Air Attack Helping To Hold Defenses

TOKYO (AP)—Another around-the-clock Allied air attack helped American troops to hold defense lines in Korea Saturday night and early today.

Ochoa Refuses To Come Back Without Force

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A long legal fight to extradite George W. Ochoa, charged with murdering two men at Laredo, was projected Saturday when the customs broker of the border city said he would not return voluntarily to the United States.

Ochoa, who insists his real name is Jorge Guillermo Ochoa Vidal and claims Mexican citizenship, is held in the Mexico City penitentiary temporarily. He will be returned to lower California, where he was arrested, for an extradition hearing.

At Laredo officials blasted at his plea of Mexican citizenship. District Attorney E. James Kazen said he had a certified copy of Ochoa's birth certificate showing he was born Jorge Guillermo Ochoa at 915 Lincoln, Laredo, July 3, 1912, and listing his father as Alfonso F. Ochoa and mother as Luz Vidal Malo.

Guy A. Belzons, assistant district customs collector at Laredo, said Ochoa still is a licensed U.S. customs broker and that Ochoa had a U.S. passport in his possession that he was a U.S. citizen in order to get that license.

Proof of Mexican citizenship has in past cases helped avoid extradition.

Ochoa said he was born in Reynosa, Mexico, on the border in 1914 and that he has both his birth certificate and his voting papers showing he voted in Mexican elections in Nuevo Laredo.

Questioned about the fatal shooting of two men in a Laredo hotel, he said: "Until my lawyer, Telesforo A. Ocampo, comes I won't say anything. I only want to insist that I am innocent, and that my wife is in Mexico, and had nothing to do with this matter. I fled from Laredo, despite being innocent, it was because the rumors there made me fear for my safety."

He is accused of the killing of Henry D. Whittington of McAllen, and James Lindsay of McKenzie, Tenn., last July 31 in a hotel at Laredo.

Top o' Texas Flags To Fly Tomorrow

Hanging of decorations for the 1950 Top o' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show will begin Monday, according to R. M. Samples, chairman of the decorations committee of the Rodeo Association. Work will be done by an out-of-town firm which has handled the job in the past. Samples said.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club will contact the members of Pampa this week on preparation for putting up the decorations.

The R&PW has decorated the decorations during past years. Samples said. The out of town firm will put up the decorations, maintain them while they are on display, and take them down when the celebration is ended.

The continued cooperation of local merchants in giving Pampa that gay fiesta appearance will be appreciated by the Rodeo Association, Samples stated.

Lefors Man Hurt When Wall Falls

Guy Hedrick, Lefors, was admitted to Highland General Hospital shortly after 6 p.m. Saturday suffering from head and leg injuries he received when the wall of his house fell on him.

Hedrick and his brother-in-law were putting a ready-made wall in place when a blast of wind blew it over on them. Most of the wall's weight fell on Hedrick and narrowly missed his wife as it fell. The other man was not injured.

He was taken to Highland General Hospital by a Blackburn-Shaw-Sims ambulance where he was being examined by physicians near press time last night. He was reported to have received minor head injuries and a possible fracture of the leg.

BOUND AND SHOT IN KOREA—This American soldier was found shot to death, his hands tied behind his back, after his capture by North Korean forces. The body was found lying face down on the rocky shoulder of a highway a day after an American jeep was cut off by the North Koreans. The time and exact location was not given. This is the first original picture of this type received in the United States. (AP Wirephoto)

Texas Can Be Ready for War Immediately, Shivers Claims

(By the Associated Press)
If war comes, how soon would the Texas civilian defense system be in operation? "Almost immediately," says Gov. Allan Shivers. By that, says the governor, he means three or four days.

A world conflict would flip the switch on an immense preparedness plan which is the result of months of intense study.

Long before the Korean war, on April 14, the governor told the citizenry the broad outlines of the system. A few days after the Korean fighting started, a letter went out from Shivers' office to every county judge and mayor. The letter described state plans and made "preliminary recommendations" for local preparations.

The Texas plan was made up with the help of the National Securities Resources Board in Washington. That board, of course, is concerned about what would happen to Texas' great industries — the B-36 plant at Fort Worth, the vast oil and chemical plants at Houston, the newly-important rubber plants at coastal cities, and many others.

Besides measures to protect such facilities, the plan includes provisions for emergency shelter, food, clothing and medical supplies throughout the state. Of Texas' 251 counties, 251 have disaster relief organizations.

Routes have been planned should it be necessary to evacuate citizens from any area. "Emphasis will be placed also," said the governor's April memorandum, "upon rapid enrollment of many."

Bid Accepted On Road Work

The county commissioners Saturday accepted a low bid of $129,717.42 for the construction and repair of four miles of roads in the county.

The job goes to Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth. Included in the overall contract will be rebarbing with caliche, and a new surfacing of asphalt. One section will call for a new section of road. The same unit also will get two new bridges in the bidding price.

Concrete or metal culverts will be installed during the job. A sum of $17,500 was set aside above the other amount for the removal of objects along the paths of the roads and also for securing rights-of-way.

County Judge Bruce Parker declared that the accepted bid was almost $15,000 cheaper than the next lowest bidder. The job, consisting of eleven miles of road starting two miles east of Kingsmill and running southwest, will cost $48,323.28. This road is at present caliche, but will receive a new base of caliche along with the required topping of asphalt.

Unit two is a stretch of 1.2 miles of gravel road and begins at McLean and heads southwest. A sum of $16,723.41 will go to the bidder for unit three. (See ROAD WORK, Page 2)

Father of Pampian Dies at Gatesville

Word has been received here of the death of Charles Frye of Gatesville. Mr. Frye had been ill for some time. He died Thursday.

He was the father of Mrs. O. H. Odum, 101 N. Wayne. Mrs. Odum is a teacher at the Woodrow Wilson School.

The local two is sponsored by The Pampa News, the Pampa Lions Club, Culberson Chevrolet and the Chevrolet Division of General Motors. The members of the Lions Club will inspect the cars to see that they comply to all of the necessary requirements.

Pastor Completes Scotland School
Dr. Beauford Norris, former pastor of the First Christian Church here, returned Saturday from a two-year stay in Edinburgh, Scotland, where he received his doctor's degree.

He was accompanied by his wife and son, Bill. They left Pampa in August, 1948.

His two-year stay in Scotland was pleasant for the most part, the doctor told the News Saturday. His son Bill attended the Royal High School in Edinburgh.

Dr. Norris reported that he and his family had good housing there; that the food rationing was had at first, but steadily got better.

He was scheduled to occupy his old pulpit Sunday.

The former Pampa minister is tentatively scheduled to join the staff of a school in Indianapolis.

Alert U. S. Forces Neutralize Communists' Rebuilding Trial

TOKYO (Sunday) (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters said today U. S. counterattacks had smashed at least two Communist attempted crossings on the Kum River, inflicting "heavy casualties."

His communique, timed at 2:45 Japan daylight time (10:45 p. m. Saturday, CST) said elements of two American infantry regiments had beaten back Communist forces in counterattacks on Friday and Saturday.

The communique did not give the present status of the battle. Front line dispatches indicate Communist infiltrations still hold a bridgehead on the left sector of the American line.

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. infantry, supported by around-the-clock bombing, checked the North Korean lunge across the Kum River near strategic Taejon in heavy fighting today.

Field dispatches said the Communists attempted to build up their forces south of the river, but a number of patrols were thrown back by alert American defenses.

Twenty-Four Due Draft Call In Local Area

Twenty-four men from Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Donley counties will be thrown into an examination pool sometime in August, it was disclosed here Saturday by an Associated Press dispatch.

This is the quota given Local Board 52 out of the state's total of 4,029. Of these 1,005 will be inducted in September.

Other draft boards and their numbers, along with their quota in the surrounding area are: Board 18, Deaf Smith, Castro, Darringer, Randall, 16; No. 20, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Hall, Briscoe, 24; No. 25, Dalhart, Hartley, Moore, Sherman, 16; No. 45, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Swisher, 32; No. 73, Hutchinson, Armstrong, Carson, 28; No. 99, Ochiltree, Hansford, Hemphill, Lipacomb, 12; No. 103, Potter, Oldham, 44.

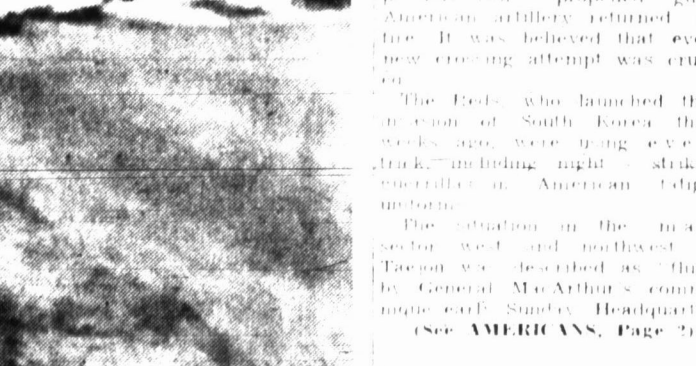

Erk, Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, told the 137 local boards by mail of their physical examination quotas. These calls should be delivered by Monday. Processing will begin immediately.

"We must keep in mind at all times that we are not dealing with selective service numbers, but with the sons of our neighbors and friends," Wakefield said in his letter.

"Our government has not yet gone through the democratic ritual of making a formal declaration of war, but the wheels of the selective service system are already in motion. The ability of the Texas state headquarters to deliver its quota is almost entirely dependent upon the alert and proper functioning of the system at the local board level."

"As horrible as war is to those who have felt its fire, the loss of liberty is a far deeper wound. We proposed the obvious to you."

Former Resident Of County Dies

Henry E. Forney, former resident of Gray County, died at his home in Anaheim, Calif., Wednesday night. He had lived here for many years.

Mr. Forney, 66, was born July 16, 1884, a native Texan. He was married to Miss Frankie Lee Green in Montague County about 1905. He lived in the Liberty community south of McLean for several years before moving to California in January, 1948.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Frankie Forney; Anaheim, three sons, Everett, Hollisville, Clinton, Anaheim, and Earl, Eulinton, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Forney, Anaheim, and Mrs. Lillian Forney, McLean; two sisters, Mrs. Lettie Simpson, McLean, and Mrs. Myrtle Blackman, Bowie; and seven grand children.

The body was shipped overland to Los Angeles for burial. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Presbyterian Church in McLean, with the Rev. S. R. Jones of that church officiating. Burial will be in Hillcrest cemetery, McLean.

Collins States U.S. Will Hold Korean Ground

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's chief of staff said late Saturday U. S. ground forces will hang on in Korea until they get enough reinforcements to hurl back the Communist invaders.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins discounted all talk that the American army might eventually be pushed into the sea by the North Korean forces.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) had told a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Harrisburg earlier in the day that he believed U.S. troops might have to evacuate Korea within 72 hours.

Collins, just back from a trip to the battle area with Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, told a news conference:

"It isn't going to be an easy task. But I haven't the slightest doubt in the world we will hold an extensive area in Korea."

He said weapons and ammunition, including tanks — are being sent to the Americans at the battle line. Even with the equipment they've had, he added, the relatively untried U.S. forces, fresh from occupation duty in Japan, have done an exceptionally fine job.

Collins and Vandenberg talked with reporters after reporting to President Truman on their aerial inspection trip to the Korean front.

"Each said he was completely satisfied with the performance and morale of American ground and air forces."

Collins said the first U. S. troops thrown into action were new green, since they came from an occupation mission in Japan.

But he said that they have done a "relatively fine job."

"It isn't going to be an easy task," the Army chief said. "But I haven't the slightest doubt in the world we will hold an extensive area in South Korea."

Absentees Mail in But Twelve Ballots

With only two more days to vote absentee, only 12 ballots have been returned through the mails to the office of County Clerk Charlie Tull.

Those 12, plus the 138 who have voted in person, brought the total of absentee ballots cast to an even 150.

A total of 57 ballots have been requested through the mails. The remaining 45 out-of-town voters have only two days to seal their envelopes, get them in the mails, and postmarked before midnight, July 18, the deadline. Deadline for voting absentee in person, at the county clerk's office is close of business, July 18.

ROGERS

here hollering "Me too," and claiming to be against the FEPC, the civil rights program, federal aid to education, socialized housing, and socialized medicine, the boys up in Washington who are working for the same administration are sending propaganda all over this country, trying to mislead the people into believing that those socialistic programs are fine things."

Then he directed his verbal bombardment at Russia and Communists in general. He called for unity of the entire nation because "Russia is just as surely dedicated to world domination as any nation ever was." He pointed out Russia learned from the mistakes of all other would-be conquerors, and added "she has been using a weapon hitherto never fully exploited." He referred there to Moscow's practice of infiltration of troops and their sympathizers into high governmental agencies.

He reminded his listeners that Russia did this to the United States while she was supposed to be an ally. He declared Reds had worked themselves into business communities, industries, water works, farming, and from the lowest to the most responsible jobs in government.

He narrowed the time he was in Austin when admitted Communists appeared before the legislature and undertook to defeat certain legislation. Among these, he added, was the right-to-work bill.

"This was the same bill voted against by congressional candidate J. Blake Thompson of Amarillo."

He called for every man, woman and child in this country to be on the alert until we are free of these cancerous "Communist" growths.

He urged also that "every man, woman or child on the public payroll who cannot prove unquestioned loyalty to the flag or our way of government, be expelled immediately from the public payroll."

He predicted Russia intends to start confagurations in every part of the world as she has in Korea. Her aim, he warned, was to spread American defenses "so that the USSR could easily dominate Western Europe and England."

Rogers reflected on use of the atomic bomb, "as terrible as it is, and the last war and asked, 'I wonder why we can't stop this one before it is started and give these warlike murderers an opportunity for the next 20 years to clean up the rubble instead of waging war.'"

The links Pampa lawyer swung his guns on administration economy, declaring, "we cannot continue spending more than we take in and remain strong. I could never understand why our government sold surplus installations, equipment and commodities for less than ten percent on the dollar when it knew or should have known Russia was heading for the third world war."

He cited the sale of large installations to private industries at five percent of the actual cost and that "the purchasers turned around and sold the same items for many times the price the government received," adding "the taxpayers are now facing reestablishment of those plants and installations at tremendous costs." He labeled this an "excessive waste of the taxpayers' money."

As in previous broadcasts, Rogers had three citizens talk for him before his main speech. Friday, Jay Taylor, Amarillo cattle broker, Chandler Weymouth, Amarillo cattleman, and a Dr. Odom, Memphis, went before the microphone for Rogers.

Immediately following the program Rogers appeared at the Canyon forum where the other four candidates, Clark, LeRoy LaMasler, and Timmons also appeared.

Texas doctors have been offered courses in medical aspects of atomic warfare.

There would be four principal divisions of the state civilian defense organization. They are military affairs to be handled by selective service, Texas National Guard, Texas State Guard reserve corps; transportation and communication; civil protection (fire control, aircraft warning service, defense police mobilization, aviation, emergency medical service, emergency sanitation and radiological service); and resource and production (mobilization of natural, industrial and human resources).

Those responsible for areas of industrial concentration already have acted.

conceded the North Korean bridgehead, west of Taejon, "remained intact despite heavy losses."

Field headquarters said the Reds had pushed back the American left flank "somewhat west of Taejon" in hard fighting. U.S. artillery and mortars pumped fire into the invaders.

American and Australian fighters and U.S. light bombers swept low in repeated strafing runs. Planes knocked out at least four Red tanks and possibly ten more, the Army said.

The North Koreans responded with 76 millimeter artillery fire, apparently from self-propelled units north of the river.

An American spokesman said Saturday night no Communist tanks had been observed south of the Kum River but some were seen on two north-south roads west of Taejon.

This meant that Red tanks had not been able to cross the shallow river barrier to reinforce the main North Korean bridgehead, but were swinging in from a point farther west.

As reporter William R. Moore

reported there was "no reason to believe the invaders have lost the power to keep their tank columns in motion when they are ready to do so."

The North Koreans still outnumber the defenders by long odds. Enemy strategy appeared to be one of spreading out wide to thin the defense line, then pressing in from both left and right flanks.

The Communists may try to overrun Taejon's defenders, or bypass the city of more than 100,000.

The left flank, held on the west by American forces was turned by disguised Communist soldiers who infiltrated across the Kum Friday night. They caused some loss of U.S. artillery positions.

The defense dropped back, blowing bridges and dynamiting roads.

The crossings apparently were near Samgyo, 20 miles northwest of Taejon.

On the right, north of Taejon and the Kum River, South Koreans nearest to the American sector were forced back.

Speedy jets and Mustangs supported the defenders, slashing in reported there was "no reason to believe the invaders have lost the power to keep their tank columns in motion when they are ready to do so."

Several U.S. pilots reported running into wire cables strung across narrow valleys. Along the coast, MacArthur said, warships "materially assisted" in keeping enemy activity on a small scale.

The Reds strengthened their anti-aircraft defenses at Kimpo airfield, near Seoul.

A number of Russian-built North Korean planes have been reported on Kimpo's runway. Troop movements were noted in the same area.

Communist aircraft meeting allied planes avoided American down jets to concentrate on the bombers.

Egyptian Cotton Market Corners Rich Speculators

CAIRO — (P) — Two rich pastas who ran up a $25,000,000 paper profit by cornering the Egyptian cotton market now seem certain to lose $6,000,000 to $9,000,000 because they can't sell their huge holdings.

Long-time rivals Mohamed Fergani Pasha and Ali Yehia Pasha combined forces and fortunes last winter along with two smaller firms. They bought an estimated 1,482,000 kantars (100-pound lots) of ashmoui, a medium staple cotton.

Half cost them 15 pounds sterling ($43.05) a kantar. The rest cost 18.40 pounds sterling ($52.81).

With the June corner over, 700,000 kantars have been sold for 15 pounds sterling ($43.05). Trade sources say the other 782,000 kantars are for sale at 16 pounds sterling ($46.92) with no takers.

Interest on bank loans, storage and other expenses pyramid the speculators' losses.

Pastor Finds Slug, Not Wooden Either

PORTALES, N.M. — (P) — The Rev. Therman Harris, pastor of the Methodist Church, is wondering what to do with a slug he took out of the soft drink machine in the church basement. Apparently good enough to get results from the church's machine, the slug bears an inscription.

Missionary Claims Chinese Allowed Red Tide to Spread

North Korea, he declared, are far more tinged with the doctrines of Russia than are those of the new Chinese government.

And he sounded a keynote of optimism for Christianity in general. "As Christians we have not failed; but I don't believe we have done all that we could have."

