate that the sugar program, established during the Depression to help the industry survive, was now "making the taxpayer and the consumer damn unhappy."

The program sets domestic and foreign production quotas and provides subsidies to sugar producers.

Peyser said the object of the program was to stabilize domestic sugar prices, but that it had failed to do so.

But Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said, "The House is going to find out it must have a sugar bill. By tomorrow morning, there will be second thoughts on this."

Poage, whose committee drafted the measure, said that without federal payments to encourage sugar production, production likely will fall, driving up prices.

Poage said he will not try to resurrent the legislation. And barring further congressional action, the program that has been costing about $90 million annually will end Dec. 31.

Valley Not Surprised

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. House action that killed the sugar subsidy program did not come as much of a surprise, a spokesman for the Lower Rio Grande Valley sugar industry said today.

Archie Taylor of the Valley Sugar Growers Cooperative said removal of the subsidies will not be a major blow to the Valley's infant sugar industry. Area growers have had only one crop since getting an allocation.

Taylor said the action was not too surprising since the House Agriculture Committee proposed earlier that the subsidy to each grower be limited to $9,600.

Rep. Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex., of Mission said he believes the sugar beet industry in the north will be hurt worse than the sugar cane industry in South Texas.

"The sugar grower will be in the same position as those raising grapefruit and vegetables that have no government controls," de la Garza said. "They will still survive one way or another," he added.

Sniper Killed In Shootout

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A shotgun-wielding ex-convict killed a policeman and wounded eight other officers and two civilians before he emerged from a flaming rooming house and was shot to death early today, police said.

Police Chief Richard Andersen said Elza Carr Jr., 33, had held police at bay with an automatic shotgun for more than four hours before he came out of a flaming, tear gas-filled rooming house on Omaha's Near North Side.

The chief said Carr was firing the weapon at officers as he opened a door on the porch. Police returned the fire and Carr was killed, he said.

Andersen said Patrolman Paul Nields, about 26, died at a hospital of a head wound suffered at about 12:45 a.m. when he entered the house as police urged the sniper to surrender.

Authorities said Nields, married and the father of two, was among officers who launched tear gas about 2½ hours after Carr had fired from upstairs in the two-story frame structure.

Flames engulfed the house in late stages of the incident, apparently ignited by tear gas cannisters. Three persons in the house when the shooting started managed to escape uninjured.

Andersen said pellets from the man's weapon had hit eight other officers, a man who had been visiting Carr and a bystander.

Andersen said Carr had been convicted of burglary and auto theft charges, and newspaper files showed he was in the Nebraska Penal Complex in 1972.

According to the police account, Carr had held off police since about 9:30 p.m., after his half brother, Jesse McDonald, 44, was wounded in the house and officers were summoned.

Mrs. Harry Owens, who lives on the first floor of the house, said she had called McDonald to say Carr was ill and needed $10. She said McDonald was shot as he left the apartment. His condition was not reported.

Two other patrolmen were wounded about the same time as Nields. There was no report on their conditions.

Andersen said Carr, shooting from a window, wounded two sergeants and three other patrolmen. Three of the men were reported in serious condition, two others in fair condition.

The bystander was not hurt seriously.

Police started firing tear gas into the house at about midnight but Carr refused to surrender. The police chief, using a bullhorn, repeatedly urged Carr to "lay down your weapon and come out with your hands up and you will not be harmed."

Reporters said the only response was jeering from many of the estimated 300 bystanders in the predominantly black area.

Another patrolman was shot shortly after 2 a.m., and flames and tear gas then drove Carr from the building at 2:05 a.m.

Roloff Files Libel Suits

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for evangelist Lester Roloff have filed libel suits for $5 million each in federal court here against two news organizations, the New Times Communications Corp. and Field Enterprises Inc. which publishes the Chicago Daily News.

The New Times Communications Corp. publishes "New Times" magazine.

A spokesman for Roloff, who operates several child care facilities in Texas, said additional suits might be forthcoming in state or federal court.

"I'm tired of this kind of thing, so I'm just going to let them have it," Roloff said Thursday.

"It's not right to grind a preacher's ministry to powder through the press. They'll have to give an answer. They'll have to prove what they've been saying."

The filings followed a ruling by the Texas Supreme Court May 29 that Roloff was not required to obtain state licenses to operate child care facilities because he did not house more than six children under the age of 16.

Roloff had previously been fined $5,040 by a state district court in Corpus Christi for failure to obtain licenses.

The lower court fine had been based on an Oct. 14, 1973 opinion from Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill that state licensing requires applied to homes housing children up to 18 years old. The Supreme Court ruling in effect reversed Hill's opinion, supporting the 16-year-old guideline the Department of Public Welfare had used in defining a "child."

Abilene Woman Hurt In Crash

Faye Wilcox Lawless, 64, of Abilene sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision at U.S. 84 and Huffman Avenue at 8:55 a.m. today.

She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance Service. Hospital Authorities said she received a bump on the head and would by released today.

Investigating Highway Patrolmen said the woman pulled out from Johnnie's Truck Stop in her 1966 Model Ford. A 1973 Model White truck-tractor and semi-trailer operated by James Allen Hill of Phoeniz, Ariz., struck the Ford from the rear, officers said. There was only minor damage to both vehicles.

Key Milk Recording Said Inconclusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key tape in the milk-fund affair is incomplete and inconclusive, say several House impeachment probers who listened to it.

The recording is of President Nixon ordering an increase in federal milk price supports in 1971. Several members of the House Judiciary Committee who heard it say it neither proves nor disproves whether the President was influenced by a promise of $2 million in campaign donations from dairy cooperatives.

They also say the recording ends abruptly with an exchange between Nixon and then Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

According to Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., Connally said, "I'd like to talk to you for a couple of minutes on another matter." Nixon replied, "Sit down," and the tape recording ended, Rangel said.

The recording was furnished voluntarily by the White House several months ago before it began resisting requests for subpoenas for additional recordings. White House lawyers have said that in such tapes it gave up only portions relevant to Watergate.

The committee devoted the full day Wednesday to reviewing evidence in the milk fund affair. Today it was scheduled to review White House wiretapping of newsmen and administration officials; a plan that Nixon approved briefly to gather domestic intelligence through burglary and surveillance of mail, and activities of the White House plumbers unit that broke into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Both Democrats and Republicans on the committee agreed generally that the milk fund tape is open to different interpretations.

Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis., said, "I think you can read into it what you want." Froehlich said he heard no evidence of wrongdoing by Nixon, although he said the tape shows the President raised milk prices for political reasons.

Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., said: "I was of the opinion that milk prices were increased in response to a pledge of campaign contributions and nothing I heard has dissuaded me. It has only reinforced my opinion."

There was some disagreement as to whether political contributions were discussed at the meeting.

The recording is of a March 23, 1971, meeting among Nixon and seven advisers.

The day before the largest co-op, Associated Milk Producers Inc., gave $10,000 to a Nixon committee. This was the first of what was then promised to be $2 million.

Kiwanis Has Roundtable

Dr. Jim Tully, second vice president of the Noon Kiwanis Club, reported that the club held a Roundtable meeting Wednesday in lieu of its regular noon meeting. This was due to the Kiwanis having its Ladies Night 25th anniversary banquet on Friday evening. There were three visitors present: Gaylord Price and Bob Chapman were visitors from the Sunrisers Kiwanis Club. Robert Pinkston was a guest of Bobby Beard.

Roy McCloskey, secretary-treasurer, gave the report on the progress of plans for the Ladies Night banquet. He reported that invitations had been sent to all Kiwanis Clubs in Division 22 and the presidents of all local civic clubs. He also stated that the banquet would begin at 7 p.m.

