Longview Man Says He Will Oppose Him

"Wouldn't Be Fair For McCraw To Run Against Political Twins," He Says

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 14. — Carl L. Estes, Longview publisher, today "dared" Gov. Allred to run for a third term and added "if he announces, I will also announce my candidacy right behind him."

Estes, in a written statement, said "it wouldn't be fair for Bill McCraw to run against the political twins — Allred and Thompson (E. O. Thompson, railroad commissioner)."

"I'll take on the 'little man', while McCraw and Thompson joust each other and, what's more, will release my platform simultaneously with the announcement," Estes said.

Only Needs A Broom

"About all in the world a man needs in the shape of a platform is a new broom with which to make a clean sweep of the Allred-Thompson gang out of the state capitol, and I've a negro over there in East Texas that is already making that broom.

"For a long time, Jimmie's crowd have been sucking political eggs and hiding the shells and I know where they have been hiding them.

"Further, I herewith agree to furnish him free airplane transportation as we go round over Texas campaigning against each other. That will save the tax payers a lot of money because he has

Pioneer Lubbock Resident And Masonic Secretary Succumbs At 10 A. M.

J. Harvey Moore, secretary of the Yellowhouse lodge No. 841 of the Masonic lodge for 13 years, former Masonic grand officer, and a former Lubbock county judge, died about 10 o'clock this morning at his home at 904 Avenue K after a long illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist church. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery. Yellowhouse lodge will direct burial.

Was Lodge Secretary

Moore was secretary of the lodge at time of his death although an acting secretary, Hugh J. McClellan, had been chosen to serve during his illness.

Moore was county judge when the Lubbock county courthouse was constructed. He was appointed judge Sept. 9, 1916, by the commissioners' court to succeed E. R. Haynes. He was elected county judge in November of 1916 and again in 1918. He also had served as ex-officio superintendent of county schools while he was judge.

Was Grand High Priest

During 1936, he was grand high priest of the Masonic Grand Royal Arch chapter of Texas. In addition to his service as secretary of Yellowhouse lodge, which position he took Oct. 30, 1925, he had served as secretary of Lubbock chapter No. 248 and Lubbock Commandery No. 60.

Moore was born Aug. 30, 1872.

Clarence Darrow, 'Attorney For The Defense,' Dies At Age Of 80 Years On Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

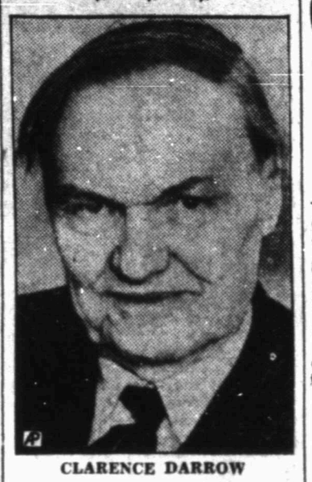

CHICAGO, Mar. 14.—Clarence Darrow, who rose from a $30 a month country school teacher to the nation's most famous "attorney for the defense," was dead today.

The noted lawyer-philosopher died at his home here yesterday after a long illness with a heart ailment. He was 80 years old. With him at the end were his wife, Ruby, his son, Paul, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Darrow Moore. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Always The Defender

During his half century in courts from one side of the country to the other, Darrow was always the defender, the pleader. He fought for the poor, the oppressed, the captive and the weak because, as he once said, "those found in prisons are practically always poor; it is a game where the dice are loaded and the victim is almost sure to lose."

His outstanding legal cases were in defense of Eugene V. Debs, many times Socialist candidate for president; "Big Bill" Haywood and other officers of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the slaying of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg of Idaho; Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, "thrill slayers" of little Bobby Franks; John T. Scopes in the Tennessee "monkey trial," and Mrs. Granville Fortescue and Lieut. Thomas Massie, U. S. N., tried for the slaying of a native in Honolulu.

CLARENCE DARROW

The Loeb-Leopold case was one of the most celebrated Darrow ever fought. It was in the summer of 1924 that Darrow defended the two sons of wealthy families for the

Quotas System To Be Set Up On Two Crops

Overwhelming Majorities Are Given By Farmers In Favor Of Control

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—Cotton and tobacco growers have voted by overwhelming margins to levy stiff penalty taxes on pronucers who backslide under the new crop control program.

Farmers who paused in their chores throughout the South and in several western states on Saturday to cast ballots approved marketing provisions of the 1938 farm act.

TEXAS VOTE 8 TO 1

COLLEGE STATION, March 14 (AP)—The latest tabulation last night showed Texas cotton farmers in 114 counties had voted overwhelmingly in favor of cotton marketing quotas.

The vote was 112,632 for, and 15,106 against.

AAA headquarters here reported heaviest majorities were cast in counties which yearly produce vast amounts of cotton.

To Set Up System

As a result, agriculture department officials were arranging today to put this system into operation:

1. Each farmer will be told how much acreage he can plant to cotton and tobacco. The cotton farmer will be allowed to sell, free of penalty, all the cotton raised on his allotted acreage. The tobacco farmer, in addition to having his acreage fixed, will also be told later exactly how many pounds he can sell.

2. Any farmer planting more land to cotton than his allotted acreage will have to pay a penalty tax of two cents a pound when he markets cotton from this excess acreage. A farmer selling more tobacco than his marketing quota will pay a penalty of one-half the market price on this excess.

Majority Overwhelming

Nearly complete unofficial returns from the referenda showed:

For cotton marketing quotas, 1,189,828; against, 98,144. (eligible to vote, 2,367,030).

For quotas on dark fire-cured tobacco, 38,346; against, 8,259.

For quotas on flue-cured tobacco, 213,487; against 33,806.

H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, expressed pleasure over the vote.

Vote Genuine Expression

"The farmers' decision to use quotas is, of course, a reflection of the seriousness of the problems faced by growers of cotton and flue-cured and dark tobacco," he said.

"But the big total vote . . . has

Triple Alliance May Be Formed To Halt Nazis

Britain May Join France And Czechoslovakia In Pact To Protect Others

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 14.—A triple alliance of democratic powers to check the spread of Nazi Germany's might through middle Europe appeared to be in the making today.

Great Britain seemed on the verge of joining with France and Czechoslovakia in a specific agreement to protect the independence of small, endangered nations—particularly Czechoslovakia.

While Great Britain evidently was resigned to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's armed absorption of Austria, there were definite evidences she has determined to take a much stronger stand hereafter to prevent the eastward surge of Nazi power.

CHAMBERLAIN WARNS GERMANY

LONDON, March 14 (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain today plainly warned Germany that Britain would expand her vast rearmament program to match force with force in answer to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absorption of Austria.

However, the prime minister, in a vital statement of policy before a house of commons packed and tense, did not promise British backing to France if she should go to war to save Czechoslovakia from Pan-Germanism.

Three Steps Being Taken

Three definite steps were being taken by Great Britain to fortify her position:

1. Building up of England's military and naval strength to a point where Germany will heed—instead of imperiously ignore—British diplomacy.

2. Seeking of an understanding with Premier Mussolini in order to hold the Italian end of the Rome-Berlin axis in line.

3. Consolidation of British, French and Czechoslovakian opposition to Nazi ambitions.

Defense Prime Consideration

The defense of Great Britain remained the prime consideration before cabinet ministers as they debated whether to join France in protecting Czechoslovakia. France already has a pact with the little war-born nation.

Diplomatic observers believe Great Britain has completely abandoned hope of inducing Germany to stack arms and seek her objectives through negotiation. This is regarded as the main reason England is hastening to remove all vestiges of misunderstanding which could cause friction with Italy.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain approached the house of com-

Another victim of Hitler's relentless march into Austria was President Wilhelm Miklas, below, of Austria, who Sunday was forced to resign his post in favor of Nazi rule. Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was forced to quit last week.

Il Duce Gives Reassurance Of Friendship

MANN FORESEES POSSIBLE RIFT

KANSAS CITY, March 14 (AP)—Thomas Mann, exiled German writer, foresees a possible rift between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini as a result of the Nazi unification of Germany and Austria.

Mann, in an interview here last night, said Hitler's action in annexing Austria without waiting for a plebiscite announced by Kurt Schuschnigg, disposed Austrian chancellor and Nazi foe, may prove an entering wedge to split the two dictators.

"Mussolini, who obviously advised Schuschnigg to hold the proposed plebiscite, is furious with Hitler," Mann said.

"This creates an interesting situation. It may be that England did not interfere in Austria in order to weaken the Rome-Berlin axis. By separating Hitler and Mussolini England would lessen the force of advancing Fascism."

tween our two countries consecrated in the (Rome-Berlin) axis."

Mussolini's communication was in reply to Hitler's earlier message that he would "never forget" Il Duce's attitude toward his annexation of Austria.

Italians, swerved by a controlled press from a stand for independent Austria to endorsement of Austro-German union, seemed bewildered by the sudden turn of events.

Ever since the World war they had learned to think of an independent Austria as essential to the safety of Italy's frontiers.

Overnight they have seen the idea disavowed.

Set Forth As Necessity

The long-dreaded union of Austria and Germany now is set forth as the necessity which Italy approves.

Confronted with this, many Italians privately confessed their bewilderment.

"Why did we fight the World war?" some of them are asking.

Catholics here were concerned, because Catholicism is a link between the Austrian and Italian people and that religious tie helped to heal Italo-Austrian war scars.

VIENNA, March 14. — Fully a million shouting, flag-waving Viennese in a state of mad frenzy today greeted Adolf Hitler on his entry into the capital of the German state he has absorbed into his expanded German reich.

