Japanese Adopt Plan Of Battering Woosung With 500-Pound Aerial Bombs

NIPPON AIRMEN TO DROP HUGE PROJECTILES

Battle of Chapei Will Be Fought Out by Ground Bombardments

FRONT ENJOYS LULL

Japs Observe National Day Of Rejoicing Whilst Chinese Wait

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese decided today to open their big push against Woosung by raining down 500-pound aerial bombs on the Chinese forts.

These terrific loads of explosives will be loosed on the forts simultaneously with an assault on the Chinese lines in the Chapei district of Shanghai, where it will be impossible to use such huge bombs because of nearness of the international settlement.

The big Japanese drive was held up pending arrival of more reinforcements from Japan to strengthen the 40 warships and troop ships already concentrated in the Yangtze estuary and the army and bluejacket units holding the Japanese lines ashore.

Four-Hour Peace

The Chapei area was guaranteed a four-hour period of peace today as a result of truce negotiations conducted by Father Jacquinot, a Catholic priest who lost an arm at Verdun.

Both Chinese and Japanese agreed to cease hostilities for four hours in order that civilians might be moved out of the war-torn area. It was believed many persons—possibly many wounded civilians—were hidden away in the ruins of Chapei.

Sir John Hope-Simpson, director of the Chinese National Flood Relief commission, filed a protest with the Japanese consul general at Shanghai charging Japanese bombers had killed 51 flood refugees in a Chapei camp last week.

Front Is Quiet

All was quiet on the Shanghai-Woosung front Thursday. It was the Japanese national holiday. In celebration of the 2592nd anniversary of the founding of the nation toasts were drunk in honor of the first emperor.

Even Chinese customs ships in the Whangpo bowed to naval etiquette by breaking out their bunting for the Japanese holiday.

Chinese enthusiasts, stirred by resistance offered by their soldiers in the last two weeks, showered the troops with gifts, including the famous Canton sun-dried duck, pigs, chickens, sides of beef, noodles and great quantities of grain.

China Calls League

Geneva reported China had decided to call for an extraordinary meeting of the assembly of the League of Nations to consider the crisis in Shanghai.

Nine airplanes of the Cantonese army left Hong Kong to join the Shanghai air force.

In Tokyo the minister of the navy said the profoundly regretted the bombing by Japanese aviators Thursday of a Shanghai cotton mill

Former 'College Kid' Sheriff Of Dallas Cleared Of Robbery

Court Directs Jury to Acquit S. B. Marshall Jr.

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Feb. 11. (AP)—Schuyler B. Marshall Jr., former Dallas county sheriff, was acquitted today on a burglary charge in district court here when Judge Tom Ball directed a jury to return an instructed verdict.

This action abruptly ended a trial which had been disturbed by frequent clashes between attorneys, a first fight, by one man being sent to jail for contempt and by three witnesses being charged with perjury. Marshall and three others were charged with burglary for an attempt to rob the Farmers & Merchants bank of Ferris, Ellis county, on Nov. 17.

Witnesses Balk

Refusal of several important state witnesses to answer questions, and the repudiation of statements allegedly made before the Ellis county grand jury, had left District Attorney Archie Gray with only circumstantial evidence to present.

Gray closed the state's case shortly after 2 p. m. without direct evidence excepting the testimony of C. T. James of Ferris, member of the present Ellis county grand jury, that Bud Mace, Roy Thornton and H. W. McBride testified before the grand jury that Marshall was implicated in the Ferris bank burglary attempt.

Perjury Charged to Trio

Mace, his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Mace and Thornton were charged today with perjury, the state alleging they gave testimony in the present trial which contradicted their statements before the grand jury.

Tom Zachary, aged rooming house operator of Dallas, testified today that J. Robert Kelly, another defendant, had approached him in a threatening manner, with his hand in his pocket as though he carried a gun, and warned him not to repeat his grand jury testimony in the present trial. Judge Ball previously had ordered Zachary sent to jail for three days and fined $100 for evading questions. He remitted this when Zachary returned and testified.

Kelly Sentenced

The court, however, sentenced Kelly to three days in jail and fined him $100 for intimidating a witness.

Gray and Robert Sullivan, Dallas attorney who appeared for McBride, engaged in a fist fight in court yesterday and were fined $50 each for contempt.

Marshall, McBride, Kelly and Herbert Scares, Dallas clubman, were charged with burglary in connection with the attempted robbery of the Ferris bank.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, said no friction was anticipated in the hearing. He stated he believed the discussion would be confined to testimony bearing on technical information the commission must have on which to base its orders.

The field allowable at present is 75 barrels per well daily.

They Add a Shining Page to History

Pope Pius XI

Pope Pius XI and Benito Mussolini, Italy's Duce, met for the first time yesterday when Mussolini, clad in his uniform of state, called at the vatican and the two held a long, friendly chat in the papal library. Impatient after dressing, Mussolini arrived at the vatican an hour early but the welcome was no less warm.

Pope Pius and Mussolini Found New Basis of Amity in Il Duce's Visit

Pontiff and Italian Premier Have Long Chat in Vatican After Dictator Arrives an Hour Early

By THOMAS K. SALMON
(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service)

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11.—Pope Pius [illegible] Mussolini, who for years have lived and worked in palaces less than a mile apart, met and talked for the first time today.

They sat in armchairs in the pope's private library and talked of peace and kindred things as statesmen will, and by that simple, friendly conversation added a shining page to history.

New Relations Founded

The meeting not only confirms the peace established three years ago by the Lateran treaty but opens the door to even wider and more fruitful relations between the church and Italy.

The duce emerged from the papal chambers with face beaming. The talk had evidently been extremely pleasant. To the reporters he said: "A long and excellent audience."

The occasion, enveloped in papal and diplomatic ceremony, was rendered oddly informal and more human by the arrival of the premier a half hour ahead of schedule.

Il Duce Impatient

Dressed and ready to go, the prime minister had grown impatient and given the order to start. He was robed in his uniform of state, a cutaway heavily embroidered in gold, with gold striped trousers. On his head he wore a hat resembling that of an American admiral to which a cockade of white plumes has been added.

Dan Moody Attacks Validity Of Attachment Writs in Ouster Suit

AUSTIN, Feb. 11. (AP)—The legal contest to determine if the Travis county district court has jurisdiction over three foreign major oil companies continued today in the preliminary skirmishing incident to trial of the ouster suit brought by the state against 15 major oil companies and two petroleum associations.

Attorney General Allred asked for default against the Standard Oil company of California, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Socony-Vacuum corporation of New York for failure to answer the suit.

Defense attorneys, appearing as friends of the court, attacked the sufficiency of the affidavit on which the state obtained writs of attachment on properties of the corporation, claiming the attachments as issued had no foundation in law and were illegal and invalid.

An assault on the affidavit was made by former Gov. Dan Moody, attorney for the Magnolia Petroleum company, a subsidiary of the Socony-Vacuum. He claimed alleged inconsistencies in the affidavit made it invalid, even should the court hold the state was entitled to an attachment of this nature. Moody concluded the arguments for the defense. The state hoped to get through with its rebuttal argument tomorrow.

SENATE IN ROW OVER BILL TO AID JOBLESS

Reed and Wagner Clash In Debate Over Proposed Appropriation

VOTE IS DELAYED

Oklahoman Urges Caution In View of Growing Deficit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Federal appropriations to aid the unemployed were contrastingly described in the senate debate today as criminally unwise and as necessary to prevent "thousands upon thousands of human tragedies."

A vote on the political potential issue again was postponed as senators locked horns before crowded galleries over extent of suffering among the jobless.

The issue was more clearly drawn, however, as the senate added $375,000,000 for road construction to the LaFollette-Costigan bill which already carried the same amount for direct relief.

Funds to States

This brought the total of the direct relief bill to $750,000,000, the same as proposed in a Democratic substitute. The LaFollette-Costigan bill would give the relief funds to the state, however, while the substitute measure would lend them.

The phrase "criminally unwise" came from Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who rushed to the defense of the administration's viewpoint in the face of sharp attacks from Democratic and independent Republican ranks.

Evidence Cited

Taking the view the need for federal aid had been "fully established," Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, said it was an obligation of the government to prevent suffering. It was he who referred to "human tragedies."

Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, said there was conclusive evidence "there is distress and suffering in this country that is not today being relieved." The situation was described by Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, as "so desperate that something must be done by the government."

Deficit Cited

Senator Gore of Oklahoma announced he would not vote for federal aid until he knew where the money was coming from. He called attention to the growing treasury deficit and said the appropriations proposed would buy the entire wheat and cotton crops.

Reed said experience had shown that relief in the form of money was "wasteful and inefficient."

He said if there was no other way to prevent Americans from starving there would be no objection to waiving principle in the face of necessity, but he denied that condition existed.

Gives Views

"I do not believe that necessity has arisen," he said. "Certainly we haven't reached that state of abysmal collapse where the states have become impotent in relieving distress.

"I do not have to seek in the constitution for power to relieve suffering," he said. "Can there be any function of government that takes precedence over the obligation to prevent suffering?

"I don't propose to be intimidated by the word dole."

The amendment increasing the LaFollette-Costigan bill to $750,000,000 sponsored by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, was adopted without a record vote.

Bank Cashier Foils Bold Robbery Attempt

DE QUEEN, Ark., Feb. 11. (AP)—Terry Hunsucker, assistant cashier of the First National bank of De Queen, frustrated the attempt of two young robbers to loot the bank today.

One of the robbers slid a note into Hunsucker's cage. It read: "You are stuck up—get busy—sack up the cash." Hunsucker asked him to go to another window and ducked beneath the counter. Calling for R. P. Mitchell, the cashier, to sound the burglar alarm.

The robber who had presented the note jammed his half-drawn pistol back into his pocket and with his accomplice, who had been guarding the front door, ran from the building.

Big Elephant Is Given Protection of Police

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11. (UP)—Tusko, biggest of them all, who once needed 10 gallons of moonshine to cure a cold, got police protection today after he had been threatened with arson.

Some of the same police marksmen who stood ready to execute the rampaging elephant last Christmas, when he tore things up in a fit of rage, were assigned to guard him.

A disgruntled ex-trainer, it was said, had threatened to put Tusko "on the spot" by burning his barn down.

Meanwhile, the humane society paid Tusko's board bill while three other groups wrangled over his ownership.

O'Henry's Towel Rack Rescued From Auction

AUSTIN, Feb. 11. (UP)—A grimy, bespattered towel rack that O'Henry, world famous author, used while he was employed in the old state land office building, was saved by the state from the auction block today.

The upright, five-foot rack, dirty lavender in color, had been listed for sale along with electric motors, window draperies, from the governor's mansion, and "junk" accumulated by the state.

But the state board of control decided the towel rack should not be bickered over by auction fans and at the last minute ordered it placed aside for the Texas Historical commission.

American Rancher Is Believed Lost in Desert

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11. (AP)—A dispatch from Ciudad Juarez last night said American Consul W. P. Blocker reported that H. P. Taylor, American rancher, had been missing from his ranch near Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, since Jan. 27.

The report said Taylor, in company with a Chinese, left Casas Grandes for Chihuahua in an automobile, had not been seen since and that it was feared he might have been lost in the Theseni desert area

Jobless Mob Assaults Minister Of Canadian Province In Food Riot

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 11. (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Richard A. Squires was struck in the face and otherwise roughly treated today by a mob of unemployed men who stormed the Newfoundland council chamber demanding larger food rations.

Fighting their way past police guards, the leaders of the mob invaded the premier's office and council chamber and threatened to throw Sir Richard out a third floor window if he failed to meet their demands.

Hurl Broken Glass

The prime minister attempted to reason with them, but was cut short by a blow in the face. Other members of the mob hurled pieces of broken window glass at him. Sir Richard attempted to escape but was seized by the collar and legs and held until he consented to issue instructions for bigger allotments of food.

The mob, which numbered about 2,000, including men and women, in the street outside, would not accept his promise, but forced him to telephone an order to the dole office before they would leave.

A rumor was circulated without confirmation that a British cruiser had been ordered here.

The rioting developed after hours of angry demonstration by the mob, which was made up of former service men and elements which had been threatening disorders for weeks because of serious distress among unemployed.

Ask Bigger Dole

They had demanded that the prime minister respond to their requests for more food and an increase of the $1.60 a month dole. Leaders of the mob warned police to "keep your hands off" and so far as could be learned no arrests were made. The police who attempted to protect Sir Richard were brushed aside.

"If you touch one of our men, you touch all," shouted the foremost in the crowd when they entered the government buildings. Police said they had been told the mob was "out for food or blood."

