Portales Valley to Be Represented In Water Legislation Confab

Eastern New Mexico Normal School to Present Claims

Thursday morning Thomas B. Sowell, representing the Portales Chamber of Commerce and a delegation of the Portales Valley Irrigation farmers, left for Santa Fe to sit in on the committee of irrigation farmers from over the state, to draft legislation looking to the conservation of the underground water supply of the state in the irrigation belts.

Rev. Sowell will also look after the interests of the Eastern New Mexico Normal School while there, having been appointed by the Board of Regents and the Portales Chamber of Commerce for this work.

The first unit of the Normal School building is nearing completion, and it is the desire of the board of regents to secure an appropriation for the purpose of completing this building and also for maintenance, so that the school will be ready for opening for the fall term.

A survey has been made of students desiring to attend this survey shows that there are between 200 and 500 students ready to enroll when the school opens.

In the enabling act, when New Mexico was admitted, the government very wisely provided for a normal school in the East side of the state, and appropriated 36,000 acres of lands for this purpose.

The east side of the state has developed rapidly in the past five years, and the legislature has named Portales as the location for this school.

The last legislature made an appropriation for the building of some sixty odd thousands of dollars.

This money has been used in the construction of the first unit of the administration building, and will take care of 200 students.

In this building, more has been secured for the money than in any building in the state.

Portales is a healthy city, with good living conditions, and with the opening of the normal school will soon become one of the leading educational centers of the West.

Those opposing this school should consider the Canyon Normal and the Tech at Lubbock.

When the Canyon Normal was established, the writer, who was in Mexico when the Canyon school was accomplished for Texas.

The present legislature will do well to consider the needs of this school taking into consideration the accessibility, cheapness of living expenses, future development of the state, and then they can best see that it is a splendid investment for the state.

MOVES HARDWARE STOCK

The new firm of the Portales Hardware Company, that bought the Wheeler Brothers stock, of hardware last week, is moving into the building formerly occupied by the Priddy-Pooshee Dry Goods Store.

Mr. Gragg, manager for the new company, said they were moving the stock as rapidly as possible and hoped to be able to open to the public within a day or two. As announced last week, Mr. Gragg will be assisted by Ernest Wheeler, Jr., in the operation of the hardware store and their additional help will be announced later.

E. N. Wheeler will continue his agency of engines and pumps in his present location.

Duck Season Closes on January 31st

Duck hunters have enjoyed good hunting this season, and at this time the hunting is reported exceptionally good.

Early in the season, for lack of water, in the lakes, hunting was poor, but this condition no longer exists.

As the season closes on the 31st of this month, the local sports are availing themselves of every opportunity for this great sport.

Basketball Season Now in Full Swing

The basketball season is now in full swing, and many games are being played over the county.

This sport has gained considerable headway in the schools of the county, and this season sees many strong teams, which give the public full value for the admission charges.

CANYON, TEXAS, BANK ROBBED OF $15,000.00 SATURDAY MORNING

Canyon, Texas, Jan. 10.—Two men robbed the First National Bank of $15,000 here this morning after abducting Levi Cole, assistant cashier, and his wife from their home at 4 a. m., and overpowering Sheriff John Fry and others who came in the bank while the robbers were waiting for the time lock to open the vault at 9 a. m.

Cole and his wife were taken to the bank and locked in the directors' room. They were blindfolded.

As employees began arriving between 9 and 9 o'clock, they were covered with guns and locked in the room.

Attention to the robbery was not attracted until, when the bank failed to open at its usual hour, Sheriff John Fry of Randall county and W. C. Black went to investigate.

As they entered they were forced into the room with the other captives.

When the time lock released the vault doors, the robbers quickly gathered the available loot.

They left in an automobile, traveling towards Amarillo. Sheriff Bill Thompson of Potter county, who happened to be at the court house in Canyon, pursued.

Cashier Cole said about $3,000 of the money was silver.

(District Attorney J. C. Compton was in Canyon at the time of the robbery and started to the bank with the sheriff, but was called back on other business, or he would have been among those held up during the robbery.)

PLEAS OF GUILTY

The following pleas of guilty were entered in the District Court, now in session:

R. M. Brown, driving car without license.

C. P. Brady, driving car without license.

J. J. Thompson, possession of intoxicating liquor at a dance.

Paul Jones and Bill York, cutting wire fence. Both were paroled to their parents by the court.

Julie Stone, transporting and possession of intoxicating liquor.

Walter Low, transporting and possession of intoxicating liquor.

W. A. Gibson, R. B. Lott and Leon Powell, using intoxicating liquor at a dance.

M. E. Stout, possession of intoxicating liquor for sale.

Jeff White, transporting intoxicating liquor.

John Hendrix, transporting intoxicating liquor.

DISSOLVE PARTNERSHIP

H. A. Hunter and J. J. Spires have dissolved partnership in the real estate firm of Spires and Hunter.

Mr. Hunter will devote all his time to the business of the Roosevelt County Abstract Company and his insurance. These duties have grown until he did not feel he had any time to devote to real estate and oil lease interests.

Mr. Spires will continue with real estate as he is well informed concerning all the lands of the county. He will move his office from the present location as Mr. Hunter will need all the space for his work. The News was unable to learn the plans. Mr. Spires had made concerning the location of his new real estate office.

Good Rains Aid Farming

The splendid rains of the past week have supplied moisture for farming.

Many of the farmers are busy preparing their land for the spring planting.

Reports from every part of the county are that there is plenty of moisture.

The farmers who are now listing their land will conserve the moisture and store enough for planting when the time comes.

Indications are for an early spring, and good crops.

See the Painting at Poultry Show

The large painting which was used in the New Mexico exhibit at the Dallas Fair is on exhibit at the poultry show this week, and will be of special interest to the people of Roosevelt county.

Cahoon Slated to Go, Report

"Father of Institution" Has Served 32 Years

Roswell, January 13.—Edward A. Cahoon, chairman of the board of regents of the New Mexico Military Institute for 32 years, will not be retained on the board, according to political gossip which has filtered down from Santa Fe. Cahoon is a Republican and often times referred to here as the "Father of the New Mexico Military Institute."

