Mrs. Lucy Green County Pioneer, Dies Saturday

Mrs. Lucy McDowell Green, 87, of Wellington, a member of a prominent pioneer ranching and banking family, died at 10:58 p.m. Saturday, March 14, in Collingsworth General Hospital.

She was one of 5 generations of her family to carry on ranching operations in this county. Her grandparents and parents, the J.H. McDowells and D.D. McDowells, originally from South Carolina, arrived here in 1889 from Fannin County, one year before the county was organized. Her daughter and grandson carry on the tradition, as do other members of the McDowell family.

Her grandfather J.H. McDowell, was a member of the county's first commissioner's court.

Mrs. Green was born near Buck Creek on October 12, 1893, the oldest child of the late D.D. and Mae Smith McDowell. Her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Add Smith, were likewise among the earliest of this county's settlers, coming in 1890 from Missouri.

D.D. McDowell filed on land south of Wellington on the County line, paying $1 per acre at 2% interest. In 1897, he sold this land and the family lived in Moore County 18 months before returning to Collingsworth. He acquired land on Salt Fork and from this he continued to expand his holdings. Later he entered banking and was president of Wellington State Bank 18 years.

With this as her background, Mrs. Green grew up watching the county as it quickly expanded and changed.

Mrs. Green received her education in the Wellington Schools. She and George Green were married December 21, 1911, in Wellington.

They first lived at Dodson, then in Wichita Falls which was their home for many years. In 1943 they returned to the family ranch. Following Mr. Green's death September 28, --See LUCY GREEN, page 2

Larry Jones Crusade Set For April 7-12

Evangelist Larry Jones and his crusade team will conduct an interdenominational revival in Wellington Tuesday, April 7 through Sunday, April 12.

Services will be held each night in the high school auditorium.

Accompanying Jones will be the Royalheirs, a popular gospel quartet and Wanda Jackson, former country/western singing star.

Community churches and crusade committees are finalizing plans for the week-long revival.

The crusade is sponsored by the local Ministerial Alliance.

Crusade chairman is Dale Morris and assistant chairmen are Harold Wayne Moore and Henry Wells.

Raquel Neeley, third from left at back, was named Little Miss Wellington Thursday, March 12. Kimberlee Henard, 1980 Little Miss Wellington is second from left at back. Around them are runners-up in this year's contest, clockwise from lower left, D'Nae Keller, Marcy Massey, Tina Hunter and Tammy Thomas.

Lions Sponsor National White Cane Day Saturday

Those who are concerned with the eye problems of Wellington's needy children will have an opportunity to make a donation as the Lions Club sponsors White Cane Day on Saturday, March 21.

Candy Reyes, chairman, said that members of the club will be in the business area of town to receive voluntary contributions for this program. There will be no solicitation, but donations in any amount will be appreciated, he said.

Each contributor will receive a miniature white cane.

This comes near the end of National White Cane Week March 14 through 22.

All money that is received Saturday will go into the Lions Club fund to provide eye glasses for needy Wellington children, said Lion Johnny Nash.

"Eye problems of a needy child usually have reached such a serious stage before we find out about them that the required glasses are expensive," said Nash. "Usually if you buy one set of glasses they can be as high as $150." This pinpoints the need for donations to the White Cane Fund.

Lions Club concern for eye and vision problems is known nationally. Clubs throughout the country have this as a joint program. Other fund drives during the year go for a variety of other vision-related projects, but for the Wellington Lions Club, White Cane Day is to raise funds for glasses for Wellington's needy children.

Spelling Winners Named

Margie Ingram, a 13-year-old eighth grade student in Wellington Junior High, won the Collingsworth County spelling Bee Thursday, March 12, while Wesley Reeves was winner of the Junior Spelling Bee held at the same time.

Margie will be the county's representative in the Regional Spelling Bee at Amarillo April 25. Wesley will be invited to attend the annual luncheon for senior and junior county winners held in conjunction with the regional bee, but he will not complete in a spelling event.

The runner up in the senior division was Jerry Kidd, 13, seventh grade student in Samnorwood School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Kidd of Shamrock.

Junior spelling bee runner up was Toni Bell, 10, a fourth grader in Samnorwood School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andy Bell who live northwest of Quail.

Property Owners Must Apply for Exemptions

Collingsworth County property owners must apply for homestead exemptions and ag use valuations by April 30, John Duncan, chief appraiser for the Collingsworth Central Appraisal District, said this week.

Duncan said that for the first time, taxpayers in Collingsworth County may apply for all applicable homestead exemptions or productivity valuation on their agricultural land at one time by contacting the appraisal district office on the second floor of the courthouse.

Taxing jurisdictions in the county are voluntarily participating in early implementation of the countywide appraisal office. Beginning next year, countywide appraisal will be mandated by law for all of the state's 254 counties.