The missionary and his wife entered China for the first time in 1908. For the 33 ensuing years, they did missionary work over much of China for the Brethren Church.

Start of World War II forced the missionary and his 67-year-old wife to return to the United States.

Chinese Students Robbed of Rest

SAN FRANCISCO — (P) — That little red schoolhouse, winter sessions only, isn't enough, the Chinese Communists say. Peiping radio says 5,000,000 peasant students in North China and Manchuria will go right on studying through spring planting, summer weeding, fall harvesting. They'll work, too.

Mutual aid teams will take over the chores part-time, giving each student one or two hours daily to "crack" the books.

Burr's Daughter Started It All

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. — (P) — Aaron Burr's daughter, Theodosia, and her cotton-grower husband started it all. Theodosia and her wealthy bridegroom, says local historian Raymond Yates, were the first honeymoon couple to visit the Falls.

They came here in 1801, three years before the bride's father, third vice-president of the United States, killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel.

Age Doesn't Slow Woodchopping Job

Francisco Gomez Marfil, 116 years old, chops wood for a living.

A small, moustached man, resident of Brownsville, he swings his sharp axe without tiring and enjoys fine health. He attributes his good physical condition to "working and working hard" and indicates that his favorite dish, rice pudding, also helps keep him in trim.

"Life has been wonderful to me and I have only God to thank," Marfil told Joe Oliveira of the Brownsville Herald in an interview.

"Does he think of retiring?" "I have been cutting trees since before 1900. I am certainly not going to quit now."

Marfil was born in Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico, in 1834 and came to Brownsville as a boy. He remembers when they started building the Immaculate Conception Church after the coming of the oblates of Mary Immaculate here," he said. The oblates landed at Port Isabel, near Brownsville, on Dec. 2, 1849 and construction of the church started in 1852.

A county official for whom Marfil has cut trees said: "He will not accept a nickel unless he thinks he has earned it, nor will he accept charity."

Marfil is also a cabinet maker. He makes cabinets, shelves and fruit stands from apple boxes. He said he doesn't ask for apple boxes, free, but buys them.

His wife died several years ago at the age of 87. He has two daughters, residents of Brownsville. One of his grandmothers lived to be 122, he told Oliveira.

One of Marfil's good friends is Don Pancho Camacho, who lives on a ranch near Brownsville. He is believed to be 128 years old. Asked if he thought he would reach Don Pancho's age, Marfil replied: "Solo Dios sabe" — only God knows.

CHICAGO — (P) — Two robbers took $300 from a men's furnishings store on the west side, and presumably split it on a share-and-sharp-alike basis. One of them also got a pair of shoes to boot.

DILIGENCE PAYS — For the past one and one-half years, Joe McNamara, above, has carried a Pampa News delivery route. Now, using money saved from his earnings, he is paying his own expenses on a 16-day Boy Scout trip to the Canadian wilderness. The Pampa area Scouts will leave Sunday. Joe, who carries a route covering N. Somerville, has been a Scout for three years and, with the trip, joins the Boy Scout Explorer Troop. The son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. 'Suicide Tower' Closed by India

NEW DELHI, India — (P) — Police have sealed the world's tallest minaret to prevent suicides.

In recent years, too many despairing lovers, students who have failed in examinations, unhappy wives and ruined businessmen have been ending it all by jumping from the top of the 234-foot Quth Minar, a tower 11 miles south of Delhi built in 1196 by Quth-Ud-Din, first Moslem conqueror of the city.

Among the first of the suicides several years ago, and apparently one which inspired a series of later death plunges, was the European wife of the Maharaja of Kapurthala.

Vet Acts Fast To Save Boy

DETROIT — (P) — Paul Laswell, 22, a garage mechanic, is a Navy veteran and he has three children.

So he leaped the fence fast yesterday when he saw Joseph Shay, 2, a neighbor boy, in trouble.

Joseph was choking on something he'd tried to swallow. A man from next door was holding him up by the heels in a vain effort to help.

Laswell seized the boy, applied artificial respiration, kept him breathing until firemen arrived with oxygen and a respirator.

A bologna rind caused the trouble. Joe's all right now.

Peck Plays Real-Life Role As Playhouse Co-Producer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — The man seated behind the desk and looking like a theatrical producer was Gregory Peck.

He gave a convincing performance. He handed letters to a couple of secretaries, interviewed an actor for a role, weighed the billing-on-forthcoming-plays, tossed scripts around and talked to this theater on the phone.

This is a real-life role for the long-limbed actor. It is the result of his long romance with the theater.

"I am a co-producer of the La Jolla playhouse, along with Dorothy McGuire and Mel Ferrer," Peck explained in his Beverly Hills office. "This summer we are presenting nine weeks of top plays with star leads and actors' equity casts."

Peck, a La Jolla, Calif., boy who made good, returned to his home town with good theater. And the home towners appreciate it, too.

"They're behind us 100 percent," he said. "They're happy to see good shows and the playhouse has brought the town publicity of a favorable kind. Now we are hoping they will build us a bigger theater, since the margin of profit and loss is pretty slim in the high school auditorium where we play."

"We're also getting some enthusiasm here in Hollywood among the actors. A lot of them come to us offering their services. They realize it's a good chance to be seen, to gain experience with experienced casts and capable directors and to do something for the good old theat."

Kibo, a snow-capped mountain peak, is only 200 miles south of the Equator in Africa.

Missionary Claims Chinese Allowed Red Tide to Spread

By FERMAN MORRIS

The new regime assuming the saddle of authority in China was fostered more by the feelings of the Chinese people themselves than by the aid of Soviet Russia, a veteran missionary said in an address at the Church of the Brethren Friday night.

Dr. Frank H. Crumpacker, a white-haired man just past his mid-seventies, spent a third of a century among the people of China. During that time, he told his audience, he and his wife have come to know the feelings and emotions of the average Chinese.

"The Chinese are slow to accept new ways," he said. "But the present regime is pushed by younger men who desire newer ideas."

Only recently, he declared, did China allow scientific minds to flourish.

The friendly missionary had a word of praise for the Chinese. Said he: "Out from China go doctrines that the rest of the world needs; examples; honesty and suffering."

He gave an explanation for the present unpopularity of Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Nationalists. For many years, he said, Chiang was greatly beloved by his nation. The Nationalist leader married into a wealthy family and shared much of that wealth with his countrymen, Dr. Crumpacker related.

Later, he said, the fortune began to dwindle and Chiang took appropriate action to try build it up. Then is when the people began to show their ill feelings toward him. "Soon the leader of China was a back number," said the minister.

The communistic movement in China, differs from that of Red Russia in that the Chinese Reds will allow Christianity to continue, Dr. Crumpacker believes.

In Korea, he said, the Communist movement presents a different picture. The peoples of North Korea, he declared, are far more tinged with the doctrines of Russia than are those of the new Chinese government. And he sounded a keynote of optimism for Christianity in general. "As Christians we have not failed; but I don't believe we have done all that we could have."

The missionary and his wife entered China for the first time in 1908. For the 33 ensuing years, they did missionary work over much of China for the Brethren Church.

Oilers Split Twin Bill With Lubbers, 5-3, 18-6

Parker Shares In Star of Week Three-Way Tie

AL DUARTE, Blue Soxer, JOHN "BO" DEMPSKY, Lubbers, and ROY PARKER, Oilers, reached the end of a week-long battle of the ballots in a tie for the top honors as "Star of the Week" for the week ending July 8th. Sometimes it gets pretty crowded at the top!

Duarte hit a triple and two doubles and contributed four runs, running catches July 2; bounced back July 5 and, although on a losing nine for the occasion, Al hit two doubles and a single, walked once, put his mates ahead at one time, made two "circus" catches and cut off the opposition at home twice on line throws.

Bo Dempsey, rightfielder for the lapping Lubbers, took charge of the situation July 4th and personally provided the winning runs for both games with home runs. Bo hit for the circuit in the second game with the bases loaded. This hustling, Lobo, has gathered his share of star votes, but his Independence Day performance was good enough to get a real share in this week's notice.

Roy Parker, the persistent left-hander of the other pitching staff and the hard-hitting right-positioner of the Oilers offensive department, comes back after winning about everything the past couple of weeks including medallion as STAR PLAYER OF THE MONTH OF JUNE, to complete the triumvirate. His July Fourth contribution was "won his 17th game and hit safely three including a homer." On July 5th Roy homered in a crucial game with the Lubbers, in the first inning, on his next appearance he tripled; scored two runs in all, did a good fielding job in right field to turn in an overall "outstanding performance" for the day.

Rufe James Marshall of the Oilers gathered sufficient support to qualify as "runner-up" for the week, to the trio set out above.

TEAMWORK—Richard Hinkley, 14-year-old Pampa youth who was severely burned in an accident nine weeks ago, pulls for the Oilers every game. Yesterday afternoon the Oilers showed they were pulling for him by stalling him in a local hospital, and presenting him with an autographed baseball. Standing, front left to right, are Mack Hyde, Joe Fortin, Jerry Squares, Roy Parker, Homer Matney, Virgil Richardson and Warren Haase. Richard is recovering fine after suffering severe burns over 60 percent of his body. (News Photo and Engraving)

City Leaguers Plan Star Tilt

The City Industrial Softball League will play a league all-star game next Tuesday night, at Lion's Club Park, starting at 8:30. Three members of each of the trailing teams in the league will join forces to face the leading club.

And at the present time, two clubs, General Atlas and Skelly-Schafer are tied for the league lead. These two clubs will meet in a playoff game to decide which will face the all-stars.

The standings at the present time are as follows:

General Atlas 13
Skelly-Schafer 13
First Baptist 8
Phillips 6
Culberson Chevrolet 4
20-30 Club 3
The umpires for the all-star game will see Homer Matney, former Oiler, calling balls and strikes. Randy Clay, Longhorn grid great, will be at first base. The other umpire hasn't been named as yet.

A full list of the members of the all-star team is not as yet available, but will be released tomorrow.

Final Game of Series Is Scheduled for 8:30 Tonight

The Pampa Oilers and the Lubbock Hubbers broke even in two games last night at Oiler Park, the Oilers taking the opener 5-3, and the Hubbers running off with the nightcap, 18-6. Tonight the same two clubs will conclude the series with a single game at 8:30.

The game is being played at night, with all apologies to the Pampa churches, because of the severe afternoon heat.

Roy Parker has been nominated to throw the final game tonight. He is working with little rest, but the Pampa mound staff is in such bad shape that Manager Seitz had to take the final inning of the last night's doubleheader.

The last night's doubleheader is expected to be a newcomer southpaw, Tom Marshall, who is to join the club here today.

Last night the Oilers came from behind to take the opener, scoring all their runs in the last three frames to overcome an early Hubbers lead and give George Payte the victory.

The Hubbers took the lead in the second inning, but Pampa knotted it in the fourth. Lubbock moved ahead with a run in the sixth, but then the Oilers broke loose.

Fortin opened with his third straight hit, and Virgil Richardson homered over the right centerfield fence to put Pampa ahead. A hit by Engel, a force play and a hit by Payte added an insurance run. Chris Haskins, one of the league's top right-handers, was the loser.

Bill Garland started on the mound for the Oilers in the nightcap, but was unable to survive the first inning. Five hits produced four runs and found Ramon Salgado coming to the rescue. Salgado got by until the fourth, the same inning in which he was shelled so freely Friday night. The Hubbers, tied off for six runs off five hits and brought right-hander Mack Hyde to the mound. Hyde subdued the Hubbers and then the Oilers broke loose.

Pampa tagged starter Charley Gorman, who was the winner, for four runs and four hits in the sixth, to add to an earlier two gotten in the second inning. Gorman was relieved in favor of Royce Mills in the sixth, and the rally ended.

In the top of the seventh, Hyde ran into trouble. He got two out, but couldn't retire the side and Grover Seitz took the slab. Seitz didn't have much luck. The last blow hit off Hyde was a homer by Stenberg, his second of the game. Then Davis and Stenberg blasted four basers off Seitz. A hit by Morrow, and two walks followed before W. Moore popped out to end the inning.

Manager Jackie Sullivan, not to be outdone, hurried the final frame for Lubbock, and set the Oilers down in order. Richardson opened with a hit but Ricketson bounced into a double play.

Jim Martin, injured catcher, returned to the lineup and played 8-1.

Thumper May Undergo Second Operation on Injured Elbow

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (AP) — Ted Williams wants to get back in the Red Sox lineup this season in time to knock in 17 more runs — but doctors say the odds are against his getting the opportunity.

Propped up in a hospital bed, with his left arm nearly covered by a plaster cast, the American slugger said Saturday he may have to undergo a second operation on the elbow he fractured in the All-Star Game in Chicago.

In such an event, said Dr. Joseph Shortell, the entire rubber bone would have to be removed. The surgeon said it need not be a handicap and that he would be as good as ever after sufficient rest.

Meanwhile, baseball Commissioner Albert B. Chandler telegraphed general manager Joe Cronin that Ted could return to his leftfield duties whenever he is ready. He will not be placed on the disabled list. Chandler said inasmuch as the injury was suffered in the charity All-Star Game he would do the same thing in the case of any club so affected.

Williams said he hurt his elbow when he struck his left wrist against the wall after catching Ralph Kiner's fly-ball in the first frame of the All-Star tilt. Ted played on until the eighth and batted in a run.

Stitches will be removed from the elbow early next week and then Williams can go home. Subsequent therapy treatment may tell how long he will be out and whether further surgery is required.

Lobos Top Sox; In First Place

LAMESA — (AP) — The Lamesa Lobos moved into first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League by edging the Abilene Blue Sox 4 to 3 in 11 innings here Friday night before a crowd of 2,192 fans.

Bill Cappa lined a single to center with two down in the last of the eleventh that sent pinch-runner Dan Pinto home from third with the winning tally.

Right-hander Jim Reynolds went the route for his fifth win of the season, giving up 10 hits, while his mates garnered 13 off Ken Wade and Sam Hunter.

Wade retired in the fifth with an ailing flipper, after allowing four hits and two runs.

Green's Gossip

By Hagan O'Snead

The City Golf champion for 1949 and winners of all other flights will be decided this afternoon at the Pampa Country Club. Wish I could tell you who will be matched against whom but I have to write this thing on Saturday morning, hence, no results.

Some of the finest golf matches ever recorded at the local links have been played in this year's tournament. I'm sure you people who like to watch a good golf match won't be disappointed today. The tourney has been in progress for three weeks with just a few of the players finally coming out on top to play in the finals of their respective flights, so come on out Mr. and Mrs. Reader and see some fine golf by the local talent.

Warren Hasse, the home-town count of 7-5. This is the only

1950 ALL-STAR GAME OF THE WEST TEXAS - NEW MEXICO BASEBALL LEAGUE. SITE: Pampa, Texas. DATE: August 4, 1950; Friday night. ALL-STAR TEAMS - The players of the All-Star Teams, sixteen active players on each team, who will participate in the annual All-Star Game, are to be selected by vote of the team managers and the member city newspaper sports writers. Ballots are being prepared and will be mailed to the "voters" within the next few days. One team will be chosen from the players on the active rosters of clubs at Abilene, Lamesa, Lubbock and Pampa, which will be the south division team. Another team will be chosen from rosters of Amarillo, Albuquerque, Clovis and Borger which will be the north division team. And when on August 4 at Pampa the "North" meets the "South" in the annual renewal of this diamond battle of "All-Stars" the teams will be made up as follows:

5 Pitchers;
2 Catchers;
3 Infielders;
4 Outfielders.

The rules of procedure permit a player-manager to be chosen both as a player at his position and as manager. A manager normally a player may be chosen as a non-playing manager. Infielders will be selected as to their normal position; that is, first base for a first baseman; for shortstop, a regular shortstop, etc. In naming players to outfield positions they will be voted for in their normal positions also, whether left, center or right. A "utility" infielder may be any regular infielder. And the extra outfielder may be one who plays regularly in either outfield position.

SELECTING A MANAGER FOR EACH TEAM. Players winning positions on the star teams will be polled to determine their choice as manager. Players of the "South" team will name a manager from the four managers of their division; ditto, for the North.

Austin and Forman Battle for City Golf Crown

McGinnis Beaten By Forman on 19th; Austin Tops Heath

A couple of fellows who have been battling each other for years around the local golf course, will meet again this afternoon for the Pampa city men's championship. Grover Austin, Jr., who defeated Mark Heath, 5 and 4 yesterday afternoon, and John Forman downed C. F. McGinnis, 1 up on 19 holes, will tee off this afternoon for the city crown. Both gained the right to fight for the championship with some torrid, sub-par golf yesterday.

In the championship flight consolation it will be Melvin Harris against Charley Douglass. Both dropped their first round matches but then went through all opposition to move into the consolation final round.

In the President's Flight, long ball hitting Bill Miller will face the winner of the Frank Shotwell-Dick Oden match this morning for the championship while Les Speer, local hotel man, will meet Ronnie Samples for the consolation crown.

The Flight A championship was decided Thursday afternoon when Warren Hasse defeated W. B. Weatherford, 7 and 5. Weatherford left today for Canada with the Boy Scouts, hence the early match. The consolation crown will be decided between Cletus Mitchell and Ernie Fuller.

In Flight B, Jeff Bearden will face Harry Kerbow for the championship of the flight and Shorty Heiskell will battle Sam Sloan for the consolation crown.

Kelley Kitchens and Gene Fatheree will meet in the Flight C championship finals and Randy Clay, former Longhorn football star, will meet the winner of the George Dye - Luke McClelland match this morning in the consolation finals.

Flight D will see Les Hart battling Jack Nimmo for the championship of the flight. Joe Wells and Bob Coker fought it out for the consolation championship earlier this week with Wells the victor, 3 and 2.

In the bottom flight, the championship will be strictly a City Hall battle. City Manager Dick Pepin will face E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, for the crown. The consolation match will find Mac Austin meeting Peg Whittle.

Some of the matches will be played this morning, but the majority are expected to be fired this afternoon, with the club championship affair scheduled to start between 1 and 3 p.m.

This year's tournament has been the largest ever held at the Pampa Country Club, and also one of the finest, with some terrific golf being fired.

Awards will be made to the victors immediately after the conclusion of the championship match.

Both hurlers got off to shaky starts in the early innings but from the sixth frame on settled down to hurl brilliant ball and be backed by tight fielding as Stanford fanned seven while Rosin set down five Dukes via the strikeout route.

Rain Slows Play In Texas League

(By The Associated Press) Only two games were played in the Texas League last night, but they really threw the first division statistics into a tough knot.

The San Antonio Missions blanked the second place Tulsa Oilers twice, 4-0 and 2-0. Oklahoma City handcuffed Houston, 10-0. All other league tilts were canceled by the weather.

