Three Red Missile Sites Battered By US Planes

SAM Pads Near Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Dodging heavy missile and conventional antiaircraft fire, U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit three surface-to-air missile sites Sunday about 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

The pilots reported they left one site in ruins and knocked the other two out of action.

One Navy plane was shot down and the pilot was listed as missing.

Pilots reported they counted 17 missiles fired at them during the attack.

They said they observed hits on launchers and vehicles in the target areas of all three installations.

A highway bridge in the midst of the missile installations was destroyed during the coordinated Navy-Air Force strikes, the spokesman said.

The attacks on the missile sites were ordered after missiles were fired at planes from the carriers Oriskany and Independence during an attack on the key highway bridge. It was in the center of the missile installations.

A flight of Navy planes led by Cmdr. Harry T. Jenkins, 38, of Washington, D.C., dumped four tons of 500-pound bombs on one missile site, the spokesman said.

No missiles were launched from the site after the final run on the target, pilots reported.

At almost the same time, Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs led by a Navy A4 Skyhawk were bombing the two other installations nearby. The Navy plane flying with the Air Force craft was hit during the raid by conventional ground fire.

Capt. Robert L. Harris, 34, of Longview, Tex., leader of one of the Air Force flights, reported sighting a parachute from the Navy plane. The pilot was listed as missing.

The action over the missile area was the heaviest so far disclosed in the air war against North Viet Nam.

The Air Force planes dropped 19 tons of 500- and 750-pound bombs and fired thousands of rounds of 20mm cannon fire on the two installations they hit, the spokesman said.

While the missile installations still were under attack, pilots from the Oriskany completed their bombing runs on the bridge. Then a second flight of Navy planes that also hit the bridge.

In all, 21 tons of bombs were dropped on the bridge, "leaving it in a cloud of smoke and dust," the spokesman said.

Red Party's Trial Begins

By JOSEPH A. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist party's second trial in three years on charges of failing to register as a Soviet agent limped off to a slow start today.

Judge William B. Jones asked opposing attorneys to fill him in on its historical background. Then he postponed selection of jury until this afternoon because, "I'm going to have to do a little reading before I'm ready."

Jones, 58, who was appointed to the U.S. District Court in 1962, was assigned to the case as the government sought a repeat of the party's conviction on similar charges in December 1962.

Although that verdict brought a $120,000 fine, it was later overturned by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Gus Hall, a veteran spokesman for the U.S Communist party, was in the front row as proceedings began.

This time the Justice Department hopes to avert the legal loophole that spelled defeat after apparent victory in its 15-year battle with the party.

The 12-count indictment returned by a grand jury last February charges the party not only with failure to register but with doing so in the full knowledge that a volunteer was available and willing to register on behalf of the party.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, in striking down the 1962 conviction one year later, ruled that the government had had the burden of proving such a volunteer — unconcerned about possible self-incrimination — was available to sign the registration form and statement for the party.

Thus the highlight of the trial scheduled to open today in U.S. District Court is expected to be the testimony of the witness — or witnesses — the government claims the party could have called on.

His — or their — identity is a closely held secret between Asst. U.S. Atty. Joseph Lowther, who will prosecute the case, and the Justice Department's Internal Security Division.

John J. Abt of New York and Joseph Forer of Washington, are the party's attorneys in this trial.

The present indictment specifically charges the party with wilfully failing to register, as required by the Internal Security Act of 1950, on each of 11 days from Feb. 13 to Feb. 23 of this year. Each day constitutes a separate offense that carries a maximum penalty of $10,000.

The 12th count of the indictment — like that in the 1962 case — asserts that the party failed to file the required statement of members' names, aliases and addresses, along with a list of printing presses and reproduction equipment controlled by the party, as well as a detailed financial accounting.

Little Change From Weak Cold Front

By The Associated Press

A weak cold front pushed into Texas over the weekend but it was posing no threat Monday to the fair and mild weather that has been prevailing over the state.

Early Monday, the front which had become stationary, was on a line from Texarkana to Fort Worth and south of Lubbock.

Pre-dawn minimum temperatures ranged from 34 degrees at Dalhart to 63 at Galveston.

Story Pushes Klan Leader To Suicide

READING, Pa. (AP) — Daniel Burros, New York Ku Klux Klan leader, shot himself to death minutes after learning his Jewish origin had been made public, a fellow Klansman told police.

Burros, 28, died of two bullet wounds Sunday shortly after he had read a New York Times story detailing his long-hidden background.

The shooting was in the apartment of Roy E. Frankhouser Jr., 25, who has been named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as grand dragon of the Pennsylvania Ku Klux Klan.

Frankhouser told police that Burros, after reading the Times story, said he had to go to New York to "wipe out" the Times reporter who had disclosed his secret and said he also would "wipe out" the newspaper staff.

Burros, whose death was listed by police as apparently suicide, had been identified at hearings of the House committee as New York State grand dragon of the Klan.

Detective Capt. Joseph Confora of the Reading police said Burros shot himself "as an aftermath" of the article published in the New York Times.

The article reported that Burros, who had been chosen king kleagle to lead an anti-Jewish, anti-Negro crusade by the United Klans of America in New York, had a secret that he desperately did not want known.

The secret was that his parents are Jewish and were married in a Jewish ceremony, and that he had received a bar mitzvah, or confirmation, in a small synagogue in the Queens section of New York City when he was 13.

Probers Get Same Dodge To Quizzes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A South Carolina man said to be the manufacturer of the robes of the Ku Klux Klan refused to answer any questions about his activities today.

He was identified by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as Young M. Newton. He was said to be a partner with G.E. Blizzard in the Heritage Garment Works, Columbia, S.C.

The committee directed Newton to produce all orders and contracts of the Heritage Garment Works for robes for Klansmen and their officers, and also orders for "blood drop insignia."

Chief investigator Donald T. Appell said Newton was 50 years old and worked for the International Pipe and Ceramic Co. of Columbia.

Newton's appearance opened the third week of the committee's investigation of the Klan with attention expected to be concenrated on Georgia and the spotlight to shift from bank records to violence.

A U.S. military spokesman said that 56 Viet Cong—many of them teenagers—were killed in the hand-to-hand fighting. The attack by an estimated 300 to 400 guerrillas was the second against marines in the Da Nang area in two days. Casualties among the 300-man American force were described as moderate. More Cubans Take To Sea

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Scores of Cuban refugees, many of them seasick and dripping wet, arrived today and some charged that Cuban authorities had forced them to sail the treacherous waters of the Florida Straits.

They were the first to cross the 90-mile stretch of water between the United States and Cuba since the start of a storm Saturday morning.

One refugee boat sank 10 miles out of Cuba, its captain said, and he charged that Cuban officials "shoved us off into 25 knot winds and waves up to 15 feet."

Jorge Cano of Belle Grade, Fla., skipper of the Smarty, added, "They are in a hurry to get all the boats out of Camarioca now that the airlift is about to start."

Conclusion of an agreement for a U.S. - Cuban airlift of refugees was awaited. It would supplant the 25-day old do-it-yourself sea shuttle which had a known toll of five missing and one drowned.

Cano, another crewman and six refugees who had set out from Camarioca, the Cuban exit port, were brought to Key West aboard a Coast Guard cutter.

The Little Mike, another boat, brought 77 additional refugees and the Lemon Drop arrived with 27.

Most of the new refugees are taken to Miami and transported to other U.S. cities.

The Cuban Refugee Center in Miami reported this breakdown of the 1,308 arrivals to register for aid:

Clerical and sales personnel, 22 per cent; semiskilled workers, 19; skilled, 15.3; professional and semiprofessional, 8.5; service trades, 7; agriculture and fishing, 4; students, housewives and children, 25.

The center said exiles in the United States have completed questionnaires asking for the exit from Cuba of 127,638 relatives. Of these, 44,583 were claimed by exiles in Miami and the others by exiles elsewhere in the United States.

Red Threat Said Serious

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Military commander in central Java said today that terrorism by young Communists is becoming "increasingly serious" around Surakarta. He called on his troops to destroy them.

The official news agency Antara said Brig. Gen. Surjo Sumpeno was addressing two battalions of infantry who apparently had been pulled back from Malaysian border areas to join other troops chasing communist rebels in tense central Java.

It was the second indication within 24 hours that the army was encountering difficulties in its crackdown on the Communists since the abortive Oct. 1 coup. The army blames the Communists for the short-lived revolt.