Duncan said taxpayers previously had to file their property rendition statements and exemption applications with each jurisdiction which levied an ad valorem tax on their property. And if they thought the property was valued too high, a separate appearance was required before each jurisdiction's board of equalization.

"Under the countywide appraisal district, not only can applications be made at one place, but a single appeal of the property valuation can be made," the chief appraiser added.

The following types of exemptions are available to property owners in Collingsworth County:

--General Homestead. Those persons qualifying for a residence homestead are entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes. An additional $3,000 county homestead exemption from assessed value is available against the portion of the county tax rate for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

--Persons 65 or older. Elderly citizens are entitled to an additional $10,000 exemption off the market value of their residence homestead for school taxes. And, while an elderly citizen's property may increase in value through the years, the school taxes owed in any one year on the house and yard cannot be greater than the amount owed in 1979, or in the first year the property owner qualified for the exemption, whichever is later. An annual application to the appraisal office is required.

By local option, the City of Wellington and Collingsworth County offer additional exemptions to elderly homeowners. The City exemption is $7,500 and the County exemption is $10,000 of market value of the residential homestead.

--Disability Exemption. Citizens who are totally disabled and qualify for the residence homestead exemption are entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 off the market value of their residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only. A property owner may not receive both this disability exemption and the $10,000 exemption for the elderly.

--Disabled Veteran or qualifying Survivor. Certain disabled veterans or their survivors may be entitled to an exemption ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 from the assessed value of any property they own. The amount depends on the

Rain Up to Inch Falls Over County

Rain that fell Friday night and Saturday, March 13 and 14, measured approximately an inch over much of the county, but this was followed on Tuesday by high winds and sand. With the wind came a power outage that left approximately 130 Wellington families without electricity Tuesday evening.

Greatest benefit from the moisture was to the wheat crop, which owners in some areas described as dry almost to the damage point.

Early this week, however, it was green and described as "beautiful" and "real good."

The official measurement in Wellington was 1.05 inches, a similar amount was received in much of the area around town. From one to four miles south of town, .80 was measured, and there were a few reports southeast of Wellington of around half an inch.

Approximately an inch-ranging from .80 to 1.24 was reported through the Dodson area.

Quail was another of the areas to receive around one-half inch, but four miles farther west the rainfall measured .70. From .50 to .70 was reported from the Marella section.

In the northwest part of the county, in the Abra area, almost an inch of rain fell Friday night and Saturday.

