Carriers Pounce On Jap Fleet Remnants

Blood-Stained Asia Occupying Big Three

Jap War Believed No. 1 On List As Russia Strengthens Far East Lines

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, July 18. — There are strong indications that the map of blood-stained Asia is dominating the Potsdam conference tonight and that measures to knock out Japan have priority number one in the discussions among President Truman and his British and Russian Allies.

Victory in the Pacific, as swiftly and as cheaply as courage and skill can achieve it, is paramount to all other aims of the United States government now.

This, it can be said with assurance, is more vital to the United States than any current European issue is to the Soviet Union or Great Britain.

Europe Can Wait

Make-shift formulas can keep Europe running, for better or for worse. But the Asiatic war admits of no substitutes for the best possible plan to defeat the Japanese empire quickly, or the price will be stepped up in terms of American lives and treasure.

What Mr. Truman's high military advisers have proposed for consideration at Potsdam is the key secret of the entire conference.

But there is good reason to believe that the proposals will be delivered and direct answers requested.

American officials, have for a long time discouraged speculation and rumors as to what role the Soviet Union might ultimately take against a power which Stalin publicly singled out last winter as "aggressive" and a Fascist partner of Hitlerite Germany.

No "Second Front" Plea

The U. S. government is definitely refraining from stirring propaganda for a Soviet "second front." But that the Soviet Union, which probably would not yet be enjoying a victorious peace in Europe without America's war effort, could materially assist the U. S. to enjoy the same thing in the Far East seems undeniable.

Among Americans in Moscow the view has been held by a majority that the Soviet Union will, at the moment its leaders choose, launch a smashing blow against its traditional Asiatic enemy.

These are the things known to friend and foe alike in the Far East:

The Soviet Far East Army has been strengthened continually since last autumn and the process is believed to have been much speeded up after Germany's collapse.

Collaboration Plans

Collaboration between the navies and air services of Russia and the United States is being fostered now by the same officers of the two countries who developed American bomber bases around Poltava in the Ukraine and rehabilitated units of the Red Banner fleet at Kronstadt last year.

The Alaska-Siberia ferry route for thousands of American-made aircraft sent to fight with the Red Star insignia on the Eastern front is likely to have further valuable military use.

JAP SUICIDER HITS USS NEVADA—This is the scene after a Jap suicide plane crashed on the main deck aft of the USS Nevada, veteran of the Pacific and the invasion of France, during operations off Okinawa, on last March 27. Fires which spread over the area have been brought under control when picture was made, but tangled wreckage and water-soaked decks remain to remind the crew that 11 were killed and 41 wounded. A few days later, on April 5, the Nevada silenced a Jap shore battery on Okinawa.

Navy Adds 1,322 Fighting Ships During War, 223 Now Building

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Marking the fifth anniversary of the "two ocean fleet," the Navy revealed tonight that 1,322 fighting ships have been added to its forces in these five years.

Thus the Navy now boasts a force of around 1,500 fighting ships, the biggest Navy in history, ready to support the invasion and force the Japanese enemy to its knees.

Added to the 383 combatant ships on hand on July 1, 1940, and deducting the 140 announced combatant ship losses, brings the total to 1,565 fighting ships. From this must be deducted an undisclosed number transferred to Allied Nations under lend lease.

223 Still Building

And the job is not yet done. Building yards, Navy and private, are still at work completing the building program now grown to a "five ocean program" and a total of 223 ships remain on building schedules.

The record five year construction program included 331 ships built in Navy yards and 991 in private shipyards. Navy yard construction included seven battleships, five aircraft carriers, seven escort carriers, a heavy cruiser, 58 destroyers, 155 destroyer escorts, and 98 submarines.

Private yards built three battleships, 13 aircraft carriers of 27,100 tons, nine carriers of 10,000 tons, 105 escort carriers, two large cruisers, nine heavy cruisers 33 light cruisers, 312 destroyers, 393 destroyer escorts, and 112 submarines.

The bulk of the remaining program is due for completion this year and next, with a few units carrying over into 1947. It includes two battleships, three 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, nine 27,100-ton carriers, two 14,500-ton carriers, 26 escort carriers, a large cruiser, 22 heavy cruisers, 19 light cruisers, 87 destroyers, 16 destroyers escorts including 11 concerted to high speed transports, and 36 submarines.

Battleship Nevada Survives Heavy Damage, Moves Back Against Japs

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — Veteran of two wars, the battleship Nevada absorbed damage from a flaming suicide plane and five hits from an Okinawa shore battery but stayed in the fight.

The Navy today told the story of the actions which occurred as the famous old ship was operating as part of a formation assigned to obliterate enemy installations on the island.

Caused Sixty Casualties

The Kamikaze struck before daylight March 27, causing 60 casualties, including ten enlisted men and one officer killed and 30 seriously injured.

Despite her damage, the Nevada was back in action within four hours.

The next week, on April 5, while still pounding away at Japanese airfields, shore defenses, supply dumps and suspected troop concentration points, a coastal battery opened fire.

Hit By Five Shells

The Nevada, which cracked the toughest installations the Nazis could provide at Normandy, Cherbourg and southern France, slugged it out for 18 minutes. During the engagement the enemy fired an estimated 24 shells, five of which registered. They killed two men, seriously injured eight, and slightly wounded eight others.

Experienced gunners of the Nevada got off 71 rounds from her 14-inch main battery alone, and when the shooting was over, the Navy said "the target area resembled a gravel quarry after a week's blasting."

Repaired Overnight

The Nevada's damage was repaired overnight, and the next morning she was back on the firing line.

In the Kamikaze attack, the Nevada's antiaircraft guns assisted in splashing two of the attackers before a "VAL" dive bomber streaked out of the haze apparently bent on striking the open bridge. Light machine guns scored hits on the plane, but too late to stop her.

"Sawed Off" Right Wing

Marine gunners of the 20 mm battery, however, managed to "saw off" the plane's right wing, which fluttered into the sea. Its course diverted, the plane crashed into the main deck aft beside a main battery turret. The seven Marines who saved the ship's superstructure died at their stations, their guns barking until the second the plane struck.

Fires started by the Kamikaze crash were extinguished in three minutes, but not before considerable material damage was done to the main battery turret and one 20 mm gun.

Hit At Pearl Harbor

It was the Nevada's first damage since Pearl Harbor, although she was "straddled" by German shore batteries during the bombardment of Cherbourg.

At Pearl Harbor, she was the

Airmen From Europe Join Jap Assaults

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, July 19. —Airmen from the European theater joined in the Far East Air forces attacks on the Japanese homeland for the first time Monday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The raids covered the length and breadth of Kyushu, southernmost Japanese main island. They were made by more than 350 planes without the loss of a single one.

The communique announced the raiders scored effectively against enemy airfields, communications and industrial targets. There were no attempts at interception and no reports of serious enemy anti-aircraft challenge to the Okinawa-based planes.

Use New Douglas A-26

The European veterans from the Mediterranean theater were led by Col. Joseph R. (Randy) Holzapple of Peoria, Ill. They flew new Douglas-built A-26 Invader attack bombers in the first introduction of this aircraft into major action in this theater.

The Miyazaki area on southeastern Kyushu provided targets for over 30 of the American planes. They left craters and damaged installations on the Miyazaki airstrip, one of Kyushu's major fields, and possibly hit two of the four or five serviceable planes on the field.

Direct hits also were scored on railroad lines, highways and bridges, the airmen reported. Miyazaki, a city of 60,000 population, is the center of Kyushu's southeastern farming region.

"The A-26 Invader has the best features of the A-20, the B-25 and the B-26," said Holzapple.

The A-26 is a Douglas-built Boston attack plane and the B-25 and B-26 are, respectively, Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers.

"It will be one of the most effective airplanes of the war if properly employed, and we are working on that little problem," the colonel said.

Planes of the Fifth and Seventh Air forces participated in the hammering of Kyushu. Holzapple's A-26 group, attached to the Seventh, won two distinguished unit citations in the Mediterranean fighting.

Numerous rail and highway bridges were hit in Monday's strike. Dive bombing Mustang fighter-bombers reported setting fires aboard two of six 500-ton coastal cargo vessels in Kagoshima bay, off southern Kyushu.

Captains Ernest Johnson, Daisetta, Tex., and Robert Mittelstadt, Eau Claire, Wis., strafed a locomotive and an eight-car train.

Ships Discovered In Big Yokosuka Base

Assault On Tokyo Area Goes Into Second Day Despite Bad Weather

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, THURSDAY, July 18.—American carrier aircraft discovered combat ships, probably remnants of the Japanese Navy, hiding in Yokosuka naval base in Tokyo bay and attacked heavily yesterday with bombs and torpedoes despite bad weather and accurate, intense anti-aircraft fire.

Yokosuka, one of the empire's largest naval bases, is only about 18 miles southeast of Tokyo, near the mouth of Tokyo bay. It might have appeared to the Japanese to be an obvious hiding place for remnants of its once great Navy.

No Reports Available

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique today reported briefly that carrier pilots "launched a heavy attack on combatant shipping off Yokosuka" and added "no report of damage to targets is yet available."

Although he made no elaboration, it seemed highly probable that the combatant ships included at least some of the few warships left to the empire.

The world's greatest naval force, the combined U. S. and British Pacific fleets, has been bombing and bombarding Honshu and Hokkaido unchallenged — but hoping for a meeting with anything the Nipponese war lords dared send out. It is certain that carrier pilots were looking anxiously for Japanese warships. Nimitz' communique indicates they probably found them.

