During the 45 minutes the car lay in the track shed not a sign of life was visible about the car. The railroad officials are authority for this statement that the car is to be rushed through to Mexico, their orders being to attach it to fast trains. Because of the minister's apparent hurried departure from New York there was some doubt as to whether he was on board the car, but the conductor of the train is authority for the positive assurance that Senator Limantour is traveling homeward by way of

Ardmore has made an offer of $2,000 for this factory, and Wichita Falls has offered $2,500. At a recent meeting of the Commercial Club it was decided that this kind of enterprises were to be strongly induced to come here and now they have the opportunity to exercise that encouragement. ASK RULING OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

A REPLY IS EXPECTED

The Contention is Made Known That Names Are Not Barred By Limitation.

The State Attorney General has been appealed to for an opinion as to when petitions for nomination as candidates for aldermen can be filed. It has been the practice heretofore in Wichita Falls to file nominations twenty days before the date of the election. This rule was followed in the present election, and several candidates whose names had been mentioned were declared ineligible because their petitions were not filed twenty days before the election on April 4th.

Subsequently investigations of the statute, however, failed to discover any requirements concerning the nomination of candidates other than those nominated by political parties, and it appears that petitions are not necessary and if made may be filed up to the time of the election.

City Attorney Householder has written the attorney general to ask for a ruling on the question.

The executive committee of the Equal Franchise League has started a campaign in support of the bill and every woman's club in the state will join the movement. The bill provides for the appointment of women to the police force in every municipality in the state. It is not framed with the intention of having the women police perform all the functions performed by the male officers, but it specifies that they may be assigned for duty in dance halls, moving picture shows, theatres, public parks, recreation centers, etc.

In twelve cities in the United States the plan of having women policemen has been tried with excellent results, according to the supporters of the bill.

BASEBALL MEN TO BE HEARD.

Application for Rates Will Be Considered April 11.

Austin, Texas, March 16.—The Railroad Commission yesterday issued notice of hearing for April 11 to consider the making of special rates for parties of fourteen or more, which, if adopted, would be the rate adjustment petitioned for by the Texas Baseball League.

The notice contemplates a rate of 1 1/2 cents per mile on parties of fourteen or more. No baggage is to be checked on such party tickets. If adopted the rates are to expire Sept. 15, 1911, which will be the end of the Texas baseball season. The notice of hearing is signed by Commissioners Williams and Wortham, Chairman Mayfield being opposed to such rates for baseball clubs on the ground that it results in the railroads being imposed upon by those who do not travel as contemplated by the baseball teams. If confined to baseball teams alone he would not object.

MODERN ROBIN HOOD.

Police Believe They Have Such a Character.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 16.—The police believe that they have uncovered a modern Robin Hood in the arrest of August Gahl, a confectioner of this city. Gahl is especially charged with the larceny of two rings belonging to a woman in his neighborhood. Frequent robberies in this vicinity lead the officers of the law to suspect that Gahl has been working in this city for some time.

Another feature of the case, however, is the fact that Gahl is known for his benevolence in making presents in the form of clothing and other necessities to the poor.

IMPORTANT LAND CONTROVERSY UP

Involves a Lease of Many Years Standing in the State of Virginia.

Washington, March 16.—Colonial business methods came out in marked contrast with modern ideas today when a suit in which the city of Norfolk, Virginia, is a party, came before the Supreme Court of the United States for argument.

About the time of Washington's death the little borough of Norfolk leased a lot within its boundary to one Richard Evers Lee for 99 years, with the privilege of renewal. As rent there was to be paid annually "six pounds and fifteen shillings" and in addition "the public taxes which shall become due on said land."

The lease was renewed about 1895 the property having passed into the hands of J. W. Perry company and John L. Roper, who have erected valuable buildings on the property. Payment of State taxes was a simple matter, but since the city of Norfolk levied a tax on the property in 1906 which it asked the occupants of the property to pay, a legal controversy arose which the Supreme Court has been called upon to decide.

The occupants of the lot claim that they are under obligations to pay only such taxes as the city of Norfolk itself would be required to pay and not to pay taxes which "the city of Norfolk is assessing itself on its own property and endeavoring to make the lessees pay."

The city takes the position that the occupants of the land are virtually the owners of the property and that no exemption from city taxes was ever granted to them.

EFFORT TO SECURE RELEASE OF PATRICK

New York, March 16.—The breadth of the renewed effort to obtain a pardon for Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing-Sing for the murder of William Marsh Rice is brought out in a statement from Dr. Clark Bell, chairman of a special committee of the American Medical Legal society, which was appointed to further the pardon movement. In his statement, Dr. Bell says that the committee has sent postal cards to 14,000 physicians of the state asking them to sign an appeal to Governor Dix for the release of Patrick. Replies are going in at the rate of 200 a day and the appeal will be sent to Albany soon.

APPORTIONMENT TO BE PAID.

Money for Schools May Be Paid Out Before End of Year.

Austin, Tex., March 16.—The school authorities now believe that the $6.50 per capita apportionment for the school year of Texas will easily be paid out before the end of the school year. The apportionment for March was $3 for each of the 968,269 children within scholastic age—7 to 17, which made the total paid $4,450 for each child, leaving $2.10 to be paid. The March collections were not included in the proportionment, thus giving the income for six months to pay out the $2. Last year there was a deficit. The state obligated itself to apportion $6,299,748. In six months it has paid $4,357,210, which leaves $1,936,538 yet to be apportioned in the remaining six months.

ON TRIAL ALLEGED TO HAVE MANIFESTED QUADRUPLE PERSONALITY IN ONE DAY

SWORE FALSELY CHARGE

Case of Mansual Interest is Being Heard Before Justice Brothers Today.

