Midland Deep Test Develops No Shows

The Texas Company No. 1 Scharbauer, West Midland County Ellenburger prospector, 12 miles southwest of the city of Midland, one mile south of the Midland Air Terminal, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 20, block 40, TP survey, T-2-S, failed to develop any signs of oil or gas in a drillstem test at 13,116-160 feet.

The tool was open 34 minutes. There was a weak blow of air for 10 minutes and it then died. The tool was closed at the end of the 34 minutes, and was re-opened. There was another weak blow of air for seven minutes.

Recovery was the 540-foot water blanket, and 180 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or of formation water.

Hydrostatic pressure was 6,150 pounds. The venture is to drill ahead.

A drillstem test for 65 minutes, at 13,060,116 feet, covering the top 56 feet of the Ellenburger had recovery of 50 feet of freeoil and 180 feet of oil and gas cut mud. That is the best show for possible production so far developed by the wildcat in the deep horizons.

Lasiter Spots Pecos 2,000-Foot Wildcat

Lasiter Drilling Company, of Del Rio, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operations at once on its No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust, as a 2,000-foot wildcat in North Pecos County, 11 miles southwest of Imperial.

The drillsite will be 330 feet from northeast and 1,650 feet from northwest lines of southwest half of the north quarter of section 27, block 10, H&GN survey. Cable tools will be used to dig the project.

Plymouth To Venture Into Regan Permian

Plymouth Oil Company No. 1-15 University is slated to be a 3,000-foot wildcat to test into the Permian lime in South-Central Reagan County, nine miles northeast of Big Lake.

The venture will be 990 feet from south and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 15, block 12, University survey. It is to use cable tools and will start operations in the near future.

Stanolex Completes Scurry Pay Opener

After extended testing, Standard Oil Comanpy of Texas has decided to call a recent 24-hour flowing test a potential and complete its No. 1 Jessie Brown, discovery from the Canyon lime section of the Pennsylvanian in North-Central Scurry County, about nine miles north of the town of Snyder.

Total depth is 6,414 feet. Top of the pay is 6,333 feet, where seven inch casing is set. Through a 1/4th -inch choke, the project flowed 832 barrels of oil in 24 hours during the potential test period.

Gas-oil ratio was 1,225-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 45.5 degrees. There was no water. Production was natural.

This new pay opener is 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

Pure Projects Deep Pair In Dollarhide

Additional explorations into the Ellenburger of the Dollarhide field in Southwest Andrews County is slated by the Pure Oil Company.

That concern has staked location for its No. 17-E-A E. P. Cowden as 661 feet from north and 1,983 feet from east lines of section 24, and its No. 19-E-A Cowden 1,983 feet from east and 661 feet from south lines of section 17—both in block A-32, psl survey.

That puts the two projects about eight miles east of the town of Jal, N. M. Elevation of the No. 17 is 3,182 feet and of the No. 19 Cowden, 3,180.8 feet.

Rotary equipment is to be used. Operator expects the deep horizon to come in above 10,500 feet.

The Pure No. 19-E-A Cowden is scheduled to spud around November 29, while operator is to hold up operations on the other until December 20.

Tex Harvey Develops Salt Water On DST

Tex Harvey Oil Company No. 1 Floyd, East Midland County prospector to the Ellenburger, 13 miles southwest of the city of Midland, and 2,000 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 15, block 37, TP survey, T-3-S, ran a three hour and 40 minute drillstem test in lower Silurian lime at 11,702-781 feet.

Recovery was 300 feet of drilling mud and 870 feet of salt water. There were no indications of petroleum.

The project is still bottomed at 11,781 feet and is trying to regain lost circulation, so it can make more hole.

Gulf To Perforate; Test at 1-E Bryant

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E Wilson Bryant, Central Midland County possible discovery from the Fusselman section of the Silurian, at 12,645-767 feet, where it had 2,250 feet of clean oil and 210 of salty water, during a drillstem test, is now preparing to perforate and test at 9,340-9,410 feet in a lime stringer in the Pennsylvanian.

That interval had some small in-

Cost To Save China May Be Five Billions

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A top Administration official estimated Tuesday it would cost the United States about $5,000,000,000 to try to save China from the Communists.

This official, asking not to be quoted by name, told a reporter he is convinced only a program of that size, and one combining both military and economic help, would stand any chance of success.

He added the $5,000,000,000 figure has been mentioned by several cabinet officers in discussing what—if anything—can be done to help the hard-pressed Nationalist government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The official did not profess to know, however, whether President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall got around to talking about any such specific estimate in their first post-election conference Monday.

The White House reported only that the two men reviewed the whole range of foreign relations, including China, all of Asia, and Europe.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross called Marshall's report "very informative" and said the secretary might return for further talks Tuesday.

Diplomatic authorities described Truman as eager to reach a decision on China quickly so he can reply in greater detail to Chiang's urgent appeal last week for more American help.

Too Late Or Too Costly?

The main factors confronting the President and his secretary of state are these:

1. Whether it is too late, as some government officials are known to feel, to help Chiang's Nationalist armies, and

2. Whether the cost of an "adequate" China aid program could be fitted into the budget without forcing the Treasury to dip into its red ink.

The official who told of the thinking in terms of a $5,000,000,000 undertaking said it has not been determined how many years the program might require. Thus, he did not offer a guess on what the cost might be in any one year.

The $5,000,000,000 figure would include funds for a third purpose—purchase of huge quantities of consumer goods, such as food and clothing, for Chinese civilians. The objective would be to discourage hoarding and black market operations.

The current Chinese Aid Program involves an outlay of $400,000,000.

Britain To Oppose European Parliament

PARIS —(AP)— Britain will advise her Brussels Pact Allies soon that a Western European Parliament is beyond present-day achievement, authoritative British sources said Tuesday.

The sources said Britain was to have made this point Wednesday at a meeting of representatives of the five-powers—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Community Chest Drive Is Lagging

Midland's Community Chest finance campaign definitely is lagging, but leaders Tuesday attributed the cause largely to the fact that many citizens as yet have not been contacted and numerous workers have not filed reports this week.

Contributions Tuesday totaled $2,892 against the $33,923 goal. The Big Gifts Division reported gifts totaling $4,525; Special Gifts, $1,475, and General Solicitation, $2,892.

Numerous firms still have not received employe contribution cards, but Reese Cleveland, general campaign chairman, said this phase of the program will be completed by Tuesday night.

Leaders urged workers to complete assignments and to make reports promptly. Those who cannot complete their jobs are asked to turn in their cards.

Supported By Chest

Cleveland stressed the fact that the six youth and welfare organizations participating in Community Chest funds necessarily will have to

Shut-In Ordered For Flaring Wells In Heyser Field

AUSTIN —(AP)— Oil wells in the Heyser Field not putting casinghead gas to some "lawful use" have been ordered closed in, effective December 1.

The Railroad Commission Monday issued its first order of 17 threatened for oil fields where it says the natural gas produced incidentally to oil is being flared or otherwise wasted.

The Heyser Field is in Calhoun County. It is one of the smaller of the 17 fields which the commission said it would close in if wastage of natural gas is not halted.

The Heyser Field has 185 producing oil wells and a total daily allowable production of 5,021 barrels of crude. The commission alleges that 27,000,000 cubic feet of gas is being flared daily in the field.

Britain's Monarch Stricken

LONDON —(AP)— King George VI is suffering from an arterial ailment, Buckingham Palace official correspondents reported Tuesday. All his public engagements have been cancelled.

The announcement, apparently authorized by the king himself, said the ailment did not involve a blood clot.

The king's physicians said in a medical bulletin early Tuesday the king suffered from "an obstruction in the circulation of the legs which has only recently become acute" and that a defective blood supply to the right foot caused anxiety.

Newspapers and court circles generally interpreted the bulletin to mean that a blood clot had formed in the king's right leg. This belief was heightened by the physicians' instruction that the king's projected Australian-New Zealand tour next year should be cancelled because the strain "might well involve serious risk to a limb."

Condition Not Critical

News of the 52-year-old king's illness—his first serious ailment since 1917 when he underwent an operation for duodenal ulcer—eclipsed the empire's rejoicing at the birth of a son and possible future king to Princess Elizabeth a week ago.

Messages of condolence poured into the palace from all quarters.

While it was apparent the ruler's present condition is not critical, there was no attempt to minimize the gravity of his ailment.

The king expects to continue his normal office duties—seeking his secretaries and dealing with correspondence. He undoubtedly will be available to his ministers. He may use a wheel chair.

Australia Urges UN To Push Settlement Of Jew-Arab Strife

PARIS —(AP)— Australia said Tuesday the Jews and Arabs should settle their Palestine dispute on the basis of the United Nation's partition plan of November 29, 1947.

Australia submitted a draft resolution to the General Assembly's No. 1 Political Committee that would set up a conciliation commission of not more than five members. The commission's job would be to bring about direct negotiations between the Arabs and Jews on boundary problems.

John D. L. Hood of Australia said the Political Committee should recommend that the Security Council approve UN membership for Israel when the Jewish state applies for it.

Judgment And Opinion

The assembly, Hood said, should "lay a clear injunction on both parties (Jews and Arabs) to abandon their sterile antagonism and to pay heed to the force of judgment and opinion which the assembly's recommendation represents."

He said the Arabs should drop their attitude of defiance toward the UN partition of Palestine. He also criticized what he called Israel disposition to select the most advantageous aspect of all Palestine proposals "and forget the immense debt they owe to the United Nations."

"The Jews have expected and have received justice at the hand of the Assembly of the United Nations," Hood said. "They also must do justice."

Later, Egypt hinted in the No. 2 Political Committee that the six Arab states might walk out of the UN if Israel is admitted to membership.

Rotary And Lions Clubs Slate Joint Meet Wednesday

The annual joint Thanksgiving meeting of the Rotary and Lions Clubs will be held Wednesday noon in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer with the Lions Club as the host organization.

The Rev. Robert J. Snell, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church and president of the Midland Ministerial Association, will deliver the Thanksgiving message. Mr. Snell, a former Lion, is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

The Rev. Clyde Lindsley, Lions Club president, will preside. James T. Smith is president of the Rotary Club.

Band To Play

The Midland Lions Club International Convention Band will furnish special music.

