Tough DWI laws need support

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Tougher driving while intoxicated laws and videotaped DWI arrests for evidence will not change anything unless the public wants to stop the problem, says Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner.

New 1984 state laws will require videotapes of DWI arrests for use as evidence in trials. Local police and the county attorney's office will be working together to videotape DWI booking procedures for evidence.

Although Big Spring police routinely tape all booking procedures, new arrangements are being made at the Fourth Street station, Turner said.

"We've revamped the thing," Turner said. "We'll have a separate tape for DWIs and hold them as evidence for the county attorney's office."

Other changes include moving the Intoxilyzer, an alcohol breath test machine, into the booking area for taping, Turner said. Refusals to take the breath test will also be recorded, he said.

"We'll tape the paperwork ... from the minute they get here to putting them upstairs," Turner said.

The police chief said his department had been videotaping DWI bookings for about two months at the request of County Attorney Bob Miller. Turner said the request followed a DWI trial where the jury found the defendant innocent because only one officer testifed about the defendant's condition.

In spite stronger penalties, DWI offenses and their subsequent problems will not improve without the support of the people, Turner said.

"It will be up to the Howard County people in the juries," Turner said. "If people want DWIs to stop, they have to give maximum penalties."

The people gripe about crime in Howard County, but they seem to forget when they get on a jury, Turner said.

"If penalties are enforced on our level, the judicial level and the community level, you'll see marked changes," Turner said.

Chief confirms reprimand

Police Chief Rick Turner said Thursday he had verbally reprimanded a police sergeant in June for not arresting Justice of the Peace Bobby West who officers believed was intoxicated at the scene of an unattended death on June 21.

Turner said a KBYG newsman had asked him Thursday to confirm or deny the reprimand and its circumstances.

West called the incident "ridiculous" to radio stations KBYG and KBST but refused comment to the Herald.

The peace justice yesterday told KBST he was suffering from an equilibrium disorder at the time of the incident.

Turner said the reprimand occurred after an officer asked him if police can arrest judges for being intoxicated. The officer said West had been intoxicated at an unattended death June 21, but the sergeant in charge, Troy Hogue, did not arrest him.

"When the violation occurred, the officer should have taken action,"

Investigators suspect arson in two Big Spring area fires

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

City and county investigators strongly suspect arson in two of the three fires that destroyed four Big Spring area businesses in the last month, but they say there is nothing to suggest the fires could be the work of one person.

The three fires — at Hudson Furniture on July 20, Stuckey's Pecan Shoppe on July 29 and Sherwin-Williams paint store last Monday — have occurred at roughly 9-day intervals, but Big Spring Fire Marshal Carl Dorton said there are no specific similarities in the incidents.

Arson is suspected in the Hudson and Stuckey's fires, but no arrests have been made in connection with either case. The Sherwin-Williams fire is still under investigation, Dorton said.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said Wednesday there was "certainly a strong presumption" of arson in the fire at Stuckey's on Interstate Highway 20. He said two men have been charged with burglarizing the store on the night of the fire.

One of the men has been given a polygraph test in Midland in connection with the blaze, but the results have not been released. The other man may be tested next week. The two men have been in custody in Big Spring and Midland since their arrest on Aug. 3, Standard said.

Jake Wofford, regional manager of Stuckey's in Lubbock, was in Big Spring Thursday completing business with the store's employees. He said there is a strong possibility the restaurant will be rebuilt in the near future.

"It was doing fantastic business — considerably better than it had been doing," he said. "But the decision to rebuild is not mine."

Stuckey's is owned by Pet Inc. of St. Louis.

"They are still trying to determine the loss. This is not something we were prepared for," Wofford said.

Dorton said fire department investigators are fairly certain of arson in the fire at Hudson Furniture at 315 Main. Arson Investigator Rodney Phillips declined to comment on how the fire started or if there were any suspects.

The building is owned by Horace Tubb of Big Spring and was rented by Jerry Hudson of Sand Springs. Neither could be reached Thursday for comment on the property or damage.

Dorton said the cause of the fire at Sherwin-Williams at 1608 Gregg has not been determined, but arson has not been ruled out.

"There was a high concentration of flammable liquids in that fire, so you can't be sure," he said. "We are still in the process of tracking down leads."

He said the fire, which was reported just before 1 a.m. Monday, began inside the building. Several witnesses said they thought they saw sparks coming from a nearby transformer just before the fire.

Rodney Whaley, manager of the paint store, said the business will probably reopen at 400 E. Third in the near future. He said an exact damage figure would not be available for two to three weeks.

Trustees OK $14.5 million 83-84 budget

By BOB CARPENTER

A $14.5 million budget — $781,000 more than last year's projected expenditures — was approved last night after a public hearing by the Big Spring school board.

Superintendent Lynn Hise said $500,000 of the increase was in the form of a one-year increment raise for teachers. The board gave each teacher a $450 a year raise in lieu of the recent inaction by the state Legislature to vote on teacher salary raises.

Superintendent for Business Don Crockett said $5,479,563 in revenues

Local man studies acting in New York

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Authur Arsiaga is a hometown boy on his way to making good.

Two years ago he was accepted into the prestigious Strasberg Theater Institute in New York City. Recently, he survived first-round auditions for the TV series Fame. However, his successes were not easily achieved.

For most of his early years, Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Trinidad Arsiaga, dreamed of being a performer. He danced in various Catholic Youth Organization shows, honed his imitations of cartoon characters like Mickey Mouse and even appeared on several Spanish television programs broadcast from KWAB.

Upon graduation from high school in 1970, Arthur was set to refine his natural talents with professional training, but his hopes were cut short by the Vietnam War: he was drafted in 1971.

Arthur exited the service in 1973 with several medals, shrapnel wounds that destroyed 40 percent of vision in his left eye, and the sadness of losing one of his best buddies to combat. He also, as many Vietnam-era veterans did, felt he had lost touch with the normal world.

ARTHUR ARSIAGA
... studying in New York

"I got out and thought 'what's next?' I was scared, but I felt like I could do anything if I got the chance," Arthur said.

One of his last duties as a soldier was to take his dead friend's belongings home to New York City. It was there that the romance and excitement of the Big Apple rekindled his longing to perform.

Man shot in stomach after domestic quarrel

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

A Howard County man was shot in the stomach last night during a domestic quarrel between his daughter and her estranged husband, according to the sheriff's office.

Lino Deleon, 45, is in Malone-Hogan Hospital in stable condition after he was shot once in the stomach with a .357 pistol at 7:30 p.m. near his trailer home on Oasis Road.

Two men are in county jail in connection with the shooting after their arrest in Lamesa within an hour of the incident, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

Jose Samuel "Sammy" Sanchez, 20, and Raynaldo Sanchez, 25, both of Lamesa, are charged with aggravated assault, Standard said. Both were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin who set their bonds at $25,000 each.

According to investigating Deputy Bennie Green's report, Deleon was shot as the Sanchez brothers tried to take the two-year-old son of Deleon's daughter Linda Sanchez. She and the younger Sanchez are in the process of a divorce, Mrs. Sanchez told Green.

Words were exchanged between Deleon and the brothers as he attempted to aid his daughter, the report says. Deleon was shot and witnesses at the scene identified the Sanchez brothers. The young boy was taken by the brothers, according to statements made to deputies.

Warrants were issued by Heflin and the pair were taken into custody by the Lamesa police department within the hour, reports show.

Action/reaction: County trips

Q. Are some county officials paid a travel allowance when they go out of town on business in addition to their monthly car allowances?

A. Yes and no. Howard County Treasurer Bonnie Franklin says four county officials have no car allowance — herself, the county clerk, district clerk and tax assessor-collector — but do receive 23 cents a mile when traveling to conventions and such. The peace justices, commissioners, county attorney and county judge — officials expected to travel in the county — get monthly car allowances plus the 23 cents a mile travel, Mrs. Franklin said.

Texas mosquito festival begins

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 20,000 people are likely to celebrate this weekend the presence of a pesky critter most people love to hate.

Consider:

—It breeds in swamps or water-filled trash, or in muddy pools on vacant lots.

—It feeds on nectar or sap from plants until the mating urge arrives.

—The female of the species, seeking blood to set eggs and fuel another generation, rises in clouds of torment to bring a season of misery to humans, animals and even birds.

—Its bite leads to incessant itching and could lead to disease or even death.

But even though it's not held in high esteem, — or any esteem for that matter — one coastal city has decided to honor the critter.

"We had no real historical significance to capitalize on, but we've got the meanest crop of mosquitoes in the world," says Lanis Neugent, co-chairman of the Great Texas Mosquito Festival slated for this weekend in Clute, a community of 12,000 about 50 miles south of Houston.

While revelers there may praise the antics of the pest, other areas of Texas have mobilized "swat" teams to control them.

According to experts around the state and to the relief of most people, this is not a banner year for Texas mosquitoes unless you live in the sodden Gulf coast area from Port Lavaca to Beaumont.

But although the mosquito problem may be relatively light this year, experts say they'll always be around.

In Galveston County, where the Mosquito Control District employs several people each summer to count how many of the creatures land on them, district director Terry Hensley acknowledges that all authorities can do is control them.

"There will never be a situation where you're going to eradicate mosquitoes," he says "There's just too many areas where they can lay their eggs."

"Mosquitoes are smarter than you think," says Harris County Mosquito Control District Director Robert Bartnett. "They're extremely adaptable. Some of their eggs can last several years before hatching."

In the Houston area, 56 people work year-round, fogging areas with pesticide and mapping mosquito populations using computers — a $2 million annual project.

Away from the coast, mosquitoes usually pose big problems only in irrigated fields and places where there are ponds and lakes, Davis said.

In Dallas, the county health department uses blood samples from 100 chickens placed in strategic locations throughout the county to determine whether the mosquitoes there are carrying diseases.

Even in dry San Angelo and similar areas, officials use bug-loving minnows to control the mosquito population.

Most of the insects are merely pests. Three varieties, however, are the principle disease carriers: two types of culex mosquitoes, which can carry St. Louis Encephalitis and Western Encephalitis; and aedis aegypti, which experts say is a potential carrier of dengue fever. No cases of dengue fever have been reported in Texas for many years, however.