Marion Goldsmith, said to have been a resident of Montague County, has the dual personality of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde badly discounted, if the testimony of witnesses to his preliminary hearing on charges of false swearing before Justice Brothers is to be credited.

It appears from the testimony of four persons that Goldsmith, in one day made four separate sworn statements in Wichita Falls on January 4, 1911, in which he represented himself first as Marion Goldsmith, the beneficiary of an insurance policy on the life of Milton Goldsmith, his father. This affidavit was made before G. A. Smoot, a notary public.

In a second affidavit on the same day before H. J. Bachman he represented himself as a friend of Milton Goldsmith.

On the same day he is alleged to have made an affidavit as Dr. W. H. Howwell, a physician, before W. M. Bonner. And finally he is alleged to have represented himself as Undertaker J. H. Harvey, in an affidavit sworn to before County Clerk W. A. Reid.

All of these affidavits made by these supposed different persons were in proof of the death of Milton Goldsmith who was insured for $1,000 in the American National Life Insurance Co. at Galveston.

The affidavits set forth that Milton Goldsmith was killed in a runaway 16 1/2 miles northwest of Wichita Falls and that he was buried in Henrietta Cemetery.

Several days after these affidavits were sworn to in Wichita Falls, the State Bank at Hollister, Okla., was robbed and among the suspects arrested was a man having in his possession all the foregoing affidavits. The possession of these proofs aroused the suspicion of the Oklahoma officers and they notified Sheriff George of Clay County.

Mr. George, upon investigation, failed to discover that Milton Goldsmith the insured ever lived at or near Jolly, Texas, or that there ever had been a runaway accident in the locality named in which a man had been killed. No undertaker named Harvey could be found at Jolly and Dr. Howwell was unknown in Wichita Falls or at Quannah, where the insurance policy was taken out by a man representing himself as Milton Goldsmith.

The insurance company took up the matter and made some interesting discoveries. A short time ago the man arrested in Oklahoma was brought here and is being given a hearing on charge of false swearing.

TESTIMONY GIVEN.

Sensation Created by Captain Austin Knight.

Norfolk, Va., March 16.—A sensation was created by Captain Austin Knight, president of the naval ordnance board, when in Jolly, Texas, in his own behalf yesterday on charges of neglect of duty in connection with the sinking of the monitor Puritan following explosive tests under his direction he flatly contradicted early testimony by Rear Admiral W. A. Marshall. Admiral Marshall had testified that neither Captain Knight or anyone else had notified him of anything concerning the Puritan at the conclusion of the tests Captain Knight testified he telephoned Admiral Marshall that the tests had been concluded and that the ship was ready to be taken to the Norfolk navy yard. He said he recognized the admiral's voice at the telephone, the admiral saying "this is Marshall."

Cotton Mill Meeting Will Be Held Tonight

The mass meeting will be held at the court house tonight at 8 o'clock to complete the stock subscriptions to the cotton mill, at which time the committee of ten volunteers to raise $50,000 of the stock will make their report. It is understood that this report will be very satisfactory and sufficient to guarantee the erection of the mill. While the $50,000 will not be enough to bring the total up to the $200,000 required, still little doubt is entertained as to the ability of the committee to raise whatever may be necessary to complete this amount by the meeting tonight.

Prizes for All

There are so many liberal prizes offered by THE TIMES that nearly everyone who enters the Contest will be more than rewarded for his or her efforts. See that your nomination is sent in today. Then interest your friends. Tell them that you are out to win. THE TIMES has done its part—the rest is for you and your friends.

Each district represented is separate and distinct in itself, and the number of votes cast for candidates in one district has no bearing whatever upon the number of votes cast for candidates in other districts, except so far as the capital prizes are concerned. Each candidate who secures the largest number of votes in each of the different districts at the close of the contest is assured of at least a handsome reward. This does not prevent any candidate from going into another candidate's district for votes and subscriptions.

Receipt books and advertising matter will be sent candidates upon request. Candidates may be nominated and voted for at any time up to the very last day of the race.

All votes issued on subscriptions are good until the end of the race, and may be polled or withheld at the discretion of candidates or subscribers.

In sending money in payment for subscriptions and Classified Advertising to THE TIMES make all forms of remittance to THE TIMES—not individuals. Cash must accompany every order where votes are to be issued.

How the Prizes will be Distributed

The City of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory have been divided into three districts, as follows:

One district in the City of Wichita Falls and two districts outside. The Grand Capital Prize—$500 in Gold—will be awarded to the contestant who secures the largest number of votes in the entire contest, irrespective of district.

The Second Grand Prize—$250 in Gold—will be awarded to the contestant receiving the second largest number of votes in the entire contest, irrespective of district.

The three $50 Gold Prizes will be awarded to the three contestants having the greatest number of votes, following the two Grand Prize winners. One in each district.

The contestants receiving the next largest number of votes in their respective districts, will each receive $25.00 in Gold, one in each district.

The contestants receiving the next largest number of votes will receive $10.00 in Gold; one in each district.

The contestants receiving the next largest number of votes will each receive $5.00 in Gold; one in each district.

Any contestant winning one of the Two Grand Prizes cannot win any of the district prizes.

The fact that there are four prizes for each district besides the two other prizes, makes it a certainty that there will be at least four winners in each district, and should one of the Capital Prizes be won by you or any other candidate in your district, there will be five or more prizes awarded in your district.

OTHER PRIZES WILL BE ANNOUNCED FROM TIME TO TIME.