After the prime minister had ordered the dole office to give out four times more food than customary and to remain open all night if necessary to supply the needy, the leaders of the mob announced the result from the windows of the building. The others in the street cheered and later they all marched to the dole office.

The prime minister returned to his hotel under police guard. He was suffering from bruises, but not seriously injured.

Russia Urges Arms Conference To Do Away With All War Implements

GENEVA, Feb. 11. (US)—Soviet Russia told the League of Nations disarmament conference today to "put up or shut up," demanding eventual complete disarmament or no disarmament at all. Russia proposed gradual steps by first abolishing the "murderous" branches of warfare implements.

Following Foreign Minister Paul Hymans of Belgium, who sought approval for the French plan to arm the League of Nations, Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commisar, scoffed at peace treaties and informed the conference that Russia has no time for half-way disarmament.

Litvinoff took cracks at the French plan, at the United States for not recognizing Miscow, and at China and Japan for making light of the Kellogg pact and the league covenant for the past five months.

Belgium, overrun in the world war, favored the French plan for creation of an international army under the League of Nations. Russia, whose hugeness has given rise to the military truism that Russia cannot be conquered, would do away with all weapons of warfare.

At the beginning, Litvinoff emphasized that Russia does not again propose immediate complete disarmament. The Soviet union presents a draft proposal for gradual reduction, which it regards as "merely the first step toward total disarmament."

FORD TO BUILD LIZZIE EIGHTS

Motor Magnate Announces Larger Models

DETROIT, Feb. 11. (UP)—Henry Ford gave his answer today to shrinking automobile sales by announcement of a new eight-cylinder car, and an improved, roomier four-cylinder model.

The new machines, with a single chassis built to carry either engine, Ford hopes to be able to sell at the lowest price ranges ever offered in automobile history. He will not know these figures himself, however, until some time before the first public showings, around March 1.

Few Details Given

No details of the new cars were revealed other than that there would be roomier bodies of wholly new design, longer wheelbase, lower hung chassis and heavier frames.

It has been reported but not officially confirmed that Ford will not include any extra equipment in the list price, letting dealers supply these and that any color other than black will cost extra.

The decision was an epochal one for the man now rapidly approaching his 69th birthday. At a time when the buyers' market is regarded as the lowest in decades, the billionaire has spent an estimated $50,000,000 in changing equipment, and will have 100,000 men at work in a few weeks turning out thousands of new cars.

Edison Drove One

More than 10 years ago Ford built several experimental eight-cylinder cars. Last year he revealed he had 20 of them made in the old Edison laboratory in his museum. Edison himself drove one of these machines on his last visit to Dearborn.

Ford, if he does as usual in reaching the retail price of the new machines, will get accurate cost figures from each department head, cut the sum 10 per cent or more and announce that as the figure. In cost reckoning he does not include any "investment" interest on his buildings, machinery and land. These were valued at more than $500,000,000 by the last statement. His more than $225,000,000 cash is carried as a "reserve fund to cover depreciation."

Pioneer Volunteers to Campaign for Garner

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 11. (UP)—Col. W. T. Brite, 76, who campaigned for John N. Garner in his first race for congress, today offered to again campaign for Garner's nomination as Democratic presidential candidate.

Brite would drive the same covered wagon in which he campaigned Southwest Texas 30 years ago. He claims to be the oldest native white man in Atascosa county.

Tickers on New York Stock Exchange Run Minutes Behind Trading

CHEERS SOUNDED

American Securities Gain $2,500,000,000 in Day's Hectic Activity

NEW YORK, Feb. 11. (UP)—The value of American securities increased nearly $2,500,000,000 on the New York stock exchange today.

That was Wall street's answer to the administration's new plan to expand bank credit as a means of promoting business recovery. Commodities, which have sagged lately, made similar response to the credit news and the entire financial community's spirits lifted.

The buying demonstration in the stock market was the most impressive in months. In addition to swelling the open market value of all listed stocks by nearly $2,500,000,000, millions more were added by the upturn in bonds and commodity markets.

Tickers Ran Late

So heavy was the buying of stocks by nervous bears and new investors that stock tickers ran several minutes behind trading on the floor during the morning dealings. Prices were sharply higher at the outset and continued their advance to the close at their best levels. Gains in the active leaders ranged to half a dozen points, while the speculative Auburn Auto soared nearly 20 points at one time.

Many traders were cheered by the new credit plan of the administration, which is designed to promote business recovery through stabilization of profits and relaxation of credit strings. This would be accomplished by allowing federal reserve banks to discount additional credits and be making use of idle gold reserves for money expansion.

Cheers Heard

Scenes on the floor of the stock exchange were mildly reminiscent of the bull market days. Loud cheers went up every time the leaders engaged in a spurt. A few traders were of the opinion that a new bull market had started because the rally in the market today removed the threat of prices breaking below the extreme bear market lows established on Jan. 5.

Augmenting the easy credit influence was the announcement of the Ford Motor company that it would begin production on the new 8-cyclinder model, an uncertainty that has kept many prospective automobile purchasers out of the market.

Traders also argued that substantial business improvement might be expected as the Ford Motor company had concluded that the time was propitious for introduction of new models.

JAPAN OFFERS PROFUSE APOLOGIES

(Copyr., 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11—Japanese explanations and expressions of regret were profuse today on the heels of the aerial bombardment of the wing on Chinese cotton mill which killed six Chinese and wounded a score and imperiled 100 American marines.

American Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham said Japanese Consulate General Mural immediately expressed regret, explaining:

"I hope this will illustrate the danger of planes flying over the international settlement. It serves as a practical illustration of the necessity of keeping military planes out of the settlement."

Bombing Was "Error"

Rear Admiral Shimada, chief of staff to Admiral Nomura, declared the bombing of the cotton mill was a mistake. He said that aerial bombing of Chinese lines, which have moved close to the settlement, was necessary because Chinese have been finding shelter along the international boundaries from Japanese artillery shells.

The pilot who dropped the bombs dropped two bombs first on the Chinese positions. He was swooping upward when his release control failed, the Japanese explained, thus dropping two bombs on the wing of the mill, not 100 yards from the U. S. marine billet.

Admiral Nomura called on U. S. Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor to express his regrets and to offer compensation to relatives of the Chinese dead. Admiral Uematsu, commander of the Japanese landing party, expressed his regrets and apologies to Col. R. S. Hooker, commanding the fourth marine regiment.

Japs Disarmed

Lieut. J. B. Cook, of Kentucky, commanding the marine garrison near the mill, declared that just after the bombs dropped, plunging a great hole in the roof of the mill, three Japanese officers openly carrying automatics appeared at the mill, which is guarded by American forces.

The Japanese demanded permission to inspect the damage, but the first words of the American sentry was:

"Put those guns away!"

Three armed marines were sent through the mill to guard the Japanese officers from the wrath of the panicky Chinese employes as the officers viewed the damage to make a report to Admiral Shimada.

How close the bombs were to setting off an international incident was explained by marine Bugler Mayfield of Columbia, S. C., who said:

"I was sitting in the squad room reading about the war in the newspapers when the room shook so I thought it was coming down. I grabbed my automatic and banged into the yard. I hadn't gone far when the first wounded were being dragged out."

Small Damage

The damage caused amounts only to about $5,000, but the Chinese operators of the mill demand vengeance for wanton murder. If the bombs had dropped a half hour later, they said, 300 would have been killed, for only a skeleton force was at work at the time.

Lieutenant Boone, American intelligence officer who segregated fragments of the bombs bearing Japanese characters, said that the Japanese use an incendiary bombing system, first dropping an explosive bomb to tear away framework and then launching a sulphur bomb to start fires.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Feb. 11. (AP)—American farmers have just as much right to play golf as the city man. They are awekening to their power and soon will prevent a few Wall street bankers from dictating their policies, declared C. C. Several hundred agricultural and livestock men and women are in the city in attendance at the third annual South Plains farm and home conference at Texas Tech.

Senator Launches Attack On Sea 'Palaces of Vice'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The senate commerce committee today approved a bill aimed to break up "gambling palaces" outside the three-mile limits of American shores.

Introduced by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, it would require small vessels carrying passengers to and from "stationary ships or barges" outside the three-mile limit to obtain navigation permits.

Permits would be denied if it were found the stationary vessels were what Senator Johnson described as "gilded palaces of vice."

A protest against enactment of the measure was filed by Paul J. Christian, who said he represented owners of "water taxis" operating in the vicinity of Long Beach, Calif.

'PRETTY BOY'S' SON SQUEALS

Bandit's Wife Held After Raid in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 11. (AP)—Betrayed by the cry, "that's daddy!" of her small son, Mrs. Charles Floyd was held by Tulsa police today while an ever widening search was pressed for "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the Oklahoma desperado who has fought two successful gun battles with officers here this week and escaped.

The boy, Jackie, 7 years old, recognized a picture of Floyd in a photograph album taken from a home here from which Floyd and his right-hand man, George Birdwell, fled just ahead of a heavily armed raiding squad at dawn today.

Mrs. Floyd escaped the house with her son as the officers approached and was trailed to the Union Bus station and arrested.

She said her name was Mrs. Ruby Hamilton, and efforts to learn her true identity failed until the officers separated her son from her and began questioning him.

The child's prattle when shown the album, from which he pointed out both the Oklahoma badmen, was audible to Mrs. Floyd and she admitted she was Ruby Floyd a moment later.

The 26-year-old wife of the robber and killer who is wanted in several states, said Floyd and Birdwell had been at the Tulsa address since early in January.

It was while Floyd and Birdwell were en route to the Tulsa home from an undetermined foray Monday midnight that they encountered four Tulsa officers in a scout car near the northern city limits and outraced them after exchanging more than 75 shots. One shot struck Wilber Wilson, a policeman, in the arm.

After the two desperadoes patched the bullet holes in their coupe with putty and paint, they sallied forth again last night, only to encounter two more Tulsa officers in a scout car.

This time the pursuit, with both officers and hunted men firing repeatedly at each other, was nearly two miles through a residential section of the city.

They were tipped that Floyd was hiding there by neighbors who were suspicious of the actions of the men and of the battered coupe they drove.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

EDISON'S PALS OBSERVE EVENT

Hoover and Firestone Mark Inventor's Birthday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The birthday of the late Thomas Alva Edison, who lit the electric lights of the world, was observed quietly today at a meeting in the White House of two old friends of the inventor—Herbert Hoover and Harvey Firestone.

The tire manufacturer recalled past birthdays of Mr. Edison and how he had "looked forward each year to Feb. 11."

He told of Edison's last trip to Florida, of his illness and of the inventor's reaction to the newspaper and motion picture interviews that came to be a regular feature of his anniversary.

"I am sure he made more sacrifices, worked harder and accomplished more for the benefit of mankind than any other man of all time," Firestone said, "and it would be a great satisfaction to me if his birthday would always be nationally observed."

Firestone also recalled the suggestion of another friend—Henry Ford—that Edison's birthday be observed by every one as a "do the best you can day." The manufacturer told the president he believed some such suggestion might aid in solving the present strained financial situation.

Woman Indicted for Murder Attempt

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—A true bill charging assault to commit murder by poison was reported voted by the grand jury today against Mrs. Arnold H. Kegel, wife of a former city health commissioner, and Gerald Lee, grocery clerk.

The charge was an outgrowth of the critical illness of Mrs. Mary Ryan, a former domestic in the Kegel home, who was to be a witness in divorce proceedings brought by Dr. Kegel.

The former health officer once divorced his wife, but they were remarried and subsequently a second suit was filed in which he alleged Mrs. Kegel tried to poison him with potions administered in his food over a long period.

"Jerry" Lee, the grocery clerk who Mrs. Ryan said accompanied Mrs. Kegel when the latter was alleged to have treated her former maid to a soda in which she dropped poison, was understood to have waived immunity and testified before the grand jury.

Bond for Mrs. Kegel, who has not been found, was fixed at $50,000, it was reported. Lee's bond was understood to be set at $5,000. He was in custody.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"

. . . how often you hear this

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

Helps you build New Red-Blood-Cells

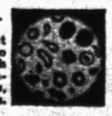

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

It is important to know that the red-blood-cells are the "ships" that sail in the blood stream and carry nourishment and oxygen to all parts of the body. Whenever the number is materially reduced, lowered vitality ensues and the system becomes more susceptible to the ravages of various diseases.

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The career of "Uncle Andy" Mellon of Pennsylvania could not be cited in proof of the theory often attributed to Dr. Osler that men are of so little use to the world after the age of 60 that they should be eliminated painlessly on their 60th birthday.

