Jordan Big War Loser

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is quietly considering what it can do to help Jordan, which appears to be the big loser in the Arab-Israeli war.

There are three key reasons for special U.S. attention to the plight of Jordan, officials explain.

—Jordan's loss of relatively more territory than Egypt or Syria, and of important sources of revenue, including income from tourism with such tourist attractions as Jerusalem and Bethlehem now in Israeli hands.

—The problem of refugees who left their homes west of the Jordan River in panic when the Israelis advanced.

Uncle Sam's Best Pal

—The belief that despite his participation in the war against Israel, King Hussein, Jordan's ruler, is still the best friend the United States has in the Arab world. Hussein, with Saudi Arabia's King Feisal, can again represent moderation against the leaders in Damascus and Cairo, U.S. officials hope.

Hussein, officials recalled, departed from the Arab propaganda line when he admitted at a June 19 news conference he had no proof of U.S. or British air support for the Israeli side.

Nasser's Prisoner?

Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser used charges of such air support as one excuse for the Arab defeat. The Johnson administration hopes this charge eventually will be discredited in the Arab world.

Hussein, it is believed in Washington, virtually became Nasser's prisoner when the Egyptians took control of the Gulf of Aqaba after withdrawal of the U.N. peacekeeping force. Jordan's only outlet to the sea, the port of Aqaba, is in the Gulf and Hussein seemingly had no choice but to fall in line with Nasser.

Hardware Destroyed

Jordan's military hardware is believed to have been almost destroyed during the war with Israel. It consisted exclusively of British and American equipment, including about 300 modern tanks and about 50 planes.

What the United States will do to help Jordan is not clear. There is no hurry in rearming Hussein, though sources say eventually this must be done — with a proper ceiling — to prevent the Soviets from becoming exclusive arms supplier of the Arab world.

Some economic assistance, however, must come soon, officials acknowledged.

$30 Million Slated

Officially, aid to Jordan is under review. Before the war broke out Jordan was expecting to receive $30 million in "supporting assistance" from the United States for the next fiscal year.

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee is reported drafting a call for review of U.S. aid policies toward Middle East countries which cut diplomatic relations with the United States during the war. Jordan did not sever relations.

In an announcement Wednesday, the State Department left Jordan as one of nine Arab countries where Americans can travel only under special restrictions.

Restrictions Lifted

The department lifted its June 5 restrictions on travel to Israel, Morocco, Tunisia, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. Under the restrictions — also still imposed on travel to Algeria, Iraq, Lebanon, Libya, Sudan, Syria, United Arab Republic and Yemen— American citizens are required to obtain passports specifically endorsed by the State Department in order to travel to these countries.

Administration officials also said Wednesday they are studying what can be done to help Arabs who fled territories occupied by Israel. A report is expected next week.

The State Department said it has informed Libya it is ready to continue talks on Libya's request that the United States close down Wheelus Air Force Base.

Planes Raid Steel Works Eighth Time

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. forces reported killing 143 Communist troops in two battles in the central lowlands Wednesday while waves of U. S. jets ranged over a wide area to pound North Vietnam's rail network and its biggest iron and steel works.

American casualties in the lowlands battles 300 miles north of Saigon were six dead, 22 wounded and four missing, the U. S. Command said. It said there was light, scattered contact in 21 other U. S. and allied ground operations.

133 MISSIONS

With good weather prevailing, U. S. Air Force and Navy pilots flew 133 missions against the Communist North. They hammered 11 railroad yards and rail lines from the demilitarized zone to more than 50 miles above Hanoi.

The attacks on the rail network were a continuation of a two-month-old campaign against Hanoi's rail routes. U.S. planes raided the Thai Nguyen steel works north of Hanoi for the eighth time, and a U. S. spokesman said an Air Force RF101 reconnaissance plane was shot down, the 587th U. S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was rescued.

16 MISSING

Hanoi Radio claimed three U.S. planes were shot down Wednesday, including two pilotless reconnaissance craft.

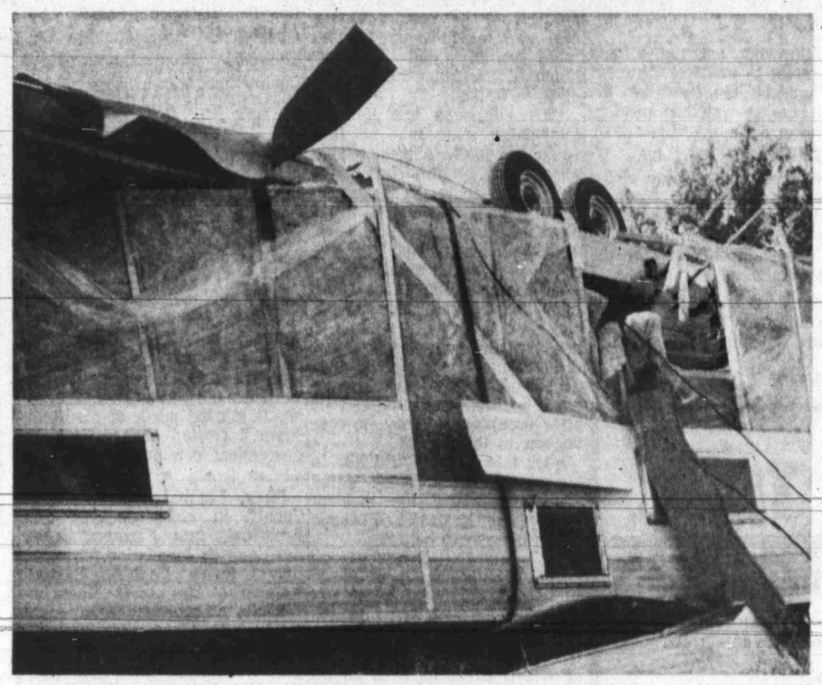

The U. S. Command announced that 143 Americans were killed in combat last week, the lowest for any week since early February. American casualties for the week totaled 1,112 — seven less than the week before — and included 953 wounded and 16 missing.

The U. S. Command reported a big jump in Communist dead, from 1,153 the week before to 1,852. The South Vietnamese government reported 213 of its troops killed last week, 556 wounded and 14 missing, compared with 215 killed, 496 wounded and 38 missing the week before.

70 REDS DIE

U. S. troops from the 3rd Brigade, 25th Infantry Division, reported they suffered no casualties in one of the ground battles Wednesday eight miles southeast of coastal Quang Ngai City.

Freak Storm Batters Section East Of City

Plant Is Damaged, Trailer Flipped

By SAM BLACKBURN

Homes were flooded, roads were washed, a trailer house overturned, homes unroofed and a carbon black plant unit damaged by explosion in the wake of a sudden, late-afternoon thunderstorm which hit the Sand Springs area east of here Wednesday. The storm came on the heels of 100-degree temperatures.

None was injured.

Sheriff A. N. Standard and W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director, said damage would run into high figures. The estimate ranged from $50,000 to $100,000.

A deluge of rain, estimated in some sections of the Sand Springs community to have been as much as four inches fell in the span of 25 minutes.

There were varying views whether there was a tornado in the area or just hard, whipping, shifting or straight winds. Several persons insist they saw funnels in the area and some of the wreckage left by the storm seems to support this. The obvious fact is that the winds did shift violently.

The storm's track began about the Cosden refinery and its eastern edge was between Sand Springs and Coahoma. The east end of Sand Springs got much less of the wind and water than did the west end.

Midway and Moss Creek Road areas were also involved. Winds swept through the extreme southeastern edge of Big Spring and there were reports of antennas blown down, concrete block fences toppled and other damage in the Worth Peeler and Kentwood areas.

HEAVIEST RAIN

Heaviest rain seems to have been in the area centered by the Blue Top Liquor store about a mile east of the Cosden complex.

Winds here blew one small residence off its foundation, twisting the structure clockwise on its concrete base. A carport in the area was also demolished. Water poured through business houses and residences as much as five inches deep, and debris lines on fences and walls showed that yards were more than a foot and a half deep. Heavy loss in carpeting and furniture is expected in these homes.

Mud today was ankle deep

Blast Rips Carbon Unit

An explosion in the collection system of Sid Richardson Carbon Company inflicted serious damage Wednesday when a violent storm abruptly cut power.

Key personnel were closeted with Grant Boardman, plant superintendent, all during Thursday morning to assess damage and map procedures for repair.

There was no statement to indicate how long production would be disrupted, or what the full extent of damage was.

Boardman said that apparently the explosion occurred when the power supply was cut by the storm. Fortunately, no one was hurt. Appraisal of the damage was hampered by lack of lights until around 11 p.m. when power was restored.

MINOR DAMAGE

Cabot Carbon Company, to the southeast of the Richardson facility, suffered relatively light damage. Several windows were broken by hail, said A. R. (Dave) Davenport. A few sheet iron panels were blown from a warehouse roof and hail and wind damaged some exposed pipe insulation. When power came back on, Cabot resumed production.

Texas Electric Service Company lost at least four poles—two supporting heavy transmission lines, and two in the distribution system — during the short-lived punishing storm.

POLES SNAP

Power service to Sid Richardson and Cabot Carbon Companies was disrupted for about four hours while crews labored

Israel Rejects British Demand For Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — France declared today that as long as the war in Vietnam continues there is "no chance for peace in the Middle East."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, in his nation's policy statement in the General Assembly debate on the Arab-Israeli war, said that ending war in Vietnam would "require a courageous and fruitful decision on the part of a great state"—meaning the United States.

NEW HORIZONS

Should the Vietnamese war end, he said, "then new horizons would open up."

Neither Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin nor Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was present to hear the French statement.

They were at the Soviet mission, preparing to be hosts at a luncheon to U.N Secretary-General U Thant, and perhaps waiting for a break on the possibility of a Kosygin meeting with President Johnson.

WAR PRIZE

Gromyko told newsmen Kosygin would return to Moscow soon but probably not before Friday. Johnson had a full schedule in Washington today, and it appeared that if even a brief courtesy meeting was arranged, it would be Friday or during the weekend.

In the General Assembly Wednesday, Israel quickly rejected Britain's warning not to claim all of Jerusalem as a prize of war.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown declared Israel would isolate itself from world opinion if it held onto Old Jerusalem wrested from Jordan. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that his government had expressed determination to see that Jerusalem would never again become a divided city and a war arena.

FREE ACCESS

"Our policy is the preservation of the unity of Jerusalem, the elevation of its cultural and religious life and free access to its holy places," he said.

Jordan seized the Old City in the 1948-49 Palestine war and barred Jews from their holy places in it.

Rodeo Off To Brisk Start, Pleasing Crowd Of 3,500

It began with a rainbow over the arena — but a few cowboys saw stars before the end came at Wednesday night's first performance of the 34th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

The surprising sudden rains that threatened the announced starting time afforded the four-legged beasts a facetious "Here's mud in your eye!" as their hooves kicked clods practically into the grandstands. The cool, damp air had the broncs in fine fettle and sassy enough to strut and snort a bit after showing the boys who was boss of the spread. There was seldom any doubt, and a cowboy considered himself lucky if he had time to pick the cool comfort of a mud puddle when his departure was imminent.

3,500 IN CROWD

An estimated crowd of 3,500 spectators were in a festive mood and found a lot to laugh about when the bullfighter clowns, Kajun Kidd and George Doak, took over when the situation looked serious.

Tom Hadley of Kerrville, rodeo sportscaster, kept the events moving at a brisk clip and provided the crowd-pleasing color and chatter that added to the enjoyment of the evening.

The impressive grand entry filled the arena with brightly garbed riders from 14 clubs and sheriff's posses from over the area, and trophies were presented to the winners who participated earlier in the downtown parade. San Angelo Saddle Club placed first, and others were the Santa Rosa Palomino Roundup Club, second; and the Martin County Sheriff's Posse, third.

151 CONTESTANTS

Tommy Steiner of Austin was the rodeo producer, and judges were Tom Gentry of Clint and Del Heiliger of Fort Worth. A total of 151 contestants are entered in the four-day competition, and all have their sights set on a portion of the prize money which amounts to $7,190.

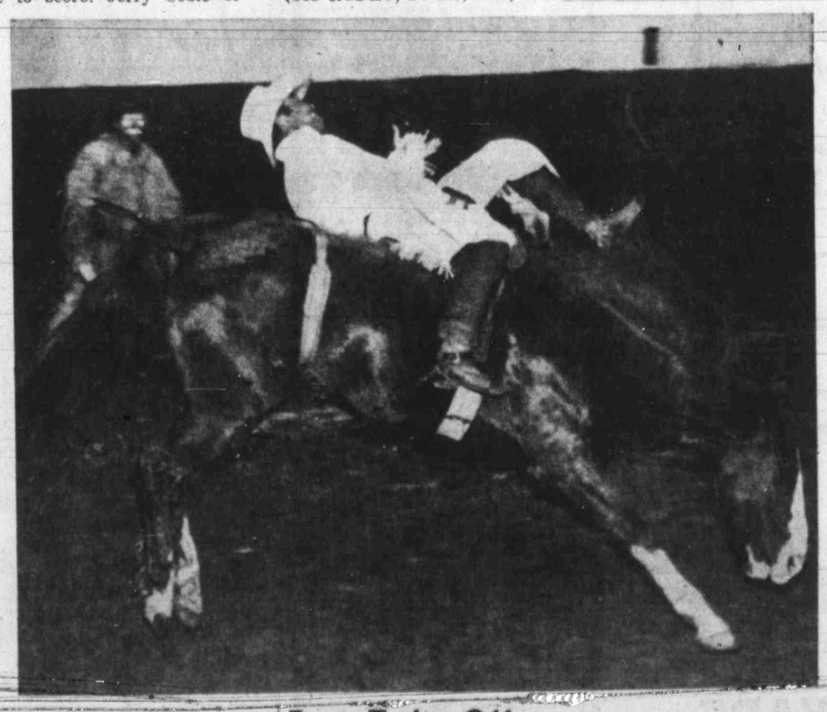

Taking first night honors in the cowboys bareback bronc riding contest was Leonard McCravey of Memphis, Texas, who stayed astride Iron Mountain long enough to score an impressive 62. Close behind was George Paul of Del Rio who took a 60, and ranking third was Dick Bolling of Palacios, with 58 points. Still in the running for money are Make Newman, Big Spring, 44; Billy Rogers, Austin, 49; Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, 56; and Larry Mahan (who has won $26,000 this year) 44. Tony Haberer, chosen as rookie rodeo cowboy of 1966, met his match in a critter called Little Joe and was unable to score. Jerry Coble of Rock Island met the same fate.

CALF ROPING

Mud made the calf roping contest rather like playing with a sticky wicket. Men and horses performed well, but the moisture gave slippery calves the edge in most instances. The best time went to Sam Womack of Boonesville who was clocked at 12.13, and coming in second was Dick Zachary of Cherokee with 14.12. Third place went to Bob Smith of Waller, 15.89.

Other ropers were timed as follows: Jimmy Cooper, Monument, N.M., 24.40; Donnie Robertson, Midland, 30.86; Ronnye Sewalt, Cicco, 18.31; Dusty Bo-

Fast Take Off

It was a fast take-off, and a rough one, too, for this cowboy at the opening performance of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Wednesday evening. Instinct and skill kept him raking the bareback bronc as he maintained his balance. Action was fast at the first show, even if a sudden shower did muddy things up a bit. (Photo by Frank Brandon)

ADD THIS ONE TO YOUR LIST OF TEXAS BRAGS

Add to Texas brags: A wind that blew a loaded boxcar 14 miles.

It happened in Wednesday's freak storm just east of Big Spring. Turbulent winds started a car loaded with carbon black rolling from the Sid Richardson Carbon Company dock. By the time it hit a derail, the car must have been rolling fast enough that wheels jumped over it and back onto the tracks. Then the car forced a switch and hit the main line. Just beyond that point at the Zeiler siding, it moved over the peak grade. From there on it gained momentum on the downhill grade, moving sometime at estimated speeds of 50 miles per hour.

A Texas & Pacific engine crew rescued it at Iatan Flat, 14 miles away.

Patrick Lyndon Gets His Bottle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent gave her baby his first bottle of sugar and water, and doctors reported everything was going well with the President's daughter and his first grandchild.

Patrick Lyndon Nugent was reported making perfect progress in the maternity wing of Seton Hospital, where he was born Wednesday morning.

'EVERBODY'S HAPPY'

"Everybody's happy," said father Patrick J. Nugent as he gave an interview Wednesday night, 12 hours after the birth of his first child.

The baby was wheeled in his bassinet into Luci's hospital room for a first feeding of water and glucose, Nugent said.

The 23-year-old Nugent smilingly confessed he found fatherhood an enjoyable experience.

He reported his 19-year-old wife "gay and cheerful." She had received a telegram from her father, the President, in which Nugent said Lyndon B. Johnson sent word that "his prayers were with her."

CIGARS, CANDY

There was a continuing flow of flowers for the President's daughter at the hospital, where she and her baby were occupying the fourth-floor maternity-wing hospital rooms under Secret Service guard.

One of the floral displays, moved into Luci's room, came from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a White House spokeaman here said.

Nugent handed out cigars and candy as he announced, with tears in his eyes and in a cracking voice early Wednesday that his wife had given birth to an 8-pound, 10-ounce baby boy, 21 inches long.

"It's an elephant, isn't it?" Nugent commented to reporters with a big grin.

TEXANS AT WAR

'I Pray Each Night For Two Things'

By The Associated Press

"I pray each night for two things," says Texan at war Raymond Pistole, "That my family be watched over and that I may live one more day to help free South Vietnam."

So wrote Marine Cpl. Pistole, 19, to his home town newspaper, the Sherman Democrat.

