Third Annual Farmers, Homemakers Short Course Swings Into Second Day's Session At Texas Tech Today

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

BETTER insight into some of the problems of agriculture and the steps now being taken by the federal government through its agencies such as the Federal Farm Board, the National Grain Marketing corporation, the Texas and American Cotton Cooperative associations and kindred groups, to stabilize the crops, were given farmers of the South Plains Tuesday morning, afternoon and evening by speakers at the third annual Texas Tech Farmers and Homemakers short course.

Each speaker was an authority along his particular line and each presented his subject in a clear, concise and convincing manner. Charts were used by speakers to illustrate their points and following the meetings a number of farmers and students of the college asked questions concerning items they did not fully understand.

Attendance at the first day of the short course was estimated at between 600 and 700 for the men's meetings. Cold weather reduced the number of people slightly, it was believed.

Sterling C. Evans, district county agent leader, spoke on rural education and the value of farm demonstration. Our American system of education, he said, consisted of three forms, grammar, high school and college work. He declared the purpose of demonstration work was to show the farmers how to more satisfactorily increase their crops.

Three Victims Of Poisoning

Four Other Members Of Tenant Farmer's Family Seriously Ill; Bread Found To Contain Deadly Poison

(By The Associated Press)

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 10.—Three members of a tenant farmer's family were dead and four others were critically ill tonight after they had been stricken mysteriously. They were taken ill yesterday after eating at breakfast the last food in the home, the head of which had been unemployed for several weeks.

H. A. (Lonnie) Jones, 40, last of his family of seven to become ill, died today, after his two children, Hillary, 8 and E. V., 6, succumbed yesterday. Mrs. Jones and three other children still were lingering, with doctors expressing hope they would be saved. Hubert, 15, was considered the most dangerously ill.

Jones said he had gone to the home of a neighbor to call a doctor after several of the children complained of illness and when he returned he found his wife and all the children seriously sick. He, too, became ill shortly afterward.

Dr. C. W. Gray, county health officer, said bread the family had eaten contained a deadly poison.

Investigators said a can that had contained baking powder was found near the house. Officers delayed an inquest pending outcome of the illness of surviving members of the family.

Daisy De Boe Given Five Years Probation In Theft

Former Secretary Of Clara Bow Must Serve Eighteen Months In County Jail

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—A five-year term of probation, 18 months of which must be spent in the county jail, was granted to Daisy De Boe today by Superior Judge William Doran who heard her trial for the theft of $825 from Clara Bow.

The decision, which saved her from a possible term of one to ten years in prison was preceded by a stern reprimand. Judge Doran, addressing his remarks to the blonde young woman, told her she was not only an "embezzler" but had committed a serious breach of trust.

As secretary to the film actress, he told her she had held "a good position at a substantial salary and had been entrusted with funds."

"You conducted systematic raids on these funds for some length of time and the jury was quite generous in the verdict finding you guilty of only one count."

Miss De Boe originally was charged in 37 counts of grand theft with stealing more than $16,000 over a period of a year and a half." The evidence was sufficient," the court continued, "to support a conviction on all counts.

Miss De Boe stood rigidly near the bench with her attorney, William Beirne, and showed no emotion.

"I do not think I will incarcerate you in the penitentiary," Judge Doran said, "but I believe some substantial incarceration is required. I don't think you ever will be in trouble again but your case must be an example for others. The court grants you probation for five years on condition that you spend 18 months in the county jail. That is all."

City Managers And Mayors To Discuss Rates

Officials Of 52 Northwest Texas Cities Are Expected To Attend Session On Gas Slated Here On Friday

Mayors and city managers of 52 Northwest Texas cities are expected to assemble here Friday to discuss gas rates, Mayor J. J. Clements announced Tuesday after extending invitations to major officials of gas-served municipalities of the section.

Mayor Clements said he had talked by telephone to executives of all gas-served municipalities from Amarillo on the north to Big Spring and Midland on the south, and from Spur on the east to the New Mexico line on the west. Every official invited had accepted the invitation, Mayor Clements reported. Approximately 100 men are expected to attend.

To Report On Plans

The meeting will get under way with a luncheon at Hotel Lubbock Friday at noon and immediately following a business session will be held. At the session the various mayors and managers will report on the gas controversy in their communities and an effort will be made to secure all the information available, Mayor Clements said.

Residents of nearly every gas-served city in the Northwest Texas area have been active in recent weeks in an effort to bring about a change in gas rates, using the bills of the two months just past as the basis for their claims. They have cited warm winter weather, comparing it with their gas bills and in several places have started petitions

Carl Hefner, indicted jointly with Thompson, recently received a 99-year sentence at Pampa. Thompson at his trial here asserted that he had no part inn the attack o Crabtree, that he forced Hefner to stop beating the man and later went for an officer. The trial here required about two weeks.

Testimony In Murder Trial Ends Tuesday

Tom C. Johnson, Former Deputy Sheriff Of Wheeler County, Hints Insanity In Shamrock Shooting

(By The Associated Press)

WHEELER, Feb. 10. — With the court working at break-neck speed, 20 witnesses were heard today in the trial of Tom C. Johnson, former Wheeler county deputy sheriff, charged with the slaying of George Brooks in a Shamrock lunchroom last October 11, and both the state and defense closed late this afternoon.

The court's charge will be given to attorneys tonight and arguments in the case will begin when court opens Wednesday morning.

Insanity Hinted.

Building the defense around Johnson's testimony that since a fight with Brooks on August 17 when the latter is said to have fractured Johnson's skull with a blow from a hammer, he had suffered mentally and was afraid that Brooks would kill him, an array of witnesses testified to alleged threats by Brooks, and that Johnson had not been "right in his mind" since receiving the injury.

Among the defense witnesses was the wife of the defendant, who was brought into the courtroom on a stretcher to tell the jury that "my husband was not like his former self" and that he appeared "to have something on his mind" the day of the shooting. Sid Johnson, of Wichita Falls, brother of the defendant, also testified that his brother had changed since receiving the injury and that he suffered from some kind of "spell" Christmas day.

In rebuttal the state offered two witnesses who testified they saw Brooks and Johnson shake hands and "makeup" the day before the slaying, and a third who said he was with them on a drinking party the day of the fight. He said he was standing behind a truck on the highway and did not see how the blow was struck, but that Johnson and Brooks had threatened each other probably 30 minutes earlier, at which time Johnson had the hammer.

All-Day Fight Delays Action On Drouth Aid

Senate Republican Independents Wage Attack On Compromise Legislation For $20,000,000 Drouth Loans

Sure Of Adoption

Roll Call Believed To Be In Prospect For Today; Insurgents Claim Fund Will Not Benefit Those In Need

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Senate Republican independents waged an all day attack upon the compromise relief legislation today, and a vote went over until tomorrow.

Senator LaFollette and Blaine, of Wisconsin, and Norris, of Nebraska led the oratorical assault on the $20,000,000 drouth loan fund. They asserted it was a surrender to President Hoover by the senate coalition.

Sure Of Adoption

Anxious to get the funds appropriated for prompt relief, Democratic and Republican leaders who have endorsed the compromise left the talk to the opposition. They are confident of votes for adoption of the loan fund. A roll call was believed in sight for tomorrow.

The Republican insurgents contended that the $20,000,000 loan chest would be of no benefit to those most in need of aid because of inability of many sufferers in the drouth area to put up security. Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, expressed the belief however the Red Cross would supplement the federal loans adequately.

LaFollette and Blaine challenged the contention of Democratic Leader Robinson that farmers borrowing the federal funds could use it for the purchase of food. They said administration of the money for such purposes would be dishonest.

Blaine characterized the letter of President Hoover assuring that the $20,000,000 appropriation for agricultural rehabilitation would be administered "fairly and sympathetically," as a "sham" and "meaning nothing."

Lubbock Clubs Hear Bradford

Official Of United States Chamber Of Commerce Talks At Joint Session Of Civic Clubs Here Tuesday

In what he characterized as an informal address, Ralph Bradford, assistant manager of the commercial organization department of the United States Chamber of Commerce, spoke at length upon the "New Chamber of Commerce" at a joint session of Lubbock civic clubs at the Hilton hotel Tuesday noon.

Tuesday being the regular meeting day of the local Lions club, officials of that organization invited members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and American Business clubs to convene with them. Lion President S. S. McKay was in the chair and between 250 and 300 club members were present.

Introduced By Davis.

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, introduced Mr. Bradford, explaining briefly the work that the local chamber is doing for Lubbock and for the South Plains.

The speaker, formerly manager of the Corpus Christi chamber and who also has been connected with a number of commercial and industrial concerns, dwelt briefly upon the subject of business conditions, but explained that too many speeches have been made upon the subject already. "Some have re-

Wagner Bill As Safeguard Against Jobless Made Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Wagner bill for advance planning of federal public works as a safeguard against unemployment today became a law.

It was signed by President Hoover, who said he took that action with "great pleasure."

The bill, by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, places the duty of planning federal construction in the hands of Secretary Lamont. It was sponsored in the house by Representative Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania.

The bill provides for planning and acceleration of federal construction work far enough ahead so it will be possible to give employment in times of depression.

Chicago's Mayoralty Campaign Grows More Bitter As Thompson Files Suit

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Chicago's whirling mayoralty campaign, growing more bitter every day, brought on another damage suit today, Mayor William Hale Thompson seeking $100,000 redress from one of his opponents, Municipal Judge John H. Lyle.

