3 Inch Rainfall Registered Here

Rains measuring up to more than 3 inches fell in Scurry County Friday night and Saturday morning giving a boost to the rainfall total during the month of July. Biggest rain reported was 3.1 inches at the home of Mrs. L. A. Scott of Dunn Saturday morning. Rain was still falling at the time of the report. Approximately 2 inches fell in Fluvanna with 3 inches reported at the Jim Beavers Store in Camp Springs with 3 inches falling one and one-half miles east. Rain measured approximately two inches at the Kruse Service Station in Ira. Moisture measured 2.2 inches on the Glen Foster farm, 2 1/4 miles northwest of Hermaligh. Lake J. B. Thomas is flowing over the spillway for the second time within a week. Elevation at 8:15 Saturday night was 5883 feet. Full elevation is 5900 feet. Moisture in Snyder Friday night and Saturday morning measured 1.32 inches.

Turbulence Hits Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A violent thunderstorm with wind gusts up to 55 miles an hour struck the East Texas city of Nacogdoches early Saturday afternoon, widely disrupting power. Elsewhere over wide areas of Central, North, West and South Texas, showers fell in scattered patterns after a night in which rains up to eight inches drenched one Red River Valley area. Power failed throughout Nacogdoches, a city of 15,000, for a while. Both radio stations went silent. The power failures started at 12:16 p.m. The lashing rain was illuminated by fitful flashes of lightning. There was one unconfirmed report of a twisting funnel cloud, but it didn't touch ground. The Nacogdoches storm lasted only 10 minutes. When it lifted, telephones throughout the city were silent. Three fire stations and the sheriff's office were forced to rely on emergency power. Another violent thunderstorm hit the Lufkin area. To the west, a weak cool front had pushed to a north-south line from Childress to the east of water-drenched Midland to Alpine in the Big Bend. The collision of the cool air with the humid, warm clouds from the Gulf caused the turbulent weather. The danger that Texas might feel the lash of Hurricane Anna faded to nil as the first tropical storm of the year howled in toward the coast of Nicaragua. The heaviest rain Friday night was east of Vernon near Oklahoma. Larry Richie, a service station operator, said 8 inches fell near his place. Rain continued Saturday at Midland, totaling 6.70 inches. Flood waters receded quickly, but while the rain was hardest many streets were closed and a major underpass was flooded. Water ran three feet deep in a few Midland houses. Light hail fell with the rain. Two tornadoes were sighted, but neither hurt anyone nor did much damage. One touched the outskirts of Wichita Falls and damaged a few roofs and outbuildings. The other took a porch off a house at Nottrees near Odessa.

Fire Ceases In Tunisia At Request Of Council

By MAX HARRELSON UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Security Council Saturday called for—and got—an immediate cease-fire in the French-Tunisian fighting, but council members failed to reach agreement on steps to end the dispute between the two countries. In quick succession the 11-nation council killed two rival resolutions calling for direct negotiations between France and Tunisia to settle their differences over the Bizerte naval base that flared into open fighting last Wednesday. No veto was involved in the decisions since neither of the proposals received the required seven votes. By a vote of 4-0, the council rejected a resolution by the United Arab Republic and Liberia calling for immediate negotiations aimed at the withdrawal of all French forces from Tunisia. Seven delegations abstained. Then by a vote of 6-0, the delegates also turned down a proposal by Britain and the United States which simply called for a negotiated settlement of differences "without any mention of French withdrawals. Five countries abstained. The action followed the council's approval at its morning session of a stop-gap resolution which simply called for a cease-fire in Tunisia without dealing with subsequent steps. This was approved 10-0 with France not participating. Both the French and Tunisian governments responded to the call by ordering their troops to halt military operations in the Bizerte area.

Kennedy Accused Of Ineptness

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) President Kennedy's administration was charged with ineptness Saturday in its handling of the Berlin crisis by Rep. William E. Miller, R-N. Y. Miller, who also is chairman of the Republican National Committee, told a news conference. "Kennedy made a mistake in not making a clear pronouncement meeting with (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev." Miller, here to address the annual Kent County GOP picnic, said this nation's Berlin policy was confusing to our allies, adding that Berlin "is only a manifestation of an area of weakness" in charging the administration also "bungled the handling of the Laotian and Cuban crises as well." The Republican national chairman said, "We have never started a war and we shouldn't—but if they (the Russians) block our access routes to Berlin then we should fight." He said all the force necessary to maintain the freedom of West Berlin should be used "including nuclear weapons."

Bases May Stay Active

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some — perhaps all — orders to close down or reduce activity at 73 military bases appear to have been suspended until President Kennedy presents his new defense step-up plans next week. The Pentagon declined Saturday to say whether a general order has been issued to hold up the announced base closing program or the transfer of units from one base to another. However, for more than a week a pattern has existed in official answers to questions about individual bases or unit transfers. Typical is one answer about plans for closing one air base: "The Air Force is reviewing its programs as part of the general review being conducted by the Department of Defense. Final decision has not yet been reached."

Four Hurt In Mishap

Four Odessa residents remained in the Cogdell Hospital Saturday night following a three-vehicle mishap Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. nine miles east of Snyder on the Roby Highway. The injured were all members of an Odessa family. They were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Gray and two children, Kim, 11, and Debra Denise, 8. The Grays' compact auto was in a collision with a station wagon and semi-trailer truck. The station wagon was driven by Edgar A. Cadwallader of Rockville, Md. Driver of the truck was J. C. Cherry of Lafayette, Ga. The Gray car was traveling east, slid on the wet pavement and was in collision with the station wagon. After applying brakes, the truck jackknifed. The impact with the Gray car snapped the truck's driveshaft. The Gray car stopped just short of a 30-foot drop-off, and the truck came close to pitching over a 15-foot bluff. Mrs. Gray, driver of the compact auto, was pinned loose from the wreckage. She suffered several cuts about the head and neck. Wilson received a gash across the forehead. The young boy was thrown from the car and he received numerous cuts and a hip injury. Debra Denise underwent surgery. She received a broken left ankle and a cut on the forehead. The Gray car was a total loss. The truck and station wagon were damaged heavily.

Emperor's Daughter Is Dead

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito's eldest daughter, Mrs. Shizuko Higashikuni, died Saturday after a nine-month illness, the imperial household agency announced. The agency said former Princess Teru, 35, had been suffering from adhesion of the colon and abscess of the abdominal wall since last November. Emperor Hirohito, Empress Nagako, Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko, Teru's husband Morihiro Higashikuni and their five children were at the bedside when she died. She became a commoner after the war. Her father-in-law, the late Naruhiko Higashikuni, was prime minister for a brief period shortly after the war.

Good Will Ambassador 'Armed' With Polaroid

Editor's Note: The following article, re-printed in its entirety, appeared in a U. S. military newspaper in France, the author being Pfc Barent Gjelness. It has to do with the activities of Pvt. Don D. Hoyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyle, of 2101 Avenue M, while stationed at Rochefort with the 58th Transportation Co. (Heavy Truck). Pvt. Hoyle is currently home on leave visiting his parents, and on termination of that leave will be stationed at Fort Hood.

ambassadors of good will. And the private's only diplomatic aid is a Polaroid Land Camera. In his off-duty hours Hoyle uses the magic box, which takes and develops a finished picture in sixty seconds—to photograph the people and especially the children, of France. Children are his favorite subjects; he is their tireless and obviously delighted fan. Pvt. Hoyle, a 22-year-old native of Snyder, does most of his camera work on the La Rochelle beach, with occasional excursions into the nearby parks. Before taking a child's picture, he asks permission of the parents. Hoyle especially enjoys posing the children; he explains that the expression on the face of a boy or girl who is posed "curiously, surprised and undivided attention are combined" is rewarding. He also likes to take candid shots; children on swings, or throwing beach-balls, or wading, or playing a sort of beach jai-alai, with straw baskets shaped like first-basemen's gloves and colored balls.

His subjects are not familiar with the Polaroid camera. When Hoyle hands the parents the finished picture of their child a minute after it was taken it always creates excitement, often it's a sensation. Hoyle estimates that he's spent close to a hundred dollars on Polaroid film since early June, when he first began his picture-taking in France. He considers the money an investment, not an expense. "I'm very well known on this beach," he says. He is always seen in uniform. Among the French, Hoyle is very much appreciated—and reciprocates by photographing everybody: a gendarme who, like scores of other Frenchmen, will buy Hoyle an "aperitif" anytime; lovers in the park holding hands; parents and their children riding bumper-cars at a carnival. He expects to continue his pleasant hobby indefinitely, keeping one eye at his camera's shutter, and the other on the happy smiles his work inspires.

Revamping Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—GOP National Chairman William E. Miller said Saturday the Republican party needs grass root organization and not new policies and platforms to win elections. Miller rejected contentions that the Republicans lost the 1960 presidential election because they didn't promise enough to the voters. He was interviewed by Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, on a radio-television program taped for Iowa stations. "It must be remembered that our party received almost 50 per cent of the vote cast in 1960 and we made gains in the House and gains in the Senate and we made gains in the governors' races," the chairman said. "We think that the people in the last election did not repudiate our policies or our principles or our ideals or our aims. We feel simply it was a lack of organization structure and a lack of industry and effort at the grass-roots level. This we intend to correct."

Rest Mixed With Work For JFK

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy worked on an important speech on the Berlin situation and other problems Saturday but found time for a cruise with his family in another work and play weekend at his Cape Cod summer home. He spent the morning shaping up the text of the Berlin speech which he is to deliver Tuesday night on a national radio-TV network hookup. The President made several telephone calls to aides in the White House and to others in Washington as he worked on the text, according to Asst. White House press secretary Andrew I. Hatcher. By noon he took some time off and boarded his father's 52-foot motor cruiser Marlin for a couple of hours cruising on Nantucket Sound. Hatcher said Mrs. Kennedy and some of the Kennedy children went along with the President. The sky was overcast but a warm sun shone on the sparkling waters of the sound. The winds were gentle and the sea calm. On his return a history making

Strange Plot Hashed By Wall Streeter

NEW YORK (AP)—A Wall Street stock dealer jilted by a brunette waitress was accused Saturday of attempting to hire a policeman to main, rape and rob her. Police identified him as Henry Franklin Scheetz III, 23, a blond scion of a prominent Pittsburgh, Pa. family. Scheetz was arrested in the bar of the Hotel Nassau Friday night as he was making a $300 "down payment" for the job, police said. The policeman, Edward Pagamucci, who was off duty when he first met Scheetz last month, had tipped off detectives to be on hand.

The brunette, Mary Kelly, 23, Sunnyside, Queens, told police on learning of Scheetz's arrest: "He kept pestering me to marry him, but I just wasn't interested in him. I told him so. I'm shocked that he'd try a thing like this." Scheetz came to New York from Pittsburgh in 1958. He said he had his own Wall Street office but declined to give its address. The Journal-American said he is the son of Henry F. Scheetz Jr., former president of the Fuller, Label & Box Co. of Pittsburgh. The newspaper quoted the father as commenting: "What can I say? The whole family will take this hard. My son told me he was infatuated with this girl, but I never met her. I never expected this." Magistrate Thomas Fitzpatrick set bail at $25,000 pending a hearing Aug. 1.

Hoopla, Yuri To Accompany Celebration

HAVANA (AP)—Thousands of multicolored flags and posters blossomed over the Cuban capital Saturday in preparation for the celebrations of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolution. This year's commemoration is expected to get special treatment from the prime minister. Soviet astronaut Yuri Gagarin also will be on hand. Diplomatic sources said Castro may take the occasion Wednesday to proclaim creation of a party for this Socialist republic. Such a party, they said, would come about with the merger of the Popular Socialist Communist party, the July 26th movement, labor unions and all other groups supporting the Castro regime. The Popular Socialists is the only political party given legal status, although the government has declined to confirm this.

Naval Rate Regulations Are Revised

Changes to regulations regarding retention of rate for former Navy and Coast Guard personnel who enlist in the Naval Reserve have been announced by the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

The most drastic change involves former members of the Navy or Coast Guard who execute a Naval Reserve enlistment to serve in Selected Reserve Units. Those enlisting in this category can retain the rate they last held on active duty, regardless of the time elapsed since they were discharged.

