Pecos Valley Invaded By Mexican 'Braceros'

Several thousand of an army of Mexican nationals, or "braceros," who invaded the United States between Wednesday of last week and Monday reached the Pecos Valley over the week end. A few hundred of the braceros, who are picking cotton, are in the Artesia area, which is said to solve the pickers' problem for this season and to pay wages at the originally estimated $2.50 a hundred. Some farmers said storage will be the greatest problem now, as the braceros cannot keep up with the influx from the fields. The five North Eddy County gins were running at capacity before the Mexican nationals arrived over the week end, and it is presumed the same condition maintained in other parts of the Pecos Valley.

Lifting of the ban on the "braceros"—which means day laborers—by the Immigration Service brought international repercussions Monday, when the Mexican government ended the Migrant Labor agreement and declared the tolerance of immigration authorities at El Paso towards the illegal entries constituted a violation of the agreement.

Artesia Representatives Believe B Favorable In Pioneer Hearing

Artesia representatives at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on an application of Pioneer Airlines to render service to Albuquerque last week, were pleased and it was brought to a successful conclusion.

How long it will take the CAB to give that opinion is a matter of conjecture, but the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce is still hoping that around the end of this year Pioneer will be able to serve Artesia.

Continental Airlines will probably file an exemption to the recommendation of Bryan, if favorable, Sharpe said. This will only delay the matter a short time but the board of directors feels that everything is pointing toward air service for Artesia in the near future.

Manager Sharpe also mentioned that the housing problem which the directors have been working on in this year is about to be solved in a small way as the Artesia Building Corporation has now started building the first 10 units in the newly created Fairacres Addition. This addition is located between 11th and 13th Streets from Bullock Avenue south to Hermosa Drive.

These houses will be FHA built and preference will be given to veterans in the sale of them. Combination FHA and GI loans will be available. The company will continue to build as long as there is a demand for these houses, the manager said. "These houses, together with others under construction to be built by other people, will materially solve our acute housing problem," he added.

'Jay Bee' Miller, Former Advocate Admits Dead

J. B. (Jay Bee) Miller, 66, former advertising solicitor for The Advocate, died Sept. 15 at Cordell, Okla., of a heart ailment, according to The Sooner State Press. Funeral services and burial were at Elk City, Okla., Sept. 17.

Mr. Miller, a veteran Oklahoma newspaperman, came to Artesia in the fall of 1946 seeking health, and was a member of the advertising staff of The Advocate from November of that year to March, 1947, when he had to go to a lower altitude and returned to Oklahoma.

He spent most of his life in the newspaper and printing business and owned and edited several at various times. Since leaving Artesia and until the time of his death, Mr. Miller was in the commercial printing field at Cordell.

He is survived by his widow, who was here with Mr. Miller, and three sons, all of whom were raised in the printing business.

City Council Votes To Accept Board's Offer For Morris Field

The City Council last Thursday night passed a resolution to sell, with certain reservations, Morris Field to the school district, after recommendation of a citizens' committee and an offer by the Board of Education of $31,500.

The sale, which will be subject to clearance by the Works Progress Administration, under which the stadium was built, will give the school authorities jurisdiction over Morris Field, which probably will be used in the future exclusively for school athletics and other school events.

In the resolution the city proposed to retain title to the swimming pool and the pool building and the real property of 20 feet on all sides.

The sale agreement will give the city authority to place water from the swimming pool on the school grounds, according to the resolution.

The city likewise will reserve the poles and wires on the softball field and the lighting on the football field, all to be released by next Feb. 1.

The resolution says the sale will be made subject to an agreement on the part of the school district to sign up under the present voluntary paving plan to pave the unpaved streets adjacent to the park.

Before the sale can be completed, there will have to be acceptance of the terms of the council's resolution by the Board of Education, the WPA will have to approve the sale from the city, and the state school auditor will have to approve the school board's offer of $31,500 for the property.

The offer to buy on the part of the Board of Education and the resolution to sell on the part of the City Council are the outgrowth of several years of discussions by citizens of the city to the general effect that the schools should own Morris Field and that the city should have an athletic and recreation park separate from the school property.

To this end a citizens' committee was named some weeks ago by the board and council, charged with investigating the matter and making recommendations.

That committee reported to the Board of Education Oct. 7, at which time the offer to buy was made by the board.

The recommendations were presented to the council last Thursday in writing by William M. Siegel. (continued on last page)

Officer Lemley Instructs Scouts About Bicycles

"Bicycles" was the topic of City Police Officer John Lemley, when he was guest speaker of Girl Scout Troop 14 at the regular meeting Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

He told the group the uses of bicycles in Germany, where the Germans use their bicycles mostly for pleasure, while here in the United States they are used for business as well as for pleasure.

Officer Lemley stressed the importance of observing traffic rules. He said bicyclists think they do not have to observe the same traffic rules and regulations as a car driver does. He gave the Scouts the proper signals to observe while riding their bicycles. When making a right turn, he said, make the signal with the right arm; a left turn, with the left arm, and when stopping the arm should extend downward. He also stressed the importance of a basket for the bicycle, in which to carry loads, which leaves both arms free to guide and give the proper signals, while otherwise the rider couldn't if one arm was loaded.

Another point he brought out was the importance of riding single. He said there are too many children hurt when they ride double on their bicycles. He urged all the girls to put this rule into practice and tell their friends the danger of riding double and have them practice the rule also.

When parking downtown, Officer Lemley said, bicycle riders should not park on the sidewalks or by parking meters, because the bicycles are in the way of the pedestrian, and when a driver tries to park his car the bicycle is in the way, and there is the danger of a bicycle being mashed. He said there are bicycle racks located at the Landsdown and Ocotillo theaters, and that they are there for bicycle parking.

No public meeting is planned by the candidates, who will go from here to Carlsbad, where Governor Mabry will speak over KAVE at 5:15 o'clock.

Ordinance Passed By City Council On 'Peeping Toms'

The Artesia City Council at a meeting last Thursday night passed a "Peeping Tom" ordinance prohibiting loitering on private or public premises or prying into windows and provided a penalty for violation of not less than $5 or more than $100, or by imprisonment in the city jail for not less than five days or more than 10 days, or both.

The ordinance will become effective five days after legal publication, which is being made today in The Advocate, which will be next Tuesday.

It is recited in the ordinance that "it shall be unlawful for any person to lurk, lie in wait, or conceal themselves in any house or other building or in any yard or premises within the city... with intent to do any mischief or piffle (continued last page this section)

Mayfield Talks On Schools At Rotary Banquet

Tom Mayfield, superintendent of Artesia schools, speaking at a ladies night banquet of the Artesia Rotary Club at the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening, declared youth is the No. 1 priority in the state educational system, as a trained workman is more valuable than an untrained.

He made a report on the recent statewide school survey, which was discussed at a public forum at the high school Saturday.

Superintendent Mayfield said that as a result of the findings of the survey, the school authorities are asking the people of the state for a better program.

He also touched on the place education has in the United Nations program and the part the United States must play.

At present this nation has educational leaders who would change the manner in which to teach a child, he said, adding that if it is expected to teach the youth of other nations the ideals of America, then American youth must be taught these things.

Entertainment on the program was furnished by H. O. Miller, who sang two baritone solos, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Caskey.

The program was in charge of Frank Smith, who introduced the speaker. Arrangements were made (continued on last page)

Ground Plans Are Started Here For Boys Ranch Drive

Preliminary plans for the Artesia community participation in the statewide campaign for funds for New Mexico Boys Ranch were made here Tuesday evening at an informal meeting of representatives of local service clubs with a delegation of workers from Albuquerque.

It is planned to raise $250,000 over the state in order to increase the facilities at Boys Ranch and to provide for a greater number of boys.

Ivan H. Wood, vice president of Wells Organizations, Inc., Dallas, who is organizing the drive, said it is planned for presidents of each of the Artesia service clubs to name representatives to a steering committee, to be augmented by other workers in the local campaign.

Charles E. Minton, executive secretary of Boys Ranch, who was one of the originators of the movement and has seen the movement start and develop, pointed out the great good which Boys Ranch is doing and of the need for further expansion and development.

It was brought out that a number of prominent men throughout the state are taking a lead in the expansion movement and are giving of their time as well as their money in the project.

Three such were here with Wood and Minton. They were Wilfred McCormick, writer of boys' books and other fiction; William White, retired banker, and William Dinsdale, all of Albuquerque.

With him in the party, and expected also to be guests at the Kiwanis luncheon, are Lt. Gov. Joe Montoya, candidate for re-election; John E. (Seven-Foot Pick) Pickett, candidates for corporation commissioners.

Good Gas Flow Is Encountered By Levers Well

While one commercial completion was made and one new location was staked in the Eddy County oil fields the last week, interest shifted Tuesday to the Forrest E. Levers, Levers 9-B, SW SW 34-16-29, where a good flow of gas was encountered at 2320 feet.

Levers said that day the flow was estimated at seven to eight million cubic feet of gas a day.

He said plans were to drill ahead into the oil formation, but that it might be decided to plug back and complete the well as a gasser.

The completion was the American Republics Corp., Robinson 22-B, SE NE 27-17-29, which pumped 74 barrels of oil per day from a total depth of 3310 feet, after acidizing.

Located was the Johnson et al., Vickers 2, NE NW 23-20-28.

'Get-Out-The-Vote' Campaign Being Launched Today By Kiwanis Club

A "get-out-the-vote" campaign is to be launched this noon by the Artesia Kiwanis Club, the members of which will be instructed in a special bulletin in suggestions in helping the club push for a big vote in the community.

And the regular weekly bulletin will inform the members the board or directors has authorized the club to contact all merchants relative to urging employees to vote, to place appropriate window signs in their stores, and to back up a forthcoming proclamation by Mayor Oren C. Roberts.

The bulletin says the executive council of the Boy Scouts has authorized participation by five troops here to distribute circulars urging all registered voters to vote. The Kiwanis Club will give a suitable prize to the troop getting out

School System Report Shows Good, Bad Points In State

The need for corrective legislation and other changes affecting the New Mexico school system was brought out Saturday morning at a public forum in the auditorium of Artesia High School, at which an official report on the recent statewide survey system was made to teachers and other interested persons from the Southeast New Mexico counties.