To conclude the Roundtable meeting, Harry Dietz gave a brief talk about the mid-management program.

Off-Shore Oil Bids Rejected

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The federal government has rejected $30.5 million in bids on oil-rich gulf bottoms off the Texas Coast, saying the area's oil and gas potential make it worth $89.7 million.

The bids were on 21 of the submerged tracts put up for sale last week. Bids worth nearly $1.5 billion on 101 other tracts were accepted.

Bids were opened here May 29 in the government's 34th offshore oil leasing in the accelerated plan to increase oil production.

Oilmen say it will be three or four years before any of the tracts will be in production.

A total of 245 tracts in the Gulf of Mexico, most of them 50 to 100 miles at sea, were offered at the sale. There were no bids on 122 of them.

The money goes to the U.S. Treasury, along with a one-sixth royalty on any future production.

Oilmen complain that the Interior Department's estimates of value on gas-prone tracts were based on natural gas prices far above those now set by the Federal Power Commission.

FPC gas prices are around 25 cents a thousand cubic feet but a government official acknowledged that Interior, in estimating offshore tract values, was projecting that the price will be 55 to 75 cents an MCF within five years.

Mrs. Kirchhoff Visits In Area

Mary Virginia Kirchhoff candidate for the Senate of the 30th Senatorial District of Texas and a resident of Plainview for 40 years, visited in Snyder and other parts of Scurry County this week. Mrs. Kirchhoff made informal visits with numerous constituents in Snyder and the entire county.

"My visits were well received and I enjoyed talking to people and listening. We have many challenges in common," she said.

The 30th District, of which Scurry County is a part, covers 29 counties. This district stretches over a vast area of Texas. "My district is a varied one," stated Mrs. Kirchhoff. "The people of our great West Texas include farmers, ranchers, business people, industrialists, and the finest of educators."

Herself an educator on leave of absence, Mrs. Kirchhoff is endorsed by the Plainview Classroom Teachers Association as well as the Texas Educators Political Action Council.

A versatile woman with a varied background, Mary Virginia Kirchhoff does not confine her interest to eeachers and educators. "We represent a vast region where people still are judged by their abilities, their integrity, and their energy," she said.

She commented she will not vote for ambigous programs. "We should know where the money is coming from. I will not vote to raise taxes—taxes should come from growth and efficiency in state government."

She said her two children, Mary Karen, a sophomore at Texas Tech University, and John, a 23 year old farmer and stockman, make her deeply aware of the problems facing youth today. Her husband, John Joe, is a businessman, cattleman and farmer.

"The 30th Senatorial District is composed of different groups of people with diverse, but compatible aims who should be willing to pool their political efforts in order to elect an individual who will care for their well-being when formulating public policy in Austin," she says.

Roll Call On Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the vote Wednesday by which the House, 270 to 103, instructed its conferees to insist on strong antibusing provisions in the elementary and secondary education aid bill. (X designates not voting):

Once considered too dry to support extensive agriculture, Nebraska in fact lies over great groundwater reserves, National Geographic says. At least 40,000 shallow wells and many storage reservoirs irrigate more than 5,000,000 acres.

Suit Doesn't Bother Kiick

MIAMI (AP) — Running back Jim Kiick said he's not concerned about being named by the Miami Dolphins with Larry Csonka and Paul Warfield in a $4 million suit against their signing by the World Football League.

The Dolphins on Wednesday expanded a suit filed two months ago in Toronto to include the three players. The trio is to leave the National Football League and join the Memphis franchise in the 1975 season in a package deal reportedly worth $3 million.

Dolphins' attorney Dan Paul said the players were included in the suit because "there's no way in the world to get damages unless the guys who were being induced are named." The basis of the suit is the allegation that inducement took place.

The suit asks $3 million in actual damages and $1 million in punitive damages from the Memphis franchise, which was originally located in Toronto; from the WFL, and from player agent Ed Keating of International Management Inc. of Cleveland.

The new suit seeks to enjoin the players from promoting the WFL while under contract to Miami. No monetary damages are sought from the players.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Veteran sports reporter Halsey Hall, 76, was hospitalized Tuesday at a Minneapolis hospital after he complained of feeling poorly for several days.

Hall, who covered baseball for Minneapolis newspapers 40 years, spent 12 seasons as a broadcast personality with the Minnesota Twins' baseball network.

Martin Says Tribe Trying To Save Face

CLEVELAND (AP) — Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin says the Cleveland Indians' management is trying to save face by filing a formal protest against the Tribe's forfeiture of the pair's violence-ridden Tuesday night baseball game.

"They should do what the President (Nixon) didn't do," Martin said. "Just come out an admit they made some mistakes and that they will do everything they can do to prevent it from happening again."

Martin said the actions of Indian General Manager Phil Seghi and Executive Vice President Ted Bonda were "ridiculous."

The Indians filed a formal protest to the forfeiture with American League President Lee MacPhail Wednesday morning.

"While we deplore the incidents which lead to the forfeiture, we also feel that there was no warning given to the fans during the course of the game by the umpires that any continuation of interruptions of play would lead to a declaration of a forfeiture of the game," the protest telegram said.

The Indians' management also said the umpires lost control of the game.

The Indians won Wednesday night's game 9-3 before 8,101 orderly fans.

More than 25,000 Cleveland Indian fans turned out Tuesday night on 10 cent beer night. Early in the game a few young persons started running around the outfield between innings. By the ninth inning firecrackers, beer bottles and chairs were being thrown and the number of persons running on the field had grown considerably.

When the Indians knotted the score at 5-5 in the ninth the Rangers rushed onto the field to fight the fans, who had gathered around right fielder Jeff Burroughs. The Indian players came to the assistance of the Rangers.

Martin said the troublemakers were drunk and referred to them as beasts.

For the past three years sons and daughters of Adios have earned more than $4 million in one season of harness racing.

Indian Homers Stop Rangers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The fans left the fireworks to the baseball team in Cleveland Wednesday night.

Home runs exploded at Municipal Stadium instead of people. It resulted in a 9-3 Cleveland victory over the Texas Rangers in relative peace and quiet.

"I really liked it when the fans stood up and cheered our boys when they hit their homers," noted Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte. "That's the kind of fans we want to come out and see us. They can enjoy our success with us. Those others, I don't ever want to see around."

It was a far more civilized scene than Tuesday night when their game was torn apart by a riot. Hundreds of fans, apparently hyped up by "10-cent beer night," threw debris and flooded the field, chasing the players to cover. The Indians had to forfeit the game.

On Wednesday night, only about 8,000 persons showed up—about one-third of Tuesday night's audience. The public address announcer told them that fines would be levied if anyone ran on the playing field. And they cheered the announcement.

There were mostly cheers from then on, as Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan hit three-run homers for the Indians in a seven-run sixth inning. The only boos through the entire evening came when Texas Manager Billy Martin walked to the mound to change a pitcher.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Kansas City Royals 5-4; the Oakland A's blasted the Detroit Tigers 9-1; the California Angels turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5; the Chicago White Sox stopped the New York Yankees 7-6 in 15 innings and the Boston Red Sox defeated the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

Orioles 5, Royals 4

Mark Belanger's bloop double with two out in the ninth inning scored Frank Baker from first base, capping a three-run rally that lifted Baltimore over Kansas City.

A's 9, Tigers 1

Gene Tenace blasted a 415-foot grand slam home run in the fifth inning, leading Oakland over Detroit.

Vida Blue, 5-5, scattered four hits in seven innings for his fourth consecutive victory and fifth in his last six decisions.

Angels 6, Brewers 5

Joe Lahoud blasted a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning, giving California a victory over Milwaukee.

