President Truman Asks Jap Civilians To Evacuate

Nagasaki Is Covered By Smoke, Dust

(By The Associated Press)

GUAM, Friday, Aug. 10—Smoke and dust completely covered Nagasaki and rose to 10,000 feet three and one-half hours after Thursday's atomic bombing of that Japanese seaport.

General Spaatz, chief of the U. S. Strategic Air forces, made this brief announcement after viewing reconnaissance photographs from the second use of the fantastic atomic bomb against the enemy. He said scattered fires were visible outside the smoke-obscured area.

CHURCHES MAKE REQUEST

SEATTLE, Aug. 9 (AP)—The executive committee of Seattle's Council of Churches and Christian Education called upon President Truman today to "discontinue the use of atomic bombs for a time really adequate for the ruling powers of Japan to consider and accept any reasonable terms of surrender."

Japs Absolutely Silent

There was no further word on the undoubtedly awesome fate that struck the western Kyushu city of 253,000 population.

The Japanese themselves were absolutely silent about results of the noon bombing, in which it was possible that more than one of the lethal packages was dropped.

Earlier General Spaatz' headquarters had announced that results were "good."

Pamphlets Dropped

Tokyo radio, which admitted that the initial atomic bombing Monday of Hiroshima had destroyed "practically every living thing," let hour after hour pass without comment about Nagasaki.

The Japanese people were told, however, in millions of B-29 scattered pamphlets that "the awful fact (of the atomic bomb) is one for you to ponder and we solemnly assure you it is grimly accurate."

Awaits Photographic Evidence

Spaatz awaited photographic evidence before making any further announcement on the Nagasaki attack. His communique said that it was "the second use of the atomic bomb" but did not make clear whether one, or more than one, of the terrible instruments of destruction had been dropped.

One bomb, photographic evidence has disclosed, obliterated 60 per cent of Hiroshima and spread damage beyond that central area. Tokyo reported that uncounted thousands of the city's 343,000 people were killed.

Nagasaki, chosen as the second target, is an industrial center and important port on the supply route through Korea to Manchuria, reported under invasion by Russia.

The bombing was from a high-flying mission, which sent the "good results" report by radio to Spaatz' headquarters.

Retaliation Is Threat Of Japs

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 10. (AP)—The Japanese-controlled Singapore radio, boasting of Japan's atomic "researches," sought to imply today that the Japanese have a weapon like the atomic bomb and said Japan would "use it to the utmost against United States military personnel." The broadcast was monitored by the BBC.

The broadcast was not clear as to the exact nature of the purported weapon but said "Japan is fully aware of the true aspects of atomic energy" and "the Anglo-United States nations . . . must have drawn on the result of Japanese researches."

Civilians To Escape It

"America has asked for it, now she will get it," said the English-language broadcast, beamed to Europe.

But the broadcast said Japan would not use its weapon against civilians.

"It can be stated immediately and in definite terms that Japan does not intend to employ it after the pattern of American capital in the deliberate massacre of innocent civilians," the radio said. "But Japan is fully determined to use it to the utmost against United States military personnel.

Would Sink Naval Craft

"An Anglo-American invasion fleet of warships and transports could be kamikazed by our suicide planes loaded with fixed atomic detonators.

"If that were done hundreds upon hundreds of naval craft and thousands upon thousands of United States military personnel would be sent to the bottom of the sea."

Threatening retaliation "in kind" for the atomic bombing of the Japanese homeland, the broadcast asserted:

"Suppose Japan decides to retaliation in kind and also employs weapons like the atomic bomb. That may happen and Japan will

President Calls For Ending WPB Controls As Soon As Possible

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Truman today called for removal of wartime production controls as soon as possible to speed development of a healthy national peacetime economy.

He made it clear at the same time, however, that the time has not yet come when American business can be freed of all restrictions.

In a letter to Chairman J. A. Krug of the War Production board, Mr. Truman outlined a five-point program for orderly reconversion of industry from munitions to consumers goods manufacture. This was its theme:

"Every opportunity must be given to private business to exercise its ingenuity and forcefulness in speeding resumption of civilian production, subject to war needs."

Must Continue Measures

But he said that in order to achieve unprecedented civilian production it is necessary that WPB "continue for the present some of the effective measures it adopted to achieve unprecedented war production."

This point had a direct bearing on a current sharp dispute between WPB and the Office of Price administration as to whether controls on materials may be lifted when the latter agency feels they must be retained to help control the cost of living.

Must Continue Allocation

While the President said clearly that controls should be lifted "as soon as they are no longer needed," he added that there must be continued allocation of scarce materials when this is necessary to provide low-priced products "essential to the continued success of the stabilization program."

Since this apparently leaves it up to WPB determination of when a material no longer is in scarce supply, it seemed to give that agency an advantage in the wrangle with OPA. However, the OPA could point to Mr. Truman's emphasis on the stabilization program as supporting its cost-of-living stand.

Confers With Krug, Bowles

Krug and Price Administrator Chester Bowles conferred together with Mr. Truman shortly before the President released his letter to the WPB chief. Presumably they discussed their differences, which arose when WPB proposed to ease controls on clothing production and OPA objected.

The President, in his letter, told Krug that WPB should play an important role in reconversion. He urged that the WPB staff stay on the job because "their work is not yet done."

In a statement later, Krug said WPB would "stay on the job as long as there is any need for its services."

Thirty-Five Are Reported Killed In Train Wreck

(By The Associated Press)

MICHIGAN, N. D., Aug. 9.—The Grand Forks Herald said that up to 35 persons were reported killed and between 50 and 100 injured tonight when the west bound Pullman section of the Great Northern railway's coast train, The Empire Builder, crashed into the coach section here early tonight.

The Herald said the first section, developing a hot box, had made an unscheduled stop here, remaining on the main track. An effort to flag down the second section failed and the train plummeted into the first section.

KILLED IN OBSERVATION CAR

MICHIGAN, N. D., Aug. 9 (AP) — From 25 to 40 persons were killed in the observation car of the first section of the Great Northern railway's Empire Builder when the second section crashed into it here tonight.

Russell Dushinske, editor of the Devil's Lake, N. D., Journal who was at the scene said that many bodies, mostly service men, were visible in the car which was half telescoped and raised onto the top of the locomotive of the second train.

Dushinske said Great Northern railroad officials estimated the bodies could not be removed for another 12 hours as the mass of twisted steel must be cut apart with acetylene torches.

Impact Was Terrific

The impact was terrific, shaking many houses in this small community, and at once the word spread that brought many local residents to the scene.

They immediately set about removing the victims and sent out a call for help.

Order Reversed For Day

Normally, the Pullman section of the train precedes the coach section, but today the order was reversed and the packed coach train had gone on ahead.

C. W. Moore, advertising manager for the road at St. Paul said there was no definite estimate of casualties yet available.

Moore said the first section was made up of coaches. Of its 11 cars, eight were movable, Moore said. The second section, Pullmans, also consisted of 11 cars, of which ten could be moved, Moore said the trains were proceeding west at the time of the collision.

Were To Be Consolidated

Moore said the 18 cars were to be consolidated into a single train which was to resume its trip west at 10:30 p. m. The two trains left Chicago at 11:15 p. m. cwt, Wednesday and the Twin Cities today at 9 a. m. cwt.

Moore said first information from the road's transportation department indicated the first section had been stopped for a block signal when the second struck it. Both trains were made up of all-steel equipment, he said, adding that the four cars not movable had probably been telescoped by the impact.

Study To Be Made On Reduction Of Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that the War department will check over the Pacific war situation to see if atomic bombing and Russia's entry will permit another cut in the size of the Army.

But the possibilities of both those new elements "had been in our minds for many months," the secretary added. He said the test must be the number of men "which we belive may be needed for the complete defeat of Japan with the least possible loss of American lives."

Knudsen Says War To Be Over In September

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 9. (AP)—Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen told reporters today they could expect the end of the Japanese war in September.

The resigned director of the U. S. Army production program made the statement when asked how soon American automobiles would be in production. He said cars would be available shortly after the end of the war.

Witness Creates Furore At Trial

PARIS, Aug. 9. (AP) — Shouting that 'millions of Frenchmen think this trial is a political mistake," a defense witness at Marshall Petain's trial for treason today caused a near riot in the courtroom at the Palace of Justice.

The witness was Charles Donatti, former municipal administrator under Petain's Vichy government.

He was called on the 16th day of the aged marshal's trial, after Joseph Darnand, once known as the "Heinrich Himmler of France," testified that Petain had reproached him only once for his activities.

Brands Telegram Story False

Donatti had been summoned chiefly to add his testimony to that of other defense witnesses that Petain never sent a much-discussed telegram to Adolf Hitler congratulating the Germans on repelling the British commando attack at Dieppe.

Donatti said Petain had told him the telegram story was a "falsehood manufactured by the garbage, (Fernand) de Brinon" (former Vichy representative to the German occupation army).

Storm Of Protest Arises

Donatti then asked the court's permission to make a statement. It was granted, and he began with the assertion the trial was a "political mistake." A storm of protest from the audience. Jury members leaped to their feet and shouted. Prosecutor Andre Mornet, when his voice could be heard, said cuttingly to Donatti, "you have presided over political meetings, but this is not one of them."

One juryman asked for arrest of the witness. Mornet cited a law under which Donatti could be arrested for contempt.

Ordered Witness Removed

Judge Paul Mongibeaux, however, merely ordered the witness taken away. The judge had been responsible for summoning Darnand and de Brinon, two of the men who are accused of responsibility for the worst acts of the Vichy regime.

Darnand, who organized and led the dreaded Vichy militia gestapo, was not asked about its activities.

August 21 Set As Date Of Special School Bond Vote

THE Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district in special session last night voted unanimously to call a special election on Tuesday, August 21, at which time qualified voters of the 100-square mile district will ballot upon a proposal to issue $1,500,000 in bonds to be used in district-wide construction program.

Petitions calling for the election already circulated and have been signed by several hundred qualified voters within the 10-mile square district centering at the Lubbock county courthouse. Election orders will be posted in accordance with law today or tomorrow.

Broad Program Offered

Included in the expansion program, necessitated by continued growth of the school population, are:

A new ward school building in the southeast area adjoining the city limits;

Two new junior high buildings, one located in extreme southwest Lubbock, the other in south central Lubbock;

Additions to Lubbock Senior High; McWhorter ward school; Guadalupe ward school for Mexicans, and Dunbar school for negroes;

Remodeling of the present Junior High building to permit use of the north wing for a separate ward school;

Installation of modern cafeteria

Winnie Garner Given 50 Years

A 99th district court jury Thursday afternoon found Winnie McKeever Garner, 18, guilty of murder with malice and assessed an imprisonment term of 50 years. She was formally sentenced by Judge G. V. Pardue.

In fixing punishment it lessened severity of a defense-state agreement that the state would recommend a life sentence in return for a guilty plea.

The jury, of which T. E. Buckner, Lubbock banker, was foreman, reported at 2:25 o'clock. It had been asked to find Miss Garner guilty and assess her punishment at not less than two years nor more than life.

Defense Motion Overruled

From the remainder of the special venire, a jury was selected for trial of the murder case of Jessie Mae Stimson, a negro woman who is accused of having fatally slashed a 14-year-old negro boy.

Attorney Grady West filed a motion for continuance. Judge Pardue overruled the motion.

The case proceeded under a defense stipulation the woman would be pleaded guilty in return for a state recommendation of a 10-year penitentiary sentence.

Guilty Plea Withdrawn

But after the state had sent several witnesses to the stand and had introduced the woman's signed statement of confession, the defense placed the accused on the stand, asked how old she was, and adduced the answer she is only 17. If she were 17 she would be a juvenile and, as such, outside criminal procedure.

Judge Pardue informed counsel that he would have to withdraw a plea of guilty and that a plea of innocence would be substituted. Then the jury would have to pass, not merely on the term of years as punishment as had been predicated, but would have to judge the facts of evidence and find whether the woman was 17 or 18 years old.

The Stimson trial will be continued at this morning's session. Her jury is composed of F. J. Whittle, C. B. Hardin, S. O. Adamson, J. A. Burch, C. E. Hunt, R. E. Myers, R. D. Sherrod, A. R. Lee, Jess Koger, jr., Raymond Hitt, L. C. Pruitt and C. J. Hallmark.

Russians Drive Fourteen Miles Into Manchuria

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Friday, Aug. 10 — A hard-striking Red army stabbed into enemy-held Manchuria yesterday, registering initial gains of up to 14 miles in what appeared to be a mighty Soviet drive to cut off Japanese armies in the north.

Apparently the Russians were driving into Manchuria from three sides.

Engaged In Giant Pincers

(The broadcast Moscow communique as recorded in London indicated the Red armies were engaging in a giant pincers action as they knifed into Manchuria.

(The broadcast bulletin reported the capture of Jin-Jin Sume, which maps in London showed to be an airport town 33 miles inside Manchuria from the border of outer Mongolia, on the Western prong of the pincers.)

COUNTERATTACK REPORTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP) — A BBC broadcast monitored by NBC quoted the Tokyo radio tonight as saying that Japanese forces are counter-attacking the Russians in Manchuria, the enemy announcement did not say exactly where the purported counterattack took place.

Cross Two Rivers

The Red army crossed the great Amur and Assuri rivers on the eastern sector of their new battle-front.

Front dispatches suggested that the Soviet troops had already seized numerous lines of communications leading into enemy territory. They were employing tanks, cavalry, and waves of infantry as they launched their assault.

Following the pattern of all their offensives, the Russians stunned the Japs with massed artillery backed up by strong mortar, tank and infantry operations.

Ports Are Bombed

While the land armies were pressing into Japanese-held positions the Soviet air force bombed the ports of Seishin and Rashin on the Japanese sea, apparently with the intent of interrupting communications between Japan and the northern Manchurian armies.

Initial dispatches gave no indications of losses on either side. The advises reported strong resistance in some places, while in others like the Lake Bor area near Outer Mongolia the Japanese offered no strong opposition.

No hint was given of who was commanding the Red armies in their turn against the Japanese, but it appeared that a very large force had been unleashed for the offensive.

U. S. Planes Join Chinese Forces

CHUNGKING, Aug. 9 (AP)—U. S. planes and Chinese paratroops —striking as long as a month ago in foreknowledge of Russia's plunge against the Japanese—already have "seriously interferred" with the movement of enemy forces northward in China toward the now-flaming Manchurian front, Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer asserted today.

The U. S. 14th air force for a month has been hammering at Japanese withdrawal routes from south-central China, the general commanding American forces in China declared.

Stage Surprise Attack

Chinese parachute forces achieved complete surprise in a dawn drop recently between Kweilin and Hangyang, a big rail hub, and caused great confusion and heavy casualties among the enemy, he said.

Powerful Soviet armies hitting into Manchuria completely altered the strategic picture on the Asiatic mainland, and observers in Chungking speculated that a grand Chinese counteroffensive, now in the making, would be speeded up.

Confers With Russians

Wedemeyer conferred with Russian military representatives today.

It was understood that high American officers have known since the Teheran conference that Russia would enter the Pacific conflict, and that detailed plans already had been perfected for smooth coordination of air, ground,

Bomb Damage Equal To 150 Superforts

GUAM, Aug. 9 (AP)—The damage done to Hiroshima by the first atomic bomb was described by photographic officers who had studied photographs of the city as equivalent to about what 150 Superforts would have accomplished with high explosive bombs.

This, however, was not intended to indicate the maximum potential of the new weapon. Any statement fixing a death toll is pure guess, since no one knows what this new type bomb will do.

Japs Told Surrender Is Only Way To Halt Atomic Bombs

Strongly-Worded Demand For Peace That Will Last Shaped In HST Speech

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—President Truman tonight urged Japanese civilians to "leave industrial cities immediately" under pain of atomic bombing of their factories until Japan quits the war.

And in gladly welcoming Russia as a "gallant and victorious ally" against the last of the Axis, he declared that the Soviet Union agreed to the decision to fight Japan "before she had been informed" of the terrific new Allied weapon of the atomic bomb.

Mr. Truman made the points in a nationwide radio report on the Potsdam conference of the Big Three and on the war in the Pacific.

Besides the Russian entry into the Pacific war, he said, there were "other military agreements agreed upon at Berlin" of which the Japanese will learn first hand and to their grief.

When the war is over, he made clear, the United States is "going to maintain the military bases necessary for the complete protection of our interests and of world peace."

To Acquire Needed Bases

He said needed bases not now in our possession will be acquired by arrangements in keeping with the United Nations charter.

Mr. Truman also disclosed United States insistance on "free and unrestricted navigation" of Europe's inland waterways as one way to keep that continent from boiling up in war again.

The United States government proposed this principal at Potsdam, and intends to keep on supporting the idea, he said, in the foreign ministers council which will draft plans for Europe's peace settlements.

His speech shaped up into a strongly-worded demand for a world peace that will last, and he said "one of the most persistent causes for wars in Europe in the last two centuries has been the selfish control of the waterways of Europe."

Warning Of Things To Come

The speech contained no hint of when Japan might give up. But Mr. Truman declared the first atomic bomb attack, on Hiroshima, was "a warning of things to come" and that widespread atomic destruction of Japanese war industries is dead sure unless surrender does come.

Saying he realized the "tragic significance" of the awesome loosing of atomic energy, the President in his prepared address went on:

"The world will note that the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, a military base. That was because we wished in the first attack to avoid, insofar as possible, the killing of civilians.

Urges Civilians To Leave

"But that attack is only a warning of things to come. If Japan does not surrender, bombs will have to be dropped on war industries and, unfortunately, thousands of civilian lives will be lost. I urge Japanese civilians to leave industrial cities immediately, and save themselves from destruction."

Mr. Truman gave no indication that the enemy had made any gestures, either since the advent of the terrible new weapon or the entry of Russia into the war, to end by capitulation the destruction of which he warned them.

Only surrender, he said, will stop the use of the new agency of demolition and the Japanese alternative is ruin.

To Learn Of Others

He said the Soviet decision to declare war on Japan was only one of the secret military arrangements made at Potsdam.

"The Japs will soon learn some of the other military secrets agreed upon at Berlin," he asserted, "they will learn them first hand—and they will not like them."

The chief executive devoted a large share of his address to an analysis of what was accomplished in his Potsdam conference with Premier Stalin and British Prime Ministers Churchill and Attlee.

