Reese Medics State Maternal Care Still Without Cost Here

Williams AFB, Ariz., has suffered a cutback in medical officers and qualified obstetricians, and as a result maternity care at the base hospital has been curtailed effective Sunday.

According to an article in the "Jet Gazette," delivery, as well as prenatal and postnatal care will no longer be offered free. The base hospital has prepared a list of civilian doctors in nearby communities who have agreed to charge a flat $85 for a normal delivery. This will include both prenatal and postnatal care.

Officials at the Reese hospital were quick to point out that there will be no change or curtailment of services here. At the present time no limitations are placed on the number of deliveries per month and excellent medical attention is available. Last month 48 babies were born to military personnel here.

ADM Arthur W. Radford, USN, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will make a tour of three to four weeks of U. S. Installations in Europe. He will leave the latter part of this month and is scheduled to visit U.S. and Allied commanders in France, Germany, Austria, Norway, England, Italy, Malta and Spain.

than November 24 for further assignment to the 5th Air Force in the Far East as personnel officer. He will leave Reese Tuesday or Wednesday and will visit his parents in Denver enroute to the port of debarkation.

Captain Wolfe, who became wing adjutant August 28, was commissioned in January 1944 on conclusion of flight training, and was promoted to captain June 18 1952. He attended basic and advanced flying training and B-24 transport training, as well as graduating from the advanced administrative and supply course at Camp Lee, Va. He has been in service since Sept. 29 1942, serving in an enlisted status from June 28, 1946, until called back into commissioned service Mar. 23, 1951.

The adjutant was assigned to Reese when recalled as an officer and was adjutant of the Supply squadron, Motor Vehicle squadron, and M&S group, commander of Headquarters squadron, M&S group and assistant wing personnel officer prior to becoming wing adjutant.

He was a pilot in Italy from Oct. 21, 1944 to June 28 1945, serving in the Rhinelands, Balkans, Central Europe, Appennines, and Po Valley. He flew 21 missions and 155 combat hours in B-24's and won the Air medal with two clusters, World War II Victory Medal and American Campaign medal. No decision had been made this morning on who will succeed him as wing adjutant.

UN Troops in Germany Wear Civvies Off Duty

Heidelberg Germany (AFPS)—American troops in Germany have received permission to wear civilian clothes during off-duty hrs. and also received some sartorial guidance from the Army.

But the Army frowned officially on "teen-age attire". No zoot suits, blue jeans, shorts, T-shirts or athletic jackets will be worn on the street or in public places.

Top 2 Graders To Get Deluxe Living Quarters

Top ranking bachelor NCOs will soon have the opportunity to make use of the long awaited bachelor airmen's quarters. Thirty-two individual rooms will be available for occupancy by master sergeants and tech sergeants during the last of November, revealed Lt. Col. Quinn L. Oldaker, Air Base Group executive officer.

Located in buildings T-141 and T-143, the quarters are composed of 16 apartments—two individual bedrooms sharing a common living room.

Each unit will contain fashionable modern furniture, Hollywood style beds, box springs and mattresses, pillows, complete bedding, overstuffed chair, reading lamp, radio stand, chiffonier and a six cubic foot refrigerator. The living rooms are to be furnished with studio couches, tables, and chairs. Venetian blinds are being hung to decorate and cover all windows.

A committee of four master sergeants, J. R. Reaver, C. C. Craig, M. McCarty and J. L. Creel, was appointed by Colonel Oldaker for the purpose of investigation and to establish a set of by-laws for the quarters.

A fee of $10 per month will be charged the occupants to be paid to the NCO Mess secretary under a separate account set up as a self-supporting fund.

A committee of NCOs will be elected, or selected to act as representatives of the BAQ, receiving all suggestions or complaints, establishing new rules, approving or disapproving expenditures, act as 'go between' between the airmen and higher authorities, and charged with responsibility of enforcing all rules.

The rooms will be given to those presently assigned to Reese. NCOs arriving on the base after the initial assignment are to be placed on a waiting list pending availability of a room.

No NCO will be required to vacate a room in order to accommodate a newly arriving NCO or another NCO who outranks him. Staff sergeants will be allowed to occupy rooms in the BAQ when vacancy exists.