White Sox 7, Yankees 6

Jorge Orta's one-out double in the 15th inning scored Dick Allen from second base and gave Chicago its victory over New York.

Red Sox 5, Twins 3

Luis Tiant scattered 10 hits and Rick Burleson knocked in the winning run with a single in the sixth inning, pacing Boston past Minnesota. Tiant posted his fifth straight victory and boosted his record to 7-5.

Bill Posedel has returned to the major leagues as pitching coach for the San Diego Padres.

Summer Rec Swim Set

All members of Scurry County Summer Recreation are invited to a free swim at Towle Park Pool at 1 p.m. Friday.

Prospective members can enroll at this time. A membership-drive contest will also award a member with a charm for bringing the most new members to the party.

A free swim is one of the many fun-day activities planned for the six-week program. Special fun days are planned for Wednesdays. However, due to the break-down at the pool, this Wednesday's fun day was changed to Friday.

If the break-down at the pool has not been corrected by Friday, the party will be postponed to next Wednesday.

Gila Wilderness Attacked As It Marks Fiftieth

EDITOR'S NOTE — Fifty years ago this week, the federal government set aside the Gila Wilderness as the nation's first sanctuary not to be changed by man. A newsman, who traveled by horseback through the sanctuary, describes Gila's enduring wild beauty and the controversial proposals now before Congress to create new wilderness preserves that might otherwise be developed for mining and lumber.

By WILLIAM STOCKTON
Associated Press Writer

THE MEADOWS, Gila Wilderness, N.M. (AP) — Through the dusty afternoon, thunder muttered in the grey-black clouds gathering beyond the canyon walls that loomed over the meadows. Then, just at dusk, the storm thrashed the canyon and the camp.

The men scurried for tents. Their horses and mules jerked at picket lines, shoving beneath the shelter of trees.

The thunder and lightning passed quickly, leaving a gentle rain to linger through the night. An occasional raindrop penetrating a tiny hole in one tent sprayed a soft mist in the cozy refuge.

The rain stopped at dawn. A whippoorwill in a grove of ponderosa pine began a mournful trilling — his announcement of a joyful new day.

The middle fork of the Gila River had risen in the night. A stone the men had balanced upon the night before to scoop pure, snow-fed water from the rushing stream now was immersed.

Dick Johnson, 37 years a forest ranger, set the gas stove to hissing for cowboy coffee — grounds poured into boiling water.

Dawn's diffuse light crept across the meadow to the trees, revealing the towering canyon cliffs still shrouded in low-hanging clouds that hid the rising sun.

"How do you like my wilderness?" Johnson asked.

His unassuming possessiveness stated a simple but articulate love for this natural, roofless cathedral untouched by man.

America's system of wilderness sanctuaries is 50 years old this week. The Gila, rising out of the chalky Southwestern desert like a wrinkled black gumdrop on a birthday cake, was the first, set aside June 3, 1924.

It was 50 years ago that Aldo Leopold, a forester not long out of Yale, convinced government superiors that the Mogollon and Black Range mountains in southwest New Mexico were so wild and unsullied by man that they should be preserved as a sanctuary. They were to be left changeless: 750,000 acres where logging, mining, roadbuilding and other commercial activities were prohibited; where man could enter only on foot or on horseback, and only to camp and occasionally to hunt.

But as it marks a 50th birthday, the wilderness concept is under review — some would say under attack. At issue is how much land finally should be declared wilderness and set aside by Congress.

On one side of the bitter debate are the environmentalists — the Sierra Club, Wilderness Society and others. The wilderness sanctuaries should be increased five or six fold to 50 million or 60 million acres, they say, and this is the last opportunity to do so. Their argument is that millions of acres of U.S. government land are being exploited so quickly that soon there won't be additional untouched wilderness left to preserve.

Opposed are those who see America's continued power and prestige as stemming from the land. The American Mining Congress, National Forest Products Association and others resist most plans to greatly increase the numbers of acres of government land protected by law from logging and mining.

A materials-poor America can't afford the grandiose luxury that the preservationists demand, they argue.

Wilderness is different to each who experiences it. But for all, it is premised upon leaving civilization behind, save for a few necessities carried in a backpack or on a mule.

Wilderness proposals now before Congress would add 9.4 million acres in 72 areas to the 10 million acres now set aside. Environmentalists want an additional 12 million acres set aside immediately, instead of just 9.4 million.

Federal agencies have another 29 million acres under study for possible presentation to Congress later as wilderness sanctuaries. The environmentalists argue that 53 million acres should be under study and thus accorded the temporary protection from exploitation such study provides. Their argument meets with strong opposition from mining, timber, grazing and other interests who propose alternative uses for the lands.

Sweat-soaked men wrestle heavy machines in a dark mine depicted in a mural in the lobby of the American Mining Congress office in Washington. The president of the congress, J. Allen Overton, a courtly West Virginian educated in the law, paced agitatedly behind his desk, often jabbing a finger at a visitor for emphasis.

"We are a minerals-deficient nation with forecasts of becoming more so," he thundered, waving an Interior Department prediction in which America's beckoning materials crisis is outlined mineral by mineral.

"There is only one place where you can mine copper and zinc, iron and tin, and that's where the Good Lord in his gracious bounty put them," Overtone said. "The first use of the land was to be production of minerals, but under good stewardship.

"Good stewardship is not locking the land up."

Harry Crandell, the son of a government hunter in Colorado, counters such arguments.

"It's not as if we're going to destroy these mineral deposits if they are in a wilderness," he said.

Crandell lobbies for wilderness from a Wilderness Society office two blocks from the White House. Society membership, with $10-a-year dues, has doubled in the last four years to 100,000 members, Crandell said.

Ignorance is a state of meaning

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the socially active university professor with a Ph.D. who wasn't sure of what R.S.V.P. meant until he saw it in your column: You replied "Ignorance is simply the absence of knowledge which is no crime. We are all ignorant, only on different subjects."

Abby, ignorance is "not knowing something we should know." Nescience is "not knowing something one would have no reasonable expectation of knowing."

Your not knowing the distinction between "ignorance" and "nescience" is nescience on your part. The professor's not knowing the meaning of R.S.V.P. is ignorance on his part.

P.J.R.: WORD FREAK

DEAR FREAK: Since words are my tools, I felt ignorant not knowing the meaning of the word "nescience." Then I polled three newspaper editors, two lawyers, a psychiatrist, the heads of the English department in three of our leading universities, a world famous novelist, a United States Supreme Court Justice, and an expert who writes a syndicated column on words, and not ONE of them had ever heard of the word "nescience." So, now I feel more nescient than ignorant.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl, and my problem involves my psychiatrist. I trusted him completely and told him things I never in a million years would tell my mother, because he led me to believe that everything I told him would be held in the strictest of confidence.

Can you imagine how I felt when I overheard my mother telling a relative on the phone some of the things I had told my psychiatrist? I can't tell you how this upset me!

In high school I stayed away from counselors, teachers, shrinks, etc., in order to avoid this.

When I saw my psychiatrist, I asked him why he did this to me. At first he denied it, then he said that my mother had become "concerned" about me, so he told her everything. Abby, I thought I could trust him, and he betrayed me!

What is the law concerning a doctor's keeping information confidential? He said he had a right to talk to my mother without my permission. Did he? I am not a minor.

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Your doctor has committed a breach of ethics, and you would be perfectly justified in reporting him to the Ethics Committee of your local county medical society and/or psychiatric society. I suggest you do just that.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get a reply from a place of business when I write them requesting specific information? I wrote to these people three times—and even then I was ignored. I didn't ask for any special favors; I inquired about buying something they sell. What is the matter with people these days? Please tell me how to get an answer out of them.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: To insure a reply — and usually a prompt one, enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. If you are ignored, give up. They probably don't need the business, and they certainly don't deserve it.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Toyah School Funds Transferred

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge J. H. Starley ruled Wednesday that all records and funds of the former Toyah School District be turned over to its legal successor, the Pecos-Barstow district.