Steam Close Inshore

Nimitz also reported that both American and British carrier planes, comprising the world's greatest striking force, carried their assaults on the Tokyo region into the second successive day yesterday and that an American cruiser-destroyer force steamed close inshore to shell Nojima cape, only 50 miles southeast of Tokyo at the entrance to Tokyo bay.

The bombardment carried into the third straight day the fleet's attack on the Tokyo region. The shelling begun at 11 p. m., Wednesday night, Tokyo time, continued until early this morning (about noon Wednesday, eastern war time.)

Nimitz also disclosed that while coordinating their attacks, American and British carrier planes struck separate targets in Tuesday's combined 1,500 aircraft assault.

Hit Western Honshu

British aircraft crossed Honshu to strike its western coast, north of Tokyo, in the first carrier plane attack on western Honshu.

Remnants of Japan's once great Navy — reduced by repeated defeats to one of the world's smallest — had been hiding desperately, under camouflage, since it was administered one of history's worst beatings off the Philippines last October.

In three separate actions Oct. 24 and 25, the U. S. Third Fleet under Adm. William F. Halsey, jr., and the Seventh Fleet under

Second Session Of Big Three Blanketed In Secrecy, Pacific Victory Believed Pressed

POTSDAM, July 18 (AP)—Three veterans of old battlefields — President Truman, Premier Stalin, and Prime Minister Churchill —conferred again late today, with Allied victory in the Pacific a pressing goal.

This second formal meeting of the Big Three was as heavily blanketed by security as yesterdays, but the trend of thought among the American and British delegations seemed to make it certain that the ways and means for Japan's defeat would be fully aired before the Soviet leader.

Confer Separately

Earlier in the day, Truman conferred separately with Churchill and Stalin.

The day's events indicated the leaders were agreed upon reaching as promtly as possible full agreement on the issues facing them—issues upon which a speedier end of the war with Japan and the future peace of Europe may depend.

Truman, the presiding officer of the tri-power sessions, seeks as his chief goals a quicker triumph over Japan and the bulwarking of peace through solution of long-standing disputes.

He lunched today with Churchill, and then later with Stalin. He was accompanied at the second luncheon by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Talk Cordially

Truman and Churchill talked cordially on the terrace while photographs were taken, and then lunched inside at a table set for two. When Truman was leaving, Byrnes emerged from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's house next door, where he had lunched, and met the President at the entrance. The British delegation did not say how long Churchill and Truman conferred, nor was there any hint of their topics.

Stalin was host to the President at 3 p. m. at a comparatively brief luncheon, but there were evidences that it was cordial.

Byrnes, Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, the President's military and naval aides, Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan and Capt. James K. Vardaman, jr., and Charles E. Bohlen, State department Russian experts, also were guests of Stalin.

Price Controls On Airplanes Lifted

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The OPA today suspended, effective immediately, price control of airplanes and most aircraft parts.

In suspending, rather than terminating, price control, the agency said controls would be re-established "if prices increase in an inflationary manner."

U. S. Denies Getting Jap Peace Offers

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The State department today reaffirmed a statement of July 10 that no official or unofficial peace offers have come from the Japanese government.

The statement was made by department spokesmen in reply to newsmens' questions about reports that Generalissimo Stalin had brought a Japanese meditation request to the Big Three meeting now going on at Potsdam.

The questions submitted were:

"Is it still true that no peace offers have been received from Japan?"

"Has Marshal Stalin brought any Japanese peace feelers to the Big Three meeting?"

The spokesman's reply was that the statement by acting Secretary Grew on July 10, denying any Japanese peace offers from responsible sources, still stands.

Price Markup For Clothing Approved

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The prospect of more inexpensive cotton clothing led paradoxically to a boost in retail prices for such items.

The OPA announced that because of "the continued expansion of the low cost clothing program" it has become necessary to allow retailers to add a larger markup to wholesale price ceilings, effective August 17.

Explaining, the agency said that since merchants are handling an increasingly larger proportion of low and medium-priced merchandise, many "are less able" to get along on the lower markups.

Japs Say Mauling 'Insane' Trick To Boost War Effort

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18. (AP)—Tokyo radio tonight called the continuing Anglo-American fleet and air mauling of the Tokyo area "insane" and "spasmodic" and said it was just a trick to revive a lagging American war effort.

B-29s could be doing the job just as well, the Japanese commentator averred.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications commission was in English and beamed to North America.

It scoffed at Adm. Chester W. Minitz' recent assertion that the attack is to ring Japan in by air and sea and blot out her war resources.

"It is insane in the first place to think that one can effect a blockade o. the air and sea completely and destroy the resources of a country like Japan by means of a spasmodic raid or bombardment," the unidentified commentator asserted.

Use Of Wild Olives Is Urged By Chemist

McALLEN, July 18. (AP) — Since the days of the Spanish explorers the wild olive, known in Spanish as "Nacahuita," has grown unhindered along the Texas border, its bleached white blossoms in the spring a familiar sign.

Now a chemist has taken some of the fruit, which had been accounted inedible, and pickled it. He says the results are so good that an olive processing plant should be established in the valley.

D. G. Ulrey, who came here from Florida recently after 23 years of research work to join the staff of a local by-products plant, did the pickling. He says the olives can be picked in four days to become a non-toxic table fruit.

Crushing Power Of Anglo-American Aerial Teamwork May Soon Be Turned On Japs

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Thursday, July 19 — Japan may soon feel the crushing power of American-British heavy bombing teamwork which figured so largely in bringing Germany to its knees.

Even while British naval carrier planes struck beside U. S. Third Fleet fliers in pounding the Tokyo area this week, air officials of the two nations studied the prospective tie-up of big British bombers with American Superforts in strikes at Nippon.

Conferences Completed

The completion of conferences between Lt. Gen. Barney M Giles, deputy commander of the U. S. Army Strategic Air forces (USASTAF), and British Air Marshal Sir Hugh Lloyd was announced yesterday.

Their meetings performed spadework for "the possible assignment of a British heavy bombing force to work under USASTAF," said the announcement from Giles' office.

Should the British put a force of bombers, such as the giant Lancasters that hammered Germany, into the Pacific war, it would make a total of at least 10 Allied tactical and strategic air groups already blasting the Japanese homeland, or preparing to do so.

20th Now Most Powerful

Most powerful of the bombing fleets to date is the U. S. 20th Air force Superfort strength based in the Marianas. It already has destroyed or damaged more than 150 square miles of Japanese cities' production areas.

Strikes by Ryukus-based Army and Navy planes, reported from various sources yesterday, sank or damaged at least 36 small Japanese craft in waters around Kyushu, southernmost Japanese main island, and Korea.

Other planes hitting Kyushu itself and small islands between Okinawa and Japan downed an enemy plane and damaged railroad and airfield installations.

Fleet Reenters Scrap On Borneo

MANILA, Thursday, June 19. (AP) — Units of the U. S. Seventh Fleet have returned to the battle of eastern Borneo, bombarding Japanese shore positions deep in Balikpapan bay, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Three troublesome Japanese gun positions and four barges were destroyed in the shelling, which high-lighted operations strengthening Allied control of the strategic bay area.

Australian troops across the bay west of Balikpapan pushed seven miles inland along the Riko river, clearing territory from which the enemy might harass operations in the bay. Patrols found the retreating Japanese were abandoning supplies and equipment.

Massing In Northeast

There was nothing new from the front northeast of Balikpapan, where the Australians were believed to be marshaling their forces for a big push against the rich oil fields of Sambodja and Samarinda.

In western Borneo, rapid progress inland was reported by the original Australian invading force on the big island.

MacArthur's communique said that his forces drove 30 miles inland from the captured Miri and Seria oil fields and captured Marudi, a town of 6,000 population. The advance was unopposed.

Continued patrol action and mopping up was reported on Luzon and Mindanao in the Philippines.

Faith Takes Over As Jap Victim Weakens

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT FORTH, July 18. — A small cottage at Fort Worth's edge was a mighty rampart of Christian faith tonight.

In a darkened bedroom, Cpl. James E. Newman was losing ground in his fight against diseases he contracted during three wretched years in a Japanese prison camp.

Dr. Jack Daly, his physician, said he had taken a turn for the worse — that his condition is grave.

But in the cramped parlor of the cottage, where Newman's family kept vigil, there was unwavering faith.

"We have turned him over to the Lord," Mrs. Newman, a stout, black-haired woman, whispered. "The Lord has saved him so far—the Lord will bring him the rest of the way."

On the walls of the linoleum-floored parlor where the family waited and hoped, were religious pictures. A card, caught under the frame of one of the pictures, asked: "Did you pray yet today?"

From the closed adjoining bedroom came the hum of an air conditioning unit and from time to time the family could hear the sharp, labored cough of Corporal Newman.

Above Newman's brown steel bed was the picture of an American flag and below it there was a colored reproduction of the famed flag-raising at Iwo Jima.

From his bed, the corporal could see the boxes and boxes of letters that had brought hopes and prayers and checks from all parts of

Jap Losses In Men Run Into Millions

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP) — American and British forces have killed or taken prisoner some 1,500,000 Japanese to clear the way for what Admiral Nimitz calls the "pre-invasion stage," official figures indicated today.

An estimated 600,000 others have been cut off or by-passed on Pacific islands. Still thousands of others have perished in China.

(Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek reported recently that 1,203,067 Japanese either have been killed or captured in eight years of fighting in China.)

Army and Navy reports based on actual counts and estimates, show that land fighting and transport strikings in the American-British operations areas have accounted for 1,141,500 Japanese. The most recent estimate of Japanese naval losses adds 262,000 men to that figure.