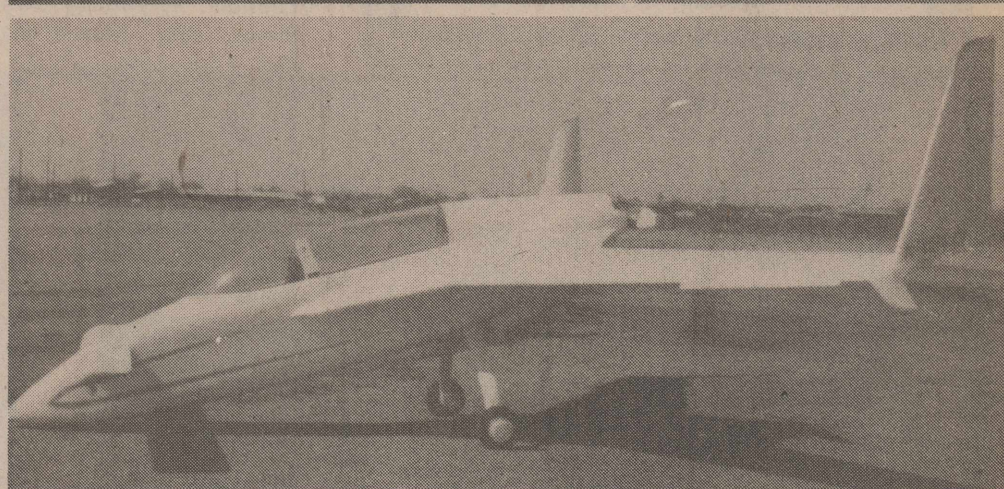

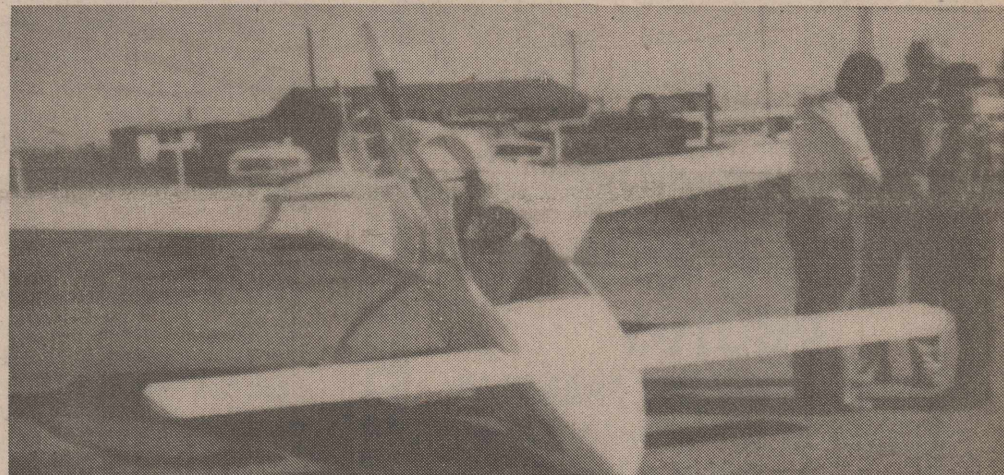

Wheat which was beginning to turn yellow, was reported green again early this week.

Wind and sand blew in about noon Tuesday and continued through the afternoon and into the night.

At 5 p.m. wind caused a West Texas Utility Co. primary power line carrying 7200 volts of electricity to pull out insulators on its pole and drop onto lines carrying 110 and 240 volts into buildings throughout the southeast part of Wellington, according to Tommy Hudson, manager for West Texas Utilities Co.

Power went off in an area from Childress Street east to include the Robert Owens Addition at the southeast edge of Wellington and from

NEW IN THE AIR

Above are two views of the tiny airplane that Phillip Riddle of Edmond, Oklahoma flew here recently, using only 3 gallons of gas each direction. The nose is raised by hand before takeoff, and the engine is hand-cranked. The upper picture was made by Mrs. Sam Adams, the one below by Jack Sanford.

Is It a Bird? A Plane? Or a Big Mosquito?

Go from Wellington to Oklahoma City on three gallons of gas?

You Bet!

By airplane?

Of course.

At 180 mph?

That's right!

Phillip Riddle, 32-year-old pilot from Edmond, just outside Oklahoma City, flew in recently for lunch with his mother, Mrs. Sam Adams and Mr. Adams. He visited for a while, explained his tiny craft to a group that gathered at Marian Airport, then flew home (on three gallons of gas) to report to work at 4 p.m.

Riddle owns and pilots one of the tiny planes with a 10-foot fuselage and with swept wing design. It is just 8 feet long and with the plastic cover raised, the plane was waist high to some of those standing around it.

"When the plane is in the air, it looks like Phillip is flying backward," says Adams.

The "tail" is located up front, and the propeller is at the back.

The engine is hand-cranked.

Body construction is of fiberglass and the plane is so streamlined that it offers little wind resistance.

Although a number of these tiny crafts have been designed or built, they are far from being a common sight around airports. Most are hand-built.

Riddle bought his two-passenger plane from the widow of the builder, who did not wish to keep it.

He did not consider himself an experienced pilot at that time and he admits to being "scared to death" when he test flew it. There was no problem in takeoff, the flight was excellent and Riddle landed without incident.

The gas consumption has been carefully checked and the three gallons required to fly from Wellington to Oklahoma City is accurate. So is the cruising speed of up to 180 miles per hour.

Riddle plans to return to Wellington within a short time and more area flying enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see for themselves this tiny new craft.

Satellite Workshop Moves To New, Larger Location

With March designated as Retarded Citizens Month, the Wellington Satellite work center is preparing to move into its new location, the former club house at the old city-owned Green Acres Golf Course in the Marian Airport area, according to Cheryl Brown, director.

The building is provided by the city rent free, and roof repairs and other work put in good condition.

Land immediately surrounding this building will enable the center clients to put in a driving range for those who wish to practice their golf strokes, said Mrs. Brown.

This work will be done along with the assistance of the center's advisory board and with the newly formed Collingsworth Retarded Citizens association.

Proceeds from the driving range will go to help bare the expenses of the center's operation. Additional plans will be announced.

Even though this will be a new project for the clients, they will continue with contract projects through the Amarillo State Center for Human Development which enables each client to earn money for himself, the first that most have ever earned.

One of these is a wire-stripping by which copper wire from Lancer Mobile Homes is picked up by the Amarillo Center, routed to Wellington, stripped by the center clients, returned to Amarillo and sold back to Lancer, explained Mrs. Brown.

Destruction of the Lancer plant by fire interrupted this work, but it will be resumed with the opening of the new Lancer plant in Childress.

The Wellington group also has made head tags for Swift Packing Plant in Amarillo; cut out aprons for slaughter houses, packaged pole sockets and shower rod end, which they seal in plastic. Most of this is piece work, it was explained.

The Wellington clients also has assembled the Amarillo Junior League Cook Book, issued last year.

On the local level, the clients have cleaned brick and assembled irrigation wheels.

When the Texas Education Agency mandated that students in the various centers over the state who are of school age must receive formal classwork, Kay Meade was hired as an instructor, teaching basic math and English, working with the clients on their needs so that they can function in the community.