The Missions' double victory over Tulsa pushed idle Beaumont into a virtual tie with the Oilers — just eight games off the pace. The twin killing also boosted the Missions to within a half game of Beaumont.

Easter's Error Gives Yankees Win; Cardinals Clip Phillies

NEW YORK — (AP) — Phil Rizzuto beat out a bouncer to short with two out in the tenth and pinch-runner Al Martin scored from third to give New York a 4-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians yesterday. Just before his hit, Rizzuto lifted a foul fly that first baseman Lake Easter dropped.

Pitcher Eddie Lopat opened the winning rally with a single. Gene Woodling followed with a single which sent Lopat to third. Martin went in to run for Lopat and scored the winning run.

Bob Feller opened for Cleveland and surrendered two runs in the second inning. The Indians tied the score in the fourth.

Cleveland moved ahead, 3-2, in the fifth on a walk, sacrifice and Al Rosen's two out single but the Yanks deadlocked the issue again in their half with Brown singling home Tommy Henrich from second.

Feller left for a pinch-hitter in the tenth. Early Wynn was tagged with the loss.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Pinchhitter Glenn Nelson's timely eighth inning double with the sacks loaded produced two runs for the St. Louis Cardinals and an 8 to 6 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday. Nelson's two-bagger was one of eight hit in the game off three Philly and four Redbird hurlers. The victory brought the Cards up even with Philadelphia in the clubs' race for the National League top position.

With the count tied 6-6 in the last of the eighth and Cardinals holding down third and second, relief hurler Jim Konstanty walked weak-hitting Del Rice, apparently to force Redbird Manager Eddie Dyer to yank pitcher Fred Martin, or miss a chance to use a pinchhitter.

Dyer elected to send Nelson in. He doubled, put the Redbirds in front, and Al Brasie came to the mound in the ninth and retired the Phils without trouble.

The Phils drew first blood against starter Max Lanier in the opening frame.

The first Redbird tally came in their half of the first.

Three runs in the third put the Birds ahead. That was all for Kenny Heintzelman.

Enos Slaughter added two more to the St. Louis scores with a home run in the fifth.

The Phils got to Lanier in the sixth for three runs.

They tied the score 6-6 in the seventh.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Brooklyn blasted out five home runs Saturday to temple the Chicago Cubs, 13-5. Roy Campanella and Carl Furillo socked two apiece and Duke Snider banged the other.

Don Newcombe went all the way to post his first victory since June 17.

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Lefty Bill Werle outpitched Larry Jansen Saturday with a brilliant two hitter as Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants, 2-1.

Danny Murtaugh clubbed a homer in the second. Ralph Kiner drove in the winning run with a fly in the third.

Second baseman Ed Stanky and Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants were tossed out in the first by umpire Dusty Boggess. Stanky disputed a called strike and Durocher tried to continue the argument.

BOSTON — (AP) — Dave Philley's two homers accounted for four runs Saturday and sparked Chicago to a 7-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Randy Gumpert did a fine relief job for the victors, giving the Red Sox but one hit over six innings.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Tom Upton's home run gave the St. Louis Browns a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia in 10 innings Saturday. Philadelphia dropped into the American League cellar and the Browns took seventh place.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Ted Kuszewski and his Cincinnati teammates continued their terrific pace Saturday as the Reds walloped the Boston Braves, 9 to 4. Kuszewski got three hits to give him 10 in the series.

In this case FEELING IS BELIEVING

No, the eye does not tell everything — not in this instance.

True, it tells you ROADMASTER is smart. It tells you it's big. It shows, if you watch closely, that this brawny beauty rides level and unperturbed even when road-roughness has its wheels fairly dancing.

A glance may even indicate how much lolling comfort there is here — what wide-open freedom passengers and driver know in this gay traveler.

But how can the eye tell you how you feel touching off the great power that's under this broad bonnet?

How can it reveal the silken, swift-mounting surge of oil-cushioned take-off — smooth, silky, unbroken, as Dynaflow Drive works its magic? Even when you watch a ROADMASTER settle down to a long steep pull and crest the top going away, how can it tell you what thrill your spirits get from such ability?

And what can it say of the lift that's yours traveling in a beauty that catches all eyes, swivels passing heads, marks you by its very lines as traveling in as fine a car as any man can ask for?

No, these things you have to feel for yourself, and we're delighted to help you do so.

Your Buick dealer wants you to know about ROADMASTER firsthand — wants you to drive it, try it, feel it out.

It doesn't cost a cent to arrange such a trial. It can do a lot, toward opening your eyes to the day's highest standard of fine-car feel and fine-car action — not to mention "why pay more?" prices.

How about seeing your dealer right away?

Only Buick has Dynaflow Drive and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in Super models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD front-end, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Standard on ROADMASTER, optional extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Mexican Dinners Prove More Complex Than Just Tortillas, Beans — Which Are Staples

By ROBERT F. ALLEN

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexican food anywhere and the fellow you're talking to thinks of tortillas and beans.

They are the foundation staples, sure enough, but back of them is cooking in the true grand style.

The tortilla, a thin, round, toasted sheet of unleavened corn flour, is standard. Equally common are the rich, dark beans—served or boiled, mashed and fried. With these go chile peppers—from the mildest type to the innocent looking, but searingly hot little green variety.

The tortilla can be eaten as is, or with salt or butter; rolled with chunks of meat, beans, chile, or onions to become the taco; rolled into a taco, covered with sauce and a sprinkling of cheese to become an enchilada; or toasted or fried to a crisp like potato chips.

The tortilla keeps teeth a brilliant white, is excellent for mopping up sauce from a plate, and will put a nice polish on silverware. It costs 65 centavos (8 cents) a kilo (2 1/2 pounds), and is packed with health.

A truly Mexican meal, however, might start with crisply sautéed gusanos de maguey with guacamole (avocado) sauce. The gusanos are grubs found under the skin of the maguey cactus.

Pozole soup, traditional around Guadalajara, is a hog's head soup with cacahuazintle, dried sweet corn with dark blue or black kernels.

Then come nopales con huevo made from leaves of the nopal (prickly pear) cactus, boiled with gods, dried, and scrambled with eggs.

The central course is mole de guajolote—wild turkey swimming in rich, spicy mole sauce of a deep rust color and topped up with varieties of dried chile. With its comes a huge bowl of Mexican rice, sautéed with onion and garlic until lightly brown and cooked with little water until dry.

The salad is chayote, a delicately flavored vegetable, boiled, peeled and served in cold slices, vinaigrette.

The fruit, which precedes dessert, is zapote negro, another native delicacy with jet black mushy pulp which is blended with orange juice, rum and sugar.

Chongos round it all off. They are balls of curried milk, boiled with cinnamon sticks and sugar and served chilled.

Throughout the meal there have been stacks of tortillas, piping hot from the griddle, and quantities of mild milk pulque, the fermented sap of maguey cactus.

If you'd like to try some of this in your own kitchen, here's a sampling of typical recipes: Frijoles de olla, and refritos. One pound dried chile mulato (cacahuete, negro, bayo gordo). 1 quart water. 1 tablespoon salt. 1 onion, chopped. Oil or lard.

Oaxaca white cheese

Six tortillas

Add beans to briskly boiling salted water and cook until tender (at least three hours in Mexico City). Add onion and one tablespoon of oil or lard. Cook until beans are tender (another half hour). These are frijoles de olla and may be served with liquid.

For frijoles refritos, drain off the liquid and mash beans. Crumble in the cheese and sauté in sufficient oil until the mixture can be rolled. To make totopos, brown the tortillas in oil until crisp. Break into pieces and decorate the tortilla roll, together with strips of the Oaxaca cheese.

Guacamole

10 aguacates (avocados, alligator pears)

Two tomatoes

One onion, shredded

One-half cup cilantro leaves, green, chopped

Two tablespoons olive oil

One teaspoon salt

One-half teaspoon black pepper

Peel and stone the aguacates (saving stones). Mash together with remaining ingredients and serve chilled. Mexicans serve with the stones, thinking this prevents the sauce from turning black. Delicious as a general sauce.

Mole de guajolote

One wild turkey, boiled in its broth and cut in pieces.

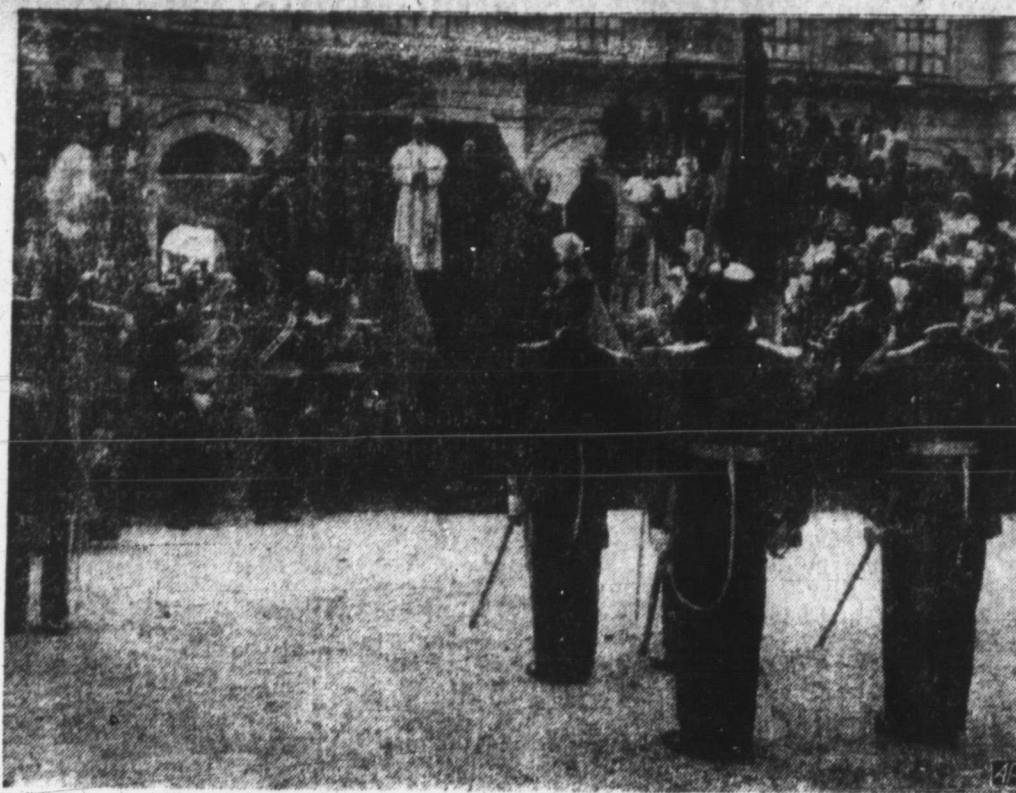

One pound dried chile mulato

One-half pound dried chile ancho

One-half pound dried chile pasilla

One-half pound ajonjol seeds

Three oz. peanuts

Relocation of Italians in Sardinia Seen

ROME — (AP) — The Italian government has turned its attention to the large island of Sardinia to help ease the problem of over-population which emigration so far has failed to solve.

The Rockefeller Foundation has teamed up with the ECA (Economic Cooperation Administration) to help.

The Rockefeller Foundation, which has just completed a malaria control program on the island, has now undertaken a survey to determine how many Italians could be resettled there. And ECA has increased its programs of irrigation and land reclamation to open up new areas for farming.

Preliminary surveys indicate the island might be able to take as many as a million emigrants from the Italian mainland, choked now with a population of more than 380 to the square mile. Sardinia, as large as Sicily, now has a population of about 3 million. Sicily has four million. Quotas and labor restrictions have held emigration from Italy

Australian Tribes Want Own Burials

DARWIN — (AP) — Body-snatching on a fairly large scale is going on in Darwin under the noses of authority. The bodies—or rather the bones—are being snatched for a very different purpose from that of grave robbers of the past.

They are being quietly removed by aborigines from orthodox graves in the Darwin aboriginal cemetery. Aborigines dig up the skeletons in the dead of night and whisk them away for burial in the wilds of Arnhem Land. This is a huge aborigine reservation east of Darwin.

All North Australian tribes have their own funeral rites and burial customs, and they are uneasy about the white man's burials in public cemeteries.

Panhandle Operators Step Up Drilling Tempo As 37 Wells Finaled; 20 Locations Staked

Oil Raised 868 Barrels, Gas Totals Boosted 295,193 MCF

Drilling in the Panhandle took a wholesale increase last week by virtue of 37 new gas completions. New locations climbed also as did new oil completions and total increased oil potentials.

Gas completions brought in a record 295,193 MCF, the largest reported total for any single week this year.

New oil potentials rose to 868 barrels compared to the 654 barrels reported for the week ended July 5. New locations jumped to 20 from the 12 reported staked the previous week.

Cumulative oil production for the year was raised to 22,430 barrels, while gas was boosted to 1,144,457 MCF for 1950.

August Allowables Get Wartime Hike

O&G Division May Be Killed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The way it looks now, only a real war can save the Interior Department's four-year-old Oil and Gas Division.

Even that might not do it. An organization similar to World War II's petroleum administration for war might be set up in place of the division.

The House has gone along with a recommendation of its appropriations committee that the division be abolished or substantially reduced.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, without referring to the House recommendation, has proposed cutting $245,000 off the $2,000,000 budget estimate for the office of Secretary of the Interior.

The House allowed $200,000 for Connally "Hot Oil" Act administration, $5,000 less than the budget estimate. The appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1950, was $175,000.

The Senate committee proposed that for the year ending next June 30 the hot oil act appropriation be $180,000, or $25,000 less than the budget estimate.

Indications are that Interior Secretary Chapman currently is inclined to go along with these proposals.

The current planning would transfer administration of the Connally Act to the geological survey.

Under this arrangement, the division's dealings with the National Petroleum Council, industry advisory group to the Interior Department, would be transferred to the Bureau of Mines.

The Oil and Gas Division was established May 6, 1946, after President Truman ordered the Interior Department to "bear the primary responsibility for providing a focal point for leadership and information for the numerous agencies of the federal government dealing with petroleum."

Opponents of the division say it is little more than a government listening post.

But Walter S. Hallanan, National Petroleum Council chairman, said in testimony before the House committee that the division should be maintained because "in an uncertain and ominous twilight zone between peace and war such a body in which we live today, cooperation be-

Independents Shelve Fight On Importers

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Korean war has brought a break at least one front in the oil industry's import war.

The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn. has announced that it is temporarily shelving its fight with major importers in the interests of the war crisis.

"Under existing conditions, dissension within the industry that might impair the effectiveness of the over-all program cannot be tolerated. In the national interest the differences between the independent producers and importing companies must be shelved for the duration of the emergency," TIPRO President R. L. Foye of Dallas wrote the major oil companies.

Force made clear, however, that the independents would resume their efforts to fix imports permanently at supplemental levels as soon as the war crisis has subsided.

Sunray Operates Scummy Project

TULSA — The largest gas conservation project yet announced for the prolific Scurry County area will be a gasoline plant to be operated by Sunray Oil Corp. for 35 operators and casinghead gas owners cooperating in the area, it was announced here.

Approximately 35,000 producing acres in the North Scurry County area, including the Kelly-Canyon, and Diamond "M" fields are involved in the construction and operating contract covering development of the project. The enterprise will be under the general supervision of H. W. Manley, recently named manager of Sunray's gas and gasoline department. Manley headed these activities for the former Barnard Oil Co., since absorbed into the Sunray organization.

L. G. Rogers, superintendent of the company's manufacturing operations section, will be superintendent of the construction project.

Petroleum Board Continues Talks

HOUSTON — (AP) — The National Military Petroleum Board continues its secret discussions with the national petroleum industry in a national emergency.

The board, named by the secretary of the interior, has the task of keeping in touch with national defense developments and planning for possible quick conversion of the petroleum industry to war production.

"Our work is strictly confidential," Bruce K. Brown of New Orleans, board chairman, said. "All meetings are closed and we report only to the government."

Sooner Activity Stresses Quality

TULSA — (AP) — Quality, not quantity, appeared to be the trend of last week in Oklahoma oil drilling.

Completions and exploration dipped in the face of uncertainty surrounding the Korean episode, but three wells were finished for the week ending July 15.

Finals totaled 125 against last week's 131, including 75 oilers, five gasers and 45 dry holes, according to the Tulsa World.

Nation's Domestic Oil Industry Much Better Prepared for Crisis Than in June of 1940

By MAX SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — The domestic oil industry is in a much better position to meet a war emergency than it was in 1940.

Korean fighting as yet has had little noticeable effect but oilmen are perfecting blueprints for quick mobilization should the Far East conflict mushroom into another world war.

These plans for rapid conversion to war production are classified for security reasons but current industry statistics reflect a very healthy position when compared with the situation of 10 years ago.

In July 1940, United States support to the British, including tanker after tanker of petroleum products, was being speeded.

Heavy Gravity Oil Producers Said Suffering Income Drop

TULSA — Increased imports of residual fuel oil since 1948 has influenced a 58 percent drop in average daily income of domestic producers of heavy gravity crude oil in six typical U. S. fields.

Evidence of injury to heavy crude producers as a result of residual imports is contained in a graph analysis in the forthcoming July issue of the Independent Monthly, published by the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America.

The report, prepared by Minor J. Jackson, Jr., petroleum economist, shows that average production in six widely scattered heavy crude fields has been cut.

The association report said imports of residual fuel oil have doubled since early 1949, and added that "there have been elaborate efforts by certain importers to defend this increase."

Rig Activity Shows Decline For Past Week

DALLAS — Rotary rig operations in oilfields of the United States and Canada showed a net decline of 82 active units in the week of July 10, it was reported to American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co. This drop in activity from the 1950 peak, established in the previous week, was the downturn in drilling activity since the week of May 15. Activity increased during the week in West Texas and New Mexico, Pacific Coast and Canada, with Oklahoma and Illinois showing the greatest declines.

The total for the week of 2,327 operating rigs, compares with 2,399 for the previous week, 2,208 a month ago and with 2,028 for the comparable week of 1949. There were 2,347 units operating in the same week of 1948.

By principal areas, activity for the past two weeks was as follows:

Pacific Coast, 138, up 2; Oklahoma, 289, down 24; Kansas, 130, up 5; Rocky Mountain, 103, up 3; Canada, 94, down 7; Ark-La-Tex, 144, up 8; West Texas & New Mexico, 743, down 13; Gulf Coast, 821, up 1; Illinois, 140, down 13.

Liberalizations For Magnolia's Pension Adopted

DALLAS — (AP) — The Magnolia Petroleum Co. has announced "new liberalizations" in its employee benefit program.