The only stipulation in this type of enlistment is that a vacancy must exist in the unit for that rating. If no vacancy exists, and there is an opening in a lower pay grade, the enlistment can be made in the lower grade.

Previously, a person was required to effect a Reserve enlistment within six months of discharge in order to retain his rate.

In another move, the Navy has altered the reenlistment pay grade set-up for those entering the Naval Reserve Active Status Pool. The six-month time limit is in effect for those in this category who wish to reenlist at their discharge rates. However, a graduated scale has been set up to cover those who remain "on the outside" for more than six months.

Full details are available at any Naval Reserve activity.

Muddled Picture Affecting Farm Surplus Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Berlin crisis and the possibility it might develop into a shooting war has put this nation's farm surplus and its excessive agricultural productive capacity in a new light.

When World War II broke out, the United States was struggling with over-production and excess supplies. The Farm Act of 1938, providing for rigid production controls and major crops, had gotten little more than a trial when the nation found it necessary to

Airlifting Of Cubans Beginning

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pan American World Airways said today the first two planes to five free flights to Cuban refugees under a U. S. Department of State plan will leave for Havana this afternoon.

The first plane to bring in the vanguard of some 20,000 Cuban refugees is due to depart Miami at 2:30 p. m. EST, with a second leaving at 3 p. m.

The flight requires about an hour each way and PAA said if the refugees have been processed and are permitted to leave, the planes should reach Miami by about 5 and 6 p. m.

Another flight will stand by in event a third load of refugees is processed in time for movement tonight.

Meanwhile, the regular PAA flight left for Havana at 10:30 a. m. and was due to return at 1:45 p. m. It was expected to bring in the usual capacity load of Cubans who have made arrangements to leave their homeland before the State Department announced its airlift plans.

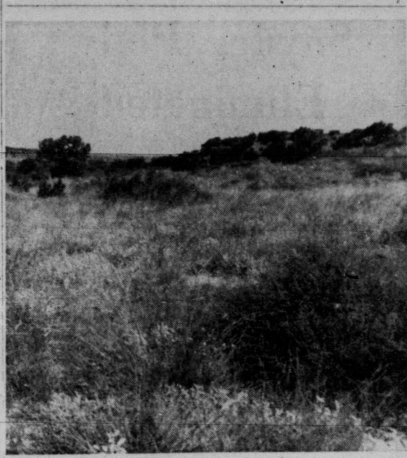

Six Perish In Crash

SHEMYA, Alaska (AP)—An Alaska Airlines DC6C carrying a crew of six missed a fog-shrouded runway while making a retuning stop Friday and crashed in flames. All six were killed.

The cargo carrier, under contract to the Military Air Transport Service, was flying from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to the Tachikawa AFB near Tokyo when it attempted the landing on the western island in the Aleutian chain about 1,500 miles southwest of Anchorage.

The dead were: Capt. Edward Bowman, 44, Seattle; copilot John Hermann Bird Jr., 29, Kent, Wash.; Flight Engineer Dwight Morton Babcock, 28, Seattle; Flight Engineer William Everett Donovan, 26, Seattle; Navigator Edson A. Marahrens, 41, Bellevue, Wash.; and Capt. Galvin William Sargent, 41, Danville, Calif.

A HELPFUL HINT—Deferred and proper grazing gives an increase in better grasses such as side oats and blue grama for GERALD GREENE on his stock farm seven miles east of Snyder.

Careful Planning Enhances Picture

Deferred grazing and proper range use have allowed the better grasses to increase on GERALD GREENE's farm east of Snyder. Several years ago, during the drought, most of the land was bare, Greene recalls. All the grasses have made a big recovery, but it is especially amazing how side oats and blue grama have recovered and increased over the last two years, he also noted.

Greene has been a cooperator with the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District since 1946. He now has a Great Plains Conservation Plan to aid him in establishing needed conservation measures on his stock farm. These will include replacing old graded terraces with a new level terrace system on some of the fields, a well, and storage facilities and pipelines for livestock water to aid in grazing management.

He intends to continue following the recommendations of the Soil Conservation Service in his grazing management. This includes a rest during the summer or fall by grazing crops such as sudan or other grasses.

Greene further states that, "I try to keep about fifty per cent of the grass growth ungrazed." By managing in this manner the good grasses will increase as well as going up to cover all the ground area, thus enabling more stock to be run.

Should a new war break out, the situation would be about like it was at the outset of World War II. The present surpluses would melt away in no time and expansion in production would be required instead of the present cutbacks.

This would be particularly true if this country were called upon, as it was in the last war, to become the breadbasket of its allies. The only commodity now available in sufficient supply in this country to make leaders feel easy is wheat. This year's indicated crop and reserve and surplus supplies would provide enough of this grain for about 25 months at the current rate of domestic use and export. In a war period, demands would increase.

Reserves and surpluses of corn, for instance, would meet needs for not much longer than 6 months. Reserves of oats and barley are much smaller measured in similar terms.

Tending to minimize the beneficial value of current feed grain stocks in event of war would be this year's emergency program under which farmers have cut back corn and sorghum grain acreages nearly 20 per cent in return for government payments and higher price supports.

As a consequence of this program, this year's production of feed grains will be inadequate to meet needs until the 1962 crop is produced. It will be necessary to use some of the surpluses to fill the deficit. Of course, when the feed grain program was inaugurated, a possible conflict over Berlin was not as imminent as it now is.

One of the good features of this year's farm program—from the standpoint of a possible war—is encouragement of an increase in the production of soybeans. This crop is a very important source of vegetable oil for food purposes. Usually, foods fats become the tightest in supply of any food commodity in war time. It is an essential food because of its energy value.

Production of beef cattle and hogs is at a relatively high level. But the government doubtless would find it necessary to invoke rationing as well as price ceilings in order to conserve supplies and assure an equitable distribution.

Suddenly, Shortwinded

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press today carried only brief reports on the second American man in space. The Communist party paper Pravda carried two short dispatches by Tass news agency on its third page under the headlines "Launching of an American Rocket with a Man" and "Pilot saved, Cabin Sinks."

The first story reported the launching, together with distance. The second reported that the 16-minute flight "almost ended tragically" for Capt. Virgil I. Grissom and that the capsule "is now on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean."

The military newspaper Red Star carried the same dispatches on its fourth page. One of Moscow's largest dailies, Soviet Russia, carried the bare announcement of the launching on page three.

Mexico Remains True In Spite Of Rumors

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of U. S. businessmen living in Mexico said Saturday Americans who believe reports of anti-Americanism here are playing into the hands of Communists. And they said Mexico itself is a good friend of the United States.

"The Comité Norteamericano Pro-Mexico, better known as 'Operation Amigos,' said in a letter to be sent to more than 50,000 persons and organizations in the United States that the few disturbances which have occurred were agitated by 'paid agents of certain foreign powers.'"

The incidents were "so insignificant they were hardly noticed down here" but were exaggerated out of all proportion, when circulated abroad by Communists, it said. The letter added: "If you believe them, you are playing into the hands of the Communists. You will be doing just what they desire."

"These agitators are making every effort to disrupt the friendship between Mexico and the United States, to frighten tourists out of coming here, and to alarm investors."

"Their efforts will surely be repeated since this is a long-term campaign to cause a break between our two countries."

"We need Mexico's friendship, which is traditional. We share a border over 1,600 miles long, without forts or guns, where have been the byword for generations.

"Mexico is one of the U.S.A.'s best customers. Our exports to and imports from Mexico are extremely important to both nations. In turn, Mexico needs our friendship and understanding, she needs our tourists, who spend about $650 million here every year."

"If the Communists succeed in doing what they are trying to do, we both lose. Mexico will be hard hit economically and standards of living will drop. You well know that a country with great poverty and unemployment could be a pushover for the Communists." The letter said Mexico is not Communist, and quoted President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, former President Abelardo Rodriguez and others who have made strong statements to this effect.

"The Mexican people, it went on, are friendly and courteous. 'We know. We live here, and are close to developments.'"

The letter coincided with government action to convince Americans that there is no anti-gringo feeling in this country. Such reports had caused a drop in tourist trade and in investments in Mexico.

The letter was signed by Leon Roy as president and Glenn Dennis as vice president. The group, formed in 1954 to promote better understanding, is a nonprofit organization of U. S. citizens living in Mexico. It represents more than 100 of the most important U. S. firms doing business in this country.

Former pitcher Gordon Maltzberger manages the Boise Braves in the Class C Pioneer League.

Life Saving Instruction Begins Here

Senior life saving will be the order of the day beginning Monday morning at 8 o'clock at the Towle Park Pool.

Those young people interested in such a course—the sessions of which will last from 8-10 a. m. on consecutive mornings until the 17-hour course is completed—are requested to sign up immediately at the pool, reports manager Max Laing.

In order to take advantage of the course, one must either be at least 16 years of age or be in or above the eleventh grade scholastically.

Colt League Tilt Slated Here... Maybe

As Little Lucey of the comic strip so aptly puts it—Good grief!

At latest indication, the third and deciding Colt League playoff game involving the Snyder and Abilene All-Stars will be played at Towle Park this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

However, if the local field is not in playing condition it will be switched to Abilene at the same time, and.

If neither field is dry enough, a big switch will be made, and the third game would be recast off in El Paso Monday, at a time as yet undecided.

Each team has won one and lost one in the best-of-three game series, Abilene winning the opener 4-3 and Snyder taking the second contest 2-0. The series victor will advance against the winner of a similar series currently being waged between Lovington, New Mexico, and Juarez, Mexico.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant tossed a six-hitter and Woodie Held cracked a two-run homer Saturday as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Minnesota Twins 4-0.

Grant was in hot water several times but managed to escape unscathed. In the fifth and sixth innings, double plays got him out of trouble and in the first and fourth, he retired the side.

It was Grant's 19th victory in 22 lifetime decisions over the Twins' total Washington Senators. His season record is now 9-4.

Held's 10th homer came in the fifth with the singing Chuck Essegian aboard.

LL NATIONAL SEASONAL ROUNDUP

Bowden, Greif Pace Stats

Bill Greif and Murray Bowden, the two Little League performers who were the most instrumental in leading their National All-Stars to an 8-2 opening playoff victory over their American League counterparts Thursday, ended the regular season as the league's statistical leaders, also.

Greif went the distance for that victory, giving up four hits and one earned run, while Bowden slammed a three-run homer in the first to place an early demoralizing effect on the Americans.

Over the course of the season, Greif appeared in 19 games, hurled 49 and two-thirds innings, and gave up only four earned runs for a phenomenal 0.483 earned run average.

Greif, who hurled for the champion Giants, had a teammate—Lane McMillan—who compiled an equally amazing 7-0 won-lost record for the year to lead in that department. He was also second to Greif in the ERA end of things with his highly respectable 1.286 mark. Don Jones of the Braves was the only other league hurler to crack the 2.0 run barrier, his reading being 1.498. He saw considerably less mound action than did Greif and McMillan, however, the bulk of his pitching duties being confined to the latter part of the season.

Greif's strikeout record was also a thing to behold, as he whiffed a total of 96 opposing batsmen to average just shy of two strikeouts per inning pitched. Second to him in this category was Roy Hunter of the Cardinals, who sent a total of 63 down swinging.

In hitting, Bowden reigned as the top individual star, as the take-charge Giant backstop paced a field of some five 400 hitters with a strapping 458 average. This was accumulated on the strength of some 22 base hits in 48 times at bat. He was also top man in total runs scored with 26 to his credit, and left the league in the important runs batted in category with 22. Hunter and Greif were close behind in the latter area with 19 and 18 RBIs, respectively, however.

Following Bowden in batting average were Tommy Bullard of the Cubs (.444), Tommy Sinclair of the Braves (.438), Hunter (.431), and Ricky Hall of the Cubs (.400).

Following is a listing of both pitching and batting averages as compiled over the regular season. The batting marks include those players who have a minimum of 10 plate appearances and who have an average in the pitching department, the innings credited are rounded off to the nearest complete inning as worked.

Snyder Pony Eliminated

LUBBOCK — Snyder's Pony All-Stars were eliminated from the playoff picture here Friday, as they got themselves felled for the second night running in a best-of-three series by Southwest Pony (Lubbock), 9-4.