Today's action was based on a speech last night by Judge Lyle, who opposes the mayor as a candidate for the Republican nomination. He was quoted as charging Mayor Thompson with misuse and misappropriation of public funds and challenging the mayor to sue him.

The mayor's secretary said he "accepted the challenge for the purpose of giving Lyle an opportunity to prove the truth of these charges, which he knows well he cannot do."

Judge Lyle referred, in his campaign speech, to the suit filed last week asking an accounting of the funds raised by Mayor Thompson for flood relief in 1927 and asking that receiver be appointed for the waterway and flood control association of the Mississippi valley, the organiation to which the $100,000 balance was transferred.

Black Surrenders To Police; Charges Wife Untrue

SHOT IN the hand, a negro woman was slightly wounded here Tuesday night when her husband discharged a .410 gauge shotgun in her direction. Ends of two fingers on the woman's right hand were shot off, attendants at Lubbock sanitarium reported.

Police said the husband, Wiley Harris, 30, had surrendered voluntarily at police headquarters after the shotgun had been taken away from him by employes at a cotton oil mill, to which he had gone with the gun in search of a negro man.

Infidelity Charged.

The wounded woman, Annis May Harris, 20, was dismissed from Lubbock sanitarium after receiving emergency treatment. After surrendering, Harris accused his wife of infidelity and of attemtping last Saturday to attack him with a knife. Discharge of the shotgun was accidental, Harris said. His wife went to another house after being shot, he said.

The shooting occurred in the Harris home in a new addition in the southeast corner of the city. The knife episode occurred when she approached him in a negro rooming house and he refused to go home with her, Harris said. Bystanders took the knife from her, the husband related.

Harris is in the city jail pending further investigation of the case.

Question Two In Slaying Of Missing Girl

Another Sought After Brutally Beaten Body Of 18-Year-Old Victim Found Near Highway; Disappeared January 24

(By The Associated Press)

NEWTON, Kas., Feb. 1.—Officers questioned one or two persons and sought another today after the brutally beaten body of Miss Lucille Price, 18, was found beside a Harvey county highway seven miles south and eight miles east of Newton.

A corner's jury, meeting at the isolated place where the body was discovered by a farmer searching this morning for horses, returned a verdict the girl had met death by foul means at the hands of unknown assailants.

Girl Disappeared

The slain girl, who was graduated from high school here recently, disappeared last January 24 after starting home from the public library with Miss Helen Spriggs, a chum.

The girl's mother said she never had reached home. A search was begun but it was believed she might have eloped with Jack Brunker, a married man formerly of Newton and now of Wichita.

Brunker talked with officers here last Sunday. He was not held. He said he had writen the girl that he would see her Sunday, the day after her disappearance.

A man giving the name of Jack Brunker was arrested today by deputy sheriffs at Cottonwoods Falls, Kas. He was turned over to officers from Newton.

Both Sherill and Holder said they believed the state had made "a bad deal."

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Communists in more than a dozen cities of the United States, directed from New York by the Trade Union League, held demonstrations today to call attention to a delegation which visited congress with a petition for an unemployment insurance law.

Officials of the Trade Union league, a communist organization, said meetings had been ordered in every industrial, textile and mining center of the country.

The meetings extended from Boston to Oakland, Calif. In Washington, where Speaker Longworth refused to see the petition bearers, a disturbance resulted in the arrest of three demonstrators in the gallery of the national house of representatives.

In Dallas a soapbox speaker near the city hall called for the establishment of a soviet union.

In Austin, Texas, a number of demonstrators paraded in the capital and interviewed Gov. Sterling.

Mayor C. M. Chambers, San Antonio, Texas, rejected demands presented by a delegation of the trade union unity league, declaring the leaders were "un-American and opposed to work."

In Boston twelve persons, including two clergymen and two women, were arrested when police broke up a meeting on the common.

Charles "Captain" Howard Is Found Not Guilty Of Negligent Homicide In Connection With Child's Death

(Special To The Avalanche)

OLTON, Feb. 10.—Acquittal on a charge of negligent homicide was won in county court here this morning by Charles ("Captain") Howard, owner of a leopard which fatally wouned four-year-old James Evins at Littlefield last November 15.

The jury which found Howard not guilty returned its verdict to County Judge S. D. Hay at 11:10 o'clock. Howard was defended by James A. Gowdy, Olton attorney. County Attorney J. E. Dryden represented the state.

Child Dies Here

The leopard, owned by Howard and which was being exhibited in connection with a carnival at Littlefield, attacked the Evins child while he and other children were in a drug store where the leopard was being displayed. After emergency treatment at Littlefield the child was rushed to Lubbock but died four days later.

Howard, following his arrest at Littlefield, was taken to Plainview and held in the Hale county jail there because officers feared that trouble might arise if he were kept in jail at Olton or Littlefield.

Develops Tuberculosis

While in the Hale county bastile Howard developed a case of tuberculosis and physicians ordered that he be permitted to live in a tent.

A special tent was erected on the lawn of the courthouse here and a guard employed to keep watch. Howard has been living in the tent for some weeks.

The leopard was sent to a zoo at Clovis, N. M., after the attack and later was killed. It was said the attack on the Evins child was the third on children by the same animal during tours over the country with shows.

Objections To Trading Bills

Measures To Limit, Prevent Trading In Grain, Cotton Futures Vigorously Fought Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP) — Vigorous objections to bills to limit and prevent trading in grain and cotton futures were registered before the senate agricultural committee today by board of trade exchange executives.

J. C. Murray, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, attacked in a letter the measure introduced by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, to give the secretary of agriculture more control over grain exchanges. He said it would "practically destroy a business" conducted for 80 years by his organization.

Bill Opposed.

Philip Weld, president of the New York cotton exchange, told the committee there was "no need for government interference with business." He opposed the Caraway bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in futures markets.

The bill introduced by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, he said, would "destroy the chief beneficial functions of future exchanges, namely, the price insurance they offered cotton merchants and mills."

Weld contended such legislation at this time was "absolutely unnecessary and its introduction was due to a "lack of understanding" of what the cotton exchange does and does not do."

In a letter to Chairman McNary of the committee, Murray asserted the Capper bill would have the effect of "driving away from the American contract markets" much of their business.

"The result," he said, "will be that some foreign market, presumably Winnipeg, in Canada, will supercede the Chicago Board of Trade as the great grain market of the world."

Mrs. Cunningham Is To Talk Today At Tech Homemakers Short Course

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

FARM women are traditionally the women who are without opportunities, but sometimes I think they have practically as many opportunities as the city women. They don't always, I know. But city women do not have all of the advantages in the world, either.

The third annual Texas Tech Homemakers course which is in progress out at the college this week is an example of the opportunity that is offered farm women to be progressive in their homemaking. The lectures that will be given this week are designed to offer short cuts to women and give them some of the scientific knowledge that college students are receiving in their courses. This is a short course and the things that are offered are concentrated in an effort to make them of the most use to those who attend.

These farm women realize the value of these courses, too. They have come from surrounding counties, as well as Lubbock, to attend the lectures and see the demonstrations that are given. They are entering the laboratories at Texas Technological college to see how instruction is given to the young women who enroll there.

A complete education is not offered in this course. No one believes that such a thing is possible or intended, but every lecture is resigned to offer aid and Dean Margaret Weeks, who is in charge of the women's division, is seeking questions and suggestions from the women about what they wish to have included in next year's course.

Farm women—and they are considered a typical group, so we may say, all women—are interested in the preparation of healthful meals for the family. There is not a homemaker who is not constantly seeking new ways of preparing staple foods and watching the health of her family, knowing that what she prepares for them to eat is a vital factor. Every woman is interested in keeping fit and in maintaining the correct standards and ideals in her home and she knows that these things require study and watchfulness and alertness for the new in a changing world.

The wise farm woman, who can leave her home to attend a short course such as is offered this week, will make an effort to be at the Tech in order that she may receive the benefits that are offered. And the city woman who is wise will make the same effort to keep up with her rural neighbor. City women have a welcome at the lectures.

A NEW EDGE

EDGES of old-fashioned pinking such as grandmother used on table-covers is finishing some of the most fashionable frocks these days. One three-piece black and white wool suit for wear on the Riviera, according to a note from Paris, is finished at coat and skirt hem with elaborately pinked scallops which give a dashing line.

MY WEAK POINTS

AS AN observing young woman, I've just discovered that I miss a lot. There's the clock, for instance, which hangs on the wall almost directly over my desk and which strikes on the hour and, as long as I've been watching that thing, I never knew until just now that it struck hourly!

Had one of the 16-year-old mailers, Truman Hutson, not come around just now to enter in a little argument about the time, I probably never would have noticed that noise. Now I may be like the old man who was asked whether he slept with his beard under or outside the cover at night. You know the story, of course, that night he tried it both ways and it was so uncomfortable each way that he ended up by cutting the beard—the pride of his life—off.

Now that I've got that simile all drawn, I do not know exactly what it is illustrating unless it is that the clock will have to be moved. And then, I might work overtime some night.

There are a lot of little things I overlook. Recently I've been reminded of that frequently. For instance, I never see a diamond unless someone calls it to my attention or unless someone with pudgy hands wears a lot of them. For some reason, diamonds, which are supposed to make such an appeal to all women, mean very little to me. I suppose if I had a million dollars a diamond would be the last thing that I would buy unless there was some reason other than the direct appeal of the stone to prompt me.

