ParkedTrucks Are Blown Up

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Two strings of parked trucks — which hauled for Portland's two struck daily newspapers—were blown up late Sunday night in Portland and nearby Oregon City.

Dynamite charges were used to blow up four trucks here, police said, and apparently was used on the six trucks blasted in Oregon City.

The explosions jolted a large area in Portland and Oregon City, 13 miles southwest.

There were no reports of fatalities or injuries.

The explosions here occurred at a warehouse in the heavily industrialized northwest section of the city.

A police demolition squad found an unexploded charge of dynamite in the cab of one truck. Its fuse had gone out.

A spokesman for the Oregonian said the trucks were owned by firms which did contract hauling for the Oregonian and Oregon Journal, the city's two dailies which were struck Nov. 10 by the Stereotypers Union.

The papers have merged forces and have continued at the Oregonian plant to publish a joint edition despite the strike.

Shortly after the explosions the Oregonian switchboard operator received a call from a man who said a bomb was planted in the building. Police failed to find any explosives.

The first explosions were at the Wymore Trucking Co. warehouse in Oregon City. Those in Portland followed minutes later at the Oregon Film Service warehouse.

Seven trucks were parked side by side beside the Wymore warehouse in Oregon City. Two big blasts rocked the area—only six blocks from downtown — and a number of smaller reports followed.

Six of the trucks were destroyed by the explosions and the flames that swiftly curled through the huge vans—which haul paper rolls and can carry 19-ton loads.

Early today, a teenage boy walked into a precinct station on Portland's southeast side, carrying two charges of dynamite he said he found beside a fence, miles from the blast scenes. Police were questioning him. One charge contained three taped sticks of dynamite; the other four sticks.

The explosions were the greatest violence since the strike began.

When the Stereotypers Union struck, most members of other unions at the newspapers decided to observe the picket line. About 950 persons have been idled.

A few union personnel have come back to work, and the newspapers have been putting out the joint edition using them and supervisory and non-union workers.

Insurgents Surrender

By GODFREY ANDERSON

ALGIERS (AP)—The eight-day colonial revolt in Algiers collapsed today.

The insurgent irregulars, who resisted French President Charles de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria, surrendered their downtown barricades to an overwhelming display of army strength.

The Algiers corps commander, Gen. Jean Crepin, announced that insurgent leader Pierre Lagaillarde was "in the hands of the authorities" and that insurgent political chieftain Joseph Ortiz was in flight.

The insurgent band itself will be sent into the fight against the nationalist Algerian rebels, Crepin said.

The fiery Lagaillarde was given a military salute as he marched out of the barricades, followed by a haggard band of some 300 irregular troopers.

A crowd watched in silence as the men moved out, their armed resistance apparently over and done with.

Lagaillarde, a reserve paratroop lieutenant, gave up after the population of Algiers ignored his call for a continuation of the general strike.

Most stores opened for business, and most office workers reported for work.

The other chief leader of the revolt, one-time cafe proprietor Joseph Ortiz, did not come from behind the barricades immediately. But his followers were streaming out.

LaGaillarde still wore his paratroop uniform and carried a French flag as he led his small force from the stronghold.

A French paratroop unit in front of the barricade stood at attention as the insurgents marched solemnly out. As he crossed the square, LaGaillarde exchanged salutes with French officers commanding the troops before the barricades.

The crowd began to cheer and clap for Lagaillarde, and there were cries of "Algerie Francaise!" (Algeria is French!)

Somebody started singing the Marseillaise and it was soon taken up by the crowd.

Three helicopters hovered overhead.

Lagaillarde's men were a motley group. Some wore uniforms, some had only parts of uniforms. A few wore steel helmets and others wore paratroop berets.

At 12:18 p.m. a big, blood-smeared French tricolor which had fluttered above the insurgent holdout was slowly pulled down. It had flown there since the bloody start of the revolt Jan. 24, when 27 persons were killed in street fighting.