Lawns and surrounding areas will be maintained by the airmen occupying the quarters. Maid service for the purpose of cleaning the apartments, making the beds, etc., will be furnished. The quarters are exempted from inspections other than those conducted periodically by the ABG commander to determine the service rendered by the maids.

Nov. 4 Marks Start Of Protestant Choir

A Protestant adult mixed chapel choir is being organized to make the Protestant morning services more worshipful, announced Chaplain (Major) Harold B. Howard, deputy wing chaplain.

ley AFB. "Honest sir," said A-2 C Harmon A. Harrison. "I was kidnapped by the Navy."

"Well," said the officer—who had thought he had heard everything—"let's have your story."

"Sir," said Harrison, "it's truly an epic of the sea. I'm stationed with the northwest Air Command at Ernest Harmon AFB in Newfoundland. I was working with a detail from the maintenance squadron aboard a Navy Tanker—the USNS Mission Capistrano—that was unloading cargo at our base.

"Well sir, the wind started to howl and the sea was running high. After I finished working in my usual industrious way, I went 'topside.' That's what they call 'up stairs' in the Navy. Well, I found that the captain had put out to sea.

"Naturally, I demanded to be put back on shore. There was an Army Tug standing by, but the sea was so rough I couldn't get to it. So I had to stay with the tanker until we landed at Norfolk." "Frankly, said the officer, I doubt that such a thing could . . ."

"You can check with the Navy, sir," said Harrison quickly.

"You'd better be right," said the officer.

The story was checked and found true.

"We're going to put you on TDY here, Harrison," said the Officer, "Then you're going back."

"Please sir, Not to the Capistrano."

"No," said the officer. "To Newfoundland."

Duck Hunting Season Starts Next Week

With the approach of chilly weather various species of waterfowl are in evidence around this vicinity. Shooting season for ducks and geese will open here next Friday, Nov. 6, at noon and continue until Jan. 4, 1954.

Reese shooters are urged to be thoroughly familiar with the federal and local hunting regulations. Copies of the Migratory Game Bird Digest may be obtained at the sporting counter in the base exchange

Hunting on the base is restricted to military personnel stationed here and civilian employees of this base who reside here. All hunters must secure a permit from the Air Police officer prior to going afield.

Military personnel stationed at Reese and residing in Lubbock county need not possess a state hunting license to hunt on the base. Airmen stationed here but residing in a county other than Lubbock must possess a valid state license. All hunters must purchase a federal duck stamp.

Hunting of personnel under 17 years of age is prohibited. Not more than 10 persons will be permitted to hunt at any one time. Under base regulation 93-1 each person desiring to hunt on the base will make in person, an application to the Air Police Officer for a base hunting permit at least 24 hours prior to the time he desires to hunt.

These hunting permits will not be issued to any one person for two consecutive days unless the maximum number of permits for any one day have not been issued. The first 10 persons applying for hunting permits will receive them providing they meet the requirements of the base regulation.

Shotguns are available and may be checked out from Personnel Services. These may be used for daily hunting trips or weekend excursions.

AF Cadets on Par With West Pointers

By A-C E. R. Wolfe

As some long dead but still remembered, philosopher once coined, "To be worthwhile reading, the written word must contain useful meaning; otherwise its accumulation succeeds only in consuming valuable time." I trust the following will encompass the purpose of the above quotation.

The term "cadet" is denoted to mean military student, officer candidate. To this term let us add the word "aviation," giving us "aviation cadet". The implied meaning is military student involved in schooling. The complete meaning of "aviation cadet" is obvious only to those who do or previously did possess the designation. To me the term is synonymous to West Point, certainly the desired end of all these forms of military training are paralleled by the achievements; awards and position won by those who ultimately graduate. In addition we of the Air Force program are afforded the distinctive privilege to earn our way by our way by our learned capabilities of flying some of the world's finest aircraft.

For each benefit there is said to be an equal draw-back which is applicable to this stated situation. We of the USAF cadet program do not have the opportunity for advanced and specialized education to the extent enjoyed by our fellows at Annapolis or West Point. However the future holds good possibility for an equal educational program for AF Cadets, both aviation and ground. Undoubtedly such an addition to the already extensive means of training will raise the qualifications of these men above the existing high standards.

Those of you who have read thus far are probably surrounded in wonderment of the previously mentioned purpose of this article.