Martial law was proclaimed last Tuesday in central Java.

Wilson Optimistic About Rhodesia

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson says he believes a Rhodesian settlement is possible. But the colony's two leading Africans have rejected plans for a royal commission to work out a settlement.

Wilson returned Sunday night from talks in Rhodesia to report to Parliament on the agreement he reached with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith to set up a three-man royal commission that will seek a formula for conditions under which the central African colony could be granted independence.

The British leader said the agreement has provided time for careful thought.

"We can, given the time, get a settlement," he added.

British newspaper commentators agreed that Wilson's mission had bought time for more negotiations. But they generally did not consider as bright the prospects for an acceptable settlement.

Wilson went to Rhodesia after the colony's ruling white minority threatened to declare independence without yielding to British demands for guarantees promising eventual rule to the colony's 4 million Africans. The white population numbers about 255,000.

The leader of one of Rhodesia's two African nationalist parties, Joshua Nkomo, said in a statement that Britain was evading its responsibilities in proposing the royal commission. He termed it "a time-wasting device."

The leader of the other nationalist party, the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, issued a statement "unreservedly rejecting the idea of a commission."

Both the rival nationalist leaders agreed to Wilson's proposal that the Rhodesian people as a whole should be asked if they want independence based on the existing 1961 constitution. In separate statements they insisted this be done by a one-man one-vote referendum.

Wilson and Smith have not yet agreed on the ground rules for the commission nor on ways to change the 1961 constitution to make it acceptable to both sides.

New Plan May Still Save Last 6 Reserve Divisions

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last six Army Reserve divisions — tabbed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for elimination — may be saved after all.

It was learned today that Army planners are leaning toward a proposal that would preserve division structures and identities, although the outfits would be smaller than they are now and their members would drill without pay.

Such a solution might satisfy congressional critics of McNamara's plans to streamline the Army's National Guard and Reserve forces, although reservist groups still might object.

On Oct. 22, the Senate Armed Services Committee adopted a resolution formally calling on McNamara to postpone the elimination of 751 Army Reserve units until Congress can take a long look at the plan next year.

Asked what the Pentagon has done in response to this Senate action, the Defense Department said the resolution "is presently under consideration." Sources said orders to set in motion the elimination of the affected units have not gone out.

"The six divisions account for about 500 of the 751 units which McNamara said on Sept. 30 are not required and would be "phased out as soon as possible."

Of the 55,000 reservists effected by McNamara's action at that time, about 42,000 are enrolled in the six divisions and their component elements.

The six are:

The 63rd Infantry Division of California, the 77th Infantry Division of New York, the 90th Infantry Division of Texas, the 83rd Infantry Division of Ohio and West Virginia, the 102nd Infantry Division of Missouri and Illinois, and the 81st Infantry Division of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

President Seeks Amendment On Electoral College

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has passed the word he wants Congress to act next session on a proposed constitutional amendment aimed at tightening up the Electoral College system.

Despite the failure of more than 100 previous attempts on Capitol Hill to change the method by which presidents and vice presidents are elected, Johnson was said to feel that the Congress now may be in the mood to act.

Johnson proposed last January that the Constitution be amended to abolish the Electoral College as such and to permit state officials to transmit to Congress the number of electoral votes cast for the presidential and vice-presidential candidates receiving the highest popular vote in their state.

This would close a loophole under which electors have the legal right to vote for some individual other than the winner of the popular vote majority in his state.

In 1956 an Alabama elector refused to vote for Adlai E. Stevenson and cast his ballot for Walter S. Jones. In 1960 Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., got the electoral vote of an Oklahoma Republican, plus eight unpledged Mississippi and six unpledged Alabama Democrats.

Johnson has made it clear he is opposed to splitting a state's electoral vote between major candidates in proportion to their popular vote. He said in a message earlier this year that the present arrangement giving all of the electoral votes of a state to the popular vote winner "supports the two-party system which has served our nation well."

The administration-supported amendment also would change the method of electing a president and vice president if no candidate got a majority of the electoral votes. As the Constitution stands, the House elects the president in such cases, with each state casting one vote. The Senate elects the vice president, with senators voting individually.

Under the new proposal, if no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes, the Senate and House would meet in joint session to elect a president, and vice president by individual vote of members from among the three with the highest electoral votes.

The amendment also would provide that if the president-elect died between Electon Day and inaugural, the vice president-elect would be entitled to be elected president.

Police Log Two Mishaps

City Police investigated two motor vehicle accidents over the weekend.

The first one occurred at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at Thirty-seventh and Avenue S. Involved were cars of Carlos Myarez, 418 Twenty-fourth Street, and Victor Ruiz, Box 221. Damage to the Ruiz car was negligible, according to officers, who estimated damage to the other vehicle at $75.

The second mishap occurred at 3:35 p.m. Sunday at Twenty-fifth and El Paso. Involved were cars of Wiley Culberson Bullard, Almogordo, N.M., and Lloyd Clinton Gorden, Box 607. Damage to the Bullard car, a 1959 Model Ford, was estimated at $250. Damage to the other vehicle, a 1963 Model Dodge Stationwagon, was set at $100. Investigating officers stated both vehicles were traveling west on Twenty-fifth at the time of the accident. The Gorden vehicle was stopped at the moment of impact, according to police.

Heavyweight Bout Slated

TORONTO (AP) — When towering Ernie Terrell and rugged George Chuvalo meet tonight in 15 rounds or less they undoubtedly will be thinking of more than Terrell's World Boxing Association heavyweight title, which will be at stake.

They will be thinking of being not just WBA champion but of being champion of all the world.

There is an excellent possibility that the winner of tonight's fight will meet the victor of the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson bout Nov. 22 at Los Vegas, Nev.

Clay is recognized by almost everyone as champion except the WBA, which stripped him of his crown for signing a return bout clause with Sonny Liston before their first meeting last year.

This will be Terrell's first defense of the championship he won in his hometown of Chicago with a decision over Eddie Machen earlier this year.

Cottonseed Production To Reach Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — World production of cottonseed in the current marketing year is expected by U.S. government forecasters to equal the 25.2 million short tons record set in 1964.

United States' production for the period is estimated at 6.25 million tons, about the same as last year's output but one-sixth above the 1955-59 average. Higher average yields per acre are expected to offset a 3 per cent reduction in area planted in cotton.

New Orleans Stages Welcome For Satchmo

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong received a tumultuous welcome as he arrived in New Orleans, the city of his birth.

He was in town Sunday to play a benefit for the New Orleans Jazz Museum.

At the museum, Armstrong reached for the first horn he ever blew and hugged Peter Davis, his first music teacher. Armstrong said he considers his hometown the mother of jazz.

Boosters Of Red China Undecided

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The leading boosters of Red China for U.N. membership are reported split over what to propose to the General Assembly.

Diplomatic sources said the division had developed among the 11 delegations that got the 117-nation assembly to agree to debate an item calling for "restoration of the lawful rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

They said Cambodia suggested a resolution proposing to seat Communist China on all U.N. bodies without expelling Nationalist China.

Albania, Red China's chief ally in its feud with the Soviet Union, urged that the resolution call for expulsion of the Chinese Nationalists in favor of the Communists and meet some of Communist China's other conditions for joining the United Nations.

Among the conditions stated by Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chen Yi Sept. 29 were:

—Withdrawal of the 1951 U.N. resolution condemning Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

—U.N. condemnation of the United States on that score.

—Expulsion from the United Nations of "imperialist-puppet" countries.

The informants said Cambodia's proposal met with reserve and Albania's with opposition from those of the other nine nations to whom they were presented.

The others are Algeria, Burundi, the Congo (Brazzaville), Cuba, Ghana, Guinea, Mali, Romania and Syria.

A resolution to seat the Chinese Communists while letting the Nationalists remain would probably get more votes than one that would throw the Nationalists out.

The debate is expected to commence late this week or early next week.

Big Gamble Rides With Experiment

By JOHN R. STARR

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —On an isolated hillside 17 miles from this college town government and private industry are engaging in a $25 million gamble.

The money is being wagered on a belief that cheaper methods of creating electrical energy can be found in nuclear science.

The payoff could be astronomical.

A reduction of one mill—one tenth of a cent—in the cost of producing a kilowatt of electricity would save the United States consumer an estimated $1 billion a year.

Promoters of the Southwest Experimental Fast Oxide Reactor (SEFOR), now rising in a bowl-shaped Ozark Mountain valley hope to cut the cost by several mills per kilowatt.

