Senators Spend Night

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Senate struggled today to break a deadlock on natural gas pricing after holding its first all-night session since the battle over the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Lawmakers worked past day-break as Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd waged an around-the clock battle to break a filibuster led by two senators who want to block a vote on an industry-supported plan to lift price controls from natural gas.

"We've had about enough of this foolishness," Byrd declared at dawn. But the West Virginia Democrat did not appear to be making headway in steering the Senate toward a final vote.

The Senate faced a decision on whether to vote to replace President Carter's plan for continued price controls with a deregulation plan favored by the industry.

Unlike earlier talkathons, where senators could steal away for several hours of uninterrupted sleep, this filibuster was being waged with votes instead of words.

Nearly all of the senators had been present, at least from time to time.

Jap Plane Hijacked

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP)-Self-proclaimed Japanese "Red Army" terrorists hijacked a Japan Air Lines DC8 with 156 persons aboard over India today and forced it to land in Dacca, the Bangladesh capital.

Reports abroad said demands were made for the release of imprisoned Japanese terrorists.

Air Vice Admiral A.Z. Mahmood, chief of staff of the Bangladesh air force, said he was negotiating with a hijacker who said he was a member of the Red Army, a radical leftist group, and threatened to blow up the plane if police came within 300 yards.

Crime Rate Improves

WASHINGTON (AP)-Serious crime in the United States rose by less than 1 per cent last year, showing major improvement over the 10 per cent increase of 1975, federal crime statistics show.

The FBI said Tuesday there was an 8 per cent decrease in murders in 1976 and a 10 per cent drop in robberies, reducing the country's incidence of violent crime by 4 per cent.

The Texas Office of Traffic Safety says results of a comprehensive study by accident investigation teams showed that lap belts are 31 per cent effective and lap-shoulder belts are 57 per cent effective. This means that if you are involved in a crash while wearing a lap-shoulder belt, you are 57 per cent less likely to be killed or injured than if you are not wearing any safety belt.

Early this week, United Way organizations in Texas had reported that 4.6 per cent of their aggregate goals had been contributed or pledged in 1977 campaigns. This means that the Scurry County United Way is out front of the state as a whole. Our advance gifts divisions had exceeded its goal already, and that alone accounts for more than a third of the local goal.

After watching professional football games in Minnesota and Cleveland on television, we are convinced that the league should require all teams to provide playing fields designed for football. The bare earth patches on fields used for other sports are ridiculous, especially when you consider the price of tickets and the television money the teams receive. It's a bush league feature that has managed to hang on in the big time for some unexplained reason.

SHS ANNUALS DISTRIBUTED--The 1977 edition of the Tiger's Lair, the Snyder High School Annual, was being distributed today. Gathered around to claim their copies of the annual are, from left, are Katrina York, Susan Sullivan, Beck Brigham, Richard Mann and Helen Riggins. 13th Scurry Fair Opens Tomorrow

The 13th annual Scurry County Fair will open its doors to the public at noon Thursday.

Fair exhibits will be displayed in the Scurry County Coliseum and the adjacent agriculture-livestock exhibit building.

General exhibits were to be taken to the coliseum this afternoon and evening, and judging is scheduled to begin Thursday morning. Exhibits for the art show were accepted Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The fair this year will have livestock exhibits again although they will be shown only for exhibit purposes, except for rabbits, which wil be judged Thursday night at 7 o'clock. All types of rabbits may enter and entries should be in the livestock building by noon Thursday.

There will be special entertainment in the coliseum on Friday and Saturday nights.

Educational, community and commercial booths are to be ready for public viewing by Thursday, and the educational and community displays are to be judged at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The fair dividions include agriculture, education, home economics, handicrafts, baked goods, cake decorating, canned goods, fine arts community booths, livestock and flower show.

The Twilight Garden Club is in charge of the flower show this year, and the Snyder Palette Club is in charge of the art show.

Meanwhile, the fair carnival has already set up on the coliseum grounds and is in operation each night this week.

Fair officials said prospects were good for some outstanding exhibits this year. The local fair had its beginning in 1965 at the Towle Park Barn and the National Guard Armory. It was moved to the coliseum several years ago and has expanded as facilities there have increased to accommodate livestock exhibits.

It Was 100 Again Tuesday

The September heat wave continued its grip on the Snyder area Tuesday with the third consecutive day of temperatures of 100 degrees or higher.

The official high reading was exactly 100 degrees, following a high of 102 on Monday and 100 on Sunday. The National Weather Service forecast called for more scorching hot weather over most of the state today, including Northwest Texas.

Snyder fared better last night than many points, however, as the overnight low dipped to 66 degrees. Many low readings in the high seventies were reported.

CRMWD Taking Steps Toward Refunding Issue

BIG SPRING---Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District took the initial step Tuesday toward a revenue bond refunding issue designed to gain greater flexibility in operations and development as well as achieve possible long range savings.

First Southwest Corporation of Dallas was named the fiscal agent to handle details of the refunding issue; Blythe, Eastman, Dillon Company of New York City as underwriter; and McCall, Parkhurst, and Horton, Dallas, the bonding attorneys. The district's finance committee, headed by Clyde McMahon, Sr., Big Spring, will work out the final details.

The district has outstanding about $35,000,000 out of $61,500,000 issued to construct the district's system which serves more than a dozen cities directly and indirectly in this area, plus many industrial users of water.

The proposed plan is to issue enough new revenue bonds to equal the principal and interest requirements of the outstanding bonds. This money would go into an escrow account to pay off all indebtedness either as it becomes due under present schedules or in a lump sum, whichever would be more advantageous to the district.

Under a resolution authorizing the refunding bonds, a schedule of annual payments would be set up to meet the debt service requirements. It would not, however, be necessary to provide coverage (a reserve to guarantee payments; the district currently sets aside 1.35 times the annual debt service charge under terms of the trust indenture). This could mean a savings to the district,

Contest Winner Misses Only One

The weather was hot the past weekend, but no hotter than a couple of contestants in The Snyder Daily News Football Contest.

In fact, last week's winner came within a whisker of claiming a $100 prize for a perfect score. If Graham had defeated Sweetwater, Manuel Rios, Route 2, Box 295, would have pocketed the C-note. As it developed, he had to be contented with the first prize of $12.50 with a phenomenal 26 of 27 games picked correctly.

Richard Mann, 420 31st Street, claimed the second prize money, missing only three of the 27 selections for the week, a score that ordinarily would have sacked up the first prize.

Actually, last week's winners will receive a bit more than the standard weekly prize, since $5 was carried over from last week when there was a multiple tie for second place.

Another contest begins today, and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

AM Workers To Vote On Union Affiliation

Workers in the American Magnesium Plant southwest of Snyder are scheduled to vote Thursday on a proposal to affiliate with the United Steelworkers Union.

It will be the second union ballot to be conducted at the AM plant here in the past year and a half.

A similar proposal was rejected on May 13, 1976, by a vote of 57-55. Some 110 workers at the plant are eligible to ballot in the election tomorrow.

The American Magnesium plant has been non-union since it was established some eight years ago.

Jerry Fluornoy, representative of the United Steelworkers Union said, "We're out here to help employes put on a campaign to help them bargain for better hours, wages and working conditions."

Beyond that, Fluornoy had no comment on the election, except to advise that the United Steelworkers Union is made up of 1,400,000 members and is associated with the AFL-CIO and the CLC (Canadian Labor Congress).

Company spokesmen answered several questions concerning the election and union ties. Some of these included:

Q--How many votes are required for the union to win the election?

A--The union must have over half of the people voting to be able to represent the workers.

Q--Would the company have to sign a union contract if union affiliation should be approved by the workers?