Right now I couldn't tell who of my friends have diamonds and who do not and if any one of them blossomed out in a new diamond tomorrow the chances are that I wouldn't know it was new.

And, characteristically enough, I have no idea of the value of the stones. A diamond is just another diamond in my eye.

Talks On Home Problems On Program For Women's Meet

Outstanding Speaker Of The Annual Conference Is To Be Heard This Morning At Tech College

An address that is to be delivered this morning at 11 o'clock by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, of College Station, is expected to be the outstanding talk of the homemakers division of the third annual Tech short course.

Mrs. Cunningham is to speak in the auditorium on the second floor of the engineering building on "The Relationship of the Family to the State." Anyone may attend.

Preceding her address, Miss Johnnye Gilkerson, assistant professor of physical education at Texas Technological college, is to talk on exercises for health in the same auditorium.

Started Tuesday

The short course opened yesterday and women from Lubbock and surrounding counties gathered at the home economics building for lectures and demonstrations of interest to them. Hale, Dawson, Crosby Lamb, Lynn and other surrounding counties were represented in the enrollment Tuesday, which had reached 50 by the middle of the afternoon. The course will continue through Thursday.

Miss Margaret Weeks delivered the welcome address on Tuesday and was followed by Miss Jonnie McCrery, professor of foods and nutrition at the college, who talked on "Planning Meals for Health." Miss Weeks, who is in charge of the women's division, is seeking questions and suggestions from the women about what they wish to have included in next year's course.

Women are to hear W. T. Martindale, director of American Farm Bureau Federation, early this afternoon. After that Mrs. Edna Buster, assistant professor of clothing and textiles, will talk on stain removal and Miss Mamye Twyford associate professor of foods at the college, will discuss "Vegetable Dinners and New Ways of Preparing Vegetables."

Discusses Breads

Miss Dorothy McFarland, associate professor of foods at the college, talked on "Yeast Breads and Beverages" Monday afternoon and in her talk gave a foundation recipe for making light bread. The other talk of the afternoon, "Styles in Children's Clothing," was given by Miss Mabel D. Erwin, professor of clothing at the college.

Types of clothing suitable for boys and for girls and points in the fashioning of clothing to provide plenty of room for comfort, for growth, for shrinkage, for fun at play, were discussed by Miss Erwin, who admonished people to avoid "sissy" clothing for boys as it gives them an inferiority complex.

She talked of cost, as well as physical comfort, in children's clothing.

In her welcome address, Miss Weeks said that if the increase in attendance this year is in proportion to the 1930 gain over the year before, there will be 239 women in attendance at the short course. Forty-four different women registered the first year with 141 registering in 1930, she said.

Asks Suggestions

She is asking for suggestions from the women about topics for discussion at next year's course and offered the facilities of the home economics department to those who attend the school.

While some knowledge of food values is necessary if one is to plan menus for health, a vast amount of scientific education is not imperative, Miss McCrery told the women in her talk. She stressed the fact that menus must be adapted to families and individuals, but gave some general rules to apply in feeding the family.

"The health of the family is largely in the hands of the one who provides the three meals of the day", she stated. Her talk concerned the fundamentals of nutrition that can be used as a basis in selecting and preparing food for the table.

In addition to Mrs. Cunningham Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, is here from College Station and is attending the short course.

Mrs. Cunningham, who speaks today, has been a leader of Texas suffragists, was an officer of the National League of Women Voters for a number of years and prominent in the work of the Women's National Democratic club. At present, she is associate editor of the Extension Service News, A. and M College.

YOU should make certain—when you buy sanitary pads—that you are getting the safest protection possible. Protect your health. Assure your comfort. Feel well groomed, at ease. Be sure you ask for Kotex.

Kotex is soft, gentle, easy. And it stays soft. It absorbs laterally—that means greater efficiency—a greater area of protection than other types of pad give you. It gives equal protection, worn on either side. Of course, Kotex is disposable, too. That's why millions of women first abandoned old-fashioned makeshifts.

Hospitals use both Kotex and the delicate, efficient absorbent of which it is made. That should certainly recommend it for your use.

TRUE TO THE COLORS

CAREFUL housewives say it's a shame the way gingham and cotton prints are often washed in scalding water. No wonder colors and freshness fade! . . . But perhaps you think you can't get things clean any other way.

Then change to White King! Made from fine vegetable and nut oils. White King Granulated Soap will form quick, creamy suds, will cleanse thoroughly, and will swiftly rinse away in the lukewarm water that preserves the life and color of delicate fabrics. White King is pure. That's the reason. And the same purity makes it effective for dishes and heavy washing too.

White King is economical. You'll only need a teaspoonful in the wash basin, a cupful in the washing machine, even in hard water. Try it—today. Recommended by your grocer.

Santa Claus, Lindy And Us!

JUDGING from news reports of the week, there is a Santa Claus and Cinderella has nothing on Lubbock. We refer, of course, to the razing of the county jail, which is to get under way tomorrow, and the announcement that plans for the long-promised Federal building will be complete by March 15th.

While actual construction on the new jail building, to be built from the already sizeable jail fund plus county warrants, is not expected before 75 days and while work on the Federal building probably won't be begun much before fall, the prospect of soon having both fine new buildings is better now than it has ever been. In fact today, as we view the plans laid down, it is practically assured that both structures will be ready for occupancy before the half-way mark is reached in 1932.

The improvement of postal and federal court facilities, the long suffering need of a new county jail are benefits which cannot be overlooked. But there are other benefits, applicable to the times, which are also to be heralded. Addition to the city payroll, contingent upon the employing of labor on the buildings, will be a welcomed asset as time rolls along and business conditions improve. All in all, Lubbock may be thankful for the activity aroused in behalf of the two public projects.

Ever since 1931 got well under way it has been apparent, even to the casual bystander, that conditions are again on the upgrade. The plans for these two new buildings, to be erected in the very heart of Lubbock, are important steps in the march back to general prosperity here.

That there is a destiny which shapes our ends cannot be denied as the needed, extra employment growing out of the erection of the new jail and Federal building, looms on the horizon. Perhaps we were fortunate, after all, that the Federal building has been delayed until this year and that the campaign for the jail—begun more than a year ago—did not 'go over' when it was begun.

Those two big construction programs, both coming when we need them, will play a sizeable part in making times better and in adding to the buying power at a time when it is essential. All in all the situation as it now portends prompts us to say:

"Move over, Colonel Lindbergh! We're lucky, too!"

A RICH HERITAGE

In a hundred years evolution probably will produce a greater benefactor of humanity than Thomas A. Edison, but that will not dim the fame of the wizard of East Orange.

Edison's achievements in electricity make Franklin's feat with kite and key seem small by comparison, but Kranklin's glory grows apase with mankind's appreciation of science.

Franklin was the outstanding scientist of his day, and so is Edison. Edison is still developing new creations to make life more enjoyable and to conserve the time of man, but were the electric light his only gift to the world he could look back upon a rich heritage on this, his eighty-second birthday.

Practical Health Problems

PROBLEMS OF THE CHILD

(This is the first of four articles by Dr. Fishbein on child welfare problems.)

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

When Theodore Roosevelt called the first conference on child welfare in 1909, the scientific evidence based on accurate study and experimentation that formed the background for the Child Welfare Conference of 1930, called by President Hoover, was not available.

Even at the beginning of the 20th century the attitude of mankind toward the child was still uncivilized. The economists had not yet calculated the value of the child to the community in terms of dollars and cents. The sociologists had not yet emphasized the relationship of child training to crime and delinquency.

The psychologists had not yet determined that the nature and character of the child began to be formed not only at its birth but indeed long before its birth; in fact, even before the birth of its mother and father.

The physician had not learned the possibilities of prevention of the infectious diseases of childhood nor had the intimate relationship between malnutrition and the likelihood of success, health and happiness been estiblished.

In the intervening period, the child has had much attention. In Roosevelt's day, stirred by campaigns prosecuted by many periodicals, the whole nation awoke sentimentally to a drive against child labor and against exploitation of the adolescent of the financial gain of the parents.

Soon the attitude developed that the child is not the material property of the parent to be exploited at his will. The state itself, representing all the people, has some interest in the child. On the children of today the state of the future must depend for its permanency and its development.

Few people realize that the first bureau of child hygiene was established in New York City as recently as 1908 and that Detroit, Buffalo, Nashville and Los Angeles followed in 1910. Today, 28 states have separate bureaus of child hygiene.

Moreover, this movement has been stimulated by the activities and support of hundreds of national and local organizations. Child labor is studied and controlled through the National Child Labor Committee, which is itself an outgrowth of the New York Child Labor Committee established in 1902.

The number of children employed is regularly decreasing. Today a federal law and innumerable state laws attempt to give protection to the child against economic exploitation.

Russell Is In Hard Luck

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Charles A. Russell was referred to recently in the senate, by several of its members, as having saved the American public $500,000,000. They added that he was fired for doing it. That he still is out of a job and in hard luck was not mentioned, but he is.

In fact, Russell's case is not one to encourage Uncle Sam's hired men to go to the mat for their boss. Praise from progressive sources is all right, as far as it goes, but it pays no grocery bills.

