Deep Wildcat Slated For NE Howard Area

York & Harper, Inc., of Midland No. 1 J. J. Jones is to be a 10,000-foot wildcat in extreme Northwest Howard County three quarters of a mile northwest of the town of Knott.

It will be three quarters of a mile northwest of Brinkerhoff Drilling Company No. 1 Jones, flowing discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime.

The York & Harper prospector is to be 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 14, block 34, T&P survey, T-2-N.

Roads are being built to the location and operations will be started as soon as the rotary tools can be moved in and rigged up. McQueen & Clevenger have the contract to dig the project.

Brinkerhoff No. 1 Jones, located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block 34, T&P survey, T-2-N, is now drilling the plug on 5 1/2-inch casing, which had been cemented at 9,465 feet.

Corrected total depth is 9,501 feet. That point had previously been reported as 9,499 feet.

After the plug is drilled and the hole conditioned operator will make a production test. This wildcat had flowed oil from the section at 9,460-89 feet, and a core at 9,489-99 feet, (on the measurements,) had shown good porosity and oil saturation. It is expected to make a producer and a new field opener.

Humble Is Deepening Reef Failure In Kent

Humble Oil & Refining Company filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas to continue drilling on to the Ellenburger at its No. 1 Lela Knight and others, reef failure on the extreme south edge of the Salt Creek field of Northwest-Central Kent County.

Operator recovered 1,600 feet of salt water on a drillstem test at 6,480-6,528 feet. On a previous test, at 6,478-6,495 feet, the project recovered 45 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud.

The No. 1 Lela Knight topped the reef at 6,476 feet on a minus datum of 4,367 feet.

Operator has asked permission to drill on to 8,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Location for the prospector is 365 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 115, block G, W&NW survey.

It is now drilling below 7,257 feet.

Production Indicated In Glasscock Tester

Ninety feet of slightly gas-cut mud and 120 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, plus 1,590 feet of dry sweet gas were recovered on a drillstem test in the Spraberry sand at R. R. Herrel of Midland No. 1 Marshall Cook, wildcat in Central Glasscock County.

Operator is now drilling below 7,432 feet in sandy shale.

The tester was open four hours. A strong blow of air was to the surface for three hours.

The No. 1 Cook is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 5, block 34, T-1-S, T&P survey. Drillsite is four miles west of Garden City.

Scheduled destination of the wildcat is 11,000 feet, which is sufficient to test the Ellenburger.

Flowing Bend Oil Is Found In Stonewall

R. J. Carraway and associates No. 1 John Behringer has found flowing oil in the Bend conglomerate, one and one-half miles east of the Old Glory pool of Southeast Stonewall County.

It took a drillstem test in the Bend conglomerate at 5,868-5,881 feet, which is the corrected total depth.

Gas came to the surface in 10 minutes. Oil started flowing in 45 minutes and the flow continued until the tool was closed. Rate of the flow was not reported. Recovery was 3,910 feet of clean oil and 90 feet of oil cut mud. Flowing pressure was 400 pounds and shutin bottomhole pressure was 2,550 pounds in 30 minutes.

Operators ran electrical surveys and then cemented 5 1/2-inch casing at 5,868 feet for completion in open hole. They consider the No. 1 Behringer to be on a separate structure from the Old Glory pool, where two producers have been completed.

Location is 467 feet from south and west lines of a 316-acre tract in the G. B. Cooke survey.

East Pecos Set For Shallow Test

Eight miles south of Iraan in extreme East Pecos County, L. D. Gibson and others will drill their No. 1 J. H. Tippett as a 2,000-foot cable tool wildcat.

Location of the prospector will

South Florida Battens Down For Hurricane

MIAMI—(AP)—South Florida began to batten down in earnest Tuesday as a powerful and still growing tropical hurricane containing 110-mile winds approached the area.

The hurricane's center, only 100 miles offshore, was expected to thunder across the Florida Keys about nightfall on a path approximately the same as that followed by the disastrous hurricane of 1935.

That storm of 15 years ago was the most violent ever recorded in the Western Hemisphere. It killed several hundred persons, most of them World War I veterans in a roadbuilding camp. It wrecked the Overseas Railway built at great expense by Henry M. Flagler, and isolated Key West.

Hurricane warnings were flying from Palm Beach, over the necklace of islands forming the Florida Keys, and on the gulf coast to Fort Myers, a palm-lined resort city once the Winter home of Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford.

Storm warnings flew elsewhere along both coasts of the Florida peninsula from Jacksonville to St. Marks, and north of Jacksonville to Charleston, S. C.

Storm Gains Velocity

The slowness with which the South Florida area began its emergency precautions alarmed storm warning headquarters, but by noon

25 Per Cent Parcel Post Rate Increase Asked By Donaldson

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Postmaster General Donaldson has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to exercise one of its little-used powers to bring about an average 25 per cent increase in parcel post rates.

Donaldson asked the ICC to approve a prompt hike in the postage charges for fourth class matter. That covers ordinary parcel post packages, catalogues, books and printed advertising matter in bound form.

Donaldson estimated the increases he seeks would yield about $105,000,000 a year in new revenue and would make the parcel post service self-sustaining.

He has been attempting for more than a year to persuade Congress to increase virtually all postage rates, last revised in January, 1949. However, the House and Senate never have gotten together on a bill to effect the revision sought.

In a letter to ICC dated last week and made public Monday, Donaldson called attention to a 1925 act which provides that parcel post charges may be changed either by Congress or by the postmaster general if he certifies that the parcel service is being operated at a loss and the commission approves.

Youth Collides With Pickup, Hospitalized

Rodney L. Alexander, seven, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Alexander, 809 West Dakota Street, was hospitalized at noon Tuesday for observation and X-rays after he had collided with a pickup truck at the intersection of South Big Spring and Dakota Streets.

Investigating officers said the youth was running home from school for lunch when he ran into the truck, driven by Guy Ray Moore, 203 North Fort Worth Street. He was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital in a Newnie W. Ellis ambulance.

U. S. Awaits Policy Talk By Truman

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—President Truman speaks to the nation Tuesday night for the first time since his Pacific talk with General MacArthur.

The occasion is a major foreign policy address—the opening shot of a forceful, new effort to induce Russia to talk peace in realistic terms. It will be made in War Memorial Opera House, birthplace of the United Nations.

There is a big question as to just how much Truman will disclose of his concentrated talk with the United Nations commander for the Korean war in their man-to-man meeting on isolated Wake Island Sunday.

Non-Partisan Backdrop

Aides said he was taking every precaution to provide a non-partisan backdrop for his foreign policy speech, avoiding any connection with California's hot U. S. Senatorial and gubernatorial campaigns.

Every effort was made by the President's aides to keep Democratic candidates away from his quarters in the Fairmont Hotel after his arrival aboard the presidential plane, "The Independence," from Honolulu Monday.

Aides said Truman was operating on the theory that no politics is the best politics for the Administration during this critical period.

His major foreign policy pronouncement is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (10:30 p.m. CST) in San Francisco's Opera House—where the Charter of the United Nations was drafted during the final campaigns of World War II.

Four Major Points

These points are expected to be emphasized:

(1) The United States primarily is interested in bringing to the Korean people something of the living

Dulles, Vishinsky Discuss Peace Plan

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky privately discussed an American-backed UN anti-aggression plan for 40 minutes Tuesday but reached no agreement.

Dulles later told reporters:

"We talked over some of our differences regarding the United Action for Peace resolution (the title of the anti-aggression plan). There was a full and frank exchange of views without positive results, other than a better understanding of our respective positions."

Midland Launches Community Chest Finance Campaign

The Community Chest's Red Feather finance campaign is underway in Midland.

The all-out, community-wide effort to obtain a record $45,386 to meet the 1951 operating expenses of six youth and welfare agencies was launched at a "kickoff" meeting of division chairmen, team captains and workers Tuesday morning in Hotel Scharbauer.

Harry H. Lawson, general chairman, presided at the session, which was attended by more than 100 persons. Officials termed it the best-attended and most enthusiastic Community Chest gathering ever held here.

Carroll Thomas, president of the Midland Community Chest, explained in detail how the budgets of the participating agencies were determined, and how the overall Chest budget was established. He outlined the needs and activities of the six groups, which he said are growing with ever-growing Midland.

Representative Budget

He stated that although the 1950 quota represents a 41 per cent increase over last year's $32,000 budget, the per capita figure here still is below state and national averages.

"You can be certain this year's budget is representative of the actual needs of the participating agencies," Thomas declared.

H. D. Bushnell explained the organization set-up of the campaign

Inquiry Into Heating Oil Situation Main Business At Hearing

AUSTIN —(AP)— Inquiry into the heating oil situation in anticipation of Winter demand is expected to be a major consideration of Thursday's statewide oil proration hearing.

Railroad Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr., said Monday that appeared the most important question remaining after nationwide crude stockpiles again have risen to desired levels.

Expected to attend the hearing on commission invitation are executives of the nation's major oil purchasing companies, who will answer commission questions regarding desired storage levels for crude oil and principal petroleum products.

Murray said crude and gasoline stockpiles now are considered adequate but heating oil storage remains considerably lower than a year ago and below most estimates of a desirable minimum.

New Cutback Possible

Thursday's hearing is aimed primarily at gathering evidence for a November crude oil allowable for Texas fields.

Advance indications pointed to a possible cutback from the October schedule. Purchasers' advance nominations totaled 2,652,835 barrels daily, 24,364 barrels above October nominations. The U. S. Bureau of Mines forecast November demand at 2,350,000 barrels daily, 20,000 more than a month ago. Both figures, however, are below current permissive flow of 2,749,513 barrels.

Good Weather To Continue In Texas

By The Associated Press

A big high pressure area, enshrouding Texas for the last week, is expected to continue the next few days, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported Tuesday.

No rain was reported for the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m., and the bureau saw none in sight.

The West Texas forecast predicted fair skies Tuesday night and Wednesday, with little change in temperatures.

Odessa Man Arrested In Stanton Following 20-Mile Auto Chase

A 20-mile automobile chase Tuesday morning resulted in the arrest of an Odessa man wanted by the Police Department there in connection with an early morning burglary of a cafe.

Police Chief Jack Ellington, Sheriff Ed Darnell and Lt. R. A. Branson, Police Department identification officer, chased an Odessa taxicab to Stanton before making the arrest.

The arrested man told officers he had worked for a restaurant in Odessa for the last nine days and early Tuesday opened the cafe, taking a considerable amount of cash, a string of pearls and a lapel watch.

Ellington said the man had approximately $62 in cash with the pearls and watch in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Tipped Off

A tip to police resulted in the chase and capture of the wanted man. The operator of a Midland firm called the police station and said a man had attempted to cash in several rolls of change for bills. The chief called Darnell and the chase began.

The man was lodged in city jail here awaiting the arrival of Police Chief J. J. (Chubby) Heaton of Odessa.

Authorities said identification in the man's billfold indicated his home is in Lincoln, Neb.

Fort Stockton 4-H Club Boy Exhibits Champ At Royal

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— A 1,200-pound Hereford steer, named Jug and owned by Sim Reeves, Jr., 16, Fort Stockton, Texas, was named grand champion steer of the American Royal Livestock Show Monday.

Young Reeves, a 4-H Club boy, showed Jug to cop a championship in the open division and then went on to capture one of the most coveted livestock awards. Jug won over the champion Shorthorn and champion Angus and another Hereford.

Jug, the grand champion, was bred by W. B. Mitchel Sons, Marfa. The steer won second at the Fort Worth show and second at El Paso. Jug was champion of the Sand Hills Hereford Show at Odessa.

ROK's Drive To Beat GI's To Knockout

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO—(AP)—American and South Korean columns Tuesday night slashed through shattered Communist remnants within 12 miles of the Red Korean capital, Pyongyang.

Just more than a month after the Allied tide turned on the landing at Inchon, the war was running swiftly toward victory for the United Nations.

The U. S. First Cavalry and the Republic of Korea (ROK) First Divisions were racing each other for the Red capital. Each wanted to be first to level the knockout blow.

A field dispatch said the South Koreans plunged to within 12 miles southeast of Pyongyang Tuesday night before stopping to rest. A spokesman said they expected to reach the Communist capital Wednesday.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the Americans, reported the capital is certain to come within range of Allied big guns in 24 hours or less.

Military circles in Tokyo say the fall of Pyongyang almost certainly will end the Korean war except for mop-up operations against guerrilla forces.

Red Defenses Broken

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle reported the Americans were driving on Pyongyang in a 30-mile long column.

The foot troopers were forging ahead Tuesday night through disrupted Red defenses. Boyle said the Americans might reach Pyongyang by Wednesday.

ROK officers had trouble restraining the weary but eager South Korean troops from running along the road to Pyongyang.

Many of them had not stopped to rest for two days. They had fought back after a shattering military defeat — when the Reds invaded their southern half of Korea June 25—and the taste of victory was on their lips.

The South Koreans Tuesday drove from Suan to Sangwon, only 20 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

They smashed through the town another eight miles, after linking up with another South Korean column.

30 Miles In 24 Hours

There was no attempt to stop the drive at darkness.

In airline distance the gain was 20 miles. But it actually was much farther along the winding mountain road.

The U. S. First Cavalry Division smashed almost 30 miles from its kickoff point at Sohung. It bypassed Saiwon, 35 air miles south of Pyongyang, and drove over a secondary road into Kwangju, only 23 miles south of the Red capital on the main highway.

Then it swung northward so

28 Killed In British Air Crash

LONDON —(AP)— A twin-engined airliner smashed into a London suburb Tuesday, killing 28 of the 29 persons aboard.

British European Airways said an engine failed shortly after the plane took off from London for Glasgow. The plane, a Dakota, was attempting to return to London.

The air line said it carried 24 passengers, including one infant, and a crew of five.

"As far as we know all have been killed except one adult, either a passenger or crewman," a spokesman said.

The survivor, a man, was taken to Edgware General Hospital.

One report said the craft caught fire in the air, hit a house top, then plowed through a wall into a garden. One wing still teetered atop a house.

Council Accepts Bids For $2,275,000 In Revenue, Tax Bonds

The Midland City Council Tuesday accepted the bid of the First Southwest Company of Dallas for the purchase of $2,000,000 in revenue-supported bonds for improvements to the city's water and sewer systems.

A low joint bid of the Mercantile Commerce Bank and Trust Company of St. Louis and the Northern Trust Company, Chicago, was accepted for the purchase of $275,000 in tax bonds.