"I have seen how the South Vietnamese suffer in this war. Sometimes we burn their homes or kill their animals thinking they belong to the Viet Cong.

"A few are wounded or killed in combat or air strikes. I also see how they barely grow enough to eat for themselves and their family.

DEATH MASK

"The Viet Cong tell people that they are helping to 'liberate' South Vietnam, yet if the villagers refuse to give aid the chief or his family is murdered. The young men are pressed into service under threat to their parents—then they fight with a machine gun behind them in case they run.

"I have seen Marines shot all to hell, crippled for the rest of their lives, and the mask of death on the faces of many. We are plagued with heat stroke, thousands of jungle diseases, foot rot, and many other things.

TOUGH WAR

"We cannot fire unless fired upon or we see a rifle in a man's hands. We have never been at full strength. We operate with half the manpower we are supposed to have.

"Without a doubt this is a tough war. It's tough on our fighting forces and it's cruel to the South Vietnamese, but they want freedom," wrote Pistole.

"I am so tired of hearing of our flag being burned, our embassies stoned, our people in other countries harassed. I am tired of our nation being ridiculed and watching communism slowly creep across Asia, Europe and even America," wrote Pistole, who a year ago was a student at North Texas State University.

HAPPINESS

"On 'Operation Union' we were all feeling depressed. We had battled 56,000 meters through mountains and jungle. The ants, mosquitoes and leeches battled as fiercely as the Viet Cong.

"A young girl and her mother asked to accompany us on the operation in order to get to freedom. The happiness that showed in their smiles as they walked with us showed us once again the cause we are fighting for."

Assault Count Thrown Out

A charge of assault with intent to murder which had been filed against Elbert Ford a week ago, was dismissed by Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, Wednesday afternoon. The dismissal came as result of a habeas corpus petition plea filed by Ford asking a reduction of the $5,000 bond set in the assault cases, and a $2,000 bond, set for illegal possession of weapons.

In throwing out the assault with intent to murder, the court also ordered the bond for the arms charge, which is pending in Howard County Court, reduced to $750.

Ford had been accused of firing a shot at his wife. This episode led to both complaints. Ford has been held in the county jail since his arrest for the arms count.

The order of the court stated there appeared no just proof to support a charge of assault, and, therefore the court was dismissing it.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL

When Compassion Went Bit Too Far

By ED SYERS

"Rough frontier justice has interested several OBT readers, judging from some of your stories — Roy Bean to Three-Legged Willie," writes College Station's J. D. "Here's a topper, copied from a scrapbook clipping:

'A learned and compassionate judge in Texas, in passing sentence on one John Jones, convicted of murder, concluded his remarks with: Fact is, Jones, the court did not intend to order you to be executed before next spring; but the weather is very cold and our jail, unfortunately is in very bad condition. Much of the glass in the windows is broken.

'The chimneys are in such dilapidated state that no fires could be made to render your appointments comfortable. Besides, owing the great number of prisoners, not more than one blanket can be allowed to each. To sleep soundly and comfortably is out of the question.

'In consideration of these circumstances and wishing to lessen your sufferings as much as possible, the court, in exercise of its humanity and compassion, does hereby order you to be executed tomorrow morning as soon after breakfast as may be convenient to the sheriff.'

Adds this reader: "I'd like to know where this story came from and where the incident took place, if it did. Perhaps your readers can help."

MISSING FORT

Van Horn's Rosa Lee Wylie: "I'd like to know the name and something about a fort or stage stand on the Rio Grande, about five miles east of Glen Creek or Green River as it is known now. This place is on the Moody Bennet Ranch, above a natural crossing of the river. Now, just the foundations can be seen. It is thought to be where the Chihuahua Trail came out of Mexico, or an old Salt Trail. No one seems to know the name now or just what it was."

(Note: If you're exploring Glen Springs Draw, the east side of Big Bend Park, betwcen Chilicotal and Elephant Tusk, you're on the old Comanche Trail and can see the ruins of ancient Presidio San Vicente across in Mexico. Ruins this side are those of an old ranch house and U.S. Army outpost, hit in 1916 border raid. I think we both need competent help.)

RACING RANCHES

A couple of horseracing ranches are hunted for Hood County Historical Society by Granbury's Mrs. Colette B. Thomas. "Near the Parker County line, was a large, three-story rock barn built by a Mr. Couch for race horses, the track in a nearby pasture. My dad is 74 and the barn was built long before he was born. Location is now the Black Ranch; and the barn, remodeled in the 1940's, burned shortly thereafter.

Seven Earthquakes Shake Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Residents were sweeping up, mopping floors, and repairing broken glass today in the wake of seven earthquakes that rocked this area Wednesday.

It was the worst shaking this inland Alaska city has felt in three decades, but did not approach the devastation caused by the March 1964 earthquake in the Anchorage area.

There were no reports of injuries here Wednesday and no major structural damage.

Seismograph stations in Alaska and Washington State rated the three heaviest shocks at an intensity of 6.7 to 7 on the Richter scale. The 1964 Good Friday tremor measured 8.3, strongest recorded in North America.

Trail Marker Put In Park, Not Far From The Spring

A bronze marker commemorating the visit here more than a century ago of the redoubtable Capt. Randolph Marcy is now on display in the Big Spring City Park.

The marker is located inside the fence which surrounds the Nat Shick Totem Pole in the park.

The marker is not exactly new.

It arrived several months ago from the state Historical Survey Committee. Judge Lee Porter deposited it in the Howard County Court Room while he sought to find out where the County Historical Committee wanted the marker placed.

About that time, the local group was in a sort of disorganized state. Porter could find no one to head up the group. The marker continued in the court room for weeks.

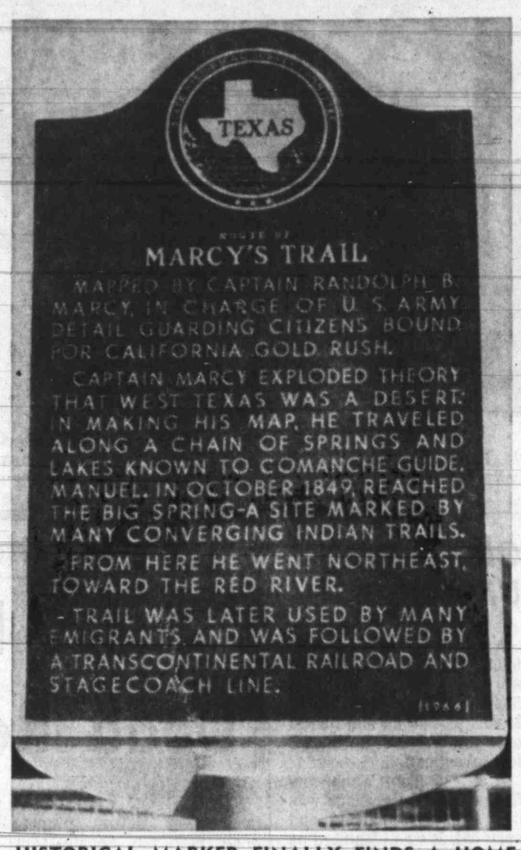

Finally Johnny Johansen, city park supervisor, and assistant city manager Roy Anderson came to Judge Porter's relief.

They took the long neglected marker in charge, also tried to find someone who would say officially where the thing should be placed.

Then they took the bull by the horns, and put the plaque on display where it now stands. It was installed last weekend.

"Actually," Johensen observed, "Capt. Marcy and his troop camped at the big spring. Some day the Big Spring area may be developed into a public park. Probably the marker should be placed there. We placed it by the Totem Pole on a sort of temporary basis. At any rate, people can see it and read the legend."

Probably Marcy and his men tramped over the terrain now the Big Spring City Park since the big spring is only a short distance from the site.

HISTORICAL MARKER FINALLY FINDS A HOME
Plate recites travels of Capt. R. B. Marcy

The plaque, bearing the date 1966, reads:

"Route of Marcy's trail, mapped by Capt. Randolph Marcy in charge of U.S. Army detail guarding citizens bound for California Gold Rush.

"Captain Marcy exploded theory that West Texas was a desert. In making his map, he travelled along a chain of springs and lakes known to Comanche guide, Manuel in October, 1849, reached the Big Spring marked by many converging Indian trails.

"Trail was later used by many emigrants and was followed by a transcontinental railroad and stagecoach line."

Aged Gent Adds Gravel To Insult

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An armed robber in his mid-30s made the mistake of tangling with Hijinio Alvarez, 82.

First he pulled a gun Tuesday on Alvarez, proprietor of a plumbing supply shop. Then he said, "Give me your money or I'll kill you!"

Calmly, Alvarez delivered a freestyle karate chop to the bandit's body, grabbed the gun and whacked the intruder over the head with it.

Before the man fled, empty-handed, Alvarez added the insult of tossing a handful of gravel into his face.

Children's Film Personality Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Richard D. Kilbride, 48, a prominent Boston children's television personality, died in a Cambridge, Mass., hospital Tuesday. Kilbride, of WBZ-TV, was president of the Boston Screen Actors Guild and a member of the national board of directors of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

INS Wire Service Chief Shor Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — George Gershon Shor, 82, former head of the old International News Service, died Tuesday during an operation for a tumor in a New York hospital. Shor, of Cold Spring, N.Y., retired in 1953 after a journalism career spanning nearly half a century. Shor was also a former managing editor of the Philadelphia Evening Times and the Philadelphia Record. An Army officer in both world wars, he was among the founders of the American Legion.

Few Dare To Cross Mrs. Mao

TOKYO (AP) —She stepped from the wings into the full glare of the footlights a year ago. Despite the jeers and envy of her critics, Chiang Ching remains the most powerful woman in her husband's China.

A few years ago, she apparently was a self-effacing housewife, content to remain in the enormous shadow of her eminent husband, Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

She shrugged off this role publicly in 1966 and took on a new one: defender of the Maoist faith.

Peering primly from behind steel-rimmed glasses, she has gained a wide reputation on the mainland for her razor-tongued criticisms of the Peking Opera, literature, art and theater.

Her work in this field has brought her one important job after the other, as advisor to the army's cultural purge, deputy chief of the party's purge committee and Red empress of Chinese arts.

Her pre-eminence in the world of Chinese women today is unchallenged.

Nor is Chiang Ching far from the top in the tough, swiftly changing world of Red China's men. She ranks somewhere among the first seven or eight closest politically to her 73-year-old husband.

Once she took over the job of cleansing the "revisionists" and "anti-Maoists," she worked havoc among some of the most powerful men in the party. She is said to have had a hand in cutting down Marshal Hsu Hsiang-chien, once chairman of the army purge committee; Deputy Premier Tao Chu, the party propaganda chief, and Marshal Yeh Chien-ting.

In one way or another, they dared to cross her; their seniority and fame failed to save them.

What transformed this once-obscure moth into the shining butterfly of Maoism?

The answer most generally accepted is that beginning in 1959 she saw Mao slipping, opposed, ignored and privately derided by President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

Once an actress of some ability, she fought back in the area she knew best: the stage and screen. Stubborness and a gift for expression — her speeches have been not only sharp but lively and well-organized — helped her along.

She knew what needed to be done, what Mao wanted and what was lacking.

Airline's Gamble Runs Into Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new advertising campaign, for an airline at least, was a shocker.

"Hey there, you with the sweat on your palms," it started.

"It's about time an airline faced up to something: Most people are scared witless of flying."

The gamble was taken May 28 by Pacific Air Lines at the suggestion of Stan Freberg, Hollywood advertising writer and humorist. Many old-time airline ad men shuddered.

Today it appears the startling frankness has failed.

The Los Angeles Times said Freberg's campaign apparently has been grounded and Pacific Air Lines itself may soon disappear as a corporate entity.

Officials of the airline based in San Francisco confirmed Wednesday that its president, Matthew E. McCarthy, has resigned and that it is being merged into West Coast Airlines Inc. of Seattle. A spokesman for West Coast Airlines said his company will become the survivor.

RABBIT'S FOOT

The newspaper said financial difficulties faced by Pacific Air Lines may have accounted for its advertising gamble.

Freberg's ad campaign included a rabbit's foot given air passengers, along with a cuddling blanket, a copy of the book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," and "survival kits."

Nick Bez Jr., vice president of West Coast Airlines and assistant to his father, the president, said Wednesday he didn't like the "sweaty palms" campaign.

"I find very little in the concept that has merit or fits in with a marketing plan," Bez said.

"No one in the industry liked it, and it was harmful to Pacific. It scared people away from the airline. We don't like to do those things."

FRESH APPROACH

No top official of Pacific Air Lines would comment directly on the campaign. A former vice president said the airline has "held up" the advertising and is trying to sell back the rabbits feet and blankets to distributors.

Freberg said he was approached initially by McCarthy who told him the airline needed "a fresh approach."

"If they don't plan to go ahead exactly as I planned, I resign, here and now," Freberg said.

His campaign ahead, he added, included painting a Pacific jetliner black like a locomotive and installing whistles and other train noises so the passengers would think they're taking a train instead of a plane.

Rodeo Barbecue Dealt Blow By Thunderstorm

"We'll just about break even —we may even make a little money despite the rain," Travis Waller, general chairman of the Kiwanis Club barbecue said today.

Waller said that the rains came just at the heart of the barbecue serving time Wednesday at the City Park and reduced the number of diners sharply. The heavy downpour in the park sent those who came to the area scurrying.

At the Rodeo Bowl, where the Kiwanis Club served barbecue dinners to the guests of the Rodeo Association, conditions were better. Less rain fell, and the county buildings offered shelter.

"We had about 250 to 300 pounds of choice meat left," said Waller. "Pete Hull of Hull and Phillips has taken this and is to sell it for the club at the store."

Beans left uneaten were given to the Salvation Army for the transients.

Sharply Varying Rain Of Little Farm Value

The thundershower that hit Big Spring late Wednesday evening skipped over the county, deluging some areas and leaving others dry.

The 30 minute thundershower and high winds didn't help the cotton farmers much. Rains were either too small to do anything but wet the top of the ground, or they were such downpours that they covered the small plants.

The Big Spring rainfall ranged from .10 inch at the U.S. Experiment Station to about one inch in some remote parts of town.

Sand Springs, which suffered wind damages and heavy hail, had rain varying from one inch to an estimated four inches.

By the same token, Coahoma which is five miles east of Sand Springs reported one-half to one inch with no hail or damaging winds.

Moss Creek received 1.4 inches of rain and the lake gained six inches of water and was still rising this morning. Forsan received only a trace of rain, and Chalk didn't get any.

Southwest of Big Spring, Loman registered .75 inch of rain and Elbow only received a trace.

In the Vincent area, in extreme northeast Howard, .90 inch was reported. South of there it measured .30 inch of rain.

Luther and Vealmoor reported only a trace of rain with some winds.

The precipitation completely missed Fairview and Ackerly, but Knott received .30 inches.

Lake J. B. Thomas had half an inch at the Big Spring-Odessa intake. Elevation remained at 2242.29.

New Charge In Lamesa Slayings

LAMESA (SC) — Pete Garcia, 21, has been charged in the slaying of three young men here June 11 outside a dance hall.

Eugene Garcia, 17, had been charged on June 12 with the murder of Raul Alvarado, cousin of the two Barrera brothers who were also killed. He is being held in the county jail.

His older brother, Pete, was later named in the slaying of Billy and Richard Barrera and is being held in the city jail.

Both are being denied bond.

Reports Loss Of Purse And Cash

Report of the loss or theft of a purse was made yesterday to the police by Mrs. Patricia Wirsching, Grand Isle, La.

The purse was first missed on June 17 after Mrs. Wirsching had returned from a shopping tour in Big Spring to Vincent where she was visiting friends. Estimated value of the purse and its contents is $50.

RODEO

gard, Bula, 22.32; Jim Bob Altizer, (who still ranks high in the calf roping title chase) of Del Rio, 20.40; James Taylor, Lubbock, 28.16; and Jack Kirkpatrick of Post, 16.55. Bad luck caught up with Sam Rush of Levelland who ended up with no time, as did Toots Mansfield of Big Spring who, nevertheless, drew loud applause for his past records and support of rodeo activity.

BARREL RACE

Beauty and the beast teamed up in the ranch girls barrel race and worked together for some of the most exciting riding of the evening. Top spots went to Joy Jameson of Aspermont, 18.86; Frances Smith, Burkburnett, 18.97; and Terry Lewis, Big Spring, 19.10. Other times were Dorothy Bourland, Midland, 19.53; Pam Upton, San Angelo, 21.86; Carol Lyster, Big Spring, 19.80; Patti Mack, Vinton, La., 19.21; Wanda Driver, Big Spring, 19.75; Kay Ferguson, Pisgah, Iowa, 19.14; Ann Miller, Lamesa; 19.16; Wanda Bush, Mason, 19.81; Sissy Thurman, Bryan, 19.13; and Karen Thurman, Bryan, 23.37.

The saddle bronc riding contest was the eighth event on the program. Dick Bolling of Palacios who took a good ride before taking a seat in a mud puddle, came out on top with a score of 51. Second place went to Jim Moore of Balmorhea, 50, and third was Tom McGill of Gatesville with a 47. The only other score was made by Guy Weeks of Abilene, a former champion, who chalked up a 46. Unable to score were Bill Karnes of Sonora, Kenneth Cunningham of Gail, Herman Younger of Comanche, Richard Stephens of Fort Worth and Roger Carrier of Fort Worth.

STEER WRESTLING

Only two cowboys were awarded time on the mat during the steer wrestling. They were Bob Littrell of Marlow, Okla., timed at 6.81, and Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., who called it quits at 9.62. Unable to make a mark were Junior Meek, Anson; Johnny Denny, Burkburnett; Bussy Kaul, Hereford; Donnie Bowles, Burkburnett; Bob Perkins, Fort Worth; Laddie Lewis, Loraine; Don Harris, Orange; and Bill McGuire, Colorado City.