The Snyder nine had previously succumbed by a count of 6-3 in action of Thursday.

Two other Lubbock Pony delegations met on Friday, with Southern throwing 2-1 in extra innings to gain credit for a two-game series sweep, also.

Dorian Clawson hurled the win against Snyder, allowing seven hits, striking out a like number, and dealing out five free tickets. Blake Roberts was the loser, also giving up seven safeties while fanning eight and walking two. He received late relief help from Jerry Owens, who came on in the final inning.

Leslie Brown was the hitting star for Snyder, collecting three safeties for the night. One of those was a second-inning roundtripper which served to put his mates in a short-lived lead.

Impending Draft Hike Could Affect Majors

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If President Kennedy calls up the reserves and expands the draft, big league baseball could lose some of its most promising young players.

Most of the 18 major league clubs have players who served six months in some branch of the service during the off season and then went into the reserves.

However, some of the younger players are married and have children so there is no way of anticipating how an individual club might be affected if a state of emergency should be declared.

The New York Yankees have three players in the reserves who served six months during the winter. They are shortstop Tony Kubek and pitchers Bill Stafford and Ralph Terry.

The Detroit Tigers have third baseman Steve Boros in the active reserve and shortstop Dick McAuliffe, a 21-year-old rookie, could be subject to the draft.

Baltimore has four regulars who have served six-month hitched. They are third baseman Brooks Robinson, shortstop Ron Hansen and pitchers Steve Barber and Chuck Estrada.

Gordy Coleman, catcher Jerry Zimmerman and John Edwards and pitchers Sherman Jones and Howie Nunn.

Los Angeles might lose men like pitchers Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, outfielders Willie Davis and Ron Fairly, infielder Bob Aspromonte and catcher Doug Camilli.

San Francisco reports catcher John Orsino, recently recalled from the minors, is the only player in active military status.

Milwaukee's rookie pitcher Bob Hendley and catcher Bob Taylor both served six months and are in the reserves.

Outfielder Curt Flood and pitcher Bob Miller and Craig Anderson of the St. Louis Cardinals have served six months and must report for two weeks Army training each year.

The Chicago Cubs have young pitchers like infielders Jerry Kimball and Ron Santo, outfielder Billy Williams, and pitchers Jim Brewer and Dick Ellsworth who might be subject to military draft.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh had no information on their players.

The Chicago White Sox report they do not believe any of their players would be affected.

Can Palmer Annex PGA?

CHICAGO (AP)—A determined Arnold Palmer next week will try to win the biggest jewel still missing from his golfing crown—the Professional Golfers' Association of America championship.

Unquestionably, Palmer will be the man to beat as a field of 169 contestants begins the four-day 72-hole medal play competition Thursday at the historic North Course of Olympia Fields Country Club, 25 miles south of Chicago's loop.

The PGA title is the big one Palmer has been chasing since his British Open conquest, has yet to haul in. The 1954 USGA amateur champion won the USGA Open in 1960 and the Masters in 1958 and 1960.

The North Course has enough trees to start a lumber camp, and its 6,722 yards hugs the terrain with such tightness that traffic lights might be needed for sizeable galleries.

The competitive record against its 35-35-70 par is 31-34-65, set by Lawson Little in 1940 in qualifying for the U.S. Open.

The North, or No. 4 course got its first major tournament baptism in 1925 when Walter Hagen won the PGA championship. The Haig returned to Olympia Fields to win the 1927 Western Open.

By winning, Palmer could replace South Africa's Gary Player as the year's leading money winner. Player, who has won 3 out of 20 tournaments, has $53,969 in winnings. Palmer, who has 5 victories in 18 meets, has $50,585.

Spahn Wins Own Game With Homer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves edged Pittsburgh 5-4 Saturday and the winning run was a homer by Warren Spahn. The veteran Milwaukee pitcher snacked a lead-off homer in the third inning. But he lasted only three innings and failed to nail down the 29th victory of his career.

Milwaukee scored four runs in the first inning on six hits, one a homer by Joe Adcock, his 21st.

Don Cloninger, who relieved Spahn and worked two innings, picked up his second victory against two defeats.

Bobby Shantz was the loser, getting his second setback in seven decisions. He was pulled with two outs in the first.

Roberto Clemente homered for Pittsburgh in the first, driving in a pair of runs. It was his 15th of the year.

Sox Pepper Birds, 7-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Roy Sievers' two-run pinch double in the eighth inning carried the Chicago White Sox to a 7-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Saturday in the first game of a day-night doubleheader.

The two teams play again at night in a game rescheduled after Friday night's rain.

Sievers' blow followed an infield single by Floyd Robinson, a passed ball and an intentional walk to Minnie Minoso. Andy Carey running for Sievers, scored an insurance run on a subsequent error by reliever and loser Hoyt Wilhelm.

The Sox took a 4-0 lead in the third inning on a rally featuring Robinson's eighth homer of the year with a man on.

Starter Early Wynn was sailing along with a four-hit shutout until he rejoined his elbow in the seventh.

Reliever Frank Baumann got Wynn out of the jam but the Orioles pounced on Baumann and Turk Lown for four runs in the eighth — three on Jackie Brandt's sixth homer.

Lown finished up and received credit for his sixth victory in nine decisions. Wilhelm was charged with his fifth loss against seven triumphs.

Sixteen Blanda's 'Magic Number'

HOUSTON (AP) — George Blanda began his 12th year in pro football Saturday, and said he hopes to be playing in 1965.

"When I get in 16 years, I'll call it quits," said the former Chicago Bear quarterback who last season led the Houston Oilers to the first championship of the American Football League.

Blanda was tossing passes Saturday as the Oilers began preparations for defense of the AFL title with two workouts at Ellington Air Force Base.

One of his favorite pass receivers was missing.

Bill Groman, the former Heidelberg College end who led all AFL pass receivers in two departments last season, is the club's lone holdout.

John Breen, assistant coach and director of player personnel, said Groman's salary demands were fantastic.

"I told him he might as well go home," Breen said. "We'd like to have him back but it so happens we have several outstanding offensive ends who could take over his job."

Breen made particular reference to Willard Dewvaal, the former Southern Methodist star who signed with the Oilers in December after playing out his National Football League contract with the Chicago Bears.

Groman last season caught 72 passes for 1,473 yards or an average of 20 1/2 yards per catch. Both the total yardage and the average were season highs for the AFL.

Groman's absence leaves the Oilers without their two top pass receivers of 1961, John Carson, former Georgia end, earlier had announced retirement plans.

Owls To Engage West Virginia

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University completed its football schedule for the next four seasons today by signing West Virginia for 1964.

Other intersectional teams on the four-season schedule include LSU, Georgia Tech, Penn State, Oregon, and Stanford.

The schedule for 1961: Sept. 23, LSU at Houston; Sept. 30, Georgia Tech at Atlanta; Oct. 14, Florida at Houston.

Fort Bliss Hosting Meet

EL PASO — Eighteen Army tennis players arrived at Fort Bliss this week to participate in a month-long elimination tournament which will produce an All-Army tennis team to compete against Navy, Air Force and Marine counterparts at Newport, R. I., in August.

Fort Bliss was selected to serve as host and training site for the Army tennis hopefuls this year. Fort Bliss Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Marshall S. Carter, personally welcomed the Army tennis players, representing Army commands from all over the world before they settled down to a rigorous training schedule.

According to Dan Sullivan, St. Petersburg, Fla. pro and coach of the Army team, a grueling month lies ahead for the Army racket men. With an average of 16 to 17 games scheduled daily, each man will play at least one full match per day in addition to normal conditioning exercises.

The elimination tournament began immediately after the meet arrived and will continue through Aug. 9. It will be run on an approximate round-robin basis, with one man facing the same opponent at least three times during the course of the tournament. Coach Sullivan expects this system to give a fair opportunity to all participants.

A progress record will be kept on each player and as a man advances or falls back in the elimination meet, his name will be upped or dropped a rung on the "ladder."

At the end of the tournament the top six men in the open division will be selected for the All-Army team. A similar setup will be used to select the four man Senior division team.

After the first week of competition, PFC Gerald Moss of Brooke Army Medical Center, Junior Davis Cupper and last year's top Army player, headed the open division. Defending Senior doubles and singles champ of last year's Inter-service meet, M-Sgt. William Millikan of USMA, West Point, N. Y., paced the Senior division.

Eddie Strayhorn of Snyder is among the open class aspirants trying out for the All-Army team. Stationed at Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, he is currently ranked as the number ten tennis player over the entire army. He was seventh-ranked last year in the army-wide standings.

The Cubs almost pulled the game out in the final inning when Ed Bouchee opened with a single and scored on Jerry Kindall's eighth homer of the year.

Johnny Buzhardt, who had taken over for starter and winner Chris Short (4-6) in the sixth, walked Sam Taylor then retired pinch hitter Richie Ashburn. Jack Baldschun replaced Buzhardt and retired Al Heist, and Don Zimmer.

The Phillies big innings were runs and the seventh when they got two more, both times taking advantage of bad defensive play.

It was the Phillies' sixth victory in their last nine games and the seventh straight loss for the Cubs.

Yankees Win In Typical Fashion, 11-9

BOSTON (AP)—Incredible Johnny Blanchard hit another pinch-hit homer with two out in the ninth, igniting a storybook three-run comeback as New York defeated Boston, 11-9, Saturday.

Blanchard, whose grand slam pinch hit settled Friday night's 11-8 marathon, drove Gene Conley's first pitch deep into the right field seats, tying the score 9-9.

Relief pitcher Luis Arroyo, whose throwing error played a part in the Red Sox two-run eighth, doubled, Bobby Richardson then singled and Tony Kubek doubled—all first-pitch hitting.

The brink of defeat salvage job put the American League leaders a full game ahead of rain-idled Detroit and gave Arroyo his second relief win in less than 24 hours.

Blanchard's homer was the fourth he had pinch hit this year.

Outch 18-16 and outdone in the long ball department until the ninth, the Yankees stemmed the rallying Red Sox with Arroyo in the sixth inning.

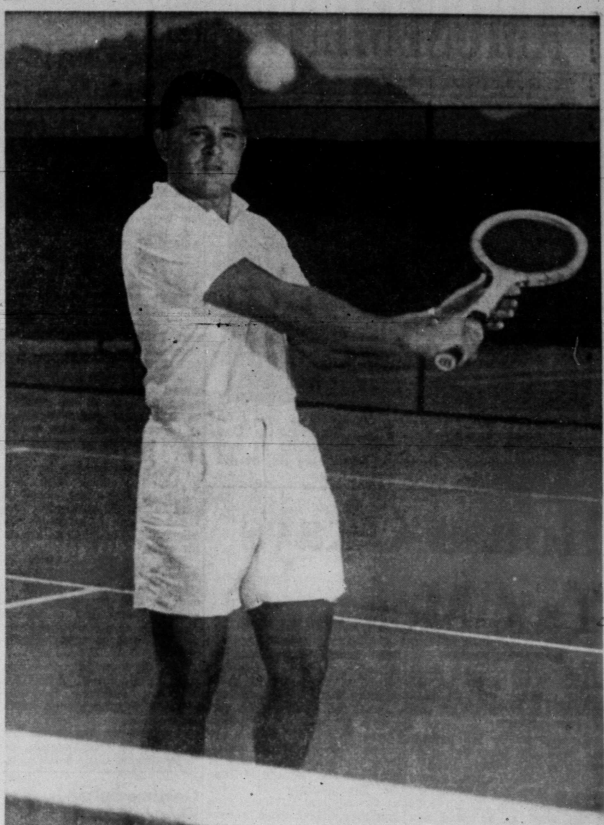

Arroyo stopped Boston until his error, another by second baseman Richardson, Vic Wertz' double, Jackie Jensen's single and Don Buddin's grounder nudged the Red Sox into the lead, 9-8.

Conley got Skowron on a weak dribbler to the mound and fanned Elston Howard before Blanchard changed the complexion of the game.

HOUSTON (AP)—Many players who built Houston's baseball tradition will be here July 31 to take part in ceremonies marking the city's farewell to the minor leagues.

Houston moves into the National League next season.

"The Last Roundup of the Buffs" will honor stars of Houston teams of the past 30 years in the Texas League and American Association.