In some cases, the figures are not quite up to date and full reports are expected to push the total beyond the 1,500,000 mark.

Despite these losses, the Japanese are still estimated to have 5 to 10 million men, including the cream of the emperor's army, for the defense of the empire. Little else is left, however. The air force has been whittled down to a first line combat organization of probably 4,000 planes and the Navy virtually has ceased to exist as a real combatant force.

The biggest dent in Japanese manpower was made in the Philippines where 419,090 of a force of 450,000 were reported to have been wiped out. The remainder are being hunted down and exterminated.

Bretton Woods Opposition Beaten In First Senate Test On Measure

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—A solid phalanx of Democrats and a handful of Republicans flattened opposition to the Bretton Woods monetary legislation in its first Senate test today.

Rallying to the call of Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky), the Senate rejected, 52 to 31, a motion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to postpone action on the House-approved fund-bank bill.

The result apparently indicated early Senate approval of the measure without major amendments.

Taft Asks Delay

The legislation would authorize United States participation in a $9,100,000,000 world bank to help nations finance reconstruction and an $8,800,000,000 fund to stabilize currencies.

Taft asked that action be postponed until Nov. 15 to await the convening of a world trade conference by the proposed United Nations organization.

In the meantime, he argued, emergency economic aid to Europe will be channeled through the export-import bank and lend-lease operations. He cited unanimous approval by the banking committee earlier in the day of a House-passed bill boosting the export-import bank's capital from $700,000,000 to $3,500,000,000.

Barkley replied that because 65 per cent of the 44 nations which took part in the Bretton Woods conference must signify their official approval of the bank-fund setup before Dec. 31, adoption of the Taft motion would kill the agreement. He contended another international conference would have to be held to revive it.

Taft's motion found support in the debate from such exponents of opposite views on foreign affairs as Senator Brooks (R-Ill) and Senator Ball (R-Minn).

Brooks, a long-time critic of the Democratic administration's foreign policies, asserted that a vote on the bill ought to be delayed until President Truman concludes his conference at Potsdam, Germany, with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Crop Insurance On Winter Wheat Will Be Available Soon

Federal insurance on winter wheat will be available soon in every winter wheat producing county in the area, R. A. Boyd, chairman of the Lubbock Agriculture Adjustment agency committee, said Wednesday.

Meetings have been held in every county to set up sales and administrative organizations by Federal Crop Insurance Corporation representatives, AAA committeemen and other sales agents.

This will be the first opportunity since 1943 for Lubbock county farmers to obtain all-risk insurance on winter wheat. Contracts were written on the 1945 spring wheat crop, following revival of the insurance program late in December.

Under the winter wheat insurance, farmers have a choice of two contracts of three years each. One offers coverage up to 75 per cent of the average yield—the other up to 50 per cent. The amount of the coverage varies with the stage of the crop's development. Premiums are payable annually by cash or premium notes.

Any person with an interest in a winter wheat crop is asked to apply through the county AAA office, 14th and Ave. Q, or through a sales agent appointed by the county committee.

The deadline for receiving applications in Lubbock county is August 31 or before the crop is seeded, whichever is earlier.

Eight Nazi Prisoners Condemned To Death

WASHINGTON, July 18. (U.P.)—Eight Nazi prisoners of war in this country condemned to death by Army court martials are awaiting hanging pending Presidential confirmation of their sentences, it was learned today at the War department.

Seven others already have been hanged in an elevator shaft at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

All but one were convicted of murders of other Germans in prisoner of war camps in the United States for expressing anti-Nazi views.

Five of the victims were brutally murdered by the German kangaroo courts. They were Hugo Krause at Camp Hearne, Tex.; Werner Dreschler, Papago Park, Ariz.; Hans Geller, Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Horst Gunther, Camp Gordon, Ga.; and Johanne Kunze, Tonkawa, Okla.

A sixth man, Wendelin Schiller, was murdered at Camp Leonard Wood, Mo.

Five were executed at Leavenworth on July 10 for the murder of Kunze. They were the first prisoners of war ever executed in this country for crimes after their capture.

Two others, Rudolph Straub and Erich Gauss, were hanged four days later for murdering Gunther.

From 1928 until she resigned in 1944 she was national Democratic committeewoman from Texas. She was president and owner of the Corpus Christi Bank and Trust company and a director of the Corpus Christi National bank.

She built the Driscoll hotel in Corpus Christi and managed extensive ranching and oil properties of the famed Robert Driscoll estate.

Trips Abroad For Wives Of Soldiers OK'd By Majority

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Wives whose husbands are stationed aboard with the American occupation forces look forward to the day when they may be permitted to visit their husbands, but the question is—who will pay for such trips?

If the government were to pay the cost of transporting wives overseas, the money would of course have to come eventually from the taxpayers. How does the public feel about that? A poll by the Institute finds that the reaction is mixed. The largest number say the government should pay, but it is not a majority. About one-third believe that the cost should be born in whole or part by the servicemen or their families.

GALLUP

People in the survey were questioned as follows:

"It has been suggested that wives of servicemen be permitted to visit their husbands who have to stay abroad to police conquered countries. Do you approve or disapprove of this plan?"

Approve	64%
Disapprove	29
No Opinion	7

"How do you think these trips should be paid for — by the government or by the people themselves?"

Government should pay	42%
People should pay	30
Gov't and families share cost	5
No Opinion	23

When General Eisenhower was asked about such visits upon his arrival here last month, he said that living conditions in Germany were still too chaotic to warrant any immediate encouragement of trips there.

The British, however, are reported to be contemplating plans to allow wives and families of British occupation troops to pay short visits to Europe. The ban of the British and American armies against troops fraternizing with Germans has stimulated interest in proposals to allow such visits.

Crews of some of the Liberator bombers have spent as much as $150-$200 to have a name and a design painted on the spacious noses of their planes.

Charter Should Be Ratified, Says Former President Herbert Hoover

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18. (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover stated tonight that the San Francisco charter should be ratified by the Senate.

The charter, he said in an address prepared for delivery over the Columbia Broadcasting system, (6 p. m., cwt) "is better than Dumbarton Oaks and is probably as good as could be obtained under the existing emotions, the present governments, the conflicting ideals and ambitions in the world."

Many Weaknesses Cited

But, he declared, "there are many weaknesses in the charter," and he urged specifically that "somewhere along the line there must be a definition by the Congress of the powers" of the United States representative on the world security council.

The former President contended: "While there need be little worry about our representative using our military forces for minor police incidents, yet the Congress should never part with its powers to declare war. . . . His authority should be defined so that the delegate is in some way responsible to Congress before our country is committed to war."

No Positive Bill Of Rights

These points Mr. Hoover described as weaknesses in the charter:

"There is no positive bill of rights for nations and men, but only a mere suggestion that they should be promoted. . . .

"The charter does not recover the principles of the Atlantic charter which were whittled away at Tehran and after Yalta. . . .

"The charter fails to define aggression even in the admirable terms settled by the Soviet government for inclusion in its treaties of eleven years ago. . . .

"It does not even mention the new disintegrating forms of aggression of one nation upon another through propaganda and fifth columns."

"These weaknesses," the former President commented, "point the directions in which there should be amendment over the years to come."

"The plain fact," Mr. Hoover emphasized, is that peace rests upon continued collaboration of Washington, London and Moscow, "and it will rest there for many years to come. The charter will offer a forum for world opinion and advice to these responsible powers. . . . This collaboration will require much patience, it will require great firmness, it will take time and much good will to find lasting solutions after the high emotions of war, of national ambitions, of differing national purposes."

Confederate Pension Rolls Are Increased

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP) — Texas' Confederate veterans' pension rolls have increased from $59,000 monthly to $85,000 under individual pension boosts authorized at the last general session of the legislature.

Increased payments began in May for the 24 veterans and 1,655 widows.

J. H. Taylor, chief of the veterans' pension division of the comptroller's office, estimates veterans will continue to draw payments for 10 more years and that some widows will remain on the rolls two decades from now, based on current mortality rates.

Financing the program is no problem to the state. The veterans' pension fund, financed by a state property tax of two cents per $100 valuation, has a $3,000,000 balance.

Increased monthly payments authorized by the legislature were:

$150 (from $80) for married veterans living outside of the state home. Only three now draw pensions.

$100 (from $50) to unmarried veterans. There are 21 in this classification.

$26 (from $15) for residents of the state veterans' home. There are none in the home.

$50 (from $30) for widows who live outside of the state home. There are 1,595 of these.

$25 (from $15) for widows in the state home. There are about 60 in this category.

Cotton Progress In Texas Varied

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP) — Rains during the first half of July gave adequate moisture to all crop districts in Texas except to southern counties, scattered counties on the Edwards Plateau and high plains.

Some areas, said the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a report for the week ending July 16, received too much rain, including the north-central and eastern districts where field work was delayed.

South-central and southeastern areas had a fairly good balance.

Wheat harvest was nearing completion in the high plains. Threshing was delayed in other areas.

Cotton progress was varied. The peak of harvest was reached in lower Rio Grande valley counties. With much premature opening as the result of hot, dry weather. Conditions were more favorable and progress satisfactory in most of south-central and southeastern areas, although boll weevils were causing considerable damage in a number of counties. Picking was becoming general in the Corpus Christi area. Frequent rains were causing excessive plant growth at the expense of fruiting, and promoting increased boll weevil activity in the blacklands and eastern districts.