Excitement was at its peak for the final event — the bull riding contest, and not a bull in sight was in the mood for sociability. High points were given to Ed LeTourneau of Stockton, Calif., who's 58 took first place; Ronnie Bowman of Durant, Okla.; who was given 57, and Myrtis Dightman who earned third place with 56. Other contestants were Tony Haberer, Muleshoe, 54; Benny Holt, Durant, Okla., 52; and unable to score were Ken Stanton, Weisner, Idaho; David Glover, Durant, Okla.; Bill Kornell, Clarksville; Junior Meek, Anson; and George Paul, Del Rio.

The second night performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the rodeo arena and could be a better night for the cowboys.

Damaging Storm

in the area and deep puddles stood on all sides.

SIGNBOARDS GONE

Signboards from the Cosden plant to Sand Springs are almost 100 per cent down or heavily damaged.

The roof was blown from two new business buildings which were just being finished about a mile east of the Blue Top Fields in the area which had been plowed are now levelled, so heavy was the wash of water across the furrows.

Many Midway residents were reported to have been flooded. Television antennas and small outhouses were toppled.

Mrs. Alvin Warren and her three young children, who live in a trailer house just to the rear of the Marvin Grocery had the closest escape from injury.

FLEE IN TIME

When the storm blew in Warren was at work and Mrs. Warren and her children were alone in the trailer. The wind pulled the trailer door open. Mrs. Warren was struggling to close it. The force of the wind dragged her out onto the stoop, and she fell. About that time, she heard the air conditioning unit blow off the top of the building. She and her children fled to a neighbor's residence where there was a cellar.

Moments later the trailer house flipped over and rolled several times to the south, pushing the Warren car ahead of it. After a 30-foot trip, the tangled, broken wreckage, with the car buried underneath, was lodged against the grocery store. The proprietor of the store said he did not believe his building was damaged.

UNROOFED

Two blocks to the northwest, the roof on an annex, which Ross Bradford had built to his trainer house, was ripped off and carried a hundred feet southeast. Mrs. Bradford, with her sons, Michael, 5, and Terry, 8, weer in the room when the roof went off. Water began pouring in, Mrs. Bradford said. The wind had cut off electric service.

Mrs. R. B. Lambright, mother of Mrs. Bill Ballard, was in a trailer house adjoining the residence of her son-in-law. The wind shoved the trailer to the northeast jamming it against the mast of a television antenna. A picture window on the west side blew out. The electric lights were out, and a broken line in the yard posed a threat of electrocution to anyone in the watersoaked yard.

Mrs. Lambright rode out the storm.

One mystery at the Ballard place is what became of an apricot tree. Before the storm the Ballards had two apricot trees at the rear of the residence. Both were about eight feet tall. Today they have only one. There is an indentation where the other once grew.

"The kids have walked over the entire area," said Mrs. Ballard, "they have been unable to find any trace of it."

Hail damage to roofs was much in evidence in the area. At the Moss Creek road underpass, residents said the ground was covered with hail when the rains ended and the winds died down.

The Moss Creek road was still closed early today. Last night the intersection of the Moss Creek Road and Lover's Lane was a lake and presented a hazard to motorists.

At least one woman called for help and asked to be removed from her flooded house in the area about a mile east of Cosden.

PICNIC GOES ON

Many residences lost their lawns and shrubbery in the storm both from the winds and from the deluge.

Sheriff Standard said that the oddest angle he encountered in the area was the aplomb of two young couples who were having an impromptu picnic under one of the IS 20 underpasses.

"They had pulled off to the side of the road," said the sheriff. "They had a portable barbecue grill and were busy barbecuing some steaks.

"The rains began. The picnickers merely moved their car, grill and picnic equipment under the shelter of the underpass.

"They stayed there eating the meal, occasionally walking outside to peer at the clouds and to check the progress of the storm."

She was buried in Grove Hill Memorial Park in Dallas. The nearest surviving relative was a niece, Mrs. Velma Canter, Whitesboro.

OLD GRENADE UNEARTHED

A live hand grenade was found Thursday morning by workmen near the Highland Shopping Center on FM 700. It was plowed up and turned over to officials at WAFB for investigation.

A report from Webb confirmed that the grenade was live although corroded and very old. It was identified as a MK2 high explosive grenade similar to those used in World War II. Officials said the grenade had been "dud fired," explaining that it had been thrown and did not explode. They added this put it in a most hazardous condition.

The grenade was disposed of at the base.

"To our knowledge, no others have been found in this area," said a Webb information officer.

Prof Raps Manchester

AUSTIN (AP) — A prominent Texas historian says author William Manchester invaded Jacqueline Kennedy's private thoughts and "did her a long-range disservice" in his book "The Death of a President."

Dr. Joe Frantz, University of Texas history professor, reviewed the book Wednesday at the university Student Union.

He also was critical of Manchester's treatment of President Johnson.

"So many of the private thoughts of Jacqueline Kennedy should have been left on tape," Frantz said, because "They are not vital to our understanding of what goes on in the world."

Frantz said Manchester used a "hard sell" approach in portraying Mrs. Kennedy's thoughts and actions at the time of her husband's assassination. He said this robbed her of personal dignity.

"We're all guilty of unseemly curiosity about our public great," Frantz said. "No one can have this constant exposure and live up to it."

Frantz was critical of Manchester's account of Johnson's taking the oath of office after the assassination.

"Under the circumstances, Johnson and the people around him showed considerable restraint," he said.

Manchester's account of this episode, Frantz said, "shows a lack of understanding of the political process, not just the American process but that of the world: "The king is dead, long live the king.'"

Frantz also said he was displeased with Manchester's utterances about Texas.

"I am willing for him to damn Dallas, but when he takes on San Antonio, I suspect that there is nothing down here that could satisfy him," he said.

BLAST

furiously to restore service. Some poles were snapped at the ground, one possibly 20 feet in the air. Force of the wind broke a tough steel static line which rides over the conductor line.

Leads to Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, however, remained inteact and except for some temporary control problems, there was no halt in activities there.

Service was lost for a time in the Midway-Sand Springs area due to wind, but mainly to flying sheet iron which draped across lines, causing shorts and sometimes ripping the conductor from supporting arms.

Northeast Big Spring was off briefly because a chain had been blown or thrown across the lines, causing a short in the circuit.

Surprise Move

Tower Proposes Dodd Reprimand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., proposed today that the Senate reprimand Sen. Thomas J. Dodd for his financial conduct, but stop short of censuring him.

Tower made his surprise move as the Senate ground toward judgment of Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat.

Tower's amendment would take a step somewhat stronger than that rejected Wednesday by the Senate—the admonition proposed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.—but far less stern than the censure recommended by the Senate ethics committee.

BIG ODDS

It would also strike the committee finding that Dodd's conduct brought the Senate into dishonor and was contrary to accepted morals.

In the wake of Wednesday's 92-2 vote, Tower's amendment appeared to have little chance of adoption.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he expects the Senate to censure Dodd on both of the two counts recommended by the ethics committee.

DOUBLE BILLING

"On the basis of yesterday's vote, I have no reason to believe the Senate won't sustain the committee," he told reporters.

The Senate rejected 92 to 2, late Wednesday afternoon a proposal to drop a charge that Dodd misused political funds for his own benefit and to substitute an admonition that he not do anything wrong in the future.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said once any new amendments are dealt with, he and Dirksen will propose that the Senate vote on the second count in the censure resolution—that involving double billing.

'I'LL WIN'

Mansfield said he expects to hold the Senate in session until the action has been completed.

"I would hope that it would be concluded in a reasonable time," he said.

Dodd told newsmen today: "If right prevails, I'll win."

He said that he expected he would remain on the floor today to vote against the ethics committee resolution. He absented himself during Wednesday's vote on the Long substitute.

The senator repeated his earlier statements that, regardless of the outcome of the censure resolution, he would remain in the Senate and seek re-election in 1970.

'NONE AT ALL'

Asked if he had any doubts he would be re-elected, he replied, "none at all."

One count charges Dodd with converting $116,083 raised at political testimonials and similar events to his own use. The second accuses the senator of double-billing the Senate and private groups for travel expenses. Each is to be voted on separately.

Only Sen. Russell B. Long — author of the proposed substitute resolution — and Dodd's fellow Connecticut Democrat, Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, voted for it in the late-Wednesday balloting.

WORDS, WORDS

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the bipartisan ethics committee, called the substitute resolution "a ridiculous thing."

"This doesn't say anything," Stennis told the Senate. "It is just a lot of words. It is double-talk."

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, the ethics panel vice chairman, warned acceptance of the watered-down version would make the Senate a laughing stock.

Long, D-La., Dodd's self-appointed defender, conceded his proposal was mild. But he said Dodd deserves nothing more severe.

Dodd said the real question was: "Have I got the dough or not? And I don't have it. If I did I'd get out."

Minor Mishaps On Police Report

Three minor traffic accidents occurring Wednesday have been reported to police.

A collision involving a car driven by Maurice Costello Jr., 2812 Keystone Drive, and the parked car of Alvin Biggs, San Angelo, occurred at Third and Runnels.

James Larry Sumrall, Lamesa, and Louis H. Velasquez, Lubbock, were in an accident at Fourth and Jones. FM 700 and South 87 was the scene of an accident involving Mary Ann Hood, 1509 S. Main, and Jannelle H. Hepner, 1519 Kentucky Way.

PAST COMES TO LIGHT IN 1916 ISSUE OF THE HERALD

City's Dreams Half-Century Ago Not Unlike Those Of Today

By SAM BLACKBURN

The Preacher, writing wisely 3,000 years ago, stated:

"The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun."

Fifty-one years ago this summer, Big Spring was working and hoping that it would soon get a new federal building; it was proposed that Moss Creek (Moss Springs it was called then) be developed into a place of recreation; farmers were fretting because prolonged dry weather had ruined their dreams of a good crop; nationally, officials were worrying over whether a country-wide railroad strike would develop.

The county commissioners court of Howard County had just fixed the tax levy. A levy had been set up to pay for the "new courthouse" and another levy to pay off the debt against the old courthouse.

ROAD MONEY

The county, in cooperation with other West Texas counties, was striving to get a bigger share of federal road funds.

And there was a campaign to get the alleys cleaned up to make the community more attractive.

There's a strange sort of familiarity about these items if you will look about you today.

The difference is — those cited above were duly recorded in the Big Springs Herald of Friday, Aug. 18, 1916. The ones that seem so fresh to you are probably recorded from day to day in the Big Spring Daily Herald of the current month and year.

IN OLD HOME

These things were recalled when Bill Ballard, Rt. 1, came across a yellowed copy of the Big Springs Herald of 51 years ago in the attic of the old Lamar Smith residence at 602 Main. Ballard was wrecking the residence and the old newspaper was brought to light as the demolition proceeded.

The Herald then was a weekly newspaper. Jordan and Hayden were the proprietors. According to the masthead, the paper was then in the 12th year of its existence and the particular edition at hand the 47th of that year.

The folk were doubtless looking forward that week to the next Thursday night when a local talent concert was to be featured at the Gem Theater.

In listing the things that seem alike which were on the calendar in 1916 and have their almost identical counterparts on hand now — Big Springs was completing work on a fine new high school, this early day journal recorded.

TALENT SHOW

And the home talent show at the Gem was sponsored by the City Federation with the understanding all receipts would be used to improve the new high school.

The manager of the theater had gone all out — he would screen three reels of movies, he promised, as a prelude to the talent show. Included in the artists who were to appear was Miss Mary Johnson, who would give a reading; Miss Amelia Rix, to be featured in a vocal solo; Miss Eleanor Pancost, piano solo and Mrs. A. E. Pool, vocal solo.

Mrs. F. N. Brown must have felt real happy about the show since the program related that she would be heard in a dialect reading "Projigal Son," and that she was on the program by "special request."

FIGHT FOR COLLEGE

In 1916 the towns of West Texas were engaged in a spirited competition to be selected as the site for a branch of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. The Herald proclaimed "This (the college) is going to be one big asset to some West Texas town and Big Springs, being so favorably located for the college, should leave no stone unturned to land the plum. An A&M college on one of our classic hills would look good to us." (Apparently the classic hills didn't look quite so good to the committee which made the selection. It picked out the flat prairie land at Lubbock and the proposed A&M College of 1916 today is Texas Tech.)

LABOR DAY

It was also noted on Page 1 that Big Springs would not celebrate Labor Day on the first Monday of September, 1916. Railroad union members had met with the business men of the town and decided there was not enough time to prepare a proper and suitable program for the holiday.

There was news about the ranches, too — "Sterling Price, the old time cow puncher, was up from the Lucien Wells Ranch (now operated by Edward Brothers) this week. Sterling says grass is rather hors de combat down that way."

The Herald also admonished its readers to remember Aug. 26, date of "the second primary for the election of a United States Senator from Texas. Friends of Culberson and Colquitt are making warm campaigns for their favorites . . ."

RECREATION

On an inside page, the Herald gets in another dig in its campaign to have Moss Springs developed as a recreation area.

"Moonlight picnics to Moss Springs have been numerous this week. The evenings have been ideal for outings and many parties have taken advantage of them . . . Moss Springs could be made a beautiful resort for this town by throwing up a dam on the little creek that the springs form . . ."

To show that the motorcar was definitely taking over The Herald records:

"The following auto licenses have been issued since the first of the month 525, J. B. Franks; 536 Luke Shumake, Saxon; 536 J. H. Sullivan, Vincent, Ford; 538 Mrs. E. A. Godwin, Coahoma, Ford; 539, Willie Amos, Saxon; 540, W. A. Pool, Buick; 541, Eugene Anderson, Ford; 542, W. H. Moode, Ford and 543, J. W. Marchbanks, Ford."

And S. P. Daily, identified as a machinist who lived on Houston & Ash streets in Big Springs testified "I suffered with Rheumatic pains, and I had back ache and constant soreness across my kidneys." The report continues. "On Nov. 3, 1915, Mr. Daily said 'Doan' Kidney Pills brought me a permanent cure.'"

So it was in August, 1916, in "Big Springs," Texas.

Father And Three Children Return

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — A Temple man and his three children, the object of an overnight search after they failed to return after an afternoon fishing trip, turned up safe Wednesday, suffering no ill effects from having spent the night in the woods.

They are John A. Robinson and his children, Reva, 8, John, 6, and Larry, 4.

Robinson said they got lost after nightfall Tuesday, tied their boat to a tree, and started out on foot. All were barefoot and wearing swimming suits.

He said they wandered into thick woods, and he built a small shelter and a fire to keep warm by. They sang songs until daylight, then made their way to a road and caught a ride.

Sevral Ft. Hood helicopters had searched for the four.

Dutch Tuned Bells Ring In Sherman

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Installation of a Dutch-made carillon, a tuned cluster of 24 bronze bells, has been made at Austin College's Wynne Chapel belfry.

A representative of the Van Bergen Bell Foundries in Holland, which began casting the series two years ago, directed placement of the three tons of finely tuned bells.

Ranging in diameter from 45 inches down to a foot, the bells chime from the 65-foot high tower without amplication. The order for the $40,000 carillon was placed three years ago when the college was working to meet a Ford Foundation challenge grant. They were given by Toddie Lee Wynne of Dallas, an Austin College trustee who also gave the chapel.

720-Acre Tract Development Due

BEAUMONT (AP) — Development of a 720-acre tract on the west bank of the Neches River a mile north of the Beaumont Country Club for weekend homes and water front activity is planned. Six Beaumont men have formed a corporation and purchased the land from George H. Norman and J. D. Lyons at a reported price of $144,000.

Diet-Heart Study Urged

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Heart specialists urged today a go-ahead with a massive test involving 40,000 to 63,000 men to answer a critical health question:

Would changes from typical American food habits really produce some insurance against heart attacks, the nation's leading killer disease?

Many experts believe that such changes — especially cutting down on intake of fats and cholesterol — do help prevent coronary attacks.

SAVES LIVES

It is known that the amount of cholesterol in the blood stream can be reduced this way. The tantalizing question is whether this step then saves lives.

Getting the answer would call for enlisting a small army of volunteers. Half the men would change their food habits somewhat and stick with it for five years. The other half would, for comparison, go on eating as they do now.

If, five years later, men who changed their food habits suffered fewer heart attacks than those who didn't change, it would be clear proof that most Americans have been eating their way toward heart attacks, but should not and need not.

But would many thousands of men, and their wives, agree to give up some old habits for new and stay with it?

The answer to that is yes, the Executive Committee on Diet and Heart Disease told the American Medical Association today.

BIG EXPERIMENT

It reported results of a two-year feasibility study preparing the way for the huge experiment. Some 2,400 middle-aged men took part, some changing food habits and others not, and only 10 per cent dropped out of the study.

Beer License Appeal Nixed

AUSTIN (AP) — A person has no right of court appeal against the granting of a beer license unless he has a property or constitutional right at stake, the Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

In a Waco case, the court upheld decisions of a trial court and a Court of Civil Appeals, which denied a court appeal to Alvin Stone.

Stone fought the application of Joe Bozarth for a retail dealer's off-premise license to sell beer, and tried to appeal to a district court after the Liquor Control Board granted license.

"It is well settled that there is no right of appeal from an administrative order unless the statute provides for the same or unless the order violates a constitutional right or adversely affects a vested property right," the court said.

The court said state liquor law does not provide for an appeal from the granting of a beer license.