This same gossip says that Attorney Jefferson D. Atwood, close friend of Governor Seligman and United States Senator Bronson M. Cutting, will receive the appointment as chairman. Atwood is a Democrat and is one of the prominent attorneys on the east side of the state.

Other members of the present board who will be relieved of their positions, according to this information, are, Attorney Hiram M. Dow, Roswell, Democrat; J. Phelps White, Democrat, Roswell; Charles M. DeBrennon, Republican, Roswell, and Attorney Thomas E. Mears, Democrat, Portales.

According to the best information available here the new board of regents of the New Mexico Military Institute will be composed of J. D. Atwood, chairman; Arthur Prager, Albuquerque; George R. Brainard, Artesian; Miguel Otero, Santa Fe, and H. B. Smyrl, Roswell.

Specialist Joins Extension Staff

Mr. W. M. Ginn of Baton Rouge, La., has accepted a position with the Extension Service of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, as Extension Poultry Specialist. He enters upon his new duties January 1.

Mr. Ginn comes to New Mexico from the Louisiana State University where he occupied the position of Acting Head of the Poultry Department. He is a graduate of the North Carolina State College where he specialized in poultry, obtaining the degree of B. S. in 1927 and M. S. in 1928. He was a member of the poultry judging team in 1927 that won first place at Madison Square Garden. Mr. Ginn has been with the Louisiana State University since graduation.

Mr. Ginn comes to the Extension Service highly recommended. He is exceptionally well trained in all phases of poultry work, besides having obtained valuable experience through conducting research work in poultry feeding and diseases at the Louisiana State University. The officials of the Extension Service feel that they are fortunate in securing the services of so competent a man.

GOODRICH CO. PUTS "RUBBERS" ON PLANE

Akron, Ohio, Jan. 5.—After more than 10 years, the Goodrich Company engineers today completed installation of the first set of airplane ice breaking overcoats.

The overcoats are rubber sheets containing inflation tubes. The sheets extend over the leading edge of the plane's wings. When inflated, experiments conducted here indicate, these sheets will break the ice which gathers on the wing so that the force of the wind will tear it from the plane.

DeBaca County Would Ask for 12 Township Slice of Roosevelt, Quay

At the weekly luncheon of the Fort Sumner Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday of this week, the matter was brought up to ask the present legislature for a re-districting of county lines, taking 6 or more townships off of the panhandle of Roosevelt county and 6 townships off of Quay county and adding to DeBaca county.

Petitions for this will be circulated at once, and the legislature asked to take early action.

The News understands that the Santa Fe railway favors this re-districting, which would cut off all of the railway in the northern part of Roosevelt county and place it in DeBaca county.

While this move has come up in past legislative bodies, at this time there were more organized moves than has ever been made in the past.

This loss of the Santa Fe would be a serious proposition for Roosevelt county at this time, and should be considered by the citizens of the counties affected.

Basketball Games Sat.

The Portales basketball players evidently carried the rabbit's foot, good luck piece and various other charms last Saturday night when the local athletes seemed to be invincible forces.

Three teams (the boys' second team, the girls and the Rams) all emerged victors in the contests of the evening. The second team played the Dora boys and that was the closest contest of the entire evening. The final score was 13 to 12 in favor of Portales.

The half Dora was leading with the count 9 to 5. Hall of Dora made the first score for his team when he was given a free throw through a foul by Slaten. The visitors' line up was Preston, Shaffer, Hall, Radcliffe, and Shaler. The Portales boys opposing them were Slaten, D. H. Smith Kerr, Copeland and Henry.

After the boys had left the court the girls from Dora and Portales came into the gymnasium for their scheduled game. This was not as close a contest as the boys' game but held the attention of the crowd as there were some interesting plays made during the hour.

Principal Ray Lofton of Floyd was referee for this game and the final score was Dora 7, Portales 21. The Dora players were Gibson, Franks, Victor, Hodges, Drew and Venable. The first line up for Portales included Thelma Crow, Emma Henry, Jewel Fullerton, Frances Grimes, Ethel Radcliff and Emily Davidson.

At about nine o'clock the major game of the evening was announced and the Rogers Eagles came on to the court to meet the Portales Rams. This was the first time these two teams had met for a game and there was much speculation as to the strength of the two sets of players.

Morgan, the athletic coach from Elida, was referee for the game and the crowd was tense with concern when the whistle sounded for the Brooks King. Within a few seconds the first score of the game. Scarcely had the fans taken their attention from the tally board until King again made that famous center ball into his hands and safely placed the ball into the basket. The contest started and at no time was there any hope of anything but a Portales victory. One of the interesting conditions of the game that held the attention of the audience all times was the contest between brothers, Clarence Kirksey, the popular Portales guard, was pitted against his brother who was proving a splendid forward for the Rogers quintet. At the half Portales was leading with a count of 21 to 9, but during the last quarter Rogers ran in some rapid baskets and made the final score 31 to 17 with Portales taking the high score.

King was the high point man of the Rams, having made 17 of the points claimed by his team. The Rogers players were Kirksey, Short, Owens, Fraze and Terrell. The Portales Rams sent out the team by Coach Brown were Vaughn, Patterson, King, Radcliff and Kirksey.

In spite of the rainy disagreeable night a goodly number of both sides were present gathered at the high school gymnasium to watch the three contests of the evening.

Justice of Peace Election Attracts Much Attention

Great interest was manifested in the justice of the peace election on Monday of this week.

Over 900 votes were cast and there was considerable electioneering throughout the city.

The result of the vote was as follows:

For Justice of the Peace: S. E. Kerr, 538. F. T. McDonald, 409.

For Constable: R. L. Hollis, 311. J. H. Bond, 639.

Now Is Time for Clean-up Campaign

Portales should stage a real clean-up campaign at this time. This would make the city more attractive and at the same time provide employment for many that need the extra work.

The rush of spring farming will soon be under way, and labor will be scarce.

By cleaning up the back alleys and vacant lots as well as the back yards at this time you can render a real service to the public.

County Supports Boy Scout Move

Wednesday the drive was made for the Boy Scout funds and a very satisfactory sum was raised.