Involved are the United States government, through the Atomic Energy Commission; 17 investor-owned power companies which operate in seven states; the General Electric Co., and the seven nations of the European Atomic Energy Community (EURATOM).

The AEC is putting up $12.7 million, more than half of the total cost, to finance research phases of the project. The other participants will pay construction and operating costs.

Silverless Quarters Being Circulated

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—The first silverless quarters go into circulation today.

Their use originally hadn't been expected until next month, but President Johnson said mint production has been faster than anticipated.

Silverless quarters and dimes were authorized by Congress this year because of a diminishing supply of the metal and the resulting increase in its price.

Silverless dimes are cheduled to be issued in January.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Awhile back, someone wrote in asking you which was worse, a married woman going with a single man, or a single woman going with a married man. You replied, "One goat doesn't care if another goat smells," or words to that effect.

Abby, that might have been a good answer, but the belief that goats smell bad has done an awful lot of damage to us folks in the goats' milk business. I admit, the buck does smell pretty bad, but the doe is as odorless and clean as any other farm animal. Other rumors about goats, such as goats will eat anything, including tin cans, garbage, etc., have given goats a bad name.

Goats' milk is recommended by many doctors for ulcer patients, but some people refuse to touch it because they think goats are dirty animals. I hope you print this in defense of goats.

"IN THE GOAT BUSINESS"

DEAR "IN": I never thought I'd be defending old goats, or young ones, but here I am! I, too, was guilty of harboring all the prejudices you mentioned about goats. Forgive me. I didn't realize, I was butting into your business.

THE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: When the train comes through, she should get on it!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have two teen-aged daughters. One has started college this fall, which brings up something we'd like your opinion on.

Do you think parents OWE their children a college education? We believe that parents should "lend" their children the money for college, with the understanding that it will be paid back as soon as possible.

Our daughters contend that educating children is the parents' responsibility, and should be anticipated by them through a program of saving as soon as the child is born. We welcome your comments and those of your readers.

C.J.P.

DEAR C. J. P.: Some parents could not, if they wanted to, provide for extensive college educations for all their children. (Medicine, law and other fields require 7 to 15 years of college.) Other parents can well afford to educate their children and do so willingly without strain. However, I go along with your daughters. Educating children, along with feeding and clothing them, should be the parents' responsibility if circumstances permit. However, many students have managed to continue their educations beyond high school with no help from home.

Mishaps Logged On Area Rural Roads

Highway patrolmen investigated two traffic mishaps early today on rural roads, but neither resulted in personal injuries.

Patrolmen here answered a call at 7:15 a.m. to a two-vehicle mishap 31.6 miles southwest of Snyder on FM 1205 in Borden County. A 1965 International tractor and semi-trailer driven by Thomas Dewayne Lynch of Big Spring was in a collision with a 1963 GMC pickup truck driven by Harlan Dale Farris of Odessa. Damage to the pickup was estimated at $850 to $900 and damage to the larger truck was estimated at about $30.

At 8:45 a.m. a one-car mishap was investigated 1.2 miles east of Dunn on an unpaved road. A 1956 Plymouth driven by Domingo De La Paz overturned.

Halloween Is Marred By Tragedy

By The Associated Press

There was the usual boisterous fun as Halloween was observed across the nation over the weekend, but the trick-or-treat season had some overtones of tragedy.

With the date falling on the Sabbath, communities observed the occasion on either Saturday or Sunday night — or both.

At Las Cruces, N.M., a woman called police and said bombs were being planted on her front lawn. Authorities found big glass globes in nets — ornaments used by Chinese restaurants or in Hawaiian settings.

At Saranac Lake, N.Y., motorists had free weekend parking as a result of pranks last year, when many meters were sprayed with shaving cream and had to be repaired. This year police removed the meters.

In Nashville, Tenn., a group of Boy Scouts set up a "goblin shop" in the living room of a home. One lad lay down in a homemade crypt with a blanket around his body and head, with only his face showing.

Three other boys stationed themselves around the dimly lit room.

Trick or treaters stumbled over a body or two, saw the youth rise slowly from the crypt, and frantically fled from the home.

The dark side:

Near Washington Court House, Ohio, vandals burned down a 200-foot wooden covered bridge —one of the few such bridges left in the state.

At Bloomfield, Conn., a pumpkin thrown from a car shattered the windshield of Patricia Haley's car as she was driving along a street. She was hospitalized for removal of glass fragments from her face.

Philadelphia, Pa., police sent loudspeaker cars cruising through north Philadelpia warning residents of potentially dangerous medicinal capsules which were given trick or treating children.

Authorities said they had recovered all the capsules. They said six capsules could kill a youngster. Source of the pills was traced to a retarded child who had mixed the medicine in with candies.

Two Chicago girls went out Sunday night to seek "Halloween thrills."

The girls decided to stand on elevated railroad tracks. A speeding passenger train came along. One girl jumped to safety but Patricia Gilliam, 15, was struck and killed.

Federated Women's Clubs 1966 Art Competition

An art talent contest for high school seniors will again be sponsored by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs with the state winner competing for one of three national scholarships offered by Hallmark Cards. Mrs. Camp Ezell, state art chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, announced today.

Mrs. Ezell said students throughout the state are eligible to enter. Students should make every effort to enter the contest through an affiliated club in their hometowns, or school districts by contacting a high school art teacher, or the art chairman of a local federated women's club. If this is impossible, entries will be accepted by state officials.

Entry blanks and other information may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Camp Ezell, Box 366, Beeville, Texas.

Only senior high, academy, and private school students who will graduate in 1966 are eligible to enter, Mrs. Ezell said. A jury of art teachers, museum directors, and art critics will select a winning painting for the state to submit to the national competition.

First, second, and third place winners in the national contest will receive $1,000, $750, and $600 scholarships from Hallmark Cards the Kansas City, Missouri greeting card publisher. Four alternate winners will also be selected. In the event any of the top three winners cannot take advantage of their scholarships, the alternates in turn become eligible. The scholarships are for tuition and fees at an accredited art school or university selected by the winning student.

The 1965 winners were Miss Karen Batchellor, 17, Miami, Florida; Pamela Smith, 17, Portland, Maine; and Alan Peters, 18, Cleveland, Ohio. The General Federation of women's clubs has sponsored the contest and Hallmark has awarded the winning scholarships since 1953. The National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed the competition on its approved list for 1965-1966.

Sewing Meeting Held Here

"Sewing with your Sewing Machine", was the title of the program given by Miss Ruby Butts, Scurry County Home Demonstration agent, for a group of women meeting in Lincoln School Tuesday night.

The adjustment of the tension of the thread is one of the most important things in sewing well, and is one of the things that many women who sew, know least about, Miss Butts told the group. She showed some tests for good tension and how to know when your tension is right.

The group discussed things they would like to study in future meetings. It was decided to have food and nutrition lessons first and later to have a clothing workshop, at which each member will make a garment.

Those present for the meeting were: Mrs. Frinora Thompson, Mrs. Annie Brazil, Mrs. Bessie Newsome, Mrs. Vernest Tippens, Mrs. Linda Turner, Mrs. Vera Mae High, Miss Mozell Brazil, Mrs. Mary Helen Brandon, Mrs. Golda Adams, and Mrs. Frances Jones.

The group will meet again tonight, Nov. 1, in the Lincoln School, then every two weeks on Monday. Any interested homemaker is most cordially invited to attend the meetings.

Untiring Enthusiasm Among President's Political Assets

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the keys to Lyndon B. Johnson's presidency, besides his energy, is his attention to details about government and people.

While a president's concern and help for an individual may not influence him, it certainly won't antagonize him, and this, by itself, is no mean political benefit.

Johnson has so much energy, probably more than any president except perhaps Theodore Roosevelt, that he recently disclosed he has been taking relaxing tranquilizers ever since his heart attack in 1955.

He recently said something else which fits in handily with his job: "In 56 of my 57 years, I probably haven't gone to sleep before 1 a.m. any morning. I seldom sleep past daylight."

For his nighttime reading when he goes to his bedroom the President always has four or five big envelopes with memoranda and cables from the State and Defense departments and the Central Intelligence Agency, plus information from his economic advisers on government spending and the national economy.

In addition, there are recommendations from his staff for action on problems that need decisions, with summaries and background, and down in the right-hand corner the words "yes" and "no" for him to mark.

