LITTLEFIELD HIGH SCHOOL GETS AFFILIATION; TWENTY FOUR AND ONE-HALF UNITS

President B. M. Harrison has received notice from the State Department of Education that the Littlefield high school has been given nine units of affiliation. This total affiliation of this school up to twenty-four and one-half units, the highest in the state. Fifteen units are required for entrance.

It is a goal for which the schools have been trying for several years, and means a great deal for the people of this district.

It is well to explain just what the affiliation means. In the past, it means that the work done in the Littlefield high school is up to the standard set by the State Department of Education. Every year inspectors from the State Department of Education visit the different high schools of the state. These inspectors investigate every phase of the school work. They take note of the educational qualifications of the teachers, the organization of the different departments, methods of training, quality of work done by students, discipline, methods of instruction, school spirit, and the general quality of the equipment in various departments. In addition to this, specimens of the work done in each department are sent to the State Department of Education, and all of these different phases of the work come up to standard before the school is given affiliation.

In the second place, the affiliation of the Littlefield schools now means that the graduates of the high school can enter any college or university in the state without any entrance examination. The advantage of this is well known to any boy or girl who ever took college entrance examinations.

The following units of affiliation were given the high school this year: One unit in English, making a total of three; one-half unit in American history, making a total of one; one-half unit in economics; one-half unit in solid geometry; two units in Spanish; one unit in biology; one-half unit in home economics, making a total of three; one unit in manual training; one unit in mechanical drawing; one unit in public speaking. This brings the total affiliation up to 24 and one-half units.

In this connection it might be well to compare the affiliation of the local high school with the affiliation of some of the other high schools of this section. The affiliation of the following high schools is taken from a bulletin sent out by the State Department of Education:

Olton, 19 1/2; Slaton, 24; Floydada, 23 1/2; Ralls, 16; Post, 22 1/2; Crosbyton, 16 1/2; Lamesa, 24 1/2; Colorado, 17 1/2; Plainview, 26 1/2; Stamford, 27.

F. F. REVIER WILL REPORT DETAILS OF WOMEN'S SPECIAL THIS NEWSPAPER

July 9. Mrs. F. F. Revier, representing Dawson, Lamb and Lamb counties on the Women's special to California here tonight with the purpose of securing a special Pullman which will be throughout the trip, ending July 26th, following one of the annual Farm Bureau courses at A. & M. college. It was made up of 30 out-of-town women leaders of the county who will inspect and study conditions in California, organization and co-operation marketing. The trip is being financed by the educational department of the Texas Farm Bureau Association under the direction of Susan Landon.

This is the first time in the history of a tour of this kind has been possible and much interest is attached to the valuable information and figures that the representatives will bring back to their respective communities for the purpose of a more prosperous agricultural farm life.

The trip will be made at Colorado where the Bean Cooperation will act as hosts. Colorado the party will stop at the Bureau Federation. Stops will be made at Sacramento, San Francisco, Fresno and Los Angeles. At these points the various marketing organizations and covering poultry and the following commodities: grapes, raisins, lemons, oranges, almonds, walnuts, apricots, prunes, etc. Returning the party will stop at El Paso and visit the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association, thence to College Station, where they will attend the annual Farmers' short course.

The various representatives are making the trip largely through the co-operation and support of local chambers of commerce, luncheon clubs, civic organizations and agencies and individuals.

Mrs. F. F. Revier, who is representing Lamb county on this trip, will furnish reports of it which will be carried in this newspaper.

THE STATE TAX RATE MAY CUT DOWN TO 69 CENTS

Austin, July 12. The state tax rate will not be as large as was at first calculated and instead of being 72 cents it may be 69 cents. This comes as a result of the increased collection of gross receipts taxes and heavy increases in occupation taxes as well as the prospect for a slight rise in the taxable values of the state. Even should the taxable values hold their own, the tax rate will not be as large as was at first believed.

The 69 cent rate is made by adding the maximum of 35 cents for the schools, 7 cents for pensions and 27 cents for general purposes. It was thought that possibly 30 cents would be required to meet the demands on the general fund.

The increases in the gross receipts taxes and occupation taxes are attributed to better collections as enforced by five new field agents given the Comptroller's Department. The oil production tax is increased, due to the larger production by these agents.