So far this year, just one case of St. Louis Encephalitis has been reported. In 1981, the health department reported 69 cases and one death. Last year, 18 Texans had the sickness, with one unconfirmed death, officials say.

Davis says the virus carried by some culex mosquitoes still exists in Texas. But it is carried in birds and passed on by mosquitoes, and is transmitted to humans only when the culex mosquitoes can't find birds to bite.

Budget

will be generated from an 85 cent tax rate based on the current estimated tax roll. The rate is 2½ cents less than last year, according to Crockett.

Crockett said the estimated tax roll increased about $83 million over last year because of the recent reappraisal. He said this allowed the district to decrease the tax rate for individual taxpayers.

"What it amounts to is that we'll have a tax revenue increase and a tax rate decrease," Crockett said.

The local tax revenue increase will be about $477,000, according to budget figures.

Crocket said the proposed local tax revenues will stand if approved by the county's Board of Review. The board also will hold a public hearing concerning the tax revenues on Aug. 29.

The district also expects to receive $6.6 million in state funds and $1.4 million in federal monies.

According to budget figures the district will spend $2,924 per student for education this year as compared to last years average of $2,785.

In other business the board:

- Appointed Jerry Forsythe, Bill Brooks and Dwayne Fraser to a committee to research the possibility of hiring a law firm to collect delinquent taxes within the district.
- Granted a transfer to Dale Worthan so that his stepdaughter may attend school in the BSISD. Worthan currently is a resident of the Forsan ISD.
- Approved the hiring of 12 new teachers for the 1983-84 school year and accepted the resignation of five educators.

Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley said the district only had 25 resignations by teachers this year compared to 54 a year ago at this time.

West

Turner said.

Turner said he reprimanded the officer because anyone who violates the law, even a justice of the peace, should be arrested.

Asked if the department had previous problems concerning West, Turner said "No comment."

The police chief said he had heard nothing else from officers about West since June. Turner said he wished the information had not gotten out, but said "we're not going to cover up something."

Asked if he had filed a complaint with the Texas Judicial Commission on West, Turner also had no comment.

A Herald story July 3 examined complaints against West that he was not doing his job effectively. West fired his secretary, Linda Arsiaga, later in July. She said she had been dismissed as a scapegoat to remove attention from him brought by the story.

Actor

"It was very inspirational for me coming from Big Spring," Arthur said. "I thought I could find whatever I wanted to do."

Arthur was awarded a 50 percent disability for his eye wound, and after locating a job with a VA hospital in New York, he decided to pursue an acting career.

His disability pension plus a day job as a physical therapist kept the rent paid while he searched for a crack in the tough show business field.

He answered calls for acting and dancing, but stereotyping and competion kept him out of the spotlight.

"Almost all parts are categorized. If you don't fit that part exactly they won't have any trouble finding someone who does, there's a lot of competition," he said.

Arthur battled the competition for seven years before getting a break.

It came in 1981 when he auditioned for the Strasberg Institute founded by actor Lee Strasberg and was admitted. Alumni from the school includes such actors Charlton Heston, Marlon Brando and Al Pacino.

"It was very thrilling for me to be included in the school, espcially when there is so much competition to get into the school. Actors from all over the world come to study at the institute," he said.

In his two years of training, Arthur has studied dance and acting molding himself into what he calls "a dramatic street actor."

"You can give me that kind of part and I can do anything with it," Arthur said. "The school has also helped me know what shows to audition for and it doesn't hurt to be from the No. 1 acting school when you go for an audition."

At the present time, Arthur performs with the Strasberg Institute's dance troupe that tours the country with shows that feature both modern and ballet dancing.

Recently, Arthur made it through the first round auditions for a dancer on the televison show "Fame." He will return Monday for another audition.

"The part that's to be cast is of a small town boy — which I am. I think I have a good chance because the TV people know I can relate to the part."

Arthur said he returned to Big Spring to visit his grandmother and pick up old yearbooks and clippings of himself that the Fame producers requested.

"They want to see what I looked like then and to see what my history is like. I'm very excited that my work has paid off," he said.

"I just want everyone to know that you can find whatever you want if you keep working and keep trying."

Crooner replaces TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clean-cut crooner Pat Boone says he was "sickened" when he learned the new $3,200, large-screen television at the Hollywood Boys Club had been stolen, so he arranged to get the club a new set plus a video recorder — and an alarm system to protect them.

Boone, 49, arranged with Jim Santangelo, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 848, the Federated Group, where the set had been bought, and Amway, to help replace the set and get the other items.

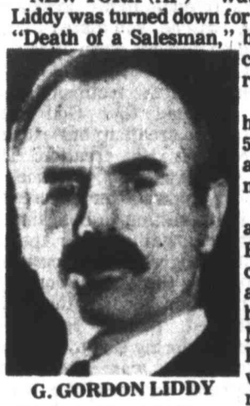
"This is like another Christmas," said Patrizia Gomez, the club's assistant director.

Many of the club's 2,200 members are poor and can't afford to go to the movies, so the television is important, Ms. Gomez explained. About 60 club members spent 2 ½ months selling more than $6,000 worth of candy to buy the set, stolen from the club Saturday.

After the original television was stolen, club member Ruben Antonyan, 14, said he felt as if he had worked for nothing. But he said Wednesday, "I was feeling bad — now I feel good."

Liddy rejected for role

NEW YORK (AP) — Watergate burglar G. Gordy Liddy was turned down for a part in Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman," but his manager says he couldn't have played the role anyway.



G. GORDON LIDDY

The 52-year-old Liddy has a busy schedule with 55 speaking dates this autumn, explained manager Brian Winthrop.

The mustachioed Liddy auditioned for the part of Ben, brother of the lead character, Willy Loman, a salesman at the end of his rope, in the revival of Miller's 1949 Pulitzer Prize-winner, and was invited for a second reading. But before the reading, the decision not to add him to the cast was made, said Doris Blum, assistant to producer Robert Whitehead.

The play, starring Dustin Hoffman, will begin rehearsals next month and then go on tour before coming to Broadway.

The show goes on

BOSTON (AP) — Ballet star Rudolph Nureyev made certain the show went on despite an injury, but now he'll be off the stage for several weeks.

RUDOLPH NUREYEV

Nureyev, 45, tore his left calf muscle during a Boston Ballet preview performance of "Don Quixote" Wednesday but still danced through the show.

Doctors said Thursday he will not be able to perform again until the injury heals, and that will take at least three weeks, said public relations director Audrey Jonckheer.

The show was to have run through Aug. 21 at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts and cancellation may mean a loss of over half a million dollars in revenue, Ms. Jonckheer said.

While company president Joel Garrick called the cancellation "a severe blow," Maurice Hamilburg, the ballet's treasurer, said the company will seek restitution under its insurance policy with Lloyds of London.

Geneticist joins staff

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — The "Father of the Green Revolution" — also known as Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Norman E. Borlaug — will join the faculty at Texas A&M University in January.

DR. NORMAN BORLAUG

Borlaug, a plant geneticist credited with developing new varieties of wheat that dramatically increased crop yields throughout the world, has been appointed Distinguished Professor of International Agriculture, the university announced Thurdday.

A native of Iowa, he received his bachelor's degree in forestry and master's and doctoral degrees in plant pathology all from the University of Minnesota. He also holds 20 honorary degrees from universities throughout the world.

Besides winning the Nobel prize in 1970, Borlaug, who lives in Mexico City, has received more than 50 international prizes for his research.

REPAIR SITE — Crews from Con Edison, New York City fire department and other city agencies work Thursday afternoon at 38th Street and Seventh Avenue in Manhattan's garment district to repair damage from a water main break and fire which broke out Wednesday. Consolidated Edison officials are estimating that power will not be restored to this area until Monday. Authorities said the fire started when a water main broke, shorting nearby electrical wires and igniting transformers.

Reinforcements pour into Chad

N'DJAMENA, Chad (AP) — Libya's army poured supplies and reinforcements into the captured northern oasis of Faya-Largeau today and its warplanes bombed Chad government forces in Oum Chalouba on the road south, Western diplomatic sources said.

Meanwhile, the radio station of the Chad rebels, who are backed by the Libya, claimed Chad Foreign Minister Idriss Miskine was trapped when Faya-Largeau was captured and was "either killed or injured" in the six-hour final battle Wednesday.

Miskine has not been seen in N'Djamena for a week and earlier was reported to have gone to Faya-Largeau to boost the morale of the government defenders. But Chad government sources and Western diplomats said there was no reason to believe he was among the casualties or fell into rebel hands.

The Western diplomats said Libyan convoys were pouring down from the Libyan border in a "constant stream" while teams of Libyan technicians were hastily repairing the bomb-damaged airport at Faya-Largeau, 500 miles north of N'Djamena.

They said that Libyan warplanes were bombing government positions in Oum Chalouba, about 200 miles to the south and east of Faya-Largeau. Oum Chalouba straddles one of the two main highways leading to N'Djamena, the capital. It also sits about 150 miles north of the key government outpost of Abeche.

The diplomats, who insisted on anonymity, have access to satellite and military intelligence reports. Their information could not be independently confirmed as no Western reporters have access to the fighting zone.

The sources said Libyan and rebel troops loyal to former President Goukouni Oueddei were combing the 100-square-mile palm grove around Faya-Largeau for remnants of the government forces driven out Wednesday following a Libyan air, tank and artillery assault.

Some 2,500 men, virtually half the armed forces of President Hissene Habre, were in Faya-Largeau when the outpost changed hands for the third time in six weeks. Most of the Habre forces escaped into the countryside, the government said.

A U.S. official in Washington said the rebels had cut off retreat routes to N'Djamena, "leaving the loyalist troops in a hammer and anvil situation. Basically, they are going to have to fight their way out."

Information Minister Soumaila Mahamat confirmed Thursday the loss of the strategic northern city and claimed government forces set up defensive positions 4.5 miles west and 11 miles east of the city, which controls all routes from Libya to N'Djamena.