The exhaustive survey was made by 10 specialists under the direction of the Division of Survey and Field Service of George Peabody College at Nashville, Tenn., under authorization of the 1947 New Mexico Legislature, which appropriated $37,500 for the work.

Although the report covered the entire state and its school needs, special attention was given to the problems of Eddy, Chaves, and Lea Counties.

Between 300 and 400 teachers from the various school systems in the three counties attended.

Dr. John E. Brewton, director, and Dr. I. F. Simmons, associate director of the survey, led in the discussions and conducted the survey, in which it was brought out New Mexico is unique in that it has three distinct cultures, Indian, Spanish, and Anglo, all of which must be considered, that there are

Trio Chest Campaign To Raise Funds To Be Next Thursday

The annual Trio Chest Drive for funds for the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Community Chest will be kicked off with a breakfast at the Masonic Temple next Thursday morning under the direction of William M. Linell, general chairman, with hopes the quota of $7000 will be attained in one day.

More than 100 workers are expected to be on the job, and each will receive name cards, with which to go out for funds.

In order to make the campaign more efficient, as well as to provide a little fun, workers have been divided into four teams, or "ranches" with each headed by a "ranch boss."

Linell has appointed as "bosses" Mrs. Fred Jacobs, T. C. Stromberg, C. D. Hopkins, and Frank Smith.

Under each will be five "foremen," and each "foreman" will have five "wranglers," making, with the "boss," 31 on each team.

All of the workers are to be men except those working under Mrs. Jacobs.

Linell plans to have card assignments made by lot this year, rather than by choosing. Cards may be exchanged, however, if workers

Bulldogs Tie Alamogordo Tigers 6-6 On Morris Field Last Friday

Determined not to face defeat, the Bulldogs again left a dispute unsettled Friday night, after they tried desperately to drive the Alamogordo Tigers from the home grounds, but allowed them to leave calmly after battling to a 6-6 tie.

With the season more than half gone, the Dogs now have behind them two ties, one win, and three losses.

The Tigers set the pace in the first quarter and held the lead until late in the third period, when the Bulldogs grew tired of following, and whipped up a 34-yard pass from Dublin to Richardson, to balance the score.

The boys from over the mountain drew first blood eight minutes after the kickoff, when the Orange and Black failed to make a first and 10, and the Tigers took over on their own 39-yard line.

Romero opened the drive with an end sweep good for 15, Baca picked up five through the line, and Romero was good for eight more and a first. Ostic followed with five around end to the Artesia 27, then Romero picked up another first around end. A hand-off to Baca went for three, Ostic and Romero each hit the line for a yard, Ostic immediately flashed through the line, and was dropped on the five. Romero took the snap from center cut off right tackle, and ran untouched across the double stripe. Romero's placekick failed.

Artesia came smiling through after a Alamogordo punt was killed on the Tigers' 43-yard stripe. Scatback

Mere Loose Talk

LOOSE TALK IS ALWAYS DANGEROUS. It can leave the wrong impression even if it is perfectly sincere.

And all of us engage in a little loose conversation at times.

Some of us are always condemning and we go too far. Others are always praising and we can frequently wax too enthusiastically when we let our enthusiasm run away with us, so to speak.

But we have always admired that individual who would stand up for his home community and boost it. We have always admired that person, who plugged for his home town and his home team even in the face of difficulties and odds.

And it is those individuals, who have plugged for Artesia and who have stuck to the facts, who have accomplished the most for the city.

It is those folks, who have continued to boost and to believe in Artesia, who have made it what it is today. They have not only boosted the city and publicized it on every opportunity but they have backed their faith with their money and have invested this money in the city.

And when the individuals have done this we are rather firmly convinced that those, who may receive pay for doing this, should do exactly the same thing.

We have never questioned the city's future. We have never questioned the growth and expansion of the city. We have always felt that it will continue to grow and to expand. We don't think that it is a matter of patience and a question of a long period of time before the city will "make it." We are not just sure what is meant by "making it," but we are not concerned about that phrase either because we know what the city has done and can do.

And we feel that those, who are living here; engaged in business here; those, who are paid a salary in this community should not hesitate to boost the city. We are convinced that if Artesia continues to grow and to expand and to modernize that it will be one of the most modern cities in the state with some of the most beautiful store fronts and modern stores.

And those, who have made this possible and invested their money don't doubt for one minute but what Artesia will "make it" and they are not concerned about a long period of time or patience.

They are going to continue to boost and work for the city at every opportunity and the chances are if they can't say something good and something, which is complimentary, they are not going to talk.

There are those, of course, who had their faith in the future of Artesia long before many of the residents here today ever thought of moving to this city. They deserve the credit for the fine start and to a large degree for the fine city, which exists today.

Many of those, who have come here, give the city the services and the industries and the payrolls, which have helped the city to grow and expand.

And that spirit will help the city to continue to grow and to expand and to develop.

They are not concerned about what might be said even by some who should be spending their time boosting the city and who are being paid to do that very job.—O.E.P.

Plan To Go Vote

THE MOST IMPORTANT JOB that the voters of Artesia and North Eddy County have to do on Nov. 2 is go to the polls and vote.

There will be many pleas sounded between now and on general election day. Voters will be told time after time they should go vote, but despite all these pleas there will be a majority of the voters of the city and county as well as the state who fail to vote.

Voters will ballot on many things on Nov. 2. They will vote on presidential electors; they will vote on a United States senator; two members of Congress; governor; other state officials, as well as county, district, and precinct officials.

They will ballot Nov. 2 on six constitutional amendments, as well as on Senate Bill 264. Senate Bill 264 authorizes the state to issue two and a half million dollars in bonds. This money is to be used to build buildings for the University of New Mexico, state colleges, and state institutions.

Five of the six constitutional amendments are not controversial and deal for the most part with the extending of the terms of offices of both state and county officials as well as regulating office holders from seeking re-election.

The sixth constitutional amendment, which is No. 3, is the "right to work" bill. It permits all individuals, union and non-union members, to work without holding a union card. The unions are opposed to the proposal, while many others favor the proposal.

But there is reason for everyone to become interested in that election and to plan to go and cast their ballots. But despite this plea and other pleas many will fail to vote despite the fact that their American citizenship imposes on them the duty and the obligation of voting in every election, city, county, state, or national.

We hope that every qualified voter in Artesia and in Eddy County will plan now to go and cast their ballot in the general election on Nov. 2.—O.E.P.

Let George Do It

TWICE IN RECENT WEEKS organizations here have sponsored entertainments with two purposes in mind, to bring something good to the community and to make some money, in each case earmarked for a good purpose. And in each case the sponsoring organization lost money, while the community profited in more ways than one.

In the first place the community had good entertainment, and in the second Artesia derived considerable advertising. The V-J Day celebration and rodeo brought many people to Artesia who left money behind in the tills of the merchants. That was not so much the case when the U.S. Navy Band was here, but the other points maintain.

If it's good for the community, it's good for everyone in the community, whether he attends or not.

And it's a crying shame that organizations and their members put in many hours of time, spend their own money and time to have something above the average and then are out of pocket.

It is true that the weather interfered with the Navy Band's engagement. But it is likewise true that dozens and dozens of local people did not take advantage of an opportunity to hear something worth while, and opportunity of a lifetime.

Since the band was here we have heard or heard of many who have said in effect, "I wish I had gone. I didn't realize what it was going to be."

To which we reply that many columns in The Advocate over a number of weeks were devoted to publicizing what we thought the greatest attraction ever to come to the Pecos Valley. The radio station was liberal with its time. Posters and sheets were to be seen in nearly every store window. The Lions and others talked it, offered tickets, called on other organizations, and spent money for advertising.

"I didn't realize . . ." Phooey! The attitude seems to have been more nearly, "I didn't care. Sure we need good entertainment here, but let someone else enjoy it."

Someday the veterans, the Lions, and others are going to get tired of spending their money, time, and energy to bring to Artesia the things which help to stamp the city as a progressive and up-and-coming place.

If we don't get together and support each other's projects, we may find that to see and hear good entertainment we will have to burn up rubber and gasoline and drive to more progressive cities. Heaven forbid.—A.L.B.

You Make Decision

THE GUBERNATORIAL CAMPAIGN, so the supporters of both the Republican and Democratic parties say, is becoming warm.

There is plenty of comment being heard regarding the present administration. And the present administration, of course, is capable of taking care of itself.

We have only had the pleasure of meeting and talking briefly with Manuel Lujan, the Republican candidate for governor. We know he served as mayor of Santa Fe for a good many years. And he must be a fine man and a good administrator.

On the other hand we have had the pleasure and privilege of knowing Gov. Thomas J. Mabry, the Democratic nominee, personally for two years. We have had the privilege of talking over many things with him and with visiting with him.

We have had the pleasure of going to Governor Mabry about a number of things concerning Artesia and North Eddy County. We have always found him very sympathetic, understanding, and willing to do his best.

And when Governor Mabry has given us a promise that he would do certain things for Artesia and North Eddy County, he has always kept that promise.

Governor Mabry is responsible for the black-topping Highway No. 83 from Artesia west to the Sacramento Mountains. He promised without being contacted after he went into the governor's office that he would build this highway. Under his administration the Highway Department has paved every part of this road, which is a state road.

We know that Governor Mabry promised that the dip and curve in Highway No. 83 west of Artesia would be fixed. Other governors had promised A. L. Bert, Editor of The Advocate, and others this would be corrected, but it was Governor Mabry who kept his promise.

Governor Mabry has been interested in Artesia and been willing to help do many other things for the Oil City of New Mexico. He certainly has been interested in work on Highway No. 285 so that Artesia was not ignored on this route.

Maybe if Mr. Lujan had been governor he would have done as much. We do not know.

But we do know that Governor Mabry has proven he is a friend of Artesia and North Eddy County.

He has made many close personal friends in both parties. And many of these friends are going to support him in the present campaign.

But you check the records of the candidates and make your own decision and go to the polls and vote.—O.E.P.

