$100,000 BUILDING PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED

JACKSON BROTHERS LET FIVE CONTRACTS FOR HOUSES HERE

J. J. CLEMENTS TO BEGIN WORK AT ONCE ON THESE TO BUILD MORE DURING NEXT 18 MONTHS, TO SPEND OIL PROFITS HERE

Andy W. and J. B. Jackson, owners of the Jackson Brothers company yesterday announced that contracts for the erection of five brick business houses on 13th street had been awarded J. J. Clements, local contractor.

The buildings will be erected on two well located sites, one occupying 75x75 feet at the corner of 13th Street and Avenue H across from the Ira Wilson office building, while the other building including several store rooms, will be erected on 13th Street between Avenues H and I, and will occupy the space from the west side of the alley to the line of brick buildings owned by Jackson Brothers on the southeast corner of 13th Street and Avenue H. Construction work on the building will be started within a few days, Mr. Clements said, and foundations will be built to accommodate four stories, and the building on all probably be erected to a height of three stories this year, with the other buildings enlarged as need for them arise.

Jackson Brothers, who have been in business in Lubbock during the past eleven years, have plans for a $100,000 building program that will be carried out during the next 18 months if conditions remain favorable, and few men have greater confidence in the future of Lubbock than they have as attested by the large investments they have already made in permanent improvements on their property here.

The Burlington or some other railroad company will build into Lubbock within two years, if it is not badly fooled, and the piping of natural gas here from the Amarillo field will increase Lubbock's chances for becoming a real city. We want to begin now to make room for the roads that will come here," Andy Jackson told the Avalanche.

Mrs. W. B. Price was made chairman and J. W. Gamel was made vice chairman of the camp fire council when the organization was perfected Thursday afternoon at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. O. L. Peterman. Mrs. Peterman is president of the Junior Twentieth Century club, the organization sponsoring the camp fire girls. Mrs. Percy Spencer was made secretary of the council. Plans were made for a permanent meeting place for the girls and for a summer trip for them. J. W. Gamel was made chairman of a committee to arrange for a home for the girls. He outlined a plan already formed for renting a house and stated that 42 men, members of the Kiwanis club, had agreed to finance the club house. N. L. Peters, who is a member of the Rotary club, has also contributed to the fund. Other members of the committee on a "home" are Mrs. G. C. Wolfarth, O. L. Peterman and Mrs. Percy Spencer.

A summer camp of at least two weeks will be arranged for the girls. Mrs. Price told of an invitation the girls have had to go to Santa Fe where they will be given rates to attend the Indian ceremonies and a free camp arranged by officials of the Santa Fe chamber of commerce. If this trip can be arranged it will be of educational value to the girls, as well as of great interest to them since their own ceremonies are based on Indian life. Rev. Jack M. Lewis stated that the Post boy scout camp will be open to the girls also, and the camp fire girls of Lubbock may be taken there. Plans for the camp were placed in the hands of a committee composed of Mrs. J. C. Granbery, Dr. P. W. Horn, Mrs. W. P. Jennings, Rev. Jack M. Lewis and Mrs. C. M. Holt.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

This is the subject that will be discussed in the Bible Study Class next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. For the past three Sundays, we have been studying the first two chapters of Romans. In the first chapter we found that the Gentile is affected with the disease of sin and in the second chapter the Jew was found to be with the same disease. All have sinned and come short of the glory of God. This does not mean that all men are as bad as it is possible for them to be, but it does mean that the human race is in a decadent condition physically, mentally, morally, and otherwise. Its tendencies are downward instead of upward. If it seems to rise, it is at the cost of a tremendous effort and as soon as the effort ceases, it begins to slip downward and to manifest clearly its decadent condition. The lesson next Sunday will show from actual conditions—around us and from history that human tendencies have been and are downward. It will seek to make clear the basis for the redemptive work of Christ as the Savior of the world. The teacher will seek to show that if man's tendencies are naturally upward, the Bible message is an impertinence and Christianity a cheat and a fraud. You will enjoy the lesson and are cordially invited to be present if you are not a member of another Bible class.—Class Reporter.

Dr. Ballenger Heard by Demonstration Club Members

On Thursday, June 24, the home demonstration club of Woodrow met at the home of Mrs. Robinson. Subject for study, "Teeth, and Their Part in Health." At the request of the club Dr. C. M. Ballenger was present, giving a very interesting talk on the importance of properly caring for the teeth; at the same time prescribing practical home treatment, showing the disastrous results arising from neglect, also stressing the fact that many bodily ailments originate in a diseased mouth. By means of x-ray films he demonstrated the best known method of detecting decay in the early stages, which is of course the proper time to apply remedy to obtain permanent or satisfactory results. We desire again to thank him for assistance rendered and assure him it is appreciated. Delicious refreshments were served and the regular business rescheduled. Altogether it was the most interesting session in the entire existence of the club.

Miss Hazel Hammer came by for a short visit, bringing helpful suggestions. Thanks, Miss Hammer, for doing duty overtime to remember us. The next meeting will convene Thursday afternoon, July 8, at the home of Mrs. E. J. Jennings, high way No. 9, four miles south of Woodrow. In prospect is another of those interesting programs with an unusual feature. Come and see for yourselves. We especially urge every member to be present.—Reporter.