A--No. The company would be required to bargain, but it is not required

Labor Costs Are Blamed

Zenith Is Going To Foreign Plants

CHICAGO (AP)-Zenith Radio Corp., which claims to rely on American parts and labor more than any other major television maker, is moving key operations to Mexico and Taiwan and eventually eliminating one-fourth of its U.S. workforce.

Chairman John Nevin said Tuesday the firm was forced to take the action because of foreign competition.

The announcement comes a week after Youngstown Steel Co. announced the layoff of 5,000 workers in Ohio, in part because of competition from overseas manufacturers.

Nevin said he believed Zenith "has tried longer and has tired harder than others to protect the jobs of its U.S. employes."

"It is now clear, however, that competitive manufacturers are obtaining increasingly significant cost advantages from production activities in lower labor cost areas of the world."

Nevin said the firm would transfer much of its television module board and chassis assembly operations to plants in Mexico and Taiwan. The move is expected to cost 3,500 American jobs by next year. Another 1,500 would be eliminated through the purchase of imported stereo products.

The move will mean the almost immediate firing of 600 middle-management, research and engineering personnel, mainly in the Chicago area. It also will force the eventual layoff of some 5,000 hourly workers at plants in Chicago, Paris, Ill., Springfield, Mo., Sioux City, Iowa, and Watsontown, Pa.

Zenith currently employs about 21,000 hourly workers in the United States and 3,000 overseas.

Leaders of the Independent Radionics Workers of America, which represents Zenith's hourly employes, were unavailable for comment.

Zenith's stock on the New York Stock Exchange dropped ⅛ point to 14½ Tuesday when news of the staff reduction was announced.

Zenith's profits fell 11 per cent during the first six months of the year, and Nevin announced in August that the firm would give increased sales promotion allowances to its distributors. At the time, Nevin said the allowances would cut third-quarter profits, although he expected the company to show a profit for the year overall.

strange kind of logic

Investigation by state authorities into the night club fire in Southgate, Ky., last May has been completed. It will be recalled that 164 persons died and scores sustained injuries of varying degree of seriousness in one of the worst tragedies of its kind in many years.

Official report of state investigators made public earlier fixes blame for the tragedy on owners, operating personnel and public officials charged by law with the responsibility of enforcing safety regulations. That such a finding is justified would be a gross understatement.

Gov. Julian Carroll of Kentucky, announcing results of the investigation over a nationally televised news program, said there had been callous disregard of safety regulations by all concerned in the design, construction and use of the facility. He criticized state officials by name, past and present, for conditions, charging them with almost total disregard of their obligations to the public, and wound up by saying he had suspended from office the current state fire marshal for neglect of duty.

In summing up he said jury indictments might be expected but hastened to add that he thought indictments would not involve any public official. This meant, of course, if there had been criminal negligence it was confined to owners of the facility and their employes. No public official, in the Governor's opinion, had committed an indictable offense.

An obvious comment is to wonder how the governor of a state, sworn as he is to uphold the law and exercise diligence in protecting private citizens from undue risk to life and limb while engaged in lawful conduct, could say in effect there is no such thing as criminal negligence by an agent or official of the state.

But that is a matter of immediate concern only to the people of Kentucky. Of general concern is that conditions that led to the Southgate holocaust are common in Texas, and no doubt most other states.

A casual study of the details of buildings used by the public, particularly for dining and entertainment, will lead to the conclusion that elemental safety standards are widely ignored. Quite apparent is that many officials having responsibility in the area of public safety share the views of Kentucky's chief executive that if tragedy results from negligence nobody in the public service is accountable under the law.

"Oops!"

come to the fair

Excepting the annual July 4th celebration, no other event brings more Scurry Countians together each year than the Scurry County Fair.

The three-day exposition begins tomorrow, with judging scheduled during the morning hours and displays to be open for public viewing at noon.

County fairs are popular events and they represent one of the few remaining activities that truly exemplify the traditional American spirit that had its beginning back in colonial days.

But county fairs don't just happen. It takes a lot of work to get it together. Scurry County saw many years elapse without a county fair following some early-day efforts. Then, twelve years ago, the present Scurry County Fair organization came into being and annual fairs have continued since that new beginning.

The fair offers an opportunity for friends and neighbors to assemble, an opportunity for those who produce commodities and apply themselves to the arts and crafts to display their products for all to see what Scurry County produces.

It is precisely what the name implies, a county fair, not a state or regional fair, but one that Scurry Countians can call their own and one that justifies community pride. So, come to the fair, relax and enjoy a visit with your neighbors and see for yourself some of the things Scurry County produces. You may be in for a surprise.

"It was like a fairy tale. It was a feeling of everyone loving you, everyone being appreciative, as if all my friends had hit the homer with me."
—New York Yankee star Reggie Jackson, after his home run in the last of the ninth inning beat the Boston Red Sox.

"As a writer, I used to think I was outside politics, that I was, by definition, an observer. But I have come to see that every time we put two words together, it is a political act. Politicians may think they are planning things, but it is the unheard masses, the powerless people, who will bring great changes in history."
—Author Joan Didion on the relationship between art and politics.

"You never see boys charged with promiscuity, do you? But girls are charged with it all the time. The police still like to think that boys will be boys — but girls better not get involved."
—Dr. Rosemary Sarri, director of a University of Michigan study of juvenile corrections policies.

"I think the zone defense came in because it keeps more white guys in the defensive backfield. From an owner's standpoint, you want those white guys because you're selling your product and if you look up into the stands and see those white faces, you know who you are selling to."
—John Mackey, former pro football tight end, on lingering racism in professional sports.

"Big John totally disagrees with official U.S. policies which impose sanctions on Rhodesia. We want to help the government of Rhodesia withstand the pressure of liberal meddlers."
—Robin Moore, author of "The Green Berets," discussing plans he and John Wayne have to help the Rhodesian army.

"The idea of equal pay for equal work is a Catch 22. Too many see the stereotyped jobs that women traditionally do as inferior, so secretaries and waitresses and nurses don't get paid well. I would rather have the slogan be 'equal pay for equivalent work.' Why should a nurse in Pittsburgh make less than a bus driver? Doesn't she work long, hard hours, and have life and death in her hands too?"
—Eleanor C. Smeal, new president of the National Organization for Women (NOW).

"Flavor is not a factor of primary interest to plant breeders. We are concerned more with crop productivity, resistance to disease and rot and the ability to withstand rough handling from pickers, customers and store personnel."
—Dr. John F. Kelly, chairman of the vegetable crops department at the University of Florida, on the lack of flavor in vegetables.

"Tax reform means don't tax you, don't tax me, tax that fellow under the tree."

my turn

by jo ann nunley

How is your supermarket etiquette? Grocery shopping is one of the necessary chores and not very high on my list. Unlike our mothers and their mothers who did their shopping weekly or monthly, it is an everyday task (some days more than once).

Sometimes the shopping is done not only by the woman of the house but by the man of the house, or both. And occasionally responsible children shop for familiar and much used items. Some make it a family affair.

Courtesy can make this job a more pleasant experience for everyone involved.

In maneuvering the grocery carts, push the cart to the right side of the aisle. Often the need arises to compare prices of articles on the shelf especially if you try to maintain a budget. Do you leave your cart out of the flow of traffic?

Are you a Charmin squeezer? Can you tell if a tomato is ripe by appearance, or do you squeeze it to test its ripeness? Handle the products and especially the produce as little as possible.

Examine and select purchases without mis-shelving and scattering items. Often you have seen cans or other goods on a shelf along side the display of another brand which might be a different price. It only takes a moment to return the item to the correct shelf if you change your mind about an item.

Have you ever waited your turn in line and the person being checked out remembers an item she can't do without and holds up the line while she tries to locate it?

