On the Home Front of World War II

(A weekly summary of developments in the Victory Program, prepared by the Regional Information Office, OEM)

...w the new year breaks upon us, ...on the Home Front probably ...e more reason than ever to de... upon resolutions which will ...y us bravely through a period ... war-time economy. Resolutions ...1943 will tend to be less personal ...d will bespeak our feeling for all ...kind. Although many on the ...e Front have reason to be sad ...e begin a New Year, there ...ld be multiple reasons for ...sgiving.

Whether we want to ...t today and ride tomorrow or ...e today and goose-step tomorrow ...the serious question now facing this country.

Although mileage rationing has been put into effect over the entire country, the rubber conservation plan behind the whole program cannot be realized simply by following rules set down by the government. Everyone should take special care not to use their automobiles and trucks unless it is absolutely necessary, even though they are restricted to specific mileage by their ration books. It must be remembered that a motorist does not have to use all the gasoline he is allotted. Application of commonsense conservation measures rests with the individual.

Although American farms must raise a great deal more crops of many kinds next year, civilians must not expect to benefit by the increase. Our armed forces will need much more of all that is raised, and so will our Allies, England, Russian, and the French in North Africa. Farmers are now laying plans to outdo anything they have ever done in the way of production. Their position in the war has become of utmost importance. The government is doing everything in its power to assure the farmer higher prices and is working night and day on a plan to solve the farm manpower problem.

Although production goals may look good on paper in January, a severe drought can knock the program askew. So the government has to keep that possibility in mind. That is one reason that responsible government officials cannot predict what 1943 holds in the way of further restrictions, such as rationing. We do know that because of increased military needs for the "red meats," there'll be further reductions in civilian quotas of beef, pork, lamb, mutton and veal, but these reduced allowances will be partly made up through the release for civilian use of millions of pounds of cured and frozen beef, dried beef, beef sausage material, and various domestic cuts not suitable for military diets.

The supply of farm labor will be one of our major problems next year. The War Manpower Commission expects that some 7,900,000 persons will be employed in year-round farm work, and additional millions will be needed seasonally in the various agricultural areas. In December of this year farm labor showed a decided drop over the same time two years ago. A large part of the loss was due to enlistment in the armed forces, the rest to the attractions offered by war industries. The deficit in farm labor must be met by keeping labor on farms and by enlisting the service of an army of volunteers throughout the country to help harvest next year's crop. The taking of every possible step now to insure full production later on is vital to the war effort. As 1943 begins, foresightedness on the part of all on the Home Front was never more important.

Southwesterners Sell Idle Tires: Idle tires sold to the government by passenger car owners in the Southwest OPA region now total 1,410,216, almost one-seventh of the national total of about 10,000,000 tires. The total represents one tire to every 2.9 passenger car registrations in the region.

Specific Dairy Products Prices Set: Setting specific dollars and cents price ceilings on dairy products for the first time, OPA brought butter, cheddar cheese, evaporated milk and bulk powdered skim milk under price control at processor and wholesale levels, through issuance of Maximum Price Regulation No. 289. The new ceiling prices will reflect to milk producers a return of about $2.64 per hundredweight for the raw milk used in manufacturer of dairy products. About 50 per cent of the milk produced is used in manufactured dairy products. In setting the new ceilings, OPA has endeavored to facilitate the Food-for-Freedom goals of the Department of Agriculture, which call for a 1943 milk output of 120 billion to 122 billion pounds.

OCD Blood Plasma Available for Emergencies: The Office of Civilian Defense is storing blood plasma primarily for emergencies arising from air raids and sabotage, but the plasma is available immediately for any emergency, R. E. Smith, OCD region director, announced. More than 10,000 units of plasma, dried and frozen, now are available in 29 cities of the Eighth Civilian Defense Region, which includes the states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico. The plasma may be obtained by any community through its Emergency Medical Service.

First Severe Storm Over Panhandle

The snow storm that swept over the Panhandle Saturday night and Sunday was the most severe of the winter. The storm started with a slight drizzle and by night turned to a blinding blizzard causing drifts in fence rows and over the highways. Ranchers report many cattle and sheep drifted with the storm and some animals froze to death. The precipitation from the snow was .10 bringing the total amount of moisture for the month up to .91.

