Special Events Easter Week End At Country Club

Golf for both men and women, a hamburger party for club members, and an Easter egg hunt for the children are the major events scheduled in an action-packed Easter week end at Live Oak Country Club.

Scheduled for April 13-14 at the club is the annual Geo. Clark Chevrolet Open, a two day, 36-hole handicap tournament for both men and women. Three hundred dollars in merchandise prizes will be given.

Bill FitzSimmon, III, tournament chairman, announced that $150 will be awarded for prizes in the men's division and $100 will be awarded in the women's division of the tournament.

FitzSimmons said special awards also will be made. Five dollars will be awarded to each the man and woman with the lowest net score on April 13, first of the two-day tournament, and a putter will be awarded to the man and woman with the lowest number of putts in the tourney.

The Easter week end will kick off the annual men's championship golf tournament and scores recorded will be used as qualifying scores for the annual tourney and determine the flight for the respective player.

Club medalist competition will be held April 13 for those wishing to compete. Entry fee is $2.50.

Climaxing the week end of golf will be a hamburger party for club members Sunday afternoon, April 14. An Easter egg hunt for the children also will be held on the club grounds Sunday afternoon.

All lady golfers are reminded to sign up with Speck Howery, club pro, as soon as possible for the annual Ladies Club Championship Tournament.

Rabies Clinic April 20, 27

Dr. T. J. Skinner, Aransas Pass veterinarian, will conduct rabies vaccination clinics for dogs here April 20 and 27 in the afternoons.

After dogs have been vaccinated against rabies, owners of the pets can purchase dog tags at the City Hall for $1.50. Owners must show receipts for the vaccination.

The City Council decided to begin enforcing on May 15 the city ordinance that all dogs must have a license tag. This ordinance had not been enforced since 1961.

Harvey Bristow has been appointed dog catcher. After May 15, dogs without license tags will be picked up.

21 Whoopers Join Flight From Refuge

Twenty-one more whooping cranes have started their annual migration to summer nesting grounds near the Arctic Circle, the Interior Department reported Tuesday.

The huge birds took off from the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas on Sunday, heading northward. Their departure left at the refuge 22 of the record 47 that wintered there.

Four pioneer whoopers flew from Aransas on March 25. If the birds follow custom, most of the remainder can be expected to leave within a week and all should be on their way to the Arctic by May 1.

Beasley also said a seminar will be conducted at the courthouse later this month for election judges and workers and other interested persons. The date will be announced later.

Water District Hires Manager

I. N. "Ike" Campbell, retired Air Force civil service employee, has been hired as manager of Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, according to announcement by Harold Picton, president of the district.

The district is opening an office in the courthouse in the balliff's room of the District Courtroom where Campbell will make his headquarters. The telephone number is SO-5211.

The city of Rockport has entered a contract with the Conservation District for the purchase of treated water to supply the needs of those within the city limits.

The Conservation District will purchase the water from the San Patricio Municipal Water District. The Conservation District will build the distribution system to bring the water from west of the city to Rockport.

One of Campbell's first responsibilities will be to sign up customers for the new water supply who live in Aransas County but outside the city limits.

Easter Vigil At Sacred Heart

On Easter Sunday Rockport's Roman Catholics will join many others throughout the United States in holding Easter Vigil service at dawn on Easter morning. This is the first time that these services will be held at this hour in the U. S.

Easter Vigil services in Sacred Heart Church, Rockport, will begin at 5: a.m. and end a little before 7 a.m. Other Easter Masses will be celebrated at the usual Sunday hours, 7 a.m., 9 a.m., 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

These special services, Monsignor Hennel explained, honor Christ as the Light of the World and the Rising Sun of Justice. Therefore they begin with a "light service."

First a spark struck from flint and steel, symbolizing Jesus' rising from the sealed tomb in the rock, will kindle a fire to be blessed. From this fire the larger Easter candle, some three feet long and two inches in diameter, will be lit as a sign of the Risen Jesus (continued on page 8)

School Board To Enforce Strict Discipline

The local school board this week spent most of the evening discussing policies regarding discipline in the Aransas County schools.

It was the unanimous opinion of the board that it will stand behind the teachers and administration of the local schools in strict enforcement of good discipline. The board endorsed and directed a positive course of action in dealing with pupils who refuse to conform to school rules.