Briefly it is an attempt to portray to those involved in "cadetism", to those who anticipate this end and to those who merely observe the intense necessity for such a program to help insure our way of life and liberty. Often we get too close to the mirror to observe the true scope of what is happening around us.

Annapolis is given the responsibility of creating the leaders of our sea forces; West Point similarly for our ground forces. It is then an obvious conclusion where from stems the creation of leaders for our air forces. I do not see any necessity to weigh the importance or greater import of any of the methods of defense. It is an accepted fact that all three are necessary in the defense and maintenance of our country's abounding assets. Which ever dominates does so from demand, not desire.

As a member of this widely scattered, but closely knit fraternal organization of future officers, pilots and I trust gentlemen, I find myself in a position of gratitude toward all those involved in permitting such opportunities of advancement to occur. This attitude is similarly felt by those involved in training at other military institutions. Every one is entitled to be recipient of this gratitude since our education is sponsored by the general public - the American taxpayer.

It is my belief that the investment is not one of sheer speculation. The premium is considerably small when the coverage is considered. I hope as I am sure you also do, that the necessity to cash the policy never arises. In that event however, I am certain there will be ample payment to see us all through the periods of hardship.

HERE'S THE USAF'S new North American F-100 "Super Sabre" —the successor to the famed F-86 Sabre. The Super Sabre is the first operational AF jet to exceed the speed of sound in level flight. It's 45' long, 14' high with a wing span of 36'. The plane has a service ceiling of 50,000 ft. and a combat radius of over 500 miles. The first production model already has come off the assembly line.

Your Chapel

Preparation is now in the advance stages to celebrate Halloween in the traditional American fashion. Many do not know or will not stop to remember celebration digressed from the Christian service of thank ful worship in remembrance of all saints who had died and gone to heaven. This was an annual observance established on November 1st and known as All Saints Day.

The more fervent souls felt those who had died and gone to heaven maintained an earthly interest and made an annual visit to their loved ones in the shadows of the evening before All Saints' Day. They were believed to be supernatural and thus appeared as spirits. They were the "hallowed ones" - hence the evening hour. Through the years an element of superstition has come more and more to play the dominant role.

It would certainly be well for us to inject more of the original spirit into this seasonal observance

We are debtors to all the great souls who have lived before us. They have through toil and struggle bequeathed to us rich blessings which make life richer and fuller. The spirits of these wonderful personalities hover about us continually. Unconsciously they play a tremendous role in our lives. Their influence linger and is transferred

Such a viewpoint is poles away from individual to individual and from generation to generation. from the witch and hobgoblin outlook. The witches, goblins and destructive cannottation, whereas, the spirit of the saints is always present to guide and help toward the good. Not only are the spirits of our forefathers with us continually but also the presence of the Holy Spirit to lead us into the good life. Let us use every opportunity to promote and accept this spirit.

Washington's Farewell Address was first presented to the American public in the columns of the Philadelphia Daily Advertiser.

Dear Mrs. Shea:
Is it necessary to send a gift if you receive an announcement for the second, third, etc. baby? Martha, a Sergeant's wife

Dear Martha:
It is not necessary to send a gift even for the first baby. It all depends on how well you like babies in general and how fond you are of the particular baby in question. With the growing trend in the Air Force for large families, a fine trend. Most of us has good parents would fast go broke. If you don't believe me, visit a Wherry project or take a trip by MATS OR MSTA.

Dear Mrs. Shea:
Is it proper to attend a luncheon at a club in summer without a hat? Alice, a Lieutenant's wife

Dear Alice:
At a beach club, yes but at a formal luncheon at a club hats are worn.

Dear Mrs. Shea:
If you are unexpectedly transferred to another base what should you do about obligations that you do not have time to fulfill at your present station

I suggest you pay an informal or p.p.c call on your former hosts or should there not be time, write a cordial note upon arrival at new station.

Sports Roundup

The National Boxing Association has issued a "fight or else" ultimatum to Archie Moore, light-heavyweight champ and Percy Bassett who holds the interim feather weight title while champion Sandy Sadler is in the Army.

The aging Moore, told to defend his title within the next two months or risk losing it, will probably take on Harold Johnson of Pennsylvania.