CHARLES A. RUSSELL formerly was a Montana lawyer. He entered the government's service a few years ago on the interstate commerce commission's legal staff. Proving exceptionally capable, he subsequently was made solicitor for the original federal power commission, consisting of the secretaries of war, the interior and agricultue, in connection with their duties.

He was highly efficient in this position, too, but presently it began to be complained that he was unmanageable.

TO MAKE the situation clear:

Whenever a private outfit secured the right to develop a government power site, part of the commission's work was to check over the concern's report of its investments in the property, to prevent "padding."

This was on the theory that rates to power consumers ought to yield fair dividends on the amount of money actually put into the generating plant, but not on a lot of money that never was spent on it except as a mere matter of bookkeeping. Furthermore, should the government some time wish to acquire one or another of these plants, naturally it will not want to pay for it on a "padded" basis.

NOW, William V. King, the commission's chief accountant, had long contended that the power companies with which Uncle Sam did business were unconscionable "padders."

Accountant King's objections were no especial nuisance at first, because the commission's executive secretary, F. E. Bonner, who practically ran the place then (the three cabinet members being too busy to give it much attention), pooh-poohed them, and Accountant King, while honest, has not reputation as a scrapper; but with Solicitor Russell's advent trouble started, and plenty of it.

The Montanan not only was unmanageable on his own account. He likewise incited the previously only mildly plaintive Accountant King to open mutiny.

HOW SERIOUS the affair quickly became can be judged from the size of the saving to the public ($500,000,000), spoken of on the senate floor.

To effect this economy, Accountant King furnished the figures and Solicitor Russell the pugnacity. Of the $500,000,000, as explained by Senator Norris of Nebraska, $100,000,000 was represented by the deflation of investment records which various power corporations already had submitted for the commission's o.k.; the balance was represented by stuffing which they refrained from putting in, pending a more favorable opportunity—so said Senator Norris.

IN A FASHION, it was Russell, himself, who wrought his own undoing.

He argued that cabinet members have too much work, as cabinet members, to be power commissioners also; insisted that there ought to be an independent commission; drafted a bill for one and was largely instrumental in getting it through congress.

Whereupon President Hoover appointed Dr. George Otis Smith, as chairman, and Marcel Garsaud, Claude L. Draper, Frank R. McNinch and Ralph B. Williamson, as associate members of the new board; and Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper, meeting in hot haste, without waiting for the others, as their first act dismissed Accountant Kink, Secretary Bonner and Solicitor Russell without benefit of clergy—after which they hired King back, for he had been no formidable pest until Russell gained an influence over him, and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur gave Bonner a better-paid job in the reclamation service.

BUT AS FOR Russell?

He remains out in the cold, believe me.

The unfortunate feature of it (if one sympathizes with Russell) is that the Montanan is financially a poor man.

He had business difficulties in his home state before he came to Washington and, by rigorous pinching, was paying off his debts out of his meager salary from the government. Now he hasn't even got that. Sound judgment should have warned him not to antagonize the power people.

It is true enough that the senate is so resentful at his dismissal that it is trying to take Chairman Smith's and Commissioners Garsaud's and Draper's positions away from them, by means of a lawsuit—but think of selling apples until the supreme court decides that case—even if the senate wins it.

THE POWER rumpus really dates from about three years back, when Senator Walsh of Montana demanded a senate investigation of the power "interests." The latter preferred an inquiry by the federal trade commission, which it generally was agreed President Coolidge had made over so scientifically that a whitewash brush was the only implement it knew how to handle.

After a desperate struggle the commission did, indeed, get the "probe."

To the amazement of everyone, it jabbed it into the power "interests'" very vitals, stirring and lacerating them to an extent which has made power the national issue it is today.

For GINGER'S SAKE

by ETHEL HUESTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER was bored. Ginger's father was a minister, and her stepmother, the former "PHIL" VAN DOORN, a very wealthy woman, but life in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, ran too slowly to suit Ginger and her set. So she announced to her friends, EDDY JACKSON, PATTY SEARS and WESLEY MEEKER, that she was going to start a Home for the Bored.

To JENKY BROOKS, former school teacher, wife of old BENNY BROOKS, and an ally whom she could trust implicitly, she confided her intention of organizing a Junior Country Club. She asked Jenky to act as her agent in the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old farm house, from JOPLIN WESTBURY. The rest of her plans were still in her head, unformulated.

"And," she told Jenky, "be sure to bring him down in his price. About half of what he asks will be right."

To Jenky, who, with her husband, was to be chaperon, the venture promised a great many dollars saved, as a summer on the farm would mean a trimming of living expenses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

Jenky set her small bobbed head determinedly. Joplin Westbury had the reputation of being pretty crafty, but Jenky was going to exercise some craft on her own account. In her anxiety to obtain terms which would be satisfactory to Ginger Ella, she showed a troubled uncertainty which Mr. Westbury took for personal dissatisfaction with his terms and she could not have assumed a more effective way of dealing with him.

To tell the truth, Mill Rush was of so little value, and had been hopelessly for sale so long, that he had forgotten all about it. It was not a farm—not as farms go in Iowa. It comprised about 10 acres of land which could not possibly be farmed with the exception of a few small separated garden spots. The tillable land had been sold away from the house in every direction 20, 40, or 60 acres at a time, to enlarge good farms adjoining.

The house on Mill Rush was not a farmhouse, either. It was impractical, rambling and attractive, built of gray stone and time-stained shingles, with queer porches here and there and with an oddly gabled attic.

The house, indeed the entire establishment, was the work of a man who had greater talent for life than agriculture. And upon his inevitable failure, he had let the farm go to Joplin Westbury on a mortgage and returned to his home in the East. And Joplin, realizing that a farm endowed with an artistic, charming cottage with a small impractical stable, located at a picturesque and inaccessible point on Rabbit River, was not in any sense an agricultural prize in Iowa, had cleverly managed the sale of the valuable farm land, bit by bit, leaving the house and its 10 acres of scattered brushwood, rocky bluffs and scattered bits of garden land t ofall into complete and becoming decay.

As soon as Joplin realized that it was indeed that very useless bit of rocky, brush-grown land that Mrs. Brooks was interested in, the natural enthusiasm of the realtor swept into his voice.

"Mill Rush—sure I know where you mean—out on the Rabbit! Gosh, what a site! What a view! It's a swell place! Ideal location. Mill Rush is, right on the rocks, right in the woods, right by the river. Falls just a little above the house, and the best fishing pool on the river right behind it. Ideal for a summer home for a town woman like yourself."

"Can—it be farmed?" asked Mrs. Brooks anxiously.

"Farmed? Sure it can be farmed. All Iowa can be farmed. Greatest little farming state in the Union!"

"I thought it would be too rocky," she said slowly. She was relieved and it was gratitude that slowed her voice. Ten acres of beans and peas and garden truck—and a summer to can it for her winter's use! "I'm glad it can be farmed," she added.

"Well, of course, it can't all be farmed, not every foot of it," explained Joplin Westbury. "What can you expect at that price?"

"What price is it?" She asked the question in simple interest, but Joplin took it for a sly defense.

His soul as a realtor was torn within him. He wished to obtain every available cent for the place, but he knew that Mrs. Brooks had very little money at best, and that she—the only nibbler at this none-too-tempting bait—might be easily deterred from purchase.

He did not wish to scare her off. He knew only too well that from the common utilitarian standards of southeastern Iowa the place was worthless. The house had fallen into disrepair, the place was all grown up to weeds and brush, and it lay entirely off the good state road at the end of about a mile and a half of the worst wood lane of which even Iowa is capable.

He spoke guardedly. "Well, there's about 10 acres," he said. "Right on the river, woods—"

"Isn't it too bad about the rocks?" Mrs. Brooks spoke from her heart, for 10 acres of garden would mean almost wealth. But Joplin thought it was just her slick way of reminding him that the place was no good. "It's a very nice house," he said vaguely.

"Is it indeed?" she demanded hopefully. "I was afraid it would be all tumble-down by this time."

Plainly those inquiries of hers displayed but a moderate interest.

"Well, of course it's run down a bit," he agreed. "Chimneys down maybe and some windows out. Needs painting and plastering and what-not. Foundations have to be tightened up, I suppose, and roof repaired. But it's a good house, and that's the main thing."

"Oh dear," said Jenky. "If it's got to be painted and plastered, and have new doors and windows and a new foundation and a new roof you might as well build a new house. Nothing there but the walls."

Her voice was anxious, because she was wondering what Ginger would say to that.

Joplin thought it was sarcasm which edged her voice.

He smiled good-naturedly. "But my dear woman," he said, "at that price you can afford to fix up the old house."

He considered carefully. "Well now, there's about 10 acres—good

Matadors Fight Off McMurry Indians To Win, 29 to 22

Medleymen Put Up Good Scrap As Mats Sleep

Matadors Barely In Lead At Half; Show Improvement In Last Period To Beat Out Visitors In Good Finish

By COLLIER PARRIS

The Matadors of Texas Tech won another ball game last night. They beat McMurry's Indians of Abilene 29 to 22, on the home court.

It was a polite crowd of fans who saw the game last night. Maybe that was because it was rather small and scattered. At any rate few boos were heard. There was quite a lot of cheering for the Indians, who fought and played perhaps as good as they have all season, and they ran up one of their highest scores of the season. There was some cheering for the Matadors, but just why would have been rather hard for the casual observer to understand.