NEW YORK'S PRESENT ENFORCEMENT CHIEF STARTED OUT TO MAKE BIG DENT IN BOOZE TRADE; HE DID IT

By RODNEY DUTCHER (United News Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, July 1.—For years, it was the custom for each new prohibition administrator of this port and wicked city to come into office with an announcement that New York was about to be dried up.

It was also the custom for Broadway and all the other big streets, the cross streets and even the little alleys, to greet these salutes with snickers that always proved justified.

Last March the latest and current administrator took over the job and broke all tradition by making no announcement at all. He has kept quiet ever since, but his activities have been felt in proportion and it appears that although there may be no hope of enforcement, there at least is a degree of accomplishment.

The fact is that Major Chester F. Mills never was so optimistic as to think New York could be made dry. He merely undertook to make an impressive dent in the liquor traffic in his district.

Forgetting the big pocket violators and home stills, Mills, an army veteran like General Lincoln C. Andrews, his boss, has gone after the bootleggers sources of supply, the biggest of which is the demerol alcohol market. Earlier this week he has seized $350,000 worth of demerol alcohol in one raid.

But the most important part of his performance is not spectacular. Revocation of permits and scaling down of issues of alcohol is a drab routine sort of work, although it may prove tremendously effective.

A demonstration of what is going on is seen in the assertion that liquor withdrawals by drug stores for the past three months have been 85,000 gallons, as compared with 132,200 gallons in the same period last year. Druggists found to be illegally diverting their legal whiskey and grain alcohol supplies were simply sealed down to their legal requirements.

Two hundred of the 2,500 drug stores holding liquor permits here now or are about to be subjects of grand jury investigation as a result of evidence obtained against them.

"We have demonstrated that through the proper administrative supervision one of the sources of supply of whiskey for cutting purposes can be practically eliminated and the heretofore profitable bootleg drug stores reduced to a minimum," commented Mills, who seldom comments.

As an example of how permits were abused, he told the United News of one concern which was allowed 1,500 gallons of whiskey, 600 gallons of grain alcohol, and a ton of amount of wine every three months. With use of water, some 40,000 or 50,000 quarts of 98 proof whiskey was produced by this firm each year, he said. This is the sort of thing he is trying to eliminate and with 225 additional agents he expects will be available here after July 1—there are 175 now—he hopes to treble the business of his administration.

BIG BOOK ORDER FOR LUBBOCK HI

LIBRARY WILL BE MADE BEST IN ITS CLASS IN THE STATE

The order made yesterday includes books for use of students in all grades in the high school, and quantities of classics and others that will be used in regular class work reading were ordered for convenience of students.

The board has just bought 20 new typewriters for use in the commercial department of the school where typewriting, stenography and bookkeeping will be offered during the next term.

Prism to Study Aurora Borealis

LONDON, July 1.—A small specially made prism of glass, encased in a bronze holder, with which science hopes to learn the real truth about the aurora borealis, is waiting its first opportunity for use in the observatory of the Imperial College here.

British science has definitely given up the former theory that the aurora is a reflection of the light of the sun.

The new theory adopted by the Imperial College is that the aurora is an electrical discharge in the upper atmosphere, probably set up by particles emitted from sun spots.

"The approach this year of the maximum number of sun spots, which have been observed to recur every 10 years regularly for the past 60 years will bring the proper time for the best observations of the aurora, which invariably increases in its number of appearances when the sun is most spotted," Herbert Dingle, Assistant Professor of Astrophysics at the Imperial College told the United Press.

Brennan Admits He Is Mugwump

By United News

CHICAGO, July 1.—George E. Brennan, democratic candidate for United States senator has "bleaded guiltily" to his opponent's charge of bi-partisanship and says that he expects to be bi-partisan every time an important issue is at stake.

"When a vital principle in the issue, party lines are forgotten," Brennan said in a radio speech here last night, opening his campaign for the senate against Colonel Frank Smith, the Republican candidate.

"I have been bi-partisan many times and expect to be again," Brennan said. The so-called "wringing wet" nominee made a strong bid for the support of republicans as well as democrats, declaring that the people of Illinois are in need against prohibition and that this issue will wipe out all party lines in the November elections.

Brennan referred to Colonel Smith as a "dew" pointing out that he had been given the support of the anti-alcohol league. "The league is a big better condition to speak for my country, than he is to speak for himself," Brennan said.

In regard to the world court and firm relief Brennan took definite stands. He said he would have voted for the Hague court and that he would have voted for the League of Nations when these measures came to a vote.

FEAR AND SERVE GOD—"Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, and serve him." Deut. 6:13.

WANING INFLUENCE OF THE DAILY PRESS

It has been charged that the daily press of the country has been so commercialized that editorial writers are now employed, in many instances, merely as a matter of form. Every newspaper is supposed to have an editorial page, therefore an editorial writer, but too often his efforts are restricted by a policy formulated and enforced by the ruling power in the business office. Occasionally these editors write with force and snap, evidence that there is no lacking in ability to express themselves when unrestrained, but so far removed from anything that may be of direct interest to readers, that no possible reaction can be expected.