It is interesting to note the amount of moisture for the entire year of 1942 as recorded by Judge Jack Allen, who keeps the record as taken from the government guage. For the year Ochiltree county has received 24.74 inches of moisture. In only two years in the last twenty has Ochiltree county received more moisture than this year. In 1928 Ochiltree county received 29.73 and in 1941 30. inches.

Following is the rainfall as recorded month by month in 1942:

April	4.95
May	2.37
June	6.04

Spicer Heads President's Birth Program

DALLAS, Dec. 30—A. P. Spicer will head the Ochiltree county committee for the Celebration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's 61st Birthday, January 30. This announcement was made here today by George Waverly Briggs, Texas State Vice Chairman for the celebration to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis. The county chairman will immediately announce the appointment of staff and assistants.

In the appointment of Texas county chairmen Mr. Briggs, serving under the leadership of W. L. Clayton, Houston, in Washington as President Roosevelt's deputy Federal Farm Loan Administrator, stresses the necessity of prompt county organization due to prevelancy of the dread disease in many counties in the Southwest.

The health of the people fighting on the home front is as essential as the health of the men and women of the armed forces, Mr. Briggs says, in urging that each community make an extra effort this year to supply the funds and work needed to combat polio and to prevent its spread to untouched communities.

"This War," says Vice Chairman Briggs, "will be won by the combined efforts of citizens and fighting forces. We must have a healthy, virile home front if we are to get the job done promptly and thoroughly. The job is vital to the successful conduct of the war. Our President and our armed forces expect us to meet the obligation."

Mileage Cases May Be Appealed

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 28—Texas farmers will not be put out of business by present mileage-saving regulations.

B. F. Vance, chairman, Texas USDA War Board, announced this week that farmers who have not received sufficient gasoline for normal operations should ask local war price and rationing boards for temporary transport rations.

At the same time temporary rations are asked for, they also should make formal appeal for additional mileage, he said.

Appeals are made through county farm transportation committees who assist farmers in filling out required forms which later will be considered and approved by the Office of Defense Transportation.

The date for obtaining temporary transport rations has been extended to January 31, 1943. Previous deadline date had been set for December 31, 1942.

Under the temporary rationing phase of the program, farmers may receive sufficient gasoline to tide them over until appeals are approved, he said and explained that all temporary allocations later would be deducted from the final amount of mileage allowed under the Certificate of War Necessity.

If Certificates of War Necessity have been applied for and not received and if obvious errors were

Prisoner of War

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Tucker received a telegram Tuesday from the War Department advising them that their son, 2nd Lt. Lee C. Tucker, is reported a prisoner of war of the Japanese government in the Philippine Islands. They were advised that a letter will follow. Lee was with the Coast Artillery unit of the New Mexico National Guard. This is the first word concerning him that has been received since he was reported as missing in action following the fall of the Islands.

FSA to Extend Aid To Small Farmers In War Program

The small farmer is ill-equipped and poorly prepared to meet the demands of the war effort in the opinion of Arthur R. Turner, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Ochiltree county.

Recognizing this critical situation, the Secretary of Agriculture, has directed the FSA to shift its program to the war effort so that the manpower of the small farmer can be utilized to the fullest extent, according to Mr. Turner.

"It is expected that Farm Security's new wartime lending program will release the manpower of 500,000 farmers for the war production," he said. "The Ochiltree county FSA office located in the courthouse at Spearman is expected to make a great many more loans this year to farmers in this county than ever before because our lending program has been liberalized and our program has been put on a full wartime basis."

The county supervisor said that the lack of equipment and replacements has retarded production and for this reason a share-the-machinery program is to be reemphasized this year. Loans to groups of farmers to purchase machinery to be used cooperatively will be made to farm operators in addition to many other types of food production loans.

Loan funds are immediately available to eligible borrowers in Ochiltree county to conserve feed crops for current needs and future use, to increase the producton of dairy products, beef and pork, to reserve food, to purchase equipment, tools, shelter for livestock and poultry, and many other purposes.

Anxous to meet the immediate needs of farm families as well as to help them get ready for increased production next year, Mr. Turner invites all interested persons to contact him.

JUST HERE and THERE

Tractor and farm implement operators who are going to need tires for spring and summer farm work should place their applications with the rationing board now. This may help the board in establishing needed quotas.