When the automatic tax board meets July 20 to make the tax rate it is to be guided solely by a matter of calculation. The law forces it to adopt a rate to meet the demands as shown by existing appropriations and not to exceed that or go below it. The Comptroller prepares a statement of appropriations and other demands and also an estimate of the income from all sources. With these factors the board determines what amount will be necessary to raise by a general tax.

"One of the Seven"

President Coolidge, fishing with worm bait, it is said, is catching them over in Squaw Creek, Black Hills, S. Dak. Mrs. Coolidge insisted upon seeing the catch, and wasn't it natural that the President show the largest one—a rainbow trout, 1 pound, 14 ounces?

Heavy Rains Here Last Sunday P. M Are Of Big Benefit to Crops

Littlefield citizens are now rejoicing over recent rains and the crops of this vicinity are stretching out and upward in luxurious growth.

Friday and Saturday nights of last week there were good showers. Last Sunday afternoon a rain coming up from the southwest fell in copious quantities for a half-hour, covering the streets with a sheet of water and filling the ditches alongside the highways. Again that night there was more rain, the total for the day being estimated at a good half-inch.

The rain reached south and west of Littlefield for several miles, gradually playing out in the neighborhood of enochs. Reports of rain as far as 15 miles north, are given, also several miles east, but the heaviest portion was in the immediate environs of Littlefield.

Monday evening there was further rain, quite general throughout this section. West of Littlefield for several miles it was heavy, Cochran and Hockley counties receiving a good drenching. Some hail was reported in the Pep vicinity. There were further good showers in and around Littlefield. This section for many miles around now has all the moisture it will need for some time to come.

Wednesday afternoon there was another hard rain visited this city and surrounding country. It was a regular cloud smasher and gully washer. As this paper goes to press the ditches are full to overflowing with water, the streets covered, the sky still overclouded, thunder rumbling and the lightning flashing, giving every indication of more rain Wednesday night.

SPECIAL ROAD TAX WAS CARRIED IN HOCKLEY CO.

The issue to vote a special road tax of 15c upon all the taxable property within Hockley County, and which was the subject of special election Tuesday, carried. The returns were complete, with the exception of the box at Cobleland, yesterday afternoon. The vote stood 136 for, and 50 against.

A light vote was polled throughout the country and little interest was shown. It was generally supposed that it would carry, as according to the findings of the Equalization Board it was necessary to vote the special tax, or raise the valuation of taxable property. In the latter event the state would have been entitled to its share of an raise that might have been made in valuations.—Hockley County Herald.

SUDAN HAVE TRADES DAY

Trades Day is to be observed in Sudan next Saturday.

The program will include livestock judging and racing, also, various sport events. Premiums aggregating $150.00 will be given away in merchandise coupons by business interests there.

Shipments of turkeys out of Texas in 1926 amounted to about 900 carloads.

CHIROPRACTOR LOCATES HERE

Dr. Maynard V. Cobb, of Davenport, Iowa, is this week opening an office upstairs in the Palace theatre building for the practise of chiropractic.

He is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport. He expects to have his office ready for patients by next Saturday.

Methodist Revival Gets Well Under Way During The First of the Week

The Methodist revival now going on in the Baptist church building is attracting wide attention, each night the crowds being considerably increased over the previous night.

Rev. Virgil H. Fisher, pastor-evangelist from Amarillo is delivering some soul-stirring sermons. In a straight forward manner he hammers home "the truths. Without any sensationalism whatever, yet he has a manner of plain speaking that does not require a college graduate to understand him. When dealing with sin he takes off his gloves and puts a piece of barbed wire on his tongue, but when dealing with the sinner he is as gentle and considerate as a shepherd carrying a lost lamb in his arms. Earnest and forceful in his speaking, he proclaims a whole gospel, lacking in any of the modern interpretations and decorations frequently heard in this twentieth century, yet withal he is quite liberal in his interpretation of orthodoxy. Fisher is the kind of man that not only attracts through his preaching, but holds through his personality, his sincere Christian demeanor cementing the more closely the newly formed friendship of Littlefield citizens.