The joint Thanksgiving meeting of the two clubs is a custom of long standing in Midland, with large crowds attending each year. The attendance Wednesday is expected to establish a new record. Since the regular meeting date of the Rotary Club each year falls on Thanksgiving Day, the Lions years ago started a practice of inviting Rotarians to meet with them on the day preceding the holiday.

All members of both service groups are urged to attend the Wednesday luncheon.

New Signs Indicate Inflation May Halt

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Has inflation at last reached its peak—or perhaps even passed it?

There are new signs Tuesday that this could be so. But somewhat similar signs appeared in early 1947 and 1948 only to be bowled over by another upsurge in the boom.

Among the latest indications emerging from government reports in the last few days are these:

A two-month decline in the consumer (cost-of-living) price index until, in October, it was only moderately above last January's level.

Also, a dip since August in the general index of wholesale prices—which are more of a guide on future costs at retail—until in October the index dropped slightly below the level of last January.

Not all prices have gone down. Those for metals, which play a major role in determining the price course of many goods, have been rising even more sharply than in 1947.

Prices, however, are only one factor on the scoreboard showing how the inflation contest between supply and demand has been getting along.

"Supply of many goods," says the Federal Reserve Board in its latest bulletin, "is now in better balance with demand at current prices than at any time since before the war."

Demand Loses Zip

And demand itself hasn't been showing the old zip it had in earlier postwar periods.

People have been spending less of their after-tax income and putting more of it into savings. Business has slowed down its buying, too.

Department store sales have dropped below last year in dollar volume for two consecutive weeks, and retail sales in general haven't been showing their old month-by-month climb.

Starts on construction of new homes have been declining since April—suggesting, as the Federal Reserve Board put it, "resistance on the part of buyers to current high prices."

Washington economists are viewing all this with extreme caution, recalling that there were wrong forecasts when some similar developments occurred in the Spring of 1947 and in the opening months of 1948.

Experts Brush Off Rumors Tito May Be Converted To West

BELGRADE —(AP)— Informed sources brushed aside Tuesday a rash of rumors inside and outside Yugoslavia that Premier Marshal Tito is turning to the West and that the country is suffering a critical economic crisis.

Some tried to read into Tito's speech last week before the Slovene Communist Party Congress a warning to Russia and the Cominform that unless they stopped their attacks and discriminatory trade acts, Yugoslavia would turn to the West for the goods she needs.

But most people here found no threat. Evidence available in this country, where economic data is considered a state secret, shows no such turn is taking place. There is no speed-up of trade talks with Western nations. Some trade negotiations are going on with Western nations, but these are considered normal and were started before the Cominform came to grips with Tito.

Not Faring So Well

Indeed, Yugoslavia's first team of negotiators presently is in Moscow trying to renew the annual short term trade agreement. There are no reports on how the talks are going. The fact that the delegation had to wait months for visas and has been three weeks in Moscow without signs of progress indicates the Yugoslavs are not faring so well.

It is difficult to guess how far Russia is willing to go in economic sanctions against Yugoslavia. Tito charged however that countries in the Russian orbit and the Soviet Union are threatening Yugoslavia "worse than they did the capitalists."

Midland High Plans Pep Rally, Parade

Heavy Cloud Cover Balks Air Support

NANKING —(AP)— The Communists opened a new push Tuesday on Suchow, key to Nanking and Central China. The immediate objective was the defense bastion's only airfield.

Gen. Chen Yi's Red veterans punched out of the Southeast under the cover of low clouds. Weather cut down the effectiveness of the government's Air Force, which was the major factor in turning the Communist assault in the first phase of the Suchow battle last week.

The new offensive added to Communist pressure steadily building up against the Nationalist Second Army Group all along a great arc to the east and south of the city 180 miles northwest of Nanking. Other Red forces were reported moving against Suchow from the North.

In North China, the Communist threat to the great cities of Peiping and Tientsin increased as the Reds took over Paoting. The Communist radio claimed the city Monday, the government announced its evacuation Tuesday.

Without full air support for the defense of Suchow, the Nationalists were expected to be in for a rough time. The Communists apparently had regrouped and reformed completely after last week's heavy battering. They had been caught unprotected on the Suchow Plain and the Nationalist Air Force blasted them in clear days and moonlight nights with bombers and fighter-bombers.

Seventh Corps Decimated

Eastward from Suchow, Gen. Huang Po-Tao's Nationalist Seventh Army Corps was believed reduced almost to nothing. His forces took the full force of last week's Red assault in the defense of Hsiehchuang, 23 miles east of Suchow.

The official Central News Agency said forces moving from Suchow to the relief of Huang's battered outfit were only about ten miles away. But other sources said there seemed little hope any appreciable number of Huang's troops still would be able to fight.

Another government force, the 12th Army Corps, was working slowly toward Suchow from the Southwest. It last was reported southwest of Suhsien, which was believed still in Communist hands. The 12th Corps' mission was first to take Suhsien, then move on the 67 miles to Suchow.

There was the possibility it will meet strong Red opposition en-route. Communist Gen. Liu Po-Cheng has strong forces south of Suchow but there was no indication he was moving yet to intercept the 12th.

West Says UN Able To Settle Crisis

PARIS—(AP)—The United States delegation to the United Nations reaffirmed Tuesday its position that the Security Council should find a solution of the Berlin crisis.

The delegation took the unusual step of authorizing a statement by a spokesman in answer to reports from Berlin that an authoritative American official there saw no basis for agreement on Berlin in the UN.

The spokesman's statement to newsmen reiterated that the Western Powers have pledged their full cooperation in assisting Council President Juan A. Bramuglia in his efforts to solve the crisis.

Full Cooperation

The spokesman said:

"The actions of Soviet authorities in Berlin are increasingly preventing the lawful city government from exercising its functions. Such actions obviously do not contribute to reaching a solution which the president of the Security Council and the other five members associated with him are seeking to achieve.

"The three Western Powers, on the other hand, have pledged their full cooperation in assisting the president of the Security Council in his efforts. They are working continuously along those lines.

"The United States policy was stated in a letter which, under the direction of the President, the secretary of state sent to Mr. (Herbert V.) Evatt, and Mr. (Trygve) Lie November 17.

"There he said, among other things, that the government of the United States remains ready to carry out loyally the Security Council resolution of Oct. 25, 1948."

Severe Cold Wave Sweeps Into State

By The Associated Press

The thermometer slumped worse than football fortunes in the stretch Monday night in Texas with subfreezing weather throughout the Panhandle and South Plains.

The state's low was 22 degrees at Sherman with 24 at Marfa and Abilene. Amarillo had 26. Dallas recorded 29. The highest was Beaumont with 55.

There was some rain in the South, and Beeville reported some hail.

Prospects were for colder weather Tuesday night with a new severe cold wave sweeping into the state Wednesday. The Weather Bureau also saw prospects of snow in the Panhandle.

Judge Calls On U. S. Attorneys To Defend McDonald Indictment

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Government attorneys were summoned Tuesday before Federal Judge Edward M. Curran to defend a series of indictments under the two-year-old Federal Lobbying Act.

Returned last June, the indictments charged four men and two associations with having tried to influence farm legislation and to advance "their own personal financial interests" without registering as lobbyists. Those named are:

State Agriculture Commissioner James E. McDonald of Texas and Tom Linder of Georgia; Robert M. Harriss, a partner in the New York commodity brokerage firm of Harriss and Vose; Ralph W. Moore of Washington; the Farm Commissioners Council and the National Farm Committee.

The cases are not due to come to trial until early next year. But defense attorneys sought Monday to have the indictments quashed. They contend that (a) the act violates constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech; (b) their clients are innocent of any wrongdoing, and (c) the indictments are "vague, indefinite and faulty."

Curran asked Justice Department Attorneys Herman Wolkinson and Arthur Caldwell to reply to these arguments Tuesday.

Officials Claim Exemption

Attorneys Hugh Howell of Atlanta, who appeared for Linder, and Maury Hughes of Dallas, who represented McDonald, argued that when their clients appeared before Congress to advance or oppose farm legislation they were only carrying ou the duties of their state offices. The lawyers also contended their clients were exempt from the act by virtue of being state officials.

Attorney William Leahy of Washington said the indictment against Moore was "so vague it amounts to nothing as a charge." He spoke out against "the inherent unfairness of condemning a man for something he can't even understand that he did."

Harriss was represented by former Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont), who challenged the constitutionality of the lobbying act, passed by Congress as a part of the Legislative Reorganization Law.

Here are some of the differences between a "perfect housekeeper" and a "good homemaker:"

On an especially beautiful day the perfect housekeeper decides it is a perfect day to hang out all the winter woolens or clean the basement. The good homemaker decides to hurry through her work and take the kids to the park.

When the children bring home friends from school the perfect housekeeper starts right in with a list of do's and don'ts, the most important of which is "You can't let all those children in the house!" The good homemaker accepts the children in a friendly way, hunts up something for them to eat, and doesn't worry about crumbs.

Kind To Papa

When Papa puts his feet on the davenport the perfect housekeeper asks him to take his shoes off or put a paper under his feet. The good homemaker leaves him alone.

When a repair or odd job needs to be done the perfect housekeeper decides it has to be done at once, whether the man of the house is in the mood to do it or not. The good homemaker realizes it isn't a life-or-death matter and lets him choose his time for doing it.

The perfect housekeeper can't relax if there is anything out of place. The good homemaker can.

The perfect housekeeper enjoys few spur-of-the-moment pleasures. The good homemaker can usually change her schedule to join in a last-minute plan.

Presbyterian, Methodist Churches Gain 94 New Members In Visitation Program

Ninety-four new members have been enrolled in the First Methodist and First Presbyterian Churches as a result of an evangelism visitation program conducted jointly last week by laymen of the two churches, the Rev. Howard Hollowell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, announced Tuesday. The new members were almost equally divided between the two churches.

The visitation program resulted from the city-wide census taken last Summer under the sponsorship of the Midland Ministerial Association.

Men of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches met jointly four nights last week, with the visitations being made following the serving of suppers by women's organizations of the two denominations. Mr. Hollowell and the Rev R. Matthew Lynn, Presbyterian pastor, alternated in presiding at the evening sessions.

Membership Sunday

Mr. Hollowell and Mr. Lynn said the list of prospective members is far from exhausted, and the program will be continued on the first Tuesday nights of each month for an indefinite period.