Once was not enough. Again and again they demanded his return.

In front of the Imperial hotel men, women and children wept and kissed each other.

Enthusiasm of the crowds far surpassed that of early Nazi days in Berlin. Officers with Hitler

Air Executives Watching Area

Leading aviation executives of the nation definitely are interested in Lubbock and the South Plains as a field for commercial airlines.

They could give no encouragement, however, as to when their interest may materialize into something definite, according to the report of members of a Lubbock delegation who returned Sunday from a southwestern aviation conference held at Oklahoma City Friday and Saturday. Heading the delegation were C. E. Maedgen and Ray F. Hinchey, members of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce.

The conference was described as having been important to Lubbock chiefly because of the opportunity it afforded for conferences with aviation executives. They discovered, Lubbock representatives said, that men outstandingly prominent in aviation are surprisingly well informed concerning the South Plains and that most of them knew of the record Lubbock made several months ago in connection with aviation airmail pickup tests. On that occasion, Lubbock out-ranked the more than 50 cities of the nation where tests were staged in the volume of mail.

Lubbock Fire Department Is Called To Fires At Idalou

Burning cotton burrs blown by a high wind caused an emergency call for Lubbock fire equipment shortly before noon today from the Farmers Cooperative and the Plemons gins in the eastern edge of Idalou. A pumper and a crew of three men responded to the call.

Mayor Bailey Guess of Idalou told The Journal by long distance that buildings of the gin apparently had not been ignited but that they and other structures in that section of the town were endangered. He added that all equipment and men of the Idalou fire department were at the scene.

The call for assistance here recalled an epidemic of such fires within a period of a few hours last fall. The blowing burrs endangered scores of gins and at least two were destroyed or heavily damaged by fires resulting from that cause.

This Spring Promises To Be Greatest Suit Season Fashion World Has Seen

Fashion Cards Show Unusual Contrasts

BY ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

This spring promises to be the greatest suit season the fashion world has seen in years.

You may suit yourself in more ways than one, for the variety is as noticeable as the volume. Mannish tailleurs, softer dressmaker suits, contrasting jackets, stripes, checks and a wide range of colors are all in the fashion cards. The result is a parade of most interesting and wearable designs.

Included is a new longer jacket (wrist to finger-tip length) which is creating a bit of a stir. In its most striking version it is almost straight, and, when worn with a short pleated skirt, it gives a decidedly new silhouette.

Fitted Jacket Boomed

America's suit sweetheart for town wear, however, promises to be one with a tailored fitted jacket (cut perhaps a little longer for the woman whose figure can stand it). Single link fastenings, trim lapels, fairly high throat-lines, pockets and crisp (not angular) shoulders are details of the favorites. Some three-button and double breasted designs are also seen.

Jackets cut away gently in front, and boleros top some of the softer dressmaker suits.

Skirts are generally slim and short—12 to 17 inches from the ground with 15 inches average length. Many are marked by a cluster of front pleats—a new note to keep in mind. A few others are gored.

Wools of the mixture type, such as covert cloth, mannish worsteds and soft tweeds are smart. So are diagonal weaves and stripes. The mixture tones such as putty beige, greenish gray and grayed blue, as well as the traditional dark blue and black, fill a large portion of the color card.

Contrast Emphasized

The most colorful note of the suit season lies in a whole fleet of casually tailored sports suits which combine contrasting jackets and skirts. Plaid jacket, monotone pleated skirt, gray mauve jacket, grape-wine skirt, striped jacket and plain dark skirt are among the smartest variations of this type of suit, which is good both in town and in the country.

The blouse picture is about as varied as the suit scene. Crisp Gibson Girl blouses of white organdy with frilly jabots, sheer colorful peasant blouses with long full sleeves, crisply tailored shirts of plain or striped crepe or linen and pastel crepes with fine lingerie touches will all be seen.

The smartest suit costumes will be worn with a bright touch on the lapel, such as a spray of mimosa or a jeweled metal leaf.

If You're Bolero Type, You'll Like This

Navy blue wool makes this soft dressmaker suit for the younger generation. It unites a shoulder-strap skirt, bolero-type jacket and white lingerie blouse. Note the high jacket neckline.

$3,000 IN CASH PRIZES from C-H-B

I am the famous Hollywood "glamour girl" type. I am idolized by men. I have all the wealth and luxury that any woman could wish for! But I am a slave to the Public. I am kept so busy making pictures, personal appearances, and radio broadcasts, that I have little time to see my husband. I would like to have children, but I don't dare to because I might lose my figure and my absence from the screen might detract from my popularity. Am I the type of woman you've yearned to be?

I am the Professional-woman type. I chose a career instead of marriage, and I have been successful. I am independent. I can go where I please and do what I please without having to account to a disapproving husband. But sometimes I am lonely . . . and then I wonder whether I shouldn't have sacrificed my career for the man who wanted to marry me. Am I the type of woman you've yearned to be?

I am the housewife type. My husband loves me dearly, and our two children bring even more joy and happiness to our little home. But my husband doesn't make much, and I don't suppose he ever will. Then, too, the children are dears, but they keep me tied down at home. I'm still young and pretty. I like good times and excitement. But between my duties as a mother and my worries about making ends meet, I have to be pretty much of a "homebody"! Am I the type of woman you've yearned to be?

WHICH OF THESE THREE TYPES OF WOMEN WOULD YOU RATHER BE?

No "guessing" to do! Just read the descriptions above. They represent real types . . . but not actual personalities! Then . . . simply tell C-H-B which one of these three types of women you would rather be by writing a letter like this: "I would rather be the (Glamour Girl) (Professional Woman) (Housewife) type because . . ." giving your opinion in not more than 50 words. No fancy writing is necessary! Be natural . . . write just as you would talk to an old friend. Let yourself go . . . tell what you really think!

Act now . . . it's your big chance to win up to $350.00 in cash! Mail your letter to Contest Dept., California Conserving Co., 110 Market Street, San Francisco, Calif., with 2 labels from C-H-B Tomato Juice, Spinach, Tomatoes, or bottletops from C-H-B Catsup, Pickles, Fresh Cucumber Chips, Vinegar, Spaniola Sauce, Chili Sauce, Cocktail Sauce, or wrappers from C-H-B Worcestershire Sauce; or 2 Label-replicas.

Ask for "C-H-B" and be sure of getting the West's finest and most popular pickles! Each variety of C-H-B Pickles has its own delicious individuality in tangy flavor and crisp, tender quality! Find out now how C-H-B Pickles and other C-H-B Foods can add new zest to your joy of eating!

IMPORTANT!— This is the first of three C-H-B "Who Am I?" Contests, each offering $1,000.00 in cash prizes! Watch in this newspaper for announcement of the second contest in April; and the third in May!

Woodward Out Of State Race

AUSTIN, March 14 — Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, former state senator and candidate for attorney general, has announced his withdrawal from the race for lieutenant governor.

In withdrawing Woodward hinted former Senator George C. Purl of Dallas or Senator Frank H. Rawlings of Fort Worth might enter the contest.

The Coleman attorney said his decision several weeks ago to run was based on an opinion that "several potential candidates would not announce, among whom were Rawlings, Purl, Rep. Coke Stevenson of Junction, Sen. G. H. Nelson of Lubbock and Sen. Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland, my warm friends and former colleagues in the legislature."

Others May Enter Contest

"Since then," he continued, "Stevenson and Nelson have definitely announced. It now is my belief some of the others may enter the contest. . . .

"In making my original statement, I did so believing those who have announced or might later announce would not be candidates and I had in mind one purpose, to wit: to prevent, if I could, the election of some radical, inexperienced individual who might not be qualified to properly handle important matters of state which I anticipate will confront the senate at the next regular session and one who might plunge Texas into a maelstrom of political strife, discord and confusion which would lead the state into financial difficulties disastrous to the taxpayers.

"In view of the announcement of Stevenson and Nelson and others who perhaps will enter the contest, it is certain the voters will have an opportunity to elect a lieutenant governor who is conservative and experienced and one who will give the people an administration to which they can point with pride."

Clue To Dallas Slaying In 1913 Proves To Be False

Proving Streamliners Can 'Take It'

Gliding along at 75 to 80 miles an hour the new streamlined trains get you there in a hurry. But can they "take it"? Judging from the two pictures above, the answer is "Yes." The top photo shows a streamliner, derailed but still upright, after smashing and splintering a heavy truck loaded with logs, lower photo. The 85 passengers stepped from the train uninjured, said all they felt was a "jolt". After hitting the truck the streamliner, traveling between Houston, Tex., and Dallas, ripped up the track for more than 600 feet. Two negroes riding on the truck jumped before the crash.

Lubbock Dentist Has More Than Passing Interest In Pershing; He's Relative

A "young" Lubbock dentist has more than a passing interest in General John J. Pershing's fight for life.

Though Dr. Roy S. Pershing is past middle age, he is young as a resident of the city. He came here early in January.

His volume of the "History of the Pershing Family" shows that he and "Black Jack" are third cousins, direct descendants of Frederick Pfoershing, first member of the family to immigrate to this country from Alsace. Evolution to present spelling of the name has been gradual.

Came To America In 1749

Frederick Pfoershing came to America in 1749 and blazed a tomahawk claim. Three of his descendents own the original claim and reside on it.

Three other members of the European family have migrated here, but most Pershings in this country are directly related to Pfoershing, according to the history. Approximately 8,000 descendents are in America, while few more than 35 remain in Europe.

Of French Descent

While the original name has a German "ring", Dr. Pershing explained that the family is of French descent. Home of the family having been near the border of Switzerland, intermarriages with Swiss have not been infrequent, he said.