With two pianos accompanying, Rev. Elmer C. Carter, pastor of the Methodist church at Valley View, is conducting the music during the revival. Carter is a veritable human dynamo of rhythmic action, his whole being keeping time up and down the platform as his rich baritone voice travels up and down the staff of sacred song. He has a good grip on that faculty of directorship necessary to swing a large congregation into the movement of mystic Methodist melody. Just to see him shake his Platonic pate and hear him exclaim, "Oh boy! that's great," and one is ready to grab a song book and endeavor to spread their voice over all four parts at once.

One of the features of the song service is the junior choir. Carter grabs the kiddies as fast as they come to church. No matter whether they can sing or not, he makes them think they can, and some are already showing serious signs of blossoming out into youthful prodigies, chappy virtuosos, budding prima donnas, etc., before the revival closes. The volume of sweet cadences these youngsters can already produce has been the nightly talk of the auditors.

People of all denominations are responding to the meeting in a most splendid manner. So far as interest and worship are concerned, all traces of denominationalism have already been wiped out. The business men are closing their places for the morning service, and many of Littlefield's traffickers and professionalists have already been heard to make favorable comment on the effectiveness of the services.

Rev. Ed Tharp, pastor of the church fostering the meeting, is proving himself a veritable wheel-horse of the Gospel wagon. Plunging into the harness with the break of day, he is on the go until the benediction is pronounced at night. Here and there among his people, inviting, exhorting, entreating—and sometimes, almost commanding attendance at these services which are destined for the betterment of Littlefield and the folks living in and around this little city.

Services are held each morning, beginning at ten o'clock, and again in the evening, beginning at eight-thirty o'clock. "Everyone is invited to attend, regardless of race, creed or politics," said the pastor.

At the last celebration about 10,000 people were present. It is stated 5 beeves will be slaughtered to satisfy the attending crowd this year.

NEW INDEPENDENT SCHOOL

The election held Saturday in the Haskell school district, a territory comprising Whitharral and Pettit communities, resulted in the movement to change the status to an independent district, the vote standing 41 to 6 at the two voting boxes.

The school board, the personnel of which is Lee Crowover, president; A. N. Riley, secretary; C. E. Pendergrass, A. H. Guthrie, J. B. Watson, J. A. Fincannon and Chas. Hawk, met here Wednesday in Judge Magee's office, qualified and inaugurated the new system.

W. O. Workman was appointed tax collector, and instructed to make an assessment for the present year.—Hockley County Herald.

ORGANIZE FIRE DEPT.

A fire department, consisting of 27 members, was organized last week in Levelland.

Constitution and by-laws previously approved by the City Commission, were adopted. Wallace Blankenship was made fire chief and E. R. Nickerson, assistant.

WOULD INCORPORATE TOWN

Following the required signing of a petition, an election to vote on the incorporation of Bledsoe, under town government, has been called for August 8th.

Citizens of the new town say the measure will carry by a large majority.

Notwithstanding C. E. Cooper, of DeLand, Florida is still a booster for that sunshiny land of tropical fruits, sheep-killing mosquitoes and wide-smiling alligators, he still likes to hear from Littlefield. A letter was received last week stating that Uncle Sam had waylaid his Leader issue of June 23rd, and threatening all kinds of dire calamities upon the pate of the chief pencil pusher of this sheet if we don't supply him with another. Of course, it went forward in the next mail.

Monday morning I. E. Key was displaying on the streets of Littlefield a stalk of cotton grown on his place, demonstrating the value of early planting. While most of the cotton in this section was planted late, this particular stalk showed 15 bolls and squares on it.

ELECT ANOTHER TEACHER

At a meeting of the Littlefield school board, held last Friday night, G. M. Irvin, was elected manual training teacher for the coming year.

Mr. Irvin comes from Klondike, Texas, having a degree from the East Texas State Normal, at Commerce.

MULLICAN NO. TWO IS TO BE SPURRED IN DURING WEEK

Various and sundry reports coming from the Keagans-Mulligan No. 1 oil and gas well west, located 20 miles northeast of Littlefield, indicate little progress during the past week. Approximately 390 feet of oil is now standing in the hole, apparently pulsating in depth, causing a variation of the height of from 20 to 23 feet of the surface. As to whether a pump will be put on the first well has not yet been definitely stated by the operators, the present information is that it will not.