In the fall ratings published by the NBA, Bassett found himself in the odd position of being the title holder although he ranked fourth in his own division; Sadler, Willie Pep and Red Top Davis were rated ahead of him.

You've probably never thought of yourself as the "extra-income" type—one who could enjoy that good feeling of having money pile up even when you're not working.

But you can have extra money that goes on making more and more money for you, day after day. No matter how small your salary is, too.

All you have to do is sign to invest in U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan. You'll find it's the easiest way in the world to save money and to make money!

Just ask any of your friends now on the Payroll Savings Plan. They'll tell you that, after you sign for Payroll Savings, you tend to forget how much money is steadily being accumulated for you. Apparently, it's human nature to not miss money you've never had in your pocket . . . never even seen. Then, surprisingly soon, you own a Bond! Then another and another. And before you realize it, you have that nest egg you've wanted for years.

Remember, you can save as little as a couple of dollars a payday on the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, you can save as much as $375 a month: Your money is invested in U. S. Savings Bonds for you, and the Bonds turned over to you. Best of all—those Bonds can now earn 3% interest for as long as 19 years and 8 months, if you want them to: That's more money than they've ever earned before.

Today—this very day—make that move you've probably been putting off for months. Ask, where you work, to sign an application blank for the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're self-employed, go to your bank and have your banker start you in the Bond-A-Month Plan. You'll find it as simple as the Payroll Savings Plan.

Supply Leads Mural Race

By T-Sgt. R. A. NOLL

It was comparable to that of a story book ending Monday night for the Supply Crew as they scored the winning TD in the waning minutes of the game to edge a rugged Air Police team 18 to 12. Giles fading back, with but a minute and a half remaining searched diligently for an intended receiver, spotting his target in the end zone he cocked his arm and threw the ball with the elegance and accuracy collated to William Tell. The rest is history. Benjamin, awaiting with open arms grabbed and hugged the ball for the winning TD. It wasn't until the end of the game did the Air Police realize what actually occurred.

A game which saw scoring in every quarter was very hard fought but very cleanly played. Featuring splendid passing attacks from both sides it was Supply who had broken the ice in the final quarter on a brilliant 40 yard end run by Giles. Giles in turn lateralized the ball to O'Connell on the eight who scored for the initial TD. Supply registered an additional TD in the second quarter on a pass from Giles to Mulroy to extend the lead momentarily 12 to 0 as the first half ended.

AP's Tie Game

A greatly inspired Air Police team failed to recognize defeat for as the 3rd quarter got under way they were on the offensive. A pass from McCoy to Winston registered a quick TD. Moments later McCoy threw a pass to Morris in the end zone to tie the ball game 12 to 12.

A stunned but determined Supply Team roared back in the final quarter to score on a sensational 30 yard pass by Giles to Benjamin to score the all important TD, to remain the only undefeated team of the base league.

Supply was minus the services of ace left half Red Kandell who was sidelined with an age old ankle injury. However, Davis, a second string substitution, ably rose to the occasion and gave that addition spark necessary to the Supply Team in the final quarter. For Supply it was the seventh consecutive victory of the season.

Referee Howard Reske awarded Supply squadron a forfeit over the Cadet A team last Wednesday. Failure of the Cadets to show up presented the Supply boys with their sixth victory by a 1 to 0 score.

Successive victories over 3505 Maintenance and 3500 Air Base Group have placed the Supply Squadron Bowling team in a tie for second place. Grabbing six points out of a possible eight, the team appears to be heading for a most successful season. A-2C Steiner had high series against the Maintenance Crew, 467, while Team Captain T-Sgt. G. B. Combs ran up high series Tuesday night against the Air Group with a total of 534.

Tech Coaches to be 'At Home' During Mississippi State Game

LUBBOCK, Oct. 23 — Although Texas Tech's game with Mississippi State in Jackson, Miss., next Saturday (Oct. 31) afternoon marks the Red Raiders' debut against a Southeastern Conference opponent, five Tech coaches will be in familiar territory.

DeWitt T. Weaver, Athletic director and head coach, will be most at home, for in addition to playing for the University of Tennessee, he was an assistant coach at Mississippi State for three seasons after the war—1946-48. The other Southeastern alumni are Buis (Buzz) Warren and Horace (Bud) Sherrod, both from Tennessee, Wyatt Posy from University of Georgia, and Bob (Jitterbug) Kellogg, Tulane University player.