The General is not alone in pursuance of a military life among Pershings. From Indian warfare in the colonies to the late World war, participants, officers and enlisted men, have borne the name.

John Pershing was victim of a band of Indians, led by Simon Gurdy, notorious renegade. More than a hundred Pershings were active in the World war.

Medicine, law, and farming rank with military careers as professions of the family.

Graduate Of Northwestern

Dr. Pershing says he was graduated from Northwestern university in 1901 and has practiced dentistry in Illinois, New Mexico, Texas and Canada since. In Canada, he says, his nearest competitor was 84 miles away "in one direction, how far the other would be hard to compute."

Two Bibles in Dr. Pershing's possession have been in the family for 200 years, he said.

Everywhere he has gone the doctor has met persons who had known General Pershing "when". As for their own personal acquaintance, that has been limited to two hours conversation at Roswell when the General inspected troops there.

Asked if he would attend the funeral if "Black Jack's" stout heart failed in the immediate future, the doctor said he hardly felt that closely associated with the General, but added:

"I wired him my wishes of a speedy recovery when he first became sick."

National A. A. U. Basketball Tourney Commands Sports Spotlight

College Teams Are Slated For Action Today

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, March 14 — The National A. A. U. basketball championships' higher education section commanded a sizable chunk of the spotlight at the 31st tournament in the city auditorium today.

All 10 college teams were given the nod to show their campus-bred product in the day's 12-game bill, continuing from 8:30 a. m., mountain standard time, until probably midnight.

Three Highly Regarded

Montana State, Central Missouri State Teachers and West Texas Teachers are all highly regarded in the college bracket.

Tournament spectators also looked forward to the first appearance of the giant Denver Safeways, defending champions. They will clash in a second round game with the Tulsa Fruehauf club at 9 p. m.

The original entry list of 55 teams from 25 states showed a shrinkage of 13, 12 of which were erased in yesterday's Sabbath program that ended near midnight. The Penn Athletic club of Philadelphia, unable to come, defaulted.

Southwest Has Eight Teams

The Southwest had eight teams left in contention, the Pacific coast and East five each and the South three.

West Texas Teachers, with one of the tallest troupe of shootsmiths in the meet, will tangle with Colorado college at 7 p. m.

A brief armistice will be called after this game for ceremonies honoring Colorado's only two All-America gridders in history, Earl (Dutch) Clark and Byron (Whizzer) White.

All the teams in the tournament will parade before Clark and other officials, including Alan Gould, general sports editor of the Associated Press, who plucked the "Dutchman" form the obscurity of the mountain-hemmed gridirons for the All-America team of 1926.

Gould named White to the All-America last season. Both football stars have won high honors on the cage court.

All-Indian Team Loses Out In Sunday Contest

DENVER, March 14 (AP)—Here is a band of Indians nearly as accurate with a basketball as their great-grandfathers were reputed to be with a bow and arrow.

They didn't last long in the National A. A. U. cage tournament here. But while they were in there, the Crow Indian team gave its white opponents a shooting match and the howling customers a show.

The Crows were the "dead pans" of the tournament's first round. They never uttered a word while playing. Donald Deernose, the manager, said they never do.

Deernose believes he and his fellow Crows are the first All-Indian team ever to try their luck in the national tournament. "We just weren't clicking," he said mournfully today, referring to the Indians' 50-46 defeat by South Bend, Ind., team yesterday.

The Indians sank tremendous shots from all parts of the court in a second-half uprising, but lost out when they forgot all about defending their own basket.

Pinkston Is High Scorer In Season's First Skeet Shoot

L. S. Pinkston was high scorer Sunday afternoon when 25 shooters participated in first skeet shoot of the season at Lubbock Skeet and Gun club. Pinkston cracked 47 of 50 targets.

Shooters braved a high wind all afternoon, which undoubtedly had its effect on scores.

Close behind the winner were A. L. Clay and Jack Allred. Each scored 45 breaks in 50 shots.

Ralph Keeton and Tex Edins cracked 21 of 25 targets each to tie for third honors.

FIELD TRIALS ON

TYLER, March 14 (AP) — Members all age and the open puppy stakes were scheduled for running today in the third annual East Texas field trials.

Leslie's Greyhound Joe, a pointer belonging to Dr. Clair Leslie of Kilgore, came home ahead yesterday in the members' shooting dog stake, opener-event of the meet.

Libe Kilgore Lou, owned by Buffalo Kennedy of Kilgore, was second and Ouida Boy, owned By L. H. McBee of El Dorado, Ark., third.

Don Budge And Veteran Coach Disagree On Mrs. Moody's Readiness For Comeback

(By The Associated Press)

BERKELEY, Calif., March 14—Is Helen Wills Moody, once the world's first lady of tennis, ready for an attempt to win her eighth Wimbledon championship?

Don Budge, carrot-topped reigning king of the courts, says she is.

William "Pop" Fuller, the veteran coach who started Mrs. Moody toward seven American and seven Wimbledon championships says "she isn't."

Weather Unsatisfactory

Mrs. Moody and Budge were featured in a series of exhibitions on Berkeley courts yesterday, playing before a small group of fans under most unsatisfactory weather conditions. A strong wind blew throughout the matches and rain and hail fell at too numerous intervals.

After it was all over—Budge had defeated Frank Kovacs, and Mrs. Moody, paired with Kovacs lost to Margaret Osborne and Gene Mako—Fuller has this to say:

"Helen Moody isn't ready for Wimbledon."

Loss Of Speed Cited

The venerable coach asserted particularly noticeable was Mrs. Moody's loss of speed, afoot, a less accurate judgment of timing and distance.

"Which," he said, "is to be expected of any player when he or she reaches the age of 28 or 30. They can't go on forever at top speed."

But in the opinion of Budge, Mrs. Moody is "wonderful."

"She's wonderful!" he exclaimed. "She looks great. Three weeks and she will beat any of them. She probably could do it right now."

Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers Win Intercollegiate Title

KANSAS CITY, March 14 (AP)—The Warrensburg, Mo., State Teachers college defeated Roanoke college of Salem, Ca., Saturday night in the National Intercollegiate basketball tournament. The score was 45-30.

Six-foot, eight-inch Fred Troutwine counted seven of Warrenburg's 20 field goals.

In the consolation finals, Murray, Ky., State Teachers won third place by downing Washburn college, Topeka, Kas., 33 to 24.

Training Camp Briefs

LIKE GLENN'S RUNNING

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Dizzy Dean's pitching this spring is like Glenn Cunningham's running. He's working better when something's wrong with him. Still nursing a heavy cold, he pitched three innings against the New York Yankees yesterday and gave murderers' row only one hit.

GIANTS ARE AILING

BATON ROUGE, La.—With Burgess Whitehead still abed with appendicitis, Lou Chiozza is the only New York Giant member doing full nine-inning work in the training camp exhibitions. Except for the second base job, on which Lou is filling in for Whitey, every position has a first and second-team man on hand.

GEHRINGER SHOWS UP

LAKELAND, Fla. — The strong, silent man pulls into the Detroit Tiger camp today. Of course, he's Charley Gehringer, who took a few extra days of fishing around Miami before getting down to the business of "fighting" for his second base job. Manager Mickey Cochrane scheduled two workouts for today.

SULLIVAN LEAVES TOWN

SAN ANTONIO — The St. Louis Browns wonder who's going to be their first-string catcher this season. Holdout Billy Sullivan left town, saying he was through with baseball, unless the Brownies met his $10,000 salary demand. He was offered $8,000.

LAST ACT SCHEDULED

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The New York Yankees got ready today to entertain the boss, Col. Jake Ruppert is on his way from New York for what will be the last act of the Yanks' annual holdout comedy—the signing of Joe DiMaggio.

Lanky House Quintet Wins New Mexico State Title

SANTA FE, N. M., March 14 (AP)—The Vaqueros of House, tiny wheat farming community in eastern New Mexico, won the New Mexico state high school basketball tournament here Saturday night by defeating Gallup, 53 to 32.

An underdog from the start of the tourney, the lanky House five marched easily to the finals and wound up with a fine performance behind the straight shooting of Halbert, towering center, and forward Capps.

Tucumcari downed Hobbs, 26 to 20, to take third place honors.

Wilson Insists Phils Going To Be Better

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

BILOXI, Miss., March 14—Jimmy Wilson, the chief fall guy of the floundering Phillies, insists stubbornly he is going to have a better club in the coming National league race, presumably on the theory that it couldn't be any worse.

Some think the Phils will be worse, because their most important hitter, Adolph Camilli, has been sold to the Brooklyns, but Jimmie says that isn't true. Also, he says it isn't true that he is thinking of selling his other big league player, third baseman Pinkey Whitney.

"We'll be better," he persisted in the face of obvious disbelief. "We would be better still if Camilli hadn't gone. I mean to say, if we still had Camilli, along with this other improvement, why we would be that much better then we will be."

Jimmie was asked to get down to cases. Did he think, for instance, that his improved team would make a stirring fight for, say, sixth place?

Has Fine Looking Youngsters

"Earl Browne will take Camilli's place at first base," he answered unhesitatingly, "and I have a fine looking young infielder from Houston named Emmett Mueller. George Scharein will be a better shortstop than he was last season and my two young outfielders, Morris Arnovich and Herschel Martin, should be greatly improved. My pitching will be much stronger with Bill Hallahan and Al Smith taking the load off the youngsters."

Just a minute. Did he refer to the Bill Hallahan and Al Smith who were cut loose during the winter by Cincinnati and the Giants, respectively, in the belief that their left arms were ready for the wringer?