Former Buff stars who have accepted invitations include Tex Carlton, Bill Hallahan, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, Dizzy Dean, Joe Medwick, Harry Walker, and Eddie Dyer.

Others include Solly Hemus and Johnny Keane of the 1947 Texas League championship team. Hemus, an infielder in 1947, recently was released as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and was succeeded by Keane, who was his manager here in 1947.

Phils Slip Past Cubs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies Saturday pounded out 18 hits and took advantage of shoddy defensive play, to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-5, but not before a ninth-inning scare.

The Cubs almost pulled the game out in the final inning when Ed Bouchee opened with a single and scored on Jerry Kindall's eighth homer of the year.

Johnny Buzhardt, who had taken over for starter and winner Chris Short (4-6) in the sixth, walked Sam Taylor then retired pinch hitter Richie Ashburn. Jack Baldschun replaced Buzhardt and retired Al Heist, and Don Zimmer.

The Phillies big innings were runs and the seventh when they got two more, both times taking advantage of bad defensive play.

It was the Phillies' sixth victory in their last nine games and the seventh straight loss for the Cubs.

House Okays Tax Measure

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas House members broke a four-day tax debate deadlock with the 71-58 passage Saturday of a 2 per cent sales tax package.

The $328 million tax package will be waiting when the Senate returns to work Monday, the half-way mark of this special session called to settle Texas' taxing and spending problems. The bill is $22 million short of estimated new money needs for 1962-63.

The House adjourned until 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The final vote followed a 71-70 tentative approval Friday when Speaker James Tugman cast his vote to break a tie that would have junked the bill.

The bill is a revised edition of a compromise bill that the House tax committee rewrote from Gov. Price Daniel's original recommendations.

"The compromise contains several features which I recommended in the regular session in House Bill 1015 by Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, as well as the proposal for a $5 exemption on post retail purchases," Daniel said today after the House action.

"Although it does not contain several of my recommendations it is obvious that it was the best compromise which could have passed the House. It is far less regressive than House Bill 272 the sales tax measure approved by the House in the regular session and House Bill 334 (the Senate version) of the regular session."

The voted ended one of the hottest and longest continuous tax debate sessions in recent years.

"If we don't compromise today we are going to be here until Christmas," Rep. B. H. Dewey of Bryan warned in the final debate.

The only defense you would have for approving this bill is to get something over to the Senate in time for them to act on it," said Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, in opposition.

"If we vote this bill down today we will be criticized for causing a second special session," said Rep. Wilson Foreman of Austin.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said the "limited excise, sales and use tax" feature of the package actually is a general sales tax which Daniel has sworn to oppose.

"How can you call this a $5 deductible tax when it includes electric baby bottle warmers and lawn mowers?"

The principal item of the package is a 2 per cent levy on sales of motor and power driven objects and components, construction materials, utility sales to consumers, restaurant meals costing $1 or more, and most individual retail purchases of $5 or more. This is estimated to produce $265 million in 1962-1963.

Exemptions include all food for home consumption, farm animals, seed, fertilizer, farm machinery, and fuel used for farm production or processing. An amendment was accepted to exempt the sale of Bibles, prayer books and other religious objects sold by non-profit organizations.

Other revenue raising provisions include a $24 million levy aimed at natural gas pipelines; $14 million by revising franchise tax laws to include some interstate sales and, $7.3 million by driver's license increases including a $2 to $3 hike for the average motorist.

The sales tax feature of the bill includes an increase in the auto inspection fee from $1 to $2.

Since the sales tax debate began Wednesday the House actually debated in detail five different tax programs.

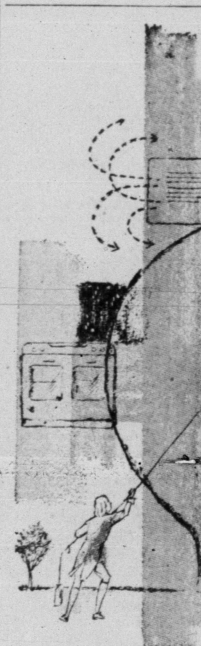

First, the governor's recommendation of a Pennsylvania type sales tax, which names the items.

taxed instead of the items exempted, was debated and amended. A decisive vote was never taken on this bill as a whole.

During the debate on the governor's bill, sponsored by Rep. Charles Ballman of Berger, a second complete tax program was offered by Reps. Max Carraker of Roby and Bob Eckhardt of Houston. The substitute was boosted as the only way to finance state operations without either a sales tax or personal income tax. The Carraker-Eckhardt effort, which included a corporate income tax, a highway use tax and a utilities consumers tax, fell 111-13.

Next representatives spent a 12½ hour marathon debate Wednesday and early Thursday on the house tax committee's substitute for Daniel's bill. Although it contained all but one of the provisions of the bill finally passed including the sales tax, it was defeated 77-62.

Friday morning, Rep. Charles Sandahl of Austin, head of the subcommittee that rewrote Daniel's bill, came back with the same compromise defeated early Thursday except it was minus a $16.5 million gross receipts tax equalization plan for telephone, telegraph, and utility firms. Sandahl's bill was adopted and the entire package given preliminary approval by the 71-70 vote.

Of Genius, Kites and Satellites...

One of the marvels of man is his capacity to invent, to create, and to build. Yet, genius in these fields is limited to a mere handful of the world's people. How to make the products of this creative and inventive genius available to all the people is a problem which faces every industrial nation. If a solution is not found... the nation will not prosper.

The United States now enjoys one of the highest standards of living in the world because it has been able to spread the fruits of its genius into every corner of the nation. How was the problem solved? Largely, through advertising.

Advertising takes the inventor's dream out of his shop and places it in your home. The auto-

BUT WHAT'S SHE REALLY LIKE??

Jacqueline's Charm Captivates All

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, just turning 32, has won the acclaim of a movie queen in just six months as America's First Lady.

But there are few who know what Mrs. Kennedy is really like, what she thinks, or how she views her White House role.

A sympathetic and admiring coterie of White House press aides are her spokesmen and Mrs. Kennedy remains silent behind their news handouts.

Mainly because she is young and beautiful, Mrs. Kennedy, who'll observe her 32nd birthday next Friday, has captured the imagination of people at home and abroad.

Some observers feel she has gained such sudden popularity because there is, at the moment, no outstanding glamorous figure on the public scene, either in Hollywood or among the world's royalty.

Already, she has the fan mail so typical of movie fame. And the White House last month issued an "official photograph," selected by Mrs. Kennedy, for distribution to her admirers around the world.

Mrs. Kennedy obviously is warming to her role after what seemed like an initial attempt to duck it. The big change came when she embarked on official state visits abroad with the President and was so enthusiastically received.

Now, she is considered such an asset as a goodwill ambassador that the President reportedly plans to include her on future trips abroad.

Mrs. Kennedy has proved her crowd-drawing appeal abroad, but so far she has made no comparison.

Times Change, Music Lovers
By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How come no more guns or burning tombstones on Spike Jones' new TV show?

"With the kind of music on records today," answers the once-zealot of all bandleaders, "my pistols and hysterical trombones would make me sound legit."

Spike's new show is satirical, but subtly so. In the old days, the Jones' satire was as subtle as a broken leg. Said Jones: "My own kids Spike Jr., 12, and Leslie, 10 listen to all my old hits—and think it's great music. They can't understand why I'm not backing Paul Anka."

"Even in my wackiest days, I don't think I could have come up with the racket those twanging guitars make on the hit records of today."

For years, Spike has come up with good summer replacement shows. This summer he is replacing Danny Thomas on CBS for 13 weeks.

"You know how some people send their children to camp in the summer? Helen is my singer wife, Helen Gravo and I get out of the house in the summer—and let the kids stay home. It's the same therapy for parents only in reverse."

None of Jones' famous city slickers are in the new show—but the Helen Gravo bit is there.

For instance in the opening show, he took off on rating services by interviewing a 10-year-old girl. The girl, of course, confessed she never watched Lassie, Captain Kangaroo or Dennis the Menace.

Her favorites—Meet the Press, Playhouse 90 and Maurice Evans and Judith Evans in Macbeth. Then she went into the famed "Out, Out Spot!" speech from the Bard's classic.

Spike got the idea for that skit because he found his own kids and their playmates rate "Twilight Zone" as their favorite.

"And you know the problems Rod Serling had in keeping it on the air. Madison Avenue thought it too adult," says Spike.

Onetime Suitor Is Shot And Killed
WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Wayne Lee White, 32, was shot to death early Saturday on the porch of Mrs. Glenn Washburn, 29.

Police said the man tried to break in her back door. Three pistol shots pierced the body.

Police said Mrs. Washburn told them the man got his hand through the door and that she ran for her pistol. She said she had warned the man repeatedly to leave but that he kept trying to force his way in.

Police said the woman told them she had gone out with the man, that he had beaten her and that she told him to stay away.

Dist. Atty. Stanley Kirk said no charge will be filed.

Former shortstop Johnny Pesky pilots the Seattle Rainers, No. 1 farm club of the Boston Red Sox.

People in high places, who meet her socially abroad—from French President Charles de Gaulle to Soviet Premier Khrushchev—are now listed among her fans.

Her White House mail averages nearly 5,000 letters a week. The letter writers want to trade recipes, seek advice on family and education problems and design Mrs. Kennedy's clothes. Also there are outpourings of music, poetry and paintings in her honor.

There are those who decry the fact that her major interest has been the re-furnishing of the White House—and a drive to collect fine historic pieces for display in the presidential mansion. Some public interest in the problems of people might be added, they suggest.

Others complain that there is too much written about Mrs. Kennedy's clothes and hairdo. But her fashions, including the famous pillbox hat, are fast becoming a fad.

She is the first First Lady to appoint a press secretary and she frequently lets writers know when she disapproves of what they have said about her and her children.

Her chief complaints have been that the press has invaded the privacy of her 3-year-old daughter by writing about Caroline's doings.

Mrs. Kennedy refuses to submit to any interviews or to hold news conferences. But she made an appeal for privacy for her children in a nationwide television interview with a commentator the Kennedys know well.

Sheffield To Speak At Heart Seminar
Dr. Roy Sheffield, Lubbock, will be the featured speaker at a heart seminar for Snyder area registered nurses and licensed vocational nurses at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Wednesday evening, July 26, from 7 to 10 p.m. In addition to Dr. Sheffield, Dr. Thomas F. Hartley, Snyder, will be on the program which has as its theme, "Nursing Care of The Heart Patient."

Dr. Hartley, president of the Scurry County Heart Council, pointed out that the program is being presented as part of the education and public information function of the local Council. Films and other supplementary materials which will be used in the program have been made available through the Texas Heart Association. All Snyder area registered nurses and licensed vocational nurses are invited and urged to attend the seminar.

It should also be noted that programs of a non-technical nature on the subject of the heart are available through the Scurry County Heart Council to other civic clubs and other similar organizations. Interested parties should contact Mrs. Hugh Boren, Jr., or Badger Robertson for further information.

Murder Rap Threatened
SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Maria County Dist. Atty. Roger Garey says he may file a murder charge against one or both boys who Friday admitted touching off a disastrous railroad tunnel fire here.

The Thursday night blaze burned supporting timbers causing a cave-in that claimed the life of fireman Frank Kinsler, 24, of the Alto Fire Department and swallowed an apartment house. The fire and cave-in caused more than $500,000 damage.

Frederick A. Wilson, 13 and Jimmie Rogers, 12, both of nearby Santa Venetia, were turned over to juvenile authorities. Both have arson records.

Garey told newsmen: "My present intention is to file a complaint for murder against one or both of the boys. I doubt whether they would be prosecuted in Superior Court and they undoubtedly will be certified to juvenile court."

Police quoted the Wilson boy as saying he had passed a flaming homemade torch in the tunnel of the Northwestern Pacific Freight Line after he was asked to leave a swimming pool for creating a disturbance.

'Nerve War' To Continue

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

You can expect the war of nerves over Berlin to last at least three more months.

It will grow even more intense. Probably it will reach its peak at a moment when the Kremlin leadership most needs crisis. It seems to have been planned that way.

Already it has raised fears of a hot war. What are the chances of that?