Effective January 1, for the first time since rationing went into effect, there will be a separate quota for farm implement and tractor tires. Heretofore, such tires have been chargeable against the truck tire quota.

Boards have been asked to determine the actual needs in their counties for tractor and farm implement tires. This means actual needs, not inflated needs. So if you're going to need tires, let your board know about it.

We've just decided to devote this column to rationing this week. In other words, we're rationing it out to you. Take it or leave it, that's the way rationing works. Of one thing we're sure, old "Here and There" can't make any worse mess of the rationing deal than the jack leg lawyers up in Washington are doing.

Owners of trucks and commercial vehicles who have received their certificates of war necessity with the information that they would receive the rest later can now go to their county rationing offices and get the rest. In this case the "rest" happens to be the all essential gasoline coupons.

The nation is now being treated to a great food hoarding preview by the wise and all powerful OPA. In a blast of dry facts and figures, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and OWI Davis shot the starting gun last Sunday night for the greatest run in history on the grocery stores of the United States.

Instead of putting food rationing into effect with a minutes notice, they let the public in on the deal and then gave them a month or more in which to hoard. Despite appeals to patriotism, the same thing is now happening as happened on other rationing programs.

In an official release they say that rationing boards, the food industry and the public must learn the system before operation starts, and that the confusion would be bad if rationing of foods was made effective at once.

We've tried to swallow a lot of this bunk coming out of Washington, but we are frank to say that we are getting pretty well fed up on the lot of crack pot theorists, college professors and social workers who are at last succeeding in regulating every single phase of our life from their sanctums in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cayler and Kay and Mrs. Clara North and Sue visited from Friday until Sunday in the home of the ladies uncle, Dr. J. H. Guthrie, Floydada. They were also guests with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shirley, Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Diehl, Borger, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Diehl were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Stone and daughter for Christmas Day. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Newman called in the afternoon.

Here's a Mark for Your Hens to Beat!

How big an egg can your hens lay? The Big Egg Sweepstake is now open with no hen barred, even though they be of a barred variety. J. W. Mounts brought in an ordinary hen egg to the Herald office Saturday that weighed even four ounces. It was laid by a hy-bred cross black and white hen. Mr. Mounts says that he has 150 of these hens and their eggs are always large and light tan in color.

Wheat Crop Underlain by Good Moisture

The sub-soil moisture in Texas wheat fields is in most all instances very good with as much as 40 to 60 inches of moist ground under the surface. The more or less dry surface of the wheat fields in early December have been alleviated in most areas, and the moisture condition is very satisfactory at the present time. Reports on crop conditions would indicate that the Texas sub-soil moisture situation is the best, taken as a whole, of any of our Southwestern states.

There are areas in the other hard red winter wheat producing states that are lacking in good sub-soil moisture depth; however, the Texas wheat crop is almost uniformly underlain by good moisture. Although the sub-soil moisture penetration is not as deep as a year ago, there is in most all cases sufficient sub-soil moisture for all normal requirements for the next wheat crop. Average rainfall from here on to harvest will guarantee ample moisture for the 1943 crop.

● The Library Corner

Two books you will enjoy reading, which have recently arrived at your Public Library in the City Hall, are "See Here, Private Hargrove," by Marion Hargrove and "Viva, Mexico!" by Charles M. Flandrau. Both are non-fiction. But both are so entertainingly and originally written as to be easier reading than many a more seriously presented work of fiction.

The first, in case you have not seen it advertised, is one of the most popular bits of humor to come out of the present war. Written by a soldier in training it is full of first hand information, too.

The second is a new edition of a book first published in 1908 but still fresh and alive and redolent of Mexico—and still the accepted classic of an American on Mexico. No book written since on the subject has come anywhere near it, except Gertrude Diament's "The Days of Ofelia." And we have that too, in case you are interested.

Very popular with the library's users is "Drivin' Woman" by Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier. This is a long active and melodramatic novel of the South and the tobacco industries beginning of "Big Business" after the Civil War.

"Lieutenant's Lady" by Bess Streeter Aldrich is another favorite, like all her other long list of well-written novels of the early days in our Middle West. In telling the story of Linnie Colsworth and her lieutenant, she gives us a poignantly human story that will recall especially her perennially popular "A Lantern in Her Hand." This one is about the American army standing guard on the Dakota frontier 75 years ago, between civilization and the furious Indian, and a woman who shared her husband's hard career.