This week the rig is being skidded about 900 feet northwest of the discovery hole in preparation for drilling the second well, which it is expected will be spurred in the latter part of this week.

Large crowds of people continue visiting the well daily, and leasing continues active in that vicinity, ranging in prices from $10 to $75 per acre, according to location.

It is understood a group of Littlefield men are this week closing contract for a large block in that vicinity, the deal having progressed to the point where contract is now being made for a test hole. Interested parties, however, refuse at this time to give out any definite information on the grounds that their negotiations have not yet been completed.

FARMERS BUY COTTON GIN

The cotton gin belonging to the Siske Gin Co., of Abernathy, was purchased last week by Farm Bureau members of that vicinity, and will, in the future be known as the Farm Bureau Gin Co., of Abernathy.

According to statements made at a meeting held some months ago to decide the question of whether or not the Farm Bureau members should purchase a co-operative gin, the project is financed by the Texas Cotton Growers Gin Corporation, says the Abernathy newspaper. This corporation is a subsidiary organization of the Texas Farm Bureau Association. This corporation takes 51 per cent of the stock in the gin, and the remaining 49 per cent is subscribed by local members of the Bureau. The 49 per cent of the stock is subscribed in the form of notes, the notes to be paid out of the earnings of the gin upon a per bale basis, after a dividend of eight per cent has been paid on a stock ownership basis.

It is understood there are 92 members of the Bureau who are stockholders in the gin.

J. G. KEMP DIES

J. G. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kemp, died at the family home, four and one-half miles southwest of Littlefield, Sunday noon, from typhoid-pneumonia. He was nearly five years of age.

The funeral services, conducted by Rev. J. W. Saffie, Baptist minister of Sudan, were held from the late residence of the deceased, and burial of remains made in the Littlefield cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, one brother and a sister.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself.—Eph., 5:28.

All other goods by fortune's hands are given; a wife is the peculiar gift of heaven.—Pope.

A DEAD GIVE AWAY

According to a statement in a Memphis paper a man's character is revealed by his automobile. Oscar Cornelius, of Little Rock, says he can tell you by your car; that a dangling license plate, muddy fenders and dirty windows reflect the slovenliness of the owner. A dusty top, even though the body is clean and shiny, shows that the owner likes to reveal an outside appearance and doesn't care about cleanliness beneath his clothing. He says the selfish, inconsiderate character is shown by the man who cuts in ahead of others and hogs the road for himself, and that the hot-tempered man or woman who can't leave their tempers at home but display them in some way or other fails in this class.

It's disconcerting to know that not even our private affairs are any longer our own. But Littlefield motorists who may be inclined to worry over it should remember that there is always a way to beat anything, and this is no exception. They can fool the character readers by keeping their autos clean, by driving carefully, by not losing their temper, by not venting their anger on another motorist and by saving their profanity until they are out of distance of everyone. No need then to worry because your auto can give you away. And besides, it may result in your acquiring a new disposition that will make you the best liked person in the entire community.

Things could be worse. Suppose flies barked like dogs or had bells around their necks like cows.

HOW TO KEEP COOL

The hot days of summer are now with us, and causing more or less discomfort. But those who realize it takes warm weather to mature vegetation, making the crops and gardens grow, are not doing much complaining. None of us want to pass thru a famine, and that is about what would happen to us if Old Sol failed to warm things up during July and August.

It's hard on us, of course, but just look around and you'll see that the Littlefield citizen who suffers least in summer is the one who refuses to lose his temper and who will not let himself become agitated over trivial matters. Keep the head cool and you'll keep the whole body cool.

An irritable complaining person never knows what it is to be comfortable in summer time. Just try smiling, and refuse to frown and fuss, and see how quickly you forget all about the heat and its attending annoyances.

Nature is a queer cuss. Once in a while it will give a girl eyes like a dove and a mouth like a pelican.

NEW AND DIFFERENT

The State of Ohio has set her sister a good example by proving that she is a true friend to the housewife. She has selected from the state university an expert machinist, a man who knows all there is to know about sewing machines. He is visiting each county-seat, and through the county seat newspapers housewives whose sewing machines are not working satisfactorily are invited to bring them in on certain dates to a "sewing machine clinic." They are fixed free of charge, the state paying all costs.