Recreation is included in their program including trips and outings, the special olympics at which Wellington contentants have been winners.

The Wellington Center, opened in 1968. It is one of 9 satellite sheltered workshops that are a part of the Amarillo State Center for Human Resources, which in itself was a pilot project in the field of mental health and mental retardation in Texas.

Members of the advisory board working with the center are Mrs. Ernest Harwell, president; Dr. Bill Estes, Mrs. Lynn Wright, Tom Wilkins, Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Jim Forrester, Mrs. Pauline Masten, Mrs. Bill Beall, Mrs. Charlene Potteet and Mrs. B.M. Sims.

Board members of the American Retarded Citizens include Bonnie Hall, president; Mrs. Murray Dodson, vice president; Mrs. Harwell, treasurer; Ms. Carolyn Thomas, secretary; Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Meade and Mrs. Adam Sosa.

percentage of service-connected disability.

This exemption may be applied against the value of any one property owned on January 1 of the year in which the application is made. The disabled veteran must be a Texas resident and complete an annual application at the appraisal district office. Only one property may receive the exemption, and VA or armed forces documents verifying disability are required.

Land which is being utilized for agricultural purposes may be eligible for tax relief. Qualified landowners hold the option of having an agricultural or open-space land valuation applied to their property. Details on what types of land may be taxed on productivity rather than market value are available from the appraisal office.

The chief appraiser added that a comprehensive 12-page pamphlet, entitled, 'Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities,' is available at the appraisal district. Information contained in the pamphlet is applicable to property taxes which are collected by all levels of local government including counties, cities, and school districts.

He said the publication was developed by the State Property Tax Board in accordance with the Property Tax Code which was passed by the 66th Legislature in 1979.

Location of the primary trouble was at a junction pole in the alley between the Dan Langford home on Amarillo Street and Thomas Nursing Center.

Both Collingsworth General Hospital and Thomas Nursing Center were affected by the outage, however power was restored to the hospital within approximately 15 minutes, Hudson said.

Homes in the Owens Addition were without electricity for approximately one-half hour, but farther to the west, some WTU customers had no power for up to three hours.

Altogether, Hudson estimated that approximately 130 homes were affected.

Damage to appliances was also reported by a number of these customers, and Hudson said WTU employees were working through Wednesday to determine the extent of these losses.

Agriculture Day to Honor Texas March 19

AUSTIN--"March 19, 1981 will be Texas Agriculture Day, part of a national observance celebrating the nation's #1 industry," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced recently. "It is an appropriate time for all Texans to recognize the importance of agricultural industry to the state."

"Our farmers today can feed themselves and an average of 68 other persons," said Brown. "They have always provided thousands of us at home and millions throughout the world with an abundance of high-quality food and fiber, despite traditional problems of inflation, pests and bad weather."

"Yet it's because of his courage, ingenuity, and determination that America is the world's biggest producer of food and fiber," noted Brown. "Agriculture Day will serve to celebrate this fact."

Governor William P.

Clements has signed a proclamation for the state, and Congress passed a resolution for the observance. This year's theme on March 19, 1981, is "Agriculture-It's your heartbeat, Texas." "The observance will help us promote a better understanding and appreciation of agriculture in Texas," Brown said.

Agriculture Day in America goes back several years ago. It was designed to recognize American agriculture as the most efficient in the world. The industry has tripled its productivity in the past two decades and it has been so successful that other countries depend on U.S. agriculture to meet their own needs.

"Certainly, no other country in the world can come close to American agriculture in terms of productivity, variety and quality," said Brown. "And we are truly blessed to live in this 'land of plenty,' where we spend less of our dollars for a greater variety of quality food than any other country in the world."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin with Venise lace, dotted with seed pearls. The bodice was designed with Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves, pointed over the hands and featuring lace insets. The floor-length skirt was scalloped at the edge and back fullness swept to a chapel train.

Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a lace caplet accented with seed pearls to the full length of the train. She carried a bouquet of silk baby blue roses, small white flowers, sprigs of ivy and baby's breath, tied with silk streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Toni Isaacs of Wellington, while the bridesmaids were Mini Barry, Pam Landru, Lisa Coelho and Nancy Young, sister of the bridegroom, all of Rockdale.

They wore identical dresses of baby blue chiffon, designed with rounded necklines and short, split sleeves accented with bows at the shoulder. Floor length skirts were pleated with

Growing Old Studied By Lydia UMW Group

The Lydia Group of United Methodist Women met Monday, March 16, with Mrs. J.A. Graham as hostess.

Mrs. Chester Fires presented the program on "Growing Old (It Ain't So Bad)." She pointed out that the purpose was to help women, young and old, to see life as a whole. Each age level is a frontier with its own opportunities, problems and joys.