The revenue bonds will mature over a period of 30 years, officials said, at an effective interest rate of 2.277 per cent. The tax bonds will mature over a 20-year period at an interest rate of 1.94037 per cent.

A total of 10 bids was received on each bond proposal. The bids were opened at 9 a.m. and the council announced its acceptance of the bids shortly after noon.

Mabee Youth Injured In Auto-Scooter Crash

Neil Mabee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mabee, 1500 West Kansas Street, was treated in Midland Memorial Hospital late Monday for injuries received when his motor scooter was involved in an accident with an automobile driven by Nell Curran, 601 North D Street.

The youth received a broken arm, a fractured leg and head injuries.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. Monday at the intersection of L and Louisiana Streets. Investigating officers said the automobile was damaged slightly.

Train Derailment Near Fort Worth Slows Schedules

DALLAS —(AP)— A minor derailment on a Texas & Pacific's main line to the west tied up traffic for about five hours early Tuesday, company officials here reported.

They said one freight car was derailed.

Traffic was proceeding normally over the route by mid-morning, railroad men said. The derailment occurred at 12:01 a.m. one mile east of Bennett or about 50 miles west of Fort Worth.

D. Davis, Midland T&P station agent, said several morning freights and the early morning westbound passenger train were delayed about five hours by the wreck.

The westbound streamliner scheduled to arrive in Midland at 6:55 a.m., arrived shortly after noon. Davis said another westbound train, due here at 4:14 p.m., was expected to be on time.

Big Bend Park Funds Reduced By $187,500

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of the Interior Chapman Tuesday announced cutbacks in funds for the National Park Service.

Totaling $3,570,000, they result from a clause in the big appropriation bill for the year ending next June 30 which ordered the Budget Bureau to reduce non-defense expenditures by at least $550,000,000.

A breakdown of the reductions includes road and trail construction north entrance and Boquillas roads, Big Bend National Park, Texas, $187,500.

Texans Pledge Fight In Congress To Nullify High Court's Tidelands Ruling

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Texans Tuesday pledged anew to press for congressional action next year to nullify a Supreme Court decision giving the federal government control over the marginal seas along the coast of their state.

Their avowed resentment was precipitated by the high court's refusal Monday to rehear claims by Texas and Louisiana to ownership of the oil-rich belt, often called the Tidelands. The court reaffirmed its June decision giving the federal government paramount rights over the property.

In Austin, Texas Attorney General Price Daniel promised to continue the fight. Announcing that he will file a second petition for rehearing, Daniel said:

"I am shocked at the court's complete disregard of the undisputed errors pointed out in Texas' petition for rehearing and at the court's refusal to hear evidence making a factual determination."

Connally Disappointed

Several Texas members of Congress bitterly criticized the court's action and pledged they will work for legislation to wipe it out.

Three years ago Congress passed legislation giving the states title to the submerged coastal lands, but the bill was vetoed by President Truman. A similar bill was approved by the House Judiciary Committee this year but never reached a vote in the House or Senate.

Senator Connally expressed "serious disappointment" at the latest Supreme Court ruling and added:

"Congress will be called upon to exert its power and authority in behalf of state ownership. We shall gird for the contest in the hope that we may succeed.

"Texas without denial or question for over 100 years owned in fee the Tidelands adjacent to its coast. No federal court nor any other federal authority challenged our own-

Red Skelton's TV Clause In Film Contract Sets Pattern

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Red Skelton's television clause in his new seven-year MGM contract, giving him the right to plunge into video as of October, 1951, may set a pattern for Hollywood's future cooperation with TV.

The contract permits him a one-hour program per week and only two guest appearances a year. Red says he's delighted with the deal but, just to be sure, he bought a magnifying glass to read the fine print before signing.

His latest film is "Excuse My Dust." It would have been his last if MGM hadn't allowed him to work in television.

"Only a greedy fellow," said Generous George, "would want to take all the tricks."

"Don't be foolish," West answered promptly. "We'll give you 30 points for every extra trick you make."

"I can't take advantage of your kindness," said George. "You can have this trick with my compliments."

It was an unusual trick to give away, but George didn't lose by his generosity. By this time, however, you've surely looked at the hand and spotted what George did.

George, who held the South hand, was tempted to bid energetically since there might be a slam for him if North held the ace of diamonds.

He decided against such a plan however, because North might be encouraged to overbid if he happened to have high cards in clubs; and, besides, there was the danger of letting the enemy discover a possible fit in clubs. As the cards lay, George's jump to four spades was a fine idea.

West opened the deuce of hearts, East put up the king, and George won with the ace. He then made his little speech and led back . . . the three of hearts!

This unusual trick assured the contract. East won with the ten of hearts and returned a trump. George won with the ace of trumps, ruffed his remaining low heart with dummy's jack, and reentered his hand by ruffing a club. He could then draw trumps and cash his queen of hearts in perfect sfaety. Eventually, of course, he gave up two diamonds, but the contract was already made.

The reason West tried to encourage George to go out for extra tricks is that any such attempt would have cost him the contract. For example, if George had led the queen of hearts at the second trick, West would have ruffed. A trump return would leave declarer with two small hearts in his hand and only one trump in the dummy. Hence he would lose a second heart trick in addition to the two diamonds that he was bound to lose in any case.

George had another chance to go wrong after he ruffed his heart in dummy. He actually ruffed a club and drew trumps, but a careless player might have led a diamond hopefully toward the king.

A diamond lead would have been sheer foolishness, as George saw, no matter which opponent had the ace of diamonds. If East had it, he would put it up and give his partner a heart ruff. If West had the ace, George's king was useless. Moreover, the enemy would take two diamonds and West would get a heart ruff to set the contract.

Incidentally, the reader will note that George could not make his contract if a trump or a club had been opened. However, the heart lead looked right to West.

Methodist WSCS Circles Meet Monday

Circles of the Asbury Methodist Church met Monday afternoon.

The Builders Circle met at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Jess Hooper, 708 South Main Street.

Mrs. G. A. Kinard gave the introduction to "Islam," while Mrs. Jess Hooper discussed the third chapter of "Near East Panorama." Scripture was given by Mrs. Preston Pirtle.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. Grace Wright.

Others present were Mrs. J. B. Stewart, Estelle King, Mrs. W. A. Hughes, Mrs. J. S. Grimes, Mrs. Woody Allen, Mrs. G. W. Dameron and Mrs. W. G. Wightman.

Guests were Mrs. Howard Hayes and Mrs. Beth Delaney.

The Friendship Circle of the Asbury Methodist Church met at 3:15 p.m. Monday at the church. Mrs. Dennis Ford had charge of the program.

Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr., discussed chapters five and six from "So Sure of Life" and "How We Can Help the Church" from "Rural Prospects."

Mrs. G. W. Lawless talked on "Our Rural America" and "What the Methodists Do."

Others present were Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Mrs. Opal Hughes, Mrs. J. A. Andrews, Mrs. Clyde Gwyn and Mrs. Carmel Pirtle.

UN Books On Library List

United Nations Week is October 16-25.

Four periodicals dealing with the UN and its activities are received regularly by the Midland County Library. They are the United Nations Bulletin (bi-monthly), United Nations World (monthly) and International Conciliation (monthly) from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and Background Papers (mimeographed) from the UN Department of Information, Research Section.

"Up-to-date material on the UN appears constantly in other of the 140 magazines to which the library has subscribed, and is located through the index, Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, Lucile Carroll, librarian, states.

Pamphlets provide other valuable sources of material. Separate folders divide the pamphlets under such headings as UN Charter, Unesco, Food and Agriculture Organization, UNRRA, United States Participation in the UN, etc.

Background material on the formation of the UN will be found in such books as The United Nations (Herbert Vere Evatt), The Task of Nations (Herbert Vere Evatt), Four Cornerstones of Peace (Vera Michele Dean), Federal World Government (Julia E. Johnson) and United Nations Primer (Sigrid Arne). Others are Where Are We Heading? (Sumner Welle's) and The Anatomy of Peace (Emery Reves).

WILL MEET TUESDAY

Cub Scout Pack No. 6 of the West Elementary School will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior High School.

Silver Spur Has Visitors At Meet

Six visitors were present at the Monday meeting of the Silver Spur Square Dance Club in the Midland Officers Club.

They were Mrs. C. C. Black of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. David, W. E. Cowan and Colonel and Mrs. B. G. Welch.

Mrs. Ed Halfast called for the social.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. James Blackwood, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Boles, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Covey, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Deuth, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Eschberger, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jeter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kinsey, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Don McKibbin, Mr. and Mrs. Haden Upchurch, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Floyd.

Future Brides Are Honored

Two future brides, Susan Hemphill and Shirley Culbertson, were honored Friday with a shower in the home of Mrs. Henry Shaw, 1404 West Storey Street.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Edwards, Mrs. O. G. Morgan and Mrs. Shaw.

White spider mums centered the serving table. A piece of the bride-elect's chosen sterling was presented to each of the honorees.

Close friends of each attended the shower.

Striping Speaks At Civic Music Banquet

"Freedom of speech and freedom of music are one and the same thing," said Robert Stripling, former chief investigator of the House Un-American Activities Committee, when he spoke at the Midland Civic Music Association Kick-Off Banquet held Monday night in Hotel Scharbauer.

Stripling continued by comparing freedom of music here and in the Soviet Union. He said "Music is a revolutionary force in this world. It lifts us out of the realm of ordinary life."

The banquet was given for persons participating in the membership drive.

Officers Introduced

Richard Hugston gave the invocation and Edwin L. Stephens presided. Stephens introduced this year's officers and the president and co-chairmen for last year.

Other officers this year are Mrs. J. E. Beakey, first vice president; W. Y. Penn, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Miller, third vice president; John Galley, fourth vice president; Mrs. P. J. Lea, secretary, and Mrs. J. T. Baker, treasurer.

Mrs. Herschel Ezell and Mrs. William C. Liedtke, Jr., are co-chairmen for the membership drive.

Don Hopkins of New York spoke on the history of civic music associations. He defined the association as "an organization sufficiently interested in civic music to bring it to the community." He said there are more than 600 associations in the nation.

Hopkins is from Civic Concert Service of New York and helped with the first membership campaign in Midland in the Fall of 1948.

Jeanine Googins sang "When You're Away" and "The Merry Rosebush." She was accompanied by Mrs. Miller.

The membership drive was discussed and plans were made for the week's activities. The drive officially starts Tuesday and will end Saturday night.

Rebekah Has Two Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jerden, visitors from Mineral Wells, were guests of the Rebekah Lodge when it met Monday in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Barbara Johnson presided at the meeting.

One brother, Harvey Coleman, was present.

Others present were Martha Roberts, Bertha Revens, Nelle Coleman, Rosa Dunn, Mary White, Joyce Carrell, Etta Mae Friday, Thelma Jobe, Leota Johnson, Ora Riley, Loraine Robinson, Grace Roberts, Millie Styron and Gertrude Wallace.

Steps Taken To Form NOMA Unit

At the recent organizational meeting of a Midland chapter of the National Office Managers Association, held at the Scharbauer Hotel, members were elected to a steering committee to determine the advisability of national affiliation.

W. H. Evans of Philadelphia, Pa., executive vice president of the NOMA, told of the origin of the association, of its activities and of the requirements for affiliation.

January 1 was set as the deadline for chartering the organization. Clyde McMann was chosen to act as chairman and Bill Chancellor, Jr., as secretary.

Those who wish to join the organization are asked to contact Chancellor.

A dominant feature of early Cape Cod cottages was a large central chimney serving three fireplaces.

Want to cut hauling costs?
It's a cinch to do so with a
Studebaker truck

Low loading height is just right in the Studebaker pick-ups. Tail gate swings out flat—and it's sturdily hinged at center and each end. Body is double-walled with rugged metal.

Streamlined Studebaker pick-up trucks come in ½, ¾ or 1-ton capacity—also available with standard stake bodies. Remarkably efficient and flexible Studebaker Econ-o-miser engine. Gas-saving overdrive available at extra cost in ½ or ¾ ton models.
A new kind of Studebaker truck engineering assures substantial daily operating savings!
A new kind of structural strength keeps Studebaker trucks remarkably free from the need for serious repairs!
How true this is—and how big the economies are—you can find out by talking to any Studebaker truck owner.
Stop in and let us give you the names of some owners with hauling problems like yours. Check up with them and you can easily estimate how much a Studebaker truck could do for you.

Studebaker's rugged 1½ and 2 ton trucks come in four wheelbases for each model. They're stand-outs in pulling power, staying power and earning power. The smooth-performing Studebaker high torque Power-Plus truck engine operates at a low cost per mile.

Talic Assists Girdle Glide

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A new bath powder may prove a boon to women fighting the battle-of-the-bulge with girdles.

After a dusting with this pale-blue talc, its makers say, foundation

This young woman finishes her bath routine with a dusting of fine talc for absorption of remaining moisture and for over-all fragrance.

garments slide on smoothly with tugging reduced to a minimum. The trick, they add, is in the unusual slip quality of the powder.

Its other virtues, according to the manufacturer, include superfine grain, deodorant quality, extra absorbency, which takes care of any moisture left after the bath towel has done its job, and lanolin-content, which helps to soothe and soften your skin.

Initiation Ceremony Is Feature Attraction For Brownie Troops

The Brownie Initiation ceremony was the feature attraction for two Brownie troops when they met Monday in the Little House.

Civic Music Week

The observance of Midland Civic Music Week opened Monday and will continue through Saturday, during which time the Midland Civic Music Association, one of the most outstanding organizations of its kind in the Southwest, is offering memberships for its 1950-51 season.

Only in the single week of the year, may citizens of Midland and other Permian Basin Empire cities enroll in the non-profit cooperative association. All Permian Basin residents are eligible for membership.

Pointing out that "good music belongs to everyone," association officials assert the $6 membership fee is the "biggest entertainment value in Midland." And most everyone will agree. In fact it is doubtful if a better bargain can be found anywhere.

The Civic Music Association is starting its third season, which doubtless will be its most successful, since more members than ever before can be accommodated in the fine Midland High School Auditorium. All membership fees go into the artists fund, which means that better and more frequent programs may be presented.

The membership goal this year is 1,822. The association last year had 1,415 members.

The "sold out" sign likely will be displayed before the end of the week. A sell-out will bring some of the world's greatest artists to Midland during the current season. The past programs of the association have been particularly outstanding, but with the increased memberships, association members may expect even more for their money.

Few cities the size of Midland are priviledged to offer such outstanding musical entertainment, and the Civic Music Association is to be commended upon the successful operation of its ambitious program here.

