Allied Council To Help Run Japan Named

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Creation of an Allied commission to advise on Japanese control policies was announced by Secretary of State Byrnes today but he emphasized the United States intends to maintain its dominant role.

The status of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Supreme Allied commander in Japan is to remain unchanged, Byrnes said, and any time the victor nations fail to agree on policy United States policy will prevail.

To Study Soviet Proposal

Russia has proposed setting up a control commission at Tokyo, Byrnes reported, and while this is yet to be taken up with President Truman and the Army and Navy, the secretary left no doubt that he favors rejecting the proposal.

Headquarters of the advisory commission are to be in Washington, with meetings in Tokyo when necessary. Invitations for the first session here Oct. 23 went out to nine other nations yesterday.

Officials Are Named

These developments on Japanese occupation policy and machinery were discussed by Byrnes at a news conference at which he also disclosed:

1. He has appointed Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, retired Army officer and president of the Foreign Policy association, to be United States representative on the Far Eastern advisory commission.

2. He has appointed Mark Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, to investigate Political conditions in the Russian-dominated Balkans as the next step in American consideration of whether to recognize the governments of Romania and Bulgaria. Byrnes said he chose a newsman because he would be a trained and unprejudiced observer.

Approves Peron's Fall

3. The United States, Russia and Britain agreed at the Big Three meeting at Berlin to take up separately with Turkey the question of revising international control of the Dardanelles, the straits through which Russia commerce and naval forces must move from the Black sea to the Mediterranean.

4. Byrnes said he hopes that the resignation of Vice President Juan Peron, strong man of the Argentine government, may mean better days for the Argentine people.

No Answer From Russia

5. The United States has not yet received an answer from Russia on its compromise proposal, growing out of the stalemated foreign ministers meeting at London, for a general European peace conference.

6. Byrnes expressly favors release and full publication of decisions made at such conferences as the London meeting and he promised to seek release where possible of diplomatic and other official documents, such as the two-year-old Italian Armistice terms and the orders under which American occupation forces originally operated in Germany.

Most of the news conference, despite the variety of information it produced, was concerned with Japanese occupation policy and machinery.

Commission Named

The advisory commission for which the United States sent proposals first on August 21 to China, Russia and the United Kingdom is to be composed of those powers and the United States and six other nations to which the Big Four agreed—Canada, the Netherlands, Australia, France, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Byrnes gave out the "terms of reference" defining the powers and limitations of the commission. These show that it is to be limited to making recommendations to member governments on "policies, principles and standards" and on machinery for strict compliance by Japan with her surrender obligations.

"The commission," the terms of refernce state, "shall not make recommendations with regard to the conduct of military operations nor with regard to territorial adjustments."

October Oil Order Put Back In Effect

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Railroad commission today reinstated its original October oil order, authorizing a net daily allowable crude oil production of 1,785,089 barrels daily.

Return to full operation of refineries which had been strike-bound brought restoration of the order. It set aside the revisions which had been designed to cut production in the face of refinery shutdowns.

The order will go into effect at 7 a. m., Oct. 12.

The allowable under the original October order was 207,152 barrels less than that of Sept. 15 a cut of 10.4 per cent. All districts except the Panhandle shared the decrease.

The original October order called generally for 21 producing days over the state with exceptions ranging down to 14 days and up to no shutdown days.

Settlement In Coal Dispute Postponed

Strikers Keeping 451,000 Workers Idle; Coal Talks To Be Resumed

(By The Associated Press)

Soft coal industry and labor representatives decided in Washington last night to extend for another day their talks seeking a compromise plan for ending a six-state strike.

Their agreement to meet again came after futile sessions throughout the day and into the night, after which Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said the conferees were "about in the same position" as Tuesday night.

The coal walkout, involving 188,000 miners and nearly half of the country's soft coal production, is the biggest of scores of labor disputes keeping 451,000 workers off the job.

Other developments of the day:

1. Armed sheriff's deputies broke up mass picketing in the Hollywood motion picture studio strike and arrested several hundred unresisting pickets without violence.

2. The New York longshoremen's strike tied up more than 350 ships and the Army said soldiers might be used as stevedores to prepare the big liner Queen Elizabeth for sailing.

3. Some 42,000 CIO textile workers resumed work at 284 shops in three eastern states after compromising on wage increase demands.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine workers, and soft coal operators conferred for three hours without results yesterday morning

Plans Are Revealed For Peacetime AAF

By WILLIAM T PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON Oct. 10 (AP) — The Army Air Forces outlined a tentative peacetime program—reported to call for 6,500 planes and 600,000 men—to members of the Senate Military committee today.

CHARGED IN DEATH—Riley B. McCaine, 40-year-old Texas salesman, has been charged with the slaying of Elnora Collins, 30-year-old minister's daughter of Houston, Texas, whose body was found near Beaumont. See story below.

The Senators were invited to the Pentagon building for luncheon and a "briefing" by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Air Forces, and Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy chief, on their ideas of what size Air Force should be maintained in the future.

Force Of 6,500 Planes

The Army made no announcement of the meeting. Some of the Senators related details of what they were told.

These included a planned reduction within a year or less to an active force of 6,500 planes and 600,000 men as compared with a peak wartime strength of 65,000 planes and 2,300,000 men.

Senators said this was described as an "interim force" but that they got the impression it was also the air command's view of the minimum needed in peacetime.

Shown Peacetime Bases

The Army calls it a "70 group program." An air group corresponds roughly to a ground force requirement, although the number of men may vary with the type of planes—heavy, medium or light bombers or fighters.

The Senators also were shown a map designating the peacetime bases the Air Forces propose to retain.

This showed Eglin Field, Florida, as the AAF center. It was explained that ranges and testing equipment are permanent installations there.

Hospitals Retained

As before the war, Maxwell Field, Alabama, was listed as the Air Force Tactical school.

Designated as convalescent hospitals for retention were those at San Antonio Spokane, Pawling, N. Y., and Miami

The Senators were told that the proposed aid stations weer selected after careful study and in the light of such factors as Dispositions to protect all of the United States as far as possible.

To permit all-weather training for combat units.

To provide sufficient bases so that units could be moved to oppose a foreign threat from any direction.

To place defensive fighters near critical areas.

To occupy stations off established air lines for reasons of safety.

Murder Suspect Sought By FBI

BEAUMONT, Oct. 10. (AP)—The FBI today entered the nationwide search for the "affable stranger" sought in the slaying of Elnora Collins, whose naked and singed body was found beside an isolated road near here.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation today obtained a fugitive warrant for the arrest of Riley McCaine, 40, Houston tire salesman. It was filed by U. S. District Attorney Steve King of the eastern district of Texas before the United States commissioner here.

Trailed To Shreveport

Yesterday a charge of murder was filed against McCaine. He was named in the charges as the man who is believed to be the "affable stranger" who offered Miss Collins a ride to town.

The federal warrant will enable the FBI to begin tracing McCaine from Kinder, La., where they say he boarded a Shreveport-bound bus Monday, Oct. 1.

Houston police say they believe his money may be running low. They say he stopped at the Beaumont office of his firm and cashed a $25 personal check Monday, Oct. 1. His Houston bank account showed a balance of only $39.

Miss Collins is said to have had

U. S. Stand With Latins Said Weakened By Solons' Delay

WASHINGTON. Oct. 10 (AP) — Dictator Juan D. Peron was out of a job in Argentina today, but the United States diplomat who encouraged Peron's opponents also remained officially on the sidelines in Washington.

For the second straight week, the Senate Foreign Relations committee reviewed the Argentine situation for more than two hours with Spruille Braden, former U. S. Ambassador to Buenos Aires.

AVALOS NOW MINISTER

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gen. Eduardo Avalos was named minister of war tonight replacing Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's "strong man," whose resignation Avalos forced yesterday.

But again the committee took no action on Braden's nomination to be Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American affairs. A vote was deferred for at least a week.

Although committee members were hesitant to talk for publication, some were beginning to show obvious irritation at the delay. They expressed concern privately that it was weakening the United States' position in the eyes of Latin-America.

One member, asking not to be quoted, attributed the committee's tactics solely to a desire on the part of some members to impress upon the State department that the group wants to be consulted in advance of any major foreign policy moves.

Best information was that Braden's nomination eventually would be confirmed.

The State department still declined today officially to size up the Argentine situation in light of Peron's departure but Secretary Byrnes told his news conference that the ouster of the "strong man" was very significant and very important.

U.S. Warned To Be Firm With Allies

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 — A House committee, after a tour of Europe, recommended today that the United States withhold loans to Russia and Britain until they reverse some of their policies.

Seven members of the Colmer Postwar Economic Policy committee, suggested in a statement that:

1—The U. S. S. R. adopt an "open door" attitude toward American technicians and the press.

Britain Included

2—Britain unlock trade barriers "inimical" to American interests.

3—Germany be reconstructed, without armaments of course, so it can feed itself and in time again become a factor in U. S. trade.

4—The U. S. expand field forces handling disposal of billions in surplus property abroad.

The group returned on the Queen Elizabeth after two months in England, France, Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Persia, Egypt, Greece and Italy.

Talked With Stalin

Chairman Colmer (D-Miss) told a news conference that the members, visiting Marshal Stalin, "frankly talked business, and asked how he proposed to repay the $6,000,000,000 loan Russia is asking."

British leaders, including Prime Minister Attlee, also were asked what concessions they are willing to make in easing trade barriers.

Colmer asknowledged that in both instances the committee didn't get an "enthusiastic" response.

To Report To Truman

A formal report on the findings will be made in about 10 days. Meanwhile, Colmer said, the members will seek an audience with President Truman "to pass on some helpful information."

The preliminary report was sharply critical of Russia, asserting that the Soviets are "moving German industry, lock, stock and barrel" whether it is war or non-war industry. This threatens to place a burden of relief on the United States and on UNRRA, the group said.

Asks Partial Payments

The statement said that it is time for "a stiffening" of America's attitude. Reflecting this, it was urged that the State department negotiate for "at least partial payment" of lend-lease in the form of tangible assets. In this category were suggested aviation rights, bases, raw materials, buildings and sites for embassies.

Colmer said Europe is clogged with artificial obstacles to expanded world trade and they can be removed only "by a give-and-take attitude."

Concerning Russia, the committee said her attitude is "raising a barrier to successful economic co-

Laval In Death Row In Paris

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 — An NBC correspondent in Paris tonight said that the execution of Pierre Laval "probably will take place about 2 o'clock Thursday morning (Central Standard Time)."

PARIS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pierre Laval, dressed in a condemned man's suit of burlap sacking, was transferred today to a cell in death row at Fresnes prison and chained to a wall with legirons.

No Other Means

Laval, in his own defense, declared that there was "no means other than negotiation — now termed intelligence with the enemy —to try to dam German rapacity and cruelty" during the four years of the French-German Armistice.

Laval's defense, penned in a dungeon cell, was made public today by his attorneys. Apparently written in the conviction the document would be used in a later trial, perhaps even after his execution, Laval's manuscript contended that he made concessions to Germany to protect his own people.