Although there are live issues before the people; reforms that should be fostered and developments in our educational, religious and industrial life in which our great daily papers should lead, many editors find it easier and much safer to dish out a column on "The Threatened Revolution in the Balkans," another on "Conditions in China," and perhaps a half column on "Mussolini." To lighten up the page, we may find another editorial on "The Dangers of Pricking a Pimple."

Under these circumstances and under the restraint imposed upon editorial writers, whose fault is it that the daily press, once a power in shaping the destinies of State and Nation, has less influence than weekly papers and monthly magazines? The demand for quick service and news from every quarter of the globe makes necessary an expensive plant and a large staff and this calls for large sums of money which must come from advertisers. The same, however, is true of every publication in proportion to the size of its output. Therefore, newspapers, daily, weekly or monthly, are, of necessity, commercial institutions. It takes money to publish any kind of a paper, and the more pretentious the news the more it costs. This should not prevent the formulation of a constructive policy and an understanding between the editorial and business departments which would remove the handicap which editors now labor under, even though it did not bring about an absolute divorce. One department is essential to the other, co-operation should prevail. No publication, however, ever suffered any length of time by being courageous in its efforts to supply the leadership needed in every community and in every State. Fortunately there are yet a few daily papers that continue in their efforts to maintain, editorially, the high standard of journalism set by leading publications in the days of Horace Greely. Such papers become an open forum of the people. They become leaders in shaping the trend of thought on all questions of public interest. The service thus rendered far exceeds in value the mere presentation of the sensational news of the day.

The first duty of any publication is to serve its readers. Without this service it would soon lose its value to its advertisers. The readers are served best when the editorial policy is not dictated by men whose training has taught them that the dollar is almighty. There are publishers who think first of their readers. Fortunate indeed are those readers and the editors who serve them. Fortunately, also, the advertisers, for advertising pays best in papers that have and hold the reader's interest.—Farm and Ranch.

There are too many newspapers who watch to see which way the public is leaning to make their stand or some will take the stand on the side of money. So far as this publication is concerned, we have our ideas about things, but before we express them we give matter close study, and form conclusions according to the effect it will have upon the nation or the community, and take our stand. A few hundred dollars will not change us or a thousand, when we think we are right, and it's for the best interest of the community, and we have no patience with any newspaper that will sell its editorial utterances to any class, clan, clique, candidate, corporation, municipality or party.

SKILLED LABOR TEMPERATE

Writing about liquor conditions in Quebec, which has a moderate degree of prohibition, Norman Haggood says there are taverns left, and men do get drunk in them. But thereby hangs an interesting fact, applying to the whole of our modern industrial civilization. The men he sees coming out of these taverns drunk, says Haggood, are not skilled workmen. "They drink seldom, and almost never to excess." Those who get drunk are "a few sailors, or the lowest class of labor." Thus in Quebec, as in the United States, skilled labor is characterized, not necessarily by total abstinence from liquor, but by temperance. Modern industry is responsible for that, he concludes. Temperance naturally comes with high-powered machinery and the need of accurate, responsible manual work. Just as according to Henry Ford, "the motor and drink don't mix," so drink and engineering don't mix, nor drink and carpentry, nor drink and bricklaying, nor drink and plastering, nor drink and tri-hammers. Thus, for economic reasons, quite aside from normal reasons, there is every reason why this should be a sober age. It isn't merely the preachers, the women, the Anti-Saloon League that are responsible for the anti-liquor movement. The whole force of our modern industrial life is working against alcohol, because alcohol is the enemy of skilled industry, and the intelligent workman would rather ride forward on a wave of industrial opportunity than sacrifice his future to booze.

MEASURED SUNSHINE

There is being installed in the Carnegie Desert Laboratory at Tucson, Ariz., a simple instrument, just invented, which will measure and record with great precision the health-giving rays of the sun. It is expected to be of great use in studying the intensity and nature of the various kinds of waves received from the sun. It is expected to be of great use in studying the intensity and nature of the various kinds of waves received from the sun, particularly the ultra-violet rays which cure rickets and anemia, kill disease germs and promote human health in general. There are other instruments already in use which measure the total light energy received from the sun in any locality. These little instruments will probably play a big part here after not only in human health but in property values. All our energy comes from the sun, directly or indirectly. It is held that the fitness of any particular region for human habitation may depend, in the long-run, on the amount of solar energy available there. We shall soon have Florida, Arizona and other sunny states engaged in a solar controversy, appealing to settlers and investors on the basis of their available sunpower. Watering places and mountain resorts will vie, each other likewise in exploiting their potent sunshine, showing by exact figures just how quickly and severely a visitor may get himself sunburnt by exposing himself to their local sun.