The Toyah school board has been fighting attempts to merge the district with Pecos-Barstow.

Pecos board members requested a temporary restraining order April 18 to prevent the Toyah district from spending any of the $15,637 it had in the First National Bank of Monahans.

Starley directed that these funds be transferred.

The lawyer for the Toyah board, A. R. Archer, said the judge's ruling would be appealed.

A Pecos spokesman, however, said the Toyah district could not file a suit because it no longer exists.

Archer replied an appeal might be made in the name of a private individual.

The last high school graduating class of the Toyah district had four members.

Bank Stock Profits Smith

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Gov. Preston Smith has a paper profit of at least $83,000 on stock held in the First Bank of Houston and is the third largest individual stockholder, the Houston Post says.

The bank received its charter Feb. 3, 1969, about one month before Smith became governor.

The Post said the bank's latest stockholder list showed Smith owning 10,395 shares or almost 5 per cent of the bank's 217,000 shares.

The bank's charter was obtained by J. Doug Toole Sr., chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board and J. Robert Howard. Toole headed Smith's Harris Couty campaigns in 1968, 1970 and 1972. Howard formerly resided in Lubbock where Smith lives.

A group headed by Ralph B. Lee Sr., board chairman and president of American Savings & Loan Association, purchased a 60 per cent interest in the bank in 1970 from the group headed by Toole and Howard.

The Post said Smith's son, Preston Michael Smith, and son-in-law, Conrad Schmid, made at least a 100 per cent profit of $25,000 each when their stock in First Bank was among that acquired by Lee's group.

Smith's stock ownership in the bank, the Post said, until this year was carried on the annual bank stockholder lists under the names of Toole and Howard as trustees.

"It was originally purchased that way before I became governor and I've had little to do with it," Smith said. "The Internal Revenue Service looked into it and they could not find anything wrong with it."

The newspaper quoted Smith as saying 4,000 shares originally were allotted to him but he assigned 1,000 each to his son and son-in-law who were responsible for their own purchases.

Smith said his 2,000 shares cost him $25 per share or $50,000 and "I believe i still owe $40,000 to another bank on the $50,000."

"I think Gov. Smith made a good investment the same as others who invested in the bank," Toole said. "I think that just because a man holds public office he should not be prohibited from making investments.

Toole said the only reason his group got the charter was he proved a need for it. "Any implication that we got it because of politics is erroneous," he said."

Storms Cover A Wide Area

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms extending from Minnesota to Kansas triggered heavy rains and scattered hail today. Parts of the Gulf states also were soaked.

The town of Franklin in southern Nebraska was swamped by 2½ inches of rain in 20 minutes. Ayr, in the same section, was hit by golf ball-size hail and winds up to 50 miles per hour.

Other storms centered over the South, and a tornado touched down at McAdam in Central Mississippi.

Flooding was forecast in Nebraska and Mississippi in the wake of the downpours.

Snow fell across some mountain passes in northern Colorado, closing at least one road.

Clouds shrouded parts of the Far West, but most other sections outside the midcontinent and South were fair to partly cloudy.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 89 at Carlsbad, N.M., to 40 at Evanston, Wyo.

Some other reports: Anchorage 51 rain, Atlanta 68 cloudy, Boston 65 clear, Buffalo 66 partly cloudy, Chicago 65 rain, Cincinnati 67 partly cloudy, Cleveland 65 cloudy, Dallas 78 clear, Denver 55 partly cloudy, Detroit 67 rain, Honolulu 78 clear, Indianapolis 69 cloudy, Los Angeles 62 hazy, Louisville 67 cloudy, Miami 75 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 67 partly cloudy, Nashville 71 cloudy, New York 65 clear, Philadelphia 61 clear, Phoenix 86 clear, Pittsburgh 57 partly cloudy, St. Louis 68 clear, San Francisco 55 clear, Seattle 52 clear, Washington 62 cloudy.

Sheriff Dies In Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Williamson County Sheriff Henry G. Matysek, 73, here for medical tests, died of an apparent heart attack shortly after entering Hermann Hospital.

Hospital officials said Matysek was admitted at 1:10 a.m. Wednesday and died 25 minutes later.

The sheriff and his wife were here for medical tests at another hospital when the apparent heart attack occurred.

Advisers Favor Reduction In Government Spending

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — A consensus is building among administration economic advisers favoring major reductions in government spending in an effort to restrain inflation.

The latest to support a reduction in federal spending is Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board. Burns told an international conference Wednesday he thinks the administration soon will make proposals to curb spending and "get better control over the budget."

"I expect some progress in the struggle against inflation," he said.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and White House economic coordinator Kenneth Rush previously have advocated reductions in spending in the 1974 fiscal year and a balanced budget in 1976 as a way of controlling inflation.

Burns painted a much more optimistic picture of the economy than he did two weeks ago when he said inflation placed the future of the country in jeopardy.

He said here he thinks the nation's economy will show slight growth in the second quarter of the year after the big first quarter decline.

Burns also made these other points during a news conference at the International Monetary Conference attended by leading government and financial leaders from about 20 countries:

—There probably will not be a tax reduction.

—There probably won't be a recession in the United States or in the world this year, though there will be more moderate growth in world economies.

—Plans for a formal reform of the international monetary system this year have been scrapped because of the rampant world inflation and the impact of the high cost of world oil on international balances of payments.

Burns said the decline in the American economy in the first three months of the year was not as bad as the 6.5 per cent rate of decline as reflected in the index of the Gross National Product.

Burns said he favors economic growth in the months ahead but not at the frantic boom-like pace of 1973.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters ss provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★★★

Q. Last year I filed a withholding exemption certificate so I wouldn't have to have tax withheld from my pay. Do I have to file a new one to be exempt from withholding this year?

A. Yes, for most taxpayers, 1973 W-4E forms expire April 30,1974. Thus, you must file a new form with your employer to be exempt from withholding this year. To qualify you must not have had any tax liability for 1973 and expect to have none in 1974.

Q. I've been in business for myself for three years. And I own the business outright. If I set up a retirement plan, will all my contributions to it be tax deductible?

A. Yes. The amount contributed under the plan is deductible if it does not exceed 10 percent of your earned income or $2500. For more details, see IRS Publication 560, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. My son plans to take a part-time job when school ends. If he earns more than $750, will I lose his dependency excemption?

A. No, if your son is a full-time student for any part of five calendar months of 1974, or under 19 at the end of the year, you may claim him as a dependent regardless of how much income he has. Of course, you must meet all the other dependency tests, including furnishing more than one-half of your son's total support.

Q. My housekeeper is quitting. Do I have to give her a W-2 form?

A. Yes. Normally you must furnish your housekeeper a Form W-2 no later than 30 days after making the last payment of wages to the employee. However, this 30-day requirement has been presently suspended, and you may defer furnishing a 1974 Form W-2 to your former employee until 30 days after the IRS announces the date that the forms are available.

Five Texas Spellers Eliminated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 47th National Spelling Bee entered its second day today minus five Texas entrants who were eliminated in the first eight rounds.

Twenty-five contestants remained after competition Wednesday.

Richard Hatley, 13, of Longview, Tex., was the first Texan eliminated from the tournament. He spelled obelisk as obeliske in the second round.

Glenn Margolis, 12, Big Spring, Tex., dropped out in the fifth round when he spelled extempore as extemporey.

Eliminated in round seven was Terry L. Duran, 13, San Antonio, Tex., who spelled glace as glaise.