How to Secure Special Votes

Votes are secured in this contest by paying subscriptions to THE DAILY TIMES in advance for three months or longer; the WEEKLY TIMES for one year or longer, and buying classified advertising books. Contestants are not restricted to getting subscriptions or votes in their own district BUT MAY SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS IN ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES, and if cash accompanies the order special votes will be issued. Contestants in one district are not competing with contestants in other districts except for the Capital Prizes. The division of districts so equalizes competition that every contestant has an equal chance to win the prize of his or her choice.

Besides the votes allowed on prepaid subscriptions, a coupon will be published in THE DAILY TIMES every day during the first two periods of the contest, good for the number of votes printed thereon. These coupons must be neatly trimmed around the border, properly filled out, and brought or mailed to the Contest Department of THE DAILY TIMES before the expiration date printed thereon.

BALLOTS CANNOT BE BOUGHT. THEY CAN ONLY BE OBTAINED BY SUBSCRIBING AND PREPAYING A SUBSCRIPTION TO THE TIMES, BY PURCHASING A CLASSIFIED BOOK OR BY CUTTING THEM FROM THE PAPER.

How to Enter the Contest

Send your name and address to the Contest Manager of THE TIMES. State that you desire to compete, and a representative of the Contest Department will call on you and explain the contest in full. Each contestant is entitled to one nomination, good for 1,000 votes. Contestants can nominate themselves. They do not have to be subscribers to THE TIMES. There is no obligation upon entering this contest, and it costs you nothing to try it. Every energetic man and woman in the territory covered by this paper should take a hand in this voting contest. Send you name or phone 167 and ask for the Contest Manager.

Condition of the Contest

Any person, man or woman, married or single, girl or boy, is eligible, providing the conditions set forth are complied with:

THE TIMES reserves the right to reject any nominations. Every candidate must be regularly nominated in writing on the blank printed in this paper or a similar blank furnished by THE TIMES.

Candidates must reside in the District or Territory from which nominated. No candidate will be permitted to transfer votes to another after receiving them for themselves.

Ballot sent in for names not properly nominated will be destroyed uncounted.

All ballots must be neatly trimmed or they will be rejected as informal. Postage must be fully prepaid or they will be rejected at the postoffice, hence not counted.

No employe of THE TIMES can be a contestant in this contest.

No contestant will be permitted to vote—or have voted—more than ten thousand of the special votes at any one counting during the first two periods of the contest.

THE TIMES ALWAYS RESERVES THE RIGHT TO MAKE CORRECTIONS IN SCORES WHEN A MISTAKE HAS BEEN MADE. If too many votes have been credited they can be deducted either from the printed score or special vote slips.

Each published score is accepted as final by all contestants unless objection is made within one week from date of publication.

No protest as to the eligibility of any candidate will be considered if votes have been cast for said candidate for a period of ten days.

THE TIMES reserves the right to alter any conditions pertaining to this contest if so desires other than reducing the prizes that are to be given away, and the order in which they will be won.

The contest will be open Thursday morning at 9 a. m., March 16th, and will close at 11 o'clock p. m. Saturday, April 29th, 1911.

In case of a tie for any of the prizes offered by THE TIMES, the prize will be equally divided.

Contestants that live in one district are not prevented from securing subscriptions or votes in any other districts as votes will be allowed on any prepaid subscription secured anywhere in the United States. If an order for a subscription or classified book is sent with the money, votes will be issued in favor of any contestant that the writer may designate and returned to the subscriber or mailed to the contestant if so desired.

To secure the special vote ballots, all money must be sent direct to THE TIMES Contest Department by the contestants or their friends, as votes will only be issued at THE TIMES office.

Any person wishing to withdraw from the contest must write us personally, as no telephone message will be considered.

In accepting nominations all candidates must accept and agree to abide by the above conditions.

The Office of the Contest Manager

Is in THE TIMES Building, 723 Seventh Street, Wichita Falls, Texas. If you are interested in this contest and want to get started right, come and get acquainted, or call up by telephone and state what you desire to know, or ask questions. Any inquiries addressed to the Contest Manager will receive prompt attention. The next time you are down town drop into this department and let the Manager of the Contest explain the details of the plan and how easy it is to win a Grand Prize, or one of the lesser prizes. Phone 167. Ask for the Contest Manager.

THE TIMES contest opens Thursday morning, March 16th. Start right. Nominate some one. The Nomination Blank counts you 1,000 votes. Only one nomination will be credited to each contestant. There will be a 10 Vote Coupon published for a limited time which will appear for the first time Friday evening, along with the write-up, which, when cut out and mailed to the Contest Department will count for ten votes, each. Wichita Falls, Texas, March 15, 1911.

Without any intention to appear officious in the matter whatever, the Times believes that the several candidates for aldermen, three of whom are to be elected, should give public expression as to how they stand on matters of public concern that will come before them for action during the terms of their office. For instance, the Southwestern Telephone Company's franchise is soon to expire, and that concern will more than likely want to renew it. The present franchise under which it is conducting its business is a very liberal one—in fact, it is considered by many of the patrons as entirely too liberal, in that it permits that company to increase its rentals for phones at will, or on the slightest pretext. For instance, at the time a new pattern phone was installed in this city, that Company took advantage of the situation to increase the price on residence phones from $1.50 per month to $2.00 and business phones from $2.50 to $3.00. It also made other changes in its rules and regulations that were to its entire advantage. It is now a well established fact that phone rentals are much higher in this city than in most other cities of 10,000 population, and nearly double the rate in cities that have two instead of one telephone system. In the granting of a new franchise, it is the duty of the constituted authorities to take into consideration these facts and fix a schedule of rates to be charged that will be fair and just to both the telephone company and its patrons. If this is done, and the schedule of rates as fixed by the City Council do not meet with the approval of the present or Southwestern Telephone Company, there are others seeking to get into Wichita Falls that should at least be given an opportunity to accept or reject such a franchise carrying with it rates to be charged for telephone service in Wichita Falls. Wichita Falls is a growing and prosperous city and in order to keep up this growth and prosperity it is the duty of our city officials to do what is in their power to obtain for the public reasonable rates for the telephone service as other cities of equal size are now enjoying. The three aldermen to be elected in April will have a great deal to do with the granting of this franchise, and if there are any of the candidates who hold to the idea that because the Southwestern is already here that it should enjoy a monopoly of the telephone business in Wichita Falls at such charges for service as it may see proper to make, the people, no doubt, would like to know who they are?