A MELLON

At 76, the master of the Mellon millions is to set off on a new and strange adventure in public service. He is to be American ambassador at the court of St. James.

And to the titles heretofore given him, such as that of "the greatest treasury secretary since Alexander Hamilton," which regular Republican brethren have voiced so frequently in the last 11 years, or the counter brand of "the secretary who stayed too long," created by the anti-Mellonites, a new description is added.

For President Hoover proclaims him "one of our wisest and most experienced public servants."

And this, take note, when Mellon has passed by many years the so-called Osler plan.

Cheer for Foes

Little as they may like to contribute to new honors for Mr. Mellon, it is reasonable to expect that his arch foes in the senate, Couzens of Michigan and McKellar of Tennessee, will gladly see him translated to the diplomatic sphere.

Their thundering blasts at Mellon have all had to do with his acts as treasury head.

President Hoover attached more significance to the Mellon diplomatic assignment than he has to any other he has made.

He pictured a world so vexed with economic and other crises as to demand "experience and judgment of the highest order" at the London post. And it is for the shy, gentle-mannered little Pennsylvanian to fill that bill.

There could be no more utter negation of the popular conception of how a field marshal of finance and a great captain of industry should look and act than Andrew W. Mellon.

He might be almost anything else, a retiring, bashful student, an informed art critic, as he is—even a poet, perhaps, with the constant twinkle in his deep-set eyes and the lurking humorous quirk about the drooping corners of his mouth beneath its snowy mustache.

But a high-power driving force in finance and commerce—never. He just does not look it at all.

Remote Control?

Mellon's departure for London might have some bearing on Pennsylvania politics, state or national. What is to become of the much-discussed "Mellon machine?" Will it be steered by remote control over the transatlantic telephone?

There have been some intimations of a more troubled condition in Pennsylvania's rock-ribbed republicanism this year than it has often known.

It may well be that party strategists deplore the necessity that will make "Uncle Andy" Ambassador Mellon, black silk short pants and all.

Duncan Boy Scouts Will Gather Clothes for Poor

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., Feb. 11.—Six Duncan Boy Scout troops will be mobilized Friday afternoon to collect bundles of used clothing suitable for children 16 years of age or younger. The mobilization will be in connection with the observance of the 22nd anniversary of the founding of scouting.

A civic "good turn" is done by the scouts each year in connection with mobilization day. Last year the trops canvassed the city to list odd jobs for the unemployed. Clothing collected this year will be distributed through the Salvation Army, Scout Executive W. I. Myers said.

Man-Made Dangers

THE Cuban earthquake luckily turned out far less severe than early reports indicated. Still it was enough of a catastrophe to underline once more the fact that nature, supposedly "conquered" by inventive men who fly through the air and talk through space, can still be an unpredictable and terrifying source of disaster.

These reminders come every so often; earthquakes, hurricanes, cyclones, landslides, floods and pestilences, striking through the flimsy defenses of civilization and emphasizing mankind's weakness when opposed to uncontrollable natural forces.

These are things that defy calculation and make safeguards look futile. Ten million dollars worth of buildings in Santiago were knocked down in a few minutes; what had been a smiling and peaceful city one moment was a devastated place of terror and confusion the next.

And yet, terrifying as a thing of this kind is, the really frightening part of it all is that such natural calamities are, after all, the very least of mankind's worries nowadays. The earth may be shaky and insecure, and the blue skies may hold death-dealing storms that can be loosed without warning, but the thing that makes pessimists of us is the fact that we face other dangers compared to which earthquakes and tornadoes are hardly more important than so many pin pricks. And these greater dangers are dangers we have created for ourselves.

We are, these days, more or less in Kublai Khan's position; we hear ancestral voices prophesying war, to say nothing of other dire possibilities such as revolution, economic breakdown and a general collapse of civilization; and we do not seem more able to cope with these dangers than we do with the dangers of future earthquakes.

Yet they are dangers that we ourselves have brought into existence. They do not come from obscure natural forces that are beyond control; they come from things that we have done and are doing. Living in a world whose inanimate forces demand our best thought and our greatest energy, we have somehow raised other problems for ourselves that are infinitely greater.

From Dry to Wet

SENATOR JAMES J. DAVIS of Pennsylvania, formerly a dry, is going to run for re-election as a wet; that is, his platform urges modification of the Volstead act and calls for a referendum on the 18th amendment.

The various wet and dry leaders can be left to argue about the significance of this conversion; meanwhile, the general question of statesmen who change their convictions overnight deserve a little consideration.

It is perfectly plausible, of course, to argue that a statesman ought to be a mouthpiece for his constituents, and that he is obligated to adopt new policies if he is convinced that the majority of his constituents want him to. But there used to be a theory that a statesman should be a leader; that he should tell the voters, "This is my stand, and if you don't like it you must select someone else."

That theory, of course, calls on a man to put principle above success at the polls; and that, perhaps, is a little too much to expect.

The First Auto

A NEW ENGLAND newspaper man, examining old newspaper files the other day, discovered that one Joseph Manton, of Providence, actually invented an automobile as long ago as 1866; a steam-driven car that was crude, cumbersome and awkward, but that managed, nevertheless, to accomplish a fairly lengthy cross-country road trip without mishap.

Manton, the files related, was highly proud of his contrivance, but he saw no commercial possibilities in it and eventually stored his car and gave up the idea.

Before the great development of the auto could be possible, the internal combustion engine had to be invented. And yet—suppose that Manton's car had caught the imagination of science and industry, so that the research and experimentation that ultimately perfected the gasoline motor could have been applied to the small steam engine; would we, today, be driving steam cars?

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down A Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Call your mother . . . Fevvensakes! Send checks to hotel, Saks, etcetra . . . Your files have been bound . . . I laid out plenty today for you, please leave check . . . Those pictures by J. are pediculous . . . You don't look that old . . . Why do they insist on taking photos when you're so tired? . . . And why do you do it? . . . So you gotta go again to the Grand Central Bldg. and have some others . . . The ones by Hal are not adaptable for what they wanted . . . They're good, tho . . . I sent Bill Corum the wire for you. Hope I got it right. Did you say: "Best piece of satire written in years?" . . . Well, that's what I sent . . . Wilkerson of Hollywood Reporter phoned from there. Said to tell you that you won all Hollywood with that Pola-Greta hit . . . Cute wire from George Hale, dance director . . . Don't answer if so-and-so calls again . . . Oh, you forgive so easily, and you're the guy who once wrote: "It takes a fool to apologize and a bigger one to accept it" . . . Thomas Fortune Ryan, 2d, who married the girl only last June, is here, and she is in Wyoming looking for a job.

That "consultant" representing the chap who is suing you for what you didn't do, called to say that that went to drop the action and that they have a release all ready for you . . . So I told him that you wanted to know what was paying your lawyer's fees for that hooey . . . So he said: "Why, Mr. Winchell, of course!" . . . So I told him that if you were going to pay a lawyer fee every time somebody decided to sue you, that you'd be living beyond your income—and to go and take the suit to court! . . . So he said: "Here, here, now!" So I told him to go chase an ambulance—for there might be a case in it for him . . . What a gag that's getting to be, any how! . . . Huh! . . . You're absolutely right . . . Make them take you to court—and if you lose, you pay . . . Since when do winners have to pay losers?

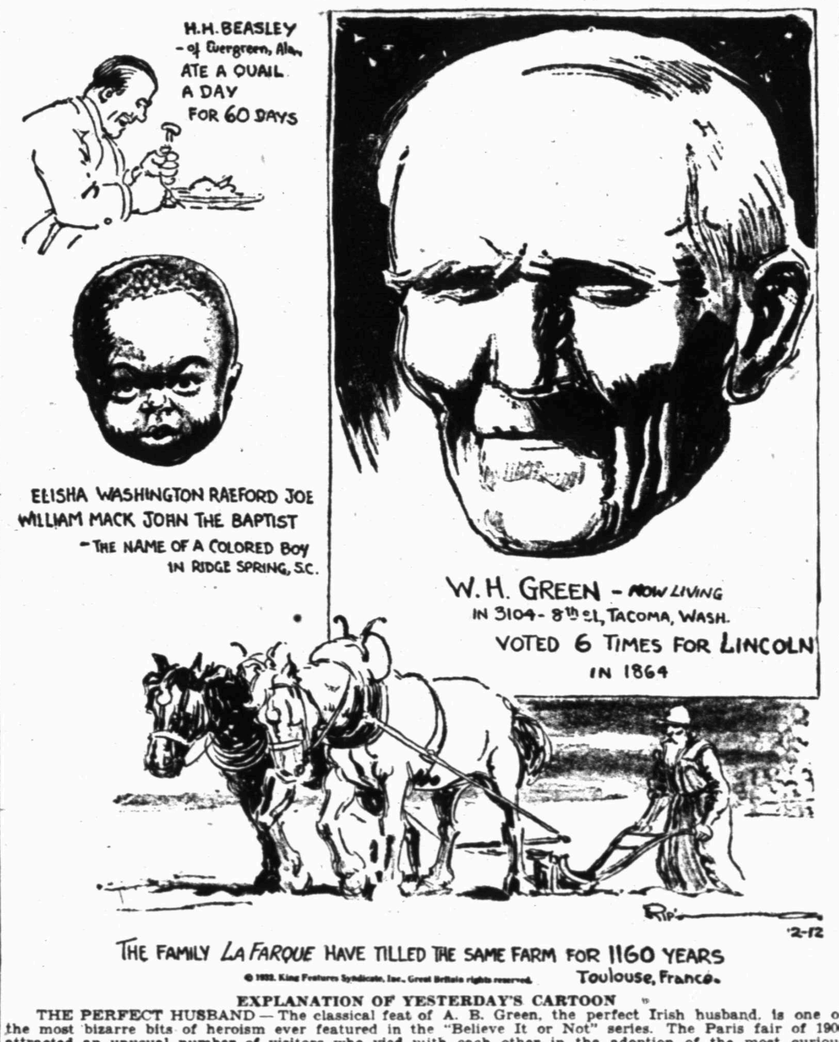

One of the hottest shows in town is staged on 6th between 48th and 49th with a beanery for a "blind" front . . . In the rear of the cheap restaurant, behind a curtain, three torso-tossers flip their hips in the oh-dear-me!—manner . . . That's for the price of a dime, I mean . . . For two bits they take you into another room and they do the hoochy a la Godiva—are my lips red? . . . I don't blame you about that Hal LeRoy thing . . . How can any one let a boy with pneumonia leave the hospital between shows to do his hoofing? . . . About two years ago a student dropped out of the University of Washington because of a slight ailment. The young man still is convalescing but, in the two years while recuperating he has become the brains and head man of the largest narcotic ring in the Northwest . . . In fewer words it proves again that the educated crook is more dangerous than the gangster . . . Remind me to tell you about the nicest speakeasy where they always give you your change in crisp new dollar bills . . . And a $ buys you three "Winchells"—so named because they are not fit for decent people! Haw!

The Critics' Circle of London sent you its publication. Contains a piece by Sydney W. Carroll about the New York reviewers. He calls him Jean George Nathan . . . How've y'been? . . . And lists Heywood Broun as a dramatic critic . . . Burns Mantle, he says, is doing the most solid and useful work in all America—by publishing in book form this and that on the theater . . . He says of Hammond that he has a positive genius for being genially unfair, and that Percy will describe a thoroughly competent (even clever) artiste as "the worst actress in America" . . . Of Gabriel he says: "He reverses his judgments on people quite frequently" and that "no mercy" is his motto . . . He says that Atkinson is nearly always devastatingly right and that Arthur Ruhl is good, too . . . Of the others he had no more space to devote . . . He says of Allen that he never thinks of nasty things to say about a play "and Allen is one of the theater's friends. I wish there were more like him" . . . Poor Kelcey Allen . . . Oh, yes, the writer was sorry the local critics didn't like his play, but he felt that they were honest, etc . . . The old malarky . . . Trying to show that he Can Take It . . . As if anybody can.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE PERFECT HUSBAND — The classical feat of A. B. Green, the perfect Irish husband, is one of the most bizarre bits of heroism ever featured in the "Believe It or Not" series. The Paris fair of 1900 attracted an unusual number of visitors who vied with each other in the adoption of the most curious means of travel to the metropolis of France. Among them was A. B. Green who at first trundled the baby carriage containing his baby all the way from Dublin to Paris, including the passage over the chanel. After the great reception he received at the hands of the delighted Parisians he decided to extend his curious trip to embrace the rest of the world. It is figured that he covered in excess of 16,000 miles, pushing in front of him the identical baby carriage which so delighted the visitors of the fair.