Cotton Growing Nicely

Cotton in the low rolling plains of the northwest, while unusually late, was growing nicely following improved moisture conditions. Some counties in the area were damaged by washing rains and open weather was needed for cultivation The crop in the north and south high plains, on a drastically reduced acreage, was making fair to good progress following rains and cooled weather. Except for locally heavy hail damage in El Paso county, the crop in the irrigated trans-Pecos area continued in good condition.

Late planted corn continued to make good progress, and earlier acreage was matured.

Conditions were favorable for land preparation and planting of sorghums on the high plains, and growing crops were benefitted by recent rains.

All rice districts reported good crop progress.

Harvest of cantaloups and watermelons continued active in most mid-season districts and was getting started in some of the late areas.

Good crops of potatoes and onions were expected in most of the Panhandle area with harvest in the earliest districts getting started.

Range and livestock conditions were very good and stock water was plentiful over most of the state. The exceptions were a few upper south high plains counties, parts of the Edwards Plateau and the southern portion of the state, where rainfall was spotted and the long period of drouth remained unbroken. Livestock losses continued very light.

Should Congress Provide Health and Old-age Insurance for All?

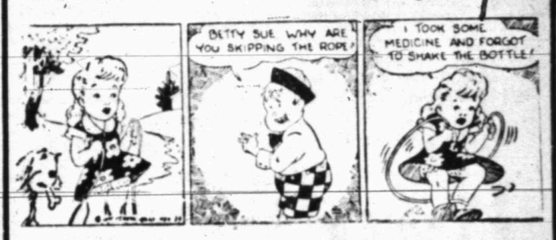

"Yes!"—William Green
(President, American Federation of Labor)

"No!"—Dr. Morris Fishbein
(Editor, Journal of American Medical Association)

Those in favor say present methods of preventing poverty and suffering in sickness and old age leave large numbers of people unprotected. That only the Federal Government can see that everyone is cared for. Those against it fear that such a scheme would regiment doctors, kill initiative; make the sick mere units in a cold, unfriendly medical production line. What do you think? Hear both sides of this controversial question tonight when William Green and Representative John D. Dingell clash with Dr. Morris Fishbein and Dewitt H. The Woman's Angle

(In the absence of Margaret Turner, Avalanche-Journal woman's editor now on leave, this column today was written by Opal Dixson.

If you tell the truth you don't have to remember anything. — Mark Twain.

* * *

MUCH has been said as to the status of women, and this columnist today presents her voice in the rising tide for the further recognition of women—within the circles of industry.

Industry would be in a bad shape without women. Now, wouldn't it?

Without women in industry, the world would be in a bad shape. Now, wouldn't it?

Let's leave women out of the picture for one day—or imagine it. Correspondence would virtually cease. Stores would be without many of their most outstanding clerks, some of the bank windows would be closed, customers would be unable to find anyone in the outer offices of our dentists, our doctors, our college officials, our bankers, and our pastors.

The cogs would slow down considerably in our wheels of industry should women pass out.

* * *

It is widely known that women give more attention to details than men, and many errors would creep into the wheels of industry were it not for these details that women attend to.

Then there is the matter of voting. Some may wonder what a woman knows about elections and voting—that is, some men may. Except for the assiduity of women, many unworthy citizens might creep into our public offices.

Then, even in the church. Her, too, woman is "Assiduous in her attendance" (Addison). Attending to many of the details of helpfulness of fellow beings, of seeing that the needy are attended to properly, of careful study of the gospel and of patterning their lives thereafter, too. We do not mean to indicate that men, too, are not attentive to these things, but men frequently are occupied with industry, with the aspects of the business world, and leave these things to their womenfolk, more.

* * *

There are several good protections against temptations, but the surest is cowardice. — Mark Twain.

* * *

LET'S talk over this question of barelegs, and leg makeup, in today's business world. There are some women who, religiously, wear hose day after day, year after year, only to learn some day they are spending needless money and showing needless modesty in wearing stockings when those around are elseways.

It seems solely a matter of individual taste, not a question of modesty, or immodesty, whether women wear hosiery in today's business—and social circles. That is, that apparently is what the women have decided and men apparently have placed their stamp of approval by permitting socks and bare legs in their offices, and their homes.

As for the question of leg make-up, it's a pretty thin veneer to bareness, but if the women like it, that's their business.

* * *

What a good thing Adam had—when he said a good thing he knew nobody had said it before.—Mark Twain.

* * *

This pinch-hitter hopes the regular writer of this column is enjoying her vacation. She needs a rest, and we hope she is finding pleasure in accepting some of the many invitations she has had to visit her friends during her leave period.

New Tires For A-Card Holders In Prospect By February Or March

WASHINGTON, July 18. (U.P.)—Rubber Director John L. Collyer predicted today that some A-card holders may obtain new tires by next February or March, if present production goals are met.

Tires have not been available to A-card holders since July 1943.

In a farewell press conference, Collyer said 25,000,000 passenger car tires were scheduled for production this year—or "little more than essential replacement needs."

Natural Rubber Needed

Collyer based his estimated that some A-card holders would get new tires early next year on the expectation that some 3,000,000 tires above essential needs would be available at the end of 1945 and the expected increased production in the early months of 1946.

He emphasized that at least 75,000 tons of natural rubber must be obtained from newly liberated areas in the Far East if 1946 needs are to be met.

No. 1 Problem

"This is a must," he said. "Without this, we can't squeeze by. We look on the supply of natural rubber as the number one problem."

Collyer revealed that between 2,000 and 3,000 tons of natural rubber already had been obtained from the Philippines and Burma. He said Allied military progress in rubber-rich Borneo was "encouraging."

He added that this government hoped that considerable stores of rubber had been put away in Borneo, either underground or under water. The United States, he said, "won't wait to get equipment in there, but we'll throw the rubber on ships in wet form and bring it home for sorting and treatment."

Wilson Named Successor

Production Chief J. A. Krug meanwhile announced that Robert S. Wilson, vice president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., will succeed Collyer.

Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., is leaving government service to return to private industry. He took over the job last March when the tire production program was in serious straits.

In his final report to Krug, Collyer said military and minimum essential civilian requirements for tires and other rubber products can be met this year and next "under programs now in effect."

Work Stoppages Harmful

He cited work stoppages and manpower shortages as principal obstacles facing the industry in attaining the 1945 tire goals.

A shortage of natural rubber looms for 1946, Collyer said, but the government is initiating programs to gain new rubber resources in liberated areas in the Pacific.

He presented the following 1945-1946 tire picture—the brightest spot of which was ample tires for farm needs:

1. Truck tires—overall surpluses over minimum requirements but "substantial deficits" in the remaining half of 1945 for three important groups.

2. Passenger tires—25,000,000 for 1945, as compared with 18,900,000 in 1944, or little more than essential replacement needs, which are are estimated at 20,000,000 for 1945 and 22,000,000 for 1946.

3. Farm tractor and implement tires—ample for food producers. Estimated 1945 production of 2,300,000 tires as compared to last year's record 2,105,000.

Bosox Ace Hangs Up 16th Victory

BOSTON, July 18. (AP) — Two freaky breaks cheated Dave (Boo) Ferriss out of his sixth shutout today as he gained his 16th win of his freshman season by pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 6-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Ferriss had the Chisox blanked with one out in the ninth. Then Johnny Dickshot and Tony Cuccinello singled. After Cris Hockett fouled out, Cass Michaels popped in short right and Dickshot scored as it landed safely. Cuccinello countered when Mike Tresh's grounder bounced over Eddie Lake's head.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

CHICAGO, July 18. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers exploded on Lon Warneke's comeback attempt, 9-5, after the league-leading Chicago Cubs triumphed 5-0 in the opener of a twin bill today witnessed by the largest week day crowd at Wrigley Field in 15 years, 42,047 paid fans.

The split left the Bruins three and a half games ahead of the third-place Dodgers and three games ahead of the second-spot St. Louis Cardinals, who faced the Philadelphia Phils in a doubleheader tonight.

Eight pitchers paraded to the mound in the nightcap which the Dodgers cinched with two big innings—the sixth in which the Brooks shelled Warneke from the mound with a four-run attack and the seventh in which Dixie Walker belted a three-run double.

Warneke was charged with the defeat. Starter Cy Buker was the winner although he yielded to Tom Seats in the seventh when the Cubs pushed across three runs to shave Brooklyn's lead to 7-5. Seats also had to be spelled in the seventh and Ralph Branca finished the game.

Manager Leo (Lippy) Durocher of the Dodgers was chased from the field by Umpire Ziggy Sears for over-zealous protest against a time-out called in the first inning of the finale.

In the opener Ray Prim hurled his second straight shutout and permitted only one Dodger to advance past second. Prim, who scattered seven hits, blanked Boston with a four-hitter last Friday. It was Chicago's seventeenth triumph in 19 starts.

Rotary Defeats Lions Club, 9-1

Rotary's junior baseball nine backed up good fielding with base hits on the right spots to defeat the Lions club 8-1 at the Boys' club Wednesday afternoon for its first win of the second half race.

Gerald Hise led the Rotary offensive, getting two of Rotary's five hits.

With one out, Marlin Smith walked in the first inning. After he had stolen second, Hise sacrificed him to third. With two out, Whitehead grounded to short, Smith scoring. Wells struck out to retire the side.

Holding the Lions scoreless, the Rotarians picked up another tally in the third, and two more in the fourth.

The only Lion run of the game came in the bottom of the fifth after one was out. J. Craig singled, and went to second on error. B. Craig and Potts reached bases safely on two consecutive errors, J. Craig scoring on the last.

Rotary picked up another pair of runs in the sixth on an error, a triple by Cotman, a single, and a passed ball. The final two scores were added in the seventh.