"To clear up wrong ideas about aging," Mrs. Fires added, "Life is a gift from God. Its goodness does not center in the innocence of childhood, the freshness of youth, the strength of maturity nor the wisdom of age. The gladness of life lies in its very wholeness, she continued.

"It is hard to believe that a loving God would tack on to the end of life a period that is an anticlimax and a meaningless struggle.

"No period is without its difficulties, but none is without joy. Age can include increased understanding, increased appreciation of the simple things of life and a sense of fulfillment," Mrs. Fires concluded.

Mrs. E.F. Bartlett presided at the meeting and Mrs. Bob Hightower led the opening prayer.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. L.B. Bratten, Mrs. A.V. Lowrie, Mrs. R.R. Crawley, Mrs. Fires, Mrs. Hightower and the hostess, Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Myrtle Hill Chosen NRTA Teacher for March

Mrs. Charley Hill, whose career included teaching in a one-room school as well as in the largest rural high school district in the United States (in area) is the March Teacher of the Month, honored by Collingsworth County Unit of National Retired Teachers Association.

Mrs. Hill, whose career spanned 41 years, did all her teaching in two counties, Wheeler and Collingsworth. She tells the story of her years in the school room:

The former Myrtle Keesee, I was born in Protom, Missouri, October 6, 1899. While still an infant, wrapped in blankets, my family made the long tiresome journey from Missouri to Western Oklahoma. At that time I was the seventh child of a family which grew in number to fourteen. In addition, we had two half sisters and two half brothers.

My first school was at Madge, Oklahoma, with all grades being taught by one teacher. But I must give thanks and credit to my parents for their help. They insisted we bring our books home for their help. I received most of my education in the Oklahoma Schools. Then in 1917, we moved to Wheeler County and my last year in high school was at Wheeler.

From early childhood I had a longing to become a teacher.

In 1918, I attended West Texas Normal School at Canyon for the summer term. Being eager to try my luck at teaching, I didn't finish the year required for a teaching certificate but instead I took the state examination and received a four year certificate.

When I opened the envelope and saw the certificate, I almost cried with joy that my dreams had come true.

I began my teaching career in November 1918 at Locust Grove near Wheeler. It was a two teacher school and I taught the primary grades and had a good year.

Due to the fact I had to teach brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews, my father and I decided it would be better for me to get another school.

This time it was another two teacher school at Center also near Wheeler.

In 1920 we moved to Collingsworth County. Not wanting to be away from my family, I began teaching at Elm Valley, northeast of Wellington and now in the Samnorwood District.

This time I was on my own, with a roomful of children, all sizes and 7 grades to be taught.

The people must have been satisfied for I returned for a second term.

My next school was China Grove. Again a small school but all grades to be taught.

In 1924 I was married to the late Charley Hill and we moved to the Needwood community. After our marriage I taught two years at Needwood. Then the time came when I had to quit teaching or return to college for more work. I decided to stay at home and be a housewife.

After being out seven years, I still had a desire to return to the teaching profession.

In 1933 I returned to West Texas State College to complete the work I needed for a certificate. I began teaching at Needwood as principal in 1933, with Virginia Robey as primary teacher. I taught at Needwood 15 years.

So many people were moving away the enrollment had dropped to 6 pupils. I resigned and joined the Samnorwood faculty as fifth grade teacher, the place I held 18 years, the time for my retirement.

I love children and greatly enjoyed the 41 years I spent teaching. I always encouraged them to do their best work, to continue in a school and always to seek higher goals in life.

All the time I was teaching I did correspondence work, attended classes in summer terms at WTSU and in 1950 I received my B.S. degree in Elementary Education.

In 1955 I was initiated into Delta Kappa Gamma an honor society for women teachers. At different times I served as vice president and secretary.

I am a member of the local, state and National Retired Association and helped to organize our local unit. I served as the local unit president in 1972-73 and 1973-74.

For several years I was a member of the 1924 Study Club and served as secretary.

I am now a member of Friends of the Library and Lille Extension Homemakers Club.

I am an active member in the Church of Christ and for several years taught Sunday

Election in July

"The real election is coming up in July," Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker (R-Tenn.) told a group of weekly and small daily newspaper editors and publishers last week in Washington.

"That's when we're going to find out if the public does support the spending cuts."

Baker styled the political activity in Washington this spring "the most spectacular changes in federal government since the first year of FDR's presidency."

"The FY'82 budget (which begins this coming) October) will be cut by about $50 billion by the Reagan proposals, and 83 programs will be affected directly. But the federal budget will still be up from this year. All we're trying to do is slow down the rate of growth in the budget," Baker said.

Ronald Reagan made the same point with the editors: "We've talked so much about cuts that we haven't made it clear that even if all of our programs pass, the federal budget will still increase next year."