For our younger readers there are these new books: "The Velveteen Rabbit," by Bianco; "Ezra, the Elephant," by Barrows; "Rootabaga Stories," by Carl Sandburg. Also Blanchard's "Chico, the Story of a Homing Pigeon," Irving Bacheller's "Candle in the Wilderness" and "All American" by John R. Tunis.

Christian Science

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 3.

The Golden Text is: "Unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever" (I Timothy 1:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God . . . God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God" (Psalms 62:7, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony (page 390).

SERMONETTE

Rev. Dan L. Blickenstaff
Waka Church of the Brethren

"Inside Out"—Matt. 5:8

Internal purity is here contrasted with mere external, bodily purification, with which many people in those days, as today, were so very scrupulous. Attention given to matters of external worth and internal things neglected. Having things reversed. Purity of heart includes freedom from all defiling influences of sin upon the inner man.

Origen says: "Every sin stains the soul." Outward acts of sin as well as inward ones, but they all have an effect upon the inside. We must shun defiling thoughts, purposes, and feelings. We must be free from trickery and cunning. Purity of heart will not allow such things inside.

An old paper tells the story of a man who was washing the large plate glass in a show-window. There was one soiled spot which defied all efforts to remove it. After hard rubbing, using much soap and water, but failing to remove it, he found the trouble. He called out to someone in the store, "It's on the inside." Many people are trying to cleanse the soul of its stains. They wash it with tears of sorrow; they scrub it with the soap of good resolves; they rub it with chamois of morality; but still the consciousness of it is not removed. The trouble is, it's on the inside. It pays to keep the inside clear. Better outward conditions result.

Two theological students were walking along an "old clothes" street in London. Suddenly one exclaimed, "What a splendid text for a sermon to young people!" pointing to a suit of clothes that hung swaying in the breeze at the side of a window. The sign read, "Slightly Soiled. Greatly Reduced in Price." "That's it exactly" the speaker went on, "we young people get soiled so slightly, just seeing a vulgar show in a theater, just reading a coarse book, comic or otherwise, just allowing ourselves a little indulgence in dishonest or lustful thoughts, just slightly soiled, and lo! when the time comes for our manhood to be appraised, we are "greatly reduced in price." Our charm, our strength is gone. The consecration of youth is gone. We are just part and parcel of the general, shop-worn stock."

There is great loss in being "slightly soiled," but there is power in purity. Sir Galahad, the knight of old who stood as the type of chastity, said: "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure." It is so still. The person whose heart is right has the power of ten average men from the very fact that his heart is right. Inside purity gives outside strength. Strength to live, to overcome temptations, to win victories for the Purest of Men. How pure am I inside? The outside will tell.

Volunteer Wheat Acreage Reduced From Year Ago

The present acreage of volunteer wheat is estimated at 10 to 15% of the total acreage in wheat. This figure compares with the estimated 35% of a year ago. It will be recalled that the volunteer wheat from the past season did exceptionally well and that of the present crop could progress satisfactorily with the sub-soil moisture that is present. Volunteer acreages usually do not produce well, but with the good moisture conditions could mature a good crop. With the ideal conditions that we have at the present time, Texas may witness a second year in succession that volunteer wheat will come through to the satisfaction of the producer. It is estimated that the acreage of wheat is about 5% over the allotted seed acreage of 3,726,325 acres for the State. The 5% extra acreage is due to the volunteer wheat that still remains. Some of the volunteer will be plowed up before harvest, but at least 5 to 10% will be left for harvest.

Eggs by the Pound Instead of By the Dozen

COLLEGE STATION—A trend toward sellings eggs by the pound instead of by the dozen is becoming evident in some sections of the country, and this is profitable both to the producer and the consumer, in the opinion of Myrtle Murray, home industries specialist of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Under present marketing practices, the consumer pays as much per dozen for extremely small eggs as for standard eggs which weigh two ounces each, or a pound and a half per dozen. Likewise, Miss Murray explains, the producer who markets standard size eggs or larger receives no price advantages for a better product.