Today with so many farm families boasting autos, the "sewing machine clinic" is a possibility in all communities. No reason appears why our state should not follow Ohio's example.

We feel sure housewives around Littlefield would welcome a chance to have their sewing machines put in first-class order, and that other communities would be interested. Who will wake up down at Austin and start it?

We never sympathize with the under dog until we make sure he didn't start the fight.

LAGGING BEHIND

We read where the makers of soft drinks are spending more than thirty million dollars annually in pushing their wares and trying to educate the public to their particular kinds of soft drinks. It has set us to wondering why the milk producers are not organized in such a way that they can get the people to drink more milk—the healthiest and safest drink in the world.

Millions of gallons of milk are wasted yearly and millions of gallons sold at practically no profit, simply because the soft drink makers, or the fruit cause the producers are not as wise growers of the country, and a way to make a profit on what they produce. They have sensed the value of advertising.

Maybe some day the milk producer tising—and they are making it pay—with the finest and healthiest liquid drink in the world, will get wise to the plan and reap the profit that is coming to him. Faith in printer's ink is about all that is necessary to success.

The principal trouble is that when brides are urged to take for better or worse, they forget the worse.

LITTLE LEADERS

It seems that elbow length gloves are fashionable in Littlefield when they wrinkle at the elbows, but its different with knee-length stockings.

Love may not make the world go 'round, but it is our observation that there are some folks in Littlefield whom it does make look giddy.

Maybe more young men around Littlefield would marry if they could get their wives like they do their flivvers—on the installment plan.

Littlefield parents can tell you that in a home where there are five or six kids there isn't any need in buying antique furniture.

Our advice to Littlefield boys is to steer clear of girls, art, words and politics. They are all good in moderation, but bad if you get an overdose.

Why is it that the Littlefield man who is careless with his clothes is always careful to see that the hair is brushed over the bald spot on his head?

We never saw a horse laugh, but when a horse sees a four-year-old flivver staggering along the street in Littlefield it must be hard to keep from it.

We've never learned the secret of how a Littlefield woman can look cool on a hot day when she isn't, and warm on a cold day when she is freezing to death.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

DON'T HOLD A WAKE FOR DEAD ISSUES

The Rev. Edwin DuBois Mouson, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, speaking recently in St. Paul, deplors the division of north and south in his denomination. He said, "It looks as if we Methodists might come to the Kingdom at such a time as this if we might fling our differences away and move like a mighty army. It is now probable that the Methodist Church South will not have the necessary majority to carry out the unification plan at this time. This adverse vote means, not a failure, but simply a delay in getting together."

The Methodist church was split into the divisions of north and south by the issues of slavery. That issue is now dead, but the division continues, by the force of its momentum.

As far as that is concerned almost all the differences in denominations at present are over dead issues, questions which were once very much alive, but which now have passed out of general interest. Nobody knows or cares much now about the subjects that separated the Methodist from the Episcopal Church, the Baptist from the Presbyterian, or which otherwise were the original issues upon which denominations were founded. The fences which divide religious people are almost all made of dead timber.

If anyone were to go to a Presbyterian, a Methodist, or a Congregational church at present he could not tell in what conventicle he was worshipping. Almost all preachers emphasize the same doctrines and stress the same morals. There is no considerable difference in the actual gospel that is preached in one denomination from that preached in another.

Denominations continue largely for that reason. They continue for other reason than doctrinal. It is mostly a matter of machinery. It is much easier to start a sect than it is to stop it. Our only hope is that a stime goes on sectarianism will pass and there will be brought about some kind of workable unity among all the denominations, for they are all striving for the same goal in very much the same way. All the denominations amount to anyhow is that a man who joins one is in Section B, Pidgeonhole A, or in Regiment Five and Company Three.

Just why one should be in one company rather than in another it is pretty difficult for the average modern man to say.

Rule. Contract for the bridge over the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos west of here has been awarded. The contract price was given as $18,727.

Lockney. Work on the gas distribution lines over Lockney and Floydada will be under way here soon. It is expected that gas will be ready for use by fall.