Some grocery stores offer a "quick check" lane. Ten items or less can go hurriedly through, which is a service to the customer. Some try to fudge through with eleven, twelve or more items. This defeats the purpose of offering such a service.

When a special, limited price is offered on an item it should be honored so that more people can take advantage of these.

Food stamps users should have items separated and not prolong the checking out process.

Organization, like making a list of items needed ahead and checking them off the list when placing in the cart, having your checkbook, identification, or cash handy for payment, saves feelings of frustration.

My grocery shopping manner needs sharpening and I plan to work on this.

Smile at the checkout clerks; they sometimes have long days, too.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Since all great drama is drenched in irony, it seems only fitting that the fate of President Carter's proposed Panama Canal treaties should rest in large measure with a man who wants his job in 1980: Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr.

Administration officials readily concede that no one, apart from Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, will have as much influence as Baker on the outcome of the treaty ratification battle in the Senate.

To reach the two-thirds majority required, Carter is going to need a sizeable number of Republican votes - and not just from GOP liberals. "If Baker goes against the treaty, an awful lot of his colleagues can take cover behind his decision and vote 'no' to please their consitutents," one State Department source said.

If Baker, on the other hand, chooses to support the treaty, he can probably swing at least three or four wavering Republican senators with him - and every vote is going to count in this fight.

From a political standpoint, Baker's situation is fraught with both danger and opportunity. Conservative foes of the treaty have already singled him out for special pressure, running huge advertisement in Tennessee newspapers proclaiming: "Senator Baker Alone Can Save the Panama Canal."

Baker is up for re-election next year, and he is not impervious to the massive opposition to the treaty in his home state. As of Sept. 20, he had received 6,200 letters on the canal issue - and 6,000 came from people opposed to the treaties.

But the GOP leader is in no real political danger in Tennessee. He could almost certainly ride out any storm at home which might follow a pro-treaty vote.

His most painful problem is in gauging the long-term effects of the canal issue on his presidential aspirations. In the past, Baker has deliberately avoided identification with either ideological wing of the GOP, cultivating the image of a moderate pragmatist.

On this issue, however, there is no middle ground. GOP conservatives will neither forgive nor forget any Republican who casts his vote in favor of Carter's treaties. And the conservatives play a disproportionately heavy role in choosing GOP presidential nominees.

On the other hand, Baker's attractiveness as a centrist politician with a broad appeal across ideological and partisan lines could be severely marred by an alliance with the right wing on such an emotional issue.

And if, by chance, he votes against the treaty and violence erupts in the Canal Zone following a Senate rejection of the pact, Baker might as well kiss the White House goodbye.

For now, Baker plans to keep his own counsel and to use the Foreign Relations Committee hearings as a showring for trotting foes and advocates of the treaties through fair paces.

As minority leader, he has hired two special consultants to prepare detailed briefs for and against the treaties and to coach him on questions that should be asked during his hearings. William Rogers, former assistant secretary of State for Latin America, is shaping the case for the treaties; Georgetown University scholar Roger Montaine is drafting the arguments against ratification.

Baker will also present his own list of suggested witnesses to committee Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., and is likely to raise a very public stink if committee leaders try to restrict the scope and duration of the hearings.

At the White House and State Department, treaty advocates are hoping the committee hearings will serve as a consciousness-raising exercise for the American public. But in the hearing room itself, administration witnesses will be directing their pitch primarily at Baker. The senator has a lot of questions ready for them; the fate of the canal treaties may well depend on how he grades the answers to those questions.

To The Daily News:

On behalf of the Senior Center, our Senior Citizens and myself, we would like to say "Thank You" to the Scurry County Commissioners Court for the support they have given the Center.

The Center will soon begin serving a noon meal for the Senior Citizens, and we would like to thank the commissioners and the Snyder City Council for their assistance in this program.

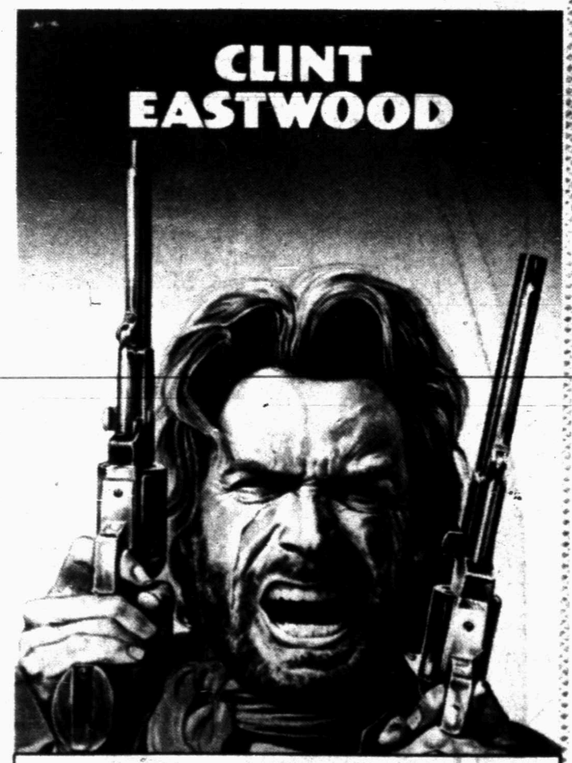

Without public officials who care, our Senior Center would still be a dream. The continuing support given to the Center is most certainly appreciated by all Senior Citizens. It gives us a warm feeling to know that our community leaders care enough about Senior Citizens to provide not only a place for them to congregate but who are concerned about their welfare as well.

The Snyder Daily News and KSNY Radio have always been so gracious in providing publicity for our Center and our Senior Citizens. In this way we can keep all Senior Citizens well informed and it is deeply appreciated.

Beta Sigma Phi Sets Goals

Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The program "Education, Purpose and Goals," was presented by Bette League. She lead the group in a goal setting exercise by encouraging each member to decide on a goal for the present time and then to analyze whether the goal was set according to actual needs or desires.

Ms. League stressed that a person's goals should not require the manipulation of someone else, but should require only action from the one setting, the goal.

The program concluded with comparing goals set among members at different times in their lives.

The business meeting of the chapter was conducted by President Susan Chesser. Following the Opening Ritual, committee chairmen gave reports on the activities of the chapter with special note of the upcoming Martha Ann Woman's Club style show and the selection of the Woman Of The Year committee.

Gloria Myers read from the Book of Beta Sigma Phi and the meeting was adjourned with the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

Refreshments were served by Wanda Early and Billie Smith.

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament a fourth-best spade was opened at all tables, irrespective of who was declarer or whether the contract was three notrump by North or four hearts or five clubs by South.

As you can see the lead beat three notrump since spades were set up before hearts. It was the only lead to give South five clubs since he could get two immediate diamond discards.

At the one table where the contract was four hearts the contract would probably have been set by a club or diamond lead and the play after the spade lead was quite interesting.

South discarded one diamond on the queen of spades and promptly led dummy's jack of hearts. He could not afford the luxury of a second discard at that time.

West was in with the king and led a diamond. South won, entered dummy with a club, discarded his last diamond on the ace of spades, led a second trump and scored an overtrick.

Dulaney Speaks To Altrurian Club

Judge Gene Dulaney was the guest speaker when the Altrurian Club (TFWC) met Friday, with Mrs. Dave Harlin presiding. Speaking on crime prevention, Judge Dulaney stated that our legislature has passed several new laws recently that will strengthen law officials in handling criminals. Among other things, he warned against fraud in the form of door to door salesmen, traveling repairmen, investment schemes and fraud by mail.

He then held an interesting question and answer session.

Mrs. Earl Wilson's meditation pointed out that love, if invoked, could be our greatest weapon against crime.