Lois Corbin, a pretty working girl, falls in love with Bruce Durand, the nephew of Charles Durand, one of Chicago's wealthiest men. Ashamed to have Bruce know where she lives, Lois leaves her family and goes to share an apartment with Arlene and Margaret, two girl friends. She finally becomes engaged to Bruce, but one night at his country club she is accused by a woman of having stolen the dress she is wearing from her home. Bruce is angry, and Lois is forced to explain that she purchased the dress at a second-hand store on Clark street. She is embarrassed beyond words. She keeps waiting all day to hear from Bruce, and when she gets home that night Arlene tells her that he has called to say he would be too busy to come down tonight. Lois and Margaret go to a movie, and return just in time to see Bruce drive away, with Arlene on the seat beside him.

When Bruce arrives at the apartment he fully expects to see Lois, but Arlene has arranged things to suit herself. She tells him that Lois has gone out with another man. Bruce becomes angry, and asks Arlene if she would like to go out with him. They go to the Edgemere hotel to dance, because Arlene tells Bruce that is where Lois is going to spend the evening.

Arlene orders a big dinner, but Bruce only drinks a mint julep. He keeps watching the door for some signs of Lois, but she does not show up. When Bruce takes Arlene home he is so jealous that he makes another date with her for the following Friday.

Lois is awake when Arlene comes in. Lois tells her that she isn't putting anything over on her, that she and Bruce are not engaged any longer anyway. Everything is progressing better than Arlene has anticipated, but Lois goes to sleep in tears.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER XXII

Lois pulled out the side drawer of her desk every little while to make sure that her ring was still there.

She didn't want to see it again outside of the box. All morning she tried to make herself think of things that would make her hate Bruce Durand. She should despise him. She knew that. But there is something about being in love that makes it almost impossible to hate that person. No matter what the person may do to one, she seems to go on loving him just the same. That is the way Lois felt about Bruce.

He had treated her shabbily. She knew that. Well, she had expected some of it. She had expected it but had hoped against it. Now that it had actually occurred, she couldn't make herself believe that Bruce was justified in his actions. Mrs. Hayes had apologized to her. She believed Lois then. Perhaps it could have all been worked out with his family if only he would have given her a chance. But he didn't even give her that.

She would go over at noon, she decided and mail the ring back to him. She hoped she would get some reply from him when he received it but perhaps the ring was all he was waiting for. She expected anything now, now after he had deliberately taken Arlene out dancing and also made future engagements with her.

She would have to study her shorthand now. Work at it hard so that she would be able to get a good stenographic position. She couldn't live there any longer with Arlene and Margaret. She wondered how she could even stand to go back there to get her clothes. She would pick a time when Arlene would not be in. She never wanted to see her again.

All of her ambition came back to her again, strangely enough. She would show them, all of them. She'd get to be a famous court reporter like that Miss Watson who was always getting her picture in the paper because she could take so many words a minute. She would make Arlene envious of her. Arlene never had been anything but a small stenographer in a big wholesale house, where nobody paid any attention to her. Lois knew that because Arlene herself had told her about it.

You'll hear from him now, Lois. I'm sure."

Lois dug down into her desk and found her old shorthand book. She had been getting negligent of late. Even the few simple letters that she took at the office were not satisfactory. It was because she hadn't cared, she decided. She had thought that it was not necessary for her to worry about the future. She always would have Bruce to take care of her. Now she realized that a girl always has to worry about the future. That one never can be sure.

At noon Lois wrapped her ring carefully in a piece of brown paper and addressed it to Bruce at the bank. She would send it special delivery. Her heart was pounding mercilessly as the postman asked her how much she wanted to insure it for, what it was, and the other necessary questions.

Then it was all over. She paid her money and the little brown package was tossed into the box where other packages were already waiting to be picked up. Lois had lost her appetite. She went back to the office and started working on her shorthand.

Margaret found her when she returned from lunch bending over her paper, her lips moving, her fingers slowly forming the strange hieroglyphics that later would be miraculously transformed into words.

"That's more like it," Margaret said cheerily. "None of those crying bouts that don't get anybody anywhere."

Lois smiled a little. "I realize it, Margaret, "but at the same time I just couldn't help crying a little."

Margaret came over and put her arm around her. "I know it, honey," she said consolingly, "but, honestly, I'll bet you'll see some day that he wasn't worth it. He couldn't be. Either that or else the whole thing is one grand mistake."

"There isn't any mistake about it," Lois remarked. "There couldn't be." Then a minute later she added, "I sent his ring back this noon."

Margaret had gone over to the mirror and was straightening out her hair. She turned around quickly and clapped her hands together. "Atta baby," she said. "That's the way to do. You'll hear from him now, Lois, I'm sure."

Lois shook her head. "No, I'm not expecting him to call me."

Margaret picked up her pad and pencil and started off in the direction of Mr. Paul Scanlon's office. "It's just as well that you feel that way about it," she flung back over her shoulder. "Then you won't be disappointed."

Lois envied Margaret today. Envied her walking into the inner office of Mr. Scanlon, taking his dictation, then later in the afternoon sitting importantly at her desk transcribing her notes. She was determined that she wasn't going to let this thing get her down. She was going on with her head held high. Make a success of herself. That was all that counted in the long run, anyway. Success and money. Everybody laid too great a stress on love. It was over-rated. Love brought nothing except tears and heartaches. Success brought happiness and peace. She would experience success. She didn't ever

The Record News Offers The Booklet, How To Get a Job

Legislators and economists are doing their utmost to solve the problem of unemployment, but even if they succeed there is still something for the individual to do—he must connect himself with the job that has been created. This booklet will be found of much practical help in that line. It tells how to get on the trail of the job, and how to pursue it, and gives forms for advertisements and letters of application.

Masterly Review Features Luncheon At Forum

Probably one of the finest reviews ever given at the Woman's Forum clubhouse was that which featured the valentine luncheon of the literature department Thursday when Mrs. Anna Witherspoon interpreted "The Good Earth" by Pearl Buck. Mrs. Witherspoon's recent tour of China gave her an understanding of the story's background which added an intriguing interest to her review. Gowned in a magnificent mandarin wedding gown and wearing the pearl fringed head dress that women of rank don on their wedding day, she was as fascinating a picture as she was an interesting speaker.

"The Good Earth," which according to many of the foremost critics is pronounced the novel of the year 1931, was said by Mrs. Witherspoon to have no beginning and no end, to be a slice out of Chinese life as it is lived over and over.

She stressed as the great motive forces back of Wang's life, his great piety and faith in his national gods; his deep respect for old age; his intense love of the land and his use of everything at hand. All the way through the story, these forces were emphasized in Wang's marriage and fatherhood, his accumulation of land, his development of interests outside his own family and even in the feeling of the old man. The story of Wang was told easily, and Mrs. Witherspoon would pause at various points in the saga and tell of scenes of which the story reminded her.

Vivid little pictures were impressed on the memories of her audience; nights in Shanghai when she would see rows of little Chinese children with their empty rice bowls, sitting in a row begging; of their reiterated "No mama, no papa, no money, no chow," although she said, she had heard children who had their faces smeared with rice, repeat the same little singsong.

She told of how the children would come to the grilled gateways in Peking and thrust their hands through with two or three "cash" to buy the pretty colored rice doughballs a man carried and the sale of which he cried. The only sweet smell which she remembered in that city was stressed as the escaping odor of sweet potatoes being baked in oil when the lid of the small oven was lifted and a whiff of the baking potato escaped.

Officers Named

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following slate of officers for the next club year, who were elected by acclamation: Mrs. C. N. Alexander, chairman; Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, vice chairman; Mrs. T. T. T. Reese, recording secretary; Mrs. Leslie Humphrey, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. J. Perkins, treasurer.

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, chairman, presided during the luncheon and presented the charming speaker. The speaker's table was unusually effective. In the center was a wagon drawn by Cupid, filled with pussy willow, tinted narcissus and sprays of golden forsythia. Silver candle holders with tall red tapers and valentines as place cards completed the pretty setting. All tables were decorated with the red candles and the brilliant hearts.

The George and Martha Washington luncheon of Thursday, Feb. 18, was announced with the added information that it was open to both men and women of the city. Several of the business men's clubs are considering attending it. It was also announced that Capt. C. W. R. Knight, who will lecture at the Forum clubhouse Friday evening, Feb. 12, will have his trained golden eagle with him.

Approximately 75 guests were present for the luncheon and review Thursday. Mrs. W. H. Peterson was chairman in general and hostesses assisting her were Mesdames B. D. Donnell, John M. Martin, Carl Yeager, E. K. White, Harry ten Brink, O. B. Albritton, Claude Gilchrist and J. A. Gardner.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Do you remember the barber who shaved King Midas? He alone knew the terrible secret of the ass' ears which King Midas wore and on pain of his life, he dared not repeat it. So he went down to the river where the rushes grew high and lay down in them and whispered over and over, "Midas, King Midas, has ass' ears." Then the reeds repeated it.

Once not long ago, a clever woman remarked to me that she could not keep a secret. If one told her anything and said it was a secret, she could not resist passing the pleasure of knowing a secret on to some one else.

I doubt if the woman in question ever passed a word of malicious gossip. But gossip works the same way. "Oh have you heard," one whispers, then tells something she has been sworn not to repeat and which she probably does not believe herself.

This century and the latter part of the 19th are such different times. What people say about a girl does not count as it did in the mauve decade. In those years, a mere suggestion of something wrong was enough to forever blacken a reputation.

But even in these days more accustomed to bold behavior, gossip can hurt a sensitive soul. I have before me a letter received several days ago, telling of a Wichita Falls girl whose life is being ruined by gossip. Her family are deeply hurt, but are too proud to try to trace the lies to the source.

"Will you write some day soon on gossip?" the writer asked. How can one write of the cruelest and most insidious poison there is? One of my friends has just told me of her son coming home from a neighobr's house and saying to her "Mama, don't you ever go over to —— and say anything," he cautioned. "If you do you won't know it when you hear it."

That is the way gossip starts. Often it is in fun. Women love to be funny and one will make some laughing remark about another. Then another will say, "Oh, did you hear?" and the gossip grows and grows and one telling to another will deem her story flat unless she can add some color, so she embroiders it.

With good books to read and with good work to do, women should not have time for gossip. Real gossip is the idle woman's pastime and that must be the origin of that old sentence about the "devil's workshop."

Talk to one woman alone and it is hard to believe that she wilfully wishes to hurt another. Take two or three together and they do not think. That is the trouble. But unintentional talk can hurt quite as much as the wilful story.

I am acting strictly against my physician's orders in coming to work today; so it is not my part to preach a sermon. But rather than sing "Good morning to you," I will say, "Don't have the flu," and if you feel inclined to repeat an ugly story, dont.

KEEPS little AILMENTS from growing into BIG ONES!

It may be just a coated tongue tonight . . . with dull eyes, bad color and breath. But by these symptoms Nature is telling you that you may have a sick child tomorrow.

Help tonight is simple. Tomorrow it may be harder. A single simple dose of Castoria is usually all that's needed to bring relief; it often keeps a serious illness from developing.

Castoria, you know, is the children's own remedy—made specially to give the gentle help their delicate organs must have. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

In any starting illness such as a cold, a little fever, a food upset, a first-aid dose of Castoria is always a wise precaution.

It's never hard to get children to take Castoria. They love its taste, and are grateful for the relief it always brings to tied-up systems.

For babies or for older children, depend on Castoria's gentle regulation. It has kept many a little ailment from growing into a serious one! Genuine Castoria always has the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

Famous Speaker To Show Film At Forum Clubhouse

An innovation in lectures will take place at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Friday evening at 8 o'clock when Capt. Charles W. R. Knight will be present with not only the film depicting the moving picture of bird life which it took him several years to complete, but with his famous tamed golden eagle, Grampian.

Captain Knight's name is synonomous with the best and finest in bird photography and critics who have heard his lectures, are unanimous in saying that he is not only the best photographer of birds of prey, but it is to be doubted if anyone else can describe them in just the same dramatic, amusing and witty manner.

Visual proof of great patience, much skill and unbounded courage will be shown in the moving pictures.

The handling of the golden eagle is said to be a most dangerous business. There is no other living creature in which such enormous muscular power is packed in such relatively small weight; no bird with such strength in its talons.

His lectures have been given many times to packed houses in London and in cities of America. A special rate is being made so that children will attend.

All Star Cast Will Be Assisted by Violinists

Violin pupils of Stanley Miles Raub, directed by Miss Loraine Mathis, will make their first formal bow Friday evening as "The Epworth Ensemble," when they furnish the music during the presentation of the all-star Epworth league play, "All Entangled," at the Scotland Methodist church. The play and the violin ensemble will be presented at other Methodist churches in the city in the following week.