Soumaila said evacuation was ordered "to spare the 7,000 civilian inhabitants further casualties and suffering." He also said, "In view of the extreme gravity of the situation, it cannot be ruled out that our forces may carry out a tactical withdrawal" from the surrounding area.

Western military sources said U.S.-supplied Redeye surface-to-air missiles, which were sent to help ward off the Libyan attack, were removed from Faya-Largeau before it fell. The Americans also had AWACS reconnaissance planes scouting the area.

The sources also said after the rout at Faya-Largeau, government troops recaptured Oum Chalouba, and Soumaila claimed 500 rebel troops were taken prisoner there.

But a ranking State Department official in Washington said Thursday that Goukouni's forces seized both Oum Chalouba and Koro Toro, 150 miles south of Faya-Largeau, cutting off retreat routes to N'Djamena.

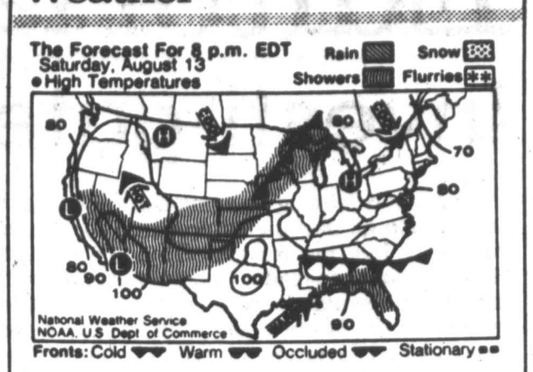
"Habre's forces are apparently pulling back. Apparently they are caught in the middle. Obviously there's very little between Goukouni's army and N'Djamena, except what is left of Habre's forces," said the Washington official, who requested anonymity.

"I understand there is little between Faya and N'Djamena except flat desert, so take it from there. I think it's conceivable that they could reach N'Djamena if they decided to do so."

President Reagan told a Washington news conference Thursday the United States had no plans to send combat troops to Chad, but has agreed to make available up to $25 million in military aid to Chad.

The 500 French marine paratroopers flown to N'Djamena to handle training and electronics for Habre's army were said by French officials to be limited to a strictly non-combatant role. Chad is a former French colony.

Weather



Rain batters U.S.

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains, tornadoes and winds up to 92 mph whipped through the nation's heartland and into the Northeast, flipping tethered airplanes, ripping off roofs, cutting power and injuring at least 38 people, with more storms gathering today.

Hardest hit was eastern Pennsylvania, where thousands of homes remained without electricity after a tornado and an angry line of thunderstorms marched across the Lehigh Valley Thursday.

In New York City, a fierce rush-hour storm dumped 2 inches of rain in four hours Thursday afternoon, stranding thousands of commuters in the drenched subway system and temporarily interrupting an opera performance when water came through the theater ceiling.

Scattered storms and showers were forecast today in parts of the Northeast and Midwest, with thunderstorms headed for the Southeast, the National Weather Service said.

In West Chester, Pa., a state of emergency remained in effect today after high winds peeled roofs off buildings, littered the streets with debris and damaged a dozen homes. Nineteen people were injured, one seriously, when winds shattered the windows of a supermarket.

Four people were hurt when the windows blew out of a Bethlehem grocery and a teen-ager was in critical condition today after a power line fell on the tree in which he was sitting. Another man was injured when winds toppled his trailer home, trapping him inside.

In Allentown, Pa., where a tornado hit Thursday afternoon, winds up to 92 mph were reported before recording instruments were blown away, a National Weather Service spokesman said. More than an inch of rain fell in 10 minutes, and marble-sized hail was reported.

West Texas — Partly cloudy and very warm to hot through Saturday. Widely scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms mainly south through tonight and most sections Saturday. Highs 90s most sections to near 104 Big Bend. Lows 60s mountains to 70s elsewhere.

Investi-gate

Congress is leaving no stone unturned in its investigation of how campaign documents prepared for Jimmy Carter found their way into the Reagan campaign of 1980. Well, almost. House Republican leader Robert Michel from Illinois requested that the subcommittee looking into Debategate take a peek at whether some White House staffers may have aided Carter's campaign on government time — and was turned down.

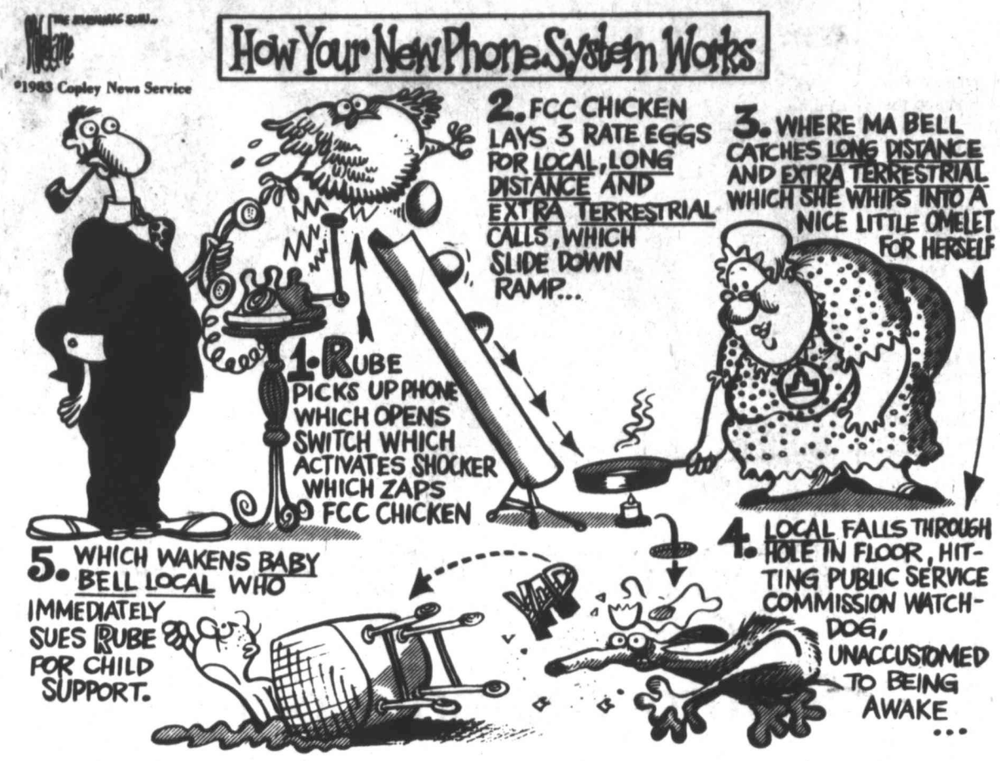
Such activity — say, using a non-political appointee to type a memo relating chiefly to the campaign — would certainly be unethical, and might be illegal under the Hatch Act. Yet Rep. Donald Albosta, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee, argues such allegations are "beyond the scope" of his group, which is studying possible revision of the Ethics in Government Act.

That's odd. After all, the question of how Carter documents came into Reagan campaign hands would seem to depend crucially on where the documents were prepared.

Furthermore, how is it that possible actions by a private organization, the Reagan campaign committee, fall under the purview of the "Ethics in Government Act," but the actions of employees of the government do not?

Obviously, the line between what constitutes campaign activity and legitimate White House work is a difficult one to draw, but then, so will be the line between whether the debate materials obtained by the Reagan campaign were actually stolen or simply leaked. Where is the spirit of inquisitiveness that seems to govern Albosta's investigation of possible Reagan misdeeds?

Sounds to us like something fishy is going on. Perhaps a backdoor connection between Albosta and Jimmy Carter, both of whom are known to have received large amounts of money from an organization called "The Democratic Party" for their respective campaigns. There is only one way to clear away all the doubts. The president should appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the emerging "investi-gate" scandal before the good name of the House ethics subcommittee is forever stained.



Around the Rim

Success story

I visited with Betty Bob Buckley in Arlington recently. People who have lived in Big Spring for several years may remember her as the former Betty Bob Dieltz. Others may be familiar with her daughter, Betty Lynn, who was Abby in "Eight is Enough" on ABC and is now starring on Broadway as Grizabella in "Cats."

The first thing one notices about Betty Bob is she is very down-to-earth. In the last few months, her daughter has starred on Broadway, made a movie (called "Tender Mercies," with Robert Duvall) won a Tony award, and appeared at the Kennedy Center in a performance in front of Ronald Reagan. Betty Bob herself was in New York to view the Tony awards, was interviewed for an article in a Dallas area magazine and was for many years public relations manager at the Casa Manana Theater in Fort Worth. She used to be a member of the Herald staff before Betty Lynn was born, and she is still doing some freelance writing and is working part-time for a travel agency.

One of Betty Bob's daughters-in-law is a member of the Dallas Theater Center company and one of her sons has filled a variety of jobs on film sets and is now living in New York, working on a deal with another film company. Her husband, Ernest, will begin work shortly as the Dean of Engineering at a university in South Dakota.

Now, faced with this much success and glamor, some people might tend to become a little snobby, but not Betty Bob. When my sister and I called her to ask if we could stop by for a visit, she was very gracious and invited us right over.

Because I enjoy working with theater, I am truly in awe of people who have been anywhere near Broadway, much less right up there on the stage. I didn't want to appear like one of those worms who crawl out of the woodwork at the first sign of someone else's success. But I am a fan of Betty (Lynn) Buckley's work. I enjoyed watching her on "Eight is Enough" and the clips I've seen of "Cats" show her to be a show-stealer.

Let's just say I was star-struck. But Betty Bob put us right at ease. She offered us some tea, introduced us to her two dogs, showed us around her house and talked about going with her husband to South Dakota, and how she hated to leave her home state of Texas.

Then she showed us tapes of Betty Lynn she had video-taped on her home recorder. It was like watching someone's home movies, only these little movies were of Betty Lynn singing "Memories" from "Cats," of Betty Lynn winning the Tony award, and of Betty Lynn at the Kennedy Center. These aren't your average home movies.