If he is not satisfied he scribbles, "See me," or writes specific suggstions. On aid figures this kind of reading comes to 100,000 to 150,000 words a week. What he doesn't finish at night, Johnson can finish in the morning before he gets up. He goes to his office about 10 a.m.

Before then he has been telephoning from his bedroom or conferring with members of his staff or government officials. Every morning his aides present him with daily schedules and discuss them with him.

About 10 feet from his White House desk, enclosed in wooden boxes to deaden the sound, are the endlessly clacking machines of the news services. In this way Johnson keeps on top of the news, either by walking over to read the stories on the machines or having his aides tear them off for him.

A tornado in Kansas? He can call the Office of Emergency Planning perhaps before that agency heard of the tornado. A labor dispute shaping up? He can call the Labor Department for more information or action.

All this, of course, is in addition to the continuous conferences with his Cabinet, his experts, other people inside and outside government, White House dinners and receptions, swearing-in ceremonies, bill signings, and meetings with the press, and visitors.

His relations with Congress already are a legend: his telephone calls to members of both houses, his Tuesday morning breakfasts with the Democratic leaders while Congress is in session, the work done by the staff headed by Lawrence O'Brien whom Johnson has rewarded by making him postmaster general — he still hasn't taken over his new post.

Johnson has been accused of arm-twisting members of Congress to get support on his legislation, but no one has suggested anything sinister about it, and arm-twisting can take many forms.

Just a simple telephone call from a president, asking help on a bill, may be enough to persuade a senator or representative. But a phone call from a president to one who has received special consideration or help from him in the past in one form or another is a potent instrument.

Over his many years in Washington Johnson has done favors for many members of Congress. For example, seeing to it while he was Democratic Senate leader that a senator got appointed to a committee he particularly cherished.

When New Orleans this year suffered its worst hurricane disaster, two members of Congress from Louisiana appealed to the President for help. Within four hours, Johnson had the entire Louisiana delegation flying back home, and went along with them, together with government disaster officials.

Johnson was in Congress 27 years. He remembered well the once-a-year mob scenes when the president, whoever it happened to be, had a White House reception for all members of Congress and their wives. They saw little of the White House.

Columnist Reads His Mail Again

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Most people can't stay still even while sleeping: The average person changes his posture from 40 to 60 times during his 8-hour daily period of sleep.

Americans spend more than a billion dollars a month eating away from home. Only about three per cent use a credit card.

In ancient Rome the patients of most female physicians were slaves.

We spend only about 25 minutes a day each in articulated speech. The rest of the time we staisfy our needs for communicating with the other fellow by waving, grimacing, grunting, smiling, frowning, shrugging or writing memos.

Quotable notables: "Always the path of American destiny has been into the unknown. Always there arose enough of reserves of strength, balance of sanity, portions of wisdom to carry the nation through to a fresh start with ever-renewing vitality." — Carl Sandburg.

Full moon is the time of the highest tides. Then the sun, moon and earth are in a straight line.

Safety fact: Surveys have found that drinking drivers are involved in more than 55 per cent of highway fatalities. The most dangerous one you can have is "the one for the road."

Bowling is one of the world's oldest sports. It has been traced back to 5,200 B.C.

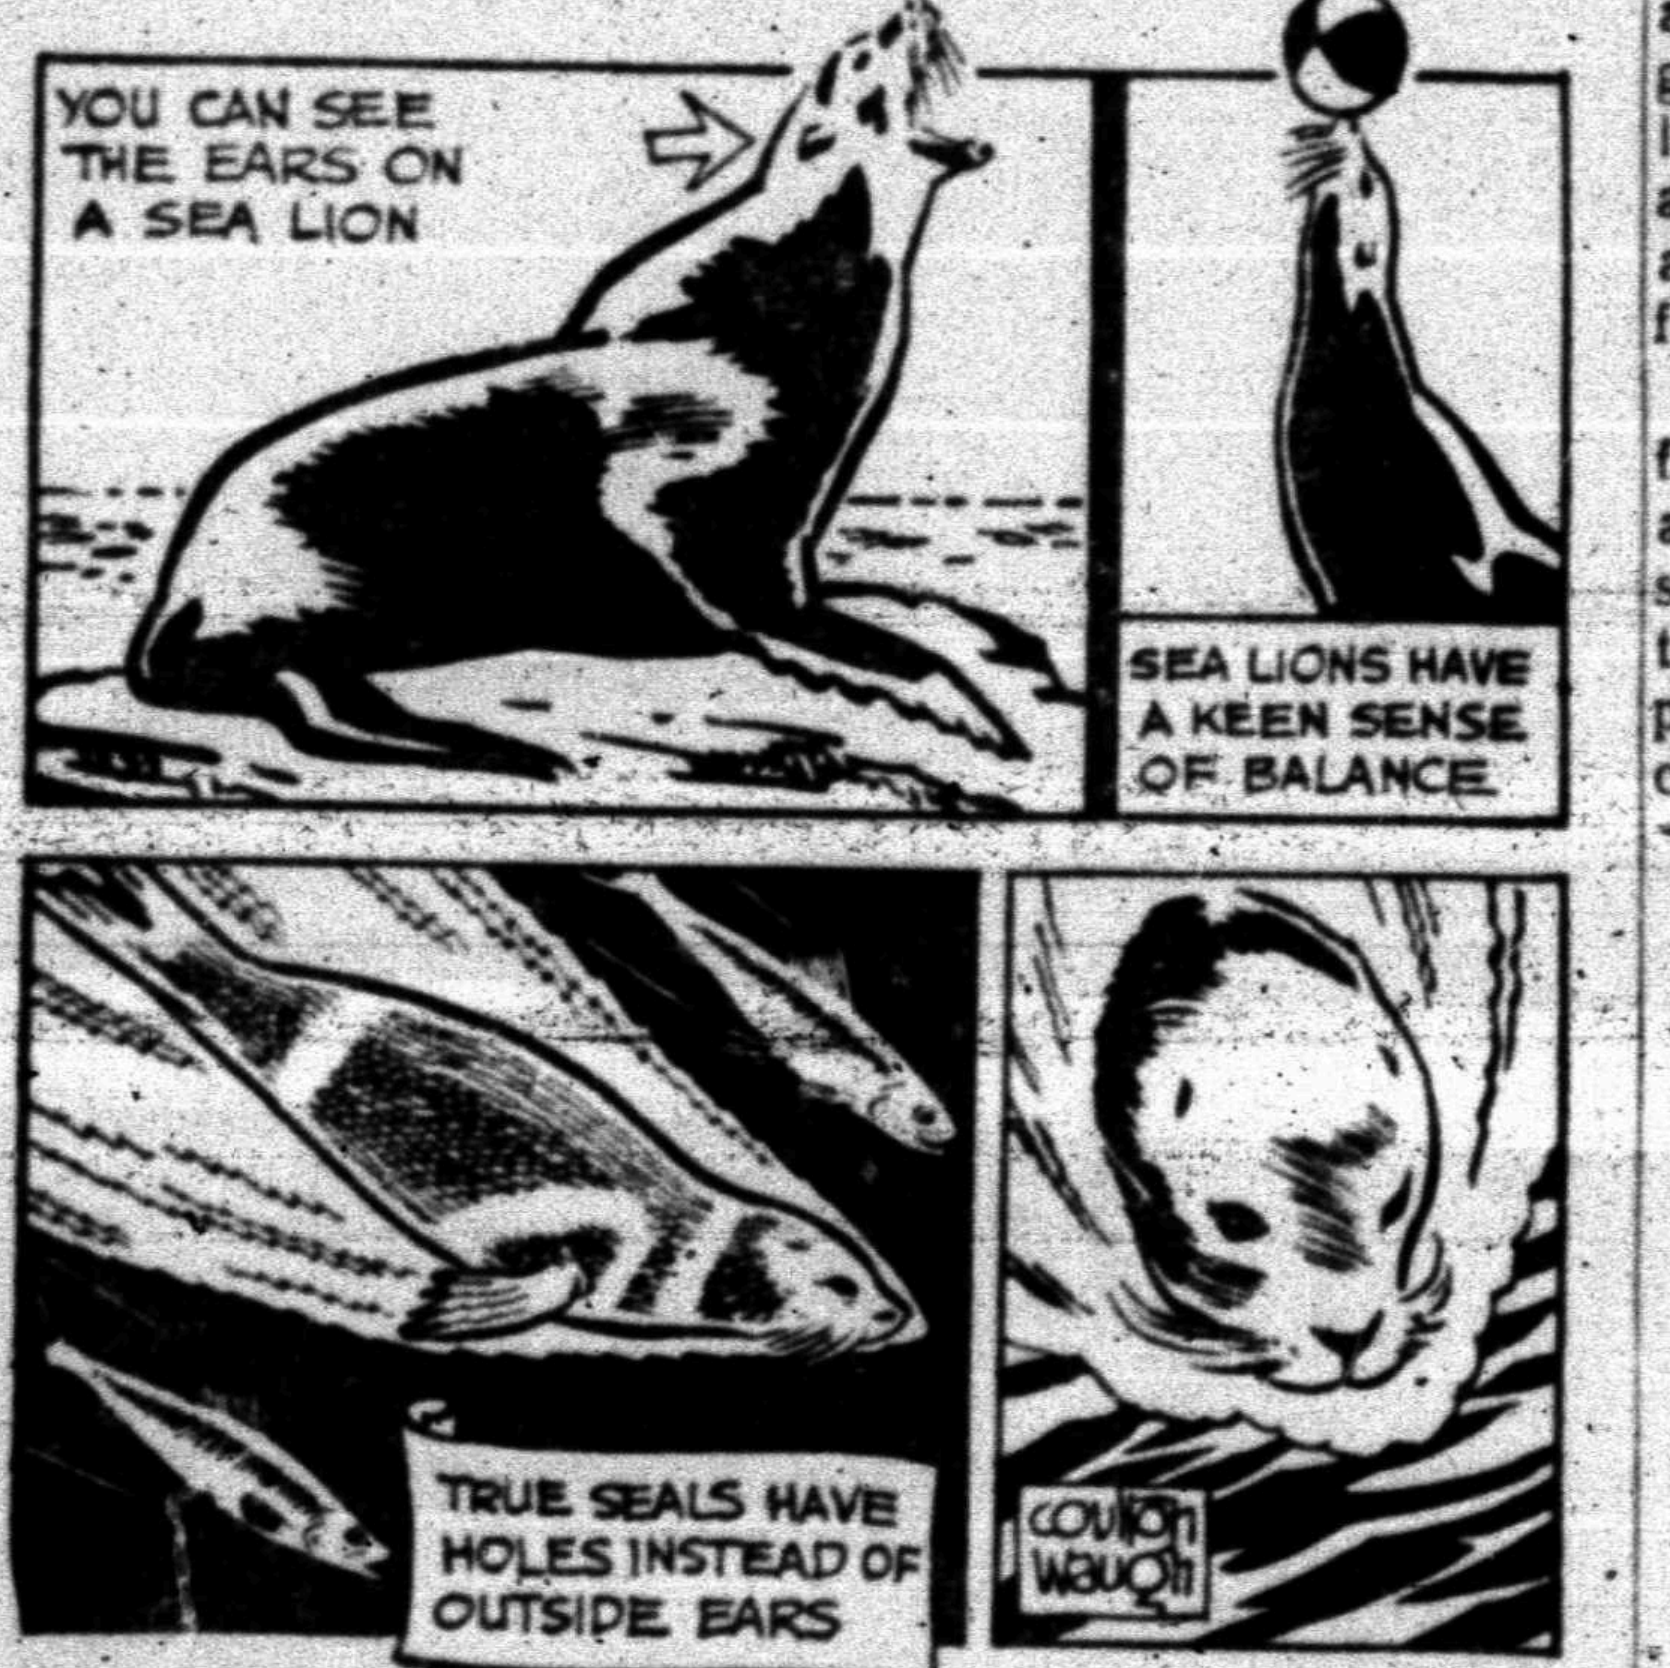
History lesson: No U.S. president visited a foreign country during his term of office before the 20th century. The first to do so was Theodore Roosevelt, who went to Panama in 1906.