It was pointed out that the board will stand behind a program of dealing with unruly pupils who refuse to conform to correct patterns of behavior to the extent of expulsion from school for the balance of a school term is necessary.

It was unanimously agreed that it is totally and completely improper and unfair to the great majority of pupils enrolled in schools who come to school for the purpose of achieving an education, to have an unruly few in some of the classrooms disturbing and upsetting the class rooms to the extent that it is impossible for the teacher to carry on a proper program of instruction.

Another problem experienced to a greater extent this school term than in the past is that of truancy. The school board went on record as insisting on dealing with habitual truants to the extent that the law permits. In too many instances "another chance" has not worked.

The board is completely aware that a large majority of the boys and girls enrolled in the Aransas County Schools are of the highest calibre and are proud of them, their accomplishments, and the good name they bring to the schools and community.

Pirates Sixth In Track Meet

The Rockport-Fulton High School team finished sixth with 34 points in the District 28-2A track and field championship at Portland last Saturday.

No U-Turns On Austin

The City Council asks local motorists NOT to make U-turns on Austin Street, except at the intersection of Austin and Market.

No signs are up now pointing out that U-turns are forbidden because the Council had hoped to avoid the use of signs which detract from the appearance of the business district.

However, unless motorists stop making U-turns at many places along Austin, the signs will be erected and the law will be enforced.

City Blasts Phone Company

The City Council took verbal potshots Monday night at Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for refusing to participate, at no cost to the city in the downtown business district improvement program.

The city had asked the telephone company to relocate its transmission wires by moving them away from Austin Street. Bill Knight, manager of the Corpus Christi and Rockport offices of the telephone company, told the City Council that his company would move the wires if the city paid for the cost which he said would be $5,800.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller said, "Your proposition is entirely unsatisfactory and shows complete lack of cooperation in a community improvement project. Tell your superior that the City Council finds your offer unacceptable."

"Central Power and Light Company has spent thousands of dollars to move poles and wires without asking the city for any money."

Alderman N. F. Jackson said, "I think the telephone company's stand should be widely publicized so people will know about it."

CP&L was requested by the city late last summer to make a major effort to clear the downtown area of unsightly poles and lines. With the cooperation of individual property owners who granted utility easements, it was possible for the entire electric distribution system to be moved to the alleys. The only electric system remaining serves the new street lighting and is now under ground.

Another matter concerning the telephone company also came up during the council meeting. The company had requested rezoning of some property west of the Catholic Rectory from B-2 Residential to B-1 Business.

Knight explained that the company wanted this zoning change to build a new dial central office as part of a $1.2 (continued on page 8)

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WHAT SPRINGS ETERNAL?

In the world of stocks and bonds there are investors and speculators and blusless gamblers. But in a class very much apart are the people who buy Cuban stocks and bonds.

Reports from Wall Street say substantial orders are being placed for these pre-Castro securities on over-the-counter markets. Market sources attribute the flurry to news reports of increasing economic and political troubles in this currently communist-dominated island. The buyers are obviously banking on a change of government and the re-establishment of a western regime which would bump the present value of the securities.

These may look like long odds. But in this special market for the debts of defunct empires the odds can be longer still. Imperial Russia government bonds, for instance, still trade some 50 years after the revolution. Recent quote: About $22.50 for a $1,000 bond.

One New Yorker was recently reported socking away the Russian securities as a hedge against world peace. He claims the Soviets are becoming more capitalist-minded and now is the time to buy low. He even hopes to peddle more of his securities under the counter to interested Russians.—Financial Post.

INSTANT ASPHYXIATION

The latest contribution to far-out planning comes from a Chicago architect who has figured out what to do with the waste space above city expressways. He would straddle them with hollow, pyramid-shaped buildings which would have offices on the main floor and apartments up above. The buildings which would stand "like rows of cocked hats," are called "instant city."

The suggestion has some superficial appeal. The people living upstairs need only go down the elevator to get to the office. This could cut the traffic flow and reduce pressure on public transit. Perpetual clouds of exhaust and diesel fumes flowing up the pyramid would reduce the life span of the occupants. This would create a greater turnover of apartment units.—Toronto Star.