Until the public and the trade accept the change from the dozen to pound basis, producers will have to obtain their premiums by offering high quality clean, infertile eggs correctly prepared for marketing. Miss Murray says that means eggs should be gathered at least twice a day and kept in a clean wire basket until they are cool and ready for packing. They should then be graded as to size, putting the uniformly small eggs, the medium (24 oz. to the dozen) and large ones in separate containers. They should also be candled and sort out the defective eggs.

They should always be packed with the pointed end down. If packing materials have been used previously, care should be taken to see that they are clean. Avoid wrapping eggs in newspapers or other printed material for they may be soiled by ink, the specialist says. It also pays to make certain that fillers and cases are sturdy, for one broken egg can stain an entire case full.

Miss Murray recommends that eggs be marketed at least twice a week so that consumers can be assured of fresh produce.

Lake View Tattler

Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon and children, Christina and Loretta, Mr. Dillo's father of Las Animas, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Ralph Pullbright's father, also of Las Animas, were guests this week in the Ralph Pullbright home. Wilbur Pullbright is at home during the holidays.

The Lake View school had an interesting Christmas program Wednesday night. School will open again January 4.

Venetian blinds have been installed at the windows of the school. One night a cat accidently spent the night in the schoolhouse and must have had a grand time running up and down one of the blinds.

Mr. and Mrs. Knox Pipkin and children, J. W. and Elma, called in the Woods King home last week.

Sam and I sent several boxes at Christmas to the soldier boys. For George, I baked a large cake. Knowing he was to be moved, I waited for his new address. Finally decided we might as well eat the cake. The day we received the new address, there was the cake with a big hunk cut out. I debated whether to bake another, but Sam said send it on. I packed it with several other eatables and wrote a letter explaining why part of the cake was gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Gossett and daughters, Gayle and Dora Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. King were Christmas dinner guests in the Johnny King home.

Santa Claus really came to see me Thursday afternon. I had a buffet full of lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Reed and children were guests in the home of his mother, Mrs. James Reed, Sunday. Friday afternoon they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Beck, near Gruver. Miss Ann Beck, who teaches school in Wichita, Kansas, is spending the Christmas holidays at home.

Mary Alice and Ann McClellan, who are attending college at Boulder, Colo., are spending the Christmas vacation with their parents.

A gay time was had in the Love Brown home Christmas day when all their children and grandchildren were present for a big turkey dinner.

Helen and Maxine Kenny called in the S. J. Powell, Nitschke and Deck homes, Thursday. Other visitors in the Powell home Thursday were: Edith and Ouida Pipkin, Margaret Reed, Luther and Bobby Nitschke of Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Powell were dinner guests Christmas in the Sims home.

Beverly Beck spent Wednesday night with Margaret Reed.

Sim's old gray mare Bessie, who makes my column once in awhile, spent Christmas in the pasture with Hooper's old horse. The two are both drawing a pension, but can't seem to settle down and stay at home.

Although I had made up my mind not to clean house or freshen up until the rooms were finished and the remodeling completed, have decided I will have to start cleaning before the first of the year.

Mrs. Medlin Patterson was buying wall paper for her new five room bungalow the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beck are wearing a big smile for he is here to stay. Who? Why, their new son that arrived the first of the week.

a two-point coupon, a five-point coupon, and an eight-point coupon.

The third chief difference is that the various rationed items within a group will have different point values. For example, tenderloin steak, being relatively scarcer, might have a high point value and require a larger number of coupons, while hamburger, being available in greater quantities, would have a lower value. Thus, in exchange for a ration coupon worth eight points, the housewife might be ble to obtain one pound of tenderloin steak or four pounds of hamburger. Those point values are used only for illustration. The point values have not yet been set.

The Government will set the point value of each item within the group of rationed products and issue an official list. Point values will be based on available supplies and will vary as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

War Ration Book Two will contain four pages of blue stamps lettered and numbered, the letters running from A to Z. The numbers will be 8, 5, 2, or 1. The number will designate the value of the stamps in points and the letter will indicate the period in which it may be used.

Possession of War Ration Book One will be necessary to obtain War Ration Book Two. The District Manager urged that everyone who has not already done so register promptly for book one to insure getting book two. The final date for obtaining book one was postponed recently to January 15. Weather conditions, transportaton problems and heavy work loads at many board offices contributed to the difficulty of completing registration by December 15, the deadline originally set, he said.

Our Defenders Speak!

The Herald asks that men and women from this community serving in the armed forces write letters to this department for publication. Letters to relatives that would be of interest to the public will be published under this heading.