In their first game with the Indians night before last the Matadors were "hot," and they played a decent brand of basketball. They fought all the way, and they ran up 45 points on the same team which appeared before them last night. But for the first time this season, the Matadors failed to show improvement in a succeeding contest. They entered the court with an air of "well-we-have-it-on-these-birds-so - we'll-take-it-easy," and that outbreak of over-confidence on the part of a Texas Tech team was a new wrinkle for Lubbock fans.

In Dangerous Spots

They shot wildly, they shot often, they passed pitifully and they missed crip shots as neatly as you please. They also stepped into the jaws of defeat. They pulled out of their lethargy in the last half to turn a terrible exhibition of nothing into a medium fair basketball game. They promise not to do it any more.

Captain Clarence Hodges, that great big "iron man" from Abilene was imbibed with the old home town spirit last night, for he shot at the basket 31 times, but twice from a distance greater than the foul line, and the fans saw the ball drop through the ring seven times from scrimmage and twice from a free position. Sixteen points is pretty good for any basketeer in a single game, but considering Hodges' past work and the number of crip shots he had it was nothing to go crazy about. Hodges waked up in the closing minutes to play a pretty fair game, sinking most of his shots late, but he had to.

Johnston The Actor

Little Baldridge, the Indians' forward, played one of the neatest games on the floor. He tried a dozen shots and sunk five of them. Curry, center, was another who drew compliments last night. He played close to the basket and dropped in four field goals and a charity shot. Johnston, towering guard, would have looked better and perhaps been more effective on the bench at a football game. He played the back position and didn't know what passing was. When he got the ball he shot at the backboard. He was lucky to hit even that. He finally landed one, though from a position between the locker room and the goal, which was really a crip shot compared with some he attempted. They didn't give him the ball many times in the last half and the Indians raised their average.

The Indians had a four-point lead before the Matadors knew the ball game had started. Curry and Farwell rung the register early in the game. Then came a pair of fouls and Tadlock took a pair of gift shots. He took three in all, which was his total for the evening. Tadlock played a fine defensive game, however, and was smart enough not to complain when the fourth personal foul was called on him. It goes down as three in the records.

First Half Slow

Both teams lagged along, so far as sinking shots was concerned, for the first half, and the Matadors were lucky to sink a pair just before the bell to lead by two points at the rest period. They came back to the court in a better frame of mind, and the second half was worth watching. The Indians also came back with victory on their minds.

Coach Medley used his original starting lineup throughout the contest, which is some sort of a record. His entire squad saw service the previous night. Coach Golightly sent everybody but the time keeper on both nights, and itched to go in himself, perhaps not to play but to toe a few Matadors where toeing would have done the most good.

One more game remains on the Tech schedule before the boys leave home for a week and a half on the road and to wind up the season. They are scheduled to meet the Sul Ross Loboes here next Monday or Tuesday night, the definite hour yet to be decided.

Mustangs Gain 41-33 Victory Over Texas U.

Methodists Continue On Road To Southwest Pennant With Big Finish In Extra Period To Defeat Longhorns

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. — Playing an overtime period, the Mustangs, of S. M. U., continued on the road to the Southwest Conference pennant here tonight by defeating the Texas Longhorns, 41-33. The regular game ended with the teams tied at 31-all.

Ray Johnson slipped in for a pot shot after Reynolds had looped a medium toss to give the Ponies a four point lead at the start of the extra period. Then Rhea Williams, shooting ace of the Ponies, found his range and dropped three field goals through the basket before the Longhorns could regain their bearings.

Capt. Bill Sweeters went out of the game before the last half was over, leaving the Longhorns a chance for some open play as his guarding had been hampering their scoring efforts up to that time. McLaughlin followed his captain just after the extra session had started when he committed his fourth personal foul.

It was up to the three veterans, Williams, Johnson and Reynolds to hold the club together. They ran up a big lead before Walker could find a fair combination.

Williams was high scorer with 17 points as a result of eight field goals and one charity toss. Captain Pomby, lanky Steer center, led the losing club with five field goals and a free toss for 11 markers.

Trinity was held to two free throws in the last half while the Cowboys rolled up 23 points.

Britians Balk At Golf Plans

Henry Cotton Invites Other European Golfers To Join Him In Team To Play In American Tournaments

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 10. — The breach between Henry Cotton, foremost British golfer, and the professional golfers association widened today with Cotton's statement he had asked Percy Aliss, Aubrey Boomer and J. C. Boyer to join him as a team to compete in open championship tournaments in the United States.

Cotton's tilt with the P. G. A. centers over the latter's ruling that all Ryder cup team members must tour as a body in America and return to England at the same time. Cotton refused to abide by the ruling, claiming he must consider his own future.

The invitations to Aliss, Boomer and Boyer is taken as an indication American golf fans will be treated to a spectacle of a triangular attraction between the leading British, American and continental professionals. Boyers is regarded as one of the leading French players, while Cotton's and Boomer's, who held the French professional championship last year, abilities are well known. Both Cotton and Boomer were members of the 1929 Ryder Cup team.

Aliss, because of his long residence in Berlin, is not avilable for Ryder Cup competition this year.

National Guard Team In 11 Victories, 13 Starts

Winning their eleventh victory in 13 starts, the basketball team of the Lubbock National Guard defeated the Santa Fe team of Slaton, 47 to 20, Monday night. Capt. Dean Roberson, with 18 points, was high-point man, followed by Cordell Reeves with 16.

So far this season the National Guard cagers have defeated teams of Ropes, Anton, Wolffarth, Woodrow, Slaton, Texas Tech and the J. C. Penney Co., of Lubbock. They have been defeated twice, once by Hale Center and once by their old rivals, the Slaton Santa Fe boys. The latter team has been met five times, and four times have the locals been victorious.

BASKETBALL PLAYS and PLAYERS

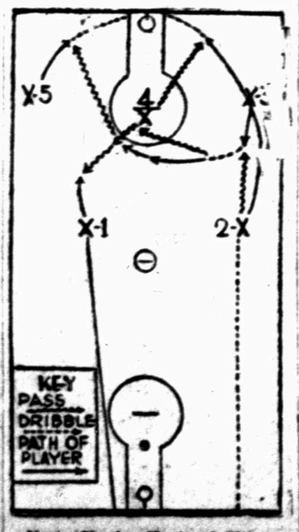

BY EVERETT S. DEAN
Basketball Coach, Indiana U.

Sammy Barry of Southern California, former basketball mentor at the University of Iowa, won the Pacific Coast Conference championship last year, his first on the coast. The championship was decided in a playoff series with the University of Washington.

Coach Barry has long been an exponent of the short pass-block style of game as diagrammed in the accompanying chart. This style of play has many possibilities and lends itself nicely to possession of the ball.

No. 2 guard advances the ball, passing to No. 3 who passes into the center No. 4. The center has a nice play to No. 2 guard going under the basket or an easy back pass to No. 3 cutting across the court. No. 3 can shoot or pass to No. 5 or No. 1 as he chooses.

No doubt this play played an important part in the winning of the coast basketball championship. While at Iowa, Coach Barry developed McConnell, All-Conference guard; Hogan, teammate and present coach of Carnegie Tech; Wilcox, All-Conference center, and many other stars.

Dear Sirs:

I want the cigar smoking public to be made conscious of the danger to health involved in any unsanitary methods of manufacture. "Spit-tipping" is disgusting and unhealthy. I commend your campaign heartily and wish you well. I have no objection to your publication of this letter, over my signature, if it will help in the good work.

Very Truly Yours,

Iowa farm land—"

"If it can just be farmed," she said hopefully.

"Lots of Iowa farm land brings five hundred an acre."

Jenky shivered. He mistook the gesture for a shudder of dissent.

"Well, now, I tell you what. Of course, some of this land can't be farmed. Pretty, yes. Picturesque, yes. House, yes. But it can't be farmed—not all of it can't. Say $3000—"

Jenky stood up. It was a mere instinctive matter of respect in her, for she could not consider the expenditure of thousands in a sitting posture. But Joplin Westbury felt that she was going to walk deliberately out of his office and abandon the project.

"Oh, well, now," he laughed pleasantly, "let's not quibble. Twenty-five hundred'll turn it."

"Twenty-five hundred—"

"Oh, you can have it on terms. You don't have to pay 2500 down. Say—uh—" he stole an appraising look at her, noted the modest gown, the bits of thread from the tearing rags, read the anxious line between her eyes—"say 500 down and $50—25 a month."

"I'll think it over." Her voice was low. "I'll have to ask Ginger Ella." Her eyes narrowed. He knew Ginger Ella. "Oh, yeh, she's a great little pal of yours, isn't she? And she's a great kid, too. Well, if she's a friend of yours she'll advise you to snap it up quick.

"I tell you what I'll do—seeing that place is just standing idle and costing nobody any good—I'll let you have that place for $2000, 300 down and $25 a month. You can't ask better than that. You see what Miss Ginger has to say to that kind of a proposition."

"I will," promised Jenky eagerly. "I'll ask her this very night."

Will Discuss Bailey Bonds

Proposal To Vote $500,000 In Bonds For Road Construction Scheduled For Consideration At Mass Meeting

MULESHOE, Feb. 10. (Special)—A proposal to vote $500,000 in bonds for construction of a north and south highway and lateral roads in Bailey county will be discussed at a mass meeting tonight in the district courtroom here.