President J. L. Latimer said the most important change was in the company's pension plan. Under the new plan employees would get a minimum of $125 monthly upon retirement at 65. This would include social security payments. The maximum for employees with the company 40 years, would be $200.

Another change would permit more liberal disability payments. The program becomes effective Sept. 1 for employees not in collective bargaining units. Latimer also said it is being offered to representatives of collective bargaining units.

Base Volunteers For Active Duty

LOS ALAMITOS AIR BASE, Calif. — (AP) — An entire Naval Reserve fighter squadron — more than 100 officers and men — have volunteered for active duty.

Twenty-four pilots, six ground officers and 74 enlisted men of squadron VF-171 signed up at the suggestion of Lt. Comdr. Collin Oveland, 32, San Diego. In addition, 16 pilots who formerly belonged to the outfit also joined.

Pork Price Boost Leads Food Index

(By The Associated Press.)
Retail pork prices jumped as much as 20 cents a pound in some stores during the week as a flurry of price increases extended to several other meat items, poultry, eggs, coffee, bread, sugar and other foods.

Anxiety over the Korean war was blamed for touching off some of the boosts, which were foreshadowed by steep rises at wholesale levels last week. But many other factors also contributed; seasonal declines in meat supplies for example, heavier demand for sugar for the canning season; a late coffee crop in Brazil.

There were persistent reports of some minor war-scare food buying by consumers in scattered sections across the nation. Some wholesalers said retail store purchases in many instances were obviously well in excess of normal working inventories. Many wholesalers and manufacturers themselves were buying beyond immediate needs.

The sharpest advances were for the more popular cuts of pork. A survey of chain store prices for center-cut pork chops showed increases ranging from two to 12 cents a pound, with extremes of as much as 20 cents, over last week-end.

Beef also advanced irregularly, but the biggest jump reported by the same big chain was eight cents a pound.

Lamb was unchanged to as much as 14 cents a pound higher. Frying chickens were unchanged to eight cents a pound higher and top grade eggs were up four cents a dozen in many stores.

Coffee roasters this week started a fourth round of two-cent-a-pound increases since late June in the wholesale market.

Unum-packed brands. These increases were blamed mostly on the drought-delayed crop in Brazil which led to tight supply prospects.

Bread was boosted a cent a loaf in several cities.

Refined sugar advanced 20 to 30 cents a hundred pounds at wholesale.

The president of the nation's largest food trade organization, Paul S. Willis of Grocery Manufacturers of America, issued a statement saying food supplies are abundant and "it's just plain common sense for the American people to keep their food purchases on a normal basis."

After Ninety Years of War, Mexico and Church Peaceful

By LAURENCE F. STUNTZ
MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexico's government and the Catholic Church are at peace now, after a long and sometimes bloody fight.

Hammers ring on stone as new churches are built — 20 of them this year in the capital alone. Twenty years ago some state governments were tearing down churches stone by stone.

School buildings have been returned to religious orders for operation. Ten years ago a private school was seized because a crucifix was found in one room.

President Miguel Aleman talked to Catholic bishops on a tour of the country. Ten years ago a senator publicly apologized to Congress because he had attended a public dinner at which a priest was present.

The fight between church and state began 90 years ago when the Jurez reform government seized church property. It was valued then at 800,000,000 pesos — some $400,000,000. But the reform laws were not enforced under the Ling Rightist regime of Porfirio Diaz. By 1910 the church had most of its property back again.

The 1910 revolution re-enacted and strengthened the reform laws. The revolutionary constitution, still in effect, gave the state a monopoly of education which it declared it must be "socialistic."

About 1926 these laws began to be rigidly enforced. In some states all churches were closed. In Tabasco they were all destroyed. The number of priests limited.

taken up his case. The outdoor religious parades continue.

Two presidents and an archbishop share credit for this peace. Archbishop Luis Maria Martinez was appointed at the height of the last open struggle between church and state. He kept quiet, worked softly for better understanding, did no protest when priests were attacked. During the war, he supported the government's Army draft program. He threw the church's weight behind the government campaign to vaccinate all cattle against the foot and mouth disease.

Former President Manuel Avila Camacho publicly proclaimed "I am a believer" — the first official in many years to admit it. President Aleman carried Avila Camacho's liberal stand even further. There are comparatively few restrictions on the church now.

Perhaps the most striking proof of good relations between government and church was made by Archbishop Martinez himself.

"The social doctrines of the Mexican revolution," he said, "are in accordance with Catholic principles except in a few instances."

Auto Industry Has No Armament Contracts Growing Out of Korean War, Leaders Say

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT — (AP) — The auto industry right now has no armament work growing out of the Korean war.

It is ready to put all its industrial might into a war job if the occasion requires. But it first must know precisely what its various plants will be asked to build.

Until that time comes the car manufacturers are making no changes in their short-term or long-range planning. They are continuing their plans to maintain high level peacetime employment and proceeding with preparations for 1951 model car introductions later this year as originally scheduled.

Such are the replies of virtually every automobile maker to numerous inquiries as to what effect the Asiatic situation may have on their peacetime production programs.

It is true that just about every automobile plant has been surveyed to determine what kind of arms production it best is fitted for. It is also true the closest possible liaison is being maintained between auto industry and military procurement.

But, industry executives say, what eventually is needed may be entirely different from what lessons of the last war might indicate.

Out of all the preliminary studies and the experiences following Pearl Harbor would come a speedier conversion than was possible in the early days of the last war.

Generally, the auto industry's feeder and final assembly lines always are filled in peacetime production. An order for complete conversion to arms work would find many thousands of vehicles in various stages of completion on these lines. Most of them probably could be run through to final assembly faster than they could be taken off the lines unfinished.

At the time of Pearl Harbor the auto industry was already engaged in some war work for the allied forces. Its production of civilian vehicles also was on a curtailed allocation basis. Yet it was nearly two months later before the final peacetime automobile rolled off the assembly lines.

In the meantime, however, miles of conveyor lines had been cut down and millions of dollars worth of peacetime machine tools piled up in open fields. Some of the latter were salvaged at the war's end, but much of it wound up as scrap.

Not infrequently the auto makers hear this inquiry:

"Why isn't the auto industry producing war goods now?"

The answer quite generally is: "The auto industry doesn't had zoomed to $9,361,000,000."

Earth's Atmosphere Heats Up Aircraft

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Hot planes really get hot. Fliers have discovered. When they start flying faster than sound, they generate the same kind of heat that burns up meteors which enter the earth's atmosphere. Now the University of California is ready to learn and do something about it.

A new wind tunnel has been built on the Los Angeles campus to study heat generated by fast planes. It is hoped to learn what kind of cooling systems will be needed by such planes.

want a war any more than does anybody else, but it stands ready for all-out cooperation if the emergency comes. All it needs is to know precisely what is wanted."

In World War II the industry began its all-out conversion in January of 1942. By the second quarter of that year it was producing armament at an annual rate of $3,952,000,000. Two years later the annual production rate had zoomed to $9,361,000,000.

Engagement Revealed

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Joan Clay, Pampa and Glenn Campbell of Borger was announced Friday night at a party in the Clay home at 517 N. West.

Miss Clay, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Clay, and Mr. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Campbell, of Borger will be married September 10 at the First Presbyterian Church here.

The serving table and entertaining rooms were decorated in blue and white, the bride-elect's chosen colors. Scrolls in white printed in blue ink and tied with blue satin ribbons were presented to each guest. The scrolls were in two sheets, the first one featuring headlines "Battalion" and "Texas A and M finally subdues the University of Texas." The second sheet disclosed the announcement with "Teasipper will move to Aggieland," the names, and the date.

Mr. Campbell is a senior student at A and M, and Miss Clay completed her first year at the university this spring. Randall Clay, brother of the bride-elect, made the formal engagement announcement. Mr. Campbell and Miss Clay formed the receiving line and Mrs. Gene Morris greeted the guests.

Mrs. Bob Farmer of Dumas, sister of the bridegroom-elect, and Miss Naneen Campbell poured the punch. Guests were registered by Mrs. Charles Beard. Corsages were presented to Mrs. R. G. Campbell, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Campbell, Mrs. O. T. Glasscock, grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Charles Beard, and Mrs. Gene Morris by the honoree and hostess.

Out-of-town guests included: Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. D. M. Spector, Mrs. Gene Morris, Mrs. J. C. Lewis, Mrs. Paul Kemp, and Mrs. Mary Alice Robinson, all of Borger; Mrs. Glasscock of Shamrock; Mrs. M. M. Rutherford, Mrs. Henry Norris, Mrs. Derrill Cameron, and Mrs. Don Rowe, Amarillo; Mrs. Tom Stewart of Phillips; and Mrs. C. C. Hill of Skellytown.

Pampa guests included: Mmes. Herman Jones, V. J. Castka, V. L. Boyles, C. J. McNaughton, Joe Dunham, W. A. York, Derrel Hogsett, Wallace Fahle, Dee Patterson, W. L. Campbell, Floyd Ward, Jerry Boston, Frank Chapman, Ruth Spearman, Charles Beard, James McTaggart, Jack Curtis, Jim Pepin, E. C. Hart, George Hoover, John Hall, N. Dudley Steele, V. L. Hobbs, W. N.

Mrs. Gladys Howard Tells of Convention Of National B&PW

Mrs. Gladys Howard, president of the B and PW, reported on the national club convention in San Francisco at the group's meeting Thursday evening in the City Club Room.

Judge Sara T. Hughes, a Texas delegate from Dallas, was elected national president and the Texas state song was the theme song of the convention. Mrs. Howard reported. She also stated that the Texas favors, a pair of shell rim glasses on a key chain, were very popular, with 3500 being distributed while the Texas delegation was there. Delegations from the states, Hawaii, Canada, and the District of Columbia were in attendance.

The newly-elected official board of the club held its initial meeting before the general session. At the business meeting, plans were completed to sell street decorations for the Top of Texas Rodeo.

Attending were: Gladys Howard, Mildred Lafferty, Mildred Clauser, Valora Logher, Mrs. H. B. Landrum, Corinne Landrum, Clara Lee Shoemaker, Bertha Chisum, Frances Appleby, Virginia McDonald, Dovie Breeze, Agnes Wilson, Laura Belle Corneliuss, Thelma Davis, Buena Cox, Florence Graham, Charlie Neal Young, Maxine Eltheridge, Hazel Jay, Bea York, Viola Chidinning, Jean Anderson, Minnie Barnes, Opal Wright, Elsie Gee, and Noel Thompson.

Police Auxiliary Has Meeting Friday Night

The Police Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. John Wilkinson Friday night, and exchanged secret pat gifts.

Refreshments of cookies and lime tea were served to Mmes. P. C. Wynn, Bob Robertson, Jim Connor, J. O. Dumas, B. T. Cottor, and Ed Johnson.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dumas, Friday, July 28, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Floyd Riley Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Floyd Riley, recent bride, was honored with a miscellaneous shower last Monday evening in the garden of the E. E. McNutt home, 1340 Christine.

Co-hostesses for the occasion were: Mmes. Ray C. Wilson, A. H. Doucette, Frank Lard, H. F. McDonald, Jr., Erdine Dyer, Mildred Lafferty, and E. E. McNutt.

The garden was lighted with gayly colored Japanese lanterns and hurricane lamps. As the guests entered the gate, they registered at the bride's book which was presided over by Mrs. Jewell Rabo of Shamrock, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Doucette and Mrs. Chisum served punch and Mrs. Victor Kroner, niece of Mrs. Riley, served the cake. The large round serving table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with a centerpiece of blue and white asters and blue delphiniums, the bride's chosen colors. These were arranged in a large white pottery basket.

Mrs. C. B. Estes presided at the gift table which was covered with a pastel cloth.

The honoree, attired in a pink linen dress, wore a pink rose corsage. The hostesses wore corsages of mixed garden flowers.

Those attending and sending gifts were: Mmes. G. H. Kyle, Lena Keim, Clayton Husted, Bryant Caraway, Jan Dyer, Roy Tinsley, Thelma Lively, Minnie Barnes, Finis Jordan, Nell Tinsley, Ann Heavak, Hamp Brown, Harold Justice, J. B. Massa, Albert Doucette, D. E. Williams, Katie Beverly, Dan Gribbon, W. D. Benton, Raymond Harrah, Vernon Stuckey, Melvin Lewis, Margaret Rainwater, William Ragdale, Nellie Eller, R. W. Mr. Adams served one year in the navy and completed his work at Pampa High this past year. He has been an employee of the Pampa News since.

Miss Betty Mullins Is Shower Honoree

Miss Betty Sue Mullins, bride-elect of Donald R. Jennings, was complimented with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. C. V. Timmens.

Miss Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mullins, was presented a rose corsage from the hostesses who included: Mmes. Bill Hallmark, Jack Mullins, Tommy Watson, and Timmens.

Mrs. Kay Hallmark presided at the bride's book, and Mrs. Timmens served punch. Mrs. Hallmark was at the gift table.

The serving table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of stock roses of pastel shades. Flanking the centerpiece were lighted white candles in silver candlesticks.

White napkins with "Betty and Don" printed in gold were used. Miss Mullins and Mr. Jennings have set their date for August 19.

Guests attending included: Mmes. R. F. Jennings, R. L. Jennings, J. P. Mullins, T. M. Watson, Joe Mullins, Minor Langford, Joe Foster, K. L. Gillis, Rupert Orr, Maxine Mauldin, Earl Denmore, Henry Reynolds, Dick Higginbotham, J. E. Mullins, R. C. Parker, Kay Hallmark, and Misses Pat Higginbotham, Harriet Skibbs, and Connie Jo Kelley.

Postnuptial Shower Honors Mrs. Vehon In P. Adcock Home

A post-nuptial shower honoring Mrs. Douglas Vehon, nee Miss Gwendolyn Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Powell of Cottage Grove, Ore., was given recently in the home of Mrs. Perry Adcock, 413 Nelson.

Hostesses were Mrs. Floyd McLaughlin, Mrs. Tom Watson, and Mrs. Adcock.

In the receiving rooms decorations were carried out in the bride's chosen colors of green and white. A large lace-covered table was used to display the gifts and cut-flowers were in arrangements around the room. Favors of green and white mints placed in small green and white baskets, green and white cake, and lime green punch were also used as were the napkins of green, monogrammed with white "Gwen and Doug."

Those attending were: Mmes. John Shultz, C. J. Smiles, Buster Snider, W. M. Daughette, Bill Adcock, Raymond McLaughlin, Les Burkhardt of Dalhart, Elmer Ware and Ray Jones of Laketon, and A. G. McLaughlin of Fresno, Calif.

Also Misses Doris Wilson, Edna Daughette, Mary Ann Burkhardt, and the hostesses.

Coming Rush Parties Discussed at Meeting

The coming rush season was the topic of discussion at the last meeting of the Las Ceras Club meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Elsie Boyd.

Plans were made for rush parties to be held the last part of July and the first of August. Present were: Sue Lynn McFall, Janice Mayes, Irma Jean McWright, Venita Cowan, Eleanor or Smith, Sally Cobb, and Barbara Southern.

Plans August Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. William Coronis of 901 Fisher are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Clark Ray Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilson of Lefors. The couple will be married August 5.

Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hukill, 623 N. Somerville, announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Peggy, to D. B. Jameson, Jr., at a luncheon in the Hukill home last Sunday.

The entertaining rooms were decorated in the bride-elect's chosen colors of brick-red, yellow, and white. Shasta daisies in floral arrangements complemented the color scheme.

In the house party were Mrs. Estelle Wheeler, Mrs. H. A. Gilliland, Mrs. D. B. Jameson, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. R. J. Saylor, Sr., and the hostess, Mrs. Hukill.

Place favors were used to announce the wedding plans. They were two wild roses tied with yellow ribbon which had "Peg and D. B." printed on the ends of the ribbon.

The wedding date has been set for September 9. Miss Hukill graduated from Pampa High School this spring with the '50 class. While in school, she was a cheerleader and assumed the headcheerleader position last fall. She became a member of the Tri-Hi-Y this past year and was in the National Honor Society. Vice president of the Sub Deb Club and Lions Club Sweetheart were two other honors.

D. B., who served three years with the navy, was in the '46 graduating class and attended the University of Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jameson, Sr., northwest of the city.

The guest list included: Misses Nancy Jameson, sister of the bridegroom-elect, Martha Parks, Irene Saylor, Donna Robinson, Norma Manatt, Helen Blocker, Jean Cornelius, Merdella Roberts, Laura Nell Berry, Joan Stroup, Martha Hopkins, Betty Wilson, Berenice Holmer, Eulaine Ellis, Jan Sanders, Dorothy Dixon, and Nina Spearman, and Mrs. Max Hukill, sister-in-law of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Duke Principal Speaker at Wayside

Mrs. Mary Ann Duke, County Home Demonstration Agent, was the principal speaker at the last meeting of the Wayside Club.

The meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. Ed Barnes, was devoted to food values and the different daily vitamins.

Attending were: Mmes. J. A. Fugua, who presided, and H. B. Taylor Jr., Doyle Osborne, Billie Redell, Alvin Reeves, Erna Edwards, Gus Carruth, Bol Montgomery, Clint Caylor, Billie Taylor, J. W. Condo, Barnes and one visitor, Mrs. Mae Skaggs. Mrs. Ernest Edwards is to be the next hostess.

MAKES ME SO MAD! Just as I get half-way ready for summer by letting out the waists on all my last year's cottons, getting a sun-tan well-started and packing sundresses for a vacation—well, then they start advertising fur coats and getting me fall-minded! Now I'm simply drooling over some of the advance notices about the new fall styles—elegant, to be sure! Hemlines are midcalf, and the satins we wore last year are good again, along with velvets and brocades for formal dress. Haven't heard what we'll do with our hair this year, but, long or short, I'm keeping it under my hat 'cuz the hats are going to be so variable—face forward or way back on the head!

PEG PREDICTS that soon now a new fad will be catching on in town and there'll be a ukulele in almost every teenager's room. The local music stores are featuring these ukes, and I guess all that's needed is a raccoon coat. 'Member those times? Remember these days, too, because, like I was reading the other day, twenty years from now folks will be referring to our time as "the good old days."

KNOW HIM? He's "the father of a bride" and it's folly to try seeing him these days. He can't even find room to hide, amid china, linen and silver trays. There's fittings, flowers and punch to serve, and sometimes he just loses hope and wishes he had the nerve to convince them to elope!