Worth remembering: "Flattery is having somebody else tell us the nice things we have always thought about ourselves."

You're a pretty good student of the Bible if you can name the wood Noah used to build the ark. It was called gopher wood. Most translators interpret this to mean cypress.

It was Katharine Hepburn who observed, "only the plain people know about love — the very fascinating ones try so hard to create an impression that they soon exhaust their talents."

Junior Editors Quiz on SEALS



YOU CAN SEE THE EARS ON A SEA LION
SEA LIONS HAVE A KEEN SENSE OF BALANCE
TRUE SEALS HAVE HOLES INSTEAD OF OUTSIDE EARS
COULTON WAUGH

QUESTION: Do seals have ears?

• • •

ANSWER: All seals have inner ears—but seals are divided into two groups. One is the Otariidae, or eared seal, which has ears which show distinctly on the outside. The other is the Phocidae, or true seal, which has no outer ear at all, merely a hole leading to the inner ear.

The big, powerful sea lion, often seen off the Pacific coast, is an example of an eared seal. You can see his ear in the picture. Our picture shows him barking; and the fact that these sea lions make a lot of noise shows that their hearing is being used and is important to them in a number of ways. Sea lions are intelligent and have an amazing sense of balance, these being the seals generally seen doing tricks in circuses.

The bottom part of the picture shows one of the true seals or Phocidae, called the ribbon seal. Unlike the sea lion, whose rear flippers reach forward when on land, true seals have rear flippers which always point backward, making them clumsy when on land. But this kind of seal is graceful as a fish when underwater and spends almost all of his time in the sea, which is the reason he has only slits for ears. He depends on sight and smell rather than sound, rarely making any sound, even when on land.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Put rich browns over the sea lion and rocks to make them look real—with a bright blue sea behind. But color the underwater picture below a deep bluish green, which will give the feeling of being down in the ocean's mysterious depths.

Three Teams In Running

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fight for the Southwest Conference football championship could be cut to two teams this week but it would take a smashing upset to do it.

Texas A&M, which hasn't scored a point in two games while the opposition was amassing 62, would have to whip Southern Methodist, conqueror of Texas, to bring it about.

Arkansas leads the race going into the final month with a 4-0 record. Texas Tech is second with 4-1 and Southern Methodist is next with 2-1. These three are all that are left in the fight for the title.

Arkansas plays Rice at Houston Saturday and will be expected to win. Texas Tech does not have a conference test; rather, plays an intersectional game with New Mexico State at Lubbock.

Southern Methodist, all pepped up with its 31-14 triumph over Texas last week, goes to College Station to battle the Aggies. A defeat for the Methodists would leave only Arkansas and Texas Tech to decide the issue, if they reached their Nov. 20 game without defeat.

Of course, Arkansas might get beat and that would throw things into a terrific jumble. But the ease with which the Razorbacks knocked over Texas A&M 31-0 last week doesn't indicate much chance of the Razorbacks faltering at Houston.

GAIL — The Borden County Coyotes chewed up the Klondike Cougars, 40 to 18, here Saturday night before a Homecoming football crowd in a District 2-B Eight - Man attraction.

The underdog Gail crew received two touchdowns each from Brant Payne, David Lansford and Don Nunley. Nunley also bulled over for the extra points following each Gail touchdown.

Joe Garcia, Jack Warren and David Neill each scored one touchdown for the pre-season favorites.

Colts Have Best Record

The 7th grade football teams in the Snyder School System closed out their schedule last week with the Colts winning the intramural championship with six victories against no defeats. The Cowboys were runnersup with only two losses in six games, followed by the Giants and Packers in that order.

Saban Defends Try For Late Touchdown

By MARVIN R. PIKE
Associated Press Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The fellows in the firehouses, in the neighborhood pubs and elsewhere in this American Football League city wondered today why Lou Saban didn't go for an almost certain three-pointer.

"He goofed," one rabid Buffalo Bills' fan said sadly after the Houston Oilers had emerged with a 19-17 victory Sunday over the 1964 AFL champions.

But Saban, the Bills' coach, was quick to defend his decision to try for a touchdown, instead of a field goal, in the closing minutes of the game between the Eastern Division-leading Bills and the second-place Oilers.

"We just didn't think three points were enough at that time," Saban said, in noting that the Bills were trailing by two points with a bit more than three minutes remaining in the game.

What happened was this:

After 37-year-old quarterback George Blanda had given Houston a 19-17 advantage with an eight-yard field goal, Buffalo put the ball in play on its own 20-yard line, following the kickoff.

Jack Kemp passed seven yards to Paul Costa, another pass missed and then Kemp found Billy Joe with a 13-yarder at the Buffalo 40. Houston was caught holding and the Bills got the ball on their 45 with a first-and-10.