Somewhere in N. Africa
Dec. 12, 1942

Hello Mr. Stewart:

Just hit the jack-pot on this mail proposition again seems long and far between tho. You go for weeks without mail, then you get a deluge of it, and then you are way behind with your letter writing for the next few weeks.

I got my Herald today and I simply memorized it. I'll swear I never knew that a guy could appreciate a paper so much. It was the Sept. 17 issue, but nevertheless it was news to me.

Van, when these guys tell you that it doesn't rain in N. Africa you contest them. Because I woke up a fortnight ago with a babbling brook in my tent. (I needed a bath anyway.) Can you imagine trying to sleep in a pup tent and at the same time one arm out in the weather trying to hold the rear tent peg in the ground?

I would like to draw you a vivid picture of ths country but you know what a long story that would turn out to be. Instead I'll wait until I can tell it to you. In the meantime "thank" your Lord that you are an American. I never knew until I came here just how lucky we are. (Oh, I guess I'm just homesick today and shouldn't even write. I guess it's the mail I received.)

Van, just because this paper is a little dirty and weather-beaten don't think I've lost all sense of decency—it's only a matter of circumstances.

From the news, you guys back there are doing a nice job on this scrap iron and bonds—keep up the good work and we'll try to put it where it does the most good.

The weather here is quite warm in daytime, but gets a little chilly at night. The oats are just coming up seems funny at this time of year. I don't seem to be able to realize that it's almost Xmas. What an extraordinary Christmas this is going to be!

Well, Mr. Stewart, I could write for a week but I'm afraid that the censor would stop about six and a half days of it so why don't I sign off here and try to get some other letters written?

Put the goods to us and we'll make them think lightning struck 'em.

Ever,
"Buck"

Dear Mr. Ellzey:

Thank you ever so much for your personal letter and the USO Committee for the real favor in sending the Ochiltree Herald each week.

In the Service Edition of the Ochiltree Herald, the American Legion's salutation to the boys really brought to light one of the main factors, among other things, in winning this war—that of boosting morale by getting letters from home and from friends at home to men in the Servce and especially to the boys in Foreign Service. If only very member of each USO Committee in the United States could see the rush for mail call (more enthusiastic than for Mess Call), then not a boy would be wanting for that that makes a good soldier—an encouraging letter from home and from friends at home.

I am thankful for the many letters that I have received from many friends at home and from Mother, Dad, and Sister, of course, but too many boys, even in our Company, really know the true "blues" after each mail call only because of not receiving at least one card or letter from someone at their home.

Thanks again for your thoughtfulness in writing; I sincerely appreciate and welcome every letter from friends at home and try to answer everyone.

Yours very truly,
Sgt. Sidney Jines

Dear Friends Inc.:

In answer to your letter, I am grateful to say that I really appreciated it. I am proud to hear that the people of Ochiltree County are 100 per cent behind the soldiers of the United States. We need your help to win victory; without you, we cannot win.

In regards to the paper, I am happy to receive it. Without the home town paper, I would be lost. I'll bet every soldier from Ochiltree County is glad to receive the Herald, as there is nothing like reading your home town paper.

Time is very precious so must close. Thanks again for the paper.

Gentlemen:

Thanks a lot for the letter. It's good to be reminded that though we're gone, we are not forgotten. And I'm sure every single one of our boys will agree.

Am on "alert" for shipping and will probably leave here tomorrow morning and there's lots yet to be done, so I'll stop. Adios.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Stewart and Friends:

How is everything going back in dear old Perryton? As for the Marines—so far, they are really swell. Of course, I've had nothing but the basic training as yet but I'm satisfied that it is really the life here.

My Plt. breaks boot camp December 30 and until then we will have practice drill and summarize what we have learned in the past six weeks.

I want to thank you and the USO for sending the paper and I want you to know that I appreciate it a heck of a lot. This letter may be too late but here's wishing all of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year any way.

Yours truly,
Pvt. Charles H. Linville,

Dear Friends:

Again I wish to notify you of my change of address so there will be no weeks passing in which I will not receive the Herald. Every Thursday I look forward to receiving it, and I save the mail orderly much time by saying, "It's that paper there with the red bands on the wrapper." A smile is returned.