THE VOICE FROM HAVANA ON BEER

The price of beer is going up in Cuba, according to Fidel Castro. He suggests that Cubans who don't like it can spend more time reading books and less guzzling. But if that doesn't take care of the time void caused by scarce and expensive beer, Fidel will no doubt be glad to go on the island's TV and radio and make extra speeches.

There are, we suppose, a few hours a day and night when Castro isn't being oratical. Or are there? The big talker from Havana even manages to make Sen. Wayne Morse seem like Silent Sam. — Kansas City Times.

TOO POLITE

Michael McNulty, 78, campaign chairman for the Lexington Democratic club in New York City was talking to the press the other day about his hardships as a grass-root politician in a well paved district. One of his toughest assignments, McNulty says, is circulating nominating petitions in high-rise apartments, effectively guarded as these are by door-men and elevator operators.

Among difficulties in his genteel neighborhood McNulty counts on occasional excess of courtesy. "Sometimes the voters are so polite they'll invite us in for a drink," he says. "We'll go through our whole pitch, and the guy will say 'thanks for calling' and we'll end up back in the hall with time wasted and no signature." A curt "no" yields now fewer signatures and takes less time than such politeness.

Herron was the game's top hitter as he picked up a triple and two singles in five trips. Rockport had a total of eight hits, while Ingleside collected five.

Letter to the Editor

Is it not time that equal consideration be given the living conditions of the people that is given to the use of the automobile?

How can the expenditure of tax money be justified when it does not benefit the taxpayer's property in the area in which it is spent?

It is common knowledge that stagnant water in road ditches and blocked culverts is a health hazard. Further it softens the road sub-grade and causes the road base to fail. Yet when property owners on the County Beach Road north from the Sandollar Motel complain to the County Commissioner, they are told nothing can be done about it. Yet for many years men experienced in such work have been draining roadways effectively. And when the road elevation is several feet above the bay water nearby, it is a simple problem to drain off the water. Why can't the Commissioner do it?

Again it is common knowledge that automobile travel over 15mph on a shell base when dry will raise a cloud of dust. Along the unsurfaced shell base of the Beach Road clouds of dust coat the landscape, and if the windows are open, the inside, drapes and furniture are covered and the occupants forced to choke on dust or close the windows and keep the front doors closed. Have we gone back a decade to the dusty days of traffic? Why should the property owners and inhabitants north of the Sandollar Motel be so penalized?

The present shore line of Aransas Bay in large stretches is not only unattractive but the jagged concrete and debris placed there by the Commissioner makes it dangerous to walk to the water's edge. Likewise some of the materials used to fill along the clean water's edge. Likewise some of the materials used to fill along the clean sandy shore will wash in and pollute the waters.

Something is wrong with the policy and the direction which determines where and how the taxpayers money is spent in the Third Precinct.

The taxpayers are questioning why other conditions unfavorable to reasonable use of land exist, such as: Why is the shell base south of the High School permitted to be used when clouds of dust fill the fresh air which the students breathe during periods of planned physical exercise. And why should the Junior High School grounds and the play areas be soggy with standing water? This area is 10 feet and more above the bay but a few blocks distant. Could the reason be that those who spend the tax money are not sufficiently interested to use a few hundred dollars to correct the ditch grades and a few culverts on the highway and streets where minor corrections will establish proper ditch grades to permit the surface water to drain off.

But when there is low ground east of the Rodeo Corral, land owned by the County, the Commissioner will operate $50,000 to $75,000 worth of equipment for several days and truck haul sand nearly a mile to fill the low area at a cost of $600 or more, and disregard the fact that spending a third this sum to lower a couple of culverts and the road ditch to the proper grade in 10th St. would lower the water table in the Rodeo Area, while at the same time benefit several hundred acres of tax paying land but apparently benefits to taxpayers land is to be avoided.

The Corral and rodeo activities are worthwhile projects and many citizens have contributed to their activities. But why can't consideration be given to the standing water area and high water table when spending tax money in order to bring greater benefits.

For many years we have witnessed too much "eye balling" of grades by the County, and this haphazard practice has failed, not only to provide economical maintenance of roads and ditches, but in many cases they do not operate as they could if engineering procedures were used which have proven satisfactory for years.

How can Field and Maintenance construction organization be expected to operate economically under the present system? There is no adequate cost accounting system of expenditures for labor, equipment and supplies. There is no way to know which projects and what practices cost too much. There is no way to compare with competitive work of like nature elsewhere.