War Natural To Nazis

Laval said Nazi manpower Minister Julius Sauckel once fired questions at him for six hours until Laval swooned from exhaustion.

The questioning, he explained, was relative to efforts to round up more French slave laborers for Nazi war plants.

Declaring that from his observations, "to the Germans, war is the normal thing and peace is an accident," Laval said there was no way of knowing in 1940 that the Germans might not remain on top as conquerors. He said he could not know that "Hitler would make that fatal mistake" of attacking Russia, which he said he thought had cost Germany the war.

Wanted To Help France

If Britain had fallen to Germany, Laval said, it was his plan to achieve greater independence for France by playing for the favor of Russia against Germany, since the Soviets and Nazis then still were "Allies," under a non-aggression pact.

Laval added that "events proved De Gaulle was right" in moving to London to continue France's fight.

He declared the Armistice between France and Germany was the cause of collaboration, rather than the Vichy-Berlin agreements he is charged with negotiating.

Battle Flag And Tiny Capsule Ride To Glory In Europe

Fighting 36th To Be Inactivated

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The names of those heroic men from this area who were members of the famed "Lost Battalion," 133st Field Artillery which was a part of the fighting 36th before being sent to the Pacific, will be found in a story on Page 5).

(By The Associated Press)

The proud 36th division soon to be inactivated, the fighting Texas division that spearheaded the bitterest invasions and fought in Europe's bloodiest battles, didn't have to open the tiny capsule Governor Coke Stevenson inserted in a Texas flag he gave them back in 1942.

The capsule was marked: "A message to Texans—to be opened and read if capture seems imminent."

The message was Willian B. Travis' defiant refusal to surrender at the Alamo, his deathless "I shall never surrender or retreat."

The 36th, formed originally of Texans in the main, was selected to spearhead the first vital invasion of the continent.

It landed at Salerno, and made history. It hit the Iitalian beaches —and held. Casualties were heavy. But the 36th fought on up the Italian heel.

When the time was ready for he invasion of France, the 36th again spearheaded the attack. The green division was now seasoned, battle-tested and proven. It fought through France, into Germany itself.

But not once did it have to open that ominous capsule Governor Stevenson inserted in the Texas flag he gave them

Up to the last it made history—it captured Germany's top leaders, including Herman Goering, uncovered much of the Nazi's hidden gold.

A dispatch from Washington today reveals that the 36th division is one of 32 ordered inactivated.

The history of the 36th goes back to the Republic of Texas. Some of the units formed then have descended through the present war.

Later Texas units organized for the Spanish-American war. They were federalized and became the Texas National Guard.

The Texans saw service on the Mexican border in 1916, and in 1917 they were organized formally

Work Rushed On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP) — The House today arranged an unusual 10 a. m. session tomorrow to speed passage of the first post-war tax-cutting bill. As drawn, the measure would cut individual and business taxes by $5,300,000,000 in 1946.

The rules committee virtually banned any changes in the bill on the House floor by decreeing that no amendments could be considered unless offered by the Ways and Means committee. Some members criticized this as "gag rule."

The procedure blocks any move for outright repeal of the war-imposed excess profits tax on corporations. The bill cuts the effective rate of this tax from 85.5 per cent to 60 per cent.

The bill, in a $2,600,000,000 reduction of individual income burdens, excuses 12,000,000 low income persons paying any federal tax and stipulates that all other individuals shall have a 1946 cut of at least 10 per cent. It reduces corporate income levies and sets for next July a sharp cut-back in excise taxes on such things as liquor, luggage, fur coats, jewelry and cosmetics.

CIO Attacks Legislation

The CIO and 14 other organizations, including the Farmers' union, today launched a bitter attack on the legislation. In a letter addressed to each House member they said the bill would "grant huge windfalls to the most prosperous corporations" but permit "only meager relief to low and middle income groups" of individuals.

Public hearings were demanded by the organizations, and they urged subtitution of the CIO's program which proposes outright repeal of the 3 per cent normal tax on individuals and increases in exemptions which would not put much softer burdens on low and middle income groups.

Instead of repealing the normal tax the committee decided to apply the more liberal surtax exemptions to the normal tax and then cut-back by four percentage graduated surtaxes.

In addition to the direct relief for individuals and corporations, the bill virtually certain of passage tomorrow would provide:

1. Freezing the social security tax in 1946 at one per cent on employer payrolls and employe pay envelopes.

2. Repealing the war imposed $5 a year use tax on automobiles, effective next July 1.

English Stowaway Nabbed At Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—A pretty red-haired, blue eyed English girl, wife of a discharged GI, debarked from the S. S. Irvin MacDowell today to land in the hands of immigration authorities as a stowaway.

The young woman, Mrs. Donnesse Nancy Kuhn, 20, of Atherstone, Warwickshire, said she had remained hidden in the bunk of her husband, Robert Kuhn, of Rochester, N. Y., for the first four days and nights of the MacDowell's journey across the Atlantic.

One Dead, Two Shot As Police Ambushed

JERUSALEM, Oct. 10. (AP) — A British constable was reported killed and an Arab and a Jewish policeman wounded today when police were ambushed in the hills near Haifa by 200 Jewish illegal immigrants who had escaped from a detention camp.

Following the attack several thousand British reinforcements were landed tonight from the liner Duchess of Bedford, reports from Haifa said.

Truman Back After Trip Into Kentucky

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — President Truman returned to the capital at 4:38 p. m. (C. S. T.) today from a five-day trip.

The President flew here from Paducah, Ky., where he went after dedicating a Tennessee Valley Authority dam at Gilbertsville, Ky.

New Wage-Price Policy Boosted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP) — Reconversion Director John W. Snyder was under increasing pressure today to declare a new government wage-price policy promptly, to stem the tide of labor unrest.

Two officials of the Office of War Mobilization and reconversion, who requested that their names not be published, said that economists and advisers in that agency are almost unanimous in the belief that action by Snyder or President Truman is imperative.

15 Per Cent Boost Urged

They told that a wage increase of about 15 per cent, on the average, could be allowed with no appreciable inflationary effect on price levels.

They argue that the general level of factory wages would rise about that much—perhaps higher—if the is were bargained out by unions and employers or battled out on the picket lines.

Would Speed Production

But meantime, they say, the return to high output of civilian goods would be slowed by more work stoppages, which might be avoided if the government took leadership in providing a wage-price pattern.

A government declaration would carry the assurance that employers could promptly get OPA's consideration of price increases to cover their wage boosts up to the 15 per cent or other prescribed level.

In the opinion of government economists, an average increase of 15 per cent would increase prices around 2 or 2½ per cent —a supposedly "safe" rise in living costs.

U. S. Marines In Tsingtao

TSINGTAO, China, Thursday, Oct. 11 (AP)—Elements of the Sixth Marine division landed today from the U. S. Seventh fleet to the wild cheers of a populace already groggy from yesterday's celebration of China's "double tenth" holiday.

The gleeful Chinese, welcoming the return of Americans to this beautiful port and resort city, forgot for the moment that trouble may be brewing to the north between Chinese Communists and Nationalist forces.

"Incidents" Reported

Unconfirmed reports received yesterday said at least seven "roving armies" in the north and central areas of Shantung peninsula were "skirmishing at times," with Japanese garrison troops among those involved.

Down holiday-littered Chung Shan road, Tsingtao's busiest thoroughfare the Marines trod ground familiar to the Americans and British before the war.

As in other China coast landings, the Marines were from the Third Amphibious corps commanded by Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, of Washington.

To Help Disarm Japs

They will assist Chinese Nationalist forces in disarming Japanese and protecting American lives and property. They found Chinese already disarming most of the docile 30,000 Japanese Naval personnel in Tsingtao. Some German residents have been interned in the city and many Chinese are living in fashionable European homes built along the beautiful harbor.

The smart Edgewater Beach hotel was jammed with liberated internees from around the Chefoo area.

Reports persist of clashes between roving Chinese bands. The reports, unconfirmed, told of several minor engagements with small arms and mortar fire. Railroad bridges have been blown up. At least 1,000 civilian internees, mostly British, who had been held in Wei Hsien camp were forced to remain there until bridges could be repaired.

At Tientsin, northwest of Tsingtao, three American Marines were wounded slightly by fire of unidentified persons several days ago.

Two Injured As Bus Overturns Near Tatum

TATUM, N. M., Oct. 10 (Special) Two persons were injured when a bus of the Bowen company attempted to pass a car, hit a soft, wet highway shoulder and overturned 15 miles west of Tatum late today, Cecil Goodwin, local agent, reported.

Injured were Mrs. H. H. Carrell of Tatum, who was taken to Lovington, N. M., and a soldier, whose name was not learned, who was taken to Hobbs Army Air field hospital. Both were reported to have shoulder injuries.

The bus was enroute from Brownfield, Tex., to Roswell, N. M., carrying 18 military personnel and five civilians, Goodwin said.

Atomic Energy May Give Plane "Unlimited" Range, Is Claim

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Senators juggling the hottest scientific potato in history—atomic energy—heard today that the new power will give the airplane of the future a virtually unlimited range.

The prediction came from J. Carlton Ward, jr., president of Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation, who told a Senate committee that:

"The whole tactical concept of warfare will change for the nation that first solves the atomic source of power."

Just how scientific research in general is to be aided and stimulated in the atomic era was a problem for another Congressional committee.

Budget Director Harold D. Smith, disagreeing with the views of some scientists, urged that complete authority over a proposed National Science foundation be placed in the hands of a single administrator.

Other witnesses have suggested creation of a board, composed in part of representatives of research institutions.

Smith, called before a joint Senate Commerce-Military sub-committee as an expert on federal administrative agencies, said a budget for research would be "subject to much unwarranted suspicion unless it is presented by a fully responsible administrator who has no connection whatever with the institutions receiving support."

The House Military committee began a series of secret sessions on President Truman's request that Congress set up a nine member

Nippon 'Reds' Defy Emperor

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Thursday, Oct. 10 (AP)—Four Japanese industrialists, provoked by a banzai parade before General MacArthur's headquarters of 600 Japanese Communists celebrating their new freedom of expression, warned today "Japanese Communists are waiting for the proper time to rise."

The parade of avowed anti-imperialists, organized by a Communist leader to celebrate release of political prisoners, was staged yesterday while American financial sleuths were probing into Nippon's war finance secrets.

Fear "Uprisings"

The industrialists — representing coal, steel and small ship building—said efficiency of Japan's heavy industry during the war was reduced 50 percent through strict government control.

They told a press conference they feared an "uprising" by Japanese Communists and at the same time blamed government placing of war plant personnel, including prisoners of war, for the asserted reduction in productive efficiency.

Would Follow U. S. Methods

Kentiro Matsumoto, president of the Japanese Coal association, asserted "labor will have to follow the example set by American labor to negotiate." He declined to estimate how long it would take the Japanese to adopt American methods.