San Saba. San Saba's new hostelry, Hotel San Saba, will be erected at a cost of $95,000, and will contain 35 rooms. The building as suggested would have space on the first floor for a drug store, barber shop and a telegraph station.

Shamrock. An expenditure of $16,000 for improvements in the Shamrock yards has been authorized by officials of the Rock Island railroads. Included in the improvement program will be three additional spur tracks, two north of the depot and one south.

Lamesa. Approximately 400 acres of the Weaver ranch, west of Lamesa, is being planted in sunflower seed, the mammoth Russian variety being sown. The average yield expected is about a ton per acre, and during the last 10 years, the average price per ton for this seed has been $90. It is thought a new industry will receive impetus from the Weaver ranch project.

San Antonio. Traffic experts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have completed an analysis of the recent decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission with reference to what is known as the Common Point Freight case, after six weeks of intensive study. U. S. Pawkett, traffic manager, states that the sum-total of West Texas freight charges on traffic to and from the Southwest will be very considerably reduced under the new rates, and that distributions of the reductions spreads out over practically the entire territory, excepting for more or less considerable increases that are made to and from points in Arkansas and Louisiana. The new order is to become effective December 5th.

Fort Worth. An All-Texas exhibit, to be a part of the Dairying-in-Texas exhibit of the South, will be collected and sent to Memphis, Tenn., in October for fall session of the National Dairy Show, which will be held south of the Mason and Dixon line this year for the first time in history. The exhibit will be sent through co-operation of the East, South and West Texas chambers of commerce. B. M. Whitaker, exhibit-agriculture manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who arranged the prize-winning Sesqui-Centennial exhibit last year, will arrange the All-Texas display, working in conjunction with J. E. Stafford, exhibit manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and with other members of the special Texas committee.

T-ANCHOR REUNION WILL BE HELD AT CANYON, AUG. 25th

Canyon, July 1. The annual reunion of the T-Anchor ranch boys has been set for August 25. It will take place at the W. C. Bair place north of Canyon on Palo Duro canyon.
 R.E. Baird, who is in charge of the local arrangements, has notified the boys who worked on the T-Anchor ranch in the eighties that there will be a camping party on the grounds on the night of August 4. Arrangements will be made to have the camp as comfortable as possible. More than 100 men who worked on the ranch in the Panhandle during the eighties were present at the reunion last year, most of them bringing all or part of their families. The officers of the T-Anchor Association expect a larger attendance this year.
 The reunion for 1927 has an added interest because the T-Anchor headquarters has become the property of the state, and will be thrown open to the cowboys, and they will use it in any way they wish.

ALLBRIGHT-BLAIR

Miss Moselle Allbright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Allbright, formerly of Littlefield, but who have resided in Abilene for the past three years, and B. B. Blair, who recently came here from Kansas, buying the Chrysler garage, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, at the home of Rev. Jenkins pastor, First Baptist church, in Abilene. There were only a few of the bride's friends to witness the ceremony.
 The bride is well known in Littlefield and has many friends here who wish her great happiness in her new venture.
 Mr. Blair, who has only been a resident here a short time, has made many friends, and has been highly commended for his excellent work among the Boy Scouts.

LETTER ADDRESSED "TO DADDY," FINDS ITS WAY DIRECTLY TO BOX IN LITTLEFIELD P. O.

Every postmaster gets frequently cussed out for putting mail in the wrong box. It is seldom he gets praised for putting mail in the right box—because he is paid for doing that, but occasionally the post office forces due commiseration and even congratulation for their ability to decipher almost unintelligible, and not course, there are several hundred daddies who get their mail at the Littlefield post office, and the letter might have been for any one of a half-dozen of them. The postmaster was not familiar with the handwriting of the one who addressed the envelope, he had never so much as seen it before. In fact, it was the combination of two chirographies, occasioned by two persons holding the pencil at the same time. But notwithstanding the collaboration in addressing the envelope, the postmaster deliberately walked to box No. 487 and dropped it in.