Kemp tossed a bomb to flanker Billy Joe. He didn't catch the ball. Buffalo was given possession on the Houston six as Tony Banfield was called for pass interference. Joe picked up one yard and Wray Carlton moved to the two. Carlton tried again, but was stopped inches short of the goal line.

Saban sent in his field-goal kicking unit. Kemp and most of the offensive unit waved their arms in protest and Saban called back place-kicker Pete Gogolak.

Kemp tried a sneak and was stopped.

Saban said later:

"I sent in Gogolak for a field goal. Then I got the call that we were a foot out and not a yard as I originally was told. That's when we decided to go for the sneak. We thought we could get the six (points). We just didn't think three points were enough at that time."

Seconds later, Saban said:

"Sure I'd do it again. I've been annoyed before, but this one bothers me more than the other times."

Blanda who tossed one touchdown pass and kicked four field goals, seemingly concurred with Saban:

In Houston, he said, "the fans can make themselves heard loud enough to determine what should be our starting line-up. So why can't the fans here (Buffalo) make play decisions."

He referred to most of the 44,267 Buffalo fans in War Memorial Stadium calling for the Bills to go for the touchdown instead of the field goal.

Before the disputed play, Buffalo scored touchdowns on a four-yard run by Joe and a two-yard line smash by Carlton. Gogolak booted a 49-yard field goal and two extra points. Houston's scoring on a 10-yard pass from Blanda to Ode Burrell and four field goals by Blanda from 31, 30, 13 and nine yards.

The victory was the fourth in seven games for the Oilers, who now trail Buffalo by only 1½ games in the Eastern Division. The loss was the second for Buffalo, winner of six games.

Celtics Hit Hoop For 105

By The Associated Press

For awhile it looked like Boston was going to lose its fourth straight National Basketball Association game, then the Celtics started playing like the defending champions they are.

Trailing 53-43 at halftime after scoring only 13 points in the second quarter, the Celtics roared back with 62 points after the intermission for a 105-100 victory over Baltimore Sunday night.

Mustangs Face Grid Future Confidently

DALLAS (AP)—There's a feeling at Southern Methodist University that the frustration of a losing football team is over.

Coach Hayden Fry is the first to acknowledge it.

He doesn't mean there won't be any more losses but he says "We finally have reached the point where we can compete and won't be embarrassed."

The thing that brought out this fine feeling on the hilltop was that Southern Methodist finally had beaten Texas under Fry's regime.

Texas is a symbol of greatness in the Southwest Conference. A coach has to beat Texas to feel that his team has arrived.

Saturday the Methodists whipped Texas 31-14 and became a winning team—there have been more victories than defeats this season.

Fry became coach in 1962 and in three years won only seven while losing 24. His longest victory string was two.

"The players and coaches have had so many times to quit," said Fry. "Probation, loss of players to injuries, loss of games by two and three points. But no one quit and it showed a lot of character."

He cited last year when he lost seven top players before the season even started. Indicating this was no false alibi for a 1-9 season, those players who came back this year are the heart of the team.

"A fellow told me he'd never call me coach until I beat Texas," said Fry. "We lost to Texas 6-0 in 1962, 17-12 in 1963 and 7-0 in 1964. After we beat Texas Saturday, the man called me and addressed me as 'Coach.' It was a good feeling."

But Fry, while still basking in the glory of last Saturday, became the typical coach today—he started worrying about his foe of next Saturday when the Methodists meet Texas A&M.

"Why are you worried about A&M?" he was asked. "The Aggies have just lost three in a row, two of them by 31-0."

"They always give me trouble," he replied quickly.

SMU lost to the Aggies 23-0 last year, managed to win 9-7 in 1963, lost 12-7 in 1962. And the Aggies haven't been doing very well either.

But there was the impression that Fry is thinking more of the following week when his team meets Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl here. Arkansas is the conference leader, hasn't lost a game in 19.

Fry has designs on the conference championship and he has to beat Arkanas to do it. The Razorbacks blasted his team 44-0 last year.

"That's when things really hit the bottom at SMU. That's when some of the guys might have felt like quitting.

This season SMU has come from far back. The Mustangs were beaten 42-0 by Illinois Sept. 25. But the following week found them rallying for a 14-14 tie with Purdue then ranked No. 2 in the nation. The Mustangs threw away several opportunities to score in the last minute.

Then came a 17-14 victory over Rice but a 26-24 loss to Texas Tech, which Fry thought he should have won. "My boy's field goal try hit the goal post," he said. "I thought, well here we go again.'

"All last week my team acted like condemned men as they prepared for Texas. In the past they've always been up for this game and had a lot of spirit. But they didn't say much last week; had little enthusiasm and chatter. I was worried sick. But you know, I found out why they were so quiet. They had decided they would just keep their mouths shut and show me with action instead of words. They just had that quiet determination that meant victory."

SMU has won three, lost two and tied one. It has four games to go—Texas A&M, Arkansas, Baylor and Texas Christian. Fry faces them with confidence. "We won't be embarrassed," he said grimly.

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY—Missouri quarterback Gary Lane (16) scampers across the goal line and away from Nebraska defensive end Ivan Zimmer (86), who appears about to grab him. On ground is Nebraska back Ted Vactor. Play was in first quarter. Nebraska won 16-14. (AP Wirephoto)

Green Bay, Browns, Cardinals Are Upset

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Resurgent. Rebounding. Rebuilt.

Those are the three Rs for the Chicago Bears, Minnesota Vikings and New York Giants — who sprang the surprises Sunday that turned the National Football League's division races into hectic scrambles.

The Bears, who have surged back steadily after losing their first three games, marched to their fourth straight victory by toppling Green Bay's previously unbeaten Packers 31-10.

The Vikings, whose defense had been bounced around handily in earlier games, did some defensive bouncing of their own and knocked over the Cleveland Browns 27-17.

The Giants, showing a remarkable spirited cohesion for a team packed with rookies and other newcomers, upended the St. Louis Cardinals 14-10.

In the Western Division, Green Bay now is tied for first at 6-1 with the Baltimore Colts, who topped the San Francisco 49ers 34-28 as Johnny Unitas threw for four touchdowns.

Deadlocked at 4-3 are Chicago, Minnesota and the Detroit Lions, 31-7 winners over the Los Angeles Rams. San Francisco is 3-4, Los Angeles 1-6.

Cleveland held onto the Eastern lead with a 5-2 record, while the Giants climbed into a tie for second with St. Louis at 4-3. The Washington Redskins nipped the Philadelphia Eagles 23-21 and the Pittsburgh Steelers beat the Dallas Cowboys 22-13, leaving those four clubs bunched at 2-5.

Gale Sayers, the brilliant rookie back who has been a star performer in the Bears' success this season, again provided the climactic play. He sprinted 62 yards on a punt return to the Packer 15, setting up the touchdown that put Chicago ahead 24-10. Sayers also scored earlier on a 10-yard run.

Bart Starr, who had suffered only two interceptions in Green Bay's six previous games, had three stolen by the Bears — and two led to touchdowns. Dallas held Starr to minus 10 yards passing the week before.

Minnesota, which had been battered for 201 points in its first six games, put on its best defensive show this year, led by lineman Jim Marshall and Paul Dickson. They were the chief reasons Jim Brown managed a meager 39 yards rushing for Cleveland.

Minnesota's Brown — Bill — ran for 138 yards on 26 carries and scored two touchdowns, one on a plunge and the other on one of Fran Tarkenton's two scoring passes.

The Giants, under the Cardinals' domination in the first half and trailing 10-0 at intermission, blanked St. Louis in the second half with a fine defensive effort and mounted two scoring drives.

The running of rookie fullback Tucker Frederickson and Steve Thurlow powered the first advance, capped by Earl Morrall's 21-yard pass to Aaron Thomas. After Dick Lynch blocked a fourth-period field goal try by Jim Bakken, Frederickson went 40 yards to the St. Louis 10, and later scored from the four.

Unitas hit Jimmy Orr with two TD passes and also connected with Tony Lorick and Ray Berry in the Colts' seesaw game with the 49ers. Lou Michaels took care of the other Baltimore scoring with two field goals and four conversions.

The Lions banged out two touchdowns in the first 2 minutes, 45 seconds in their rout of the Rams — one after a Ram fumble on the opening kickoff and the other on a 61-yard pass play, George Izo to Terry Barr.