The government's wartime control of plants was criticized by Takashi Komatsu, principal figure in the nation's steel production. He declared that production fell off 50 per cent from "not too efficient" handling of the industry by the military.

All four industrialists disclaimed any war gilt. (The dispatch did not identify the other two by name.)

A new Allied directive placed Japan's import business on a strict cash or commodity - exchange basis, confining imports to items necessary to maintain the minimum standard of living.

The cabinet of Premier Kijuro Shidehara, chosen only four days ago to take over the post, met for two hours today and scheduled another extraordinary session tomorrow.

Shidehara was received by Emperor Hirohito today to report on

Workers Return To Oil Plants

HOUSTON, Oct. 10 — Lieutenant Commander F. A. Westphall, officer in charge for the Navy, said today plants of the 22 Navy-operated refineries in the Gulf coast district will be returned to their owners when management and labor reach agreements.

Workmen were on the job almost 100 per cent and operations were practically back to normal in all the seized units, he declared.

Union To Push Demands

Officials of both locals 227 and 367, Oil Workers International union, have declared they intend to continue to push for their demands for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Following a meeting of AFL pipefitters and machinists with International Oil Workers union officials at Port Neches, the AFL members decided not to penetrate the picket lines set up by the CIO members around the Neches-Butane, Goodrich and Firestone rubber plants in the Jefferson Midcounty area.

The plants still are out of production after the Navy seized re-

Mass Picketing Halts At Warner Lot; Hundreds Submit To Arrest

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 (AP) — Mass picketing at Warner Brothers movie studio was halted today when 326 pickets, 74 of them women, submitted peaceably to arrest by 200 sheriff's deputies but union leaders declared it would be resumed tomorrow morning with 20,000 workers from the Lockheed Aircraft plant.

There was a possibility, meanwhile, that counting of ballots would proceed tomorrow in a labor board election to determine whether the AFL Painters union or the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, also an AFL affiliate, shall represent studio set designers.

Break Over Designers

Representation of the 77 set designers was the issue over which the motion picture strike, since grown to include several thousand workers of various crafts, began last March 12.

The NLRB in Washington ordered today that all but seven of the 112 votes in the election May 24 shall be counted, including 54 cast by striking set decorators and 51 by men hired to replace them.

Picketing of the Warner studio, on which the AFL Conference of Studio Unions (CSU) has centered its demonstration, was almost quietly halted this morning when Herbert Sorrell, head of the conference and director of the strike, ordered the pickets not to resist arrest.

Wants No Rioting

"I am doing this to preserve order and save violence," he said. "There will be no group rioting on this line this morning. There never would have been except that incited by paid goons."

In picket line skirmishes between marchers and Warner employes, many of them members of the rival AFL union, and police and sheriff's deputies, more than 100 persons were injured since the mass picketing started last Friday.

As soon as the sheriff's officers closed in on them this morning, the pickets raised their arms in mock surrender and marched gaily into the studio gates. They were transported to the Burbank city hall to be booked on felony charges of rioting and misdemeanor charges of refusal to disperse.

Bail for the women, who gave their occupations as stenographer, secretary, clerk, messenger, housewife, actress and unemployed and their ages as 20 to 30, was set at $500 each, the same as for the men. Union leaders said it would be furnished for those who desired it. They added that some of the defendants preferred to "rest" in jail.

In a survey of hearing embracing more than 1,000,000 school children in New York City, it was found that 10 per cent had a hearing loss of nine decibels or more in one or both ears and about three per cent had a hearing loss of 15 decibels. The normal hearing range is 125 decibels.

Rotarians In Special Program At Luncheon

Lubbock Rotarians, at a special father, son and daughter program Wednesday noon in the Hilton hotel, heard Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, deliver the principal talk.

"There's no sign that thrills me like the sign on a business reading 'John Doe & Son,'" Dr. Robinson declared at the outset of his talk and then he outlined how fathers and sons must learn to work and play together.

"Before people become partners they should become acquainted . . . they've got to know each other . . . They've got to learn to love each other . . . They must learn to live for each other and not off of each other . . . Real partners try to sell each other to the community . . .

Honest With Each Other

"If father and son are to get along with each other, they've got to be absolutely honest with each other . . . They've got to sit down together and plan for the future.

"And in partnerships, one fellow generally puts up the collateral and the other does the work," he declared. "Well dad generally has the collateral and you fellows have the rest—youth, vigor, a clean sheet—to make a partnership, you've got to put in the same."

Dr. Robinson was introduced by K. M. Renner, program chairman.

Out-of-town guests at th luncheon included: John T. Ashford, survivor of the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis; Sam C. Cooper, Big Spring; E. W. Bray, C. E. Birdwell, E. W. Brash, Ernest Stewart, J. V. Morton and R. D. Brown, all of Levlland; George Barron, Abilene; Jim Stanley, Seminole; and Sam McAllister, Richardson.

Tech Shows Boost In Veterans Enrolling

More than three times as many servicemen and women of World War II are attending Texas Tech now than were registered for the 1945 spring semester, Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant, announced.

A total of 233 veterans, three of which are women, are registered for the fall semester. Records from the registrar's office show there were 74 ex-servicemen enrolled last spring.

By divisions the veterans are enrolled as follows: Engineering, 81 students or 26.3 per cent of total; Arts and Sciences, 68 or 30.5 per cent; Commerce, 33 or 14.8 per cent. One of the women students is enrolled in the division of home economics.

Discussing the marked lead the division of engineering shows, Dr. Kent said, "It is significant if we can make future plans on present trends." More than one-third of all veterans are entering engineering.

Of the 233 veterans attending Tech, 223 qualify under provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Huge Quota Set For State Victory Loan

DALLAS, Oct. 10. (U.P.) — The State of Texas will be asked to raise $297,000,000 in the coming Victory loan drive which will be launched Oct. 29, Nathan Adams, chairman of the War Finance committee of Texas, pointed out today.

Adams said: "Nothing is greater in Texas than our thanks that the war is over, and in all Texas, this thanks, together with the recognition of the debt owed our fighting men, must be incentives for investments in the Victory loan drive."

Adams pointed out that the final bond drive has assumed the importance of any previous drives when this country was struggling for victory over its enemies. He said: "Even though victory is ours, the government must have money for the care of the wounded, cancellation and termination of war contracts, rehabilitation of veterans, transportation back home for our soldiers overseas, and maintenance of our armies of occupation.

"In addition," he added, "money put in bonds will provide a backlog of buying power and a steadying influence for sound economy during the reconversion period.

"Every Texan will want to heed the slogan of the Victory loan—'They Finished Their Job. Let's Finish Ours.'"

Truman Gives China Much Credit In War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (U.P.) — President Truman said today that without China's resistance Japan might have succeeded in its "savage aims of aggression." He pledged the United States to aid China in achieving full democracy.

The President issued a statement hailing China on the 34th anniversary of her revolution against Emperor rule. He noted that it was the first such anniversary in 14 years which the Chinese people could celebrate "without fear of aggression."

Praises China's Sacrifices

Praising China's "tremendous sacrifices" which "have finally been rewarded in complete victory", he said China now faces "urgent problems of reconstruction of her devastated nation."

This, he said, is "a task which will require all of the inspired leadership and full cooperation of the Chinese people which have been so evident during these years of desperate struggle for survival and without which Japan's savage aims of aggression might have succeeded."

"On behalf of the American people" he said, "I take pleasure in reaffirming our abiding faith in the ability of the Chinese nation to accomplish the Democratic objectives established for it by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen and in pledging our assistance and support to the attainment of this end."

DIVORCE PROBLEM UP TO SCHOOLS

WITH demobilization the divorce rate is rising so that in California it is expected that in time the divorce rate will quite likely exceed that of marriages. In San Angelo the 51st district court has been re-named "separation center," since it had become such a "divorce mill." There are no statistics available in Lubbock at the moment, but a glance at the public records each day indicates that Lubbock is not far behind other cities in its increasing divorce rate.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, nationally recognized authority on domestic relations, who has an office in Los Angeles and lectures at the University of California, is becoming genuinely alarmed over the situation and in a recent statement pointed out that America must look to its schools to solve the problem.

Schools can and should provide a thorough education for marriage, he says. They can inoculate an attitude of determined idealism, a belief that family life is so important as to justify a real effort for its success. Parents who fail to solve their own domestic problems are disqualified as counsellors for their children and the churches do not reach enough people, Popenoe points out.

The marriage counsellor says the chief difficulty in the school solving the divorce problem is that nobody is willing to take the initiative in finding a place for this education in the school curriculums. Administrators do not seem aware that the home pattern is being destroyed.

The divorce rate in Los Angeles as present is 87 per cent. Last year it was 84 per cent and the year before 74 per cent, which gives you an idea of why Dr. Popenoe is so aroused. But the raio is increasing everywhere, except in South Carolina where the state constitution forbids divorce.

POPENOE ADVICE

DR. POPENOE, a prolific writer, has spoken to Tech audiences a number of times. The last time he was invited to speak here he declined because he said travel presented such a problem during the war and he had decided to remain at home and look after the happiness of his own marriage. Under sponsorship of the Los Angeles YMCA he wrote a booklet for service men and their wives on how to make the war strengthen their marriages. More than 400,000 copies were circulated. This cautioning advice broadly summed up the problem:

"If you seek to attain individual happiness at the expense of the marriage, then the marriage will fail, and you will suddenly discover that you have lost your only chance of real and complete happiness.

"If you are willing to sacrifice anything and everything else for the success of your marriage, then it will be a success, and you will discover that you have not had to sacrifice anything of value because, in your marriage, you will have found happiness.

"In attacking any problem, neither husband nor wife can afford to ask: 'What's in it for me?' The question is: 'Will this strengthen our marriage?' "

GENEROUS AMERICANS

GRANTED they may be stingy about some things, Americans on the whole are generous to a fault. They are push overs for almost any kind of hard luck tale or call. It matters not whether the one in need is a statesman or a caddy, the gifts pour in. That's one of the things we love best about Americans.

A chance remark on the radio brought to George Burns a flood of men's shorts, in every possible size and color. These were to tide him over the critical period of the cotton shortage, the well-wishers informed him. For weeks poor George was swamped by the tide. While he wasn't exactly swamped, the writer of the Plainsman Says column had the same experience when he mentioned he was short on shorts not long ago. His readers sent him shorts and sympathized with him.

On another occasion, the show script had Gracie Allen complaining about her coffee pot and worrying because war-time restrictions prevented her from getting a replacement. Within a week, she had received 37 of the coffee-makers, ranging in style all the way from metal to glassware.

These Americans!

Roster Of Men In Lost Battalion Compiled; Several Are Now Home

A complete roster of the men from the Lubbock National Guard unit who went overseas with the second battalion of the 131st regiment 36th (Texas) division has been compiled by Capt. L. E. Boren, U. S. Army, retired, who was instructor for the Lubbock Guard unit.

Forty-six men from this area sailed for the Pacific Nov. 11, 1941, from a West Coast port and landed in Australia, where one of them, Maj. Alfred J. Adkisson, became ill and was returned to the United States. The remainder of the group went on to Java and were captured at the end of February, 1942, when the Japanese invaded the island in overpowering numbers.