But he also touched at some length on the Pacific war and asserted that this government did not lightly undertake the production and use of the terrible atomic bomb.

Using It To Shorten War

"We have used it," he said, "in order to shorten the agony of war, in order to save the lives of thousands and thousands of young Americans.

"We shall continue to use it until we completely destroy Japan's power to make war. Only a Japanese surrender will stop us."

Britain and the United States he said, do not intend to release the secret of history's most terrible weapon until means have been

SMASH TOKYO ARSENAL

GUAM, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—Seventy Superfortresses smashed at the Tokyo arsenal area shortly before noon today with 2,000-pound demolition bombs. Early reports said results were excellent.

GUAM, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—American and British carrier planes 1,500 strong spread fiery ruin across the northern half of Honshu today for the second consecutive day, and Admiral Nimitz announced that battleships, cruisers and destroyers of the Allied force inflicted "considerable damage" on the steel city of Kamaishi yesterday afternoon.

Nimitz gave no details of today's air strikes, saying only that they were renewed at dawn against military targets.

Bombardment Said Heavy

The shelling of Kamaishi by Armiral Halsey's heavy Third fleet ships and light forces of the British Pacific fleet was described officially by Nimitz as "a heavy naval bombardment."

While the big ships were boldly steaming up and down opposite Kamashi and pouring their tons of shells into its steel mills, American destroyers pounced upon and sank a small enemy freighter-transport and three other small vessels offshore.

Kamaishi, 275 miles north of Tokyo, was badly damaged July 14 in the first naval bombardment of the Japanese homeland, which, like yesterday's was directed at the imperial iron and steel works.

Yesterday's shelling continued for an hour and 45 minutes.

Knock Out Jap Planes

The Japanese, who themselves had first reported the shelling, replied only with light antiaircraft fire which Nimitz said caused no casualties to the American or British forces.

Associated Press correspondents with the fleet reported that the carrier attacks yesterday knocked out scores of planes which the enemy had been unable to hide quickly enough, and set fire to

MacARTHUR'S PLANES ACTIVE

MANILA, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—Far East Air force and Seventh fleet planes in wide sweeps Tuesday and Wednesday destroyed or damaged more than 60 enemy ships and small craft and 47 planes, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The blitz against the southern Japanese island of Kyushu reared on and planes rained ruin on factories, railroad installations and air strips.

The hunt for Japanese planes was the best for some time, with nine fighters and a bomber shot down and 37 other planes destroyed or damaged on the ground.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

AMONG the recent news items we cannot understand is that statement by Herbert Lehman, head of UNRRA, that there is "danger of acute starvation in Europe next winter" and he fears "the United States will get the blame."

What do you know about that? Here we were in the United States, minding our own business, when Europe started both her world wars which we stepped in and had to finish for her and what have we gotten from either of them?

SUGARLESS CANNING

THE food page articles today feature methods of canning peaches without sugar and imagine our embarrassment to learn fresh peaches are as scarce in Lubbock at present as they will be next January. However, peaches are plentiful this year and growers have set a record for all time. Surely the fruit will be in the markets here soon.

We'd like to point out if you are able to buy 15 pounds of sugar for canning for every person in your family, you will be able to meet far better than the minimum recommended canning budget. The 15-pound sugar allotment will can 60 quarts of fruit per person if you make a medium syrup.

Even if you can only obtain five pounds of sugar per person, each five pounds will can 20 quarts of fruit, at the rate of one pound of sugar for every four quarts of fruit, which makes a medium syrup.

Fruit canned without sugar will not have as good color, flavor or shape, but it will not spoil and next winter when you use it in puddings and pies, you can add sugar and zip up the flavor with seasonings.

VETERANS SAY "DON'T WORRY"

WAR veterans say "don't worry;" they will find their place in civilian life, according to George B. Cox of Chicago, in charge of veteran re-employment at a large candy company.

According to Cox, who certainly is in a better position to know what he is talking about than many who are writing and talking on this subject today, the men do not want anything handed to them. They need readjustment in coming from the armed forces into the organization, just as any employee coming from another organization to a new job needs readjustment. But one after another of the veterans have told Cox they want no special attention. They want the same treatment anyone gets.

The re-employment expert says to subject veterans to unusual procedures, to special tests or examinations other than their regular program will tend to make them in the eyes of other employees and make them feel they are under suspicion of being "wrong."

* * *

PERHAPS the employer will get some psycho-neurotics. In the ordinary course of employment, they hire a lot of psycho-neurotics, put them to work and they do a job. In the ordinary course of employment they also hire a lot of employees whose attitude is wrong, who need adjustment. Most of the men so far are ready to work, happy in their chance to return to civilian life, with determination to do a good job and get what they want from American industry.

* * *

Cox suggests we rehabilitate ourselves to extend to these veterans a friendly, common sense, tolerant attitude, recognizing they are not changed human beings—they are just our sons and brothers coming back from a tough grind. By far the greatest percentage will be loyal, sincere, earnest workmen who can do a day's work and be happy in the adjustment to a peaceful, purposeful, civilian life.

REMEMBER KIDDIES

ONLY about four months to Christmas and only a few weeks until you will be sending off that package overseas. Of course even with the war approaching a crisis, we find ourselves trying to be sensible and remembering ALL of the men cannot be home by this Christmas. No, it looks as if we'd be mailing overseas packages again this year but surely by next Christmas . . .

Why not tuck a little toy or gift in your overseas boxes again this year so your loved one in a war-wrecked country may pass on to some small child the spirit of Christmas?

Mrs. Litton Honor Guest At Luncheon

Honoring the teacher, Mrs. Fred Litton on her birthday the First Baptist Euzelian class gave a luncheon at the activities center at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Roses predominated in the floral decorations. After the luncheon, birthday cake was served with ice cream. The honoree was presented with a gift.

Mrs. George Long led a devotion of friendship.

Members present were Mesdames Oscar Killian, B. T. Rucker, L. H. Hobbs, John Markham, J. Kell Wiley, J. W. Simmons, Long, Kirby Nutt, Marvin Pollard, M. H. Adkisson, A. J. Gulledge, J. A. Jackson, O. C. Todd, Gordon L. Douglas, Ross Kirk, C. F. Henry, Weston A. Pettey, Carl Plett, Olan Perryman, C. W. Trippe, Lynn Milburn, Carl R Hart and John McKenzie.

Visitors were Mrs. Effie Fowler of Fort Worth, Mrs. C. B. Markham of Morton, Joe Lee Killian, Tommy Ross Kirk, Georginia Bow Long, Carl John Plett, jr., Bonnie and Dick Hobbs, Janet and Judy Nutt, Martha Lynn and Gary Milburn and Barbara Ann Trippe.

Supper To Be Held For WOOS Tonight

A supper tonight at 7:30 at the Cactus Inn will be attended by members of the Wives of Officers Overseas club. Mesdames Eleanor Mills and James D. McIlyar will be hostesses.

Any woman in Lubbock, whose officer husband is in service overseas, is invited to membership in the club, it was said.

At a business meeting recently with Mrs. T. A. Hilbun, 2321 Twentieth, Mrs. Charles Colson was elected secretary.

Attending were Mesdames Bryant Lassiter, Cliff B. Watt, Mills, T. A. Serrurier, Edward B. Sneller, McIlyar, W. C. Chapman, Lewis Ellis, jr., Robert I. Allen, Colson and L. M. Keene.

Energetic Club Sews For Milam's Home

Energetic club members sewed for Milam's Orphans Home yesterday afternoon when they met at the home of Mrs. C. Murphrey, 2608 Twenty-first. Aprons and cuptowels were made.

Mrs. J. H. Parks was a guest, and members present were Mesdames Janie Phipps, Tom Arnett, Frances Van Dyke, Creek Brown, J. B. Walker and Roxie Crausbay.

Miss Westmoreland And Lt. Wilson Are Engaged; Wedding To Be Read Aug. 15

The engagement of Miss Yvonne Westmoreland and Lt. Oran G. Wilson, jr., USMC, was announced at a tea late yesterday afternoon in the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Faye Westmoreland, 2307 Broadway. Lt. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oran G. Wilson of Dumas.

A white madeira cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with a red heart containing gladioli. Red and white streamers extended from the centerpiece with the names of the betrothed couple and their wedding date, August 15. Refreshments accentuated the red and white color scheme.

In Receiving Line

Guests were greeted by Mrs. J. F. Hankins and presented to the receiving line made up of the hostess and honoree, Mrs. Wilson, and Mrs. M. M. Smith, Miss Westmoreland's sister.

Mrs. W. S. Cathey assisted with hospitalities.

Mesdames Allie M. Dyer and H. T. Wilkins presided at the refreshment table, assisted in serving by Mrs. J. L. Adams of O'Donnell, Mrs. G. C. Turner, Miss Ava Stangel and Miss Martha Kuykendall.

Piano selections throughout the tea were played by Miss Panze Butler. About 75 guests called during the receiving hours.

The wedding will take place in Lubbock. Lt. Wilson, a Marine flier, is being transferred from San Diego to Cherry Point, N. C.

CLAIRE McCARDELL: Date dress for the young in heart—black wool jersey with shirred bodice, wide midriff and dirndl-type skirt. It is a sure college hit.

Gift Party Is Honor To Mrs. Blankenship

Mrs. Chester Blankenship was honoree at a pink and blue shower Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Pete Bynum, 1611 Twenty-first, with Mrs. C. C. Curry, cohostess.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of orchid phlox on a lace-covered table. A shower of gifts was presented Mrs. Blankenship.

Guests were Mesdames C. P. Medford, R. R. Cobb, Ruth Mullins, Mena Edwards, John Clarence Curry and Sandra and Joyce Bynum, the honoree and the hostesses.

Husbands' Party Held By Lindy Needlers

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMillan, who live on the Levelland highway, were hosts to Lindy Needle club members and their husbands Wednesday night in the backyard of their home.

June McAlister Is Officer's Bride

The chapel of the Roswell, N. M., Army Air field was the setting Sunday afternoon when Miss June McAlister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McAlister of Morton, became the bride of 2nd Lt. Joe Bob Nunley. Maj. Roger E. Makepeace chaplain at the base, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a blue gabardine suit with black accessories and a corsage of split pink carnations. For "something old" she wore a hand-wrought gold pin belonging to her paternal great-grandmother.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Thompson of Lubbock, wore a Nile green linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. F/O George McKenzie attended the bridegroom as best man. Lt. James Kalima served as usher.

Mrs. Nunley is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college.

Lt. Nunley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nunley of Lubbock, also is a graduate of Lubbock High school. He received his wings at Pecos Army air field and has been stationed at the Roswell air field.

After a short leave, Lt. and Mrs. Nunley will go to Shreveport, La.

Among the out of town guests were County Judge and Mrs. R. C. Strickland, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McAlister.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mangrum of Waco are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sims at 902 Ave. Q, and her brothers and sisters, F. W. and Jack Sims and Mrs. W. F. Jackson and Mrs. M. C. Rutledge.

Super Freezer Is Said Developed

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—A super flash-freezer, described as cheaper, smaller and faster in operation than previous models, has been developed by Dr. Luis H. Bartlett, the University of Texas announced today.

The unit is designed to commercially process meats, fruits and vegetables in a manner to preserve their food value, appearance and taste. Dr. Bartlett five years ago brought out a portable quick-freezing unit, but the new model does the job even faster.

Called "Frigid-Drum"

He calls this new machine a "frigid-drum," because it operates on the principle of a drum or a cylinder. The cylinder at once acts as a refrigerating surface and as a conveyor to bring the food into contact with the chilling fluid and to separate the food from the fluid after freezing.

In his former model, the refrigerating surface was a tube with screws inside it to push the food along.

Patent applications are pending on the new "frigid-drum." The laboratory model weighs only 300 pounds, compared to 800 pounds for the test model of the earlier machine. It is substantially cheaper and simpler to build than his first plant, which had cut construction costs to one-fourth those of the average commercial model then on the market.

Total U.S. Combat Casualties Now 1,068,216; Gain 7,489 In Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP) — Combat casualties reported by the armed forces reached 1,068,216 today, an increase of 7,489 in a week.

The Navy accounted for most of the increase, reporting casualties, as announced by the War department, is 922,139 against 920,917 for the preceding week.

Death Totals 198,992

The breakdown on Army casualties and corresponding figures for last week:

Killed 198,992 and 197,676; wounded 570,870 and 570,766; missing 33, 975 and 34,734; prisoners 118,302 and 117,741.

The decline in the number missing apparently reflected shifts to other categories. The War department said that 354,526 of the wounded have returned to duty and 95,990 of the prisoners have been officially listed as exchanged or returned to military control.

Similar figures for the Navy:

Killed 52,432 and 51,588; wounded 78,935 and 72,855; missing 10,985 and 11,611; prisoners 3,725 and 3,756.

Censorship Rules Relaxed Slightly

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Censorship was considerably lightened today on all forms of communication with Europe but the strictest rules still hold for contact with Japan.

Director Byron Price of the Office of Censorship said the new rules for Europe were made possible by the end of hostilities in that theatre.

Here are the new provisions, which supersede the regulations issued Jan 30, 1943:

May Send Publications

Books, magazines, newspapers, catalogues and other printed matter may now be sent by individuals to neutral European countries.

Confirmation of cable, radio, telephone and postal messages may be sent by mail and electrical means.

Films, prints and photographic plates may be exported or imported without approval of censorship. Stamps may be mailed regardless of the country issuing them.

May Mention Movements

News of troop movements, merchant ship and transport activities may be mentioned unless they are within or heading to or from the Pacific-Asiatic area.

Cables and radiograms may now combine two names into one for the addressee or sender, but use of code for the address itself is still prohibited unless specifically authorized.

Writers of letters to Europe must still give their full names and addresses both in the letters and on the envelopes, and they should be written in English when possible.

The use of code or cipher. Secret inks and other secret writing is still forbidden without censorship authorization.

Regarding Japan, the regulations prescribe that only the following communications may be sent to Japan, Japanese-held territory or Japanese nations:

Short personal messages through the Red Cross; communications licensed by the Treasury department to persons on the proclaimed (black) list of certain blocked nations; mail to prisoners of war and internees.

Record Crop Of Rice Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

A record rice crop for Texas this year is forecast, but the Department of Agriculture said yesterday cotton yield would be average, less than 1944.

The peanut crop which has begun moving in South Texas was reported encouraging if weather remains favorable, and the citrus crop in the Laredo section of the Rio Grande valley was reported to have weathered heat and dry weather.

Harvest Is Begun

Rice mills plan to begin operations about the middle of August, the USDA marketing service said yesterday. Indications were that July forecasts of a record harvest would be realized. Harvest of the crop became more general in the state during the past week.

The season's first crop rice in Calcassieu parish, Louisiana, sold during the week at ceiling prices less discount for moisture.

Citrus Yield Good

Though milled rice for domestic distribution remained small, about 9,000,000 pockets are expected to be available if present record prospects in the South are realized.

A good yield of grapefruit, oranges, tangerines and kumquats in the latter part of the year was forecast in the valley. Growers of Webb and Zapata counties have transplanted tomato and sweet (bell) pepper plants to open fields and seedbeds of Bermuda onions to be planted in December are being laid out in the Laredo district.

Cotton Crop Short

South Texas' peanut crop was expected to be moving generally by Sept. 1, the USDA said. Harvesting is underway in some sections already.

The USDA report on the Texas cotton crop said the north central and eastern parts of the state had had too much rainfall while continued drouth in the northwest reduced acreage and delayed the crop.

A yield of 2,100,000 bales was estimated for 1945, with the Aug. 1 condition 72 per cent. Last year's harvest totaled 2,646,000 bales.

American Officer Asks His Jap Foe To Commit Suicide

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 14TH CORPS On Northern Luzon, Aug. 9. — An American lieutenant-general today formally invited his Japanese opponent to commit suicide.

Lt. Gen. O. W. Griswold, commander of the 14th corps, demanded that Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita release all Japanese civilians who are being forced to retreat with enemy troops into the mountains of northern Luzon. At the same time, he suggested that Yamashita might kill himself so that his followers could surrender honorably.

Leaflets Are Dropped

More than 100,000 leaflets containing Griswold's demands were dropped in the Kiangan-Banaue-Hungduan area where Yamashita, the "butcher of Bataan," is making his death stand.

(Native spearmen recently reported that Yamashita had been killed, but apparently the American army still believed that he was alive and in command of what was left of Japanese forces in the Philippines.)

"I have definite knowledge these civilians are being retained within your lines against their own wishes and because of your personal influence," the Griswold message said.

"It ill befits the dignity of the commanding general of Japanese forces to cause the death of innocent Japanese civilians. You have my personal promise and guarantee that all Japanese nationals-civilian or military-who enter the lines of my troops will be accorded full respect under international law."

Griswold told Yamashita that he had but three choices. He could cease his hopeless fight. He could continue to resist and be killed. Or he could commit suicide.

"If you reject our appeal to come to an honorable understanding with me, has it not occurred to you that you might end your own life and leave the question of further resistance to those people whom you now sentence to certain death?", Griswold asked.

Through the War Food Administration, the U. S. government has brought more than 9,000,000 pounds of seed corn at prices ranging from 5 3-4 cents to 10 cents a pound. It will be shipped to Russia and other liberated countries.

Gallup Probes A National Social Problem

Public Opposes Dating By Overseas Soldiers Wives

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The vast majority of people in this country apparently think the wives of overseas soldiers ought to stay at home and tend to their knitting.

GALLUP

At any rate they are almost unanimously opposed to their having dates with other men while their husbands are away.

This is shown in a recent survey on the following question, asked of men and women intowns, cities, and farm areas in all parts of the United States:

"Do you think a woman whose husband is overseas should accept dates with other men?"

The replies across the nation:

No	85%
Yes	6
Yes, Qualified	5
No Opinion	4

People who wanted to qualify their approval of the idea said, among other things, "Yes if the dates are in groups—if the husband approves . . . if the man is a personal friend of the husband, or a relative."

Opposition to soldiers' wives dating other men was overwhelming among both men and women, as is shown in the following table giving the vote of men and women:

	Men	Women
No	83%	87%
Yes	7	5
Yes, Qualified	4	6
No Opinion	6	2

When the great majority opposed to having the wives have dates are asked why they feel as they do, typically, they reply: "Her part of his ordeal is to wait loyally . . It's not asking too much for what he is going through. . . . Wives should be faithful to their husbands."