Baker predicted passage of the dollar total figure for the budget at "breakneck" speed in the Senate. Baker expects the Budget Committee's report to come to the Senate on March 20 and expects to pass the committee report a week later.
In that Budget Committee report will be instructions to the various Senate committees on how much they can spend in FY'82. Then the various Committees will begin looking for programs to cut.
The House will follow a similar process.

And when the specifics begin to find their way out to the public, the various special interests will have to decide whether to support all of the cuts or to pull out the stops to try to keep their own program from being cut.

That's what Senator Baker meant when he said that the real election will be in July.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The mood in the Legislature was definitely strained behind the scenes
as House members quietly jockeyed for position before last Friday's deadline to file bills.

Meanwhile, in floor action the House gave final approval to a bill to provide for disposal and regulation of low-level radioactive waste, and to a measure preventing state employees
from automatically deducting union dues and charitable contributions from their paychecks.

The Senate sent to the House an anti-crime bill designed to tighten the state's shock-probation law, closing a loophole that allows certain individuals to escape punishment for serious crimes. The bill by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, was prompted by the early release from prison of a Houston judge serving eight years
for a $59,000 bribe conviction.

Split Primary Bill

The bitterly contested presidential primary bill
which drove the "Killer Bees" into hiding last session was introduced again last week by Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston.

Ogg's measure would establish a Texas presidential primary in March, but state and local candidates would still be nominated in party primaries held traditionally in May.

The measure has the backing of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, but is opposed by both Republican and Democratic state executive committees.
Supporters feel the bill will staunch the drain of conservative Democrats into the Republican party. Opponents feel it subverts political party integrity, besides forcing the taxpayers to foot the cost of an additional election.

Higher Education Fund

For years the University of Texas and Texas A&M
systems have flourished
while other state universities
went begging, because UT and A&M had access to the proceeds from state oil lands
(the Permanent University Fund). UT and A&M loyalists in the Legislature fought successfully for years to keep other lawmakers from putting their fingers in the lucrative pie.

To bring an end to the fighting, a constitutional amendment has been filed

by State Rep. Don Rains,
D-San Marcos, and Sen.
Pete Snelson, D-Midland, to provide extra funds for all state universities and colleges in Texas.

The bill would create the Higher Education Permanent Fund (HEPF) for all 17
state universities and colleges currently underfunded.
And to give something to UT and A&M, the bill increases the amount of bond money both systems can obtain from the Permanent University Fund (PUF). It also spreads PUF money to all components of the UT and A&M systems, not just the Austin and College Station campuses.

The HEP Fund (because those 17 colleges need all the "hep" they can get, according to Rains) would be funded by a three-cent ad
valorem property tax.

Last session the Legislature tried to weaken the 10-cent ad valorem tax in the Constitution, but a Midwestern State University lawsuit is expected to reverse
those efforts. The Rains-Snelson bill would reduce the ten-cent tax to three cents per $100 valuation.

Farmworkers Bill

Perhaps the most potentially explosive issue in rural areas is the farmworkers'
union bill, and for the past two sessions that bill has rotted in agriculture subcommittees.

Last week the urban chairman of the Employment Practices Committee allowed a new hearing, but left its future again in doubt.

Laborers on Texas farms
and ranches want the right to bargain collectively and strike, and Texas farmers and ranchers already hit by depressed economics are adamant against paying higher labor wages.

Chairman Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, told the mostly Hispanic farmworkers their bill needs a lot of work before it reaches the floor for a vote.

Gasohol, Fuel Tax

Production of gasohol in Texas, believed to be a way
to lower motor fuel prices,
may ironically arrive at the time with an increase in the state motor fuels tax.

The top three heavyweights, Gov. Bill Clements, Hobby, and House Speaker
Bill Clayton, have indicated

they support a penny-per-gallon tax increase to fund
state highway construction and maintenance. The current nickel-per-gallon tax, paid at the service station
pump, is the lowest motor fuels tax in the nation.

Ironically, leading gasohol proponent Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, wants gasohol exempted from the tax altogether. The price difference would boost incentive to produce alcohol fuel
from agricultural products grown in this state.

Medical Practices Act

Sparks continue to fly between organizations representing the medical profession and those connected with consumer groups. Reason for the sparring is Senate Bill 315 by Sen. John Wilson of La Grange.

The newly-organized Health Freedom Council has issued news releases implying that passage of Wilson's Medical Practices Act would prevent the purchase of overthe-counter vitamins, cough syrups and other non-prescription items.

Officials of the Texas Medical Association say such a conclusion is totally false.

One of Wilson's legislative aides said Council officials keep talking about the definition of requirements for practicing medicine, the language of which has been Texas law for over 50 years.

capitol comments

Teachers will be interested to know the Education Committee passed out their appropriation recommendation to the Appropriation Committee. Here are their recommendations. This does not include the built in step increase. For pay grades seven, eight and nine -- 8.5 percent increase the 1st year and 6.8 percent the 2nd year. This would give between 26 - 27 percent increase for the two-year period when the step increase is considered. For pay grades 1 - 6 and 10 - 18, a 6.8 percent increase per year. With the step increases added, this would mean about a 25 percent increase over the two-year period. Keep in mind this is not final, only a figure for the consideration of the Appropriation Committee
and the House to start the debate.