Remember, the bridge bond election is set for Saturday, March 25th. This bridge is needed badly, and while there are some who would rather it had been constructed at the foot of Scott Avenue than by the side of the present structure, their disappointment should not cause them to "knock" or vote against the proposition. The people residing in the country wanted the bridge located by the side of the old one, and if it pleases them, the people residing in the city cannot well afford to antagonize the country people by voting down the bonds.

It will be decided tonight at the court house whether Wichita Falls is to get that $400,000 cotton mill. The securing of this enterprise is bound to enhance property values, and if it is not secured it will simply be from the fact that at least some of those whose property would have been enhanced in value by the acquisition of this splendid enterprise did not do what they could and should have done but stood back and waited for the more enthusiastic and enterprising to do it all. Go out tonight and see who are the bunch that believe in pushing forward the interests of Wichita Falls.

It will go down to history as a "vindication" with the emphasis on the quotation marks.—Chicago Tribune.

DUMONT MAKES NEW PROPOSITION

He Offers to Supervise Building of Dam for the City of Austin.

Austin, Texas, March 16.—Following closely on the Austin charter amendment bill, now with the Governor, permitting Austin to lease and contract for building the dam, J. C. Dumont, the contractor who made the first proposition on its construction a year ago, submitted another plan to the Austin Business League in a meeting last night.

He proposes to build the dam, the city to supply the money, assuring him of $8000 a month to pay vouchers for the work, and the contract to approximate $150,000. Mr. Dumont will give a surety company bond guaranteeing that he will supply the power needed in the construction at a saving to the city of 1 cent a kilowatt hour, beginning November 1. His offer includes merely the proposal that he superintend the construction for the city at a salary of $500 a month, and no stipulation was made concerning his deposit, claimed by the city under the first contract, amounting to $10,000 and now in an Austin bank.

Mr. Dumont's plan was referred to the dam committee for investigation. The meeting of the league last night also reorganized the membership committee by districts.

LICENSES TO ISSUE BY APRIL 1.

Permits of Insurance Companies to Be Renewed by Then.

Austin, Tex., March 16.—The Commissioner of Insurance has announced that the 700 insurance companies heretofore doing business in Texas will be licensed before April 1 for the current twelve months, except the two of three which have not furnished satisfactory evidence as to certain requirements. The law literally provides that the statements shall be received and filed and license issued on March 1. Of course, that is a physical impossibility, and time is required to carefully examine the statements and prove the figures therein. The commissioner expects to issue 80,000 insurance Agents' licenses, which will break all records in this State. No fee is exacted for such license, though frat agents must pay a fee for license.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., March 16.—Chicago's proposed $8,000,000 field museum of natural history, bequeathed to the city by the late Marshall Field is to be located in Jackson Park, where the World's Columbian Exposition was held. This was finally decided yesterday at a joint meeting of the South Park Commissioners and the trustees of the museum. Unless the trustees had been able to secure a site before January next, the bequest would have reverted to the Field estate.

"Much depends upon understanding the predilections of your trial court," once remarked the late Judge Williamson of Pennsylvania.
"Some years ago," said the Judge, "I defended a man accused of chicken stealing before a Justice of the Peace who had been just installed in office. I was aware that the Justice acted as the presiding officer of several lodges and prided himself upon his knowledge of parliamentary law."
"The affidavit having been read, and before a plea had been entered, I asked the Court whether motions were in order and he replied that they were. I then called his attention to some trivial defect in the form of the affidavit and formally put this motion:
"I move you, your Honor, that the affidavit be quashed, and the defendant discharged."
"Is the motion seconded?" asked the Court.
"A brother of the accused arose and said: 'I second the motion.'"
"Any remarks?"
"The prosecuting attorney arose too

CRAZY

HOW THIS FAMOUS WATER GOT ITS NAME

In the year of 1880 a well was dug in what is now Mineral Wells, Texas.

The peculiar properties of the water attracted attention, and many began its use. Among the number were two ladies who were sufferers to the extent that their minds were seriously affected.

To the surprise of all, the ladies were soon restored to health, and their minds became normal, and from this circumstance this well was called the "CRAZY WELL."

Both ladies are living, and these facts can be verified by many who know these circumstances.

So much for the name. This water has since been christened "The Woman's Friend."

One of Texas' leading physicians has said: "Crazy Well Water is the best medicinal water on earth."

PERICK & FORD, Inc.

A STRONGMAN OF OLD MEXICO

GEN. BERNARDO REYES SAID TO BE POPULAR WITH ARMY AND PEOPLE.

HE MAY SUCCEED DIAZ

Prominent Men of Washington Predict That He Will Be Next President.