Several times during the first five innings the Lions made definite threats at scoring. Good pitching by Jimmy Wells and heads up fielding, however, retired the last man with men on second and third.

At Chapman field, Shallowater's National league nine forfeited to Dickinson Motor company 9-0. Manager Hack Galey, however, said that in the future—barring rain—that the Shallowater team would be present for the scheduled games.

The line score:

ROTARY	101 202 2—8 5
LIONS	000 010 0—1 6

Mr. Golf Sidelined For St. Paul Open

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 18. (AP)—Golfdom's big money winner, Byron Nelson of Toledo, today bowed out of the St. Paul Open tournament because of a back injury suffered in a recent driving contest.

Nelson came here from Sioux City, Ia., where he shot a 68 in an exhibition, to undergo examination by Mayo Clinic physicians. Reports on the examination were not available but Nelson told tournament officials that it would be impossible for him to take part in the quest for $10,000 worth of war bonds.

Nelson said he did not know how long he would be out of action because of the sore back.

Pistol Shell Cause Andersson's Failure

STOCKHOLM, July 18. (AP)—Swedish sports writers and radio commentators are certain that an empty cartridge case is all that kept Gunder Haegg or Arne Andersson from running the long-sought four minute mile at Malmo yesterday.

As it was, Haegg was timed in a new world record time of 4:01.4.

The case of the cartridge, apparently expended at the start of a previous race, was stepped on by Andersson, holder of the world record broken by Haegg. Andersson was unable to dislodge the case from his spiked shoe and ran virtually the entire distance with an uneven stride.

Just before he hit the tape, Haegg glanced back to see what had become of Andersson, who finished in 4:02.1. After taking another full turn around the track, Haegg told newsmen that "I could have made four minutes tonight if there had been more competition."

SPAAF Softball Ten Romps Over Jaycees

One-hit victories continue to be a habit with the South Plains Army Air field softball ten, but there was a new face in the picture, Wednesday afternoon as Adam Oleksiak pitched one-hit ball to defeat the Junior Chamber of Commerce club 16 to 3 at SPAAF.

It was the third win of the year for SPAAF, and left the club as the only undefeated team in the city. SPAAF uncorked a 16-hit attack against the Jaycees, two of them home runs by Greenwald and Park.

Supreme Court Rules On Several Cases And Plans Summer Recess

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—The state Supreme court today passed on several cases of statewide application, withdrew a recent opinion on a workman's compensation case and substituted another, and prepared to recess until fall.

The Court of Criminal Appeals has recessed until October, and the Third Court of Civil Appeals gave notice that cases filed after today will not be heard before Oct. 3. The Supreme court formally adjourned until Saturday, when it presumably will announce a summer recess.

Compensation Case

In the workmen's compensation case, an opinion by Associate Justice Gordon Simpson in effect upheld "liberal construction" of the law by the industrial accident board in favor of an injured employe.

The opinion noted that this portion of the statute is somewhat ambiguous, and commented that the board for many years has placed a liberal interpretation upon it and is entitled to the "highest respect of the courts" in this position.

Mandamus Right Denied

The decision affirmed a district court judgment holding that the lower court had no right to issue a write of mandamus to compel the board to approve a compromise agreement between the workman, O. E. Glenn, and the Petroleum Casualty company. Under the agreement, the workman would have received less compensation for an alleged injury than he would have under the industrial accident board's interpretation of the law.

Other cases disposed of by the court included:

Accepted for review a suit involving the right of a city (Corpus Christi) to pass an ordinance requiring that drive-it-yourself auto companies post indemnity bonds both for owners and drivers of their autos before they are issued licenses.

Potter Hospital Bonds

Left standing a Court of Civil Appeals ruling that Potter county does not have the right to call and redeem $250,000 in county hospital bonds, prior to their maturity.

Upheld the validity of a statute granting the Lower Colorado River authority the right to make payments in lieu of taxes on property acquired for generating, transmitting and distributing electric power, when such property was previously on the rolls of taxing agencies, and in the same amount as previously taxed.

Mickey Rooney Puts On Show In Potsdam

Rooney, with the one-time child film singer, Bobby Breen, and Jimmy James' band and a troupe of sixty enlisted men, had been scheduled to open an engagement in Berlin. But the "high brass" called him here for two nights.

Cafe Owners Get No Sympathy From OPA

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The OPA doesn't see restaurant owners going broke because of reduced red ration points.

Even with less meat and sugar, the public still has to eat, James G. Rogers, jr., acting OPA administrator, philosophized in a letter to Rep. Anderson (R-Calif), made public today.

Moreover, says Rogers, most restaurants have expanded and made more money during the war than they ever made before.

Rogers letter was in connection with a wire from the San Francisco Restaurant association asking for a rescinding or postponement of new regulations alloting ration points for such institutions. The wire was placed in the Congressional Record by Anderson.

"We greatly regret the fact that certain foods are in short supply," Rogers said. "We believe, however, the restaurant keepers of the country as well as the public must recognize the fact that the demands of the armed forces come first."

Rogers said that when more meat and sugar become available, restaurants will get their share.

Remodeling Work For Bank And Drug Store Under Way In City

Both located in the half-million dollar National Bank building at 916 Main—the Lubbock National Bank and Lubbock Drug Co. will be expanded by construction work that will be completed in approximately 30 days, it has been announced.

The drug store, of which J. M. Moreau is manager, will move into larger quarters immediately west of its present location, a 25 by 125 foot space that has been utilized as a kitchen demonstration room by West Texas Gas company. The gas company will continue to use the remainder of its corner location at Main and Texas.

The bank will absorb the relinquished space now occupied by the drug store, utilizing the 25 by 80 foot location for enlargement of its FHA department and perhaps others, bank officials said.

W. G. McMillan, contractor, said that construction work had been slowed somewhat by difficulty of receiving building supplies, but that the work probably could be completed by mid-August.

The drug store will have two front entrances, one service entrance to the kitchen, on the alley. New fire doors will allow of continued service of the store's cigar and tobacco counter both from the building's main lobby and the drug store, and there will be an entrance from the lobby to the store. Prescription and kitchen departments will be enlarged, and fixtures added.

Lubbock National building was completed five years ago the last week in September. C. E. Maedgen, bank president, soon will return to his desk, bank officials said. He has undergone surgery twice since late April.

Okinawa Airmen

bombers of the Seventh AAF hit Nabeoka, 50 miles north of Miyazaki on the east coast, blasting rail facilities and at least one bridge.

Nabeoka is a city of 80,000 ppoulation and the center of rayon, chemical and explosive factories. Mitchells and Mustangs scored direct hits on other railroad bridges, factories and an oil refinery in the Tsuma area, on Kyushu's east central coast.

More than 50 Thunderbolt fighters made an 85-mile sweep against assorted targets between Fukushima and Tomitaki on the west coast. They hit factories, two trains and power plants.

Blows at Formosa

Other American aircraft continued delivering hard blows against Formosa, striking ammunition storage facilities at Mako and industrial installations and comunications on other parts of the island. Factories near Tainan, on the Pescadores island west of Formosa, also were bombed.

Other Liberators of the Fifth Air force scored hits with 500-pound bombs on factories at Canton, China, causing one large explosion and several smaller eruptions.

Two Mariners of the Seventh Fleet air units sank or damaged several junks off Swatow and Hong Kong, on the China coast. Other Liberators hit rail targets in Indo-China and destroyed two small freighters at Kuching in Sarawak, Borneo.

MUNITIONS TAPER OFF

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The War Production board today gave industry a munitions worksheet calling for 1945 production to be gradually tapered down to $3,400,000,000 in December, 70 per cent of the March wartime peak.

Carrier Assaults

Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, sank or damaged 59 Japanese warships including more than a dozen carriers and battleships, out of a total force of 61 warcraft which dared to attempt to smash the Philippines' invasion force.

Recently, Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, commander of famous Carrier Task Force 58, said the Japanese naval remnants were hiding "under camouflage" but gave no indication whether the U. S. Navy knew its whereabouts.

Estimate On Remnants

U. S. naval authorities have estimated that the Japanese have less than 10 carriers, including escort flattops, four to six battleships, including old dreadnoughts, and not many cruisers or destroyers.

What remained of the Japanese Navy, including many damaged ships, after the October battle, went into hiding immediately and consistently refused all challenges since.

On March 18, Mitscher's carrier planes discovered some of the enemy ships hiding in the inland sea of Japan and in a daring raid sank the 45,000-ton battleship Yamoto, two cruisers and several destroyers and destroyer escorts.

The Japanese ships apparently moved after that and their whereabouts had been undisclosed until Nimitz' communique today reported they were brought under attack by Vice Adm. John S. McCain's Carri Task Force 38 pilots.

Yokosuka naval base probably was the most obvious place for the ships to have sought to hide—inside Tokyo bay—for it possibly was the last place the enemy would expect American forces to seek it.

Antiaircraft fire, intense and accurate, from the Japanese warships presumably was the only enemy resistance to any of the new American attacks.

Many hours later, Radio Tokyo in a propaganda broadcast beamed to North America, scoffed at the carrier raids and bombardment as designed to boost American morale, which it described as unsatisfactory to U. S. war leaders.

"The enemy tactic . . . has been sized up by the Japanese command and was found not worth meeting," the unidentified propagandist said, adding that the Japanese command is determined not to act, no matter how great the "enemy provocation." He described this as a "wait and see" policy."

Corporal Newman

the country. More than 6,000 letters.

The letters proved, Mrs. Newman has said, that people in every state were praying for her boy.