On the other side, the minority favoring the idea are inclined to say, "No reason why she should stay around the house and mope . . . Now's the time she needs some entertainment, take her mind off her worries."

The public in an earlier survey approved of women going to Europe to visit their husbands, but both General Eisenhower and President Truman have discouraged the idea. General Eisenhower said conditions in Germany are now too chaotic to warrant any immediate encouragement of trips there President Truman has said the problem of soldiers' separated families can best be solved by getting the soldiers back home.

A wartime version of the peacetime automatic sleeping blanket is being used by U. S. Air Force crew members to prevent shock from excessive cold at high altitudes. It will protect a man to temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero.

Stettinius Named To Commission

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP) — Edward R. Stettinius, jr., was appointed today as the United States representative on the preparatory commission of the United Nations organization with the rank of ambassador.

President Truman announced the appointment which had been expected ever since Stettinius guided the American delegation's work in the writing of the 50-nation treaty at San Francisco for the peace of the future.

The President, informally addressing his former secretary of state as "My Dear Ed," said in a letter that he wished Stettinius "success in this vitally important undertaking."

In a statement the White House said that Stettinius probably would not attend the first routine meetings of the executive committee of the preparatory commission. The group is so called because it will do the spade work for the United Nations organization until the required number of nations have ratified the San Francisco charter and made it effective.

At the early meetings in London, starting in two weeks, an officer of the State department will pinch hit for Stettinius.

STONE HEADS FOURTEENTH

CHUNGKING, Aug. 9. (AP)—Appointment of Maj. Gen. Charles B. Stone, 3rd, 41, as commander of the U. S 14th Air force was announced today by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of the U. S. Army Air forces in China. Stone succeeds Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, who recently resigned.

German Spies Become "Double Agents' For U. S., FBI Reveals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—The FBI said today that five German spies sent to the United States after 1939 to learn of atomic bomb developments were persuaded to double cross the Nazis and work as counter-espionage agents.

"Several" of the spies were intercepted in Europe and South America enroute to this country and made "double agents" before they launched any espionage activities for the Nazis," an FBI spokesman said. He would not disclose their names.

As a result of American alertness, the FBI said, no sabotage of any kind was committed in an atomic plant.

Atomic Force Said Million Times Greater Than That Of Gravitation

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—One million times greater than the force of gravitation is the calculated value of the atomic force which the bombs dropped on the Japs presumably tapped in a small degree.

Gravitation is the greatest single force known to science, unless the atomic one is bigger.

Calculation Before War

The calculation of a million-fold gravitation was made before the war by Dr. Gregory Breit of the University of Wisconsin. This figure was based partly on discoveries at the Carnegie Institution of Washington of an apparently new force of attraction, which exists only, so far as known, in the centers of atoms.

Gravitation's force reaches out over vast space. The terrific atomic force appears to be almost wholly confined within the nucleus, or heart, of each atom.

Size is Incredible

That nucleus is the box scientists tapped with the uranium atoms forming the atomic bomb. It is difficult enough for laymen to imagine the exceedingly small size of an atom. But this atomic force exists in an even incredibly smaller space.

A uranium atom's diameter is calculated to be a third to a half of a billionth of an inch. But the nucleus is confined to a space estimated at 100,000 times smaller. The space between this center and the uranium's circumference is filled with 92 electrons circling around.

Here's Fantastic Part

Now comes the almost fantastic part of the picture, which nevertheless is well verified in the physics books.

This center that is 100,000 times smaller, contains 99 per cent of the entire mass of a uranium atom. The same fact is true of all the other atoms of the known universe. Their tightly packed nuclei contains 99 per cent of their masses.

In other words, 99 per cent of the solid substance of all things and all creatures, including man, is packed into these atomic nuclei.

That is why scientists sometimes refer to the atomic energy as the force which binds the universe. It is the force which makes all the building blocks, which are never anything except atoms.

Army Issues Call For More Dogs For War

DALLAS, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—A call was issued here today to the owners of dogs capable of qualifying for enlistment in the K-9 corps by the Quartermaster of the Eighth Service command with the announcement that at an additional 1,000 canines will be required by Sept. 15 to meet war requirements.

The announcement said that among the most desired animals were giant Schnauzers, Belgian sheep dogs, Doberman pinschers, German shepherds, farm-type collies and crosses of these breeds.

Dogs enlisted now must pass a training test and will be used for scout duty with combat units, the command announcement said.

The quartermaster crops said that thus far, when a scout dog has been employed, no soldier has been lost because of an enemy surprise attack or ambush. Great praise was also given those dogs trained as messengers.

Port Arthur Judge To Be Buried Today

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 9. (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow morning for Judge Robert A. Shivers, 68, for ten years criminal district judge in Beaumont, who died late yesterday.

Judge Shivers, the father of State Senator Allan Shivers, succumbed to a heart ailment at his office.

Other survivors include his widow, a daughter and three grandchildren

Foundation Planned For Morticians School

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Leaders of the funeral service profession and the National Selected Morticians today announced establishment of a $500,000 educational foundation including a post-graduate school.

The foundation was formed to lift the plane of funeral service and to assure still greater scientific advantage in training and practice.

News Briefs

Statewide Conference On Gardens Is Called

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 9. (AP)—Dr. Ide P. Trotter said today that a meeting or organizations and agencies at Dallas Aug. 23 had been called to put into operation an intensive fall and winter garden program for Texas.

Trotter, director of the Texas A. and M. college extension service, said such a program was needed badly because "the general outlook for ample food supplies in Texas and the nation is not promising."

"For most food commodities, the ration point values continue to increase. Indications are that there will be 10 to 15 per cent less processed vegetables on grocers' shelves in 1946 for civilian use that at present," Trotter said in a letter telling of the meeting.

He added that to most effectively put the garden program in operation representatives from each of 30 to 35 organizations, associations, agencies and others had been called to a statewide conference at Dallas Aug. 23.

The U. S. Army can get a small wall tent, a waterproof bedding roll, and a khaki cotton shirt for $15 invested in a war bond.

Series Of Meetings On Price Regulations Scheduled In District

A representative of the Lubbock District Office of Price administration will conduct a series of lectures through the district's towns beginning August 13, meeting with dealers selling goods covered by maximum price regulation 580. All of the meetings will begin at 8:15 p. m. and will be held in the local war price and rationing board offices.

Discussion will center around the five pricing rules and how to apply them, maximum prices for new stores opening since March 19 of this year, marking and tagging and "retailing invoices" on articles received since April 20.

Firms in adjoining counties are urged to attend by the OPA office here to get a thorough explanation of the regulation and how it is to be carried out.

Meetings will be held in Levelland on August 13, Lamesa on August 14, Big Spring on August 15, August 16 in Midland, Aug. 17 in Odessa, and Seagraves on August 21.

Fort Worth Collects Fund For Hospital At Gonzales Foundation

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—More that $82,000 was on record here today as contributions from Fort Worth citizens toward the $100,000 drive for funds to finance a 40-bed Fort Worth hospital unit at the Gonzales Warm Springs, foundation for crippled children.

A feature of the proposed unit will be hot water treatment baths from the two natural springs on the site, and will be used primarily for victims of polio from Fort Worth and Tarrant county.

Breakfast With Goering Was Like Having A Date With A Tuba, German Pin-Up Girl Says

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Aug. 9.—Hannalore Hinkel, pin-up girl of the defunct Wehrmacht, said that sitting down to breakfast with former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering was like having a date with a tuba. How that fat man burped!

Hannalore, who claims that she has always been anti-Nazi, spends most of her time in Frankfurt now. But she still can't forget those noises which used to rocket from the Goering stomach when she was visiting at Karin hall.

Listened To Bad News

Miss Hinkel, who is slim and lovely, said that bad news didn't keep Goering from eating — or burping. He would listen to a morning radio report of the previous nights Allied bombings with an egg stuffed in his throat.

Then he would bleat: "My-(burp)-that's too bad."

Miss Hinkel was a frequent guest at Karin hall as the closest friend of frau Emmy Goering, the marshal's niece.

Wore Silk Pajamas

"They sent planes to bring me, no matter where I was," she said. "Once I was playing in Russia and they sent for me just the same."

Miss Kinkel said Goering's day started about mid-morning when bulging in silk pajamas or purple pajamas he would wander into the dining hall for breakfast. Once, she actually saw him in pajamas with medals across the chest.

Goering couldn't stand anything cold against his skin. The bathrooms at Karan hall, which were tiled in pale rose, had electrical heaters inside the tiles to keep the chill away.

Carried Key To Cellars

Goering, himself, always carried the key to his food cellars which were jammed with such delicacies as caviar, sturgeon, frozen turkey or goose. If he liked someone real well, he would give him a box of caviar.

"That was his highest gift," Miss Hinkel said.

Goering had an elaborate and intricate set of electric trains.

"He would sit on the dais and press buttons as the trains scooted all about — with his adjutants squealing in joy," Miss Hinkel said. "He almost always closed the play period by arranging for two locomotives to crash. He would say, 'that's the way it goes sometimes'."

German Police Aiding Track Gestapo Armed

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Aug. 9. (AP)—Lt. Col. W. Point Babcock, head of the U. S. Army's public safety section announced today that German police helping the Americans track down members of the Gestapo and SS will be armed.

Babcock told a press conference that the American occupation zone in Germany had been remarkably free of crime. He estimated about 80 per cent of the Gestapo and SS had been rounded up.

Ancient Roman sports fans at the circus or races relished fried peas as a snack, much as we relish peanuts and popcorn.

Tokio Couple Believes Flash They Saw On July 16 Was Bomb

TOKIO, Tex., Aug. 8. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. W R. Benton, who live near here, now believe that the great flash which lighted their car on the morning of July 16 was the atomic bomb which was tested at Los Alamos, N. M. on the same day.

The couple was en route to Brownfield at 6:30 a. m., which would have been 5:30 a. m. New Mexico time when the bomb was tested, when a bright flash lighted their car. "We thought it was a meteor and for several days we watched the Lubbock Avalanche for an account of it," the Bentons said.

Tokio, which is about 20 miles west of Brownfield, is estimated to be approximately 150 miles from the scene of the bomb test.

Greer Believes State Amendments To Pass

TEMPLE, Aug. 9. (AP) — Rep. Julian P. Greer of Elkhart believes all four proposed amendments to the state constitution will be approved by voters Aug. 25 and that a heavy vote will be cast.

"The amendment creating a ceiling on public welfare spending and making possible larger old age assistance payments, together with the amendment calling for an enlarged supreme court, is catching the fancy of the people," Greer, a former state Senator said

The other two amendments call for exemption of poll taxes for servicemen and women, otherwise qualified to vote and a salary increase for members of the state legislature.

WPB To Give Automobile Industry Green Light On Expansion Plans

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The War Production board shortly will approve plans by the automobile industry to construct $150,000,000 in new plants and additions necessary for maximum production of civilian cars, it was learned today.

A high WPB official told the United Press that notification of the approval probably will go out to the industry some time next week.

Would Aid Unemployment

He explained that the construction applications would be okayed on grounds the expansion program would provide for "additional insurance against unemployment next year."

Requests for construction authority have flowed in a steady stream to the WPB since it met with the automobile industry last July 11 and asked for prompt notification of requirements for eventual full production. It was estimated that the proposed additional facilities might increase the productive capacity of the industry up to 6,000,000 cars a year compared with an estimated prewar peak of 4,000,000 cars.

In approving the application, the WPB will make it clear that it cannot at this time give the automobile companies priorities in obtaining construction materials. That means the industry will have to compete for the comparatively limited quantities of construction materials not now under government controls.

Jeep Is Classified As Truck, ODT Man Says

Classification of the Army jeep, now being manufactured for civilian use, as a truck and not a passenger car, was announced Thursday by John J. Van Pelt, district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation here.

In other words, unless buyers are eligible for a certificate to purchase a new truck, they will be unable to buy one of the new civilian jeeps. The new civilian vehicle was classified as a truck because it is essentially a property carrying vehicle, the ODT official explained.

Allocation of the new vehicles will be limited to persons contributing directly or indirectly to the prosecution of the war. Those eligible include farmers.

These restrictions do not apply to surplus military jeeps sold through the surplus property board.

Warning Given On R-2 Certificate Deadline

Motorists who hold certificates to purchase tires should be careful to check them to see if they are the R-2 type, since all such tire certificate become invalid for consumer use after Aug. 15, the District Office of Price administration has announced.

For dealers the invalidation date is Aug. 31. During the month of September dealers may also exchange R-2 certificates on hand Sept. 1 at the OPA office here in the Lubbock National Bank building. If they have not been used before Aug. 16 they will not be exchangeable, officials said.

R-2A and R-2B certificates are not affected.

Post-War Plans Are Talked By Speakers At Kiwanis Luncheon

Representatives of business and professional groups in Lubbock spoke to Kiwanis club members Thursday noon in their regular weekly luncheon at the Lubbock hotel, expressing post-war plans of their lines of work. W. L. Stangel presented speakers to the group.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Texas Tech college Agriculture division said that post-war agriculture is to depend upon money. Modernization is coming to the farm, Leidigh said, and the comforts that are due in rural areas are going to emphasize a need for capital.

He outlined such items as rural schools will local management, rural recreation projects, social security for farmers and farm laborers and said that "city dwellers" must stop forcing farmers to come to the city in order to earn a living.

Leidigh said that agriculture "can not buy the finished product without money." He urged a move to half "folk depletion," and cited a need for agriculture's having a hand in the forming of world policies of this country.

J. D. Hassel, manager of Hemphill Wells Co. and representing merchants, spoke of the vast changes that will come to the mercantile business. He said that stores will expand as they can not continue the present volume of business on present floor space. He added that they must expand to continue this volume.

Hassel said that business must base its hope for continued prosperity upon the continuation of the present form of government. He cited the swing of public opinion in Britain as an example and said that it was the problem of each citizen of the community to work toward a common end—the continuation of the present form of government.

L. C. Ellis, vice-president of the Lubbock National Bank, said Lubbock banks would figure heavily in post-war growth through loans. He looked to a building spurt, both domestically and industrially, and said that the banks were preparing their loan and finance branches to handle all types of financial investments.

Dr. Allen Stewart, West Texas Hospital physican, said that two types of doctors would return from the war, one group returning to an old practice and another practicing for the first time in a civilian world.

He said that military practice is very different from regular work and cited problems of rehabilitation of the doctor, just as "with other GI's." A scarcity of new doctors is, and will be prevalant, he said, because no provisions have been made to keep them out of military service.

Stewart warned of an approching accident wave after the war. He said that like other professions and businesses the medical profession here is planning to expand its facilities and that many changes are due to come.

Mrs. C. E. Hereford rendered a piano solo previous to the talks. Guests included Wilbur Swenson of Amarillo, J. A. Hatley of Ft. Worth, Ed Price, Henry R. Fox, jr., Dr. Benson and Lt. Lester Grimes, all of Lubbock.

Farmers Can't Buy Overseas Surpluses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—The War department emphasized today that American farmers and farm groups will not be able to purchase overseas surplus material of the armed forces.

Maj. Gen. Donald H. Connolly of Army-Navy Liquidation commission which has charged of disposing of such supplies, pointed out that the surplus property law prohibits return of surpluses to his country in order to protect domestic markets.

State Has Record Crop Of Lambs

AUSTIN, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Whether or not beefsteaks continue scarce there ought to be lots of lamb chops available for the federal crop reporting service today announced 5,284,000 lambs were raised this year in Texas alone.

This is a record lamb crop. Texas lambs this year make up 19 per cent of the national total and 28 per cent of the Western states supply, the report said.

Percentage Higher

The crop is also remarkable in establishing a new high of the number of lambs per 100 ewes, estimated at 77 per cent. For 1944 the precentage was 71 and for a 10-year period the average has been 61 per cent.

More than the usual number of ewes were bred to lamb early in 1945, the report said. Early weather and range conditions were almost ideal, and the early lambs got off to a good start.

Shipments have been heavier with a total of 2,187,000 sent to the Fort Worth market and out of state points for the first six months of the year, compared with 1,831,000 for the first half of 1944.

WOMAN FATALLY INJURED

ALICE, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Funeral services are planned here today for Mrs. H. L. Choate, 32, who was fatally injured Wednesday when she was hit by a cattle truck near her home.

Mrs. Choate is survived by her husband. The body was expected to be sent to Gonzales for burial.

Kattmann Cup Matches Won By Lubbock Club's Golfers

Lubbock Country club golfers defended home fairways against the invasion of a team of picked golf stars from West Texas and New Mexico Thursday afternoon in the opening fanfare of the annual Lubbock Country club invitation golf tournament, winning the John Kattmann Cup matches over the visiting golfers, 37 to 26.

Real firing will get underway this morning in the qualifying round of play, as the total entries for the tournament soared to 238 late last night. The deadline for entering the tournament will be 4 o'clock this afternoon, and no qualifyers will tee off after that hour.

Aulbach Steals Show

George Aulbach, pro at the Amarillo Country club, stole the show in the shooting Thursday afternoon. He blistered the fairways with a three underpar 68 to set the pace in the special exhibition between pros from four leading West Texas clubs.

Aulbach paired with Herb Schroeder, local pro, to win the doubles over Warren Cantrell of Abilene and Shorty Hornbuckle of Odessa, as Schroeder turned in a one over par 72 to give the Aulbach-Schroeder team a clean sweep.

In the singles, Aulbach swept three points over Hornbuckle, but Schroeder encountered more trouble in his singles match. Cantrell tied him an the first nine, but the Lubbock pro came back to take the back nine and the match.

Trout Gets Hot

The best score turned in for the Cup matches was from the clubs of Chick Trout, club champion of Lubbock, who toured the course with a one under par 70 as he teamed with Morley Jennings for a three-way win over Don Cherry of Wichita Falls and J. R. Farmer of Big Spring. Trout won three points over Cherry in the singles, but Jennings had to come from behind to win the back nine and total for 18 holes to defeat Farmer.

Ted Tipps and Raymond Marshall won three points over Bill Keith of Amarillo and O. A. Matney of Hobbs, N. M., and Marshall won the same way over Matney. Keith rallied to win the back nine from Tipps, and halve the 18.