Mr. Cy Miller, hospital administrator, spoke to the club briefly about the need for additional rooms and facilities at Cogdell Memorial. He said these improvements will make our town more attractive to cardiologists and other specialists, as well as enabling the hospital to better serve the community.

One new member, Mrs. Virginia Whitson, was voted into the membership of the club.

Mrs. A.C. Alexander and Mrs. T.W. Pollard were program directors and Mrs. Pollard was hostess to 21 members and the guest speaker.

Somalia is about the size of Spain and Portugal combined. Its 270,000 square miles comprise the territory of the former British and Italian Somalilands.

Wolverines To Get A Boot Out Of Franklin

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)-What the Detroit Lions or any other National Football League team, for that matter wouldn't give to get Tony Franklin.

But alas, the Texas A&M barefoot kicker is only a junior.

Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan probably wishes Franklin was a senior last year. Then he wouldn't have to worry about him Saturday when the third-ranked Wolverines play at home against the No. 5 Aggies.

Schembechler calls Franklin "the greatest kicker in football. You don't get returns, and you don't get field position."

Michigan has prided itself on its defense during

TONY FRANKLIN

Schembechler's nine-year tenure, but this season's Wolverines have had much more trouble holding opponents' offenses so far. If they can't keep Coach Emory Bellard's Aggies in their own territory. They'll have to worry about Franklin.

"He can kick a field goal any time from midfield," Schembechler said.

Last week A&M, ranked sixth, met seventh-ranked Texas Tech and won 33-17 on the strength of Franklin field goals of 48, 25, 51 and 39 yards.

Last year as a sophomore, Franklin twice in one game set the National Collegiate Athletic Association field goal record. His first one was a 64-yarder and he bettered that with a 65-yard kick.

This season he has made all 10 of his touchdown conversion kicks and has hit on six of 10 field goal tries. His misses came from 51, 54, 59 and 65 yards out.

Spec Gammon, A&M's sports information director, said Franklin kicked a practice field goal 75 yards.

Franklin is a 5-foot-0, 170-pounder from Fort Worth, Texas. This is his third season as the Aggies' placekicker. Last year he was on the All Southwest Conference team.

Michigan's kickers are Nick Labun and Gregg Willner. Labun handles kickoffs and Willner the point-after tries and field goal attempts. He missed a 29-yard field goal try in the Wolverines' 14-7 triumph last Saturday over Navy.

Texas A&M's punter is David Appleby. He averaged 45 yards in five punts against Tech, including booming kicks of 63 and 59 yards.

His counterpart for the Wolverines is John Anderson. He is having a banner year as a linebacker, but his punting hasn't been very good. Although he's been kicking long, he's been booting line drives. Punters are often measured by "hang time," that is, how long their punt hang up in the air to allow defenders to rush down the field.

"I'm just not getting enough height on them," Anderson said. "I guess I'm in a slump as far as kicking, but I'm working on it."

Anderson is averaging 42.4 yards. Only one Michigan punter has ever surpassed that distance average for a season.

Pearson's The One

DALLAS (AP)-Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry has told sports writers he'll let them know about running back Tony Dorsett's status.

Obviously tiring of questions about when Dorsett will take over a starting position, Landry said, "Tony will continue to play, but Preston (Pearson) is the starter."

Dorsett and Pearson each were impressive in Dallas' victory last week over the New York Giants.

Aggies Expand Kyle

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)-Regents at Texas A&M have given the go-ahead to an expansion of Kyle Field.

The addition of 14,600 seats for the 1979 season will bring the stadium's total capacity to more than 63,000.

Athletic Director Emory Bellard says the expansion project will begin after the 1978 season.

Bears To Start Wood

WACO, Tex. (AP)-Baylor Coach Grant Teaff says sophomore Greg Wood will start at quarterback Saturday against Houston as the injury-plagued Bear signal-callers strive for consistency.

Sammy Bickham is still suffering from an injured finger, and Scott Smith re-injured a shoulder against Kentucky two weeks ago.

Woodard Hospitalized

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)-An appendix problem has put Texas A&M fullback George Woodard in the hospital.

Woodard was admitted after he complained of stomach pains following a groin pull.

Bellard said no further word about Woodard's condition will be available until late today.

'Taxpayers Should Have A Say,' Contends Watchdog...

'FANS' Group Formed By Nader

NEW YORK (AP)-Ralph Nader is bankrolling a consumer group for sports lovers because, he says, "There is a rising crescendo from sports fans about the way they are being treated."

The consumer watchdog said Tuesday that he has made a personal loan of $10,000 to launch the group-dubbed the Fight to Advance the Nation's Sports, or FANS.

And while Nader says he will take no policy-making role in the group, he had some ideas about the jobs it should tackle.

Major sports, Nader said, "are heavily subsidized by the taxpayers," and taxpayers should have a say in trading of players, quality of stadium concessions, ticket pricing and accessibility.

He said the group's first move ought to be to force owners of baseball, football and other major pro teams to make disclosure of their costs and profits, so fans can tell whether ticket prices are too high.

Peter Gruenstein, a 30-year-old Washington lawyer who will be executive director of FANS, said that because so many professional clubs get tax breaks and public subsidies, Congress might be convinced to require financial disclosure.

"The players and the owners have been dividing the pie for a number of years, so now there's going to be another group that wants to have a say in how things are done," Gruenstein said.

Both Nader and Gruenstein conceded that because there's never been such a sports consumer group before, they can't be sure exactly how FANS will function.

Nader suggested that if New York Mets fans had been organized, they might have conducted a boycott effective enough to prevent this year's trade of popular pitcher Tom Seaver to the Cincinnati Reds.

In cases where FANS believes sports fans have been defrauded, Gruenstein said he will go to the Federal Trade Commission or the courts, seeking full refunds.

Gruenstein said FANS will need between 10,000 and 20,000 members, each paying $9 a year in dues, in order to get off the ground.

Pennant Race Opens In Los Angeles...

Christenson Slams Phils To Title

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Larry Christenson got the Philadelphia Phillies their big victory and, like a couple of other National League pitchers, he did it with his bat as well as his arm.

Christenson belted a grand-slam home run and knocked in five runs as the Phils defeated the Chicago Cubs 15-9 to capture the NL East title.

J.R. Richard backed his four-hitter with a run-scoring single as the Houston Astros stopped the Atlanta Braves 7-5.

And St. Louis' Bob Forsch slammed a two-run double to go with his eight-hit pitching to pace the Cardinals to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Expos.

"I knew that when I went to the plate that there were three men on base," said Christenson, 18-6. "But when I hit it, I had to look again, and I said, 'Wow, I hit a grand slam.'"

After the title-clinching victory, the champagne flowed, all right, but the Phillies' party this time was different.

"The celebration isn't as loud as last year," said Mike Schmidt, the Phillies' slugging third baseman. "The fellas are taking it with less excitement. We want to play in the World Series."

In other NL games Tuesday, New York defeated Pittsburgh 7-1, San Diego dropped Cincinnati 3-1 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 5-2.

Christenson, who has won 14 of his last 15 decisions, helped the Phils balloon their lead to 11-2 in the seventh inning before Chicago came back with five runs in the eighth - three off reliever Tug McGraw.

The Phils will be in Los Angeles next Tuesday for the opening of the best-of-five series for the NL pennant and a World Series berth.

Tiger Tennis Team Falls To Big Spring

The Snyder High School tennis team loses second in spots, lost its second outing in as many tries at Big Spring Saturday. There were five "split" sets, and Snyder was able to pull only one over to the winning side.