Sunday, December 5, will be observed as Membership Sunday in the two churches, when many of those contacted officially will be received as members. Mr. Hollowell said a large percentage of those signifying a willingness to become church members actually are first enlistments as Christians.

Thanksgiving Day is a happy day with the family gathered 'round. It takes a lot of preparation for the feast, but it's well worth the effort. And for the dessert as the family relaxes and sits back, "what could be more appropriate than a rich pumpkin pie."

Here's a simply splendid recipe for Pumpkin Chiffon Pie that you can leisurely and easily make a day in advance.

Ingredients are 1¼ cups pumpkin; 1 cup sugar; ½ cup milk; 3 eggs; ½ tsp. each of ginger, nutmeg, cinnamon and salt; 1 tbsp. gelatin; ¼ cup water; and 1 pkg. of Aunt Ellen's Pi-Do.

Bake a pie shell following the directions on the package of Aunt Ellen's Pi-Do.

To slightly beaten egg yolks add ½ cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt and spices. Cook until thick in double boiler. Soak gelatin in ¼ cup cold water; add hot pumpkin mixture. Mix thoroughly and cool. Add remaining sugar and stiffly beaten egg white. Pour into Pi-do shell. Chill in refrigerator. Serve with whipped cream.

Comedy Of Unusual Theme Scheduled By Community Theater

While Community Theater officers and committees are putting emphasis on the annual enrollment of members for a new year, the cast of "The Late Christopher Bean" is maintaining its rehearsal schedule to prepare the comedy for presentation December 2, 3 and 4 in the City-County Auditorium.

Work on preparing the set has started, with a painting session in the City-County Auditorium Monday night. Persons interested in this phase of play production are invited to join the work groups.

Regular rehearsals are held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Killer Of Youths

"I just saw a speeding automobile run down a Collie dog, killing it instantly," a Midland woman's voice exclaimed excitedly over the telephone. "And the driver of the car was a man who didn't even slow down. The victim might just as easily have been one of the neighborhood children."

Yes, it could just as easily have been a youngster—for accidents today claim the lives of more children than do polio, scarlet fever and pneumonia combined. Accidents—the No. 1 killer of children in the United States—take a heavy toll of our boys and girls each year. And it is all so unnecessary.

Careless driving usually is responsible for many of the accidents which claim the lives of youngsters.

It is something for each and every automobile driver to think about. Taking it easy and driving carefully, especially where children walk and play, will save lives—lives of youngsters in many instances.

Here are some simple safety rules recommended for avoiding needless child deaths:

For the child—1. Always cross streets at intersections; always observe the traffic lights; always look both ways before crossing the street. The driver may not be on his job; you should be on yours.

2. Do not run into the street after a ball or playmate without first making sure you will be able to return to the curb safely.

3. Do not walk in the streets. Observe all traffic rules when riding a bicycle.

For the motorist—1. Observe all school signs. Never speed in residential sections.

2. Children, especially young children, are liable to do the unexpected; they act first and think afterward. When you have to drive past a child playing near the street, slow down. He may dart out in front of your car.

3. Be especially observant of parked cars. In addition to the fact that a parked car is as much an obstruction to visibility as a blind corner, many children customarily play in and about parked cars.

In other words, drive carefully at all times.

Let's see to it that the traffic accident does not become the No. 1 killer of children in Midland.

Exit, Laughing

Scientists say that the earth's envelope of atmosphere contains a good bit of nitrous oxide, or laughing gas, in its upper reaches. Its function, they believe, may be to keep the temperature of the lower atmosphere fairly uniform.

Since science is progressing as the international situation deteriorates, there may be time to use the one in a constructive way before the other proves our undoing. Perhaps we can yet transport Russia's rulers to the reaches where the laughing gas is found. There, hopefully, their fears and bitterness would be dissolved in hilarity, and the temperature of their heated words and emotions reduced to a soothing 98.6 degrees.

It would take a prodigal son, indeed, to expect a fatted calf these days.

By the time you think up a new costume for a mask ball, you might as well go as a nervous wreck.

A steamer recently landed with 10,000 canary birds. We predict a nice winter for house cats.

Pollsters Continue Probing Why Election Polls Missed

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Argument over the election results is apparently never going to end. There's still just as much jawing about why the polls and the experts went wrong as there was on the morning after. And the answers are still just as inconclusive.

Department of Agriculture statistician Louis H. Bean, who wrote a book on "How to Predict Elections," thinks he has one good explanation. Quoting Dr. George Gallup's own statement that his "final" poll was based on information that was from 10 days to two weeks old, Bean declares that this time lag is what threw everyone off on final predictions.

In the two weeks before election, there was a lot of heavy campaigning. Many votes were unquestionably changed in this period when there were no poll-takers around to find out what was going on in the voters' minds.

'Undecided' Voters

Another mistake the pollsters made was in their method of calculating how the "undecided" voters would vote. As of October 1, for instance, 15 per cent of the voters were undecided, according to the Roper poll. For their final results, the pollsters had to assume that this 15 per cent of the voters would divide just as the other 85 per cent would vote.

The way this figured out, if Dewey had 45 per cent and Truman 40 per cent of this 85 per cent expressing a preference, it was assumed that the 15 per cent would split on the same basis, or eight points for Dewey and seven points for Truman. This made the total percentages Dewey 53 per cent, Truman 47 per cent. There is no evidence that the undecided voters split this way at all when they marched into the booth and cast their ballots.

The Gallup organization now is making a study of selected precincts, all over the country, to determine where they went wrong. Some of the Gallup experts are of the opinion the people who were polled in advance of the election were not representative of the people who voted on election day. If this is true, it may be found that many people who were polled as Republicans did not bother to cast their ballots because they were so sure Dewey was going to win by a top-heavy majority.

Normally, a light vote means a Republican victory. That it didn't work out that way this time is now attributed to the fact that labor union political organizations did such an effective job in getting out the city vote. The farm vote, which had been so heavily counted on by the Republicans, was light. This made the total vote light. But in the Democratic cities it was heavy.

Not Interested In Candidates

Still another important factor is that the total vote for presidential candidates was less than the total vote for congressional or state candidates. This showed up particularly in Ohio, where 300,000 more people voted for the non-presidential candidates than voted for Truman, Dewey, Wallace and Thurmond. This helped pull down the total presidential vote, nationally. Too many people just weren't interested in any of the candidates. Some of the undecided never did make up their minds.

What is really needed to settle this argument is two more polls, or national surveys. One would be to determine how the people who were undecided in October voted in November. The other would be to determine why the people who didn't vote stayed home, and whom they would have voted for if they had gone to the polls.

Poll-taker Elmo Roper has argued for some years that there was no sense in continuing to take polls on elections. At a meeting of statisticians in Williamstown, Mass., in 1945, Roper declared that polling had been tried in the three previous presidential elections, but had not added to human knowledge in any way. Gallup, Crossley and other national poll-takers also were present.

Louis Bean spoke in favor of trying the poll once more in 1948. In 1936, 1940 and 1944 polls, there had been a wide margin of Democratic voters. Just to prove the system was sound, Bean argued for using it in a year when the voters would be more evenly divided. They did, and look what happened.

As for abolishing the polls by law it's out of the question. It's too good an indoor sport. Trying to cutsmart the unknown is what makes horse racing, football and politics such fun.

Proper Training Does Much For Cerebral Palsy Victims

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Thousands of children suffer from a condition known as cerebral palsy. These unfortunate youngsters do not have normal muscular function because their brains have been injured before, during or immediately after birth by disease, accident or faulty development. These children are often called "spastic," but this is a poor name because it does not include all children affected by cerebral or brain palsy.

Children handicapped in this way need to be treated both physically and mentally. On the physical side there should be a long-range plan set up by the medical advisers with the cooperation of the home and the school. Special muscle training should be started at the earliest possible moment. Certain games are particularly adaptable for these handicapped youngsters. Exercises using music or verses and songs may be useful. Regular eating, sleeping, resting, bathing, dressing and play habits should accompany the exercises prescribed by the physician.

Need Calm Home Life

The educational and psychological assistance which can be given is most important. A calm harmonious home life is desirable. The education should be given at the speed which the youngster can take easily and carried as far as it is reasonable to go. A child afflicted in this way usually progresses at a slower rate than others of the same age. Encouragment is important. The youngster with cerebral palsy should have some play with normal children. The speech can be encouraged. Although these youngsters need sympathy and affection, they ought not to be pampered or spoiled. Pity is out of place.

Sometimes these youngsters have superior intellects but have difficulty in developing them satisfactorily in regular schools. For all these reasons, special schools and special attention bring big dividends in improvement. The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, of which there are many state and local branches, has done great work in this field.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

One Sunday night recently I dropped in at CBS to hear Percy Faith and his orchestra, and I met lovely Jane Froman, known as radio's "First Lady of Son." I could not help but admire this little trouper who traveled all over the world to entertain our service men, and then unfortunately crashed in 1943 in the Tangus River at Lisbon. She told me about her romance with John Curtis Burn, co-pilot of the clipper on which she crashed, whom she married last March.

Jane Froman's formula for success, "Work, Training, Experience and Work," can be applied as well to bridge. You cannot become a good bridge player unless you are willing to study the game, play a lot of it, and take the trouble to memorize some of the plays. "Everyone makes mistakes," says Jane, "but we should try to eliminate the careless mistakes that are unnecessary and so costly."

A careful declarer, after winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, will play a small spade from dummy and win it in with his own hand with the ace. Then, if either hand showed out, he would be in a position to finesse the holder of the other three trumps out of his jack.

Heavy Sheep Loss Expected In Area Struck By Blizzard

GOODLAND, KAN. —(AP)— Livestock men figure they lost a high toll of Southwestern sheep, sent to Kansas for Winter fattening, in last week's blizzard.

From scattered, incomplete reports by farmers still digging their animals from snowdrifts, the loss of sheep was estimated Monday night at 25 per cent.

The loss in cattle was estimated at only five per cent, however, because the cold was not severe. Sheep generally piled up or went down when their fleece became loaded with snow, and the 75-mile gale covered them with drifts. Cattle herds broke up, drifted and wandered before the wind.

Fewer sheep than usual had been shipped into Kansas from Texas and other Southwestern states this year because dry fields kept the wheat crop small.