Ron Palmer, 14, Pampa, Tex., and Shawn Whittington, 14, Edinburg, Tex., were eliminated in the eighth round. Palmer spelled parlous as parlis and Whittington spelled loge as lau.

A record 80 contestants started the national bee. The 40 girls and 40 boys had advanced from an estimated 7½ million youngsters in local spelling bees.

The contest, sponsored by Scripps-Howard Newspapers, was won last year by Barrie Trinkle, representing the Fort Worth Press.

Mass transit carried 7.3 billion riders in 1970, less than half the 15.6 billion people accommodated in 1930.

Suspend 3 In Ticket Probe

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The San Antonio police department disclosed Wednesday three new suspensions of officers in a probe of traffic ticket padding.

Patrolmen Norris Waitschies, Trinidad Noyola and Jose Reyes each received three-day suspensions for what Police Chief Emil Peters described as filing false traffic ticket reports.

Each officer claimed to have written more tickets than their actual output.

The suspensions bring to 13 the number of officers suspended in an internal investigation which began a month ago. Discovery of the ticket padding procedure came when reports where compared to computer printouts.

Sheila Scott Recalls Flight Adventures

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sheila Scott has finally gotten her driver's license — after failing the test three times.

Meanwhile, she has flown around the world solo three times, holds over 100 World Class Light Aircraft records, has broken the sound barrier in a naval jet fighter and is the first solo pilot — man or woman — to pass directly over the true North Pole in a light aircraft.

The British flyer, wearing a black and white suit, pink nail polish and the Amelia Earhart Medal on a gold chain around her neck, recalled some of these adventures on a visit to New York to promote her just-published autobiography, "Barefoot in the Sky."

"I really do fly barefoot in the tropics. When you're sitting on one little seat up to 18 hours at a time your feet swell," explained Miss Scott, who holds commercial ratings for helicopters, seaplanes, private and gliding planes and balloons, and who founded the British Ballooning and Airship Club.

"I go for solo because it doesn't mean anything if you have a second person in the plane," she said. "Then you can eat, sleep, no reason to land except for fuel — there's no endurance involved."

Not only has there deen plenty of endurance involved in her career, but there has also been near disaster, including times when all her flight instruments failed and the 1969 England-to-Australia race in which she almost lost her life in the Pacific.

"I am often afraid," she admitted. "The thing is to stay with the airplane, to make it perform, to cope, even though you're shaking in every limb. On world record flights, when you're pushing way beyond anything you or your plane was built for, there must be some form of trouble as well as good moments."

Trouble came on her historic polar flight in 1971, when ice built up on her wings, her radio and navigational aids went out, she was operating with only a sun compass — and there was no sun. But there were the good moments too.

"A shaft of sunlight came through," she remembers of being on top of the world. "Suddenly it seemed as though the cabin was full of people, my whole team. It gave me confidence."

The blonde, green-eyed aviator recalls that as a child she was "always curious and wanting to find out things and getting in and out of scrapes," but she never dreamed of flying. In fact, she became a nurse during World War II and after that she enrolled in drama school and had bit parts in films and TV shows.

It was not until she was in her early 30s that Miss Scott took her first flying lesson after she jokingly told friends she was going to learn to fly and they held her to it.

"During your first solo you're so afraid you don't notice anything. but somehow you bump your way back to the ground. After landing the exhilaration and triumph come," said Miss Scott, adding with a laugh that she broke her arm slipping on a potato chip at the celebration party that night.

"They grounded me but I wouldn't have that, and I went up with a safety pilot. I got used to having someone in the cockpit with me and it was hard to go up alone again.

But solo again she did, and eventually got caught up in international racing, where she was often the only woman. Miss Scott, who holds the Order of the British Empire along with countless other honors, says that though she has experienced discrimination as a woman, "the more professional the pilot, the more help he gives. But lower down on the scale it hasn't always been easy.

"Men 'adventurers' are highly sponsored and never have to pay for their planes or boats or whatever. In England, at least, a woman 'adventuress' has to do everything for herself. I've had to lecture, write, beg and borrow, to raise money to buy my planes and finance my competitions," said the veteran of 4,500 hours in the air.

She has owned three planes: "Myth," Greek for female moth, "Myth Too" and "Mythre." And when Miss Scott, who always disliked cars and feared the ground, finally passed her driving test just two years ago, an auto manufacturer presented her with a car.

Her third plane, "drowned" in a hurricane, is being rebuilt "because I promised her that she would fly again. It sounds sentimental, but my planes have given me the world and never let me down whatever happened, and it is important to me that I leave them in flying order."

Now that she has no aircraft in which to race, the attractive Miss Scott, who is divorced, is directing her energies toward her first love, acting on radio and TV, and toward writing, including a children's book about her stuffed rabbit mascot, Buck Tooth.

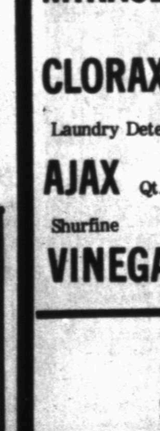

When camping, heat canned clings in the can over the campfire. Be sure to punch a hole in the top for steam to escape.

Pianist Orchestrates Israeli Song

MIAMI (AP) — The 4,100 attending the Great Artists Series of Temple Beth Sholom concerts in the Miami Beach Auditorium got a bonus above hearing singers Richard Tucker and Robert Merrill.

The audience also heard the Florida Symphony play "Jerusalem of Gold," composed by Naomi Shemer. Some were moved to tears.

Mrs. Judy Drucker, who directs the series, asked pianist Lorin Hollander, 29, to write an orchestral arrangement when she decided at the last minute to program the piece and realized there was no orchestration. Hollander wrote it between rehearsals, on planes and in taxis and sent it on a plane from Bangor, Maine, to Miami Beach the day before the concert.

PICNIC IN THE PARK—Instructor Mary Williams and students are enjoying a day in the park. Snyder Jaycee-Ettes hosted an End-of-school picnic honoring the members of the Special Education classes and faculty. Fifty people were served sandwiches and drinks and took part in various activities.

Film Theater To Have 2nd Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Film Theater announces that next season it will have 13 films, representing $11.5 million in production investment.

Five films based on great works of the contemporary theater will compose the AFT's second season lineup, and the new Children's Film Theater will have eight movies.

The season will begin in January and will again be on a once-a-month subscription basis, with one matinee and one evening showing.

Disillusioned Investors Testing Money Managers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A fascinating change in the investment scene that might pose big problems for professional money managers, but which often is overlooked, is the tendency of investors today to exercise more independence of judgment.

In the 1960s, millions of Americans turned over their savings to money managers with only one request: "Make me some money." The money managers agreed to the arrangements, and sometimes they produced results, too.

Then the disillusionment. The stock market broke, and with it snapped the untested faith of customers in their advisers. So also did the myth of superior wisdom and insight.

Unlike the 1960s, when playing the game was easy, money managers now are being tested. Month after month the assets of mutual funds decline as customers redeem their shares, often at big losses.

To a much greater extent, it seems, small investors are relying on their own wits and knowledge, which in some instances is superior to the advice that was offered by the so-called experts.

Many brokerage houses also are having a tough time competing, even though competition is reduced by the demise of scores of firms.

Money managers can't seem to develop selling programs that have appeal — which is understandable, profit being the only story that all investors believe in. And profits can't be shown in today's market.

In a paper prepared for a Conference Board panel here today on "Portfolio Strategies for the Seventies," the vice president of a major fund group asked:

"Do any of you here really feel that you can set forth a definitive strategy today that you could leave unchanged for a year, much less four or five?"