Snyder was playing without the services of their number-one boy, Zane Sterling, number-four Mike Greenfield, and number-four girl, Belinda Scott. Coach Bill Boles noted "When all the players are able to play, surely they will come in as the winners that they are". Results of Saturday's meet were:

Girls' Singles

Margaret Womack defeated Mary Mathews, 6-3, 6-4; Donna McGee repeated her performance of a week ago, defeating Alyssa Burns, 7-5, 6-1; Norma Garcia lost to Toni Cline by default after becoming ill on the court; Jana Wesson lost to Susan McMurray, 6-1, 6-0; Diana Sentell, playing the second match for the varsity, lost to Kelli Bryans, 6-1, 6-1; Cathy Cypert was defeated by Joni Cline, 6-2, 6-1; Valerie Wilson defeated Beverly Carlile, 6-4, 7-5; Zenda Ball lost to Cindy Jones, 6-1, 6-2; Kim Burkhart, playing her second match in as many weeks, lost to Carla Hicks, 6-1, 6-1.

Girls' Doubles

After a slow start, Womack and McGee defeated Burns and Mathews, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1; Wesson and Wilson lost to the Cline sisters, 6-1, 6-2; Sentell and Cypert lost to McMurray and Bryans, 6-1, 6-2; Marsha Burrus and Ball were defeated by Carlile and Jones, 6-1, 6-1.

Boys' Singles

Jeff Scannicchio lost to Barry Fish, 6-4, 6-2; Jay Wesson was defeated by Craig McMahon, 6-4, 1-6, 6-0; Stan Pavlik lost to Nich Willaims, 6-4, 6-0; Jimm Fowler was defeated by Bill Little, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; John Smylie, defeated by Dale Brown, 6-2, 6-4; Jeff Wesson defeated Tony Steigel 6-4, 6-4; Lyn Edmiason defeated Rodney Smith for the second time, 6-1, 6-3. Rodney Babcock lost to Brent Pierce, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Boys' Doubles

Scannicchio and Jay Wesson lost to Fish and Williams, 6-4, 6-4; Pavlik and Smylie were defeated by McMahon and Little, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4; Paige and Fowler lost to Syed and Brown, 7-5, 6-3; Jeff Wesson and Edmiason were defeated by Smith and Steigel, 6-3, 6-3.

The top six boys and six girls will make a trip to Lubbock next Saturday for a match with Lubbock High School in the morning and one with Dunbar High School in the afternoon.

Lamesa Leaps Snyder Eighth

Snyder eighth grade Black was defeated here yesterday, 15-8, 15-9 by Lamesa. High scorer for the home team was Kathy Northcott, who totalled seven points in the first game and four in the second.

Thursday, Snyder Gold will host Seminole in the junior high gym at 6 p.m.

Appliance Show, Seminar At Fair

Microwave cooking will be the first item in a seminar and appliance show to be presented in meeting room A at the County Fair this year. The seminar will cover various phases of resource management, from microwave cooking to avoiding gyps and frauds.

Personalities to be included on the program are varied. Mrs. Billie Phillips, independent home economist and microwave consultant from Fort Worth will lead off at 10 Thursday morning. Others will be Mrs. Lynn White, Family Resource Management Specialist from Texas Agricultural Extension Service; Mrs. Catherine Cawley, Home Economist for Lone Star Gas Company; Dr. Cora McKown, a new member of the Consumer Resources and Housing Staff of Texas Tech, and Lealand W. (Pete) Greene local district attorney.

The program has been planned to provide timely information on the newest in appliances and how to make the most of their energy saving features. New appliances will be on display in the meeting room.

Other events following the seminar will be a Fashion Show of garments entered in the fair to be presented at 2:30 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Margaret Drum, and "Cake Decoration for Young Cooks" by Mrs. Carol Kozelsky at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The complete schedule appears below to clip and refer to.

THURSDAY

10 a.m., Micro Waves, Mrs. Billie Phillips, independent home economist and microwave consultant.

11 a.m., The Cool Ones, Mrs. Lynn White, family resource management specialist, Extension Service.

2 p.m., Energy Conservation, Dr. Cora McKown, consumer resources, Texas Tech University.

3 p.m., Ranges-Electric, Mrs. Lynn White; gas, Mrs. Cathryn Cawley, home economist, Lone Star Gas Co.

7 p.m., Micro Waves, Mrs. Billie Phillips.

FRIDAY

10 a.m., Keep Your Cool, Mrs. Lynn White.

11 a.m., Avoid Gyps and Frauds, Lealand W. (Pete) Greene, District Attorney, Snyder.

2:30 p.m., Fashion Show of garments entered in fair, Mrs. Margaret Drum.

SATURDAY

2 p.m., Cake Decoration for Young Cooks, Mrs. Carol Kozelsky.

Guilty Pleas Are Heard In County Court

The courthouse misdemeanor docket was cleared of five cases following the entry Tuesday of guilty pleas.

Three of the guilty pleas were entered by Adam Paul Ocanas of Snyder. Ocanas pleaded guilty to two charges of driving while intoxicated and to one charge of escape which is alleged to have occurred following one of the DWI arrests.

On the first DWI charge, stemming from a June 19 arrest made by city police, Ocanas was sentenced to serve three days in the county jail and fined $100. On the second DWI charge, he was sentenced to serve three days in the county jail and fined $100.

The escape charge was filed after he briefly escaped from the custody of city police officers on the second DWI arrest on Aug. 7. The escape charge netted Ocanas a $100 fine.

Pleading guilty to a theft charge was Linda Sue Bell of Snyder. The offense is alleged to have occurred Sept. 23, She was fined $200 and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail, probated for six months.

A Coahoma man, Glen Nole Cockrum, pleaded guilty to a DWI charge culminating in a Sept. 27 arrest. He was assessed a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months.

Theft Cases Under Probe

Apparently liking the service so well, a recent lodger of the Pal-O-Mar Motel is alleged to have taken a $400 color television set with her after checking out.

Complainant George Hammerdahl told police the theft is believed to have occurred either Monday or Tuesday of this week.

The incident was one of two thefts reported to police Tuesday.

The other theft was reported by Earl Clinkenbeard who told police that a pistol and several novelty items were taken from a storehouse he has in the 1700 block of Ave. E.

The novelty items were found by Clinkenbeard near the Coleman Apartments, but the $75 Italian-made 7.65 millimeter pistol is still missing, police reports indicate.

The theft is alleged to have occurred earlier this month.

UNION

to sign any contract it believes is unreasonable.

Q--Can the union guarantee that workers will retain their present benefits and that it will get more benefits for workers if it wins the election?

A--No. Bargaining would start at zero. There are no automatic increases in wages or any benefits simply because a union wins an election. The union cannot guarantee anything, and with or without union representation it is the policy of this company to provide wages and benefits according to its ability to pay.

Q--What about job security?

A--It is the company that provides the job, not the union. The union hasn't invested a dime in the business and has done nothing to build or buy the equipment and other things that make the jobs possible. It is the company that creates the jobs, not the union.

Q--What about joining the union just for insurance?

A--The company pays fair wages to the best of its ability, union or no union, and the union cannot force the company to pay more than it can afford. Workers here got their jobs without a union and all wage increases granted in the past came without a union.

Company officials said significant improvements to wages and other benefits have been made this year. For example, they said that, effective July 3 this year, all hourly wages were increased by 40 cents per hour; shift differentials increased from 10 cents for work on the third shift to 15 cents, and from 20 cents for work on the first shift to 30 cents per hour. Also, paid holidays increased from seven to nine with the day after Thanksgiving and the day before Christmas being added.

Effective Sept. 1 this year, insurance programs were improved, with hospital expense insurance and surgical expense insurance being added. Also, major medical insurance improved in satisfying the family deductible requirements, and hourly employe accident and sickness weekly benefits improved and the coverage period went to 26 weeks--an improvement of 13 weeks.