'Fury At Furnace Creek' Is Saga Of Fiery West

"Fury at Furnace Creek." Twentieth Century-Fox's fiery saga of the winning of the West, opens Sunday at the Landsun Theater with two of today's most provocative screen personalities as its stars. The "new" Victor Mature, whose exciting film career entered a new phase when he recently took his place among filmdom's top dramatic stars with his brilliant portrayal in "Kiss of Death," is coupled with Coleen Gray, who made her sensational movie debut opposite him in "Kiss of Death," was next romantically teamed with Tyrone Power in "Nightmare Alley."

To film the spectacular scenes of the Apache attacks, the wagon-train massacre, the last stand at Fort Furnace Creek and others, Director Bruce Humberstone and Producer Fred Kohlmar took a company of 150 into the picturesque "badlands" of Southern Utah, and there, in dust several inches deep and with a sun pouring down at 115 degrees, staged the story's outdoor episodes. Humberstone used 800 Indians, 350 cowpunchers, a train of 55 covered wagons, 900 horses and a camera caravan of 60 cars and trucks.

(From The Advocate files for Oct. 25, 1928)

Among Artesians who attended and now returns to Mature in their current film.

For Mature, Miss Gray, and an outstanding support cast headed by Glenn Langan and Reginald Gardiner, "Fury at Furnace Creek" provides a stunning vehicle, packed with rousing action, thrilling spectacle, drama and romance. Set in the Apache country of 1880, it tells the story of unscrupulous silver interests that provoke a massacre as a means of opening up Indian lands to exploitation. A drama written in the fury and flames of vengeance, it tells of two brothers, who, torn by a deep conflict, are nevertheless united in a battle to clear the name of their father, a U.S. Cavalry officer, who had been accused as responsible for the massacre of a cavalry troop and the historic burning of Fort Furnace Creek.

Mature plays the role of the adventurer, Cash Blackwell; Langan is his hostile brother, Rufe; Coleen Gray is the waitress in a local hash house who, drawn into the brothers' adventure, finds her loyalties torn between them; Reginald Gardiner is the broken ex-cavalry officer who holds the secret of the massacre, while Albert Dekker appears as the head of the crooked silver syndicate.

Ten of the 16 matches in the first round of the city golf tournament had been played up to last night. All must be in by this evening and subsequent rounds are to be played by following Thursdays. The tournament is to be finished by Nov. 20.

Artesia scored in the final 60 seconds of the game Saturday afternoon to beat the Tularosa Wildcats at Tularosa 8-6, the second win of the week for the locals, who beat Hagerman 14-0 last Thursday. A bright sun shining down on a dry field furnished the setting for the third victory this year for the Bulldogs at Tularosa.

Soil Fumigation Needed In Sugar Beet Culture

Joint tests in Utah by sugar interests and USDA "showed that soil fumigation for beet which follow beets made the difference between big yields and no yield at all." The sugar beet nematode builds up so fast in one growing season where fertile soil has grown a big crop of beets that the field is a death-bed for sugar beets the next year without soil fumigation, it was indicated in the tests.

You Can't Swim the Mississippi with a Million Head of Cattle

The Mississippi River always has been the "continental divide" in the geography of the livestock-meat industry. In the old days the great herds of longhorns trailing north from Texas had many rivers to cross. The Red. The Canadian. The Big Blue. The Platte... but there was never a trail that ended east of the Father of Waters. The Mississippi was, and is, one river you couldn't swim with a million head of cattle.

It's a staggering job to get the nation's meat from producer to consumer. Two-thirds of the meat animals are produced west of the Mississippi... two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of it. On the average, meat has to be transported more than 1,000 miles.
It's a big job—a huge job. Just consider: in 1947 alone, this job of getting the nation's meat from the farm and range to the cooking range involved 32,158,000 beef animals, 24,044,000 sheep and lambs, 82,579,000 hogs!

Harvesting any national crop—from wheat to meat —is a big job. Big machines are needed. Who uses binders when combines are more efficient? Similarly, in the processing and nationwide distribution of meat it takes large-scale, efficient "machinery." There's a need for all of us—producers and meat packers; shippers and marketing people; transportation lines; wholesalers and retailers. We all play a part—whether we are individuals or companies, whether we operate locally or on a nationwide basis.

Over the years, we at Swift have worked to perfect our nationwide system of marketing. We, and 26,000 other commercial slaughterers, provide a competitive cash market for your livestock. We buy your animals and dress them. We process and refrigerate them.
Then, we distribute the meat to retail store men everywhere. (Our earnings for all these essential services are only a fraction of a cent a pound.) Because this big job is done efficiently, you producers are assured of markets... consumers everywhere are assured of meat. We at Swift & Company are proud of our part in building the "1,000-mile bridge"; the "bridge" which carries meat from the point of surplus production to the point of consumption. So long as all America wants meat it will take efficient nationwide organizations to bridge that 1,000-mile gap.

Tally and Cull "Newcomers" in Breeding Ewe Flocks

by Clair E. Terrill United States Department of Agriculture

As you swing the cut gate, you can increase total salable lamb weight—your margin of profit. For here you can cull ewes that are barren in their first lambing season. You can also cut out those unable to raise singles in their first appearance year. These ewes often get by on their appearance alone. For frequently they are heavier woolled and in better condition than nursing ewes. But they do not always pay their way.

Recent research has proved that subsequent market lamb production from such dry ewes may not justify keeping them in efficient commercial breeding bands. Experiments with Columbia range ewes at the U. S. Sheep Experiment Station, Dubois, Idaho, established this fact. There is a definite relationship between the total weaning weight of lambs produced in the first year and in the three following years of lambing.

All ewes that twinned the first year, regardless of whether the lambs were raised, weaned 19 pounds more lamb weight in the three years of study than ewes that failed to lamb—five pounds more than ewes which did not rear their first single lamb. Ewes that dropped and raised singles had 16 pounds greater annual lamb yield thereafter than ewes which did not lamb. And ewes that did not rear their first lamb later produced 14 pounds more lamb weight yearly than ewes which were barren their first lambing season.

So, to increase efficiency in market lamb production, tally "newcomers" in ewe herds at breeding time. Then mark barren low-producing ewes for culling after the lambing season.

All That Glitters Isn't Profit

Government reports tell of farm and ranch income from livestock that totals more than 17 billion dollars. Many folks read those reports and say—"No wonder meat is so high. Livestock producers must be coining money."

That is a thoughtful comment, based on misunderstanding. That 17 billion dollars is not profit —it is gross income. Many expenses must come out of your gross livestock income before you can make any profit on it. There's the cost of breeding-stock and feeding-stock... of your hired labor... of feed, machinery, equipment. All these costs are at all-time high levels. Out of your gross income also must come property and income taxes, interest; insurance premiums; repairs; new buildings; fences; death losses, etc. After you've paid all those necessary business expenses, you're lucky if you end up with 10 or 15 per cent profit.

A lot of people are just as wrong about Swift's profit as they are about yours. They look at our total sales of 24 billion dollars last year and say—"That's a barrel of money. No wonder meat is high!" But the fact is that competition in both buying and selling is so keen that from those 24 billion sales dollars an average of 79c went to pay you for your livestock. 10c for pay to our employees. 6½c for supplies and other necessary business costs. 3c for taxes and transportation.
All we had left as earnings was 1½c.

Yes, in our business, as in yours, there's a big difference between gross income and net profit!

Madrigal Singers Will Appear In High School Auditorium Tuesday

Rich, colorful Elizabethan costumes and a candlelit table will form the setting for an appearance of the North Texas State College Madrigal Singers in the Artesia High School auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Composed of a group of eight singers, a pianist, and a harpist, the students are directed by Dr. Walter H. Hodgson, dean of the NTSC School of Music. Vocal and instrumental solos will be a feature of the program along with "Leibeslieder Waltz," by Brahms, early English madrigals, and Americana.

Personnel of the group includes Marjorie McClung, soprano graduate student. Miss McClung won the Sigma Alpha Iota music scholarship at North Texas State as a freshman in 1944. Since then she has appeared throughout the state as a soloist, and during the last year won the Dallas Civic Federation award. For two years she was listed among "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." She received her bachelor of music degree from Our Lady of the Lake College and is at present a graduate tutor in the School of Music.

Jean Harrison, sophomore from Arkansas, was awarded music scholarships at five colleges upon her graduation from high school. During her first year she was a member of the A Cappella Choir and Opera Workshop, and was one of the leads in the opera, "Rigoletto," last year.

Ruth Schoenfeld, contralto, is the only high school vocalist who has ever been invited to sing with the Houston Symphony orchestra, as she did in May, 1947. She was awarded the Sigma Alpha Iota scholarship at North Texas State and has made a great contribution to the musical life of the community.

Anita Harvey, harpist, and mezzo-soprano, is upholding the tradition of the Harvey family in the North Texas State School of Music. Miss Harvey's two sisters distinguished themselves in the A Cappella Choir while attending North Texas. Doubling as a singer and a harp soloist, Miss Harvey is the winner of the Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship, one of the most sought-after scholarships available. She studied with the famous harpist and composer, Carlos Salzedo, in Camden, Maine, last summer.

Ira Schantz, tenor, who appeared in most of the productions of "Rigoletto" last year, is no stranger to New Mexico, having been a tenor soloist with the A Cappella Choir on the 1946-47 tour. While in the service, he sang in many parts of the United States as well as in England, France, and Germany, even managing to get some study in Europe.

Robert Ottman, tenor and faculty member, is a graduate of the Eastern School of Music, where he had extensive vocal preparation and experience. He later studied for some time in England and Northern Europe, where he spent three years as a member of the armed services.

Earl Tom Keel, bass, has appeared with the choir during the last three years and sang the part of the count in the production of "Bohemian Girl." He is at the present time soloist at the First Christian Church at Fort Worth, Texas.

Jack Roberts, accompanist for the group, is an outstanding pianist and organist, having studied in the School of Music as a student of Silvio Scionti and Dr. Helen Hewitt. This is the first in a series of musical events to be presented by the Band-Aides this season. Admission will be by season membership and single tickets available at the door.

Elizabeth Garrett Is Subject of Program At Meeting Of P.E.O.

Mrs. Grady Booker was host to the P.E.O. at her home Friday afternoon. The program, in charge of Mrs. M. C. Ross, was about the life and music of Elizabeth Garrett, daughter of the famous Pat Garrett.

An octet of P.E.O. members sang two of Miss Garrett's songs, "O Fair New Mexico" and "My Creed."