Members of the orchestra with Miss Mathis, the leader, are Misses Thelma Mae Norvell, Lucy Bratton, May Bartlett and Wilma Sue Warman; and Walter Jenkins, Halbert Jarrott, Kenneth Bebb and Bobby Honea. Miss Helen White will be at the piano.

Harold White, producer of the play has announced two changes in the cast due to illness of Misses Martha Johnson and Edith McClure. Miss Reetha Mae Neal will play Miss Johnson's role of Georgia Sopher, and Miss Alice Sides will play the part of Ruth Penrose in which Miss McClure was originally cast. Miss Inez Terrall, director of the play, will play the part of the maid Friday evening.

Other members of the cast are Beverly Calhoun, Lloyd Bland, Drew McCulley, Valdon Brownlee, C. W. Miller and Henry Barton.

The play will be sponsored by the young people's department of the church. The music will begin at 8 p. m. and the curtain will rise at 8:15, it was announced.

ARE YOU THIN, PALE AND PIMPLY?

Wichita Falls, Texas—"My son was in poor health when he was about twenty years of age. His blood became thin and he was pale. He was also troubled with his stomach and his face broke out with pimples," said Mrs. Beulah Singleton of 1101 18th St. "Finally, I decided to have him try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By the time he had taken a few bottles he was completely relieved of all these troubles, his blood became healthy, and he had no more stomach trouble." Ask your druggist for

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Crockett School Mothers Study Child and Parent

Mrs. J. K. Naylor was speaker at the meeting of the Crockett school junior study club when members met at the school Thursday morning. Her address on "The Child and Parent," led to an interesting round table discussion.

"The father should have a share in the child's emotional life," the speaker said. "This is of value to the child and a source of satisfaction to the father." She stated that the relationship between parent and child cannot be over emphasized; that beginning at birth, it continues until the child has completely established his own independence, through processes of investigation, experimentation, trial and error.

Valentine Suggestions Carried Out In Menus Prepared by Mrs. Dawson

Arrangements of Flowers, Place Cards and Favors Described in Article; Recipes Also Given

By MRS. ARCH DAWSON, B. S. M. A.
Written Especially for The Record News

Valentine Suggestions

The coquettish spirit of St. Valentire's day has lingered through the centuries and modern youth, like the Romans of long ago, loves to wear its heart on its sleeves. In keeping with the tender traditions of the day the following suggestions are offered for romantic meals.

Pink is the color for the fourteenth of February, of course, in candles, shades, flowers, damask, china, glass, place cards, candies and food. Old-fashioned lace paper valentines make effective place cards and candle shades and old-fashioned heart-shaped motto candies in beribboned baskets may be used as favors.

The above menus carry out the theme but should not be served on the same day. The breakfast menu is only suitable for a late breakfast party or bridge luncheon.

The centerpiece for a valentine meal might be an attractive heart filled with valentines with gauze ribbons trailing to each place to be pulled when the hostess gives the word.

An old-fashioned bouquet made as follows would make an attractive and appropriate centerpiece for either the breakfast or supper table: Cut a small circle from the center of a 14-inch lace paper doily and slash the remainder of the center toward the lace edge. Place the doily over a shallow soup dish and put a frog in the center to hold the flowers in place. Arrange the flowers in this order, using four pink rosebuds, six pale pink carnations, several ivory-tinted freesias, a small bunch of orchid sweetpeas and a few sprays of maidenhair fern. First, a border of the fern, then the freesias; then the carnations, and for the center the sweet peas and roses. Fit the finished bouquet into a low silver compote.

The theme may also be carried out with sweet-heart roses and maidenhair fern. A small statue of Cupid and Psyche might be placed in the center.

and peas and add a dash of paprika and salt. (Six tablespoonfuls of finely chopped green peppers and one tablespoonful of capers may be used instead of the peas, if preferred). Prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour and cream; beat the two egg yolks and pour the sauce on them when it is done. Add the chicken mixture, heat thoroughly and serve on slices of buttered toast. If milk or stock is substituted for half of the cream, increase the flour to four and one-half tablespoonfuls. Serves six.

Swedish Timbales

Three-fourths cup flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon sugar.
One-half cup milk.
One egg.
One tablespoon olive oil.

Mix dry ingredients, add milk gradually and beaten egg; then add olive oil. Shape, using a hot timbale iron, fry in deep fat until crisp and brown; take from iron and invert on brown paper to drain. (It is better if allowed to stand over night).

To Heat Timble Iron—Heat fat until nearly hot enough to fry uncooked mixtures. Put iron into hot fat, having fat deep enough to more than cover it. Let stand until heated. The only way of knowing when iron is of right temperature is to take it from the fat, shake what fat may drip from it, lower it in batter to three-fourths its depth, raise from batter, then immerse in hot fat. If batter does not cling to the iron or drops from the iron as soon as immersed in the fat it is either too hot or not sufficiently heated.

To Form Timbales—Turn timbale batter into a cup. Lower hot iron into cup taking care that batter covers iron only three-fourths its depth. When immersed in fat mixture will rise to top of iron and when crisp and brown may be easily slipped off. If too much batter is used in cooking it will rise over top of iron and in order to remove timbale it must be cut around with a sharp knife close to top of iron. If the cases are soft rather than crisp the batter is too thick and must be diluted with milk.

Fill cases with creamed oysters, chicken, sweetbreads or chicken and sweetbreads in combination with mushrooms.

Two Hearts

Bake individual Lady Baltimore cakes in heart shape. Ice and top with a layer of peppermint ice cream.

Lady Baltimore Cake

One cupful butter.
Two cupfuls sugar.
One cupful milk.
Three cupfuls flour.
Four and one-half teaspoonfuls tartrate baking powder.
Six egg whites.
One teaspoonful vanilla.

Cream together the butter and sugar. Add the milk and the flour, sifted with the baking powder, alternately. Add the vanilla. Fold in the beaten egg whites and bake in three layers 30 to 35 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Use Lady Baltimore filling between the layers and for frosting.

Lady Baltimore Cake Filling

Three cupfuls sugar.
One cupful boiling water.
Three egg whites (large).
Two teaspoonfuls vanilla.
One cupful raisins.
One cupful chopped nuts.
One cupful chopped figs.
One-half cupful chopped citron.
One-fourth cupful chopped candied cherries.

Cook the sugar and water together until the syrup will spin a thread two inches long; pour in a fine stream on the whites of the eggs beaten dry. Add the flavoring and fruits and use when cool as filling and frosting. If a layer cake is made divide the frosting after adding the flavoring and add the fruits to only one-half of the boiled frosting. Use the part with the fruits in it between the layers and the plain frosting on the top and sides.

Peppermint Frozen Cream

One-half pound peppermint pillows.
Two cupfuls double cream.
One cupful milk.

Dissolve candy in milk in top of a double boiler. Chill, pour into tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze until firm. Remove to ice cold bowl and beat quickly, adding the whipped cream during the beating process. Place in heart-shaped moulds and allow to finish freezing.

Boiled Beef Hearts, Raisins

Clean and wash beef heart or use lamb or calf hearts. Remove most of the fat and tendonous portions. Sprinkle with salt, dredge with flour and brown in pork fat, bacon or other drippings. Cover with boiling water and simmer until tender. Make brown gravy with water in which meat is cooked and add one-half cup raisins when ready to serve. Serve meat hot or cold, cut in thin slices.

Potato Puffs

Mash boiled potatoes and beat thoroughly. To two cups mashed potatoes, add one-half cup sifted flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one egg well beaten, salt and pepper and add one teaspoon butter. Beat and let cool. Take up in spoonfuls and fry in deep fat, 380-390 degrees.

Old Fashioned Valentine Cake

Prepare your favorite plain or chocolate cake batter and bake in a large heart-shaped pan. For small cakes, bake the batter in a shallow pan and when cool cut into little cakes with a heart-shaped cooky cutter. Plain cake batter may be tinted pink of desired. Ice the cakes heavily with white boiled icing, ornament with a wavy border and an arrow, made from red or pink ornamental icing put through a pastry tube. The border may also be made at the bottom of cake.

Anchovy Appetizer

Four teaspoonfuls anchovy paste.
Two tablespoonfuls well drained horseradish.
One and one-half teaspoonfuls lemon juice.
Three-fourths cupful whipping cream.

Whip the cream very stiff and mix about two-thirds of it with the other ingredients which have been blended. Fold in remaining cream and heap lightly on Swedish rosettes. Garnish with thin strips of pimiento and parsley. Form a heart with the pimiento and use a stem of parsley with one leaf at the end to suggest the feathered end of cupid's dart. This recipe will serve 12. Note: If imported English anchovy is preferred, use only three teaspoonfuls instead of four, as the flavor is more pronounced.

Swedish Rosettes

Make recipe for Swedish timbales and cook on a Swedish rosette iron. Fry in hot fat (370 degrees) and drain on unglazed brown paper.

Chicken or Turkey Timbales

Three cupfuls minced chicken or turkey.
One cupful sort bread crumbs.
One-half cupful milk.
One teaspoonful salt.
Three eggs.
One-eighth teaspoonful pepper.
One teaspoonful minced parsley.
One-fourth teaspoonful grated onion.
Two tablespoonfuls melted butter.

Heat bread crumbs with milk until thick, then add the minced meat, seasonings, butter, onion and parsley. Beat egg yolks until light and add to the first mixture. Then fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Turn into greased custard or timbale cups. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees until set or until a silver knife inserted in center of

Founder's Week Sale

Commemorating the Principles on Which A&P Was Founded

"The proprietors became fully convinced several years ago," says an advertisement published in Harper's Weekly in 1867 by the founder of A&P, "that the consumers of Tea and Coffee were paying too many and too large profits on these articles of everyday consumption, and therefore organized this Company to do away, as far as possible, with these enormous drains upon the consumers, and to supply them with these necessaries at the smallest possible price . . . We propose to do away with all these various profits . . . with the exception of a small profit to ourselves—which, on our large sales, will amply pay us."

The founder's method of direct buying and small profits to ourselves applies today, not only to tea, but to every one of the 1200 items we sell. Our policy was, is, and always will be, the elimination of unnecessary profits taken on food between the garden and the grocery shelf.

The prices listed below emphasize the result of this policy.

Lunch—Glass of orange-milk.

Dinner—*Baked ham with whole tomatoes, string beans, salad of shredded cabbage, celery and minced ripe olives, applesauce.

*Baked Ham With Whole Tomatoes: Purchase a slice of ham from the center cut, about two or three inches thick. Trim off the fat, and place in a baking dish with sufficient water to allow for an hour's baking. Have ready the whole tomatoes (by plunging into boiling water for a second the peel will easily slip off) and place them around the ham, being careful not to leave too much liquid in the pan. Return to the oven and bake about 20 minutes or until tomatoes are thoroughly done. Serve together on a platter garnished with sprigs of parsley.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

No Definite Tapeworm Symptoms

Question—Mr. Grant H. asks: "Please, what are the symptoms of tapeworm? Have a glorious appetite, but am losing weight right along."

Answer—There are not any necessarily definite clinical symptoms of tapeworm except the evidence presented by finding a piece of tapeworm in the feces. Some people with tapeworms do not have the "glorious appetite" that you describe, and even do not lose weight. Fast for a few days and take a tapeworm remedy obtainable at any drug store and you can find out very quickly whether or not if you have this trouble.

Poisonous Fumes

Question—Mrs. Irma E. J. writes: "Have been using a gasoline range for years. Will you please tell me whether the fumes are injurious."

Answer—There is always danger in using any kind of gas or gasoline fire if there is incomplete combustion and if there is not the proper vent to carry away the fumes. The disagreeable smell of gas is not necessarily poisonous, and the deadly carbon monoxide gas has no odor at all.

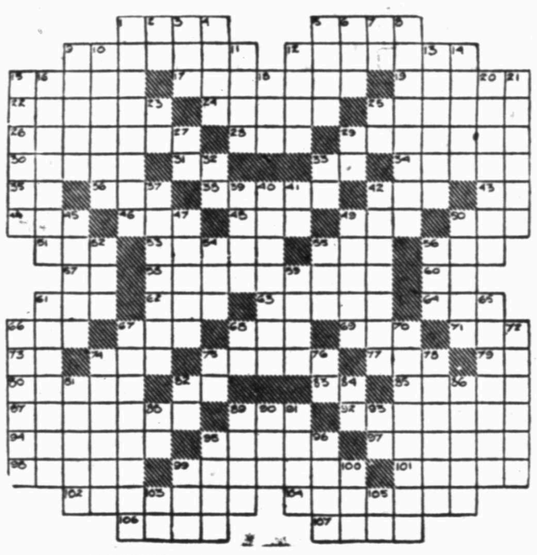

Bitterness in Mouth

Question—C. A. asks: "What is the cause of bitterness in my mouth every morning? I followed your fruit fast for three days but that didn't do me any good. Is there anything I can do for poor circulation as I am always cold? What causes burning on the tongue?"