In my opinion, passing an additional bill for insurance benefits will be tough sledding. The reason???
Many teachers are now insured under their regular family plan. Since one cannot collect double benefits, much of the cost of providing an insurance program would be a big subsidy to the insurance companies. Many legislators feel any thing to be considered for insurance would be better spent on salary increases.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

A bill was passed in both Houses this week that will cut out many of the abuses that have been in existence for the past several years in the area of unemployment insurance. Many people have been abusing the system and this causes the employers insurance to be hiked. This bill will be a much-needed improvement.
UNION DUES CHECKOFF

On Wednesday, the House passed Senate Bill
No. 118 which will prohibit any state agency from making a dues checkoff for any union or association dues. There are about 4,500
State employees that are AFL-CIO members.

PRISON

APPROPRIATIONS

The House passed a bill
today that appropriated $35 million for the purpose of building additional prisons.
Governor Clements vetoed
this legislation last year.
The liberal members of the House chided the Governor
for vetoing the same legislation two years ago when the request was for $24 million to build the same system.

THOMAS' ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes
Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON--Here
is how area senators were recorded on major roll call votes the week of March 9-13. There were no closely contested votes in the House.

OIL PRICE CONTROLS--
The Senate rejected, 24 for and 68 against, an amendment to restore government controls on the prices of crude oil, gasoline and propane. The ceilings were to be lifted Sept. 30, 1981, but President Reagan, in late January, removed them eight months early by executive order. The amendment sought a return to the September deadline.
The vote came during debate on an energy bill (S 573) on which final action was deferred.

Senators voting "yea"
wanted to reimpose oil price controls.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D,
and John Tower, R, voted
"nay."

CREDIT CHARGES--By a vote of 41 for a 56 against,
the Senate refused to allow business to charge extra for purchases made with credit cards in order to recover the fees charged to merchants
by credit card companies.
Rejection of the amendment
left intact a three-year
extension of the rule prohibiting surcharges on credit purchases. S 414, later passed and sent to conference with the House,
also permits unlimited

discounts to cash customers.
Senators voting "yea"
favored allowing the extra charges.

Bentsen voted "yea."
Tower voted "nay."

FEDERAL PAY--In four record votes, the Senate
said it was against 16.8 percent pay hikes for members of Congress; top congressional staffers; certain judicial branch employees, and a category
consisting of the vice-president, Cabinet officers, and high-level civil servants.
The votes were cosmetic because the proposed increases were scheduled to die anyway on March 16. In a non-record vote, the House earlier took a symbolic stand against federal pay hikes.

FROM HIS WORD...

Romans the 6th chapter, verse 4 states that "We have been buried with Him through baptism into death, in order that as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so we too might walk in newness of life." Verses 6 thru 7, and verse 11 say: "Knowing this, that our old self was crucified with Him that our body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin; for he who has died is freed from sin...Even so consider yourselves to be dead to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus."

As you read these words of God think about the fact that these are not promises that are to come in the future, but they are in fact directions for victory in Jesus today. Anything less than a total commitment to Christ only causes problems for the believer as was noted in Revelation 3:15-22. If we cannot fool the man on the street with our half-hearted commitment to Christ, then consider well Gal. 6:7:
"Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, this he will also reap."

Students High in Canadian Meet

Wellington students, from second through 12th grades, participated in a practice UIL literary events competition in Canadian Saturday, March 14.

On the High School level, Valerie Van Pelt placed first in poetry reading and Verita Simon second in prose reading. Leigh Myrick was a first-time competitor in prose reading and Rodney Nash attended as an observer in the poetry interpretation category.

Prose reading contestants gave three selections during the three-round preliminaries. In the semi-finals, they drew for one of their three selections to give a second time. In the finals, each student chose a selection to present, explained Gay McAlister, director of the Wellington group. Verita gave an adapted selection of Joel Chandler Harris' "The Tar Baby." Valerie gave "Michael and Rosie."

In the business subjects competition, Maria Langford placed first in shorthand, scoring 99 percent, while Valerie Van Pelt was second with 98.75 percent. Twenty-eight competed. Forty-seven participated in the typing contest. Rhonda Gollighugh placed fifth with a 134-plus score; Renee Daniel, eighth with 124-plus; and Camille Smith, 10th with 121-plus. Mrs. Rubye Hodges was the instructor for Valerie, Maria and Rhonda; Mrs. Linda Brewer for Renee and Camille.