Decision to hold the mass meeting was made at a similar meeting here at which Neal Rockey presided as chairman and R. L. Brown as secretary. A committee of 34 was named to acquaint the people of the county with the plan.

Another committee, composed of J. C. Jenkins, Dr. A. R. Matthews, A. J. Gardner and Rockey and Brown, has been holding meetings in the various communities to make known the proposed plans.

A part of the north and south highway that is proposed to be built is now a part of the highway system. The lateral roads would connect with Cochran county on the south and several of the leading communities of the county.

An additional tax of 82 cents per $100 valuation would be made by the voting of the $500,000 bonds. Present valuation of Bailey county is $3,780,000.

Cut In Wheat Acreage Seen

John Manley, General Manager Of Oklahoma Wheat Growers Association, Predicts Marked Reduction In Fall

A marked reduction in wheat acreage in the fall, unless there is a rise in wheat prices this summer, was forecast Tuesday by John Manley, general manager of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers association, of Enid.

Mr. Manley was a speaker Tuesday on the program of the third annual farmers and homemakers short course at Texas Technological college.

With wheat bringing around 50 cents, he went on, there is little to inspire the wheat farmer to increase his acreage, or even to hold his present acreage this fall. It may be lower, he said.

Farmers "will be compelled" to cut wheat acreages, not by any legislation, but by economic reasons. All present agitation for the lessening of the 1931-32 crop is "good" in the opinion of Mr. Manley, but the fact remains that there is a lessened demand for wheat.

Not Much Hope

"I don't see much hope of the price of wheat becoming much better unless there is a big increase in consumption," he added.

Mr. Manley was born in Kansas but moved with his parents to Oklahoma in the 90's when the elder Manley filed on a section of land in that state. The boy grew up on the farm and managed it later.

Ten years ago this month he became interested in the wheat growing groups of Oklahoma when he was made a member of one of the committees to handle the securing of options on wheat.

Today the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Growers association has over 4,100 members in Texas and 9,000 in Oklahoma. Last year's crop handled by the group, exceeded 12,700,000 bushels. The growers own and operate 40 elevators in Texas and about 100 in Oklahoma.

For years he has been manager of the association. When the national grain corporation was formed he was selected as a director and is a vice president, one of the highest officers of the national group.

ACHES, PAINS QUIT COMING

Kentucky Lady Took Cardui and Tells How She Was Greatly Benefited.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—"I used to have headache and dizziness, and pains would have severe cramp-like spells," says Mrs. Mackey [illegible] of 102 North Kentucky Avenue, this city.

"This unfitted me for my work and pleasures that I wanted to go into. I am naturally a very active woman and I did not feel like I wanted to give two or three days at a time to aches and pains. I looked around for a remedy. I read and heard a great deal about Cardui and seeing it advertised I decided to take it. I took four bottles and it did me a world of good. It seemed to regulate and strengthen me. I quit having those pains and felt fine.

"I have never ceased praising Cardui to my friends and neighbors for what it did for me."

For more than fifty years, women who had suffered, or who had gotten into a run-down, weak condition, have been enthusiastic in praising Cardui for the benefits obtained from its use. E-797

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10. (AP)—There was considerable activity in cotton here today, and prices moved upward steadily with trifling reactions. Owing to much better cables than due and the granting by congress of an additional $100,000,000 to the farm loan board, prices advanced 13 to 14 points in early trading. Later prices continued to gain ground because of activity and higher prices for stocks and because of an unconfirmed rumor of a revolution in Russia. There was a slight set back when the Russian rumor was unconfirmed, and prices rallied again with stocks until they showed gains over the previous close of 19-20 points. The market again rallied in late trading owing to advancing stocks and a better spot demand and active months made net highs 21 points above the previous close. The close was a point or two under the top on a little realizing and the general market closed steady showing net gains for the day of 19-21 points.

Port receipts 23,950; for week 81,277; for season 7,091,975; last season 7,034,816. Exports 10,941; for week 36,787; for season 4,560,041; last season 5,022,442. NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP) — Further advances met considerable realising in cotton today, but it was absorbed on moderate set-backs, and the market showed a generally firm tone with prices making new high ground for the movement.

Buying was encouraged by the action of the grain and stock markets, and the highest prices of the day and movement were reached in the late trading when May sold at 11.08, or 22 points net higher and 128 points above the low record of the season established December 15. May closed at 11.06 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 20-24 points.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay buying with a slightly better inquiry for cotton cloth. Exports today 16,891 making 4,685,976 so far this season. Port receipts 23,909. U. S. port stocks 4,031,691.

Stock Market Stimulated To Further Valiant Deeds By Bullish Movement

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—That generous whiff of bullish smelling salts which the stock market got last Saturday stimulated it on to further valiant deeds today.

The net result was not as large as yesterday-roughly, average gains of 2 points compared with 3 1-2—but the turnover increased impressively. Sales approximated 4,300,000 shares against 4,100,000 on Monday, the largest since the 5,000,000 share volume of December 17.

The composite closing price of 90 stocks, at 136.6 was the best figure since October 16. Rails joined the utilities and the industrials in establishing new 1931 peaks. Late profit-taking cut down extreme advances of 2 to 17 points.

Evidence that a technical corner existed in Auburn Auto, at least to the extent that the stock was becoming increasingly scarce, was offered in its extreme rise of 16 3-4, and its net gain of 14 represented a rally of nearly 33 points in two days.

Westinghouse shot up 8 3-4 and Industrial rayon 9 1-2 before reacting 3 and 2, respectively. North American, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, National Steel and Republic Steel preferred, closed about 3 higher. American Can retained less than a point of its 2 3-4 spurt and American Telephone, which had made a similar rise, closed unchanged. General Motors, General Electric, Kennecott, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, American Smelting and Union Carbide were up 1 to 1 1-2 net.

New York Central rose 5 points and closed with a gain of 3 1-2. Union Pacific, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeak and Ohio and Southern Railway were also strong.

in an effort to secure aid from city commissions.

Several gas firms serving the area, including the West Texas Gas company here and over the Plains, have replied to the effect that January and December bills have not been out of line and have offered their co-operation in straightening out what the companies believe is a misunderstanding.

The calorimeter for testing b. t. u. content of gas recently ordered by the Lubbock city commission arrived here Monday and the first test of gas being used in the City of Lubbock probably will be made at city hall this morning, according to City Manager J. Bryan Miller.

The first test will require from one to one and one-half hours after the instrument has been set up. Other tests are to be run immediately in various sections of the city, according to the city manager.

Investigation of the gas bills recently issued by the West Texas Gas company will get underway when all figures have been obtained by the city commission, it was said this morning.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 10. (AP) — Fat lamb trade around the eleven market circuit was active at strong to unevenly higher prices with several points reporting upturns of 25@50. Shippers and city butchers in Chicago purchased most of the choice lambs at 9.50@9.60, and at Kansas City choice fed lambs made 9.10. Some strength also developed on matured killing classes of sheep. The supply approximated 64,300 as compared with 75,845 a week ago and 74,690 the corresponding day last year.

There was areaction in hogs with values generally strong to 10c higher. The day's extreme top of 8.15 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 109,000, a decrease of 6,500 from last Tuesday and 10,000 short of a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 35,200 against 29,231 a week ago and 34,973 a year ago. Killing classes of cattle found a slow outlet at prices unevenly steady to 25 lower. With the exception of a few good to choice weighty steers on shipping accounts the market on fed steers was weak to 35 lower. Choice 1309 lb. steers in Chicago scored 11.25 and at Omaha choice 1077 and 1118 lb. weights realized 11.00. The bulk of short fed steers are selling from 6.75@8.75 with plain dogies down to 6.00 and below. Stockers and feeder trade was slow with a fair demand at steady values for thin stockers but a weak tone prevailing on other replacement steers.

floor, disrupting the session.

In Oakland, Calif., forty police broke up a parade at the city hall.

In Oklahoma City Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, called on police and national guard to suppress an advertised parade to the capital. No parade was held.

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—Demands for relief were made to Governor R. S. Sterling today by a committee of four, who said they represented the farmers and unemployed workers.

The interview with Governor Sterling was short, members of the committee showing little inclination to sit in the governor's office and talk the situation over. The demands were presented by Alma Krause of San Antonio, who said she was secretary of the organization for unemployed farmers and workers.

Governor Sterling asked J. Murphy, San Antonio, where and when he last worked and was met with the reply, "it's not necessary to go into details." Sterling asked Murphy at what wage he started out, commenting that he started to work for $2.50 per week. Murphy replied it "was not a question of what I started out at. I am a man now and entitled to a man's wages."

The demands of the committee were made after a demonstration had been staged in front of the capitol at which a small crowd was harangued by Murphy to unite in the interests of international workmen's interests.

Among the demands was one calling for a reduction in the price of food. Another demanded cancellation of all state, county and city taxes on the homes of unemployed workers or poor farmers while another demanded that all relief and social insurance be handled and administered under the control of the workers and poor farmers of the state.

DALLAS, Feb. 10. (AP)—Dallas experienced its first communist demonstration in the history of the city this morning, held on the steps of the city hall. Afterward, Police Commissioner W. C. Graves announced that no further demonstrations or meetings would be allowed in the street but that in future, such meetings would have to be held in some public meeting hall or other inside place.