'NUFF SAID ABOUT this summer's brides. What about those brides of not too many summers back—Mrs. Frank Culbertson who'll start her 27th year, think it is, in a lovely, lovely new home—an expanse of brick. The Chester Thompsons are celebrating their anniversary sometime about now, don't know the exact date. The Dr. H. M. Wyatts celebrated last week—they're one year from their "lin" anniversary.

HEARD SOME TALK about the party Lillian McNutt had last week. Don't know the night it was held, but I know it was a lovely affair—she's one of our most popular hostesses. Then there's Mrs. Jimmie Massa who established herself years ago as a champion party-giver. Once several years back she hosted a nautical party and the guests walked up a gangplank to reach the front door. We drove by and almost lost one of our little deck hands in passing—it was very realistic. Anyway, you see what I mean—she's clever.

RADIE AND LEON GILBERT'S daughter (whose wedding last year was a symphony in pink) is oh, so happy because her husband is now building "a simply precious" home for her in Amarillo where the young couple lives.

PEG'S PLUGGING FOR the Boy's Club! Couldn't something be worked out whereby each civic club, sorority, lodge, etc., would have a representative at the next organizational meet? At least give it a chance. It'd be nice if, when a new project is put before us, folks would say, "When can I do to help?" instead of wailing, "Impossible, can't be done!"

PAMPA PANORAMA: Noticed Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ellis enjoying (See PALAVER, Page 14).

"Carnival Tea"

A carnival theme was used at a tea announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Edith Mae Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stokes, and Jack Livesey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Livesey of Lockney.

The tea was given Thursday afternoon in the Stokes' home, 1109 S. Hobart. The wedding will be August 24, 7 p. m., at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. E. Douglas Carver will officiate.

The entertaining rooms, carrying out the carnival motif, were decorated with balloons, confetti, a miniature ferris wheel, carnival dolls, and candy canes. Centering the refreshment table was an electric merry-go-round flanked with white and yellow daisies.

Favors were colored balloons with small scrolls attached revealing the date. Miss Margie Taylor presided at the bride's book and Mrs. C. N. Stokes, Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, and Mrs. E. L. Burch, sister of the honoree, ladied the punch.

Mrs. Stokes and Miss Morrow were in the receiving line.

Those attending were: Mmes. Philip Jackson, C. E. McMinn, L. L. Stovall, T. C. Webster, T. C. Neal, W. B. Henry, W. F. Xanger, Homer Taylor, W. E. Taylor, Edie Gray, T. J. Zachary, Bill Kretz, B. N. Stokes, H. L. Stokes, C. E. Powell, G. T. Adams, Park Brown, Bryan Buck, L. J. Barker, W. E. Benton, Lee Moore, Lee Moore, Jr., D. A. Caldwell, A. L. Prigmore, Harvey Downs, L. H. Musgrove, Tom Duvall, C. R. Cobb, Reuben Hilton, T. J. Worrell, Maude Schulky, H. A. Yoder, Frank Silcott, B. R. Nuckols, Herman Jones, J. C. Volmet, T. B. Solomon, T. L. Byars, J. E. Byars, R. L. 4-H CLUB GIRLS GIVING DEMONSTRATIONS

During July the 4-H Club girls are giving demonstrations to the Home Demonstration Club women.

The 4-H team demonstrators were trained by the agent, to give the Master Mix demonstration, and to make muffins from the Master Mix. This gives the girls training in putting on team demonstrations, and it gives the Home Demonstration Club women a chance to see the work being done by 4-H Club members.

Misses Jessie Lee Noel and Leta Lavery gave the Master Mix demonstration to the Worthwhile Club; Misses Billie Mae Osborn and Olivia Ann Swain gave the same kind of demonstration to the Bell Club members; and Misses Barbara Edwards and Jaqueline Robertson gave the team demonstration to the Wayside Club members Friday. Other meetings are scheduled with other 4-H members giving the team demonstration.

CLOTHING CLINICS

Two groups of Clothing Clinics are being held during July. Mothers of 4-H Club girls and adult leaders are attending these clinics. The first Clothing Clinic was held at Alameda July 6 and 10 for women in the McLean, Lefors and Alameda communities. The second Clothing Clinic is scheduled in Pampa. July 13 and 18 are the dates for mothers of 4-H Club girls and Adult Leaders from Pampa Jr. High Club, Hopkins, Grandview and Blue Bell Clubs to get special training in clothing construction.

NEW BULLETINS IN THE AGENT'S OFFICE

Grace Friend

JEALOUS HUSBAND

Dear Miss Friend:

My husband is terribly, terribly jealous of me and no matter what I do he gets upset and hurt. There is no reason for this as I am devoted to him and love him deeply but once in a while if I meet a man friend on the street and he wants to take me to lunch or buy me a cup of coffee, I think I should be able to accept without setting off a storm at home.

Do you think that it is wrong for me to do such innocent things as drink a cup of coffee or a soda with another man in broad daylight in a public place?

Mrs. Q.

Dear Mrs. Q:

While there is nothing wrong in your having a cup of coffee with a man friend, you will have to decide if your husband's displeasure is worth the price.

If you love him and wish to live happily with him, you may have to conduct yourself as he wishes in such matters in order to maintain a peaceful, comfortable home.

If you want to attempt to change his attitude at the price of misunderstanding and injured feelings, go ahead but first consider carefully the cost. You may decide that it is better to conform to his wishes than to take a stand on the matter.

Announces Wedding Plans

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Welborn of Lefors are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Grace Lee, to Aubrey Joe Carlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carlton of Pampa. The wedding will take place in August at the local Church of Christ.

Mary Ellen Keffer, Harold Cobb Marry In Seymour First Presbyterian Church

A double ring ceremony was solemnized June 17 to unite in marriage Miss Mary Ellen Keffer, Seymour, and Harold Ewing Cobb of Pampa. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou T. Keffer and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cobb, Pampa.

The Rev. William J. Spreen of Brownfield, uncle of the bride, officiated. The ceremony was read at the First Presbyterian Church in Seymour.

Banquet arrangements of pink gladiolus and palms formed a background at the nuptial space. Mrs. Vernon Teague, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a Maurus original gown of "Chantilly" lace over white satin. It was designed with an illusion yoke embroidered in seed pearls and edged with a deep lace ruffle. The full skirt extended into a cathedral length train and the finger-tip veil of illusion complemented a Juliet cap trimmed in braided satin and white tulle. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Mildred Wallace of Seymour. She wore a pink marquisette dress trimmed in lace. Lace mitts and a colonial-type bouquet of pink sweetheart roses completed her attire.

Miss Rosemary Randall was flower girl. She wore a floor-length frock of white organza over pink taffeta.

Ray Thompson of Childress served as best man and Joe Keffer, brother of the bride, and James Cobb of Plainview, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were honored at a reception given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, Mrs. Charles T. Keffer, Enid, Okla., presided at the punch bowl assisted by Miss Zondola King of Plainview. Miss Mary Marie Bier was in charge of the bride's book.

For going away the bride chose a spice linen suit with natural linen accessories. A white orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

The couple will return to Lubbock following a honeymoon trip to Colorado. Both are graduates of Texas Tech.

dinner out the other evening. Mrs. Lillie Hollis (who rose to the post of noble grand in the Rebekah Lodge the first of the year) has a smile that spells friendliness. Mrs. Oran Payne watches close by while her young son splashes in the swimming pool. The Sherman Whites picked the coolest spot they knew to entertain "company" to their evening—their front porch, of course—and that's where I see them all laughing and talking together. The W. E. Marvins' eleven-year-old, Sandra, is "cute as pie." I've heard many good things about Mrs. R. A. Mack—she's president of the Women's Council at the First Christian Church. I always take note of attractive Mrs. Bill Ward... she was theatering in a navy blue sundress the other evening. Mrs. Loyce Caldwell has a pair of green shoes that are just the shade I've been wanting. If you need a good alto voice call on Mrs. Kenneth Lankford and I'm told that Mrs. Frank Turpen has a contralto voice worthy of attention. The Jim Cullipers are going over the exterior of their home and it's looking good. The Bill Bralys are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their first little one... they're figuring out where to put the "bathinett," etc., etc.

MORE OF US SHOULD drive down to Canyon and support the Sundown Players in Palo Duro Park. This is a fine thing for our part of the country, and after all these years they're at last getting little theater work going in the Southwest. There should be some fine productions, and Pampa is more than likely giving a bit of talent to them. Namely, the W. C. Hutchinsons' son, Bill. Incidentally Pampa High has organized a Theopian society and we're going to be watching the "top two" this year and see if they continue in the drama. Those two, Theola Reim and James Moore, were honored with the S. W. Brandts' daughter, Beverly, who received the school drama award. Maybe they'll help bring to this part of the country what New England has had for ages 'n' ages—summer stock companies.

IN CASE OF ANOTHER war, some of us may be caught using thin, "one-more-washing" sheets, getting nylons from a bottle of tan liquid, and stretching sugar coupons, but nobody can say we hoarded when times started looking bad. All this hurry-burly about "everybody else is doing it" still does not make hoarding the popular thing to do. A few start buying in quantities, and scare a lot of others into doing the same thing. Really now, don't you think that not having extra sheets for the guest room was the most trivial thing we had to face in the last war? Leastways, that's the opinion of

Rebekahs Install Nicholson and Kirkham

Noble Grand

Vice Grand District Deputy

Since she can't break her bedtime snack habit, musical comedy star Patricia Morison skips milk at lunch and saves it for a night cap.

Mrs. Lola Nicholson and Mrs. Pay Kirkham were installed noble grand and vice grand, respectively, in the Rebekah Lodge July 6, with District Deputy Ruby Wylie conducting the service.

Mrs. Wylie's staff included Mrs. Frances Hall, Mrs. Elsie Cone, Mrs. Frances Braswell, Mrs. Eula Killian, Mrs. Babe Mastin, and Mrs. Dee Conner. Mrs. Bonnets Brown sang the Ode.

Other officers installed for this term included: Ella Crisler, warden; Eula Killian, conductor; Lilly Noblitt, flag bearer; Bobbie Brummett, right supporter to noble grand; Ellen Kretzmeier, left supporter; Lois King, right supporter to vice grand; Vela McCarthy, left supporter; Lilly Hollis, junior past grand; Dorothy Voyles, right supporter; Sammie Sullivan, left supporter; Mary Rainey, chaplain; Lilly Patterson, outside guardian; Lela Pearl Reed, right altar supporter; Anna Lewis, left altar supporter; Hazel Franklin, musician; Beula Vance, guest register; and Lora Brummett, reporter.

The installation was held in the lodge hall. Climaxing the service, Mrs. Lilly Hollis, junior past grand, was presented a friendship quilt for her work as noble grand.

Prices Rising As War Result

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Using the Korean war as a springboard, prices are rising on many things people eat, wear or use.

This was demonstrated yesterday by a weekly report from the bureau of labor statistics which showed virtually all wholesale prices headed upward. Retail prices generally trail wholesale prices by only a few days.

The report followed by one day President Truman's news conference statement that there is no shortage of food in sight, no excuse for hoarding and no prospect of rationing.

The question of possible home-front mobilization was discussed by Mr. Truman and his cabinet. The president indicated at his news conference last week that he had no immediate intention of asking for emergency authority to establish price and wage controls.

The bureau of labor statistics said wholesale prices climbed on the average 1.8 percent in the seven days ending Tuesday. The index stood at 161.8, which means 61.8 percent higher than the 1926 average. A year ago it was 154. The peak was 170.3 in August, 1948.

Corn, hogs, cotton and cocoa beans were pace setters in the new climb.

New Method Is Adopted to Sink Pipeline

EDGEWATER, N.J. — (AP) — A welder's torch will replace the golden spike late this month to join terminus sections of a natural gas pipeline in the mile-wide Hudson River. It's something of a reverse pioneering project. Enterprising Westerners have pushed 1,840 miles of pipe eastward, much as far-seeking easterners laid rails westward a century ago. The Hudson River crossing, from here to 134th St., New York City, is one of 40 major river crossings on the route from Mercedes, Texas, in the Rio Grande Valley. The line is part of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., with headquarters in Houston. Deliveries to the New York metropolitan area are expected before the year end, when all sections of the line will be completed. A new technique has been devised by the Omaha Dredge and Dock Co. to put the 3,200 feet of 24-inch pipe under the river bed. Did you ever blow bubbles through a straw into the bottom of a soda glass when you were a kid? The contractors will use a somewhat similar process. Here's the way they explain it: Most Eastern rivers have level banks. The pipe normally is first completely joined, then pulled across and sunk in one operation. The Hudson at this point, however, is solidly built up at both banks. The towering Palisades on the west bank cut off all elbow room necessary for a normal crossing. The idea is to put the pipe 25 feet under the bed of the river, which averages 40 feet below the water surface. For the Hudson crossing, the pipe first is being welded into multiple 440-foot sections. These will be joined into half-mile lengths, mounted on barges, swung into the river and welded in mid-stream. The Hudson River bottom consists of deep silt. This brings the soda straw technique into operation. A series of expendable jet pipes will be attached to the bottom of the pipeline. Air and water under controlled heavy pressure will be released through the jets. The silt will be agitated and the pipe will sink into a self-made trench at the proper depth. The pipe line is so designed that its size and weight, at 25 feet below the river bed, permit it to float in the mud at that level, due to the density of the silt. Twenty powerful pumps will push air and water into the jet pipes to sink the pipe into the mud. The transcontinental system will terminate in the river itself. The terminal meter station will be located on a steel and concrete pier jutting 40 feet from Manhattan Island. The Venezuelan state of Bolivar and territory of Amazonas are largely unexplored.

GO AHEAD, FEEL—Guests at fashion shows usually take advantage of the invitation to touch the new fabrics.

A Ration of Fashion Proving Women's Passion Is Cashin'

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Talk about things being subversive, get this. There is a large, well-organized group of men and women at work in this city. Everything they are doing is hush-hush. And their aim in life is to change things in America. They call themselves fashion designers. I went to one of their meetings, where they showed their secret plans for an invasion of the American home next fall. Nobody knows about it—yet. But come around August, and you'll all know about it. Women will be dying for one of those darling new coats or suits that these birds are even now stitching up. And men will be forced to support these revolutionaries by paying the bills. Every season, it seems, this happens. The designers come out from a winter of high-class hibernation with new skirt lengths, new silhouettes, new materials, new shades. Well, maybe not exactly "new" — just different from the ones they had last year. And they call in all the fashion editors to view their latest collection. The fashion editors begin teasing the poor paying public with hints of the things to come next fall. And, come summer, the stores blossom out with these chic-est of chic costumes. By October, the women are wearing them, the men are bankrupt and the designers are back at their drawing boards, preparing for the next time around. Showing a new fall collection, like the one I saw, is an event with the designers. We—17 ladies and me—sat in a semi-circle. Before us tripped the new styles, transported by models. As each gal came out, she paused before a mirror, with a aint smile on her lips. Then she would tell the model number and the price of the creation she was wearing. "Model 735," she would say. "Model 735. This is Model 735." The commentator then launched into a complete description. "Here we have a perfectly lovely little cocktail suit. It has the new 'figure-eight' silhouette, you'll notice. The material of the jacket—go ahead, ladies, feel it—is something entirely new, from France. The color is created exclusively for us. It's a new shade called 'burnt banana.' The model, while this harangue was going on, would take a few mincing steps to the left, turn, smile, take a few mincing steps to the right, turn, then proceed along the semi-circle, letting everyone feel the material who wanted to. I felt the material, feeling daring. Few men have the opportunity to meet a girl for the first time and feel her material. Everything that was shown was new. There was a coat, 'we call it our shirt-tail coat,' which looked like a man's shirt-tail, strangely enough. The length next year for coats will be the 'new' seven-eighths length, about half-way between the three-quarter length and the end. Next year, maybe the fifteen-sixteenths. Then there was the cape coat, which wraps all the way around and yet billows out both front and back. From the side, the model looked like an isosceles triangle with a head on it. Another coat that will be in style next season is the great coat. It's tremendous. If you get tired of wearing it, you can pitch it. Another coat had huge cuffs that buttoned up the sleeves. The lady next to me, obviously an expert, was taking notes. She wrote down, 'Cuff goes up one-third of sleeve.' I was taking notes, too. I wrote down, 'Fine place to carry lunch.' The 'cut-away' coat will be in vogue next fall. It is shaped like a man's swallow-tail coat, shorter in the front than the back. Personally, I think they were just running short of material when they designed this job. For more than an hour, the models paraded in and out, the commentator chatted amiably about the styles, the assembled ladies took notes. Over the whole meeting, however, hovered the sombre vision of Father and his check book.

Texas Waits on Size of Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — Just how big is Houston? You'll have to wait a while longer to find out, says District Census Supervisor George Findlay.

Findlay says as many as 10,000 Harris County residents may have been missed in the counting. His office is going to try to get them counted by re-nouncing preliminary figures for Houston. He wouldn't say when this would be, but added: "We have enough money to keep our office open until July 20, but I believe we can finish before that deadline."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Warning to "Optimistic Olivers"

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Aren't you interested in winning?" asked Optimistic Oliver's partner. "Just let me know what you're after. If you're looking for thrills, that's all right with me. I might be able to dream up a few for you to remember me by."

"I was trying to win a big score," Oliver defended himself. "If we had taken that pack we'd have made a fortune."

"True," admitted his partner. "If you had wheels you'd be a troley car. And if I had any sense I'd know better than to play Canasta with you."

This was a bit strong, but the complaint was not unjustified. Oliver had lived up to his nickname with disastrous results.

When the hand began, Oliver's side had 4500 points, while the opponents had only 2000. His side needed 120 points for the first meld, while the opponents needed only 90 points. Neither side melded, and the pack grew to quite a respectable size. Finally Oliver discarded a deuce, freezing the pack.

Oliver then proceeded to discard five kings in a row. The rest of the story will need no telling to experienced Canasta players. Oliver found a few more safe discards but eventually decided to discard additional wild cards for lack of anything else that was surely safe. Having done so, he was no longer able to meld 120 points, no matter what was discarded to him. His hand was useless, and his partner was no better off. Their only hope was that the opponents also would never be able to meld.

Unfortunately for Oliver, the enemy eventually got the pack, which was really huge by that time. They scored well over four thousand points on the hand!

Now let's go back to Oliver's position when he decided to freeze the pack. Before he discarded the deuce, he held the following twelve cards:

He could have put down the five kings with a joker and a deuce. This would give him his initial meld and a canasta at the same time. He could discard one of the three odd cards and wait for a chance to meld out. Even if his partner could not help very much, Oliver could expect to meld out fairly quickly. The hand would probably be a great victory or a great loss. However, his side would win the game and thus get rid of the disadvantage of needing a meld of 120 points.