Don Mitchell and Amos Howard tied Monty Montgomery of San Angelo and Billy Walker of Hobbs, N. M., on the first nine, but the visitors came back to win the back nine and 18. Howard won the first nine with Montgomery, tied the back nine and won the 18. Walker won all three ways from Mitchell.

Kuykendall, Day Win

John Kuykendall of Odessa and Frank Day of Plainview won all points from J. D. Hinson and Dr. W. A. Schaal, while in singles Day defeated Schaal but Hinson won over Kuykendall.

Truman Hutson and Dr. J. H. Stiles won three points from Barney Barnard, sr., of Lamesa and Joe Black of Big Spring, while in singles, Black tied with Stiles, and Hutson won over Barnard.

Bill Barker of Midland and Bill Breeden of Odessa won both singles and doubles over Cliff Dean and Otis Felty. In the remaining foursome, Roy Howard and T. E. Patterson won two points over Bob Farmer of Odessa and Obie Bristow of Big Spring, and Howard won three points over Bristow. In the match between captains of the two teams, Patterson won two points over Farmer.

Forty-five players were paired to qualify today, and all golfers not paired are asked to arrange their own matches as early as possible. Those unable to arrange matches will be paired at the first tee.

Pairings To Qualify

Pairings for the qualifying (golfer from Lubbock, unless otherwise noted) are as follows:

Roy Howard, Bob Farmer, Odessa, and Billy Walker, Hobbs, N. M., at 2 o'clock. Sammy Cobb, John Edmondson and Shelby Fox of Odessa at 2:05. Carl Lewis of Slaton, Ted Tipps and Don Mitchell at 2:10. Truman Hutson, Dr. J. H. Stiles and Al Hunter of Dallas at 2:15. Knox Whitney of Amarillo, O. A. Matney of Hobbs, N. M., and Dr. W. A. Schaal at 2:20.

Cpl. B. W. Gerdes of Amarillo. Amos Howard and Bill Kieth of Amarillo at 2:25. Bill Maxwell of Abilene, Jack Parr of Electra and Morley Jennings at 2:30. Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Dick Stackhouse of Big Spring and Chick Trout at 2:35. James Goldman, Tony Buckstan of Odessa and Ray Dickey at 2:40. C. L. Dean, T. L. Sampson of Odessa and Jack Henry at 2:45.

A. C. January of Dallas, Bob Maxwell of Abilene and R. R. Marshall at 2:50. James E. Lyles of Kermit, J. D. Hinson and M. K. Dean at 2:55. Don January of Dallas, T. E. Patterson and Bill Breeden of Odessa at 3. Wright Kerr, John Kuykendall of Odessa and J. R. Farmer of Big Spring at 3:05. Raymond Stoker of Odessa, Fenner Tubbs and Joe Black of Big Spring at 3:10.

Bill Lee Beats Chicago, 7 To 3

BOSTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Bill Lee, the veteran righthander, held his former Chicago Cubs teammates to six hits today while hurling the Boston Braves to a 7-3 victory over the National League leaders. It was the Cubs' first setback in their last eight Boston starts.

Stan Hack collected three of the Chicago hits, including a two-bagger. The Tribesmen belted three enemy hurlers for 14 hits and clinched the game in the third inning when Butch Nieman blasted his 13th homer into the right field bullpen with Vince Shupe on base.

Shupe led the Boston attack with four hits, one a double, and scored three runs. Batting leader Tommy Holmes singled twice in four tries to retain his edge on Phil Cavarretta, who got a single out of two official trips against Lee.

North All-Stars Are Favored In Friday's 11th Annual Contest

ABILENE, Aug. 9 (AP)—Forerunner of the nation's greatest football campaign, the North and South All Stars of the Texas Interscholastic league will clash here tomorrow night as the closing feature of the Annual Texas Coaching school.

Three weeks away is the start of the 26th State Schoolboy race. No football program anywhere can touch it in size.

The North squad, gathered from the upper eight districts of the Interscholastic league gridiron program, and the South, which comes from the lower eight districts, are due to battle before a crowd of upwards of 6,000, with the North, boasting a heavy, powerful backfield and working from the wingback formation, favored to win and make it seven victories in eleven years of warring.

Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, one of the nation's leading exponents of the forward pass, will send his North team into the game depending principally on a running attack. His passing in four days of practice has been unsatisfactory but a powerhouse backfield of Sammie Pierce of Vernon, Billy Engle of Greenville, George Graham of San Angelo and George Sims of Seymour appeared destined to eat up many yards on the ground.

Coaching the South is Maurice (Skip) Palrang of Boys Town, Neb., a nationally known authority on the T formation. What Palrang has managed to do with his squad in teaching this intricate formation in the limited time is amazing.

Key men in the South's offensive are Byron Gillory of Marshall; a speedster; Leon Joslin of Waxahachie and Richard Butts of Thorndale, two fine passers, a giant Bob Goode, a line shredder. All-State Preston Smith of Bryan is with the South but has been bothered by a bruised hip. He is due to see action, however.

Two thousand tickets had been sold today, thus already insuring Abilene's guarantee.

Tigers Win On York's Homers

DETROIT, Aug. 9. (AP)—Rudy York sparked a 15-hit Detroit attack with a pair of two-run homers as the Tigers walloped the Boston Red Sox 11 to 5 today to maintain their one-game American league lead over Washington.

York's two circuit clouts, his eighth and ninth of the season, came on successive times at bat in successive innings. Hank Greenberg, who was on second with a double ahead of York in the third and Roy Cullenbine, who had singled, scored on the big first baseman's fourth inning homer into the upper deck in left field.

Newsies Win Softball Title, Nip Civilians

Avalanche - Journal Newsies pushed over a run in the last half of the seventh inning Thursday afternoon to nose out the Lubbock Army Air field Civilians, 11 to 10, and win the women's city softball championship.

Reed and Graves made up the battery for the winners, with White and McNeeley working for the losers.

White, pitcher for the LAAF club, homered in the seventh to tie the score, but was unable to hold the Newsies in the last half of the inning.

Two teams from LAAF, the Civilians and the WACs will play this afternoon for second place honors.

City's Tax Assessments Increased $1,068,000; Total Is $33,122,005

Lubbock property, real estate and personal, is now assessed at $33,122.005, an increase of $1,068,000 over last year's assessed valuation, according to the city tax roll approved yesterday by the city commissioners at their regular meeting in the City Hall.

Of the $33,122,005 assessment, $25,604,375 is on real estate, which is reported to have increased materially in the past year, and $7,517,630 on personal property. The total tax to be collected, according to the roll, is $281,337.05.

Zoning Group Abolished

In addition to approving the tax roll, the commissioners voted to cancel "back taxes," totalling $449, charged against churches and municipally owned properties, which are now exempt under the law. These properties were ordered transferred from the delinquent to the exempt rolls.

The commissioners abolished the City Zoning commission by amending ordinance No. 696 to provide that the City Planning commission shall in the future also act as a zoning organization and carry on the duties previously performed by the abolished commission. In recommending the action, City Manager M. R. Smith, jr., explained that a duplication of functions made the elimination of the zoning commission desirable.

Discuss Widening Nineteenth

Plans for the proposed widening of Nineteenth and of alternate thoroughfares to assist in relieving the heavy traffic load on Nineteenth were discussed at length, but without any definite action being taken. Commissioner Hub Jones suggested that it would be desirable to obtain an estimate of the cost of the proposed widening. It was tentatively agreed that as soon as the Nineteenth widening program is decided, it would be advisable to adopt ordinances establishing set - back lines, so that no new buildings will be erected to interfere with the projected improvement.

Three ordinances, Nos. 718, 719, and 720, were given their second and final reading. No. 718 is an ordinance closing the alleys in block 2 and 7 of Richmond Second addition with an easement reserved for utilities, while No. 719 is an amendment of the zoning ordinance, changing certain property on Ave. J from the C, D, and J zoning districts to K zone. Ordinance No. 720 establishes a building line on Ave. J from Nineteenth to Twenty-sixth.

Hospital Request Denied

A request of S. S. Allcorn, chairman of the location committee of the Cooperative Hospital association, for an option on 10 acres of city-owned property, east of the South Plains Electric Cooperative, was rejected, the commissioners expressing the opinion that the property may be needed by the city for future developments.

Moving to insure greater traffic safety and uniformity of regulations, the commissioners authorized City Manager Smith to order and erect standard stop signs on streets intersecting Broadway and Thirteenth.

Complaints Are Heard

Complaints regarding dog kennels, loud crowing game roosters, and pet rats were also presented to the commissioners for consideration but without any action being taken.

City Atty. Vaughn Wilson, who described some of the complaints received by him during the past week, advised the commissioners that Lubbock does not have an ordinance prohibiting citizens from keeping vicious dogs or maintaining kennels of six or more dogs. One citizen, Atty. Wilson reported, had complained that his son had been bitten by a 140-pound mongrel police dog that is permitted to run at large.

Water Extension Authorized

Mayor O. W. Ribble expressed the opinion that police were empowered to deal with certain nuisances under the existing ordinances, which authorize them to quell peace disturbances.

After reviewing a citizen's request for an extension of the city's 6-inch water mains, so as to afford water for sprinkling and as a precaution against fire hazard, the commissioners authorized the 450-foot extension on condition that the petitioner pay the added cost. The city, Manager Smith explained, has made a practice of supplying water for normal living needs to all persons living within the city, but cannot furnish the large pipe necessary for operating a sprinkling system. The extension requested would cost approximately $600, it was estimated.

Mayor Ribble presided at the meeting. J. Ray Dickey and Jones were the two commissioners present.

"Japan will surely put into execution what she inevitably must and when thousands upon thousands, even millions, of Anglo-American military personnel meet their tragic end, their blood will be on the heads of Truman and Attlee who have been responsibile for advocating the criminal effects of this inhuman weapon.

Japs Fully Justified

"Since the Anglo - Americans have resorted to it, Japan is fully justified in retaliating. The Anglo-Americans called the tune, now they will find they must dance to it."

The radio said the Japanese have known the theory of atomic energy for a century.

(The Tokyo radio, in another English-language broadcast beamed to Europe and reported by the OWI, said last night that the atomic bomb would not lead to the elimination of war and predicted that "if one power succeeds in putting it to use, the rest will catch up in no time."

The word "pupa," intermediate stage between larval and adult insects, comes from the Latin word for "doll."

Destroyer Ross Is Back Fighting After Surviving Attacks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP) — The U. S. Destroyer Ross is back in action in the Pacific after surviving two mine explosions, 286 air raids, a Kamaikaze crash and a typhoon.

The Navy told today of the action-packed 30-day ordeal which put the Ross into repair yards for 110 days. It was estimated in the report that the shortage of skilled workers at Mare Island, Calif., held up the job 25 days.

It began last November when the Ross struck a mine while screening a minesweeping unit south of Homohon island in the gulf of Leyte where General Douglas MacArthur's forces made their first major Philippine landing.

The explosion killed several men and put the forward engine room out of commission. Drifting helplessly, the destroyer hit another mine 20 minutes later.

Although the Ross was heavily damaged, her commanding officer, Commander Benjamin Coe of San Diego, Calif., continued damage control operations. When flooding was stopped, the Ross was towed to a supposedly safe anchorage but was immediately bombed and strafed by a Japanese plane.

The ship was moved then to another anchorage. Temporary repairs progressed while air attacks became a nightly routine and day attacks were frequent. During one such attack, a Kamikaze pilot scored a direct hit on the forward turret. At least three enemy planes were shot down during these attacks.

After the typhoon struck, the Ross was put into a floating drydock so repairs could be made to underwater damage and then made an uneventful voyage to the Mare Island Naval yard for permanent repairs.

Burglars Get Ration Stamps From Lamesa And Snyder Boards

Burglars took gasoline, sugar and tire stamps and certificates from ration board offices at Lamesa and Snyder Wednesday night and broke into another at Andrews but failed to find anything of value.

Safes were removed from offices at Snyder and Lamesa, taken into the country and blown open.

On the same night three persons at Snyder lost tires and at Lamesa a man was discovered in the act of burglarizing the Ford company there.

The ration board burglaries were believed by officers to have been accomplished by the same parties.

In the second burglary this year of the Snyder office, yeggs transported the safe to the city dump and looted it of 14 sugar coupons, 43 gasoline B stamps and two tire certificates. The office was first burlarized April 9 when gasoline and other ration stamps were taken. The burglars, Snyder officers theorized, also took tires from the automibles of Dr. C. R. Cockrell, Allen Beadel and J. B. Turner, all of Snyder.

Loss in the Lamesa break-in had not been determined last night, according to A. M. Bennett, Dawson county sheriff. Gasoline stamps were taken and possibly tire certificates, Bennett said. The safe was opened four miles west of the city.

The safe in the Andrews office was empty, officers said.

Sheriff Bennett said Lloyd H. Sealy, a Lamesa man, had been charged in connection with the Ford burglarly. An employe of the company found a man inside when he returned late in the night to the Ford biulding.

Highway patrolmen and Texas Rangers are assisting county officers in the investigations.

Manchuria's Wealth Is Prize For Russia

MANCHURIA, potential Russo-Japanese battleground on the Asia mainland, occupies an area twice the size of Germany. Highly industrialized and rich in iron, coal, oil and food, it is perhaps the most important territory taken by the Japanese in their long string of aggressions. These photos give some indication of the wealth of Manchuria.

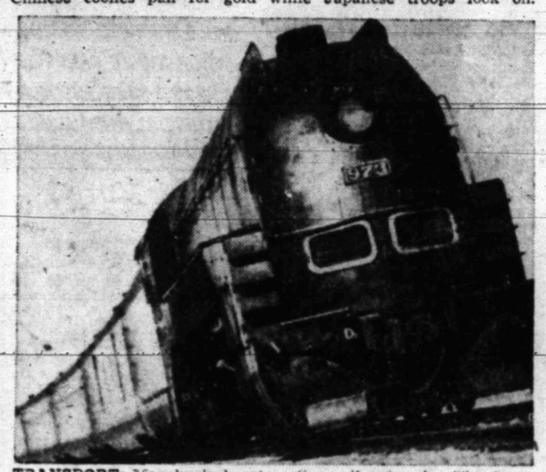

IRON: Manchuria's hills have tremendous riches, largely untapped. Here is the smelting plant of Anshan's Iron Works.

COAL: World's largest open-cut mine of Fushun, shown above, exploits a coal seam which in places is 400 feet thick.

GOLD: Prospectors report plenty of gold in streams. These Chinese coolies pan for gold while Japanese troops look on.

TRANSPORT: Manchuria boasts a fine rail network. The Japanese put this streamlined express on the Harbin-Dairen run.

Six Men Killed In Plane Crash

VICTORIA, Aug. 9. (AP)—Six Army men from Foster field were killed early today when a plane in which they were returning to the base here from a baseball game at Waco, Tex., crashed and burned in a wooded area 60 miles to the northwest.

Some of them were members of the Foster Army Air field baseball team, known as the Falcons. There were no survivors.

One of the dead was reported to be Pete Zarilla, who once played with Elizabethton, Tenn., in the Appalachian league.

The scene of the crash was near Smiley, Gonzales county, slightly west of the direct course between Waco and Victoria.

R. E. Downey, publisher of the Smiley Tabloid, said the crash occurred about 3:30 a. m. in a thickly wooded draw. The plane, an AT-7, clipped tops from mesquite trees, then cut a swath 50 feet wide and 200 yards long before exploding.

The dead:

1st. Lt. Peter R. Davis of New Orleans, veteran transport pilot with 1,500 hours to his credit, who last fall was temporarily assigned to fly the Randolph Field Ramblers football team over the nation.

Sgt. Herman Lawson of Princeton, Tex., first baseman.

Cpl. Lester Clotiaux, Catcher, of Nederland, Tex., who used to play in the Piedmont league.

1st Lt. Harold G. Phillips of Toledo, O.

S/Sgt. Chester Seipt, short stop, of Pasadena, Md.

Cpl. Pete Zarilla of Newcastle, Pa., who once played with Elizabethton, Tenn., in the Appalachian league.

Congress Ranks Russian Entry Into War As Secondary To Atomic Bomb Speeding Peace

By JOHN L. CUTTER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—Congress today welcomed Russia's entrance into the Pacific war but ranked it second to the atomic bomb in hastening victory over Japan.

The twin developments of the week left no doubt in any minds but that the end of the Japanese war is approaching. All agreed that the Russian entry can be of benefit in speeding the day of complete victory at a saving of American lives.

Russian Action Decisive

There are expressions, however, that the Russian action at this time should not be considered the decisive factor.

The most direct comment along that line came from Sen. Alexander Wiley, R., Wis., who had demanded in a Senate speech two weeks ago that Russia get into the war against Japan.

Wiley suggested that the first atomic bomb hurled against Japan last Sunday was a factor in the Russian decision.

"It is obvious that Russia's entry at this time will not have the decisive effect it might have had two weeks ago, before the atomic bomb was introduced," he commented.

Helped Tip Scales

"Apparently the atomic bomb which hit Hiroshima also blew Joe (Russian Premier Joseph Stalin) off the fence."

Wiley believed that Russia's action may "slightly help tip the scale" to force a Japanese surrender. He insisted, however, that the United States should take the position that:

"We are no more disposed now than before to reveal to Russia (and the world) our secrets on the atomic bomb at this time, even though she is our way ally again.

Defeat Already Assured

"Russia's late entrance should not dispose us to agree to territorial readjustments in Asia which would be inequitable and unjust. We must recognize that it was American blood, sweat and tears . . . which have brought us to the present point of near victory."

Sen. John L. McClellan, D., Ark., welcomed the Russian action but emphasized that Japan's defeat already was assured by the atomic bomb.

Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., of the Senate foreign relations committee predicted the joint development would bring a speedy end to the Pacific war.

"Russia should be able to drive the Japanese out of the mainland of Asia," he said. "The atomic bomb and our navy will conquer the Japanese homeland."

many ground installations.

Most of the planes destroyed were parked on the ground, but the Japanese did manage a small-scale raid on the fleet. It was smothered promptly, two planes being shot down before they got within sight of the ships and two others being downed by antiaircraft fire.

This was the first enemy air effort against the fleet since the mighty surface force won control of Japan's home seas a month ago.

Nimitz also announced one other offensive effort by the enemy, the torpedoing of an American victory ship at Ie Shima near Okinawa on July 27. The aerial torpedo blew a hole in the ship's side but caused no casualties and did not interfere with unloading.