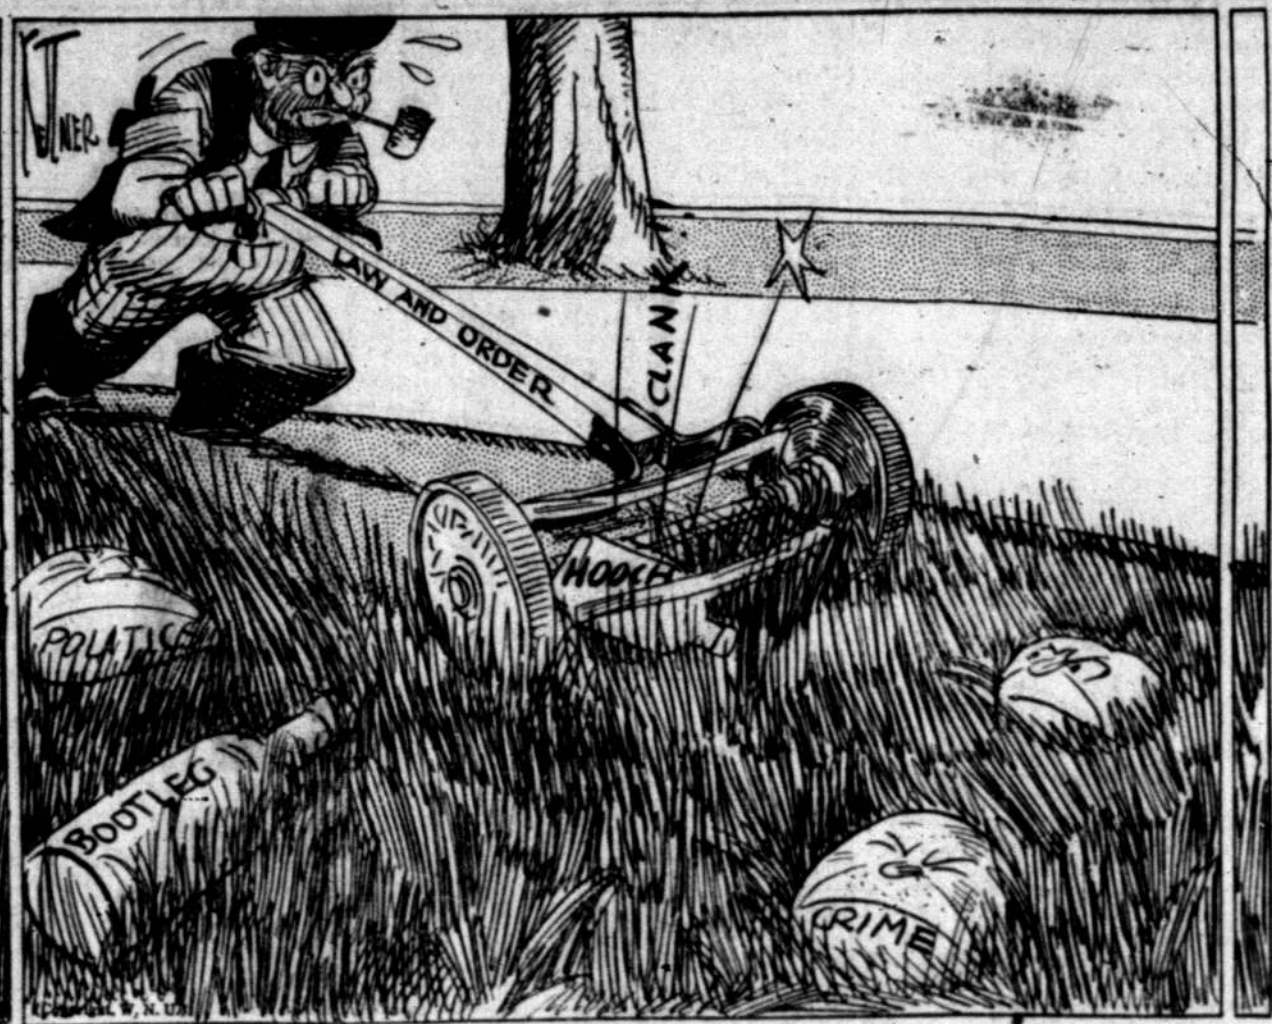

"THE SPIRIT OF 1926"

Birthdays make us thoughtful. It is the national birthday. The picture page of a large daily newspaper lies open on the table. A dozen photographs from the day's news are spread upon it. One, of girl in few clothes doing the Charleston, catches the eye not because of itself but because of its caption. "Spirit of 1926" the line writer has called it. The photographer has chosen an unfortunate moment. The cut gives an impression not of the native grace and beauty of the girl, who probably has some, nor of the characteristic humor of the dance. The impression is one of supreme awkwardness and suggestiveness. Is this the "Spirit of 1926?" Let us see. Nearly half the page is devoted to pictures of the great religious ceremonial which called so many people to Chicago on a pilgrimage intended to revive and strengthen religion through love, faith and beauty of holiness. There is a picture of some fine young men in cap and gown, taken on the class day of a great university. One is of laughing children at an orphan's country cottage colony, said to be the best example of solving the orphan community problem yet devised. One is of Frenchmen who had won an auto race. One of the gay little daughter of Bobby Jones. One of a movie star signing a contract. One of an Indian girl who has won a prize for work among her people. Two are of a man performing a difficult feat in modern industry. There we have today's life, Religion, industry, social service, education, looming large. Out-door sport has perhaps a sixth of the space. The silly, sensuous side of life has but one of 12 pictures. It's heartening on this day when, careless as we are, we cannot escape a few moment's consideration of the history of our country for the past century and a half, to observe the proportions of what go to make up the real spirit of 1926.