"I'm glad," said Jimmie, sticking doggedly to the subject, "to hear that Connie Mack has picked up all that weight and is feeling good. We were worried about him."

Revolta And Picard Advance At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 (AP)—Survivors of a first-round blast that ushered out three of the favored twosomes, Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard, moved toward a fourth consecutive victory in the $4,000 international four-ball golf tournament today.

Picard and Revolta met Jimmy Hines and Vic Ghezzi, conquerors of Paul Runyan and Horton Smith — three-time finalists — in the feature match.

Hines and Ghezzi overcame a two-hole deficit to win, 1 up, yesterday. Observers expected Revolta and Picard, 2 and 1 victors over Stanley Horne and Andy Kay in the 36-hole opening, to find the going rockier from now on.

Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thomson, one up winners over Willie MacFarlane and Frank Walsh, tackled Willie Goggin and Ben Hogan, 3 and 1 victors over Lawson Little and Tony Manero, last year's runners-up.

Paul Dean's Comeback Is Said To Be Real Thing; Who Do Giants Think They Are Now?

BY SID FEDER
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, March 14—Hottest tip from the grapefruit belt: Paul Dean's comeback is the McCoy. . . . Those who ought to know say it's even-money Daffy will be doing his half of the "Me-n-Paul" act again for the Cards this summer. . . . Be an athlete at Minnesota and see the world. . . . In the last few months, the Gophers sent a basketball team to New York, a hockey team to Los Angeles, track team to the Texas Relays, and any day now the baseballers start a trip through Louisiana and Mississippi.

Terrible Terry must be feeding his "punch-less" Giants raw meat. . . . They averaged better than ten runs and 13 hits per game in their first five grapefruit starts. . . . Who do they think they are—the Yankees? . . . Who said recession?: the "handle" for the Santa Anita meeting, just ended, was only $36,656,540 . . . a cool $7,000,000 over last year. . . . Arnold Moser, the Reds' outfield rookie, saves his baseball pay in the summer so he can go to college at Texas in the winter.

About 6000 girls, who speak three or four languages, are employed by the London telephone exchanges.

Texas Junior College Cage Tournament Is On Today

TYLER, March 14 (AP)—Five basketball teams, top quintets in the Texas Junior college conference, were scheduled to begin their annual battle here today in a round-robin tournament to decide the conference title.

District 4, made up of West Texas institutions, will not be represented.

Each of the five will play the other four in the course of the two-day tourney and the title will be decided on a percentage basis.

Wallace Plans New Building

LEVELLAND, March 14, (Special) Wallace Blankenship, owner and operator of several theaters in West Texas, has announced that construction will start within the next month on a three-story theater and office building for Levelland.

The new building will be located on the present site of the Rose Theater and will be 55 feet by 120 feet.

The two upper floors will house office offices and suites of rooms for offices. Main headquarters and general ofices of the Wallace theaters will be in the new building, according to Jack Holman, general manager.

Special Features In Theater

The theater auditorium, on the first floor, will seat 800 persons, and special feature of the auditorium will be a large glass-enclosed balcony with special ventilating system and separate speakers behind the glass for Mexicans and negroes. Ladies lounge and baby cry-room will also have speakers connected with the screen in order to render the utmost in service.

The entire building, auditorium and offices, will be completely air-conditioned. Elevator service will be included.

Blankenship A Pioneer

Blankenship is a pioneer in West Texas motion picture field. In addition to his two theaters in Levelland he owns and operates houses in Morton, Ropesville, Seagraves, Andrews, and Goldsmith.

Blankenship's strong belief in West Texas is demonstrated by the fact that he owns the building and the lot on which the building stands for each of his theaters in these towns.

Construction of the new theater and office building here is necessary because of the increase in population and business resulting from the general condition and spurred on by the oil operations in the Slaughter and Duggan pools south and west of Levelland.

HOLDS UNIQUE RECORD

LOS ANGELES, March 14 (AP) — Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong goes into the ring at the Olympic auditorium tomorrow night against veteran little Baby Armizmendi, Los Angeles Mexican, who holds a unique record in previous battles with "Hurricane Hank."

Armizmendi has never been floored by Armstrong in three 10-round bouts, and claims to have never been knocked off his feet by anyone during his professional ring career.

The resonant quality of the whooping crane's voice is believed to be caused by the unusually long trachea.

Big Money Man

They say Harry L. Hopkins, shown above in Florida as he recuperated from a recent operation, ran across a fortune teller who called the turn nicely by saying he was a man who handled lots of money and distributed it to lots of people. The only trouble was that the soothsayer thought Hopkins was a professional gambler instead of the federal government's WPA administrator. At any rate, he seems to be enjoying his vacation.

Shutdowns May Be Continued

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 14 — Statewide Sunday oil field shutdowns may be continued until July 1, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson has hinted.

The commissioner will issue a new statewide proration order after a hearing here next Saturday.

"Latest reports," Thompson said, "showed gasoline stocks at an all-time peak of 92,151,000 barrels and crude oil stocks 23,000,000 barrels above what they were at the same time last year.

"Unless we continue to keep output well under control through the spring there will necessarily be long shutdowns of refineries and crude production next winter, creating widespread unemployment.

"This can be avoided by prudent restraint at the start of the larger gasoline-consuming season, letting the excessive stocks work down to normal which should be reached by July 1."

SCHOOL FOR SAILORS

LONDON (AP) — The Seafarers Education Service, which provides 570 British cargo ships with libraries, plans to develop the instructional side of its work into something like a "college of the sea." It is preparing definite courses of study on a variety of subjects to be carried on at sea.

Southland Life Insurance Company
Dallas, Texas

March 12, 1938

TO POLICYHOLDERS AND STOCKHOLDERS
OF THE SOUTHLAND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
AND THE INSURING PUBLIC OF THE SOUTHWEST:

One of the most important financial transactions in the history of the Legal Reserve Life Insurance business in Texas was consummated in Dallas March 8, set by law as the annual meeting date for life insurance companies. At that time a greater, bigger, and stronger life insurance company to better serve the Mighty Empire of the Southwest was created and destined to make more secure the futures and lives of uncounted thousands.

At that time a new and greater Southland Life Insurance Company was born with the consolidation of the business in force of two of Texas' most progressive Life Insurance Companies . . . a proposition previously that day given unanimous approval by the Stockholders and Board of Directors of the Gulf States Life Insurance Company and its Executive Committee and by Stockholders and Directors of the The Southland Life Insurance Company. During its twenty-nine years of faithful service to the insuring public, The Southland Life Insurance Company had built up a total of insurance in force of $118,433,196 and the Gulf States Life Insurance Company, during a ten year brilliant career, had on its books a total of $65,197,422 insurance in force--making a total of $183,630,618--contracts guaranteed by total assets of $28,506,067.96, according to their reports of Dec. 31, 1937. Since their inception, these companies paid beneficiaries and policyholders in excess of $35,000,000.

A meeting of the Stockholders of the newly-constituted Southland Life Insurance Company was held and a new Board of Directors elected. These Directors immediately placed responsibility for management of the greater Southland Life Insurance Company in the hands of the following Executive Committee: John W. Carpenter, A. Morgan Duke, Harry L. Seay, Sr., Homer R. Mitchell, John E. Owens, B. A. Donnally, Lewis T. Carpenter, W. C. McCord and Dr. Hall Shannon.

Southland Life Insurance Company

We, as members of that Executive Committee, and as active officers of the enlarged Southland Life Insurance Company deeply and sincerely recognize the great trust and obligation placed upon us and, without hesitation or reservation, accept our responsibilities with the promise to you, whom we represent, that it shall be fulfilled to the very ends of our respective abilities.

Still further, we are most happy to give you every assurance that, with the consolidation of the companies, which is proceeding apace and already has witnessed consolidation, two of the greatest agency forces in Texas, the Southland Life will forge steadily ahead to its appointed place as one of the greatest service institutions in America.

The Board of Insurance Commissioners of the State of Texas unanimously has given full and unqualified approval of the consolidation and of the formation of the new and greater institution to better serve you.

Gratefully we express our sincere appreciation to policyholders, stockholders, our splendid agency force, and the insuring public of the Southwest for expressions already given by them and their unswerving loyalty to their company and bespeak for this newer and greater Southland Life Insurance Company your confidence, respect and patronage and have requested the newly-elected President, Mr. A. Morgan Duke, to communicate this message to you over his signature.

Yours very sincerely,

A. Morgan Duke

A. MORGAN DUKE
President.

We, the Directors and Officers of The Southland Life Insurance Company gladly and without reservation pledge stockholders, policyholders, agents, and employes of The Southland Life Insurance Company our utmost devotion, co-operation, and effort to the up-building of our company to its rightful place among the great life insurance companies of the United States.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says whenever a man is unable to decide between two evils he usually looks up a third.

Yes, of course, the early bird gets the worm. But look what happens to the worm that gets out early! (Moral: If you're a worm, you might just as well sleep late!)

THERE is not a single television set on the South Plains. Neither is there an escalator.

We don't have any night clubs with swell floor shows, skyscrapers, or big name bands.

We don't have a lot of things you find in the big cities—including hatcheck stands at every conceivable place where one can be set up. Occasionally one sees a hatcheck stand hereabouts, but it is not often.

And for that we should be thankful.

While The Plainsman is not a parsimonious soul, but instead a happy-go-lucky guy who spends practically every dime he gets his hands on, there is nothing that infuriates him more than to go to some joint where he has to pay a hijacker for stowing away his dilapidated bonnet.