The Superfortress aerial offensive to the south thundered into its fourth straight day. A moderate task force heaped 500 tons of demolition bombs on the Amagasaki oil refinery and storage tank farm in a bid to wipe out that battered fuel center near Osaka.

Over the mainland the swarms of carrier bomber and fighters ranged almost unopposed, raining exploding steel, rockets and bullets on air dromes, railways, shipping and other targets.

Girl Gets 50 Years

procedural "carbon copy" of the Monday strategy of her hitchhiking companion A. J. Wright, jr. She had pleaded guilty of the fatal shooting June 17 of W. T. Lamb, under stipulation the state would recommend life imprisonment.

The jury received the case about 11:30 o'clock, after the state had romped through abbreviated testimony akin to what was offered in Wright's case. The defense did not present any witnesses, rested when the state rested, closed when the state closed. Both side waived arguments before the jury.

There was no hesitancy in the actions of the pretty shapely girl whose modish white dress contrasted sharply with her curly black hair.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks read the indictment, and the court asked for the girl's plea.

"Guilty."

Wright Monday had pleaded guilty under the same stipulation, after going into court fortified by testimony that made him appear to have intelligence of a normal 10-year-old child. He was formally sentenced to life in prison.

Wright and Miss Garner, who was married last year to a soldier of DeQueen, Ark., admitted in writing after their arrest the early morning of June 18 that they had hijacked C. B. Leaird of Cisco near Weatherford June 16, driven to Brownfield in Leaird's car and held up a filling station, driven to Lubbock and attempted robbery of Lowrimore's station at 2301 Nineteenth. They admitted that Lamb, night attendant, had resisted, taken the gun held by Miss Garner and fought Wright with it. Wright fired a shot that fatally injured Lamb, and the boy and girl fled in their bullet marked car. The car was overturned at the southern end of the Slide road, and a four-county manhunt traced the fugitives 25 miles before the capture.

The girl subsequently attempted to prove she was a juvenile, but could offer no satisfactory proof in a special hearing.

President Warns Jap Civilians To Evacuate From Industrial Cities

found to control it so as "to protect ourselves and the rest of the world from the danger of total destruction."

"The atomic bomb," Mr. Truman declared, "is too dangerous to be loose in a lawless world."

Renounces Territorial Gains

The President, renouncing for the United States any territorial gains or profits or selfish advantage from this war, made it plain, nevertheless, that this country intends to have the military bases "experts deem to be essential for our protection."

Those not now in our possession, he said, will be acquire under arrangements consistent with the United Nations charter.

Desire For Peace Stressed

Mr. Truman did not disclose what strategic areas he has in mind which this country does not already hold.

The United Nations, he asserted, are determined there shall be no next war because what is being done to Japan now "is only a small fraction of what would happen to the world in a third world war."

The desire for peace, the President said, was the guiding spirit at the Potsdam conference and at the San Francisco conference and "will be in the peace settlements to come."

"There were no secret agreements or commitments — apart from current military arrangements — the President said in his analysis of the Potsdam parley.

Must Have Senate O. K.

Whether some were suggested, Mr. Truman did not say, but he asserted it was made plain to his conference colleagues that, under the constitution, the American president has no power to make treaties without Senate ratification.

The President spent most of his time dwelling on Potsdam decisions already announced in a communique at the conclusion of the conference. These decisions dealt principally with arrangements for writing peace treaties and keeping Germany subdued.

Pressed For Navigation

He did disclose in addition, that the United States pressed for "free and unrestricted navigation" of Europe's inland waterways. But the question was referred to a council of foreign ministers which the Big Three set up.

The United States intend to press for adoption of its suggestion in this council, the President said.

He mentioned the Danube river, the Black Sea straits, the Rhine river, the Kiel canal and "all of the inland waterways of Europe which border on two or more states."

Dardanelles Not Mentioned

(Turkey straddles the strategic Dardanelles, and Mr. Truman did not mention that passageway).

Selfish control of waterways, the President said, has been one of the persistent causes of war in Europe.

Of Germany, Mr. Truman said: "We are going to do what we can to make Germany over into a decent nation, so that it may eventually work its way from the economic chaos it has brought upon itself, back into a place in the civilized world."

The purpose of reparations is, first, to take out of Germany everything with which she can prepare for another war, Mr. Truman said. The second, he said, is to help devastated countries recover by using German equipment and material.

Compromise On Poland

Conceding that Poland had offered a difficult problem, the President indicated that the decision for a temporary western frontier for that nation was reached by compromise.

While the final boundary is to be settled at the peace table, the chief executive said there was much to justify setting a provisional border. This was necessary, he said, to enable the new Poland to organize, and to permit speedier withdrawal of armed forces (Russian) which had liberated her from the Germans.

To Take Over Provinces

Poland will take over a portion of several German provinces, but in them, the President said, there are only about a million and a half Germans left.

The boundary arrangement, he said, will provide "a short and more easily defensible frontier between Poland and Germany."

Turning to the destructive atomic bomb, Mr. Truman said our enemies were close to finding its secret and that it would have been disastrous to America, all peaceful nations, and to all civilization had they discovered it first.

To Control Bomb

"Having found the bomb, we have used it," he said. "We have used it against those who attacked us without warning at Pearl Harbor, against those who have starved and beaten and executed American prisoners of war, against those who have abandoned all pretense of obeying international laws of warfare."

He said he would ask Congress to cooperate in controlling the future of the bomb and in using its power as "an overwhelming influence toward world peace."

"We must constitute ourselves trustees of this new force to prevent its misuse," he said, "and to turn it into the channels of service to mankind. It is awful responsibility which has come to us.

Thank God It Came To Us

"We thank God that it has come to us, instead of to our enemies and we pray He may guide us to use it in His way and for His purposes."

But the strongest and most creative force now present in the world, Mr. Truman said, is the realization that "this basic proposition of the worth and dignity of man is not a sentimental aspiration or a vain hope or a piece of rhetoric."

"Now let us use that force and all our resources and all our skills," he implored, "in the great cause of a just and lasting peace.

"The three great powers are now more closely than ever bound together in determination to achieve that kind of peace. From Teheran, and the Crimea, and San Francisco and Berlin—we shall continue to march together to our objective."

The President spoke in dramatic words of the devastation and damage he had seen in Europe and declared the German people "are beginning to atone for the crimes of the gangsters whom they placed in power." He voiced his gratitude that America had been spared the destruction of war.

While many political and economic questions came up at Potsdam, the President said, the most important item on the program of the American delegates was winning the war against Japan.

To Establish Council

In the non-military field, Mr. Truman said, the first decision was on establishing in London a council of the foreign ministers of Big Three powers and those of France and China. This council has been given the job of preparing for the negotiation of European peace treaties — with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

The council also will start preparatory work for a peace settlement with Germany when what whipped nation is ready for it.

The President sketched through the arrangements for keeping Germany under control — through eliminating Nazism, armaments, war industries, the general staff and all military tradition. He spoke of decentralization of industry and the chief emphasis to be put on agriculture and peaceful industries.

To Exact Reparations

"German economic power to make war is to be eliminated," he said. "The Germans are not to have a higher standard of living than their former victims, the people of the defeated and occupied countries of Europe."

In exacting reparations, he said, the mistake will not be made of requiring monetary payments and then lending Germany the cash with which to pay. Reparations this time, he said will be paid in physical assets not required for Germany's peacetime subsistence.

"Must Help Europe"

For Europe as a whole, the President foresaw distress in the coming winter. Europe is hungry, he said, and many people — not only the Germans — lack clothes and fuel and tools and shelter and raw materials, and means to restore cities and factories.

"We must help to the limits of our strength," he said. "And we will."

For, he observed, desperate men might destroy the structure of their society. And if Europe goes cold and hungry, he said, we may loose some of the foundations of order on which the hope for world peace must rest.

Met Wife At Station

The President prefaced his 30-minute report to the nation tonight with White House conferences on atomic warfare and reconversion and a quick trip to Union Station to meet his wife.

Washington was swept by rumors that Japan would have an important announcement soon, that her surrender was imminent, that the world once more would be at peace within a matter of hours.

But the people in a position to know whether there might be some truth in them went calmly about their business. At the moment the flurry of reports reached their peak, Mr. Truman was at the station to welcome his wife back from a vacation at their Missouri home. And Secretary of State Byrnes was posing for pictures.

Hope Prevalent In Capital

Yet everywhere in the Capital there was hope, and even widespread expectation, that the Pacific enemy soon would recognize the futility of battling alone against the greatest array of military might ever assembled.

Atomic bombs had carried their message of destruction to two Nipponese cities, the Red army was storming across Manchuria's borders, and powerful radios beamed warnings to Japan of more blows to came.

Discuss Atomic Warfare

Military, diplomatic and scientific advisers were summoned to the White House to discuss atomic warfare with the President.

Secretary of War Stimson cancelled a news conference, and took with him to the White House Maj. Gen. Leslies Groves, who directed the work which resulted in converting the forces of nature into a weapon of war.

Secretary Bynes crossed the street from the State department, to sit in on the huddle. Joining it, too, were Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development; President James Conant of Harvard university; and George L. Harrison, former president of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

None would talk when the parley ended.

Defense For Petain

Judge Mongibeaux showed interest only in whether Petain as chief of state had approved formation of Darnand's agency and if he ever moved to halt its blood activities

Satisfied Over Invasion

De Brinon painted a picture of Petain as a man who fell early under the influence of his advisers.

At the time of the Allied landings in North Africa, De Brinon said, the old marshal expressed satisfaction over the invasion.

But when Pierre Laval, who has been called Petain's "evil genius," returned from Berlin and saw Petain, the marshal took an opposite view, de Brinon said.

"The marshal," de Brinon testified, "never believed France owed anything to Britain. But he thought we were indebted deeply to America and often said he would like to bring America and Germany into closer relation."

The Governor Decides Wisely

ONCE again Gov. Coke R. Stevenson has demonstrated that he places personal responsibility above ambition—and, once again, too, he has proven his justly earned reputation for political sagacity.

Recommended by Sen. Wilbert Lee O'Daniel for an appointment to the high office of federal district judge for West Texas, Governor Stevenson lost no time in making it clear that he is not interested in a federal judgeship at this time.

The governor added that he would not be interested in any other job until his term of governor is completed. He explained that he felt election to an office carried with it an obligation to finish the job.

This is a high ideal of official loyalty. What a pity more men in high offices do not share it with Coke Stevenson.

Accustomed to seeing high officials jump from one office to another like mountain goats, with little or no thought of loyalty to constituents, the general public will applaud the governor's stand.

Governor Stevenson again has shown that he takes his responsibilities seriously and that he is more interested in serving the people of Texas in his elected office than he is in securing a life-time job as federal jurist.

Furthermore, the governor must be fully aware of the fact that acceptance of a federal bench at this time would not be a wise political move since (1) it is entirely possible he may wish to run for another gubernatorial term and thus be "set up" to make the senatorial race against O'Daniel in 1948; and (2) no man in Texas public life can gain anything by becoming a recipient of an O'Daniel-inspired appointment.

"There ain't no flies" on Governor Stevenson, from either the standpoint of accepting personal responsibility, or of calling the political cards as they fall.

Something To Hope For

IT is significant that even among military men the opinion is growing that Japan can be defeated by air power alone—that an invasion will be unnecessary.

Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, the ace of World War I who become one of the heroes of World War II when he survived being forced down in the Pacific, has added his voice to those predicting that air might may finish off Japan.

Speaking in New York, he said:

"I believe that in a very short time the Japanese people and Japan's industry will be so demoralized and battered by the daily ration of atomic, demolition and incendiary bombs that they will cry quits."

There are several indications that what Rickenbacker predicts may come to pass—the hurried meetings of the jittery Japanese cabinet, the appointment of Kenkichi Yoshizawa, 71-year-old Japanese career diplomat and trouble-shooter, to the emperor's privy council in Tokyo, and Nipponese admissions of the terrific damage caused by the atomic bombing of Hiroshima.

Yes, instead of an invasion, only a mopping up campaign may be needed.

Let's hope so!

A Worthwhile Suggestion

"REMEMBER the Alamo!"

Just as those historic words once inspired Texans in their fight for independence, so a plan proposed recently by the Texas Federation of Women's clubs for keeping alive the heroism of this war promises to achieve a similar purpose.

The women's organization at its meeting clubs in the federation enlist the aid of county officials throughout the state in preserving the records of valorous deeds of Texans in World War II.

The clubs of the federation will petition the various commissioners' courts over the state, asking that these records be preserved for posterity.

It is a worthwhile idea. Texas has a military tradition of which she can well be proud, and it is a part of every citizen's duty to pay tribute to the memory of the brave Texans who rendered outstanding service in this crucial struggle.

The world is growing better in one respect, at least. Considerably fewer persons now bombard editors with home-made poetry.

One-Minute Sermon

And, behold, ye are risen up in fathers' stead, and increase of sinful men, to augment yet the fierce anger of the Lord toward Israel.

For if ye turn away from him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderness: and ye shall destroy all this people.

And they came near unto him, and said, we will build sheepfolds here for our cattle, and cities for our little ones:

But we ourselves will go ready armed before the children of Israel, until we have brought them unto their place: and our little ones shall dwell in the fenced cities because of the inhabitants of the land.—Numbers 32; 14 through 17.

OUT OF THIS WORLD

XVII

So far as is known, no white man ever before had seen the part of the world where Rosbert and Hammel crashed in their ice-encrusted plane; and surely no two men of any color or creed ever had a closer scrape with death. As I got the story during its many retellings at the cottage before Rosbert headed back to the States to recover his health and get a bone-setting job done on his shattered ankle, his plane took on a double load of ice when he tried to get back to Dinjan.

He kept gathering ice, and at last, out of the grayness beyond his windshield, a mountain peak virtually leaped at him. Instinctively, Rosbert swung hard on the controls to veer away, but it was too late. An instant later there was a terrific crash, and a jolt that snapped his right ankle like a matchstick and broke the neck of poor Li wong, the Chinese boy who had been my radio operator until that morning. Ridge Hammel's right ankle was badly sprained—making it pretty evident that no right rudder had ever been kicked harder by pilot and co-pilot together.

For three days the two men lived in the shelter of their mangled cabin, Rosbert in an agony of pain from his broken ankle. Hammel of little use to himself or his friend because of his own injury as well as the intense subzero cold that threatened to freeze them to death before the still-raging blizzard had died down. They hadn't even the strength to bury poor Li, but could only spread out his parachute and lay it over his body. On the third day, when their emergency rations were just about gone, the storm cleared and Hammel dragged himself out of the ship to discover that they were within crawling distance of a steep snow-packed decline. Studying the terrain below, Hammel noticed that the slope continued for several miles before reaching the scrubby black fringe of the timber line. He saw a chance for them to cover that entire distance without using their feet at all. He crawled back to the plane, explained his plan to Rosbert, and between them they bandaged their ankles with strips of parachute silk. Then they tore up a couple of floorboards from the plane's cabin and set out a probably the most collossal sleigh ride in the history of that sport.

All day long the two boys worked their way down the mountain from one ice-capped ridge to another. They would crawl on hands and knees from the foot of one decline to the top of another, then mount their individual "sleds," and, pushing over the edge, drop hundreds of yards in a few breathtaking seconds.

Rosebert had a pocket compass with him, and after they reached the timber line they held to a course roughly southwest, figuring that it would take them — if they lived long enough—to the neighborhood of Dinjan. There was a hundred miles between them and the field, however, the unexplored, unmapped territory of the Mishmi Hills, which are inhabited by aboriginal tribes of Mishmi-ites.

It was almost two weeks after Rosbert and Hammel crashed on the mountain peak that they crawled into a clearing and saw a small mud hut with a wisp of smoke curling out through a hole in the thatched roof.

The Mishmi-ites, whenever we had heard them mentioned before, had always been referred to as head-hunters, but they showed no inclination to decapitate Rosbert and Hammel. In fact they grew to like their guests, and were much impressed by the white men's watches, cigaret lighters and the zippers on their tattered flying jackets. When Rosbert produced a mechanical pencil and started drawing pictures on a piece of bark, showing an airplane flying through the air and crashing into a mountain, his fame spread through the hills like wildfire. Men, women and children from other tribes came to see these wonders. Finally, one day, a young boy came, an unusually bright-looking youngster, and after watching Joe draw pictures for a while he tried to explain that he wasn't satisfied with that; he wanted something different, something better. He pointed to Joe and then to the bark. Then he said the Mishmi word for "name" — which was one of the 200 words Joe and Ridge picked up during their month with the tribe—and Ridge laughted and said, "Hell, Joe, he wants your autograph."

Joe wrote his name on the bark and the boy got all excited. He was impatient to get his hands on it. Joe was just about to give it to him when it dawned on him what this bright youngster had in mind. In a fever of excitement he tore off the corner of a map he had brought with him and wrote more words, explaining who he and Hammel were and telling what had happened to them. The boy grabbed the paper and ran from the hut. Four days later he returned with a letter from the officer in command of a British scouting force saying that supplies were on their way and a medical officer would soon follow.

Shorter 'Plugs' On Air Urged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — Shorter commercials on daytime radio programs were urged today by the National Association of Broadcasters.

The NAB, in a revised code of practices for broadcasting, recommended that commercials used in the daytime be cut to the same length as those on night programs.

It suggested these standards for daytime commercials: one minute 45 seconds on a five-minute broadcast; one and a half minutes on a five-minute news broadcast; two and a half minutes on a 15-minute program: three minutes on a half-hour; and six minutes on a full hour program.

The NAB said, however, that it may take some time for radio stations to cut down the length of daytime commercials because of "existing station and network advertising commitments."

Revised Code Adopted

The revised code of broadcasting practices was adopted by the NAB board of directors Tuesday upon recommendations by its code committee, headed by Lee B. Wailes, manager of the Westinghouse radio stations.

NAB President J. Harold Ryan said the changes provide "a strong safeguard of free radio in America."

MONEY IS REFUNDED

CONROE, Aug. 9 (AP)—James V. The richest deposits of gold in Colorado were first found in the mountains about 100 miles from Denver.

Reduction In Houston Light Costs Approved

HOUSTON, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — The Houston city council, by agreement with the Houston Lighting and Power company, today had approved a $580,000 yearly reduction in light rates for consumers.