The Beach Road from the Sandollar Motel north should have been closed to all but local traffic until it is ready for traffic. The first step should be the drainage and the grading of the road bed properly engineered to get effective drainage, then the road base reworked and the surface placed last. How is it being done, haul in shell to get the traffic through as though there was an emergency need to move highway traffic in and out to and from the north. But this was not so because a few blocks distant and parallel to the County Beach Road is the high and dry Highway 35, maintained by the State.

The drainage was left till last and the culverts, many of which are not open, do not function as they should. Expensive equipment not designed for back hoe work was used to drag the mud and water from the ditches across the shell base to the other shoulder. The next morning the ditches are full of standing water again, and were before it rained Tuesday night.

The attempts to rebuild the Beach Road by the County are an example of wasted tax money and demonstrate the point that there is need to give equal consideration to the welfare of the taxpayers and their property as is accorded the automobile traffic.

HOUSEWARMING FOR JIMMIE ANKELES

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ankele of Fulton were honored Sunday afternoon, April 7, with a housewarming at their new home. Hostesses were Mrs. Joe Earl Hunt, Mrs. Edward True-love and Mrs. D. M. Meador. The honoree was presented with a corsage of peppermint elegant carnations.
The centerpiece and gifts were displayed on a table with an antique white lace tablecloth. The flowers which centered the table were white iris, yellow runcullas, peppermint elegant carnations, yellow palms and heather. Another table covered with a white damask tablecloth held the coffee, cake and punch which was served the many guests.

The Fulton Fire Auxiliary met for a regular meeting April 8 with eight members present. The president, Mabel Burke, presided.
It was voted to buy more new tables and chairs for the fire station. Also, the ladies have dressed up the fire hall with new curtains.
Those present were Mrs. Frances McCullough, Mrs. Leroy Loflin, Mrs. Bob Ham, Mrs. Harold Koert, Mrs. Birdie Cole, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Mrs. Johnny Burke and Mrs. Elbert Mundine.
One thing the Russians haven't claimed to be first at is the invention of the credit card.

JOHN KINSEY

Words are interesting. Some people like or detest certain words. Some dislike seeing or hearing particular words used for certain meanings.

For example, I worked for one city editor who flew into into a rage when a reporter would use "render" in a sentence such as, "The judge rendered his verdict."
"Lard is rendered," the editor would shout, "but judges don't render verdicts; they give verdicts or announce verdicts or deliver verdicts."

According to Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, "render" has a number of meanings including "to melt down," and also "to transmit to another or to deliver."

So the editor wasn't correct,

but you can be sure that none of his reporters ever wrote,
"Judge So-and-So rendered his verdict."

This same editor became furious when anyone referred to a bridegroom as a groom.

"A groom is a guy who takes care of horses, not a man about ready to get married," the editor would thunder. "Make it bridegroom, not groom."

Again, Webster lists one definition of "groom" as "bridegroom," but the editor was his own authority.

Here in Rockport I have a friend named Delmar R. Hiller who calls the city dump the "sanitation land fill." He also calls the dog catcher the "pound master," even though the city has no dog pound.

I don't agree with him regarding these words.

FHA Elects New Officers

By Elida Tamez

The Richardson Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America on Apr. 1 elected new officers for the 1968-69
year:

President, Kathy Allgood; first vice president, Paula Hesseltine; second vice president, Peggy Armstrong; third vice president, Marie Medina; fourth vice president, Cathy Bauer;

Reporter, Elida Tamez;
secretary, Linda Ballou; treasurer, Kitty Davenport; historian, Eileen Casterline; par-

The State FHA meeting was also discussed, and it was decided that the club could send four girls to Austin. The two girls who won state chorus and area pianist, Kath Allgood and Marilu Richards are automatically eligible to attend.

The new president will also attend and so will the girl

Kay Sparks. Since the club could take one more girl, an officer was chosen for doing outstanding work for the club,
She is Elida Tamez.

She will be in charge of the president's duties while in Austin because the president, Kathy Allgood will be trying out for National Chorus.

Since Kay Sparks will be unable to attend, Paula Hessel-tine, the first vice president, will take her place.

The girls plan to leave
Thursday morning and return
Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Janice Spears and Mrs. Bobbie Whelan will accompany the girls.