Instead of playing it safe in this way, Oliver decided to gamble on a freeze. He reasoned that he had five safe discards and that other safe discards would be available by the time he had finished with them. In the meantime, he or his partner might get the pack.

It was typical of Optimistic Oliver that he thought only of what he might gain and not of what he might lose. He had no way of knowing whether his partner could find safe discards. Even if Oliver thought that he had a fair chance to score a lot of points, the risk was far too great. The point is that there are times when it pays to take a small but sure profit rather than risk a huge loss in the attempt to make a killing.

Q—My opponents had a canasta consisting of four fives and three jokers. The deck was frozen and I discarded a five. The opponent at my left had two more fives in his hand. He claimed he could pick up my five and take the discard pile. Is this true?

A—Yes. You are always permitted to pick up the previous discard (and the rest of the discard pile with it) if you have two natural cards that match the discard. The closed canasta has nothing to do with the matter.

Draftees Trained At Nine Centers

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Draftees in the Fourth Army area will be processed at nine induction centers in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

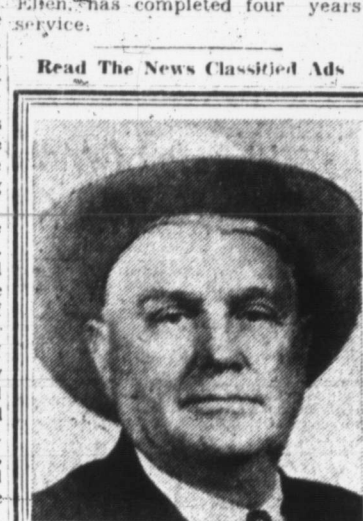

The centers will be at Little Rock, New Orleans and Shreveport, Oklahoma City, and Amarillo, Dallas, El Paso, Houston and San Antonio.

After being processed the draftees will be sent to reception centers. Officers said the Army probably would use only existing reception centers and there are none in the Fourth Army area.

New Weekly Peak Expected as Auto Builders Hit Stride

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT — (AP) — The auto industry may build more than 200,000 vehicles this week.

If the figure is realized it will be the first time in auto industry history that many vehicles have been built in a single week. Where auto production goes from here depends largely upon the international situation and the amount of steel that continues available for civilian production.

The situation with respect to war-scare buying appears to be somewhat spotty throughout the country. Some sections report a rush to place new car orders and brisk demand for late model used cars. A few report little reaction that can be traced directly to the Korean war and its possibilities.

The trade paper Automotive News which made a survey a few days ago reports that so far there has been no widespread boosting of used car prices. It notes, however, that contrary to normal trends used car prices have been holding steady for some time. Normally prices would have been sliding all through June with a sharp dip after July 4. Generally the average of used car prices has been about the same as it was a month ago. Of course this condition cannot be counted upon to continue indefinitely. The Korean outbreak has had a very definite influence on thinking among would-be car buyers. Its influence on new and used car demand will increase as long as it remains a threat to world peace.

Encountering difficulty getting delivery of new cars many would-be buyers will turn to the used car dealers. That could create a shortage of good used cars. Such a shortage automatically means higher prices. But few persons close to the industry anticipate any skyrocketing of used car prices. Only a complete shutdown of the auto factories could have that effect. If that happens thousands of individuals will be trying to sell their cars at big mark-ups.

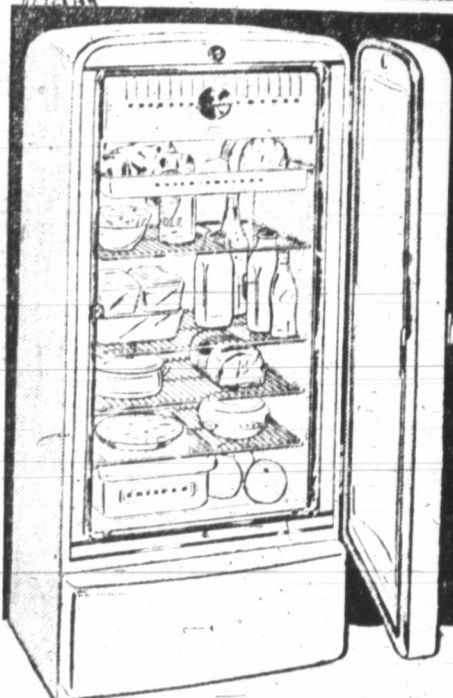

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no pills at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcinate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, if reducible pounds inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chest, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 40 POUNDS
"Before taking Barcinate, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better, thanks to Barcinate." Signed, Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

Ohio Town Bans Kids' Dancing

CALDWELL, Ohio — (AP) — Feeling that dancing is contrary to religious principles, Noble County commissioners have voted, 2 to 1, to ban folk dancing by children on the courthouse esplanade Saturday nights.

Commissioner Charles Rayner said: "I disapprove of dancing. I voted against it because of the expressed opinion by church people who were opposed to that type of entertainment because of the immorality evident in folk dancing."

The sole defender, Commissioner Willard T. Davis, declared: "I see nothing immoral about it. I always danced and enjoyed dancing."

Walter E. Rogers Wages Vigorous Battle For Demo Nod in Hot Congressional Race

Waging a vigorous campaign for the Democratic congressional nomination, Attorney Walter E. Rogers is the only Gray County man in the field of four for the nod.

Rogers, long a public figure, has devoted almost as much time to the service of the public as he has to his private practice of law.

The lanky, dynamic attorney was born in Texarkana, Ark., on July 19, 1908 and moved to Texas shortly after he learned to walk.

His family moved to McKinney where he attended public schools and later graduated from high school. He continued his education by working his way through Austin College at Sherman and the University of Texas.

During his college years he worked in the state comptroller's office and still proudly carries a pay check issued to him by the state of Texas, stamped "Insufficient Funds."

Rogers moved to Pampa in 1935 to start law practice and in 1937 opened his own law office. He was soon appointed city attorney and held that position for several years. In 1942 he was named district attorney for the 31st Judicial District and saw only three defendants found "not guilty" by petit juries.

A life-long member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, he is a past member of the Jaycees, a past president of the Pampa Rotary club and served as first war bond chairman of Gray County.

During the Democratic primary of 1948 he was given an unsolicited 67 write-in votes for the office he is now seeking.

He is a member of the Gray County, State and National Bar Associations. His law practice has carried him into the highest courts of the land, the Railroad, Banking and other commissions of the state.

He married Jean Daly of Pampa and is the father of six children, two of whom belong to the Boy Scouts.

Although he had given little or no thought to the congressional race when he was given the 67 write-in confidence votes in 1948, Rogers confided in The News on September 3, 1949 that he would definitely run against Eugene Worley in 1950. Upon Worley's appointment to a federal judgeship in February of this year, Rogers immediately announced for both special and primary elections and was first to file for the office. He was followed, in announcing for the office, by Mrs. Altavene Clark, J. Blake Timmons, both of Amarillo and LeRoy LaMaster of Perryton and later by Ben Guill, who won the special election.

He came in fourth in special congressional race, but he led the field of the five Democratic candidates considered by the public as he has to his private practice of law.

Be Sure to Vote

Most observers expect the vote to be exceedingly light in the first Democratic primary July 22. Slambang battles of the type which attract voters to the polls are lacking. Public interest in the outcome of the various state contests is described as somewhat worse than lethargic.

That's a mighty good reason for making a special effort to vote. The smaller the total poll, the more important the individual ballot is likely to be. The prospect presents an unusual opportunity to the electorate of any particular area, including the Panhandle. If the vote should be heavy here and light in the rest of the state, the poll in this region might be decisive in some of the most closely contested races. And several positions of great importance to all Texans will be involved.

Regardless of what others may do, Gray Countians should resolve now to vote. Those who expect to be on vacation, or other trips on primary election day, should attend to the matter at once by casting absentee ballots.

A sufficient stimulant of this interest should be the prospect that a few votes might mean a great deal in many races on July 22.

Ex-Banker Graham Seeking Same Post For Second Trip

Candidate for county commissioner, deputy sheriff and tax collector, for his second term J. W. (Bill) Graham faces three opponents.

A graduate of Metropolitan Business College, in Dallas, the 67-year-old candidate is the father of four children. He has held positions as a bank cashier in Houston and business manager of a service station in Pampa for 24 years. He served four years in the Navy.

Previous political offices held by Graham are county commissioner, deputy sheriff and tax collector of Wheeler County.

He has based his qualifications on his "wide experience with finances, farming, business, and previous experience as a county commissioner of Wheeler County."

He has pledged to continue trying to cut expenses of the county as he has attempted in the past two years. He has declared "building programs should be considered before undertaken so that a job, once completed, does not drain the taxpayers' purse by constant repair or rebuilding costs."

He has also promised to continue every effort for completion of Highway 70 and other rural road improvements where the taxpayers can afford it. He stated, too, that deficit spending is just as dangerous on a local level as it is on a national level.

Timmons Wages Less Hectic Solon's Race

Congressional candidate J. Blake Timmons, Amarillo legislator, has run a much more quiet race for the Democratic primary than he did in the special May 6 election.

Timmons, 33, is a veteran politician and has won the backing of organized labor groups in Amarillo and Fort Worth, although the latter cannot actually vote for him.

Timmons has also served two terms in the Texas Legislature where his record shows that he voted against the so-called Right Work Bill. The bill was also boldly opposed by Houston Communists.

Candidates Facing Last Week Try for Interest, Votes From Apathetic Public

The last stand.

That is what candidates for office will be making this week before submitting their cases to the jury—a jury made up of every eligible voter who decides to go to the polls and cast a ballot.

Last minute newspaper advertisements, radio speeches, and radio spot announcements were being readied in every county of the state.

Pampa and Gray County are not alone in getting their share of political barrages from the public office seekers. Amarillo and the large cities in the heavier populated areas are being subjected to intense bombardments from statewide candidates in a hectic last ditch struggle to win the Democratic nomination with a clear majority, or a fighting change in the August 28 runoffs.

What the various campaigns have lacked in bombast they have made up for in numbers of candidates seeking office.

The campaign for governor has been unusually quiet to have so many candidates. Only two of the hopefuls bothered to bring their campaign to Gray County. They were Casa March and Wellington Abbey, neither of whom are expected to carry this section of the Panhandle.

Of the 12 names on the ballot for lieutenant governor about the best known locally are Kyle Vick, Waco, Preston E. Smith, Lubbock, Fred Red Harris, W. O. Reed and Pierce P. Brooks, all of Dallas.

It has turned into a word duel between Walter E. Rogers and Mrs. Altavene Clark, J. Blake Timmons' has all but vanished from the lips of voters and LeRoy LaMaster, Perryton hopeful, was just holding on through several personal appearances at local pie suppers.

Next in line of interest to voters was the sheriff's race with comprising Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, Hemphill and Lipscomb counties," said Attorney Braly. "I wish to continue to serve in that capacity for the next elective term," he added.

Its three starters, G. H. "Skinner" Kyle seeking reelection, R. H. "Rufe" Jordan, seeking to unseat him and H. C. Johnson as the third man. Most of the attention has been focused on Kyle and Jordan, but predictions as to who will win are fairly well divided between Kyle and Jordan.

What started off as a minor race—the county attorneyship—has developed into more of a question mark than the sheriff's battle and has been stealing most of the show.

Waters has been smooth in countering Studer's statements on his record as county attorney. Studer has emphasized reelection for a second term and Waters has countered with "my opponent has been in the office for three other terms."

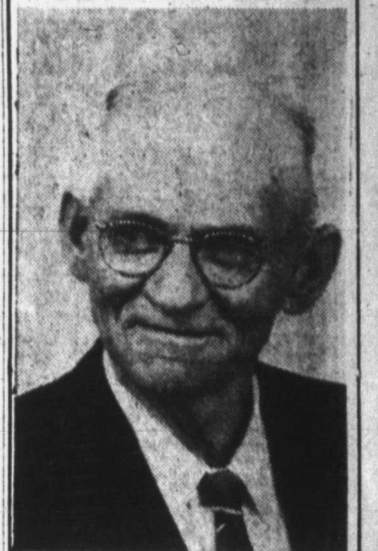

On statistics of days in jail meted out by the County Court during the past year and a half, and fines imposed during the same period, Waters has been pointing up that the jail sentences and fines were imposed by the Court and that it is in the Court's discretion as to what punishment will mete out.

Waters has also jumped on the fact the County Commissioners Court has spent over $3,000 in special attorneys fees for county civil proceedings.

Outside of those races, about the only ones concerned in the others are the candidates themselves.

The precinct offices have drawn several candidates for most of the spots, but have drawn little concern from observers. The usual hot seat in Gray County politics — county judge

HE BELIEVES

He Is Opposed to—

• F.E.P.C.

• Socialized Medicine

• Federal Group Housing

HE WANTS IMMEDIATE ACTION TO BE TAKEN TO STOP COMMUNIST AGGRESSION

Walter Rogers believes future of our country depends upon the homes and small communities. Believes in home rule and home responsibility. Believes encroachments have been made upon individual rights which must be checked or rights will be lost to the people.

Believes a balanced economy must depend upon private competitive enterprise; free of Government control except for adjustment of wrongs brought about by bad faith. Believes capital and labor should settle own disputes with government only in role as arbiter.

Believes economy of this region based primarily on agriculture, believes farmers of this section capable, sound-thinking Americans; favors stabilized farm economy but believes many features of farm program should be at option of the farmer and not at the whim or caprice of Bureaucrats. Problem can not be solved overnight, but is being solved and that farmer's suggestions and advice should be followed and used. Pledges full assistance to Canadian Dam and all other water conservation projects in district; sees such projects as sound investment and essential to economy of district and also vital to national defense.

Believes federal aid to education is double taxation; believes if government will attend to own affairs, leave our tidelands alone and conduct itself in accordance with Constitution, Texas won't have to worry about federal aid to our schools.

Believes Civil Rights is a mis-nomer, is purely political and will not aid any of the peoples involved; if Constitution is followed there is no necessity for a Civil Rights program by Congress. Constitution provides that program fairly and honestly.

Believes the old people are not getting their just dues, too much of the money set aside for them going into overhead costs, that they are entitled to more courtesy in their claims and requests.

Believes in soundness of depletion allowance for oil and gas business. Believes that soft treatment of traitors should cease.

Believes in drastic reductions in government costs, abolition of over-lepping bureaus, cleaning out of overstuffed departments, stream-lining red tape, demands full and fair day's work on part of every government employee, and courtesy to the taxpayers as they go along.

Believes in proper preparedness and defense of this country first; do the cutting where it will not weaken the strength of the nation.

Believes income taxes too high, that proper economy can bring about reductions.

Believes rights of Veterans to purchase land under Veterans bill should be immediately stream-lined, completely freed of red tape and all political favoritism should be abolished.

Summed up, Walter Rogers believes in our American way of life, in for efficiency and economy in government, and pledges the people of this district to work for these ideals.

He is widely-known and respected as an able and courageous lawyer and a conscientious and patriotic citizen.

He offers to the people of the district experience and training.

He is successful in his own profession.

Walter Rogers has as much at stake in the future of this country as any of the rest of us. Here is the Rogers family. Standing, left to right, are John, Walter and Tommy. Seated, left to right, are Mary Catherine, Mrs. Jean Rogers, Robert and Susan. "We're a family with never a dull moment," he tells friends.

ELECT THE GRAY COUNTY MAN

Able.. Mature.. Experienced

(Paid Pol. Adv.)

Being Congressman Old Aim Of Perryton's Pete LaMaster

A political career has been the chief ambition of LeRoy LaMaster, for the greater part of his life. He was born in Ochiltree County 31 years ago and is known to his family and friends as "Pete," and he is now a candidate for Congress, having carried his home county by more than 85 percent in the special May 6 election, out of 11 candidates. LaMaster is one of 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LaMaster of Perryton. His father is a bank president and in the real estate, insurance and farming business. The congressional candidate fought in the Pacific with the Navy. He enlisted in 1942 as an apprentice seaman and was commissioned the following year. He served on the USS Chara, an attack transport, for 20 months. Before his time in the armed services, LaMaster finished high school in Perryton, entered Tabor State College at Stephenville and was in the Reserve Officers Training Corps there. He later attended Texas Tech and was graduated from Texas A&M at Kingsville with a B. S. Degree in Agriculture. He accepted a position with the Farm Security Administration in 1941 and stayed with it until harvest time in 1942, when he left for home. From the farm, he went into the Navy. Following his discharge, he returned home and since that time has been associated with his father and brothers in farming and livestock raising. The five main points of LaMaster's political platform are: 1. Economy in government. 2. A sound farm program. 3. Labor laws, fair both to labor and management. 4. A stern foreign policy, striving for peace, but constantly ready to defend our freedom if peace agreements fail. 5. Ability to make honest decisions, regardless of pressure applied from the "so-called big boys" of politics. In considering current political questions, LaMaster has stated he feels there is a definite need for adequate labor laws to protect both labor and management and that the Taft-Hartley Act is the best law for both interests. He will favor a repeal of the Taft-Hartley law only when a more acceptable plan for the two is drawn up. He does not favor President Truman's Civil Rights Program.

Lubbock's Smith Only West Texan In Lt.-Gov. Race

Preston Smith, West Texas' only lieutenant gubernatorial candidate is a native of Williamson County and is 38 years old. His home, now, is Lubbock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Smith and is the seventh child in a family of 13. Smith attended public schools in Williamson and Dawson Counties and graduated from Lamesa High School. He attended Texas Technological College and received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree in 1934. After entering Texas Tech, he went into the service station business and owned and operated service stations from 1930 through 1935. In 1936 the candidate entered the theater business, which he has operated since. He now owns and operates five theaters in his home town. Smith's campaign slogan is "A Business Man for a Business Office."

Promotion to Second Spot Asked by Vick

State Senator Kyle Vick, Waco, who has the longest senatorial record of any of the lieutenant gubernatorial candidates, is basing his campaign on his experience of actual service to that office. A conservative Democrat, Sen. Vick has 16 years of service in the State Senate; was elected president of the 51st Legislature; has actually served as lieutenant governor, plugged for and voted for every veterans bill passed, and has served on every insurance committee in the Senate for the past 16 years. Vick, a Waco attorney, was author of the nine-man Supreme Court constitutional amendment and the firemen-police civil service bill, and co-authored the "anti-union" "anti-merit" road bill passed by the last session of the legislature. Vick, a native Texan, is a graduate of the University of Texas where he received his law degree and has practiced since at Waco. The graying, pleasant natured Vick is a strong opponent of centralized government and paternalism in government. He has promised to block all moves toward socialization of the state and use his influence for the same purpose on a national level.