"I didn't know people could be so good," she declared. "A can of boneless chicken came from Ennis, Tex. A mother there had sent it to her son at Iwo Jima but before it reached him the boy was killed and she got the chicken back. She sent it to my son — said she just wanted him to have it."

Mrs. Newman pointed to a photograph on the parlor table.

"That was my son before he joined the Army," she said wistfully. "That's a sweatshirt he was wearing. He used to swim a lot and play golf—he weighed about 170 pounds then."

Terrible Contrast

The photograph—likeness of a tanned, strapping athlete six feet two inches tall—was a terrible contrast to the white, wasted, 92-pound figure in the bedroom.

But there had been some terrible years. Years that brought malnutrition, beri-beri and tuberculosis of the lungs and throat and stomach.

Newman was 18 when he enlisted in the Army seven years ago. He fought at Bataan, made the "March of Death," starved for three years in a Jap prison camp in the Philippines. At New Guinea, where he was taken, after liberation, the doctors said he would die. But he didn't die. In March he was returned to the United States and was taken to Bruns General hospital at Santa Fe, N. Mex.

His father, a Fort Worth railroad employe, and his mother went to New Mexico and begged the hospital officials to let their boy be sent home.

Told Case Hopeless

"They told me his case was absolutely hopeless," Mrs. Newman recounted. "They said he couldn't live through any sort of trip. I told them at least he could die happy—on his way home."

So on July 2, Corporal Newman came home, home by Army plane to the white cottage with its patch of lawn curled and browned by the Texas heat. Home, where he could look out his window and see a garden of corn, shining in the sun.

"I know he's going to get well," Mrs. Newman said. "He told me he can't die because too many good people are praying for him. I know the Lord is listening to all those prayers. Only a mother could know how I feel—my heart is plumb full of gratitude."

Dreams Are All Right

But Let's Keep Our Powder Dry

THE eyes of the entire civilized world are focused on the Big Three meeting in Potsdam, as millions of war weary men and women fervently pray that out of this momentous conference will come new plans for a quick victory over Japan and a better understanding between Russia, Britain and the United States.

Only the future can tell whether or not these objectives will be attained. We can only hope for the best, trusting in the ability of President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Winston Churchill to achieve things, which no other world leaders have ever done.

Since the task is one of such magnitude, beset by so many difficulties, it will not be the course of wisdom for the United States to rely solely, or too greatly, upon any international arrangement for peace—important as such an arrangement can be in stabilizing the postwar world. The United States must never make the mistake of relying too much on others. We must continue to be prepared for any eventuality, since preparedness alone is the best guarantee we can ever have for peace.

Within the past thirty years, this nation has twice paid the price of unpreparedness in blood and tears and sweat. We must not make the mistake of again scuttling our battleships to achieve a parity with Japan. We must never again let our peace-time army fall to such a low level that our wealth becomes a temptation to some power-mad dictator.

While it is to the credit of humanity that it can still dream, after the heart-breaking experience of this cruel war, we must not trust our dream too much. In other words, the time has not yet come when Uncle Sam can throw his shooting irons out of the window.

Sunshine --- Backed By Clouds

IN unanimously confirming the nomination of Fred M. Vinson to succeed Henry Morgenthau, jr., as Secretary of the Treasury, the Senate has again demonstrated its willingness to give the strongest of support to President Truman's wishes.

Yet in Vinson's case this is not surprising. The 55-year-old Kentuckian, although a liberal, has long been regarded as a reliable man. He possesses a good background for the job, and because of his reputation for honesty and fair-dealing, his confirmation was to be expected. It was easy for the Senate to go along with the President in naming Vinson to this important post.

However, the Senate and the House may not display the same docility in carrying out President Truman's suggestion that the three-man Surplus Property board be abolished. In asking the abolition of this board, created by Congressional action, and substituting for it a single administrator, the President may meet one of his first rebuffs at the hand of Congress.

For this board now has the responsibility of selling $100,000,000,000 worth of surplus war goods, and the disposal of surplus commodities has already become a subject of Congressional investigation.

Congressional proponents of a three-man board will lose no time in arguing that it will be safer to trust this big job to three men than to one, since there is less chance of fraud with the three keeping watch on each other.

President Truman's reason for asking the substitution of a single administrator was that it is undesirable to dilute responsibility for a disposal effort requiring quick and decisive action.

There is, of course, considerable to be said for both sides, but it appears from the sidelines that President Truman may be kicking a hornet nest in making this recommendation to Congress. The three-man board is its baby.

That Wonderful "Science"

TEACHERS haven't seen anything yet. Junior has been provided with a new and terrible weapon. A design for a peashooter with modern sights has been patented by a Los Angeles inventive genius.

The thing has a front sight with crossbars at various levels, like the cross hairs in a rifle telescope sight. This will make trajectory possible when elevation is wanted for shooting at certain specified distances.

No schoolmate in the room will be immune or out of range. After a little practice, the percentage of misses, even near ones, is described as practically negligible.

Science is wonderful, all right, but sometimes "there should ought to be a law agin' it!".

After selecting the skimpiest swim suit she can find, the modern miss asks hopefully, "Will this material shrink?"

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

JONATHAN SWIFT

Jonathan Swift (1667-1745) was born in Hoey's Court, Dublin, received his education at Trinity College, Dublin, was Dean of Saint Patricks Cathedral in Dublin, received the freedom of the city of Dublin, founded Saint Patrick's Hospital in Dublin, died in Dublin, and is buried under the floor of Saint Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin, and yet he claimed that he was not an Irishman at all. He considered himself an Englishman "who just happened to be dropped in Ireland."

We Flew Without Guns

By Gen Genovese

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

I

Six of us were sitting around the battered old card table in the barnlike shack that served as pilots' operations at the Kunming terminal of China National Aviation Corporation. The cold fog settling slowly over the airfield had driven everyone indoors except the mechanics and field attendants who were refueling our planes.

I was $112 in the hole—I remember this distinctly because it was just the beginning of a bad run of luck at stud poker. Bob Robertson of Macon, Ga., and his co-pilot, a Chinese boy named Waty Sung, were leading by a heavy margin, each having a stack of lettuce in front of him like the harvest from a Victory garden back home. Eddie Quinn, also Chinese and co-pilot on Capt. Al Gingiss' ship, was a little ahead, too; but Bill Fox of Dalhart, Tex., my co-pilot, and young Tsui, our radioman, were right with me — at the bottom of our pockets. By every law of chance, it seemed to me, one of us was about due for a winning hand. So it was an awkward time to hear Flight Superintendent Pottschmidt shouting:

"Captain Genovese! Hey Gen!" And then in a muffled, impatient aside: "Where the hell is that guy?"

"Potty" was a big man, about 40, with a fighter's build. Standing behind his desk with his hands in his hip pockets and his broad shoulders hunched, his big blond head had to tilt down to look at me. In fact, my five feet eight inches looked pretty small among most of the boys flying across the Himalaya Hump between Kunming, in China's Yunnan Province, and Assam, India.

"Got a job for you, Gen," Pottschmidt said. "Thirty-two passengers—and they're all hot to get started." He glanced at his office window, getting steadily grayer with fog, and shook his head. "Let me know what route you'll take so we'll know where to look for the pieces."

* * *

China National doesn't fly for pleasure. There were no tourists among those 32 passengers.

Aside from two Allied generals I had flown before, there were many high Chinese officers and a few civilians. Among the latter I recognized a confidential adviser to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and a foreign-office big shot. They were all people that really deserved to get where they were going, and I wished to hell that it wasn't my responsibility to get them there.

I checked with Pottschmidt just before taking off and said I would fly the north route. His information from Captain Gingiss, who had been the last one in from Assam about 8 o'clock that morning, was that the stratus formation ran up only to about 15,000 feet—above that it was clear—but that there was a sleet storm blowing near Lake Tali.

Our take-off wasn't too bad: the fog was thin enough across the field so I could see the ground 100 yards ahead; it was just a matter of giving both engines of my Douglas C-53 everything they had and then the instant we were off the runway, pulling up the gear so we wouldn't trip on the trees hiding at the end of the strip.

Clear of the field, Fox and I relaxed and I settled down to the serious business of climbing up to 15,000 feet where I would find that promised clear sailing. Fox grinned at our present zero visibility and nodded toward the cabin where the passengers were huddled. Then in his slow, Texas drawl he said, "If it was a clear day those Japs would be flockin' around like vultures after carrion, to bag a load like this."

There wasn't much poetry in the remark, but there was plenty of truth. We never carried guns on China National transports — they weighed too much and cut down on cargo capacity—and our only protection against Jap attacks were bad weather and our own flying ability.

* * *

At 12,000 feet, Fox and I and Tsui, our radioman, put on our oxygen masks and kept right on climbing. My hope of getting into the clear at 15,000 was fading; the soup seemed to get thicker the higher we went. And, as a matter of fact, it didn't clear until we were at more than 18,000 feet. Then for almost two hours we had good flying except for a strong wind blowing north.

According to my calculations we were considerably north and east of Lake Tali when Fox and I caught our first glimpse of the purplish-gray wall rising thousands of feet high straight ahead of us and to either side as far as we could see. It was a good quarter-hour's flying time away, but there was no doubt in either of our minds as to what this signified.

"Cap'n Gingiss's sleet has moved a little bith no'th," Bill drawled, and after a few more minutes, shortly before we would ease into the wall of ice, he turned the switch on our de-icing boots.

I could feel him looking at me a moment later and I glanced down at the wing on my side. The boot was motionless. The mechanism wasn't working.

"How much drag can we take and still make it, Gen?" Bill asked quietly.