THE TECHNIQUE OF RELIGION

The world has known many great artists who have painted many great pictures but none of them used precisely the same technique. Each used that method which seemed best fitted to his own personality. Not all great musicians use the same technique, but we are charmed as we listen to the song. The message is not in the technique but in the theme. Most of today's religious controversy is raging about the technique of religion and the vital message is lost in the roars of the contention. The posture that a man takes when he prays can hardly be as important as the fact that he prays; the attitude of body is of far less importance than the attitude of mind. It is neither the vestments, the pulpit gown, the Prince Albert coat, the frock coat nor the surplice that makes the sermon, but the message of the preacher. Architecture, music, ritual and rites are only aids to worship. They are not worship, but they assist the worshiper and it often happens that what aids one worshiper does not always prove helpful to another. For this reason it will never be possible to bring all religious people into one church, any more than it will be possible to get all people to eat the same food or wear the same clothes. Baptism, church administration, methods of interpretation, much theological doctrine and most ritual and symbolism is nothing more than the technique of religion. Righteousness, good will, forbearance, holiness, neighborliness, charity and kindness are the fundamentals toward which all religions are working. The most lavish expenditures and the most perfect photography cannot make a great picture without a great theme. The most elaborate technique cannot make a religion vital which has no message. Unity is not to be found in uniformity of method but in a united purpose.

So Think We

We think Lubbock will be better equipped for school work this fall than ever before.

We think the down town alleys and vacant lots should be kept clean. It means so much to have visitors look upon a clean town with nicely trimmed hedges and mowed lawns.

We think Lubbock needs several more miles of paving.

We think Lubbock people should know every candidate before they cast their vote in the July primary. Vote for men who will fill the office regardless of the church he belongs to, the lodge pin he wears or the color of his hair.

We think it will be a great thing for Lubbock when the new hotel is opened to the public. It will be badly needed before the fall months. Hundreds of traveling men will make it a special trip to make Lubbock-Saturday night to remain over Sunday here.

We think the farmers of the country have just about decided that the Republican elephant is a white one.

We think that magazine that put out fifty-seven varieties of Fergusonism, should be made to apologize to Mrs. Hinz for connecting his trademark up with such a mess as politics are in Texas.

We think that after a town gets large enough that the postmaster does not know whether Bill Hickman is still writing to Sally Hayday.

We think the British strike must not have amounted to very much because they did not have to ask Uncle Sam for financial assistance.

We think that people are not near so particular now about who their children play with, and possibly the main reason is that they do not know who they play with.

We think there is danger of forest fires in some parts of Lubbock if some of the weeds are not cut. In places they are almost like forests.

We think that there should be a general cleaning out of useless cats in Lubbock. They are great carriers of disease, and a nuisance besides.

We think that every candidate expects to be elected sooner or later either at the first or second primary. We are of the opinion that the majority of them will be badly disappointed.

We think the people of Lubbock will have something to be really proud of in the new hotel that is being constructed.

We think that the big institutions of this city that have been made, great largely through the development of the country, and the newspapers have been largely responsible for the development of the South Plains should show a lot more appreciation of the press by giving them their job printing in preference to the but of town fellows, but how many of them do it?

We think that since the women want to become more and more like the men that some of them should be bald headed.

We think that those young ladies who planned to be June brides and have not, have simply let twelve months slip away from them.

We think the primary system of election is becoming so burdensome from a financial standpoint that a poor man cannot undertake the campaign, and he never so competent, he has not a ghost of a show to be elected.

It Is Reported

That some more dandy good business houses are being contracted, by old time Lubbock boosters. Lubbock folks have confidence in Lubbock. They never weaken, and that is what has made Lubbock, and the same spirit will keep her made.

That the city commission is now ready to receive petitions for paving, and the good work will start very soon.

That there will not be a single one less than 1500 enrolled in the Tech next term, and there will be a lot more families come here to take advantage of the college and the high school facilities, and there will not be a vacant house here by the first of September and many others will likely be needed, not withstanding the wail of the pessimist and the bolshevik.

That the crossing on Avenue I to 13th street has been completed and is a great improvement over the former arrangement which had become a real hard jolt to those who crossed in an automobile at forty miles per hour.

That quite a number of the fellows who are making the most noise politically do not possess a poll tax receipt and have no more vote coming than a Chinaman. We presume they are making all their noise now, for they will have to be mighty quiet at the polls.

That its a five dollar fine to wash your automobile in Amarillo. There is a shortage of water.

That old city auditorium will soon be a thing of the past. We hate to mention it, but Lubbock is in dire need of a place to hold public meetings. We believe that a municipal auditorium or something of the kind is one of Lubbock's coming needs.

Fox hunters in Rhode Island must now bring in the tongue of each fox killed to claim the five dollar bounty. In the past, an ear was sufficient, but as foxes have two ears double bounty was often paid paid foxy hunters.

Some forty languages are spoken in Jerusalem. It is not unusual to find a man who speaks half a dozen languages, and many uneducated persons can converse with ease in two or three tongues.