The living and dining rooms of the Booker residence were decorated with red and yellow autumn flowers.

The program schedule for the year: Nov. 5, "World Community Day," theme, "Peace Is My Responsibility," luncheon at 1 o'clock at Presbyterian Church, Methodist women in charge; March 4, "World Day of Prayer," First Christian Church, Mrs. R. L. Willingham, program chairman; May 5, 1949, "May Fellowship Day," First Methodist Church, Episcopal women in charge of luncheon, Mrs. Ralph O'Dell, program chairman.

At the business meeting a goal was set for 75 "pack-a-towel-kits" for 'teenagers in Europe. This is the council's project for 1949.

As it was 'teen-agers who suffered so unmeasurably from the lack of stabilizing influences because of the war and postwar conditions, "we are offered this opportunity to show them that we have not forgotten them and that people in our great democracy do care," a member said.

Individuals are urged to fix one of these kits, whether belonging to a church organization or not. The individual churches will gather the packages. These will be dedicated at the "World Community Day" services on Nov. 5. Any one wishing to contribute either a towel pack or money to help mail the packages is asked to do so by contacting any of the officers of the council.

Here is how to pack a towel kit: On one end of a 22-inch towel, fold new or good-as-new garments. Include bedroom slippers (no hard soles), new material for dress, or yarn, sewing kit, sweater, and soap, comb, tooth brush, packed in a purse or washcloth, writing material, and include a friendly note with sender's name and address.

Flap other end of towel over articles, pin with a dozen safety pins (assorted sizes), pin firmly to it a piece of cloth with large crayoned "B" (for boy) or "G" (for girl) and size of garments, 14 to 21.

In 1945 the group sent a million diapers and thousands of layettes to Europe, in 1946 they sent half a million "kiddie kits" to children under the age of 5 years, and in 1947 the group sent bundles to children between the ages of 6 to 12 years of age.

The regular monthly business meeting of the B.P.O. Does was held Wednesday evening of last week at the Elks lodge. The president, Mrs. Charlie Morgan, expressed concern at the limited number of members present, and urged all members to try to get out for future meetings.

To stimulate attendance, a "bank night" was instigated at last month's meeting and Mrs. J. W. Jones won, receiving as her portion of a jar's contents $13.28. Members present declared this to be well worth attending for even if it were not for the fellowship and benevolent aims of the organization.

Miss Charlene Rose Anthis Becomes Bride Of G. C. Dungan Last Week

Miss Charlene Rose Anthis, daughter of Mrs. Charles Lawrence Anthis of Downey, Calif., formerly of Cushing, Okla., and George Clifford Dungan, younger son of Mrs. George B. Dungan of Artesia, exchanged nuptial vows in a candle-light ceremony at the First Methodist Church at 6 o'clock last Thursday evening, with Rev. R. L. Willingham reading the double-ring ceremony.

The altar was lighted with burning candles in 11-point silver antique candelabra before a floral background of large white chrysanthemums and greenery of ferns and lemon leaf.

Mrs. Wallace Gates, gowned in a dark wine choir robe, played pre-nuptial music on the organ and accompanied Mrs. Clyde B. Dungan, gowned in matching robe, who sang, "Because" and "I Love Thee." For the processional, Mrs. Gates played "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod, softly during the ceremony and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn for the recessional.

Mrs. Jack Whitaker, matron of honor, was gowned in a pastel pink formal, with black lace trim, and long black gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses tied with black ribbons and wore a matching arrangement in her hair.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Clyde Dungan, was lovely in a wedding gown of slipper satin and exquisite French lace, fashioned with tight fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, with long puff sleeves, which were tightly fitted from the elbow, pointed at the wrist and fastened with three self-covered buttons as on the sleeves. The full skirt with long train completed the graceful French mode, sent from California by her mother.

The bride carried a small white Bible, to which was fastened a shower bouquet, centered with an orchid.

For something borrowed, she wore a string of pearls, belonging to her matron of honor; for something new the white Bible; something old, a very old handkerchief which had been used in the weddings of friends, and for something blue, a tiny blue bow on her lingerie.

The bridegroom and best man, Robert Feather, wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Dungan chose for her son's wedding, a lovely fuchsia crepe afternoon frock, and her corsage was white gardenias.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dungan were hosts at a wedding reception at their home at 504 Washington Avenue. White chrysanthemums and roses were used for house decorations. Mrs. Dungan, dressed in a blue crepe formal, received the guests upon arrival. Mrs. Harry Nelson, dressed in a green taffeta formal, played incidental melodies during the reception.

After the couple cut the three-tiered white wedding cake, with faint accents of pink, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, under an arch of starched lace, it was served by Mrs. Landis Feather, who wore a black formal with gold trim and a corsage of white carnations, at the lace-covered table centered with a large desert flower candle. Mrs. Herman L. Green, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a black crepe formal and a corsage of pink carnations, presided at the silver coffee service. Miss Floria Coggins, gowned in a black and gold formal and wearing a white corsage, presided at the guestbook, in which about 50 guests registered.

The bride graduated from Cushing High School with the class of '47 and was editor of the school yearbook for that year. She was active in the Order of the Rainbow for Girl and is now active in the Order of the Eastern Star. She is employed as a bookkeeper at the First National Bank.

Mr. Dungan is a graduate of Artesia High School. He spent two years in the Navy during the last war, with overseas duty in the Pacific theater. He is now engaged in farming at Green Valley Ranch Farm where he was born and reared.

The couple left after the reception on a brief honeymoon trip, going to El Paso and returning by the White Sands National Monument and the Sacramento Mountains.

They are at the family home on Quay Avenue, until their new home at the farm is finished.

1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

ROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock day and night of the year.

Though they know this, leaders of 16 rail-unions are demanding a five-day, Mon-through Friday, week for one million and employees.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work and a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours for any work performed on Saturdays, 16 hours pay for any work performed on days and holidays.

Top of all this they want an additional 25¢ an hour for every employee!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Adding up these demands, they mean that union leaders seek to force the railroads to pay one million employees an annual raise of $1500 per employee!

The total cost of this would be no less than $150 million dollars per year, which is more than the expected net income of the railroads this year.

They'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employees have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48¢ an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10¢ an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employees Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

Nothing Too Large

Will You Vote For New Mexico Or Texas?

ELECT HURLEY, Urges Albuquerque Journal

New Mexico's intensified interest in the development of its water resources should cause voters in the November election to consider seriously the matter of representation in the next Senate. Thought should be directed to the question of what candidate sent there could do the most effective work in getting consideration of this state's interests in development of water projects among the other things for which we have been striving.

In this consideration account must be taken of the fact that the most nonpartisan opinion is that the next national administration will be Republican—that Gov. Dewey will be the next occupant of the White House.

In that event New Mexico should have majority representation in the Congress to get the utmost consideration from the national administration. It will need Gen. Patrick J. Hurley in the Senate, where the final word is passed on legislation originating in the House.

The experience of the state in battling with Texas over water matters points up to the fact that it has been impossible for a state with as small a representation in Congress as we have to combat Texas' powerful delegation under a Democratic administration. The odds have been against the state even though we have equal representation in the Senate.

Senator Hatch in the last session fought valiantly for a measure for the rehabilitation of the Fort Sumner irrigation project. Even though he stood well with the national administration, and got some republican support, he was blocked at every turn by the Texas delegation.

The El Paso, Texas Times Wants Anderson

Our friends in New Mexico are in the midst of a hot political campaign, with the race between Clinton P. Anderson, the Democratic nominee, and Patrick J. Hurley, the Republican nominee, for the U. S. Senate, holding the spotlight.

The Times realizes it is an out-of-state newspaper and has no right to attempt to tell the people of New Mexico

Senator Chavez likewise encountered his troubles with the Texas delegation in the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy district project. A compromise finally was won in a Republican Congress and initial authorization secured. Appropriations, however, will be needed to effectuate the measure. That is where the state will secure its interests best by having Republican representation in the Senate—a friend at court so to speak.

Gen. Patrick Hurley would be that man. He would stand to gain more than his opponent, Mr. Clinton P. Anderson, who during his terms in Congress wasn't able to accomplish much even with Democratic Congresses and a national administration in face of the Texas opposition. It's reasonable to expect he wouldn't carry much weight in a Republican administration. And in turn, it is not being the point to predict that Mr. Hurley would gain most consideration. He like Mr. Anderson, has been a cabinet member, more experienced from long years of association with Republican leaders, and knows his way around in Washington to the fullest degree. This was shown by Mr. Roosevelt calling upon him during the war for several important assignments on which he acquitted himself well.

The state can best be served, The Journal believes, in the election of Mr. Hurley to the Senate, not only from the standpoint of the further development of our water resources, but for furthering all the interests of the state in the next national administration.

TEXAS HAS TWO SENATORS! DO THEY WANT THIRD FROM NEW MEXICO?

It is up to you whether you vote for your own state or Texas!

No matter how you are registered, you can vote as you please in the General Election, Nov. 2

All Troops Of Girl Scouts Are Quite Active

With all troops meeting regularly each week and with a full list of activities scheduled and pending, Girl Scout activities in Artesia are off to a good start for the year. Mrs. George Beadle announced this week.

Troop 2 was entertained by the sponsoring group, Beta Sigma Phi, with a wienie roast in the back yard of the Mrs. Raymond Lamb residence. Eighteen girls were present, and the leaders as well as representatives from the sponsoring group. The troop also announced the newly elected officers: treasurer, Bobbie Jo Hanson; secretary, Betty Burch, and reporter, Sally Scott.

Troop 9 is beginning a study of dramatics under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Sams, who has had adequate training in this work, as well as considerable experience with amateur productions.

This troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Bill Royer, was organized two years ago. It formerly was a part of Troop 7. It consists of girls of freshman school year age and will need a new leader very shortly, as Mrs. Royer is employed in one of the downtown stores. Any person interested in working with this group is urged to contact Mrs. Walter Solt, organization chairman, or Mrs. C. P. Bunch, president of the local board.