The insurgents began helping to take down the barricades of paving stones and rubble which they had thrown up.

Dr. Bernard Lefevre, a right-wing political figure in Algiers, said the surrender had come as a result of nighttime negotiations between the insurgents and the army. He said the conditions asked by the insurgents were that the surrender go off with military honors and that no sanctions be taken against them.

Whether the army accepted these conditions fully was doubtful. De Gaulle, in demanding that the army bring the insurgents under control, had called the rebel leaders liars and conspirators, indicating they could expect little mercy from him.

If the letter of the law were followed, Lagaillarde and Ortiz probably could be executed for treason, having violently challenged the authority of the state and waged armed warfare against it. But the insurgent leaders' continued popularity with the French colonials in Algeria ruled out this extreme punishment.

All three Algiers morning newspapers were heavily censored by the authorities. The Algiers press has been openly sympathetic to the revolt against De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

Rights Bill Vote Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-stalled machinery of the House Rules Committee begins today to move a civil rights bill toward a House vote.

The Southern-led committee, bowing to clear indications that the House was about to take the bill out of its jurisdiction, scheduled a meeting today.

Indications are that by the week end the relatively limited bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee will be cleared to the House under procedure that would permit voting on amendments.

Several members already have said they will try to write into the bill by amendment either the Eisenhower administration's proposal for court-appointed referees or the Civil Rights Commission's suggestion for appointment of federal registrars. The alternatives are designed to assure voting rights to minorities where state officials discriminate against them.

Southerners will fight these attempts, and others to broaden the attorney general's enforcement powers. They plan to raise the parliamentary objection that such additions would not be pertinent to the subject matter of the bill.

The measure, substantially stripped down by Southerners and their allies on the Judiciary Committee, would make it a federal crime to resist by force or threats school integration orders of federal courts, would facilitate FBI investigation of bombings, would require preservation of voting records, and would provide schooling for children of servicemen if integration crises resulted in school closings.

The bill was approved by the House Judiciary Committee last August, but the Rules Committee has blocked action since then.

The decision to act now was understood to have been reached after a substantial number of House Republicans indicated they were prepared to sign a discharge petition this week. With 192 of the required 219 signatures already obtained, the added Republican support appeared sufficient to take the bill out of the committee's jurisdiction.

But further delays are possible.

Benbenek Rites Today

Petoir Benbenek, native of Poland and former Snyder businessman, died Saturday in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene. He had lived in Abilene since his retirement in 1946.

Famous for his hand made boots Mr. Benbenek had worked in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas before establishing a business in Snyder in 1914. His hobby of a lifetime was the violin.

Born July 4, 1877, he is survived by his second wife, one son, Ordon of Snyder; three daughters, Wanda Benbenek of Fort Worth, Mrs. Thana Waller of Abilene and Mrs. Thaba McMillan of Snyder; seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services were held this morning in Abilene at the First Christian Church with Rev. Norman Conner officiating. A second service was to be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Christian Church in Snyder. Rev. Conner will officiate here, also, with Rev. John Reaves pastor of the church assisting.

Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

More Poll Taxes Issued

Scurry County's voting strength apparently will be slightly above 7,000, Geral Greene, tax assessor-collector, reported this morning.

Greene said the tax office received "a handful" of applications for poll taxes by mail after the office closed Saturday night. These must be checked to determine if they are filled out properly, and those who qualify will be issued poll tax receipts.

When the office closed Saturday night, a total of 6,984 poll tax receipts and exemptions had been issued.

Greene said it would be several days before the exact totals could be calculated, since a few receipts with errors had been voided during the rush.

The county tax office issued 7,081 poll tax receipts and exemption certificates in 1956, the last presidential election year.

Bodies Of 25 Miners Found

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Rescue workers reported finding the bodies of 25 miners after a gas explosion early today in an ill-fated coal mine in north Japan.