All Midlanders interested in good music should avail themselves of this opportunity by obtaining their association memberships promptly.

The Midland Civic Music Association program further cements Midland's position as the Entertainment Center of the Permian Basin Empire.

Stalin's No Match For Grable

Ever notice how, wherever they go, the Communists spread big blownup pictures of their leaders, from Stalin on down?

Makes you feel sorry for the average man under Red rule. We only have to look at blow-ups of our leaders during not too frequent political campaigns. In between, we get a much more agreeable photographic diet. Shots of Betty Grable may not hang from every light pole, but they're available, if you just know where to look. The Reds don't allow such damaging competition.

Just to make father stop and think: a burglar landed in a Michigan jail for robbing a baby's bank.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Big-Shot Mafiusi with strong political pull not easily deported; Finn who risked death serving U. S. in Russianized homeland to be deported now for minor infractions of law in 1918-20; Roll call continued on Mafia leaders.

WASHINGTON — More than three years ago this column called the Justice Department's attention to the fact that Frankie Costello, head of the Mafia and king-pin American gambler easily could be deported insomuch as he had falsfied his naturalization oath in 1925.

Any other citizen with less political pull would have been deported long ago. For instance, Rudolf Salli, a Finn who risked going back to Russianized Finland during the war to get information for the United States, now is in the process of being deported because in 1918 and 1920 he was convicted of a technical forgery and driving a car in which there was bootleg liquor.

Salli worked for the OSS during the war with the German underground, got valuable information for the U. S. A., and now, is deported back to Finland, will be shot as a spy.

On the other hand, Frankie Costello, if deported back to his native Italy, would live peacefully off his accumulated wealth. During prohibition, in contrast to Salli, he operated the biggest fleet of rum-running boats off the New Jersey coast, equipped with machine guns. However, Costello is not being deported for a simple reason—he has contributed heavily to many political campaigns, especially the Democratic Party in New York.

Illinois Roll Call

Meanwhile here is a continuation of the roll call of Mafia leaders, the most secret list of criminals in the United States:

Anthony Accardo, River Forest, Ill., and Surfside, Fla.—Al Capone's heir, and probably the most influential member of the Mafia in the Chicago area. His activities seem to be confined almost exclusively to gambling, and he calls himself a "betting commissioner." He threatened James Ragen before Ragen was bumped off June 24, 1946, and when the Capone syndicate moved in on the Continental Racing Wire. Tony Accardo was tried in November, 1948, for conspiracy to defraud and for concealing material facts, but not convicted. He now is ducking the Kefauver committee.

Charles Fischetti, Chicago, and Miami, Fla—One of the most powerful figures in the underworld, has connections with every important mob on the East Coast; is equally prominent with Tony Accardo in the Mafia, and also is ducking the Kefauver committee. Charles and Rocco Fischetti cousins of the late Al Capone, loaned $300,000 for the building of the late Bugsy Siegel's Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas.

Louis Campagna, alias "Little New Yorker," Chicago.—Is a leading figure in the Mafia and the Capone gang; one of the notorious Capone convicts, jailed in 1945 for extorting millions of dollars from the movie industry, then released on parole. Campagna also was sentenced in Chicago for bank robbery, back in 1919.

Philip D'Andrea, Chicago. — Another of the Capone parolees who was jailed in the 1945 movie extortion case. Once a bodyguard for Al Capone, D'Andrea now spends most of his time at Tarzana, Cal., but still is influential in the Mafia in Chicago.

Charles Gioe, alias "Cherry Nose," Chicago. — Another of the Capone convicts, now out on parole following the movie extortion case. Only recently, Gioe changed his last name legally to Joye.

Rocco De Grazio, alias "Gramps," Melrose Park,, Ill.—A prominent Mafia member and Capone mobster in the Chicago area. He was investigated in connection with the Kansas City Mafia killing of the 11-year-old Carramusa boy. De Grazia got 18 months for violating the income tax laws in 1935.

Paul De Lucia, alias Paul Ricca, alias Paul "The Waiter," River Forest, Ill., and Berrien Springs, Mich. —A member of the Grand Council of the International Mafia. He started out as a waiter, is now a multi-millionaire, is close to the Fischetti brothers; known to be a backer of gambling houses. He also was sentenced, then paroled in the Brown-Bioff movie extortion case.

Anthony Capezio, alias "Tough Tony," Chicago.—An important Mafia henchmen in the Chicago area. His name has been linked with narcotics cases, but he has never been arrested. He also was investigated in connection with the Carramusa killing. In Chicago, Capezio is known as the boss of Grand and Western Avenues.

Ralph Capone, alias "Bottles", Mercer, Wis.—His influence in the Mafia and the underworld is chiefly a matter of prestige as the late Al Capone's brother. Ralph still has his finger in underworld enterprises, however, and operates the Rex Hotel and Billy's Bar in Mercer.

New England Gangsters

Ray Patriaca, Providence, R. I. — King of the rackets in Rhode Island and surrounding territory; known to be associated with Frankie Costello. In 1940, Daniel H. Coakley, a member of the Massachusetts Governor's Council, was impeached for obtaining Patriaca's release from Massachusetts State Prison.

Frank Iacone, Worcester, Mass. — Closely associated with Patriaca, in New England rackets. After Patriaca was released from prison, Iacone delivered an ultimatum to Patriaca to stay out of Worcester. This was followed by a series of robberies on Iacone' enterprises, after which Iacone and Patriaca patched up their differences. They worked together as rum-runners back in prohibition days, then Iacone started "bean" games and graduated into big-time gambling.

The West

Jack Dragna, real name is Antonio Rizzotti, Los Angeles. — Boss of the Mafia on the West Coast; operated the Universal Sports News, which distributed racing news in California and parts of Nevada, received $500 weekly from the Illinois Sports News, Chicago, until exposed. Dragna is mixed up with just about every important mobster in the underworld, once was arrested with Charles Fischetti, has his finger in West Coast rackets, including the labor rackets in which he is associated with John Rosselli, another of the movie extortion parolees. Dragna's headquarters is reported to be the Savoy Shirt Shop, operated by Joe and Freddie Sica. Dragna was arrested for attempted extortion July 6, 1910; sentenced to three years for felony Jan. 26, 1916; arrested as a murder suspect, May 25, 1916; arrested as a robbery suspect July 29, 1930; picked up on suspicion of robbery Dec. 6, 1946.

Eugene Smaldone, Denver Colo.—Is the Mafia power in the Rocky Mountain area. His Smaldone gang dominates the rackets in Northern Colorado. Its principal enforcer is Frank "Blackie" Mazza.

Michigan Mafia

Angelo Polizzi, Detroit, Mich., and Clarks Summit, Pa. — Belongs to the Ground Council of the International Mafia and he has made several trips abroad in that connection. He also replaced Pete Licovali as Mafia boss in Michigan after Licovali went into semi-retirement on a ranch near Tucson, Ariz. Polizzi also is tied closely with the Mafia crowds in New Yorks, owns powerful interests in the coal, construction and brewing businesses in Pennsylvania, has been arrested repeatedly for carryin concealed weapons and on murder charges, but never has been convicted. Born in Sicily, he is an American citizen by virtue of an Army record in the first World War.

Pete Licovali, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., and Tucson, Ariz. — Boss of the Michigan Mafi until he moved to his Grace Ranch near Tucson. However, he still has a finger in the Detroit rackets. Licovali was sentenced to two years June 21, 1933, for attempting to bribe a customs officer in connection with a liquor case.

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

A backwoods politician, in early days, delivered himself of this oration:

"Jacksonians, I say, exaggerate yourselves. You don't know me, I suppose, but I live at Hickleberry. I air the postmaster and a Jackson Democrat. I am a big man; can eat green persimmons without puckerin'; salt don't keep me nor likker injure me. I am a tearin' critter of the catamount school; in religion, I am neutral, and am decidedly masculine on the upright principle."

Did you hear the World War II story about the man who was called up in the draft and he said: "I am afraid my near-sightedness will prevent me from doing any actual fighting."

"That's okay," said the draft doctor. "We have special trenches for the near-sighted ones—right up close to the enemy where you can't miss seeing them."

Questions and Answers

Q—Are the railroads regulated by the states as well as by the federal government?

A—Numerous state laws regulating the railroads are in force. Forty-seven of the states have regulatory commisisons which exercise considerable control over railroads within their respective states.

Q—Are hickories among our most important timber trees?

A—They maintain an important position not on accout of the large quantity, but the special quality of wood which they produce. It is strong, moderately light in weight, extremely elastic, and is used extensively for handles and in the manufacture of vehicles.

Q—In what year did Max Schmeling knock out Joe Louis?

A—On June 19, 1936, in the twelfth round at Yankee Stadium, New York.

Exercise And Drugs May Stop Forming Of Deadly Blood Clots

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Every once in a while a person who has had an operation and seems to be recovering quite well suddenly develops a frightening condition which is called a pulmonary embolism.

This is a clot which has been carried to one of the blood vessels of the lung from some distant vein elsewhere in the body. Its unexpected appearance several days or weeks after an operation is tragic and alarming.

The original clot, which has broken off and been carried by the blood stream through the heart to one of the arteries going to the lungs, is most commonly formed in the legs or lower abdominal regions. What happens is that the clot loosens and is swept forward by the blood stream.

In some cases of pulmonary embolism the symptoms are extremely severe, and sudden death can occur. In others the outlook is much better. Usually there is a sudden pain in the chest and shortness of breath. Sometimes the area of the lung supplied by the blocked artery becomes infected, and recovery . . take a long time.

Although treatment of a pulmonary embolism is still not too satisfactory, great strides have been made in developing methods of preventing this alarming and dangerous condition. There seems little doubt, for example, that becoming active soon after an operation—early rising it is called—helps to prevent many cases of pulmonary embolism. This keeps the circulation going and prevents stagnation of blood in the veins, so that clots are far less likely to form. If they do not form obviously they cannot break off and cause trouble later.

Drugs Are Helpful

In addition, it now is possible to give people who need it certain drugs which slow blood clotting. This often helps in preventing the dangerous clots from forming. In those who do develop a pulmonary embolism, drugs like penicillin can be most useful in preventing the formation of abscesses and other complications. A few patients who have had pulmonary embolism have been saved by removing the clot from the lung by an immediate operation.

Pulmonary embolism is a highly dangerous condition and it is therefore most encouraging to know that so much progress has been made in preventing it. Perhaps the time is not distant when all cases can be prevented, and it will no longer be a menace.

What's RIGHT?

Your child is invited to a birthday party—but the mother of the child giving the party says nothing about wanting the mothers to come to the party, too.

WRONG: Go to the party and stay.

RIGHT: Drop your child off at the party and ask the mother who is giving it, if you do not already known, when you should call for your child.

HE CAME TO KILL

by ADELINE McELFRESH

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Youthful Leeana Thorne dislikes the atmosphere of Thorne Hill, where her aged, matriarchal great aunt, Margaret Thorne, rules with an iron hand. Under "Aunt Maggie's" thumb are her younger sister Agatha, who is 74, her nephew Jasper, and Jasper's discontented wife Sondra. The tension of the place seems to increase on the eve of a visit from Peter, Jasper's brother. Leeana goes to meet Peter and as she chats briefly with Deputy Sheriff Mart Preston the train pulls in and a polished man steps off and asks Leeana if she "by any chawnce" had come from "deah-deah Aunt Mahgaret"?

II

LEEANA tried not to show her surprise. Peter Thorne was too good-looking, too immaculate just to have finished a long train trip, too—English. He couldn't be Jasper's brother! He was more of a match for Sondra.

And certainly he bore no resemblance to the wizened little woman who was "deah-deah Aunt Mahgaret."

Leeana introduced herself.

"Ah, yes," he said expansively. "Roger's daughter. Of course. How is poor old Rog these days?"

It was an insult the way he said it, coupled with the wise, wry smile that said so many things. Leeana felt her Irish rising.

She said hastily, "Pops is fine, thank you."

"Still—ah—newspapering?"

"That's rather a strange way to put it," Leeana retorted. Realizing that they had not moved from the spot where she had been standing when Peter first spoke, and that Martin Preston still was watching from the doorway, she suggested, "The car's this way, Peter. Have you luggage?"

"I checked it through. Will you see if it's come, please?"

He thrust baggage checks into her hand and strolled off toward the car. Leeana stared after him.

"Your mouth's open."

Too astounded to be angry—even with Mart Preston—Leeana stammered, "Well, of all the—"

"Ahh-ahh," warned the tall young deputy sheriff. "Little girls mustn't cuss."

"I wasn't, but— Ye gods! Who does he think he is?"

Martin Preston's laugh started deep and ran out heartily. "Come on, youngster," he said. "I'll help you with the gentleman's bags."

* * *

SONDRA THORNE, Jasper's wife, met them at the door.

"Well, Peter," was her greeting. "So you've come home."

"Only for a little while, Sondra, old girl. A very little while. You don't begrudge me that, surely."

His voice taunted her, the cold blue-gray eyes turned to granite as they met hers. But the amused smile did not flicker on Sondra's lips. Peter Thorne's sister-in-law was very, very sure of herself, Leeana thought—and wondered what, besides their mutual hatred of old Miss Maggie, was between them.

"Of course I don't." Sondra spoke now in the tone Leeana privately referred to as "purring." "It's just that I doubt that anyone could have a sane, legitimate reason for coming back here. Especially you, Peter."

Leeana's eyes flew to Peter's face in time to catch the fury he masked so swiftly; then she glanced back to Sondra.

But Sondra had turned toward the stairs.

"Ask Jones to bring in Peter's things, won't you, Leeana?" she flung over her shoulder. "And do go tell Jasper his brother has arrived."

Leeana swallowed her sprouting fear.

"You'll find your aunt in her room," she told Peter Thorne. "She'll want to see you at once, I imagine."

Peter Thorne actually smiled. "I doubt that, cousin, but I shall beard the lion, as the saying goes." The cynicism left him, and he lowered his voice. "I'm frightfully sorry you had to be in on that little scene, Leeana. It—" his lips twisted—"put me in a bad light, I'm afraid."

"Oh, don't worry about that," Leeana said airily. "I'm immune to tall handsome men who feel sorry for themselves."

"Indeed? And do I?"

"You must. Why else would a rising young lawyer be soured on the world?"

"Of all the impudent—" For a split second, Peter Thorne's accent slipped, revealing a broad Hoosier twang that more than repaid Leeana for antagonizing another of the Thorne clan. Then he recaptured it and added, "Undoubtedly I will see you later, Cousin Leeana."