'The Fordham Flash' In Retirement

Frankie Frisch, member of baseball's Hall of Fame, relaxes on porch of his home in Charlestown with his two spaniels. Frisch, who will be 70 years old in September, went from the Fordham campus to become an infielder with John McGraw's New York Giants in 1919. Since then he has managed several teams and finished his career in baseball as a sportscaster. He enjoys the quiet life in the small Rhode Island community, he says. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Bristling Lonborg Is Too Much For Yanks

By The Associated Press

Jim Lonborg, once a friendly, smiling giant, has forsaken his winning ways for a winning fast ball that rises high and tight and now has hitters ducking him like he had bad breath.

The Boston Red Sox new mean man of the mound blew his latest innovation by New York for an 8-1 victory Wednesday night, but the Yankees did not go down without a fight.

Lonborg's lively fast ball and one thrown by the Yankees' Thad Tillotson that wasn't so lively started a brush back, bean ball contest that emptied both benches in a second inning free-for-all.

Tillotson hit Joe Foy on the helmet with a pitch in the top half of the inning, then one of Lonborg's high hard ones struck Tillotson in the shoulder. Words were exchanged between the two pitchers, then between Tillotson and Foy, the benches emptied, a wild melee began and it took 12 special policemen to restore order.

Elsewhere in the league, the leading Chicago White Sox quietly swept a doubleheader from Washington 5-2 and 2-1 on the hitting of Tom McCraw and Gerry McNertney, and reliever Eddie Watt saved Baltimore's 5-4 triumph over Kansas City.

Detroit and Minnesota played to a 5-5 tie in a game halted in the ninth inning by rain and Cleveland and California were rained out before they started.

No players were ejected in the brawl at Yankee Stadium, the second there in recent weeks, but Joe Pepitone of the Yankees was decked by one punch and had to leave the game with a sprained wrist.

In the next inning, Tillotson hit Lonborg and Lonborg later brushed back Charley Smith and hit Dick Howser before the umpires summoned both managers and laid down the law.

Howser and the Red Sox agreed the pitch that hit him on the helmet was an accident, but it left Lonborg with 10 hit batsmen this season, tops in the league.

Asked later if he threw at Tillotson, the 6-foot-5 right-hander answered "What do you think? I have to protect my own players."

It's all part of the new Lonborg, who has changed his friendly attitude for a strictly business manner on the mound that discourages hitters from digging in at the plate.

"I want to be the best in my business," the 24-year-old college graduate who once had ambitions to be a doctor, said earlier this year. "I'm not going to let anything interfere. The batters took too many liberties with me my first two years. I don't throw at anybody, but I can't let them do it anymore."

Lonborg, who was 9-17 as a rookie and 10-10 last year, allowed seven hits — Yankee hits — as he ran his record to 9-2, lowered his earned run average to 3.03 and struck out seven to raise his league lead to 105.

Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer and three-run scoring hits by Carl Yastrzemski led the Red Sox attack against Tillotson.

McNertney also slammed three hits, driving in two runs and scoring a third as the White Sox won their opener on the shutout relief pitching of winner Bruce Howard and Hoyt Wilhelm.

McGraw's leadoff homer in the seventh inning gave Jim O'Toole the triumph in the nightcap with relief help from Bob Locker.

Watt entered in time to strike out Bert Campaneris with the bases loaded in the eighth inning and protect Pete Richert's victory for the Orioles.

Frank Robinson hit his 21st homer with a man on and Dave Johnson drove in two more runs to build Baltimore's lead.

Two-run homers by Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe of Detroit matched Harmon Killebrew's 20th and 21st homers and a shot by Rod Carew of the Twins in their game that was delayed by rain an hour at the start and then stopped four more times before it was called.

All records count and the game will be replayed from the start.

Thornton Is Star In Win

Danny Thornton was in command all the way as the Cubs blanked the Angels, 4-0, in a Sophomore Teen-Age league game here Wednesday night.

Thornton set the Angels down with four hits. The contest left the teams with identical 4-2 won-lost records.

Gary Ringener waxed warm at bat for the Cubs, lashing out three hits. No one else in the game had more than one blow.

The game was extremely close until the sixth, when the Cubs broke the calm with two runs. Gary Ringener also scored twice for the Bruins.

Lubbock Winner Over Local Nine

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Furr's defeated Big Spring, 3-1, in a District 19 American Legion baseball game here Tuesday.

The defeat left Big Spring with a 2-5 league record, which ties it with Furr's and Lubbock Auto.

Furr's counted all its runs in the opening inning. Dennis Hilliard shut out Big Spring through the first eight innings, although Big Spring outhit the Lubbock club, 7-5.

James Newman started on the mound for Big Spring. When he ran into trouble the first round, Sammy Mims came on in relief.

The Big Springers return to play at home Saturday, meeting the Midland Elcor team in a double header. The first game is scheduled to start at 6 p.m.

Elcor edged the Midland Drug team earlier this week, 6-5, to post its sixth success in seven starts.

Murren Is Named Coronado Coach

LUBBOCK —Bill Murren, a former Decatur Baptist College cage star who later played with Texas Tech, has been named head basketball coach at Lubbock Coronado High School.

Murren previously served as B team mentor at the school. His starting salary on his new job will be $6,750 per year.

He succeeds Carl McMillan, who resigned recently to become assistant principal at Lamesa High School.

Murren will also teach business courses at Coronado. Bill was a junior college All-American at Decatur. He is a native of Atlantic City, N.J.

Muskogee Youth Leads On Links

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Long-driving Joey Dills of Muskogee, Okla., took a one - shot lead today into the second round of the Texas-Oklahoma Junior Golf tournament thanks to a pair of eagles he made Wednesday on the first and fourth holes.

Dills, 15, chipped in a 7-iron for an eagle two on the first hole and followed it with a driver, a 2-iron and a 20-foot putt for another eagle on the 500-yard par 5 fourth. His round of three-under-par 68 put him just ahead of Don Brown of Wichita Falls, Gary Wolf of Arlington and Tom Kite of Austin. All were 69 shooters.

The championship flight of the 72-hole tournament is being played over the par 71 Wichita Falls Country Club Course.

Nicklaus Not Smug About His Role

CLEVELAND (AP) — Newly crowned U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus was a heavy favorite today to capture the $103,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

But the big belter from Columbus wasn't likely to carry a smug attitude into the first round of play.

The blond power-hitter won the National Open in record-shattering fashion last weekend with a crafty performance. His five- under-par 65 Sunday at Baltusrol Country Club in Springfield, N.J., included eight birdies.

It was the second Open crown for the 27-year-old Buckeye pro who owns every major title in the book.

But Nicklaus, who has won more than a half million dollars in slightly more than five years, has never come out on top here. Observers figure he may find the $20,700 first prize interesting enough to apply the pressure.

Nicklaus had been anything but impressive until his decisive triumph last week and may be ready to attack the Aurora County Club's tight 6,611-yard layout where par is 70.

In the first Cleveland Open in 1963, Nicklaus finished seventh while Arnold Palmer prevailed.

In 1964, Jack finished in a tie for third while the late Tony Lema topped Palmer in a playoff for the title.

Nicklaus skipped the '65 tourney, a move that drew criticism in these parts. He finished well back in the pack last year with a 278.

Nicklaus has had trouble before winning on Ohio courses. Even before turning to a lucrative career as a professional, Jack failed to win the Ohio Amateur, an event annexed twice by Palmer when the millionaire Pennsylvanian was in the Coast Guard stationed near here.

Still, based on the form he displayed at Baltusrol, Nicklaus has to be the man to beat. Stiff competition should come from Palmer, Billy Casper, Julius Boros, the tour's only three-tournament winner, and R.H. Sikes, last year's champion.

Nicklaus tuned up for first-round action with a nine-hole score of 34 in Wednesday's rain-curtailed pro-am event.

The population of the United States has increased 69 per cent since 1920.

National baseball league publicist Dave Grote likes to point out that attendance at games in his circuit have boomed 151.5 per cent since that time.

Is baseball a dying sport? Not so you would notice, despite the fact that the television people are trying to boom interest in soccer with Sunday telecasts at the expense of baseball.

More than one million children are playing Little League baseball today, compared to 600 in 1945.

Doak Walker, the former SMU football great, is now a member of sports halls of fame in two states—Michigan and Texas.

He was an all-NFL star for the Detroit Lions after leaving SMU.

Another ex-Texan, Cecil Isbell, who attended college at Purdue and played pro football for the Green Bay Packers, recently was honored by the Elks Club in Milwaukee.

He was given a plaque, a football and a $500 check. He immediately endorsed the check over to Purdue for use in the school's scholarship fund.

Isbell's favorite passing target with Green Bay was the great Don Hutson.

Jets Upset Hawks, 12-2 In American LL Action

The Jets played like a first division team in upsetting the Hawks, 12-2, in the American Little League here Wednesday night.

The win was only the fifth in 17 starts for the Jets. The Hawks are currently 10-7.

Barry McGonagill, on the hill for the winners, yielded only five hits and benefitted from a two-on home run hit by Bob Priebe. Priebe collected two blows, in all, the only player on either team who did so.

A three-run first inning actually gave McGonagill all the working margin he needed but the Jets added three more in the third, two in the fourth and four in the fifth.

EYES PLAY DAY

Red Raider Club Launches Drive

Membership in the budding Red Raider Club of Big Spring will not be limited to ex-students of the Lubbock school, Joe Price said Wednesday.

Price is serving as president of the organization, which is concentrating on plans to host Tech dignitaries at a Play Day July 5.

A dozen friends of the university gathered with Price at the Cosden Country Club Wednesday to cement plans for the July 5 festival and formally launch the membership campaign.

The Tech Play Day, at which such individuals as TT dignitaries as athletic director Polk Robison, football coach J. T. King and basketball mentor Gene Gibson are planning to be on hand, will include a round of golf, a social hour and a buffet dinner (all at the Big Spring Country Club).

The golf is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. The mixer is timed for 6 p.m. while the dinner takes place at 7 p.m.

The Tech delegation will also attend a Lions' Club luncheon at the Settles Hotel at noon on the appointed day.

A minimum fee of $10 qualifies anyone membership in the Red Raider Club and a ticket to th Play Day program. Donations of any kind will be welcomed. Those anteing up $60 or more will receive an appropriately decorated plaque, suitable for displaying on an office desk or wall.

Among salesmen who went into the field to press the appeal for membership in the organization were R. L. Heith, Ralph Gossett, Wayne Vaughn, Jim Cape, Dr. Marshall Cauley, Ernest Lillard, Ralph McLaughlin and E. P. Driver.

Favorites Are Shaded In London Net Tourney

LONDON (AP) — The seeding committee of the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament was slightly red-faced today as their hand-picked players soiled their reputations.

The committee chose eight seeds for the men's singles in the big tournament, which starts next Monday. Six of them entered for the London Grass Court Championships at Queen's Club this week — and by today four of them were eliminated as the tournament reached the quarter-finals.

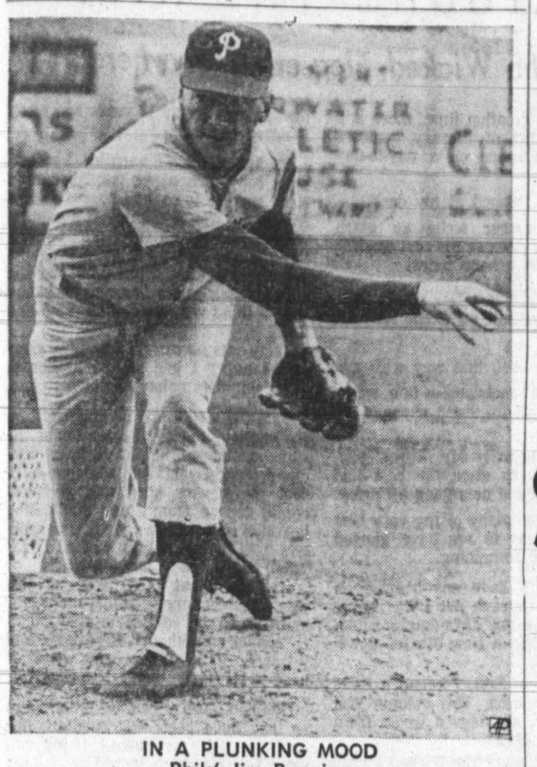

The humiliated Wimbledon seeds are Manuel Santana of Spain — the Wimbledon titleholder — Roy Emerson and Bill Bowrey of Australia and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

All of them fell to players who have been given no special consideration for Wimbledon.

Emerson went out Wednesday, beaten 3-6, 4-6, by the brilliant fore-hand driving of Tom Okker, a private in the Dutch Army.

Drysdale was outgunned by Roger Taylor, the British left-hander, 2-6, 13-15.

Okker is going to town and is being talked about as a Wimbledon dark horse. He conquered Bowrey, too, in an earlier round.

IN A PLUNKING MOOD
Phils' Jim Bunning

Jack Fisher Slows Phils

By The Associated Press

Hire a big enough hall and you could assemble all of the 62 poor souls who've had the thankless task of pitching for the New York Mets during their 5½ adventurous seasons.

But the chairman of the meeting would have to be Jack Fisher, who's in his fourth season of that punishing job. Fisher had been at it longer than anybody else and for that he deserves to be chairman.

He hurled a brilliant two-hitter Wednesday night and beat Philadelphia 2-0 on an attack that consisted mainly of Tommy Davis getting plunked by Jim Bunning's pitches.

It was the best pitched game in the National League where Cincinnati nipped Houston 3-2, Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 6-3, Atlanta battered San Francisco 9-2 and St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 2-0.

The only hits off Fisher were by rookie Gary Sutherland, who looped a leadoff double in the sixth and then singled in the eighth. Fisher struck out five and walked two in running his record to 5-7.

The Mets nicked Bunning for single runs in the first and third innings. Cleon Jones singled and stole second before Bunning hit Ed Kranepool and Davis in the first. Tom Reynolds' sacrifice fly delivered the run.

In the third, Davis was hit again, reached third on Rich Allen's error and then scored on a grounder.

Fisher, the workhorse of the Mets' staff, sailed through the first five innings. Sutherland's double and a pair of walks loaded the bases in the sixth but he escaped by getting Bill White on a grounder.

Like almost all their games, there was a touch of irony attached to the two-hitter for Fisher and the Mets. Sutherland, the only man to hit him safely, is the brother of a former Met pitcher.

Vada Pinson opened Cincinnati's ninth inning with a double and came around on a fly ball and a grounder for the Reds' winning run against Houston.

Pinson moved to third on Tony Perez' fly and scored on Lee May's bouncer. Perez and May accounted for Cincinnati's first two runs with solo homers. Jim Wynn hit his 17th for the Astros.

The Cubs moved into third place by beating the Pirates with Curt Simmons and Dick Radatz making an early four-run bulge stand up.

Simmons, 38, worked the first eight innings and Radatz set Pittsburgh down in the ninth as Chicago moved .001 ahead of San Francisco. Adolpho Phillips drove in two runs with a first inning single and John Boccabella chased two more across with a triple in the sixth.

Bob Uecker drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a double as the Braves whacked the Giants.

Uecker's shot capped a seven-run Atlanta third that put it away for Pat Jarvis, who hurled a six-hitter. Denis Menke tagged three hits including a homer for the Braves.

Bright Future Foreseen For ABA By Cliff Hagan

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Yes, Virginia, Maryland or whoever, there is an American Basketball Association and Cliff Hagan, the old National Basketball Association star who will coach one of the teams, says it is going to do right well.

Reminiscent of 1960 when the American Football League was organized and had to struggle seven years before the National Football League recognized it except in court, Hagan says the ABA won't attain the stature of the NBA for several years.

But, says the man who is now getting the Dallas team together, the ABA has an advantage over the NBA that the AFL didn't have over the NFL—it will start producing the superstars on an equal status.

"The superstars of the NBA, fellows like Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson, and Jerry West, all are over 30 years old and only have a few years to go," said Hagan. "Meanwhile we will develop our own superstars and be ready to start competing in those few years."

Hagan, the old Kentucky star who played 10 years with the St. Louis Hawks of the NBA and helped them win a flock of championships, is making his first effort as a coach as he sends the Dallas Chaparrals through their paces.

In three days, he trimmed the squad of 60 to 18 with a few more cuts coming up. He says he has the nucleus for a good team, especially when Jim "Bad News" Barnes, one of the centers of controversy (he quit Los Angeles and signed with Dallas and suit is threatened), recovers from an operation to an Achilles tendon.

Barnes can't play with Dallas until October when his contract is up with Los Angeles, but he can work out with the squad. The season doesn't start until Oct. 16.

A Devotional For The Day

Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. (James 4:8)

PRAYER: Father of mercies, forgive our coldness, our lack of response, to Thy love. We thank Thee for the opportunity to approach Thee through prayer. Grant us grace to keep the lines of understanding with Thee open at all times; through Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

Compulsion May Be Next

The House of Representatives has gagged over a compulsory arbitration feature in a law designed to bring a settlement of a nationwide rail strike threat. By a vote of 189 to 105 the House eliminated a provision in the Senate - passed bill which would have required a compulsory settlement if the two parties failed to reach agreement in a 90-day period.

The House did retain that part of the Senate bill which extended the strike ban for another 90 days. The Senate will decide today whether to accept the House version or send the bill to a conference committee in an effort to reach an agreed version. Labor leaders have assured members of Congress that they will not go out on strike while the measure is being considered, thereby removing the threat of an imminent walkout.

Although the House refused to accept the principle of compulsory arbitration, the fact that the Senate did accept the principle should give pause to both labor and management in rails as well as in other fields. Both labor and management profess to be opposed to compulsory arbitration. Congress has respected their views heretofore. But the prospect of a nationwide rail strike, with the economic hardship it would entail, finally persuaded senators to act.