Girls attending the meeting were Kathy Allgood, Kathy Bauer, Linda Ballou, Eileen
Casterline, Cathy Deason, Kathy Smith, Paula Hessel-tine, Kam Heinsohn, Melinda Mills, Patty Oakman, Cathy
Olds, Marilu Richards, Yolanda
Sanchez, Kay Sparks, Linda

Easter Vigil—

present among us.

Into it five grains of incense will be placed and secured by red wax "nails," recalling the wounds in Jesus' hands, and feet and side. On the candle will be inscribed the letter Alpha and Omega, the first and last letter of the Greek alphabet, and the numbers of the current year, 1968. This is to remind all who see it that history revolves around the entrance into the world of the Son of God made man.

The Easter candle will be carried in procession into the unlighted church and from it will be lit the candles of all people present as a dramatic recollection that "when we were baptised in Christ Jesus, we were baptised into his death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead by his Father's glory, we too might live a new life" (cf. Rom.6:3-11).

Following the "light service" will come the reading of the "prophecies," the Genesis account of creation, the Exodus account of the Israelites' liberation from Egypt, Isaiah's foretelling of the holiness of the messianic kingdom, and Moses' final warning to God's people.

After this the water to be used for baptism during the coming year will be blessed. The climax of the blessing will come when the entire congregation, holding lighted candles in their hands, renew the promises they made in the baptism to renounce Satan and give their allegiance to God, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

Then the first Mass honoring Christ's Resurrection will be celebrated. The solemn announcement of Christ's Resurrection in the proclamation of the Gospel of the Mass will come as the sun rises, a symbol of Jesus as the "rising sun of righteousness" foretold by the prophet Malachi.

"Our Catholic services are not in any way in competition with the Aransas County Ministerial Alliance's Sunrise Service on the Bayfront," Father Erdelt, Assistant Pastor of Sacred Heart Church and President of the Ministerial Alliance, said. "They are in keeping with our liturgical tradition, which extends at least to the year 140 A.D., when an early Christian apologist wrote, 'This is how the Lord's death, that is, Easter is celebrated: There is a vigil until cockcrow, then the banquet is celebrated, and the rite is over'."

Both Monsignor Hennel and Father Erdelt expressed the hope that all Christians of Rockport will celebrate the day of Christ's Resurrection, either by taking part in the Bayfront Sunrise Service or the Catholic Easter Vigil services. Everyone will be welcomed at whichever he chooses to take part in.

Mrs. John Kinsey, Mrs. R. L. Hart, Mrs. Dave Segler, Mrs. A. C. Shivers, Mrs. Marvin Sours of Wisconsin Rapids, and Mrs. Kenneth Herbert of Victoria attended the 4-C's luncheon at Robert Driscoll Hotel Saturday. Mrs. Shivers and Mrs. Segler were the lucky recipients of door prizes.

million expansion program which is expected to be completed by early 1971.

The Planning and Zoning Commission recommended that the request be granted if the company buys the land and the City Council concurred. Knight said the company intends to purchase the land.

In another request for rezoning, Mrs. James G. Hanzlik of Tropics Motor Hotel asked to have lots 1, 2, 15 and 16, block 45, S&W division changed from B-1 Business to B-2 Business for expansion purposes. The Planning and Zoning Commission recommended that this request be granted and the City Council agreed.

Mrs. Hanzlik also asked to have lots 3, 4, 5 and the south eight feet of lot 6, block 44, changed from R-3 "Duplex and Apartment" to B-1 or B-2 Business. The Commission recommended that this request be tabled for further study, and the Council agreed.

Simon Lee Sorenson requested that property on which his plumbing shop is located by changed from R-2 Residential to B-1 Business so he can build a shed for equipment. The request was granted with the stipulation that the property be used solely for the stated purpose.

In other actions, the Council:—Heard the mayor read letters from the Chamber of Commerce and the Rockport Sportsmen Conservation Association urging that no additional piers be permitted in Little Bay which is part of the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary.

—Accepted the low bid of $5,500 from B. D. Holt Co. for a motor grader. The other bidder, Anderson Machinery Co., asked $6,750 for a similar motor grader.

Navigation District Tables Pier Request

Present were Commissioners Ted R. Little and Richard J. Fox; Attorney Ellis Clark and Harbormaster B. C. DeForest. Visitors were Maurice Cochran and William Toscheff.