Troop 8 had a wienie roast in the back yard of the Clarence Connor residence. During this hour the group reviewed fire building and trail blazing, after which they roasted wieners and sang. Mrs. Connor then presented a surprise birthday cake to the group in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Annette, and the birthday of Peggy Ruth Hanna. Following the democratic method of electing officers, the troop named Florence Worley, president; vice president, Charlene Johnson; secretary, Wanda Crume; treasurer, Sue Carolyn Miller, and sergeant-at-arms, Frances Fuchs.

Troop 7, the only registered senior troop active in Artesia, has announced its plans for the coming year's activities to be primarily of a service nature. They will be baby sitters for those who have Scout troops or who would have a troop if it were not for the expense of hiring a baby setter. This service will be entirely voluntary and with a membership of 13 girls it is expected by the troop that they will be able to take care of all Scout leaders who require sitters.

As another service feature, the troop will edit and present over radio station KSPV a feature, "Scout News and Views," which will give to all Scouts an opportunity to share with each other program plans and activities as well as serve as a source of information wherein news of general interest to Girl Scouts and Brownies is aired. Officers for this troop are: President, Alice Martin; vice president, Joann Short; secretary, Jolene Beadle, and treasurer, Linda Boyle.

Troop 4 has chosen shell craft as their main project for the year. Mrs. Curtis Bolton, leader, announced that the troop will make placecards for parties upon being contacted by persons interested. This offers a medium to Artesia women which is not only helpful to the women giving parties but will be aiding the individual troop to finance its further adventure in arts and crafts. For prices and other information about the shell work, those interested may call Mrs. Bolton or Mrs. Dave Saikin. Officers for this group are: President, Eileen Marshall; secretary, Marilyn Saikin, and treasurer, Laura Lou Smith.

Troop 2 is now working on first-class badges, after completing all second class requirements. At their meeting last week they did sketching of still life under the arts and craft badge. After this they had refreshments of punch and cookies. Officers for this troop are: President, Verna Pound; vice president, Linda Siegenthaler; secretary, Marilyn Runyan; treasurer, Effie Douthitt, and scribe, Nancy Franklin.

Officer—

He told the girls that they should have two locks for their bicycles, because there have been bicycle tires and wheels stolen from bicycles, and that one lock is not sufficient.

All bicycle owners should have lights and reflectors on their bicycles, especially reflectors. Officer Lemley said, because car drivers cannot see the bicycles at night, until it was almost too late to stop. Preceding Officer Lemley's talk the Scouts ordered new equipment through Mrs. Jack Frost, a troop committee member.

The Scouts will be guests of their leader, Mrs. Bill Ellinger, at a Halloween party next Monday afternoon.

Old-Fashioned Styles Mark Halloween Party At Spencer Residence

Mrs. F. M. Spencer entertained with an old-fashioned Halloween party at her home Monday night. The guests dressed as they did when they were young girls. The evening was spent playing games and singing old-fashioned songs. The highlight of the evening was when Mrs. Spencer showed the guests old picture albums with pictures of the olden days.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Molly (Smith) Brown, E. A. (Mabel) Henrichson, Hannah, Jim (Emily) Hewitt, Montgomery, Ora (Bowman) Buck, Beulah (Turknett) Jones, Paul (Minerva Zook) Whitted, W. T. (Ruby Turknett) Amstutz, and Carl (Cleta Parker) Martin.

Funds Needed For Underprivileged School Children

Mrs. John Heaton, school nurse, emphasized the need for funds to care for the health needs for underprivileged children in the schools in a talk to the Central School Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday of last week. She stressed the work being done on a dental program and hopes that more funds will be available for hearing tests and general health needs.

A movie, "The Power Behind the Nation," was also shown to the group. Miss Jo Margaret Gore played several violin selections, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Gates to complete the program.

In the business meeting preceding, the group decided to buy indoor playground equipment with part of the funds set aside last year for playground equipment. The association also voted to give a prize to the room having the most parents in attendance, with a special allotment for fathers attending.

C. A. Stalcup, Central School principal, told those present that attendance had dropped last month and in order to keep their present number of teachers, the average attendance must be 95 per cent of those enrolled.

The next meeting will be the second Wednesday in November.

enthaier, chairman, after which the resolution to sell was passed.

Serving with Siegenthaler on the committee and in the recommendations were W. W. Batie, W. Leslie Martin, Harold (Dude) Dunn, and Stanley Carper.

The committee recommended that a tract of land on the west side of South 13th Street be purchased by the city for development as a city athletic field and park. However, no immediate action has been taken by the council on that point.

Councilmen as individuals disclosed they favor the building of the park on city-owned property contingent to and east of the municipal airport, rather than on the 58-acre tract on South 13th Street. This possibility is now being studied.

The City Council on Thursday night also passed an ordinance prohibiting loitering or window peeping, as told in another news story.

The night prior to a previous meeting the council authorized the chief of police to install additional parking meters, to be placed on both sides of Main Street from Fifth to Sixth, both sides of Fourth Street south of Quay Avenue to the alley, on the north side of Quay from Fourth Street to Rose-lawn, on the east side of Fourth between the alley and Texas Avenue, and two on Roselawn in front of the property formerly housing the bus station.

Permission was granted Kemp Lumber to widen North Roselawn in front of the Kemp property from the alley to Texas, the work to be done at the company's expense and subject to the approval of the city supervisor.

may be elected only for two terms of two years each, which makes it impossible for him to formulate a program of educational necessity. Likewise, the state board members, although their terms are staggered, are appointed by successive governors, and usually all resign at the start of a new administration.

It would be better, the survey shows, to have a state board of nine members, whose terms are staggered, one each year, and whose work would be continual.

These men, the directors said, should have the authority to appoint a state superintendent at a salary which would permit the hiring of one well qualified.

County superintendents likewise are permitted two terms of two years only, the report showed. And the law has very lax educational requirements, so lax in fact that at present 33 per cent of the county superintendents in the state hold no degrees.

It was recommended that county superintendents be elected by electors outside of the municipalities, so those whom they will serve will have the entire voice in their selection.

The survey shows it has been found many schools in the state are too small to operate efficiently and economically. And it was recommended that in such cases schools be consolidated. Further, if they are consolidated into municipal systems and there be no need for a county superintendent, there should be none elected, the directors said.

The survey goes into many other phases of the good and bad in the state school system and brings out the fact there are inadequate buildings, that the equalization law does not work out equitably, and that the present system of hiring buses, rather than being owned by the state, is costly.

'Pie Spin' By Does Adds $235 To Room Fund

In an effort to raise sufficient money to furnish a room in the new wing of Artesia Memorial Hospital, the B.P.O. Does held a "pie spin" in front of the Artesia Pharmacy Saturday night, which cleared $235. At the same time a 16-pound dressed turkey was given away to Mrs. Nella B. Taylor.

The Does expressed their appreciation to W. R. Petty for the use of his building, to the Lions Club for the use of their sound truck, and to the public for their enthusiastic reception of the event.

In line with this money raising project, Mrs. Lillian Bigler, chairman of the ways and means committee, has been active in stimulating her committee to devising

Lightning Strikes Refinery Tank Last Evening During Storm

Lightning struck one of the storage tanks at the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company refinery at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening during a severe electric storm and downpour, causing a fire, which did little damage.

At the same time several pieces of electric equipment in the east part of the city were effected, some burned out.

The gauge of the Southern Union Gas Company recorded $\frac{3}{4}$ inch of rain. However, the rainfall was believed to have been much heavier in the west part of the city.

Traffic Problem Staggering Proportions

More than 40,000,000 motor vehicles using streets and roads in the United States, the end of 1948, America's traffic problem is reaching staggering proportions. J. T. Callaway, president of the American Road Builders' Association, declared recently, "Recent figures from transportation agencies to emphasize the increasing congestion on the highways. "In the United States, we now have one car for every four persons," said Callaway. "Compare this with one for every 17 in Great Britain, 25 in France, 70 in Russia, and 222 in the rest of the world. And our factories are turning out trucks and cars faster than we can build the roads to provide adequate safety and traffic relief." The ARBA executive estimated that the end of this year would see a total of 400 billion miles rolled up by the nation's motor vehicles, an increase of 20 per cent over the highest prewar year. He added that the 50,586,000 licensed drivers in this country constitute 49 per cent of population over 16 years of age. "The automobile manufacturers tell us that 8,895,000 people are required in the manufacture, distribution, and use of motor vehicles," Callaway continued. "Jobs in the commercial vehicle industry are at an all-time high with nearly 5,200,000 employees, the largest single occupational group in the country outside agriculture. Employment in factories making vehicles and component parts is past the million mark, an increase of 350,000 over 1941. Industries supplying raw materials take care of

Drilling Oil Well Is Not Simple Business Today

Drilling an oil well is no simple business. Just witness how complicated it has become in the last 89 years.

The first oil well was drilled, back in 1859, by the same method that then was used to drill water wells: A heavy "tool" was raised and dropped in a hole so as to "beat away" the bottom of the well. This method brought in the first oil well at a depth of 69½ feet.

Compared with that depth, the deepest producing oil well in the U.S. today, in Natrona County, Wyoming, goes down 14,309 feet. The deepest well drilled went down 17,823 feet. It was a dry hole. No rising and falling tool would have penetrated that far. Instead, sharp, rotating bits, made of rare steel, revolving at an average 100 revolutions per minute, bored their way to more than three miles below the earth's surface.

As the machine age has developed, more and more demands for more and better oil products have been placed on the oil industry. And the progress it has made in well drilling is just one example of the way the industry, made up of 34,000 competing companies and more than 2,000,000 men and women, is serving the public. Since 1859, about 1,200,000 wells have been completed. One out of each three was a dry hole. Of the oil producers about half, or 428,522, in 25 states remain in operation. But most of them produce only a few barrels a day.

Responding to unprecedented demands for oil products and to the incentive of increased price, petroleum companies this year are drilling approximately 40,000 wells—an increase of 20 per cent over last year. The oil that is coming from these additional wells prevented a gasoline shortage this summer and is expected to avoid a repetition of last winter's fuel oil shortage. Oil continues as a good example of American competitive enterprise.

More Hens, Pullets Are Asked To Assure Abundance of Eggs

To assure an abundance of eggs to meet high market demand, which is partially because of high meat prices, farmers should carry into next year the largest number of hens and pullets consistent with good poultry-management practices.