Scouting is recognized as one of the greatest factors in the life of the growing boy and the principles instilled through the teachings of the Boy Scout activities will mold habits which will later become rules when the boys reach manhood.

Henry E. Taylor and Rev. C. A. Lorts are the two troop leaders in Portales and County Superintendent A. E. Hunt is chairman of the Court of Honor.

Last Sunday interested men of the town addressed the congregations of the churches telling of the wonderful effects of the Boy Scout teaching and asking the cooperation of every man and woman in a moral way and the financial support as generously as possible.

Henry Taylor was scheduled to talk to the audience at the Christian church, Floyd Kennedy at the Nazarene church, A. E. Hunt at the Baptist and Floyd D. Golden at the Methodist.

Sunday afternoon at about 2:30 Kenneth Livingston was invited by Sherman Bracken to make a talk in the interest of the movement over the radio from the local broadcasting station and Saturday night Coe Howard presented the matter to the patrons of the Palace Theatre.

BOXING

The 10-round boxing match between Red Graves and Tommy Ayers of Clovis, which was scheduled for January 20 at the Portales Amusement House, has been postponed on account of the series of meetings in progress at the Baptist church.

This attraction will be arranged for a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Luna left late Wednesday evening for Lubbock to take their little girl to the baby specialist at that place.

Big Hens, Little Hens, Red Hens and White Hens

The lowly hen has advanced from the cow lot fowl to the queen of the farm.

This morning the Eastern New Mexico Poultry Show was opened to the public with a large number of exhibits being placed.

This year the wide variety of exhibits will prove very interesting to the poultry fancier.

This exhibit contains all of the dominating breeds of this section, and includes turkeys, ducks and peewees.

The first day will be devoted to placing of stock, and on Friday morning you may see this splendid exhibit at its best.

Every citizen of the county should attend as often as possible. The Eastern New Mexico Poultry Association embraces the east side of the state, and there will be many exhibits from outside of Roosevelt county.

As a local industry, the poultry business brings more a quarter of a million dollars into the pockets of the Roosevelt county farmers each year.

This exhibit is being staged at the skating rink building where ample space has been provided for every exhibitor, and at the same time offering comfort and safety to the stock exhibited.

This exhibit is important to Portales, Roosevelt county and New Mexico at large.

Portales Basketeers Meet Hereford Fri.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock the Portales Rams will play their fourth game of the basketball season with the strong Hereford five.

CUT OUT THE GRAFTERS

Every town and city in the West pays a heavy toll annually to what is commonly known as advertising grafters.
No town is so small or no city too large for these solicitors, who hit town and with high pressure methods sell their "space" before the merchant has time to give it sober thought.
Every year this costs Portales merchants several thousands of dollars yet brings no returns.
It consists of cards and folders, menus and circulars of every description.
Consequently, the merchant becomes disgusted with advertising and cuts down his newspaper space.
The newspaper is the best recognized advertising medium of today. It has to operate during times of depression as well as during times when business is good. Its overhead is fixed, and can not be reduced when business fluctuates.
It is at all times the program of the community, and works 24 hours a year to put over these programs.
It has a weekly payroll equal to any in town, and thus puts the money received for advertising and printing back into circulation in the town.
Money spent with the transient advertising solicitor is gone forever so far as the home town is affected.
The home newspaper backs the program of "trade at home." Is it not time for a little co-operation?

LET'S CUT OUT THE TRAVELING SOLICITORS

Every week on the streets of Portales will be found some transient soliciting charity, selling pencils, candy or other articles.
These people may be worthy, or they may be the rankiest fakirs.
There should be some means provided to separate the sheep from the goats, and protect the citizens of the community.
If these transients want to sell their wares on the street they should be required to take out occupation license.
The City Council recently took action on this matter and now requires all who solicit funds to have a permit from the mayor.
The professional beggar goes from town to town with a hard luck story and preys upon the sympathies of the public.
Statistics show that the professional beggars are highly organized, and the men at the head of the organizations have reaped millions.
The safest plan is to cut them all out and make your donations to charity through some organization that will see that the funds contributed are spent where they will do the most good.
Portales should be made a city where the professional beggar will not linger.

BUY AT HOME

The purchasing power of a dollar when kept in the channels of trade at home amounts to several thousand dollars in a year.
The dollar sent out of town is gone forever so far as circulation in the home community is concerned.
Portales merchants have the interest of Roosevelt county at heart, and they will give you equal value for your dollar to be found anywhere.
Think what a wonderful country this would be if the out of town shopping was discontinued and the money spent at home.
The home merchant would have more money to contribute to the Chamber of Commerce, the schools and churches, and with which to pay the taxes of the county.
Home loyalty would make Portales the greatest city in the West. Why not try it?

FARMING PROSPECTS BRIGHTER

With the abundance of moisture at this season of the year the farmers of Roosevelt county will be enabled to prepare their lands early, and conserve the moisture for the planting of the spring crops.
It now looks as if there will be sufficient moisture for one of the biggest crops ever grown in Roosevelt county.
It will also be wise for the farmers to begin investigating a marketing plan that will bring them the most for their crops.
The haphazard method of throwing the crops on the market can only result in low prices.
Roosevelt county has several co-operative marketing associations that have proven profitable for the members in the past.
Better marketing conditions, better grading of products to be marketed, and producing better quality will all bring better prices.

NO TIME TO USE FOREIGN LABOR

Over in Texas where the Santa Fe is making an extension of their lines, a howl of protest has gone up over the use of Mexican labor.
There are around 8,000,000 unemployed in the United States at this time, and it is not a time to use foreign labor.
All corporations should be loyal enough to use American labor and help to overcome this condition.
Not only should American labor be used, but local home labor should be used wherever possible.
There is now too much foreign labor coming into the United States, and a restriction of immigration for a period of five or ten years would put the nation back on a sound labor footing.

THE STORM IS OVER, PUT UP YOUR SAILS!