The biggest loss was expected east of here in Thomas County, where 70,000 to 100,000 sheep were located. There was an unconfirmed report that 50 per cent of a flock of 11,000 was lost in that county.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON — On March 7, 1936, Hitler's small, newly organized army marched into the vital Ruhr, publicly thumbing its nose at the giant but motionless French Army.

All that day the French Cabinet met, debated, hesitated, finally did nothing. One reason they did nothing was their ally across the English Channel, London refused to back France up.

This failure to act, with its loss of the Ruhr, was the crucial turning point leading up to World War II. After March 7, 1936, it was only a matter of time.

For after that Hitler had the giant coke, coal, iron, steel and chemical industries of the Ruhr. After that he could leap ahead in the armanemt race. With the Ruhr in his hands no other European country could catch up with him.

That is why France today is more aroused than at any time since she was overrun by German troops, why Charles De Gaulle has threatened to kick out the Marshall Plan, why President Auriol of France has pleaded with the U. S. A., why Communists have jeered at the U. S. A. as the German-loving enemy of France.

For handing the Ruhr back to the German cartels means just one thing to the French — the turning point toward another war. For whoever controls the Ruhr controls Europe.

U. S. Bankers Pour

During the years between the end of World War I and 1933 when Hitler came to power, the banking firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman dumped around one billion dollars of American investors' money into Germany, much of it to the Ruhr. Simultaneously, the banking firm of Dillon, read dumped several hundred millions—much of it also into the Ruhr.

In 1933, the Harriman banking firm retained John Foster Dulles to go to Berlin and persuade the Reichbank not to default on its interest. Dulles in 1926 had assailed the State Department for its policy of putting a damper on loans to Germany. The State Department had warned that U. S. loans were helping rearmament. But Dulles advised the American public to invest in European securities and kept repeating this advice even when it was all too apparent that German bonds weren't worth the paper they were printed on.

Today, Mr. Dulles is head of the American delegation to the United Nations and a top adviser to the Truman administration.

Today, the former head of Dillon, Read, James V. Forrestal, is Secretary of National Defense, while his old banking partner, William H. Draper, is Undersecretary of the Army.

Today, Averell Harriman of the Harriman Banking firm which poured money into Germany is U. S. Ambassador under the Marshall Plan, while another Harriman banking partner, Robert Lovett, is Undersecretary of State.

These are the gentlemen who loaned the money to build up the Ruhr between World Wars I and II. These are also the gentlemen who have now decided that the Ruhr shall go back to the big German cartels.

Note — Having been wrong so tragically once, the French figure these banker-statesmen can be wrong again. If they are wrong, it is the French who will have to pay the penalty.

Cooperative Rule

To understand the importance of the Ruhr, you have to understand what would happen if a slice of the U. S. A. from Pittsburgh to Cleveland to Wheeling, W. Va., were carved out of our economy. Removal of the great blast furnaces and rolling mills in this area would paralyze the auto industry, the construction industry, farm machinery, machine tools. Almost every industry would come to a halt.

Likewise, France, Italy, Belgium, most of Europe are partly dependent on Ruhr coal, coke or steel. The consumers are even more concerned than the producers. To them the Ruhr is vital for two reasons:

1. To make sure it doesn't become another arsenal for war.

2. To make sure its raw materials continue to build up a peaceful Europe.

To that end, it is being proposed by some Washington advisers that Rhur factories be managed not by the German cartels, but by neutral cooperatives.

The Swedes, Norwegians, Swiss, Dutch, Belgians are trusted in Europe because they are small and don't want war. If war comes they have most to lose. Their stake in peace is tremendous.

If a cooperative to operate the Rhur was formed and these smaller neutral countries given a dominant part in the management, French fears would cease. Furthermore, the Germans' could not object. French, British, American and even German representatives could sit in on the management, but the small neutrals would hold the balance of power.

Consumer Interest

The principle of a cooperative is that the consumer is just as important as the producer. If the cooperative makes more money, the consumer gets a dividend. He shares in the management.

Ruhr industry is so important to the consumer nations of Europe that they deserve a voice in its control. Furthermore, their control will give the best quietus to French fears, the best safeguards for future peace.

Not even the Russians could successfully object to such a solution.

Today the Scandinavian countries operate highly efficient and successful cooepratives. So do the British. If the economic heart of Europe is left to the handling of the same American bankers—the Forrestals, the Dulleses and the Harrimans — who helped rejuvenate Germany after World War I, then you can write it down that World War III is just around the corner.

However, the only way to make international cooperation work is to try it, not talk about it. And the Rhur is the all-important place to begin. If we don't begin with cooperative control of the Ruhr now, then we can get ready to fight to take it back from Russian-Nazi cartels later.

THE STORY: Well-to-do Louis Durand carries on a correspondence courtship with a Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. She comes from St. Louis to New Orleans by boat to marry him. She is young, ravishing, blond. Within a month of their marriage, she withdraws $50,000 from his bank account and disappears. Investigation proves her an impostor. Durand retains Walter Downs, detective, to prove that a crime was committed against the real Julia Russell, who vanished on the boat trip to New Orleans. A year later, Durand is alone in Biloxi. He makes the acquaintance of a Colonel Worth in a hotel bar. Worth persuades Durand to dine with him and his fiancee Miss Castle, the following evening.

SOMEHOW, the next day, he was too lackadaisical about the engagement even to send his perfunctory regrets in time, and so before he knew it, it was evening, the appointment had become confirmed if only by default, and it was too late to extricate himself from it without being guilty of the grossest rudeness, which would not have been the case had he canceled it a few hours earlier.

He'd lain down on his bed, fully dressed, late in the afternoon for a short nap, and when he awoke the time set was already imminent, and there was nothing left to do now but fulfill the engagement.

He sighed and grimaced privately to his mirror, but then commenced the necessary preparations none the less. He could remain a half-hour, he promised himself, as a token of participation, then arrange to have himself called away by one of the waiters with a decoy message, and leave.

Fortified by this intention, shaved and cleanly shirted, he shrugged on his coat, thumbed open his money-fold to see that it was sufficiently well filled, and glumly set forth. A 10-minute walk brought him to his destination.

THE GROTTO was a long, narrow, cabinlike, single-story structure, flimsy- and unprepossessing on the outside.

The interior, due to some depression in the ground, was somewhat lower than the walks outside, so that he had to descend a short flight of entry steps once he had been bowed in by the colored door-flunkey. The main dining room itself, seen from their top, was a disordered litter of white-clothed table tops, heads studding them in circular formation.

A pompous dining steward, with wide-spreading frizzed sideburns, greeted him at the foot of the stairs.

"Are you alone, sir? May I show you to a table?"

"No, I was to join a party," Durand said. "Colonel Worth and friends. In one of the private booths. Which way are they?"

"Oh, straight to the back, sir. At the far end of the room. You are expected. They are in the first one on the right."

He made his way down the long central lane of clearance to the rear.

At the back, the room narrowed to a single serving passage leading to the kitchen. Lining each side of this, however, were openings leading into the little private alcoves or dining nooks Worth had mentioned. All alike discreetly curtained-off from view, although otherwise they were doorless. The nearest one on either side, however, was not strictly parallel to the passage but placed slantwise to it, cutting off the corner.

As he fixed his eyes upon the one to the right, marking that for his eventual destination, though still a little distance short of it, with the last bank of tables projecting somewhat between, the protective curtain gashed back at one side and a waiter came out backward, in the act of withdrawal but lingering a moment half-in half-out to allow the completion of some instruction being given him. He held the curtain, for that moment, away from the wall in a sort of diamond-shaped aperture, with one hand.

Durand's foot, striking ground, never moved on again.

IT was as if a cameo of purest line, of clearest design, were in that opening, held there for Durand to see, a cameo of dazzling clarity, presented against a dark velvet mounting.

On one side, fluctuating with utterance of orders to the waiter, was a slice of the lumpy profile of the colonel. At the other, facing back toward him, was a slice of the smooth-turned profile of an unknown, dark of hair.

Midway between the two, facing outward, bust-length, white as alabaster, dazzling as marble, were the face and throat and bared shoulders and half-bared bosom that he would never forget, that he could never forget.

Julia!

Julia, the killer. The destroyer of his heart.

The waiter dropped his restraining hand, the curtainside swept to the wall, the cameo was blotted out.

He stood there stunned, blasted, robbed of his powers of motion.

Then suddenly he was going back the other way, the way he'd come, now, unsteadily, jostling into tables and the back of chairs.

He reached the other end of the raucous place, and the same steward as before came solicitously to his side.

"Did you fail to find your party, sir?"

"I—I've changed my mind." He took out his money-fold, crushed an incredible ten-dollar bill into the man's hand. "I haven't been here asking for them. You didn't see me."

He stumbled up the steps and out, lurching as though he'd filled himself with wine in those few minutes. Wine of hate, ferment of the grapes of wrath.

LETTERS from SANTA

The North Pole

Dear Children,

And now for a walk through the woods. But first I must pull on my huge boots, shrug into my fur coat, cap, muffler and mittens. (I just never forget my mittens as Mother Claus would be terribly upset if I did. Once I did forget them but I didn't let her know. That was the time I had to go to bed for a week because my hands had gotten so cold.)

Let's take along a few of the elves for our walk. Here, Skippy, you too. Happy, and how about you, Pussy! Now here we go through the new fallen snow. As we go, little elves are kicking snowflakes with the tips of their gay toes, ringing tiny bells all the while. Can't you just hear the merry jingle? Now we are down among the Christmas trees, all flaky with their winter dress of snow.

They are whispering among themselves. Maybe I can catch what they are saying. Ah yes. Here is what they are saying, "Hush my pine trees. Here is Santa with a group of merry elves. Do you suppose that we shall be chosen this Christmas to be decked with colored balls and baubles for the delight of all the children? Will there be piles of toys under our branches for happy girls and boys?" And I laughed to myself as I said, "But of course."

Love,
SANTA CLAUS

EISENHOWER was my boss

by Kay Summersby

Captain, WAC, Army Of The U. S.