Parallel Petroleum Operations Begin

Parallel Petroleum Corporation, Midland, Texas-based oil and gas exploration and operating C Company, is commencing its planned operational activities, according to Frank S. Delay, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, Larry Oldham formerly of Samnorwood, is treasurer.

Parallel is the operator in two joint ventures which the Company structured. Together they comprise a total of seven prospects containing 7,400 acres in West Texas. The first seven wells, budgeted at $2,225,000, will be drilled by Parallel by the end of the first quarter of 1981.

Additionally, Parallel has committed to nonoperating participation in seven Texas prospects, providing a planned balance of risk in 14 initial wells during the first quarter of 1981.

Delay stated that Parallel plans to inventory undeveloped prospects, place them in operated joint ventures and administer drilling activities on a nearly continuous basis. In this regard, Delay stated that the Company will review prospects generated by others and intends to be staffed to generate prospects internally.

Delay indicated further that, although the Company is in the development stage, it intends to diversify in an orderly manner into other aspects of the oil and gas industry, including drilling.

On November 30, 1980, the Company's unaudited financial statement reflected working capital of $3,515,000, no long term debt, and shareholders' equity of $3,590,000. Authorized equity is comprised of 100,000,000 common and 20,000,000 preferred shares, of which 37,500,000 common shares are issued and outstanding.

Parallel became a publicly-owned company in November, 1980, with the issuance of 15,000,000 of its common shares and elors degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma State University.

3,000,000 of its warrants to purchase an additional 3,000,000 common shares. The common shares and warrants were issued as units, each consisting of 10 common shares and two warrants, at an offering price of $2.00 per unit.

ARM Wogathon Set in April

Wellington area residents will be asked this year to take part in the American Rehabilitation Ministries (ARM) Wogathon, which helps support local jail ministry in Wellington, Bob Odle, minister of First Christian church has announced.

It will be held Saturday, April 25, and those taking part will attempt to walk or jog to Pioneer Park, a distance of 6.2 miles from the starting point, said Odle.

"The purpose is to raise money to buy Bibles and material for each inmate in the city, county, state or federal prisons and to provide them with tracts and literature. This is a non-denominational enterprise."

Wellington residents will be asked to sponsor the walkers or joggers for $3.75 per mile. This is the cost of placing a Bible in a prison cell, Odle said.

This year ARM is giving an attractive T shirt to all who are sponsored for $10 per mile or more.

"As jail chaplain I would like to ask that all interested people, organizations and churches in the area to contact me so that we may raise money to support this ministry that has been active in the county jail the last two months," Odle declared.

"ARM has provided around $80 worth of materials and supplies already for jail ministry at no cost to us. This is one of the many services they provide to all jails and jail ministries throughout the United States," said Odle.

Part of the money goes to support ARM's national ministries. He explained why: Many of the inmates in the Collingsworth County jail will not remain in Wellington. They will go to other institutions throughout the US and wherever they go they will be served by the American Rehabilitation Ministries.

Additional information will be announced later.

DITTO AND TORO

When Dr. J. Frank Johnson acquired a new wire-haired puppy a short time ago, he was identical in appearance to Dr. Johnson's last dog. No name was appropriate except Ditto. Like his predecessor, Ditto has made friends among the cattle at Dr. Johnson's ranch, but the favorite among them all is this young bull, Toro. "He even seems to encourage Ditto to play on his back," Dr. Johnson comments.

Early Work on Individual WHS Class Reunions Urged

Any groups planning class reunions to be held at the time of the Wellington Ex-Students Reunion on August 1 should make plans within the next month or two and get their reunion information to Vickie Mayhugh Porter, she said this week.

"We need to know who is having class reunions," she emphasized.

Those in charge of the class events should contact her at Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc.

Mrs. Porter, the reunion secretary, also asked that anyone who has the addresses of ex-students they believe the association may not know should contact her also.

Class reunions are usually held at 5 or 10 year intervals, or they are held every year, but this is not an association requirement. Graduates of any year may plan and carry out their reunion, although it will be held as a part of the general reunion.

This year's golden anniversary class is that of 1931 which was one of the larger graduating classes Wellington High School has had.

Ex-student volunteers who are working to update names and present addresses, or the names of deceased members, include:

Wellington Butane Sold To Ralph Owens

The sale of Wellington Butane to Ralph Owens Butane was announced this week by the owners of the two businesses, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Derryberry and Ralph Owens.

The consolidated operation will be at the Owens location.

At the same time, Derryberry stated that he is retaining ownership of the building and that he will continue his motorcycle business, which he has operated at the butane company location for the last 10 years.

The Derryberrys have operated Wellington Butane for 28 years, and have extended its operation beyond the county boundaries.

In assuring customers of Wellington Butane that the same fine service to which they are accustomed will be continued, Owens announced that a long-time employee of that business, Sid Jackson has been added to the staff of Ralph Owens Butane.