Also by mutual agreement, the 30-year-old profit-sharing agreement was repealed and a $103,350 a year cut was accepted in light and power rates for the opreation of Houston street lights and water and sewer pumping plants.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

SO MUCH has been printed recently about careful driving that I certainly had not expected to add anything to the many official warnings.

But I just had an experience which I shall not soon forget and which showed me how well-timed these warnings are.

I was on my way home from Danbury about a half hour ago and was driving along at a pretty good clip — about forty miles an hour.

Suddently I heard a terrific crash and then the screams of women.

BRANDEIS

I looked ahead and there, smack against a telephone pole was the most awful mess I have ever seen.

A little old car completely smashed. Glass broken. Fenders looking like crumpled tissue paper. Wheels off.

The car was partially overturned and the driver, bleeding from his forehead and covered with glass splinters, was sitting half-dazed in his seat.

• • •

And in the ditch were the other three passengers. Two women and a man. All were unconscious by this time. All were bleeding profusely. One of the women was groaning with pain.

The State Police car arrived, followed in a few minutes by an ambulance. The doctor looked at the passengers. One was dying. The others were in serious condition. The man had a possible fracture of the skull. The second woman apparently internal injuries.

The police officer questioned the driver who; by this time had come to life and who was the least seriously injured.

They were going on a picnic, he said. The car was old and the tires were in poor condition. All retreads.

He was going only about thirty-five miles an hour, he said, when suddenly there was a report like a shotgun. A blow-out.

He lost control of the car and it swerved way over to the wrong side of the road and crashed into the pole.

• • •

IF another car had come in the opposite direction all four and the passengers in the other car might have been killed instantly.

The accident occurred on a much-traveled highway, and five minutes after it occurred more than fifty cars were parked on both sides of the road with the drivers and passengers looking on.

I, myself, missed the crash by less then thirty seconds, and I have a hard time writing this. I am still shaking.

My tires are retreads. My car is old. My brakes aren't as good as they might be.

How about yours?

U. S. Could Testify For Petain

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

MARSHAL Henri Petain's defense lawyers in his treason trial could obtain excellent ammunition for their side were they permitted to scan the secret files of the American State department. In fact, Franklin Roosevelt would have been their finest witness were he alive today and felt that he could intervene in a seemingly domestic problem.

The Allies played Petain for all he was worth as a national and heroic symbol after the French armies collapsed. But the assignment of handling "the old man"—the State department's description of him — as entrusted to the United States because of Parisian hostility toward England at that particular moment, and especially after Churchill's warships bombarded French units interned in North Africa.

TUCKER

Washington deliberately sent Admiral William D. Leahy as Ambassador to Vichy because he had been a World War I crony of Petain. He was supposed to be the one American representative who could influence the Marshal in favor of the United Nations. State Department gossips, reveling in their cleverness, used to tell of the two veterans' wine dinners at Vichy, their reminiscences of their experiences in the last conflict and of Leahy's "way with Petain."

For the same reason we maintained close relations with the French ruling group in North Africa, although we suspected that the late Admiral Darlan and other colonial figures were pro-Nazi. Cordell Hull, it may be remembered now, was subjected to severe criticism because he permitted Robert D. Murphy and his staff to remain there, and because we also shipped food, oil and machinery to that area.

SPIES: In off-the-record, defensive conferences former Secretary of State Hull used to explain in detailed but guarded language that both policies were based on selfish, materialistic and pragmatic diplomacy.

Mr. Hull pointed out that by maintaining close relations with the Petain government through Admiral Leahy, we hoped to prevent Vichy from letting Hitler get the French fleet and from using unoccupied France and Spain as bases from which Der Fuehrer might have blocked our invasion of North Africa.

By keeping Murphy at Casablanca, Mr. Hull boasted, we kept alive Free French hopes of eventual American entrance into the war and of liberation of France and her colonies from the German grip.

We also were allowed to maintain an Intelligence service in North Africa, and this agency contributed heavily to success of the Allied invasion in November of 1942. Under the guise of commercial and diplomatic attaches, we slipped in many naval and military experts whose reconnaissance aided the original Eisenhower offensive.

In each instance we attained our objective. The Germans did not take over the French fleet which, combined with the Italians' and Germans' warships, would have made a powerful navy. They did not move into unoccupied France until it was too late to defeat the Eisenhower invasion. Our spies in North Africa helped to make possible our conquest of that continent, and our subsequent attacks on "the soft underbelly of Europe"—Sicily, Italy and Southern France.

This is the evidence which diplomatic documents now secreted at Washington could furnish for the old, deaf and discredited defendant at Paris.

• • •

JAPAN: We played the same game with Petain that we did with Hirohito in the years before Pearl Harbor's "day that will live long in infamy." Mr. Hull became the object of scorn in some circles because he continued to permit the sale of petroleum to Japan even at a time when we knew of her hostile intentions and plans.

The former Secretary of State was attacked because he did not break off relations with Tokyo and recall Ambassador Joe Grew. He never bothered to answer his critics because circumstances then did not permit an open dealings with Petain.

But President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull thought they had good reason for pursuing both policies. We sold oil to Japan even after she became a member of the anti-Comintern alliance because, otherwise, she might have invaded the Dutch or British East Indies to obtain that essential commodity for war making.

• • •

TIME: Neither the British nor ourselves were ready on the water, on the land or in the air to resist her at that moment. The delay resulting from sales of low octane to Tokyo gave London and Washington more time to prepare for the eventual Pearl Harbor attack—at least two years. Meanwhile, Grew's continued residence in Tokyo gave him and his staff time to obtain fragments of information which helped us when the destined conflict came.

Thus, from the Anglo-American standpoint, Petain was not such a bad guy. Unlike Laval, Washington and London did not consider him an out-and-out traitor.

The only reason why Messrs. Hull, Leahy, Churchill, Murphy and others have not gone to the rescue of the Savior of Verdun is that present-day diplomatic problems do not permit us to buck the anti-collaborotionist sentiment of a crushed, ashamed and resurgent France.

WINNING THE WAR
By AlbertLeman

HOW EFFECTIVELY will the Potsdam economic provisions regarding defeated Germany work?

New York industrialists say that to make a reasonable forecast one must recognize more than surface developments. Never before in modern history has a country of Germany's size and economic potential been ruled by foreign powers for so long a period as that contemplated by the Big Three.

The Draconian terms plug loopholes through which Germany escaped the penalties imposed after World War I. But they also raise new problems which must be solved if there is to be lasting peace.

LEMAN

The old international trade system of Europe, disrupted by the war, has now been wiped out and an entirely new order projected. Previously the Reich was the keystone of this system, exchanging coal and industrial good for the farm and mineral products of the Continent.

German industry has been uprooted and little as yet been planted in its place. Acute shortages of food, fuel, textiles, transportation and manufactured goods in neighboring states are a direct result of the breakdown in German mining.

• • •

CHEMICALS: American representatives now sit on the Emergency Economic committee for Europe, European Central Inland Transport committee and European Coal organization and soon will join groups of experts specializing in fertilizers and petroleum.

These are over-all emergency bodies. The Potsdam decree lays the foundation for permanent mechanisms to control Germany.

We not only must police the Reich in the military sense, we must also have inspectors constantly on the alert to make certain that production of chemicals, metals and other items vital to a war economy is restricted to Germany's peacetime needs.

Nitrogen is used both for fertilizer and high explosives. Major installations can be watched but considerable amounts might be obtained secretly from seemingly harmless coke ovens and municipal gas plants.

As the enemy apparently is to be reduced nearly to the status of an agricultural nation, cheap nitrates will be necessary to yield big crops; improverished farmers could not afford fertilizers from abroad.

"Eating onions regularly will keep one in the best of health," says a physician. Maybe so, but isn't loneliness too great a price to pay for a tip-top health?

State Of Stomach Affects Political Trends

It's U. S. Food, Vs. Communism

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The state of the stomach has much to do with political beliefs.

The worse the hunger, the stronger the appeal for the most extreme political doctrines.

Empty bellies, cold bodies, sordid lives breed Communism. They also breed revolution from which most anything may come, including dictators. History is full of the evidence. Even in our own country, in our own times, during the depression, there were once comfortably fixed folks, down on their luck, who got to thinking very radically, some of Communism. The mayors of our big cities found out about that.

STOKES

We pulled ourselves out of that dangerous period.

Continental Europe is in a much worse condition today than this country ever was at any time. She faces a tough winter, according to reliable diagnosis. Overhanging her, to the east, is a great nation founded on Communism, undoubtedly eager for converts.

The struggle is on for Europe's political soul. The coming winter might well decide which way she goes—whether she falls prey to Communism, or whether she revives herself and takes the road to something approaching political democracy such as we espouse.

• • •

U. S. Recognizes Need

Food might swing the balance.

Our government is conscious of this conflict, and our government has most to gain from the decision. We will have to shoulder the major part of the burden—though not all—of preventing starvation in Europe this winter. The Truman administration has recognized that responsibility.

Down in their hearts it seems certain that a majority of the American people are ready to help as much as humanly possible, both for humanitarian and political reasons. Some are hostile and openly so—obviously a minority — and among those are some who shriek loudest about the menace of Communism. There are, on the other hand, some zelaous people, well-intentioned, who would go to the other extreme and be too liberal at the expense of our needs at home.

• • •

THERE is, however, a middle ground based on the theory of helping Europe to help herself. It will not take much of our food, when you consider the total, but even if it required a small sacrifice, it would be worth it. It would minimize disorder and the inherent political dangers.

A little can go a long way if there is careful planning and good organization.

A survey disclosed that there is a lack of both careful planning and organization here among the various agencies which have supervision of food allocation and distribution in Europe. It has become a serious problem, and officials are much concerned about it.

This is borne out in reports prepared for President Truman by officials recommending methods of reorganizing the European food program so that it can operate as effectively as possible under certain recognized handicaps. These include a shortage of shipping and congestion of internal transportation due to redeployment to the Pacific.

• • •

Authority Badly Split

Heretofore, the President has demonstrated a keen interest in the European food situation. He is conscious of its potentialities political and otherwise, and is expected to take action to straghten out the administrative tangle. Very likely he received first-hand reports on the food problem while abroad. Several top officials are in England now at the UNRRA meeting where they should get the latest information.

The chief difficulty here seems to be a diffusion of responsibility among various agencies concerned. They include the Combined Food board, the Foreign Economic administration, the Agricultural department, and the State department, among others. There is no direct line of authority and it is almost impossible to find out just what is to be done and who is to do it.

• • •

IT IS A hit-and-miss business. There seems to be no definite, co-ordinated, balanced program that takes account of all the factors involved in their proper perspective — the Army, the domestic situation, the European food needs, even though it is getting late and the winter of Europe's discontent is not far off.

Other aspects of this problem will be discussed later.

Texas Girl Appointed Vice Consul To Bogota

DENTON, Aug. 9. (AP) — Miss Margaret Hays of Gainesville and Denton, former member of the North Texas State Teachers college faculty and a graduate of the college, has been appointed U. S. vice consul to Bogota, Colombia, W. J. McConnell, college president, said he had been informed today.

She will take a five weeks' training course in Washington before leaving for her post.

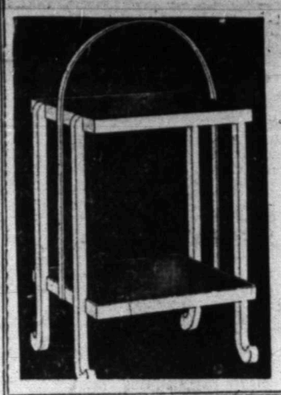

Miss Hays, the daughter of Mrs. P. O. Hays of Gainesville, formerly worked in the United States embassy in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced more than $1 a bale in the final hour of trading today on aggressive commission house and trade buying together with short covering which met a scarcity of contracts.

Strength in the stock market and lower crop prospects this season were also firming influences. Traders felt that early end of hostilities would not affect heavy consumption of cotton since civilian and export demand are large.

The market weakened slightly in early dealings on brighter war prospects.

Futures closhed 65 to 90 cents a bale higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Cotton futures closed very steady 65 to 85 cents a bale higher here today. The absence of any substantial long liquidation, despite highly favorable developments in the Pacific, caused new buying. The greater part of the buying appeared to come from mill price fixing.

Federal Control Urged For Atomic Energy

RICHLAND, Wash., Aug. 9. (AP)—Belief that use of atomic energy should always remain in the control of the government was expressed today by Walter O. Simon, civilian manager of the Hanford bomb plant, who reported the du Pont company will receive a $1 profit from the $350,000,000 operation.

Simon said the firm is giving no thought to postwar operation, and that to his knowledge, it is the only plant du Pont is operating on a cost-plus $1 fee basis.

Russian Forces Driving Straight Into Concentrated Jap Strength

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. — The Red Army has chosen the obvious routes into Manchuria, attacking across the desert from the west and up the broad valley of the Amur river from the northeast.

Moscow's first communique said that on the west the important railway town of Manchouli had been captured and that Soviet troops had fought their way ten miles inside prepared Japanese defenses.

WHITE

This front extended southward around 150 miles to the Buir lake region where the fierce fighting of 1939 around Momonhan took place.

Directly athwart this western drive lies the massive Hsingan mountain range, guarding Japan's main industrial development around Mukden, farther east.

Penetrating Great Defenses

The drive presumably is penetrating great defenses which the Japanese Kwantung army has been building for years behind Manchouli.

Since Japan invaded China in 1937 there have been repeated stories among the Chinese of large forced-labor gangs taken to the Manchouli-Hailar region to work on vast concrete projects. The stories usually had the laborers killed and buried in the fortifications they had been forced to help build.

Taking Easier Way

The other arm of the Soviet offensive is taking a somewhat easier way into one remaining—and largely intact—concentration of Japanese strength. Crossing the Ussuri river from the maritime provinces it is making its way up (southwestward) the Amur valley and is following in reverse the most likely direction of any Japanese drive which might have been made to cut off eastern Siberia.

Meanwhile, according to the Tokyo radio, a protective Soviet move has been made near northern Korea in a thrust past the northeastern little Manchurian town of Hunchun. Japanese officers told me in 1938 that Hunchun would be their base if they ever made a swift drive into maritime Siberia to cut off Vladivostok.

Russian Waiter Just Couldn't Hold His Emotions Any Longer

HOUSTON, Aug. 9 (U.P.)—When the news flashed that Russia had declared war against Japan, Sam Adzgery, a waiter at Houston's Rice hotel, almost dropped his tray.

Then, while everybody smiled, Russian-born Sam broke into song and lustily gave forth with "The Volga Boatman."

Each waiter and waitress in the Rice said that Sam was happy now that his mother country had joined his adopted country in the fight to sink the Rising Sun.

Sam was born in Minsk and came to America when he was 18. Now he's 48 and has lived in Houston for 30 years. He is a typical Russian, the kind you see in the movies—sturdy, squat and dark, with a quick flashing smile and always ready with a bone-crushing slap on the back.

However glad Sam was that "my Rooshia" came into the fight, he is quick to let you know that he is an American citizen and that he fought in the U. S. Army in World War I and would have been in this one too, only he is too old.

"I can really sing 'America' much better than 'The Volga Boatman,'" Sam grinned.

Of Russia's entry into the conflict, Sam philosophically said:

"There will be more dead Japs. The war will end sooner."

Sam said that tonight he was going to celebrate the good news.

"Tonight," he said, "I will as an American citizen drink a toast of bourbon to Mr. Stalin's decision, and as a man of 'Roosian' blood, I will drink a toast of vodka to President Truman."

Then, with a whistle on his lips, Sam loaded his tray onto his shoulder and disappeared into the kitchen.

Army Sergeant Is So Good At Bread-Baking Japs Try To Steal It

GUAM (AP)—The trouble with Sgt. Nick Mesko is he tends to excell at any job.

Mesko is an Army baker. His bread, hot from the oven, has such an appetizing aroma that hungry Japanese risk their lives to steal it.

In defense of his bread, Mesko turned Japanese killer. Now, he has become so good, that the infantry wants him and he's soon to desert his bakery and become a full-time fighting man.

Mesko, whose home is at Bethlehem, Pa., insists that he tracks down Japanese by smell in leading patrols that are rounding up Guam's lurking stragglers.

"We sneak along the jungle trails," he explained, "until we can smell their camp fires. They haven't any mosquito repellent or any nets left so they try to keep the mosquitoes off with smoke."

Patrols led by Mesko have killed eleven Nipponese bread-stealing soldiers in recent weeks.

"A couple of those hide-out Japs we shot the other day," he declared, "had loaves of half eaten bread still on them."

Mesko is one of the bakers in the well-equipped quartermaster company here which turns out 27,000 pounds of bread daily.

Canning Sugar To Be Issued Again To Those Who Got But 5 Pounds

Canning sugar will be issued for the second time to applicants who previously only received five pounds per person, George H. Wilson, chief clerk of Lubbock County War Price and Rationing Board, said Thursday.

At the time applicants received certificates for five pounds per person, the board also mailed a mimeographed form will be eligible for the second five pounds, Wilson pointed out.

Applicants are asked to fill out the mimeographed form and mail to the local board.

The board is continuing to accept applications for the first issurance of canning sugar. The first application must be on a regular form obtained from the board. Spare stamp number 13 must be attached for each person included in the application.

All These Things And More Will Be Available When Japs Cry "Uncle"; We Hope Soon

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 — The time has come (I don't want to get scooped, do I?) to dream about the coming peace insofar as it concerns fountain pens that don't need ink, beautiful legs and houses that dust themselves.

After the Japs cry "uncle," Americans will begin to get not only things they've forgotten, but devices they never thought about. For instance:

Machine of Many Uses

In Chicago today—and I'm not trying to be funny—engineers of one of the big electric manufacturing companies are rushing into production a combination dish rinser, bread mixer, ice cream maker, potato peeler and clothes washer. It'll also crack nuts, whip eggs, and shake up sidecar cocktails.

So this is a list of those that will be available after the conclusion of peace; the dope comes from government officials, excited manufacturers, and my own goggle-eyes:

Elastic Will Stretch

Nylon hosiery will begin to decorate the legs of the ladies in a matter of weeks after the war is ended; elastic that stretches will return to garters. There'll be plenty of gasoline; enough tires for everybody.