After about two and a half hours of hectic speech-making, which seemed not to ignite any red fires, one member of the crowd was arrested for "obstructing the sidewalk." Another, a prominent socialist attorney of Dallas, was arrested for "interfering with an officer" when he protested against the arrest of his confrere. Both cases were set for trial next Monday afternoon in corporation court.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 10. (AP)—A march on the state capitol, ending in a fight with police and arrest of 13 men, marked the demonstration staged by unemployed here today.

About 75 men and women, bearing placards demanding immediate release of Thomas Mooney and Warren Billings and other "political prisoners" from state penitentiary and abolition of the criminal syndicalism act and red flag law, gathered in the city plaza and marched to the capitol. A crowd of about 200 followed them.

At the capitol a committee of seven men and women went into the governor's office and finding Governor James Rolph, jr., was in Los Angeles, presented his secretaries with a petition bearing about 15,000 signatures and setting forth demands of the international labor defense league.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 10. (AP)—Continued fair demand was reported Tuesday on the Fort Worth cash grain market with receipts curtailed except as to wheat, most of which is going to storage for agencies of the Farm Board. Wheat and corn were higher with contract markets. Other grains showed little change. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 28 cars; corn, 8; oats, 3, and sorghums, 7.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

WHEAT—No. 2 hard of any protein 79@81c.

Oats: No. 2 red 44 1-4@44 3-4.

Barley: No. 2, 60@61c.

Sorghums: No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir 1.21@1.22.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Rumors of a revolution in Russia whirled grain prices wildly upward today. The rumors were discredited by soviet representatives, but big buying orders believed to be from European sources gave the countenance to widely circulated reports that Russian political developments were disturbing in the extreme. A maximum jump of 3 1-2 cents a bushel by the Chicago wheat market was registered.

Wheat closed nervous 3-8 to 3 1-8 cents advanced, corn 1 1-2, up, oats 1-8 to 3-8 higher and provisions showing 10 to 20 cents gain.

Corn and oats tagged upward after wheat, although earlier corn failed to receive the aggressive buying support of late had been conspicuous. Messages from other corn centers noted a decided enlargement of rural offerings. Corn primary arrivals also increased, totaling 841,000 bushels against 636,000 a week ago.

Provisions went higher both with hog values and cereals.

Closing indemnities—wheat, May (offers) 83 1-4; July 79 7-8@79, 73 3-8@1-2; September 69 7-8@73 5-8. Corn, May 67 1-4@7-8, 70 1-4; July 68 7-8@69, 71 5-8; September 68 5-8@71.

Ralph Bradford

quested that I choose this as a subject," he said. "If I knew what was wrong and had a panacea for it, I wouldn't be here today but would be up in Washington where I would belong as the head of one of Mr. Hoover's committees. There has been lots of loose talk about business conditions, many say it is a psychological problem while others openly state that our country and all that's in it is going to the bowwows. I am of the opinion that we are merely going through a process of recouping and retrenchment, just such a process as we underwent about 10 years ago and which we will go through in years to come.

Will Solve Problem.

"There is no psychological problem, neither is the country going to the dogs—the sound business sense of America and that of other countries will solve the problem."

Hurrying from his opening remarks, Mr. Bradford plunged into his announced subject.

"There is much more to the chamber of commerce than is represented," he declared. "The big business is that of living. Life has not changed down through the ages. Business has changed, as has other material things. If the chamber of commerce were nothing more than a dollars and cents organization, we would be wasting our time. Look back upon the movement and you find both spiritual and material values growing out of it.

"Primarily, of course, the chamber is a commercial institution. But commercialism is not enough. That in itself would never move the world nor would it build cities. The chamber has a place in the American scene, it has some fine and fundamental principles. Not perfect—there are many faults — but the chamber is looking to the future of the race, to the future of our cities and country.

Looks To Needs.

"The chamber is looking to the needs of its merchants, the extension of trade, the development of its territory and the growth of industry. All of this is a part of its work. But that is not all—it must look to the building of educational institutions, it must look to the health of its city and must aid as an esthetic and cultural influence."

Difficulties face the New Chamber of Commerce just as they face any other institution, Mr. Bradford continued.

Mr. Bradford ended his address with the ancient story of the building of Athens, making a plea for the cooperation of every citizen in the work of the chamber — "Are you willing to repay your debt to your community without your signature to the masterpiece?"

Valentines Tipped With Venom Flood Market This Year; Satire Is Popular

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Valentines tipped with venow are flooding the market this year.

The old comic has come back, but in more sophisticated, cynical guise. The 1931 comic valentine touches with broad satire current phases of life and human weaknesses.

The modern teacher gets hers but she is no longer a sour-visaged "old maid" with ringlets, but a flapperish person who walks home from an auto ride.

The earnest suffragette is neatly nailed with this:

"You boast of women's suffrage;
And what you'll do next fall.
If your bridge meets on election day
You'll ne'er show up at all."

The druggist gets a sarcastic "bawling out" for his side-lines, and wonder is expressed if he carries any drugs at all. He is pictured surrounded by toy trains and sandwiches.

Women are among the chief buyers of the returned "comics," dealers say. Whether it is the lure of the Bargain prices or the desire to get even with somebody, dealers find it hard to say.

At any rate, women, young and old, throng the comic counters and grab with glee the highly-colored bits of paper. The old fashioned lace valentines with their saccharine sentiments are left practically untouched on a nearby counter.

Short Course

course, was asked by H. J. Bower, presiding, to introduce W. T. Martindale, of Chicago, a director of public relations of the American Farm Bureau federation.

In his talk Mr. Martindale said that in the distribution of national income, the American farmer was not getting much more than half of what his proportion should be. "Some say he is five billion dollars behind what should be his right and just share of the income," said the speaker. He pointed out ways by which the money that the farmer should be receiving was going to other channels.

Burgess On Program.

B. S. Burgess of Dallas, known to many farmers over this section because of his talks in several meetings this winter, was the first speaker of the afternoon. He was presented by L. T. Mayhugh of Plainview, long experienced in wheat and grain cooperative efforts. Mr. Mayhugh was the program chairman of the afternoon.

Mr. Burgess traced the operation of the cotton business prior to the coming into being of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association and similar groups. He told of the losses to farmers because of former methods of paying for cotton, especially on a basis of quantity rather than quality production, when the crop was unloaded on the market in a few months.

"The first fundamental of the cooperative plan was to pay on the basis of the quality," he declared. "The second was to erect a system that would shorten the process between the producer and the consumer—in this case the spinner. Frequently there were as many as six hands through which cotton passed.

The third fundamental was the establishment of a marketing system owned and controlled by the producer, to more effectively control the supply."

Loans Provided.

During the early days of the movement, in the year 1921, the co-ops managed to show bankers they meant business and were able to get as loans, 65 per cent of the value of the cotton. "Eighty-five per cent of our cotton is produced under crop mortgages," he declared.

"The Texas Cotton Cooperative association is now marketing its cotton direct and has as customers over 600 mills who buy practically all their supply from the co-ops," he added. There were 75 classers appointed in Texas with 642 receiving offices.

This year the Texas group has taken off the market 3,500,000 bales, including a carry over of 1,300,000 bales from the 1929-30 crop. He predicted that there would be a carry over of 6,000,000 bales as of August, 1931, which is expected to be around 13,000,000 bales. Normal crops of 14,000,000 bales will give 20,000,000 bales to meet an expected demand of less than the normal crop.

Dean Call Talks.

L. E. Call, veteran agronomist of Kansas and dean of the school of agriculture at K. S. A. C., by use of charts traced the history of wheat production and consumption from 1890 to the present time. He also showed world wheat production, not including Russia or China.

Between 1890 and 1929 world production rose from 1,800,000,000 bushels in the former year to a peak of nearly four billion in 1928, with peaks of three and a half billion in 1914 and a drop to two and a half billion in 1917.

"Improvements in cultural practices has helped the wheat production of Kansas and other states," he pointed out. "Early plowing of ground for wheat sowing has increased the yield. Another factor has been the stimulation of price as a result of the World war."

Texas had approximately two million acres of wheat land two years ago, with a potential wheat acreage of 12 million, a gain of 10 million acres, he said. The total acreage of the 11 leading wheat producing states in 1928 was 41,700,000 acres. Potential or possible acreage is 73,850,000 or a gain of 32,150,000 acres, or 72 per cent, he pointed out.

"Just a Farmer."

John Manley, the closing speaker of the afternoon, introduced himself as "just a farmer, a jack-of-all-trades and master of none." He related the growth of the cooperative organization among Oklahoma and Texas wheat farmers and declared. "If I had thought 10 years ago that it would ever take as long to do this job, I never would have undertaken it."

Mr. Manley pointed out the weaknesses, as he saw them, of the McNary-Haugen and the debenture plans, in that "both were substitutes."

There would have been a carry-over of six hundred million bushels of wheat if the farmers of the corn belt states, facing a corn crop failure, had not fed 250,000,000 bushels of wheat instead.

In graphic words Mr. Manley told of the organization of the Farmers National Grain corporation in July of 1929, by the federal farm board. "The grain stabilization corporation is the board's real weapon," he said.

Operations of the Texas wheat growers association were outlined, the Texas-Oklahoma group handling 12,600,000 bushels this past year. A new contract is to be presented to the farmers.

Following a short program of songs, led by J. O. Ellsworth of the department of agriculture of the college, J. H. Bower, presiding, introduced Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school, who welcomed the visitors.