Barring miscalculation or accident, some educated guesses can be made. A careful examination of Communist statements and maneuvers since December leads to the conclusion that what is happening is keyed to a meeting of the Soviet Communist party opening in Moscow Oct. 17. This meeting is another occasion for concerning the world Communist leadership will seek.

To unveil a 20-year program for Soviet development which Khrushchev claims will leave the U. S. economy behind. This calls for strict labor measures and further deferment of the promise of abundant consumer goods. It demands sharp increases in industrial and agricultural production, in arm of the U. S. S. R. for long-term economic competition on a world scale.

2. To lay down a blueprint for world communism, including a general line of foreign policy. It means a Kremlin attempt to rout finally all who quarrel with its leadership, to end nagging from dissidents, and to dictate the program which Communists must follow.

The Berlin crisis thus can be viewed as a curtain raiser for the October meeting.

The Kremlin has been using its economic growth as an instrument of foreign policy. It wants to do so on a much larger scale. The small group of men who run the show consider it necessary to increase Soviet political investment in foreign aid and the contest for influence in the emerging underdeveloped world. They seem intent, too, on using military threats for political purposes wherever there is opportunity for gain without too much risk.

But the Kremlin has problems, too. Soviet society today is far more complex than when Bolshevik dictatorship was entrenching itself. The leaders, if they are to retain a monopoly of power in communism, must justify their claim. Today the justification can come only from citing a powerful outside threat. The only enemy powerful enough to pose such a threat is the United States.

The prospect of peace for a long time carries the risk of a decline in the leaders' centralized control, since it could arouse great pressure from people behind the Iron Curtain to enjoy a better life.

There is another consideration. The internal Communist bloc quarrel between those like the Chinese who advocate bolder thrusts toward world power and the Kremlin conservatives who have too much to lose to condone a reckless course.

This tension reached its height last December with the world Communist meeting in Moscow. That produced the "Moscow declaration of 1960," an uneasy compromise. There was a bow to Chinese demands, but the Russians retained command. And the Kremlin seemed required to show at least the appearance of a more aggressive policy.

Realists like Khrushchev may be aware they are straining reliability by about 10 years in their announced plans to overtake U. S. production in all fields. However, Khrushchev and others apparently do hope to hasten the process of capitalist decline by attrition—requiring the West sometimes to be prepared for total war, at other times to be under pressure to reduce military expenditures. Hit and-run crisis tactics can serve such a purpose.

Apart from the aim of increasing the Soviet economy's competitive capacity in the world and its potential for mischief, the October program, initiated against the background of an implied war threat, can help solidify the Communist party's hold on the huge population behind the iron curtain. Party theory will be diluted if practically demands it among a population made sophisticated by industrial development and modern communications. The party, however, has no intention of diluting its own power.

The Berlin crisis serves the purpose for the Kremlin. It gets too dangerous, Moscow likely will search out ways to mark time. One way would be a Big Four meeting on the whole German question, in advance of Khrushchev's year-end deadline for signing a separate peace treaty and attempting to deny Berlin to the Western powers. A meeting would take time and provide a breathing spell.

APARTMENT HOUSE FALLS INTO HOLE—This burning 10-unit apartment house that was constructed atop a large railroad tunnel in San Rafael, Calif., is seen falling into a gaping hole made when the tunnel collapsed as a fire burned out its wooden supports. The apartment building was evacuated before it collapsed, however one fireman was killed when the tunnel caved in. (AP Wirephoto)

FRANCE PLAYING ROLE OF 'VILLAIN' War Clouds Solidifying North African Countries

Editor's Note — AP correspondent Andrew Borowiec has spent much of the past four years in Tunisia and Algeria, covering the recurring crises in that part of North Africa France once dominated. In the following dispatch he surveys the implications of the latest trouble in Tunisia.

TUNIS (AP)—War flames sweeping embattled Bizerte are forging new Arab unity in explosive North Africa. France's fighting retaliation to President Habib Bourguiba's try to expel the French garrison from the big base at Tunisia's northern tip has rallied the support of Morocco, the Algerian rebels and the United Arab Republic, all of whom have been at odds with the Tunisian leader in the past.

Neglected Floors Get New Look

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
IF YOU ARE BORED with the floors you have now, get another kind.

That decorating theory is advanced by one of New York's top interior designers, Jay Dorf, who has put new floors in all four rooms of his apartment.

"Floors represent a larger area than any other surface in the room," he points out. "yet we tend merely to tolerate our floors or cover it with carpet."

"Floors should be lovely enough to enhance our furnishing and make them look more beautiful. An improvement you will notice when ordinary floors are waxed. Floor beauty can be achieved with patina or with pattern."

"What happens when you move?"

"You take your floors with you as you would linoleum," says Dorf. "People who own rare floors pull them up when they move. Well, why not other floors we like. I intend to do it."

If you can't afford new floors, you can get authentic antique effects by scraping, distressing and proper use of stain, he says.

Dorf's floors are treasures. A living room furnished in elegant French furnishings, from Regence to Louis XVI has an old French mired herringbone flooring of straight grain and quartered oak. The kitchen floor is vinyl laid in mortar by hand to resemble brick.

The wide oak antique floor boards in a sitting room are from a country home in Milford, Conn. Ditto the 22-foot country chestnut ceiling. The room was designed to be an authentic New England country room. A "modern" primitive oil painting of a clipper ship hangs over the fireplace, a Handsome English oak and red leather reclining chair is at the fireplace. A red and white sofa and pieces of Dorf's fabulous collection of "Dr. Wall Worcester" blue and white porcelain enhances the room.

He achieves Jekyll-Hyde effects with the windows. Picture windows

Billy Ruth Ervin, Ronnie Way Wed In Hermleigh Church, Double Ring Rites

The Hermleigh Methodist Church was the setting on July 23, at 8 p.m. for Billy Ruth Ervin of Hermleigh and Ronnie Jack Way of Colorado City.

Rev. Edward Way, pastor of the organ, accompanied Brenda Ramona May presided at the ceremony. The bride wore a white tulle gown, fashioned with an apron of scalloped Chantilly lace that tapered to a point in front.

The fitted bodice of Chantilly lace was graced with long sleeves that ended in points over the hands and fastened with tiny satin-covered buttons, matching the tiny buttons down the back. Her hat of matching material was embroidered with seed pearls and held her finger-tips veil of illusion.

She carried a white orchid surrounded by feathered white carnations atop a white Bible.

Hein Stirl of Hermleigh was maid of honor. She wore a royal blue cotton lace dress over cotton satin. Fashioned with short sleeves and round neckline the sheath had a net over-skirt. She carried a bouquet of white mums.

Jeneva Walton and Viva Kay Parker, both of Hermleigh were bridesmaids and wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor.

Carol Beinhauer and Linnie Thomas were candlelighters and were dressed same as the other attendants.

Travis Morgan of Snyder served his cousin as best man.

A reception followed at the church with Linda Darden and Nita Corley presiding at the table.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a lilac linen suit with white accessories.

No Problem

It's no problem to keep wall coverings, fashionably clean when they're vinyl-surfaced plywood panels. To remove children's scribbles, furniture marks, and other soil, just sponge the surface with soap or detergent suds and then rinse. No scrubbing is necessary when you're dealing with vinyl. Besides being "child resistant," these panels also resist scuffing, fading, and staining.

Bathe Dogs

Lucky dogs—the canine variety! taken on spring or summer vacations should get a sudsy bath after romping on the beach. This advice comes from a Roth dog lovers magazine which cautions that a dog's skin can become very itchy after exposure to sand and salt spray.

A CENTER CUT of pork becomes the star of the barbecue when cooked in Polynesian style. Here it features such exotic flavors as fresh coconut, lime juice, slivered almonds, pineapple, bananas and clams.

Pork Polynesian Mariner Makes Hit At Barbecue

If you are not content to barbecue the usual steak or humble hamburger in your backyard pit, you will be interested in this recipe. Take a four pound center cut pork loin roast and transfer it into a Polynesian delight by cooking it with such exotic flavors as fresh coconut, lime juice, slivered almonds, pineapple, bananas and clams.

- Pork Polynesian Mariner
- 4 pound center cut pork loin roast (have butcher cut backbone loose for easy carving)
 - 1 teaspoon sage
 - Salt
 - Garlic Salt
 - 1 fresh coconut
 - 2 tablespoons slivered almonds
 - 1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks
 - 3 bananas, slit in half
 - 1 7-oz can minced clams
 - Quilted cooking foil
 - Line firebox with foil. Let burn until gray ashes cover coals.
 - Make a 4 to 5 inch cut in front of rib section of roast to form a pocket. Rub roast with sage, salt, pepper and garlic salt. Place roast on revolving barbecue spit and cook for 1 1/2 hours.

Pineapple chunks, with an ice pick, drain off milk, and shred 2 tablespoons of the meat. Combine milk with lime juice and baste the roast with this mixture several times during cooking.

In a cook and serve broiling pan, combine 1 tablespoon of the grated coconut with almonds, pineapple and bananas. Remove roast from the spit and place on top of fruit mixture. Open pocket; pour in clams, clam juice, and any remaining basting mixture. Sprinkle with remainder of grated coconut. Cover with quilted cooking foil and place on grill. Cook for 45 minutes.

Serve right in the broiler pan, garnished with unpeeled bananas, chunks of coconut meat, and endive or available greens.

4 to 5 Servings.

Serve Seafood Sophisticate With A Gourmet Entree

Seafood is at home on any table whether served from an elegant chafing dish when your best linen and silver are showing, or embraced by an earthenware casserole atop a homespun cloth.

Though Seafood Sophisticate Entree is out of the ordinary, it can be made ahead and served with ease. Use frozen patty shells or bakery made ones. Earlier in the day, prepare the cheesy good sauce but save the avocado and sherry extract for the final "warm and serve" step.

Men will find this gourmet dish of Cheddar and crab richly satisfying. Women will like it for its delicate partyish air. For a ladies luncheon, add shoestring potatoes and a piquante salad to the menu.

Men will find this gourmet dish of Cheddar and crab richly satisfying. Women will like it for its delicate partyish air. For a ladies luncheon, add shoestring potatoes and a piquante salad to the menu.

- SEAFOOD SOPHISTICATE
- 1 EN PATTY SHELL
 - 6 servings
 - 6 patty shells
 - 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
 - 6 tablespoons flour

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon tarragon
1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
Dash of cayenne pepper
1/4 cups milk
1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup 1 1/2-oz. can diced crab meat
1 avocado
2 teaspoons lime or lemon juice
1 teaspoon sherry extract
1/4 cup shaved Brazil nuts.

If using frozen patty shells, prepare according to package directions. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in Cheddar cheese until melted; add crab meat. Peel and slice avocado; sprinkle with lime juice to prevent darkening. Just before serving, fold avocado and sherry extract into crab meat mixture; heat a few minutes if necessary. Spoon into patty shells and sprinkle with nuts.

NOTE: Lobster, shrimp or other seafood may be substituted for the crab meat. This makes a particularly nice chafing dish entree.

QUESTION LADY—Nancy Fobes gets help from her 5-year-old Alison.

NEW YORK (AP)—Some years ago when Nancy Fobes applied for admission to Sarah Lawrence College, she sent along the required detailed biography. In it she spelled journalism with a Z 17 times.

With this triumph of consistency over accuracy to her credit, she went on to meet academic challenges—a Fulbright scholarship to the University of London, education editorship of several national magazines, learning how to spell journalism, and, since its beginning Jan. 4, 1959, editorial supervisor of "College Bowl."

"That last means she thinks up the questions for the CBS-TV Sunday afternoon show that has just won the Peabody Award for a television youth program."

Actually, Nancy Fobes (as in robes) is an intelligent, unassuming 35-year-old Darien, Conn., housewife who makes no apologies for her age spelling. In fact, JOURNALISM is her favorite personal anecdote.

Second Best Story
Her newspaper favorite story these days has to do with a magazine article on European students she was doing some years ago. In Paris she lined up Claude de Remy, who was attending the Sorbonne, as a typical French coed. To see out the family finances, the girls' mother took in boarders.

A pretty brunette American student staying with them apparently kept getting in the magazine photographer's way. Time after time, he impatiently waved her aside.

"I haven't the heart to tell him now," says Nancy. "That girl's name was Jacqueline Bourvier, now Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

Nancy is married to Donald E. Fobes, a New York attorney and a serious critic of the show. He keeps legends count of the number of his questions asked, she says.