Could Uncle Sam's official have seen the contents of that envelope he would have had further proof if its correct delivery. It contained one sheet of paper, written on both sides. The handwriting was not Spencerian, vertical nor backhand, but a combination of hieroglyphical-uniform characters, with a little Digger Indian gibberish throw in, and here and there traces of Chinese cerlimacues for embellishment. A doctor of philosophy from Yale or Harvard who had majored in Sanscrit and sauerkraut scribbling could not have deciphered it; but "Daddy" understood it all. Perhaps he didn't get the message quite in the order of its written expression, nevertheless the meaning was clearly plain.

Imagine the wave of joy that swept across the face of that father as he opened the envelope, revealing its contents, and, realizing it was from his own little three old boy, his first attempt to write "Daddy" a letter, and that it had successfully traversed nearly 500 miles across the great state of Texas directly to his mail box, and without a moment's hesitation.

"But, what did he say?" you ask. Why, the letter was as clear as mud! He began by telling Daddy how much he loves him—that's always the first thing he does when Daddy comes home from work at night. Then he narrated the incident of stamping his toe, told about the new calf at grandma's, where he has been visiting for the past three months. Of course, he had to tell about all the fire crackers he and Uncle George shot the Fourth of July, and what a fine time he had on the new slide at Cameron park. Then he wanted to know how his dog was getting along, and if Daddy had put a new handle in his hammer and bought him some more nails, so he could build some more houses when he returned home. Nor did he forget to say that Mamma was getting well and they would both soon be coming home, and he wondered if Daddy would meet them at the train in the new car. And then, there was a lot of private matter—secrets between father and son, that wouldn't be quite proper to put in print, but Daddy understood them all, and the letter was promptly answered.

Perhaps to the average run of folks that little letter did not amount to much, but to any "daddy" it would have meant a great deal, and this particular daddy has put it away in the safety vault with his other important papers as a most cherished keepsake—his first letter from his son. As the years go by it will become the dearer, and, perhaps some day, when the boy has grown to man's estate, becoming a father himself, with his own little one sitting on his knee, he will sometime rummage through the old papers left him by his own father. When he comes across this little missive, the somewhat yellow with age it may be, he will read it again, just as he did when written at his mother's knee. Then cuddling his own little one closer to his breast he will understand more clearly the love of a father for his son, and what his first letter meant to "Daddy."

Yes, postmasters have to sometimes employ considerable intuition in satisfying their patrons. They almost have to be mind readers. The more expert of them are good psychologists, the they may not know it. The Littlefield postmaster has the hearty appreciation of one "daddy," a patron of his office, and this self-same daddy is ready to recommend him for a permanent job among the higher ups in the Dead Letter Office, at Washington, D. C., where his powers of keen discernment may have full swing in straightening out the thousands of letters that go astray every month for lack of proper address, and also, because the half-dumb postmaster is not capable of deciphering the intentions of the writer, of course, any man should be (?) who holds a public office of such importance.

The Westinghouse Automatic Iron

Correct ironing temperature... always Perfect ironing is made much easier with this wonderful iron. Any one will do better work with it—and save time.

It's the Million Dollar Disc Thermostat in this new Westinghouse that makes it so much superior to any other electric iron you have seen.

No matter what you are ironing, the marvelous thermostat control keeps the heat of this iron just right. It delivers continuously all the heat you need for heavy table linen. Yet so perfect is the heat control that you don't have to worry about overheating when you are fussing with a piece of sheer organdy or georgette. This iron does not overheat even if you should accidentally leave it connected all night.

Notice, too, how this iron is shaped to help you. There's the big, broad surface, evenly heated, that makes short work of plain ironing—and a tapering point that noses its way easily into the finest shirring and smocking.

Accept our special offer on this Westinghouse Automatic Iron today. The terms are so easy you will not notice its cost.

Free This month only

With every Westinghouse Automatic Iron sold this month we will give absolutely free this all metal Kitchen Stool, 24" high. Every joint electrically welded. Rubber tipped feet. The strongest kitchen stool made.

75¢ down

—will take this wonderful automatic iron home. Only $1.00 a month with your electric bills for seven months. No interest. No extra charges. We give you full benefit of the regular cash price—$7.75—plus a real premium. Take advantage of this Special Offer today.

Know the FORD

As It Is Built Today!

Smoother operation, more power, increased gasoline mileage, greater riding comfort, improved appearance and longer life—these are the things you get in Today's Ford Car.