Afterwards, Betty Bob took us out for a hamburger, showed us around the University of Texas at Arlington, then dropped us off again at her home. She had to hurry and pack, as she was leaving in a day for New York to see several performances on Broadway, including "Cats" again.

Betty Bob is proud of Big Spring and West Texas and she is always asking questions about how certain people here are doing, how the newspaper is, and how the city is getting along. She also said she may visit Big Spring shortly after she returns from New York. That would give more people the chance to see that Betty Bob is a home town girl who's done really well with her life.

Mother Nature's last will

The other night I was home reading a book when I received a telephone call that Mother Nature was dying. I dressed hurriedly and rushed over to the hospital. A lot of people had gotten there before me, and they were all sitting in another room having a heated argument as to how to save her. Each doctor seem to have a different remedy:

One doctor said, "We have to get her some fresh air. She can't breathe. We'll have to turn off the power plant because of the smoke."

"Are you out of your mind?" another doctor said. "We turn off the power, and she'll freeze us to death."

"Perhaps we could keep all cars away from the hospital," a third doctor suggested. "That would relieve her breathing."

"Out of the question," a fourth doctor barked. "How would we get back and forth to work if we prohibited cars near the hospital."

"Gentlemen," another doctor said, "I don't believe it's the air that is hurting her as much as the water. We have to find some water that's drinkable. Strong measures must be taken immediately against polluting hospital water."

The director said, "Where would we get the money to support the hospital if we closed down the factories because they're polluting the streams?"

"We'd also have to give up detergents," a doctor added, "and we can't have a clean hospital if you give up detergents."

"Isn't anybody going to do anything?" I shouted.

They saw me for the first time, and one of the doctors said angrily, "We're sorry, this is a medical conference for professionals only. Would you kindly leave?"

I walked out and down the hall. Suddenly I saw a closed room, which had the name MOTHER NATURE hand-printed on the door. Underneath it, in large red letters, was another sign: NO VISITORS.

No one was in the hall, so I opened the door. There was Mother Nature propped up on pillows. She looked old and tired and haggard. I couldn't believe anyone could have changed so much in 10 short years. But she seemed glad to see someone and smiled weakly.

"Hi, Ma," I said. "You're looking swell."

"You wouldn't kid a very sick lady, would you?" she said, gasping.

"No I'm not kidding. You look wonderful. I've just been talking to the doctors, and they say they'll have you on your feet in no time."

"Those quacks don't know anything," she said. "All they do is come in every few hours and take my temperature and give me something to relieve the pain. I think I've had it this time."

"Don't talk that way, Ma. You're going to pull through. You've survived worse things than this before."

"It's never been this bad," she said and then started having a coughing fit. "This time the Grim Reaper's coming to get me."

"But if you go, we'll all have to go, Ma," I cried. "You have to hold on. Please, Ma."

"I kept complaining of pain," she whispered, "but no one would pay attention to me. I said, 'If you keep doing what you're doing I'm going to die.' But everyone said, 'Ma, you'll never die.' Why didn't they listen to me?"

"We're listening now, Ma. We're listening. We have the best doctors in the world. They're out there now, and they have a plan."

"I guess the real things that hurts," she said, "is that my will won't be worth anything now. I left every person in the world clear water, pure air, green fields, brilliant sunsets and blue skies. It wasn't much, but it was everything I had."

"Just then the door opened and a nurse came in. She went over to the bed waving a thermometer.

"Come on, Mother. It's time to take your temperature."

Kissinger's Chinese connection

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger played a key role in the behind-the-scenes machinations that led to a recent change in U.S. policy toward China. Hereafter, the Chinese communists will be able to purchase high-technology equipment of potential military value.

The former secretary of state, meanwhile, has turned up as a consultant to a Hong Kong company that will buy high-tech items for the People's Republic of China. In fact, he made a special trip to Peking last April to help launch the company. Kissinger assured me, however, that he has "absolutely no business connection, no financial relationship" with the new firm.

The company, Everbright Industrial Corp., is a front for the Peking regime. It is run by Wang Guangyin, a polite, portly businessman, who was sent to Hong Kong by China's highest authorities to seek high-tech and other imports that are urgently needed on the mainland.

In a trans-Pacific telephone interview, an Everbright executive told my associates Jock Hatfield and Donald Goldberg, that Kissinger had been retained as an "employee" of the company and would go on the payroll at the end of this month. But Kissinger swore to me that "this is absolutely untrue."

A business associate acknowledged that Kissinger had flown to Peking to advise Wang on setting up Everbright and will continue to counsel the company. But the associate said that Kissinger would offer his advice strictly as "a friend of China" and would not accept any remuneration.

Here is the backstage story:

Kissinger came back from Peking last October convinced that the United States should sell high-tech equipment to the mainland. He began lobbying Secretary of State George Shultz and national security adviser William Clark for a change in U.S. policy.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger opposed any relaxation of export rules that would allow the Chinese to pick our technological brains. He warned that the acquired U.S. technology could be used by the Chinese to modernize their military forces.

But Kissinger argued: "China could represent a military threat to American interests for the rest of this century, by which time current technology will be superseded."

On April 2, Kissinger paid a sudden, 24-hour visit to Peking at the request of Chinese Foreign Minister Wu Xueqian. The purpose was to sit down with Wang and advise him on how to establish the Everbright Industrial Corp. Thereafter the company set up offices in Hong Kong, and Wang told reporters it was owned by "private" Chinese citizens operating outside the communist bureaucratic structure.

Yet intelligence sources say that Wang carries a diplomatic passport, that he holds cabinet rank and that he reports directly to Premier Zhao Ziyand.

Kissinger, meanwhile, has continued to consult with both Shultz and Clark about China policy. They joined in adopting the policy change that Kissinger wanted.

Before his last visit to Peking, Kissinger was told by Clark that Weinberger would pay an official visit to Peking in September to work out details of the technology transfer, that this would be followed by a visit to Washington in October by Foreign Minister Wu, that Premier Zhao would also come to Washington at an undetermined date and that President Reagan hoped to reciprocate by visiting China next year.

Billy Graham

Much prayer; no progress

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: For months I have been praying that God would change me and make me a better person. Nothing seems to happen however. What do you think is wrong? — S.V.

DEAR S.V.: I cannot help but wonder if you feel somehow that God should reach into your life and miraculously change you all at once, almost like a bolt of lightning striking you. But that is not the way God usually works.

Instead, you need to realize that God also expects us to do our part. I do not know what specific problems you face in your life that you want God to change. But let's say for the sake of example that you have a particular problem with your tongue. Perhaps you say things that hurt others and cause them to resent you, or you have problems because you gossip easily about others. How do you think God will deal with that problem?

First, God will want you to see the seriousness of this problem. He wants you to know that a sharp or undisciplined tongue is a sin which not only hurts your relationship with other people but is wrong in his eyes.

Then God wants you to commit this problem to him, repenting of it and admitting that you need his strength to combat it. "Repentance" means that you deliberately turn from it and with God's strength fight it in your life. It means you will avoid situations where you know you will be tempted to fail — and this requires discipline on your part. It also means that you will seek to use your tongue to honor him as well as to refrain from evil. In addition, God has given you the Bible, and your daily study and application of its teaching to your life is crucial.

But the ultimate key — and perhaps the one you are missing — is that God wants you to turn over your whole life — not just the problems you face, but every aspect of your life — to Jesus Christ as your Lord.

Reader responds to Keith Briscoe

Dear Editor,

In response to Keith Briscoe's July 28 article "Give Me Liberty" I must relate the following.

It is interesting to note that the words on the Liberty Bell "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof" are from Leviticus 25:10 of the Bible.

Freedom is a dangerous word! Mr. Briscoe, I cannot enjoy a baseball game without listening to vulgar language, having to breathe second-hand smoke from the person in front of me but though I have freedom, others do also. Every day in the midst of public gatherings, my ears have to tolerate vulgarity, etc. but I must learn to accept what I do not like or agree with; learn to close my heart to some actions of others' freedom in my presence.

Mr. Briscoe, you stated that our founding fathers were Deists and not Christians. This could not be further from the truth. A Deist is one believing that God exists, created the creation, but exerts no control over His creation. Thus, that God is creator, but does not have any control over His creation.

It is interesting to note that our forefathers, gathered for the Continental Congress for the purpose of formulating the constitution of this great nation, when they were deadlocked, paused together in prayer imploring God to help in the matter. This was after earlier forefathers endured the voyage from England, searching for freedom of religion. Our constitution provides FREEDOM OF RELIGION and in so doing cannot provide FREEDOM FROM RELIGION.

AMERICA was founded as a CHRISTIAN NATION. Our coinage and currency relates "In God We Trust." This is the rock from which we were hewn. Abraham Lincoln's well-worn Bible in the Lincoln Museum indicates that he was a Christian. Prior to departing for his inauguration, he related these words to his fellow-citizens in Illinois:

I go to assume a task more difficult that that which was devolved upon any other man since the days of Washington. He never would have succeeded but for the aid of Divine Providence, upon which he at all times relied. I feel that I cannot succeed without the same Divine blessing which sustained him, and on the same Almighty Being, I place my reliance for support.

Woodrow Wilson related:

America was born a Christian nation for the purpose of exemplifying unto the nations of the world the principles of righteousness found in the revelation of God.

Mr. Briscoe, the very roots of our great nation come from God's word. The Psalmist relates that "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."

Yes, we are living in a nation of freedom. But freedom of religion does not mean freedom from religion. If this were so, my freedom would be limited in that I could not worship when I desire, how I desire, where I desire!

As a new resident of Big Spring, and one that trusts in God's Word, I can only answer through His Word: "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." Mr. Briscoe, God has granted you the freedom to disbelieve in Him and make yourself your god. BUT PLEASE MR. BRISCOE, do not infringe upon my freedom to worship, serve, and call upon our God just as you have the freedom to not honor Him. Act like an adult in an adult world.

EMPTY DEPOT — W.E. Whitworth, who was the one-man station agent for 17 years in Winnie, Texas, stands in front of the Santa Fe depot that is at least 85 years old. The depot was closed in June when Santa Fe rerouted all the business to its Beaumont terminal.