"Undoubtedly, Miss Maggie relies on me quite a bit."

Conscious of Peter Thorne's puzzled eyes following her, Leeana went in search of Jasper and old Arthur Jones, who had been the Thornes' man-of-all-work for so many years he had forgotten just when he did come to Thorne Hill.

JASPER was in his study at the rear of the long east wing of the rambling old house. He looked up from his typewriter when she paused in the open door.

"Oh," he said. "He's come, has he?"

"Yes."

"And Sondra has met him. I suppose?" Without giving Leeana time to reply, he said, "I knew she would. She can't forget that she could have been Mrs. Peter Thorne instead of Mrs. Jasper."

"Would that have been—better?"

Jasper Thorne's round little eyes looked more like ice-blue marbles than ever, but his face became carefully blank.

"Sondra thinks she's buried here, Leeana. Maybe she is."

"Fiddlesticks! You just lock up your things, Jasper, and go along to Miss Maggie's room. Peter's there now, I think, and—"

Jasper sprang up. Ignoring what probably was another letter to the editor of the Thorne City Gazette, he brushed past Leeana and almost ran down the hall. Leeana felt no curiosity regarding Jasper's manuscript—she had seen too many of his letters before. Quite rabid, they were, on any subject.

She pulled the door shut and went outside to the greenhouse.

ARTHUR JONES was there, fussing with his poinsettias which he feared would not bloom by Christmas time. If they didn't, he told Leeana once, Miss Maggie would be disappointed. And he didn't want her to be—not this Christmas.

The old man was not morbid about his employer's illness. He was not like the others; he, at least, was sincere. He worshipped Miss Maggie.

"It's Miss Maggie's nephew, Arthur," Leeana explained her request that he help with the luggage. "Peter."

"Him!" Arthur snorted. "Last time he was here—"

His grim old jaws ground down hard and he aimed dark brown tobacco juice at his precious poinsettias.

"Miss Leeanie," he said, "don't let him fool you, too!"

(To Be Continued)

Sondra Thorne, Jasper's wife, met them at the door. "Well, Peter," was her greeting. "So you've come home."

Recreational Areas Assured At Angelo

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Recreational land will be included in the plans for the San Angelo Reservoir, Senator Connally (D-Texas) was assured Monday by Army Engineers.

The assurance was in a letter from Col. Elbert B. Freeman, district engineer at Fort Worth, to Connally. The Texas senator recently told Army Engineers of fears of the West Texas Games and Fish Association that private ownership of property along the Concho River project would threaten possible public recreational use of the land.

Mobilization Boss Predicts New Taxes, Longer Work Hours

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The man in charge of mobilizing the nation for the huge rearmament program says it will mean Americans must work longer hours, pay still higher taxes and endure "cuts and sacrifices" in their living standard.

And while it may be possible to avoid general wage and price controls if scarce buying slacks off, W. Stuart Symington said Monday night, "we are now getting organized for such price and wage action as may be needed."

An assurance came Tuesday from a top Agriculture Department official that there is no need at present for price controls on farm commodities.

Ralph S. Trigg, the department's production and marketing administrator, said in Atlantic City, N. J., that "We most certainly do not want to put on any controls which are not absolutely necessary."

Trigg added that while stocks of almost all farm products now are ample to take care of the nation's needs, "if the world situation got much worse and all out economic mobilization was necessary, then of course all bets would be off."

Auto Cutback Hinted

Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, has been designated by President Truman to coordinate the mobilization program. In an interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report made public Tuesday night, he reiterated Administration warnings against any letdown in the national effort.

A hint that some cutback in automobile production may be forthcoming came from William H. Harrison, chairman of the National Production authority (NPA) and one of the top men under Symington.

After meeting Monday with leaders of the auto industry, Harrison said they showed a "willingness to absorb any necessary impact on production that military needs might require."

Meanwhile, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas), declaring that "of all critical materials, aluminum may prove to be the one with the most serious shortage," said a Senate Preparedness subcommittee he heads is starting a study of aluminum stocks on hand.

Gov. Allan Shivers Addresses Annual Lamesa CC Banquet

By BILL COLLYNS
Reporter-Telegram Staff

LAMESA—Gov. Allan Shivers, addressing the annual banquet of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce here Monday night, called upon persons in high places of government to "see that Communists are cleaned out inside our nation if we are to send soldiers to clean them out at points overseas."

"I am interested in seeing that the government of Texas serves your best interests," the governor said, "and I would like to see that the national government serves all the people of the nation."

More than 300 persons from Lamesa and area cities attended the function, which was held in the cafetria of the new Lamesa High School. Ernest L. Moody, Chamber of Commerce president, presided and introduced Governor Shivers. Special music was presented by a chorus, under the direction of Richard Crawley. Mrs. H. B. Miller was the accompanist. The Rev. W. J. Benson, pastor of the Nazarene Church, gave the invocation.

Other Dignitaries

State Senator Kilmer Corbin, Lamesa; State Highway Commission Chairman Fred Wemple, Midland; Rep. Preston Smith, Lubbock; and Rep.-Elect Waggoner Carr, Lubbock, were among the other dignitaries in attendance.

Governor Shivers, in his address, expressed hopes that redistricting will become an actuality in the next session of the Legislature.

It was the first time a Texas governor ever had spoken in Lamesa.

In discussing the tax situation, the governor said about 93 1/2 per cent of the state tax dollar now goes for roads, education, welfare and state hospitals. He said that additional services naturally call for more taxes.

Lashing at critics of the nation's democratic system, Shivers said democracy has worked and worked well since its founding, but that nowhere in the writings concerning democracy is the result guaranteed.

Keep Road Open

"It is up to citizens and office holders alike to keep the road open and the ladder up in order that democracy will continue to work."

The nation's war economy also was discussed briefly by the governor.

Following his address, Senator Corbin expressed appreciation to Governor Shivers for coming to Lamesa, and presented gifts to him and members of his family.

Mrs. Matt McCall, manager of the Lamesa Chamber, was the recipient of a glowing tribute for her loyal and faithful service to the organization. She also was presented a bouquet of red roses.

Vice President Jack Wicker and Manager Delbert Downing of the Midland Chamber of Commerce were among the out-of-city visitors.

Texan Is Convicted On Automobile Charge

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— William L. Bales of Lampasas Monday was convicted of driving a stolen car into Mexico. Federal District Judge W. H. Atwell sentenced him to two years in prison and a $500 fine.

Bales, 29-year-old airfreight and cattle man, was accused of stealing a car belonging to Mrs. Gus Allen here on March 20, 1949, and driving it across the border at Piedras Negras, just across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass, Texas.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Look Me In The Eye

Voices were talking by the Elephant Path, while Mugwump Monkey and Uncle Bunkum sat listening. One voice was the voice of Uncle Bunkum's conscience. The other voice was the voice of the Other Mugwump. "Uncle Bunkum," said the voice of his conscience, "you stay out of mischief. Don't you grab away any of the feathers that the rooster is using."

And said the voice of the Other Mugwump: "You old conscience rascal, you let those fellows get into mischief if they want to. Mischief is fun!"

Said the conscience voice: "You are naughty. You are bad. Nobody should listen to you—you mischief maker."

The voices began to squibble and squabble with one another. The one was all for mischief; that was the Other Mugwump talking. And the other was all against it; that was the voice of the conscience. And the squibbling and squabbling went on and on. Our Mugwump and Uncle Bunkum were sitting on a log, watching the rooster whose feathers they were thinking maybe of grabbing away. They were listening to the voices of the conscience and the Other Mugwump.

"What if I am a mischief maker?" asked the voice of the Other Mugwump. "Watcha going to do about it?"

"I'm going to give you a talking to," said the voice of the conscience.

"Oh no you're not!" said the Mugwump. "I'm going to pull your whiskers like this!"

"Twang!" There the Other Mugwump had pulled a whisker that belonged to the conscience.

"Ouch!" said the conscience at the whisker twanging.

"Twang!"

"Ouch!" said the conscience again.

But before the Other Mugwump could do any twanging of another whisker, the conscience said: "See here, you Other Mugwump, just look me in the eye while I give you a talking to."

When the Other Mugwump heard this, he began to beg not to do it. Why, people that are naughty and bad do not like to look a someone in the eye. And rather than do it, the Other Mugwump ran away—which is the thing that saved the rooster feathers. Happy day!

Series Betting By Defense Employes Ties Up Elaborate Telephone System

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The complete telephone system for the Pentagon and all defense agencies in the Washington area has been revamped and expanded to handle the increased business caused by the Korean fighting.

Naturally, there was great consternation recently when the new system apparently collapsed. For four days the dial system was completely jammed. It took up to a half hour of steady dialing sometimes to get a number. The problem was solved, however, and the system again is working smoothly, except for some jams on Friday afternoons.

Cause of the tieup was the World Series.

An investigation discovered that the Pentagon employes were phoning in bets in the morning and checking results in the afternoon. Friday afternoon trouble is believed to be caused by betting on football games.

There is a reliable report from aviation circles that the first jet passenger planes in the U. S. will fly the Miami to New York route. National Airlines officials have been having secret negotiations with the Avro Company in Canada which makes the Jetliner, and the British firm which manufactures the Comet. If the plan goes through, however, it probably won't be much before the Winter of 1952 that such jet passenger flights can be started.

Social Lobby

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) doesn't think much of the efficiency of the highly touted "social lobby" in Washington. In a recent interview with editors of "U. S. News and World Report" he said:

"A lobbyist makes his friends first. Then if congressmen want to dine with him that is fine. But a lobbyist is not going to buy any friendship or influence around here with a dinner."

Society Head Plans Coup

Mrs. Morris Cafritz, considered the town's No. 1 hostess, and known to be feuding with the town's former No. 1, Perle Mesta, has a new plan to annoy Perle. She is considering taking Vice President Barkley and his wife to New York for the new Broadway play, "Call Me Madam," which is said to lampoon Mrs. Mesta. That maneuver is supposed to serve full notice to the minister to Luxembourg—Perle—just who's social boss of the town now.

Unsinkable Fleet

The Navy quietly has been sending a great many small craft to the Seventh Fleet to aid in the defense of Formosa. The reason is intelligence has discovered that the Chinese Commies have 1,000 teakwood junks available for an invasion. These junks don't sink if they get a hole from a shell. And it is believed that the big U. S. ships couldn't stop a mass invasion of junks because of that. A great number of smaller craft would just have to meet such an amphibious thrust head-on with the hope of killing the troops on the junks with direct machine-gun fire.

North Korean Air Force

Still one of the big mysteries of the Korean fighting is the whereabouts of the North Korean air force. Nowhere near the number of good jet planes which the North Koreans are known to have have been put in the air to oppose UN air power.

UN experts were sure they would come out to oppose the Inchon invasion. Weird part of the mystery is that the Red jets have been known to fly at night but without doing much damage. Answer might be that the North Koreans just don't have pilots to fly the jets and the Russians were trying to train them at night.

Another Headache For UN

One big headache UN officials in South Korea face is how to divide the land which the North Korean forces held briefly during the Summer. First thing the Communist invaders did was to institute "land reforms" and give the farms to rural party members. In addition, they destroyed all records which would show former ownership.

A Truman By Any Other Name . . .

The Russian radio recently reported to Soviet citizens that a man named Arthur Truman had been arrested in England for throwing a rock through the window of No. 10 Downing Street. It offered the following explanation:

"The magistrate who considered the case of Arthur Truman found himself on the horns of a dilemma. There was a difficulty of sending a man named Truman to prison. Maybe Washington would consider it an insult, or maybe this vagrant would turn out to be a distant relative of the man in the White House. The magistrate turned all these things over in his mind for a long time, scratching his head profusely. In the end he decided to content himself with a severe reprimand. It is said that no good is entirely unmixed with evil. Arthur Truman was rescued by his none-too-pretty name."

National Guard Deferments?

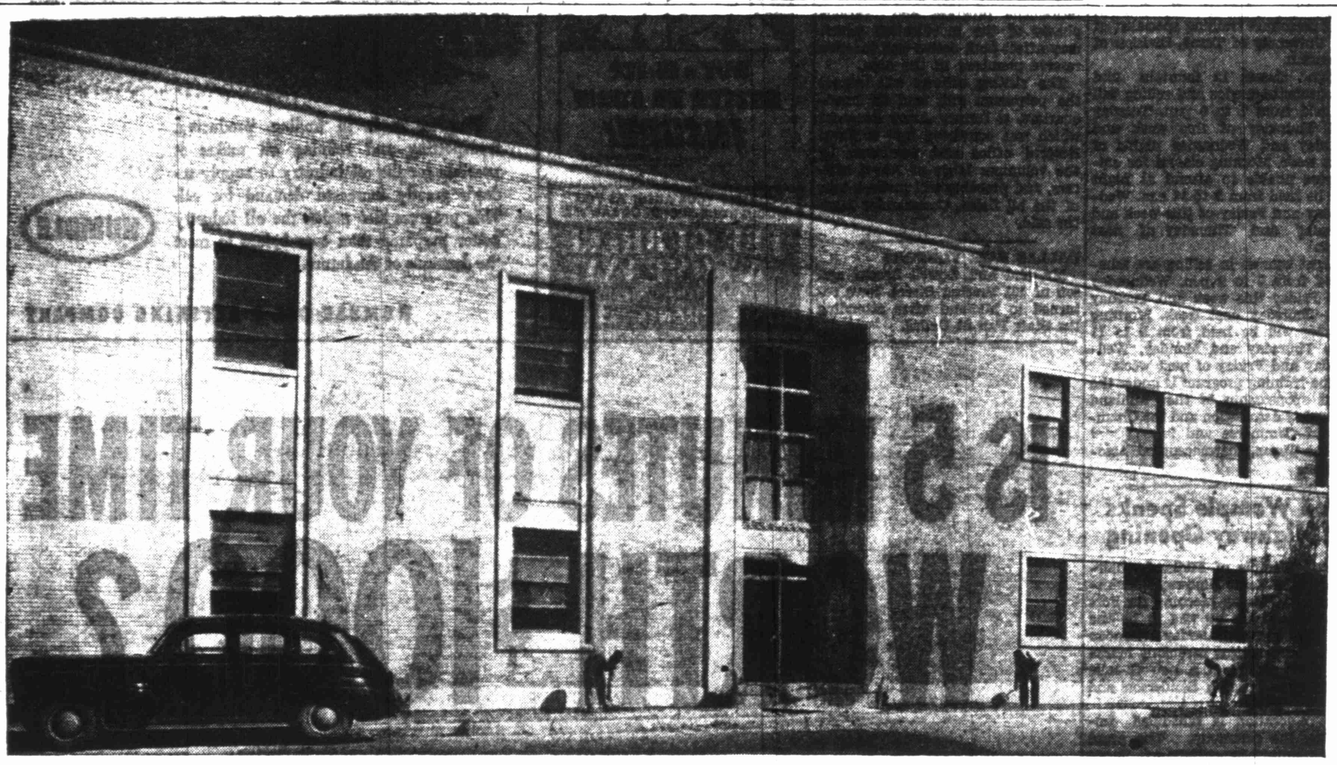

The Army is investigating charges that National Guard officers might be ignoring Defense Department directives governing the deferment of men called to active duty by the Guard. For instance, it is the policy to defer boys in the Guard who are in high school. Some state Guard officials are reported to be ignoring this and forcing high school kids to leave the classroom for active duty. Other high-handed treatment of enlisted Guard personnel is under Army scrutiny.