A vaporizer, now standard on the Ford motor, is an outstanding achievement in bringing about a better performance and greater economy.

Starter and balloon tires are standard equipment on all Ford cars, while the closed cars are also equipped with five wire wheels.

Pyroxylin, the most durable automobile finish ever developed, is available on all body types in optional colors, adding beauty and individuality to all-steel bodies.

Unless you have inspected and driven a Ford car recently built you will be amazed at its many new features.

Rotary Club Gives a Banquet to Many of
The Old-Timers Here

The Littlefield Rotary club was host to the "old-timers" of Lamb and adjoining counties last Thursday evening, July 7th.

The entertainment was in the form of a banquet given in the basement of the Presbyterian church, served by ladies of the Presbyterian auxiliary.
There were about 40 couples invited, but due to so many being busy the attendance was much smaller, yet a very enjoyable time was the experience of those present.

The principal purpose of the banquet was to get acquainted with the "old-timers," and learn something of their frontier experiences.

The program was opened by the chairman, Andy Bills, who spoke at length regarding the growth of Littlefield. In his remarks he brought out the fact that three years ago there was but 509 people living here, while a recent census showed something more than 3,000 citizens. In a very pleasing manner he compared the Rotary motto, "Service above self," to the service of the "old timers" in this western country.

The "old-timers" were then introduced to others attending the banquet, and each asked to tell some of their early experiences.

County Judge E. N. Burris said:
"I worked on the Yellow House ranch 30 years ago. I was married in Floyd county and moved here in 1889. I planted two acres of cotton in Lamb county 23 years ago, and picked one bale, which was probably the first cotton raised in this county. It was hauled to Matador and sold, the trip requiring seven days time." Mr. Burris claims to have built the first house in Lamb county.

J. H. Willis, father of C. E. Willis, of Littlefield, said he was born and reared here. He spoke very highly of western hospitality and predicted a wonderful future for this country.

Fred Hoover and wife came here
21 years ago to work on the L S ranch.
At that time mail was received from Portales, New Mexico. When a petition was circulated for a post office in Littlefield, Mrs. Hoover was the only available woman to sign it.

T. P. Wright said he moved here 37 years ago. Mrs. Wright stated that agriculture here was only in its infancy, and predicted that in the next 25 years it would be the richest and best agricultural section in the state. She said she was the first transient customer of the Littlefield hotel.

Mrs. S. M. Wharton, who was introduced, has lived in Lubbock county 13 years and in Lamb county 14 years. Her daughter, Ina Bell, was introduced as the first child born in Lamb county.

A very pleasing reading was next given by Mrs. Frances Tolbert on "Out Where the West Begins." It was enjoyed by both "old-timers" and
"new-comers."

A delegation from Levelland attended the banquet, each speaking regarding the development of this section of the country, and assuring all present that Levelland and Hockley county was ready to co-operate in every way possible with Littlefield and Lamb county. The men attending from Levelland were: Judge Doyle, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Bright, A. H. Cheek,
Dr. H. M. Lusk, Dr. Havens and Mr.
Bolling.

Members of the club present voted unanimously to have a meeting similar to this each year.

OUR MOTTO: Better Than Ever.

Nothing adds quite so much to one's comfort and appearance as garments that are well cleaned and pressed.

That's our business, and there is no finer cleaning and pressing plant in West Texas. We have capable, experienced workmen, too.

Milady's garments never get too dainty for us to handle—they always come back to you looking like new. All kinds of work for men.

No one can relish food after a visitation by ants. Hours of painstaking labor are spoiled. Delicious dishes are tainted, made uneatable. Fly-Tox kills ants. Spraying should be continued for several days because ants are always present in colonies. Insist on Fly-Tox. Fly-Tox is the scientific insecticide developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Fellowship. Simple instructions on each bottle (blue label) for killing ALL household insects. Fly-Tox is safe, stainless, fragrant, sure. Every bottle guaranteed.—Adv.

ASK US ANOTHER!

Q.—Why were the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah never rebuilt?

A.—The citizens were so engrossed planning their pleasures—vacations and such, that they neglected to purchase Insurance.

We enjoy answering insurance questions.

If we are in doubt we will find out.