Copyright, 1948, by Kay Summersby

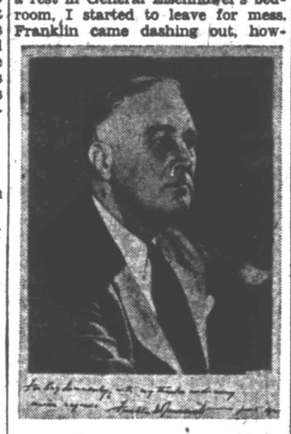

Instalment 21

Shortly afterward, the President reappeared. They lifted him into the car with a quick efficiency which made the gesture seem wholly natural. His difficulty was ignored by common consent . . . it simply did not exist.

"I'd like to go over and inspect Elliott's outfit," he told me. "It's quite near, I understand."

We drove to La Marsa, a short ten minutes away, where he transferred to a jeep and rode along the lines of surprised and proud soldiers of Elliott's photo reconnaissance unit. We were back in Amilcar before sundown.

As the President went inside, for a rest in General Eisenhower's bedroom, I started to leave for mess. Franklin came dashing out, however. "Just a minute, Kay," he grinned. "General Eisenhower says he's ready to leave—and, incidentally, you're invited to dinner here tonight."

Outranked from his own quarters and far from a mood for office work, the general asked me to drive him over to another nearby villa for a visit with Harry Hopkins. The latter and Butch immediately proposed a few rubbers of bridge, a welcome suggestions to ease the day's tension. When serving as dummy, I spent the time staring at Harry Hopkins, wondering just how he remained alive; clothes hung on his tall, fragil frame as thought it were a mere clothes hanger. General Ike and I won.

We were a trifle late for dinner, but the occasion couldn't have been more informal. The absence of General Marshall, Admiral King, even Butch, emphasized this was a dinner, not a dinner party. President Roosevelt and his sons joked and talked as easily and naturally as fathers and sons anywhere in the world. Ruth Briggs, an admiral's daughter, and I comprised the female guests. "Pa" Watson, the presidential aide, was a delightful companion, fatherly and gently chiding about my initial clash with Mike Reilly.

Sitting only one place away from Mr. Roosevelt, who naturally headed the table, I was exposed to the fabled F.D.R. charm. But I had to admit it was just that, pure charm; he had it on full, with all stops out.

After discussing plans for a battlefield tour upon which the President insisted as part of his visit before proceeding to Cairo, the party broke up. It was only 10:30 but the honor guest obviously was fatigued by the long day, which had begun aboard a battleship in Oran, continued through a plane flight to Tunisia, included a troop inspection and a shop talk with General Ike, and concluded with a lengthy dinner. He needed rest. Bidding the others goodnight, he turned to me and spoke in a tone I hadn't heard since childhood: "See you tomorrow, child."

Elliott and Franklin stepped up as I moved away to drive General Eisenhower back to the Hopkins villa. "Come on back, Kay," Franklin whisperd. Elliott nodded. "We're having a little party tonight and it might take your mind off things."

By the time I returned to the White House, leaving the general to a session with the indefatigable Hopkins, the party was in full swing. The President must be a very sound sleeper as well as a very tolerant father, I though, stepping into a room as noisy, smokey, and hot as any nightclub.

When General Eisenhower and I drove up to the White House next morning, a Sunday, we both stiffened in astonishment. The convoy for our quickie tour of the battlefields was practically an armored column. There were at least 20 vehicles, including two truckloads of M.P.'s armed to the teeth, armored cars, halftracks, jeeps, weapon carriers—and a grim-faced Mike up front in a radio car, with an expression which revealed a life-long ambition to head an army into battle.

With President Roosevelt in the Cadillac, smiling at the Reilly brigade, we started off. Telek barked happily in the front seat. I looked forward to the idea of a picnic, which the President had suggested.

The lead radio car led our bristling convoy slowly over the Tunisian countryside. I relaxed and listened to the talk in the back seat. It revolved around the late battles, the terrain, difficulties encountered, and some of the command personalities.

The President remarked that no one remembers the chief of staff after a war; fame comes only to combat leaders. "I am determined," he said, "that General Marshall shall not be forgotten after this war."

Suddenly, he pointed to a rare grove of trees and remarked, "That's an awfully nice place. Could you pull up there, child, for our little picnic?"

Nothing could have pleased me more. Mike, I knew, had already selected a special spot farther along the road; it was perfect for "defense." He would be furious at this change of plans. So I turned off the highway quickly, followed obediently and unquestioningly by all the vehicles behind us. Those in front continued merrily on their way.

By the time we pulled into the Wood, Mike had discovered the loss of half of his convoy and came racing up in wild temper. He could not say much to his boss, however, and, instead, busied himself setting up an impenetrable cordon of guards. They were posted in a wide circle, their backs to us, only a few feet apart, weapons at the alert. In this military, bellicose atmosphere, my passengers started their picnic.

"Child," the President said as I got out of the car to join the other drivers, "won't you come back here and have lunch with a dull old man?"

Startled but pleased, I climbed in back and sat down beside him. General Eisenhower remained/ outside to hand us in delicious chicken sandwiches prepared by Sergeant Hunt. Coffee was the only other item on the sparse menu, as the General was afraid to offer lettuce or other green vegetables to the President in this disease-ridden climate.

The picnic ended, we took the President on a fast tour of areas where great battles had been fought. Then we headed home. He left for Cairo shortly before 11 p.m.

Lying awake in bed that night, I gradually realized what an unusual weekend it had been, for an ordinary Army driver, a British girl at that, to be presented to the President and to participate in his social life. In fact, the past day alone had been a page straight from "Lanny Budd" fiction-sitting in the back seat of a limousine parked on Tunisian battlegrounds, surrounded by armed guards and the Secret Service, served sandwiches by a four-star general named Eisenhower, enjoying a picnic lunch beside the President of the United States!

Crude Production Sets Another High Throughout Nation

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—The United States' crude oil production set another record during the week ended November 20 with a 5,656,635-barrel daily average, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

This figure was 39,295 barrels more than the previous week and a gain of 23,920 barrels over the last high mark reached in the week ended November 8. Kansas production accounted for most of the gain with an increase of 28,150 barrels to 307,600 barrels.

Other major advances were in Michigan, up 2,500 barrels to 45,200; Oklahoma, 1,400 to 44,900; Colorado, 1,750 to 48,970, a new high for the state this year; Montana, 2,090 to 28,920, also a new record for the year; Wyoming, 6,780 to 169,090, another record; and California 100 to a 1948 high of 960,000.

The Eastern area gained 100 barrels to 63,100; Florida was up 25 to 700; and Illinois' increase was 900 to 179,500.

Mississippi's decrease of 2,350 to 127,550 was the largest. Indiana was down 900 to 26,000; Kentucky dropped 400 to 24,100; Arkansas was off 400 to 81,500; and Louisiana slumped 450 to 493,250.

Production was unchanged in Alabama, 1,350; Nebraska, 350; New Mexico, 134,605, and Texas 2,523,-85J.

Boyle Counts His Blessings

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— There are many things to be grateful for this Thanksgiving, not including the price of turkey.

For example, everybody can still afford a cranberry.

So let the cost of the drumstick soar. It'll take more than that to turn the 1948 Thanksgiving into a turkey. We can always give the traditional bird a traditional bird—and pick something beside pinfeathers out of our teeth.

Forget the turkey. Let's count a few real blessings to be thankful for:

The election is over, and now it is possible to turn on a radio without hearing a politician running for office on his vocal chords.

The longshoremen's strike tied up scores of vessels, but the ship of state is still rocking along on an even keel.

Congress is out of session.

The new look isn't getting any longer.

Nobody has started a post-season football contest called "the soup bowl."

More stores are stocking two-pants suits.

It has been weeks since anybody was bitten by a mad English sparrow or struck by lightning in a barroom.

The goose hangs high in the land. Everybody is working, going to college, or waiting for the Army to call him up and end his housing problem.

The hay fever season is over and the real pneumonia weather hasn't set in.

The business depression predicted for 1949 hasn't arrived. The financial Cassandras who forecast it have joined the political pollsters on the mourner's bench—or else are taking lessons in astrology.

The ghost is still walking every payday. Most bosses are meeting their payrolls on time, including the biggest of all—the government.

Lumber is getting plentiful. Soon a man will be able to afford to be buried in a pine coffin again.

So many motor cars are being turned out that by 1951 everybody who can't afford a car will be able to buy one anyway.

Russia hasn't taken another European bountry all year

People aren't telling as many shaggy dog and talking horse stories as they were last Thanksgiving.

The U. S. Army, three years after the war, has a new medium tank in the field equal to anything the Germans had in 1939.

At long last an etiquette book now says men don't have to take off their hats in office elevators when a woman enters.

Explorer Post 85, sponsored by the Midland Lions Club, won the Senior Scout trophy with a score of 380 points. The total score possible was 400 points.

Eddie Cantor Story Shelved, But Eddie Will Go On Living

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood's economy wave has temporarily put Eddie Cantor's life story back in mothballs. Warner Brothers bought the idea three years ago. They've had writers working on it for months. It was shelved, the studio announced, due to inability to lick the story line. But the real reason it was taken off schedule is because it would cost too much money to produce at this time. Cantor says he isn't worried—the whole Warner studio will be on the shelf for the month of December. Not a single camera will roll for 30 days.

Says Eddie: "I'll just live another chapter."

Another Deanna Durbin casualty at UI. What was to have been her next picture, "Western Story," is off the schedule. Durbin's contract with the studios winds up next year and it's almost certain it won't be renewed. "Western Story" was dumped, the studio said, because of difficulty in casting the two male leading roles. Remember when Hollywood's males fought over being in Deanna's pictures?

Pat O'Brien is going on the air with a Hollywood chatter show but says he will make no mention of Hollywood's divorces or unhappy marriages. I wonder what the poor guy is going to talk about.

Bob Taylor finally gets his wish at M-G-M. He'll star in a western, "Viva Zapata," a biographical picture of the colorful Mexican. Most of the picture, I hear, will be filmed in Mexico. Taylor is in England now working in "The Conspirator."

RKO is looking for another comedy along the lines of "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer" for Cary Grant.

Mickey Rooney is talking to trustees of George M. Cohan's estate about the rights to "Forty-Five Minutes to Broadway." The Mick would like to give it a Broadway revival and then turn it out as a movie for his own independent film company.

Lou Costello's entire racing stable of seven thoroughbreds is up for sale. That yacht of Lou's must be costing him more than he figured.