WORLD TOPICS

EARLIEST KNOWN MEN

Recent discussions concerning the evolution of man has awakened an increased and growing interest in our early ancestors. While the remains of several primitive specimens have been unearthed in comparatively recent years, the search for additional types is going forward in many parts of the world. What is believed to be the oldest remains of a man-like being so far brought to light are those of the Java man, discovered in 1891. This creature was ape-like, but had greater brain capacity and was of more human development than any known ape. He is known to scientists as Pithecanthropus erectus and lived about 500,000 years ago. Next is the Heidelberg man, whose jaw was ape-like, but with truly human teeth, found in Germany in 1907 under 79 feet of sand mingled with the remains of now extinct mammals of 250,000 or more years ago. The third is the Pitdown man found in Sussex, England, in 1912, which also combines characteristics of both ape and man. This specimen probably lived 150,000 years ago. Next in order is the Neanderthal race, represented by numerous remains, including complete skeletons, discovered in various parts of Europe and Asia since 1856. These were more ape-like than any race of men existing today, but were nevertheless fairly passable human beings, and lived about 50,000 and 100,000 years ago.

Finally, perhaps 50,000 or more year ago, there began to appear several races of true men, the Cro Magnon, Grimaldi, Aurignacian and Brunns races, of whom many well preserved skeletons have been discovered during the last sixty years. The Cro Magnons were perhaps the finest physical specimens who ever lived, the men ranging from five feet ten and a half inches to six feet four and a half inches in height.

There are few subjects more fascinating than that of primitive man, and any serious-minded person will be well repaid for the time spent in studying it.

With every "adjustment" of our foreign claims, Europe keeps on borrowing. After 62 years of this system the United States will probably own the world.

HOME EDUCATION

HOW CHARLES LEARNED UNSELFISHNESS

Mary Starck Kerr
 Charles was only three years old. Carol, who was visiting him, was a little girl three years older. They played together happily for a while. Then Charles took his Kiddie Car, and rode around the room a few times. He stopped, and began playing with some other toys, Carol took the car and rode across the room. Charles was worried over this. Carol had not asked permission to take the car, and he did not know whether she would give it back or not. He began to cry, and running to his auntie, who was sitting near, he said, "Carol is taking my Kiddie Car. Make her give it back." Then what did Auntie do? Did she scold Charles, and tell him he was a selfish boy? Did she give him a lecture on unselfishness? No! She took Charles on her lap and talked softly to him in this fashion: "Don't cry, darling. Carol is not going to keep the car. She is only borrowing it and will give it back when she has used it a while. You don't mind lending it to Carol, do you?" "No," answered the little fellow, happily. Then Auntie told Charles how she and his mother and other children used to play together when they were just about this size. "One of us would ride a while, and then another, till all of us had taken a ride. Then we would begin over again. That was 'taking turns' we said. Wouldn't you and Carol like to do that way, too?" "Yes," answered little Charles, with his face all smiles and dimples

By this time Carol had come back with the car, and was listening to what Auntie was saying. She, too, thought that taking turns was a good plan. So they played happily for an hour, first Carol and then Charles riding the car, and the little boy let his playmate's turn be the longer each time. In this way, Charles learned how to practice unselfishness; it was a new experience and he enjoyed it. When children are taught by such a method, they not only learn to share the toys and pleasures willingly, but they learn at the same time to respect the rights of others, a much needed lesson in these days.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

POWER
 Strange is the struggle of the human race,
 By queer emotions we are moved and swayed;
 We long to give commands and be obeyed.
 Hungry for power and eager for a place,
 We brush aside the ways of gentle grace,
 Hoping that men of us shall be afraid,
 Shall keep the laws which we have wisely made.

And flatter when they meet us face to face,
 The urge for power intuitive lies in all;
 Man would be greater than his fellow-man;
 Yet by that fully thousands plunge and fall,
 Far happier they who serve a humble plau,
 Monarchs must be and giants must arise,
 But happiness in gentle living lies.

Famous Stars to Play For Matty

President Heydler has arranged for the presence of the following teams:

Matty team: Billy Gilbert 2b, George Burns lf, Red Murray rf, Fred Merkle 1b, Art Fletcher ss, Art Devlin 3b, "Moose" McCormick cf, Frank Bowerman c, Joe McGinnity, p, "Hooks" Wiltse p.

Barbers Hit High Score On Express And Railroad Men

The barbers leaned heavily on the willow yesterday and beat the railroad-express team by score of 13 to 11. The game was a feature of hits, 21 being rapped out, nine of them for extra bases. Karr poled one for a complete trip in the second, Abney also took a circuit when Moore ran under his long fly to deep center.

Miller and Karr had perfect days at the plate, Karr getting two singles, a double and a homer and Miller a single, double and triple. The score:

Bankers Down Lads of Sherrod-Myrick by Score of 9-5

The Bankers defeated the Sherrod-Myrick aggregation with a score of 9 to 4. Smith, money changer moundsman held the dealers of frying pans, cultivators and dishes to four lone hits which came in the first and second frames; however during the remainder of the game the backing of the infielders and outfielders of the bankers crew was poor and the majority of the score were netted by errors on Smith.

The bankers got to Haley, hard-wareman pitcher, early in the first inning for three straight hits and a few occasional errors on the part of the hardware men the bankers scored five runs in that session. The score:

Stores to Close All Day Monday

Lubbock retail stores will observe Monday, July 5, all day as Independence day, in view of the fact that July 4 falls on Sunday, according to Paul L. Tuesday, July 6, will be observed as first Monday or Dollar Day among the stores, it was decided.

The Variety Store business is growing each year. Many successful independent variety store merchants are making money. If you wish to forge ahead and become a successful store owner why not consider this fascinating and profit-paying business.