One Dies In Java

One Lubbock man was killed in the battle for Java—Pvt. Don Barnes, who had been transferred into the 19th Bombardment group, which was making an effort to defend the island against Jap air attacks. Pvt. Barnes, twin brother of Pvt. Dan Barnes and son of Mrs. Dora Breedlove of route 2, Lubbock, was said to be flying as tail gunner on a B-17 that crashed several days before the island surrendered.

Five men died after their capture while in prison camps in the Burma-Siam (also known as Thailand) area. They were 1st Lt. Lemuel M. Boren, son of Capt. and Mrs. Boren, 1922 Twenty-fourth; Cpl. Algers C. Boyle, son of Rev. R. E. Doyle of Petersburg; Cpl. Charles Bruce Bray, son of Mrs. W. H. Bray, 805 Ave. S; Pvt. Austin E. Dempsey, son of W. F. Dempsey of Sundown and Cpl. Jed D. Forgey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Forgey, 1922 Thirteenth. One other Lubbock man, Pfc. Harold T. Sewell, husband of Mrs. Willie Mae Sewell, 1939 Ave. N, was reported lost when a Japanese POW transport was sunk.

Several Already Home

Of those who were liberated, several have already reached their homes in Lubbock. They are Maj. Huddleston W. Wright, 2201 Twenty-fifth; Sgt. Jack T. Cellum, 2122 Fifteenth; S/Sgt. John W. Lee, jr., 1709 Ave. N, and Cpl. James R. Norris, 1320 Twenty-eighth.

Enroute home from New York or Washington after their arrival in the United States are Capt. Ilo B. Hard, 1613 Fifteenth; 1st Lt. James P. Lattimore, Tahoka highway; Sgt. Oliver L. Darden, jr., 2003 Broadway; Sgt. Henry C. Drake, jr., 2410 Twenty-ninth; Cpl. Eldridge L. Rayburn, 1916 Fifth; Cpl. Glenn B. Self, c/o Fred Self, General Delivery, Lubbock; S/Sgt. Don T. Williamson, 2016 Ninth. Also in the states, but expecting to be hospitalized at San Antonio for several months before coming home is Cpl. Robert J. Cobb, 1508 Ave. L.

Still awaiting their return to the United States are Capt. Eldon W. Schmid and T/Sgt. Ellis P. Schmid, of Slaton; M/Sgt. Glenn W. Jones, now of Fort Worth; S/Sgt. Crayton R. Gordon, now of Fort Worth; Sgt. W. R. (Dub) Anderson, 1418 Ave. D; Pfc. Dan Barnes, route 2; S/Sgt. Millard L. Baker, Morton; Cpl. Tom L. Biggs, jr., 2215 Ninth; S/Sgt. James H. (Cotton) Bryant, Slaton; Pfc. Jesse Bumpass, jr., 2402 Ave. U.

Also Cpl. Robert C. Coffey, now of Melrose, N. M.; Pfc. Joseph Ben Cole, III, 3006 Thirtieth; Pfc. Teddy N. Drake, 2410 Twenty-ninth; Pfc. Edward Fung, Chinese-American, whose uncle with whom he lived here is now deceased; Cpl. Melvin G. Holton, 1708 Sixth; Sgt. Jack W. Kenner, c/o Mrs. John L. Walton, Box 311, Lubbock; Sgt. Horace V. Kershner, Box 1444, Lubbock; Cpl. Ray W. King, route 5; Pfc. George T. Lawley, 2622 Twenty-fourth; Pfc. Robert D. Savell, now of Vallejo, Calif.; Pfc. Henry T. Sharpe, now of San Bernadino, Calif.; Cpl. Preston E. Stone, 407 Ninth; S/Sgt. James S. Taylor, Seagraves; Cpl. Claude Thomas, jr., Anton; Sgt. Jack Turner, Slaton, and Cpl. Jesse E. Webb, Abernathy.

Many of the men not yet here are expected to be present at "Lost Battalion Day" celebrations set in Texas by Gov. Coke Stephenson on October 29, at which all 131st battalion men and their relatives will be honored.

Amateurs Warned On Atom Tinkering

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — Amateur experimentation with atomic energy must be controlled, Dr. Vannevar Bush said today, because:

Well-meaning but unregulated experimenters might develop enough radioactivity to sterilize all passersby, or

Some amateur might blow up a whole town or poison a neighborhood.

Dr. Bush, head of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, testified before the House Military committee.

Asked by Rep. Harness (R-Ind) what atomic energy might do "besides kill or destroy," Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university, replied:

"Well, that's all, I call that a major hazard to health."

More than 50,000,000 pairs, or about one of every five pairs of non-rubber boots, shoes and slippers made in the United States in the first half of 1945 were made in New York state.

Prospects Bleak For Chest Drive

Contributions continued to lag late Wednesday in the Lubbock county War chest fund with $2,000 added since Monday and prospects were said bleak of accomplishing a $50,000 quota.

Campaign officials announced this morning that $17,258.91 had thus far been given to the chest, which comprises four service and 16 foreign relief agencies.

Hindered By Rain

Hindered by two full days of ran since the drive started Monday of last week, the general sales army in the city phase has been unable to solicit more than 60 per cent of potential contributors, a campaign official said.

Local solicitation is directed toward management and the key employes of business, industrial and professional concerns. Other persons have been asked to turn their checks over to some campaign worker or mail it to the War Chest fund, in care of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

One of the principal snags in the drive was revealed to be severe reductions in contributions from many firms and individuals who gave generously in other chest efforts.

It was reminded that a large part of the funds would remain here for expenditure in the operation of the popular Lubbock USO, whose budget needs for the ensuing year have been estimated at $21,000. Of the national quota, 53.9 per cent would go to the USO.

Campaign leaders indicated that some of the contributors who have drastically cut their donations below suggested figures would be resolicited for additional funds.

Radio Offers Much To Former Veterans

Unlimited opportunities await ex-service men and women, who received specialized training in radio and electronics, in television, radio research, radar specialists, radio heat and radio aviation as well as the field of distribution, retailing and repair work, according to information received from the radio industry.

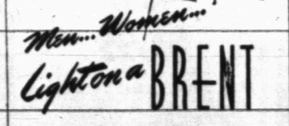

The greatest immediate opportunities for postwar jobs in radio lie in the service field. It is estimated that 20,000 men will be needed in the next few months to fill depleted ranks of radio repairing and servicing jobs. GI's with a limited amount of radio experience, capable of meter reading, can qualify for these jobs after some preliminary training provided by individual radio companies.

There are four general types of factory jobs for which discharged service men of limited radio experience may quality. The first is in electrical and mechanical inspection, second, is in testing radio equipment, the third is known as trouble shooting and the fourth as repair men.

Veterans, who desire information on training in radio or electronics under the G.I. Bill of Rights, should apply to the local representative of the Veterans Administration or inquire at either of the Lubbock County Selective Service boards.

China Observes Holiday, Turns To Future With Hope For Peace

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—China today was celebrating her first "double-tenth" national holiday in peace since 1936.

There were parades, firecrackers, speeches and general roof-raising in the big cities as the people realized that now, at long last, the promise of their first anti-Manchu uprising in Hankow in 1911 actually has a chance to come true.

The threat of Japan has been removed, the Chinese hope for all time. China has a series of new treaties with Russia providing for peaceful cooperation.

Chinese Broke But Hopeful

The Chinese are broke and threadbare, but their country is their own again and they are a hard-working, hopeful people.

Their leader, Chiang Kai-Shek, seems to be getting along in his efforts to come to terms with his biggest rivals for national control, the Communists.

Possibly the best indication of how determined that promise is—at least in the minds of Generalissimo Chiang and Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung—is the quick explanation provided for the killing of a prominent Communist official, Li Shao-Shih.

Assassination Said Accident

The death of this man threatened to provide political ammunition for extremists on both sides, and easily could have wrecked the most sincere efforts toward a settlement.

Now it is officially explained that the death was an accident, just one of those things. The story is that Li's automobile hit a soldier on a dark road, the soldier's comrade fired after it when their order to halt went unheeded, and a bullet killed Lo, who was riding in the back seat.

Li's chauffeur, who drove him to the hospital, disappeared and is said to be still missing.

Little Trouble Seen

It will be an explanation which most Chinese will be inclined to accept, at least for the time being. Perhaps a good many Communists will claim it's a phony, but they will do so in the face of a general public desire that they get on with their talks with Chiang and come to an agreement which will remove the threat of civil war.

Today Chiang injected a sober note in the general rejoicing. He told his people they "must set to work with the spirit such as was displayed by the Russians in carrying out their five-year plans."

He sketched a partly-industrialized future for China, growing out of the present which is featured by little or no industry and by poor communications in a country which is predominately agricultural.

Newhouser, Richards Team To Bring World Series Title To Detroit Tigers, 9 To 3

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (AP)—Finishing like true champions, the Detroit Tigers slammed Hank Borowy from the mound before he could retire a batter in the seventh and deciding game of the 1945 World Series at Wrigley field today and went on to win from the Chicago Cubs, as they pleased, 9 to 3, behind Hal Newhouser's magnificent pitching.

Newhouser, chalking up his second victory of the record-breaking playoffs, fanned 10 batters and broke an all-time World Series mark for seven games by running his total of strikeouts in the series to 22 against the previous best of 20 held by three other flingers.

Although the Cubs got to the tall left-hander for 10 hits, one more than the triumphant Tigers could manage off six assorted Chicago throwers, Newhouser stifled them in the clutches with his sweeping curve and fast ball and never permitted them to get in the ball game.

In fighting through to their first world title in 10 years the Tigers supplied a sad ending to Borowy's heroic efforts to pitch the Cubs to what would have been their maiden victory in the classic since 1908. The slim righthander, working in his third straight game with only a single day's rest, never had a chance to still the Bengal bats, and was on his disconsolate way to the showers minutes after he threw his first strike.

Texan Is Star

Sharing honors with Newhouser and helping him chill the hopes of 41,590 fans packed in the park was his battery mate, Skinny Paul Richards of Waxahachie, Texas, who drove across three runs with a mighty double in the champion's big five run-first inning and hammered another in with a two-bagger in the seventh.

Even the Cubs' fans gave the veteran a sympathetic cheer when he was forced to leave the game in the eighth inning after a foul tip broke the little finger on his right hand. He had played a great World Series, from first to last, his superb handling of the Tigers' pitching staff possibly having been the deciding factor in the hard-fought battle for first money.

The final game lacked any of the thrills of Monday's terrific 12-inning struggle, in which the Cubs fought back to deadlock the series at three wins apiece. The Tigers were dominant from the moment that Skeeter Webb, their lead-off man and Manager Steve O'Neill's favorite son-in-law, drove a single to right in the first inning until Newhouser throttled the last Chicago gasp in the ninth.