It isn't the dime, or fifteen cents that irks him. It's the principle of the thing.

He hates anything that smacks of being taken for a ride—of being forced into something.

SEVERAL years ago in one of his limpid columns, the late great columnist O. O. McIntyre reported that the average New Yorker spends $30 in checking fees during the life of each $10 hat. "It's not the original cost of headgear that hurts," Mr. McIntyre remarked. "It's the upkeep."

As if to add testimony to the columnist's figures, a recent news story from Gotham told of the hatcheck and cigaret sales concession in a new night club being sold for $40,000 for the first year of the club's life.

That gives us simple Plains residents an idea of what we're avoiding by living in a country which not yet—and we hope never will become—"hatcheck conscious!"

In today's mail came a picture postcard from big, blond, handsome and altogether amiable Arno Dalby, the truck line man, who is now hibernating in Hawaii. Postmarked from Honolulu, it reads:

"Three day rough trip. Fed the fishes. Sure wish they needed a local drayman here."

In the same mail a letter from Colorado's cowboy governor, likeable and agreeable Teller Ammons who, among other things, commented upon Mrs. Roosevelt's recent generous receptions in Lubbock and Amarillo. Says he, in part:

"I am sure the State of Texas did itself proud, as usual, in acting as host to Mrs. Roosevelt."

And also a postcard from Mrs. H. L. Norris, sr., of Idalou, who reports that her son, H. Lee Norris, jr., and seven other former Tech boys in New York City and environs, will hold a reunion at the time of the annual engineers' banquet at the college. Lee is in Schenectady, where he is in the turbine department of General Electric and will be there for at least another six months.

That Man on Avenue Q says a woman will almost always agree upon anything her husband doesn't want her to.

You can't expect a stable business in any organization whose executives haven't plenty of horse sense.

THE Plainsman's little friend Ruby Lee Leary, dug up a contribution which she thought might be interesting to both readers of this column. We agree, so here it is, taken from the recent edition of The Chaser, monthly publication of the state tubercular sanatorium near San Angelo.

It is headed "The Judge." Catch its concealed rhyme.

"Pray, find no fault with the man who limps or stumbles along the road, unless you have worn the shoes he wears, or struggled beneath his load. There may be tacks in his shoes that hurt, though hidden away from view, or the burden he bears, placed on your back, might cause you to stumble, too.

"Don't sneer at the man who's down today, unless you have felt the blow that caused his fall, or felt the same that only the fallen know. You may be strong, but still the blows that were his, if dealt to you at the self-same time, might cause you to stagger, too.

"Don't be too harsh with the man who sins, or pelt him with words or stones, unless you are sure, yes, doubly sure that you have not sins of your own. For you know, perhaps, if the tempter's voice should whisper as soft to you as it did to him when he went astray, 'twould cause you to falter, too."

The world would be a better place in which to live if all of us followed the suggestion in that rhyme.

WHEN Governor James V. Allred was here last week he and The Plainsman were conversing about this, that and the other when suddenly it occurred to the writer that the state's chief executive was looking more physically fit and was feeling better, generally speaking, than usual.

This doesn't mean that the governor has ever had bad health, or has ever looked tired or drawn. Such is not the case. But we were surprised that after four years as attorney-general and more than three as governor, the young man from Wichita Falls showed not a semblance of weariness.

"Governor," we remarked, "you're looking better than ever. Doesn't all this traveling and the constant hullabaloo connected with politics wear on you at all?"

"Not a bit," said Jimmie. "As a matter of fact, I enjoy it. And I have enjoyed the past several months in the governor's office more than I have ever enjoyed any period of my life. I feel like I have been accomplishing more and I've been having a lot of fun, too."

In that respect, at least, the present No. 1 Texan is most unusual.

The life of a governor is one of constant running around the state, constant speech-making, handshaking and conferences. Telephones jangle day and night while messenger boys, with telegrams, parade up to him in squad formation. He has practically no time for himself or his family. He lives in a veritable whirlwind.

Of course, Governor Allred is still a youngster as politicos go. A bare 39, he has a lot of stamina and he does not abuse himself. He is a personal dry and while he frequently attends social gatherings where cocktails are served, he eschews even a "sociable drink." He smokes a few cigars a week, no cigarets.

While he is a few pounds heavier than he was when he entered state politics back in 1928, he bulges nowhere and the slight additional weight serves only to fill him out. His black hair, if anything, is thicker than ever.

WHILE of course The Plainsman can't understand why in the world anyone living in this section of the state would want to go to the University of Texas—or anywhere else—when Texas Tech is right here, he is glad to note that our boys and girls at Texas are doing very well.

According to reports from that solid gold-and-platinum, diamond-studded institution, no less than eight South Plains youngsters made the honor roll following their last semester's work. Considering that we do not send many students to the university, that's a good record. Here are the honor rollers from these parts:

CROSBYTON: Mary Catherine McKee and Bessie Lou Matthews.

FLOYDADA: James Prueman Kirk.

LAMESA: George William Berry, Caylos Wendel Chapman, Hilburn Doyle Gilliam.

PLAINVIEW: Mary Annette Collier, Margaret Nell Crews.

CHAPTER XIII

The young matron whose stage name had been Mazie Miller and who now served behind the bar of the Sheaf of Wheat Tavern, owned by her husband, was having a spell of nerves. She had broken half a dozen tumblers in that many days, and when a customer asked for a stein of stout she was as apt to give him ale or porter.

The reason was, she kept thinking of that pair of young lovers she had separated. It was the first time she had ever done a thing like that, deliberately. A half dozen men she had lured into the clutches of the "press gang," for it paid very well, and who was Mazie Miller to question the way the British navy was run? But never before had she lent her talents to making a girl think her sweetheart had deserted her.

So today she faced her own soul and said, "I've got to make it right!" She meant with the girl.

Let us now be introduced to Mazie's husband, a common man and a mean one, flashily handsome and sometimes given to blackening Mazie's pretty eyes when annoyed with her. Suffice it to say that Mazie had reason to dread asking the day off of this lord and master. Yet she did so. Quite as she feared, he refused, and so she was compelled to slip away against his orders.

When she reached the Unicorn and Crown Tavern (which she regretfully conceded to be much more respectable and pretentious than the Sheaf of Wheat) she called the landlord aside.

"Mr. Toby," she said, "you've got a young lady staying here. I must talk to. I don't know her name, but she's the betrothed sweetheart, I take it, of one Jeremiah Whitfield."

The innkeeper scrutinized Mazie more closely. Though she was not wearing the sky-blue dress, he now recognized her. "Why!" he exclaimed accusingly, "you're the lady he went off with that night! What have you done with him?"

"They say he was a deserter from His Majesty's navy," Mazie explained briefly, "and I set a press gang on him. He didn't go off of his own accord. He was carried off. I'd like to explain that to the girl I saw him with."

"You mean Miss Polly Chelsey? Well it's too bad you put off your explaining so long. She left for Dover yesterday. She hopes to get home to America by way of France if she can cross the Channel. She had no plans when she left here."

"She's an American, you say? And she's gone? . . . Oh, my! What was her state of mind, Mr. Toby?"

"For several days, Miss, she seemed fairly crushed. Took to her bed and refused food. But all of a sudden, like, she recovered. As my wife says, she seemed as hard as nails, tossing her head and acting like she hadn't a care to her name."

"Oh, the poor creature!" Mazie exclaimed. She could read Polly Chelsey's behavior very readily. It was prompted, she guessed, by a proud hurt heart that seeks to hide its wounds. She asked anxiously, "Do you know where I could find her in Dover, Mr. Toby?"

"No, Miss. Though she'd doubtless go to a decent tavern. Yes, that's likely what she'd do."

"Well," said Mazie, "I must do what I can. I must write a letter and leave it for you to give the coach driver in the morning. He'll remember her—who wouldn't! He'll know where he put her off with her trunk. Here's four shillings to pay him for his trouble. Tell the coach driver, Mr. Toby"—Mazie paused and fixed the innkeeper with compelling eyes—"tell him to deliver this letter to Miss Polly Chesley if it's humanly possible, because it will right a great wrong."

When Mr. Toby had fetched paper and ink and a quill, Mazie Miller sat down at a table and began to compose a letter.

Jerry Whitfield and his companion, Cabell Banks of Boston, were in the small dark prison hold of the brig Sunrise, playing a game with hemp strands. It was a childish game, but it kept them from losing their minds. There was in the prison hold a great deal of massive coiled rope, an overflow from the cable tier. From this stout wet rope that smelled so reekingly of bilgewater and the sea they pulled hemp strands with infinite care, and these they pitted against each other in various ways. They were particular about the rules they made, and events were conducted very sportingly. Whoever lost an event paid two pence to the winner.

At times Jerry would interrupt the game with an outburst of nerves and would climb the ladder toward the open hatch. Always and at once a marine's bayonet would send him down again.

"If you keep that up," Cabell Banks complained irritably, "they'll close the hatch. A little daylight helps."

"Yes," Jerry agreed. "But it seems like I've got to keep trying. Something drives me to keep trying—"

"Why?" Cabell asked. "What do you hope to gain?"

"My freedom. . . . Listen, Banks, I don't mean to boast, but I'm a good swimmer. I'm one of the best swimmers that ever came out of Gloucester. It would be nothing for me to swim ashore now. Tomorrow may be too late."

"I disagree. Tomorrow would be better, because your head would be better healed. You've got a nasty cut there, near the crown."

"That!" said Jerry disdainfully. "I tell you, Banks, tomorrow may be too late. I believe we're getting ready to sail. I know the signs. They're bringing on provisions. Sailors are coming on board. Listen, if you don't believe me!"