If this is so, what program can the funds and the brokers sell to their customers? The fund vice president reached this conclusion:

"A soundly conceived and administered investment decision-making process is today's best bet for sound strategy in the 1970s. Our life style is too difficult for it to be otherwise."

Try selling that to the customer of the 1970s. Ten years ago he mightn't have hesitated before putting up his money, and might even had admired the appearance of wisdom.

Today he sees right through it.

Antacids Must Be Relabeled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says virtually all antacids will have to be relabeled and some reformulated to comply with the first federal standards for nonprescription drugs.

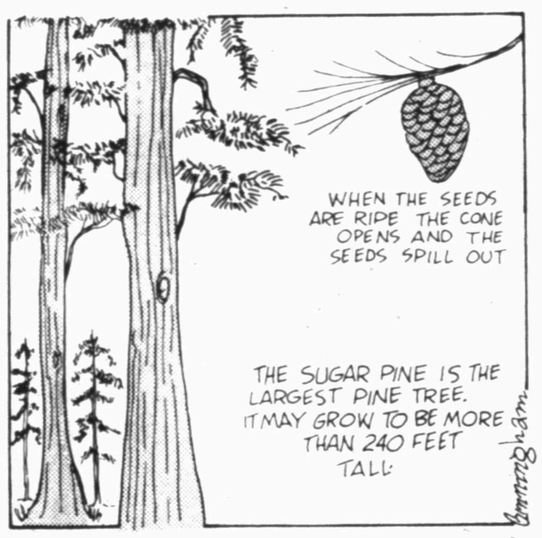

Under the FDA regulations, announced Tuesday, antacids can be promoted in the future only for treatment of heartburn, sour stomach and acid indigestion.

The manufacturers of almost 8,000 brands of antacids are being given one year to relabel and reformulate their products or pull them off the market.

Big-selling products such as Alka-Seltzer and Bromo-Seltzer, which combine an antacid with a pain reliever, will be required to stress that they are intended for use only against concurrent symptoms of headache and acid indigestion.

The labels also will have to include a section alerting consumers to other possible problems associated with the products.

Junior Editors' Quiz on PINE TREES

QUESTION: Can you tell me something about the pine tree?

* * *

ANSWER: Pine is the common name for members of the Pinaceae botanical family, a large group of evergreen trees that have cones, such as the larch, spruce, hemlock, cedar, fir and a variety of pines. It is considered the oldest of all tree families, originating during the Triassic period, a geological time interval 230 to 180 million years ago. Fossils of these early pines have been found.

Pines are resinous woody trees with needle-like, usually evergreen leaves. They reproduce by means of cones rather than flowers and have winged seeds that are distributed by the wind. They are usually found in the North Temperate Zone and prefer a cool climate, but occasionally grow in a warm situation. They are hardy trees, having survived through many of the changes on the earth caused by glaciers, volcanic eruptions, storms, etc. Pines are durable and lose their needles gradually, never shedding all at once; therefore they are always green. Two kinds of larch and the bald cypress are deciduous; all others are evergreen. They are most important in the production of lumber, pulp and naval stores like turpentine and pitch.

Sculptor Works With Matches

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Charles Goldberger, 75, plays with matches but it doesn't alarm firemen. He's a matchstick sculptor whose are works include a leaping horse carved from 2,357 matches.

"The only reason I do this is to be unique, to do something different from any other carver," he said. "I have the dubious distinction of having the only collection of its kind in the world."

Goldberger glues matches together to form three-inch-wide planks and presses a dozen or more planks on top of one another to produce a block. Then he carves, using a dentist's drill and fine chisels.

"Most matchstick sculptors glue one match to another to form a bridge or a church or something," he said. "No one else is silly enough to waste their time gluing together a box of matches when they can go out and buy an exotic piece of wood like mahogany or walnut and start carving right away."

But Goldberger said he's spent three months just preparing matches for some of his sculptures. And he said he's carved 130 pieces, insured for $100,000, since he retired 22 years ago as a paint brush manufacturer in Long Island.

The carvings include a country store in a shadow box 10 inches long. He worked under a magnifying glass to carve 50 store items, including a half-inch-high pot belly stove, an eighth-inch-tall barrel and a one-inch coffee grinder.

Goldberger has also carved a two-inch-tall Celini chalice with tiny figurines from 107 matchsticks, an 18th-century cabinet from 325 matchsticks and an oriental fishmonger from 1,826 matchsticks.

One of his favorites is a five-inch-square replica of the raising of the flag at Iwo Jima. It took 1,200 matches.

His 11-inch bust of John F. Kennedy, carved out of 1,500 matches, is on display at the Kennedy Library in Boston.

Other items are enclosed in glass as a traveling exhibit for museums and universities.

Regrets Profit

LONDON (AP) — London Transport, which is owned by the Greater London Council, and runs the subway and buses here, made a profit of 10 million pounds ($24 million) last year after forecasting a loss of 2 million pounds ($4.8 million). The chairman, Sir Richard Way, said he regretted the profit because it was due largely to staff shortages which reduced services. No profit is expected this year because of higher fuel prices.

"Banacek" star, GEORGE PEPPARD, would like to give up his series and for that matter all acting. Over breakfast in his hotel room at the Pierre, I asked George what direction he would like his career to take. "Directing is what I want to do. However, I must make a sufficient amount of money to live in the style I'm accustomed to and still manage to pay my alimony."

ISAAC HAYES, who wrote the musical score for "Shaft" will have double billing in American International's film, "Truck Turner." Not only did he write the entire score but he's the star of the flick as well.

Somebody says MARLON BRANDO's having eye trouble. I mean, I know old Mumbles has had speech trouble for years—but eye trouble, too?

Surest sign that TED KENNEDY is going to make the run for the Presidency is the fact that his on-again-off-again-marriage is obviously on again because Joan redocorated the house which means they're planning to put up a front. Now, if someone who knows them both will only reintroduce them we've got it all made.

ORSON WELLES owes the government such a bundle that he says he's not working much professionally until he straightens it out. Seems to me the more he works the more money he'll have to straighten it out but, listen, he didn't request my assistance so what can I tell you...

LIZ TAYLOR and MARCELLO MASTROIANNI will make a film together for the first time.

"How do you kiss a man you can't stand? Every time a love scene came up I had to bite my tongue." Such remarks about movie idol ROBERT REDFORD—of all people—were attributed to MIA FARROW who starred with RR in the disaster "The Great Gatsby". Apparently big Bob is becoming too big for his britches. Mia went on to say that, "He thinks he's the greatest actor in the world, that he knows everything and anyone else is inferior. Especially women.

I asked fashion designer, MR. BLACKWELL, whose annual "Worst Dressed" list has included some of Hollywood's most famous ladies, if he could be any famous person in history who he would like to have been. He replied, "I think in 1775 I was a, as a matter of fact, I'm sure I was a lady of the court and maybe that's why I have such great love for pretty clothes-why I have such great regard for women with beautiful bosoms and great figures. I think I was so busy trying to dress then that today I'm here to do it again for them.

Everyone is standing behind BURT REYNOLDS' fight to adopt a child. Because of the famous centerfold and the SARA MILES incident, the actor is finding all the doors of adoption agencies around the country closed to him.

The University of Arizona is establishing the first archive collection of TV commercials. The idea is the brainchild of a former advertising copywriter who now lectures at the university. "Future generations will be able to see first-hand hour life-style, hear our voices, determine our attitudes," a university spokesman said. Gee, won't it be great that future generations will remember us for preparation H and acid indigestion. As a matter of fact, the whole thought of it gives me an excedrin headache.

There's a rumor circulating around town that a gorgeous, happily married superstar is pregnant—by her chauffeur, not her husband.