Washington, Mar. 16.—Among persons here who possess first-hand knowledge of certain phases of the situation in Mexico by reason of their former residence in the southern republic the opinion is almost unanimous that the man who is destined ultimately to succeed Porfirio Diaz as the head of the government is Gen. Bernardo Reyes, for many years governor of the State of Nuevo Leon of which Monterrey is the capital. Reyes is a man of over sixty years, able, enterprising and deeply beloved by the army.

General Reyes was born in the City of Guadalajara and at the age of 16 went into the ranks of the republican army, which was then fighting the French invaders. He at once became famous for his gallantry and was a military personage of distinction before he had reached the age of 25. He was present at the siege of Queretaro, when the Archduke Maximilian was made prisoner. After peace was restored he continued his military career and figured in several minor revolutions with great valor. The battle of Villa Union was the scene of his greatest triumph. It was for conspicuous gallantry here that he was made brigadier-general. In this conflict he was wounded three times.

As a reward for his services in the field General Reyes was appointed military governor of Nuevo Leon and held that office until 1888, when the civic authorities took charge. He was out of the office only one year when he was again chosen chief executive of the state. He served several terms and in 1901 he was appointed minister of war by President Diaz.

President Diaz was even then well aware of the extraordinary popularity of the governor of the rich and prosperous State of Nuevo Leon, and it was said that the real reason for the latter's appointment as minister of war was to bring him to the City of Mexico, where a more watchful eye could be kept on his movements. The change, however, worked to the profit of General Reyes. He learned much through his association with Diaz, Linaur and other men of ability within the government circles. As minister of war, moreover, he had many opportunities to strengthen his popularity with the army and it is said he used these to the best advantage. Among other things he increased the pay of the soldiers and introduced many minor reforms that tended to better their lot. It was generally believed at that time and afterwards that the troops stood ready to follow Reyes in any movement.

As a consequence, when Gen. Reyes resigned his post as minister of war and again assumed his favorite office as governor of Nuevo Leon, the Diaz government continued to keep a sharp eye on him. In fact the government understood the situation so well that no complete regiment of troops ever was left in the command of Reyes for more than six months. After that it was broken up on one or another excuse and sent to some other part of the country. About five years ago, when war threatened with Guatemala and troops were rushed by the Mexican government to the Central American border, President Diaz was sick and there were fears for his recovery. Coincident with this situation an excuse was found to withdraw nearly all the troops from Reyes's territory and leave him with only skeleton formations. After that he had few troops at his disposal. Again, about two years ago, when discussion was rife as to the probable successor of Diaz, following the election of Ramon Corral to the vice presidency, anti-administration riots occurred in many parts of the republic and cries of "Viva Reyes!" and "Down with Corral!" were heard on all sides. President Diaz then endeavored to get General Reyes out of the way by appointing him to go to Europe on a special mission, but the plan was not successful. Nevertheless, Reyes, with admirable self-control, refrained at the time from taking any advantage of his acknowledged popularity and from the beginning of the present insurrectionary movement he has remained inactive, feeling confident, perhaps, that the course of events would ultimately be to his advantage.

General Reyes is described as short of stature, a typical Spanish-American in appearance, quick of action and rapid in speech. He is said to possess a magnetic personality, which especially appeals to the young men of his country, and he has long been their idol. In his long career he has shown himself to be not only a capable military leader but also an efficient administrator of civic affairs. Under his rule the State of Nuevo Leon became the most progressive in Mexico and the capital city of Monterrey the most thoroughly Americanized city in the country.

TEXAS MEETING IS POSTPONED

LOCAL AFFAIRS THE SAME

Everything Lingers on Action March 20—Players Report Wednesday.

Oklahoma City, March 16.—Receiver George Kelsey of the Oklahoma City baseball association did not leave to attend a meeting of the magnates of the Texas league Monday as had been expected. Sunday he received a message from President Allen stating the meeting had been postponed until March 22. This postponement is for the purpose of finding out what will become of the Oklahoma City franchise when it is offered for sale March 20. The main features of the meeting will be the Oklahoma City controversy and the adoption of the schedule, both of which depend entirely upon the disposal of the local club at auction. President Allen will be present at the sale.

The place of holding the meeting has been changed from Houston to Fort Worth, for the purpose of being nearer Oklahoma City, it is said. There have been no changes in the local situation during the past two days. Kelsey is busily engaged in getting things ready for the opening of the training season and the reporting of the players which begins Wednesday.

Attorney H. S. Hurst has returned to Holdenville and no report has been made of any new would-be purchasers of the club. It is understood now that the bidding lies between representatives of major league clubs, who would make a farm of Oklahoma City, certain of the minority stockholders, Oklahoma City parties acting through Attorney Hurst, and it is rumored that Abner Davis is interested in a new syndicate which proposes to buy the club.

The refusal of the offer of $15,000 made by Attorney Hurst Saturday, is causing considerable comment in local circles. It is intimated that either some of those interested in the club at the present time desire to secure the franchise after it depreciates in value by the delay, or that, by interesting more parties in the sale, the price will be raised at the auction.

WILL REVISE TARIFF SAYS CHAMP CLARK

Matter Will Be Taken Up By The Special Session of Congress in April.

Chicago, March 16.—The tariff is to be revised at the coming special session of congress, according to Champ Clark, chosen speaker of the next house by the democrats, who is in Chicago today.

"We will make a general revision of the tariff downward in fulfillment of our platform pledges," said Mr. Clark, "but we will not attempt to present in it the form of a complete new bill. Mr. Taft might find some feature in such a bill which could be looked upon as justifying his veto. Instead, we will make the revision one schedule at a time. In that way we can make the entire revision in such a way that it must meet the president's approval."

Mr. Clark consented to discuss the coming presidential election briefly, and predicted that a democrat would be elected. He would not say that he would not be a candidate, nor would he announce that he would enter the race.