Washington edged the Eagles on two fourth-period touchdown passes by Sonny Jurgensen, on a 55-yard play to Charley Taylor and an 11-yarder to Bobby Mitchell. Norm Snead, out the past three games with a knee injury, clicked for two Philadelphia scoring tosses after coming off the bench in the last half.

Bill Nelsen's marksmanship paced Pittsburgh over Dallas. Nelsen, who had passed for only one touchdown this season, hit on three — all in the second quarter.

Tigers Face Cubs Friday

The Snyder High School Tigers return to the District 3-AAA grid wars this week after a week's absence. The Varsity hosts Brownfield's Cubs in a 7:30 p.m. affair Friday at Tiger Stadium. Four teams remain in the running for the league crown — Lamesa, Levelland, Sweetwater and Snyder.

Several other local and area games are on tap. Elsewhere in the district, Littlefield is at Levelland and Lake View is at Lamesa.

Thursday night, the Lamar 8th and 9th grade teams will be at Lamesa for 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. tilts respectively. On Saturday night, the Travis 8th and 9th grade units will be at Big Spring for 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. clashes respectively. The "B" Team is at home in a 7:30 p.m. tilt with Lamesa providing the opposition.

The area schedule finds Loraine at Hermleigh, Gail at Southland and Blackwell at Hobbs in Friday night contests whereas Ira journeys to McCauley for a Saturday night tilt.

Midland Racer Wins Grand Prix

By ROBERT COOKE
Associated Press Writer

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Hap Sharp of Midland, Tex., drove off with all the honors in the 200-mile Times Grand Prix for Sports Cars in a race notable for the number of top drivers who did not finish.

Sharp, piloting one of the Chaparral-Chevrolet racers entered by Jim Hall also of Midland, took the lead halfway to the 77-lap event Sunday and held on to win.

He was challenged throughout the race by world driving champion Jim Clark of Duns, Scotland, and was pushed hard in the last few laps by Bruce McLaren of New Zealand.

Sharp — driving the only car in the race using an automatic transmission — set a Grand Prix record at this 2.6-mile track with an average speed of 102.989. The old mark of 99.182 was set last year by Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif.

The number of top drivers in fast cars who didn't finish was unusual: Graham Hill of England, Parnelli Jones, Ritchie Ginther of Granada Hills, Calif., and Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., were among those forced out with mechanical problems.

Jones put on a good show through the first part of the race in his Lola-Ford racer, but he left the race on the 10th lap when his engine blew up.

Gurney, also driving a Ford-powered car from the shops of Bruce McLaren of Middlesex left the race in the 24th lap to have disc brake pads replaced. He never returned.

Graham Hill, also in a McLaren product, powered by Oldsmobile, was out of the race on the 26th lap when a wheel came off his car.

Ginther, winner of the recent Mexican Grand Prix in Mexico City, left the Riverside race in the 25th lap.

John Connally, in a statewide TV broadcast proposed a constitutional amendment limiting a term of a governor in Texas to two consecutive two year terms . . .

Talking about a governor who seeks a fourth term, Connally said "he will completely dominate every Board, Commission and Authority in the state . . . dominate it in the sense that he will have appointed at least once every single member of every Board . . . I am unalterably opposed to that in principle because the last thing that Texas needs is one man rule."

HOSPITAL SEEKS TO PRESERVE ROOM WHERE PRESIDENT DIED

Editor's Note: Parkland Hospital wants to preserve Trauma Room No. 1, the small emergency cubicle where President Kennedy died. Hospital personnel want to keep the room intact for history, but they don't need it for a reminder. Those who were there will never forget that day that one calls "pure hell."

By PAUL RECER

DALLAS (AP)—There's nothing in the room today to indicate a president died here.

The 14 by 18-foot room is painted green. Rows of instruments line one wall. Cabinets contain medical materials.

Into this room, John Kennedy was wheeled 10 minutes after Lee Harvey Oswald sent a bullet crashing into his brain in downtown Dallas, three miles away, nearly two years ago.

Parkland Hospital officials say, because of what happened there that sunny November day, the room should be preserved. The hospital is being remodeled.

Administrator C. J. Price said he and others "would like to have it preserved so that those who follow us can be able to see what medical equipment was used."

No formal move has been made toward the preservation.

"The medical staff has appointed a committee to work with me on this," Price said. "We thought that this might be our contribution to those who follow us."

Trauma Room 1 is still used to treat its share of the more than 10,000 emergency cases received each year at Parkland.

The room has been closed twice, just after the President died, and on the first anniversary of that death.

Few hospital employes who worked that day like to talk about it. One said that just brings back the pain." Another remembers it as "just plain hell."

Shortly after the President's death, Price asked each employe from janitor to surgeon to record their activities and thoughts. These are published in the Warren Report.

For emergency room workers, the violence of that November weekend—in which the assassin Oswald died in another room a few feet away—began with the scream of sirens.

Bertha Lozano, a nurse at an admissions desk, recalls: "I suddenly heard a door open and an unaccountable number of Dallas policemen screaming at me for help and to bring a carriage (rolling stretcher)."

An aide, Shirley Randall, recalls seeing "all the policemen barging in with big guns. One had a well-dressed man by the arm handling him sort of rough. I thought they were bringing in some underworld characters."

The President's face was covered with a coat. Several hospital employes did not know it was Kennedy.

Margaret Hinchliff, a nurse, helped doctors with treatment in Trauma Room 1, and then went for transfusion blood.

"I asked who the patient was in Room 1 and one of the doctors said it was the President. I was completely stunned," she recalls.

"I remember noticing a patient in a dark suit with his face and head covered with a suit coat roll past me," recalls Miss Lozano. "At that instant I was engulfed by a mass of people. The next thing I remember is looking into the face of Vice President Johnson, standing in front of me...I suddenly sensed who our patient on the carriage might be."

While treatment for the President and for wounded Gov. Connally began, security men began organizinig.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, director of nursing service, went at once to the hospital. After some argument she got into the hospital grounds, with one officer telling her, "Well, lady, I'll let you pass me, but you'll never get by the Secret Service agent. I'd hate to see you get shot."

An FBI agent ran into trouble.

Price recalls coming up on a man sprawled on the floor.

"I asked (nurse) Nelson if everything was under control and what happened. She said an FBI man had tried to enter the area without showing his credentials and a Secret Service agent had knocked him winding. Several Secret Service agents had at this time rushed to the scene. I saw the man get up and heard him say ... You're not in control now — What's your name?'"

Peter Goilich, hospital administrative assistant, recalls seeing "a young colored man worming his way into the office wearing khaki pants and a dirty yellow sport shirt flashing a card saying he was a preacher—he heard the President needed him. I don't remember what I said to him, but I wheeled him around and shoved him back out the door."

The President was pronounced dead at 1 p.m.

Even in the midst of the national agony, everyday tragedies continued.

Miss Lozano recalls a crying mother rushing in with a bleeding child. A heart patient and a woman described in a report only as "a very sick lady" were admitted also.

In Trauma Room 1, an orderly and two nurses entered, cleaned the President's face and gave his valuables to Secret Service men.

Price recalls: "as the casket passed, I could not resist the impulse to place my hand on it briefly...as an expression of our sorrow and grief and in a final salute."

Amendments Vote Apt To Be Light

AUSTIN (AP)— Texas voters, or at least a few of them, will decide Tuesday on 10 far-reaching changes in the state Constitution.

The Texas Election Bureau estimates only 300,000 of the almost 2 million qualified voters will vote.

On Sept. 7, only 220,000 voted on still another Constitution change approved by the 59th legislature. The proposal to enlarge the state Senate from 31 to 39 members, failed by 50,500 votes.

The September vote actually was only slightly larger than the total vote in 1876 when Texans voted 136,606 to 56,652 to adopt the 115-page state Constitution. Texas then had about one million persons and Galveston was the largest city.

A little less than a year ago more than 2.6 million Texans voted for president. But 1965 is a so-called political year with no big-time state or national campaigns to attract attention to elections.

Next year the remaining 16 constitutional amendments passed on by the last legislature likely will attract many more voters because of an expected hot Senate race, plus campaigns for governor and other statewide offices.

Absentee voting on the long Nov. 2 ballot began Oct. 13 and ended Saturday. A number of counties reported sparse turnouts of advance voters.

Only persons with receipts showing payment of state poll taxes or exemptions because they are over or under age may vote. The "free voter" receipts are good only for national issues and candidates.