Bitter Congressional Races Not Confined to Panhandle

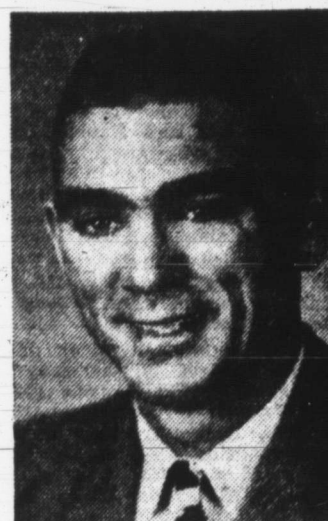

(By The Associated Press) The Korean fighting has put life into some of the Texas races for Congress. It seems some incumbent congressmen voted against Korean aid last January. Now their opponents are demanding why—and hoping the answer won't satisfy voters in Saturday's Democratic primary. Among those called on to explain are Rep. Ken Regan of Midland, seeking his second term from the 18th District; Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, after his eighth term, and Rep. J. Frank Wilson of Dallas, who wants a third term. "Mr. Wilson's conscience must be bothering him," says Jimmy Jefferies, Aguilera County Democrat, Wilson's only opponent. He said Wilson's vote last January "gladdened Communist hearts." District Judge Paul Moss of Odessa, one of Regan's two opponents, said: "When South Korea needed help, Regan voted no." The third candidate in Regan's district, El Paso restaurant man Fred Hervey, hasn't made this an issue. Poage, ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee, explained he voted against Korean aid because the State Department then stated Korea would not be defended if attacked. Regan says he voted against economic aid because similar help to China proved fruitless and costly. Of Texas' 21 members of the House of Representatives, only 13 have opposition Saturday. And of those 13, not more than half a dozen face experienced, well-organized and well-financed opposition. Hottest races are those in the vast West Texas 16th District now represented by Regan, the 10th (Panhandle) District where four Democrats seek the right to oppose Republican Ben Guill this fall, and the Southeast Texas and coastal Second District, where Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont seeks a fourth term. The 18th's three most populous cities are represented by a candidate each—Hervey of El Paso, Regan of Midland, and Moss of Odessa. Regan accuses Moss of neglecting his court duties soon after being appointed to a bench he was unable to win at. Poage makes a point of Regan's vote against Korean aid. Hervey, youngest of the trio, says West Texas needs a young lawmaker who can build up seniority. Combs' big opposition comes from Price Rogers, stocky Beaufort former district judge is pro-labor and pro-administration. Rogers has campaigned vigorously. The third candidate, Port Arthur refinery worker Hugh Wilson, hasn't set a fast campaign pace. The Panhandle District race may be won by a woman, Mrs. Altavere Clark of Amarillo. A long-time government worker, Mrs. Clark polled more votes than the ten other Democrats in last May's special election to fill the vacancy created by Eugene Worley's appointment as a federal court judge. But the winner was the lone Republican, Ben Guill of Pampa. One of her opponents, Walter E. Rogers of Pampa, calls Mrs. Clark pro-administration and a Worley's appointee successor. Youngest candidate in the race and a political newcomer, is Pete LaMaster of Perryton, who called for American intervention in Korea before President Truman acted. The fourth in the race is J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo, member of the Texas Legislature. All have been active, touring the Panhandle and using newspaper and radio. A run-off is likely—and the winner must face Guill in November. Waco's Bob Poage is accused by Democrats of voting like a Republican, and by another being too liberal. Richard Bush, former Waco mayor, says Poage is guided by GOP leaders. But John Bates, Waco war veteran and attorney, says Poage is helping the spread of socialism. Poage's third opponent is Mrs. Tom Travis, Waco real estate woman, who says there'll be no war if the profit is taken out of it. Rep. Tom Pickett, Palestine lawyer seeking his fourth term in the Seventh District, has two opponents, District Attorney J. S. Holleman of Livingston has been stumping the East Texas farm district, intensely. He wants the Communist party outlawed. Former State Senator Roger Knight of Madisonville, third man in the race, has been less active. Knight has stressed his plan to increase cotton acreage allotments. In the Fifth District, comprising Dallas County, two candidates have been exchanging blows from 1,500 miles apart. Rep. J. Frank Wilson has announced he cannot leave Washington to campaign. Jimmie Jefferies, Dallas radio man who thinks two terms is enough for Wilson, says his opponent votes like a Republican. Knight, who has been less active, caters to the moneyed class. Wilson calls Jefferies his "CIO-Political Action" opponent. Rep. Lindley Beckworth, Gilmer lawyer seeking his seventh term from the Third District, is opposed by an outspoken anti-Truman man, Longview attorney E. A. Martin. The 59-year-old Martin says he's against just

Chairmanship Being Sought By Attorney Long in Politics

Atty. Aaron Sturgeon, candidate for Gray County Democratic chairman, was born in Lamar County and came to Pampa 14 years ago and started law practice about everything Mr. Truman is for. A 67-year-old woman seeks to unseat Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, who wants a seventh term. She is Mrs. Edith Wilmons, a former Dallas lawyer and state legislator who now ranches at Vineyard in Jack County. Mrs. Wilmons, an active member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, wants federal old age pensions of $50 a month to everyone over 65. There are contests in only five other districts. Rep. Wingate Lucas, 41-year-old grapevine lawyer seeking his third term from the 12th District has two opponents. One, F. M. Lanham, Sr., Rendon real estate dealer, has tried for major public office before without success. The third entry, John E. Roscoe, Pierce, Fort Worth tire salesman and television guitar player, has had no previous political experience. Mayor Abe Mays of Atlanta is trying again to unseat Rep. Wright Patman, Texas' lone lawyer, after his 12th term. Mays has failed in previous attempts to defeat Patman. In the coastal Ninth District, Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston has one opponent—Dan M. Clute, druggist. In the tenth, there is only one opponent for Rep. Homer Thornberry, Austin lawyer after his second term. He is Magnus L. Foster, former Austin postmaster who ran for the same post in 1948. In the big West Texas 19th District, Rep. George Mahon, Colorado City attorney, is opposed by a political newcomer, A. M. Rippes, 65-year-old Big Spring retired railroadman. The eight Texas congressmen without opposition are Sam Rayburn, of Bonham, House speaker seeking his 20th term from the Fourth District; Olin E. (Tiger) Teague, College Station, seeking third term in Sixth District; Albert Thomas, Houston lawyer, eighth term from Eighth District; John E. Lyle, Jr., Corpus Christi lawyer, fourth term from 14th District; Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., McAllen lawyer, second term from 15th District; Omar Burleson, Anson lawyer, third term from 17th District; Paul J. Kilday, San Antonio lawyer, seventh term from 20th District; O. C. Fisher, San Angelo lawyer, fifth term from 21st District.

Rufe Jordan Tries to Unseat Former Boss

One of the two candidates for Gray County sheriff is R. H. Jordan, 39, who for the past three years has been chief deputy sheriff. Jordan was born and reared in Gray County, attended Gray County schools, finishing high school in 1930. During World War II, he was chief of the plant protection force for Danciger Oil and Refining Company. In 1944, Jordan married Miss Viola McNally, and they are the parents of one daughter, Ann, 15, a student in Pampa High School. Jordan's record during his three years as chief deputy shows that he has dealt with every type of criminal from petty drunks up to murderers and robbers and has executed every type civil paper handed by the sheriff's office. On this record, Jordan bases his qualifications. Alaska's Valley of 10,000 Smokes was discovered by a National Geographic Society expedition in 1916.

Hill Will Try Again for 31st Judge Bench

Atty. H. B. Hill, Shamrock, a practicing lawyer since 1912, is the only candidate to oppose Judge Lewis M. Goodrich for the 31st Judicial District Court bench. Hill came to the Panhandle 37 years ago and has resided most of that time in Shamrock. His public service record includes tenures of office as city secretary for Shamrock, city alderman, and city attorney. He also served two years in the state legislature. A member of the board of trustees of the Shamrock Methodist Church, he is also lay leader of the Clarendon district and a member of the conference board of education. He belongs to the Masons and Odd Fellows. In 1946 Hill entered the same race against Goodrich but was forced to quit because of ill health. In the meantime he regained his health and decided to make another campaign for the bench. Tall and graying, Hill is running on a platform of giving his full time to the job. He bases his qualifications on his experience in public office and his years of practicing law in Wheeler County.

Littlefield Lawyer Airs His Campaign For Appellate Court

Listed on the ballot as candidate for associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals of the 7th Supreme Judicial District is Herbert C. Martin of Littlefield. Martin was born in Coleman in 1901 and has been a resident of the Panhandle since 1916. He is a graduate of Lubbock High School and of the University of Texas Law School. Working his way as a clerk at the University Drug Store, Martin received his law degree in 1929. After his graduation, Martin went to Littlefield and entered the private practice of law. He served two terms as county attorney and two terms as district attorney for the 64th Judicial District, which includes Bailey, Lamb, Castro, Hale and Swisher counties. Martin's 20 years experience as a lawyer has been largely in the field of trial practice. Qualifications for this position listed by Martin are headed with the assertion that "I have never lost my sense of humor in meeting the problems presented by life in the practice of law." Martin has made a vigorous campaign over the district by covering most of the territory in an airplane piloted by his wife. Through a public address system aboard the plane Martin announced his candidacy and made most of his political speeches. The candidate has stated that "I believe that I am qualified by human experience and legal training to serve as your associate justice."

State Politicos Trying to Build up Interest for Election, but Voters All but Ignore Full Ballot

By DAVE CHEAVENS

War-worried Texans go to the polls Saturday to elect a governor and 11 other state officers after a campaign which so far has hit a new low in public interest.

Allan Shivers and Cato March, the two most active candidates in the race for governor, both planned whirlwind finishes — partly by plane — to take in a maximum amount of territory. All candidates will concentrate on heavily-populated areas in their efforts to attract the electorate and get their names and faces known.

The ballot will be crowded with names. There are seven candidates including one woman in the governor's race, 12 for lieutenant governor, 10 for three places on the State Supreme Court, eight for a judgeship on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Even before outbreak of the Korean war, candidates reported tough sledding to get crowds. They have swarmed to conventions, luncheon clubs, church suppers, picnics and rodeos.

There are an estimated 1,682,539 qualified voters — half a million less than the record electorate in 1948. In 1948 only 83 percent of those qualified voted in the first Democratic primary. Political professionals were forecasting a probable vote this time of between 700,000 and 900,000 — maybe a million at the outside.

Shivers, seeking election to his first full term after stepping into the governorship on the death of Beaumont H. Jester last July, will close his campaign with a big homecoming rally at Woodville Thursday.

March, making his third try for the governorship, will park his lumbering cottage-trailer and fly to the big cities in a plane paid for by union labor. He has challenged Shivers to debate the issues.

March has campaigned for higher old age pensions, "a tax-free home for every citizen," increased natural resources taxes, repeal of labor-control legislation. He has been endorsed by the state organizations of both the

C.I.O. and the A.F. of L. and said he wants a shooting war with Russia to settle that issue now.

Shivers has campaigned for economy in use of state money, in soil, water and human resources. He has come out for lifting the ceiling on pension spending and pointed to forward steps in treatment of the mentally ill and wards of the state during his one-year in office. He has made no specific recommendations on taxation, saying he would depend largely on findings of the Texas Economy Commission for his recommendations to the legislature. Shivers emphasized his was not a "campaign of promises" but of his record in office.

March has travelled thousands of miles and made many stump and radio speeches. The only candidate in the race to put on a traditional barnstorming tour. Shivers has done most of his campaigning by radio and by appearances at luncheon clubs and other similar functions.

Shivers' backers are mostly worried over the outlook for a light vote on the theory that "agin" voters will turn out, whereas an incumbent's friends are sometimes inclined to complacency.

Wellington Abbey of Houston and Gene S. Porter, also of Houston, have campaigned with considerable activity. Abbey has used a hill billy band. Porter has appeared at many political rallies, urging higher old age pensions and a broad tax to pay for them.

Other candidates for governor are Charles B. Hutchinson of Dallas, J. M. Wren of Houston, and Mrs. Benita Louise Marek Lawrence of Washington County.

In many races for state office, lots of voters admit they will be going to the polls more or less blind because they just don't know who the candidates are or what they stand for.

J. E. McDonald's successful court fight to stay on the Democratic ballot brought him considerable publicity in his race for commissioner of agriculture, in which he seeks re-election to his 11th term. Others in this race are Tom Fairley of Travis County, John C. White of Wichita County, Charlie McLellan of Colorado County.

Legislators and former legislators make up the majority of the field in the catch-as-catch-can lieutenant governor's race. Most of the candidates for this important office have trumpeted opposition to a general sales tax, and grasped every device in the book to identify themselves to the voters.

These are the men who want to be lieutenant governor: W. O. Reed of Dallas, Kyle Vick of Waco, Cyclone Davis of Dallas; R. B. McAshan of Kerr County; G. C. Morris of Greenville, Fred Harris of Dallas, Virgil E. Arnold of Houston, Preston E. Smith of Lubbock, Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas, Roger Q. Evans of Denton, F. E. Womack of Austin.

In the race for the Supreme Court, Place 1, Fagan Dickinson of Austin, Will Wilson of Dallas and Walter L. Wray of Dallas have put up a battle to succeed Associate Justice W. M. Taylor, who did not ask re-election.

Two other Supreme Court justices seek election after appointment to office.

For Place 2, the incumbent is Hicks Harvey of Cass County, opposed by Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro and Alfred M. Scott of Austin.

Meade F. Griffin of Plainview is the incumbent in Place 3. Seeking to unseat him are Matt Davis of Gilmer, George W. Harwood of Dallas, Robert B. Keenan of Gregg County.

In the wide-open race to succeed retiring Judge F. L. Hawkins on the Court of Criminal Appeals are: W. A. Morrison of Milam County, Robert L. Lattimore of Dallas, G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, Cecil Storey of Longview, William E. Myres of Poughkeepsie, David W. Cook of Tyler, James Hill Letts of Houston.

Attorney General Price Daniel, Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray and State Treasurer Jesse James are unopposed. Comptroller Robert S. Calvert of Austin is opposed by Clifford E. Butler of Houston, James L. Allred of Tarrant County. Allred is seeking to defeat incumbent Bascom Giles for land commissioner.

2 Candidates Seeking 14th Term of Office

Five county candidates and one Precinct 2 officeholder are unopposed for reelection, two of them for their 14th terms.

Of all the unopposed candidates, County Clerk Charlie Thut and Tax Assessor-Collector F. E. Leech have served for the longest periods of time. Leech, however, was appointed to his present post after he was defeated for office in his first try in 1924. After that, Leech was successful in holding the job for 26 years.

That was opposed for his first term in 1924 and was opposed unsuccessfully at three later elections.

District Clerk Mrs. Dee Patterson, running for her fourth term, has also found no opposition. She was opposed in her first race and easily trounced two male opponents when she ran for her third term.

County Judge Bruce Parker won over strong opposition in 1948 for his fourth term. This year he has drawn no opponents. He previously served as county attorney for two terms.

Venerable Judge D. R. Henry, born in 1877, has also found himself to be the lone candidate for justice of the peace, Precinct 2. Place 1. His first service to the county was as county treasurer for three terms in the early thirties.

Also unopposed is Miss Ola Gregory, county treasurer, who is seeking a third term in holding the county purser's strings. Miss Gregory held a deputy county clerk's commission for several years before running for office six years ago.

On the gratis side of the ledger, all of the Democratic precinct chairmen candidates are unopposed. These offices, too, like the county chairmanship, carry no salary.

Using as his political slogan simply, "I am a Democrat," E. Ferrell is a local real estate and loan man. He was born and reared on a farm near Harrison, Ark., attended high school there and immediately after World War I.

He has lived in the Panhandle since 1922 and in Pampa since 1936. Married and the father of three children and has two grandchildren, he stated in his campaign that "I have spent my entire life south of the Mason-Dixon line."

E. C. SCHAFER
E. C. Schaffer, candidate for the office of county commissioner, Precinct No. 2, came to Gray County in April, 1933.

Schaffer has served as county commissioner during the years 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916 of Precinct No. 2. The candidate bases his qualifications on his experience in "the office which requires fair dealing, courage, and a deep regard for public welfare."

G. L. LUNSFORD
A candidate for the vacant post of justice of the peace, Precinct 2, Place 2, G. L. (Nate) Lunsford, 43, has lived in Pampa since 1929 and is a welder by trade and operates a general repair business. Lunsford is an ordained minister and is the father of two children, James and Estell. In 1943, Lunsford lost the race for county commission, Precinct 2, by only a few votes in a field of eight.

BILL LANGLEY
Bill Langley, 32, is a candidate

Mrs. Clark Bases Congressional Race on Capitol Experience

With her experience in serving District 18 in a secretarial capacity for the past 17 years, as her main basis of qualification, Mrs. Altavene Clark of Amarillo is seeking election to Congress.

She has three opponents — all men. Mrs. Clark went to Washington with Congressman Marvin Jones 17 years ago after a business career in the Panhandle. When Jones was appointed to a judgeship and Eugene Worley became congressman, Mrs. Clark continued her duties in the same position. Mrs. Clark took charge of some congressional detail work while Worley was overseas during World War II. It was during this period that she made a hurried flight from Washington to prevent moving of the rubber plant at Borger to another state.

Candidate Clark was elected last year by unanimous vote of the 30 Democratic and Republican members of the House Agriculture Committee as their executive officer.

Working with Marvin Jones, Mrs. Clark was a staff member of the Committee on Agriculture, working with the committee on all basic farm legislation, such as the Agricultural Adjustment Act, Soil Conservation Act, Farm Credit Act, Commodity Credit Act, Farm-Tenant Act, Crop Insurance Act, and other legislation of paramount importance to this area.

Among some of the projects in the 18th Congressional District that she has assisted with are the Amarillo Veterans' Hospital, the small Panhandle dams, the for reelection to the post of constable of Precinct 2.

A native of Virgil, Okla., he lived there until his mother died in 1923, when he moved to Sawyer, Okla. In 1929, he moved to Pampa, where he attended grade school and high school. He married Miss Lee Bell Huff in 1941 and they are the parents of one daughter, Jan.

In 1943, Langley enlisted in the Army and received his basic training at Fort Riley, Kans., going overseas in 1944, where he stayed for the duration of the war.

Langley has done mostly ranch work and truck driving until 1948, when he was elected to the post he is seeking now for a second term.

FRED S. VANDERBURG
Making his first bid for office, Fred S. Vanderburg is seeking the office of county commissioner.

Precinct 2
Vanderburg was appointed early in 1949 to the position to finish the unexpired term of James A. Hopkins, deceased.