This season it's "My Favorite Redhead." It's the new title of Bob Hope's latest, "Easy Does It." His feminine co-star, Rhonda Fleming, was the inspiration. The fad started with "My Favorite Blonde" and was followed up with "My Favorite Brunette."

Rope Gag

Lynn Bari plucked a piece of rope from her salad at a Hollywood night spot, dangled it before the waiter and said: "Please take this back and bring me Jimmy Stewart."

Warner Brothers is talking about Errol Flynn as "Sir Galahad." Plans are to make the picture in England next year after Flynn completes his role opposite Greer Garson at M-G-M in "The Forsyte Saga."

Red Skelton is telling pals he'd just as soon quit pictures for good and concentrate on radio and television. His latest beef is with M-G-M over "Neptune's Daughter." He said: 'I was given some comic routines to do—not my own. There's always somebody who thinks he can dope out Skelton routines better than Skelton can. Visual comedy is my dish and television is shoving it my way. Pictures? If I never make another one that'll be soon enough for me."

Ingrid Bergman wants to do another movie with Humphrey Bogart . . . Faye Emerson nixed an offer to do a picture for Warner Brothers.

Sul Ross Lobos To Meet Unnamed Team In Tangerine Bowl

ALPINE—(AP)—The Sul Ross Lobos, who swept through a 10-game schedule undefeated and untied and rolled up 431 points to 113 for the opposition, are going to play in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., January 1.

College officials Monday accepted an invitation to send the mighty Lobos into the New Year's Day classic against any team Tangerine Bowl officials cared to name.

Word received here was that Wofford College of Spartanburg, N. C., and Appalachian Teachers College of Boone, N. C., were the top contenders for the other spot in the bowl. The selection will not be made until Thursday, when these colleges wind up the season. Appalachian is unbeaten. Wofford is undefeated but has been tied five times.

The Sul Ross team already has made its plans for the trip to Orlando. The Lobos will leave the afternoon of December 25 and go to Del Rio, thence to Houston December 26, Baton Rogue, La., December 27, Tallahasses, Fla., December 28 and Orlando December 29.

Coaches Paul E. Pierce and William H. Perryman will take a squad of 35 to the Tangerine Bowl.

Odds Favor North Carolina To Meet Ponies January 1

DALLAS—(AP)—The odds Tuesday appeared to favor Southern Methodist and North Carolina in the Cotton Bowl.

There was nothing official and the name of the visiting team being sought was kept a closely guarded secret, but unofficial sources said Southern Methodist's football squad, host team in the Dallas New Year's Day bowl game, voted North Carolina as their preference. Now it's up to the Cotton Bowl to get the Tarheels.

Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the board of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, said announcement of the visiting team would be made Tuesday afternoon.

The squad, which clinched the host spot in the Cotton Bowl for the second straight year by beating Baylor 13-6 last Saturday, voted in secret Monday afternoon. Coach Matty Bell would not reveal the choice and neither would bowl officials.

Reports indicate that the Orange Bowl is giving the Cotton Bowl strong competition for North Carolina, an unbeaten, once-tied team that whipped Texas of the Southwest Conference 34-7. The Cotton Bowl offers $105,000 to each team—more money than the Orange Bowl affords.

Doak Vs Choo-Choo

The fans already were talking about a meeting of two of the nation's greatest backs—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's All-America, and Charley (Choo-Choo) Justice of the Tarheels.

It was reported that next to North Carolina, the SMU players chose Georgia, then Oklahoma, Tulane and Clemson. The latter, an unbeaten team, reportedly is welcoming a bid to the Cotton Bowl. Clemson played here in 1940, beating Boston College 6-3.

North Carolina still has a game left on the schedule, the same as Southern Methodist. The Tarheels meet Virginia Saturday while Southern Methodist closes its Southwest Conference campaign the same day against Texas Christian.

Monahans Lobos May Have Shock In Store For Sports Scribes' Class A Grid Powers

By CLEDDIE SHELBURNE

When the Monahans Lobos of District 5-A and the Rotan Yellowhammers of District 6-A square off in their bi-district tilt in Sweetwater Friday night, it probably will be about the best game fans who follow Class A football will get to see in the chase for the first state Class A championship.

Monahans routed Rotan 20 to 7 early this season but both teams are greatly improved now. Monahans rates an edge over the Yellowhammers even now, however.

The fact the game will be played on neutral ground is considered to make things a bit more even.

It'll be Monahans' Waldo Young running against Rotan's Harold Shipp in a bang-up game between two teams which have been underrated and under-publicized all season.

Sports writers in the Dallas area and a few in West Texas have kept the sports pages so full of New Braunfels, El Campo and Mount Vernon, it appears they haven't heard of the Monahans Lobos.

Undefeated Records

Press releases the last few days have cried loudly the undefeated records of Mount Vernon, El Campo and New Braunfels. New Braunfels has rolled up 458 points to the opposition's 25. Mount Vernon hasn't lost a game in two seasons. El Campo has won 32 games in a row.

All that is true enough, but let's take a look at the Monahans record.

Over two season's of play the Lobos have lost only one game and that one to a fighting, fired-up team of Seminole Indians who were no slouches in their own right.

This season, Monahans has come through without even a close game, let alone a tie or a defeat. The mighty Lobos didn't do bad in rolling up a total of 273 points to the opposition's 48 in a nine game schedule—and that record was compiled in probably the toughest Class A district in the state.

It undoubtedly is a great record that each of the three schools—Mount Vernon, El Campo and New Braunfels—have set, but they didn't do it playing teams like Seminole, Kermit, Andrews, and Pecos.

Kermit, winner last week over Hobbs, N. M., which is rated the top team in that state, went down before the charges of Waldo Young and the Monahans Lobos by a score of 19 to 0.

Lobos Romp Away

Seminole, a winner over class AA opposition, wasn't even in the ball game as the Lobos rolled to a lopsided 49 to 13 victory.

Andrews whipped everything in sight until it engaged Monahans. The final score in that one was Andrews 0, Monahans 21.

Rotan met Monahans early in the season and limped away with a 20 to 7 defeat. This was a preview of what will happen in Sweetwater Friday night.

Just for good measure, Monahans hung up one-sided victories over McCamey, Colorado City, Denver City, Wink and Pecos—none of which are considered push-overs in this part of the country.

The road to the state championship is rugged and defeat lurks at every turn because the competition is strictly of champions. It'll be nothing new to the Monahans Lobos, however, because they play in a conference where every team is a potential champion.

Boys like Waldo Young and Ray Cathey can carry that pigskin right along with the best of 'em and from this corner it looks like they will be carrying it in the finals for the state championship, possibly against New Braunfels, El Campo or Mount Vernon—if any of the three last that long.

Gulping Vodka At Russki Celebration Is Costly To GI

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—An American soldier who gulped vodka with Russians celebrating the Communist revolution anniversary has been fined $180 for drinking while on duty.

He is Pfc. Miller P. Stevens of North Bergen, N. J. Besides the fine, he was given a six-month suspended jail sentence.

The court martial record disclosed Tuesday that four U. S. Military Police on guard duty at the Soviet Mission here November 7 were invited in for drinks with the Russians and their high ranking Allied guests.

The enlisted men were about the only Americans present. All except two especially selected U. S. Army officers had been forbidden by high Army orders to attend, although many were invited.

Cpl. Candelario E. Cruz, Galveston, Texas, was acquitted on a similar charge. The other two soldiers were not tried.

Down SPORTSLANE —With TANNER LAINE

For Midland to upset Odessa Thursday would be the biggest upset in the history of Texas schoolboy football.

But it could be done.

It could be done with 48 minutes of inspired football on the part of the Bulldogs. Anything less will result in Odessa winning.

Odessa has a great ball club. On that point there is no contention. But Odessa can be beaten. Odessa can be beaten by Midland—if Midland wants to pay the price. The price is high. It is inspired football from starting whistle to finishing whistle. It is forgetting the records, disregarding the experts, throwing the rest of the season out the window and springing the mighty upset.

The Midland Bulldogs could pack a successful season into one ball game by beating Odessa Thursday.

This is not a piece of wistful thinking or whistling in the dark or a dance of hometown frenzy.

It can be done!

Odessa is "human." The Bronchos come on the field, 11 men at a time. Ah yes, you say, but what men. Well, they put their pants on one leg at a time, don't they?

Odessa has been winning, beating them all, in District 3-AA for a long long time. The very alert Bronchos have gone something like three seasons without a defeat in the district. What will it take to break that string? It wouldn't take anymore than what Midland has, IF Midland wants to put it out.

As long as there is the element of inspiration. As long as there is the element of spirit. As long as there are upsets. Then, Midland has a chance to beat Odessa.

We don't believe the 1948 Midland Bulldogs want to settle with Odessa by just scoring on the Bronchos. That isn't enough for fighting men who wear the Purple and Gold. Such men want to beat Odessa. And if eleven of them will get together out there Thursday and will vow to beat Odessa or be carried off the gridiron feet first—Midland can beat Odessa.

III. What will be the dues?
a. To be determined by membership.
(What do you think of $6.00 per month?)

IV. How many many memberships will be issued?
a. Not more than 500—the first 500 "signers."
(About 200 already signed.)

V. How do I apply for membership?

Bulldogs Have Job Ahead With Odessa

The Midland Bulldogs went to work Monday. The job is to get ready for Odessa Thursday. And what a job it is, what with the injuries plaguing the Bulldogs.

More drill is in store for the Purple Tuesday and Wednesday. There will be no rough stuff. The Bulldogs just can't afford to go all out for fear of injuring more players.

Coaches say Dee Bivens, husky blocking back and letterman, is out for the season. He was injured in the Lamesa contest. Add him to a list of injured which includes Robert (Moe) Price, scampering halfback, who broke a leg, and Larry Messersmith, smooth-working back and letterman, who is out for the season. Count 'em—that's three regular backs out of commission.

The rest of the Bulldogs are on deck but some of them are hampered by injuries though they can keep playing.

It is ironical that Midland gets to the Odessa game every year in the weakest condition of the season. In 1946, six or eight regulars had the flu. In 1947, two or three key players were injured including Dunny Goode, the ace back.

But all the able hands of the 1948 Bulldog machine promise to give Odessa a fight. As Bill Little says: "Odessa will know it's had a ball game."