Weaver captained the 1926 Volunteers as a guard and coached the Tennessee freshmen one year. He came to Tech from Tulsa in 1951 after two seasons of coaching the Golden Hurricane line.

Warren, an underclassman of Weavers, tailbacked the Vols in the Orange, Rose, and Sugar Bowls. He came to Tech in 1952 from Oak Ridge Tenn., High School.

Third of General Bob Neyland's grads, Sherrod played end for Tennessee during the '48-'50 seasons. He was voted the outstanding lineman in the '51 Cotton Bowl and came to Tech this year following play with Carswell Air Base and the New York Giants.

Posy came to Tech in '51 from Yale, where he was assisting Herman Hickman. Posy played tackle for Georgia 1939-'41 and later coached South Georgia Junior College.

Kellogg arrived this spring after coaching at Wake Forest and Tulane. He was tailback for Tulane in 1938 and 1939, playing in the Sugar Bowl and in the All Star pro game of 1940.

Sixth member of Tech's coaching staff, Wade Walker, is a former University of Oklahoma Sooner. The All-American tackle's only brush with the Southeastern conference came as a player against Louisiana State University.

NAVY END Don Fullum (82) appears to be praying for the pigskin tossed by quarterback George Welsh, but Princeton's quarterback Lovecchio was right behind and broke up the play. The Middies trounced the Tigers 65-7 for their worst defeat in 85 years of football.

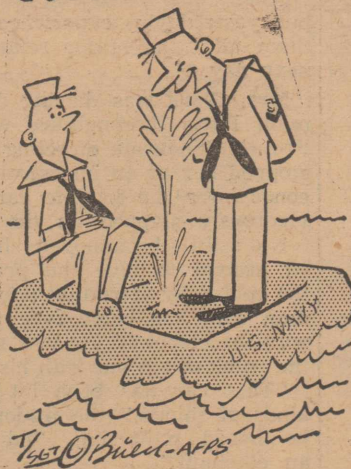

Navy's F4D Skyray Logs New Record For Closed Course

Edwards AFB, Calif (AFPS) — The Navy's new F4D Skyray jet interceptor has set a second world speed record with an average speed of 728.110 mph over a 100-kilometer closed course.

The Douglas Aircraft Co., builders of the Skyray, report that on Oct. 16, their civilian test pilot Bob Rahn, an Air Force vet of WWII, piloted the delta wing plane around the 62.1 mile course in five minutes and seven seconds. The flight shattered a record of 709.2 mph set by Great Britain's Neville Duke in a Hawker Hunter jet fighter, Sept. 19.

The Douglas Co. said the run was made under the rules of the nationale of Paris France.

D-Wing Fighter Makes Flight Test, Termed Successful

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE — The successful flight test of the nation's first delta-wing, supersonic all-weather fighter, the Convair F-102, was announced today by the United States Air Force.

The first flight was accomplished today at the Air Force Flight Test Center, Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. by Convair's chief project test pilot, Richard L. Johnson.

Capable of supersonic speeds in straight and level flight, the single place F-102 is powered by the Pratt & Whitney J-57 turbo-jet engine.

The F-102 is the latest Air Force Aircraft designed for air defense of the United States. It incorporates significant improvements in electronics and armament to make possible all-weather around-the-clock interception of enemy bombers.

REPORT from WASHINGTON

ADM. William H. Blandy, USN (RET), has been named to head the new Naval Reserve Evaluation Board. The board will meet early in November for the purpose of examining the Naval Reserve as it relates to the needs of the Navy and the national defense.

In announcing the appointment Secretary of the Navy Robert H. Anderson emphasized the importance of obtaining a maximum return for each dollar used by the Naval Reserve. The mission of the board is not administrative, the Secretary added, but rather is analytical. Its objective is to determine the overall effectiveness of the reserve policy.

Small business concerns handled nearly 56 percent of the Army's procurement dollar during fiscal year '53. Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said that 36.5 percent of the dollar value of all prime contracts an estimated 19 per cent in the form of first tier subcontracts went to firms employing fewer than 500 persons. In dollars the 55.5 percent amounts to $3923,484,000.