The next strike threat in rails or in any industry which impinges on vital national interests, may persuade House members, too, that collective bargaining is no longer a useful instrument in the settlement of labor - management disputes. Congress cannot stand by idly when the vital interests of its constituents and the welfare of the nation are in jeopardy. The only sound alternative is for management and labor to sensibly settle their own difficulties.

Okinawa Is Special Problem

Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Saito has called for a "partial return" of the Ryukyu Islands. Sympathetic attention should be given this plea at the highest levels of the U.S. government.

For almost 22 years the United States has occupied the Ryukyus, a chain of islands spread in a gentle arc southwestward for a distance of approximately 450 miles. In 1958 the islands north of Okinawa were returned to Japanese sovereignty. The remaining islands, with the exception of Okinawa, should be turned over to the Japanese.

Okinawa is a special problem. It is the Pacific outpost for our strategic air force. Nuclear weapons are poised there. The Japanese would like to take over Okinawa, too. But it is highly unlikely, given the memories of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, that the Japanese people would permit nuclear weapons to remain there, even on U.S. bases, if administration were returned to Japan.

For the present at least the status of Okinawa should remain unchanged —privately Japanese officials concede the unpleasant necessity for nuclear weapons on the island. But even this special arrangement should not be considered as permanent. All of the Ryukyus should be returned to the Japanese at the earliest possible moment. For the status of the islands is an emotional and highly sensitive issue in the domestic politics of Japan.

HOW TO GET IT THROUGH THE NEEDLE'S EYE?

The Soviet Maneuvers

WASHINGTON — What Premier Kosygin did and said on his visit to New York City and in his speech at the United Nations shows conclusively how a monolithic government functions. Not only were the words condemning the policies of the United States agreed upon in the Kremlin and the Premier directed to parrot them, but the Soviet people were denied an opportunity on the same day to hear on radio President Johnson's speech or the rebuttals to the Premier's address by the other speakers at the United Nations General Assembly.

THE KREMLIN moves very slowly in order to get a consensus among the members of the top Communist committee. It was considered important to keep from the Russian people any knowledge of Premier Kosygin's walk around New York City and the obviously friendly reception given him, and equally important not to broadcast or reprint the significant speech made by President Johnson on Monday morning, just before the United Nations General Assembly met.

THESE TACTICS are not unusual. The Communist oligarchy in Moscow is afraid to let the people of Russia know of the friendly spirit prevailing in this country toward all other nations and of the sincere desire of the representatives of most governments in the United Nations to find a way to achieve an enduring peace in the Middle East.

It was the withdrawal of the U.N. force at the request of Egypt which precipitated the war. Yet Premier Kosygin insisted on calling the Israeli government the aggressor and demanded that effective measures be taken to restore not merely the boundary lines which existed earlier this year but those set in 1948. This would cost Israel 23 per cent of the territory held before the recent war began.

IT IS NOT surprising that the Soviet government decided to let its mechanical spokesmen at the United Nations General Assembly repeat the accusations and demands which have become ingrained in Soviet policy, irrespective of consequences to the peace of the world. Nor was it unexpected that Premier Kosygin assailed American policy and demanded that the United States withdraw from Vietnam. Certainly any conference between President Johnson and Premier Kosygin would be meaningless, too.

All these maneuvers are part of the Communist concept that there must never be any modification or change in a policy once adopted. It means that the Soviet government is not interested in planning a peace by conciliation, and wants to keep the Middle East in constant turmoil. The London Daily Telegraph sums up the situation in an editorial as follows:

"JUST AS President Nasser tried to divert attention from the unmitigated disaster of which he was the architect by the pantomine of his proffered resignation, so Mr. Kosygin is trying to recoer the shirt he so embarrassingly lost in the Middle East stakes in a proparanda spectacular at the U.N. General Assembly. In their policies the two are combining to frighten the West into coercing Israel into surrendering all her gains, which would leave her exposed to even greater risks of annihiliation than before. Egypt is doing this by keeping Suez closed and calling on Arab oil producers to boycott Britain and America: Russia by threatening to re-arm the Arabs and to give them whatever support is necessary to ensure their speedy victory in the next round. Britain, America and their friends need not, and must not, yield an inch to this blackmail."

(Copyright, 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Billy Graham

I am in business with a partner, and since my conversion to Christ, I cannot go along with some of the unscrupulous practices in our business. My partner needs my financial support. What should I do? G.B.

Get yourself a new partner, or go in business for yourself. Jesus said, "Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" I heard of two brothers who were in the coal business, and one of them was converted to Christ. He urged his brother to become a Christian too. His brother's excuse was: "If I became a Christian, who would weigh the coal?" It is much more important that we "make a life" than that we "make a living." Nowhere did Christ indicate that we had to make a living, but His very purpose of coming into the world was that we might have life, and that we might have it more abundantly.

Too many of us are fat with material things, but poverty - stricken spiritually. Someone has said, "I would rather fail in a cause that will eventually triumph, than to succeed in a cause that will eventually fail." Jesus said it another way, "What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul."

If you continue your "unscrupulous" practices, you will sooner or later run into trouble with the law, but that is not the worst: your soul, made for fellowship with God, will be starved. "Seek first the kingdom of God, and all these things will be added unto you," said Jesus.

"This is the first place I've ever seen where people take cleanliness so seriously they even put up signs," Bockey said to a friend, pointing to a large placard which read: "TAKE BATH."

Rights Bill Massacre Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last year President Johnson's civil rights program was massacred in Congress and the one he asked for this year looks headed for the same fate. The reasons are about the same because nothing much has changed.

Negro violence is one.

After the House passed Johnson's civil rights bill in 1966, the Senate killed it with a filibuster. And Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic majority leader, indicated why.

HE MENTIONED "marches, shootings and inflammatory speeches" and said "there is no place for mob mentality and its deliberate stimulation." Already this year there have been riots, shootings and inflammatory speeches before Congress got down to work on Johnson's 1967 program.

Johnson has been conscious of the effect of street violence on the Senate, which has been apathetic about civil rights ever since it passed the 1965 act.

When he offered this year's proposals in a special message Feb. 15 Johnson, noting the 1966 riots' chilling effect in the Capitol, sounded pretty much like Mansfield.

"LAWLESSNESS," he said, "cannot be tolerated in a nation whose very existence depends upon respect for the law." As an antidote he suggested creating "conditions for public order based upon equal justice."

Riots weren't the only deadening effect last year. It was an election year and by the time the bill came up in the Senate the members were anxious to get home. And there was the influence of antagonistic, individual senators.

This was particularly true of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, leader of the Senate Republicans. He gagged totally on the open housing section of the bill.

THIS SECTION was intended to prevent discrimination against Negroes in the sale and rental of housing even though its reach was limited since it would have banned discrimination in only about 40 per cent of the nation's housing units.

Dirksen called it unconstitutional, an invasion of private rights— an argument which had a lot of echoes around the country, although one Negro leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., called Dirksen a hypocrite.

ANOTHER rigid antagonist last year was the chairman of the Senate's powerful Judiciary Committee, Sen. James O. Eastland, a Mississippi Democrat. He has been against civil rights legislation all the way.

He is against this year's bill, too, predicting it will meet the same end as last year's. And Mansfield says he doesn't see much difference between the 1966 and 1967 bills.

Big Dollar Makes Demands

NEW YORK (AP) —"Life," said George Peppard, "is a piece of time as long as a gnat's blink.

"That makes it important to live it the way you feel it should be lived—to do as much good as you can and have as much fun as you can."

BUT WHEN Hollywood stardom beckons to a young actor, it's hard for him to go on living the way he prefers. The big dollar makes big demands.

And some of them seem a bit inordinate to George, who rang Hollywood's golden cash register in "The Carpetbaggers" and is now completing his 15th picture, "What's So Bad About Feeling Good?"

FOR ONE thing, George, who worked hard to become a star, finds he doesn't like the public attention that success has brought. He doesn't like giving interviews, doesn't enjoy being pointed out when he goes into a restaurant.

"I realize it's part of the business, and I don't resent it," he said. "But I simply don't get any pleasure out of public attention, except so far as it applies to my work."

IT ISN'T that the tall, handsome blond actor finds the fruits of success bitter. He just isn't the extrovert, life-of-the party type, and never has been.

He always has been something of a loner, one who likes to study others but keeps himself a bit apart.

"Sometimes I require solitude," he said, "just to read and think. That's why I enjoy going hunting or boating, or flying an airplane."

Recently George took a long step toward privacy by buying a 13,000-acre ranch in northern California, which he soon hopes to stock with 6,000 cattle.

"I'M RATHER practical," he remarked. "I expect the cattle to support me, rather than vice versa."

Peppard, son of a Detroit building contractor, became interested in the theater while studying engineering at Purdue. Later, after an 18-month hitch in the U.S. Marines, he won a degree in fine arts at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. He worked partime as a disc jockey and radio station engineer.

BEFORE making his mark on Broadway, George attended the Actor's Studio here. He kept alive by employment as a bank clerk, taxi driver and motorcycle mechanic.

Those days of deprivation—even then, George valued his privacy so much he kept an unlisted telephone number—still hold a luster for him.

"I lived in a $40-a-month cold-water flat in Greenwich Village," he recalled. "When I wasn't looking for an acting job, I used to play chess in Washington Square Park. It was a great life."

What Use Is A Gall Bladder, Anyway?

I am told a person can eat anything after having the gall bladder removed. If so, what is the purpose of having a gall bladder?

Is there any alternative to surgery?—MRS. D. S.

Yes, it is possible to pass gall stones—if they are not too big.

To answer your second question, let's consider what the gall bladder is for. It stores and concentrates bile, a digestiye juice.

Bile is formed in the liver. It flows to the small intestine, but some follows a detour into the gall bladder where it is concentrated and stored. When you eat, this reserve supply is released.

Since the bile is concentrated in the gall bladder, and since most saturated solutions tend to the formation of crystals, it is not surprising that crystals can form in the gall bladder under certain conditions. These crystals are what we call "gall stones."

They can be of any size, from what we call "sand" or "gravel," up to very sizable stones. The small ones may pass through the duct easily into the intestine. The big ones can't get into the duct, but remain in the gall bladder.

And then there are the in-between sizes, not small enough to pass through easily, but not large enough to prevent them from getting into the duct. They may work their way through slowly, hurting all the way until they finally pass into the intestine, putting an end to the pain. Or they may become lodged in the duct, in which case surgical removal is the only solution.

Bile is particularly necessary for digesting fats. But since the gall bladder is merely a reservoir, even when it is removed bile still will flow from the liver to the digestive tract. It is possible to "eat anything," so long as the amount eaten is not too great for the supply of bile to handle at any one time. You still produce the same amount; all you have lost is the ability to store it up for mealtimes.

Many a person who eats moderately gets along very well without a gall bladder. Some learn that eating rather lightly at regular meals and then adding snacks between meals helps them. But the person who eats a heavy meal, particularly one rich in fats, may not have enough bile at that particular meal, since he no longer has the reserve to draw on. He may then have digestive difficulties.

When, because of stones (or other conditions) a gall bladder needs removal, there isn't any choice. Surgery is the proper course. And (this is a question often asked) there is no way of "dissolving" gall stones. Not without harming the body.

Nor can we offer much in the way of preventing stones, except that they tend to form in infected or diseased gall bladders, so subduing infection helps when that is the case.

Around The Rim

The Wicked Flea-eth Everywhere

This being vacation time, there is a gap in the list of literary geniuses who fill this space on a day-to-day basis.

Joe Pickle stopped at my desk.

"Had you rather write an extra 'Rim' for this week or for next week?" he inquired in urbane tones.

"No," I replied.

So I am writing an extra Rim for this week.

LIFE HAS been that way with me.

I make vital decisions — fate, wearing all sorts of disguises, changes my decision.

I endorse heartily Mr. Burns' allegation that very often the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley.

A very great many of my very best plans, it seems to me have ganged very agley or something.

IT DOESN'T have any bearing on the above paragraph but I was somewhat puzzled a few days ago by something I found in a New Mexico newspaper.

'Way back in 1923, I began a daily newspaper column. This column was printed daily, six days a week, from 1923 through 1955.

The caption was "The Wicked Flea." I created the title by changing the spelling of the Biblical admonition "the wicked flee when no man, etc. and etc."

The column vanished from the paper in which it had been published for 32 years nearly 12 years ago when I moved to Texas.

ON MY RECENT vacation I picked up a copy of a paper published in a New Mexico town and there on the front page was a column. It's caption was identical with my old caption "The Wicked Flea." It even used the same format that I had used and the column itself was a first-person gabby sort of thing very much like mine had been.

There was no masthead on the copy of the paper I had so the author of this column remains unknown to me.

OF COURSE, I had no copyright on the caption. Indeed, I once found the same spelling of the phrase in an article of Mark Twain. And someone once sent me a very aged and yellowed comic section from some publication in which object of the cartoon characters used the same "the wicked flea."

So there's really nothing grave or portentous about the matter. I just was puzzled at the identical character and title of the column in New Mexico compared with my old effort. And I wonder if the fellow who writes it used to be on the paper I worked for.

UNLESS THE mice have eaten them or they have been destroyed by fire or time, there are about 12,000 columns I have written, stored away back in Oklahoma.

If they were all stacked up one on top of the other, they would probably fall over and make a heck of a lot of fleas.

Time Of Pain In The Senate

WASHINGTON — All human actions, seen at a distance, reduce themselves to comedy. The brevity, the futility, the certain doom of mortal existence would make the noblest efforts seem ridiculous if they were viewed from some remote perch in time and space. It is only upon close observation, in the identification which one person has with his fellow-beings, that the stresses are felt, that the kinship of common salt in everybody's sweat and tears is recognized, and that the essence of pity becomes the taste of tragedy.

SO IT HAS been in the stirring drama known as the Dodd censure case before the Senate of the United States. I dare say that not one of Dodd's 99 colleagues has been without compassion for the cornered man.

I am aware from letters and editorials which come from afar that many Americans think of Dodd with contempt and think of the whole episode as proof of their own suspicions about the largely unexposed crookedness of politicians. But it is no joke when a good man goes wrong, and not funny when someone who has achieved distinction plunges from the heights to the nethermost levels of despair.

THIS HAS happened to the senator whose praise was once widely heard and who came fairly close a mere three years ago to being tapped for the national office of vice president.

A contrast extended to the principle characters of the entire action. John Stennis (D., Miss.), resonant of voice and gigantic in moral stature, towered above all in the role of prosecutor.

HE WAS chairman of the Ethics Committee, he was the conscience of the Senate, he was the good soldier with the most distasteful duty to perform. Hour after hour, in broken scenes, Stennis confronted Dodd. The Connecticut senator became more pale as the time ticked on, more pathetic as his strength waned until he could neither sit nor stand erect, increasingly desperate as the avenues of escape snapped closed about him, sometimes rising to a righteous defiance which he undoubtedly felt, and progressively isolated from his comrades as he neared the end.

SOME ONLOOKERS discovered a comic relief in the slouchy but impassioned, melodramtic but knowledgeable performance of Russell Long (D., La.) who tried every wile of courtroom technique to save the man with whom he had nearly nothing in common. But, really, it was the contrast again rather than the humorousness, in the Louisianian's forays that seized everybody's attention.

DODD WAS caught between the high - minded elegance of Stennis who viewed the U.S. Senate as a sacred insitution, and the windmilling verocity of Long who looked upon the Senate as a funhouse of congenial politicians. It would be a tossup as to whether Stennis or Long loves the Senate more, evaluates it more accurately, protects its name more realistically. To Stennis, Dodd must be made a sacrifice to the unwritten codes of ideal statesmanship. To Long, Dodd was being made a fall-guy to standards that are more honored in the breach than the observance.

Have it as you like it, nobody close to this event took it with a light or callous heart. Especially let it be said of the 99 who were closest — they were not amused.

How The Soviets Armed Israel

WASHINGTON — There has been some confusion as to how much aid the Soviet Union gave the Arab nations during the recent unpleasantness in the Middle East. What nobody knows is that the Soviets' real intention was to help Israel. But they had to do it in such a way that neither the Arab countries nor the West would find out about it.

It seems the Soviet Union has been trying to increase its arms business to compete with the United States and Great Britain. One of the most likely prospects was Israel, who was finding it hard to get military equipment from the West. The Soviets said they would give Israel everything she wanted, but it would have to be done in such a way that it wouldn't anger the Arab countries or even some Communist-leaning states.

ISRAEL SAID she was interested, but didn't want to do anything to anger the United States, Great Britain and France.

Encouraged by what could turn out to be a very good customer, the Soviet Union proceeded to devise a way of getting Russian arms into the hands of the well-equipped Israeli army. The big question was, "How?"

Then someone in the Politburo (the Soviets refuse to say who) got a brilliant idea. He told the Israeli diplomats, "We naturally cannot sell you the weapons directly, but why don't we give them to the United Arab Republic and then you can get our weapons from them?"

THE ISRAELIS pointed out that the U.A.R. might be reluctant to give the Israelis any of their Soviet weapons. The Soviets told them not to worry about it. "Just give us a list of what you need," they said.

The Israelis, trusting implicitly in the good faith of the Soviet Union, handed in a list including tanks, guns, armored cars, jeeps, small arms and, surprisingly enough, six or seven Soviet ground - to - air missiles.

A year later the Soviets told the Israelis that their order was ready and would be delivered in a month.

THE ISRAELIS were puzzled, but decided to wait and see what would happen. Sure enough, in May Gamal Abdel Nasser closed the Gulf of Aqaba and moved seven divisions of his troops and armor into the Sinai desert.

At the same time the Soviet Union accused Israel of being an "aggressor," which was the code name for "customer."