Eighteen other men were trapped 3,600 feet below the frozen earth. Officials of the mine said they still hoped the men would be found alive, but as the hours went by, fear for them increased.

Nine other men crawled to safety after the first searing blast, and rescuers brought out 10 miners despite a fire licking around the pit where the men were trapped. Only one of the 19 was seriously injured.

The flames burned for nearly four hours, then were checked.

One of the miners said his group of seven survivors "roamed many hours, walking on smouldering coal, narrowly escaping continual cave-in."

"We were quite a distance from No. 2 pit where the explosion took place," said Yoshitaro Saito, 29, an engineer. "We did not hear the detonation and discovered the accident after observing smoke coming into the gallery. The coal and the wooden pillars and ties were soon afire."

It was the second major disaster at the mine at Yubari, on the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido. A gas explosion killed 160 men there in 1938. The mine is one of the richest owned by the Hokkaido Colliery and Steamship Co.

[illegible] than 500 men, women and [illegible] surged around the mine [illegible] waiting tensely for [illegible] cry went up as each survivor came to the surface, faces blackened and hair singed.

The Yubari mine area was white under a recent snowfall. Waiting friends and relatives were bundled against the piercing cold.

Soviets Fire Off Second Big Rocket

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union fired off a second powerful rocket Sunday, hitting the target area in the Pacific and ending the current tests, Tass announced today.

The official news agency said the 44,000 square miles of the mid-Pacific marked off by the Soviet Union Jan. 8 once more is open to planes and shipping.

The first rocket was fired Jan. 20. Moscow announced that it landed little more than a mile off target. The announcement of the second shot did not specify how close it came to the actual target.

The announcement did not give the distance the rocket traveled Sunday. It calculated the first rocket covered a distance of 7,760 miles and missed the target by only 1.24 miles. (The second rocket presumably was launched from the same site, believed to be in the Caspian Sea area).

The announcement said the latest firing had completed the tests of a new rocket intended to launch heavy earth satellites and make space flights to planets of the solar system.

The rocket announcement was made as the top Communist leaders of Soviet-bloc countries gathered in Moscow for a top-level meeting.

Just as with the rocket to the moon, fired on the eve of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's trip to the United States, this launching again showed Soviet ability to conduct its tests with the maximum political advantage.

Courthouse-Jail Plans Are Shelved

County commissioners today indicated that a courthouse-jail construction proposal would be delayed indefinitely, at least till next fall.

Members of the court discussed the situation at a session this morning after a planned conference with architects fell through.

The proposal originated several months ago and at one time commissioners had indicated that a $1,500,000 bond issue would be submitted to voters.

However, protests developed and the proposed figure later was reduced to $900,000. No election order was issued, and the court had planned to discuss the project further with architects this morning.

Tentative plans had been discussed previously with the architects for either a new building project, or a remodelling and expansion program for the present courthouse building.

The firm of Haynes and Kirby of Lubbock advised commissioners this morning thet they could not have a representative here for a conference because of illness.

Commissioners then decided that "too many obstacles" faced the proposal at this time and they agreed to shelve the issue until a later date.

Sheffield Trial Is Transferred

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — Judge Jace Thurman Jr. granted today a defense motion transferring the veterans land scandal trial of B. R. Sheffield from Austin to Hillsboro.

The trial date of the Brady land promoter will be set later by the judge at Hillsboro.

Sheffield, 54, was sentenced to 10 years after a 1956 trial in Lubbock. The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a retrial on the grounds the state failed to prove Sheffield guilty of forgery in connection with a veterans land deal. The Hillsboro trial will be on a new indictment returned here last year.

Sheffield's attorney, John Cofer of Austin, presented two preliminary motions before asking the venue change. These motions alleging technical effects in the Travis County indictment were overruled.

Cofer then called to the stand George Boswell, an Austin certified public accountant, who backed up defense claims that because of publicity here Sheffield could not receive a fair trial.