Selected to be the new chief of the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks and to head the Navy Civil Engineer Corps is RADM John R. Perry, USN. Admiral Perry, credited with the creation of the Seabees during WWII, will succeed RADM Joseph Jelley, USN, who is taking over the post of director of Construction, Department of Defense.

Maj Gen. Emerson L. Cummings has been appointed to chief of Army Ordnance to succeed Maj. Gen. Elbert L. Ford who is retiring after more than 36 years of military service. Gen. Cummings has been the Assistant Chief of Army Ordnance since July 1951.

Navy general messes have been cautioned by the Secretary of the Navy that it is possible for them to show a considerable saving of funds if they will take into consideration those persons voluntarily absent and not fed. It has been the custom in some general messes to served an increased quality and quantity per man of food instead. This practice has caused an "unmesses in the Navy. All commands have been directed to establish "realistic predictions" of the number of men to be fed.

The former Chief of the Army CIC, Maj. Gen. George B. Barth, has been named Chief of the Joint U.S. Military Aid Group in Greece. Gen. Barth will replace Maj. Gen. Charles E. Hart who has been assigned as CG of the Artillery Center, Ft Sill, Okla.

Orly Field, Paris (AFPS) — When Maj. John M. Clark's wife came home and told him an elephant crashed into the rear of their car. The major realized he had been wrong all these years.

He thought his job as an Air Force inspector now assigned to the 7415th Air Base Gp., had led him to hear everything — but never an elephant colliding with a car, not even in Paris traffic.

"That car's been hit by large trucks, small trucks, bicycles . . . but yesterday's experience beat them all," the major related the next day.

Mrs. Clark was driving down a main Paris thoroughfare when a French Gendarme directing traffic stopped her at an intersection. Seconds later she felt the car being vigorously slapped on the trunk.

Not a little bit annoyed, she turned around to give the prankster the cold fishy stare that only a woman can. She came face to face with the elephant! He was rapping the trunk of the car with his trunk.

"That car has been hit by all kinds of things," the major could be heard muttering, "but never an elephant!"

The pachyderm, a fugitive from a nearby side street circus, was finally led back to his stall and neither the offending car or its driver were the worse for the experience.

The next day Mrs. Clark could chuckle, "He could have at least blown his horn."

High School GED Tests Always Available to You

Why do so many men on this base who have not graduated from high school fail to do anything to further their education? This perplexing situation is one that has been plaguing military leaders for a long time. Possibly we are failing to show you the value of a high school diploma though we believe you are aware of the High School GED Test, available to you immediately upon request in the Education Office, Bldg T-421.

Do you men simply not care whether or not you complete high school? Are you not interested in progress, progress for yourself, the advancement of your educational level? The only person benefitting from successful completion of the High School GED Test is the man who passes it. This is one of the most advantageous benefits the Air Force offers its airmen.

Listed below are some of the gains you might make by taking the GED Test:

1. Eligibility for high school diploma or equivalency certificate, and in turn entrance to an accredited college or university.
2. Better chance for promotion. Don't sneer at this angle. It only stands to reason that the man who tries to improve himself will be a more valuable man to his organization than the man who sits still on his eighth-grade education.

3. Better job opportunities after separation from the service. This is true whether you are 23 years or 45 years of age when you get out.

4. Self-improvement during your stay in the Air Force. Education can only help you! ! !

In a short ten hours of testing you can give a tremendous lift to your pride, your opportunities and your educational level — all at the same time. No one is telling you to do this. It is entirely up to you; it is your chance to prove yourself and every one else that you are interested in self-improvement. With the opportunity staring you in the face, how, may we ask, can you pass it up?

You can virtually get something for nothing, an understatement when it involves getting a high school diploma for no cost, no study and only ten hours of testing. We are up here waiting for you in Bldg T-421 — anxious to do everything we can to get you started on your educational advancement. It would be an unprecedented phenomenon for every man on a base to have a high school diploma, but it can be done. Let's do our best to help make this ideal become a reality.

Reese Seminar Paces Air Force Management Practices

A management training program unique in the Air Force and so successful it has attracted national attention opened its third session last week here at Reese.