Man Charged With Taking Vehicle Here

David McCurry is the suspect named in a charge alleging unauthorized use of a motor vehicle that was filed Tuesday in the district attorney's office.

McCurry is reported to have appropriated the use of a company-owned pickup truck Sept. 25. The pickup, while reportedly being operated by McCurry, was involved in a traffic accident in Fort Worth that resulted in the suspect's arrest. He remains in the Tarrant County Jail awaiting transfer to Snyder to face charges.

McCurry, an employe of the Holloman Construction Co. which is engaged in several local projects, purportedly had permission to use the vehicle only to provide him with transportation to and from his motel room and the job site.

Water District

McMahon pointed out. Also, being out from under the present bond indenture would give greater latitude in operation and development.

The board authorized the general manager, O.H. Ivie, to make a proposal on behalf of the district to the Bureau of Reclamation whereby the district would furnish contractural services in a weather modification program over a three year period. This is in connection with the Bureau's HIPLEX program and would involve over-flying and penentration of thunder clouds for seeding, instead of the present seeding at cloud base.

Unless rain sufficient to produce 2,000 acre feet or more for Lake J.B. Thomas should come during October, secondary oil recovery units (SACROC, Monsanto, and Sharon Ridge) will be given notice that deliveries will be reduced by one-half from Lake Thomas effective Nov. 1, 1977, the board voted.

Ivie presented projections which showed 9,000 acre feet of water would still be in Lake Thomas on June 1, 1978 even if there is no inflow, provided the repressuring deliveries are curtailed. Without the curtailment, the reserve would be down to 6,000 acre feet on that date. He outlined several complex patterns of production to meet all demands, while at the same time seeking to provide the best quality of water feasible under the circumstances.

Abandonment of a City of Snyder water well, found to be uneconomic to produce, was approved. This was necessary because, said James Rosser, attorney for the district, contracts between member cities and the district yield all production facilities to the district and the district furnishes all water handled by the cities.

Ivie reported that the district continues to receive inquiries from potential new customers. He also said that the district is experiencing unprecedented demands for this time of the year. Odessa has shown an increase of almost 100 per cent recently in its daily requirements.

As reported previously, the board adopted a budget anticipating revenues of $7,890,974 and expenditures of a like amount ($2,960,927 in operation and maintenance, $3,651,887 in debt service, and $1,278,160 in net revenues for reserve, retirement, improvement and extension and contingency funds). The 1978 Operating Budget is up 4.95 per cent over the Budget of 1977.

Sugarcane farmers in Hawaii say a ton of water is needed to produce a pound of sugar.

They all paid MORE per KWH than we pay!

The average cost per KWH of electricity is lower today than it was for the first 70 years of the electric light but we use a phenomenal amount of power. From an average of 121 KWH per month in 1948 we are now averaging more than 850 KWH per month and our use of power grows each year.

The member-owned electric cooperative can't do much about wholesale power prices nor the higher cost of generating fuels. But we can and do exercise every economy to deliver power at its lowest possible cost.

Where the electric cooperative controls the costs — the costs stay under control.

DISCUSS FARM PROGRAM--Charles Stenholm of Stamford, state ASCS Committeeman, is greeted by Roy Hanson, Scurry County ASCS Executive Director, here Tuesday prior to a conference on pending farm legislation. Stenholm met with the local ASCS committee, and their discussion centered on two objectives: To get the cotton loan program set up to enable farmers to store their cotton on the farm, and to be sure that the new federal farm program is flexible enough to take into consideration the year-to-year increase in production. Manufacturers Turn To Polyester Bottles

NEW YORK (AP)-You might have thought plastic beverage bottles were banned this month by the Food and Drug Administration because their ingredients of the plastic might be linked to cancerous lesions.

You are wrong. Industry sources expect about a quarter billion of them to be on store shelves by the end of the year, and estimate that two years from now the figure will be more than two billion.

The explanation lies in the plastic. The FDA on Sept. 20 banned acrylonitrile, but it said nothing about polyester. The latter has a different chemical makeup, while presenting no different appearance to the untrained eye.

The FDA decision means that acrylonitrile bottles must be off the market by the end of the year, although spokesmen for that agency say all such bottles may already have been removed from circulation.

That might be the end of one scene, but it's where the play really gets interesting-where a cast of characters interfaces: Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola, chemical companies, a big tire concern, the liquor and textile industries, environmentalists, the stock market and, as they say, many, many more.

The curtain lifts with the soft drink companies seeking a safe, shatterproof, easily recyclable bottle. At first, failure; the economics weren't favorable. Then the trend to larger, "family size" bottles made plastics feasible.

Pepsi-Cola chose polyester.

Coca-Cola chose acrylonitrile. Pepsi won, you might say, while Coke lost. Pepsi already has introduced its product in 11 states. Coca-Cola shares fell a half-point immediately after the decision.

With what some industry sources say was amazing speed, Coca-Cola adjusted to the new situation and now plans to introduce its own polyester bottle October 3 and that's where the big tire company rolls on stage.

Goodyear has been reinforcing its tires with polyester cord since 1963, and for even longer has been making the resin for those boilable vegetable pouches you might have used. It is the pre-eminent polyester resin maker, supplying Amoco Chemical, Contenintal Can and Owens-Illinois.

Without stressing the obvious, let it be said that Goodyear was very happy to accept the new business. The textile industry, you see, is said to be awash in some synthetic fibers, mainly polyester. A new market was welcome.

Mean while, other liquid products manufacturers have become interested. Goodyear says a great deal of interest has been expressed by the liquor industry. Same with beer companies, although FDA clearance has not yet been forthcoming.

The environmentals during this time have been standing just behind the curtains, observing it all but as yet not offering any conclusive judgments. The polyester bottle, they note with suspicion, is a throwaway. Throwaways litter.

Goodyear says that won't be so. The 32-ounce and 64-ounce bottles for which polyester is being used aren't the kind you purchase along the roadside, it says. And, it stresses, they're recyclable.

Lest you not understand the significance of that, Thomas Minter, Goodyear executive vice president research and development, intones these unforgettable lines:

"The polyester bottle you drink from today could be the pants you wear tomorrow."

A show-stealer, he will not be stopped: "Just 12 half-gallon bottles could provide enough fabric for a pair of pants. Add 18 more and you've got a vest and jacket to match."

Including production costs, he continues, recycled polyester is considerably less expensive than the virgin material. But why recycle at all-why not affix a deposit charge to the purchase and have the bottles returned?

Out of the question, he replies. The purification process demands reheating, and when you reheat a polyester bottle it loses its shape.

And so, for the time being, the polyester curtain falls. But there might be more. Monsanto, which makes acrylonitrile, declares the FDA decision "unwarranted." And that could mean a courtroom scene to follow.

Brown To Serve Prince Simple Meal

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)-The Prince of Wales should prepare himself for a change-of-pace meal when he stops for lunch with Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. next month.

Prince Charles is scheduled to visit the 39-year-old California governor for 1½ hours Oct. 29.

"It will be very simple," B.T. Collins, a Brown aide, said of the expected fare. Bean sprout sandwiches "or something just as simple," he added.

Special Parking Plates Made For Handicapped

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune N Y News Synd Inc

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you printed a letter from a person with heart trouble, diabetes, etc. He said he got dirty looks from people because he didn't look handicapped but parked in areas marked "reserved for the handicapped" so that he wouldn't need to walk great distances.

He's lucky he didn't get ticketed or have his car towed away!

In California, all a handicapped person needs is a letter from his doctor, and the Department of Motor Vehicles will give him special plates that entitle him to park in areas marked "reserved for the handicapped." He may also park by parking meters free.