On June 5 the Israelis went to collect their equipment in the Sinai desert, where it was conveniently left by Egyptian troops, many of whom didn't even wait to be tipped for delivering it. The tanks, personnel carriers, guns and even missiles were brand new. A few were damaged in transit, but by and large the Russians had made everything available as ordered.

SOME SOVIET items accidentally left off the list were delivered to the Israelis, via Syria, a few days later.

All in all it was quite a coup for the Soviet Union. In one of the great business deals of our time, the Soviets managed to collect twice for the same equipment, first from the Arabs and then from the Israelis.

'Natural Monuments'

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The fireflies in the nearby Sawabe area of northern Japan have been officially classified as "natural monument," by the Ministry of Education.

To make sure they don't die out as a result of growing urbanization, authorities are planning to plant trees around reservoirs where they breed. Officials also are stocking the reservoirs with shellfish on which firefly larvae feed.

Farm Families Fleeing Floods

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Streams in Missouri and Kansas, fed by heavy rains for 11 days, have put under water more than 600,000 acres of fertile farm land and forced several hundred families from their homes.

Army Engineers estimate the loss in excess of $23 million. A spokesman said the total is likely to climb rapidly as new crests sweep down the Missouri River and various streams in east Kansas.

Some 200 families in mobile homes at St. Charles in east Missouri were ordered out Wednesday as the Missouri battered sodden levees.

crests sweep down the Missouri River and various streams in east Kansas.

LEVEE FOLDS

A 25-foot section of levee buckled at St. Charles Wednesday night. Workers quickly filled the gap with sandbags, but officials said it appeared only a matter of time before other sections would give way.

Corning, near the extreme northwest corner of Missouri, was preparing for its second flooding in five days. Just south of Corning, resort homes and roads at Big Lake Park already are under several feet of water from the Missouri.

MASSIVE FLOODING

A new crest, 5½ feet above flood stage, is expected at St. Joseph today.

Engineers said the combined volume of the Kansas and Missouri rivers would pour past the city at 93.6 million gallons a minute.

Federal levees are expected to hold both rivers with ease, but some more farm levees may break.

Massive flooding is expected east of Kansas City with new crests ranging from three to nine feet above flood stage.

East of Kansas City residents were evacuating the small farm towns of McBaine, southwest of Columbia; and Wakenda, 11 miles southwest of Carrollton.

WATER IN STREETS

In Kansas, about 200 residents of Osawatomie braced for serious flooding today when crests of five to 10 feet above flood stage on the Marais de Cygnes River and Pottawatomia Creek meet at the edge of the city.

The Wakarusa River was out of its banks at Richland, 15 miles southeast of Topeka, and one to three feet of water was on the streets. Dunlap and Marion both had water in the streets.

Dear Folks:

If you use fish patties and the instructions say brush with butter, try my method of using corn oil if you are on a low fat diet.

I pour a dab of corn oil on the patties and use a paper napkin to smear it with.

Then, instead of placing them directly on a cookie sheet, I put mine on a cake rack first and set this rack on the cookie sheet.

HELOISE

Because the cake rack has little feet, the patties are held away from the breading does not stick as easily. You'll end up with more of that delicious batter on each patty.

Besides, instead of browning one side at a time, you are also partially browning the bottom side. That good ole batter gets cooked on the bottom side and the patty cooks evenly all the way through.

This is a "fish story" you can believe! . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

An ordinary pillowcase makes a perfect sheet for baby's bassinet.

It slips right on and you have no odd-sized bassinet sheets left over as they are used for such a short time.

Also, I tuck a folded diaper securely over the bassinet sheet where the baby's head lies. These can be changed quickly, like a slip sheet on a hospital bed.

No need to change the complete bed because of a few stains, burps, etc. . . Gail Sayler

Dear Heloise:

I find that those old chenille bath robes make the finest mop inserts and dusting cloths you ever saw.

I dampen the chenille mop a bit and it removes all of the lint and dust from my kitchen linoleum.

This works so much better than a broom, which just stirs up the dust on our floor. . . I.P.

Dear Heloise:

I suggest when placing an ad in the Lost and Found Column for a lost pet that you also give the name of the pet. They are usually afraid and confused. Calling them by name will help catch and return 'em to their owners. . . Mrs. Steve Kariozi

Dear Heloise:

For double beds with one head board:

When beds are pulled apart the wheels usually make marks on floors, especially on tile floors.

I covered the outside of all our wheels with adhesive and now when I move the beds I have no marked floors. . . Betty Rodrick

Dear Heloise:

After my youngest child outgrew his carriage, I had about six good baby blankets that I didn't know what to do with.

I cut off the ribbon, folded them in half and trimmed them with a colored binding that matched my bathroom.

They made wonderful drip pads for the children to stand on while drying after a bath. . . Mrs. I.S.

Dear Heloise:

I keep extra-large salt shaker filled with flour in the cabinet above my kitchen counter.

This is much easier to use than getting out the sifter when I have a small job to do . . . such as sprinkling the board with flour before kneading biscuits, or sprinkling flour between each layer of sliced potatoes when making scalloped potatoes, etc. . . Sue Maschke

Dear Heloise:

Before dying or tinting curtains or garments, run a few strings of white cotton thread through the hem so that they are dyed with the rest of the material.

After dying they may be pulled out and rolled on a spool to be used for later mending or hemming.

They will exactly match the color of the article when the need arises . . . Miss Dusty H.

Dear Heloise:

Being long-waisted, I cut off the belt loops on all dresses so I can adjust the belt to my special liking.

Rather than throw the loops away, I sew them on the inside of my shoulder seams, put on a snap, and have custom-made bra and slip strap-holders. . . Elsa Kilpatrick

Travel Aids To Keep You Pretty En Route

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: I plan to visit Expo 67 in Montreal for a week in late July. I am uncertain as to the clothes I will need. Advice welcome!

The Answer: For ultimate success, a travel wardrobe has to meet the tests of attractiveness, suitability and comfort — to look at ease on the scene and easy on you.

When a tour involves any cosmopolitan city such as Montreal and days spent in sight-seeing, these well-tested items are indispensable:

A neat summer suit of care-free fabric, patterned in small checks or stripes, and teamed with a variety of shirts, shells and pullovers.

A cool cotton or synthetic knit T-dress in bright navy or brown.

A sweater, possibily a white cardigan.

In a linen-y or silky pastel, a very simple late-day costume with dress and jacket; companionate shoes and purse.

A light-weight wool coat for all occasions — rain, shine, day, evening — in a strong, dashing shade.

Well-fitted leather walking shoes, having firm arch support and low to mid-heels.

A commodious leather handbag to carry en route but, because it can weigh you down on day's outing, a feather-light tote to carry sight-seeing.

A foldaway hat for protection on hot or damp days.

You may add to this collection, of course, but, as it stands, it will travel without a fashion or fagging foible.

FLATTERING COLORS

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Dear Abby

The 'Loving' Boss

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed as a secretary by the same man for nine years. I was only 21 when I came to work here, and I was green as grass.

My boss is in his late 50s and his wife is about his age. They have children and grandchildren, and he is an important man in this community.

Over the years I noticed that he took an interest in women. He took them to lunch, cocktails, dinner, and bought some of them gifts. I figured this was none of my business.

He used to compliment me on my hair, clothes, etc., but I paid no attention.

I recently announced my engagement and told him I wanted a month off for my honeymoon, but would return to work for a while after that. He then asked if he could "kiss the bride," so I told him he could, at my wedding. Then he broke down and started to cry like a baby, telling me he had been "in love" with me all these years. He said he and his wife hadn't lived as man and wife for 20 years, blah, blah . . ." I was stunned.

Then he got over it real quick and said he was only "kidding." (Kidding? With real tears?)

Now I ask you, should I quit my job for good when I marry? Or should I come back and pretend all this never happened? It's a good job and he needs me.

IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: When you quit, stay away. He may need you, but you need him like a kangaroo needs a brief case.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a very high-class man I have been dating for over a year. Cal gave me a nice pearl engagement ring which he had sized for my little finger. I never knew an engagement ring could be worn on the little finger. He doesn't want me to tell anyone we are engaged as he doesn't want it to get back to his mother. Here's the background:

I have been married, divorced, and have a child, and Cal hasn't told his mother about that yet. I've met his mother a few times and she seems to like me okay, but she thinks I'm just another one of Cal's girlfriends.

I told Cal if he didn't tell his mother about me and the baby I was going to tell her. He keeps saying he will in time. How long should I wait? I am 26 and Cal is 33. I've had this ring since last December and I want to make some plans. WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Set a "deadline" (one week) and if Cal doesn't tell his mother about you, consider your "engagement" dead.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a professional photographer and one of the best in town. He snaps everything and everybody but his own mother and father.

From the time he was a small boy he was interested in photography as a hobby so his Dad and I always saw to it that he had the best equipment.

Now that he is a professional with a fine studio you would think he would offer to take our pictures, but he never has. Even at family gatherings when he's busy taking candid shots, if we don't stick our faces in a couple of pictures we'd be left out entirely.

We are average looking people and wouldn't break his camera. It would be nice to have some good studio pictures of ourselves before we get old and gray. We haven't had a decent picture taken in 15 years!

What do you suppose is the matter with him? Any suggestions? ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: He's thoughtless. Call his studio and ask for an "appointment."

Ex-Purdue Info Director Dies

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Thomas R. Johnson, who was information director at Purdue University for 45 years, died in a nursing home Tuesday at the age of 74. Johnson, who retired in 1963, also handled publicity for the National 4-H Congress and had established Italy's agricultural information program for the Marshall Plan after World War II. He was a native of Bluffton, Ind.

Barracks Complex Pact Awarded

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A contract of $8,242,389 has been let to Lawless and Alford, Inc., of Austin for construction of an enlisted men's barracks complex at Ft. Hood.

The contract calls for construction of seven 326-man air-conditioned barracks, three battalion-size enlisted mess halls, three administration and supply buildings, four battalion headquarters and classrooms, brigade headquarters building, gymnasium, chapel, post exchange, dispensary, parking areas and supporting road nets and utility system.

Star Witness Gigs Network

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's presidential assassination investigation found itself in more controversy today after a star witness provided a denial to statements aired by the National Broadcasting Co.

Perry Russo told newsmen Tuesday members of an NBC news team sought his help "to wreck the Garrison investigation."

He added that the NBC team alternated promises and threats in repeated efforts to enlist his cooperation.

In New York, the network denied Russo's detailed accusations.

In its Monday night televised program NBC said Garrison placed Russo on the witness stand during the preliminary hearing for Clay L. Shaw knowing that the witness had failed a lie detector test revelant to his testimony.

Leonard Gurvich, a private investigator who supervised the test, denied Russo flunked and said the polygraph operator was unable to get specific readings because Russo was "highly nervous."

Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans businessman, has been indicted on charges of conspiracy to murder President John F. Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. The indictment was based largely on Russo's grand jury testimony.

Russo, 25, a Baton Rouge insurance salesman, told the grand jury he attended a party in September 1963, at the home of David W. Ferrie. Russo said it was there he heard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and Ferrie plot to kill the President.

The Warren Commission found no credible evidence that Oswald was aided in the assassination of Kennedy.

Ferrie and Oswald are dead. Shaw is free under $10,000 bond, awaiting trial.

Interest Rates Picture Remains Mixed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Intricate plans of the administration and the Federal Reserve Board to press down interest rates from their record highs of last summer are meeting with some success, lots of frustration and even outright failure.

This mixed picture is therefore causing concern among the nation's public and private money managers who remember with horror how rates got completely out of hand last year and rose to 40-year highs. These rates still are not in check.

HABITS CHANGE

This week some of last summer's highs were topped. Amazing as it may sound, long-term rates have been going opposite to hopes, efforts and forecasts. They are rising.

The simplest explanation is that these forecasts and efforts were based on the assumption that human beings would act and react in predictable ways. They haven't. Borrowing habits changed after last year's experience.

MONEY CRISIS

This failure of some federal money policies is illustrated by the whopping 6.10 per cent that a New Jersey utility with a very high credit rating, Public Service Electric & Gas Co., had to pay to borrow $75 million.

This rate is slightly higher than another utility paid at the peak of last year's money crisis. But since then the Federal Reserve has pumped plenty of funds into the market. Why should it be so expensive to borrow?

The answer lies in a change of viewpoint by many businessmen. Having been caught short last year, they are vowing it won't happen again. They are hoarding credit. They are anticipating distant needs. They are borrowing for long terms.

With some of these funds so acquired, the borrowers are doing something just as unusual. They are paying off their low-cost, short-term debts. They are, therefore, choosing a more expensive type of borrowing for the security of knowing they'll have the funds when they need them.

The short-term market, therefore, is in better shape. Money is plentiful, and rates are low. Savings banks have, in fact, been reinvesting much of their new funds in corporate bonds—in the long—term market.

Frustrations appear again, however, in the home mortgage market. Rates have been dropping somewhat and are under 6.40 per cent on a national average. But some analysts feel they might not go much lower for a while.

The housing market has been of great concern to the money men. Throughout this year the administration and the Federal Reserve have shown they are acutely aware that the high cost of mortgage money last year was the chief cause of a depression in the housing industry. And so they pumped in money to bring down rates.

Now that they have met with some success, they find their efforts have been offset to a degree by higher prices for houses. The result: forecasts of a housing boom remain forecasts. The boom has not begun.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

When North opens the bidding with one no trump, South has the ingredients for a direct raise to game. With a five card suit, it is proper to bid three hearts first, in order to offer partner a choice of contracts.

North's decision to raise to four hearts is worthy of note. Altho he lacks an honor in trumps, the possession of three primary controls suggests the superiority of a suit contract. Holding intermediate values, it would be proper to rebid three no trump.

West opened the jack of spades. Declarer won the trick in his hand with the king and led a small heart. West was in, and he continued with the ten of spades. South played the queen and returned another trump. West won with the ace of hearts and led back the deuce of spades.

South chose to play the ace from dummy and East ruffed. There was no way to avoid the loss of a club trick, and the contract went on the rocks.

Had declarer covered the deuce of spades with North's eight, protecting dummy's honor from a ruff, he would have been in position eventually to discard both of his small clubs—one on the third diamond and the other on the ace of spades. That way, he can restrict his loss to three trump tricks.

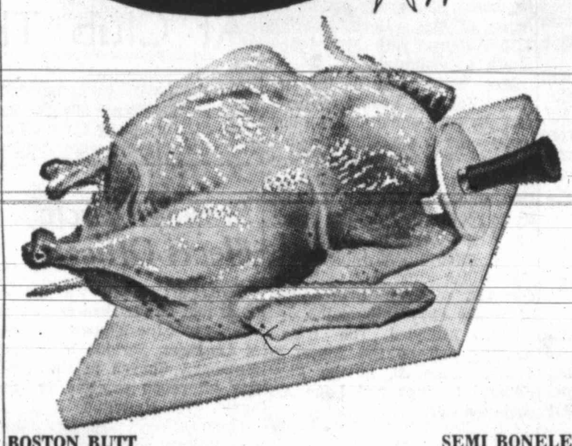

The finesse in spades was, in fact, an indicated play because it assures the success of South's contract regardless of the result. Observe, for example, that even if East wins a trick with the nine of spades, the defense is limited to two heart tricks and one in spades. After the last trump is drawn, South has the necessary discards available in spades and diamonds for his losing clubs.

By finessing the eight of spades, declarer is merely taking out insurance to protect dummy's ace from an adverse ruff.

Rodeo Parade—A Time For Horses And Kiddies

By BECKY STARK

"The horses are coming! The horses are coming!"

And come and come they did as flashing red lights of a police car led the annual rodeo parade past thousands of people stretched along a 20-block parade route.

Despite temperature ranging in the 90's on the last day of spring, cars, store windows, street corners and curbs were filled with children and older folks dressed in all forms of fashion, including Western.

Led by Rodeo Association president Charles Creighton and city, county and WAFB officials, the parade's 400 horses and riders added the Western touch to the day. All the dash and color of the week's activities came to life as various riding clubs attired in reds, whites, blues and golds passed in review.

A first place trophy went to the San Angelo Saddle Club, while the Santa Rosa Palamino Club captured second and Martin County Sheriff's Posse, third.

In the float division, a prize of $50 went to first - place winner Lee's Home Demonstration Club for presentation of an old-fashioned barbecue. Second place money of $30 went to the College Baptist Church for a float typifying a brush arbor camp meeting. Third place and $20 was awarded Reeves Beauty College for a float showing the old and new worlds of hair care.

The Howard County Farm Bureau was awarded honorable mention.

Adding a bit of beauty to the line up were the Sweetwater-Ettes, Miss HCJC and Miss Farm Bureau.

Aside from floats and riding clubs, the sights and sounds of the parade ranged from the roar of the Suez motor patrol cycles to laughter accompanying the hillbilly antics of those decorating a float sponsored by the Mu Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Grins of adventure and mischief covered the faces of children as a gorilla on a motorcycle stopped to shake hands, and a tiger in a cage later passed by. It was a day 'specially made for children, whether they were holding on tight to daddy atop a horse seven times their size or standing on the side wishing rodeo time was once a day instead of once a year.

Park Board Recommends Pool Lease

Members of the Parks and Recreation Board voted Wednesday afternoon to recommend leasing the NE park and pool to the Boys Club of Big Spring for 25 years at a rate of $1 per year. The recommendation will now be presented to the City Commission for action.

Gene L. Lehnen, assistant regional director for Boys Club of America, outlined the goals of the organization to the members and answered questions concerning maintenance and legal technicalities. Bert Andries, local representative, explained that a full time executive director would be employed to direct the activities.