Harmony in the democratic ranks and disunion among the republicans were reasons given by Mr. Clark for his confidence in a democratic victory in the coming election.

Efforts to get Mr. Clark to express an opinion regarding the situation in Mexico were vain. He was equally reticent regarding the suffragettes.

"I never yet have had anything to say about the suffragettes and I hope I never will," he exclaimed fervently. "Mr. Clark has been a member of the national house of representatives for seventeen years. He said that this was longer time than the average before the direct primary was put into effect."

Resuming his comment of the political situation, Mr. Clark said: "There will probably be six or eight men's names placed before the coming democratic convention for the presidential nomination. None of them I predict, will have enough votes on the first ballot to give them the required two-thirds majority. That rule is obsolete and should have been revoked years ago."

"Will Missouri furnish the next president?" he was asked in an effort to learn something further regarding his own aspirations in that connection. But he evaded the point easily by replying: "Oh, I understand Joe Folk is a candidate."

That he does not consider William J. Bryan entirely dead politically was indicated when he spoke of attending the commoner's birthday dinner at Lincoln, Neb., this week.

The Story of St. Patrick

The story of St. Patrick varies as to time, place and setting. But not as to the nature and earnestness of his missionary work. At his word a country, and a heathen country at that, resigned its heathen creed and followed him. He was no king, no warrior, merely an unarmed stranger who came into Ireland as a missionary of Christianity.

No nation in the world was committed to Christianity in so short a time as the Irish, and no missionaries after the age of the Apostles preached the gospel with more success than St. Patrick. His real name was Succat, but he called himself Patrick. The people loved his bold, courageous ways, and he had much tact and good sense. Wherever he went the people were more willing to hearken to his teachings on account of the purity of his life. He loved the people of Ireland, and the whole aim of his life was to make them Christians.

At the time of his birth, probably 431 A. D., both Gaul and Britain were known the Romans. It is not certainly known where was his birthplace, though probably near Dunbarton, in Alban or Scotland. Some biographers gave the west of Gaul as his birthplace. He was the son of a magistrate in the Roman service, and he noticed his calm, dignified demeanor and saluted him. He took him to his house, and it happened that Dicho and his family became the first Irish converts.

The first worship was held in a barn. This place was later memorialized by the erection of a beautiful monastery. The people after a while followed in the example of their chief. He moved from district to district, converting the chiefs—and through them exerting the powerful influence of example on their followers.

There are many interesting stories told of the good influence of St. Patrick, how this holy man with his great heart won the people to loving faithful devotion to the church and to the civilization which the church has made. He became the patron saint of Ireland, and has been ever since. The Irish people venerate him as their giver of light, the man who brought the light of the gospel to their ancestors in heathen darkness and who wrought many wonderful miracles for their help and benefit. Wherever Irishmen are the world over, they annually celebrate St. Patrick's anniversary, March 17.

Career of Champ Clark

Lawrenceburg, Ky., March 14.—At the Democratic caucus held in Washington a few weeks ago Champ Clark was chosen as the next Speaker of the House of Representatives. While he has risen into prominence, his road has not been strewn with roses, and it has been through the hardest kind of digging that he has reached the Speakership.

Born in Anderson County among the cliffs along the Kentucky River, whose scenery is often compared to that of the beautiful Hudson. Clark was immured within the confines of nature. The home of Clark was similar to that of other pioneer homes, consisting of three rooms, the sitting room, the bedroom and the kitchen and dining room combined.

At the time of Clark's birth there were no railroads in this section of the country and the farmers rode on horseback to the nearest "grocery store" and post office for their supplies and mail.

Rearing among the cliffs, Champ Clark in his earliest childhood was a student of nature. He loved the little spring beauties which were found in the woods nesting in the grass and weeds, the old-fashioned thousand-leaf rose, which blossomed in midsummer, and the goldenrod, which betokened the coming of winter. He knew the voices of the Roblin, the thrush, the mocking bird and a score of other birds of beautiful plumage which made their homes in the hills.

James Beauchamp Clark, son of John Hampton Clark, was born March 7, 1850, on a little farm in Anderson County, four miles south of this place.

His father, John Hampton Clark, was a native of New Jersey, and was born where Atlantic City now stands. He was a wanderer, and after roving from Philadelphia to New Orleans and by the Mississippi and the Ohio to Louisville, he finally drifted to Lawrenceburg and settled there. Shortly after arriving in Lawrenceburg he met Aletha Beauchamp, a frail, beautiful girl, and after an ardent wooing they were married. He was an educated man and a mechanical genius.

John Clark, after marrying, took up work. He rode over Anderson and Washington Counties mapping old checks and practicing dentistry. Mrs. Clark was also well educated for those days, having received six years "schooling" in a convent.

After Champ had mastered reading to a certain extent he struck a bargain with one of his old neighbors who could not read. The contract was that the old man should take the Louisville Journal and that Champ should read to him all the news of the day. While reading the markets the price of tobacco, hemp and cattle paled upon him, but he stuck to his contract.

There were three children—Margaret Louise, the eldest, who died in infancy; James Beauchamp, known to the political world as "Champ," and Elizabeth, now Mrs. Elizabeth Clark Haley. After seven years of happiness Mrs. Clark died and the body was laid to rest in the old cemetery here. She was the first person to be buried in the little burying ground which had been set aside by the pioneers of Anderson County.

Mr. Clark was in bad health at the time of the death of his wife, and how to bring up the two little children was a serious problem. He found an aged childless couple in an adjoining village, who under his supervision, took charge of Champ and his little sister.