Boswell said that "Everyone would be pretty familiar with this case as a result of other veterans land cases here and the notoriety in newspapers." He estimated that this publicity would extend 100 to 150 miles from Austin.

The motions to quash the indictments included two provisions. One said the state had acquitted Sheffield when the state abandoned the charge of forgery after the jury had been sworn at Lubbock.

Cofer said the state then went to trial on the second count in the indictment which alleged Sheffield was guilty of passing a forged instrument. He said this amounts to double jeopardy. The second point referred to a 1955 law which applied to passing false instruments in connection with veterans land cases. He said this law repealed the law under which Sheffield's indictment had been returned. He also said the 1955 law as passed by the Legislature was technically imperfect.

Congress Still At Post On Plan To Rerun Pony Express

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is galloping with gusto into the spirit of the rerun of the Pony Express out West this summer.

But Congress is still at the hitching post. The trouble there appears to be it just hasn't gotten around to two bills to mark the 100th anniversary this year of the start of that daredevil dash across the prairies and over the mountains with the U.S. mail.

One bill would authorize a commemorative medal; the other would authorize the President to designate 1960 as Pony Express Year.

The 1,966-mile rerun of history between Saint Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., will be made in relays by about 1,000 horses and their riders. They'll begin July 19 at Sacramento and Saint Joseph and cover the route in opposite directions.

Post Office officials only smiled politely at a suggestion the department enter some of its new-fangled motorized scooters for comparison.

After all, the department points out, those weren't postmen carrying the mail in the Pony Express 100 years ago—they were mostly exuberant, daredevil teen-agers riding for a private company with a contract to carry the mails.

And that dashing pony and rider on the seal of the Post Office Department — the emblem on the postmen's uniforms—doesn't necessarily stand for the Pony Express. The department was using such service on eastern seaboard routes in the 1830s.

An ancient king of Persia had his own royal pony express several centuries B. C. Writing about it in the fifth century B. C., historian Herodotus said: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor darkness, are permitted to obstruct their speed."

(The familiar phrase, "neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds" is inscribed on the New York Post Office. It isn't an official motto).

The Post Office is issuing a special stamp and a new commemorative stamped envelope for the Pony Express centennial.

"The Pony Express symbolized the American spirit of progress and achievement in the face of overwhelming odds," said Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

The National Park Service is planning to hold ceremonies at its parks at Scotts Bluff, Neb., and Fort Laramie, Wyo., along the route of the Pony Express. It also is giving assistance to the marking of the trail.

President Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the board of governors of the National Pony Express Centennial Assn. The board includes the governors of the eight states through which the route ran—Missouri, Nebraska, California, Utah, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado and Nevada.

Father Of Quads Dies

GALVESTON (AP) — William Ellis Badgett, father of the Badgett quads, died unexpectedly today on this 21st birthday of his famous children. He was 56.

The cause of death was not immediately known.

Badgett was a heavy machinery operator.

Badgett and his wife refused to exploit the quads except for use of their names by a milk firm. The children actually drank the milk.

The parents encouraged the girls to stress their individuality. The quads preferred to be known as sisters rather than quadruplets. Three of the sisters are identical by scientific standard. Joan, the first-born and first married, is larger and taller.

Badgett died in the home built for the family by Galveston citizens.

The quads are Mrs. W. F. Tollett of Dallas, Mrs. Burte LaGrand of Houston, Mrs. W. L. Torchesset of Galveston and Miss Joyce Badgett of Galveston.

U. S. Defense In 'First Rate, First Position,' Says Gates

By JOE E. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's over-all military strength is "first rate, first position" although the Soviet Union will have moderately more missiles for a couple of years, says Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr.

Gates said again Sunday he believes the United States is strong enough to prevent the Soviet Union from starting a war. He said the nation will begin catching up with the Soviet missile lead in 1962.