Radios will come up at once with frequency modulation; as will phonographs that have no needle scratch. A half dozen electric companies will have for sale a gadget (for about $300) that sucks the air in a house, removes dirt from same, and returns it so clean the dust rag will be no more. Air conditioners are ready to warm the house in winter and cool it in summer at about $750 each.

Pipes Won't Burst

There'll be plastic window screens that can't rust. Or maybe you won't want 'em at all, because DDT, the death-to-bugs juice, also is available. On tap are plastic pipes that swell instead of burst when the water freezes. I saw the tablecloth of aluminum thread that may be cleaned with a garden hose; I also saw the foil wrappers that will keep oranges fresh for six months on the shelf.

Bolts and nuts that won't shake from lawnmowers, sewing machines, and baby scooters are here. So is the magnesium wheelbarrow that weighs little more than a feather pillow.

Soap That Isn't Really

There's house paint that won't get chalky and wash off in the rain; rugs no cigaret can burn; wallpaper that may be scrubbed with soap and water.

Then there's soap that isn't really; the experts call it a detergent. It'll clean your neck without leaving a ring in the tub.

The fountain pen that needs a refill once in two years and writes under water (in case you're a mermaid) is being made in South America now; an American manufacturer who calls it a writing miracle will start producing it on the happy day.

Wool socks that won't shrink are in the works; pants that hold their crease indefinitely are promised by a St. Louis chemical company. It doesn't make the pants; just the stuff in which they're soaked.

All these things and more (including lower taxes, maybe) will arrive after the peace.

Peace, it'll be wonderful, almost as soon as the Japs throw in the sponge. (Your new synthetic sponge, incidentally, will last the rest of your life.)

Drop In Military Gas Stocks Is Reported

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP) — A sharp decline in military gasoline stocks for the week ended August 4 was reported today by the American Petroleum institute. There was a modest drop in civilian stocks and total production of gasoline. Fuel oil stocks were higher.

Total gasoline production of 16,053,000 barrels compared with 16,106,000 in the preceding week.

Smaller Harvest Seen In Europe

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The combined food board of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration said today that the European harvest this year likely would be from 10 to 15 per cent less than in 1944.

In a report to the third conference of UNRRA the board, which weighs the demands upon food stocks available to UNRRA and controls their distribution, said the outlook for the 1945-46 crop year "can only be viewed with grave misgivings."

To Supply Countries

The report, signed by representatives of the United States, Britain and Canada, urged liberated countries "to make the fullest use of their own resources" and said that every effort would be made to supply those countries with fertilizers, farm machinery and other materials necessary to food production.

International allocation of scarce food supplies will have to continue at least until after Japan's defeat to prevent "wild inflation of prices," the board said.

Discussions on planning relief and rehabilitation for China were moved into a top place on the conference agenda now that the use of the atomic bomb and Russia's declaration of war on Japan have raised the possibility of an early termination of the Pacific war.

Jap Homeland Now Laid Open For Sustained Air Raids On All Sides

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—Russia's entry into the Pacific war today opened the Japanese homeland to sustained air attacks from all directions.

Air bases in eastern Siberia will permit bombing planes to smash at Hokkaido, northernmost of the enemy's home islands, which has been relatively free from air attacks. The bases will also fill the one weak gap in the blockade around Japan; planes can now sweep the northern end of the sea of Japan where up to now enemy shipping has been able to slip through to Korea.

No Bases In Siberia

It remains to be seen whether U. S. as well as Russian planes will use Siberian bases. We have no bases in Siberia now.

Undoubtedly the question of coordinating the strategy and war effort of the Russians wtih the American and British figured in the military discussions at Potsdam. This may have included the use of Siberian air bases.

Military observers foresaw early destruction of Japan's military might in China and Manchuria by the blitzkreig-geared Russian Far Eastern army. This might come within a matter of months if the Japanese don't yield before them. Russia, it was said, obviously has been assigned the job of dealing with Japan's continental army, thus relieving the United States of a terrific burden.

Russians Bottle Veterans

The Japanese have an estimated 2,000,000 men in China and Manchuria. The Russians reportedly have 1,000,000, but with many times that number of battle-seasoned veterans in reserve. Furthermore, the Japanese are being harrassed even now by the increasingly aggressive Chinese forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. And there is also the Chinese Communist army, with its well-disciplined forces.

Little or no direct help in invasion of the Japanese homeland itself is likely from Russia.

Even before Russia's declaration of war on Japan was announced, competent military observers reported indications that the Japanese, facing utter destruction from atomic bombing in their homeland, were attempting to establish some sort of a national redoubt in China north of Shanghai.

More Atomic Bombs Due

There is evidence, these observers said, that Japanese forces withdrawing from the south China coastal regions are being pulled into an area along the Yellow sea north of the Yangtze river. One of the experts said the build-up in that area led him to believe that the Japanese were setting up there their "citadel of the Asiatic mainland."

Even without further use of atomic bombs, upon which many officials are pinning hope of early Japanese surrender, Japan might be defeated within the next three to six months now that Russia has gone to war with its traditional Pacific enemy, observers said. But there will be more atomic bombs.

Military experts do not expect any sensational moves by either Japan or Russia in the first few days of the war. They look for a brief sparring period before major blows are struck.

INDIANS PLAN DANCE

KEAMS CANYON, Ariz., Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Hopi Indians in the Keams Canyon area will hold their annual snake dance Aug. 22 on the Second mesa, Burton Ladd, superintendent of the Hopi agency here, announced today.

Temporary plans call for a second snake dance on the First Mesa Aug. 24 or 25, Ladd said.

Railroading In India 75 Years Behind The States, Sergeant Says

TEMPLE, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—The "Assam Mail" may be to a fast limited as a T-bone is to a T-bone steak, but, nevertheless, GIs are serving aboard that line which runs from Bengal to Assam in India.

For example, Sgt. Ancil P. Juby, who is a veteran of 20 years of stateside railroading, joined GIs from all over the nation to run the Army's train network in the heat and rains of India.

"Railroading in India is at least 75 years behind that in the States," said the sergeant, who is now recovering from wounds received when he fell beneath the wheels of a train and lost his legs.

Comparing the railroads of the two countries, Juby stated, "in India there are three gauges of tracks. When a shipment goes from one guage to the other, there is nothing to do but unload from one set of cars and reload on the other—making a lot of work." Also there are three classes of passenger service. Either one sits in a compartment, on a seat, or, if your travel third class, on top, bottom or either side of the train, according to Juby.

He is the son of Otto Juby of Dewey, Okla.

WAC Can Now Tell Why She Couldn't Explain Experiences

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Alene Carter, former WAC stationed at the Army's secret atomic bomb testing grounds, said today there were two main reasons why no one discussed the mysterious goings-on at the New Mexico base.

"In the first place," she explained, "we were afraid to. And in the second place, no one would have believed us."

Miss Carter, a patent draftsman on the project for 15 months before her discharge last April, said she was still "almost scared" to talk about the giant bomb.

Being stationed at the remote scientific laboratory at Los Alamos, N. M., was like being in another world, Miss Carter recalled. She said that Army personnel isolated on the desert base had dubbed it "Lost Almost."

Miss Carter, darkhaired young woman with hazel eyes and a quiet voice, said she had been told to inform her friends that she was going overseas when she was selected to join the atomic bomb staff.

Her mail was censored and until now she had been unable to explain to her parents why she could not describe any of her experiences on "foreign soil."

6 medium onions (2½ cups)
6 green peppers (2½ cups)
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 cup New Orleans molasses
3 tablespoons salt
4 cups vinegar
3 teaspoons whole allspice
3 three-inch sticks cinnamon
6 teaspoons whole cloves

Chop first 3 ingredients fine; add sugar, molasses, salt, vinegar, and spices tied in a cheesecloth bag. Simmer, uncovered, 2½ to 3 hours, or until quite thick. Remove spice bag. Pour immediately into clean, hot jars. Adjust covers as directed by manufacturer. Set on wire rack in covered, deep kettle with boiling water to cover tops one inch. Process 30 minutes. Remove; immediately adjust seal according to manufacturer's directions. Makes about 6 pints.

Chili Sauce

3 peppers
¼ cup molasses
2 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Remove skin from tomatoes and onions. Quarter the tomatoes. Chop onions and peppers fine. Combine all ingredients in saucepan and boil gently (uncovered) for about 1 hour or until it is of desired consistency. Stir occasionally. Pour into bottles and seal with paraffin.

You'll want these two sugar-extending winter treats, too:

Green Tomato Mincemeat

2 pounds green tomatoes
2 pounds tart apples
2 cups (1 pounds) seeded raisins
2½ cups dark corn syrup
1½ cups brown sugar
½ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon ground cloves
¾ teaspoon ground allspice
¾ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 teaspoons salt

Quarter and core tomatoes and apples; add raisins, and put through food chopper, using coarse blade. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly until soft. Add remaining ingredients and simmer uncovered until thick and clear, stirring very frequently. Completely fill hot sterilized jars and seal immediately.

Mincemeat

3½ pounds tart apples
½ pound lean beef
½ pound suet, chopped
3 cups seedless raisins
1½ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1½ teaspoons cloves
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup cider vinegar
½ cup molasses
¼ cup cold coffee
1 cup liquid in which beef was cooked
Grated rind of 1 orange
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Juice of 2 oranges
Juice of 2 lemons

Pare and grind apples (fine) with meat, which has been cooked until tender. (Save liquid in which meat was cooked.) Stir in suet, fruit, and sugar, which has been sifted with spices and salt. Mix thoroughly and add other ingredients in order named, mixing well after each. Heat thoroughly and seal in hot sterlized jars until ready for use.

Summer Julep Will Delight The Family

A pitcher of cool orange punch with a base of tea made fragrant with lemon and orange peel is a most welcome treat on summer days. Try Summer Sunday julep. Uses no sugar. Serves 6.

2 tablespoons tea
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
15 to 20 mint leaves
2 cups boiling water
¾ cup honey or syrup
3 cups orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
1 unpeeled orange, sliced
Mint sprigs

Combine tea, grated citrus peel and mint leaves. Pour boiling water over them and let steep about 5 minutes. Strain, and add sweetening. Stir to dissolve. Cool. Add orange and lemon juice. Pour over cracked ice in 6 tall glasses. Garnish with orange slices and top with sprig of fresh mint.

RASPBERRY MINT SAUNDE

2 cups raspberries
Juice of one lemon
2 tablespoons honey
½ cup light corn syrup
1 cup water
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 teaspoon chopped mint

Pick over and wash berries and sprinkle lemon juice over them. Combine honey, corn syrup and water in a saucepan and boil 15 minutes. Pour syrup over raspberries and stir thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve dessert, pile vanilla ice cream into four individual dishes, pour the sauce over the cream and sprinkle chopped mint over all.

Highly perishable fruits and vegetables will probably be shipped to market by air in the future.

Indian Custard Is Pointless Dessert

1/3 cup yellow corn meal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1 quart milk
1/2 cup molasses
1/8 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon butter

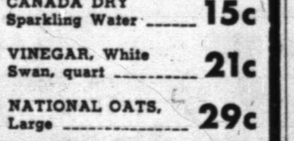

Combine corn meal, salt, cinnamon and ginger. Scald 2 cups milk; add to corn meal slowly, stirring constantly. Add molasses and baking soda; mix well. Add remaining cold milk; stir well. Cook over hot water, stirring, until slightly thickened (about 15 minutes). Pour into greased baking dish. Dot butter over top. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in slow oven (300°F.) about 2 hours. Serve hot. If desired, serve with light cream. Serves 6.

COFFEE WHIP

Can What You Can In Aug. And Do It Without Sugar

SUGAR helps canned fruit to hold its shape, color and flavor, but it is not necessary to keep fruits from spoiling, says Helen L. Edwards, assistant home demonstration agent. With present sugar shortages, canning without sugar will help homemakers to conserve the large surplus of peaches this summer, and will add many cans of fruit to the pantry shelves and to next winter's menus. Plain boiling water or fruit juice is used instead of syrup if the sugar or sugar substitute is not available. To make the fruit juice, wash the softer peaches. Crush and grind them; then strain if a clearer juice is desired. Wash, peel and remove seed from firm peaches. Complete the canning operation by packing the raw peaches into a clean jar or can. Bring fruit juice or water to a boil and pour over the packed fruit. Leave ½ inch headspace. Steam before sealing; pints, 10 minutes; quarts 15 minutes; half gallons, 20 minutes. Press down, and refill if necessary. Wipe off rim of jar and seal according to type of container being used. Process in a water bath after water starts boiling; pints and quarts, 27 minutes; half gallons, 37 minutes.

Another method to can without sugar is to drop the firm fruit into the fruit juice. Bring to a boil. Pack into boiling hot clean jars. Leave ½ inch headspace. Seal according to type of container used. Process in a boiling water bath, 27 minutes for pints and quarts, and 37 minutes for half gallons.

If a small amount of sugar is available, the general wartime rule is to add one cup of sugar to two quarts of fruit. One cup of sugar syrup usually covers 1 quart of fruit when it is well packed. A thin syrup, one cup sugar to three cups juice or water, is also desirable from a nutrition standpoint.

Corn syrup of corn sugar may be substituted for part or all of the syrup. If corn syrup is to replace all of the sugar, use ½ to 3-4 cup syrup and one cup water. Honey may be substituted for a small part of the sugar, but it affects the flavor of the fruit more than corn syrup. It is good with fruit pickles. Never use saccharin in canning, as it becomes bitter when heated.

Three Recipes For Pickles

NOW that the August rains promise that cucumbers will develop, rather than shrivel on the vine, the food editor is presenting methods of making pickles from fresh vegetables that have not been fermented or brined. The methods are courtesy of Miss Helen Edwards, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Standard Recipe Spiced Vinegar

3 cups vinegar
1 cup water
1½ cups corn syrup
1 tablespoon mustard seed
2 hot red peppers (if desired)
1 or 2 tablespoons mixed spices

Mix above ingredients and bring to the boiling point. Pour while boiling hot over the vegetables. More or less syrup may be added as desired. This spiced vinegar may be used over brined vegetables which have been freshened or it may be used in the next two recipes for pickled beets and cucumbers. This amount will cover about 4 quarts of well packed vegetables.

PICKLED BEETS

Wash beets. Leave root and about 1 inch stems. Cook in boiling water for 15 to 20 minutes until skins slip. To test drop one in cold water and press the skin to see if it slips easily. Dip the beets in cold water and slip the skin, root and stem off. Pack beets while still warm in hot jars. The small beets may be left whole and the large beets quartered. Pour the hot spiced vinegar (recipe above) over the beets. Seal immediately and store in a cool, dark place.

Unbrined Cucumber Pickles

Pack clean small cucumbers in hot jars. If cucumbers are large, they should be sliced. Pour over vegetable boiling hot spiced vinegar (recipe above). Seal immediately and store in a cool place. Cucumber pickles made by this recipe will not have as good a color, flavor or crispness as brined cucumber pickles.

Bread And Butter Pickles

24 medium to large cucumbers
3 tablespoons salt
10 onions
2 cups corn syrup
3 cups vinegar
About 1 tablespoon each of these spices:
Ginger
Tumeric
Celery seed
Mustard seed

Let unpeeled cucumbers stand overnight in cold water (ice may be added to make water cold). Drain and slice cucumbers. Add sliced onions. Sprinkle salt over mixture and let stand 3 hours. Add sugar, vinegar and spices. Cook for about 40 minutes. Pack pickles solid in hot sterilized jars. Seal and allow to stand 10 days before using.

Russian Territorial Demands In Far East Are Fairly Understood

(By The United Press)

RUSSIAN territorial demands in the Far East, it was believed today, will follow a pattern similar to her demands in Europe.

The primary demands of the soviet in a Far Eastern peace settlement were expected to be for restoration of the territories and rights lost to Japan in the war of 1904-05.

Forced To Cede Lease

At that time Russian was forced to cede to Japan her lease of the Kwantung peninsula and Port Arthur, and the southern half of Sakhalin island.

Russia also recognized the Japanese sphere of influence in Korea and northern Manchuria and gave the Japanese special fishing rights in Far Eastern waters.

After the World war Russia was forced to make further concessions, eventually losing its joint rights in the Chinese Eastern railroad.

Subjects Being Discussed

It was believed that Soviet interests in the Far East are one of the subjects being discussed in Moscow by Premier Josef Stalin and Premier T. V. Soong.

Russia is on record as stating that she regards Port Arthur as Russia and it was assumed that in a Far Eastern settlement she would desire the return of Port Arthur and Kwantung peninsula, restoration of special privileges on the North Manchurian railroad, recognition of her special interest in Manchuria, establishment of a "friendly, democratic, neighborly" Korea, return of the southern half of the Sakhalin island and possibly the Kuriles to which the Russians have a claim based on early exploration.

Dallas Man Reported Killed In Santa Fe

DALLAS, Aug. 9 (U.P.)—Relatives were notified here today of the death Tuesday of James M. Popplewell, 59-year-old building contractor, who was killed in a building cave-in at Santa Fe, N. M.

Popplewell, engaged in secret work for the U. S. Army engineers, was a native of Tarrant county, but had lived in Dallas for the last nine years. He was a leading Mason and church member.

Survivors include his widow, two sons and three daughters.

Egg Hunt On German Woman's Farm Results In Finding Deserters

TEMPLE, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—It would have been best for a German farm woman to put "all her eggs in one basket" on one occasion instead of having them scattered around, according to Pfc. Sammie D. Massey, of Killeen, Tex.

When 36 American doughboys of the 86th "Blackhawk" division were guests of a Frau Wagner at her farm home, they wanted a few dozen eggs before leaving. They were told only 10 were available. With chickens running about the 25-room house, the Americans became suspicious, and decided to conduct an egg hunt.

Thus, they found two German army deserters—one of them the woman's son—in the hay loft where also the eggs were hidden. The members of the 342nd regiment slept in beds at the Wagner domain, and beds were much of a novelty for foxhole doughboys.

The son of a Killeen postmaster, Massey was shot through the left arm and leg on May 7. He plans to resume studies at the University of Texas when he is discharged.

WARNING ON MILK

Army Flier Charged After Plane Hits Car

HOBART, Okla., Aug. 9. (U.P.)—County Attorney U. V. Jones said today that extradition proceedings against Lt. Russell H. Ford, Childress, Tex., Army flier charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, would be held up pending an Army decision on turning the officer to civilian authorities for prosecution.