Since adoption of the Constitution 89 years ago, there have been 255 attempts to amend it. voters approved 158 amendments and defeated 97, including three that never came to a vote.

Here briefly are the 10 latest proposed changes, in the order they will appear on the Nov. 2 ballot:

1. Increase state property (ad valorem) tax by five cents for each $100 valuation to double the amount of money available for buildings and other permanent improvements at 17 state colleges.

2. Authorize another $200 million in bonds to buy farms and ranches for resale to veterans under the veterans land program, which dies Dec. 1 unless the amendment is approved.

3. Consolidate three sections of the Constitution into one new section giving the legislature specific authority to take part in joint federal-state assistance and medical care programs for needy aged persons, blind, dependent children, and persons permanently and totally disabled.

4. Authorize four-year terms for the governor and six other statewide elected officials.

5. Clarify investment authority for trustees of the teacher retirement system.

6. Allow the state, through the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to issue up to $85 million in bonds and loans to needy Texas college students, of both private and public institutions and including junior colleges.

7. Exempt certain hospitals operated by a charitable trust from payment of the state property tax because they furnish free hospital care to indigents. The only organization qualifying presently is the Hermann Hospital estate at Houston.

8. Establish procedures for mandatory retirement of district and appellate judges on account of disabilities and for their removal for improper conduct. Sets a compulsory retirement age of 75.

9. Allow the legislature to set the salaries of the lieutenant governor and speaker, both of which now get the $4,800 salary and expenses set for all legislators. If the amendment is approved, the two officials would begin receiving $15,000 annual salaries because the expenditure was approved by the last legislature. Per diem expense accounts of all 181 legislators will be increased from $12 to $20 a day.

10. Provide for four-year terms for state representatives elected every two years. This would give house members the same four-year terms as senators.

Whales, sea lions and some seals sleep under water, coming to the surface only occasionally to breathe.

Rachel's House Of Fashion Solves Yule Gift Problems

Men, are you wondering what kind of gift to get the wife for Christmas?

A coat or dress from Rachel's House of Fashions, 1818 Twenty-sixth Street on the south side of the square, would be the ideal gift for most any woman.

Operator of the House of Fashion is Rachel Rogers. She purchased the business from Mrs. Justine Brown Sept. 28, 1964 after being associated with Rogers, Inc. on the west side of the square for three years. Formerly, Mrs. Rogers received experience in operating fashion firms in Calif.

She keeps abreast of the fashion world and knows which styles are in vogue at any given time. Only last year, she traveled to California to attend showings of latest fashions. Mrs. Rogers also purchases all of the apparel for her own shop-making trips to Dallas to do so.

Whatever the need, patrons find that the House of Fashions has the apparel sought—whether a dress, hat, coat, gloves or lingerie. The firm also has a gift line of cologne for men.

The interior of the House of Fashion was remodeled about two years ago, and it still has a "new look." The firm specializes in popular Butte double knit suits made by Jonathan Logan—one of the better known manufacturers of ladies apparel in this country.

Mrs. Jo Birdwell, an employe of the firm, will be glad to gift wrap any purchase made in the House of Fashion, and lay-away plans can be arranged for patrons. Mrs. Jo Ann Deavers also works at the firm during busy periods.

After observing her first year in business at the present location, Mrs. Rogers expressed her appreciation to "all the many fine Snyder residents who have made my first year in business here a profitable one and an enjoyable experience."

Farm Groups Seek Niche In Retail Food Business

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to put farmers into the retail food business may well develop as a major farm issue in the year ahead.

Proposals that they do this have been advanced but to date no appreciable progress has been made toward putting them into effect. Nevertheless, sponsors promise to persist until they finally win acceptance of the idea.

Particularly active in this field are the Ohio State Farm Bureau Federation and President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union.

The American Farm Bureau Federation directed a committee to study the Ohio plan this year. But the committee has voted 5-4 that the proposal not be taken up at this time.

The matter doubtless will be debated at the National Farm Bureau convention in Chicago in December. But at any rate, the Ohio sponsors say they intend to continue to push the idea until it is accepted.

The Ohio advocates contend that if farmers controlled a nation wide food chain, they would be in a position to pressure food processors into entering price bargaining agreements with farmer cooperatives or other bargaining groups on farm product prices.

Patton advocates that farmers join hands with organied labor in establishing a system of nationwide food cooperatives. He proposes that farm and labor leaders seek an initial appropriation of $5 billion from Congress for establishing these cooperatives. The money would be paid back to the government over a 50-year period.

Patton's system would include [illegible] food and fiber products. He would make membership in the cooperatives available to every person in the country at $5. Such mandates as the civil rights laws would be applicable and the union shop would be required.

The farmers union leader contend that entry of a combine of farmers and union workers into the food business is necessary to keep farm production, food-processing and retailing from falling under control of what he calls big monopolies that would bleed both producers and consumers.

Under the plan advanced by the Ohio Farm Bureau, funds for purchase of an existing nationwide food chain would be contributed by farmers themselves. No government funds would be sought.

In advancing the idea of farmers becoming retailers, the rival sponsors appear to be motivated by somewhat different reasons.

The Ohioans see in the plan an opportunity for farmers, working together in cooperatives and bargaining groups, of increasing their bargaining power in dickering for prices for their products. As long as farmers operate individually, they said, there is little chance of them getting adequate prices. In other words, they want agriculture to use the unified bargaining weapon successfully used by organized labor.

Patton, on the other hand, sees a combination of farm-worker retail cooperatives as a device for thwarting what he calls efforts of outsiders to gain complete control of the production, processing and retailing of food and fiber products.

Patton envisions the eventual development — unless prevented — [illegible] he calls corporate [illegible] the field in the production and marketing of farm products.

The suggestion that farmers enter the food retail field has run, of course, into many questions. Some doubt it could be done legally under antitrust laws. Others expressed doubt as to the ability of farmers to run a giant business enterprise efficiently.

Some take exceptions to Patton's warnings that corporation farms threaten to drive family farms out of business.

In this connection, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman recently commented that the adequate family farm system is increasing in strength. The decline in the number of farms is taking place, he said, among the small, inadequate farms and the extra large ones.

Torrential rains which ended one of the wettest Octobers in Florida history have brought flooding along the state's lower east coast.

The Miami Weather Bureau reported up to 12 inches of water running through houses near Biscayne Bay Sunday.

Civil Defense officials said 20 inches of rain fell in Boca Raton in 24 hours. Fort Lauderdale received nearly 13 inches, and at Coral Gables, 3 inches of rain fell in a single hour Sunday.

Fort Lauderdale recorded nearly 43 inches of rain during October, the heaviest for any month in the city's history.

An intense storm over Quebec caused gale winds across the eastern Great Lakes. Syracuse, N.Y., was buffeted with 70-mile-per-hour winds Sunday and winds gusted at 63 m.p.h. through Buffalo.

The heat wave in California continued without letup over interior sections of the state. In the Los Angeles basin, cooling winds swept the heat and smog out of the city Sunday.

Police Probe Stabbing

ARLINGTON (AP)—Arlington police pressed an intensive investigation today into the fatal stabbing Saturday night of the wife of a prominent real estate dealer.

Boyle Gordon told police he awakened during the night to see his wife, Lorene, stagger from the room followed by a man.

A pathologist said Mrs. Gordon was stabbed 40 times.

Justice of the Peace John Forbes ruled homicide.

Mrs. Gordon died about an hour after the attack in a hospital.

Gordon, 53, said the intruder knocked him to the floor, bruising his shoulder and breaking his watch, when his wife's screams awakened him.

He then ran out of the front door to get a hoe to use against the man. When he returned seconds later, he said he found his wife bloody and slumped over against a chair in the front bedroom occupied by his mother, Mrs. Lonnie Gordon.

Neither police nor Gordon could give a motive for the bizarre attack.

Lady Aerialist Falls Into Husband's Arms

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — As 2,000 spectators gasped, trapeze performer Greta Frisk plunged 40 feet — straight into the arms of her husband who raced to the scene.

"I caught you," Fritz Frisk told his wife, who sprang from a trapeze in a flip-around motion but failed to grasp the bar after she had turned.

Bandsmen stopped playing, and the crowd gave the couple an ovation. Circus manager John Pugh said the couple probably would have medical checkups today. Neither appeared seriously hurt from the fall, which happened Sunday night at the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus. Frisk has a bicycle act with the circus.