Though the times of my writing be few, it by no means sums the times I think of you all. Especially will I think of you this Christmas. Imagine we will have to sprinkle some lux flakes, etc., on the ground near the door step to get the spirit of a White Christmas. But we all expect regular duty on Christmas Day and look forward to getting off at night.

As for service in Florida—it is fine. The weather is nice and warm. Occassioneally we have a cold snap. The other day the temperature dropped to 34 degrees at 8 a. m. Yes, we all were wearing our overcoats and wringing our hands to keep them warm. It surely seemed cold.

Again I wish to thank you for sending the paper to me. Wish it were possible for me to call at your office but that would be too good. If you all can keep up your good work, we will lick the other side. (We will keep on fighting, without grumbling, against the Japs and Nazis too; we'll rid this globe of all the rats. And won't quit 'till we're through) our Motto.

So from the sunshine of Florida, I wish the happiest and merriest Christmas to all of you as well as the years to come.

Again thanking you for your kind service,

As ever,
Ted

Dear Friends:

I will write a few lines to let you know of my new address. It is exactly a week since I left my former camp. We all enjoyed the trip to our present station, but it is quite different than we have been used to.

I don't know how long I will be here, so there is not much I can say about my future if I could tell you.

I should have notified you sooner about my change of address but we have been kept pretty busy. This is going to be a pretty dull Christmas this year, as it busted up a few of my plans.

Hoping everyone a Merry Christmas, I will sign off for this time.

Yours truly,

BE IT RESOLVED

By The Nation's Homemakers

Here are four resolutions which all conscientious housewives and homemakers will want to make, and keep. They are the means by which the health of their families, and eventually the nation, will be improved:

RESOLVED:

To plan and serve healthful, well-balanced, attractive meals to the family every day; such meals to include "protective" food such as milk, citrus fruits, tomatoes, leafy vegetables, yellow vegetables, eggs, meats, fish, cheese, whole-cereal breads, butter or enriched margarine. To add calories by means of jellies, sweets and desserts.

To increase the food budget, rather than omit an essential food . . . to use the less expensive meats, meat substitutes and fish that are just as full of nutrition as the more demanded protein sources of food.

To not use soda when cooking, as it is the cause of vitamin losses . . . to cook all foods properly to preserve valuable vitamins, minerals . . . to use vegetable liquids for soups, sauces, gravies, stews.

Work!—That Was 1621 New Year's Observance

"We went to work betimes."

This laconic entry in a pioneer American's journal is the sole record of the observance of New Year's in 1621 by the Pilgrims in the New world.

Many a good Puritan minister regarded the celebration or even thought of New Year's day as an irreverent and impious observance honoring the Roman God Janus, from whom the year's first month derives its name.

Yet the Pilgrims and Puritans came from a land where New Year's eve and New Year's day were second in importance only to Christmas. Throughout every English county New Year's eve was always celebrated. In many districts it was called by the name of "Singing E'en," from the custom which obtained of singing the last of the Christmas carols at that time.

Important Day

New Year's is the biggest festival of the year in China. All the people—rich and poor alike—have to dress up and go out in the streets and see the circus or fair.

Novel Games Enliven Party On New Year's

"The game's the thing" when a group gathers to celebrate New Year's. A few novel ideas help promote a spirit of informality and bridge any dull period until all the guests get well acquainted.

Since New Year's day is traditionally the time for people to make resolutions, a game centering around this topic will make an instant hit. There is one called "Mixed Resolutions" that will fill the bill for fun-making in any crowd.

Just seat the group in a circle and give each person a paper and pencil. Then tell everybody to put down the name of the hostess and the resolution they think she should make for the ensuing year. Then the name of each guest's right and left hand neighbor, with appropriate resolutions until the entire crowd is covered. No names are signed, so the sky is the limit as far as resolutions go.

Week's Confession.

When all the names have been accounted for, the hostess collects the sheets of paper, reading all the resolutions for herself and each guest.

While your guests are still in a circle, have pencils in their hands, there is another slight variation of an old game that applies admirably to a New Year's party and that will create plenty of hilarity. Just furnish your guests with sheets of paper marked into seven divisions to resemble a week's page from a diary.

Direct each person to sign his name at the top and then pass the slip to the right. Players are then asked to write on the first line an account of what they did on Monday. The slips are then passed along until the entire [illegible] counted for.