At least MARLON BRANDO isn't like JANE FONDA. He puts his money where his mouth is. His next picture will be about the Indian cause and Brando will donate a percentage of the film's gross to the Indians.

Over ice tea with NANCY WALKER, who plays the housekeeper on the hit TV show MacMillan and Wife, she told me to keep a secret—that there will be a number of changes on the series. ROCK HUDSON will give up the role as Police Commissioner and just play the role of a private detective. There will also be an addition to the MacMillan family since SUSAN ST. JAMES is pregnant in real life. Sorry Nancy. I never could keep a secret.

Everyone knows that DORIS DAY has had her face lifted. But the rumor that this year's Oscar winner, GLENDA JACKSON has is totally untrue.

I've heard of being close to you but this is ridiculous and this one seems hard to believe—THE CARPENTERS will be making their movie debut in "The Singer of the Fifties." KAREN will play the title role and brother RICHARD will double, co-starring as her manager and writing all the original music. The picture will be produced and shot in Sweden.

What turns JOHN WAYNE on? One might expect him to say kissing his horse. Well, this might surprise you—it does me—but he enjoys a chess game and finds it the most exciting and stimulating thing in the world.

Tip From Schein On Tips

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Are you one of those people who never knows how much to tip, withers under the glare of waitresses or perfunctorily leaves 15 per cent?

If so, take a tip from John Schein, a traveling salesman from Oshkosh who has taken it upon himself to straighten out the world's convoluted tipping systems.

"All we're trying to do is restore tipping to its original concept," said Schein, the founder two years ago of Tippers International, which he says now has a membership of 2,500.

"We want to give tips for good, prompt service, not because we are embarrassed or feel guilty."

Schein recommends sticking to the usual 15 per cent for good service, with up to 20 per cent for exceptional service and down to nothing for rotten service.

"Things are out of hand when you're expected to tip 20 to 25 per cent for average or substandard service," said Schein, a nuts and bolts salesman.

He says a kind word often achieves the same result as money.

"Find out the name of your waitress, talk to the hostess, compliment the chef and bartender. You can actually leave smaller tips and get better service," he said.

Schein says the experienced tipper learns a few tricks of the "art," such as flipping silver dollars to the doorman and porter when checking into a hotel for a few days—"I never have any trouble getting a cab or help with my bags."

Schein's list of standard tips includes:

Fifteen per cent for waitresses, bartenders, cabbies and room service; 10 to 25 cents for restroom attendants; 20 per cent for beauticians; 50 cents for barbers; $1 for wine stewards; 25 cents for grocery boys; 50 cents per bag for bellboys and skycaps, and 75 cents for errands by hotel personnel.

Spittle Bug Close To Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ranchers and homeowners in South Texas may face an invader from Mexico this summer in the form of grass-devouring spittle bugs, a Texas A&M researcher says.

Dr. Perry Atkinson said in a news story published Wednesday that the "mosca pinta", commonly known as the spittle bug, is approaching the Texas—Mexico border on a northward march.

The bugs are 50 miles from Texas.

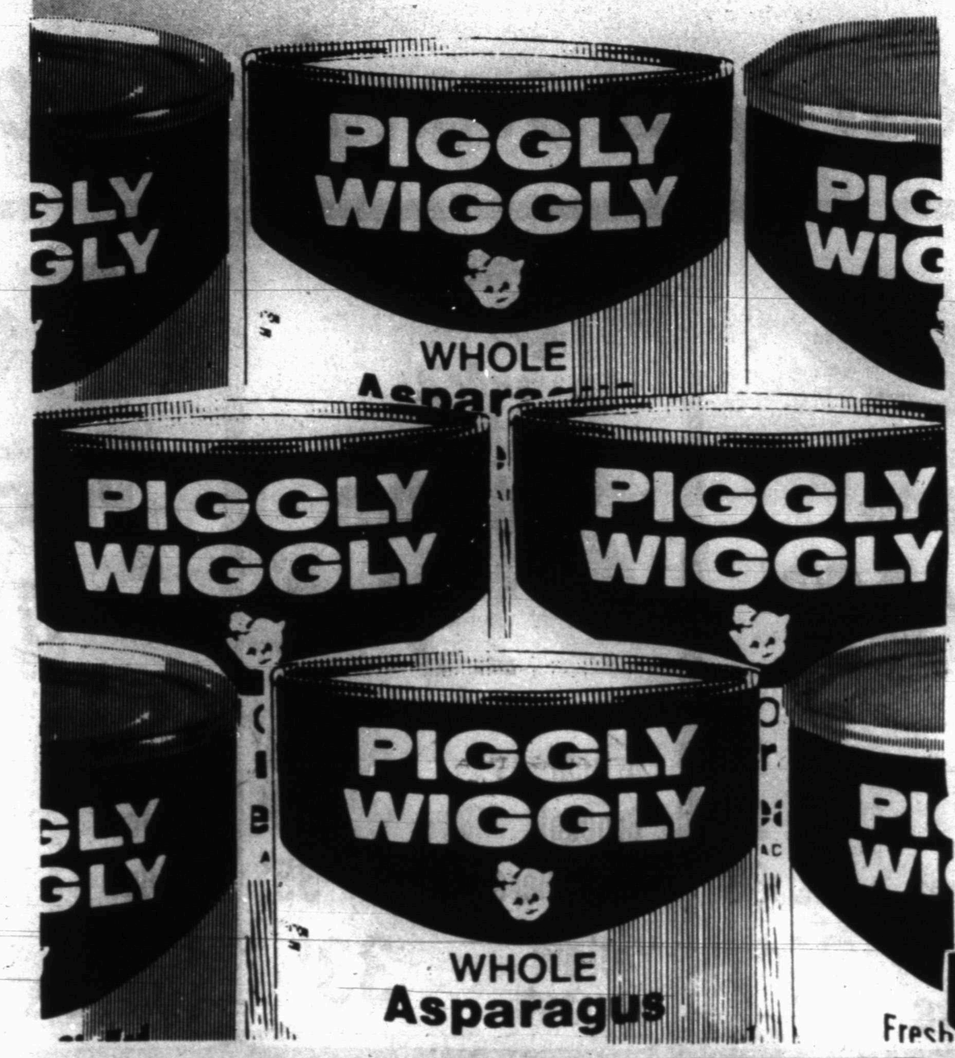

"If they continue moving at their present rate, we expect them in South Texas before the end of the summer," said Atkinson.

In recounting Atkingson's prediction, one writer called the spittle bugs "deadly bugs that can destroy range grasses and lawns like a prairie fire."

The bugs also pose a threat to Lower Rio Grande Valley sugar cane fields.

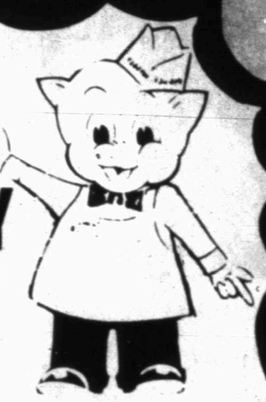

Beavers leave their home pond at the age of 2, some wandering more than 30 miles before settling down, National Geographic says. One marked animal in North Dakota went 148 miles before finding a suitable homesite.

OVER A TWELVE-YEAR PERIOD

US Plans 725 Manned Space Flights Starting In 1979

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Space Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans only one manned space flight in the next five years. But starting in 1979, Americans will fly into orbit on an airline schedule, with 725 flights projected over a 12-year period.

That's more than one mission a week, with four to seven persons on each, including a crew of three.

Among the travelers will be men and women scientists and researchers of many lands. The flights will be for working personnel only; there will be no sightseeing trips into space.

A full passenger load of seven will mean a per-person cost of about .5 million.

