

RECEIVES PLAQUE AND GOLD WATCH - Lloyd Graham receives a plaque expressing appreciation for twenty-four years' service as manager of the Olton Co-op Gin and also a gold watch upon his retirement, which becomes effective July 1. Presenting the plaque and watch is Bill Smith, who will assume duties as manager. Bob Williams is gin superintendent.

After 24 Years

Gin Manager Retires

After 42 years in the cotton business, Lloyd Graham is retiring ... sorta.

Graham, who retires as gin manager after 24 years at Olton Co-op Gin, will "be in the cotton buyers office, buying a little cotton this fall."

However, his duties as manager of the gin will come to an end July 1. Graham came to Olton in March, 1953 to become manager of the gin. The two new gins which were built in the summer of 1953 were under Graham's management the first year he was here.

The third gin was added in 1961. Another new feature was just recently added...a new universal density press, which presses the bales enough so that "they are ready to be shipped anywhere in the world when they leave here," according to Graham.

Graham's career in the cotton gin business began in 1935 at Wellington at the Co-op gin there where he worked as weigher and bookkeeper until 1943 when he moved to Ferris. He served as manager there until his move to Olton.

When asked how he found Olton while living at Ferris, he said he was attending a convention, when Horace Walker talked to him about the job.

Recalling the years he has served here, he stated that the best years were in 1964 and 1965, when the gin baled a total of 60,000 bales those two years.

"We baled 29,206 bales in 1964 and 31,400 bales in '65," Graham said.

The lowest number of bales ginned was 8,700 in 1967. Decline in cotton acreage was partially responsbile for the lower number.

A total of 415,670 bales of cotton have been ginner under Graham's supervision here at Olton. "We've paid out five and a half million dollars in cash dividends since I came to Olton," Graham said.

Asked about changes he has noted during his years here, he said, "I guess the biggest change would be that cotton was gathered by hand when I first began here. About 90 percent I'd say was gathered by hand while in the last several years only those trying for the first bale would pull by hand. Last year not even one bale was pulled by hand."

Bill Smith, who was hired by Graham shortly after his arrival here, has been serving as bookkeeper during those years. He will replace Graham as manager. Mrs. Gary Cooper will assume bookkeeper duties.

Bob Williams, who began his career as ginner 24 years ago, serves the gin as gin superintendent.

Chief, Night Officer Now On Duty Here

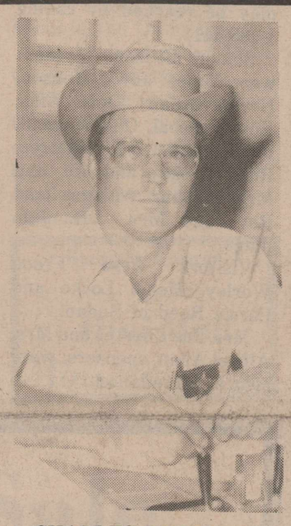

Charles Feagley assumed duties this week as chief of police after he was hired for the position in an emergency meeting of the city council Monday, June 13.

A certified law enforcement officer with more than 10 years' experience, Feagley grew up in Amherst. He served as chief of police at Sudan but was employed with a Sudan cotton gin the past year.

During his tenure as law enforcement officer in Sudan, he worked closely with other Lamb County officers and is already acquainted with a number of local persons.

Feagley's wife, Becky, grew up in Sudan.

The Feagleys are parents of two children, Richard, seven, and Cindy, four. They moved their mobile home to Ninth Street and Avenue D last weekend.

CHARLES FEAGLEY

Chief Feagley has announced that he may be reached day or night at 285-2612. A monitor phone has been placed in the Feagley home and immediate radio contact can be made with the officer on duty if a need arises at night.

Bill Green, minister of Victory Baptist Church, is serving as night patrolman.

Chamber Of Commerce Breakfast Slated Tuesday

Olton's "Friendliest Employee", an award begun at the last quarterly membership breakfast of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, will be awarded to some man, woman or youth at the 7 a.m. breakfast meeting Tuesday, June 28.

Meeting in the agriculture community building, the breakfast meeting is open to all interested persons whether they are members of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture or guests. All members are especially urged to attend.