Answer—You should have fasted longer in order to get rid of the bitterness in your mouth, which is caused by an excess of bile. The cure of poor circulation depends entirely upon increased physical exercise. The burning on your tongue is a reflex coming from a similar burning in your stomach from an excess of hydrochloric acid.

CROWELL DOWNS THALIA 26 TO 21 TO WIN FOARD TITLE

WILDCATS IN DISTRICT PLAY

Olney Opens Playoff With Win Over Murray

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Feb. 11.—Crowell High school tonight annexed the Foard county basketball championship by defeating Thalia cagers by a 26 to 21 score. The victory gives the local dribblers the right to play in the tournament next week at Childress to determine the championship of district 4.

The Crowell dribblers won the district championship last year, and hold high hopes of duplicating the performance this season. Although the locals will meet competent competition at the Childress tournament, they are given odds to assume the district crown for a second time.

Thursday night's defeat is the second administered Thalia at the hands of the Crowell basket ball crew. Monday night Crowell downed Thalia with a decisive 34 to 12 score.

Only once in cage play this year has the local quintet been defeated. On this occasion Olney laid down a barrage to take the top of a 21 to 18 score. Later, however, Crowell avenged this defeat by taking Olney to a thorough drubbing of 30 to 14.

During the first half of Thursday night's play Crowell held a decisive edge throughout. At the end of the second period the score was 21 and 3, with Thalia having failed to account for a single field goal.

In the second half the visiting cagers came back strong, but failed to overcome the early lead.

Neither team used substitutions.

CUBS OVERWHELM MURRAY QUINTET

ELIASVILLE, Texas, Feb. 11.—The Olney High school cage experts finished a preliminary drive for county championship honors here tonight by winning the first of a play-off series 20 to 6 from the Murray basketballers.

The teams will play a two-out-of-three series to determine the ownership of the Young county basket ball crown. Murray recently won the championship of the south half of Young, while Olney annexed the north half crown.

The second contest of the series will be played Friday night at Olney. In the event a third game is necessary a toss up will decide the court.

Olney dribblers held the south champions scoreless during the first quarter while the northerners were running up 10 points. In the three remaining quarters Murray in each accounted for one field goal for its total of six points.

Jimmy Payton Named Manager at Wichita

WICHITA, Feb. 11. (AP)—Jimmy Payton, former manager of the Pueblo Braves, will pilot Frank Isbell's transplanted Topeka club of the Western league here this year.

The appointment was announced today in a letter from the club owner at his home in California to local sports writers.

The Topeka club was transferred to Wichita soon after Art Griggs, manager of last year's Aviators, announced he was moving his franchise from here to Tulsa. Both changes were made as a result of unsatisfactory attendance, the managers said.

NOT SO PLEASED

HOUSTON.—Eddie B. Pierce was handed a two-year sentence for burglary. "Thank you, gentlemen," he said, sarcastically, to the jury. With which he stamped on the floor with his feet, kicked the leg of the chair in which he had been sitting, and pounded most anything in the room which came within his reach. He was quieted and taken off to start his sentence.

JACK MAULS K. O. CHRISTNER

Former Champ Scores His 26th Knockout

CLEVELAND AUDITORIUM, Cleveland, Feb. 11. (UP)—Jack Dempsey scored the 26th knockout of his exhibition tours here tonight when he stopped Meyer (K. O.) Christner, Akron, Ohio, veteran after 2 minutes, 53 seconds of the third round of a scheduled four-round exhibition bout.

A crowd of about 10,500 paid approximately $27,000 to see Dempsey floor Christner three times before he finished him with a left hook to the jaw. Dempsey weighed 195, Christner 204. Both fighters used 10-ounce gloves.

Dempsey dropped Christner with a left hook to the jaw in the first round and the battle-scarred Akron fighter was barely able to staggered to his feet at the count of nine just before the bell sounded. Christner was in bad shape, bleeding from the mouth and nose, and had to be led to his corner by one of his handlers.

Christner Badly Beaten

Christner came back courageously in the second round and actually hit the former champion with a right and left to the head. Dempsey landed few solid punches in the second round and was very tired at the bell. He wobbled slightly as he walked to his corner.

In the third round Dempsey opened a furious two-fisted attack to the head and had Christner on the floor three times.

A terrific right to the jaw upset Christner the first time. A light right glanced off Christner's jaw and tapped him on the chest, sending him down for another count of nine. Christner dropped flat on his stomach more from exhaustion than from the punch Dempsey landed.

A long, left hook put the finishing touches on Christner a few seconds later. After knocking Christner down this time, Dempsey had to walk from his own corner across the ring to Christner's corner while Referee Matt Hinkle counted out the Akron veteran.

Dempsey Tired

Dempsey's legs supported him unsteadily, and Jack actually had trouble getting across this space, about 24 feet. When he reached the corner he looked all in, tired of body, arms and legs.

The crowd booed Dempsey slightly early in the first round when he failed to charge in after Christner, but cheered wildly when he dropped his opponent the first time. The second round provided little action.

Christner who has fought most of the leading heavyweights in the past three years, including Jack Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf, Johnny Risko, Frisco Carnera and Young Stribling, absorbed one of the worst beatings of his career.

Ligosky Grooms Beard for Match

Russian George Ligosky, whiskers and all, will be in Wichita Falls again Friday night on the weekly mat card, this time to meet Paul Orth, imported from Toledo by Promoter Grovo in the hopes that Orth will be able to do what Grovo failed to do last week; that is, to beat the Russian. The war between the promoter and the Russian started two weeks ago when Grovo acted as referee of the Ligosky-Humberto match.

On the semifinal match of the card, Silent Condell, known as one of the trickiest wrestlers in the game, meets Eddie Kanthe of Kansas City. Kanthe is a stranger to Wichita Falls fans, but Promotor Grovo assures them that he is a mixer. Condell is by no means a stranger here, and has always pleased the fans.

Curly Pink, the flashy Electra middleweight, and Cyclone Clemmons will meet again this week on the preliminary in an effort to settle their draw decision of a few weeks back.

Detroit Releases to Determine Beaumont's Place in 1932 Race

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BEAUMONT, Feb. 11.—Some time the last of March we are due to read a news dispatch that Detroit is sending a number of young ball players to the Beaumont Exporters.

Then and then only will be have a definite idea of who will be who in the 1932 contest. Today, the Beaumont roster reads like the population of Evansville of the Three-I league. Of the 32 players listed, 10 are holdovers and 10 are new comers from Evansville.

Detroit always takes several Beaumont players up each year for tryouts the next spring. And always several of these players, along with others, are returned to Beaumont. So the current Beaumont playing roster, with few exceptions means names only.

Manager Del Baker usually spends a couple of weeks in the Detroit training camp getting a line on the material that will be returned to the minors.

10 Holdovers

The Beaumont roster carried 10 holdovers. In the catching department they are Manager Del Baker and Ernest Lorbeer. The pitchers are Guy Green, George Hollerson and Raymond Caraway. The infielders include Tom Holley and Nick Urban. The outfielders are Paul Easterling, Tony Boroja and Hubert Bates.

Baker plans very little active work behind the plate. Urban is in business at Enid, Okla., and has requested Beaumont to place him on the voluntary retired list. That leaves eight holdovers and Hubert Bates is unproven material, being a youngster signed off the Los Angeles sandlots. That leaves seven players who are being counted on to draw summer pay.

Lorbeer will have to improve his hitting if he ranks the first string catching job. He worked in 78 games last year, and finished with a fielding average of .973 and batted .183. George Susce from Springfield and Frank B. Reiber from Evansville, both in the Three-I league, a class B circuit, may or may not do. A proven catcher from the Detroit camp is a possibility.

The pitching corps has Guy Green, George Hollerson and Raymond Caraway. Green won seven and lost seven for an even .500 average last year. He worked in 38 games. Hollerson joined the club in mid-season, worked in 20 games, won eight and lost nine for a .471 average. Caraway did not figure in the averages.

Nine New Pitchers

Nine new pitchers are listed but all are from class D and B leagues. Of the lot, Forrest Victor Sackett looks best. Sackett was the leading pitcher of the Western association in 1930. Last year he played with Evansville and Beaumont. At Evansville he worked in 27 games, won 10 and lost six. At Beaumont he won three and lost one. He is a southpaw.

Wyatt, Marrow, Malicky, Goldstein and Hamlin, aces of the Beaumont mound staff last year, may return and again may not. These five boys won 63 and lost 41 games last year.

Tom Holley, holdover second baseman, is the only infielder who seems sure of his job. He played 151 games, batted .240 and fielded .989 last year.

Henry Greenberg will probably be at first base. He is the property of Detroit and was farmed to Evansville last year.

Ignatius Walters, first base; Herbert Rushing from Evansville, Herman Clifton from Raleigh of the Piedmont league and Lamar Newsome from Evansville, are other infield prospects.

The Exporters will need plenty of infield help from Detroit.

Paul "Pound 'Em" Easterling is a fixture in the outfield. He is a good minor league outfielder but always a failure in the big show. Paul played 148 games and batted .291 last year. He is a long distance hitter.

Tony Boroja is another holdover outfielder who seems sure of a job. He played 92 games and batted .298 last year.

Seven other outfielders are on the roster. All are up for tryouts from smaller leagues. Baker may find a regular among the bunch but it is apparent that the cargo from the Detroit camp will include among other players, outfielders.

Baker's club was not ranked as a pennant contender when the 1931 season started. It finished in a tie with Houston for the first half and played well enough to finish second the last half. But not until late in March will we know what kind of a club he plans for the race this year.

HOLE IN ONE

Crowell Champion Sinks 145-Yard Drive At Lake Springs

Special to The Record News

CROWELL, Texas, Feb. 11.—Gordon Bell, golf champion of Lake Springs Country club here, today was the first golfer to make a hole-in-one on the course.

Teeing off on the seventh hole with a No. 5 iron, Bell swung. The ball sailed the 145 yards and rolled into the cup. Crowell's sole member of the "hole-in-one club" at the time of his "initiation" into this select group was playing a foursome with M. N. Kenner, Sam Rosenthal and Guy Crews.

In addition to his prowess as a golfer, Mr. Bell several years ago was a member of Baylor university's basket ball and baseball teams.

'SPORTS NIGHT' PLANS READY

Coyote-Bomarton Clash To Feature Program

Athletic feats, both serious and otherwise, will comprise a jamboree to be presented in the Junior college auditorium and gymnasium Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock under the auspices of Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion for the benefit of the legion drum and bugle corps.

"All Sports Night" has been designated to afford the general public an evening of mixed entertainment with athletic events alone on the bill. Basket ball and volley ball will provide the occasion for team competition, and will be followed by several boxing matches, exhibitions of tumbling, and several wrestling events.

Conspicuous among the attractions secured for the evening will be the Wichita Falls Coyotes' introduction to the local fans with really stiff opposition. The Bomarton High school five, fresh from its victory over all other school teams in Baylor county, will invade the Coyote lair with sufficient strength to test the locals' mettle. While the Coyotes took a runaway victory over Henrietta, the Saturday night clash with Bomarton is expected to demand the best basket ball technique that Coach Barry Holton's charges can assemble.

Wichita Falls business men will engage the Henrietta Knights of Pythias in the evening's volley ball game. The locals have been mustered by C. C. Frazee, director of physical education at the high school and Junior college, and are prepared to give a good exhibition of the popular gymnasium sport.

Boxing, tumbling, and wrestling events also are to be in charge of Mr. Frazee. Admission for the athletic soiree is to be 25 cents, and all net proceeds will be devoted to financing the drum and bugle corps of the local legion post.

'Pop' Warner to Sign Contract at Stamford

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 11. (US)—All reports that Glenn "Pop" Warner, noted football coach, might accept an eastern college berth, were apparently set at rest tonight when he announced he would be "most happy" to sign a new five-year contract with Stanford.

GOLF TOURNEY TO DRAW 200

Committees Named For Team Contests Here

Foundation plans for holding one of the major invitation golf tournaments in this section were formed Thursday afternoon in a committee meeting at the Junior chamber of commerce offices. H. G. Hughey Jr., chairman of the club tournament committee, was in charge of the meeting and named subcommittees to handle various details of organization.