(By Herbert M. Casson, in Forbes Magazine, Nov. 1)
In October, 1929, I wrote an article for Forbes, and warned the American people that a Wall Street crash was at hand. That prophecy came true. The crash came at the end of October.
In this article I have better news to tell. I have been studying the up and down movement of business and finance for thirty years, and in my opinion the Wall Street storm has now spent its force.
I would say today to merchants, manufacturers, bankers and investors: "The storm is over. Put up your sails."
Most American companies have furled their sails. They are drifting along under bare poles. Merely because the clouds are dark, they believe that the storm is still raging.
What has happened before is likely to happen again. Look at these facts:
There were slumps in the United States in 1873, 1894, 1893, 1907 and 1914. These slumps lasted, on the average, for twenty-three months, but the violence of the storm was over in eight months.
There was a slow gradual upward movement that began eight months after the crash and lasted for fifteen months. By that time business had become normal.
According to the law of averages, which is the most reliable thing we know in business, the storm is now over in America and the slow upward movement has already begun.
Prosperity never comes suddenly, as a slump does. American business men will not wake up one morning and find themselves overwhelmed with orders.
Prosperity comes slowly. We pay a high price for a slump. But always, in the past, prosperity has arrived in due time.
There is now an upward movement. It is now safe to buy and invest. The danger is over.
The storm today remains only in people's minds. Those who remain afraid, after the danger has gone, will lose a great opportunity.
There will not be fair weather—probably not for a year or more. There will be no blue sky and birds singing. The winds will be cold and the waves will be high. But the great fact is—THE STORM IS OVER.
America has weathered the storm. There has been plenty of wreckage, but no more than there was in previous storms.
The American people should say: "We are damaged, but, thank God, we are afloat and alive. We are not on the rocks. The cyclone has spent its force and now we can go forward and make a good use of the high winds."
It is not a time to put up topsails. There will be no boom immediately. But the time has come to put up the mainsail.
A ship with bare poles today has a coward for a captain.
Those who have courage—those who are hardy seamen—are putting up a sail and moving forward on this adventurous voyage across the uncharted seas of Time.
They are not drifting. They are not talking of the storm. They are looking ahead and on the horizon they can see a streak of blue sky.
Make no mistake. The storm is over.
THE TIME HAS COME TO RAISE THE SAILS.

SOCIAL ANNEX

BY THE BOSS

Now a scientist says that over-coming appendicitis, man must revert to walking on all fours.

Then again, perhaps some scientist will discover that the tonsils would give no trouble if man reverted to swinging from trees head down. It may be possible that this would allow the tonsils to swing to the roof of the mouth, and by constant exercise cease to give trouble.

As a remedy for corns on the feet, this can be overcome by walking on the hands.

Science is a great thing, but no scientist has as yet been able to determine how a twenty-dollar a week salary will pay $50 a week bills.

Science has provided the radio, but has not provided any remedy whereby man can do on four hours sleep after sitting up all night listening to the scientists spout over the radio.

This is a scientific age, yet we have at this time 5,000,000 unemployed in the United States. That is something for scientists to put in their pipes and smoke.

Portales would be a much cleaner town if scientists would invent some method for the absorbing of garbage when thrown out the back door, instead of letting nature take care of it by the means of decay.

Great volcanic caves have been discovered in New Mexico. Good roads to these caves will add tourist attractions.

An attempt has been made to form a club in Portales composed of those who have not applied for a state job under the new administration. As it takes at least three members to form a club, this move has died.

The new board of county commissioners is facing the problem of reducing taxes, giving full terms of schools, building more good roads, and still satisfying the public.

A reduction of the school terms would put Roosevelt county back ten years in development.

The accredited high schools must run the full nine months or lose their affiliations.

The education of the youth today is of vast importance, yet the greatest kick on taxes comes from those who have the greatest number of children to educate.

The child of today that does not receive a high school education will in a few years have to join the vast army of common laborers.

Poultry Work Grows Rapidly During Year

A summary of the annual report of the Extension poultry husbandman shows that poultry production has continued to be an important farm enterprise during the year just completed. Work has been done in every county in the state where a county agent is employed and some work has been done in counties having no agent. More than ten per cent of the agents' time has been devoted to work with poultry and about ten per cent of the farm visits made were in relation to poultry work.

Concentrated efforts have been placed on accreditation as a means of flock improvement. Rapid growth has been made in this project since the work was started in 1927. During that year, five flocks containing 1,738 birds were accredited. This work has increased until 139 flocks containing 25,229 birds were accredited during the past year. In 1927, when the accreditation work was first started, only two counties were represented; interest has increased to the extent that ten counties, pretty well distributed over the state, cooperated in 1930.

Other phases of flock improvement work which were stressed during 1930 were Better Males, Culling, Feeding, Housing and Time to Hatch. In this connection, reports show that in 17 counties, 144 farmers secured 667 highly bred males to use with their breeding flocks; in 18 counties, 219 farmers owning 35,074 birds were influenced to cull their flocks for the first time; feeding of more economical and better balanced rations has been accomplished in 18 counties and 584 farmers have been prevailed upon to improve their poultry rations. In the housing project, poultrymen have been urged to provide more comfortable houses for their flocks in order to increase production and prevent disease, with the result that 218 poultry houses were constructed or remodeled during the year. Agents in 16 counties report that 413 farmers were influenced to buy or hatch chicks at the proper time in order that they might be grown out and brought into production in the fall.

TURKEY INDUSTRY GROWS IN NEVADA

U. S. Expert Finds It Easier With Small Flock Unit.

Nevada is building up a solid turkey producing industry in a logical way, in the opinion of H. L. Shriver, extension poultry specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, who recently paid a visit to this state.

The growing of the holiday bird in Nevada is on a farm flock basis, the expert stated, with from 100 to 200 birds, as a rule, being raised along with other crops. It is easier with the small flock unit produced in co-operation with other crops, according to the federal man, to raise the type of high-grade bird for which Nevada is becoming known.

Two of the best feeds for turkeys are milk and alfalfa, and these, Shriver said, being produced on the farm with the turkeys, afford good feed at a low cost. With such small flocks, he said, the farmer can take care of a good share of the work, thus cutting costs, as otherwise extra labor might have to be hired.

The outlook for expansion in the industry in Nevada is good, the specialist stated. Nevada conditions, he believes, are well suited to turkey production.

"Turkeys and chickens should never be run together," he declared, explaining that parasites, little harmful to chickens, but deadly to the broiler bird, are carried by the chickens. Turkeys should be kept far from the farmhouse, he believes.