"If we're on course there shouldn't be any hills higher than 16,000 feet from here on," I said

But that was a pretty big "if." I couldn't be sure how far off our course the wind was blowing us, and I knew there were peaks shooting a lot higher than 16,000 feet that weren't too many miles to the north. I gave the ship more throttle and puleld back on the stick.

We went into the sleet at 19,000 feet.

I handed Tsui a note giving our estimated position for him to radio to Dinjan in code. Our sets weren't strong enough to send word messages unless we were within a half-hour's flying time of either base. Tsui took the note, switched on the transmitter—and then began to curse quietly in Chinese. A few minutes later he handed back the note, with a brief message appended: "Radio dead."

That meant that we were out of contact with the base, strictly on our own.

Overtons To Remain In Hospital Several Days

Injured in an automobile accident Monday night on the Raton Pass Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Overton of 2523 Twenty-first, will probably remain in the Miners Hospital at Raton, N. M., for a week or 10 days, friends here have been informed.

Condition of the couple was reported good Tuesday night. Their injuries were not considered serious.

Returning home after a vacation at Colorado Springs, Colo., Dr. and Mrs. Overton were injured when their automobile hit a slick spot in Raton Pass and rolled over a 20 foot embankment. The car turned over several times and landed upright. Dr. Overton was unconscious and Mrs. Overton got out of the car and to the highway where she hailed a passing car for help.

They suffered deep scalp wounds, lacerations and bruises.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

YOU may remember, dear reader, that not so long ago I expressed my condescending amusement over a controversy that had been going on between two writers.

One of them sang the praises of city life with all its comforts and conveniences. The other maintained that only out in the country could one be a real human being.

I, having but comparatively recently, become a country squire, naturally took the part of the one who wanted his trees and his flowers and his birds and his sunsets.

Only last week my wife and I were in New York and it was 95 in the shade, and the pavements felt like molasses and in those stone canyons made up of skyscrapers, there was canned heat.

BRANDEIS

When we got back to Brookfield Saturday we both gloated over our good fortune of living in the beautiful, cool, lovely hills, where everything is serene and peaceful.

On Sunday, a few friends came to the house. It was hot, but there was a breeze and the sky was azure blue overhead.

The friends left and it was time when husband and wife sit around, talk and reminisce and sort of feel that life, having been lived together for many years, is a pretty fine institution, after all.

Suddenly the sky darkened. In less than five minutes the sun was gone and torrents of rain were coming down. Then came the hurricane and the thunder and the lightning.

We fled from the porch into the house. Deuce was trembling and crying. Crash. A lightning shaft struck my catalpa tree, just in full blossom, and down came half of it.

Another blast and down came my favorite crabapple tree.

The garden was a mess. Out went the lights and off went the telephone.

Fifteen minutes later it was all over and the sun came out again.

I went outside and surveyed the mess. It was awful.

* * *

Now it is Tuesday. No lights yet. No telephone. The refrigerator has been out of commission since the storm and everything in it is spoiled. The water pump has stopped, so there is no water.

The tree men are outside now, and they tell me that one of my nicest maple trees broke in two.

I haven't shaved for two days and there is no bath, of course. The radio isn't working, and with one blow of Nature, as far as we are concerned, the twentieth century is a thing of the past and we are worse off than the pioneers.

* * *

TO cap the climax, I fell down the dark cellar stairs last night and sprained my ankle. It hurts like the dickens, and at this moment I don't care if I ever see another flower or tree or sunset again.

Which is better, city or country life?

Don't ask me now.

GOP To Plan Campaign

Truman Weakens Their Position

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

REPUBLICANS on Capitol Hill plan to hold a caucus in the near future to decide their general attitude toward the Democratic President. They and GOP leaders elsewhere in the nation have suddenly awakened to the realization that practically all the historic issues, as well as the more current differences, which made their party a distinct political entity in the United States, have vanished. And the magician who made them disappear is Harry Truman.

Had Franklin Roosevelt lived and been a canidate for a fifth term in 1948, or even had he forced a man of his philosophy upon the Democrats, there would have been many clear cut and provoking questions before the electorate.

Regardless of the outcome of the peace negotiations, the GOP could have raised such ghosts as personalized government, the "royal family" charge, bureaucracy and blundering in the management of domestic affairs.

TUCKER

Their best bet, and they had planned to roll this kind of dice, was the harp on Rooseveltian extravagance with other people's money. With the nation emerging from the war with a public debt of 300 billion plus, they figured that they could come back with a platform calling for economy and sound finances.

Add these ancient grudges to the undisputed fact that an administration that has survived for 16 years is normally due for an upset, together with the characteristic reaction of a harassed people after four or five years of war, and there seemed to be every likelihood that FDR's "Martins and Bartons and Fishes" would take over.

For the democrats to stay in control more than 16 years would be a defiance of all political history.

That is how the Republicans felt before the fateful evening of April 12, 1945 — that Georgia springtime when Franklin Roosevelt died.

* * *

CONFLICT: It may be — 1946 and 1948 will tell—one of the more spectacular dramas of American political annals that a quiet, mild and seemingly colorless exhaberdashery manager named Harry Truman will undermine the aspirations and the schemes of his historic opponents.

When HST returns from the Big Three conference and completes his changes in the policies of government, he may have pulled not only the rug but also the battleground from beneath the itching feet of the Republicans. They have accepted his ideas on two of the greatest causes of political conflict: The tariff and American participation in the affairs of the world.

The GOP will find it hard to raise the voters' temperature on these questions in the future, now that their leaders have approved the United Nations Charter, the Bretton Woods agreement and extension of the Reciprocal Tariff law with added authority for lowering levies.

* * *

THORNS: Mr. Truman has indicated that he will trim off the remaining Roosevelt thorns which might have reinforced the Republicans in the Congressional elections of 1946 and in the 1948 Presidential contest.

He does not intend to be a benevolent dictator, as FDR was in some ways. Nor does he believe in rule by bureaucracy. He has fired red-tapers and regulation addicts right and life without regard for their previous power or prestige.

Most importantly, he has indicated that he does not believe in being careless or generous with other people's money. He has asked for reduction in taxes and in the budget as soon as war demands against Japan will permit.

He has suggested that it is time to be thinking about paring down the public debt so that unborn generations shall not suffer from their ancestors' mistakes.

Mr Roosevelt, or a man of his ilk like Henry Wallace or Bill Douglas, would have been a probable loser in 1948. The American people — indeed, any people — can live on an idealistic mountain top for only so long. What Harry Truman has accomplished, and many hard-shelled GOP-ers bless him for it, is to bring us back to earth.

* * *

SHAKEUP: The Truman-Byrnes shakeup of the State department has been and will be a delight to behold. These two hard-headed Americans mean to get rid of the cookie-pushers and Groton graduates who were either misinformed on prewar conditions in foreign countries or unconsciously placed the interests of other nations before those of the United States.

The men in State did not do that deliberately, of course. But they were so impressed by foreign nobility and polish and cocktail parties that they frequently lent an acquiescent ear to Old World diplomats' suggestions. That is the basic reason for the old saying, "The United States has won every war but lost every peace."

Among the first to go, if the Truman and the Byrnes whom the writer knows from personal acquaintance behave according to standard, will be that poet of the unbelievable and the non-understandable, Archibald MacLeish. Second to get the gate will be Nelson Rockefeller, who South American adventures cost us millions and gained us almost nothing in the way of military support or good will.

* * *

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE BIG THREE meeting may solve some of the most controversial of the current and postwar problems agitating Europe and Asia.

But foreign policy experts in New York caution against expecting the millenium. Washington and Moscow have been at loggerheads several times this year; they may clash again.

This does not necessarily mean a dangerous row. But now that we are involved up to our arm pits in international affairs, sharp differences of opinion are likely to be frequent between Truman, Churchill and Stalin.

LEMAN

Ruling Germany is only one delicate issue. Other pressing questions concern Turkey, the Kiel Canal, the territorial disputes involving Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, the Middle East and Manchuria.

Theorists describe Soviet foreign policy as dynamic. It takes advantage of breaks and backs away just before a crisis is reached, never losing sight of the ultimate objectives: Security and domination of bordering areas.

Our weakness — if we want to call it such—is that we are so new at global politics that we lack both current information about complicated Old World situations and sufficient knowledge of the historical backgrounds.

President Truman is a "green man" compared with most of Europe's statesmen. This very freshness and his freedom from commitments may prove to be assets when he sits down at the conference table. But the public may not grasp some of the deals which emege unless it understands the pressures now shaking the continent.

* * *

NATIONALISM: If we lay aside for the moment the question of Communism, we discover that one of the most striking facts about the Soviet Union of today is a renaissance of Russian nationalism.

The exiled Russian historian Miliukov defined the war aims of the USSR as a "revival of the old imperial heritage." A form of this rebirth is the tendency to extol the heroes of the past; the commissars dusted off Peter the Great and the Empress Catherine and gave them to the masses.

Having restored the lost idols, the officials are now reestablishing their predecessors' expansionist policies. The new dispute between Moscow and Ankara stems from Catherine's old claims to the Dardanelles.

"There is no glamour in a bathing suit," asserts a woman columnist. She hasn't seen in bathing suits what we've seen.

Defeatist Talk Weakens Charter

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There is talk here, and perhaps elsewhere, about the crumbling of opposition to the San Francisco charter.

The tale runs that nobody is against the charter because it doesn't mean much, anyhow.

This is dangerous. It is defeatist talk. It comes broadly from two sources.