Mr. Clark had all of the eastern man's love of learning, and was determined that his children should have the best education that could be obtained for them.

At that time it was hard to maintain a country school and the trustees usually made the rounds of the patron to see how many pupils, or "scholars," as it was usually put, they would "sign" for the school. Every pupil the father would pay for in order that his children might be taught.

When Champ was old enough to go to school his father "signed" three scholars in order to make out enough to secure a teacher.

From the beginning Champ was an indistructious pupil. He learned rapidly and was always on the lookout that his little sister should have the best of everything. He was recognized as a genius in mathematics, and on one occasion astounded his teachers and fellow pupils by adding three columns simultaneously.

His father taught Champ in gymnastics and in his reading and writing. He also purchased a number of books for the little fellow. At the age of 11 Champ had read Washington's "Sign," "The Story of the Marquis," a child's history of Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America, and had memorized the "Declaration of Independence."

In 1861 Champ's father moved to Maelville, where there was a large school. Champ and his sister were in classes with children much older than themselves. They were in the Maelville school for two years.

That Champ Clark was a born politician and a speaker was shown at his old country schoolhouse. There was a picnic one day and no old people present. It was after an urgent call had been made by the government for volunteers for the Union Army, and as the children played about the grounds beneath the shadows of the unpurposed platform some one suggested that a real speech be made. The older boys then went into excess five sessions and unanimously selected Champ Clark as speaker of the day. He refused, but the honor was pressed upon him willy nilly.

Standing upon the platform from which speakers had called upon the young men of the country to serve in the Civil War against the South, in a burst of eloquence he noted the flag of Daniel Webster, beginning "When my eyes shall be turned for the last time to behold the sun in heaven may I not see him shining on the broken and dishonored fragments of a once glorious Union?"

When only 15 he began teaching to get money to pay for a college education. When he was offered his first school he was told that three Yankee teachers had tried to teach there, but in each instance had been run out of the county by the old pupils. There were two factions in the school, the Deatons and the Devines. Undaunted, Champ took the job.

On the opening day, as a matter of precaution, he took a brace of huge navy revolvers with him to the schoolhouse. With apparent negligence Champ hung them on a convenient peg by his desk and called the roll.

Trouble among the students began, and as a result Champ thrashed about a dozen and a half of the strapping Devine boys. The next day while he was standing in the doorway one of the younger boys ran in from the door about 100 yards away and fired with a rifle at the young teacher. The ball barely missed Clark and bored its way into the woodwork an inch or so above his head. Champ adjourned school sine die, grabbed his pistols and started in pursuit of the Devine.

He caught a horse and rode posthaste after the fleeing Devine into the next county before relinquishing the chase. Champ, despite the fact that he was under considerable pressure while teaching the two factions, never showed the "white feather," and when he left school he had won the respect and admiration of all the pupils.

At 18, with what money he had saved and what assistance his father could lend him, Champ Clark entered Kentucky University at Lexington.

While there he was a hard student, and the old professors who are teaching at the university say that Champ Clark was one of the most brilliant students who ever entered the time-honored walls of Mortimer Hall.

While in the university he had some trouble with one of the students, and as a result went to Bethany college, West Virginia.

In 1870 he returned to his home county and began teaching again. While teaching at Camden he put modern ideas into his work. He taught the younger students Latin, Greek and German as well as the common school curriculum.

The day's lessons were usually concluded with a song. Usually Champ would strike the "sound" with his tuning fork and lead in the singing. Upon one occasion he called one of the students, Ben Cox, to lead the song.

"There," exclaimed Champ, "you got the sound; start the singing."

One hot spring day an old man driving a herd of sheep came by the schoolhouse. When he reached a covered bridge a short distance away the sheep broke by the driver. However, the old man was patient, but each time the sheep got by him. This afforded great amusement to the students. Aroused from his work by the continual titter which ran around the room, Champ inquired what was the trouble. He was laughingly told by one of the boys that the old man was having trouble with his sheep.

"It's awfully funny," queried the schoolmaster.

"Yes, sir," replied one of the students.

"Well," said Champ, "it is as funny as all that you have the privilege of going out and help the old man with the sheep."

So Champ was adjourned and all of the boys, headed by Champ, went forth and helped the drover with his sheep, not only through the bridge, but two miles up a long hill. The road was rough and the sun very hot.

When the students finally returned to the schoolroom they realized that they had laughed at the wrong time. The lesson did not have to be repeated.

In 1872 Champ bade farewell to the role of school teacher and entered old Bethany College at Bethany, W. Va., where one year later he graduated with highest honors in the college.

The following year he was chosen president of Marshall College and at the same time of the young men college president in the United States.

After studying law for a year at the Cincinnati Law school he was admitted to the bar in 1875.

He went to Kansas City, Mo., to practice law, but finding out that he could not get a single case in that city he determined to move. When he went there he made a vow that he would not leave until he had secured "laked some money." So, in order to ease his conscience, he went out on a farm where he dug postholes all one day. His conscience was saved and he then went to Bowling Green, Mo.

Honors soon came to him, and step by step he worked his way to the top of the ladder.

From the city attorney of Louisiana and Bowling Green; deputy prosecuting attorney and prosecuting attorney; presidential elector, delegate to the Trans-Mississippi Congress at Denver and permanent chairman of the National Democratic Convention at St. Louis.