Borowy Bumped Quick

Eddie Mayo followed Webb with a single into the same field, and when Doc Cramer dropped a single into left to score Webb with none out, Manager Charlie Grimm realized that he had called upon Borowy for a little more than the human frame would stand and brought in the veteran Paul Derringer.

Hank Greenberg, first batter to face Derringer, sacrificed the runners along, and then Roy Cullenbine was passed purposely, filling the bases. When Rudy York popped to Stan Hack it looked like the Cubs might escape serious damage, but it was not to be. Jimmy Outlaw worked Derringer for a walk, forcing Mayo across and leaving the sacks loaded, and Richards came through with a tremendous clout into the left field corner to bring everybody home.

Newhouser, ninth Detroiter to bat, finally ended the shambles with an infield out, but by that time the game was wrapped up and it didn't matter. A pitcher of Newhouser's stature, given five runs to play with, will be beaten but very seldom, and this was not one of the days.

Cramer, an old-timer who had said frankly before the series that he was playing his last year of baseball and Phil Cavaretta of the Cubs, banged out three hits each during the final game to run his total safeties to 11 for the play-off, the same number delivered by Stan Hack, veteran Chicago third baseman.

Derringer was derricked after his walking spree in the second and for the next three and one-third innings Hy Vandenberg pitched excellent ball, allowing the Tigers only one hit and whiffing three men before he gave way to a pinchhitter in the Cubs' fifth.

Chicago reduced its deficit to 6-2 with a run in the fourth on Cavarretta's single through the box and Andy Pafko's triple over Cramer's head in centerfield. Cramer made a quick recovery and a beautiful throw to the plate, the ball, in fact, arriving just before Cavarretta did, but Richards couldn't hold on to it.

The Tigers made it 7-2 in the seventh off Paul Erickson, fourth Cubs' hurler, when Cullenbine drew a walk and scored all the way from first on Richard's clout to the wall in right. They made it 9-2 in the eighth when Claude Passeau yielded a walk, Eddie Mayo doubled and Hank Greenberg produced a long fly on which Mayo scored.

Greenberg Is Injured

Greenberg could contribute no more than a sacrifice and a couple of walks to the final Tiger victory. It was learned that he had injured his right wrist late in the Monday conflict.

Newhouser's record - tying 20th strikeout and his 21st, the record-breaker for a seven-game series, helped pull him out of a mild jam in the eighth, when the Bruins scored their final run. With one down, Lowrey and Cavarretta banged successive singles to bring the great crowd hopefully to its feet.

That was where the Tigers' southpaw got No. 20, Andy Pafko going down swinging at a third strike. Bill Nicholson next jolted Hal with a double on which Lowrey counted, but Newhouser hitched up his britches and whiffed Mickey Livingston with a sweeping curve.

The final strikeout victim was Clyde McCullough, the Cubs' catcher who recently returned from the service and who was stuck in to hit for Hank Wyse, sixth Chicago pitcher. With Roy Hughes on base by virtue of a single, McCullough took three mighty swipes at the ball and sat down.

Lefty Hal Delivers

In the end, as he had figured to do, Newhouser proved the outstanding player of the series. Although the somewhat eccentric, Lefty Hal was knocked from the box in the opening game, he came back to pitch two superb victories where they were most needed, in the fifth game on Sunday and again today.

Borowy wound up with a series mark of two wins and two losses and the strange, if not unique, distinction of having been the winning or losing pitcher in three straight World Series games. He was defeated Sunday, came back to furl four innings of winning relief work in Monday's thriller, and tried it again today after only one day of rest.

It was a record-breaking series from away back, not the least impressive being that a total of 333,457 persons paid their way into the seven games, compared to the previous high of 328,051 who saw the Yankee-Cardinal play-off in 1926. Total gate receipts soared over the $1,500,000 mark, another record.

Counting its oil production — among the biggest in the world — Texas is the nation's leading state in value of minerals produced.

Westerners Get Set For Borger

Taking full advantage of the sunshine Wednesday afternoon, Coach George Philbrick sent the Lubbock Westerners through a long game condition scrimmage session to get them ready for Friday night's league opener at Borger.

Weather to date had handicapped the chances of the Westerners to get into shape for this week's battle, and when the break came in the cloudy, rainy days, Philbrick pulled no punches in getting the most out of the chance for tough work.

Cobb Gets Ready

The brightest spot of the day was the return of Wayne Cobb, regular tackle to his position in the line, after being out with injuries for some time. Cobb looked to be in top shape, and ready to take over again where he left off when he went out with injuries in the San Angelo game.

Another shift in the lineup was made Wednesday, with Charles Presley, the big captain of the Westerners, went back again to fullback to fill in for John Lanham, who is still listed on the ailing list.

Handy Man Charley

Presley started the season as a fullback, after lettering as a center. To plug a hole in the line, Presley jumped back to the center post, then with Lanham out, Presley again was powering through the second string line Wednesday from a fullback slot.

The first string club was looking good against the scrubs, and clicking for nice gains and several touchdown jaunts.

One bleak spot in the day's workout came early when Noel Sikes turned an ankle during the scrimmage. Just how bad it was hurt was undetermined, but it is hoped that it will be in top shape by game time Friday night.

Red Raiders Shape Attack For Tulsans

Joy and gloom both had its big inning at Tech stadium Wednesday afternoon as Coach Dell Morgan took advantage of the break in the weather to whip the squad through another lengthy and rough session of head knocking before the Saturday night battle with the Tulsa university eleven.

Joy was felt in the return of R. W. Moyers, who left the day before for El Paso and induction into the Army. Moyers was rejected at the El Paso station, and returned to Lubbock Wednesday. He will report back to the Red Raiders this afternoon.

TICKETS ON SALE

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, said Wednesday night that tickets for the Lubbock Westerner-Borger Bulldog league opener Friday night at Borger were on sale at his office in the senior high school. Lowrey said that he had received 100 student and 100 adult tickets for the game.

TULSA WORKS LATE

TULSA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Coach Henry Frnka's Tulsa university football squad worked until nightfall ended a full dress rehearsal today for the Texas Tech game at Lubbock Saturday night. Names of the T. U. traveling squad were still unrevealed tonight. The players will have one more workout tomorrow, then will leave by bus for Lubbock, stopping overnight in Oklahoma City.

The gloom came in the announced loss of J. E. Branton of Leland, Miss., for the Tulsa game. Branton, who has been a starting end on the Red Raiders was injured three times in the Texas game last week at Austin, and his left knee has refused to respond to treatment.

Coach Morgan threw the entire book at the Red Raiders Wednesday, and used subs freely during the scrimmage session in an effort to find reserves for the first line boys before Saturday night.

The team will face another rough session today, with more of the scrimmage very likely to be the chief item on the menu. The club will taper off Friday.

Coach Henry Frnka, former Lubbock Westerner coach, will bring his team into Lubbock sometime Friday afternoon, and will hold a final workout at Tech stadium.

Soldiers Invited To Steer-Sooner Battle

DALLAS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Servicemen from fifteen Army posts, camps and hospitals in the eighth service command will come here by special Army convoy Saturday to attend the Oklahoma-Texas football game.

More than 5,000 men are expected.

A group of Dallas bussiness men have arranged to sell the service men tickets for 60 cents.

Patients and Army personnel will arrive from McCloskey General hospital, Temple and Harmon General hospital, Longview. Other posts to be represented are Camp Hood, Temple; Camp Fannin, Tyler; Waco Army Air field; Blackland Army Air field, Waco; Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls among others.

In five months over 330,000 miles of wire, the backbone of communications, was laid in northwestern Europe for Army use.

Cowhands Black Play Brownfield B Today

Lubbock's busy week-end of football will get started this afternoon with two local games on the schedule, featuring the clash at Chapman field at 4 o'clock between Coach Curtis Barrett's Cowhands Black and the Brownfield B team.

Also on this afternoon's schedule, will be a junior clash at the junior high field, pairing Tahoka Juniors with Coach Russell Wimberley's Cowboys White team. Coarh Bab Parker's Reds go to Brownfield this afternoon to battle the Junior Cubs.

Two more games are on the schedule Friday, one here and one at Abernathy. The Ropesville eleven will roll in Friday afternoon to tangle with Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhursts Cowhands Gold at Chapman field. Coach Roy Morris' Purples will go to Abernathy.

There will also be tough football games scheduled both days.

Added to this will be Friday's battle at Borger in which the Lubbock Westerners will open the season, and Saturday's grid classic at Tech Stadium between the Red Raiders and Tulsa hniversity.

Hunt, Dupre Aerials Win Touch Grid Tilts

Using aerials to strike from afar, the Hunt Pioneers defeated the Sanders Steers and the Dupre Dogies downed the McWhorter Mustangs in grade school touch football battles Wednesday afternoon at Dupre, both winning by 6-0 scores.

J. R. Bradford flipped a 20-yard pass to Jimmy Crawford, who galloped 10 more yards to pay dirt for the Hunt touchdown.

Johnny Tatum rifled a 15-yard pass to Dick Lowrey, who roamed 40 yards through a broken field for the Dupre score.

Louisville Cops 3rd Straight Off Newark

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP) — Nemo Leibold's Louisville Colonels left the Newark Bears hanging on the ropes tonight, losers of three straight Little World Series tilts and faced with an early elimination, by rapping Frank Hiller and Jack Farmer for 13 hits and an 8-3 decision.

Three Lobos Injured For Colorado Battle

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 10 (U.P.)—Manpower troubles assailed the New Mexico university Lobos today as Coach Willis Barnes tuned up his squad for a Saturday clash with Colorado college at Colorado Springs.

Two mainstay tackle sand one reserve were nursing lame shoulders following New Mexico's 13-0 victory over West Texas State Teachers last week-end.

Barnes' ailing players were tackles Vince Naglich and Bill Cheek, and replacement Ben Hearne.

TIC! TIC! TOC! GET A COLD DOC!

LOOK AT THAT CLOCK! Gosh! what a sock! What does the clock say? It says: TIC-TIC-TOC . . . get a cold Doc . . . at 10, 2 and 4, or any time you're hungry, thirsty or tired. The pretty "gams" belong to Lucille Lambert, beauteous Hollywood movie player. The "decorations" (stockings to you) are styled by "Willys of Hollywood," custom hosiery maker for Hollywood's most glamorous legs. Lucille is wise; she knows the value of an icy-cold Dr. Pepper as a between-meal pepper upper. You may see Lucille at your local theatre in the Dr. Pepper movie Mini-Tour entitled "Hollywood Hosiery." It's a pleasant way to remind you that Dr. Pepper time is 10, 2 and 4 daily, or ANY TIME YOU'RE HUNGRY, THIRSTY OR TIRED.

Nature's Whims Tricked

Farmers Outwit Dry Weather

PERHAPS in no other line of endeavor is there as much uncertainty as there is in tilling the soil. Always uppermost in any farmer's mind is The Weather—what it will do, when it will do it, how much it will do. When the weather starts swinging at him, the farmer must be quick on his feet, he must concoct a new strategy overnight.