We know of many locations in Texas and Southern Oklahoma that represent splendid openings for independent Variety Stores.

We were the originators of the Variety Store business and have been the recognized leaders in the Variety field ever since.

We can tell you every detail of Variety store opening and operation. We can instruct you in each succeeding step. Finding the town, the location in the town, remodeling the store building, installing standard fixtures, selection of stock, opening the store, stock control and store management and so on until the entire subject is covered.

If you have the initiative, a will to work and have from $1500.00 to $6,000.00 to invest, you can own and operate a business that offers the maximum safety for your investment and one that ought to insure you a satisfactory return.

Investigate our plan—no obligation whatever. Come in and see us or write fully and frankly to yourself, the amount you can invest and the location you prefer. All communications held in strictest confidence.

DAILY MARKETS

New York Finance
By United News
NEW YORK, July 1.—While steel common, the re-established leader of the market failed to make its customary new high record Thursday, the rank and file of stocks moved forward fairly steadily and there was no diminution of the better class of investment demand. Steel dropped more than a point from yesterday's close, but trading fell of about 100,000 shares, more than half of the total of yesterday's turn over. Call money held at 4 1/2 per cent which was decidedly cheering in view of the known heavy demands over the end of the month.

Trading in the bond market showed a moderate improvement over the past few days though prices were irregular. Demand for high grade investment issues is very keen and originating bankers declare they are unable to find sufficient new offerings to satisfy the demand. Listed foreign bonds were active today with the French and Italian obligations generally firm. German and Japanese were also strong with the price trend upward. A reaction from the resumption of Nickel Plate merger operations was noted in the much better demand for all of the Erie issues. Industrial bonds were generally steady.

In the stock market division the rails affected by the merger plans for the old Nickel Plate group were all active. Chesapeake and Ohio of 140 1/2 made a new top while Nickel Plate was also holding up. The after effects of the profit taking were not serious. From a technical point of view the market was more satisfied to find steel meeting this profit taking. This will insure a firmer basis for any future market operation in the stock.

Rock Island Starts Expansion

KANSAS CITY, July 1.—With the beginning of grading work on a 12 acre tract immediately west of Armourdale, a suburb of this city, the Rock Island railroad Thursday began a gigantic program of expansion in the industrial district of Kansas City, Kansas.

The track will be used for six main switching lines. Construction of the lines will be the initial step in an expansion to include the building of a new round house, icing plant and the further development of switching facilities throughout the Armourdale district.

The cost of the projects involved is estimated at several million dollars.

MYRICK HEADS FAIR ASSOCIATION

DIRECTORS OF "SHOW WINDOW OF PLANS" CHOOSE PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the South Plains Fair Association yesterday morning, Walter Myrick Jr. was elected president of the coming season and the association began laying plans for the exposition which will be held here September 29, 30, October 1 and 2.

"Every detail will be looked after this year to make the exposition the biggest in the history of the Fair," Myrick stated following the meeting.

Other officers elected were: I. E. Barr, and H. W. Stanton, vice-presidents, and E. L. Robertson, treasurer.

Geo. E. Benson, retiring president and director was present and presided over the meeting until after the election of officers. Benson has served his time with the association during the past two years and the fair was the biggest success last year under his presidency that it has ever been. A motion carrying with it the deep regard other directors have for the work of the former president, was passed unanimously thanking Benson for his services and expressing the appreciation of the board and the fair association for the untiring efforts of Benson.

The resignation of Geo. R. Bean, newly elected directors who resigned because business matters prevented him from giving time to the fair board was accepted and Alex McDonald was appointed to serve in his place.

Premiums will be offered on additional breeders in the live stock department this year according to the action of the board. With the increase of live stock breeding in the Panhandle and South Plains area, the directors are adding classes to the live stock division to encourage the breeding of pure blooded stock and the giving of proper care to the stock.

Many other routine matters were taken at the meeting on several committees were appointed and put to work arranging for various parts of the preliminary arrangements. An increase in agricultural exhibits is expected this fall, following word from a number of counties around Lubbock.

Texas Banks Are In Good Condition Austin Declares

By United News

AUSTIN, July 1.—Notwithstanding the severe drought of 1925 over a large portion of the state, Texas banks as a whole are in the best condition since 1920, Charles C. Austin, banking commissioner, told the Associated Press today.

He attributed the financial soundness in largest measure to determination of the bankers' terms to "clean house" and conscientiously observe the banking laws, and employment of more discriminating "credit judgment" by the bankers.

The banking department is liquidating 188 defunct banks, Mr. Austin said. These banks have liabilities of approximately $25,000,000 and "book assets" of about the same amount, though actual assets probably will not exceed $4,000,000 "despite all we have been able to do a number of state banks have gone to the wall within the past 18 months," he said. "There is really no good reason why a bank should have failed in Texas within the past six or seven years."

"Most banks fail because their officers are incapable or unworthy of directing its affairs, or because those charged with enforcement of the banking statutes do not enforce them vigorously enough. Some time all these factors enter into a failure."