"I believe you. All right, we're getting ready to sail, and I've got this to say about it—it will be better for you when we do sail. If you get your chance and try to swim for it, you'll be shot. It's that simple."

"I wonder you can be so reconciled to this floating jail!" Jerry exclaimed bitterly.

Cabell Banks shrugged. "I can afford to bide my time. I've got no fiancee who thinks I've deserted her."

In the long watches of several sleepless nights they had exchanged life histories; ill assorted though they were, these confidences had given them admiration and respect for each other. Jerry knew the rich man's son to be brave, loyal, and shrewd; Cabell had discovered Jerry Whitfield to be brave, loyal, and obstinate. Both had a streak of recklessness, but in Jerry it was far more pronounced; he was in love, and that state begets a special form of madness all its own.

They were confined in the prison hold continuously except for half an hour a day above deck for exercise. It had been so since their interview with Captain Steel. That irate officer had no sooner recovered from the shock of their insubordination than he had had them returned to prison quarters, with all privileges suspended.

He called them "the seagoing peasant and the rich Boston fool"; and when he thought of the Boston boy's insolent boast that he would outfit a privateer against England and make the Gloucester sailor his first mate, he all but had a stroke of apoplexy.

Yet that order of his for 20 whip lashes on Jeremiah Whitfield's bared back had not yet been consummated . . . Not yet. . . .

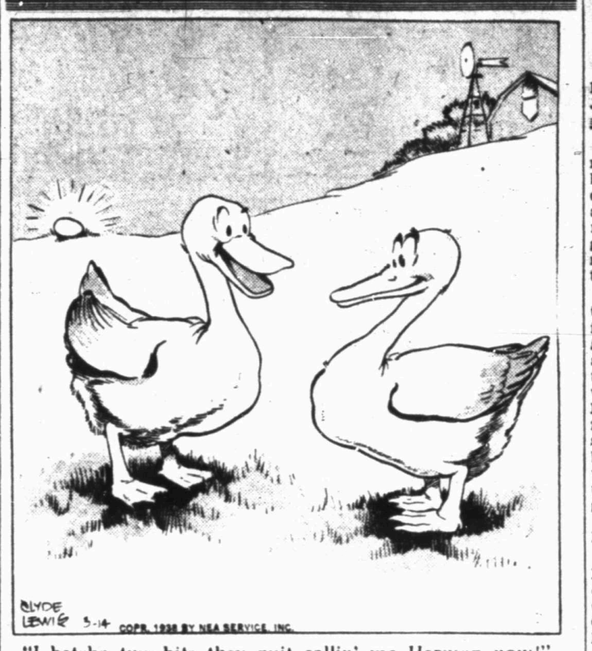

In the prison hold Jerry was looking upward toward the open hatch. "Listen!" he said to Cabell Banks. "Something's going on." They climbed the ladder, part way, to catch the sudden shouting in the forecastle. It was Jerry who interpreted it:

"We're going out with the tide!" he said bitterly. "Bound for the North Sea."

PERHAPS PSYCHOLOGY WOULD HELP SOME!

A few years ago a psychological fad swept over the world which was put into the words, "Every day in every way I am growing better and better."

The theory was that a person, by convincing himself that he was growing "better and better," actually would grow better. The fact that there is some truth in the theory is recognized by thinking persons everywhere although they realize its limitations.

However, that psychology suggests a thought which we as a nation and a people might start putting into practice right now. We should be telling ourselves, and then keep repeating to ourselves, the thought that "we are not going to get into that war." Reference is not intended to any particular war. Rather the term, "that war," refers to all wars.

That suggested psychology admittedly might fail in its purpose. Should there be a general war, we probably will be sticking our nose into it. But if we begin telling ourselves now that we AREN'T going to get into it, maybe we will make ourselves believe it.

That, at least, should have the effect of making it more difficult to drag us into conflict.

A Thought . . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 14—Some rare occupational ailments have been diagnosed in the studios recently. And I mean rare—nothing as ordinary as Kleig eyes, rouge rashes, psychopathic delusions of grandeur, ingenue slouch, producer melancholia or dollar-signs before the eyes.

Over at Warner Brothers, almost the entire cast of "White Banners" is suffering from colds, or what seem to be colds. They cough and sneeze, and all that. It turns out that their indisposition comes from working in artificial snow. Dr. Paul MacWilliams, head of the studio first aid department, attributes the sniffles not to the wintry suggestion but to the dust from the "snow" which is a mixture of gypsum and uncooked cornflakes. He prescribed gauze masks as a remedy.

More Hazards

With the cold situation in hand, Dr. MacWilliams received another call from the same stage. He found Claude Rains, Fay Bainter, Bonita Granville and others complaining of headaches. These, the physician decided, were mild cases of snow-blindness. Reflection of the bright lights on the white set has dazzled the actors.

This artificial snow is a common prop in Hollywood, of course, and never before has caused any ill effects. Dr. MacWilliams explained, however, that few if any other companies ever worked so long on a snow-covered set. The "White Banners" people have been there more than five weeks; almost every scene in the picture has a winter background. Almost 600 tons of gypsum and more than that weight in cornflakes have been used to give snow effects to the small residential district which completely fills one of the largest sound stages.

Ritz Boys Pained

Out at 20th-Fox, the Ritz Brothers have been the objects of clinical interest. For their hillbilly roles in "Kentucky Moonshine," the Ritzes have had to wear beards—long, chest-protector beards. For Hollywood principals such shrubbery is applied hair-by-hair, each one affixed with a minute dab of spirit gum. Some pain accompanies the removal of such a beard, but the material itself has no irritating qualities.

After a few days of hill-billying, however, the faces of the three actors began to swell up like poisoned Ritz Brothers. Jimmy was the first to be painfully affected. He had to give up shaving in the morning, thus adding immeasurably to the problems of the makeup experts. Al and Harry Ritz soon began to complain, and it looked as if the picture would be held up pending their recovery.

The Explanation

Dr. C. A. Seyforth, of the studio staff, was in a spot. He analyzed the spirit gum and found nothing at fault. Then he analyzed the beards. These contained some Chinese hair, some Spanish hair, and considerable horse hair. (The Spanish and Oriental wars, resulting in a great scarcity of wig, whisker and mustache material from those hirsute regions, have brought a bull market in horse tails.)

Testing further, Dr. Seyforth learned that the Brothers Ritz have no physiological antipathy toward either Chinese or Spaniards. But all three are allergic to horses!

As soon as the Ritzes' whiskers were made only from human hair—even from the Shetland Islands—the skin irritations began to disappear.

Offhand, you may not immediately appreciate an even greater significance of this discovery. It's quite clear to the brother comedians, however—they now know why, for the duration of their affluent careers, they have beer, the world's unluckiest horse-bettors. It is a mysterious thing which transcends even the probing magic of medical science, for the Ritzes never have been on horses, or even around horses, but they always have bet on them. "I know now," said Harry, sadly, "why I have always felt a little sick whenever I walked into a bookie joint."

Capital Hopes For Rare Show When Bridges And Copeland Tangle In Senate Probe

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14. —Although Mr. Harry Bridges is a hero only to the pro-labor groups, it will be cause for general grief in Washington if he does not eventually get the chance to appear before Senator Royal S. Copeland and the Senate Commerce committee of which the latter is chairman.

Rodney Dutcher

An encounter between the senator and the West Coast C. I. O. leader, whom Copeland wants deported as an alien agitator, would be this capital's idea of a spectacular show. Bridges, militant, aggressive and highly articulate, has been demanding a chance to appear to answer witnesses who have charged at hearings on maritime labor affairs that he is a communist and a bad man.

Copeland, who encouraged the anti-Bridges witnesses and made it evident he believed them, has been reluctant but now indicates Bridges can appear if the Department of Labor doesn't hold against him in its investigation of charges that he is deportable.

It wouldn't do to suggest that Copeland is afraid to cross swords with Bridges, although other committee members have been considerably more eager than he to take on the assignment.

C. I. O. Scores Copeland

But the C. I. O. has been digging up the "dirt" on Senator Copeland, just as Copeland has been digging up "dirt" on C. I. O. maritime labor leaders. And Bridges, who is no shrinking violet and doesn't care who knows what he has in mind, is loaded with ammunition for the fray.

Letters in which Copeland is made to appear to have sought and obtained free ocean trips from ship owners — despite his key position as a framer of shipping legislation — are one item of the Bridges ammunition.

But meanwhile Bridges must answer deportation charges. He and the C. I. O. lawyers profess complete confidence that they can beat those charges. If and when they do, Washingtonians will start reserving ringside seats for the Bridges-Copeland bout.

Mr. William B. Shearer, who came to be called the "Big Bass Drum" during his allegedly successful effort to back up the 1927 Geneva naval arms conference, was an intent spectator at the naval appropriations hearings. Shearer is a popular Washington host, entertains lavishly, paints handsome marine murals in his home and is one of the town's most accomplished raconteurs. He is supposed to be a big-time lobbyist but rates as the capital's Mystery Man Number One because no one knows just whom he represents and Shearer squelches all inquiries.

A newspaper correspondent approached him at the naval hearings and this dialogue ensued.

"Are you interested in these hearings?"

"No."

"What are you doing here?"

"I came in to get out of the cold."

"How do you derive your income?"

"I'm a white-slaver," replied Shearer with infinite sarcasm.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 14 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 point net lower to 2 higher here today.

Foreign markets were better than expected and helped the undertone in early dealings.