'Multiple Ordering'

Commerce officials are studying the problem of "multiple ordering" which is back to plague businessmen since the Korean fighting. Customers who are looking for hard-to-get items place orders in four or five stores, with the intention of making the purchase from the first store to get the item.

Moving Ahead...

ON MIDLAND'S $2,000,000 DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Home of Midland's new $2,000,000 telephone system is nearing completion. Even before it is finished men and materials will move in for the big task of providing a telephone system second to none in the nation.

Here's an up-to-the-minute report on the dial telephone program in Midland:

- Steel sections were shipped last Saturday from eastern factories. They'll form the main frame for the intricate dial switching equipment.
- Skilled crews of Western Electric Company craftsmen will be on hand to assemble the steel sections when they arrive.
- Cables fanning in from all sections of the city—each containing hundreds of pairs of wires—will be ready for installers to connect to the main frame.
- Hundreds of switches, tuned accurately as a fine watch, must then be installed and connected to Midland telephone lines.

This huge job will take time, for Midland's dial system is being tailored for Midland. It's a hand-made system, largely, with hundreds of thousands of individual connections to be soldered into place. By early next summer the new system will be ready.

The new dial system is being rushed to completion so we can serve hundreds of people who are waiting for telephones, as quickly as possible.

Because operators are handling a a maximum number of calls from Midland telephone users — 60,000 a day plus 2,500 long distance calls — more telephones can be connected only if the present volume of calls does not increase. No more switchboard positions can be added, and more calls would impair the quality of the service.

We are looking forward to the day, early next summer, when the new dial system will be ready to serve everyone now waiting with telephone service equal to any in the nation. Meanwhile, thanks for your patience and cooperation.

Here's How You Can Help!

You can help us to serve more people with the present telephone system by:

1. Looking in the telephone directory when you're not sure of the number. Every day there are 1,400 calls to information, many of them for numbers already in the directory.
2. Spacing calls so that there is not such a concentration of telephone traffic during the busy hours—9 to 11 a.m., and 2 to 4 p.m.

September 15 Is Christmas For Peanuts, Waif Adopted By Leathernecks In Korea

By STAN SWINTON

WITH THE U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA —(AP)—From now on Christmas comes September 15 for Peanuts.

Peanuts is a United States Marine—well, sort of a Marine. The difference between him and the other Leathernecks is Peanuts is only five years old. A wide-eyed Korean.

Peanuts got into the Marine Corps in an odd way on September 15.

The place was a foxhole in the battle for Seoul. For each foot of blooded ground the Devildogs were fighting hard.

Dawn came that morning and in his foxhole Pfc. Luke Trosclair of Lake Charles, La., opened a can of C rations for breakfast.

Suddenly a head popped over the edge of the foxhole.

Trosclair grabbed his gun.

But he saw quickly that the pair of big eyes staring into the foxhole were fixed on the food. A hungry kid.

That was peanuts.

Doesn't Know Name

He didn't know his real name and neither did anybody else. Peanuts just remembered that shells had killed his mother and father. And he was all alone.

Trosclair gave Peanuts a can of beans as an enlistment bonus. Peanuts was a Marine from there on.

He was a little under age—12 years or so—but nobody had a book of regulations around. So Peanuts was in.

After the battle, the Marines decided to uniform Peanuts.

S/Sgt. Emil M. Shutack of Pittsburgh, Pa., and others hustled up a pair of dungarees. After they were cut down, Peanuts could have stood guard outside the White House and an inspecting officer couldn't have given his attire a single demerit.

The Marines had fun giving Peanuts candy and teaching him English. The Marines' own wives and kids seemed a little nearer with a kid around.

Orders To Move

Then came orders for the Marines to move on. They remembered another war with the adopted kids and the heartbreaking moments when it came time to part.

The Marines didn't want it to happen, especially to Peanuts. Farewells like that are hard for everybody.

So they forgot the fatigue of battle for a while and thought about Peanuts future.

A hat was passed. Nobody had much money. There's no place to spend it on a battlefield. Each Marine gave what he had. Then they tossed in the outfit's beer money for good measure.

The case of Peanuts was talked over with the sisters at Inchon's Star of the Sea Orphanage.

The Marines turned over enough money to take care of Peanuts for the rest of his life.

Then they told the sisters that from now on Christmas for Peanuts would come on September 15—the day they found him out there on the battlefield, a frightened, hungry waif. On that date the men of the outfit agreed to send Peanuts Christmas gifts.

They explained it all to Peanuts. He blinked a few times but he didn't cry. Marines don't cry.

Then they took him to the orphanage.

Peanuts was a good Marine right up to the minute he left the corps. He didn't wave goodbye.

He saluted.

Political Decision

Representative Pickett said:

"In my opinion, the court action is further evidence that it is reaching decisions that are based on political and economic philosophies rather than on the laws of the land."

And Representative Poage declared:

"Refusal of the Supreme Court to grant a rehearing was an unpleasant reminder that when members of the Supreme Court are candidates for political office we may expect political decisions.

"In this case the court refused to allow Texas to introduce evidence, and evidently the candidate for President, Mr. Justice Douglas, who wrote the original decision, did not read the record x x x"

Representative Teague said:

"I feel sure that we have enough votes to approve legislation guaranteeing ownership by the states of this disputed land, but I am not at all certain that we have enough votes to override a presidential veto."

Drug Store Clinic Opens Tuesday

The first class of a two-week drug store personnel training clinic will be held Tuesday night in the courtroom of the Midland County Courthouse.

Classes are being held on a schedule that will make it convenient for employees working split shifts to attend. They are under the supervision of Clark C. Cramer, drug personnel training specialist of the University of Texas, Division of Extension.

Night classes in fountain and luncheonette service and selling will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday of this week and Monday and Wednesday nights of next week. Morning classes for employees unable to attend at night will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Wednesday and Friday of this week and Tuesday and Thursday of next week.

Night courses in selling are scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and Friday this week and Tuesday and Thursday next week. Morning courses will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Thursday and Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week.

The training program is under the joint sponsorship of the Midland Druggists Association and the Chamber of Commerce and is approved by the Texas Pharmaceutical Association.

Fred Wemple Speaks At Highway Opening

Fred Wemple of Midland, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, left Tuesday morning for Fort Stockton, where he was to be the principal speaker Tuesday afternoon at a ribbon-cutting ceremony marking the opening of a new 62-mile highway connecting Sanderson and Fort Stockton.

A celebration is scheduled following the ceremony. The event was arranged by citizens of Pecos, Fort Stockton and Sanderson.

Formation Of More Naval Reserve Units In Area To Be Talked

Formation of additional Naval reserve units in the Midland area will be discussed at a conference to be held at the headquarters of Naval Petroleum Unit No. 8-1 at the Navy Building, Midland Air Park, at 5 p.m., Thursday, Commander James D. Martin, commanding officer of the unit, announced Tuesday. All Naval reservists in the area are invited to attend.

Commander R. L. Nolan, USN, assistant reserve coordinator for the Eighth Naval District, and Commander L. G. Keys, USNR, reserve procurement officer and program officer for petroleum, composite and industrial relations reserve programs for the Eighth Naval District, will be present at the conference.

Commanders Nolan and Keys will arrive Thursday morning from headquarters, Eighth Naval District, New Orleans, and will remain until Saturday. They will inspect the Naval Petroleum Unit, a group of 50 Naval officers engaged in the petroleum industry in the Permian Basin area who formed the first unit of its kind in the Eighth Naval District two years ago.

Invitations Mailed

In addition to regular members of the unit, who will assemble Thursday in their bi-monthly drill, the Eighth Naval District has sent invitations to naval reserve members of all branches of the service in this area, and also to commanding officers of other units in Midland and of units in Odessa and in Jal, N. M., inviting them to the conference.

The Eighth Naval District officers also will discuss the Naval Reserve retirement program and various phases of the mobilization which may affect both active and inactive reserve members in the area.

The visiting officers will inspect the petroleum unit and its headquarters, a former Army barracks which was converted into a Naval Reserve office and wardroom by the volunteer labor of Naval officers, and probably will make a tour of the oil fields, Commander Martin said.

Crude Oil Output Dips 12,610 Barrels

TULSA, OKLA. —(AP)— The nation's crude oil production averaged 5,788,165 barrels daily during the week ended October 14, a 12,610-barrel drop from the preceding week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Kansas topped the losers with a decline of 12,950 barrels to 299,350 barrels.

Other drops included New Mexico 50 to 131,825, and Oklahoma 850 to 475,800.

A new top for the year was reached in Louisiana, up 180 barrels to 580,680.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 2,570,725 barrels.

H. L. Mencken, Famed Author, Critically Ill

BALTIMORE —(AP)— H. L. Mencken, 70, was near death Tuesday at Johns Hopkins Hospital of a heart ailment.

A bulletin from his bedside said his condition was "unchanged—still critical."

The famous author, newspaperman, critic and authority on the American language, suffered a severe heart attack at his home last Thursday.

Fight To Return Ochoa From Mexico To Be Resumed

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— The United States has notified Mexico it still wants legal steps taken to return George Ochoa to stand trial on two charges of murder in Texas.

Ochoa, former Laredo customs broker, recently agreed to drop his fight against extradition. As a result the U. S. asked the foreign office to drop extradition proceedings.

However, Mexico said Monday Ochoa could not be returned unless he dropped an injunction petition he had filed earlier to stop his extradition. His attorney said Ochoa had not instructed him to withdraw the petition.

As a result, U. S. Consul V. Harwood Monday night asked the Foreign Office to consider the extradition request still in force.

Ochoa is charged with shooting fatally Henry D. Whittenburg and Cpl. James Lindsay in rooms on different floors of a Laredo hotel on July 31, 1949.

Brannan Defends Cotton Export Curbs

WASHINGTON —(AP) —Secretary of Agriculture Brannan replied Monday to a wave of criticism from cotton growers against his order restricting the export of cotton.

He said the order was necessary to protect the nation against dangerous shortages and to avoid "drastic price or other controls."

However, he promised the restrictions would be eased later if the situation permits.

Congressmen from cotton-growing states have protested the order was depressing cotton prices at a time when farmers started selling their crop.

LED OF GOD, OR LED OF THINGS?

Isa. 8:19; I Kings 19:12; John 10:4; Isa. 30:2.

The growth of astrology in America is a sign of the lack of firsthand contact with God. If we are not led by God, we will try to be led by stars. Turning to stars for guidance is a sign of decay, mentally and spiritually. It is sheer materialism to believe your life is determined by lumps of matter floating in space. It is a sign of failure of nerve—you don't face the facts of life in the courage and spirit of Christ, but you turn to dodging stars. Astrology laid its paralyzing hand on the mind of Greece and killed it. The Greek mind was a good mind, facing bravely the facts of life, until it lost its nerve and turned to the stars to find destiny written there. The mind of India was a creative mind, producing the amazing Sanskrit literature, until astrology made it sterile and noncreative by turning it toward the stars instead of toward the facts of life.

Men will be led by God into sure ways, or will be led by subterfuges into swamps and miasmas of despair.

We must regain the sense of being led. About two years ago, when ready to sail back to India, I announced that the Inner Voice had insisted that I stay in America, saying, "I want you here." This announcement aroused widespread comment, some of it unfavorable, as if it were a strange and superstitious thing to be led of God, directly and at first hand. This reaction was most revealing. It showed how much of American Christianity was at least one step removed from firsthand reality. There seemed to be knowledge of, but not acquaintance with, God.

If there is a God, He must have some plan, some purpose for every life. When He made each of us, He apparently broke the pattern—we are all different. Each life has peculiar significance. If we find that plan of God and work within it, we cannot fail. Outside of that plan we cannot succeed.

To be the instrument of the purposes of God is the highest thing in life.

Gracious Father, Thou has paid attention to the minute, fashioning the lowliest cell with handiwork; hast Thou no plan for me and my life? Thou hast! Help me to find that plan, to pay the price of working out that plan, and to make it the adventure of my life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Put Final Touches To Fourth Annual Kiwanis Minstrel

Final touches on the annual Kiwanis Club Minstrel-Revue, "Stop, Laf, and Listen," are being made this week with rehearsals scheduled each night and back-stage crews adding the last paint and construction before the show's opening next week.

The annual show, which has played before full houses in previous years, will be held five straight nights, beginning next Tuesday, October 24. It will be staged in the City-County Auditorium.

Joe Koegler, general chairman of the event, received progress reports and more volunteers Monday to help in staging the minstrel. Kiwanis Club members began ticket sales and Albert Kelley, club president in charge of sales, said the reservation board would be set up at Tailorfine next Monday.

To be presented in two parts, the show will feature a setting of the first 20 years of the 20th Century, and Koegler promises songs of every era during the period will be presented. The musical revue, first half portion of the show, will feature a 24-girl, three line chorus. The chorus number and the finale are original and written by Midland's Bill Pomeroy.

Cast Of 70

Featuring a cast of approximately 70, the minstrel-revue is requiring the services of more than 150 persons. Backstage work, including the construction of scenery, painting and other work, has required the services of scores of Midlanders who will not participate on the stage.

Proceeds of "Stop, Laff and Listen" will go to the Kiwanis Boys and Girls fund, to aid the underprivileged children who will need financial aid due to illness and other reasons.

Suppose they came to YOUR front door!

What a strange group of visitors!

There's the lady in blue from the Visiting Nurses . . . and the Salvation Army lassie . . . the coach from the youth center . . . and many others.

You'd ask them in . . . of course . . . even though they filled your living room to overflowing. And then, one by one, they would tell you their stories.