Sanitation is another means of keeping turkeys disease-free, he stated.

Buy Tested Cod Liver Oil for Laying Fowls

The use of cod liver oil in feeding laying hens during winter months and in raising young chicks during the early spring is one of the recent developments in poultry production. Practically every one who has used a good quality product has found that it has been helpful in keeping up the vitality of the flock, preventing leg weakness in chicks and securing a better texture of shell with eggs.

The reason for the value of this product is largely due to the vitamin D which it contains. Vitamin D is the substitute for sunshine. It helps fowls to properly absorb the minerals which they consume. Without vitamin D or sunshine, fowls will fail properly to absorb minerals, even though they may be abundantly supplied.

The popularity of cod liver oil has encouraged the use of many substitutes. The fishy odor which is characteristic of many of these products is not a guarantee that they are of any particular value from the standpoint of being a substitute for sunshine. There is even a good deal of difference in the efficiency of cod liver oil, so it is well to buy a product that is either tested for vitamin content or guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Clean Ground Essential for Turkey Success

Recent findings have shown that the organism which causes blackhead in turkeys lives in the soil. Consequently if turkeys are raised on contaminated soil they can hardly escape the disease. The danger will to a large extent be averted if a three-year rotation is followed.

Experimental findings have shown that the cecal worm found in chickens is a menace to the turkey. It is believed that if the young turkeys are affected with cecal worms the injury they do to the lining of the intestinal walls is sufficient to permit the entrance of blackhead organisms into the blood stream, thus infecting the bird with the incurable disease and the one most dreaded by turkey breeders. The remedy, therefore, is to keep the young turkeys on clean ground and entirely separate from chickens.

Sunlight for Poultry Flock Quite Essential

During the winter months the location and adjustment of windows in the laying house are very important. There should be windows in each end of the house so that sunlight will strike the entire floor some time during the day. Along the south wall should be a large number of windows, and it is preferable that these be made of a high grade glass substitute which permits the entrance of the maximum amount of ultra-violet ray. Muffin curtains and ordinary glass are not satisfactory for this purpose. These windows should be well fitted and should be kept clean as the ultra-violet ray does not penetrate through dust and dirt. Furthermore it is better that they be arranged so that they can be taken down during the summer months and not subjected to weathering.

Yellow Corn Best

Yellow corn is especially valuable for winter feeding on account of its fattening qualities and vitamin content. If possible, at least half of the grain feed should be yellow corn. If white corn, wheat, kafir, or other farm grains are fed instead of yellow corn, alfalfa should be added to the rations to help supply vitamins. Alfalfa leaves or alfalfa meal will replace the vitamins of yellow corn if the latter is not available. The winter ration must contain protein.

FRESH AIR CURES CHICKENS' COLDS

Ventilation and Dry Litter Will Prevent Troubles.

Chickens are unlucky in the structure of their heads, for it makes them susceptible to colds. Poultrymen should try to avoid conditions that will bring on colds, says Dr. E. L. Brunett of the New York State College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University.

In the head, in front of the brain cavity, are thin cones of bones located in chambers. The use of these chambers is to provide a space in which the inhaled air is warmed before it is taken into the lungs. When a chicken develops a simple cold, an excessive amount of secretion forms in these cavities. As this increases, the poor drainage of the cavities allows it to accumulate. This accumulation is an ideal place for bacteria to multiply and the resulting bacterial growth makes the foul odor which is often present in a coop.

A simple cold may be avoided or corrected by increasing the warmth with plenty of fresh air and providing plenty of dry litter. If the first stage is not checked the cold may end in roup with its characteristic head swelling and foul odors.

The opinion that roup is a contagious disease is not well founded, according to Doctor Brunett, for there is usually some underlying condition that is indirectly responsible. This may be tuberculosis, or worms, but whatever the cause it should be moved before a cure can be expected.

A third type of cold is more of a distinct disease, commonly known as bronchitis. This condition is acute and the birds die quickly. The cause of this disease is not known. The best treatment is to increase the temperature of the house, either by controlling the ventilation or by using brooder stoves. In the early part of the outbreak it is well to remove all sick birds and put them in heated brooder houses. Most of them will recover when placed in heated houses. Some disinfectants will give relief, but quick remedies should not be used.

Turkeys Thrive While Roosting in the Open

It is unnecessary to provide a house for turkeys though it is the part of wisdom to have a shed handy into which they may be driven on extremely stormy nights. As a usual thing they will do better roosting out in the open even in quite severe weather.

Where only a small flock is kept 15 females may be mixed with one male if he is unquestionably vigorous. If a flock of about 25 or 30 is kept, two males will be needed, but they should not be allowed to run with the flock at one time. One should be allowed to run with the flock one day and the other the next.

The reason for this is that where both are allowed to mingle with the flock at the same time, they will fight until one of them becomes boss, after which he will do most of the mating and the flock will be very little better off so far as the fertility is concerned than if it had a single male.

Molasses for Chickens Is Found Profitable

When used in moderate amounts, cane molasses lowers the death rate and makes for better health and production in laying flocks, according to the test work conducted at the Ohio experiment station. The tests indicate that it can be used with profit as a substitute for not more than 10 per cent of the grain in the ration. Molasses contains no protein, but is rich in vitamins. If fed in larger amounts than 10 per cent of the ration, it was too laxative to be desirable and created an abnormal thirst. Professor Winters, who had charge of the test, believes that the addition of molasses to a poultry ration that contains no milk is of more value than when milk is fed. He recommends five per cent by weight as a desirable amount to use in well balanced laying and fattening rations.

BEST LITTER TO USE IN BROODER

Shavings, Cut Straw and Cut Hay Meet With Favor.

One of the commonest questions asked of the poultry department of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station during the spring is, "What is the best litter to use in the brooder house?" For the benefit of all poultrymen who are troubled with this problem the station issues the following statement:

There is no best litter, but there are certain requirements that litter must meet in order to be satisfactory for use in brooding chicks. These requirements are that it should be: Light in weight, thus allowing the droppings and dirt to work to the floor so the chicks are not likely to pick up contaminated material; absorbent and therefore capable of keeping the brooder house floor dry; cheap, so one can afford to replace it every five days after the first four weeks; and clean, which means freedom from mold, mustiness, and dust.