Old depot now empty

WINNIE, Texas (AP) — The old Santa Fe depot stands empty now. The railroad tracks on both sides are still. A few rusty pop and beer cans litter the front entrance to the depot.

Loneliness marks the spot that used to be the hub of activity in Winnie. The Santa Fe Railroad closed the depot in June and rerouted all the business to its Beaumont terminal.

"They pretty well stripped it," says W.E. Whitworth. He was the one-man station agent here for 17 years. He unlocks the side door to show the barren shell to visitors.

"This depot is at least 85 years old," Whitworth says. His eyes wander around the old room with its wooden floor and high ceiling. A few old desks, chairs, and signs on the walls remain.

Whitworth sat in an old desk in front of the bay windows with their ripped shades. From this spot he had a good view of traffic up and down the tracks.

"At one time, they had quite an office force," he says. "The depot used to have considerable cattle shipments. There was a daily passenger train until the early '40s. Course, way back most everything that came to this area was handled by train," he said.

A full wastebasket still sits quietly by the desk. The June 1983 calendar also was left behind; in the June 19 space, the words "closing date, W.E. Whitworth" are penned in.

Whitworth talks freely about his old job. It was work he enjoyed. There was time for talk with the train engineers and freight operators then. Some of Winnie's oldtimers would stop in and talk about the bygone glory days of train travel.

Whitworth points out the window to the spot where a big rooming house stood years ago. He tells about the cattle freight that ranchers shipped out nationwide. "The cattle would sleep in the street until the trains came to get them," Whitworth says.

As he talks, he wipes grainy dust off the countertop where paperwork used to flow, and then steps out the screen door to butt a cigarette.

"Up until four or five years ago, we had 200 rail cars a week here," Whitworth says. They carried fertilizer and lumber. "We used to handle a tremendous volume of crushed limestone from Central Texas," he adds.

Trains still come through now and then, but they no longer stop here. Like Whitworth, they've been relocated to Beaumont.

Whitworth has spent the last few weeks learning how to operate a computer at the Santa Fe terminal in Beaumont. He makes the 30-minute drive daily and starts work in the late afternoon.

"It's really another world — an entire change from what I'm accustomed to," he says. For 22 of his 27 years with Santa Fe, Whitworth has worked in a one-man station. Now he's surrounded by computer terminals, radios and telephones.

"Well, it just doesn't seem to be like the old railroading," he says. "The personal contact is gone and we handle everything by phone. It's a push button, remote control business now."

When Whitworth first came to Winnie in 1966, he didn't anticipate staying too long. He had used his seniority to get the position and figured he and his wife would stay about a year.

"Over the years, I could have bid on several jobs," he says, "but I like this area. Out here you're away from the wild crowds and everything."

"This old building has pretty well withstood things over the years," Whitworth says.

Robber who threatened AIDS stopped

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have arrested a man who allegedly robbed 10 banks of $15,000 by panicking tellers with a note that said he was suffering from AIDS and had a gun.

Garnett Wilson, 36, of Manhattan — who does not have AIDS, police said Thursday — was arrested Wednesday at his apartment after police received a tip, said Detective Joseph Pollino.

Wilson had bandages on gunshot wounds of the right leg and right arm that were suffered while fighting off a gang of youths trying to steal his bicycle Saturday night, Pollino said.

AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is an incurable crippling of the body's disease-fighting system. About 2,000 cases have been reported since its discovery in the last few years.

KEN HUNT

Hunt attends 4-H Congress

Ken Hunt, Howard County 4-Her, attended the 1983 Texas 4-H Congress in Austin, July 19-21.

The Congress is an opportunity for older 4-Hers to learn about the legislative process and how to become involved in local government activities. The delegates were actively involved in writing, debating, amending and voting on 4-H legislative bills.

Hunt served as a member of the House and was on the Highways and Transportation Committee. He submitted a bill "to make any person caught driving with evidence of an illegal drug or controlled substance in his/her blood stream guilty of driving under the influence of drugs." His bill was one of the top priority bills.

The meetings were held in the Senate and House chambers of the state capitol, while other Congress sessions were held at Sheraton Crest Inn. The delegates also had an opportunity to tour LBJ Library, Texas Memorial Museum, Harry Ransom Center and Barton Springs.

Dear Abby

Woman needs answers to sex questions

DEAR ABBY: I have some questions. I'm too embarrassed to ask anybody else. I'm a 21-year-old woman and, unfortunately, my mother never told me anything about growing up or being sexually active.

How far can a woman go with a man without getting pregnant? Does the degree of pentration determine whether she is in any danger of getting pregnant? Can a woman get pregnant if she doesn't have an orgasm during sex?

Sorry I am so dumb, but I really need to know.

COULD BE PREGNANT

DEAR COULD BE: See a doctor at once for a pregnancy test.

A woman can get pregnant without experiencing orgasm, and your other questions are answered in my booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know." It can be obtained by sending $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Parents have written to tell me that their 12- and 13-year-old boys and girls found it very educational and they (the parents) regretted that such a booklet was not available when they were growing up.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 67, in farily good health and weight 272. I cannot keep weight off once I do find a diet that works for me. I have been overweight for 35 years, but nothing like this.

My doctor told me he wants me to have my stomach stapled! Do they actually use staples? Or is that a stupid question?

Please send me all the information you have about this operation or tell me where I can get it.

LAST RESORT

DEAR LAST: In my opinion the first and the only place to get the answer about the procedure is from the doctor who recommended the stomach stapling. Please consider a second opinion. There are no stupid questions — only people who remained uninformed because they're afraid of appearing stupid by asking questions.

Dr. Donohue

Peripheral neuropathy

Dear Dr. Donohue: My doctor says I have peripheral neuropathy and that there is nothing you can do for this but take vitamin B. I am 64. What is it and how does one get it and what else can be done for it? It is affecting my feet and hands. — G.B.

Neuropathy is a combination of words meaning nerve damage. Peripheral means that nerves to the body — to the trunk and limbs, for examples, as opposed to those nerves nearer the brain — are affected. Those latter are the cranial nerves.

But knowing what you have is not saying anything about what is causing it, what has happened to affect those nerves. And herein is the crux of the matter, for by establishing the cause you can provide relief, even a cure. But I'm sorry to say that a cause cannot always be found.

I can give you some examples of illnesses that cause peripheral neuropathy — diabetes, pernicious anemia, trauma, alcohol abuse, lead poisoning, prolonged thyroid hormone deficiency, or nutritional lack. Incidentally, the B vitamins are often prominent in general nutritional deficiencies, hence your doctor's suggestion you get some of that supplementally.

I'd like to give you some helpful information, but treatment does depend on finding a cause. Once that is treated, the problem ends.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My left breast is considerably larger than the right. Trivial, I know, but can you tell me something about the possibility of surgery to correct things? — M.B.

Breast-reduction surgery is a common procedure. I can't tell you about length of hospital stay or other details of the surgery because it depends on your particular case. But such surgery is certainly feasible. If it's something that is really bugging you, why not have it taken care of. At least you can talk to your doctor about it.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for his invaluable booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The show was sponsored by the St. Vincent de Paul Society and held at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish Hall, Saturday.

Society shows 'Back to School' styles

The St. Vincent de Paul Society sponsored a "Back to School" fashion show at Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish Hall, Saturday afternoon.

Models wore clothing suitable for kindergarten to college students. Proceeds will be used to help distressed people.

The society of volunteer workers raised the funds to continue their volunteer work. Founded in 1833 by Frederic Ogerman and his friends in Paris, France, the Society is an international organization. Bishop Joseph Fiorenja eventually plans to have a society in all parishes within the diocese.

RESTAURANT of the MONTH

35 years in business — Carlos serves original recipes.

David and Lola Gomez have found Mexican food a way of life.

For 35 years, they have been in the Mexican food business in Big Spring, the latest at Carlos Restaurant, 308 N.W. 3rd.

In their free time, Mrs. Gomez said they like to "sleep and eat."

They don't have time for much else, she explained.

Their first restaurant was Gomez No. 1 Cafe on 4th Street, where the GI Forum is located now. It was opened about 1947.

Then they had another restaurant on 3rd Street next to where the parking lot of Carlos is now.

And now they own Carlos Restaurant.

The restaurant was named after Gomez' brother, Charlie. When they started out, they had only 3 waitresses and two cooks.

One waitress, Jean Oliver, has been with Gomezes for 30 years.

"We couldn't do without her," said Mrs. Gomez.

David Gomez, Sr., is the supervisor of the restaurant and helps in the kitchen.

Lola Gomez is the chief cook, but also helps wait tables and acts as hostess.

David Jr., is the "general flunky," floor-sweeper, waiter and record-on-the-jukebox-changer.

As Mrs. Gomez said, "It's just the three of us."

Mrs. Gomez came from a farm in Hill Center, Tex., and David Sr. was born and raised in Colorado City.

David Jr., who played football at Big Spring High School as a guard, has a son, Michael Wayne, from his first marriage.

Carlos Restaurant at 300 N.W. 3rd, features an intimate atmosphere for dining, plus the fine food and attention of the David Gomez family.

He was married to Kathy Ann Stewart from Hereford, Va., in 1976. She has worked for Social Services at Big Spring State Hospital for almost 15 years. They are members of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

They are currently making plans to remodel the upstairs of their restaurant into a private dining room for small parties.

In addition to an assortment of enchiladas, chalupas, tacos, and burritos, they also have American foods such as steak. There are wines and beers to drink.

Their specialties are the Carlos Special: a chili relleno, guacamole chalupa, enchilada and taco; and the Mexican Dinner: a taco, enchilada, refried beans and rice.

Mrs. Gomez said that if a customer would like her to prepare a dish that is not on the menu, she would be happy to fix it for him.

States say retarded man not resident

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A retarded 37-year-old man who was born in New Jersey, lives in Pennsylvania and whose mother resides in Nevada has been denied aid from all three states — because they all maintain he is not a resident.

Eleanor Durett began seeking assistance in January, saying she could no longer afford to pay $22,000 a year to supplement the cost of care for her son, Paul.