This is the recommendation of the Department of Agriculture in calling for a national production goal of 425 million hens and pullets on farms on Jan. 1. It would mean keeping on farms a larger proportion of the summer flocks than in recent years, and would supply at least as many eggs per person as this year.

another 600,000 workers." Callaway pointed out that wages were higher and that the wealth created through the use of motor vehicles is at new peaks. "Approximately one-fifth of the total national income this year will be earned by people engaged in automotive or related activities," he said.

In connection with this financial picture, it must be noted that vehicle operators pay more than three billion dollars annually to state, federal, and local governments, or 33 per cent more than in 1941," Mr. Callaway said. "Of this figure, trucks pay nearly a billion dollars. While passenger car registrations have increased 12 per cent over the prewar level, truck registration has jumped 50 per cent.

"To keep current over-age vehicles operating efficiently, the industry is turning out replacement parts at a record rate of 2.6 billion dollars annually. In 1941, the replacement parts production was at the $718,000,000 level."

Increased travel has upped gasoline use by more than a quarter since 1941, Callaway announced. It is estimated that more than 30 billion gallons of fuel will be sold to motorists in 1949, compared with 24 billion in 1941.

The road builders' president commented that unfilled passenger car orders on July 1 were 11 per cent higher than on Jan. 1. Combined with truck production, it would require 26 months to produce the 7,300,000 new cars already spoken for, he concluded.

Moore, Dexter Farmer, Farms From His Plane

"Our most valuable service from an airplane is that it really gives us a birdseye view of our business," says E. O. Moore, of Dexter when asked what he thought a plane could do for a farmer, relates New Mexico Extension News, which continues:

Roughly, Moore gives his plane credit for improving his 960 acre irrigated farm at the rate of $2 an acre per year.

Moore took up flying at the age of 53 because his son took him up for a ride one day. They flew over Moore's farm and Moore became slightly ill.

"It wasn't air sickness," he recalled, "it was just that I'd spent 35 years trying to run the most efficient farm possible, and all of a sudden I saw all the mistakes I'd made."

"On the farm we have always seen our fields from the ground level and invariably it is the good plants that we saw in looking across a field. Looking down a row is a similar proposition: One sees the plants, not the skips. But from the air, the farmer sees first his mistakes; and how much land he is working but not really using for production."

"In the four years since that first ride," Moore continues, "we have really tried to correct the poor practices which were so painfully evident from the air-view, and we have been partially successful. At any rate, we can now fly over our place and not have such a pained expression showing when we come down to earth again. There are not so many places where there's no irrigation at all, not so many fences down, or spots where we're getting only three-quarter production."

"Mathematically I figured anything which improved farming practices ought to be worth $2 an acre," he said. "That pays for a plane in about two years."

"There are other values of an airplane, too," Moore adds. "Flying over the farm and ranch we get an idea of each part of it in relation to other parts. We can actually see how far the stock are going to travel to graze and water, and can locate the fences and the waterings at the right points (for the best use of the livestock), if any of that sort of thing is to be done. And, of course, the locating of lost stock is a good service, too."

"Not the least of the value of an airplane is to demonstrate that one is not as old as 53 as he probably considers himself and that anybody who can pass a pilot's test is not, after all, just tottering around."

"Really, it gives one reason to think that if he can fly an airplane he can do any darn thing that requires intelligence, long after he has given up strenuous athletics," Moore concludes.

The farm is now equipped with three landing fields, one just outside the kitchen door. Mrs. Moore is now taking flying lessons also. If plans are followed she may be doing the aerial survey work and cattle checking while her husband does the land improvement jobs on the ground.

"The instructor asked me why I didn't teach her (Mrs. Moore) to fly," he reports. "Can you imagine a quicker way to get into the dog house?"

Moore is one of about 75 farmers and ranchers in New Mexico having airplanes, according to Morgan Nelson, Roswell, president of the New Mexico Flying Farmers organization.

Household Hints

By Veda Strong
Home Management Specialist.
Hang wet clothes on the line by their firmest and heaviest parts.

Dark woodwork that is to be painted white or light color should receive a coat of stain sealer before white coats are applied. This prevents dark stain or color from "bleeding through."

If mildew appears on shoes in humid weather, it should be washed off with a cloth dipped in mild soapuds or saddle soap, wiped dry and sunned. When the leather is thoroughly dry, rub with wax to prevent further mildewing.

In the refrigerator don't crowd foods too closely together because this will cut off the circulation of cold air around them.

If you shake the wrinkles out of clothes after they come out of the last rinse water, you won't have so many wrinkles to iron out.

A nutcracker clamped around the cap of small screw-top bottles will act as a wrench and can be used to help loosen the bottle top.

If you are using expensive fabric for drapes, it's a good idea to line them. It often prevents fading, it makes the draperies hang well, and makes them last longer.

Turkish towels should be washed before you use them. Wash fluffs up the towels so the towels absorb water more readily.

Protect the children's new school books by making removable covers of plasticized cloth, which may be wiped off.

For a sparkling clean wash it's important to have clean, sudsy water for every load of clothes. Soap won't work efficiently in dirty water.

Synthetic detergent washing powders are fine for washing greasy pans and dishes, but are not so good for linoleum and painted surfaces as they draw out the oils causing the finishes to dry out.

To provide ventilation in cleaning closets, holes may be bored in top and bottom sections of the closet doors.

CCC Offers Potatoes For Livestock Feed, Sacked and Delivered

The Commodity Credit Corporation is offering second-grade Colorado potatoes for sale to New Mexico livestock feeders at 30 cents per hundredweight, sacked and delivered by rail to the purchaser's nearest shipping point, according to C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the State PMA Committee.

Also, he said, these potatoes can be purchased in truckload lots in San Luis Valley at 10 cents per hundredweight in bulk or 20 cents if sacked.

These potatoes are being purchased by the CCC through the Price Support Program and, because of inadequate storage facilities, must be disposed of within the next few days to avoid being ruined by frost, Hemphill continued.

All feeders desiring to purchase these potatoes for livestock feed should contact their county ACA committee immediately, he concluded.

has been predicted by the United States Department of Agriculture, and confirmed by farm leaders. Figures of the department indicate that meat consumption may be down as much as four pounds per person for the fourth quarter.

However, current availability of cheese and other high protein foods will make it possible for American families to include the full normal quota of protein in their diet.

At present cheese price levels, half a pound of cheddar, either natural or process, costs considerably less than a pound of beef. Moreover, cheese is even more of a bar-

Spraying in Summer Will Not Halt Grubs

Destroying Eggs Fails To Stop Winter Attack

Spraying cattle in summer with benzene hexachloride, rotenone or other insecticides, new or old, does not prevent grub infestation in winter.

Although there is nothing new in that statement, the need for repeating it is plainly indicated by an account of spraying dairy cattle in one of the corn belt states. The work was given considerable publicity, with erroneous conclusions.

In this case, older animals of the herd were sprayed with DDT. Heifers and calves were not sprayed because they were running in pasture. Spraying them would have required getting them up and handling them.

The following winter, it was noticeable that the cows which had been sprayed were not infested with grubs. The young stuff was peppered with them. The natural conclusion was that a summer spray of DDT was effective.

That conclusion is unwarranted because, as entomologists know, older cattle seldom if ever have grubs of the heel fly. The young animals are the ones that suffer.

The department of agriculture says: "Many substances have been applied to cattle to keep away heel flies and to kill the eggs deposited on the legs of the animals. All have been found to be either ineffective or impractical. The best time for attacking the pest is when the grubs are in the backs of cattle."

the pound, by the fourth pound, or half pound. It's convenient to buy pins in bulk, and it's more economical, too. To have pins where they're handy, when you're cutting and stitching and fitting, wear a small pin cushion on your wrist.

 Just fasten it to an elastic band which slips easily over your hand.
 Choose a pin cushion that's not too flat. Then the pins won't stick through it and into you.

Having the right supplies on hand when you need them means more successful sewing. So take stock of your equipment and be prepared for sewing the right way.
 Have a good supply of thin paper to use in cutting out sheer and stretchy materials. It helps when you're stitching, too. A variety of needle sizes is a good investment.

 You should have very sharp, fine needles, and fine machine needles, too, for sewing such materials as satin and rayon jersey. Have plenty of gripper fasteners—and use them to fasten in shoulder pads.
 Bias tape or seam binding for "staying" seams is another item you'll need every now and then.

When you're going traveling, accessory planning in advance is worth the time it takes. Shoes, hats, and purses take up room in your luggage, and they're heavy to carry. Choose a set of accessories which goes well with most of the suits and dresses in your travel wardrobe. Then you won't be changing your purse whenever you that's roomy is a good travel companion. Your shoulder takes the weight of the bag easily and your hands are left free.

Is 'By-Product'
Of Oil Progress

New Mexico has reaped a golden harvest in gasoline tax revenues as an important "by-product" of the tremendous job done by the petroleum industry in satisfying the unprecedented postwar demand for motor fuel.

This was pointed out by T. H.
 Joyce, chairman of the New Mexico Petroleum Industries Committee.

"With the end of the war, the oil industry undertook a gigantic expansion program to meet an amazing increase in the demand for petroleum products. Evidence of the industry's success lies in the fact refineries today process enough gasoline to meet a consumer demand more than 30 per cent greater than prewar peaks," Joyce said.

"New Mexico is profiting handsomely as a result of the oil industry's success. Because of the industry's achievement, the 5 cents per gallon state gasoline tax this year will set a new record in its yield of funds. Returns thus far indicate our gasoline tax will boost 1948 receipts higher than the previous annual record of $7,524,000 chalked up in 1947.

"The gasoline tax is but one of the special taxes imposed on the motorist as a charge for his use of the roads. Unfortunately, in New Mexico revenues from these special automotive taxes are used for purposes other than highway development."

He cited figures from the Public Roads Administration which showed that in 1947 New Mexico diverted to non-highway expenditures $901,000 from special automotive tax collections. Moreover, according to statistics compiled by the National Highway User Conference
 New Mexico could have built at least 792 miles of highway with special tax money that has been diverted in past years, he said.

"These 792 miles of highway," he said, "have been lost to New Mexico and it is mileage which our state can ill afford to lose. The increased consumption of gasoline means that we are using our roads more than ever before. It is essential, therefore, that every dollar collected from special automotive taxes be used for the development of our road system to handle this increased traffic."