Dr. Myron S. Malkin, director of the space shuttle program, said the cost of developing two shuttle vehicles by 1979 will be $5.15 billion—one-fifth the cost of the Apollo program.

He said NASA probably will need seven shuttles in the 1980s, with five extra craft being purchased from the contractor, Rockwell International, at about $250 million each.

To make this launch rate possible, and economical, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is developing the shuttle, a vehicle that will be launched like a rocket, fly like a spaceship and land on a concrete runway like an airliner.

The size of a DC9, an airplane that carries 90 to 110 passengers, it will be able to make 100 or more round trips into orbit.

NASA officials discussed the shuttle and its over-all space transportation plan for the 1980s at a briefing Wednesday. NASA sees itself becoming a "trucking agency" to deliver people and payloads into space for commercial users, other government agencies and foreign governments.

In effect, passengers will buy seats on a shuttle to conduct experiments in orbit for periods up to 30 days, sharing the estimated $10.5 million cost of each mission. An Apollo space mission cost $450 million, and nothing was reuseable.

John F. Yardley, associate administrator for manned space flight, said the shuttle and its two solid fuel launching rockets are reuseable. The rockets will parachute back to earth for recovery.

Initially, the shuttle will be used to place communications, weather and scientific satellites into orbit, eliminating the need for conventional throwaway rockets. If a payload should have trouble, a shuttle crew could fly up to repair or retrieve it.

The recently-completed Skylab space missions demonstrated that a science can be developed for surveying earth's resources from space. Oil and mineral companies, farm, fishing and timber organizations and other industries have expressed an interest in having their own researchers on the shuttle.

Metals processing, electronic and pharmaceutical companies want to explore production possibilities in the unique weightlessness and vacuum of space.

The Defense Department plans to operate 29 per cent of the shuttle missions for military purposes such as reconnaissance.

Nine European nations—Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Switzerland and the United Kingdom—are developing a reusable small space station for $400 million, called a Spacelab, to be orbited by a shuttle in 1980.

Summery Heat Tightens Its Grip On Texas

By The Associated Press

Summery heat appeared to be tightening its grip on much of Texas today despite still another night of occasionally heavy rains and sometimes severe thunderstorms.

Temperatures soared Wednesday afternoon to 101 degrees at Cotulla and Wink, 102 at Midland and 103 at Big Spring as local records for the date were set at some points.

Alghough a weak cool front was due to push into the state during the day, forecasts held out prospects for relief from the heat only in parts of West Texas.

Readings near dawn stayed in the 70s and 80s in most places.

Hard rains soaked parts of West Texas during the night, and there were light showers in the central and east parts of the state. Scattered showers lingered in early morning across East Texas and near the coast, where the wind gusted up to 59 miles per hour as a storm swept through Houston.

Clouds covering most other sections tended to keep overnight temperatures several degrees warmer than usual.

Along with continuing heat, forecasters looked for another nightly round of showers or thunderstorms in all areas except far West Texas.

PENDING OUTCOME OF INQUIRY

Sheriff Suspends Five Dallas County Deputies

DALLAS (AP) — Five deputies of Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones drew suspensions Wednesday night as a direct outgrowth of inquiries into bail bond operations of his office.

Jones disclosed he was relieving them of official duties at the end of a day in which former bail bondsman Wayne S. Parsons accused the sheriff's department of "bounty hunting." Parsons also asserted that his complaints of forged signatures on several bail bonds were not investigated.

In a statement distributed at an evening news conference, Jones said, "with the information that has been developed in the recent court of inquiry, I find that I have not been kept properly informed as to the practices and proceedings in the bond department."

Accordingly, the sheriff said he was suspending without pay five deputies in his bail bond department—Lt. C. C. McCoy, C. G. St. Clair, B. C. Damron and Harvey Dillion—and the head of his civil division—Capt. Ralph Walters.

Their future status, Jones said, "will be subject to the completion of the findings of the several investigations currently in process."

The sheriff said in reorganizing that branch of his office, Capt. Rosemary Allen had been put in charge of the bail bond department.

Jones told newsmen that the lack of information given him by employes "has resulted in some bondsmen being permitted to make bail bonds during a period when they had outstanding bond forfeitures remaining unsatisfied."

All bond forfeitures henceforth will be followed as soon as his office receives a writ of execution on such forfeitures, the sheriff said.

Earlier in the day the district attorney's office brought suit against Parsons, seeking to recover $149,684 on bond forfeitures.

Parsons took the stand as Wednesday's state witness in a court of inquiry on bail bond procedures, which was reconvened before District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker. He had recessed the proceedings last Friday.

After asserting he had told the sheriff's office in February 1972 that his signatures as surety on several bail bonds had been forged, Parsons cited five such instances and said there would have been as many as 40.

Parsons testified he did not know who signed his name to the bonds but those in question were not signed by Dick Woodcox, who held power of attorney from him about a month in 1971.

When he complained to the sheriff's office about forgeries, Parsons said several persons there warned that if he pressed the matter he might be prosecuted criminally because he shared in bond fees from prisoners whose release was effected.

His lawyer, Van Ballew, said a handwriting expert will be called in an effort to prove that forgeries occurred.

Parsons said he could pay off any legitimate forfeitures against him. Ballew said there are indications his client does not owe the $149,684 alleged in the county suit.

Parsons also testified he had contributed $130 to Sheriff Jones' 1972 election campaign.

Granted criminal immunity as a witness, Parsons said an assistant district attorney had examined but not approved a transfer of land from Parsons to Bobby Woods, his former partner.

Parsons testified previously that he also transferred property to a corporation in April 1972 after conferring with Sheriff Jones about "how to save my property from execution."

Judge Walked issued a bench warrant for Dallas lawyer John Coil, who is presumed to have knowledge of some of the transactions between Parsons and Woods.

Captured Pilot Is Released

HOUSTON (AP) — Tenneco, Inc., board chairman N. W. Freeman says a Canadian helicopter pilot captured May 27 by Ethiopian guerrillas, has been released unharmed.

Freeman said the pilot, Grant Wyatt, was piloting his craft at the direction of the Eritrean Liberation Front (ELF) to a point where he was supposed to pick up some or all of five Tenneco employes captured by the terrorist graoup March 26.

Freeman said the guerrillas instead kept the craft and captured Wyatt, killed Dutch nurse Anna Stickwerda, 54, and abducted nurse Deborah Dortizbach, 24, Freehold, N. J., in a raid on a missionary hospital the same day.

Wyatt reportedly was permitted to walk into the village of Ghinda, Freeman said. He then boarded a bus for the provicial capital of Asmara and reported his release to Robert Perry, the U.S. Consul General in Asmara.

Following Wyatt's capture in March, Freeman broke off negotiations for the release of the five Tenneco employes.

The Tenneco official said Wednesday, however, "I hope this new development (Wyatt's release) is an indication that the remaining hostages will be released in the immediate future."

Wyatt was reported in good condition following his ordeal, Freeman said, and considering the circumstances, he was treated well.

"Despite consistent rumors to the contrary, there was no ransom demanded for Wyatt's released and none was paid," Freeman said.

The five employes captured in March were members of an oil exploration project for Tenneco.

They are John W. Rogers and Powers W. Cayce, both of Childress, Tex; and Don Wederford and Clint James, both of acanada and Motta Tavela, a United Nations geologist working with Tenneco.

Newmann Discusses Airlines

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Judge Ross Newmann of the Civil Aeronautics Board said Wednesday that one possible way to get communter airlines to use the new $700 million Dallas-Fort Worth Airport would be to close Love Field.

However, the CAB official, here for a hearing on transatlantice coterminals, told a reporter he was not advising that Love Field be closed.

"That is not my responsibility," he said. "I only listed that as the last possible alternative to the situation."