Play in May or June

The committee agreed to hold the tournament at the Municipal club course. Definite dates will be set at a later date in order to avoid any conflict, although the tourney will be held either in May or June, Mr. Hughey said. The committee plans to include all towns in the Wichita Falls area with expectation of bringing 200 golf players to the city.

The subcommittee in charge of invitations includes W. B. Featherston and Pat Lambert. Each town in the area will be invited to send a four-man team to compete for the grand prize, a large silver loving cup. Orion Daniel was named to arrange prizes for individual team members to be awarded on a basis of medal score for winners in four flights.

Morris Norton and Paul Landes were named as members of the rules and arrangements subcommittee and W. F. Boling and Ed Fizer were placed in charge of the publicity subcommittee for radio and other special advertisements of the tournament.

Entertainment Planned

A full program of entertainment of visiting team members and visitors is planned with details to be completed later. The entertainment phase will include a banquet, dance and similar social gatherings. The reception and convention and the entertainment committees of the Junior chamber will work with the tournament group in staging entertainment.

The committee will meet at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Feb. 18, for a more detailed discussion of arrangements after the organization session this week. Pat Lambert has been added to the committee membership, Mr. Hughey announced. Members present Thursday were Mr. Hughey, Mr. Lambert, Paul Landes, W. B. Featherston, Morris Norton, Ed Fizer, W. F. Boling and O. M. Daniel.

RAIN DELAYS OLYMPIC RUNS

Lake Placid Course in Poor Shape for Finals

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 11. (AP)—Just when things were running smoothly, controversies and argument forgotten, and bobs were staying on the back-breaking curves of the Mt. Van Hoevenberg slide, along came rain to disrupt the 1932 winter Olympics today as the games were in sight of the finish line.

The sudden softening of the atmosphere, a steady fall of rain that slowed at times to a drizzle, started early today and within a few hours had washed so much snow from the rockety bobsled run that the first two of the four heats for the four-man championship were postponed until Friday.

The slide, slick and slippery, and sheer ice, was nothing more today than an invitation to commit suicide.

Unless the weather stiffens suddenly, however, the 1932 games may wind up in a jam of final events and a wild scramble to reach decisions on the five finals that must be cleaned up in the last two days.

Paced by the defending champion, Johann Grottumsbraaten, Norway captured the first four places in the combined 18 kilometers ski run and ski jump today and advanced into second place in the unofficial point standing.

Although shut out in this event, the United States continued to lead in the unofficial point totals with 76. Norway, however, had displaced Canada in second place, 49 points to 36.

Back of these leaders trailed Sweden with 24; Austria 15; Finland 10; Switzerland 5; Germany 4; Rumania 3; Italy 1; Belgium 1; Czecho-Slovakia 1.

GIRLS BASKET BALL

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Feb. 11.—Loveland teams met Consolidated No. 1 basketeers Friday night on the No. 1 court, the Loveland girls losing their first game of the season to No. 1, and the boys winning a 36 to 20 victory over the No. 1 lads.

The girls' score was 20 to 15, and came from a hard played game. A tie of 8 and 8 was the result at the end of the first half. The game placed Consolidated No. 1, Loveland and Consolidated No. 2 girls' teams on equal footing in the county conference.

Thompson for Loveland boys, led his mates with a total of 17 points.

JUST A DUB

But Golf Crowd Follows Huey Long at Big Tournament

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11. (AP)—Playing a dub's game in the very best tradition, Senator Huey P. Long, stole the spotlight from a score of the nation's golf stars today in a pro-amateur event at the Metairie Golf club that was played as a preliminary to the $5,000 open tournament starting there tomorrow.

The stars went almost unnoticed as the gallery of cash customers, newspaper reporters and photographers trailed behind the big boss of Louisiana politics to see him shoot a neat brace of 64's for an 18-hole total of 128 which qualified him for the booby prize, had there been one.

Long paired in the pro-amateur with Walter Hagen, old master of the clubs, against Seymour Weiss, lately a colonel on Long's gubernatorial staff, and Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist. It was a best ball affair, and Long and Hagen defeated their opponents 4 and 2.

TIGERS—CATS CLASH TONIGHT

Basket Ball Title at Stake In Electra Game

ELECTRA, Texas, Feb. 11.—Two Wichita county titles will be at stake Friday night at the Electra High school gymnasium when the Cashion Cats tangle with the Electra Tigers and the Clara volley ball girls clash with the Electra Tigerettes. The games are expected to be battles from start to finish, and the teams that emerge victorious will have to play better than they have ever played. The games played between these teams Wednesday night to determine the basket ball tournament winners and the volley ball round robin victors indicated that thrills galore would be given fans Friday night.

The Electra Tigers, by defeating the Cats Wednesday, were declared winners in the county tournament, but the Cats won the round robin league, making a playoff necessary.

Electra's hopes for the county championship will probably be entrusted to the lineup used by Coach E. M. Tampke Wednesday night: Parr and Smith, forwards; Keltz, center; McDannald and Cloninger, guards. Coach Hanks of the Cats has splendid material in Rutledge and Crowe at forwards; Swinford, center; N. Neely and D. Negly, guards.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 11. (AP) A somewhat irregular opening was followed by increased activity and an advance of more than $1 a bale in cotton today. Buying evidently was stimulated by a belief that the proposed emergency banking legislation in Washington would have favorable reactions on the commodity markets.

Strength in the stock market encouraged this view. May contracts sold up from 6.63 to 6.86 or 23 points net higher.

Pre-holiday realizing developed in the late trading, however, and there were partial reactions with May closing at 6.77. The final tone of the market was barely steady at net advances of 14@17 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points.

Buying increased after the opening on the Washington news and the strength in the stock market.

The support became less active as prices worked higher, but offerings were light during the early afternoon, with the advance extending from 6.44 to 6.66 for March and from 7.02 to 7.25 for October or about 20 to 24 points net higher.

At these figures the market met more active selling and closing quotations showed reactions of 7 or 8 points from the best.

Aside from the Washington news which appeared to be regarded as pointing to the probability of an expansion of currency and credit with favorable effects upon general business and commodity values, no particular news factor was mentioned in connection with the advance. The New York cotton exchange service estimates domestic consumption for January at 440,000 bales against 416,000 in December and 450,000 in January last year. Exports today 27,455 making 5,390,276 so far this season. Port receipts 63,175. U. S. port stock 4,817,702.

Futures closed barely steady, 14 to 17 points higher. Spot steady; middling 6.70.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11. (AP)—Cotton was decidedly more active in today's trading and prices moved upward in sympathy with a sharp advance in stocks which induced trade buying and shorts covering. Following an irregular opening prices turned firm with stocks and kept on the upgrade until advances of 19 to 20 points, or a dollar a bale were shown in the afternoon. There was a reaction of 6 points in the final trading owing to some pre-holiday liquidation in the northern market and the close was steady showing net gains for the day of 13 to 16 points.

The market opened somewhat irregular. Liverpool cables came in about as due to 1 penny point worse than due.

British board of trade returns for January were considered bullish, exports of yarns totaled 16,000,000 pounds as against 11,000,000 for the corresponding month last year. Exports of cotton cloths totaled 180,000,000 square yards against 156,000,000 last year.

The market made new highs for the day in the afternoon with March at 6.67, May at 6.85 and July at 7.01. March closed at 6.61 and July closed at 6.95, or 13 points net higher.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 2 to 3 penny points up on New Orleans.

Port receipts 63,175; for week 216,890; for season 7,957,625; last season 7,766,277; exports 24,455; for week 168,961; for season 5,285,363; last season 4,572,431; port stock 4,875,535. Last year 4,159,766. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 176,789; last year 68,462. Spot sales at southern markets 25,624; last year holiday.

Slump of Market Turned to Sudden Activity With Heartening Reports

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Speculators for the decline on the stock exchange were thrown into a panic today by the very live specter of "inflation."

Washington's disclosure that the "base of federal reserve credit" will be widened emphasized what this column originally and since repeatedly suggested: Distinct probability of some degree of "inflation" regardless of its official characterization.

Stock quotations jumped in spectacular fashion, it being very evident at the same time that those issues which have been harboring the most extensive short accounts were quickest to respond and showed the greatest net appreciation.

The "technical position" of the market had been built into rally-possibilities for several days.

All other developments of the day, domestic and foreign, were insignificant compared with the very evident determination of the Washington administration to carry through the most forward action in its program for revival. Net gains ranging up to 15 points were scored in stocks, while volume swelled above two and one-half million shares. What proportion of this represented short-covering can only be conjectured.

To the market's close, great confusion reigned as to the true proposals involved in the latest effort to legislate the nation out of depression. Early morning advices that billions of dollars additional currency will be made available, if necessary, and that various now non-eligible paper will be made eligible, startled the market.

Speculative enthusiasm was fired from the opening and as the possibilities of a "wild inflation" gained circulation, the bear ranks were completely routed and a mad rush ensued to cover short commitments. No other explanation is logical for the market's behavior.

At the same time, even conservative interests were quick to admit that a program of "widening the reserve system's eligibility base" immediately holds possibilities of expanding credit and currency.

How far this movement might carry no one can forsee; the most profound argument against its being carried to excesses being the character of leadership in the reserve system at present. The lessons of the past, however, remain vividly in mind. The present action seems dictated by a policy of "anything but further deflation."

Under the circumstances, it was little surprising that the entire market boomed on the hope for relief from the dismal deflation of the past few years.

There can be no dispute with the assertion that passage of the proposed amendments to the federal reserve will lift pressure from the markets, regardless of the long-term prospects.

The banking fraternity cautiously ratified the proposed changes in the banking law, but whether this was a reflection of their own condition, or of genuine satisfaction with the amendments remains to be proven.

Even bonds participated in the "inflation" boom, but it was noticeable that the lowest type issues were most favored. Government issues remained firm.

Commodities participated in the upturn, though less enthusiastically than stocks. Wheat was up a cent a bushel, corn about the same, while cotton improved almost $1 a bale; even sugar and rubber enjoyed moderate recoveries. Any genuine inflation must find repercussion in commodities.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—Stirred by credit expansion moves at Washington and by a Canadian cold wave suggesting damage to domestic winter wheat, all grains soared today.

Despite profit taking on price bulges, reactions from advances were brief and the entire list of cereals ended at almost the day's top level. A big outburst of buying took place at the opening and bullish sentiment continued to dominate, notwithstanding doubts in some quarters as to ultimate results in view of premiums already existing in this country's wheat prices compared with Liverpool and Winnipeg.

Wheat closed firm, 1⅛@1⅝c above yesterday's finish, corn 1⅛@1½c up, oats ¾@1c advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 5@20 cents.

Corn and oats responded to the same factors that inspired buoyancy of wheat. Despite upturns of prices rural offerings of corn to arrive were not materially augmented.

Provisions advanced sharply with hog values and with grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 58¼c, 60⅝@¾c; July 59@59¼c, 61⅝@¾c; Sept. 60⅝c, 63¼c. Corn, May 39⅛c, 40⅝@¾c; July 41¼c, 42⅞c; Sept. 43¾c offers.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (US)—Inasmuch as credit conditions and financial surroundings have been an important factor in depressing wheat prices and preventing advances, the change in the financial outlook today was looked upon as distinctly bullish. More than this, the possibility of inflation was naturally expected to increase commodity prices.

Continental wheat markets continue strong. Reports from abroad state that while stocks there are diminishing the millers show no anxiety over future commitments because of the plentiful supply of wheat in leading export countries. However, reports of crop damage in the United States are being closely watched, it is said.

Siebel C. Harris, of Scott, Burrows & Christie, says: "It is our belief that today's advance in wheat was based almost completely on an improvement in economic surroundings. Evidently a determined effort is starting, sponsored by political and financial interests, to improve business psychology throughout the country. It would appear that it is to be bolstered up by financial measures which will add to the credit base and in that manner support a mildly inflationary policy. If accompanied by a better consumptive demand from abroad, which appears to be developing, this would provide a sound basis for an advance in prices. It would probably be accentuated by crop scares during the March-April period."

GASOLINE RUNS NOT CHANGED

Demand for Refined Products in Sick Condition

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 11.—Refiners of the Mid-Continent province during the week of Feb. 6 reduced crude oil runs to stills, but increased the charging of other oils and the result showed virtually the same amount of gasoline produced in the five states.