Minutes of the March 6 regular meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was reviewed and placed on file. A voucher will be written on Interest and Sinking Fund, in amount of $7,500.00, for a six month Certificate of Deposit. Bills payable from the rent account were approved and checks signed. Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 109 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—Can a person be deferred from service for a traffic violation?

A—A record of traffic violation has nothing to do with deferment. A man could be rejected for service by the Department of Defense if the offense were serious enough. A man is not required in his classification questionnaire to list convictions for minor traffic violations.

Q—Suppose a man turns in his draft card, then has a change of heart, and wants to enlist. What does he have to do?

A—A person does not necessarily have to have a "draft card" to enlist, but his failure to have in his possession his "draft card" (either his Registration Certificate, or his current Notice of Classification) is a violation of the law. Any man who has abandoned either of these wants and then back should request his local board to return or replace them.

Q—May a person classified in Class I-Y try to enlist in the National Guard?

A—Yes. It's possible he may be found acceptable by the National Guard, but not likely.

Q—I entered law school in the fall of 1967. I've been told the draft board can only give me this one year of deferment. Is that right?

A—Yes. A student entering training in this profession for his first year in the fall of 1967 can only be allowed one year under present regulations.

Texas Marine Biologist Surveys Sea Life Movement

B. D. King has a microscopic problem with only a microscope to solve it.

As a marine biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, King is project leader for the Cedar Bayou Project, a federally subsidized study of the movement of post larval sea life forms passing through Cedar Bayou Pass, which links Mesquite Bay with the Gulf of Mexico.

The problem is in several jars sitting on a shelf at the Department Marine Laboratory here, jars filled with specimens, most of which are no bigger than the head of a pin. Each specimen must be inspected and classified.

With two helpers collecting around 20,000 specimens each time they visit the nets set up in the pass, it is easy to see why 28-year-old King will be busy at the microscope while the project is going on.

"If I had eight more men to help me to identify these specimens," he said, "I'm sure none of them would have time to stand around with his hands in his pockets."

The purpose of King's study is to find out more about the movement of commercially important sea life through the pass, including whether they migrate at the surface, middle or along the bottom of the water column and whether they utilize the center or edge of the channel.

The information will be correlated with environmental conditions such as water temperature and turbidity, time of day, season of year, tidal stage, and moon phase so biologists may determine what might increase or inhibit movement through the pass. It can be used as a basis for better management practices by the Department.

Even though the study involves only a few of the many species which move through the pass, the blond University of Texas graduate collects a multitude of varieties of the microscopic plants and animals. "It's true that we are principally interested in this study only in crabs, shrimp, trout, redfish, sheephead and drum," he said, "but the trouble is that we have to look at all the specimens to pick out the ones we want."

This means that with the exception of a couple of species of fish, which are easily recognized, every specimen must be checked through a microscope because at the post-larval stage of development, differences are microscopic. Shrimp is one of the biggest problems. There are three types in the bays: Brown, white and pink. At the early stages of development, it is hard to tell the difference even with a microscope.

Crabs present another special problem since they go through seven stages of development and look more like crayfish than crabs until the last stage. In their "crayfish stages" they all look alike, and there are many species of crabs though only a few are of importance.

Compared with the problem of dealing with them in the laboratory, gathering the specimens is relatively simple. Seven stationary plankton nets are used to monitor the water at various depths and locations within the pass. The months of the nets are open toward the Gulf.

King's assistants visit the nets as often as is necessary, collect the specimens, and record the data as to what specimens came from where. Water samples and temperature are also taken, and any other pertinent data is recorded. Data and specimens are then taken back to the lab and dumped into King's lap.

The job is a big one, but the returns will be even bigger. Biologists hope that the information accumulated during the study will develop information to help insure fishermen success for decades to come.

FORMS TO CLAIM MEDICARE AVAILABLE

A new easy-to-complete form to collect medical insurance benefits under Medicare is now available at the Corpus Christi social security office.

The Request for Payment form is used for claims under the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the Medicare program, according to H. M. Cleveland, district manager. People 65 and over who are covered by Social Security Health Insurance will get payment for 80 per cent of their doctor bills and certain other medical expenses, after having met the first $50 of these expenses in a year.