Durett weighs 68 pounds, has a mental age of 3 months and the motor skills of a 2 ½-year-old. He is completely dependent on others for feeding and dressing, according to court documents.

Mrs. Durett has filed suit in U.S. District Court against Pennsylvania, where her son has spent the past 21 years in private institutions. The lawsuit challenges the constitutionality of the state's residency requirements.

"They have made him a U.S. citizen without a state of residence," said one of her attorneys, Stephen Gold.

Durett, meanwhile, remains in Pleasant Manor, a private institution for the mentally retarded in Bucks County, which joined Mrs. Durett in seeking aid from Pennsylvania.

The state refused and in May, the facility notified Mrs. Durett that her son would be discharged in 60 days unless she paid the full monthly charges.

State officials contacted by telephone in Harrisburg declined comment Thursday. Reporters calling Pleasant Manor were told that anyone who could comment on the case was gone for the day.

The state's only explanation is in a letter to Durett's attorneys from Patricia C. Sweigert, administrator of the state Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation in Bucks County. She wrote that Durett did not meet residency guidelines.

The guidelines, spelled out in a state bulletin, say Durett is a resident of the state where he was born because he is mentally incapable of stating his intent to become a resident anywhere else.

"For individuals who become incapable of indicating intent at or after age 21, the state of residence is the state in which the individual was living when he or she became incapable of indicating intent."

According to court documents, Durett was born in New Jersey, and apparently became incapable there of "indicating intent" because he was retarded at birth.

But New Jersey declined assistance because Durett has lived in Pennsylvania for 21 years. Nevada, where Mrs. Durett now lives, also refused aid because Durett has never lived there.

The suit, besides raising the constitutional issue, also contends the 1966 federal Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act requires states to provide "services for all persons who need them."

Shield users warned of disease

NEW YORK (AP) — Women using the Dalkon Shield are four to six times as likely as women using some other intrauterine contraceptive devices to get a serious case of pelvic inflammatory disease, according to a study to be published Friday.

The study, based on interviews with 460 women conducted between 1976 and 1981, also found that users of any kind of intrauterine device, or IUD, are about nine times as likely to get that disease as are users of other methods of contraception. This agrees with previous studies of IUD risks.

The authors of the study, which will appear in the Journal of the American Medical Association, say their findings raise "the possibility that the Dalkon Shield is associated with particularly severe" cases of pelvic inflammatory disease.

The ailment, a bacterial infection of the fallopian tubes, can be as mild as to go unnoticed, but it can also lead to serious complications. One of the most common is infertility.

It has been known that IUD use increases the risk of getting pelvic inflammatory disease. The Dalkon Shield, which has not been sold in the United States since 1974, was thought to be particularly risky.

In March, researchers at the federal Centers for Disease Control found that users of the Dalkon Shield were five to 10 times as likely as users of other IUDs to get pelvic inflammatory disease.

Those numbers agree substantially with the figures in the new study, conducted by the Drug Epidemiology Unit of the Boston University School of Medicine, in cooperation with researchers at Harvard University and the University of Pennsylvania.

In May, the federal government urged women still using the Dalkon Shield to have it removed.

As of March 31, $140 million in damages had been paid to users of the Dalkon Shield, according to Roscoe Puckett Jr., information manager for A.H. Robins Co., maker of the device. At that time, 5,400 cases or claims had been resolved and 3,500 were pending, he said.

The new study found that Dalkon Shield users were about six times as likely to get pelvic inflammatory disease as users of copper-containing IUDs. It also found that Dalkon Shield users were some four times as likely to get the disease as users of the Lippes Loop, but that result could have been due to chance, the researchers said.

The authors of the study said they took into account other factors such as age, ethnic group and marital status that might have affected the risk of pelvic inflammatory disease.

Dog mutilations shock community

THOMPSON Conn. (AP) — Residents in this rural town expressed shock and disbelief Thursday that someone would torture six dogs to death at a picnic area, and officials said only a lucky break would turn up the "sick" culprit.

"It's some kind of cult, isn't it?" asked Bella LaBossiere, who said she had heard about religious cults which sometimes kill dogs as part of their rituals.

A crew of local youths found six dog carcasses Monday while clearing a 70-acre picnic and hiking area near the West Thompson Dam.

Two of the dogs were hanging by their necks from trees. The snout of one was tied closed with a rag and was partially skinned, while the snout of another was bound with a car seatbelt.

"If we got people in this country and in this area that get their kicks out of torturing dogs, what's going to be next?" asked Frank McNally, whose property abuts the recreation area. He said that from now on, he will make sure his own dog, a white mutt, is inside the house when he goes away. McNally added that he was considering buying a shotgun.

Another nearby resident said members of her family would be more careful to keep an eye on their dog.

"It's terrible for people to be that cruel," said Cornelia Trudeau, who was sitting next to Mrs. LaBossiere in the Thompson Town Hall dining room, where they were working for a senior citizen lunch program.

On a bulletin board in a nearby hallway were two posters warning of the penalties for letting dogs roam, and a postcard offering five Labrador puppies to anyone with a "good home."

First Selectman Ruth Barks said she decided to reveal the mutilations so the community's 14,500 residents could protect their animals and be on the lookout for any suspicious activity that might lend a clue to the butcherings.

Mrs. Barks said there were "signs of torture," but would not to discuss the details. Town dog warden Albert Fougere said that "they were being tortured because all the meat is still there."

Officials say they probably will never learn who mutilated the animals because some carcasses were 6 months old, leaving few clues.

"It's going to be tough to prove anything. You would probably need an eyewitness to the killings," said Fougere.

"Maybe we'll get lucky and whoever did this will come back when somebody's watching," Fougere said.

Jerry Williams, the town's highway superintendent, said, "It's a pretty inhumane thing to do to any animal. The people who did this are sick, quite sick."

"A helicopter should take whoever did this 300 miles out to sea and drop them there," said Williams, who keeps a horse, a dog and four cats at his home in nearby Woodstock.

Mink bears hot item

DANVILLE, Calif. (AP) — An $800 teddy bear?

That might seem expensive, but Frank Nemirofsky says prices don't seem to matter as soon as customers squeeze the mink-covered toys.

"It's exactly like going into a pet store and picking up a puppy," he said of his Rare Bears, whose prices range from $60 for the basic model to $800 for what he calls Breeding Stock.

KEEPING UP WITH CALVIN — D.A. Weibring of Hilton Head, S.C., watches his shot from the 18th tee during first round play in the Buick Open Thursday at Grand Blanc, Mich. Weibring fired a six-under-par 66 to share the lead after 18 holes with Calvin Peete.

Peete looks like a million, tied with Weibring after 18

Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mic. (AP) — Years ago, Calvin Peete thought golf was just a millionaire's game.

Now, less than eight years after joining the PGA Tour, the 39-year-old Peete stands on the brink of becoming the first black man to win $1 million at the game he once thought untouchable.

Peete, who was born in Detroit and grew up on a Florida farm, fired a 6-under-par 66 over the 7,001-yard Warwick Hills Golf & Country Club Thursday to share the lead with D.A. Weibring after one round of the $350,000 Buick Open.

Peete, who never touched a golf club until he was 23, has earned $968,605 since joining the Tour in 1975.

The winner of the Buick Open will receive $63,000 and the runnerup will earn $37,800, which means that either a first or second place finish would put Peete over the million mark.

"Ten years, or so, ago I didn't even know there was a Buick Open," said Peete, one of 19 children by his father's two marriages. "I always thought golf was only for the rich, but I know now that I was wrong."

Peete, who won the Atlanta Classic and the Anheuser-Busch tournaments earlier this year, said a victory at the Buick Open, with friends and family looking on, would be special.

"This is like my hometown," said Peete, who hit every green in regulation while carding three birdies on each side for 33-33. "Winning in Atlanta was special, but to win here would be the highlight of my career."

Weibring, a former assistant pro at Red Run Golf Club in the Detroit suburb of Royal Oak, carded nines of 32-34. Weibring had a chance to grab the first-round lead all alone after chipping in from 25 feet for an eagle 3 at the 491-yard 13th hole, but fell back to 6-under with a bogey on the par-3 17th.

Canadian Open winner John Cook and Kemper Open champion Fred Couples were one shot behind the leaders at 5-under 67, tied with John Renner and venerable Chi Chi Rodriguez.

In general, the field of 156 golfers tore up the rain-soaked course. Because they could afford to fly their shots right at the flags, without fear of running off the backside of the soft greens, 71 players were at par or better heading into the second round of the 72-hole tournament today.

Sheehan shakes off heat, shoots way to 3-shot lead

Henredon

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Despite temperatures in the 90s, Patti Sheehan thought it was a very nice day on the Willow Creek Golf Club course.

Sheehan, the 1981 LPGA rookie of the year, fired a 7-under-par 65 to take a 3-shot lead in the $180,000 Henredon Classic.

"It was one of those days you felt good about everything. You felt good about your parents and your dirty clothes. You just go out and have a good time and that's what I did," Sheehan said.

Her round, second lowest this season, featured seven birdies achieved by a long-putting exhibition. One of her four birdies on the front nine was a 25-foot putt on the par 4 sixth hole. Sheehan, who's won twice this year, strung together three birdies on the 11th, 12th and 13th holes. The first two came on putts of 22 feet and 18 feet. The final birdie was a 20-foot effort.

"The greens were fantastic out there. The course is in such good shape," she said.

Sheehan might have been able to match the year's lowest 18-hole score — a 63 she fired in the Corning Classic. But she missed several short putts on the back nine's closing holes.

"I would say I'm a good putter and sometimes I'm really good," Sheehan said. "Today I felt good. Had no problems."

Three shots behind are Judy Clark, who finished second in the Henredon two years ago, and Charlotte Montgomery, currently 101st on the LPGA money list.

"I got rid of a bad caddie," Montgomery said of a move she thinks may have helped here gain a share of the runner-up position. "I'm getting back to trusting myself."

Among those at 3-under par 69 is defending champion and leading money winner JoAnne Carner. She's finished second six times in 1983 without a victory and admits the heat has taken its toll.