One argument against these plates is that muggers tend to spot victims by their cars and lay in wait for them. So for those who feel threatened, placards that can be removed in isolated or high-risk neighborhoods are available.

Please print my letter because many handicapped people may not know this, and your column would be a good place to publicize it.

STAN IN SACTO

DEAR STAN: Thanks to you and to the others who wrote. Most states provide special plates (free) for the handicapped, but the laws and penalties for violations differ from state to state, so I urge those with handicaps (visible and otherwise) to inquire at their local D.M.V. offices. Parents of handicapped children may also apply for special plates and placards.

DEAR ABBY: Thought maybe you'd like to see an item that appeared in the REGISTER-GUARD, a newspaper in Eugene, Ore., that carries your column:

"In her column the other day, Dear Abby talked about sexism in the weather. Hurricanes are named for girls in alphabetical order. The year's first usually has a name like Abby, followed by Bertha, Candice, Debbie, Emma, Fern, Griselda, Hattie and so on through Zelda.

"It would be possible to name them for boys: Abner, Buster, Chuck, Darwin, Ed, Fred, Geoffrey, Hank, Isadore and on through Zachary.

"But the battle of the sexes would cool off if the names were devoid of gender. Try adversity, brutality, calamity, destructibility, emergency, fitfully, grisly, and on through zowie."

ABBY FAN IN EUGENE

DEAR FAN: I don't object to having a hurricane named after me. Especially since alphabetically Abby is always No. 1.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Landowner Must Accept Money

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)-Farmer George Eaton may not like money, but a jury has ruled he must accept $24,750 from a utility company for an easement across his land.

"Money is the root of all evil," Eaton told Butler County Common Pleas Judge Fred Cramer. "It comes between neighbors and relatives. I think you can live without it."

Eaton said he didn't mind granting Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. a 7.4-acre easement for power lines. He just didn't want the money.

Ohio law requires a jury to set a fair price for easements if the owner cannot come to an agreement on a price with a utility.

Cincinnati Gas officials said it was the first time an agreement could not be reached with a property owner because the owner would not accept money.

Although Eaton didn't want the money, his wife told Cramer she would accept it.

In 1976, imports shipped into the United States from abroad rose 34 percent over the 1975 level.

Energy Scholar Urges More Coal Production

AUSTIN (AP)-An MIT energy scholar says the federal government should take "Texas-size action" and underwrite construction of plants to convert coal to natural gas.

Carroll Wilson, director of the Workshop on Alternative Energy Strategies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said the proposal was four years old but had been ignored.

Wilson spoke at a symposium on "Alternatives to Confrontation: A National Policy Toward Regional Change," held at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus.

He said a major step toward energy independence would be to increase coal production from a fifth to half of the nation's energy, then covert half of it to gas.

This would provide "pipeline quality gas" for 40 million homes and three million commercial and industrial customers, he said.

One pay-off would be stabilization of oil imports below five million barrels a day, Wilson said.

He said a government commitment to buy the output of such a plant at, say, $4 to $5 per 1,000 cubic feet over the 20-year life of the plant would make it commercially feasible.

"Private capital would then become available to finance the plant," Wilson said.

Actual government purchases would be necessary only if the total output of a plant could not be sold. But Wilson said that "even today synthetic natural gas is purchased by gas distribution companies at $4 to $5 per 1,000 cubic feet."

"It takes a Texas-sized initiative and action to get going. I hope it will happen. If the federal government is serious about practical means to achieve the goals President Carter has set out, here is an easy way to get going," Wilson said.

Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neill III of Massachusetts was supposed to be a panelist but had to return home.

His special assistant, Michael Fenlon, said Massachusetts does not deserve its image of standing fast against any exploration of oil and gas off its coast line.

"We realize we need to explore and find out what resources we have. We are looking forward to the lease sale in January 1978. It has been delayed by the federal government, not by us," Fenlon said.

He said officials in the Northeast also realize that natural gas prices must increase, "at least to parity with oil prices, over the next few years."

But he said his state supports President Carter's proposal for "regulating prices upward," not deregulating them altogether.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall put in a plug for Carter's welfare reform program and for the poor people it might help.

He said his experience is that people don't want to be on welfare and would prefer to work.

"Every time we open up a few jobs we get swamped with applicants. Even when the jobs are hard jobs, like removing snow and ice during winter, or removing the rubble recently in New York City, or summer youth programs which are engaged in all kinds of things," he said.

The World Council of Churches was formed in Amsterdam in 1948.

Compromise Seen Soon On Abortion Measure

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Senate and House conferees are trying to work out differences in an abortion measure that has threatened to tie up funds for two of the largest federal agencies.

A conference committee scheduled an afternoon session for today on the question of when tax money should pay for abortions after Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd was quoted as predicting a compromise within 48 hours of the session.

On Tuesday, the House rejected a Senate proposal considerably more liberal than its own.

The House, voting 252 to 164, affirmed its position that federal funds should pay for abortions only when a woman's life is threatened by a full-term pregnancy.

A two-thirds House vote would have been needed to approve the Senate bill that the government pay for abortions in cases of rape, incest or medical necessity.

Senate conferees had made the vote a condition for further talks on the issue. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill on Tuesday quoted Byrd as predicting a compromise within two days of the renewed committee sessions.

The head of the Senate conferees, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said the Senate may now drop its stand that medically necessary abortions be paid for.

But he said the House would be expected to approve federal payments for abortions when a pregnancy-related disease threatened a woman's life or when there was a likelihood that a seriously ill or deformed child would be born.

The dispute is the only stumbling block left for a 60.2-billion appropriations bill to operate the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare for fiscal 1973.

Without congressional approval, the two agencies would run out of money Friday, the end of the fiscal year. A resolution to continue spending at present levels would then be needed for payrolls to be met.

The leader of the House conferees called the vote "an additional weapon in our arsenal."

Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., a vehement foe of expanding federal abortion financing, said the vote showed "the strength of the House in support of our position."

The vote came on a resolution by Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, instructing the House conferees to accept the Senate position. Stokes said he introduced the measure because most other members "wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole."

Good Progress Made On Corn Harvesting

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Although rains delayed field work in many areas, farmers generally have made good progress in harvesting this fall's corn crop, estimated by the Agriculture Department at a record 6.23 billion bushels.

The soybean harvest, however, has been slowed appreciably by rain in some key areas, the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather and crops report.

Officials said that by Sept. 25 an estimated 15 per cent of the 1977 corn harvest was completed, compared with 11 per cent on the same date last year and an average pace of 6 per cent.

"Most corn was mature, safe from frost and dry enough to harvest," the report said.

But cool, damp weather has delayed the maturity of soybeans in northern areas and rains have held up harvests in other sections, the report said. The Ohio harvest was on schedule, but farmers were held back in Indiana and Illinois.

The Iowa soybean harvest was only 11 per cent complete by Sept. 25 and the Minnesota harvest was 12 per cent finished, both about one-third of last year's pace.

Soybean production has been estimated by USDA at a record of 1.64 billion bushels. New estimates for 1977 corn, soybeans and other crops will be issued by the department on Oct. 12.

Other highlights of the weekly report included:

Wheat - Final wrapup of the 1977 harvest was delayed by rains and damp weather in Montana and North Dakota, with about 90 to 95 per cent of the crop harvested in the states by Sept. 25.

Planting of winter wheat for the 1978 harvest advanced to 45 per cent completed in the major producing states, compared with 29 per cent last year and an average of 39 per cent on the same date.

Cotton - Above-normal temperatures opened cotton boils last week; about 75 per cent of the bolls were open in the 11 southern states, except for Oklahoma where about 27 per cent were opened and nearly ready for harvest.