There Is Always a Reason Behind Steady Patronage of Our Classified Columns

ONE sale of a Classified Ad may just happen, but if the patron who placed this Classified Ad happens to get GOOD RESULTS from it, he will naturally have enough confidence to come back and try the same thing over again, and if he gets results again, the Classified Ad Habit will naturally grow on this patron. It is entirely possible that a total stranger to him may have answered his ad both times. This patron then decides to make a STEADY, REGULAR, month-in-and-month-out patronage of the Classified Columns of these TWO newspapers, because he could always happen to find something he could advertise in our Classified Columns, and would always be assured of one thing and that would be—SATISFACTION.

In looking back over the PAST this patron has found where he has made a big mistake, by not making use of these columns, but has fully made up his mind NOW to make steady use of them, in the future that lies before him. He NOW realizes that these columns will help his business to grow. YOU can follow in his footsteps. BEGIN TODAY.

Two and one-half tablespoonfuls butter.
Two and one-half tablespoonfuls flour.
Few grains cayenne.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
One-half cup liquor from mushrooms.
One-half cup chicken stock.
Two tablespoonfuls thinly sliced stuffed olives.

Cook mushrooms in the butter 10 minutes. Add flour, salt and cayenne, and blend well. Add liquids and cook until thick. When ready to serve add olives.

Rose Salad

Cut a solid tomato so that it will make five rounded inner and outer petals. Fill center with tomato pulp, celery and nuts or any macedoine of vegetables and garnish with egg yolks which have been put through a sieve. Place a spray of rose leaves on a salad plate and arrange rose on it. (The mayonnaise should be mixed with the filling.)

Spiced Prunes

Twelve to 15 large prunes.
One cupful sugar.
One-half cupful water.
One-half cupful vinegar.
One scant teaspoonful ginger root.
One teaspoonful whole cloves.
One stick cinnamon about 3 inches long.

Wash prunes, cover with cold water and let stand over night. Cook over hot water until tender and do not sweeten. Allow to cool in their own juice. Make syrup of the half cup of water, vinegar, sugar and spices by boiling together five minutes. Drain prunes well, put them in glass jar. Pour hot syrup over them, cover closely and let stand three weeks.

Pouring of concrete on new foundations and dismantling of the steel grandstand at Call field were nearing completion Thursday evening as work progressed on the new athletic stadium now under construction between Van Buren street and Sunset drive.

Dismantling of the grandstand is about 85 per cent complete, it was announced Thursday by those in charge of the work. Transfer of parts to the site of the new concrete foundations will be ready early next week so that erection of the stand on its new location may be started.

Work on the project is being done by men furnished by the community chest and family relief association offices. Heads of families now dependent upon those agencies are being given the opportunity to work in exchange for the supplies received.

want to fall in love again, or to hear anything about love for that matter.

Then she got to thinking about the times that she and Bruce had sat together on the lake front while the waves splashed lazily around the breakwater. There they had sat planning their future, building great dream houses, that were never to crumble. They were going to have so much faith in each other, trust each other through everything.

What a laugh that was. She wondered whether he thought she was to go on trusting him when he came up and took Arlene out in her place. She supposed his idea of keeping faith was to go out with a girl and tell her the things that he had told Arlene.

The tears began welling in her eyes again so that she could not see the paper in front of her. Hurriedly she wiped them away and proceeded with grim determination to master her shorthand. Still she could not help giving a little start each time the buzzer rang on her switchboard. Each one might be Bruce. Bruce asking her to forgive him; Bruce saying that he was sorry, he was wrong. He wanted her back. Bruce saying that he would not accept the ring, that it was hers forever. That he would be there waiting for her when she came out of the office tonight.

How well she knew that she would forgive everything. It would only take an instant. All would be forgotten. Gladly. She wondered why she could not keep her mind on her business career. That was what she wanted, she told herself over and over. But her heart would not listen to it.

It was 4 o'clock when Bruce called her. She remembered because the afternoon had seemed to drag so relentlessly that she had watched the clock almost constantly.

His voice was low and husky. "Hello, Lois?"

Lois felt her throat catch. She tried to say "yes," but she couldn't. There was something in her throat that would not let her speak.

Bruce asked again, "Is this Lois?"

Then when Lois felt that she had command of her voice she was afraid to answer him. Afraid to hear what she was sure he was going to say. She was seized with an impulsive longing to pull out the cord and not answer him, should he call again.

Marionettes Draw Big Crowds Here

Playing before an audience of more than 500 persons, Tony Sarg presented his marionettes in "The Rose and the Ring," by Thackeray, at the Junior college auditorium Thursday night.

The story was a fairy tale of the magic ring and the magic rose. Whoever possessed one of the magic objects became beautiful to all. Many humorous and embarrassing situations resulted from the constant shifting of the ring from one character to another, but everything worked out in order and all were happy in the end, as in all fairy tales.

The audience drifted into a fairyland of pigmies as the play progressed, but they were brought back to earth when one of the artists stepped upon the tiny stage in the last scene.

Approximately 1,800 persons were entertained Thursday afternoon at a students matinee, when "Alice in Wonderland" was presented.

The marionettes were here under the auspices of the high school and college public speaking department. Proceeds from the productions will help defray expenses in the annual district interscholastic league events to begin in April.

HORN FAILS TO FIND ATHEISM

Evidence of Teachings Is Lacking Prexy Says

LUBBOCK Texas, Feb. 11. (AP)—"I have been absolutely unable to find any evidence of the teaching of atheism by anybody in Texas Technological college," Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the institution, announced Thursday at the conclusion of conferences held between himself and Rev. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

The conferences, held Wednesday and Thursday, came as the aftermath to charges voiced here last Sunday night by Mr. Campbell from his pulpit in the First Baptist church, when he said that a department head and a group of professors associated with him are guilty "of teaching atheism and infidelity."

Made Statement

At the conclusion of the conferences, which the college president characterized as "entirely amicable," Doctor Horn released a formal statement and he and Reverend Campbell released a joint statement to the public. The statements, however, did not write finis to the discussion, the college president stating that the matter would further be placed before the college board of regents in regular session the latter part of this month.

"If the matter goes no further, good will come of it," Reverend Campbell said Thursday afternoon. He made no other statement and immediately prepared to leave the city for El Paso where he is to preach in the First Baptist church Sunday.

Horn Explains

"It is to be regretted that it is not possible for a state school to discuss all points of the Christian doctrine in a manner to be acceptable to all the citizens of the state," Dr. Horn said.

"When different denominations and different branches of the same denominations differ as widely as they do, it would not be possible for anybody to discuss doctrinal matters in a manner satisfactory to the views of all the different denominations in the state. It cannot be done and it should not be tried.

"The charge of atheism is preferred against one faculty member and one only," President Horn declared. "The charge is based upon remarks said to have been made by this man at a meeting of a certain club of adults, mostly faculty members, in a discussion of the plans and purposes of the Soviet Russia. It is not even alleged that these remarks were made in the schoolroom or in the presence of any student. Even in this case, the accused man claims that his remarks were wholly misunderstood and were not of the nature charged."

Gobs Given Too Much Clothing, It Is Agreed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The house naval committee today agreed with Secretary Adams that too many clothes are being given navy enlisted men.

It approved a bill to let the navy department head decide how much equipment should be given to recruits.

Under the law, each one must be given $100 worth of equipment when he enlists. Secretary Adams decided something should be done about this requirement, since a complete outfit cost only $98.27.

He estimates the measure will save the government $24,071 in the 1933 fiscal year.

retinue rolled into a square hedged with interested thousands. Carabineers in dark uniforms rode on either side. The road between the Palazzo Venezia and St. Peter's was a carpet of orange sand newly laid. From curb to house front, the people stood and watched. A fine rain was falling.

Vatican Aflutter

Word of the start produced a small panic at the vatican where preparations were proceeding in expectation of an arrival at the stroke of 11. But when Mussolini drove up the Swiss guards in their gold red and blue uniforms, colors of the holy Roman empire, were drawn up waiting for him. In place of halbreds were rifles with fixed bayonets, a special tribute to the visitor. In the square a vatican band played "Giovenezza," the Fascisti national anthem, for the first time.

In the courtyard of San Damassa, the slightly bald Monsignor Comillo Dominioni, head of the papal household, greeted the visitor warmly and with guards ahead and guards behind they ascended the wide marble stairs leading to the Sala Clementine, the vast frescoed hall where the pope usually holds public audience. Monsignor Arborio Mella and other members of the pontifical household came forward to greet Mussoljni.

Examines Tapestries

The premier paused to stroke and examine at close range the tapestries that adorn the walls of the room. He raised his hand in the Fascist salute to a group of Italian newspaper men.

His eyes ran swiftly about the room, taking in details, noting with smiling satisfaction the arrangements that had been made for his reception.

Then placing his left hand on his short sword, he indicated that he was ready to accompany Dominioni. The premier strode along smartly. They walked through 10 high-ceilinged, marble rooms, hung with the priceless creations of artists who for generations have labored for the holy fathers.

Dominioni threw open the door and presented the premier. Mussolini stood for a moment rigid, then, as his guide withdrew, knelt and kissed the papal "fisherman's ring."

One hour and five minutes later Mussolini returned. The members of his party, the flower of the Fascisti regime were pleased to see him. For an hour they had been fidgeting and whispering uncomfortably in the room of the famous frescoes. The delighted smile of their leader was compensation.

Police Chief Sends $25 And Letter to Captors Of Burglar

A check for $25 accompanied by a letter of commendation for their action in capturing a burglar Wednesday morning was placed in the mails Thursday by Police Chief Dick Morris for Keith and Herman Porterfield. The letter said in part, "the enclosed check will serve in a small way to express the appreciation of the police department for the able assistance given in aiding to rid the city of burglars."

The Porterfield boys tackled and held Fred Patterson, negro, early Wednesday after he was seen leaving a grocery store with loot which was recovered.

VALLEY NEEDS AID OF ALL

Greever Urges County To Back Development

Members of the Rotary club present Thursday noon at the weekly luncheon heard B. B. Greever, president of the Wichita Valley Development association, in a plea for unselfishness and active cooperation of Wichita county's entire citizenship in effecting the settlement of the irrigated valley by two or three thousand families upon small farms.

Speculation in Wichita valley land must be forgotten in a drive to bring about its division into tracts of 40 or 50 acres each, Mr. Greever said, and the establishment of families upon those tracts. Tax problems with which the county and its cities now are faced will be solved by the cultivation of the irrigated district as a small-town fruit and vegetable producing center, the speaker said.

Charles W. Beavers was voted an honorary membership, and expressed his appreciation of that honor.

Dance numbers by Miss Mary Helen and J. B. Broughton Jr., accompanied by Miss Mildred Anderson, comprised the program of entertainment given Thursday.

Secretary Tom B. Smock spoke briefly in behalf of an improved attendance at weekly meetings.

Committee to Help Farmers Secure Loans

Details of committee organization to receive applications for loans of $3 an acre to farmers to make crops in 1932 are expected to be worked out in the near future. Announcement that the U. S. department of agriculture had authorized the loans under the recent $500,000,000 reconstruction appropriation of which $50,000,000 was for loans to farmers, was made Thursday in a telegram from Congressman Guinn Williams received by Leslie Humphrey.

The loans will be available where no fertilizer is used and will be secured by chattel mortgages on crops.

AUCTION SALE AT 11 TODAY

Livestock Exchange Proves Aid to Farmers

With an indicated increase in response, the second semimonthly livestock exchange and auction sale will open at 11 o'clock Friday morning at Call field. The first sale held two weeks ago, resulted in an attendance of more than 500 persons and was regarded as an affirmative answer to the question of an existing need for the exchange.

A wide range of livestock will be offered with dairy cows in the majority, according to G. C. McGown, county agent. Items listed early for the auction include a typewriter, diamond ring, various types of hogs, pigs farm implements, mules and similar items for farm use.

The sale is sponsored by the Wichita Valley Development association as one of the major projects in aiding farmers of this section. Sponsors see in the exchange a growing enterprise that bids fair to become an institution for farmers of Wichita and neighboring counties. Adjacent counties were represented at the initial auction and are expected to return Friday accompanied by their friends.

J. R. Ray will again act as auctioneer with Roy King as clerk. Increased attendance and interest in the exchange is expected to lead to the development of a livestock market in Wichita Falls.

Parker Bankruptcy Hearing Set Feb. 19

Judge William H. Atwell, federal district judge in Dallas, will hear on Feb. 19 a petition asking that the voluntary bankruptcy petition filed about three weeks ago by James E. Parker, local oil man, be denied.

Upon the application of Mrs. LaVina Parker, wife of Mr. Parker, a receiver for all of his property was appointed last month by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court.