Help Where You Find It
Besides her husband, she gets help from two older stepchildren, David, 21, at Yale, and Katherine, 17, who will be in college next fall. Even her 5-year-old daughter, Alison is a source of inspiration.

"The other day she asked me to bring back from New York a rocket-tye she saw in the paper. I was negative and firm. But she had the last word. 'You'll get a question out of it,' she said. I will.

Childhood Diseases On Way Out

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer

The nursery school set may someday be able to avoid measles, mumps and chickenpox altogether.

This is the prediction of Dr. George Wheatley, president of the American Pediatrics Society. He says however, the prospect is not immediate.

The drug industry is doing its part to increase life expectancy to twice that of infants born before 1950.

The war on measles, for example, has already begun. Shots providing temporary immunization are available now. Another type of inoculation greatly modifies the illness in cases of exposure to measles.

Dr. Wheatley disagrees with parents who deliberately expose youngsters to childhood diseases to get them over with.

"No disease no matter how mild it is considered to be, should be taken lightly," he says. Today immunization shots for diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and tetanus are standard for babies during the first year. Protection against typhus, yellow fever, cholera and tuberculosis is also provided when needed.

But teaching parents the importance and safety of these vaccines has been a ceaseless public education program that began in the 20s. At that time New York city campaigned to halt diphtheria fatalities with mass inoculations such as have been done in some major cities with polio vaccines recently.

Contrary religious beliefs, ignorance, people with differing social values have hindered a total inoculation program. Now the war against polio with the various vaccines is being waged in the backwoods and big towns as well.

Adversely, doctors today are trying to undo overdependence on so-called wonder drugs, sulfa, penicillin and the mycins. While they were sometimes prescribed as cure-alls, they are now given more judiciously. Doctors now believe that young bodies can build up immunity to these drugs with too

Home builders and companies well agreed that retired persons are more reliable in meeting their financial obligations than any other segment of the population.

Why? For one thing, retirees generally live on budgets. Their incomes, while steady, are considerably less than during their working years. Aware that they cannot afford to pay for housing each month, they contract only for what they can handle. Also, they are more aware of maintenance costs, since most of them had one or more houses in their younger days. And retired persons seeking homes usually are able to make large enough down payments to keep the monthly mortgage outgo very low.

But this agreement on the dependability of the retirement market does not extend into other areas. There is much difference of opinion, for instance, on whether retirement housing should be with in a special area or whether it should be spread through communities made up of different age groups. Ask any person nearing retirement age his opinion and he'll say he doesn't want to live in an all-retirement area. Most builders, realtors and other authorities also voice this opinion.

Yet the fact is that there are many successful development areas built especially for retired persons. They were advertised that way, they cater to the needs of the elderly, and they are thriving communities.

It is interesting to note how a section built especially for non-youngsters can dispense with certain facilities that we have come to regard as necessary. Example: in a California retirement community recently completed, there are no schools. There is no need for them. Any persons 50 years of age or older may purchase homes there. And no children under 18 may live with permanent residents.

In another retirement mecca in Arizona, the builder decided that

NEW YORK (AP)—A girl frustrated and miserable because she could not read well in school is now happily proficient as a manicurist.

A woman plagued with inner hostilities is working them out of her system by creating attractive coiffures with her hands.

These women with arrested tuberculosis, bad hearts, and other types of physical handicaps you can't see are finding the means of rehabilitation in beauty schools.

The percentage is small among the total enrollment in beauty classes, but it is significant nevertheless.

Among 200 pupils at a Queens beauty school, for example, 15 were referred by vocational counselors of the New York Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

"As clerical work becomes more and more automated, one of the expanding fields will be services," says the associate counselor Mrs. Helen Dicker at the New York City office.

Beauty is one of the choice service occupations, because beauticians are well paid and in demand.

The training itself has therapeutic value, believes Miss Sima Okun, director of the Queens school.

Girls who were made to feel unimportant in their own homes often change while learning to create hair styles, Miss Okun says. "They feel they amount to something. They dress differently and they develop respect for themselves."

In guiding a woman's choice of a rehabilitation vocation counselors consider her type of disability, interests and aptitude, and job opportunities.

They also carefully judge a woman's attitude towards the status of the job.

Beauty is a glamorous profession which makes others more attractive, some women think. To older persons want pleasant active living. So he built all the recreational and other facilities first, then he built the houses. His theory, which worked, was that prospective purchasers would be more likely to buy in an area where all the desired community facilities were there to see instead of on paper.

Eye Care

Glitter and glamour are sure to be spotlighted at parties. For gala occasion, subdued eye make-up gives way to exotic and iridescent shades, sparkling with gold or silver flecks.

To maintain that "big-night sparkle," wash off all signs of eye make-up after every party. Just immerse a ball of cotton in warm soapsuds, wring out excess moisture, and wash each lid. Then rinse and pat dry—using gentle strokes to protect delicate eye tissues.

Laundry Tubs

Old-fashioned double "set-tube," made of slate or cement, are being replaced by new enamel-finished laundry tubs.

These compact units match modern automatic washers and dryers in appearance and height, and have cabinet space for storing soaps, detergents, and other laundry supplies.

Tomato Herb Bread

- 3 cups sifted flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried crumbled basil
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1 envelope (2 1/2 ounces) tomato soup mix
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 eggs (slightly beaten)
- 1 1/4 cups milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, basil and sugar. Stir in soup mix just as it comes from envelope. Cut in shortening until particles are fine. Combine eggs and milk; add to flour mixture, stirring only until blended. Turn into greased and wax paper-lined loaf pan, 1 1/2 by 5 by 3 inches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 55 to 60 minutes or until tester comes out clean. Serve with butter or cream cheese. The loaf cuts well as soon as it is cool.

Mulching is the natural thing to do. If you dig in the woods you will note how black and rich the soil has become from the layers of decayed vegetable matter deposited over the years. The humus gives the soil a fine texture and consistency to hold the moisture.

Of course you can't do it precisely the way nature does, but you can abet the process by mixing compost or straw or peat cases, individuals in the rest.

Hair Fashion Forecast For Fall And Winter, 1961-62

The tall look of the new "Air Lift" coiffures will crown the rich and elegant fashion silhouette this fall and winter, according to the Official Hair-Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, the hair fashion authority of the beauty profession.

The "Air Lift" hair styles take a cue from two of the new season's most elegant fabrics, chifon and brocade. The top of the tall hair styles will be dressed into an airy textured crown, side and nape area simulating rich brocade.

The head silhouette will be that of an irregularly shaped oval, balanced and proportioned for necessary lift and tallness. Maximum fullness in the top area will be in the top third of the crown with a variation in the movement of the hair, especially for the forehead treatment. The result will be a commanding look of freedom with good grooming and elegance.

Required for the free moving silhouette of the figure. The finished coiffure will be styled professionally for each woman, so that it is as "head conscious" as are the "body conscious" fall clothes.

The top of the "Air Lift" styles will be cushioned, soft and airy. The fullness will rise from closely fitted sides at the ears to a maximum width midpoint between the eyebrow and the hairline. But, fullness must be proportioned carefully to give a tall look but bouffance. The average height of the top will be tall enough for the eyes to appear at the center of the head. More formal wear will call for taller styles.

The area extending from the sides and girdling the crown at the back of the head will have the greatest detail, requiring professional permanent waving, setting and combing to give the richness of brocade.

The lower third of the ear, or only the ear lobes will be exposed. Unusual wave treatments will be used around and over the ears in varying directions, using overthrown waves for a shell or scroll effect, or unconfined waves for flipping ends at the sides. A variety of movements will be used for the temple lines, all of which will have a generally upward movement which can be brought forward or around with overthrown waves.

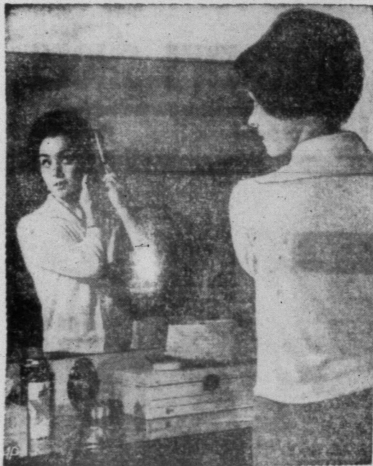

The nape will be fitted and cushioned softly with rich detail following the natural growth direction of the hair. Frequently it will move in a rippling wave pattern forward and upward to blend with the wave pattern at the sides and in the crown areas. Or, the fullness of the crown will blend down to detail in the nape. There will be a minimum width at the nape area to emphasize the tall look.

Hair length will be short generally. But it will require expert professional shaping to blend the lengths from the closely fitted and professionally permanented nape area into the fullness which increases upwards toward the crown area and floating top.

For hair coloring, the more substantial hair colors will have great chic with the new clothing fashions. This will require careful consultation with your cosmetologist to insure proper depth and lustre for you. The warm and rich clothing shades will require more intensified hair colors of the gold, brown and red families. With the fashionable browns of clothing colors, some emphasis will be on golden hair tones, which will be especially flattering, also with the high fashion greys.

Your makeup will need reevaluation for the coming season, also. Complexions will need tone, cannot be pale. Darker lip shades will be used. Eye make-up will be blended and toned without streaks of intense color. Several tones will be used, but all blended and softened to enhance the eye. Consultation with your cosmetologist will result in the most flattering selection for your needs.

Beauty Tricks From Vicki Trickett

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The key to your personality and popularity could be a beauty asset that you are ignoring, says pretty brown-eyed screen actress Vicki Trickett.

"Pick out your best feature and play it up. Make your eyes glow by learning to look out of them in a jolly way. Make them dance," she advises.

"Learn to lift your eyebrows for more expression. Make your hair a frame for your face. And don't forget, a pretty smile is one of the best assets a girl can have."

Vickie's charm is punctuated by two dimples.

"If you depend on artificial beauty aids to give you glamor, you'll be lost without them," she says. "Pamper your own beauty assets and they'll be there when you want to call them into play. And you won't be tempted to try to look like someone else, always fatal to a girl's individuality."

Her smile has literally been her fortune. In Omaha, jobs between college classes included modeling for photography and fashion shows and appearing on more than 400 local television commercials.

She was discovered by her smile—at a horse show in Phoenix, Ariz., by Tab Hunter, who suggested she go to Hollywood. She has been in two movies, "Pepe," and "Gidget Goes Hawaiian."

Vickie's beauty prescription includes lots of exercise. She swims, water skis, and plays ball.

One of her hobbies is cooking but she is plagued by boys who've discovered her cooking, which is tough on the budget. But she tells this to them when they call, "if you want a steak, you'd better bring it with you."

At 20, Vicki regrets she didn't finish college. After attending high school in Kansas City where she was born, she went a year to the University of Omaha.

"I've been meaning to get back to it. It might take five years to get a degree, but it would be worth it. I'd major in psychology. It would come in handy whether I stayed in Hollywood, or get married."

Petti-Blouses

If your blouses keep popping out of your skirts, you'll appreciate the comfort and smooth fit of a blouse attached to a half-slip. These "All-in-ones," which offer the smart styling of traditional blouses, come in such super-washable fabrics as cotton, Dacron crepe, and nylon tricel.

Most such petti-blouses need little, if any, ironing after laundering in warm soap or detergent suds and rinses. To keep them fresh as well as fashionable, launder after every wearing!

Heating Pads

The latest heating pads convert into three sizes so they can be adjusted to soothe large, as well as small areas of the body.

Since such a pad is likely to be used by the whole family, the removable cover should be washed in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses for sanitary reasons.

A Porch Serves Many Purposes

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

PORCHES are making a comeback. The reason: A porch is a delightful place to relax in rocking chair or hammock as you listen to the birds and watch the summer rain. It is utilitarian.

A porch answers a multitude of needs. It's a place to hold a child's party, feed your guests, pen small fry as they play or sit and chat when the house is "roasting and rain keeps you off the law. It's an ideal place to serve family meals whether you build it front, back or on the side of the house.

The do-it-yourselfer should find a porch easy to build, adds little to the taxes and may not even require a building permit.