"It means a great deal for an institution of this kind to be of some real service to the general public", Dean Leidigh said in speaking of the course. He explained that Texas Technological college, a Class A college, had four main divisions, of which the school of agriculture was one. "There are only two Class A schools of agriculture in the United States, that are not land grant colleges, giving instruction in Agriculture," he added. "Texas Tech is one and the other is Syracuse University, at Syracuse, N. Y."

L. D. Howell of Washington, a former member of the faculty of the local college, said it was "good to be back again" in West Texas. He characterized his talk as "how to plan an agricultural production program."

Using a series of charts to illustrate the trend of cotton production during the past decade, Mr Howell gave a comprehensive study of the relation of the production and price of that commodity in the past, to the present problems of a proposed reduction in acreage to offset the carry over from the present crop.

There are two factors that arise in the acreage problem and the management of a farm he said. One is the "cost of production" of cotton; the other the "direction of production efforts in line with the demand."

Admitting there was a "major depression," Mr. Howell pointed out there is at present a "depressed demand for cotton" and a "wheat surplus."

There is "some evidence of a slight improvement in business in January," the speaker said, declaring however that such improvement was so far too slight to definitely determine if it indicated a real upward trend in general business or not.

"Cotton and wheat prices are determined on a world production basis" he stated.

Mr. Howell quoted a cotton trade Journal as predicting that the carry over from the 1930-1931 season would be "between eight and nine million bales in August, 1931."

Blaney Praises Board

Following Mr. Howell, H. M. Blaney, a director of the American Farm Bureau's farm-to-market-road department, discussed the factors contributing the farmers economic well being.

"We hear a great deal of criticism about the Federal Farm Board," said Mr. Blaney. "We hear statements that the government has no right to go into business; that the commission merchant is being eliminated from the picture. Not so many years ago as men drove down the road with their horse and buggy, they strongly disapproved of the automobile coming towards them, which frightened old Dobbin considerably. At that time people said the automobile was just a fantasy; that it would not last; that the horse ruled the road and that the automobile could not remain.

"Most everybody realizes now the fallacy of such statements. The process of this nation demanded that the horse as a means of transportation, be discarded. I do not pose as a prophet, but I am firmly convinced that the commission merchant must go the way of the horse, mainly because he does not contribute to that degree of progress which the people of this nation are demanding. Just as the horse no longer fits into the transportation picture, so the commission man handling farm produce no longer fits into the marketing picture."

Ford Dealers Meet In City

Twenty-Five Towns Of South Plains Represented Here At Session Tuesday; Dallas Men On Program

Twenty-five Ford dealers representing as many South Plains towns met at the Hilton hotel here yesterday and heard H. J. Burkett, general manager of the Ford Motor company and assembly plant at Dallas, and the assistant manager, R. L. Davies, in forceful declamations say that "business is on the upgrade, headed back toward the top." The speakers had facts and figures to prove that their statements were not idle propaganda.

Burkett recently returned from a business trip to New York, Chicago and Detroit and brought figures before the South Plains dealers to show that business was picking up. "And not only in the east but right here at home," Burkett said, "things are looking better. A canvass of the Dallas territory, which includes the South Plains, shows sales and service mounting, not only in the automobile industry but in every form of business."

In addition to Burkett and Davies, three other Ford officials of Dallas were here yesterday and were honored at a luncheon at noon by Lubbock dealers. B. F. Ritchie, zone sales manager, Phillips and Crenshaw, service department officials, and J. K. Meller, Dallas dealer, were here.

George E. Benson and Harry Morris of the Lubbock Auto company represented the local dealers.

Representatives here for the conference came from Muleshoe, Littlefield, Plainview, Abernathy, Hale Center, Levelland, Ropesville, Seagraves, Brownfield, Slaton, O'Donnell, Crosbyton, Spur, Dickens, Jayton, Ralls, Idalou, Floydada, Lockney, Post, Lamesa, Tahoka, Snyder, and Lubbock.

McKee Appeal Slated Today

Court Of Criminal Appeals To Review Case; Defendant Given Death Sentence For Murder Of Billingsley

Appeal of Ira McKee from a death sentence, which was meted out to him in Dawson county court for the murder of W. R. Billingsley, will be heard today before the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin.

Billingsley, a Sparenberg merchant, was killed the night of May, 1930, and McKee's trial followed a month later. T. L. Price, 106th district attorney, of Post, left Tuesday for Austin to oppose the appeal before the higher court. He previously had expressed an opinion that the death sentence would be affirmed.

The slaying of Billingsley followed efforts on his part to prevent the holdup of a filling station near his store. A state-wide manhunt for the slayer was instituted after the murder and it was not until several weeks later that McKee was captured. He first was lodged in the Lubbock county jail, officers fearing that the high feeling then evident in Dawson county might result in harm to the prisoner. Later, however, he was moved to the Dawson county jail and a speedy trial followed.

According to District Attorney Price, from 30 to 60 days will probably be required before a decision can be reached by the higher court.

Pinchot Asks Investigation

Thorough Probe Of Public Service Commission, Clean Elections And Unemployment Relief Are Asked

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10. (AP)—Governor Gifford Pinchot today asked a joint session of the general assembly to enact legislation providing for a thorough investigation of the public service commission, clean elections, unemployment relief and a better system of rural roads.

In his third message to the present legislature, the governor repeated his former statements against the utilities and the public service commission and asked for an investigation of the commission and the utilities in which he would have an equal representation of the board inquiry with each of the two branches of the general assembly.

Asserting that fraudulent elections destroy the right of a free people to govern themselves, he launched an attack on the "corrupt political machine" which he said had made the city of Philadelphia "more notorious" than any other city in America for election frauds.

Of unemployment the governor, basing his remarks on the report of the Pennsylvania unemployment committee appointed by him prior to last fall's election, said most of the recommendations of this committee were being carried out. He cited his budget recommendations of building projects and urged a temporary loan of $10,000,000 from the general fund to the highway fund for road building.

Grocery Store Robbed Monday

Robbers Monday night took about $15 in cash from a cash register at the Panhandle Grocery company, 816 Main street, without leaving discoverable trace of their means of entrance.

Police investigated the breaking upon receiving a report of it early Tuesday morning. They reported that no sign could be found of forced entrance to the building, and expressed an opinion that the robbers had procured a key to one of the doors. Doors and windows were left intact and unmarked, police said.

The cash register, which had contained only small change left there Monday afternoon, was damaged badly. The machine had been left locked. Police said a small claw hammer probably had been used to open it.

Free Trip Is Contest Prize

Lubbock High School Students To Be Offered Opportunity To Win Trip To Europe In Oratorical Contest

As a result of inclusion of Lubbock in the Amarillo district of the National Oratorical contest, Lubbock high school students soon will have an opportunity to compete for a free trip to the district contest at Amarillo.

District winners in this section will have their expenses paid to compete in zone competition at Kansas City. Zone winners will receive free trips to Europe and will compete in the national finals at Washington, D. C.

Quanah also has been included in the Amarillo district with schools northward to the Oklahoma state line, and between the Oklahoma line, on the east and the New Mexico line on the west.

To Hold Contest Here

"Yes, we are entering the contest and we will hold an elimination contest here about ten days before the district meeting, to select our entrant," R. W. Matthews, principal of the senior high school, said.

"We have had a number of inquiries and we are working on the contest here. Mr. C. C. Cox, head of the history department, is gathering information about material, etc., for the contest. Mrs. W. P. Clements, of the public speaking department, also is assisting.

Winner To Go Farther

Amarillo is to stage its district elimination contest on April 21, San Jacinto day. Winner of first place there will be sent to Kansas City, with all expenses paid, to compete in the zone event. There are eight zones over the United States and zone winners will be given free trip to Europe.

The oratorical contest is for the purpose of developing a deeper interest in the American Constitution. Some phase of the Constitution must be selected as the subject of the oration and the speech must not be over six minutes in delivery.

To Be Extemporaneous

An extemporaneous speech also is to be made, on some subject assigned by the judges of the contest. It will concern some phase of the oration given by entrants and must not exceed four minutes in length.

The National Oratorical Contest has been staged for seven or eight years. It has become nationally known and the winners have been guests at the White House, of the senate of the United States and have received signal honors in Washington.

"I would like to see some civic club in Lubbock offer prizes for the local contest, because it would stimulate interest in the movement," Principal Matthews stated. "I believe that the contest is well worth while and that some civic club could do a great deal towards increasing attention by getting behind the local contest."

Two Eggs In One Achievement Of Hen At Woodrow

An egg having a circumference of 6 1-4 inches, length of 8 1-8 inches, weight of slightly more than 4 ounces!

That is the record which Mrs. G. H. Hilton, of Woodrow, claims for one of her White Leghorn hens. When Mrs. Hilton went to her hen house Monday to gather eggs, she found in one of the nests an egg approximately twice as large as a normal one. She measured it and weighed it and has told of her findings.

"We have 160 hens and Sunday we got 115 eggs from them," Mr. Hilton said when he brought the monster egg to the Avalanche-Journal office. "This is the second big egg Mrs. Hilton found. The other one had a rather soft shell and in handling it I broke it. Inside I found a perfectly formed egg with a hard shell. Had both of them for breakfast and they tasted mighty good."

Mrs. Hilton, her husband said has not been able to determine if the two eggs were laid by the same hen or not.

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Try the effect of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed, and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.