A good example of counter action to Nature's whims can be noted this fall in Dawson county, one of the South Plains' most prosperous agricultural areas.

When the weeks rolled by last spring and early summer with prospects of rain growing dimmer by the day, Dawson farmers wondered if sufficient moisture would come in time for them to plant their customary acreages of cotton and grain sorghums. Came the closing days of the planting and still no ample, general rain.

Some farmers took a chance and planted cotton. Most of them put their entire fields in grain sorghums. Several hundred others, however, took a different route. There had been a great deal of talk about the black-eyed pea, first appreciable acreage of which had been seeded in 1938 as a recommended soil conservation practice. Soon 20,000 acres of peas had been planted in the county as compared with only 10,000 acres of cotton.

A few weeks ago the peas grew ready for harvesting, and then began the faint rustle of important folding money. An excellent market was presented in East Texas canneries. Pea growers were pleasantly surprised to find themselves netting from $25 to $50 an acre. One farmer, Sam Middleton, who lives near Lamesa, sold more than 200,000 pounds at a price of 3½ cents a pound.

More than a half million dollars, it is estimated, will be realized from the venture. In addition, farmers will receive a soil conservation payment of $1.50 for every acre planted to peas. On top of that, their soil has been built up; their pantries well stocked with jars of a very edible food and, in some cases, the vines have been cut and bailed for hay.

Some day a long range weather forecasting service may be available to the farmer which will enable him to plot the summer's work as he sits by the fire and watches the snow pile up against the yard fence. Until that time circumstances will force him to keep a large, well-filled bag of tricks always at his elbow.

Nimitz Accolade Well-Earned

TEXAS' horseshoe chunking, all-round regular fellow, Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz, who called the signals in plastering the Pacific bottom with the debris of Japanese ships, comes back to his native state of Texas this week.

And Texans, with their natural exuberance for a fellow member who has made his mark, will no doubt outdo themselves in giving the great sea ace his due as he returns to visit his home town of Kerrville and his birthplace of Fredericksburg.

The admiral has earned whatever accolade his fellow citizens confer on him. His is truly one of the greatest naval minds in history, his direction of the piece-by-piece destruction of the once mighty enemy fleet will stand for ages as a prime example of masterful strategy and execution.

For all their love of the slam-bang, hey-look-at-me heroes, Americans are attracted, too, by the modest, quiet, determined type of man who gets the job done—thoroughly and without undue show. While the war brought a continuous stream of spectacular news from Admiral Nimitz's headquarters, there was nothing ever spectacular about Nimitz himself. He steered clear of controversy, was obviously free of self-seeking aims and shied at making fancy talk which would have been good newspaper "copy."

How Americans feel about the admiral—and the men he represents—was typified last week in Washington. The son of a refugee from Germany received what was reported the greatest ovation ever given in the nation's capitol for a U. S. naval hero.

To a gathering of newsmen he urged the retention for years of a strong navy. That is sensible advice in view of announced State department plans that the Navy exercise "potential control" over Japan long after withdrawal of occupation troops.

Texas will never forget Admiral Nimitz.

"No new sin has been invented in the past 5,000 years," declares a preacher. Maybe not, but many of our moderns are putting some fancy new twists on the old ones.

So far the enterprise that has suffered the greatest incidence of unemployment since the close of the European war is the Stockholm rumor factory.

CHILD ACROBAT

III

I NEVER knew where grandmama unearthed Ograinsky. He was an enormous broken-nosed ex-wrestler of Polish extraction, married to a thin, bitter, cockney Englishwoman who looked after the wardrobe and always had a cold in the head.

The Ograinskys had five children of their own, four boys and a girl, all born in different countries and all speaking different tongues with their parents—family tower of Babel. There were three other children in the troupe, also of diverse nationalities, and to hear old man Ograinsky conducting a rehearsal was something to marvel at. Despite his brutality, he was a fine trainer and built a good act with us.

To Ograinsky either people were acrobats or they weren't, and he had every intention of making them learn to do tricks and incredible feats, whether or not he ruined their health in the attempt.

Like many ex-wrestlers, he had something sadistic about him, and if he saw any of the children, especially his own, sick from exhaustion, he would get a mad gleam in his eye and work them until they dropped on the floor. He taught us tumbling, back somersaults, and full twisters in a "mechanic" or harness till we learned the timing. Then we had to do these tricks alone without any help.

A mechanic is a stout leather belt which fits around the body under the armpits, with a ring in the back to which a rope is attached with a snap. The rope goes up to a pulley in the roof, passes through it and down to the hand of the trainer, who can manipulate his pupils' bodies by lifting them, or save them from falls by pulling on the rope as they do their tricks. This apparatus is used in all kinds of acrobatic work, aerial trapeze, and vaulting on horses.

OGRAINSKY started me off in this as basic training. For a while everything was fine. All the other children were more or less advanced in it, but the trouble really began when I had to learn to turn in the air without the mechanic. For some reason I could not learn to "tuck," which is to roll one's self into a ball, touch the knees with the head, and make a complete turn landing on the feet and producing a somersault.

This position affords protection for the head in case of a fall and also helps the body revolve. Ograinsky, impatient to have me work in the act as soon as possible, used to yell at me till I became flustered and had some nasty falls. This went on for two or three days till he finally got a knotted rope and hit me over the knees with it to make me turn higher and faster. Welts and dark bruises were the result, and grandmama made him stop. Then he used to cup his hand and hit me on the back of the neck to send me over and make me keep my head in, explaining to grandmama that it was the only way I could be saved from a fall on my head and a possible broken neck. It did teach me to do the trick but eventually resulted in chronic headaches which threatened to affect my eyesight.

We danced a ballet on the points and did an equestrian act, practically ballet, vaulting on and off the horses' broad backs, the girls wearing old-fashioned ballet "tutus" and the boys white silk tights with black velvet perkins, similar to costumes worn in the Sylphides ballet. We did graceful poses while the fat white horses (chalked by us before every show) galloped around the ring. Then we had the tumbling act and the cross flying trapeze act, which was our star number and really outstanding.

A flying trapeze act is done with a group of people over a net, and the first thing I was taught was how to fall in the net without injuring myself, and with grace. This is so important that I can now understand Ograinsky's fury when I could not learn to tuck, for the same movement is used to turn in the air before landing in the net.

I loved my work, of course, and began to get the thrill of danger and the thirst for applause.

WE played a few weeks in and around Moscow; then Ograinsky signed a contract with a relatively small one-ring circus playing a winter route through Romania, the Balkans, Poland, Finland, and crossing by boat to Scandinavia. The circus was run by three Romanian gypsy brothers with the Italian name of Morelli. They had been acrobats themselves, and their families for generations back had owned small traveling shows.

The entire circus traveled by train and did not carry large animal acts. What animals they did carry were boxed in the worst possible way, but I don't think they could possibly have suffered more than the performers did.

Of course it was valuable experience for me, and in a way I enjoyed it, but this must have been very hard for grandmama, who was convinced some one had cast the evil eye on us. She traveled with me for the first few weeks, then had to return to mother, who was so ill she could not be alone, so I was left in the care of Mrs. Ograinsky.

When the circus reached the end of the tour and we were in Scandinavia, grandmama got Ograinsky a booking in Copenhagen with her own act, in the famous Schumann Circus there.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

SO you would like to have a million dollars!

No, I am not a mindreader, but I think there isn't a one among us who hasn't dreamed of having a million dollars and thought of all the things he would do if he had that million.

Well, just a few days ago a millionaire and his wife went back home out West after they had been our house guests for a couple of weeks.

BRANDEIS

And now, after they have gone, I thank whomever or whatever is responsible for my not having a million dollars.

The fellow himself never was a millionaire. He had a good income, but no more than thousands of other people. Then a girl who had inherited several million from her father, met him, fell in love with him and married him.

It was definite a love match, on his part as well, but the first thing that happened was that some of his friends accused him of marrying her for her money and started to avoid him. Other friends were afraid to keep on associating with them because they couldn't keep up with the way of life which they thought would be his after coming into all that money.

So the two took a trip and stayed at our house.

We don't happen to be particularly impressed by a lot of money and we told them that they'd have to take what we could give them and like it or lump it.

And did they like it!

She had gorgeous clothes jewelry and servants and about everything money can buy. And he has all the things people dream of. But they had hardly arrived in our house when they took off all that luxurious clap-trap and wore the oldest clothes they had.

She, with all her millions, helped to cook and wash the dishes and clean the house, and he helped me in the garden and mowed the lawn and just sat around and loafed.

One night we all went to New York—dressed up to kill—and we had dinner at Twenty-One, and we went to see "Carousel," for which he had bought tickets at outrageous speculator's prices, and to the Stork club afterward and we stayed at the Waldorf overnight—and all of us were bored stiff.

BUT the next day, when those two poor rich people were back in their old clothes again they were happy once more, and that evening we had a modest little dinner at the Wagon Wheel out our way, we listened to the radio and played gin rummy and went to bed early—and a good time was had by all.

So it went for a couple of weeks.

Well, when we took them to the train and deposited them in their drawing room, both of them looked glum.

"Back to the same old grind," she said, when I asked her why. "I've had the happiest two weeks when I could be myself and didn't of my life—it was the one time have to live up to my millions."

I don't say that having lots of money is something which I would shun.

But a dirty old khaki shirt and a pair of corduroy pants and a sink full of dishes and a corned beef in the pot aren't anything to sneeze at either.

Particularly if the khaki shirt and the corduroy pants and the sink full of dishes and the corned beef are not a necessity, but a choice.

The National Whirligig

Economists Fear Inflation

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

EVERY economist in Washington, with the exception of believers in the tax-and-spend philosophy, is deeply disturbed lest the Administration's wage, price and general fiscal policies lead the nation into a wilderness of inflation like that which followed World War I. President Truman and Treasury Secretary Vinson, themselves, recognize that it will be difficult to escape an encore of the 1919-1922 period.

TUCKER

Nevertheless, their program appears to head in that disastrous direction, in the opinion of Governmental and private financiers. Despite White House disavowals of any plan for an overnight increase in workers' pay without any boost in prices to the consumers, Washington's basic politico-economic strategy contemplates higher hourly pay without a commensurate lifting of the general price level.

A big factor in the present outburst of strikes is that official spokesmen like William H. Davis, former Economic Stabilizer, did not make themselves clear when they advocated increased wages but no upping of consumer costs.

They were thinking in long-range terms, figuring that eventual incorporation of wartime technological discoveries, mass production and pent-up buying power would achieve their objectives. The most hard-crusted industrialists agree with them, and have told them so.

But the benefits resulting from use of new products, new methods of manufacture and new techniques of sales and distribution do not advantage the producers, the works and the retail buyers overnight. It took twenty years before the automobile became a workingman's necessity instead of a wealthy man's toy; ten years before the radio progressed from a curio to a household necessity; five years before mechanical refrigerators, washing machines and similar domestic gadgets became mothers' helpers instead of luxuries.