A roofed porch floor usually is of a softwood such as southern pine. If the floor is not roofed over or not well ventilated, it should be floored with decay-resistant wood such as redwood or southern cypress. Square edged boards laid with tight joints can be used. There may be a little shrinkage.

Shed roofs are usual for porches. Methods of bracing roofs vary but directions may be obtained at lumber yards or from public libraries. Rafters, joints and studs make it all sound complicated but it really isn't for one who has had a little home building experience. Asbestos shingling is about the easiest to handle. Slaters require cutting with a special knife, a skill best left to professional roofers. Terminate often is used on low-pitched porch roofs but it too should be applied by an experienced roofer or metal worker. It requires painting to keep from rusting.

A foundation for a porch usually is posts of stone laid in mortar and poured concrete. Wood often is used as piers for porches, but eventually the porch will sag.

It is easy to use screening. But firm screening is best for a no-sag look. Decide whether you'd like the porch to be a combination glass and screen porch eventually. Glass offers the opportunity to use the porch on cool days, and perhaps even through cold weather with the addition of heat. If you want to use glass windows, the method of applying the screening will be different, even though you do not put the windows in at once.

If the porch is tiny, there are many ways of giving it the illusion of space and more interest can be added without investing a fortune. Ivy-covered wall paper combined with pots of real geraniums is a charming touch. The brick facings and brick faced wall papers may lend a terrace-look to a porch. There are shutters you can buy by the yard. The shutters are printed on stick-on vinyl plastic in a three-dimensional effect. You can apply it to plywood panels for special shutter effects. These may be used on the porch at windows, perhaps with window boxes for unusual effects.

Orange Bran Muffins

- 1 1/2 cups flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/3 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
 - 1/2 cup bran
 - 1/2 cup orange juice and 1/4 cup milk
- Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream butter and sugar; beat in thoroughly the egg and orange rind. Stir in bran, orange juice and milk. Stir in sifted dry ingredients just until moistened. Fill buttered muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 25 minutes. Makes 12 medium-size muffins.

Even Calves Like Cleanliness

Dairy scientists at Purdue University caution that equipment for feeding baby calves must be thoroughly washed with soap and water after every use.

This is an important reminder to mothers that equipment for human babies also needs to be carefully washed in "hot" soap or detergent suds and rinses after every feeding. In fact, everything baby touches should always be clean to protect his health and to increase his comfort.

Use For Roast Lamb Leftovers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

AMONG MY collection of old cook books is one called "What to Do with the Cold Mutton"—A Book of Rechauffes together with Many other Approved Receipts for the Kitchen of a Gentleman of Moderate Income.

This wonderfully titled work published in New York in 1865 includes everything from soups to puddings, but it is an amusing reminder that the problem of leftover roast mutton has been with us for almost 100 years.

Nowadays, of course, we are concerned with what to do with the cold lamb. May we remind cooks that it may be ground and used for croquettes or chopped and mixed with potatoes for hash?

The top favorite in cold lamb recipes, however, is probably Shepherd's Pie. When I was a little girl, roast lamb was often served at our house for a Saturday night company dinner; then for Sunday dinner, much to my delight, the cold lamb appeared in this meat pie with its mashed potato crust. My mother always insisted on the real charm of a Shepherd's Pie was in having the meat and vegetables under the mashed potatoes cut in precise shapes—and we children agreed. Here's how we sometimes make Shepherd's Pie at my house nowadays.

SHEPHERD'S PIE

- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon butter or margarine
- 3/4 to 4 cups diced leftover roast lamb
- 1 1/2 to 2 cups cooked diced carrots

Old Fashioned Shepherd Pie

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
 - 1 cup chicken bouillon
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1 envelope instant potato flakes (for making 4 servings of mashed potatoes)
 - 1 egg
- In a small skillet cook the onion lightly in the butter; turn into a 2-quart casserole and mix with the lamb and carrots. Break up frozen peas and mix in with the bouillon. Add salt and pepper to taste. Make up potatoes according to package directions; beat egg until thick and ivory-colored and fold into potatoes. Spread potatoes over meat and vegetables. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 40 minutes. Makes 6 servings.
- Note: The bouillon is not supposed to thicken during the baking.

STICKS INJURE

Do not allow children to eat candy or ice cream bars on a stick while traveling in a car. A sudden bump or stop might cause an injury to them from the stick.

'Slipper Bags'

When grandma was a young girl, she probably carried her Mary Jane pumps to dancing class in a drawstring slipper bag made of dainty silk.

The modern version is a handy tote in a selection of plastics, with either shoulder or hand strap. These zip closed, can double as beach or baby bags, and can be wiped clean with a cloth dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. See Even Calves 2-14 Carla

Premier Kassem Wants To Hit Jackpot With Kuwait

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is seeking an oil pact that could exceed $1 billion a year.

The revolutionary head of the Middle East nation has staked claim to Iraq's tiny neighbor, Kuwait, the world's richest nation in proved oil reserves.

Kassem also has demanded a sharp increase in profits from Iraq's own oil production.

Fulfillment of both objectives would give Iraq direct control of nearly one-third of the world's proved oil reserves.

The combined oil income for Kuwait and Iraq currently averages almost $700 million a year. Kassem's "get tough" policy with Iraq Petroleum Co. could push this close to the $1 billion mark.

In addition to increased profits, Kassem wants part ownership of Iraq Petroleum, the American-British-Dutch firm which has handled most of Iraq's oil production since 1952. He also wants part of the concession returned to the government.

Kassem's war of nerves with the international oil companies began almost immediately after he proclaimed Iraq a republic after his 1958 revolution ended the assassination of King Faisal. Negotiations with Iraq Petroleum have been broken off several times but Kassem said the discussions will be resumed next month.

He emphasized, however, Iraq's already announced demands are final and "we shall not draw one hair-breadth back on them."

Ever since Kassem's army brigadier general led the successful overthrow of King Faisal's government on July 14, 1958, there has been speculation his ultimate objective would be nationalization of Iraq's oil resources.

Kassem this past week denied he plans to nationalize the industry but his oil minister, Mohammad Salma, said the government intends to establish a national company to run Iraq's oil interests.

The premier's war of nerves is of particular significance to Great Britain.

The British Petroleum Co. Ltd., with the British government as the majority stockholder, has a 50 per cent interest in Kuwait Oil Co. Ltd., and a 23.75 per cent interest in Iraq Petroleum Co.

About 40 per cent of Britain's oil supply comes from Kuwait. Gulf Oil Corp. shares the valuable Kuwait concession with British Petroleum. Other international firms with interests in Iraq petroleum are Royal Dutch-Shell, Francaise Des Petroles, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), and Socony Mobil Oil Co.

Oil Tax Depletion Possible

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON (AP)—One segment of the oil industry would like to see the 27 1/2 per cent tax depletion allowance reduced or eliminated.

The National Oil Marketers' Association contends that its members—dependent jobbers—suffer from unfair competition as a result of the tax benefit which oil producers have had for 33 years.

Explaining the association's position, Paul Hadick, its lawyer, said the allowance gives the large, integrated oil companies an unfair advantage in their marketing operations.

He said the tax benefit, in effect, gives the big companies money to buy lots for filling stations and thereby freeze out independent service station operators.

Hadick called the allowance "gravy for the companies engaged in all branches of the oil business. He said it means 81 cents a barrel in tax free money which the big companies can use in expanding their marketing operations."

The Life Of A Cotton Duster Pilot

By IRWIN FRANK
MISSION, Tex. (AP)—The wheels of the old, converted plane brushed the green cotton plants, as a poisonous white mist spread from the wings.

Ralph Dillard pulled back sharply on the stick, snapped off the spray, and the plane curved upwards and skimmed over the tall palms.

Dillard circled and headed again for the cotton.

He eyed the tops of the palms and when the trees passed under him, Dillard pushed the World War II Stearman sharply toward the plants. Near the earth he cut on the spray and leveled the bi-plane four feet from the ground.

Ninety miles an hour the plane whipped over the plants, its wheels partly hidden by the top leaves.

Dillard cut the spray at the end of the field and held the plane steady as he flew under the telephone wires.

He made six more passes and when the 1,400 pounds of spray was gone he banked and headed for the dirt runway just outside this town near the border.

He remained in the cockpit as two helpers loaded the bin of the plane with more spray.

"When I spray cotton I like to get the plane down low. The spray gets to the plants better and the wind kicked up by the plane stir the plants around and lets the spray hit the bottom bolls," Dillard, 39, says.

He doesn't think of the two men who died in one week near here this season when their crop dusting planes crashed. And he doesn't count his money while shooting under the wires.

"When you're flying you just keep watching and looking, you can't think of anything else but what you're doing. You don't dare."

"Wires and other unseen objects can kill you. The job isn't dangerous if you know what you're doing."

Doc Shultz, who owns the company for which Dillard flies, makes sure the pilots know what they are doing.

Doc refuses to spray some fields he considers too dangerous because of the excessive number of obstacles.

"I've got a $10,000 plane and a $100,000 pilot and I want them to return for the job," Doc says.

Standard practice in this area, Doc says, calls for pilots to get 25 per cent of the gross income on every spray job. This includes the cost to the farmer of the spray itself.

"The income is erratic. You get paid when you fly. When there are no bugs—you don't work. If there's a drought and the farmers have no money—you don't work," he said.

"If you hit a lucky you can make $10,000 or $12,000 a year. If you're not lucky you make $5,000," says another pilot, Gene Perry.

KNOWINGLY OR UNKNOWNLY

Red Publications Giving Religion 'Shot In Arm'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—They're talking about Christ in the Soviet Union—even the people who don't believe in him.
Karl Marx himself once said it was bound to happen.
Several Soviet publications of late have cited gains in church membership and strength, among both peasant and worker groups. In trying to explain the phenomenon, some Communist organs have included detailed discussion of Christian beliefs.

American religious observers say this may mean some Russians are hearing the Gospel story for the first time—even though it comes from hostile sources advocating atheism.
The Soviet magazine Science and Life said in a recent article which analyzed Adventist beliefs: "Having chosen Christ as his Lord, man must give himself up wholly to Christ's direction, and subject his will entirely to his Master's."
The Adventists constantly in still into their faithful that men cannot radically alter their moral visage by their own strength. For this, the intervention of an external force is needed, and that force is Christ."

Christian Century, a U.S. weekly, noting that numerous such expositions have appeared lately in various Soviet journals in efforts to explain the church's hold on people, commented: "Who knows into what heart this seed might fall."
The question also is raised if some of the Soviet articles may be written tongue-in-cheek, out of actual respect for religion, even though purporting to scorn.
The official Soviet antireligion monthly Science and Religion says Baptists are using all sorts of methods — aiding those with "material difficulties, sorrow, illness, anything—all for the purpose of 'catching souls.'"

The magazine adds that Christians to prevent decoloration, thaw frozen fruits in their packages.

Bank Closing Investigation Continues
ZAPATA, Tex. (AP)—A grand jury investigation continued today in the closing of the Bank of Zapata which left residents and merchants of this South Texas town struggling to carry on business with what money they had in their pockets and tills.
The closed institution is one of the few privately owned banks in the nation.
It has been shut since Tuesday. A card on the door stated it was closed for an audit. No one in the town could offer a reason for the closing.
Sheriff C. M. Hein said the bank president, Manuel Medina, his wife, a son, 23, and a daughter, 18, could not be located.
Dist. Judge James Karen placed the bank in receivership and named George Byfield of Laredo receiver.
Two bank employees appeared before the grand jury Thursday. Subpoenas also were issued for two Corpus Christi lawyers and one from Laredo and for Santos Medina, county judge who resigned Thursday.
Dist. Atty. Oscar Laurel asked Karen to have a grand jury investigate. He said county and school funds were on deposit with the bank.
The bank was established in 1912. Initial capital was $12,500. There was no information as to the size of its present capital, deposits or number of depositors.
The State Banking Commission in Austin declined comment. One source said there is no law giving the state supervision of a private bank.
Zapata is a transplanted town on the shores of Falcon Lake. Its original site is under the reservoir.

British Invent Penicillin Pill

By RAYMOND PALMER
LONDON (AP)—British doctors have developed a new penicillin that can be taken as a pill and is effective against a wide variety of diseases.

The British Medical Journal said the drug, Penbritin, has proved effective against food poisoning, influenza complications, secondary effects of pneumonia, wound infections and blood poisoning.