Nominations for the employee honor must be made to the chamber office before noon Monday. Any employee in the city is eligible for the award; no employer may be elected. The selection is made by a committee from the CCA from nominations submitted from anyone in the community.

Sponsor of Tuesday's meeting is Olton Grain Co-op. They will contribute the cash door prizes, pay the rental fee on the building and furnish the food for the breakfast. Sponsors are not asked to furnish food for the meeting; this month's is an "over and above" guesture by the local cooperative.

First place cash award of $50 was not claimed at last quarter's meeting of the Chamber and thus becomes a $75 prize for Tuesday's meeting. Names of Chamber members are drawn for the cash prizes; members must be present to win. Second prize is $25 cash.

Other door prizes will be given to guests attending the breakfast. Names of registered guests will be placed in the drawing for these gifts.

Lions Hear Program On Physical Fitness

A program on physical fitness was presented Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of Olton Lions Club. Steve Nivens, vice-president of Motivation Institute in Garland, shared a portion of the conditioning program which he uses with football's Minnesota Vikings. The program is one which his company sets up with business and industry, fire departments, military units and other sources.

"Americans," he said, looking about his audience, "are the most physically unfit people in the history of the human race. I'm saying this to you, I've said it in New York, in California --

For Young Graduate

Dream Tour Comes True

There were no ribbons or pretty wrappings to remove from a graduation gift which will never be forgotten by 18-year-old Kevin Coen. The memorable present from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Coen, was a 12-day tour of the Holy Land with brief stop-overs in France and Switzerland.

Departing May 28, the day following commencement exercises, the OHS graduate was one of the 50 members of a tour directed by Morris Sheats of Trinity Church in Lubbock.

The group flew Lubbock to Dallas-Fort Worth and from D-FW to Houston. Flying Air France in a filled to capacity 747, the trip to Paris, France took approximately nine hours.

Arriving there on Pentecost Sunday, the group took a Sunday night boat ride down the Seine River, viewing aged bridges over the river which Kevin says were very pretty. Although the ride took the group by France's Statue of Liberty, Kevin did not get to see it because he was on the opposite side of the crowded boat.

Monday brought a mini-tour of Paris including Congress Square, Eiffel Tower, Arc d'Triumphe and Notre Dame. During their visit to the beautiful cathedral, Kevin said they observed a small private christening ceremony taking place in one portion of the great church.

A four hour trip that afternoon via Air France took the group to Tel Aviv, where they were met by their tour guide and taken by bus to Jerusalem.

Their hotel was about three blocks from the Jaffa Gate and immediately in front was a portion, about knee high, of one of the old walls to the old city.

Riding the tour bus up to the top of the Mount of Olives, they visited the Chapel of the Ascension, a tiny chapel built over a rock with the legendary footprint of Jesus at the time of his ascension. They walked down the mountain, stopping along the way to visit the Garden of Gethsemane where they saw 2,000 year old olive trees.

The Church of All Nations, so named because it was built with funds from a large number of countries, is supposedly built over the place where Jesus prayed. The U.S. symbol is placed at the top of one of the alabaster domes.

Going into Jerusalem, they drove across the Kidron Valley and saw the sealed Eastern Gate at the pinnacle of the temple where the wall of the city drops into the valley.

Kevin and fellow tour members visited the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and the site believed to be Pilot's judgment hall.

They walked down Via Dolorosa (The Way of Sorrows) where Jesus walked with the cross. "Everyone agrees it was the way," Kevin says, "but one group believes that he turned one way and others believe it was the other way."

The very narrow street is a contrast in time, Kevin says. "For instance, there'll be a shop with meat hanging and next door is a store selling Panasonic radios and such. It's that way in Paris, too, there'll be an ultra-modern building next door to one that is a hundred years old."

Visiting the Dome of the Rock, the tour party kept tradition by removing their shoes before entering the Mosque of Omar. Its dome is overlaid with pure gold - everything inside is golden, Kevin says.

Inside is the base rock of the world, the rock which legend says is the one on which Abraham was willing to sacrifice his son, Isaac. Moslems, Kevin learned, believe it was Ishmael rather than Isaac, who was to have been sacrificed.