One would tell you about the fight his organization is waging against disease and crippling illness . . . Another would touch your heart with the story of a homeless child or a lonely old man . . . A third would tell you how youth services curb juvenile delinquency in your town . . . Each one would separately ask your help.

And you'd want to help every one! But you'd wonder . . . "How much should I give to this? . . . How much to that?" And that is exactly why, in our community, we have a United Red Feather campaign. The needs of each service have been studied and considered by a group of our leading citizens.

To save YOUR time, only one volunteer solicitor will call on you. When that call comes, open your heart and your pocketbook. Remember that you are giving for ALL Red Feather services. So give enough for ALL. And give enough for a FULL YEAR. Thanks!

Everybody benefits . . . Everybody gives

Oklahoma Pushes Past SMU In Poll; Army Hangs To Top

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK —(AP)— Army's all-conquering Cadets clung to their position as the nation's No. 1 college football team Tuesday. At the same time, once-invincible Notre Dame dropped out of the top 10 for the first time in almost a decade.

Chopping down a strong Michigan eleven last Saturday 27-6 for their third straight triumph, the unbeaten West Pointers strengthened their first place grip gained a week ago in The Associated Press poll.

Coach Earl Blaik's Black Knights, unbeaten in their last 23 starts, drew a total of 124 first place ballots among the 275 votes cast by sports writers and sportcasters.

Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, who a week ago saw their 39-game nonlosing skein snapped by Purdue, again failed to impress despite their 13-9 victory over Tulane Saturday. That showing helped push the Irish from tenth to eleventh place.

Notre Dame has finished no lower than ninth since 1941 and almost always has been high up in the running during the season. For the first time in years not a single voter gave Notre Dame a first place ballot. The best the Irish got was a third. Their point total was 295.

Purdue Sinks To 33

Army received a total of 2,427 points to lead a field that included 47 colleges. Oklahoma wrested second place from South Methodist, moving up one notch on the strength of its 14-13 victory over tough Texas. The air-minded Mustangs slipped into third place despite their 56-0 cakewalk over Oklahoma A&M.

The big three were followed by Kentucky, California, Stanford, Texas, Maryland, Ohio State and Washington to complete the top ten.

Notre Dame was not the only team to fall out of the first ten. Its conqueror, Purdue, almost dropped out of sight, catapulting from ninth to No. 33. The Boilermakers received a dose of their own upset medicine when they bowed to unheralded Miami University of Florida 20-14.

Miami vaulted from thirty-seventh spot to fourteenth with 170 points. The Hurricanes received 14 first place ballots.

Other teams to gain No. 1 recognition included Maryland (5), Washington (5), Clemson (4), Cornell (2) and Wake Forest (1).

The top teams (number in brackets is first place votes); points figured on a bases of 10 for first, nine for second, etc.):

Top Ten

	Army (124)	2,427
2.	Oklahoma (47)	2,315
3.	SMU (63)	2,312
4.	Kentucky (9)	1,191
5.	California (10)	1,120
6.	Stanford	850
7.	Texas	788
8.	Maryland (5)	552
9.	Ohio State	492
10.	Washington (5)	430

Rice was ranked No. 15 with 255 points.

Other teams receiving votes included: Texas A&M 37, and Texas Christian, one.

29 Of Texas' 30 College Grid Teams Slated For Action

By The Associated Press

Seventeen games will bring 29 of Texas' 30 colleges into football competition this weekend.

The state's four undefeated, untied teams—West Texas State, Abilene Christian, Rice and Southern Methodist—have strong foes. Rice and Southern Methodist meet each other. West Texas plays Sam Houston State and Abilene Christian College tangles with its crosstown rival, McMurry.

Three teams leave the state for games. North Texas State plays University of Chattanooga at Chattanooga, Tenn.; Texas Western battles New Mexico at Albuquerque, N. M., and Lamar College engages Louisiana College at Pineville, La.

Three Friday Tilts

The weekend schedule:

Friday — Austin College vs. Trinity at Sherman (night), North Texas State at Chattahooga (night), Hardin-Simmons vs. University of Houston at Houston (night).

Saturday — Texas Christian vs. Texas A&M at College Station, Texas vs. Arkansas at Austin, Baylor vs. Texas Tech at Waco, Rice vs. Southern Methodist at Houston (night), Sam Houston State vs. West Texas State at Canyon, McMurry vs. Abilene Christian at Abilene (night), Howard Payne vs. Southwestern at Georgetown (night), Daniel Baker vs. Texas A&I at Kingsville (night), Texas Lutheran vs. Corpus Christi Naval Air Station at Seguin (night), Texas Western vs. New Mexico at Albuquerque (night), Midwestern vs. East Texas State at Wichita Falls, Southwest Texas State vs. Stephen F. Austin at San Marcos, Sul Ross vs. University of Corpus Christi at Alpine (night), Lamar vs. Louisiana College at Pineville, La. (night).

Morris Williams, Assistant Pro At MCC, Is 'Greeted'

Morris Williams, Jr., assistant pro at Midland Country Club has received greetings from his draft board in Austin. Williams has been ordered to report for his physical examination October 24.

Williams, who won the Texas PGA tournament last Summer, turned professional August 1. Williams had planned to tour the golf circuits this Winter.

Purple Told To 'Be Ready'

The Midland Bulldogs looked at the films of the Midland-Sweetwater fray Monday afternoon, found their mistakes, and started to do something about correcting them in order to be ready for Brownwood Friday night.

Coach T. L. (Tugboat) Jones and Assistants Red Rutledge and Audrey Gill had the Bulldogs work only on punting, running, passing and timing of plays. There was no contact work. The Bulldogs didn't even don blocking pads for the workout—it was brief, but while they were out there they really worked.

The Purple eleven climbed back into pads Tuesday, and went back to hard work again, getting ready for the Lions from Brownwood. Brownwood has only one victory and four losses, but the Bulldogs aren't holding the Lions lightly.

"We know they will be trying for an upset," Coach Jones said, "and we must be at our best if we expect to win. We can't make mistakes and play a poor ball game, if we win from Brownwood."

Several "Cripples"

The Bulldogs still are crippled somewhat, but hope to be near full strength by Friday night. Co-Captain Jack Burris, Bulldog halfback, is nursing a sprained arm suffered in the tilt with Sweetwater, but hopes to see action against Brownwood. Guard Dalton Byerley is limping on a lame leg as a result of the Mustang fray, but it is thought he will play Friday night. Reserve Guard Pete English still isn't able to join the squad, as a result of a knee injury he sustained in workout two weeks ago.

"I was very proud of our victory over Sweetwater," Jones told the team, "but we made some mistakes we must eliminate. Let's be ready this week."

King's Row

By LARRY KING

The Midland Bulldogs, by virtue of their 21-6 win over Sweetwater, have zoomed high in the State schoolboy rankings. Phil Collier, sports scribe of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, has placed the Bulldogs in spot number six. The purple kids advanced from place 13 to their present lofty perch.

Personally, we are glad to see Midland climb so high on the schoolboy football ladder. We think it gives the Bulldogs something to work for—a position to hold, to strive and better their ranking from week to week.

But at the same time, we realize it may make a tougher season for the Bulldogs. Each team the Bulldogs face will be trying like all get-out to kick them down that ladder.

Therefore, we would like to tell the Bulldogs a story—a story of a ball club that was supposed to be the greatest club ever assembled.

—KR—

That club we speak of is the University of Texas' 1941 eleven. The same team that, as juniors, had beaten mighty Texas A&M and All-America John Kimbrough 7-0 in its final 1940 appearance.

And the critics raved. More publicity was given to the 1941 Texas team prior to the season than any other team had received before. To hear the experts tell it, Texas would only be going through a formality in playing the schedule. General feeling ran that Texas would skim through its schedule and receive an automatic bid to the Rose Bowl, come New Year's Day.

—KR—

And, for awhile, it appeared the wise boys were right. Texas opened by overwhelming LSU 34-0, rolled over Colorado 34-6, smeared Indiana 39-7, walked over Arkansas 48-14, cleaned Rice 40-0, and clobbered SMU 34-0.

And the drums were beating for powerful Texas.

—KR—

Baylor was next—little Baylor that was mired in the depths of a bad season—and Texas was due to continue its parade of power and points.

"Baylor doesn't stand a chance," said one well known sports writer.

"The score," added another so-called expert, "Texas anything, Baylor nothing."

Texas read the press notices and believed. Baylor read, and didn't believe.

—KR—

Came the day.

Came the powerful Longhorns: Pete Layden, Jack Crain, Noble Doss, Roy Dale McKay, Orban (Spec) Sanders, Mal Kutner, Stan Mauldin, Bo Cohenour, Audrey Gill and company.

Came lowly Baylor, shot with injuries.

Came the kickoff.

And came the surprise!

—KR—

To make a long story short, a bunch of Bears that wouldn't be beaten played a Texas team off its feet that day, and in the final minutes of the game third string Quarterback Kit Kittrell (playing because of injuries to his superiors) tossed a pass into the arms of an end who was free in the Steer end zone. Then Kittrell cooly kicked the extra point.

And as the night and gloom descended on Texas' Memorial Stadium that well-remembered afternoon, spectators gazed with dis-belief at the electric scoreboard that said:

Texas 7, Baylor 7.

And mighty Texas had been tied.

—KR—

But that isn't all of the story. Dutch Meyer and his TCU Horned Frogs were slated to be the next "victim" for the Longhorns. And public opinion again was that Texas would atone for its disappointing tie with Baylor by handing the TCU team a one-sided licking.

Down in Fort Worth, the Froggies went about their business of preparing for Texas. One would think, watching them work, that they actually had a chance to beat the Longhorns.

—KR—

And again, it was time for football battle. A fired-up, inspired TCU team carried the fight to over-confident Texas. And little Dean Bagley scooted 55 yards early in the fourth quarter for a touchdown that dashed the Longhorn's hopes for greatness, as Texas Christian won a stunning 14-7 upset.

Oh sure, Texas bounced back to lick eventual conference champion Texas A&M by a 23-0 score, and laced Oregon 71-7 in its final game on the eve of Pearl Harbor—but the damage was done. A dream team had turned into a nightmare, because of over-confidence, and because its opponents didn't know when to quit.

—KR—

You can see, Bulldogs, how this story of the 1941 Texas team is akin to your own. Right now you are called one of the best football teams in high school circles. You are receiving favorable publicity, and you are supposed to be good. But the teams you play from here on in will be working to beat you. They will be ready, eager, to knock you off.

—KR—

Will you have what it takes to come through the test? Or will you stumble and fall to a team, or teams, that you are supposed to beat handily?

You will go to Brownwood Friday.

You will go on the field favored to win.

You will go onto the field as the number six ranking team in the state of Texas.

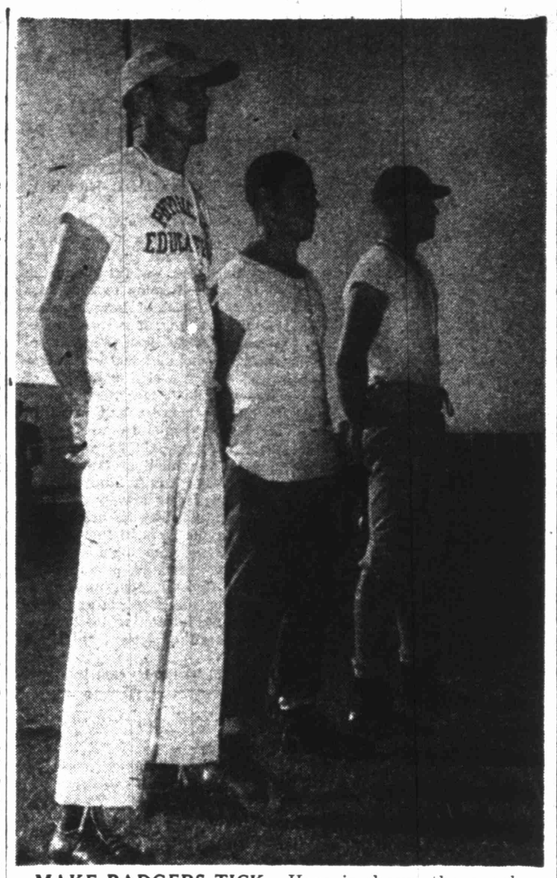

You will go into battle: Jimmy O'Neal, Dalton Byerley, Jerry Culp, Stan Coker, Bob Wood, Duane Bush, Graham Mackey, Billy Medart, Reed Gilmore, Jack Burris, Charles Crowley, Ralph Brooks, L. C. Thomas and company.

Brownwood will come into the game the underdogs—and eager to beat you.

What will the scoreboard show?

What will it be, Midland Bulldogs?

It's up to you.

Southwest Elevens In Good Shape For Weekend Of Action

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference football teams will hit their first Saturday of full conference play with the teams generally in better physical shape than any other time this season.

Two perfect seasonal records are at stake, and only one will survive.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs, high in national prestige, open their conference schedule against Rice Institute, also undefeated and untied.

Rice first stringers took it easy Monday. Fullback George Glauser, who injured a leg in the Louisiana State game October 7, will be ready for action, and the rest of the squad is in good shape.

The Mustangs rambled through a light drill minus the services of defensive Tackle Charles Chambers, who injured an ankle in the Oklahoma A&M game last Saturday. Coach Rusty Russell said Chambers is a doubtful starter against Rice. H. N. Russell, Jr., the starting quarterback, also is favoring a rib injury and may not play.

Aggies Are Ready

In the other two games there will be battles for first division ranking.

Texas, still smarting from the Oklahoma defeat, faces Arkansas, downed twice this season. Texas A&M, with one loss, also credited to Oklahoma, faces Texas Christian, a once-loser.

Five Texas Aggies not in the game against Virginia Military Institute last week will be ready for TCU. They are Tackles Russ Hudeck and Sam Moses, End Clinton Gwin and Halfbacks Charley Royalty and Billy Tidwell.

TCU's lineup this week may include three sophomores who made good in the Texas Tech game last week. In offensive scrimmage Monday Center Carlton McCormack, End Bob Blair and Left Halfback John Harville lined up with the No. 1 squad.

TCU Quarterback Bartosh and Fullback Bobby Jack Floyd, bruised last weekend, operated under full steam.

Coach Blair Cherry says the morale of the Texas Longhorns is good despite the narrow victory gained by Oklahoma. He said none of the Steers had injuries that would keep them out of the Arkansas game.