Shavings, cut straw, and cut hay meet these requirements. They are not the only materials that one can use, but they are among the best. Straw or hay used for litter should always be cut. If the straw or hay is not cut it becomes matted, and covered with droppings, and is therefore of no value for litter.

Bacillary white diarrhea, coccidiosis, and intestinal worms are spread to a large extent by the use of dirty litter, the experiment station warns. One rule in brooding chicks that should be followed, if all others are forgotten, is, "Clean the brooder house every five days." This means removing the litter, sweeping the floor of the brooder house, and putting in clean litter.

Produce Good Pullets at Reasonable Expense

At the Pennsylvania state college 920 pullets were raised to maturity at a cost of $1.20 per bird after deducting the returns from 924 cockerels. Most of the chicks were leg-horns valued at 20 cents each. The cost of production included feed and labor at 35 cents per hour, and interest at 6 per cent on the investment in equipment, feed and chicks.

The pullets were also charged with depreciation on the houses at five per cent and depreciation on the equipment at 10 per cent. Undoubtedly the results in brooding and the mortality rate were very satisfactory to produce good pullets at the laying age at a cost of $1.20 per bird.

Many poultrymen sell leghorn pullets at eight weeks of age at about $1 each. At three months of age they are worth about $1.25 each. Pullets that are ready to lay are seldom sold by poultrymen for less than $2 to $2.50 each unless they have a surplus.

Eggs for Hatching

There is an important reason for using hen's eggs for hatching. Pullets that have laid heavily all winter have been drawing on their body reserve to a greater or less extent, depending on the feed. Hens that are taking a rest during the winter are storing up a reserve, and under similar methods of feeding can be depended on to produce stronger, more vigorous chicks than pullets. Eggs from pullets may hatch well, but more vigorous chicks are hatched from hen eggs.

POULTRY FACTS

Watch the old hens in your poultry flock. They are dangerous spreaders of tuberculosis.

The practice of reproducing the flock with eggs laid by hens insures a better quality of chick than breeding from pullets.

Proper management in feeding and housing the flock are the most important measures in the control of roup.

Many turkeys are graded as number two or thrown out entirely because of a failure to starve them out properly before dressing.

In the case of poultry, cut potatoes may be used to furnish succulence, which is so scarce during the winter and early springtime.

WHAT'S WRONG AND WHERE?

How good are you at finding mistakes? The artist has intentionally made several obvious ones in drawing the above picture. Some of them are easily discovered, others may be hard. See how long it will take YOU to find them.

Brooder Stoves Useful During Severe Winter

"The foster mother" of the little chicks last spring can serve a good purpose during the winter, if the brooder stove is set up in the laying house, according to poultry department of Ohio State university.

Days when the temperature drops 40 or 50 degrees the brooder stove can keep the house from changing temperature so rapidly and can save a sudden drop in egg production. When the weather has moderated sufficiently the stove is allowed to go out and wait for another cold spell.

Prevent Cannibalism

Cannibalism may develop in a large bunch of chicks, no matter how completely fed or how free from parasites. The liberal use of tar is about as effective as anything in checking it. Watch many times a day for those that have been picked enough to draw blood and dab tar on the wound. If you can find anything that chicks dislike the taste of more than tar, use it. If this fails, try paring off the point of the upper mandible, using care not to get too deep.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bremer drove to Clovis Tuesday evening and enjoyed dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Smith. The evening was a family celebration of the birthdays of Carl Bremer, Mr. B. F. Smith and his son T. D.

Milk, sour or sweet, is excellent for brooding stock. Beef scrap or other animal meal may be left out if a plentiful supply of milk is available.

Red mites may cause a drop in egg production. A satisfactory treatment for the pests is to paint the roosts and roosting cabinet with carbolineum.

In commercial poultry plants where fowls are kept in quite large numbers, the artificial lighting of the houses, morning and evening, proves profitable during the winter.

Feed and protection aid in keeping turkeys fit. Vitamins A supplied in yellow corn, cabbage, alfalfa, clover and most greens, increases resistance to colds. Cod liver oil also is beneficial.

As a sanitary measure place a disinfectant mat at the entrance to the brooder house. This mat can be made by filling a square box with gunny sacks soaked in some reliable disinfectant.

THE PORTALES VALLEY NEWS

"As We Are"

From a dirt farmer who came to New Mexico in 1904.

I see in the Portales paper a letter written by a Tourist who spends his time from place to place and buys a little gasoline to get him from one tourist camp to the next. He does find fault of the city and the county court house and the streets, that the early settlers built for him, who never had a good road or a good place to sleep, freighting with mules and trail wagons, camping out by a little chip fire, sleeping on the earth as this tourist did speak of. Why did not this tourist come to New Mexico and help build highways and paved streets and a better court-house? No, he would not, but let the early settlers come to the West and spend their little holdings and live like a prairie dog, build the best roads they could and the best court house, and the best churches and the best school houses they were able to build, in order to develop their country. Then he comes along, this tourist, and criticizes. Did this tourist pay any tax or help blaze the way to help make Roosevelt county what it is? No, I think not. Those kind of fellows are wearing a last year suit and living on a next year income—here today but tomorrow, gone.

This tourist said he had toured around so much that life was a drag and the roads not any good, the court house no good and the county no good; so he buys $1.00 worth of gasoline and pulls up his tent and gets his old wreck and makes the next stop. Did he build any house? Did he get out and help the dirt farmer? Did he stay long enough to pay any tax?

I cannot define some of the big words this tourist did use even if it had been in the English language. This tourist said he had decided to buy a house in Portales and settle down, so he said he hunted up a real estate shark as he put it. The court house was bumpy, this shark showed him the paved streets; he did not believe it. He said it looked like they were just getting ready to pave—just wearing a last year suit and driving a next year car, and living on a next year income. So he went to the next stop, the next stop. He did not buy any house. No, nor a farm.