Similar clubs are operating in Midland, Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo, Snyder, Andrews, Lamesa and a number of towns across Texas.

The Board adjourned before taking action on plans for a Municipal Golf Course club house. There were only three members of the board present for the session.

Rain Helps Wash Away Racial Violence Fears

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rainshowers dampened hot, muggy weather and helped wash away fears of racial violence Wednesday night after four nights of disturbances erupted in gunfire leaving one dead and several injured.

As calm returned to the predominantly Negro Dixie Hills section, "black power" advocate Stokely Carmichael faced a hearing today on charges stemming from a brief flareup over the weekend.

Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was arrested on a charge of failing to heed an officer's command to move on. He was freed on bond.

CURFEW CUT

Police officials canceled all leaves and vacations in anticipation of more violence, but no trouble was reported Wednesday night.

A relaxation of Mayor Ivan Allen's curfew order keyed efforts to reduce tension.

At the urging of State Sen. Leroy Johnson and other Negro leaders, Allen reduced the curfew from 12 hours to six — from midnight to 6 a.m. He said it would not hinder persons sitting on porches for relief from the heat or going about their normal business.

In the only reported incident, a policeman found a smoking bottle filled with flammable liquid on top of a supermarket during the afternoon. It was extinguished easily.

Negro leaders and city officials worked feverishly to restore peace.

DEATH DISPUTE

Johnson said about 1,000 persons who live in the area signed a petition aimed at showing the neighborhood did not support the violence.

"We want to let the Atlanta public know that 95 per cent of the people in that area are not supporting the rioting," said Johnson, whose district includes Dixie Hills.

A dispute continued over who fired the shots which killed Willie B. Ross, 46, and critically wounded Reginald Rivers, 9, after a Negro threw a gasoline bomb at officers Tuesday night.

Jessie Hill, a Negro businessman who heads the Atlanta Summit Conference, said the sister of the dead man had assembled 12 eye-witnesses who indicated the shots came from the direction of police.

Police officers denied firing the shots. Lt. W. K. Perry said he had discussed the shooting with several witnesses and got "sharply conflicting accounts."

However, he said a slug removed from the body was the type of buckshot used by police in riot guns.

J. A. Newman, manager of the W. T. Grant store at Fourth and Birdwell, announced company sales for the month ended May 31, 1967, of $73,904,047, up $3,712,388 or 5.29 per cent over May, 1966, sales of $70,191,659.

Calendar year to date sales of $307,195,079 are up $8,880,204 or 2.98 per cent over sales of $298,314,875 for the like period last year.

Irish Airliner Crash Kills Trio

DUBLIN (AP)—An Irish turboprop airliner crashed on a training flight seven miles north of Dublin today, killing the captain and two trainees aboard.

Crime Panel Consultant Calls For Cut In Marijuana Penalties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consultant to the president's crime commission recommended today, to prevent drug abuse, that educational programs about drugs begin in elementary schools.

The consultant, Richard H. Blum of Stanford University, counting everything from coffee and aspirin to heroin, pictured the United States as a nation of drug users.

He also called for vastly increased studies of the effects of such drugs as marijuana and LSD.

RISKS NOT GREAT

The present known risks of using marijuana are not great, he said, and he recommended legislation that would lessen penalties for its use and possession.

Three studies by Blum were contained in a report on narcotics and drug abuse prepared by a task force of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

The report, released Wednesday, is the eighth of nine specialized studies to be published by the commission. All the specialized reports were summarized in the commission's overall report published last February.

DRUG DANGERS

In an accompanying statement, Nicholas Katzenbach, commission chairman, undersecretary of state and a former attorney general, called for expanded efforts to reduce the flow of narcotics into the nation's cities.

Katzenbach also urged increased research and treatment of addiction and broadened education programs — directed particularly at young people — relating to the dangers of drug abuse.

GIANT PROFITS

The report estimates that at least 3,300 pounds of heroin are smuggled into the United States each year. It noted that 22 pounds of opium — the base of heroin — can be purchased on the black market from Turkish farmers for about $350.

The refined opium, when sold as heroin, will bring at least $225,000 in the United States.

The report included much material that was released in the commission's general report last February.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Several key recommendations by the commission include:

— State and federal drug laws should give a large measure of discretion to courts and correctional agencies to enable them to deal flexibly with violators.

— The National Institute of Mental Health should conduct a research program on marijuana and should develop a broad education program to disseminate factual information about drugs.

In a study of dangerous drugs and social policy, Blum said "mind-altering drug use in the United States is nearly universal, most of it by individuals without causing danger to others."

SOCIAL DRUGS

Blum included in his definition of drugs a variety of preparations ranging from aspirin, coffee and tea through tranquilizers, sedatives, stimulants, strong pain killers like morphine, "popular social drugs such as alcohol and tobacco, and illicit but relatively harmless (as presently used) social drugs such as marijuana and peyote," to the problem drugs including opiates and hallucinogens such as LSD.

Blum said studies in the United States show many heroin users had earlier experience with marijuana, but he noted their history "is also likely to include even earlier illicit use of cigarettes and alcohol."

'WEED' BELIEF

Blum said there is much evidence that many persons not in so-called heroin-risk neighborhoods who experiment with marijuana do not progress to hard narcotics.

And he added: "There is no reliable evidence that marijuana causes crime."

Blum said studies of LSD had shown use of the drug appeared concentrated in persons in the 20-35 age group. Until a few years ago its use was limited to an elite group of successful professionals, artists, and communications — industry personnel, their families and friends.

But now, teenagers, motorcycle-club members, delinquents, the urban poor and minority group members also use LSD.

'TRIP' EQUIPMENT

Blum said there was no doubt that LSD use is followed by psychosis, a detachment from reality. He said some of these reactions are temporary and can be treated by certain tranquilizers such as thorazine which "are now sold on the black market as part of the LSD 'trip' equipment."

But more severe reactions require long-term hospitalization.

"Crime associated with hallucinogen use appears to have been minimal," Blum said. "It would appear that insofar as decent citizens take hallucinogens, their behavior will remain lawful.

"We may expect that with the expansion of hallucinogen use to delinquent groups—and perhaps because it is now unlawful in some states so that its use becomes criminal—a greater frequency of crime will be reported." And, Blum added: "It is the person, not the drug, which is reponsible for criminal act."

Voters Nix Road Bonds Third Time

SHERMAN (AP) — A $1,750,000 Grayson County road bond issue met defeat at the polls for a third time Tuesday.

Complete unofficial returns showed voters favored the proposal 4,194 to 4,164 — a margin far short of the required two-thirds majority.

Residents of the county previously voted down the bonds last November and again in May.

County Judge Les Tribble had urged approval, pointing out that Grayson must purchase right-of-way before funds can be allocated by the state for road construction.

Proceeds of the bonds would have helped finance new U. S. 75 west of Denison, completion of US 82 to the Fannin County line and more than a dozen smaller road projects.

Sour Lake State Bank Purchased

BEAUMONT (AP) — Purchase of the Sour Lake State Bank and organization of a corporation by a group of Southeast Texas investors has been announced.

The organization formed is the First Sour Lake Corp. Officers are John E. Gray, First Security National Bank president, president; E. A. Luce, Sour Lake State Bank president, vice president; Paul T. Bullington, First Security senior vice president, secretary; and Harry S. Long, First Security vice president, treasurer.

Downfall Favors Only Front Nine

The J. B. Wetsels, who operate the Municipal golf course here, say they are grateful for small favors.

The spotty rains which fell Wednesday doused the first nine of the layout with up to half an inch of moisture, only to miss the back nine almost completely.

The net result: J. B. had the watering system going this morning on the back nine so that part of the course wouldn't feel left out.

Censorship Czar Claims Movies Reflecting Taste Of Public

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With state and local censorship virtually wiped out by court rulings, responsibility for determining the taste of movie entertainment in the United States rests largely in one man.

He is Liverpool-born Geoffrey Shurlock, 72, who administers the production code for the Motion Picture Association. Between 90 and 95 per cent of the movies seen in American theaters pass through his office. There they are measured for compliance with the industry's self-censorship code.

SEX REALISM

Shurlock, a brisk, smallish man, insists that "I'm just a paid employe, trying to apply the code which the producers have created."

Yet his power is undeniable. Rarely are his decisions disputed or appealed.

With films turning more and more to realism in language and treatment of sex, Shurlock finds his office under continuing fire from industry and public critics.

"I think we are doing a good job of reflecting the taste of the American public," he says. "After all, the people are the final judges. They will generally accept what is reasonable and reject what is in bad taste. We watch very closely the reaction of the public to what appears on the screens.

"After all, what other good judgment is there except the general good sense of the public?"

Shurlock points proudly to the fact that the United States is the only country "in which censoring is entirely in the hands of those who make the films."

SCANDALS IN 20'S

"In all other countries censorship is done to a greater or lesser degree by the government," he said. "Only England comes close to our system, but the government has some control because it subsidizes the film industry. Ours is the only unsubsidized film industry in the world."

Hollywood's self-censorship stemmed from scandals in the 1920s, when moralists assailed the industry and threatened to create censor boards in every state and city. A strict code of morality was created and enforced. Only last year was the code reduced to basic, generalized statements.

14 FILMS TAGGED

That was something Shurlock had been advocating for years. He also had advocated a classification system for age groups, as is done in most other countries. In the past year 14 movies have been passed by the code administration with the label, "suggested for mature audiences."

Shurlock operates in the Producers Association office in the Rexall Drug Building at Beverly and LaCienega boulevards. Before shooting begins, producers submit two copies of their scripts. They are read by two of Shurlock's six-man staff.

FUR FLURRIES

Every morning at 10 the seven industry censors meet to discuss scripts. Letters are sent to the producers with possible suggestions that there might be too much sex or brutality in certain scenes. Each letter carries the notice: "You understand our final opinion must be based on the completed picture."

Shurlock and his assistants are available for consultations with producers over troublesome scenes. Often questionable material will be filmed with the hope that the director's sense of taste will make the material acceptable.

Fur can fly when the final film is presented for approval. Sometimes producers refuse to make suggested cuts. Then they can appeal to the directors of the Producers Association, joined by six theater operators and four independent producers. That is the court of last resort.

Texan New AMA Chief

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) Texan Dr. Milford O. Rouse, who believes the government's role in medicine should be what the individual can't do, not what he won't do," was installed Tuesday as the American Medical Association's 122nd president.

Rouse, son of a Baptist preacher, was born in Jacksonville, Tex., in 1902, grew up in the West Texas town of Vernon and got his degrees from Baylor University.

Rouse will spend the next year traveling throughout the country, emphasizing the role of community servant of each of the nation's 215,000 AMA members.

Rouse says he believes each person has an obligation to serve his community. "I became a physician because that's how God wanted me to serve humanity," he said in an interview.

"Government should do what the individual can't do, not what the individual won't do," he said. He said he is opposed in principle to Medicare but supports it because "it is the law of the land and we physicians are law-abiding citizens."

"I will be on my toes to see that Congress doesn't expand Medicare," the Dallas physician said.

Rouse denies any political affiliation. "Coming from Texas, I used to be a Democrat, but my party left me," he said. "Its philosophy has swung more and more to intervention in personal affairs."

He says his last Democratic vote was in 1932 for Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

He and his wife, the former Laureame McDavid, met at Baylor and were married in 1927, the year he began practicing medicine in Dallas. Rouse is a specialist in gastroenterology.

Active Duty GIs Eligible For Loans

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development says active duty servicemen are eligible for special home financing assistance.

A HUD spokesman said that under the Federal Housing Administration's mortgage insurance program, active duty servicemen may arrange for FHA-insured mortgages up to $30,000.

The FHA mortgage insurance premium is paid by the serviceman's branch of service during his tenure of the mortgage and his active duty status, the spokesman said.

To buy a home under this plan, the serviceman must first obtain a certificate of eligibility from his branch of service—then apply to any FHA-approved lender.

5,000 Mourning Doves Wear Bands

AUSTIN (AP) — More than 5,000 mourning doves have been banded in a state Parks and Wildlife Department research project.

An immediate objective is to have a representative number of Texas doves marked and on the wing by the opening of dove season. Hunters are asked to return bands from doves they shoot.

John, Sharon, Mark and Donna

Family Prepares For Father's Return Home

By RHODA LEMONS

Capt. Glenn A. Phillips will return to his wife, family, and homeland in three more weeks, following a year spent at Osan Air Force Base in Korea.

His wife and four children are anxiously awaiting the date. The children are Donna, 12; Sharon, 11; John, 9; and Mark, 8. Donna is in the seventh grade at Goliad Junior High School; Sharon is a sixth grader; John a fifth grader and Mark is a third grader at Marcy Elementary school.

Although he has been gone a year, Capt. Phillips has remained very much a part of his family's life, and has directed all activities as head of the house from the distant country of Korea. He and Mrs. Phillips correspond daily and discuss all decisions concerning the family. Capt. Phillips sends packages of exotic and interesting presents to the family at least once each month, and the children have adjusted well to his not being home.

SENDS GIFTS

Some of the items he has mailed to them are beautifully embroidered silk pajamas from Japan, robes for the girls and intricate games for the boys. He is searching for karate robes for the boys, and he has sent home inlaid wood boxes with built-in combinations. The boxes have been filled with jewelry and pretties for the girls and their mother.

Once when his younger daughter was doing a project on the Orient in school, Capt. Phillips sent a box filled with items pertaining to the way of life of the Korean and Oriental peoples. There were tiny shoes, dictionaries, necklaces, paper and pencils. He even wrote a theme for her to read before her class telling of the people, their customs and religious beliefs.

When Capt. Phillips returns, the entire family will spend some time together, then he and Mrs. Phillips plan a few days alone. They will use his 30-day leave to attend to business and vacation in California, Washington and Montana. Following his leave, the family will move to Phoenix, Ariz., where Capt. Phillips will be assigned to Luke Air Force Base.

LIVES ON BUDGET

Mrs. Phillips lives on a budget, and plans her menus a week in advance. She emphasizes that most of her recipes are standard and that she rotates them approximately every six weeks. She keeps most menus flexible, so that she can change them often if the family is particularly hungry for some special recipe or if it suits the occasion.

"My husband's favorite dishes are homemade ice cream, iced tea and pie, and I know he can hardly wait to get home to some of them," said Mrs. Phillips. She is planning on his having all three on his return, besides many of his other favorites.

"I realized when my husband left that I must remain active," said Mrs. Phillips, and this is what she has managed to do. She sings in the Protestant Chapel choir and is active in the church. She assisted in the library at Marcy Elementary School by telling stories during the school year, and she participated in the Women's Fitness program at the Young Men's Christian Association three mornings a week. She is an associate member of the Officer's Wives Club, and is now spending her days transporting her children to and from the swimming pool at Webb Air Force Base. She emphasizes that all the children are excellent swimmers, perhaps, emulating their dad who was a competitive swimmer and diver while attending the University of Florida.

Mrs. Phillips sews most of her daughters' clothes and occasionally for herself. She feels that it is more economical and practical for her to buy for herself, and that her children can have more and original clothes if she sews for them. She often uses one basic pattern and makes it do for several different fashions for both girls.

"I have never really felt like he was away," said Mrs. Phillips. "It seems more like an extended temporary duty than anything else." She pointed out that although the entire family has missed his presence, yet he has remained an integral part of their family life.

Mrs. Phillips is a native Texan and was reared in Kemp. Her husband is from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and they met while she attended Baylor University and he was in pilot training at Waco. They were married at the University Chapel on the Baylor campus.

ACTIVITIES

"My husband includes me in most of his activities, other than flying," said Mrs. Phillips. They have season tickets to all the Steer football games, and twin trophies attest to the fact that both are champion bowlers. Capt. Phillips much prefers to photograph animals than hunt them, but he does enjoy fishing which is shared by Mrs. Phillips.

"I am eagerly looking forward to July 5," said Mrs. Phillips. "Everyone and everything in our family is geared toward that date." The following recipes are from a list that Capt. Phillips finds most enjoyable, and Mrs. Phillips already has some of them prepared in the freezer for his return.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

By Mrs. Glenn A. Phillips

FROZEN APPLESAUCE

¼ cup hot cinnamon candies
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 No. 303 can applesauce

Combine water, sugar, and candy in a small saucepan and simmer until candy is dissolved; add applesauce, stir, and pour into ice cube tray. Freeze. Good with ham or fried chicken.

APRICOT UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

2 tbsps. butter
¼ cup brown sugar
1 can whole peeled apricots
¼ cup broken pecans or walnuts
1¼ cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening
½ cup minus 1 tbsp. apricot syrup
½ tsp. grated lemon peel
1 egg

Melt butter in 8x8x2 inch pan. Stir in brown sugar. Remove pits from apricots, spread flat, and place round side down in pan. Toss in nuts. (Add 2 tablespoons apricot syrup if you like a moist cake.) Sift dry ingredients together over softened shortening. Add remaining ingredients. Beat 2 minutes. Pour over apricots. Bake in moderate (375) degree oven 45 minutes. Let stand five minutes; turn upside down.

RED WINE DESSERT

4 pkgs. unflavored gelatin
2 cups water
2 cups sugar
4¼ cups boiling water
6 lemons
4 oranges
2-3 cup red wine (burgundy)
½ pint whipping cream

Make this in a big bowl, and let set in refrigerator for 12 hours.

Soak gelatin with two cups of water for about one hour. Then add two cups sugar in soft gelatin and stir, adding remaining boiling water until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Add juice of five lemons and three oranges. Slice one orange and one lemon and let float. Grate peeling of one lemon into mixture. Add burgundy. Chill. Serve with whipped cream in sherbet dishes—and have a luscious summer dessert for 10 to 15 people.