"We're all getting used to temperatures above 90 degrees," she said. "After Tulsa, this is cool."

Tulsa was the site of the U.S. Women's Open, where temperatures in the 100s were commonplace.

Eight players are at 2-under 70, including veteran Kathy Whitworth and rookie Amy Benz, who earned her LPGA status last week.

Pat Bradley and Donna White, both top 10 money winners, head the list at 71, while veteran Marlene Hagge and Patti Rizzo, winner of last week's Boston Five Classic, are at 72.

Sandra Haynie, who won the first Henredon and was involved in a playoff with Carner last year, pulled out of the tournament with a neck injury. Beverly Klass withdrew on the back nine after complaining of heat exhaustion, the 13th player to either leave or decline the Willow Creek course.

QB's get NFL spotlight

By The Associated Press

When Miami Coach Don Shula is faced with playing time for his quarterbacks nowadays, he's not confronted with trying to decide between Dave Woodley and Don Strock.

Woodley and Strock, the Dolphins' successful "Woodstrock" combo of the past few seasons, haven't been contesting for the position in preseason. Strock is having a contract dispute and has not reported to camp.

Shula said he would start Woodley against the New Orleans Saints in an National Football League exhibition game Saturday night in Miami. He'll also look at Dan Marino, the team's No. 1 draft choice from Pitt, and third-year veteran Jim Jensen.

Marino will get "plenty of playing time" while "I'm also going to give Jim Jensen a shot," Shula said.

Although several NFL and United States Football League teams are interested in Strock, Shula said he was hopeful the Dolphins would sign the discontented player.

New Orleans running back George Rogers, who sustained a sore neck in last week's game against Tampa Bay, will probably play against the Dolphins.

In Friday night's games, it's the New York Giants at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Washington and Green Bay at Seattle.

On Saturday night, Cleveland is at Buffalo, Chicago at St. Louis, Detroit at Kansas City, Baltimore at Minnesota, Atlanta at Denver, Philadelphia at San Diego, Tampa Bay at Houston and the Los Angeles Raiders vs. the New York Jets at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

On Sunday New England plays at San Francisco. On Monday night, it's Dallas at the Los Angeles Rams.

Quarterback Matt Cavanaugh shouldn't find the surroundings too different when the Patriots play the 49ers — except for the uniform he's wearing.

Cavanaugh was traded Thursday by New England to the 49ers.

"I think I've been having the best camp I've had in a long time throwing the ball, so I'm just looking forward to getting out there and spending some time in meetings and getting attuned to what they're doing and then getting on the field and executing," he said Thursday before leaving the Patriots' camp in Smithfield, R.I.

Cavanaugh, a second-round draft choice from Pitt in 1978, completed 53.5 percent of his passes for 3,018 yards and 19 touchdowns during his years with the Patriots.

He was third on the depth chart behind Steve Grogan and Tony Eason, a No.1 pick this year from Illinois, on the Patriots' depth chart. He'll be the second-string quarterback behind Joe Montana with the 49ers.

Tampa Bay Coach John McKay said Jack Thompson will start at quarterback against the Oilers in the Astrodome. Jerry Golsteyn and rookie Bob Hewko will see action in the second half.

Oilers face Williams-less Bucs

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers will continue trying out a new offense and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers will cotinue their search for a quarterback to replace Doug Williams Saturday night in a National Football League exhibition game in the Astrodome.

Jack Thompson, acquired June 3 from Cincinnati, will play the first half against the Oilers and Jerry Golsteyn, Williams' backup last season, will play the second half.

Williams, a starter since his rookie season with the Bucs in 1978, signed a contract with the Tulsa Outlaws of the United States Football League after he was unable to reach terms with Tampa Bay.

Golsteyn engineered a fourth-quarter rally last week that allowed the Bucs to nip New Orleans 20-17 in the final seconds on Bill Capece's field goal.

The Oilers, trying to ignite a new offense under growing fan and media criticism, were booed last week in a 15-0 loss to Baltimore in the Astrodome.

Earl Campbell and Stan Edwards, who had missed last week's exhibition opener with leg injuries, will start for the Oilers. Archie Manning will play the first half at quarterback in his continuing duel with Gifford Nielsen for the starting job.

The Oiler offense fizzled in its first test but new offensive coordinator Kay Dalton said he wasn't disappointed in the offense or the quarterbacks.

The Oilers offense will be going against a tough Tampa Bay defensive that ranked third in total defense among 28 NFL teams last season.

U.S. teams plagued by injuries again

World Games

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — U.S. fortunes, which had been running high in the inaugural World Track and Field Championships suffered unexpected setbacks Friday when Larry Myricks failed to get through the first round heats of the men's 200-meter dash and women's hurdler Candy Young was injured.

Myricks, recovering rom a hamstring injury, finished only fifth in his heat and missed reaching the second round.

"I just had no zip, no bounce," said Myricks, adding that the injury did not bother him during the race. He said, however, that recent inactivity because of the injury was a factor in his not running well.

Thursday, his teammate, Calvin Smith, had predicted that Myricks would win the 200 final, which will be run Sunday.

Smith, winner of a gold medal in the men's 400-meter relay and a silver medalist in the 100, won his 200 heat easily in 21.10.

In the women's 100-meter hurdles, Young was injured after clearing the first hurdle. Her left leg in pain, she could not stop immediately and crashed into the second hurdle, then tumbled onto the track, grabbing her leg in agony.

Holliday resigns to take Weslaco job

Big Spring High tennis coach Allen Holliday resigned his position Thursday morning to accept a similar job at Weslaco High School.

Holliday leaves after three years with the local school system, serving both as head coach and junior high tennis coordinator. Weslaco, a member of District 32-AAAAA, is located in deep south Texas.

The graduate of Seminole High School and Southeastern Louisiana said the move was made to gain employment for his wife and him. Becky Holliday served as varsity volleyball coach at Big Spring High last fall but stepped down to have the couple's second child. Choosing not to return to coaching, she was not able to obtain a teaching job in school system this year.

Prior to coaching varsity volleyball, she had coached junior high tennis two years.

He said the situation with his wife not finding a teaching job "left us in a bind" and necessitated the move to Weslaco.

Holliday leaves the varsity tennis program in a rebuilding stage. The boy's team was comprised completely of freshmen and the girl's squad graduated only two seniors last spring, allowing their to be optimitic about the future. "We have a lot of young, good kids," he said. "From sophomores to seventh graders, they're all great. That's one of the reasons why I didn't want to leave."

"Allen has started our tennis program in the right direction," said athletic director Ron Logback. "He suffered through a lot of hard times because the program was not in too good of shape when he got here. I am disappointed in him leaving because he was in the position to reap the benefits of a lot of hard work."

Logback said the BSHS program is "another year or two years" away from being highly competitive in District 4-5A. This morning, he was searching for a replacement, acting on leads in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Holliday also directed a summer tennis camp in Big Spring and worked with the local tennis center to organize tournaments.

Cruz paces Astros' win

HOUSTON (AP) — In the early part of the Houston Astros' game against the San Diego Padres, pitcher Mike Scott admitted he was a bit out of sorts — "Discombobulated," he said.

Scott's vocabulary was as puzzling as his pitching was to the Padres after the early innings.

The Astros' right-hander settled down to combine with reliever Dave Smith on a seven-hitter, as Houston downed the Padres Thursday night 5-1 for the fourth win in five games.

"I don't know what I was doing out there," Scott said. "I've never been so discombobulated in my life. I had no idea where the ball was going. I was terrible."

Scott, 6-4, walked four and allowed four hits in the opening four innings, but escaped with only being charged for one run on Tony Gwynn's two-out RBI single in the third inning.

A line-out double play to right fielder Kevin Bass bailed Scott out of a second inning jam and bought him time to settle down.

After walking Juan Bonilla in the fourth inning, Scott recorded 10 straight outs before Bobby Brown's single in the seventh inning. Smith pitched the final two frames for his fifth save.

Jose Cruz made a winner of Scott when he drove in the game-winning run in the fourth inning and gave Smith some breathing room with a bases-loaded triple in the eighth inning.

Braves 6, Giants 4

Thursday night, the Atlanta slugger hit two more home runs to give him nine for the season off San Francisco pitchers.

"It's tough when a guy has a night like that," said San Francisco's Darrell Evans after watching Murphy drive in five runs in the Braves' 6-4 victory. "They got two big hits from Murphy, but even with the first one we still could have come back, and then he hits another one."

Murphy crunched a 2-1 pitch from Bill Laskey, 12-9, deep into the left-field seats at Atlanta Stadium in the first inning following a two-out single by Claudell Washington and a walk to Bob Horner.

His second homer of the game, and 25th of the season, carried over the right-field fence following a Horner single in the fifth and it was his fourth this year off Andy McGaffigan.

Dodgers 4, Reds 3

In Cincinnati, Ken Landreaux's sacrifice fly in the seventh inning lifted Los Angeles over Cincinnati, snapping the Dodgers' three-game losing streak.

Landreaux's sacrifice fly scored Dave Anderson to break a 3-3 tie and give the victory to reliever Tom Niedenfuer, 6-1, who pitched four shutout innings and struck out a career-high seven.

Cubs 10, Cardinals 5

In Chicago, Leon Durham's grand-slam homer in the third inning and six unearned runs in the fourth carried the Cubs over St. Louis, the Cardinals' ninth loss in their last 10 games.

Third-inning singles by Mel Hall and Ryne Sandberg and a walk to Ron Cey preceded Durham's 11th homer of the season and second grand-slam of his career. Dick Ruthven, 8-9, was the winner. The loss, was charged to Danny Cox, 0-1, making his second major-league start.

Bannister hurls 7th straight win

By The Associated Press

When the Chicago White Sox made Floyd Bannister a millionaire last winter, they expected to get a super pitcher. For half a season, they got a super dud.

Then came the All-Star break and Bannister used the time off to work overtime. Now, the White Sox have their super pitcher — and a stranglehold on the American League West Division.