Consumers Get Benefit From Price Supports

Consumers as well as farmers benefit from government price support programs, says Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Price support programs encourage storage of surpluses, says Forehand. When there is more wheat or corn or potatoes than can be handled by marketing facilities, a farmer can get a loan and put the surplus in storage. The loan program before the war helped to fill the granaries so that bread rationing was not necessary during the war. Now that the granaries have been emptied for war needs and to feed famine-stricken people in war devastated countries, the loan program is helping to fill them up again for use by consumers later on.

By the end of August, nearly 100 million bushels of wheat had been placed in storage under loan. For consumers full granaries are the best assurance of enough to eat if lean years should come.

Price supports also help the consumer, the chairman points out, by encouraging an adequate production. When farmers are sure they will be protected against ruinous price drops, they follow their natural bent and do everything to produce abundantly, the chairman points out. Price supports coupled with conservation measures practiced by farmers made possible the 35 to 40 per cent increase in food production we've had during and since the war.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

On the subject of consumer prices, he says, "Certainly prices would not have been lower if less food had been produced. Food items about which there is the greatest complaint are commodities that are not supported. There are no price supports on beef and lamb."

Farmers must protect their crops by storing them if they are to have the benefit of price supporting loans. The loan program is an incentive for farmers to produce and to protect what they produce.

VA Announces Increased Rates Of Compensation

Veterans with service-connected disabilities incurred in peacetime service will receive increased rates of compensation, the Veterans Administration announced.

The increases are authorized in a recently enacted law, which specifies that peacetime rates for compensation shall equal 80 per cent of the comparable rates for wartime service. Under old law, the peacetime rates average about 75 per cent of the wartime rates.

Compensation rates are based on the percentage of disability suffered by the veteran, from 10 per cent to total in multiples of 10, plus additional allowances for amputations, blindness, and the like. Wartime monthly rates range from $13.80 for 10 per cent disability to a maximum of $360. The new law raises the peacetime rate for 10 per cent disability from $10.35 to $11.04, and the maximum from $270 to $288, with comparable increases throughout the scale.

The increases will be made automatically and veterans entitled to them need not apply or write to VA offices.

Cotton Quotas Out For Next Marketing Year

There will be no marketing quotas on cotton for the 1949-50 marketing year, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

In explaining the reason for this decision, the secretary said that quotas will be proclaimed because the total supply of American cotton, as defined by the controlling legislation, is less than the amount which would make quotas mandatory.

He added further, "If quotas had been required for the 1949 cotton crop, the present legislation, with its many minimum provisions, would have required the secretary to establish total acreage quotas of not less than 27,000,000 acres. This year's total acreage is only about 23,300,000 acres. The minimum quotas which could be fixed for next year would actually have authorized and encouraged an increase of nearly 4,000,000 acres." Because of this, the secretary explained, the proclamation of quotas would have operated directly contrary to the original intention of the law, which was to reduce cotton acreage.

This announcement of no quotas for cotton in the 1949-50 marketing year will not change the support level to producers for the 1949 crop. The crop will be supported at a loan level of 90 per cent of the July 15, 1949, parity.

Little Girl In Connecticut Is Safest In U.S.

Who is the safest person in the United States?

It's still the little girl in Connecticut, who almost every year bobs up as the National Safety Council's nominee for the mythical safety title.

The council figures it this way: Connecticut has the lowest accident fatality rate of any state. The safest age group in the country is the 5-14 bracket. And for some reason, little girls seem to be safer than little boys. So it's the little girl in Connecticut again.

The council's 1948 nomination is based on statistics contained in the current edition of its statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

The council suggests, should wear their safety laurels warily, lest they lose their crowns. And little girls and all other people in other states may well try to be a little safer.

USDA Asks For Big Pig Crop In Spring Totaling 60 Million

A spring pig crop goal of 60 million pigs has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The goal calls for an increase of nine million pigs over the 1948 spring crop. If the goal is achieved, it will be the third largest spring crop of pigs ever produced in this country.

Two reasons lie behind setting up such a large goal. One of them is that consumers want more meat. If the goal is met about 120 pounds

Backs U.S. Policy

SPEAKING to reporters in the Executive Mansion at Albany, N. Y., Gov. Thomas Dewey (above) declared that the American people are back of the U.N. delegates in their fight to lift the Berlin blockade. A short time after, the Republican Presidential candidate left on a campaign trip. (International)

Stretch a Small Amount of Meat With Good Rich Gravy

By ALICE DENHOFF

THE budget-handler sees how good gravy ekes out a meat course. Rich gravy made from meat drippings or fat stars in a thrifty meal of a well-browned pot roast, corn bread and gravy. As thrifty meat cuts come into their own, so does the good gravy that results from long simmering.

Serve the pot roast with raw vegetables such as a green salad, some raw vegetable relish or green-pepper cole slaw for a hearty meal. Many are the thrifty (for these times) cuts of meat which make good gravy and lend themselves to flavorful combinations. When cooking liver or braised flank steak, try adding thin cream to the drippings and serving around the meat. Braised round steak may also have its milk gravy spooned around it country style. Veal chops browned and baked with peas, diced celery and their own good brown gravy is another nice meal.

Spicy Gravy

Lamb hocks do well baked in a gravy made spicy with a horseradish or Worcestershire sauce. And fried salted pork surrounded with a cream gravy is cause for a song! In the main, gravy is of three families: pan gravy (or meat drippings "as is"), brown gravy, and cream gravy. Pan gravy is simplest of all. Just add a few tablespoons of water to the savory brown residue left in the cooking utensil, stirring until of the desired concentration. Brown gravy is pan gravy thickened and well browned. Cream gravy is thickened pan gravy with thin cream or milk as the liquid. Whatever the type of gravy, whatever its consistency, whatever its color, gravy should have a rich, meaty flavor and a healthy color.

Good Pot Roast

In the fall a good rolled rump pot roast graces the dinner table to hearty applause and accolades. This recipe takes a 3-4 lb. rolled rump pot roast, but it does mighty well with chuck, plate or heel of round instead. Season meat well with salt and pepper. Brown well on all sides in 2 tsp. fat in Dutch oven or heavy kettle. Add 1 1/2 c. water. Cover lightly, and cook at a simmering temperature until meat is tender, from 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Add 10 each medium-sized carrots and onions the last hour of cooking.

For a tangy tomato gravy skim off 2 tsp. fat, add to it 2 tsp. flour; cook and stir until well blended and slightly browned. Add one c. tomato juice (or an equal amount of meat stock or cold water). Stir till smooth, season with salt and pepper.

of meat per capita will be available as compared with the present 142. The second reason is that there is plenty of feed, particularly corn, to feed such a pig crop. This year's record crop will be large enough to feed an even larger pig crop than the one called for. The supply of other concentrates, such as grain by-products and oilseed meals, also is at a record high level.

C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the New Mexico State PMA Committee, said that the farmers in the Corn Belt states are in an especially favorable position to increase their hog production.

Traffic Gives Way To Home Accidents As Greatest Killer

Traffic—traditionally the No. 1 accident killer in America—has lost its dubious distinction, according to the 1948 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

There were 32,300 motor vehicle accident deaths in 1947 and 1,150,000 injuries. This was a 3 per cent reduction in deaths from 1946, and put home accidents in the No. 1 spot last year, with 34,500 deaths and 5,200,000 injuries.

The council pointed out that the 1947 traffic volume was 10 per cent greater than in 1946, and was greater than in any previous year. Therefore, the lower death total in 1947 resulted in the lowest annual mileage death rate in history—8.6 deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles.

Now Is Best Time To Cull Beef Cattle For Better Herds

Since all classes of livestock are bringing good prices these days, now is a good time to cull beef cattle and breeding herds, County Agent Dallas Rierson reminded ranchers. Culling of below average livestock will help stockmen develop superior herds, he explained.

"The index of a cow's producing ability can best be determined by looking over the cows with their calves at weaning time," Rierson said. "Cows producing inferior calves should be disposed of, as well as cows with injuries, particularly under injuries."

"Culling should include off-type yearling heifers, and the replacement heifers should add to the quality of the herd. Young heifers of good quality can be obtained as replacements for aged cows at only a small cost in exchange."

Close culling now of poor-producing and off-type females will mean a better herd—one which produce higher-quality animals in the years ahead, Rierson added.

The 1949 FRAZER

Trailblazer-of cars to come!

Once in a blue moon the stylists and engineers outdo themselves. They create a car that goes beyond today and sets the pattern for cars of the future.

This is what they have done with the FRAZER for 1949!

Low, sleek and differently handsome it is the trailblazer in style of cars to come. Its exclusive colors and fabrics have made the world's leading fashion designers fall in love with it. They call it "the dream car".

The same car, the FRAZER for 1949, has even won the hard-to-win hearts of the test drivers who must relentlessly punish a car mile after mile for weeks on end. They say the Frazer makes such driving no punishment for them. Its driving ease and riding comfort "make 600 miles a day a breeze," they say.

There's a thrill waiting for you at your dealer's today. With 100 new features, improvements and refinements, the 1949 FRAZER is ahead of its time. . . out front—trailblazing the way for all the cars to come.

First to break clean and scrap tradition, the cars from Willow Run have done it again. Because unlike other "new" cars built since the war, they've road-proved their dependability—2 billion miles worth! Value-proved to a quarter-million justly proud owners. See and drive the new FRAZER now! It's at your dealer's. Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, Willow Run, Michigan.

Black Crepe
For Daytime

Simple frock for autumn.

By VERA WINSTON

BLACK SHEER crepe is used for this nice late summer-into-autumn frock. It is a disarmingly simple frock that is a good wardrobe backbone. The bodice is snug below a turn-back buttoned down collar. The skirt is gently gathered at either side of the front closing and is gored in back. The self-covered buttons are rimmed in gold.

Soil Inventory Termed
Good Management Basis

Keep an inventory of the soil's fertility, the same as of buildings, livestock and equipment, advises Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

Nearly any farmer knows how many dairy cows, beef cattle, hogs and sheep he has. He also keeps a record of his seed, feed, buildings, machinery and fences.