March contracts opened at 9.05 bid, May at 9.06, July at 9.13, Oct. at 9.22, Dec. at 9.25 and Jan. 9.26.

Enough trade developed towards the end of the first half hour to lift prices 4 to 5 points above the previous close.

Feb. consumption figures of 427,528 bales were about in line with expectations and had little effect on prices. The total compared with 434,740 bales in Jan. and 665,677 bales in Feb. last year.

Prices fluctuated narrowly during the remainder of the morning but managed to maintain small net gains under new buying of new crop months and short covering in old crop positions.

Near mid-session, March contracts sold at 9.10, May at 9.13, July at 9.15, Oct. at 9.23 and Dec. at 9.25, or 1 to 6 points under the previous close.

There was a general belief in trade circles that with the marketing quota referendum out of the way conditions in the cotton industry would be more settled.

The turnover Saturday was 36,150 bales and open commitments 424,250 bales, an increase of 2,100 bales from the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 lower to 4 higher. Disappointing cables were offset by the favorable acreage allotment referendum. March 8.92; May 8.95; July 9.01; Oct. 9.10; Dec. 9.12; Jan. 9.13.

The vote of about 9 to 1 of cotton farmers in favor of acreage quotas Saturday influenced sentiment. Foreign orders were mixed but seemed to be on the buying side on balance.

There was more commission house buying as May recovered from 8.94 to 9.00. Shortly after the first half hour that month sold at 7.87, said the list was 2 to 6 points net higher.

Prices held a few points above Saturday's close later in the morning. Trade price fixing and scattered support absorbed near month offerings from Liverpool. Other foreign orders continued on the buying side and May at midday was holding at 8.96, with the list 2 to 5 points net higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Stock market leaders goose-stepped into the recovery ranks today, many pushing up fractions to 2 or more points before meeting profit selling resistance.

The climb was slow, however, and extreme advances were reduced near the fourth hour.

Armament issues, including steels, aircrafts, coppers, rubbers and specialties pointed the way for the come-back.

While the absorption of Austria by Germany was believed by market observers to have lessened dangers of an immediate outbreak of hostilities in central Europe, it was generally believed the recent turn of affairs would stimulate rearming on a wide scale. Renewed attention, consequently, was given stocks of companies that stand to benefit by the sale of war materials.

Bolstering sentiment in Wall Street also was the growing belief the senate will further revise the administration's tax bill and, as urged by Senate Leader Pat Harrison, possibly drop the much-disputed undistributed profits levy altogether.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

No Golf

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — It might have happened:

"Dear teacher—Johnny got a 'C' in golf this month. Is he missing his putts again?"

But it won't happen, because the county counsel ruled against the plea of a group of high school students that golf be substituted for physical education.

Price Of Peace

ALBUQUERQUE — An outlay of $65.50 once prevented a war—and a government employe apologized for spending it.

A letter in the University of New Mexico library signed by Alex G. Irvine, Indian agent in 1874, offers excuses for spending the money on "powder, shot and "one doz. butcher knives" to appease Apaches on the warpath.

Frankness Personified

RICE LAKE, Wis. — A Rice Lake attorney who needs a maid-of-all-work in his home doesn't believe in one taking the job without premeditation. He ran the following newspaper advertisement:

Wanted: a maid for general housework: 7 children, lots of noise, nothing to eat; husband, an alderman, another business on the side, late at lunch as often as 6 times a week; position offers splendid opportunity for one wishing to gain experience as to management of private restaurant or small hotel, or possibly a day nursery. If still interested, call 4482.

Three Cases Scheduled To Be Heard In 99th Court Today

Three cases were to be heard this morning in 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts with another set for this afternoon. Schedule for criminal cases for the week was set by Judge Pitts.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and his assistant, Victor H. Lindsey, are representing the state.

Cases called this morning were: Marvin Monroe, theft over $50; Floyd Myers, forgery; and Jeff Reagan, hog theft. Defense attorneys for Howard Bumpass, charged with attempted burglary, had indicated they would ask continuance in the case set for this afternoon.

Schedule for the week follows: Tuesday, A. C. Alexander, murder; Wednesday, E. R. Phegley, swindling over $50, and Oscar Garner, forgery and passing; Thursday, Bennie Carver, forgery and passing and being an habitual criminal; and tentatively set for Friday, J. A. Bell, driving when intoxicated, and Herbert Aduddell, driving when intoxicated.

Hitler Marches Into Vienna

said never had they seen such an unbounded release of joy.

On the edge of the city Hitler stopped his automobile and shook hands with everyone who could get near enough. He saluted and tactfully used the Austrian greeting, "Gruess Gott," instead of the Prussian "Guten Tag."

Hitler, who had changed to an open motor car during his 100-mile journey from Linz, entered Vienna standing up, bowing, smiling to hundreds of thousands lining the route.

Behind his slow moving automobile was another car carrying Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, and other high officials of the reich.

Like Royal Procession

The journey through a smiling countryside from Linz, where he had remained since his coming to Austria Saturday, was like a royal procession, through throngs of the Fuehrer's exultant followers.

An Austrian government of his choice had prepared for his coming by announcing the absorption of Austria into the German nation, now stretching from the North sea almost to the Adriatic.

His triumphal progress carried him through cheering, flag-waving throngs, promise of the vast welcome preparing for him in the capital of annexed Austria.

Motorized War Machines

Behind him moved all the motorized accoutrements of war.

The Fuehrer, after a tumultuous send-off by 60,000 cheering citizens in the streets of Linz, where he had halted since Saturday, motored from town to town through the romantic Austrian countryside.

Under clear blue skies his big six-wheeled car sped along a winding highway, through rolling green hills.

With him were his generals. Behind him came some 20 cars carrying German police.

Rumble Toward Vienna

No motorized troops were with the Fuehrer's immediate cavalcade, but just behind it a swift army on wheels was rumbling ponderously toward Vienna.

Until the Fuehrer passed the motorized army units remained parked by the roadside. But as soon as he flashed by in a swirl of dust the tanks wobbled out into the highway again, and big motor lorries, motorized field artillery, anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns and field kitchens resumed the rush toward what was once the proud imperial capital of the Hapsburgs.

Hysteria Sweeps Vienna

Hysteria swept Vienna Jewry as Austria became but a name in history, her land, her people, her army and her government now a state of Fuehrer Hitler's Nazi Germany.

As the Fuehrer drove from Linz to the capital for a triumphal entry, hundreds of fearful Jews lined up before the Polish and other consulates to ask visas to enable them to leave the country.

A number of Vienna coffee houses were placarded with warnings on doors and windows: "Jews not permitted to enter."

To Open Parcels

The postoffice announced every parcel intended for foreign countries would be opened and searched to prevent smuggling of money from the country.

Jewish druggists were told their medical supplies might be needed by hospitals. Some voluntarily emptied their shelves and donated their goods.

It was announced not more than 1,000 schillings ($180) would be paid depositors from their savings accounts within the coming week.

Deposits made after March 13, Sunday, were exempt, as were accounts for wages, pensions, et al, with limitations.

Streets Clearly Show Change

Vienna streets clearly showed the change by which the tempo of the goose step swept out the Austrian nation with the resignation of President Wilhelm Miklas.

Tall, husky German police officers were on duty in the downtown sections. German army officers made sightseeing excursions afoot, and some visited St. Stephen's cathedral.

German tanks and other motorized equipment continued rolling into the city.

The Austrian legion, believed to number more than 20,000 Austrians who fled into Germany during the Dollfuss-Schuschnigg regimes, were trekking into the city for Hitler's arrival.

Factories, banks and government offices were closed at noon. Trains from the provinces were crowded with people come to see their Fuehrer.

Stores were decorated with flowers and inscriptions of "Welcome to Our Fuehrer."

Parade Lines Formed

Austrian and German troops with many organizations early formed parade lines for a march preceding Hitler's arrival.

Today the Austrian-born Hitler made his tour of triumph a slow procession across the country to acknowledge a conqueror's welcome.

He left Vienna a poor student laborer 20-odd years ago to fight upward to become Germany's ruler. He turned toward the ancient Hapsburg capital today as leader of both Germany and Austria, made one.

Quotas System

been a genuine expression of the farmers' will. The farm program as respects cotton and these tobaccos will have the great advantage of overwhelming support of cotton and tobacco farmers."

The marketing goal has been set at about 11,000,000 bales of cotton, 705,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco, and 145,000,000 pounds of dark air-cured and fire-cured tobacco.

Officials declared the quota system should prevent accumulation of larger surpluses of the affected crops and possibly should improve their prices.

Whether growers of corn and wheat will be asked to approve a marketing control program for their products has not been decided. A decision on corn will not me made until August, when a fairly accurate estimate of the 1938 crop will be available.

The farm law exempts wheat from quotas this year unless congress appropriates funds to pay subsidies in addition to the $500,000,000 of the soil conservation program. The only other commodity governed by the restrictive law is rice, but too, is exempted this year.

France Prepares To Fight Against Further Expansion

PARIS, Mar. 14. (AP)—France prepared herself today to fight against further expansion of the German Reich.

Faced by the Austrian crisis, Socialist Leon Blum hastily formed a new people's front government to replace the fallen Camille Chautemps and prepared for action through diplomacy, propaganda, and if necessary with force.

Five Steps Mapped

Accepting German absorption of Austria as past and done with, the new government mapped these steps to check any new encroachment in central Europe by Fuehrer Hitler:

1. An understanding was sought with Britain, said an informant closely connected with the government, that the two democracies "tolerate no more violations of European order."