Born in Gray County, 1920, the candidate attended Hopkins School, Pampa, High School and Texas Tech. In 1939, he married Darlene Vance of Midland, and they are the parents of four children. He has farmed in Gray County since finishing school.

Canagan River Dam, placement of government offices in this area, such as Soil Conservation Service, Farm Security Administration, securing of war plants and projects such as Hereford and McLean Prisoner of War Camps, Childrens and Pampa Airfields, and other personal or individual Panhandle problems.

Daughter of Mrs. D. C. Cochran of Nanson, Iowa, Mrs. Clark attended Iowa State Teachers College and Grinnell College. After her graduation from Bryant and Stratton Business College, Chicago, she instructed there, then worked a year as director for Ellison-Wite Chautauqua and Lyceum Company.

In 1926, Mrs. Clark moved to Amarillo. She is a widow and has one son, John W. Clark, 24, and is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo.

Kyle Seeking To Remain in Sheriff's Job

Sheriff G. H. Kyle, seeking his fifth term as Gray County's highest peace officer, was born in 1898 at Rockdale, Milam County. He attended public school in Milam County and later worked the family farm for his widowed mother. As a young man he and his mother moved to Oklahoma where he later married.

He is the father of five children; all of them living in Gray County; his son, Kenneth, served overseas in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

When Kyle first moved to Pampa, 25 years ago, he was engaged in the teaming and trucking contracting business. At one time his teaming business was widely known for the forty head of well trained mules he used.

Wide use of the mule teams finally won him the name of "Skinner," a nickname he carries today. The major part of his mules were purchased, or traded for, in Gray County from local farmers and cattlemen.

In 1942 he was first elected sheriff and has held the post continuously. During that period he has had to handle some of the most notorious characters known in modern Texas criminal history.

Kyle won some "fame" outside of his official capacity earlier this year when he engineered the sale of the Pampa Oiler baseball club to Doug Mills from R. L. Edmondson.

Once Elevator Boy Calvert Now Seeks Supreme Bench Job

Seeking the office of associate justice of the State Supreme Court, Place 2, is Robert W. Calvert, Hillsboro. Calvert's early life was spent at the State Home at Corsicana, where he received his first education. From there, he went to the University of Texas and worked his way through school by serving as an elevator operator at the state Capitol building.

In Hillsboro, Calvert has served six years as a member of the Hillsboro School Board, the last three, as chairman. He served three terms as a member of the House of Representatives and was speaker of the House of the 45th legislature. He has served as county attorney of Hill County for two terms and served his state as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee from 1946 to 1948.

Calvert has been in the practice of law in Hillsboro since March, 1931.

Basing his platform on his service to the state and his community — with no compensation, Calvert advocates that he will hold the post of associate justice with a "sense of fairness which ought, at all times, to temper the rules of law by which I will be bound."

These Questions Should Be Answered
When You Decide on Your COUNTY ATTORNEY

1. Is either of the candidates seeking his second term?

(A). No. This is BILL WATERS' first time to seek public office. His opponent is seeking the post for his fifth term since 1925.

2. Have the legal affairs of the County been efficiently handled during the last term?

(A). Since 1948, the taxpayers of Gray County have had to pay out $3,878.06 for special attorney's fees in connection with County business. This amount was in addition to the salary of $4,600.00 paid the County Attorney.

Hardin Takes His First Fling at District Office

Making his first bid for public office, Guy S. Hardin, 25, Shamrock lawyer, has come out for district attorney against the incumbent, Tom Braly. He is the first to oppose the D.A. in any of his races.

Hardin won his law degree from Baylor University and has been in private practice for almost a year.

Obsolete Ships Provide Lights

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The power plants of 130 Navy fighting ships are now providing light in areas from Anchorage, Alaska, to Saudi Arabia. Centa, not sent to sea, inspired the National Metals and Steel Corp., to tear the mighty engines out of the battle-scarred but obsolete warships.

And good is arising out of the destruction. A destroyer escort's diesel engines soon go into emergency service in the polo ward of a Long Beach veterans' hospital. Power from other units is used to pump water in desert areas and to provide heat in cold regions.

Big Spring Barber Charged in Assault

BIG SPRING — (AP) — Frank Cathey, Big Spring barber, has been charged with assault with intent to murder.

Cathey is accused of shooting his estranged wife, Mrs. Cathey, who was shot through the body, but is expected to recover.

Police Capt. E. W. York said yesterday that after the shooting Cathey slashed his throat with a razor blade and stabbed himself twice with an ice pick. He is under guard in a hospital here.

Studer Seeking Reelection to Present Office

John F. Studer, seeking his second consecutive term as county attorney, has been engaged in the practice of law here since 1924. His legal activities were curtailed four years during World War II.

County Attorney Studer was born and reared at Canadian, Texas.

He attended Texas A&M College, Vanderbilt University, and was awarded his law degree at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn.

The Pampa attorney is a veteran of both world wars, serving as a pursuit pilot in the earlier one.

During the second world war Studer was assigned to duty with the Judge Advocate General's Department.

A member of the Gray County and Texas Bar Associations, Studer is also affiliated with the Lions Club, Masonic Lodge and the American Legion. He is serving as director of the Gray County Bar Association.

He is married and has one daughter, Mrs. Frankie Ann Fuller, of Lefors. Studer's wife is the former Miss Dottie Crutcher, of White Deer.

Studer said he is vitally interested in the problems surrounding the juvenile delinquent. Regarding this problem the county attorney said: "I do not believe in sending a child to a reform school unless all other means have been tried and failed."

The official said he has always waged aggressive action against "hot check" writers and drunk drivers.

In 1949, his administration netted out jail sentences totaling 1149 days through action in the county court. For the six-year period prior to that year, the annual average was 321 days.

Under his prosecution, a total of $10,336 in fines was meted out in county court for 1949. The yearly average for the years 1943 through 1948 was just over $8,000.

Common House Fly Uses Jump Takeoff

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The common housefly apparently employs a kind of jump-assisted takeoff with some fancy legwork preceding the first flutter of its wings.

This was reported by an Army scientist who took some high-speed movies (2400 pictures a second) of a fly suddenly disturbed in the process of a quiet walk.

Although it's little consolation to a man with a fly-swatter, the fly actually does nothing at all for about 20 thousandths of a second after something happens to alarm him.

Then he appears to extend his rear legs in a springing motion before turning on the wing power. Dr. Carl M. Herget of the Army Chemical Center at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, described the observation in "Science," a technical journal.

TOM BRALY
FOR

CANDIDATES

There just isn't any battle for representative in the State Legislature from the 122nd District, incumbent Grainger McIlhenny, allying by without even the threat of a write-in campaign.

The skirmish for district judge has drawn a minimum of attention by the spurred up drive of H. B. Hill, Shamrock, seeking to unseat Lewis M. Goodrich. Hill has taken to music, the radio and varied size cards to get his name before the public and keep it there. Goodrich has also used cards, bookmatches plus a new wrinkle, lead pencils. Goodrich is running on his unusual record of only three reversals to the superior courts out of 17 cases appealed. Hill is campaigning on a platform of full time to the job and has told Pampa he will maintain an apartment here so he can be reached "at any time." He does not intend to give up his Shamrock residence, he added.

But, it is the important post of district attorney that has drawn the least fire of any of the contested offices. Tom Braly, with his first opposition since he first ran for the office in 1946, has met up with a youthful attorney, Guy S. Hardin, as his opponent. Neither has waged a real fight for the office, but he kept to the handshaking trails.

Atchison Takes First Fling at County Politics

L. N. Atchison, real estate agent, who is seeking his first term as county commissioner of Precinct 2, was born in 1906 at Breckenridge and reared on the farm.

He graduated from Abilene High School and later attended North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

In 1927 he moved to Pampa and went to work for the Cabot Co. until 1936, when he resigned to operate the Pampa Office Supply Co. He operated the supply company until 1947. In 1948 he went into the men's furnishing business and maintained a store on W. Kingsmill for about one year and went into the real estate business.

He is a past president of the Pampa Kiwanis Club, past president and director of the Pampa Retail Merchants Association and a past director of the Chamber of Commerce. He now holds an executive board post with the Boy Scouts and headed the Scouts' financial campaign in 1949-50.

Atchison is also a member of the First Methodist Church and served two years as county March of Dimes chairman.

He is basing his qualifications for the office on his varied business experience and career.

His platform consists of more economy in government on the local level as well as on the national level. He has spoken for a "buy-at-home" policy "wherever and whenever possible," an all out effort for rapid completion of the Pampa-Perryton Road; and to take every possible opportunity for acquisition of the Canadian River Dam.

Ready, Rearin' Reservist Replies

WASHINGTON — (AP) — One taciturn Air Force Reserve officer, wasting few words, responded to the plea for Reservists to return to active duty with this wire to the Pentagon:

"Willing, dependable and expendable. Say where and when."

Husted Making First Try in County Politics

Marion G. Husted is seeking the post of county commissioner of precinct 3.

Husted has resided in this precinct for the past 35 years as a farmer.

His qualifications are based on his twelve years of experience in road building and maintenance.

Waters Makes Strong Bid for County Office

Bill W. Waters, 25, candidate for county attorney, was born near Idalou, outside of Lubbock, then moved in 1927 to White Deer.

He has been a resident of Gray County for 16 years and this is his first time to seek office. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Waters.

The young candidate was recently elected secretary of the Gray County Bar Association. He is a 1949 graduate of the University of Texas.

He spent 18 months overseas in the armed services, following his graduation from Pampa High School. Nine of the 18 months were on the firing line where he was awarded the Bronze Star, with three battle stars.

In the university, Waters was elected president of the freshman law class; was junior class representative to the Honor Council in 1947; elected vice president of the senior law class in 1949; elected to Phi Delta Phi, international honorary legal fraternity and served on the Texas Law Review.

Since graduation he has practiced law in his father's real estate and insurance office on East Kingsmill.

Waters is married and is a member of the American Legion, VFW, Texas Bar Association, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Pampa Jaycees, Francis Avenue Church of Christ, Gray County Bar Association and the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

The candidacy of Waters is being supported by former Pampa High School classmates. His platform is based on giving young men responsibility in public office — a chance to serve in public offices.

He also advocates closer coordination with peace officers in investigating law violations under local jurisdiction of the county court. He has declared he will not reduce drunk-driving charges to minor offenses such as speeding or reckless driving without first consulting arresting officers and "pledges ceaseless war on habitual hot checkers."

Former Teacher One of Four For J. P. Bench

W. J. Cornelison is seeking election to the post of justice of the peace, Precinct 2, Place 2.

The 59-year-old candidate is married and the father of five children. His education was obtained from the public schools of Madison and Washington counties, Ark., where he taught school in 1910 through 1912.

During the summers of this same period, Cornelison attended Teachers Institute in Arkansas. In 1918, Cornelison was in Civil Service as railway mail clerk 1918 through 1920; 1940, he served as census enumerator in Aztec, N.M. Other occupations of the candidate have been in the oilfield, as a farmer and as a service station operator.

As a campaign slogan, Cornelison has stated that "I am an American citizen first and a Democrat next."

Husted Making First Try in County Politics

Marion G. Husted is seeking the post of county commissioner of precinct 3.

Husted has resided in this precinct for the past 35 years as a farmer.

His qualifications are based on his twelve years of experience in road building and maintenance.

Tucker, Once A Deputy, in J. P. Race

C. M. Tucker, former deputy sheriff, and now seeking the post of Justice of the peace, Precinct 2, Place 2, was born 56 years ago in Montague County.

He moved to Gray County 20 years ago and spent most of the time working in the oil fields. He served as deputy sheriff under Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle for two years. In 1948 he ran unsuccessfully for constable of Precinct 2 in a field of three.

A member of the Methodist Church, he is married and the father of three children. He and his family reside in the home he purchased on N. Christy several years ago.

Tucker bases his qualifications on his experience in law enforcement work and has pledged an all-out enforcement of the laws, as justice of the peace, if elected.

Calvert Asks For Office in His Own Right

After serving a year and a half as State Comptroller, appointed by the late Governor Beaufort Jester, Robert S. Calvert is seeking his first elective term.

Calvert, a native Texan, was born in McLennan County near McGregor and at an early age moved with his family to Brownwood, where he attended public schools and Howard Payne College.

At the age of 20, he moved to Sweetwater, where he was employed first by the Santa Fe Railroad as clerk, warehouse foreman and cashier; then by the West Texas Electric Company as chief clerk; and later by the First National Bank as assistant cashier.

In 1917 Calvert enlisted in the United States Army. Following basic training at Cornell University, he served with the Army Air Forces in France and Germany. After the war he returned to Sweetwater and his bank position.

George H. Sheppard, then State Comptroller in 1930, appointed Calvert to the position of financial statistician the same year. In 1944, he was made chief clerk, the position next in line and authority to the comptroller.

Following the death of Sheppard in 1949, Governor Jester appointed Calvert comptroller.

Calvert is married and is the father of one daughter, Josephine. He is a member of the Austin Lions Club, the American Legion and the Ben Hur Temple of the Shrine. He is an elder and Chairman of the Board of the Central Christian Church in Austin.

Primarily, Calvert's platform for office is his 18 years' direct service with the department.

Music by MRS. S. M. DUNNAM

To our district court judge is his plan — an honest one for an honest man.

Now, folks, — he had the right to find this out in H. B. Hill, his district court.

Now, friends, — Give Hill my vote. You'll have the best in H. B. Hill, District Court.

CURIOUS CORN
Corn's value lies in the meat it produces. Corn has practically no commercial value as a human food, although the United States produces 2,500,000,000 bushels of it annually. Only about 10 percent is used in breakfast foods, corn syrup, corn meal, and other human needs, the rest going as food for cattle and hogs or becoming surplus.

ROY SULLIVAN

CANDIDATE FOR County
Commissioner
PRECINCT 2

Precinct 2 Includes the Northwest 1/4 of Gray County
Including All of Pampa.

Subject to Democratic Primary, July 22nd

TO THE VOTERS:
I have been a resident and farmer in Gray County for 40 years, and if elected I will do my best to give Gray County good roads. I will show no partiality but I am interested in school bus and mail routes. I do not consider this office a part time job, and since the taxpayers are paying the bill I will do my best to work for the best interests of all the people. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

ROY SULLIVAN.

GOOD HEAVENS! HOW DID MISS DUNN'S CAT COME TO TEAR HER DRESS AND SHE JUST HAD IT CLEANED AND PRESSED.

WHEN I WAS TAKING IT OVER, I NOTICED TRIX HAD HER CAT UP A TREE AND WHEN I GOT HER DOWN, TRIX CHASED HER AGAIN. SHE JUMPED UP ON ME.

JUNIOR WAS CARRYING MISS DUNN'S DRESS OVER TO HER AND KITTY CLIMBED ALL OVER IT GETTING AWAY FROM TRIX.

NOW WE'LL HAVE TO PAY TO GET THE DRESS FIXED. !!! I COULD MURDER THAT MUTT... HE'S MORE TROUBLE FOR US NOW THAN WHEN HE LIVED HERE.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and heartfelt appreciation for the kindness extended to us at the time of our recent bereavement. The love of our beloved husband and brother, W. C. Potts, is greatly missed. We thank those who called on us for the bereavement, and those who helped us in any way. We miss him from the home dear one, but his memory will live on in our hearts. A happy day for our life is ahead. We miss the quietness of our home, but we know our loved one is still with us. We will miss his daily presence, but we know he is still with us. We will miss his daily presence, but we know he is still with us. We will miss his daily presence, but we know he is still with us.

Audie Murphy Ends Hollywood Career, Joins Texas Guard

AUSTIN — (AP) — Most-decorated Audie Murphy has abandoned his movie career and gone back into part-time military service. He was sworn in as a captain of the Texas National Guard by Maj. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth.

TOM BRALY
FOR

commanding officer of the 36th Division. He was temporarily assigned to the first battalion, 141st Infantry.

Murphy will train with his unit at Fort Hood in summer camp next month. He has taken a job in Dallas.

"I think World War III has already started and I want to get all the training I can," Murphy said.

Murphy, a Farmersville boy, joined the Army at the age of 18 in World War II. He served with the Third Infantry Division and won the Congressional Medal of Honor and numerous other decorations.

Corn production for 1949 was 14 bushels per acre more than the 1935-39 average in North America.

Uneasiness Growing That Korea May Be 'Dunkerque'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — There is a growing uneasiness among American veterans that the American expedition in Korea may end in another Dunkerque.

Time, they feel, is fighting boy to do a man's work. We've had to throw in a couple of companies here — a battalion there — and watch them get chewed to pieces. It's the same thing we did at Cassarine Gap — feed small units in one at a time to be destroyed.

This officer felt there was real doubt whether enough reinforcements could be put into the field in time to avoid a complete withdrawal from Korea.

He pointed out that the North Koreans had bucked 100 miles in slightly more than two weeks — and that another 100-mile advance would carry them to the tip of the peninsula.

"We may be able to hold a defensive beachhead in the south, where the terrain is pretty mountainous," he said. "But it will be terribly difficult."

"The battle line is about 125 to 135 miles wide. To do the job right we ought to have at least six good divisions on the line — and two in reserve. That means eight divisions at the least. And eight divisions is an army — 150,000 men or more."

"Where can we get that many men without mobilizing? We have only 12 divisions now all told, and they're stretched all around the world from Tokyo to Berlin."

What worried him also is the fact Russia has a reported 85

School Turns Down Government's Loan

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — The president of a small Methodist-supported junior college has turned down the offer of a government building loan because the loan is "wrong in principle."

President D. R. Youell of Hiwassee College put it this way: "It is not the proper function of government to tax the American people to provide loans for the purpose of building faculty and student accommodations on the campuses of church colleges."

Dr. Youell said the Federal Security Agency had notified him that a building loan was available upon application. The money would come from a $300,000,000 fund set up by Congress.

Hiwassee is building a girls' dormitory and wants to build a dormitory for boys together with additional housing units for the faculty.

But not with federal funds, said Dr. Youell.

"I prefer to look to individuals, private banks and the Methodist church for the financial support of Hiwassee College," he declared.

Several months ago the college, which has about 300 students, refused an offer of surplus government potatoes.

LEAP YEARS

Leap year does not come every four years without fail. A year whose number is divisible by four is usually a leap year. If, however, the number is divisible by 100, then it must be divisible by 400 also. Thus, 1900 was not a leap year.

VOTERS TAKE NOTICE

This is E. C. Schaffer speaking. I can not meet you all before election day. You will find my name on the ballot—just leave it—don't scratch it. If I am elected, I will make you a county commissioner. Thank you.