The charge was filed by Jones late yesterday in Hobart justice of the peace court, and grew out of a collision of a plane and automobile on a road near Roosevelt, Okla., Sunday.

The complaint stated that the borrowed, privately-owned plane piloted by Ford swooped down and struck the top of a car. Eight persons were injured, one seriously.

The car driver, Bud Ayres of Hobart, was in an Altus, Okla., hospital for treatment of eye injuries caused by shattered glass.

In one year, 1852 nearly 1,500 mules were driven from Santa Fe to Missouri.

Monopolistic Greed Said Blocking Texas Pipeline And Steel Plant

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (U.P.)—Chairman Olin Culberson of the Texas Railroad commission today declared monopolistic greed is blocking both a proposed pipeline from West Texas to California and completion of the East Texas iron project.

Culberson said:

"Never in my experience have I ever witnessed the brazen affrontry of monopolistic greed as has been the case in connection with the efforts to build a pipeline to the Pacific coast for the purpose of supplying urgently needed crude oil for the Pacific war effort.

Blames Dollar-A-Year Men

"Those in authority in such matters in Washington, many of whom are dollar-a-year men on leave from the organizations which they represent, invariably rule against extending any consideration to those rugged individuals and groups who seek to make their contribution toward winning the war by proposing to enter into the competitive field of business controlled by monopolistic groups.

"This does not only obtain in connection with the attempt by an independent group to build a pipeline to California, but is present in practically all other lines of activity wherein the interests of large entrenched groups are concerned.

Steel Plant Is Example

"An outstanding and glaring example of this is the recent action of shutting down the construction of the Daingerfield (Tex.) steel plant and the chemical and iron plant at Rusk, Texas.

"The plant at Rusk, which has been in contemplation for some 15 years, utilizes the growth of scrub oak, sweet gum and other types of wood that are commonly known as the 'Johnson grass' of the timber industry, it being the growth that follows the cutting of pine timber and chokes out and prevents the reforestation of pine.

"The plant at Rusk, particularly, produces charcoal pig iron of the highest quality which sells for nearly twice as much per ton as does iron produced with coke. The process utilizes the charcoal resulting from the chemical operation of extracting tremendous volumes of chemicals from interior timber, being alcohol and acetic acid, thus admitting the development of the high grade ore beds in East Texas at small expense for fuel which is a by-product of the chemical operation.

Have Met With Delays

"Ever since work was begun on this plant, the builders, who are strictly independents, have met with delays on priorities and other delaying tactics until this plant is now over seven months overdue of its contemplated completion date. This plant will give employment to over 500 people in all of its related activities as well as creating a new market for the scrub oak and other useless timber that is now fouling the pine lands of East Texas.

"The plant is practically 85 per cent completed and yet, with the investment already had, the Defense Plant corporation authorities in Washington have discontinued construction on this almost completed new industry and are demanding additional information as to its necessity, which information they already have in their files. The country of Holland has agreed with the builders of this enterprise to take two years output of iron which will be produced.

"It is indeed discouraging as well as disgusting, to see the subtle hands of monopoly still continuing to throttle the industrial development of the great iron deposits of Texas.

"When will it cease? When will those who are in position of authority and influence bring pressure to bear to stop this discrimination and interference with the great American principle of freedom of enterprise?"

U. S. OFFERS SHIP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—The State department has offered the Japanese an 11,758-ton vessel to replace the relief ship Awa Maru, sunk by mistake by an American submarine.

Senior Class In Life Saving Is Planned

A senior life saving class may be organized next week by Russell Bidwell, water safety instructor, if demand for one is great enough, Mrs. Julia Cane, water safety chairman of the local American Cross chapter, has announced.

The local chapter wants as many trained life guards as possible in this vicinity before the opening of the 1946 swimming season, Mrs. Cane explained. She said that it is hoped that the local chapter can send several accredited representatives to a National Aquatic School next May or June and that there will be a sufficient number of instructors for next year's swimming classes. A Senior Life Saving course is one of the prerequisites for admittance to the Aquatic Schools and instructors' courses. She asks all interested to telephone 8534.

Arline Judge's Recent Divorce Being Probed

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — An investigation has been opened into the divorce recently granted Arline Judge, movie actress, State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said today.

Miss Judge was granted a divorce decree last May 17 by Judge Joseph Sabath, dissolving her marriage to Capt. James R. Addams, of the Royal Air Force. She was married to Vincent Morgan Ryan, 41, Chicago advertising exectuive, a few weeks later.

Tuohy said he had received complaints from two sources. One was from the superior court executive committee, which had been investigating a complaint that evidence was insufficient to warrant the divorce. Tuohy refused to identify the other source.

It was Miss Judge's fourth divorce. She gave her age as 33 and a Chicago address. She charged that Capt. Addams, 33, of Peterborough, England, had deserted her a week after they were married in Santa Barbara, Calif., Oct. 7, 1942.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

BEAUMONT, Aug. 9. (AP)—Production was in full swing at the Beaumont Iron works today with the return of approximately 60 negro workmen who had been away from work since Monday in a labor dispute, A. T. Brainard, company head, reported.

Ladies' Pink Pants Just Won't Do For The Men, Othman Says; You Can't Keep 'Em Up

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—I don't care what the Senator says, gents, waste no money on ladies' pink pants; they're no substitute for shorts.

They've got lace on 'em.

They bite when you sit down.

I know what I am talking about. I walked into the lingerie department with eyes straight ahead while the ladies gawked, I bought a pair of pants, tea-rose color, for $6.95. I beat it at once for the men's suit department on the floor below and tried on my new pants.

Not Recommended

Then I tossed 'em in the trash can. Emergency or no, I do not recommend ladies' pants for men.

Two weeks ago my underwear had disintegrated until it was good only for engine wiping. There was no more to be bought. I was desperate. It was then that Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan announced that the men of Detroit were buying ladies' pants. Next day the newspapers sent out their lady reporters, who interviewed the sales ladies, who sounded coy in print. There still was no solid information on what seemed to be a flimsy subject.

Finally Made It

I walked down F street and looked into the stores with the pink stuff in the windows, but it took me the whole two weeks to build up my courage. I finally made it.

"I want a pair of pants," I told the lady behind the counter of fluffy ruffles.

"What size does she wear?" the lady asked.

I broke down and told her I was the fellow who needed the pants. She was a kindly lady. First thing you knew we were pals and she identified herself as Miss Leone Witzke. She said she didn't think I'd like ladies' pants, but if I insisted . . .

I Did Insist

I did insist. She had some pink knitted pants, with elastic around the middle and the bottom of the legs, too, but none big enough for me. Her stock, she said, was not as big as it could be. Maybe I would like a one-piece garment, she said.

What, I wondered, was that trick business at the top of it?

"The built-in brassiere," Miss Witzke said. "Very practical."

But not, I pointed out, for me. Miss Witzke said she supposed not.

Bought Dance Pants

She produced what she called a pair of dance pants, size large, and reached across the counter to see if same would stretch around my middle. At this moment another lady came in. She said she wanted to look at a panty-girdle, but that she would gladly wait until Miss Witzke got through with her customer.

Meaning Othman, the sweating Othman with the red ears and the weak knees. She didn't have to wait long; I plunked down my $6.95 and got out of there with my new pants. I borrowed a dressing room in the men's suit department and tried 'em on and we won't go into what I saw in the mirror.

Ladies Have Hips

I will report only that ladies have hips and men don't and what good is a pair of pants that won't stay up? I held 'em with one hand and sat down in 'em, and ouch. There was a button on the left side, far back, and I nearly broke my arm. I took off those pants and put on my old ones with the holes.

Ladies' pants, Sen. Ferguson, are for ladies. Only solution is to buy a barrel of beer and drink it, and then when my personal pants problem reaches its final crisis, I'll have a barrel. If you've got a better idea, Senator, let me know.

Ending Subsidy On Meat Favored

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (U.P.) Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson today recommended ending the government's $400,000,000 a year beef subsidy program next July 1 as a new means of putting more meat on our American tables this winter.

Anderson outlined his plan to President Truman and revealed that the American National Livestock association has agreed to poll its members on the idea.

Under Anderson's proposal, an increase in meat prices to consumers would make up to livestock handlers half of the income lost from subsidies. The other 50 per cent could be accounted for by lowering the range prices for beef, he told reporters.

Anderson said he believed that a decision now to end the beef subsidy next July would bring more cattle in off the range and onto the dinner tables during the winter.

Recreation Circus Is Planned In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Sixty special acts featuring more than 1,000 performers will highlight the city's 17th annual recreation department circus to be presented in La Grave field Aug. 17 at 8:00 p. m.

Glenn Wilcox, director, said there would be ten tumbling troups flying through the air at the same time. The circus was to begin with a two-mile-long grand entry based on "the wonders of the world."

Wilcox said the plans were expected to make the show the largest in the history of the recreation department.

Texas Professor Scores "Amateur Lay Control" Of Texas Education

AUSTIN, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — Dr. Frederick Eby, University of Texas professor of history and philosophy of education, today lashed out at quack administration and lay control of education.

Eby was first speaker to address the sixth annual University Institute on Professional relations of Teachers.

"The American teaching profession," he said, "needs to be liberated from the empirics who are not scholars, only administrators; it must be liberated from the deadly hand of amateur lay control."

College professors, he said, are held up to scorn for their "academic asininity in public affars."

"The most sinister situation of all is that the educational administrators and professors have lost respect for one another," he said.

Requirements Are Lax

Eby said that while legislatures lay down strict requirements for members of most boards, members of education boards must merely be 30 years old and qualified to vote.

"The time has come," Eby said, "when our entire educational structure from turret to foundation stone must be severed from the control of factional policies

"A university does not belong exclusively or at all to the state. The curse of universities is the proprietary spirit, whether this is exerted by alummi or by politically-minded profs and deans or boards."

Kenny Technicians Arrive In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — Two trained technicians from the Kenny institute at Minneapolis, Minn, had arrived here today to assist in treatment of polio victims at city-county hospital.

The 52nd infantile paralysis patient was hospitalized at the hospital at the time of the arrival of the Kenny experts. Thirty-seven patients still were being treated at the hospital, while 15 were under treatment at their homes after leaving the hospital.

Stamp Dealer Admits He Did Foolish Thing; Now Wants Cat Back

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Larry Borenstein, a New Orleans stamp dealer, today was relying on the power of the Texas press to locate Minnie, his wife's pet alley cat, and to restore peace to his once happy home.

Borenstein, who now admits he did a rash thing last week, has advertised in three Texas papers for the cat. He gave the animal to a mascot-seeking Army major who happened to wander in Borenstein's French Quarter shop looking for Chinese stamps.

The major's name is not known. The only information the stamp dealer has about him is that he is in the air corps and said he was stationed at a Texas field.

Mrs. Borenstein, who nurtured the kitten for more than eight months, has threatened to telegraph every airfield in Texas if Minnie is not found.

Advertisements have been inserted in newspapers in Houston, El Paso, and San Antonio, Tex., with a pathetic plea that the kitten be returned.

COMPOSER WRITES MARCH

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Composer Agustin Peralta said today he has finished a march entitled "Fighting Eagles of 201," in honor of squadron 201 of the Mexican expeditionary air force now in action in the Pacific with the U. S. Fifth Air force.

Hoof-Mouth Disease Spread Threatened

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Livestock owners today were told to be on the alert against the possible appearance of foot-and-mouth disease—a completely eradicated malady in the United States—which the American Veterinary Medical association said might appear as a "fellow traveler" with "hundreds of thousands of soldiers returning from overseas."

The association said "with hundreds of thousands of soldiers now returning from overseas areas where foot-and-mouth disease is widespread among livestock, there is a possibliity that this disease may gain access to American shores as a 'fellow traveler'."

Most of the riders in the Pony Express were about 20 years old, and weighed about 125 pounds.

Foreign Reaction Is Favorable On Russia's Entry Into War On Japs

LONDON, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee last night issued the following statement from 10 Downing street:

"We in Great Britain have fully appreciated and understood the tremendous sacrifice and strain imposed on Russia by her heroic campaign against Nazi Germany, and we have always had confidence that as soon as victory had been won in the west Russia would take her stand with her Allies against the enemy on the eastern front. . . .

"We welcome this great decision of Soviet Russia."

PARIS PREDICTS END OF WAR IN FEW WEEKS

PARIS, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Most of Paris still was stunned today by Moscow's totally unexpected declaration of war on Japan, but informed observers predicted the end of the Far Eastern struggle "possibly within a few weeks."

Although the French, up to now, have played a fairly minor role in the Far Eastern conflict the latest developments sent a thrill of encouragement and hope through most people in Paris.

A French spokesman pointed out that the tiny French colonial force in Indo-China had put up a weeklong heroic resistance against the Japanese units that invaded the colony.

RUSSIAN NEWS OUTSHINES NEWS OF ATOMIC BOMB

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 9. (U.P.) — Russia's war declaration today outshone news of the atomic bomb, which has dominated Swedish papers for the past three days.

Swedish observers said, however, that Sweden doesn't contemplate any change in her relations with Japan and won't restrict activities of the numerous semi-official Japanese nationals who have taken refuge in Sweden since the Axis' collapse.

NEWS OF RUSSIA'S ENTRY INTERRUPTS DINNER

LISBON, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—News of Russia's declaration of war against Japan interrupted a dinner last night with U. S. Ambassador Herman B. Baruch was giving for 500 guests.

The group included several Portuguese ministers, Latin American ambassadors, and newspapermen. All stood up and cheered the American people and President Truman.

UNANIMOUS VIEW IS TAKEN BY SPANISH CHIEF

MADRID, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Spanish official circles received the news of Moscow's declaration of war against Japan with the unanimous view "anything is good, if Japan collapses shortly."

It was recalled that Spain had servered diplomatic relations with Japan following Japanese destruction of Spanish lives and property in the Philippines.

DECLARATION "HAPPY EVENT" SAYS MOELLER

COPENHAGEN Aug. 9. (U.P.)—Notified of the Russian declaration of war against Japan, Foreign Minister Christmas Moeller said:

"That's what could be expected of proud Soviet Russia . . . which, since 1904, has used her entire power in destroying Fascism. We greet Russia's war declaration as a happy event."

TWO EFFECTS OF RUSSIAN ACTION CITED BY PARRI

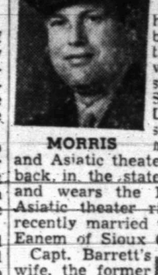

ROME, Aug. 9. —Premier Ferruccio Parri told the United Press last night:

"My impression is that the declaration of war by Russia against Japan may have two effects. First, to speed the end of the war. Second, to strengthen collaboration among the United Nations after a common victory."

Two Barrett Brothers Are Visiting Parents

Capt. Morris C. Barrett, 28, who recently returned from Europe where he served 15 months with the Eighth Air force as an armament officer, and his brother, 1st Lt. Howard Barrett, 25, an overseas veteran stationed at Atlanta, Ga., are home on leave visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Barrett of route 6, Lubbock.

MORRIS

Capt. Barrett has the ATO ribbon with cluster, the ETO ribbon with six battle stars and the Soldier's Medal. Lt. Barrett, pilot, served 14 months in the European and Asiatic theaters. He has been back in the states about a year and wears the ETO, ATO and Asiatic theater ribbons. He was recently married to Miss Dorothy Eanem of Sioux City, Iowa.

Capt. Barrett's wife, the former Miss Elsbeth Hancock of Palmer, Mass., and their son, Sidney M, 10 months old, are also visiting in the Barrett home.

HOWARD

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett have three other sons who are in service. They are 1st Lt. Doyce N. Barrett, 23, Marine pilot in the Pacific area the last seven months; Glen D. Barrett, 22, Petty Officer 2/c, who has been in the Pacific area the last 18 months; Harold G. Barrett, 18, Seaman 1/c, who is stationed at Corpus Christi. Doyce's wife, the former Dortha Dawkins, is a Texas Tech student.

Lt. Barrett will report to his base in Atlanta Monday and Capt. Barrett has a 30-day leave.

Littlefield Marine Wins Bronze Star

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed) — Displaying unusual coolness under heavy enemy fire as a forward artillery observer and as a volunteer runner during crucial phases of the battles for Iwo Jima, Marine Cpl. Calvin C. Lippard 21, of Littlefield, Tex., earned the Bronze Star medal and the award was presented to him recently in formal decoration ceremonies here.

Cpl. Lippard, the son of Mrs. Edna Maud Lippard, of Littlefield, received the medal from Col. Robert H Pepper, commanding officer of Corps Artillery, Fifth Amphibious corps.

His citation reads: "For meritorious achievement in connection with operations against the enemy while serving as acting scout sergeant of a Marine artillery battery of a Provisional Field artillery, group attached to a Marine Amphibious corps landing force on Iwo Jima. Volcano Islands, from 20 February to 14 March, 1945. Cpl. Lippard, while performing liaison duties and when communications to his post were disrupted by intense enemy artillery and mortar fire, volunteered as a runner; and exposing himself to enemy shellfire, carried messages until communications were restored. As a member of a forward observer party, he displayed unusual coolness in the face of intense enemy small arms and mortar fire, calling down accurate artillery fire on the enemy. His conduct was a continuation of the same high standard of service performed by him in the Marshalls and Marianas campaigns His actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval service.

Without Painful Backache

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. Adv.

Raymond Akin Back After Pacific Service

Raymond H. Akin, carpenter's mate 1st class, Co. A, 73rd Naval Construction Bn., is home on a 30-day furlough with his wife at their home, 2215 Sixth, after 27 months service with the Seabees in the South Pacific during which he went ashore with the Marines.

Although Akin, former fair grounds superintendent in Lubbock, modestly refrains from describing his own adventures, he admits that the Seabees are doing a highly necessary job under difficulties. He assisted in the construction of warehouses, storage depots and other similar biuldings on six islands.

Part of his job was done under fire. He participated in the construction work on Munday, a New Georgia island, and on Peleliu in the Palau group shortly after troops had landed. The Munday island campaign was carried out by Army troops, the Peleliu landing by Marines.

Using bulldozers and saw-mill equipment, the Seabees, he explained, cut and use native mahogany in building the needed structures on the islands. He is scheduled to report back for duty on Sept. 2.

Nearly one-fourth of the total rail freight of the United States in 1942 was carried to or from steel plants.

Funeral For Mother Of Local Woman Today