Would Revise Treaty

2. The mutual assistance treaty with Czechoslovakia would be revised to provide military action against Germany, even should Hitler attempt peaceful Nazification of the war-born republic, with its 3,500,000 Germans. Czechoslovakia is thought here to be Hitler's next goal.

3. Then France would seek to extend her mutual assistance understanding with Czechoslovakia and with Russia to include all central Europe, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

Might Try To Break Axis

4. There would be an eventual effort to break the Berlin-Rome axis, bringing Premier Mussolini of Italy into the Franco-British front—if the present Italian-British friendship talks were successful.

5. French troops will be kept ready. Reinforcements yesterday moved into the formidable concrete and steel Maginot line which stretches virtually from Switzerland to Belgium along the German frontier.

kidnap-murder of a 14-year-old boy.

He once termed the murder "the most foolish, most motiveless act ever conceived in a diseased brain."

Darrow said he stepped into the case "to do what I could for sanity and humanity, against the wave of hatred and malice that, as ever, was masquerading under its usual nom de plume, 'justice.'"

Saved From Death

Darrow was credited with saving the youthful pair from death. They were sentenced to life on one charge, plus 99 years on a second, with a recommendation that neither be paroled.

Two years ago when Loeb was slain in the penitentiary by a fellow-convict, Darrow said:

"Loeb is better off than Leopold who must live. They wanted to live and I was engaged to represent them in court and it was my duty to help them live. I had no right to trifle with their lives."

Father Village Infidel

Darrow was born in Kinsman, Ohio, April 18, 1857. His father, Amurus Darrow, was a cabinetmaker and undertaker.

"My father was the village infidel," Darrow once wrote, "and gradually came to glory in his reputation."

During his teaching days, Darrow began the study of law. He lived across the street from a tin shop, and the tinner was a justice of the peace. "And I never missed a chance to go over to his shop when a case was on trial," Darrow said in recounting his early days as a lawyer.

Studied Law One Year

He studied law at the University of Michigan for one year, and then decided "I could make my preparation in another year in an office, which would cost much less money and give me a chance to be admitted to the bar at 21. So I went to work in a law office."

Chicago first saw Darrow in 1887. From a soap box orator, he became a political spellbinder, and served two terms as assistant corporation counsel of Chicago, and one term in the Illinois house of representatives.

Two Drowned, 24 Others Escape At Galveston

GALVESTON, March 14 (AP)—The 44-foot fishing boat "Sportsman," capsized in Galveston channel yesterday, drowning two men, and injuring a woman. Twenty-four other passengers escaped injury.

The dead were David Amos Thomas of Houston and Jasper Feelinch of Galveston. Mrs. T. J. McWilliams of Fort Worth was hospitalized for minor injuries.

Survivors said the vessel, owned by C. D. McMillan, and captained by John Shaw, both of whom were aboard, was struck on the port side by a heavy swell.

Passengers Rush To Side

Passengers rushed to starboard or opposite side and the craft rolled over. It righted almost instantly, but shipped so much water it began sinking.

Shaw and McMillan passed out life preservers. Survivors were picked up by boats from the Texas, pilot craft of Galveston and Texas City pilots.

Child Of Six Survives

Johnnie Curlee of Houston, companion of Thomas, said Thomas was one of the first to obtain a life preserver. He said he (Curlee) pulled Jo Anne Rhinehart, 6, of Chicago, through a port hole and attempted to swim through the icy channel waters.

Curlee said he lost the girl, and was himself on the verge of drowning when he noticed Thomas had drowned and had lost his life belt. He said he managed to reach the preserver.

Rescuers found Jo Anne clinging to the body of Thomas, unhurt, Curlee said.

"If the governor doesn't hurry up and decide whether he and Thompson are going to run on the track as either single or double entry, the blooms are all going to fall off the dogwood trees."

The publisher's statement came a short time after Allred said in Austin he would announce his decision in regard to running for a third term later in the week. The governor said he had made up his mind.

Allred Says He Will Make Known His Plans This Week

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he had made up his mind whether to run for a third term but would not announce the decision until later in the week.

The governor had returned to his office after a week of travel in West and North Texas and several days of "meditation" at the Mineral Wells health resort.

"Have you come to a decision as what you will do?" he was asked at his regular press conference.

"Yes," he replied, "I think so."

"Why not make the announcement today?"

"I want to talk to a few more people."

One reason for the delay in announcement, he said, was the form of his statement. He said he had not decided whether to make it long or short.

Racial Purity Goal Of Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 14 — National socialism aims at formation of a self-conscious national state based on racial purity.

The nazis contend the peak of a nation is dependent upon race.

Their concept is to adhere to a leadership principle, with the ablest men at the head of the government.

It rejects international solidarity of the proletariat in favor of national solidarity with the aim of a real national community of the people.

It fights liberalistic class distinction and class hatreds.

Naziism's "weltanschauung," world outlook, and Marxian world policies conflict. Naziism rejects the Marxists' goal of world-wide solidarity of the proletariat. It seeks national—not international—solidarity in which all classes form a unified community.

RAIN OF RUMOR

DENVER (AP) — Somebody started a rumor and the weather bureau switchboard was flooded with dozens of calls.

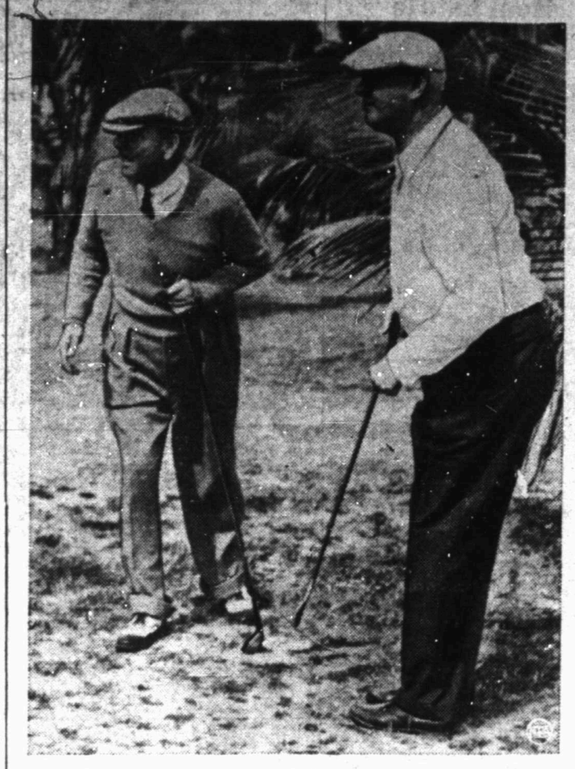

"When the army air crops school in Denver is opened next week will it bring rain?" the callers asked.

The rumor was that when the air corps began practicing with aerial bombs the explosions would cause clouds and bring rain.

Dr. Samuel Inman Will Be Speaker

DALLAS, Mar. 14. (AP)—In keeping with its practice of honoring native Texans who have become international authorities in economic and political spheres, the Institute of Public Affairs of S. M. U. has arranged for Dr. Samuel Guy Inman to be one of the principal speakers at its conference here April 25-30.

Born at Trinity, Texas, June 24, 1877, Dr. Inman is a former student of Texas Christian university, which conferred the honorary doctor's degree upon him in 1923. He is also former pastor of the Tabernacle church at Fort Worth.

Dr. Inman has become an authority on Latin American life. After residence of ten years in Mexico as director of the people's institute, he has spent about one half of the past 22 years in visiting Latin American countries and studying Pan American questions.

Because of his interpretations of Hispanic American culture, Dr. Inman was decorated by the Ecuadorian government.

"United States-Mexican Relations" is the conference topic this year. Previous conferences have dealt with the government of Texas, the cotton crisis, the southwest in international affairs, and international institutions and world peace.

BACHELORS DISBAND

LONDON (AP) — A bachelor club, after one rocky year of existence, has decided to dissolve.

Since the club was founded a year ago 10 members have married and 12 have become engaged.

"In these days of a falling birth rate bachelors are failing in their duty to the state," he declared. "Bachelors are cowards!"

Unmarked Grave Of Colonel Goodnight Is Likely To Get Monument In Future

GOODNIGHT, Tex., Mar. 14. (AP)—Col. Charles Goodnight's unmarked grave may have a monument soon.

The most colorful of high plains ranchers of pioneer days has rested since his death in a little cemetery in the town that bears his name.

When Vance Johnson of the Amarillo News wrote that the Goodnight grave was unmarked, contributions started. A newcomer to the plains, who requested that his name not be made public, was the first to contribute. He mailed a check to Johnson and asked that a campaign for a monument be started. Others have made donations and the fund is approaching $100.

Father Of Panhandle

Col. Goodnight, known as the father of the Panhandle, founded the famous JA ranch in the Palo Duro canyon when the plains country belonged chiefly to the Indians and the buffalo. He established the vast ranch for the Adairs of Ireland and the estate still operates it.

Col. Goodnight preserved the only herd of plains buffalo and several of the shaggy beasts still roam the JA range.

Several books have been written about the famous cowman and his pioneering activities on the plains but there had been no previous moves to place a monument at his grave.

The colonel's old dug-out, his first home in the Palo Duro, has been preserved.

TWO EGGS IN ONE

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Every second day, regularly as the clock, the three-year-old Leghorn hen of Louis Buck lays an egg with a double yolk.

That's just in the spring, however. When summer comes she'll start laying regular eggs. At least, that's the way it has been in the past.

The double eggs are six and a half inches around, in one direction, and eight inches in the other and they weigh a quarter of a pound.

The hen is the only one in a flock of 30 to produce such eggs.

There are more than 250 species of violets.