About 19 per cent of the 1977 southern cotton crop was picked by Sept. 25, compared with 5 per cent a year ago and an average for the date of 11 per cent. In the western states cotton picking did not advance much last week but defoliation and harvesting was under way in New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Other crops - about 33 per cent of the sorghum grain in the seven major states was harvested by Sept. 25, compared with 32 per cent a year ago and the average for the date of 26 per cent.

The rice harvest was running ahead of recent years, except in Louisiana. Arkansas growers had to cope with downed rice but the harvest still was twice the pace of a year ago.

Heavy Steers Top Rehab Cattle Sale

Heavy fed steers again topped the market at Ranchers & Farmers Livestock Auction in Abilene Monday with a pen of outstanding steers donated by Abilene Feeders selling at 75c a lb., nearly twice the prevailing market.

Some specialty items on sale ranged from a tiny baby buffalo selling for $650 to a huge mountain of beef, sometimes known as a heavy steer, which weighed 2,480 lbs. that sold for 50c a lb. This enormous, fed steer was donated by Bill Ramsey of Reeves County Feeders of Pecos.

Besides the largest and smallest there were Hereford, Angus, Santa Gertrudis, Charolais, and other beef types that joined the parade across the scales and before the auctioneer's final hammer fell, $78,304.22 worth of livestock had sold at Ranchers & Farmers Livestock Auction.

Besides the livestock, $45,226 in cash was donated to the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children to make a grand total to date of $127,530.

C.A. Morris, chairman, said he was most pleased at the first sale and was looking forward to the horse sale Saturday and other cattle, livestock and equipment sales to follow in oncoming weeks.

Morris stated this was a good start on the $200,000 needed to get the Center back on an even keel.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center, a private, non-profit corporation, has an annual budget of one and one-half million dollars and serves over 5,000 different handicapped children and adults a year.

Services at the Center are available to all upon proper referal and open to all people regardless of race, creed, financial circumstances, or geographical residence.

Fallacy of 'spot reducing'

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB — I would like your advice on how to lose fat in specific areas. I'm 15 years old, 5 feet 2, and weigh 114. The fat accumulates on the inside of my knees, thighs and hips. I exercise, but I'm losing everywhere but there.

When I lose weight I lose it in my waist. When I gain, it's noticeable in my knees. Please send me a diet or some exercises that will help, especially my knees.

DEAR READER — There is a persistent but completely wrong idea that exercises will reduce a specific area — "spot reducing." It just isn't so.

When you lose fat you lose it all over and when you gain you gain all over. Why then do you have fat knees? Because some people have more fat cells to begin with in certain body locations. It is often a familial characteristic. We see the same thing in different breeds of animals.

So you grew up with a different body plan than some others. The only way you can eliminate excess fat from your knees, thighs, and hips is to have a general weight loss and these may be the last areas to lose fat stores in your case. Exercising your legs will not help other than increasing the use of calories. You can increase or decrease the size of an arm or leg by changes in muscle size but the loss of fat is in response to the total body metabolism.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, that you can use for a plan and you should accompany it with regular exercise, walking, swimming, dancing, whatever you enjoy. Others who want this plan can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a chest X ray recently which showed calcium in my aorta. What causes it and what can I do about it to keep it from getting worse? Could this cause a heart attack?

DEAR READER — The aorta is that large artery that carries oxygenated blood away from your left heart to most of your body. Branches off the aorta go to the brain, abdominal organs, arms and legs and wherever oxygenated blood is needed.

It is a very large artery and in young people is very elastic. It expands each time the left heart pumps blood into it with each heartbeat. The elasticity enables it to literally beat with each pulsation.

As you get older the wall of the aorta tends to calcify and loses its elasticity.

Often a person lives out his or her life span without this being a significant problem. Sometimes, if it becomes extensive it may cause the top blood pressure reading (systolic) to be higher than in young people. The higher levels will increase the chances of having a stroke or a heart attack.

I wouldn't be unduly alarmed about the finding but I do think you would be wise to keep your weight down, eat a diet low in fat, particularly saturated fat and cholesterol. Don't smoke cigarettes if you happen to do so. Unless your doctor finds something on your examination that would justify doing more, such as very high cholesterol levels that cannot be controlled by diet alone, these measures should be about as much as is practical to do.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Texas Youth Sells New Game Easily

By DAN McDONALD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP)-A 17-year-old West Texan who says he wants to be rich is finding out that you don't have to own mega-ranches and oil fields to be able to profit from them.

Clayton Fowler isn't playing games, but if enough other people want to play a game he invented, he'll realize his ambitions.

Fowler is the inventor of Texas Tycoon, a board game that allows players to amass and lose fortunes consisting of such things as East Texas oil fields and the King Ranch.

Fowler, game in hand, came to Dallas and made a beeline for the prestigious Nieman-Marcus department store.

He arrived early enough to be able to watch the store lights turn on and the display cases stocked.

Clad in light grey suit and matching shirt, black tie and black shoes, Fowler went to the office of stationery buyer Jane Harenbergh.

"When he walked in all he had with him was a handmade sample and an idea," Mrs. Hardenbergh said. "But he handled himself with ease."

The buyer ordered 72 of the games which will be sold at $13 each, threw in a few pointers on product manufacturing, then watched Fowler head south to Houston and another prestige store, Sakowitz.

"I had already decided that if I could sell my game to the two best stores in Texas, I could sell it to anyone," Fowler said.

Marilyn Lawrence of Sakowitz said she couldn't believe Fowler had done it all on his own. "The guy has guts," she said.

She ordered about 300 of the games, then invited Fowler to a store festival next month.

Bob Sakowitz, the store's president, took time out to meet Fowler, and Miss Lawrence drove Fowler to catch his plane back to Amarillo.

"I was higher than the plane on the way back," Fowler said. "My mother didn't believe me when I called from Houston to tell her what I had done."

Since those two exhilarating experiences, things have become more down-to-earth as Fowler begins to set up production.

"The cards have been misprinted, the boxes cut too long and money trays incorrectly sized," he said.

And business is hampered by classes at his 125-student school in Silverton, Tex.

Ben Boothe, a 29-year-old executive at the First National Bank in nearby Tulia, loaned Fowler $6,000, but said he doesn't feel the loan was much of a risk.

"If we can't back someone like him, then this country is just not right," Boothe said. "I just hope he makes it as big as he wants to."

Fowler says he plans to sell one of his first games to Boothe.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Sept. 29, 1977

Business situations built around conventional practices and methods are fortunate for you this coming year. When you depart from the norm, you risk failure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Situations and joint ventures that don't cost you dough could be very worthwhile today. If you're asked to dip into your purse, then you should haul out the microscope. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Go that one step extra for those who contribute to your well-being today. Lack of reciprocation could turn off a very valuable ally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Doubts should not be allowed to creep into matters affecting your career today. Adopt an optimistic attitude and there'll be no problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Overlook the minor faults of those you love today. A harsh word, said even in jest, will spoil what should be a pleasant day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The statements of an outsider should not influence your opinion of someone you love. You're right. The other party is irrevocably wrong.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be yourself today. Avoid affectations in speech or manner. When you put on airs you create a person who really doesn't measure up to you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Where your potential profit picture looks good, don't make any sudden changes. They could work against you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Things that you can control will be generally lucky for you today. Interference by an erratic associate could change all that.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Possibilities for gain are extremely strong today, but you must strike while the iron is hot. A reversal could occur if you tarry too long.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This will be a fun day today if you mingle with persons you're friendly with. A strange crowd could get you off-kilter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Let nature run its course today. Events should turn out as you'd wish. If you try to readjust matters, more harm than good is probable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't try to improve upon things that you know to be truly worthwhile. Innovations you might have in mind could diminish what exists now.