Odessa brings over a formidable eleven sparked by power-runner Jimmy Patterson, 185-pounder, and Sonny Mobley, 142-pound scat-back and great open-field runner. Heading the row of imposing Bronchо linesmen is Don Thompson, 190-pound tackle.

The Bronchos are undefeated in conference play, having ripped through five 3-AA opponents. The Bulldogs have won two family fights having dumped San Angelo and walloped Big Spring. Midland lost to Sweetwater, Abilene and Lamesa in the district.

Odessa has scouted Midland as though it were Notre Dame or Michigan. The Coleman-men play for no slip-ups. Odessa is at full-strength for the tilt.

Kickoff Time Is 2 P. M.

Fans are reminded that kickoff time for the annual Thanksgiving Day classic is 2 p. m. Thursday. A full-house is predicted when these two hot Permian Basin rivals get together.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office. Fans are urged to get tickets early as they are sold out down to the 15-yard line already. The ducats will be on sale at the downtown location through Wednesday.

The Midland B and C Bulldogs turned in their uniforms Monday after posing for photographers.

Here are the season results of B Bulldog games:
Midland 0, Big Lake 25.
Midland 0, Odessa 32.
Midland 0, Odessa 20.
Midland 7, Lamesa 0.
Midland 0, San Angelo 17.
Midland 6, Lamesa 0.
Midland 6, San Angelo 45.
Here are the C Bulldog results:
Midland 6, Odessa 28.
Midland 0, San Angelo 52.
Midland 0, Odessa 13.
Midland 0, Big Spring 7.

Bonus Player

Paul Edwin Hinrichs was paid a reported $75,000 for signing a Kansas City contract when declared a free agent. That means a chance with the Yankees. Detroit property for two years, Hinrichs is regarded as a prize despite the fact that he won no more than nine while losing eight for a seventh-place Dallas club last season. The 23-year-old right-hander is a divinity student at St. Louis' Concordia Seminary.

Oregon Gets Cold Shoulder In Rose Bowl Ballot Battle

PASADENA, CALIF. — (AP) — Michigan's football power apparently still hovers over the Rose Bowl.

Such was one line of thought Tuesday as the newly-fashioned lineup for the annual New Year's Day battle was discussed.

It'll be California of the Pacific Coast Conference against Northwestern of the Big Nine.

Conference faculty athletic representatives, by secret telegraphic ballot, voted California into the big bowl—for the fifth time.

Oregon, tied with California in conference standings, lost out—unbeaten in conference play, but defeated in the battle of the ballots.

That's where the Michigan influence may have exerted itself.

The Michigans, by Big Nine, rules, were barred from appearing twice in succession in the Rose Bowl, where last New Year's Day they adriotly massacred Southern California's Trojans 49-0.

Last October 2, less adriotly, perhaps, they blanked Oregon 14-0.

Theoretically, the faculty minds aren't supposed to dwell on non-conference results.

Voting Deep ecret

But, taking not a thing away from Pappy Waldorf's good-looking Bears, it is barely possible that one or more of the faculty eyes paused unconsciously over that October 2 occurrence.

The actual vote remains a deep secret; open to speculation, but never, according to Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt, to be answered. Even the count, he said, might put some of the conference brothers "on the spot."

Perish the thought, but some skeptics said they thought conference politics might have figured, and California outmaneuvered Oregon in the long, lost weekend.

How did Stanford, Oregon State, UCLA, Washington, USC and Washington State vote? How about little Idaho and Montana, who supposedly dislike California because California won't play 'em (and let them get in on a fat gate once in a while)? Your guess is as good as the next.

Such was the debate—the applause from Cal's legions of students and armies of alumni, and the groans from Oregon's faithful but less numerous array of supporters.

SMU Mustangs Take Over Loop Lead In Offense Department

By The Associated Press

Southern Methodist will throw mightiest offense in the Southwest Conference at Texas Christian next Saturday in the last game of the championship race.

As the "evening-up" week passed—the week when all the schools had played the same number of games—SMU took over the total offense leadership.

The Methodists have rambled on the ground and in the air 2,868 yards in nine games—better than 318 yards per contest. Texas, which had held first place all season, fell to second with 2,812 yards.

Southern Methodist is the top passing team by a wide margin, showing 1,242 yards in the air compared to 971 for Texas, in second place. On the ground it's now Arkansas, which has rolled up 1,913 yards rushing. Texas is second with 1,841.

Defensively Texas leads, having given up 199.3 yards per game. Rice is second with 202.

Scott Paces Carriers

The ball-carrying championship is as close as a grammar school boy's first shave. Clyde Scott of Arkansas leads with 670 yards in 95 carries but Lindy Berry of Texas Christian is just four yards back. He has made 666 on 109 runs.

Gil Johnson of Southern Methodist tops the passers with 61 completions in 97 throws for 837 yards. Paul Campbell of Texas is second with 50 connections in 119 attempts for 786 yards.

Berry is the total offense leader and appears to have that title sewed up. He has gained 1,358 yards in 297 plays. Scott is second with 868 on 115.

Doak Walker of Southern Methodist leads in punting with a 41.4 yards average on 27 boots. Gordon Long of Arkansas is second with 38.6 on 20.

George Sims of Baylor tops the punt returners with 349 yards on 13 runs. Walker is second with 162 on nine.

Morris Bailey of Texas Christian leads the pass-receivers with 29 catches for 344 yards. Ross Pritchard of Arkansas is second with 288 yards on 15.

WHARTON JC TO PLAY IN OLEANDER BOWL

GALVESTON — (AP) — Wharton Junior College has been signed to play in the Oleander Bowl here December 29, Homer Norton said.

Norton, general chairman of the bowl, said Tyler, Paris, San Angelo and the Cameron, Okla., Aggies are being considered as Wharton's opponent.

Southwest Elevens In Tip-Top Shape For Season Finales

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference football teams are in tip-top shape for the final games of the season this week.

All seven schools reported only minor casualties Monday and most coaches said their squads would be in the best condition since the start of the season.

Winless Texas A&M, which faces Texas in Austin Thursday, started workouts again Monday after a two-day layoff. The Aggies will be minus only End Wray Whittaker, Tackle Percy Burk and Halfback John Christensen, all of whom were seriously hurt sometime ago.

Rice Coach Jess Neely promised stiff practice sessions the rest of the week for his Rice Owls, but gave the boys only a warmup drill Monday.

Mustangs In Bowl Huddle

Southern Methodist University players took only a light limbering-up drill, then voted on whom they would like to meet in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day. Their choice is a deep secret.

Texas will have only End Ray Stone on the sidelines against A&M. Stone has been out six weeks with a broken bone in his ankle.

Texas Christian is in almost perfect shape. The Horned Frogs concentrated on offensive play in practice Monday.

Baylor didn't hold practice Monday, but Coach Bob Woodruff planned some heavy work the rest of the week.

Clyde Scott, Arkansas' great halfback, will be ready to go against William & Mary Saturday and so will the rest of his Razorback mates.

Michigan Wolverines Rule Roost In Next To Final 1948 Poll

NEW YORK—(AP)—Michigan rules the roost in college football for the third straight week by a comfortable margin in the next-to-last Associated Press poll of the 1948 season.

With 105 of 190 first-place votes, the Wolverines polled 1,726 points for a lead of 103 over the idle runnerup, Notre Dame. Michigan finished its season Saturday by downing Ohio State 13-3 while Notre Dame still has two more games to play.

There were few radical changes in the top ten after a formful weekend, the only startling drop being Penn State's tumble from sixth to 18th place.

The final poll will be conducted next weekend.

The team standings, figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 point basis (first place votes in parentheses):

1. Michigan (105)	1,726
2. Notre Dame (38)	1,623
3. Army (5)	1,293
4. North Carolina (14)	1,071
5. California (3)	997
6. Oklahoma (13)	839
7. Northwestern	730
8. Southern Methodist	549
9. Clemson (8)	423
10. Oregon	316

11. Michigan State (3) 258; 12. Georgia (1) 250; 13. Minnesota 96; 14. Tulane 85; 15. Vanderbilt 52; 16. Mississippi 39; 17. Ohio State 38; 18. Penn State 36; 19. Pennsylvania 32; 20. William and Mary 24.

Others receiving points were: Wake Forest 21, Missouri 15, Cornell 9, Duke 7, Santa Clara, Texas and Georgia Tech each 6, Alabama and Appalachian State each 5, Nevada 4, Illinois 3, Pittsburgh and Canisius each 2.

Cotton Farmers Bet On Higher Prices

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Cotton farmers are betting on higher prices.

They are putting a big chunk of their crop under government loan, rather than sell at current prices, which are above the loan rate.

An Agriculture Department official told a reporter Tuesday that some 3,000,000 bales of cotton already are under government loan and that some experts look for the figure to approach or even exceed the 1937 record high of 5,581,000 bales.

The 1948 crop has been forecast at 15,166,000 bales.

"Many cotton farmers," the official said privately, "seem to think cotton may go back to 35 cents a pound and they probably should get a government loan instead of selling at the present market."

The average cotton loan now is at 30.74 cents a pound on middling 15/16 inch, compared with the market price of about 31.5 cents.

The official estimated that an average of 100,000 bales of cotton a day had been going onto the government loan list.

A small lock of Napoleon's hair, cut off in St. Helena, brought only $5.25 at an auction in London in 1932.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Eenie Meanie

By WESLEY DAVIS

The Great Forest, as you know, is a wonderful place to live. Most of the animals, and birds, and bugs, and fish—most of the time—are nice and kind to everyone else. You know that. But you've never heard about Eenie Meanie. He was never nice and kind to anyone. I wouldn't even tell you about him, except—one day he got exactly what he deserved. That was the end of Eenie Meanie.

Eenie Meanie was a very little bug — with a great, great big voice. He lived in a hollow tree, not far from Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. But he had never looked up to the top of the very tall tree where Daddy Ringtail lived until the day I'm going to tell you about.

"Aha!" said Eenie Meanie, in his great big voice. "A monkey house!" And then Eenie Meanie, in his great big voice. "A monkey house!" And then Eenie Meanie was very quiet. He said nothing else. He didn't want anyone to know that he was anywhere near. He wanted to cause trouble, and he didn't want anyone to stop him.