The Mid-management seminar for officers and civilians in key positions was originated by the Manpower Management division at Reese late last year. The first 40 hour course was offered January 21 to March 13, with department heads, including group and squadron commanders, attending. The second sessions were held April 6 to May 1, while the meetings now in progress started October 19 and will extend through December 7. Three two-hour meetings are held weekly in the base management school.

Reese officials set up the program, understood to be the only one of its kind in the AF, in order to meet what appeared to be a major problem in management training. They pointed out that base commanders and other high officials of the Air Force were sent to George Washington university in Washington for a management course, and that first line supervisors attended the regular management courses in session most of the year at all bases. However, no program was in effect for those in the middle level, such as group and squadron commanders. Emphasis in seminars is on human relations and communication, with secondary stress on organizational leadership, motivation and related problems. Twenty department heads are assigned each seminar.

The base program, modeled after George Washington University course, has proven so successful that high officials of the USAF in various parts of the country have sought information in order to study possible inauguration of similar sessions elsewhere.

Officials from Texas Technological College have given major cooperation in setting up the course and in seeing that it operated properly and efficiently.

Tech educational leaders spoke at previous seminars and are on the program of the present one.

Tech speakers and discussion leaders scheduled to appear are Dr. F. L. Mize, head of the department of education; Dr. Horace Hartsell, professor of Education; Dr. G. E. Gieseke, vice president of the college; and Dr. Pers Stensland, head of the adult education center.

Included among Reese speakers will be Col. C. P. West, base commander; Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson, wing personnel officer; J. M. Ogle, assistant director of training analysis and development; T. O. Harrell, management engineer; Lt. Col. E. J. Culleton, wing comptroller; J. F. Reeves, educational specialist; Col. Robert L. Wright, commander PTG; Chaplain (Major) Alvin A. Katt; Maj. R. R. Melton; wing operation and training officer; Col. Richard W. Phillips, M&S commander; Col. Clayton A. Scott, ABC commander; C. E. Lunn, civilian personnel officer and Charles C. Galbraith, management school director.

Nolen Swain Jr., and Frank Lee of the Southwestern Public Service company also will speak.

The seminars are set up to cover a variety of subjects including public speaking, reading improvement, writing, planning and budgeting, management analysis, line-staff relations, psychology and motivation, education, teaching methods, executive development, man hour utilization, leadership, communications, conference leadership

AF Court Reporters To Test Stenomask For Dictation Work

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — A new type of military court reporting now used by the Navy may soon be adopted by the Air Force if current training and tests in use of the steno masks prove satisfactory.

The stenomask resembles a pilot's oxygen mask which fits over the court reporter's face. He speaks into a combination dictaphone and transcribing machine but is unheard by other people in room. A trained reporter can record proceedings word for word at 200-350 words per minute. Thirty-two airmen have begun a six week course in steno-mask training. After their completion of the course the Air Force proposes to use the device for three months before deciding whether it will be installed permanently.

The Navy has in the past trained enlisted men in the stenomask system at its School of Justice, Newport, R. I.

counseling and interviewing, guidance, communication and its effect on production, morale factor personnel relations, work simplification, and work measurement. Classes are programmed to include lectures and panels, with students permitted to question speakers and panel members on problems or subject matter of particular importance to them.

Vocalist June Vali heads the list of artists having new releases this week with her renditions of "Mystery Street" and "Don't forget to Write". Deft musical backing is supplied by the Henri Rene Orchestra. Its a definite followup to her "Crying in the Chapel".

Although Christmas is still a number of weeks away, many of the record companies already have finished several discs scheduled for release soon. For example: the entire Arthur Godfrey crew just waxed an album of Christmas selection highlighting the voice of-naturally-the old red head himself. Also heard are Janet Davis, Frank Parker Marion Marlowe Lou Ann Simms, etc. Patti Page has come out with a beautiful interpretation of the perennial favorite "The Lord's Prayer." More news of Christmas releases will appear in this column in the near future.

From the movie flicker "Puttin' on the Ritz" Tony Martin sings an appealing ballad that's loaded with intrigue. It's "There's Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie." Flip-side a new dramatic opus called "I Just Love You" stems from the combined pens of Nicholas Brodzky, and J. Pasternak who scored so well in the past with "Because of You" and "BME MY Love". Tony vocalizes smoothly with musical backing by Lennie Hayton.