I want to say a few words. Who is making Roosevelt county possible for these critics to pass along? This tourist said he did not read the papers, all he knew was what he could see and what people told him; but the way he viewed all things was a back number and nothing was right. Just wearing a last year suit, driving a next year car, and living on a next year income.

Now, Mr. Editor, will you please print this letter? We are not fighting the tourist, we are not fighting the credit system, we are not fighting progress, we are not fighting schools, nor highways. We have a little farm in Roosevelt county and live on it. But can we develop Roosevelt county and we have a last year suit and drive a this year car, and live on a next year income? This dirt farmer does see himself as he is, and does believe in paying as we go, or nearly so. We believe Roosevelt county the best in the country for the price. We have a nice little city we call Portales; we are proud of her. We are gaining, and we want to gain. But can we stand a few years like this, and still make the load heavier? Just wearing a last year suit, driving a this year car, and living on a next year income. The time to save is when we have it; the time to spend is when we can afford it. But why should we pattern after some other county or some other fellow, and let it bankrupt our county in order to make a show to the eagle eyes of the ones who are passing by?

Now, Mr. Editor, I have farmed around so much, and I am still farming, and it is not a drag. We take pride in farming the good soil of Roosevelt county, so we do not knock; but we do not want our county to go bankrupt in order to please the eyes of the ones who pass by. Can we meet the drought that has come and that will come? Can we meet the low prices of the farm products? Yes, we will have better times; but if we are wearing a last year suit and driving a this year car and living on a next year income, is it a safe business?

Good lines to your paper, and the best county in New Mexico. From a dirt farmer who lives at Causey, New Mexico.

Ordinance Is Passed 8 to 2 Against Shows

All Forms of Public Entertainment Abolished Early Mondays

Midnight matinees and other post-Sunday night amusements were ruled out last night when the city council voted 8 to 2 under suspended rules to abolish public entertainments between the hours of 12:01 a. m. Monday to 7 a. m. Monday.

The special ordinance, enacted as an emergency, will become effective within five days, and, coupled with present ordinances, will prevent all forms of public entertainment within the city limits on Sunday, Sunday night and early Monday.

Councilman H. B. Smyrl offered an amendment to the ordinance which was introduced by Councilman Charles Dabbs, permitting Sunday afternoon shows. On the voting on the amendment, Councilmen Smyrl, Jack Moore and Charles Allison voted for the amendment, with seven other councilmen against it.

The ordinance then was passed with Councilmen Moore and Smyrl voting against it.

Violation of the new ordinance provides a fine of not less than 50 nor more than $200 and a prison sentence of not less than 10 days nor more than 90 days—Roswell Dispatch.

Mrs. L. L. Fitzgerald has left for her home in Hollis, Okla., after visiting in Portales with her niece, Mrs. Walter Scott. While here the two ladies went to Brownfield, Texas, and spent some time with Mrs. Scott's sister, Mrs. Leo Travis.

If each man thought he was sent to this spot, To make it a bit more sweet, How soon we could gladden the world, How easily right all wrong, If nobody shirked and each man worked To help his fellows along, Cease wondering why you came, Stop looking for faults and flaws; Rise up today in your might and say, "I am part of the first great cause. However full the world, There is room for an earnest man; It had need of me or I would not be; I am here to strengthen the plan."

ROGERS

The agriculture class, with the help of Mr. Ross and Mr. McCormack, graded up around the school ground the past week. The area of the school grounds was enlarged and places around the outer edges were graded for trees to be set out. We also have graded our track and the basketball squad is making good use of it. The janitor has also fixed a walk of cinders from the front gate.

In order to make up the extra month of school, we have started to teaching on Saturday. The teachers are donating their work and Mr. Harris is furnishing the trucks.

The girls of the Rogers basketball team have challenged the Floyd girls for a game on a neutral court. The referee will be from a neutral school. In other words, it will be a neutral game called by a neutral referee.

Everybody is very busy as this is semester examination week, and all are busy reviewing and preparing to make good grades.

The boys' and girls' basketball teams played the Floyd boys and girls on the home court last Friday night. The girls were defeated with a score of 29 to 17 in favor of Floyd, but the Rogers boys were victorious over the Floyd boys with a score of 19 to 28 in favor of the Rogers boys. We congratulate both teams on their clean sportsmanship.

Then on last Saturday night, January 10th, the Rogers boys played the Portales boys on the Portales court and were beaten with a score of 17 to 31 in favor of the Rams; but we are looking to the coming game, when we will meet them again on the home court February 13th.

Chumbley, Mrs. S. N. Hancock, Mrs. J. C. Compton, R. H. Grissom, T. B. Sowell and Ed J. Neer.

DAIRY WORK SHOWS PROGRESS IN STATE

That there has been considerable work in dairying done in the state during the past year is clearly shown by the annual report of E. E. Anderson, Extension Dairy Specialist. The chief effort of the dairy work has been directed toward increased efficiency in production by disposing of cows that are unprofitable and eliminating their contribution to the surplus of dairy products.

As a basis for culling herds, an effort has been made to encourage more testing. Mail order testing associations in five counties tested 984 cows. One herd improvement association, with a membership of ten, did the testing in herds totaling 989 cows. In ten counties, agents reported 111 farmers weeding out poor producers.

Herd improvement through the introduction of better sires has continued in importance. Three bull circles with eleven members were organized the past year. Including those in the circles and others assisted individually, 86 registered bulls were secured which are being used as herd sires on 119 different farms and 262 highgrade or purebred females were secured by 154 farmers. There are now eight active bull circles in the state with 28 high bred bulls and 579 cows, all of which were organized with the aid of the Extension Service. All of these circles but one are using Jersey bulls.

The goal for 1930 in dairy feeding was to get 200 farmers to feed better balanced and more economical rations. While the goal was not reached, this phase of the work has shown marked progress. County agents report 188 dairy farmers improving the rations being fed.

In five counties 12,684 dairy animals were tested for tuberculosis by the Bureau of Animal Industry and New Mexico Cattle Sanitary Board, with the cooperation of the Extension Agents. Only 97 reactions were found among the 12,684 head tested, or less than one per cent.

WATCHING OIL GOING TO U. S. FROM RUSSIA

Washington, Jan. 12.—The potential effect of Russian petroleum shipments upon the American producer is being given thoughtful consideration by the federal oil conservation board.