He married Miss Genevieve Bennett and had four children born to him—Little Champ, Ann, Hamilton, Bennett and Genevieve. The two latter are living. He was elected to the Fifty-Third, Fifty-Fifth, Fifty-Sixth, Fifty-Seventh, Fifty-Eighth, Fifty-Ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and was re-elected to the Sixty-First Congress.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 16.—Boxing fans in Buffalo and vicinity are attaching much interest to the ten-round fight between Jack Dillon of Indianapolis and Mike (Twin) Sullivan, which is to be pulled off tomorrow night by the International A. C. of this city. Dillon, though a novice in the fighting game as compared with the veteran Mike, showed in his recent defeat of Jimmy Gardner that he possesses the stuff of which fighters are made. As Sullivan also is a fast, clever boxer, the ring followers look for one of the fastest bouts seen here in a long time.

A Bit of Mexican History.
St. Louis Republic.
To the student of American history the idea of our intervention in the internal affairs of Mexico is no new one. Back in the fifties the condition of the land south of the Rio Grande bordered on anarchy. Provinces distant from Mexico City enjoyed a practical autonomy; life and property were unsafe throughout the nominal republic. Finally a constitutional election was agreed upon by both liberals and clericals and the date fixed for Feb. 17, 1857. Soon after this election General Zuloaga rose in insurrection against the new president and overthrew him. According to the constitution, this created the chief justice of the supreme court "substitute president." This office was held by General Juarez, who fled to Vera Cruz and there established himself. Zuloaga was soon succeeded by General Miramon, but "himself" went from bad to worse in Mexico City. The whole land was in turmoil. American citizens were beaten, plundered and even murdered with impunity. Our minister had been recalled; we had no representatives. President Buchanan sent Robert M. McLane as special envoy to Mexico to investigate. He negotiated with Juarez at Vera Cruz a "treaty of transit and commerce," submitted to congress in December, 1857. Under its

GOVERNOR FOSS GETTING BUSY
BUSINESS MANAGEMENT OF VARIOUS PUBLIC CONCERNS GET OVERHAULING.
THE TAXPAYERS' PLACE
Bay State Executive Says That They Are Stockholders and Have Right to Know.
Boston, March 16.—An investigation of the business management of all the various Massachusetts commissions, departments and institutions in which the taxpayers of the state will be regarded as the stockholders or customers of the business is under way here today, under the direction of Governor Foss, in accordance with a recent legislature giving the governor the necessary power. In a statement Governor Foss tells of the reason of the investigation and outlines the plans.
"This investigation will belimited mainly to matters of business management and efficiency," says the statement.
"The various divisions of the state business will be studied as if they were devoted to a business concern conducted by private capital to determine whether they are properly operating along modern business lines to produce the best results.
"The tax payers of the state will be regarded as the stockholders and the inquiry will be conducted in their interest to see whether they are not paying for heavier running expenses than are necessary and to determine whether the things they now buy from the state are delivered in as good quality as the costs incurred should provide.
"Among the things thus regarded as being purchased by the people from the state are: Protection to health; the care of the sick; the care of the insane; the care of the paupers; the care of the criminal and the degenerate; public protection in financial matters, such as insurance, banking, etc.; public education; public services and protection in regard to the natural resources of the state; public lands, forests, water, fisheries, game, etc."

DIX HAS PLAYED FAIR WITH PEOPLE

An appropriate caption for the following interview might be: "Good Government versus Tricksters; or how Gov. Dix Raised the Dickens with the Race Hoax Touts." Franklin Fisher, a traveling man of New York City (and a democrat) is the author of the appended remarks:

"The people of New York are just now beginning to realize that they have an honest man in the gubernatorial chair. Dix is effectually, by his acts, refuting insinuations cast at him during his race that he is a creature of the corporations and money interests of the Empire state. So far his official course has been directed solely in the interests of the people. One thing the Governor has done stamps him as a conscientious public executive. I know from an entirely reliable source that a delegation of millionaires waited on him in Albany, and that a conversation something like this took place:

"If we succeed in getting the anti-race track gambling bill repealed through the Legislature, you simply must sign it, John."

"I cannot gentlemen, I am pledged to conserve the morals of this state. Governor, the men who supported you want this law repealed. Is friendship nothing to you?"

"Friendship is very dear to me, but it is secondary to a man's duty. I made no such promise when I made the race law Governor."

"Dix, your political future depends on how you act in this matter. Now don't get bucky. Sign the repeal bill and you will be the next Senator from New York."

"I will not sign. I am conducting this office for the people, gentlemen, and not the interests. The people have signified they do not want race track gambling, and they shall not be forced to accept it. That is all. The bill will be vetoed just as soon as it reaches my desk."

"The action was final. There was no turning the Governor. The millionaire lobbyists went back to their friends and reported Dix had double crossed them. The bill was never introduced and never will be while he is governor of New York."

"Action in Sheehan matter," continued Mr. Fisher, "showing that Gov. Dix intends keeping faith with the people. Take his attitude in the Sheehan matter. The public says Dix was elected by Tammany and is a Tiger servant. Let us compare. There is Sheehan, Tammany's candidate for Senator to succeed Depew. In spite of Tammany's vaunted strength its candidate cannot command enough votes to go in Washington. Tammany in despair called on Dix. Dix said this: 'In the interests of harmony Mr. Sheehan should retire from the Senatorial race and permit the democratic party to select a candidate who is acceptable to everybody.' Doesn't sound like a man in the hands of a machine, does it? And you can take my word for it, what Dix said had its influence. Sheehan will not be elected Senator. A compromise candidate will be chosen, and it won't be Martin Littleton. Judge Parker could have the job if he wanted it. Dix could have it, but he has positively and unequivocally refused to allow his name to be mentioned in connection with the Senatorial toga. Mark this prediction when the next gubernatorial race is on Dix will be opposed by Tammany. But he will win, by the biggest majority ever given a candidate in New York state. Just so much do the people trust and believe in him."