He began to climb up the very tall tree—up to Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. It took him a long time to climb that far. He was such a little bug. But he wasn't too little to be really mean. At last he crawled in the window of the monkey house.

"Now what can I do," Eenie Meanie whispered to himself, "that will make these monkeys most unhappy?" He began to look around, looking for mischief, there in Daddy

Ringtail's kitchen. And then he saw the plate of cookies. He started to climb up on the table. He wasn't really hungry, but he wanted to take a bit from each of the cookies on the plate—so that no one else would want to eat them. That's how mean Eenie Meanie was!

Said he: "I'll take a bite of this one! I'll take a bite of that one! Until no one else will want to take a bit of any of them!"

But Daddy Ringtail came in the kitchen just then—to get some cookies for Sammy and Bobby. He saw Eenie Meanie. He knew how mean Eenie Meanie was—and what the bug was going to do.

Daddy Ringtail picked up a fly-swatter. Kersmack! No more Eenie Meanie—and I hope you'll do what Daddy Ringtail did, if you ever see an Eenie Meanie there at your house. But a Happy Day now to you and your friends and happy waiting for tomorrow's adventure.

President Thanks Public For Shower Of Congratulations

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman asked the newspapers and the radio Tuesday to carry a "thank you" from him to everyone who has congratulated him on his election victory.

In a statement, the President explained that he could not answer all the messages he has received without interfering with necessary White House work.

"I therefore ask all the fine citizens from whom I have heard to accept this assurance of my appreciation," Truman said. "Their letters and telegrams have quickened by sense of responsibility as we enter together upon the hard tasks that lie ahead.

"From the depths of my heart I thank one and all."

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said more than 50,000 letters and more than 10,000 telegrams of congratulations have been received and others are still pouring in.

Authorities Grill Suspected Slayer Of Colorado Coed

BOULDER, COLO. — (AP) — A man who maintained his innocence in the rape-slaying of Theresa Foster in the face of his wife suspicions faced a lie detector test for the second time Tuesday.

"He didn't budge an inch," District Attorney Hatfield Chilson said after the 31-year-old metal worker was questioned by half a dozen authorities more than two hours.

Chilson said they told him for the first time his wife suspected him because of his actions the night of November 9, when the 18-year-old University of Colorado coed was raped and slain.

The man was arrested at noon Sunday. The fact that a wife cannot testify against her husband, caused authorities to intensify their search for a .45 caliber pistol.

Wife Tells Officers

The broken handle grip of such a pistol was found near the murder scene. Chilson said the man admitted once owning one, but claimed he sold it November 5 to a man he didn't know.

National Guardsmen used mine detectors Monday in a fruitless search for a revolver in Coal Creek Canyon about two miles from the spot where the girl's body was found.

Chilson said flame throwers might be used Tuesday to melt the snow and speed up the search.

The man's wife collapsed after telling authorities her husband came home in blood-covered clothing the night of Miss Foster's death. She still was in a hospital Tuesday with no visitors allowed.

Texas Auto Deaths Show Light Increase

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas automobile deaths have increased two per cent so far this year compared with last year.

But the death rate per 100 million miles traveled has decreased six per cent, State Police reported Tuesday.

Deaths increased two per cent, travel increased eight per cent, and the net result was fewer Texans killed per miles traveled, the statisticians explained.

In October, 163 persons were killed in traffic. Last year in October the total was 149.

Air Force Brass To Name New Generals

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A group of top Air Force officers are meeting secretly to pick a limited number of generals "to fill current needs," an official said Tuesday.

The number of jobs for generals could not be learned. The Air Force keeps this information and the names of the officers on the selection board highly classified.

The board, which will meet for ten days, is considering 600 colonels for the unspecified number of brigadier general jobs that are open, and 100 brigadier generals for a still fewer number of major general vacancies.

Early Morning Fire Routs Hotel Guests

AMARILLO —(AP)— Twenty hotel guests were routed from Amarillo Inn Tuesday by an early morning fire which broke out in the fashionable dining and dancing spot on the ground floor of the two-story building.

At least six persons were rescued by ladders which firemen placed up to the second story windows.

Nancy Caroline and Betty Joan Thomas, young daughters of the owner of the hotel and restaurant, scampered a block in the cold, clad in nighties and wrapped in a blanket, to turn in the alarm.

Edward M. Thomas, owner of the place, estimated damage at $25,000.

COMMITTEES SEEK HIGHWAY FUNDS

Special committees of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday were contacting business institutions for contributions to the Midland-Lamesa Highway fund, with the program of financing scheduled for completion before nightfall. The collection groups are headed by John P. Butler and R. D. Scruggs.

An effort is being made to obtain $5,000 which will be used in building 23 miles of fence along the proposed highway from Midland to Lamesa.

The change becomes effective January 20, the date of the President's inauguration.

dications of possible production when drilled through. After the petroleum yielding ability of that zone has been determined operator is expected to go back down to the Fusselman zone and test it.

This project drilled to a total depth of 13,822 feet in the Ellenburger, which had been entered at about 13,150 feet. That formation had slight gas shows and considerable salty water.

The Fusselman section between 12,845 feet and 12,767 feet offered the best indications for making an oil well of any of the horizons drilled through by this exploration.

It is 14 miles south of the city of Midland, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 36, block 39, TP survey, T-3-S.

Magnolia Still Hunts Ellenburger In Upton

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, North-Central Upton County wildcat, 20 miles south of Midland, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S, had reached 12,461 feet in lime and sand, in the lower Simpson, and was making more hole.

Many interested observers are looking for it to enter the Ellenburger at any time.

Sinclair Gets Water In Lower Ellenburger

Sinclair Prairie Oil Company et al, No. 2-154 University, discovery for good production from the Ellenburger in the Shafter Lake multi-pay field of North-Central Andrews County, about 12 miles north and west of the town of Andrews, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24, block 13, University survey, developed water in the lower zone of that formation.

In a drillstem test at 11,847-898 feet, the tool was open four hours. Recovery was the 4,300-foot water blanket, plus 3,008 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Operator is now preparing to run 7-inch casing and will squeeze off the water zone and perforate and test, and complete from the upper horison, where the oil has been developed. Top of the Ellenburger was called at 11,695 feet.

Prospect In Andrews To Try Completion

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Frank Cowden, in South-Central Andrews County, just north of the Ector County line, and between the North Cowden and the Emma fields, is bottomed at 5,183 feet in the Holt, middle Permian lime, and is to cement casing on bottom and try to complete as an oil well and a discovery from the Holt.

It has shown some fair oil stains and some bleeding oil in cores. A drillstem test run recently had a rainbow of oil in some of the drilling mud which was recovered.

The latest drillstem test was at 5,148-83 feet. The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 30 feet of mud, with no shows. No formation water has been developed.

This venture is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 3, block 43, TP survey, T-1-N. The production nearest it is from the San Andres section of the Permian, above 4,200 feet.

Chest Drive

curtail their operations next year unless the goal is met. He said the six groups receive funds for their everyday operations only through the Community Chest. The organizations are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Goodfellows, USO and Salvation Army.

Many citizens, leaders said, have increased their gifts in proportion to the increase in the overall Community Chest budget, while others have not been so generous. They asked citizens to remember they are contributing to the support of six organizations when determining the amounts of their Chest gifts.

"Every resident must give and give generously if the $33,922 quota is reached," Cleveland said. "It is up to Midland citizens to determine whether the six youth and welfare organizations are to do the jobs expected of them next year."

Firms and organizations which have not been contacted are requested to mail contributions to the Community Chest or leave them at the Chamber of Commerce.

The Army said they were "operating the United States Zone of Germany on behalf of Czech Intelligence."

Crippled Sky Giant Limps Back To Base

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— The Marshall Mars, giant four-engined flying boat, returned safely to Alameda Naval Air Station Tuesday after one of its engines failed en route to Hawaii.

The crippled flying boat landed at 9:10 a.m. (EST). The Marshall had taken off from Alameda about midnight and lost the engine about three hours later, 600 miles off the mainland.

A Coast Guard B-17 and an Air Force B-29 equipped for air-sea rescue work responded to the Marshall's call for an escort.

Coast Shipping Walkouts Continue

By The Associated Press

Shipping operations at East and Pacific Coast ports remained tied up Tuesday by strikes and there appeared no indications of quick settlement of the wage disputes.

Leaders of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association in New York Monday rejected an employer proposal that the 65,000 striking dock workers return to work immediately and the union and employers work out details of a welfare plan.

The West coast maritime strike is 83 days old, the second longest Pacific waterfront tieup.

Things Look Better To 'Slave Boy'

(NEA Telephoto)

When police found Gordon Kelley near Toronto, Canada, a month ago half-naked, beaten and starved, he appeared as shown above, left. He was unable to smile, said he had been held in slavery by an "aunt and uncle" for over a year. Police listed his age as about 14. After a month of medical and psychiatric treatment, plus proper diet —and a haircut, Gordon, now known to be 23 years old, appeared in court and presented this bright smile (right) to photographers. Authorities have not announced plans for prosecution of the suburban Toronto couple who held the boy.

Singer Bobby Breen Draws Sheriff's Fire For 'Disappearance'

GLIDDEN, WIS. —(AP)— Sheriff William Sands said Tuesday that Singer Bobby Breen's weekend disappearance was "a publicity gag that's going to require a lot of explaining."

But the 21-year-old former child movie star said, "Honest to God, there's nothing fishy."

Breen and his pilot were located Monday night at the Northwestern Hotel here, where Breen registered Sunday night under the name of Benedict.

The sheriff said Monday's day-long search for the single-engined monoplane which carried Breen and his pilot, Kenneth Thompson from Thompson's home field at Waukesha, Wis., was a "travesty."

Hundreds Join Search

"Hundreds of men fought their way through the woods looking for him, Sands said. "And Les Schultis, the local pilot, risked his life by spending eight hours in the air during weather that turned back outside search planes. Something ought to be done about it."

Sands, who had been directing the search through remote, snow covered wilderness, said first word of Breen's whereabouts came from newspapermen who had been called by Ernie Roth, the singer's manager. The sheriff sent deputies the 50 miles from Hayward to Glidden when he was unable to get a call through busy telephone circuits Monday night. It was Roth who instigated the search.

In a 45-minute telephone interview with The Associated Press Tuesday, Breen pleaded. "Get it right, will you? Tell everybody it wasn't a gag."