"There are two ways to claim payment for doctor bills and other medical services under Medicare," Cleveland said. "The Request for Payment form is used for either method. Under one method, the doctor (or other supplier of services) may collect the Medicare payment directly from Medicare. If he agrees to do so, he accepts the reasonable charge as determined by the Medicare carrier as his full charge.

"The second method is for the patient to apply for the payment. Formerly, if the doctor did not want to submit his bill for the insurance, the patient had to pay him before applying for the Medicare payment. But now, the patient can apply even if the bill has not yet been paid. The patient must submit an itemized statement, paid or unpaid, from his doctor with the Request for Payment form.

"The forms are available at the social security office and at most doctors' offices," Cleveland concluded.

NATURE TRAILS

By CONNIE HAGAR

It is the approach of spring-time and rededicating the beauties of nature.

Time has come for the black-necked stilt, Texas or trilling night hawk or bull-bat, scissor-tail flycatcher, painted bunting and other nesting birds that go farther south in winter.

To see the first nesting bird of spring return is a delight, but after diagnostic marks are no longer visible, birdwatching becomes a no good guessing game—"maybe it was this, maybe it was that." Always be positive in identification but open for correction.

Now for the warblers. Winter guests shore birds and ducks. Spring visitors search the trees and shrubs for warblers, called the "butterflies of the bird world."

Goldfinch and siskins will head north soon but indigo and lazuli buntings will arrive for a short visit before going West to nest.

And the wild flowers. Once a tourist from the West Coast said in amazement, "Why if what you have in Texas, we would tell the world about it." I had thought until then that Texas bragged.

Bluebonnets on our main highway, yellow evening primroses by the beach, paint brush by the Catholic school, phacelia in the yards, phlox everywhere. Who can ask for more?

Rockport if we can't see birds as we look up, we can look down and see flowers, everything of beauty. Look, look, look!

TO VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Close and children of New Orleans will arrive today to spend the Easter holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hart and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Close.

PIERS, CHANNELS AID THE ANGLER IN ROCKPORT, FULTON

By DAN KLEPPER
San Antonio
News Outdoor Editor

Editor's Note: This is the last of a two-part series of columns on good spring fishing spots in the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area of the Texas Coast.

Cedar Bayou, the natural pass between the Gulf of Mexico and Mesquite Bay, no longer is the difficult cut to find it once was.

Many anglers have tried to reach the cut, only to run aground on one of the shallow reefs in the area.

Now, however, the 9,500-foot channel from the intracoastal canal to the cut has been marked at 500-foot intervals with creosoted pilings and signs.

The channel marking is one of several projects the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department either recently completed or is still working on in the Rockport-Fulton area.

The natural pass was flushed out by Hurricane Beulah and strong winter northers, but the hurricane also opened a cut into Vincent's (also spelled Vinson's) Slough.

The slough slows the flushing action of Cedar Bayou and might cause the mouth to sand up faster than normal.

The department recently completed construction of a 1,620-foot lighted fishing pier at Goose Island State Park on the tip of Lamar Peninsula.

The pier connects three small islands and enables anglers to reach both shallow wade fishing water and holes up to 11 feet in depth.

The department also has completed a 5,500-foot boat channel connecting the boat ramp at the park with the St. Charles Bay Channel.

The new channel is five feet in depth, 20 feet wide and marked at 500-foot intervals.

Waters near the boat ramp average about three feet or less in depth, and the channel provides access to some good wade fishing areas in St. Charles and Aransas Bays.

Fishermen will find plenty of fine wading waters around Rockport, and a lot of it is accessible without the use of a boat.

For example, the shallow waters off the tip of Key allegro offer the boatless angler some excellent wade fishing, as do the shallows around Newcomb Point on Lamar Peninsula and Redfish Point on Live Oak Peninsula.

The two peninsulas are connected by a new causeway on Hwy. 35, and fishermen have benefitted as a result of it.

The old causeway has been turned into a public fishing pier — or piers — by the Parks and Wildlife Department. A short section of the causeway was removed, leaving two lengthy piers for anglers.

The department is in the process of constructing two concession buildings, one on each end. The piers will be lighted by this summer.

In addition, water-level platforms will be constructed at certain points along the piers to facilitate the landing of large fish.