It comes, on the one hand, from those who are secretly opposed to such international cooperation, but are going along because they dare not try to stand up against an overwhelming public opinion. Since they could not beat the charter in the Senate, they console themselves, for the present, with the excuse that it doesn't mean much, anyhow.

STOKES

This talk comes, too, from perfectionists who are disappointed that the charter does not go much further. In this they are by no means alone. Their motives are sincere, but the possible results of this sort of talk are not healthful.

* * *

Our Constitution Recalled

Ratification of the charter by the Senate is a foregone conclusion. But that is only a first step. What is important is that the American people shall accept this only as a beginning and shall accept it with the determination that the charter shall be improved with time. Our own Constitution, itself also a series of compromises, was changed and improved by amendment, interpretation and custom.

The spirit of acceptance is the vital thing. The charter, after all, will be what the peoples of the world make it.

* * *

DEFEATIST talk may tend to break the necessary spirit of confidence.

The real reason that opposition has disintegrated in the Senate, of course, is that those who some months ago were ready to go to any length to defeat an international security organization discovered that the people had rallied about it as a symbol of hope that wars might be prevented.

It is too much to expect that the public could be familiar with all the problems incident to creation of an organization, or with the technical details. The people, however, are sure of one thing, they want no more such world-wide catastrophe.

* * *

Here's The Background

In the back of the minds of some of those who are still enemies of the international security organization, but are yielding to ratification by force of circumstances, there is a devious purpose. A great deal of legislation will be necessary to implement the charter from time to time.

They expect to find some way there to cripple the organization, just as some of them have tried to hamstring necessary co-operation along the economic front by fighting the Reciprocal Trade program and Bretton Woods.

They have not surrendered. They have only retreated to what they hope may be a second line of defense.

* * *

IT IS well for the public to know this and to be constantly on guard.

It is well also for the people to recognize the limitations in the San Francisco charter so that it may be improved.

The public is well informed in this direction. No secret has been made of the charter's delinquencies. News reports from San Francisco pointed them out.

So did the Foreign Relations committee in its report to the Senate which took pains to emphasize "that neither this charter nor any other document that might be devised can prevent war." The committee saw it would be performing a dis-service to the public if it saction with respect to the charter should indicate any such opinion on its part.

"The establishment of the United Nations will be at best a beginning toward the creation of those conditions of stability throughout the world which will foster peace and security."

Former Secretary of State Stettinius, who will be our representative on the Security council, likewise pointed out its "human imperfections." He said however, it held "human hopes and human victory as well." He, too, emphasized it as a beginning, but "a real beginning."

It means much. It can mean much more.

State Tax Board To Meet Friday

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—The state tax board meets Friday to fix the state property tax rate which is payable beginning Oct. 1.

Reports on assessed valuations are lacking from 19 counties and the board might have to recess until the reports are complete.

R. S. Calvert, chief clerk of the comptroller's office, said indications were assessed valuations would show a normal increase of about two per cent over those of last year.

The new tax rate probably will be 72 cents per $100 valuation.

Last year's rate was 55 cents.

A new law requires that the school tax rate be set at the constitutional maximum of 35 cents. The general fund rate probably will be reset at 35 cents, the constitutional maximum, and the confederate veterans' pension rate probably will be reset at two cents.

SHARP DECLINE EXTENDED

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Selling waned in today's stock market and assorted rallying strength appeared but many leaders extended their sharp decline of the previous session.

Early losses of one to three points were reduced at the close and there was a smattering of gains in evidence.

Transfers of 1,450,000 shares compared with 1,560,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 of a point at 64.4 where it was around it amid-day low.

American Car and Foundry enjoyed a late bulge on a lifted dividend and ended with an advance of two points. Electric Power and Light jumped 2⅛ to 12½, a 1945 peak, partly in response to a substantial increase in net income. In front were Chrysler Southern Pacific, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville and Pan-American Airways.

On the offside were American Telephone, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Texas Co. and International Harvester.

Bonds were irregular.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Cotton futures recovered a good part of Tuesday's sharp losses today on aggressive buying inspired principally by unfavorable cotton crop reports. Final prices were 80 cents to $1.10 a bale higher.

Some quarters said all indications point to a crop under 10,000,000 bales compared with the 1944 production of 12,228,000 bales.

	High	Low	Last
Oct.	22.97	22.82	22.97

Middling spot 23.40N, up 14.
N—Nominal.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 18 (AP) — Cotton futures were less inclined to notice peace rumors today, new buying on small crop forecasts and mill price fixing caused advances of 90 cents to $1.10 a bale. The close was very steady.

	High	Low	Close
Oct.	22.98	22.85	22.97
Dec.	23.02	22.86	23.01

SHARP DECLINE EXTENDED

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Selling waned in today's stock market and assorted rallying strength appeared but many leaders extended their sharp decline of the previous session.

Early losses of one to three points were reduced at the close and there was a smattering of gains in evidence.

Transfers of 1,450,000 shares compared with 1,560,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 of a point at 64.4 where it was around it smid-day low.

American Car and Foundry enjoyed a late bulge on a lifted dividend and ended with an advance of two points. Electric Power and Light jumped 2⅛ to 12½, a 1945 peak, partly in response to a substantial increase in net income. In front were Chrysler Southern Pacific, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville and Pan-American Airways.

On the offside were American Telephone, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Texas Co. and International Harvester.

Bonds were irregular.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Cotton futures recovered a good part of Tuesday's sharp losses today on aggressive buying inspired principally by unfavorable cotton crop reports. Final prices were 80 cents to $1.10 a bale higher.

Some quarters said all indications point to a crop under 10,000,000 bales compared with the 1944 production of 12,228,000 bales.

Dying Jap Gasps In Burma Seen As British Rip Troop Remnants

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The dying gasp of Japanese resistance in Burma seems at hand in the monsoon flooded valley of the Sittang river north of Pegu.

Desperate enemy efforts to relieve trapped forces in the mountains north of the great Sittang bend and west of the river are reported, but only to facilitate their escape eastward into Thailand (Siam) as British military observers read the signs.

SIMPSON

Estimates of the number of survivors of the once powerful Japanese 28th Army in Burma vary but do not exceed some 6,000 men. From 1,000 to 2,000 of these have been cut off from escape across the Sittang by the veteran British-Indian 14th Army despite flood conditions. Japanese artillery fire in the Sittang bend to the south implies an effort to force recall of 14th Army forces hemming in the trapped enemy elements in the north.

Indicate Jap Weakness

The operations in southern Burma are impressive primarily because they indicate critical Japanese weakness in Indo-China, Thailand and on the Malay peninsula. And this is at the moment when the pattern of aggressive post-monsoon action by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia command is beginning to take definite shape.

In earlier campaigns in the Pacific and in Burma the enemy has rarely sought to extricate a trapped force of such minor strength at the risk of heavy losses. His probing of the 14th Army front in the Sittang bend area indicates that the rescue of 2,000 or fewer ill-equipped and disease-ridden troops is an important matter now.

Work Sheets For '45 Mailed To Farmers

Farm operators are being mailed copies of the 1945 farm conservation work sheets showing the amount of money available to the farm under the 1945 AAA program and giving a complete description of all soil building practices for which payments will be made, Walter Y. Wells, secretary, Lubbock County ACA, said today.

All soil building practices carried out on farms between January 1 and August 1 of this year must be reported by August 15, Wells said. Farm operators may report the practices carried out by calling at the AAA office, 14th Street and Ave. Q, or may wait for the community committeemen to take the reports to each community about August 1.

Some of the practices that probably have been carried out to date are contour row crops at 40 cents per acre, contour seeding drilled crops at 25 cents per acre, protecting summer fallowed acreage at 75 cents per acre, terracing, improving an irrigation system or any other practice that improves the soil, Wells said.

The allowance to a farm is 75 cents per acre of cropland, plus 6 cents per acre of pasture, plus $1.00 per acre of commercial vegetables. If all the farm is contour farmed, the producer will only earn about half of his allowance the AAA official said. Since it is rather late to plant grain sorghum Wells hopes producers will plant sweet sorghum or sudan grass to leave on the land. The rate of payment for this practice is $1.50 per acre, but the most benefit will be received in protecting the soil from wind erosion according to the officials. Producers may also plant black eye peas for a green manure of cover crop. The rate of payment is $1.50 per acre and the peas may be threshed with the vines left on the land.

Each producer is reminded by Wells to report all practices carried out to the present time by August 15.

During 1944 Ringling Brothers Circus elephants drank 431,000 gallons of water, the big top traveled 8,846 miles on 80 double-length steel railroad cars, and the animals ate 13,774 bushels of oats.

More Day To Day News Allowed Under Rules Of Big Three

BERLIN, July 18. (AP)—Press rules for the Big Three conference were made by the Big Three themselves.

They are a carryover from the original Tri-Partite conference at Tehran, but with the European war ended and President Truman occupying the late President Roosevelt's place they permit more day to day news than ever before.

Allied correspondents covering the meeting are living in the Zehlendorf district press camp, about four miles by highway from Potsdam and less than that from the little White House. American and British public relations officers have access to the Inter-Allied compounds in the Potsdam area and at least one of them witnessed the arrival of Premier Stalin at President Truman's residence yesterday.

Soviet views on security are such that there is little or no likelihood that Allied civilian newspapermen, even though previously accredited as war correspondents, will be allowed to view the Potsdam conferees at work.

British and American newspapermen, however, can visit Potsdam except for the compounds. Several saw, from outside the fence, the aircade which brought President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and their parties into a westside airfield Sunday.

Women officers in the Army Medical Corps now receive standard pay allowances for their dependents.