Few farmers, however, have an inventory of their principal asset—the soil. Yet a farmer's earning power depends largely on whether his soil's fertility level is high or low.

On thousands of farms a soil fertility inventory would show serious shortages. Overcropping has used up nitrogen, phosphate and potash. The organic matter supply is scraping the bottom of the barrel. Soil structure has been damaged. Drainage is poor and air circulation is shut off. Crop output is low.

Restocking the "shelves" of the soil warehouse involves several essential steps. Plant food is important. But other things also are needed, particularly organic matter and good soil structure.

The soil inventory can be improved faster and at lower cost if "leaks" are halted by conservation measures that will slow down runoff and save topsoil and plant foods. Among such measures are contour cultivation, strip cropping and terracing where needed.

By Jim Larkin

I, too, think I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree that may in summer wear
Bright leaves, as long as they stay there.

It's ok. But when I must rake
Each day a load of them I ache.
And yearn to live in deserts free
Of any damned leaf-shedding tree.

IT HAPPENED IN OCTOBER

October seems to have been a good month for the establishment of universities. Leland Stanford opened its doors on the first day of October, 1891; and on the same date in the following year Chicago University welcomed students. But they were youngsters. Harvard had been established on the 28th of the month in 1636. 1942 (12) Need we remind you that the boy called Cristoforo Colombo in his home town finally discovered the fringe of our continent? 1781 (19) Cornwallis told George Washington that he had had enough of the scrap. 1864 (30) Nevada joined the Union. 1871

(8) Through the carelessness of someone, most of the town was lost in the great Chicago fire.

DEFINITIONS IN VERSE

One hardly can feel, in today's tangled traffic, Sublime, pure, angelic — in one word: SERAPHIC.

We hope the sweet lady that you wish to marry
Is not ABSONANT — meaning: discordant, contrary.

Burning the fallen leaves? Don't make a big fire; burn a few leaves at a time. And don't leave those leaves until the fire is completely extinguished, with no embers that can revive with a sudden wind.

Now that autumn is here I expect to recognize some of those unknown persons who, during the summer, have been nodding or speaking to me in passing. They will, I hope, have removed their fantastic and disguising sunglasses.

That new car ad sure entices. But, oh, woe! Those fancy prices are much more than traffic of my type will bear. If my 1940's metal should disintegrate, I'll settle for bus transit—if I chance to have the fare.

Being worried about the complete disappearance of certain once socially active friends, we investigated and found that they were confined to their homes with Televisionitis.

I know that it is a futile bleat in the wilderness by a reactionary old crank—but I don't like night football! Of all sports, this fine one needs the proper setting of sunshine, the colors in the bleachers against the autumn background, and the atmosphere, life and natural brightness not possible under flood-lights. (What's that? Gate receipts? Oh, I see. I was thinking of it just as a sport.)

In night driving, remember how annoying it is to face an oncoming car whose driver does not dim the "country beam." Don't be guilty of this dangerous and discourteous practice.

Your future is safe with U. S. Savings Bonds.

WILLIAM S. MCBURNIE
Baptist Minister, Belfast, Ireland

INVITATION TO ARTESIA MINISTERS

MY DEAR FELLOW CLERGYMEN:

I have accepted an invitation from many of your citizens some time ago, to conduct a city-wide, interdenominational Bible Conference, for 28 days, beginning Sunday afternoon, 2:30, October 24, the general theme of which will be, "THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST."

This is, as you know, "THE MEAT IN DUE SEASON." Its importance is stressed by John in his second Epistle, by the fact that he says: "For many deceivers are gone forth unto mankind, who confess not that Jesus Christ is coming in flesh... If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your home, neither greet him: for he that greeteth him is partaker of his evil deeds." II John, Verses 7 to 11.

I am not personally acquainted with any of you; but, I believe you to be, naturally, men of God, called and ordained by our heavenly father.

I therefore, take this opportunity to invite you to cooperate to the fullest of your ability, in order to make this city-wide Bible Conference a success, that is, as far as human ability is concerned.

Why should not we, who are fundamental in our belief, work together? The modernists do so. We can see this by the fact that they have just formed in Amsterdam a so-called "World Council of Churches."

I would like to suggest special prayer being offered by the members of your individual churches. Because, "The prayers of the righteous avail much."

Hoping to meet you in person this coming Sunday afternoon, if it is at all convenient for you, and praying God's richest blessing upon this city-wide, combined effort, for Jesus Christ's sake, I remain,

YOUR BROTHER IN THE LORD,
WILLIAM S. MCBURNIE, SR., (REV.)

Subjects to Be Discussed

"DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE FUTURE—WHY?" We are living in times of uncertainty. War can easily break out. The situation with regard to Russia, Palestine, Greece, Spain, Italy, etc., is very touchy. But we know this, every Christian-born-again person, is secure. Be sure to hear this comforting Bible-information message.

"WHERE ARE THE DEAD?" Are they conscious? Have they a memory? Do they suffer? Are they happy? What are they doing? Hear these convincing, informing, startling Bible facts for yourself.

"STARTLING PHOTOGRAPHED FACTS FROM PALESTINE"... PICTURES The camera has been sent over to Palestine and the fulfilled prophecies concerning Christ's Second Coming have been photographed. Please see these screen pictures while you hear the Bible prophecy concerning them, and the newspaper accounts of their fulfillment, read.

"THE MIDNIGHT CRY" Be sure to hear this message tonight, as it contains an overflowing wealth of Bible knowledge, which you need.

"THE WHOLE WORLD IS TO BE CAUGHT IN A TRAP SOON"

When the door of the Ark shut, everybody on the outside perished. Christ says, "As it was in the day of Noah, so shall it be in the coming of the Son of Man."

"1000 years reign of Christ on the earth."—Scripture.

"HOW IT ALL BEGAN" Inventions, business, fashions, profit, money, buying and selling?

"WAR IS COMING" See the convincing photographs, 50 gripping, soul-stirring pictures thrown on the screen. See them. Hear the facts. This is your opportunity. May the Lord help you to see the day we're living in. Thank God there is a way of escape. Come and see for yourself.

"THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL" What does "Mene, Mene, Tekel Upharsin" mean? What did God tell Daniel? What did Daniel tell old Nebuchadnezzar? How does this concern you today? More Scriptural information could be given in one sermon than in this. Don't miss it. You'll be the loser.

"EIGHT KINDS OF DEVILS" This will explain how we are tempted.

"WORLD PREPARATION FOR COMING OF ANTICHRIST"... PICTURES

What is the necessary preparation which the world must make before the Antichrist can come? Is it being made? Let me give you actual facts—let me show you actual photographs on the screen. They are not vulgar but they are awful. Children are not to come to this service.

"THE SUPERNATURAL WORLD" Let me take you behind the clouds and show you how much God thinks of you by giving the astounding evidence of His care through the aid of 8 ministering angels.

"THE MINISTRY OF TEARS" Why do we cry? Animals do not cry. The tear is only temporary. The day is coming when cheeks will never be stained any more with tears. "For God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes." What is the purpose of the tear?

"THE MARK OF THE BEAST" The mark will be given by the False Prophet. The Bible tells us plainly what it is, when it will be given. If you don't take it, you'll not "buy or sell." If you do take it, God says he will "damn your soul." There's a way of escape. Be sure to hear this.

"THERE SHALL BE GREAT TRIBULATION" This Tribulation is coming as punishment upon the earth. You do not need to be here for it. But, if you are, the Bible says, "Except those days should be shortened there should no flesh be saved." Matt. 24:22.

"THE TWO VINES" Many ministers, who have heard this message declare it to be Dr. McBurnie's finest.

Employment And Provisions Under Act

and employment under provisions of the Social Security Act are identical with those covered by the benefit-payments of the act, according to S. P. Vidal, collector of internal revenue, Albuquerque, and J. Hassler Strickland, director of the Social Security Administration in Roswell.

curity tax returns and wage reports for the calendar quarter ending Sept. 30 are due in the office of the collector of internal revenue, Albuquerque, by the end of October. For the sake of economy in the government and to simplify reporting of employers, the two agencies use the same reports to secure needed information.

Both officials strongly recommend to employers that the name and account number of each new worker be copied from his Social Security card when he starts to work. "To do so will enable an employer to file correctly completed reports," they said. "As a result, time and expense will be saved the government, and inconvenience and possible penalties can be avoided by the employer. In addition, all workers will be sure to receive full wage credits towards the retirement and family insurance which they earn."

The statement by Vidal and Strickland concluded that "a great majority of employers have done an excellent job of reporting. The few who have not done so are now expected to comply fully with the requirements."

A representative of the Roswell Social Security office will be in Artesia at the New Mexico State Employment Service office from 11 o'clock to noon Tuesday. He will be glad to aid in any problems you have concerning the federal old age and survivors' insurance program.

More Farm Storage On Farms Is Needed To Get Crop Loans

Because of outstanding crop production this year, farmers are finding it necessary to provide more storage space on their own farms, according to C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the State PMA Committee.

Unless farmers can put their crops in safe storage they cannot take advantage of the loan programs being administered by County ACA Committees. Hemphill said. Beans and grain sorghums are the two principal crops grown in New Mexico for which there is a critical need for additional storage he continued.

Hemphill urges all bean and grain sorghums farmers to contact their county ACA committees for details regarding the government price support programs and storage requirements.

HIGH PRICES?
We hate them too!

For a very selfish reason we are just as interested as you are in bringing prices down. When you can't buy, we can't sell. So your problem with the high cost of living is our problem too. May we point out some of the ways we can help?

By cutting out expensive "frills" we make many savings. These savings allow us to price everything low, every day.

But that's not all. Our advertising can help you too. It tells about the foods which are in season—those which are the best buys right now.

On meats too. You get more value in every pound when you buy our trimmed-before-weighing kind. Because we price fruits and vegetables by the pound, you can buy exactly the amounts you need. You cut waste and save again. A money-back guarantee on everything we sell protects you against loss on any purchase.

We believe shopping regularly at Safeway will help reduce your cost of eating. Will you try it?

FARM-FRESH PRODUCE

Farm-fresh? Sure. Here's why: Our expert buyers go where crops grow, choose only the good-eating fruits and vegetables, rush them to Safeway before time and heat can rob them of freshness and flavor.