Bannister earned his seventh straight victory, striking out 11 in 6 1-3 innings Thursday night as Chicago belted Baltimore 9-3. The victory extended the Sox' lead in the West to six games over Kansas City, which was rained out in Boston. The Orioles, losers of six in a row, fell to third place in the East, one game behind Milwaukee.

The Brewers knocked off Toronto 6-4 to move into first place.

"The first half is not something I like to look back on," said Bannister, 3-9 at the All-Star break. "During the break, I felt I needed to work a little extra. I threw batting practice, studied films, and worked with (pitching coach Dave) Duncan. I had to try to figure out what I was most comfortable with."

American League

Brewers 6, Blue Jays 4

Cecil Cooper, Robin Yount and Jim Gantner knocked in two runs apiece, Cooper hitting a solo home run as well as the Milwaukee moved atop the East for the first time since April 28. Milwaukee is 9-4 this month to surge into the lead, while Toronto has dropped seven of its last eight games.

Cooper has gone 53-for-150 (.353 average) with 44 RBI since the All-Star break.

Rookie Chuck Porter, who six-hit the Blue Jays 3-0 in his last start, was the winner.

Yankees 6, Tigers 5

After taking a vicious cut, missing Howard Bailey's pitch, Dave Winfield fell to the ground in pain. His foot was treated, then Winfield swung just as hard and belted a game-winning home run, his 23rd homer of the season. The Yankees have won seven of their last 10 games.

Rich Gossage, worked 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief to improve his record to 10-3.

The Yankees grabbed a 5-0 lead, helped greatly by three Tiger errors in the second innings. But Detroit came back with a five-run fifth on six singles, an error and a bases-loaded walk Lance Parrish.

A's 6, Twins 0

Chris Codiroli scattered five hits for Oakland's first complete-game shutout this year and Dwayne Murphy hit his 12th homer as the A's moved into third place in the West with their sixth victory in the past seven games and 13th of their last 18, despite a slew of injuries to the pitching staff.

"I'm the only original starter left in the rotation, and I'd like to keep it that way," said Codiroli.

The TEXAS LONGHORNS

'Horns possess right stuff

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns will start the 1983 football season with a "gut attack" offense that features three solid fullbacks and two possible All-Americans in guard Doug Dawson and center Mike Ruether.

Coach Fred Akers, however, has penciled in question marks at quarterback and tailback.

He also says his defense has a chance to be one of the best at Texas, and hopes it can buy time for the offense to develop.

Time should be short as Texas — the favorite in the Southwest Conference — opens the season Sept. 17 on Auburn's home turf against a team rated by some as No. 1 in college football.

"Some people really feel that when (Heisman Trophy winner) Herschel Walker (of Georgia) went to the USFL Bo Jackson became the premier back in the country," Akers said in an interview.

Jackson, a 6-foot-1, 222-pound sophomore, was Auburn's leading rusher last year with 829 yards on 127 carries for a 6.5-yard average. He scored nine touchdowns and made the Football News' freshman All-American team.

Texas returns 41 of 58 lettermen but lost nearly all of its point producers with the departure of quarterback Robert Brewer, a record-setting passer, receiver Herkie Walls and tailback Darryl Clark, the Longhorns' first 1,000-yard rusher since Earl Campbell in 1977.

Akers acknowledges that most questions about Texas football focus on quarterback, but he says Texas "almost has a tradition" of starting the season without an established signal caller.

Juniors Todd Dodge and Rob Moerschell finished spring training 1-2, but five others — including 1981 starter Rick McIvor and Akers' son Danny — will compete at quarterback.

"If you start rebuilding part of your football team, it's a great place to start to have your offensive line (back). That'll go a long way toward being a buffer while someone develops (in the backfield)," Akers said.

Inexperience is no problem at fullback where 227-pound Terry Orr, Ervin Davis, who ran for eight touchdowns, and spring surprise Ronnie Robinson line up. "Terry is probably our best all-around player," said Akers. "He's not one of those burners, and there are some people around that are probably stronger, but he's got really great finesse. He can block, he can run, he's a fine receiver; he can play several positions."

The Longhorn defense, with nine starters returning, is set, although Akers said the loss of tackle Ralph Darnell for low grades "put a dent" in team depth.

"Our strength begins with our defense," said Akers, who rates cornerback Mossy Cade as a possible All-American.

Third in a series; coming next, a look at the TCU Horned Frogs.

Pokes cut 10 free agents

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys cut 10 free agent rookies Thursday to trim the team's roster down to 75, team officials said.

The league-required cutdown to 60 is scheduled for next Tuesday, Cowboys spokesmen said.

Placed on waivers Thursday were wide receiver Michael Edwards of Auburn, guard Claybon Fields of Purdue, tight end Kenneth Gardner of Tennessee State, linebacker Brent Hargrove of Texas-Arlington, fullback Terrance Jones of Oregon, tackle Gene Knickrohm of Utah, cornerback Allen Pierce of North Carolina Central, quarterback Scott Ruiz of St. Mary's (Calif.), defensive end Mike Staff of Northern Colorado and linebacker Charles Toles of Middle Tennessee, team officials said.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: During the morning you can make some satisfactory arrangements with your partners and associates if you take nothing for granted and are truly cooperative with them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can talk that matter over quietly with a partner now and then figure out the best way of handling your end.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your work can be done more efficiently with the aid of a fellow worker, but handle this person with much care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You may find it a bit difficult to make plans for recreation early, but be persistent. Show devotion to your loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Think about how you can make your home more comfortable and charming. Find a better method for enjoyment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A day when others do not seem to understand your ideas very well. Even your closest ties seem to be at odds with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to the suggestions of an older person if you want to become more successful. Study periodicals that can aid you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Dig into old ideas you had cast aside and you can easily add to your income now. Study property for possible repairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study every angle of those personal desires you have and then you can gain them very quickly. Be sensible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You could be tied up early with a friend's business, but later go after the data you need for your own project.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't permit some outside affair to upset you. You will soon get it solved wisely. Don't ask friends for help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to get started on some new outlet, but be sure you get all the facts and figures first.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put a new condition into operation. Be sure to keep any promises you have made, otherwise things could become expensive.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will not understand the ways of older persons and will want to do things his, or her own way. Be sure to send to school early where the mind can be disciplined and knowledge gained that will soon interest him or her.

Winn is bi-vocational minister

By RHONDA WITT
Church Editor

Being a bi-vocational preacher is becoming popular, especially during the economic crunch, said the Rev. Tim Winn, pastor of Knott Baptist Church. He also is a general contractor.

"We are seeing a lot of change in the population. Churches at one time could afford a pastor," he said. "Now, they can only afford half a salary, so we are seeing more and more bi-vocational pastors.

Being bi-vocational has its advantages and disadvantages. "Being bi-vocational, especially in the farming community, you are able to develop a rapport with the people," Winn said. "They trust you more because you can understand where they are coming from.

"In a sense, I would like to have a full-time church, so I would have more time to study books and people," he said. "But I'm happy where I'm at, and I like what I'm doing.

"I like helping people and helping them meet their needs, especailly emotional and spiritual needs," Winn said. "The only thing I dislike is when former pastors have developed in the people mistaken concepts.

Winn likes the Knott community. "It's a real joy to be able to pastor out there," he said. "The Knott Community is a tremendous community. There is a tremendous feeling of caring out there among the people and our church reflects that. I've been there three years, and the people still amaze me in the way they show they care."

Winn's goals for himself include continuing his education in the fields of Bible and counseling. "For the church, my goals are that we would continue to grow as individuals and as part of the body of Christ so we can share more effectively his love and his power," he said.

TIM WINN
...minister and general contractor

His first interest in becoming a minister came when Winn was working with Campus Crusade for Christ while a student at University of Texas in Austin. "I began to feel God leading me into some type of ministry," he said.

"In a sense, I kind of drug my heels. I hesitated to make sure it wasn't infatuation with becoming a minister," he said. He dropped out of college for a year to see what he wanted to do.

"After praying and seeing his leadership, I became convinced (to go into the ministry)," Winn said.

"The calling I have from Him is to pastor and to teach," he said. "My calling is to help Christians realize their fullest potential as Christians. It seems like I'm being used in the ministry of healing, not physically, but emotionally and spiritually."

Winn has experienced special moments throughout his career as a minister. "They all become special moments. There are the times when someone close to me has been saved, and that is special," Winn said. "And there are times when I got kicked in the teeth and those are special. It all becomes special in time.

"I'm always being kidded about my preaching style by the other preachers because I don't preach like a Baptist preacher," he said.

"One day, I was complaining to the other preachers about them kidding me about my preaching style. As a joke, Rick Davis, pastor at Midway Baptist, said 'What style?'"

A person can't always be sure when his leg is being pulled. "We are an interesting church in that we are the only church in the Baptist General Convention of Texas that is 'Knott Baptist,'" he said.

Winn was raised in the Big Spring area. He graduated from Coahoma High School and attended UT of Austin. He studied for two years in the Physical Therapy program as an athletic trainer. Later he studied two years in the Hebrew program. Winn received his degree from University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Odessa.

In addition to Knott, Winn has pastored at Garden City. He is president of Rainbow Project's board of directors.

Winn and wife Beverly have two sons Rusty, 7, and Brian, 5.

Bristow resigns St. Mary's positions

The Rev. David L. Bristow, 43, has resigned as rector and headsmaster of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and School here in Big Spring. His resignation was effective on May 31st. When he announced plans to enter clinical pastoral training this September in Houston.

Bristow became rector of St. Mary's in May, 1980, after serving on the staff of St. John's Parish in Odessa.

Don Haney returns from ministry tour

He was there with Dr. John Garlock, internationally known teacher from Christ for the Nations Institute in Dallas. In South Africa, Haney and Garlock ministered to many churches, ranging in size from a couple hundred to several thousand members.

A gospel concert artist and a graduate of Big Spring High in 1966, Haney has lived in Dallas for the past 10½ years. He spends about 85 percent of the time "on the road" presenting concerts in many churches and denominations in the USA, Canada and in Europe. He is planning to make a concert tour of South Africa in 1984.

Haney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Haney Sr., have been residents of Big Spring and Howard County for over 55 years.