In recent weeks the department has given the boatless angler another break by constructing small, artificial fish-

South Texas Really Turns Us On...

A new 240,000-kilowatt generating unit just completed at Victoria Power Station is the largest in the CPL system. The big Victoria plant, one of seven serving South Texas, can now deliver almost five times as much electricity as it could in 1962.

At home, on the farm, in business and industry, you're using more and more CPL electricity to increase production, improve efficiency and make life enjoyable. That's why our power system keeps getting bigger. New facilities built last year to serve you cost more than 32 million dollars. We're investing another 34 million this year in your electrical future. CPL is making sure you'll always have the power you need for a tiny light or a giant industry — and that your electric service will remain high in value, low in cost. So keep turning us on. It's one way to keep South Texas growing, because electricity is the energy of progress.

Question and Answer Column

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—Can I forget about the 4th installment of my estimated tax if I file my 1967 return early?

A—If you file your 1967 return and pay the balance due by January 31, there will be no penalty for not paying the 4th installment. If you file early, don't forget your estimated tax declaration for 1968. The deadline for filing this declaration and paying the first installment of any tax due is April 15, 1968.

Q—I got a Form 1040A in the mail. Does that mean I can't use the long Form 1040?

A—You should file the form that best meets your tax situation and the requirements of the law. You received Form 1040A in the mail because that was the form you filed last year.

Q—When can I expect to get my W-2 statement?

A—The law requires employers to distribute W-2 withholding statements to employees by Jan. 31.

When you receive your W-2, be sure to attach it to your return when you file. Failure to do so delayed refunds on over 200,000 returns last year.

Q—When is the next payment due on my maid's Social Security?

A—The next quarterly report is due Jan. 31.

Also due by Jan. 31 is a statement to your maid covering the total amount of wages paid and Social Security taxes withheld during 1967.

This report may be made in form suitable for the employee to keep. It should show the employer's name and address, the employee's name, address

For your convenience, IRS has prepared Form SS-14, that can be used to provide this information to household employees. Copies may be obtained by sending a post card to your district director.

Q—Can you take a deduction for clothing or furniture given to charity?

A—If you made this donation to a qualified charitable organization, you may deduct its fair market value as a charitable contribution on your return. In order to do this you must itemize all your deductions rather than take one of the standard deductions.

Q—The label on the tax return I received in the mail is wrong. What should I do?

A—Draw a line through the incorrect part and put in the proper information. Return the corrected label with your return when you file so that your return will be properly identified and the needed correction can be made on your tax account.

Q—Are scholarships considered income for tax purposes?

A—Amounts received as scholarships may usually be excluded for tax purposes. There are certain limitations, however, which are described in Document No. 5575, "Scholarships and Fellowships." Send a post card to your district director for a free copy.

Q—When you support somebody over 65, can you take an additional exemption for him because of his age?

A—No, there is just one $600 exemption for a dependent regardless of age.

Q—I didn't cash one of my stock dividend checks until this year even though it was issued in 1967. What year should I report it?

A—The law says income should be reported the year it is constructively received. In your case this means the dividend check should be reported as income for 1967.

Applying this same rule to interest on savings accounts, interest should be reported the year it is credited to an account passbook until the following year. For example, interest for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1967 should be reported as income on 1967 returns.

Presbyterian Women Hold Meeting

Mrs. Cecil H. Lang, Jr. was hostess at her home in Little Bay Shores Monday evening, April 8, when Circle 3, Women of Presbyterian Church met for their regular monthly meeting. Eleven members were present.

The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Hugh Morrison, after which the chairman, Mrs. Owen Brymer, conducted the business meeting. Contributions were brought for two circle projects—blankets for overseas relief and food for packages to be sent to local servicemen serving in Vietnam.

Announcements were made that the Women of the Church intensive Bible study will meet at the church April 18, with salad luncheon; annual Women of the Church birthday party will be at the church at 7:30 p.m., May 2; May Fellowship Day, sponsored by Church Women United, will be at Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon, May 3.

Mrs. Robert Harrell, co-chairman, read a meditation and prayer by Nealeen Rhoem as the Least Coin offering was received. The Bible study was moderated by Mrs. Helen Thomas and Mrs. James Crusier gave the monthly emphasis on Christian higher education.

The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. I. E. McLester in Fulton, with Mrs. Roy Snyder as Bible study leader.