The holy of holies was supposed to have been placed on or by the rock. Visitors can go beneath it and look up to see a large crack which is believed to have been made by the earthquake which occurred at Christ's death.

Highlight of the tour, for Kevin, was their visit to the Upper Room. "The room itself was not spectacular," he says. "It was what happened there -- we sang together and prayed together."

From their hotel they walked to Golgotha and the garden tomb. A grape press is part of the ancient ruins. The tomb, hewn out of rock, was divided with the weeping chamber to the left and the burial space at the right.

The trough is still there where the giant stone was rolled into place and cracks in the wall which may have been made by the quake when the stone rolled away.

Kevin says the garden is very pretty. A bus station, located at the foot of Golgotha, provides dust and noise much as the murmuring, jostling crowds that once gathered at that place to watch crucifixions.

A memorable part of the Holy Land for Kevin was being baptized in the Jordan River.

One of the more beautiful spots, in Kevin's opinion, is the Sea of Galilee. They swam there, for their hotel in Tiberias was right on the lake. "We could have jumped off the terrace into the sea."

"We went across in a boat to Capernium. It's just ruins but it was beautiful. They've had much more rain than usual and the flowers were very beautiful."

They saw an old olive press and learned that olive oil is still obtained in the same way as of old.

In Jerico, the group saw excavations which have disclosed the oldest man-made things known, among them a tower 5,000 years old. "No one knows if it's the Jerico that Joshua conquered or another."

"We saw the only sycamore tree in Jerico. They don't claim it is the one climbed by Zacchaeus but it must have originated with that one."

They drank from Elisha's well in Jerico and Kevin says, "It tasted very good." Scripture alleges that a cup of salt was thrown into the well of bad water and it became pure. It is reported to be some of the purest water in the world and it springs forth with such force that its flow cannot be stopped.

Made aware of the tense situation which exists, the tour group went up the Golan Heights and saw the soldiers guarding the border to Jordan.

At the Lebanon border, they went right to the fence which is called Good Fence. "It's a sort of no-man's-land there," Kevin says, "there is a hospital where they care for any one brought there."

Visiting Gideon's Spring, they went by taxis up the Mount of Transfiguration. "It's too steep for buses, you really make sharp turns but the taxis went zip, zip. The view from there is beautiful. There is a church built at the top but we didn't go inside."

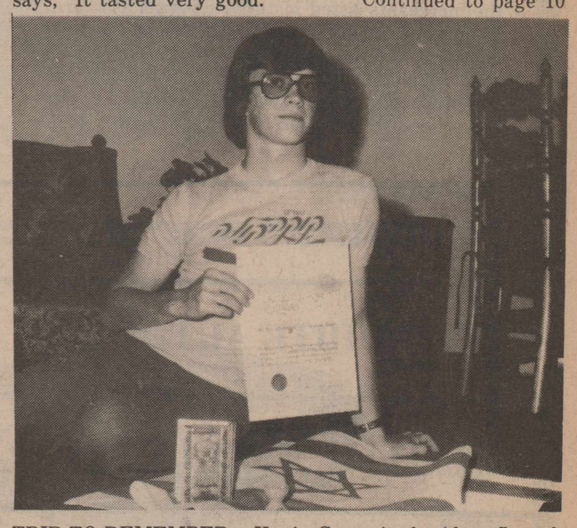

On the Mount of Beatitudes, overlooking the Sea of Galilee, the group participated in a communion service. Then back to Tiberias where for breakfast the next morning, Kevin ate his first raw fish.

"It was sort of like tough sardines," he says with a grin.

Their final night in the Holy Land was spent "in a really swank -- a five star -- hotel at Herzliya on the Mediterranean Sea." They also went swimming there.

Rising at 3:30 a.m. (the sun comes up at 4 a.m.), the

TRIP TO REMEMBER -- Kevin Coen sits beside a flag of Israel which he brought home from a graduation gift tour of the Holy Land. Wearing a tee shirt bearing "Coca Cola" in Hebrew, the OHS graduate holds a certificate declaring him a Jerusalem Pilgrim. Beside him is an olive wood communion cup which he used in a service there and a silver and turquoise volume of Hebrew and English scriptures. The Israeli tour had been a dream since last summer when his mother, Mrs. Bob Coen, made a similar visit.