Porkers Stress Defense

Arkansas is working on offensive maneuvers which they hope will give them their first win over Texas since 1938. Coach Otis Douglas said the Razorbacks' defense against Baylor was "great" but the offense was far from satisfactory.

Halfback Sammy Furo, out for two weeks with a knee injury, worked out Monday. All other players are in top physical condition, Douglas said.

Coach George Sauer at Baylor is optimistic over his injury list, gradually clearing up after reaching lengthy proportions last week. He said sophomore Guard Bill Athey may be used on offense as well as defense in the Texas Tech game Saturday. Another player unheard of this year may see action—Quarterback Claude Kincannon, who starred at Waco High School year before last.

Films To Highlight Booster Club Meet

The Bulldog Booster Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the junior high school cafeteria. Coach Tugboat Jones announced Monday that two films will be shown in addition to the Midland-Sweetwater game films. These additional films are "Southwest Conference Highlights," and "Winning Football at Notre Dame."

Coaches Jones, Gill and Rutledge will comment on the Sweetwater game, and scouts will report on the Brownwood Lions, who furnish the opposition for the Bulldogs this week.

Booster President Russell Cotton said Tuesday morning, "There is some question as to who is eligible to join the Booster club. Membership is open to all Midland men."

Russell also stated that "Many Midland students have been attracted to the Booster meetings, due to the Bulldog winning streak. While their interest is appreciated, the students fail to fall within the ranks of those eligible to attend the meetings at present."

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to the Booster members and their guests after the business meeting Tuesday night.

Three Midlanders Play In Women's Hardscrabble Open

FORT SMITH, ARK. — (AP) — Patty Berg of Minneapolis is seeking her third straight Hardscrabble Women's Open golf championship.

The tournament began at Hardscrabble Country Club Tuesday. The finals are carded Saturday.

Among the chief threats to Miss Berg are Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., and Marlene and Alice Bauer of Midland, Texas.

Leading amateur contenders include Betsy Rawls of Austin, Pat Garner of Midland, Betty MacKinnon of Dallas and Mrs. George Noble of Dallas.

Benners, SMU Passing Threat, Once Almost Became Rice Owl

HOUSTON —(AP)— Fred Benners, the Southern Methodist pass specialist who is the big worry of Rice Coach Jess Neely this week, once came pretty close to being a Rice Owl himself.

In fact, it was Herman Morgan, now the SMU freshman coach, who recommended that Rice coaches talk to Benners about the Houston school.

Morgan then was Benners' coach at Highland Park High School near the SMU campus in Dallas.

But, for one reason or another, the lanky kid went to SMU. Now he is the number one headache Neely's staff faces while preparing to send their undefeated Owls against the unbeaten and fast scoring Mustangs here Saturday night.

Morgan drew the SMU assignment to scout Rice for the all-important Southwest Conference tilt.

After watching Rice defeat Pittsburgh Saturday, Morgan told the Benners-Rice story this way:

"When I was at Highland Park in 1946 I wrote to Joe Davis (Rice line coach) and told him about Benners. Joe was interested and we corresponded several times. He invited Fred to visit Rice.

"But somehow or other Fred decided to go to Sewanee. I believe there was a close family tie there.

"He went to Sewanee a year and didn't like it. So he came home for a visit and I noticed he had grown several inches and had put on about 20 pounds.

Still Interested In Rice

"He lives only three doors from the SMU campus. He started dropping around. The coaches liked what they saw and offered him a scholarship."

But even after his year at Sewanee Benners still was interested in Rice.

He and his father visited the Rice campus, talked with Neely, then went back to Dallas and made a decision—Southern Methodist.

Benners leads the Mustang aerial show. He has completed 35 of 67 passes for 554 yards and five touchdowns. That's an average of 16 yards per completion. There has been only one interception.

Houston fans figure Rice's chances of defeating SMU rest upon its stopping Benners.

They figure that if the Owl line can exert sufficient pressure on Benners by rushing him hard and the good defense secondary of Rex Proctor, Gene Silver and Teddy Riggs comes through, Rice has a chance.

The trouble is, however, when you concentrate on its passing, the many-pronged SMU offense may send Kyle Rote, Benton Musslewhite or Val Joe Walker darting through your line.

McMurry's Brad Rowland Is All-Around Performer

ABILENE —(AP)— Brad Rowland, McMurry mighty man, nears the end of his college football career with one of the greatest records ever assembled.

The Little All-America has rolled up 2.6 miles of ground rushing and passing in three and one-half varsity seasons and has an average of better than 40 yards kicking.

If Rowland didn't also play defense all the time, too, he undoubtedly would have compiled an even greater record.

"That's what I like about Rowland," says his coach, Wilford Moore. "He is not a specialist; whatever the assignment — run, punt, pass or block—Brad's ready."

Rowland in his career at McMurry to date has a total offense of 4,596 yards.

Best known as a runner, he has accounted for 762 yards passing.

He has scored 234 points and three years in a row was unanimously selected all-Texas Conference. Two times he was picked as the conference's most valuable player.

One professional scout said of the six-foot, 192-pound star last year he would rate only Florida's Charlie Hunsinger above Rowland.

Brad's teammates believe the pros could make good use of him as a punting specialist only. Rowland has kicked at a 40.3 yard clip in games without working at it during practice.

Rowland's greatest year was 1949 when he romped to 1,363 yards rushing and passed for 461 while scoring 114 points. This season he has gained 505 yards on the ground and passed for 65 in four games.

ALL AROUND — Brad Rowland does it all for McMurry.

Charles To Defend Crown November 28 Against Nick Barone

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ezzard Charles will fight as a 14-karat champion for the first time in his career when he defends his heavyweight title against Nick Barone in a 15-round bout at Cincinnati November 28.

Jake Mintz, Charles' manager, made the announcement Monday.

Odessan Named To AAU Vice Presidency

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— L. A. Douglas of San Antonio was named president of the South Texas AAU organization here Monday night. He succeeds Clyde Littlefield, University of Texas track coach.

Vice presidents include Cotton Clover of Odessa.

Odessa put in a bid for the State AAU Boxing Meet.

The Board of Directors voted that the Temple Telegram, sponsors of the Temple District Golden Gloves, be refused sanction for 1951 because of violations of the travel restrictions.

In 47 years of football before this season, the University of Arizona has recorded 205 victories against 103 defeats and 18 ties.

Curtain Falling On Ballinger In Longhorn League

BALLINGER —(AP)— The owner of the Ballinger team of the Longhorn Baseball League says he must sell the club before November 1 or move the franchise to another city.

Dr. Marshall Dyke, Borger physician who bought the club last August, spoke at a baseball banquet here Monday night.

"Every member of the league has told me personally they don't want the Ballinger Cats in the league," he said.

Dyke said the league is planning to raise the player salary limit "to get Ballinger out."

The Cats finished last in the league, drawing a paid attendance of 27,000.

Club owners in a recent Longhorn League meeting upped the classification from Class D to Class C. Whether this was aimed at Ballinger was not indicated.

Clubs Pay Audiometer Purchase Pledges

The Rotary Club, Order of Eagles, and the Chamber of Commerce are the first civic, service and fraternal organizations to pay their pledges for the purchase of an audiometer for use in the public schools, C. of C. Manager Delbert Downing said Tuesday.

The purchase of the audiometer, a portable device used to detect hearing deficiencies among students, is sponsored by the Chamber's Education Committee.

Various clubs and organizations of the city have expressed desires to assist in purchasing the equipment for the school system.

and introduced the division chairmen.

The mechanics of filling out pledge cards and of making progress reports were explained by Jean Lewis, executive secretary. Campaign headquarters have been established in the Boy Scout Building at 318 North Colorado Street.

Confident Of Success

Worker assignments were made by the division chairmen and team captains, who distributed campaign materials.

Lawson termed this year's campaign organization the best ever. He called upon the workers to complete their assignments promptly, within 10 days or two weeks if possible. He said he is confident the goal will be exceeded.

Agencies participating in Community Chest funds, and their 1951 budgets, are as follows:

Boy Scouts $15,000; Girl Scouts $11,500; Youth Center $9,786; Latin American Youth Club $5,500; Goodfellows $600; and Salvation Army $2,000. A $1,000 campaign expense item is included in the overall Chest quota.

Audrey Gill Talks To Optimist Club

Audrey Gill, assistant coach of the Midland High School bootball team, addresesd the Optimist Club at its luncheon Tuesday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Gill said he had never seen a bunch of boys play harder than the Bulldogs last Friday night in defeating the Sweetwater eleven.

He said the rating of Midland in sixth place this week will give opponents greater incentive to try "and knock them off."

He also discussed some rule changes.

V. H. (Pete) Van Horn, club president, announced a building committee for the projected boys workshop has been named. On the committee are Jim Velvin, Ted Witte, George Park, Wayne Harrell and Dr. C. S. Britt.

He also announced Arlo Forrest and Orville Durham are co-chairmen of the boys work committee.

The appointments were made at a recent meeting of the directors.

Gill was introduced by Jerry Monroe.

Dick McKnight was awarded the weekly attendance prize.

Florida—

preparations for the blow were in full swing. Acres of plate glass disappeared behind shutters, loose objects were taken indoors, and builders nailed down lumber piles and fastened tiles and other materials securely.

The Weather Bureau reported the storm was gaining steadily in velocity as it approached the South Florida coast. Center was expected to cross the coast line in the vicinity of Key Largo, the northernmost of the Florida Keys.

Fort Lauderdale and Miami were on the stronger side of the disturbance. Palm Beach was expected to be at the outer fringe of strong winds. Norton watched for a possible turn slightly more to the west.

The storm hit Cuba Monday night. The important City of Camaguey was battered, and communications between there and Havana were interrupted. Preliminary reports indicated, however, that winds of hurricane force and gusts considerably higher than 75 miles an hour did no great damage.

No loss of life was reported.

standards of the American people—by reconstruction and rehabilitation;

(2) Improvements advocated for Korea will serve as a pattern for what the U. S. would like to do for other countries in need of American aid;

(3) The U. S. wants neither special consideration nor military installations in Korea and would like to get its troops out as soon as it is safe to do so; and

(4) There must be no letdown in congressional support of heavy spending for defense at home and for Allied nations abroad so long as the threat of communism imperils any spot in the world where an invasion could explode into another world war.

Stassen Cries 'Politics'

Harold E. Stassen, Republican ex-governor of Minnesota and presently president of the University of Pennsylvania, said in Washington Monday night the American people are entitled to know whether Truman's confidence with MacArthur means that he has decided to accept the general's advice on Far Pacific problems.

If not, Stassen said, then the public would be justified in regarding it as "a sinful political escapade" designed to bolster Democratic candidates in the November 7 elections.

Films Shown At MGS Luncheon

The Midland Geological Society met for a luncheon Tuesday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

More than 100 members and guests saw a film of the 1946 Army-Navy football game.

It was announced at the luncheon the MGS would hold a joint social gathering with other Permian Basin Empire organizations at the Odessa Country Club from 6 until 9 p.m. Friday.

The meeting is to be held in connection with the Permian Basin Oil Show.

The next MGS luncheon will be held November 7.

Dewey's Statement Places 'Ike 'On Spot As Candidate In '52

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower once again has become a presidential possibility for 1952 and the big threat to all other would-be candidates, Republican or Democratic.

That is true despite the general's statement that he has not changed his mind about staying out of politics.

To Washington political experts it is apparent that the plug Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York put in Sunday for Eisenhower as a 1952 Republican presidential candidate has three important results:

1. Whether he likes it or not, General Ike definitely has been shoved into the 1952 political picture and will stay there unless and until he takes himself out just as definitely.

Rough On Others

2. Dewey's pledge to work for the popular soldier-educator makes it rough on any other Republicans who may be hopefully eyeing the White House. Dewey lost as the GOP presidential candidate in 1944 and 1948, but he still is head of the Republican Party and still has a lot of influence in it.

3. President Truman now would find it more difficult to pick Eisenhower to command a proposed international army to defend Western Europe against communism. There has been much speculation that the Columbia University president might be called back into uniform for this assignment. But if Truman sent Eisenhower to Europe now he might lay himself open to charges he was trying to get out of the country the man who might be his most dangerous political rival in 1952.

Eisenhower has said over and over for more than two years that he is not a candidate for public office, that he is a man without political connections or ambitions, that he has a job to do at Columbia.

Exceptional Situation

Ordinarily a person wouldn't have to repeat it every week to convince people he meant what he said. But Dewey's support for Eisenhower created an exceptional situation.

Nobody of Dewey's stature in the Republican Party had come right out before and said he would back the general for the presidential nomination in 1952. At the same time, Dewey said he himself would not try for the nomination for a third time, although he is seeking a third term as governor after saying he wouldn't.

Obviously, his endorsement called for some statement from Eisenhower. The general said only that he was complimented, grateful for Dewey's good opinion of him, and:

"As for myself, my convictions as to the place and methods through which I can best contribute something to the cause of freedom have been often expressed. They have not changed."

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log—

660 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 4, block 194, GC&SF survey.

Operations are to commence immediately.

Location Staked For NE Crockett Explorer

Malco Refineries, Inc., staked location for No. 1 Archie Bean, a 1,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Crockett County between the shallow Betty and Vaughn pools.

Location is 330 feet from north and 2,484 feet from west lines of section 14, block UV, GC&SF survey.

Cable tools will be used to drill the test, beginning soon.

Clear Fork Opener In Hockley Pumping Oil

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Hobgood, Clear Fork discovery in Central-North Hockley County, reported a pumping gauge of 132 barrels of fluid cut with five per cent water and 45 per cent basic sediment and 50 per cent oil.

This gauge was over a 24 hour period, and is the first reported.

Operator is continuing to pump the discovery in an attempt to eliminate the basic sediment, which is believed to be drilling mud.

Location of the No. 1 Hobgood is 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 10, league 693, State Capitol lands survey.

Completion Attempt Due Runnels Opener

A completion try is scheduled for A. J. Renn, trustee, and Ray Moloney No. 1 W. A. Ashton, indicated Ellenburger discovery in South-Central Runnels County.

This venture topped the Ellenburger at 4,197 feet, elevation 1,780 feet. Heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud was recovered on a drillstem test taken over the interval at 4,203-4,289 feet.

On the test, gas showed at the sruface in one and one-half minutes, with a steady blow for 50 minutes. The oil content of the recovered mud was 70 per cent.

Drilling continued to 4,324 feet, where hole is now bottomed. A drillstem test from 4,297-4,324 feet recovered 10 feet of rat hole mud with no water.