The medical journal announcing the development of the new drug, devoted 18 pages to it. In a leading article it said:

"It should be a matter of great satisfaction that this important discovery has been made in Britain.

"The initiative in a field of work which originated here, has been for too long in other hands."

This was a reference to American domination of the antibiotic field stemming from the original discovery of penicillin by Sir Alexander Fleming.

The new drug was named Penbritin to emphasize its British origin.

A team of three—two men and a woman—developed the drug at the Beecham Research Laboratories at Brockham Park, Surrey. They are Dr. Frank Doyle, Dr. George Rolinson and Dr. Shirley Stevens.

Civil Defense Request To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request for possibly more than $300 million for the program to shift to a vastly expanded civil defense mission to the Pentagon is expected to go to Congress Wednesday.

Adam Yamolinsky, special assistant to secretary of defense Robert McNamara said today he expected the President would be packaged with other measures which Kennedy plans to set up the whole state of military readiness.

Asked how much the civil defense budget might be, Yamolinsky replied he could not say. He added that the President has indicated it might be more than triple the originally requested $104 million.

Before Kennedy decided to shift civil defense responsibility to the Pentagon, all money for that purpose went to the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization.

Kennedy has ordered that all civil defense money be transferred to the Defense Department.

Except for discussion of the budget plans, Yamolinsky disclosed few details in his news conference beyond those announced Thursday by the White House and McNamara.

He said that work still was being done on the pattern of the organization within the Pentagon. It will be directly under McNamara, but Yamolinsky said the person who will head the civil defense group has not yet been picked. He also said no name has yet been selected for the unit.

Yamolinsky heads the group which is preparing civil defense office plans but said he would not direct the new organization. The advisory group which includes consultants from OCDM, the Army, the Navy and the Defense Department controller's office.

He was asked if there are any plans to move civil defense operating headquarters from Battle Creek, Mich. He replied that there was no intention at this time to make any changes.

Yamolinsky also was asked if the present warning system would be replaced or changed. Yamolinsky answered that OCDM already has a warning system which is linked into the military warning system controlled by the North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Colorado Springs.

Program Shifts To Defense

DALLAS (AP)—The shift of responsibility of the nation's civil defense program to the secretary of defense was described today as "greatly strengthening" the civilian effort by the Region 5 director with headquarters in Denton.

Welcome Wilson said President Kennedy's executive order Thursday making the switch "will mobilize the resources of the country's largest agency behind the all-important civilian effort."

"At the same time," Wilson continued, "the President has previously announced his intention to request a three-fold increase in the amount of civil defense appropriations."

He added that his office was looking forward to working closely with the department of defense in the discharge of its new responsibilities.

Kennedy's order becomes effective Aug. 1. It virtually strips the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization of all operating functions.

Wilson said the long-range effect of the President's action will be a sizeable expansion of the Region 5 headquarters.

"It is possible that some Region 3 personnel will be transferred to the department of defense, but in all likelihood they will remain in Denton and perform their normal functions," Wilson said.

The President's action re-emphasizes the need for the new federal underground center now under construction in Denton, he declared.

The five-state defense facility will be completed as planned and will undoubtedly include additional Department of Defense personnel with those of other federal agencies throughout the Southwest.

Lost: One Head—Detached, Of Course

PARRAL, Mexico (AP)—About 200 United States citizens of a "friendship caravan" visiting here will start today a hunt for the head of Pancho Villa.

The group arrived in their own planes for celebrations honoring the Mexican revolutionary leader on the anniversary of his assassination 38 years ago.

The visitors will join Mexican admirers of Villa in trying to locate the head which was severed after his death. Rumors said it was buried on the "El Caido" ranch.

Words, Not War

MEXICO CITY (AP)—West German Ambassador Richard Hertz declared in a speech Thursday that the West's tactics with the Soviet Union on the Berlin problem should be to stall for time.

"Conferences, although not much is gained by them, are infinitely better than war," Hertz said.

Families Relocated

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of 281 farmers and their families from 4 states have been relocated by the government and given land and houses in the southern territory of Quintana Roo as part of the government's land reform program.

Importation Controlled

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government has clamped rigid controls on importing machinery for industrial uses. The Ministry of Industry was given power to regulate the importation of equipment for such industries as paper, glass, appliances and beer.

A Job For Cardenas

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Cuban embassy here said it is probable that ex-President Lazaro Cardenas will head Mexico's delegation to Havana for the celebration of the anniversary of the start of Fidel Castro's revolution July 26.

Beware Around Washington You Might Not Be Lucky

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington is sometimes like a country lane at night, with a lot of bright little eyes gleaming in the bushes, and a man can get chewed to pieces without knowing what bit him.

In the first big family quarrel in the Kennedy administration, Chester Bowles, the No. 2 man in the State Department as undersecretary, has just walked down that lane. He was badly chewed but managed to survive—if only temporarily.

Liberal Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., fervent supporter of the liberal Bowles, seems to this writer a little too optimistic in suggesting the survival is permanent. He told the Senate the conflict involving Bowles "is all over."

President Kennedy himself left the door open for it to be all over.

Because of the footmarks left in Bowles' prestige it will be interesting to see how effective he can be henceforth not only in dealing with foreign diplomats but with people, who seem to include some of his critics, in the department.

For several days there were news stories predicting Bowles was going to be yanked out of his job by Kennedy and given an assignment as roving ambassador. What made the stories sound authentic was their double nature.

Some indicated the information critical of Bowles' performance as undersecretary came from people serving under him in the State Department (his boss, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has never figured in this) and from people in the White House, meaning people close to Kennedy.

But one, suggesting Bowles had no intention of letting himself be bounced around, clearly pointed to the unnamed informants as men around Bowles. This could be taken as meaning Bowles had approved their talking, if he hadn't inspired them to.

This one appeared after the anti-Bowles stories. It said humbly Bowles would get out of the Kennedy administration altogether if Kennedy tried to remove him as undersecretary.

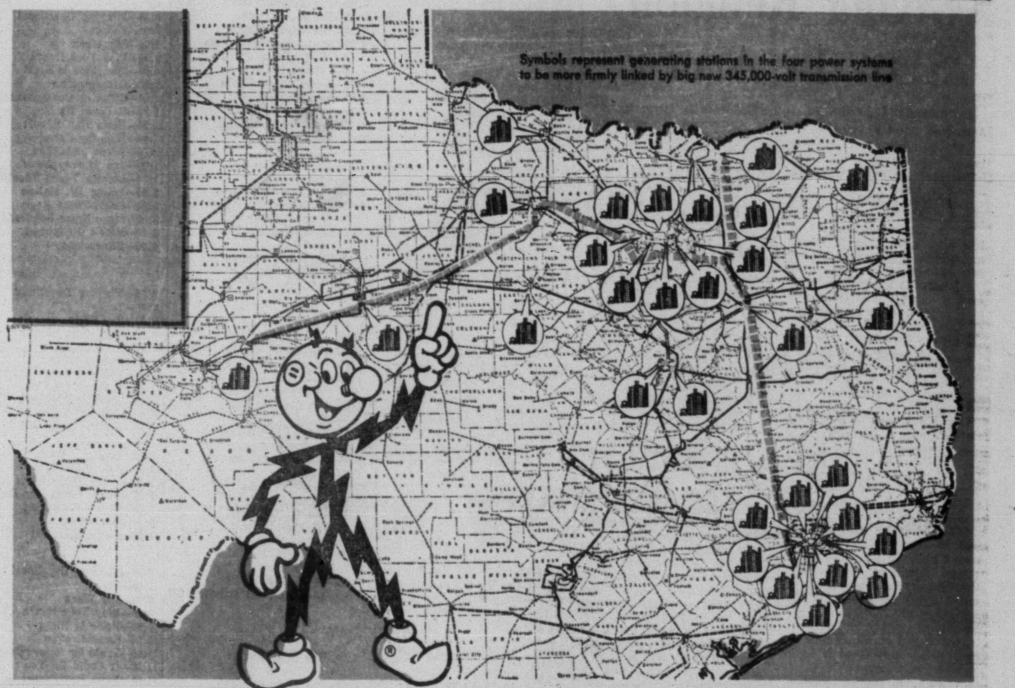

Whether or not it chilled the anti-Bowles forces in the administration, it is not known, but it is known that "some" day Kennedy lunched with Bowles and the White House denied Bowles was resigning.

Then Kennedy at his Wednesday news conference said: "He had never asked Bowles for his resignation, always expected him to serve out the life of his administration, had complete confidence in him, and that Secretary Rusk had complete confidence in him too."

Still, Kennedy hadn't said Bowles wouldn't be moved out of his job as undersecretary. So a reporter asked him the obvious question: Was there still a possibility Bowles might be shifted? Kennedy said that as of now he thinks Bowles should stay as undersecretary, that he has no plans to ask him to take another assignment, but that he will ask him if he thinks Bowles can fit in better somewhere else. That's a long way from saying Bowles is in solid as undersecretary.

BIG ELECTRIC "TIE-LINE" TO BE POWER-ful PARTNER IN PROGRESS

Customers of the Texas Electric Service Company power system will benefit by construction of a strong electric power "tie-line," which will extend from the Permian Basin area through the Fort Worth-Dallas area and to Houston. This will bring about one of the nation's largest and strongest reservoirs of power.

an emergency in any of the four utility systems, much larger blocks of power will be available from the other areas than through present interconnections.

The new "tie-line"—a 345,000-volt transmission line nearly 800 miles long and six times greater in electric power capacity than any other line now operating in the Southwest—is to tie together more firmly the power systems of Texas Electric Service Company, Houston Lighting and Power Company, Dallas Power and Light Company, and Texas Power and Light Company.

Texas Electric now is building its part of the line from Fort Worth to the Permian Basin area in West Texas. It will be part of the company's integrated power system and operated initially at 138,000 volts.

The section of the "tie-line" from Houston to the Fort Worth-Dallas area will be started in 1962 and will be pushed to early completion.

This new transmission "tie-line" is another example of planning and building ahead to assure plenty of dependable, low-cost electric power for continued progress of the more than 100 cities, towns and rural communities served by the power system of Texas Electric in The Opportunity Frontier of Texas.

Added efficiency and economy of operation will be possible for each of the companies when the line is completed, and it will mean that, in the event of an emergency in any of the four utility systems, much larger blocks of power will be available from the other areas than through present interconnections.

House Remakes Spending Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The House passed 45-35 its $2.5 billion substitute for the senate appropriations bill. The Senate almost certainly will reject the House version and throw the task of writing a spending bill to a conference committee.

The major difference between the two bills lies in spending from the general revenue fund: the Senate recommended $374,288,406, the House $380,777,550.

The Senate bill calls for total spending from all sources, various special state funds and federal money, of $2,496,242,685. The House bill would spend a total of $2,527,774,922.

Only two amendments were added to the bill today, one calls for standard auto purchases for state agencies. The other returns Columbus Day as a state employees holiday. This was taken away when it was thought Memorial Day would be given instead of Columbus Day.

E. Kennedy Observes

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Edward Kennedy, youngest brother of President Kennedy, on a "see, hear and learn" tour through Latin-America, will be present for the inauguration of the Inter-American Economic Conference at Uruguay Aug. 5.

Kennedy said his role there will be only that of an unofficial observer.

QUESTION: Where does Tapioca come from?

ANSWER: Far away in the tropical parts of South America, in the West Indies, and southern United States grows a little tree called manioc or cassava. The roots of the tree, from two to eight inches thick and from one to four feet long, are extremely rich in starch. They can be eaten like potatoes. Flour made from cassava roots is used for thickening and is sometimes called "arrow root". The most important root to us is the bitter variety. It is first washed and then heated until the lumps burst, forming small irregular masses. These are then baked to remove moisture, and ground into little grains about the size of bird gravel. This is our familiar tapioca. Finally you eat a lot of it when you were babies because it is very easily digested. For that reason it is often given to invalids. Now that you are older you probably eat it in desserts; tapioca pudding, mixed with fruit in pie filling or many other ways.

FOR YOU TO DO: Surprise your mother some day and tell her you will make the dessert. Look up tapioca in the cook books and pick a recipe that hasn't been used in your house before.