The same lag will accompany the production and capitalization of still more innovations in our daily life. It will be some time before the manufacturers can pay higher wages and ask lower prices for postwar products.

MISUNDERSTANDING: Organized labor, quite naturally, moved to gain these higher wages without a day's delay. It is their misunderstanding which lies at the bottom of the C. I. O.-sponsored controversies in the oil, automobile, telephone and other key industries. And the Capital's deepest dread is that those disputes will extend to other fields, for workingmen everywhere insist that they must maintain and even improve upon the gains they won during the war.

The Administration has sponsored other schemes which may precipitate inflation. It favors an increase in minimum wage pay from forty to seventy-five cents an hour, and simultaneously it advocates the same wage for a shorter week.

While it balks at the thirty per cent raise demanded by the C. I. O.-ers, Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach has indicated at labor-management parleys that he will settle for fifteen per cent.

INEVITABLE: At the same time Administration spokesmen insist that prices be kept at their present levels. The Administration also intends to pour money to increase buying power through vast expenditures for public works, subsidies to the farmers to preserve 90 per cent of parity (the grants will continue until two years beyond the first January which follows official declaration of the end of the war) and other postwar outlays. President Truman also stands firm in his demand for legislation giving $25 a week for twenty-six weeks to the jobless.

Meanwhile, the supply of goods will remain fairly scarce until the nation swings into reconversion in a big way.

Potential consumers will obtain from Washington, directly or indirectly, billions of dollars that will naturally seek an outlet. This and the billions of savings accumulated during the wartime "freeze" on spending will force prices up despite Government efforts to hold them down, and will bring about inflation.

CYCLE: Labor leaders and Government officials do not appear to have read the profits-prices-and-wages chapters in the histories of World War I and II. Or if they have, they seem to have drawn no lessons from their studies.

By comparison with the achievements in the older conflict, the economic czars in the recent struggle established a fairly good record of control. As of August 15th—the day after Japan's surrender—the cost of living as measured by the price index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics stood at 29.2 per cent above the prewar average of 1935-1939. Allowing for hidden costs in deterioration of quality and the disappearance of low-priced merchandise, the over-all increase was about 35 per cent.

From July 1914, to the Armistic on November 11, 1918, living costs skyrocketed by 61.8 per cent in the United States. Even that bad record became worse, as it threatens to do now. After the guns ceased firing in 1918, prices rose twice as fast as they did during the conflict.

From November of 1918 to June of 1920, as World War veterans planning or entering marriage at that time may recall, the cost of keeping an individual or a family climbed 46.6 points. The charge for rents, food, clothing and other necessities grew almost prohibitive.

The next stage was an Administration-sponsored deflation, low wages, low prices and serious unemployment. Then came the 'Coolidge boom" which collapsed so tragically under Herbert Hoover. The reaction to that was the New Deal's shot in the arm and the ephemeral war prosperity.

This flashback explains the economists' fears for the future. They are desperately afraid—and so are the Congress and White House—that the American people will experience the same sad cycle.

CUT: Reconversion officials in Washington have been informed by spokesmen from the automobile industry that all expectations for 1945 production of cars must be revised as a result of the C. I. O. strikes in Detroit and elsewhere. As of October first, planned output of 500,000 machines for the last quarter of this year has been cut to 400,000. The estimate will drop to 250,000 if the dispute continues another two weeks.

The controversy hit the auto makers at an extremely bad time. Ford, Nash and Hudson were already in production. General Motors and Chrysler had almost completed the reconversion process, and were about to swing into the manufacture of their prewar products.

WORRIES: The makers' representatives brought even blacker news to Administratino officials Aside from the labor troubles, they are most concerned about the fall-off in workers' productivity. Unless conditions change, they doubt whether assembly line economies and short cuts learned during the conflict will enable them to match their prewar records.

The Detroiters report that the slowdown technique fostered, so they say, by the unions during the period of high wages still affects their skilled and unskilled workingmen. Habits inculcated over a period of five years, they report, are hard to change.

Another obstacle to high-speed manufacture is the age of employes hired of necessity from 1940 to 1945, and the inexperience of many veterans who have been added since their discharge.

Inasmuch as automobile making is one of the cornerstones of the national economy, employing more than 5,000,000 people directly and indirectly in normal times, the present blockade of production and employment worries President Truman more than any other problem on the domestic horizon.

No woman is wholly convinced that a man really loves her unless and until he buys her something she doesn't need at a price he can't afford.

GOP Propaganda On Truman Is Absurdity

"Pinkish Color" Of Regime Cited

By THOMAS STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON —Political propaganda whether Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist or what-have-you, should be taken at a sizeable discount, and never too seriously.

But sometimes it reaches such a degree of absurdity that it does not even represent the best thought and interests of the party and defeats its own purpose. Such an example is in the current (October) issue of "The Republican News," sponsored by the Republican National committee, with a circulation of 200,000 including party workers.

STOKES

In an article on President Truman's message to Congress headed "If Speech Had Familiar Ring, This May Explain Everything," a comparison is made between points in the President's message and resolutions of the Communist party convention six weeks before. This, it says, gives "ample evidence of the pinkish color of the administration's program."

By the same token, it would yield evidence of "the pinkish color" of some parts of Republican doctrine; for some of the points cited have drawn Republican support, and some are approved, or partly approved, in the last party platform.

Cites Unemployment Benefits

The article cites the President's request for supplemental federal unemployment benefits for reconversoin and covering many federal war workers not now included. While most Senate Republicans were against the proposed increase to a maximum of $25 for 26 weeks, most of them were for extending the duration of benefits at federal expense—as originally proposed by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) and there was virtually no opposition to including federal workers.

It cites as a second point the President's request for correction in inequities of some wages. In its 1944 platform the Republican party condemned the whole theory of wage freezing.

Next it cites the "full employment" bill as a common objective of both the President and the Communists. Republicans fought some provisions of this measure and got changes. But only six Republicans voted against the final hodge-podge of language which, though generally meaningless, still contained a declaration of federal responsibility for assuring job opportunities.

THE official Republican newspaper also included in its catalogue of "pinkish" colorations the President's recommendation for price supports for agriculture. The lands are inhabited.

1944 Republican platform pledged such supports.

The President's appeal to strengthen and develop crop insurance was listed. Republicans were for that in their 1944 party platform.

Another Truman proposal cited was for federal aid for slum clearance and housing. Senator Taft (R.-O.), has been active in assisting to draft housing legislation and will get much Republican support.

Remember 1944 Platform?

Also included in the newspaper's list was the President's suggestion that surplus war plants be disposed of in a way "to provide early and continuous employment," supply markets and check inflation. The party has taken no stand here.

Mr. Truman's recommendation for development of various river sheds was cited along with his advocacy of public works of other sorts The 1944 Republican platform is rather strong on public works, and as a means to provide employment.

The Republican organ pointed to the President's counsel that OPA must "continue to resist unreasonable pressures for high prices on some commodities." Some Republicans have vigorously fought continuation of price control.

THE final Truman recommendation compared with Communist declarations is thus paraphrased in the newspaper:

"Help war-torn countries get back on their feet. Carry out Bretton Woods proposals with objectives of helping peace-loving nations to become self-supporting. Will seek to determine foreign requirements and need for maintaining domestic and export controls."

Is all that a sin?

The 1944 Republican platform was generous in its commitments for help to war-torn countries.

Would the national committee have the party go backward?

Medal Of Honor To Go To 15 Friday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (U.P.) — President Truman will present the Medal of Honor to 15 members of the Army Ground Forces in a ceremony Friday morning on the south lawn of the White House, the War department announced today.

Recipients of the award include:

T/Sgt. Cleto Rodriguez, San Antonio, Tex.

The award to Rodriguez had not been previously announced.

Rodriguez and a companion, Pfc. John N. Reese, Jr., Pryor, Okla., won the medal when they battled 300 Japanese entrenched in a Manila railroad station last February. The two Americans killed 82 of the enemy, and completely disorganized the defense in that area. Reese was killed as the two withdrew from the battle.

but agreed to renew talks with Secretary of Labor Schwellenback in the afternoon.

Before the morning meeting Schwellenbach reported the disputants were "not far apart." He sought to compose differences which arose over wording of the peace proposal to negotiate the dispute on recognition of a foreman's union affiliated with Lewis' United Mine workers.

Coal Supply Dwindling

Lewis proposed that the strike would be ended if the operators would negotiate on the recognition issue. But the operators came up with a condition—their willingness to negotiate should not be interpreted as a retreat from their stand that foremen should not be unionized.

The miners' dispute has choked off production of almost a million tons of coal daily and restricted steel production involves the following numbers of miners.

350 Ships Tied Up

More than 350 ships remained tied up in New York harbor by the 10-day-old AFL longshoremen's strike and the Army said soldiers presumably would be used to load the Queen Elizabeth for her sailing today.

The return from abroad of "thousands of troops" was being delayed by the strike, a War Shipping Administration official said. He added 17 Liberty ships had been ordered to sail empty, leaving behind 85,000 tons of cargo.

Meanwhile the strike of 2,700 overland Greyhound bus drivers in seven Western states continued. The dispute is over union demands for higher wages.

The Wright Aeronautical corporation granted a 22 cents an hour wage increase on all basic rates for hourly paid employes in its plants in the Paterson, N. J., area. About 6,000 CIO United Automobile workers are affected now and more may be included when reconversion to peacetime operation is completed. The previous basic rates ranged from 81 cents to $1.41 an hour.

Officers said McCaine was discharged from the medical and surgical hospital in San Antonio in August after treatment for amnesia. Newspaper clippings found in his room in Houston said he was found in Sabinal, Tex., with no memory of his name or past. He was taken to the hospital, where his identification was established by a friend. Later he was released.

The amnesia theory was first discounted when it was reported he had called his estranged wife in Washington last week. It was given official credence again when his wife later flatly denied the calls.

McCaine was a field inspector for a Houston tire and rubber concern. His brother, a sister, a wife by a previous marriage and her 15-year-old son live in Houston. His mother lives in Shreveport, La.

operation." It was proposed that no loans be made to the U. S. S. R. until she answers these questions:

How much of Russia's production is to be devoted to war materials and what percentage does she really need.

Just what are Russia's statistics on economic production?

Will Russia live up to the international agreements and withdraw troops from occupied lands?

What treaties for trade have been drawn between Russia and its satellite nations and neighbors?

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The cotton futures market developed an irregular pattern in quiet trading today wit hfinal prices 35 cents a bale lower to 20 cents higher. Near months were under moderate pressure. The government weekly weather revealed cotton picking operations wer seriously retarded in most of the western belt and slowed down in central sections. This pointed to further crop deterioration.

Traders were disappointed in h nws from London that the Liverpool cotton exchange will not be opened, which increased the obstacles to resumption to private trading in world markets.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP) — Announcement that the government is back in the wheat market at substantially increased bids caused buying which boosted wheat futures around 2 cents a bushel at times today to new seasonal peaks.

and officially into the 36th division. It served with distinction in World War I.