Year Ends With Large Surplus On US Treasury Books

By United News

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 1.—The fiscal year ended last night with Treasury Books showing a surplus slightly less than the $390,000,000 margin recently estimated by President Coolidge. The surplus, larger than that of a year ago but smaller than two years ago when the fiscal year was rounded out with a $505,000,000 balance was piled up despite the reduction in taxes which applied on the last two quarterly tax payments. The balance will be applied on America's war debt, cutting it down to about $19,685,000,000 and making a total slash in this debt for the year of $850,000,000.

CATTLE THIEVES RIDING AGAIN

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON COWMEN DISCUSS FIGHT ON NEW RUSTLERS

By United News

KJAMATH FALLS, Ore., July 1.—Old time cattlemen gazed through the windows of the chamber of commerce building here Thursday and in the glaring sunshine imagined they saw the ghost of the old West—45's dangling—go clattering by. For, although the modern cow puncher rides to town in a flivver to spend his wages, and the old West theoretically is laid to rest alongside the more or less moldering bones of John Barleycorn, the colleagues of the old time cattle men were discussing methods of frustrating the raids of cattle rustlers.

It was at the annual meeting of the California and Southern Oregon Cattlemen's association that the prosaic subjects of marketing and grazing fees were interrupted by discussion of how most effectively to deal with cattle rustlers along the Oregon-California boundary, where herds of white faced Herefords roam the open range, and where thieves recently have been bold and successful.

Lake county, Oregon, a sparsely settled, vast area of range country, has been the principal lair of the cattle thieves, and many ranchers from that district reported losses of bands of steers, driven off by rustlers who left no clue.

Delegates at today's meeting favored a system of checking brands in order that the origin of all beefs delivered to buyers might be more easily traced. Burt M. Hawkins, sheriff, and W. A. West, assistant district attorney, told the cattlemen that they would co-operate fully in enforcing any recommendations of the beef growers, and endeavor to strengthen the Oregon law which at present provides that all beef hides must be held by the buyer 30 days so that the brands may be checked and traced back if desired.

Harvest Machine Spanks Laborers

By United News

LYONS, Kans., July 1.—The combine harvester is the greatest of all farm machinery, Floyd Darling and Jim Keesling, farm hands, testify.

Not only it cut and thresh the golden grain and scatter straw over the ground, Darling and Keesling point out, but it can undress two workmen for bed at the end of a day's toil, spank them and send them home.

Darling became entangled in the reel and came out minus his trousers. While Keesling laughed at Darling's semi-nudity, the revolving reel prohibited him. He came out wearing a shirt neck band and a straw hat.

Costs Him Fine to Teach Wife Lesson

By United Press

VIENNA, July 1.—Betraying one's wife is costly even when done to stop her tongue, according to the experience of an Austrian who has just returned to Vienna from a vacation in Italy.

During their vacation days the Austrian's wife begged him daily to buy her some silks and linens in Italy because of the low prices. She insisted that she could easily smuggle them past the Austrian customs. But he continued obdurate.

On the return trip home the customs official merely raised the lid of the trunks. He touched nothing. A smile of innocence from the woman banished from his mind all ideas of prying into her luggage.

When the official was gone the woman began to upbraid her husband for his stupidity in not letting her make purchases in Italy. In order, as he thought, to teach his wife a lesson, the man went secretly to the official and bribed him to return again to the compartment "the blonde lady" and search her baggage thoroughly.

In every trunk the man's wife had carefully packed away dozens of silk and linen articles. Some she had even put into her husband's suitcase.

"What kind of a man are you?" the lady asked the official. "You passed over my baggage once, and yet you come again."

"Ma'am," the official replied, "you should always be particular with men, especially with husbands. It was your husband who warned me that you were a smuggler. Now I will go and collect from him."

On all of the smuggled articles the man had to pay not only the normal duty but also an extra double duty for seeking to evade the customs.

Can't Publish Adds On Horse Races

By United Press

CLEVELAND, July 1.—Validity of an ordinance prohibiting publication and sale of race horse betting odds in the city of Cleveland was upheld Thursday by the court of appeals.

Two out of three judges concurred in refusing an injunction asked by the Solomon News company to prevent enforcement of the ordinance.

Judge Manuel Levin, who offered the dissenting opinion, said he considered the law a blow to the "freedom of the press," while Judge Willis Vickery, in the written opinion, declared gambling "the greatest evil in our body politic."

Refusal of the injunction is expected to bring an order for the police department to enforce the ordinance.

Cop's Ball Game Ends In Battle

By United News

CHICAGO, July 1.—Two rival forces of policemen forgot to remember they were policemen when they slipped from their blue uniforms into baseball tops to play in the police baseball league. A free-for-all fight which broke loose in the seventh inning put two men in the hospital and brought several squads of neutral officers rushing to the field to quell the riot.

The battle occurred yesterday afternoon during the game between teams of the Shakespeare avenue station and the East Chicago station. Wrangling which had marked the game from the first reached a fever heat in the seventh inning over a decision of Umpire Eddie Kane. Kane was knocked unconscious. A spectator on the side lines applauded and in turn was knocked flatter than kitchen linoleum and then the fight began.

High police officials among the several hundred spectators watched helplessly while the guardians of the law dropped bats and gloves and fought out the last two innings of the game with fists.

Chief of Police Collins announced an investigation would be started at once and that meanwhile no more policeman baseball games would be permitted.

Although business depression in Germany continues the railroads are handling more freight than for several months.