Police Chief Feagley Speaks At Meeting

Guest speakers at the regular Senior Citizens meeting Thursday were Police Chief Charles Feagley and night patrolman, Bill Green, with tips for safety precautions to be used around the home.

"Operation: Safety" is a program designed to help those who live alone make their homes as safe as possible.

The club members were told to sure and lock all doors and screens, making entry to their homes as difficult as possible. Also it was suggested leaving a light on at night might help to discourage a would-be burglar.

Pamphlets were distributed with valuable information concerning what to do in cases of forced entry, etc. for the club members to study.

Police Chief Feagley cautioned the group to be sure and give "your name, address, color of your house and describe the house and tell what part of the house the person is trying to get into, when you call us."

The police may be reached during the day by calling 285-2612. Night police number is 285-2171. The sheriff's department in Littlefield may be reached by calling 1-385-4411.

Senior Citizens present were Mmes. Jewel Henson, Norma Adair, Dora Ellis, Hoyt Paschal, Ocie Holland, Pat Franklin, J.C. Ogletree, Ruby Crosby and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nafzger and Rev. and Mrs. J.R. Jennings.

Dedicated Church Worker

"Mrs. Bizzell, I hear you're a Sunday School teacher," said the young man who called Mabel Bizzell out of Sunday School class on the first Sunday after she and Gerald and their two small sons moved to Olton in 1952.

Agreeing she had been, Mabel was recruited that day to teach a class of young people and it was 18 years later that she asked for a break to become the student rather than teacher.

Mabel was a charter member, in 1953, of the Wesleyian Service Guild of the Methodist Church, a women's group reorganized when the church became United Methodist Church. She served as a local officer and two two-year terms as Plainview District Secretary, the presiding officer over Guilds in more than 25 churches. She has held offices in United Methodist Women and is currently chairman of the Wesleyan Circle, a group which meets evenings.

Born in Oklahoma, Mabel was reared by an older bachelor brother after her mother died when she was seven years old. Gerald also grew up at Elk City and dated Mabel's best friend before they became a couple.

The Bizzells lived at Elk City after their marriage and Gerald farmed. Their sons, Gary and Gail, were born there. They moved to McLean when Gail was a baby and Gerald worked at the John Deere agency.

After moving here, Mabel opened a children's shop in a small building back of the bank, the spot now occupied by Southwest Bookkeeping. She moved across the street into a bit larger shop in the back portion of what is now the Masonic Lodge building.

In 1959, she added ladies and misses wear and moved into spacious quarters of the building she began in, across the street from where her shop is today. She has been in her present building since 1964.

Gerald worked for a number of years with the John Deere agency before entering into business for himself, Bizzell Wholesale, a distributor of farming accessories.

Both boys graduated from OHS and entered the teaching field. Gary, who has since left teaching to go into business for himself, lives with his wife, Nancy, in Hale Center. They have a seven-year-old son, Skye, and four-year-old daughter, Pipar.

MRS. GERALD BIZZELL

Gail and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Muleshoe. They are parents of seven-year-old Lisa; six-year-old DeDe and three-year-old Keith.

Pup-pi, a small silver poodle, completes the Bizzell household. Once Gary's, she now belongs to Mabel.

Mabel loves to read. She gets lots of pleasure from music and is thoroughly enjoying "the stereo," a pretty console which seemed to say "I'm the one you've been waiting and looking for."

The Bizzells have been working to get their patio "right for us." It is, though, Gerald's project. A large tree provides shade until midday. The garage makes late afternoon shade so it is an inviting place almost any time they want to enjoy its pleasures.

What you pay to lease a Zimmatic® depends on the price of corn.

Here's another first from Lindsay . . . the Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease. Instead of a fixed lease payment, you pay for your Zimmatic based on the price of corn. If corn prices plunge, so does your lease payment.

By offering this new lease, Lindsay is sharing some of the same risks that you face every year. Corn prices fluctuate, which affects your profit picture. That's why Lindsay developed the exclusive Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease . . . a revolutionary program that tailors your lease payments to the changing price of corn, from one year to the next.

The Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease is designed so you can lease a Zimmatic without using your normal operating credit sources . . . your Zimmatic pays its own way by turning on your production.

The number of Zimmatics available under this program and the time period of this offer are limited so come in soon and get all the details on the Corn Crop Lease and other exclusive leasing programs available only through Lindsay Credit Corp.

Take advantage of a program that has never been offered in the industry before . . . it's the lease we can do for you.

Fitness

I've said it across the nation."

"We're mental giants but physical pee wees," he stated. "We've brought it on ourselves by automation. One hundred years ago, 90 percent of the work was done by arms, legs and backs. Today, 94 percent is by automation."

"You all know that walking, jogging, running, bicycling is good for your but you need to do it 45 to 60 minutes per day to really profit by it. How many are willing to do that?"

"We have the greatest resources in the world but what good are they if we don't utilize what we learn? We need to practice preventive medicine with a physical fitness program. Exercise is based ninety-nine and nine-tenths percent on repetition. Nothing happens physiologically until we are tired and that's what exercise basically is - getting tire."

Nivens said his company began, about six years ago, to determine what could be done about the lack of physical fitness. "The old German theory of isometrics was great for strength but we'd overlooked what it taught ... the tiring effect."

"You can fatigue any muscle in six to ten seconds. We began considering the exercising concept used in space flights. It's simple, resistive exercise. We never ask more than 15 minutes in any program, not even in our work with the Vikings."

"We prescribe exercise like doctors prescribe medicine. It drops the fat liquids in the blood, strenthens cardiac muscles and takes inches off the waistline!"

"We call it total isokinetics. It took three years to find it but the answer was simple -- friction resistence. It isn't done with a lot of equipment, you can't carry about bar bells and such. This device we use does it all and you can carry it in a brief case."

Nivens stated, "We don't need more doctors - we need fewer patients."

Wayne Cole presented the directors recommendation that the club contribute up to $300 worth equipment for the Boy Scouts. It was so approved.

The annual carnival was announced for July 27 through 30.

Charles Richardson was accepted as a new member. He will be installed along with other new members next Tuesday's Ladies Night meeting. Scheduled for an informal meeting, it will be held at the ORC clubhouse following a hamburger cookout. All Lions members are reminded to bring their ladies for the meeting which formally opens a new club year.

Tour

party departed for Tel Aviv and on to Zurich, Switzerland via Swiss Air. "Swiss Air was something else," he says. "We were just on about a three hour flight and they served us orange juice three times and a breakfast that was real good -- omelet with mushrooms and then we had Swiss chocolate."

"It was interesting listening to them make the announcements. They made them in three or four languages."

Zurich shops were very impressive to the young man who has grown up in Olton.

"They were something else! And, ah, the music boxes - there were some you wanted so bad you could taste it! You could buy music boxes from three dollars into the thousands."

Kevin was also impressed by a large five-floored shop that sold nothing but timepieces and music boxes. "There were cuckoo clocks galore including one, the biggest you can buy. It was about four feet tall and very wide but the little cuckoo was just as tiny as those in the smaller clocks.

"There was an entire wall of little clocks with animal faces or such, you know, the kind that has eyes that move as they tick the time. They were all running. It would drive you up a wall to watch very long," he says.

The tourists were loaned coats to go up by ski lift up to the top of one of the Alps, described by Kevin as "very beautiful."

Shops were closed that day for a holiday so the group went shopping in Interlocken rather than returning to Lucerne. Some of the group, Kevin says, visited pastry shops which were described by their guide as having the "finest pastries on earth."

"Next morning, we went back to Zurich where we crowded in a little 'sardine can' plane and flew to Paris. The air port at Paris is really something. You don't walk anywhere, you get on conveyor walks and they whisk you away. You can hardly stand up on them without holding, they move so fast."

Boarding an Air France 747, they took off for Houston with a fly-over view of Canada and the Great Lakes.

"You nearly had to understand French to tell what they were saying in English when they'd announce what we were flying over. Chicago sounded like 'Chick-a-go.' We had a three hour layover in Houston and, since we'd been up 24 hours, we had jet lag real bad. We flew 10 hours and arrived two hours later than our departure," he says grinning.