After the first great war the division as a National Guard unit trained each summer at Camp Hulen near Palacios. This period extended until the present war.

Then the division was again organized, from the Texas National Guard. Most of its leaders were Texans, and Texans remained in command for virtually the entire war.

A unit of the 36th was detached in November, 1941, and sent to the Pacific theater of war. It was the famous "Lost Battalion," the 131st Field Artillery which was in the hardest of the Java campaign, and which was pitifully outnumbered and captured. Men of the 131st have been liberated now, and many are home.

The 36th is now being inactivated—but it will live in history books and in the hearts of a proud and grateful nation.

British Dock Strike Continues To Spread

LONDON, Oct. 10. (AP)—Britain's worst dock strike in 20 years continued to spread today despite a food ministry warning that the tying up of food ships for a few days more would result in a sharp cut in the nation's already meagre table supplies.

Three hundred vessels are lying idle at 15 piers from London to Northern Ireland as a result of the unauthorized walkout of 33,000 dockhands during the past two and one-half weeks.

The strikers are demanding 25 shillings (about $5 a day basic pay), an increase of eight shillings ($1.60).

general administrative affairs.

The emperor's sacred position in traditional Japanese life was given a jolt by the parades, who carried red banners and Korean independence flags. The paraders, numbering only about 600, turned their backs on the Imperial palace —in direct affront to the custom of bowing to the edifice.

Led By Communist

The marchers were led by Inosuke Makanishi, Communist leader and one of 16 political prisoners just released by American orders from long imprisonment.

In a Communist meeting before the parade, Makanishi tearfully related how he had been beaten during his imprisonment, and Totsuzi Fuse, liberal-thinking attorney, criticized Japanese militarists and declared the overthrow of the Emperor system was the only solution to Japan's problems.

Jap Finances Studied

Russell Brines, Associated Press correspondent, said authoritative sources told him American investigators have started along the murky financial trail which was expected to connect some of Japan's biggest financiers and industrialists with the nation's imperialistic ambitions.

American seizure yesterday of approximately $250,000,000 in Japanese precious metals was motivated by apparent Nipponese carelessness as well as a desire to uncover the nation's war funds, another informant said.

Included Millions In Gold

Precious metals belonging to the government and Bank of Japan were held in the bomb-damaged mint with a laxness that afforded an opportunity for any small band of desperadoes to steal it, the sources said.

Vice Adm. Ushinosuke Yamamoto said that the several million dollars worth of gold, silver, platinum and jewels found in the Navy building and impounded by the Allies was taken from conquered countries, as well as from the Japanese people.

Yamamoto, who was chief navy paymaster, insisted that the precious metals were to be used in war production and that they had been "bought." He admitted, however, that the "purchases" were made in the conquered lands with military currency, which now is worthless. The home folks received promissory notes, which never were paid.

It was learned from authoritative Japanese sources that American headquarters yesterday ordered the imperial government to report on all assets in foreign countries.

The report may disclose whether individual Japanese established bank accounts abroad, to escape possible Allied confiscation.

Meetings yesterday between rubber plant workers and management of the plants failed to reach a settlement of the labor dispute which is reported to be the same demands made by refinery workers for 52 hours pay for a 40-hour week and other working conditions.

At Odessa, the Oil Workers union presented its side of the Permian basin drillers' strike through a statement from C. Massengale, Fort Worth, director of organization campaign for union.

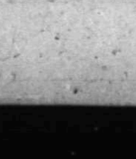

"The strike is effective," Massengale said. "There are drilling crews still on the job but even some of these are with our approval, working on wells which would be damaged materially by complete stoppage."

Utah Town Menaced By Blast In Mine

VERNAL, Utah, Oct. 10—Molten Gilsonite flowed lava-like toward the isolated mining community of Bonanza today and great spurts of flame shot skyward intermittently from the 15 shafts of a mine wracked last night by two tremendous explosions.

Miners who returned with rescue parties after evacuating their families were building dams to stem the flow from the erupting mine shafts.

Greatest danger was that the tar-like gilsonite would ignite homes of the 250 residents which were miraculously spared, along with their occupants, when the two blasts hurled mine shaft timbers into the sky. Two homes were all but demolished when several of the 16-foot timbers came crashing through the roofs.

The resultant blaze from the explosions, cause of which is still undetermined, leveled the mine buildings but the fire was held to the mine property. It was still burning tonight.

There were no men in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Nimitz Plans Reunion With Texas Relatives

KERRVILLE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz' reunion with his brother and sister at a luncheon here Saturday will climax his visit to the Texas hill country town where he attended school before being appointed to the Naval academy.

W. E. Saenger, manager of the Kerrville Chamber of Commerce, announced detailed plans of the Nimitz program, which begins at 10 a. m. when an official welcoming committee meets him on the outskirts of the city.

A parade and an address by Nimitz will follow, then the luncheon at which he and his brother, retired Naval Captain Otto Nimitz and his sister, Mrs. Dora Reagan, will be the honor guests. Also invited are his old school mates and friends.

Admiral Nimitz will then go to Fredericksburg, his birthplace, where there will be another parade and then a reception at which he will make another talk. A dinner, again honoring old friends and relatives, will be held at 6 p. m.

Darnand Executed For Treason In France

PARIS, Oct. 10. (UP)—Joseph Darnand, police chief in former Premier Pierre Laval's Vichy government, was executed at Fort De Chatillon today for treason. He was convicted by a French court Oct. 3.

Laval himself was sentenced to death for treason yesterday, but his chief defense counsel said he would ask President Gen. Charles De Gaulle to set aside the verdict because of the farcial conduct of the trial.

The counsel, Albert Naud, said Laval deeply resented not being called back to court to hear the verdict. Laval refused to attend the final hours of testimony on grounds that prejudice of the judge and jury prevented a fair trial.

The only witness to the execution of Darnand, aside from soldiers and officials, was a Dominican priest who was active in the underground.

Attlee's Labor Setup Faces Big Test On British Domestic Issues

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The British Labor government faces its first real tests on domestic and foreign issues during the sitting of Parliament which has just opened.

In the course of the next two or three months, Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee and his colleagues will be called on to demonstrate the soundness of their socialization plans for the United Kingdom, as well as their ability to cope with the immediate problem of reconversion, to maintain the solidarity of the empire and solve several knotty international matters.

Regarded As Heckling

The opposition, led by Winston Churchill, had been expected to make much of the failure of the foreign ministers' conference. Churchill's demand for a general debate on the subject may be regarded as in the nature of preliminary heckling. There is little likelihood that the government will be seriously embarrassed over the stand taken by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, which was in full accord with that of the United States delegation.

The Palestine question may cause the government some awkward moments, particularly because of Labor's pledge to promote a Jewish homeland. In view of bitter Arab opposition, the government can find an out by falling back on the stipulation of the Balfour declaration that any action must be "with due regard to the rights of the Arab population." Possibly Britain can shoulder the entire unwelcome responsibility on the United Nations.

Domestic Situation Watched

A matter more likely to plague the Attlee government is its handling of the economic negotiations in progress in Washington. It is a matter of vital interest to the British public and failure to obtain a satisfactory agreement would have serious repercussions at home.

But it is in domestic affairs that labor faces possible stormy weather. The public has adopted a "wait and see" attitude so far, fully prepared to back up its election mandate to the government if its most urgent needs are met with firmness and skill. Otherwise, a growing revolt is possible if substantial progress has not been made by the end of the year.

Housing Among Worries

Among the chief problems are housing, employment and wages, demobilization, continuation of price, rationing and other controls, nationalization of the mines and the Bank of England, revitalization of industry and overseas trade, provisions for winter fuel and food, and internal transport.

Some of the heat has been taken off demobilization by the newly-devised speed-up, but the government must see that the returned soldiers are given jobs at a living wage, or there will be trouble. Right now, a situation has arisen in which a labor government is confronted by strikes and increasing restlessness among labor.

Dock Strike Adds Trouble

The government tried to keep aloof from the unauthorized dockworkers' strike but was forced yesterday to announce that troops would be sent to remove food cargoes. There was no indication today, however that this step will be carried out. More than 37,000 men in 11 ports including London and Liverpool are now involved in the strike. About 50,000 others are idle in key industrial centers.

In addition, 60,000 construction workers left their bomb-damage repair jobs in London to parade through Hyde Park in protest against the reduced work week, which means smaller pay. A strike would be a serious blow to the all-important housing program. Like the construction workers, the longshoremen want a better living wage and hope to get a guaranty of $5 a day.

These two labor disputes involve two fundamental things, food and shelter. Unless they are wisely handled, the Labor government's other problems are apt to sink into insignifincance by comparison.

Kramer's Wife Says Hubby Knew Gassing Of Prisoners Wrong

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 10 (AP)—Frau Josef Kramer testified under cross examination today that her husband naturally realized that the gassing of concentration camp internees was "very wrong."

Kramer and 44 guards and attendants are on trial before a British military court for mass killings at Belsen.

A small woman, the mother of three, Frau Kramer wore a velvet hat jauntily. She took an oath on the Bible. She smiled at Kramer, told of their marriage Oct. 16, 1937, and said she had been with him at all times at the camps in which he was an officer.

Said Kramer Worried

She said her husband told her at Oswiecim that "of those responsible for destroying so many persons in the gas chamber, I don't think they can be sleeping easily."

"Did you ever hear of your husband beating anyone?" asked Defense Attorney Thomas Claude Winwood.

"No," Frau Kramer replied softly. "He told me many times his duty was to care for internees at Belsen day and night. He worried because so many had to sleep on bare floors in huts."

Prosecutor T. M. Backhouse then took over.

"You say your husband told you those responsible for deaths in the gas chamber could not have an easy conscience?" he asked.

"Yes."

Kramer Makes Statement

"He realized it was very wrong, didn't he?"

"Yes, naturally."

Kramer, on the stand earlier today asked permission to make a statement. When it was granted, the defendant took a deep breath and said:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the defending officers for their work for me and the others, and I'm certain the court can give a fair judgement."

Thirty-Two Divisions In Inactivation Stage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (U.P.)—Thirty two of the 89 Army divisions sent to combat theaters during the war have been inactivated or are under orders to be inactivated upon returning to this country in the next few weeks, it was learned today at the War department.

These include five former National Guard infantry divisions which are being returned to their home states. They are the 26th, from New England; 29th, from Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia; 34th from the Dakotas, Iowa and Minnesota; 36th from Texas and Oklahoma, and the 43rd from Maine, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The 43rd is the first and only Pacific division on the list. The last elements of the 43rd are due to arrive on the Pacific coast tomorrow.

The other divisions on the list are the 63rd, 65th, 66th, 69th, 70th, 75th, 76th, 79th, 85th, 87th, 89th, 92nd, 95th, 99th, 103rd, and 106th infantry divisions; the 17th and 82nd Airborne and the 5th, 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 14th, and 16th Armored divisions.

Inactivation of these divisions does not mean that all personnel of these outfits will be discharged. Low point men in these divisions will be transferred to other organizations.