Operator was running five and one-half inch oil string to be cemented on bottom. Plug will be drilled and casing perforated in preparation for a completion attempt.

No. 1 Ashton is 1,744 feet from north and 15.4 feet from the east lines of J. H. Wilson survey 144.

SE Borden Explorer Plugged, Abandoned

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 McDowell in Pennsylvanian lime at 7,345 feet.

The wildcat failure is located in Southeast Borden County, four miles west of the Von Roeder field and 4 miles north of the Reinecke pool.

Operator ran a drillstem test at 7,270-7,295 feet. Tool was open one hour and six minutes. Recovery was 20 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or gas.

Another interval was tested, this time at 7,295-7,345 feet. With tool open four hours a good blow of air was to the surface and then died. Recovery was 200 feet of salt watercut drilling mud and 6,200 feet of salt water.

Location of the abandoned hole is at the center of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 107, block 25, H&TC survey.

Orders Are Given To Plug Crockett Tester

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company has given orders to plug and abandon its No. 1-G University, wildcat in Northwest Crockett County, at total depth of 8,741 feet in Ellenburger.

The last reported operation before orders were given to abandon was a drillstem test which lasted one hour and 11 minutes at 8,621-8,741 feet.

Sulphur water surfaced in 47 minutes and flowed for 24 minutes.

The Ellenburger was topped at 8,487 feet on an elevation of 2,344 feet.

Location of the failure is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 16, block 14, University survey. Drillsite was inside production in the Crockett-Grayburg field.

Wildcat Abandoned In N-C Coke Sector

Lion Oil Company No. 1 Runnie Waldrop, wildcat in Northeast-Central Coke County, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 6,638 feet in Ellenburger lime.

Top of Ellenburger by samples was 6,360 feet on a datum of minus 4,262 feet.

Operator drillstem tested from 6,585 feet to 6,638 feet. Tool was open one hour. Recovery was 450 feet of slightly salty muddy water and 1,290 feet of slight gas cut salt water with a sulphur odor.

This failure is located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 369, block 1-A, H&TC survey and four and one-half miles northeast of Union Oil Company of California No. 1 McCuthen, recently completed Cisco discovery.

No. 1 Waldrop was seven miles northeast of Robert Lee and the same distance northwest of Bronte.

Two Projects Are Set For W-C Kent

General Crude Oil Company and Percy Jones staked locations for their No. 4-193 D. R. Coleman and No. 5-193 D. R. Coleman in the Salt Creek field of West-Central Kent County.

Both these projects will be drilled with rotary tools to 6,850 feet, beginning immediately.

Location for No. 4-193 Coleman is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 193, block G, W&NW survey and nine miles northwest of Clairemont.

No. 5-193 is located nine miles northwest of Clairemont and 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 193, block G, W&NW survey.

Scurry Kelley-Snyder Gets Seven Locations

Seven new tests have been staked for immediate drilling in the Kelley-Snyder field of Scurry County. All these explorations will be drilled to 7,000 feet with rotary tools.

Pan American Production Company No. 4 M. J. Bates is 660 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey and seven and one-quarter miles northwest of Snyder.

Location of Pan American No. 2 J. E. Light is 671 feet from south and 1,667 feet from east lines of section 255, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it seven and one-half miles northwest of Snyder.

Byrd-Frost, Inc. staked No. 3 Arnett 467 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 291, block 97, H&TC survey.

Seven miles northwest of Snyder, Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company spotted its No. 3 Arnett 467 feet from north and east lines of section 299, block 97, H&TC survey.

Drillsite for Pan American No. 3 J. E. Perry and others is 660 feet from west and south lines of section 211, block 97, H&TC survey and six miles west of Snyder.

Sun Oil Company No. 1 Elza C. Rollins is to be 660 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 192, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it four and one-half miles southwest of Snyder.

The Texas Company staked No. 5 Mae Lemons, and others seven miles west of Snyder and 467 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 204, block 97, H&TC survey.

Hudson Services Are Held In Pecos

PECOS — Funeral services for William Cornelius Hudson, 46, were to be held Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. W. M. Turner officiating.

Hudson died early Sunday at his home of a heart ailment.

He was born here on July 11, 1904, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hudson, Sr. He attended schools here, and moved to the West Coast shortly afterward. He made his home there most of the time until returning here shortly after the war.

Among the survivors are the father, J. B. Hudson, Sr., Reeves County treasurer; two daughters, Mrs. Bill Davis of Fort Stockton and Mrs. Oma Lee Linman of Austin; two brothers C. R. and David Francis Hudson, both of Pecos, and five sisters, Mrs. Allen Ridgeway, Mrs. Scott Paige, Mrs. Martha Katherine Marsh and Mrs. Elmo Carpenter of Pecos and Mrs. Della Mae Woods of North Hollywood, Calif.

swiftly the foot troopers seized a bridge before the surprised Red forces could blow it up. The foot troopers were within 20 miles or less of Pyongyang.

Both the Americans and ROK's were swinging along in open country along the flatland approaches to Pyongyang.

Retreat In Confusion

Behind the Americans, British and Australian Commonwealth brigade troops sped 31 miles to Sariwon and captured that highway city.

On the east coast, ROK First Corps elements rolled within sight of Korea's great industrial city of Hamhung and its port, Hungnam.

The Red radio at Pyongyang admitted UN forces reinforced and "spearheaded by aircraft and tanks north of the 38th parallel are making heavy attacks."

It added:

"On all fronts People's (Communist) Army units are carrying out heavy defense operations against the advancing enemy."

Field dispatches from AP Correspondents, however, told a different story.

Organized Red resistance was shattered. Communist troops were surrendering by the hundreds. All along the slanting battlefront the Reds laid down their arms, retreated in confusion or fled into the hills in scattered bands.

YOUR LIFETIME OPPORTUNITY—IF YOU ARE QUALIFIED

Due to the immediate opening of new factories and old ones reopening—and thousands of people returning to work in factories and businesses—caused by the vast rearmament program, we must select immediately reliable parties who can meet the following requirements.

We are interested only in people who can make a decision of their own and not just shoppers and curiosity seekers. Details below will explain very thoroughly what is expected of you and the excellent opportunity we offer.

MANAGER WANTED
MAN OR WOMAN

To service route of new 5c candy bar machines; also other merchandising machines. No selling or soliciting. Factory distributor will secure locations and make necessary arrangements. In this area and surrounding territory. Ideal off-hours setup to start, $400.00 per month possible part time. Full time more. Secured $1500 to $3000 cash required now. Depending on number of machines you have time to service. Please don't waste our time unless you have the necessary capital and positive you want to go into the vending machine business—not next month, not next week—NOW, as we are definitely going to establish some reliable party in this area immediately and those who qualify and are selected should earn $12,000 and up yearly, when fully established, as this is big business and an opportunity presented once in a lifetime. If you can follow our instruction and supervision and manage a real money making business, you should become financially independent within a very short time. Write fully about yourself, giving age, phone.

PARKLEA ADDITION

Have you been out to this new addition recently to see the high type development in small homes? If not, drive out today! Over 50 brick homes are being laid out now for immediate construction, and will sell at prices ranging from $11,500 to $14,000, with only a small down payment of $2,000 to $3,500. You should choose the house and the location from The Boyce Company immediately, as these homes will be sold before they are completed.

No doubt you have been waiting for a nice brick home, priced within your means. Contact The Boyce Company, or my field office on the addition. The home of your choice can be built and ready for occupancy by Christmas time.

Drive out any day to the field office on the ground, where a courteous salesman will explain and show you the plans and locations of these homes. You should not overlook this opportunity to buy that new brick home you have been wishing for. Contact the salesmen, Mr. Belcher, phone 3235; or Mr. Friberg, phone 3910 or 3712.

New York Governor's Race Boils As Letter Reveals What Democrats Declare 'Pay-Off'

ALBANY, N. Y.—(AP)—New York's bitter election campaign erupted Tuesday with Democratic charges that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was nominated by the Republicans for a third term after a "pay-off" to Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley.

The Democrats based their charges on a letter released by Hanley Monday, in which the lieutenant governor said, "If I will consent to take the nomination to the United States Senate, I am definitely assured of being able to clean up my financial obligations within 90 days."

The Democratic candidate for governor, Rep. Walter A. Lynch, immediately accused Governor Dewey of participating in a "nefarious crime." He charged Hanley had been bought off to give up his own candidacy for governor and to run, instead, for the Senate.

The 74-year-old lieutenant governor had been assured of the Republican gubernatorial nomination until Dewey changed his mind about retiring, Dewey announced September 4 he would seek a third term.

Talk Of Impeachment

Lynch claimed Dewey stood "convicted by his own running mate of bartering one of the highest offices in the gift of the people for his own personal gain as though it was a commodity in the market place."

He contended that, as a result of the disclosure, Dewey "would have to be impeached" if reelected November 7, and that Hanley "could never be seated" in the Senate.

Hanley wouldn't reveal to whom he had sent the letter. Democrats said it was delivered by messenger to Republican Rep. W. Kingsland Macy of Suffolk County at Saratoga Springs, attending the GOP State convention September 6-7.

The Democratic State Committee in New York City released photostatic copies of the letter, which a spokesman said the Democrats had had in their possession three weeks. He would not say how it was obtained.

'Wall Street Bankers'

The letter was dated September 5, the day before Handley announced he would run for the Senate November 7 against Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal incumbent.

Congressman Lynch charged in a speech Monday night Hanley had been bought off by Wall Street bankers to give up the gubernatorial nomination to Dewey.

"The amount of money involved here is $70,000," Lynch asserted.

In the letter, Hanley wrote:

"Today I had a conference with the government in which certain unalterable and unquestionably definite propositions were made to me.

"If I will consent to take the nomination to the U. S. Senate, I am definitely assured of being able to clean up my financial obligations within 90 days, so that I would be clear for the first time in 20 years of my life.

Iron-Clad Arrangement

"I am assured of an adequate living compensation if elected, in a perfectly legal and unquestionable way. Also I have an iron-clad unbreakable arrangement whereby I will be given a job with the state which I would like and enjoy (I have been told what it is) at sufficient compensation to make my net income more than I now have x x x."

Hanley said that where he wrote in the letter that, if he went to the Senate "I could be assured of additional compensation," he meant he would be eligible for a state pension of about $7,000 a year, in addition to his salary as a senator.

Hanley also referred to the part of the letter in which he wrote that he could pay personal debts in 90 days.

He said the source of the money he expected was an insurance policy that was to mature about that time.

Estimate Of Marine Officer Call Slashed

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Marine Corps has cut down on its estimate of the number of volunteer reserve officers to be called to active duty.

And the Army, Navy and Marines have decided that enlisted reservists with four or more dependents who have been called may apply for discharge immediately. Both announcements were made Monday.

The Marine Corps decision to lower its sights for volunteer reserve officers was the result of an unexpected response by officers of the Organized Reserve, the corps said. Future calls among the volunteer officers for the most part will be to fill a few specialty asignments.

The decision to allow discharge of reservists with four or more dependents was taken because existing law provides a family allowance for only three dependents.

The new policy does not apply to Army men on duty overseas or enlisted men who were inducted with units of the Organized Reserve Corps or the National Guard.

Old Fairy Tale Comes True For Cresskill's Mice

CRESSKILL, N. J. —(AP)— Once upon a time, all the mice got together and decided to hang a bell on the cat.

The bell would tinkle when the cat crept up on them and they would be forewarned.

All the mice thought this was a great idea. They applauded and whistled and stamped their feet and cheered.

Then a mouse asked "Who will put the bell on the cat?"

Nobody answered.

But in Cresskill, the old fairy tale has come true for the mice.

Cats have to wear not one bell, but three.

For Birds' Protection

Of course, the ordinance is designed to protect birds, not mice. And it has stirred up a medium-sized controversy between cat lovers and bird lovers.

The bird lovers claim the household cats cause tremendous carnage among song birds.

The cat fanciers don't like the ordinance, mainly because it also entails a $2-per-year license fee for all pet felines.

The measure, passed here by the Borough Council last April, is based on one adopted in nearby Tenafly, N. J., 10 years ago.

Why three bells? The reasoning is that cats, being pretty clever when it comes to catching birds or mice, would learn how to move around without tinkling if they just had one bell around their necks.

"But with three bells, a cat's got its paws full," a borough official said.

Employes Of Mint Working Overtime

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Employes of the Philadelphia Mint are working overtime to meet a shortage of pennies and other coins.

Edwin H. Dressel, superintendent of the U. S. coin factory, said Monday the stepped-up operations have been going on for the last two weeks and will continue indefinitely.

The demand for coins, especially pennies, "came up so quickly," Dressel said, the mint wishes it had a much larger work force than its appropriation permits.

"It's a case of not having the money to make money," he said.

Six Persons Killed In Train-Auto Crash

PLAQUEMINE, LA. —(AP)— Six persons out for a family automobile ride were killed in a collision with a train near here last night, Sheriff Charles Griffon reported.

Griffon identified them as Mrs. Celestine West, 73; Doris West, 32, and Lawrence West, 48, her son and daughter; Elaine West, 19, and Marvin West, 16, West's daughter and son; all of Plaquemine; and Mrs. A. J. LeJeune, 75, of Baton Rouge, sister of Mrs. West.

The collision between the automobile and the Texas and Pacific passenter train No. 28 took place about two miles east of here. Griffon said all six persons apparently died instantly.

A coroner's jury ruled the deaths were accidental.

Two Psychiatric Hospitals Planned For Texas Patients

AUSTIN —(AP)— Two 150-bed psychiatric hospitals will be built by the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools.

The board voted the construction Monday in an attempt to provide facilities for cure of mental patients before they become permanent state wards.

To be financed from the fund created by the last Legislature in raising the cigarette tax a penny a pack, the two institutions are estimated to cost between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 each.

Locations are to be decided at the next board meeting. Dallas and Houston were suggested by Dr. Walter Goddard of Austin, on whose motion the action was taken.

The board also voted to use a state hospital at Kerrville for care of seniles instead of a cerebral palsy institution. Setting up recently of a cerebral palsy center at Galveston was considered by board members as filling a mandate of the last Legislature which made reference to only one such center.

Goose Dinner Comes To Trucker Hard Way

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — (AP) — A roast goose dinner came to R. J. Link the hard way.

While driving his milk truck, Link was dive bombed by a wild goose which crashed through the windshield and gasped its last honk on the seat beside him.

Flying glass cut Link on the arm and broke his wrist watch. Tuesday the goose is in his refrigerator, dressed and ready for the oven.