An investigation was launched recently following the discharge of approximately 48,000 barrels of soviet oil at Baltimore, to determine what effect the shipment had upon the market.

Just now, Chairman Wilbur said today, the attitude of the board is one of watchful waiting, to see whether the single shipment will be followed by others.

Russia, Secretary Wilbur said, easily could become a large factor in the world petroleum market, because of her vast oil reserves and through her system of government labor.

The immediate effect upon the American market he considered negligible, because of the long haul from Russia.

SELIGMAN NAMES THREE MEMBERS EXECUTIVE STAFF

Santa Fe, Jan. 12.—New Mexico's colonels now range from ministers to poets.

Walter Bynner, poet of international reputation, today was appointed as a colonel on the executive staff of Governor Arthur Seligman. On the staff of former Governor R. C. Dillon was Colonel William Wiler, otherwise minister of the Methodist Episcopal church of Santa Fe.

Governor Seligman also names as colonels, J. Lindsey Nunn, publisher of Santa Fe and Clovis, and E. John Greer, business man of Santa Fe.

In connection with the appointment of new colonels, it appeared

Brown, the Shoe Man, was asked the secret of his success. He said, "Come to my office and I will show you." On his wall hung this motto:

"God's Kingdom First Home Second Shoes Third"

Or in other words, first things first. In this time of soul saving may each of us "Carry Our Corner" and make the Revival at the First Baptist Church felt in this whole community.

Let others "see Jesus in You." Let everyone come and hear Bro. Miller.

You Are Welcome.

Mrs. T. M. Murray of Clovis, who was injured in an automobile wreck a week ago last Sunday, is slowly improving but is yet in the hospital. Mrs. Murray is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Portales. Mr. Robinson is the county jailor.

Mrs. Helen Sheldon was ill at her home in the J. J. Spire home on Tuesday of this week and was unable to appear before her classes in the Portales school where she is the director of music.

ARE YOU READY FOR PROSPERITY?

Lubbock, Texas, Jan. 13.—Press dispatches during the last few days show that hundreds of thousands of men and women are being put to work, these reports coming from widely different sections of the country. These immense payrolls will be spent with merchants, thus increasing their clerical and office forces, and the merchants in turn will have to order more goods, thus increasing the output of factories, which in turn will have to employ more help, thus rapidly accelerating the return of prosperity.

With the best crop prospects in the history of the Southwest, business leaders predict that within the next few months business will be humming again and making up for lost time. And as nearly all lines of business have been running with reduced forces of all kinds, including office help, there is going to be an enormous demand for young men and women ready to step in and shoulder responsibilities when the rush comes. Those who prepare now will get in on the ground floor and will have the finest opportunities for getting a running start toward success that have existed since the war.

In anticipation of these countless opportunities that are sure to come, the Employment Department of Draughon's Colleges is sending during 1931 24,000 messages to business firms likely to need office help to make sure that there will be good positions for those alert enough to be ready, and calls are already coming in. And to help ambitious young people to be ready for the hundreds of places at the beginning of the rush, liberal terms will be arranged through our Student Finance Fund for those who want to begin preparations now, either at College or by Mail. There will be no question about the opportunities but those who wait until prosperity comes to begin preparation will not get in on the grand rush.

If you would like to know more about these opportunities, and our Students Finance Fund, mail the coupon today to Draughon's Business College, Dept. PN, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Abilene or Lubbock, Texas, and arrange to get started at once, either at College or by Mail, and be sure of a good position early next fall when the opportunities will be the best. Mail the coupon today.

What Money Really Is
 Farman Zerkow, collector of the Chase National bank's collection of the monies of the world, received the best definition of money he ever heard years ago from a street urchin.
 "I was lecturing at a school one day," he said, "and as I was leaving, one of the small boys who had listened to me was accompanying me out of the building. As he seemed a bright little fellow, I asked him what money was."
 "His quick response was this: 'Money is what the other duffer takes for what you want.' There it is in a nutshell."

She Had the Goods

It was generally admitted that she was some chicken. There could be no question about it, for she had everything. She was as pretty as they make 'em, charmingly friendly, not a bit wild, and she had a record for doing things. She was only a little slip of a thing, too, but she was a winner. She just naturally took the prize. She took it because she had laid 300 eggs in 300 days, which was about 15 cackles ahead of any other bidder. Of course she was some chicken! —From Film Fun.

Three Groups In New Mexico State Senate
 Old Guard Republicans, Democrats and Progressive Republicans

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 12.—That three caucuses and organizations will be found in the state senate, was indicated strongly today as organization of the new legislature developed at the statehouse.

There will probably be organizations of the old guard Republicans, of the Democrats, and of the Progressive Republicans, with the latter group representing a hangover from the Republican split in the 1929 legislature.

The first invitation to circulation today, however, was one from State Senator A. M. Edwards, of the old guard group, who has invited all Republican senators to a caucus at his home at eight o'clock tomorrow night. He styles his residence "Bachelor's Hall."

Prominent in the corridors today were Senator Oliver M. Lee, from Otero county, old guard Republican leader of the last senate. President pro-tem of the last senate, George Remley, was likewise here of the old guard group.

State Senator Z. B. Moon of Eddy county, who holds a Democratic vote which may go with the old guard Republicans or stay with the Democrats, has been around for several days.

Senator R. G. Bryant, from Portales, Democrat, arrived today. His vote likewise has been questioned because he voted with the old guard on the labor commissioner bill of two years ago.

"I am a Democrat," said Senator Bryant, "and I will vote down the line in the senate for Democratic principles."

APPOINTS PULPIT BOARD

At the meeting of the members of the Baptist church it was duly voted that the Board of Deacons should appoint a pulpit committee and this body of selected men should have the power of selecting a pastor for the church and present the name to the congregation for affirmation.

This committee has been chosen but they will not be prepared to make a selection until after the close of the revival meeting which is now in progress at the church.

The pulpit board consists of S. B. Fletcher, Charles Goodloe, P. D. Golden, M. B. Jones, Charles Starkey, M. T. Fulton and B. M. Schumper.