GRIDDLE CAKES

1¼ cups sifted all purpose flour
2½ tsps. baking powder
3 tbsps. sugar
¾ tsp. salt
1 egg
1 cup sweet milk
3 tbsps. corn oil

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat eggs; add milk. Stir into dry ingredients; mix. Add corn oil. Bake on lightly greased griddle. Serve with favorite syrup or topping.

BARBECUED PORK CHOPS

8 lean pork chops
½ cup catsup
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. celery seed
½ tsp. nutmeg
1-3 cup vinegar
1 cup water
1 bay leaf

Brown chops in hot fat. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over chops. Bake in slow oven (325) degrees for 1½ hours. Turn once during baking.

CHILI PORCUPINE BALLS

2 lbs. ground beef
1 beaten egg
½ cup milk
2-3 cup rice
1 tsp. chili powder
2 tsps. salt
1 can tomato soup
1 soup can water
1 onion, chopped
1 bell pepper, chopped
1 to 2 tbsps. chili powder

Mix meat, egg, milk, rice, salt, and 1 teaspoon chili powder. Form into balls and brown in hot fat. Remove balls, and pour off all but two tablespoons fat. Saute onion and bell pepper. Return balls to pan. Add soup, water, and one to two tablespoons chili powder. Cook slowly one hour.

Tile Designing Results Effective

Tile, once relegated to the kitchen and bathroom but now valued for its interesting effects in living and dining areas, can be used in color combinations for one wall of a room, continuing the color accents of the floor, to add depth to an interior.

Win Praise For Dessert

Homemakers warring against the humdrum kitchen - stove routine can win the battle—and family praise, too—by turning loose their imagination when it comes to preparing the family meals. This is particularly so when it comes to desserts, as in this new Jiffy Cherries and Cream recipe.

In this new parfait recipe, cloud-like sweetened whipped cream and tart cherry pie-filling are gently blended into a delicious combination, then spooned into tall glasses, and frozen until firm. It's as easy as this to make a prize-winning dessert.

The glory of this recipe is in the countless combinations to which it lends itself. For instance, customize whipped cream with canned pineapple, blueberry, strawberry, or peach pie-filling. And, for sour cream fans, there's an interesting cherry combination, too.

Serve each parfait topped with a swirled whipped cream design. Now, add the crowning touch — a piece of fruit, candy or nuts. Made in minutes, this dessert is sure to win the cook a medal.

JIFFY CHERRIES 'N CREAM
(Makes six ½-cup servings)

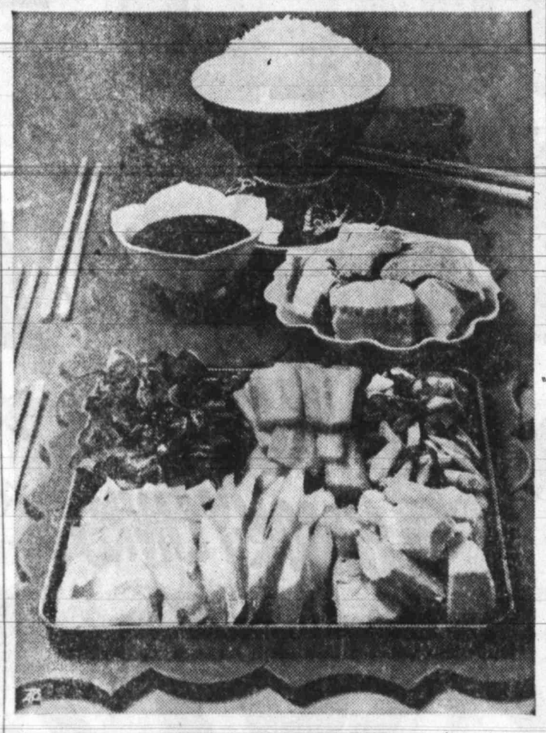

1 cup heavy cream
2 tsps. sugar
2½ cups (1-lb. 5-oz. can) cherry pie-filling

In small electric mixer bowl, beat cream with sugar just until peaks form. Carefully fold in cherry pie-filling until evenly blended. Spoon into six parfait glasses. Place in freezer. Freeze two hours, or until firm. If desired, at serving time garnish top with additional whipped cream.

SOUR CREAM VARIATION
(Makes six ½-cup servings)

1 cup sour cream
1 tbsp. sugar
2½ cups (1-lb. 5-oz. can) cherry pie-filling

In small electric mixing bowl, beat sour cream at high speed for two minutes, or until creamy-smooth throughout. Add sugar; beat one minute longer, or until well blended. Stir in cherry pie-filling; blend well. Spoon mixture into six parfait glasses. Place in freezer. Freeze two hours, or until firm. Remove from freezer ½ hour before serving. Refrigerate until serving time. If desired, top each parfait with whipped cream.

FOR LUNCH OR SUPPER
Combination of tuna and vegetables

For Hot Summer Meals Try Range-Top Lunch

Warm - weather cooks who are on the lookout for main dishes that may be cooked on top of the range may be interested to try this new combination.

Inspired by Japanese cuisine it teams tuna with such a good combination of fresh vegetables as carrot, scallion, celery and spinach. Canned bamboo shoots are added, too, and they help to make the dish interesting.

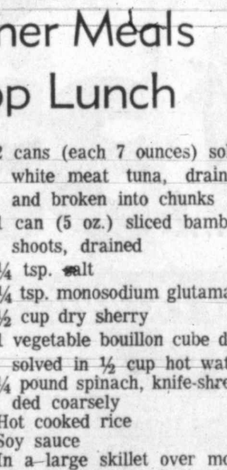

Steamed rice is of course a fine accompaniment for this skillet - style tuna and vegetable combination. And soy sauce should be on the table for those eaters who would like to add this seasoning.

SKILLET-STYLE TUNA AND VEGETABLES

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup thinly sliced carrots (cut in 2 inch lengths)
1 cup diagonally sliced scallions
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
2 cans (each 7 ounces) solid white meat tuna, drained and broken into chunks
1 can (5 oz.) sliced bamboo shoots, drained
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. monosodium glutamate
½ cup dry sherry
1 vegetable bouillon cube dissolved in ½ cup hot water
¼ pound spinach, knife-shredded coarsely
Hot cooked rice
Soy sauce

In a large skillet over moderately low heat, melt the butter; add carrots, scallions and celery; cook until crisp-tender. Add tuna, bamboo shoots, seasonings, sherry and bouillon; simmer, uncovered, for about three minutes; add spinach and simmer, covered, for about two minutes. Serve with hot rice and soy sauce. Makes four servings.

AMERICAN VERSION
Delicious hot or cold

Borrow Potato Pie Recipe From France

It's potato pie from France, and I'll wager you'll never taste better — even if it is an American version of the French original.

If you prefer a two-step way, you can prepare the pastry for the pie one day, then fill and bake it the next. Serve it as a hot main dish (along with a salad) for lunch, or offer it with meat, poultry or fish (plus salad) for a buffet supper or a sit-down-dinner. The pie is also delicious cold — great to carry to a picnic.

FRENCH POTATO PIE

⅛ polybag (2 pounds) frozen small whole potatoes
¼ cup frozen chopped onion
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tsps. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. butter
1 container (½ pint) heavy cream
Special pastry (see recipe)

Let potatoes thaw at room temperature until they can be sliced easily (one to 1½ hours, depending on size). Using a knife with a thin, serrated edge, cut into thin slices and place in a bowl (yields seven cups sliced potatoes). Chop onions even finer — until finely minced. Add onions, parsley, salt and pepper to potatoes; toss to mix well; set aside.

Roll out half of special pastry so it is 1½ inches larger all around than the top of a shallow two quart oblong glass or similar baking dish — 11¾ by 7½ by 1¾ inches. Fit pastry into dish; fill with potato mixture; dot with butter. Trim pastry even with edge of dish. Roll out remaining pastry and place it over potatoes; trim one inch beyond edge of dish; fold under the bottom pastry; flute edge and cut four three inch slits in top.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven one to 1¼ hours or until potatoes are tender when tested with a fork and pastry is lightly browned. Remove from oven. Slowly pour the cream into the slits. Let stand five minutes before serving. Makes eight to 10 servings.

SPECIAL PASTRY

2¼ cups sifted regular flour
1¼ tsps. salt
½ cup shortening
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
4 tbsps. cold water

Sift the flour and salt into a mixing bowl. With a pastry blender, cut in shortening until particles are fine; cut in butter until particles are the size of peas. Sprinkle one tablespoon of the water over part of the mixture. Lightly mix with a fork until flour is absorbed, then push aside; in the same way continue adding remaining water, one tablespoon at a time. Gather together the dough with your hands and shape into a ball. Wrap in saran. Chill. Use as directed in French Potato Pie.

Hot Dogs Have Long Statistics

What will they think of next? It's been determined by Meat Board experts that 190 million people consume hot dogs measuring 1.3 million miles yearly. That is enough mileage to make two roun trips to the moon (955,428 miles) and 14 trips around the earth (350,000 miles).

Science And You

Spectacles For Turtles

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Can you imagine why scientists would be interested in how well a turtle can see? Well, it isn't just idle curiosity. As a matter of fact, the question is quite important because it bears on that mysterious phenomenon—animal navigation.

The Atlantic green turtle has been the subject of some recent studies on turtle vision because it's capable of very long migrations in the open sea. Like other migratory species, it must have some method not yet understood of finding its way home. How do these turtles keep from getting lost?

One popular speculation has been that they use celestial navigation — that is, they guide themselves by the position of the stars. If this were true, one obvious requirement would be that they'd have to be able to see the stars in the first place. But can turtles see stars?

To answer this not-so-simple question, scientists at the University of Florida have adopted methods for making measurements on eyeballs, mostly human eyeballs. They then made measurements on turtle eyes in air and in glass aquariums. The results are disturbing to the people who thought they understood how turtles navigate. It turns out that, once outside their normal watery habitat, the poor turtles have a very tough time seeing anything. Their eyeballs just can't adapt to air. It's obvious from the data now available that their vision is so blurred in air that they have no chance at all of locating stars with any accuracy.

As a matter of fact, these turtles don't even use sharp visual images to find the ocean after they've hatched, or when they want to return from egg-laying. This has been proved by using turtles caught on the shore after nesting. Each of the little fellows was equipped with a pair of glasses. The glasses were designed purposely to blur the images that the turtles could see. Yet the turtles had no problem at all in finding their way back to the ocean.

These results leave scientists with a serious dilemma as to how these animals are apparently able to determine exactly where they are to great accuracy and travel over tremendous distances.

One argument might be, "Well, even if turtles can't see clearly in the air, they might at least be able to see out clearly while under water." Admittedly, this is still a possibility, although it's not a likely explanation. Even if they are able to see under water and see out while under water, this would only work when the water is smooth. Surely there's no possible way for turtles under water to spot the stars accurately if the sea surface is wavy or choppy. And, obviously, waves are the rule rather than the exception in the ocean.

Perhaps we could understand the navigational powers of these turtles by assuming that they rely upon the position of bigger objects like the sun or the moon, but even this is very marginal. All one can say for certain at the present time is that by putting spectacles on turtles and making other kinds of measurements that you yourself have gone through if you wear glasses, scientists have just deepened the mystery of how turtles migrate and navigate.

Someday, however, we shall understand the processes they are using and, when we do, we may have something quite important to human beings as well.

Tire Workers Set Up Picket Lines In Waco

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — With four of the big five rubber companies struck by 55,100 workers, negotiators were getting together today at Pittsburgh in an effort to end the walkout.

United Rubber Workers here and in Waco, Tex., struck the General Tire & Rubber Co. at midnight Wednesday in the latest walkout. Picket lines were set up. The URW has more than 1,900 members in Akron and 1,200 in Waco.

DAY-TO-DAY BASIS

These workers joined 52,000 URW members already on strike since midnight April 20 against the B.F. Goodrich Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and Uniroyal, Inc.

The fifth big firm, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. with 21,250 employes, is operating on a day-to-day basis. The Goodyear contract also expired April 20.

An agreement with General, which also operated on a day-to-day basis, expired May 15.

Telegrams were sent from Washington Tuesday to company and union representatives. William Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, asked for a meeting at Pittsburgh's Penn-Shearaton Hotel.

HIKE REJECTED

The last major rubber strike, against Firestone in 1959, lasted 58 days. The present walkout entered its 63rd day today.

A URW spokesman said this was the first time Washington has intervened to get both sides together.

Rubber workers earn $3.30 to $3.60 per hour and union negotiators rejected an offer they said amounted to hourly increases of 38 cents for tire plant employes over three years.

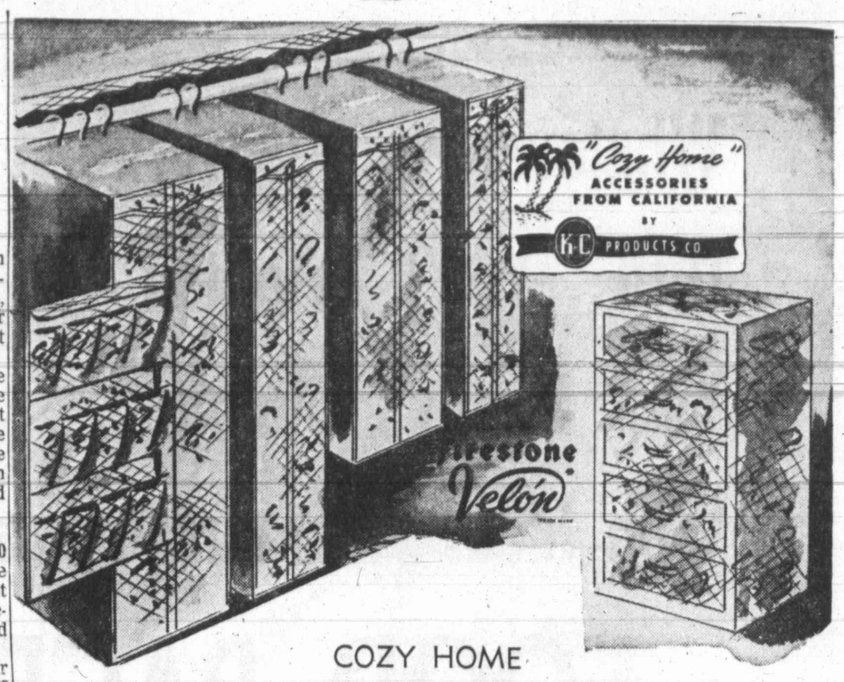

Ex-Convict Guilty Of Witness Threat

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal court jury has convicted former convict James Timothy Overton Wednesday of threatening a government witness in a bank burglary case involving Overton's brother.

The jury acquitted Overton's wife, Sue, of the same charge. Both were acquitted of a companion charge of conspiracy to threaten the witness.

Overton and his wife, both 27, were charged with threatening Richard Hinton, government witness at the trial in May of three men charged with the burglary of the First State Bank of Jarrell last Oct. 12.

Convicted were Louis Dell Branton, Travis Erwin and Charles Ray Overton.

Christmas Gift?

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Fritz Burns wants to give away 100 white reindeer.

He said his herd has been used in Christmas parades, but has grown too large.

Rep. Ed Reinecke, R-Calif., investigated and said today there appears to be no space in a national park for so many reindeer.

The congressman said Burns will give them to any zoo or park that will pay the transportation costs from Los Angeles.

Club Hears Of Mercy Project

Lt. Col. Jack F. Bailey, commander of the 4760th Combat Crew Training Squadron at Webb AFB, described a mission of mercy to orphaned children.

With the help of films he had taken while on his second tour of duty in Vietnam, Col. Bailey told the Downtown Lions at their Wednesday meeting in the Settles, how the Tu Duc orphanage had been set up near Saigon as an answer to prayers for a "miracle."

Today he has high hopes that another mission of mercy can be established to reach the other way around the world and help the Jordanian refugees. His squadron here is composed of Jordanian trainees, and most of them have families back in the homeland.

Inducted as new members were Aubrey Bryans and Bob Boland, and President L. T. King announced new officers would be installed at the meeting June 28. Attending the Lions International 50th anniversary convention in Chicago July 5-8 will be Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Melear, and Ludwig Grau.

Censure Debate Slows Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prolonged debate over a resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd has put an already slow-moving Senate even further behind on normal business.

But if the Senate leadership is concerned, it's not showing it. Still scheduled is a 10-day July 4th recess to begin a week from today.

Appropriations, civil rights, antipoverty, foreign aid and labor bills are among many caught in the midsession logjam.

A ban on committee meetings while the Dodd case was being considered has halted, with few exceptions, the flow of bills through hearings, subcommittee consideration, full committee deliberations and then to the floor.

Jaycees Witness Training Film

Jaycees, in their Monday meeting, saw a "Year of 53 Weeks," a film telling the story of a jet pilot in training. Capt. Ronald V. Holder of Webb AFB projected the film.

Next week Mrs. Neil Norred, representing the American Cancer Society, will have an educational film on cancer.

Cat Hobo Seeks Home In Texas

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP)—A cat hopped a freight on the Pacific Coast and got more than halfway across the country before he was discovered.

Workers at West Plains found him this week in a Frisco Railroad car that had been locked since the train left California.

Mrs. J. E. Hard now is looking for a permanent home for the grey and white hobo that she bathed and fed.

Death Takes Author

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — C.U. Faye, educator, author and missionary, died Tuesday at the age of 81.

Black Eye Patches Mailed Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Moshe Dayan look is hitting Congress.

Black eye patches like those worn by the Israeli defense minister and director of the lightning-fast military victory over the Arabs are coming to congressmen in the mail.

Some recipients figure the "Win in Vietnam" card enclosed with each eye patch is a broad suggestion for the United States to employ Dayan's brisk offensive tactics in Vietnam.