Gates said in a television interview "we are expanding our missile program, putting missiles on our bomber force and bringing into operations Polaris submarines which we believe will offset any so-called missile gap, at least from the point of view of the validity of our deterrent."

Lt. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, spoke along similar lines in another television interview. He said the Soviets may be ahead in missiles but in the whole defense picture "I don't think we're behind at all."

White said the American missile and defense program is properly balanced and "will continue to give us the deterrent capability we desire."

Like Gates, White said he thought the United States was strong enough to prevent the Soviet Union from starting a war.

The statements by Gates and White were in sharp contrast to defense appraisals by several congressional Democrats. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said Friday the U.S.S.R. will have an enormous advantage in missile striking power in the near future.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) said Sunday in a taped radio interview "We're woefully behind, we're frightfully behind and I think we ought to have a crash program to catch up."

Gates' position got new backing from Sens. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Karl Mundt (R-SD) and Rep. Leslie C. Arends (R-Ill).

Arends fired a verbal blast at critics of the defense program. He said the U.S. missile program is sound and orderly.

Keating said the United States has enough nuclear striking power to destroy the Soviet Union. He added the Soviets know this.

Javits said Democratic critics haven't proved their claims that there is a defense lag.

Mundt said he thinks some of the defense program criticism is based on political opportunism.

Scattered Rains Due Over State

By The Associated Press

Skies were partly cloudy to cloudy over a wide section of Texas Monday and the U.S. Weather Bureau said light scattered rains could be expected during the day.

Only in West Texas were skies clear. Predawn temperatures ranged from 27 degrees at Dalhart to 57 at Brownsville.

Midland, Lubbock and Childress had traces of moisture for the only rains reported in the state Sunday. Afternoon high temperatures ran from 51 at Dalhart to 77 at Presidio.

Steep Places Are Out For Chemist

By JOHN WHEELER

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — "I guess I'll stay off steep places and avoid climbing for a while," says Dr. Linus Pauling. The con- chemist was rescued Sunday after 24 cold, thirsty hours on a high, rugged cliff overlooking the Pacific.

He was unharmed in high spirits, sleepy — and highly respectful of the danger of straying onto shale-slippery cliffs. It's rugged territory where he was stranded, 80 miles south of Monterey.

Dr. Pauling said a search party had passed him by Saturday night — and he decided to stay put in his nearly hidden aerie until today, if necessary. Beyond that, he hadn't planned.

Pauling had started a walking inspection about his 160-acre ranch Saturday morning. He followed a deer trail, then became stranded on an 80 degree slope facing the ocean.

Halfway up, he felt he had reached a dead end. He was on a small ledge below an overhang. He was on blue shale—so treacherous for walking that it is called greasy. The time was late Saturday morning.

"I got the jitters," Pauling said. "I decided to stay there until I was found."

Saturday evening, he heard searchers shouting above him. His wife, alarmed at the possibility he had fallen in the rugged country and been injured, had notified the Forest Service.

Pauling shouted back. No one heard. The overhang threw his voice out over the Pacific.

As the searchers' voices trailed away, Pauling said he "decided to sit on that ledge until someone found me, even if that meant Monday. I wasn't anxious to get off there by myself."

The scientist who engaged in debates over the value of nuclear bombs — he strongly urged banning both bombs and bomb testing—began scientifically adjusting himself to his predicament.

Without a watch, he got a stick and tried to tell time by movement of the constellations. He moved his arms and legs to keep warm.

He took a large map from his pocket, lay down and placed it over him to help conserve body warmth. To keep awake, "I gave a little lecture to the surf on chemical bonds."

He was spotted by Perry Currence, 26, of Pacific Grove, only a mile from his cabin.

Pauling is professor of chemistry at California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, where he lives. He and his wife spend an occasional weekend at his cabin, beside Los Padres National Forest.

Rights Law Boosters In Mock Hearing

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed with the tape recording of a mock Civil Rights Commission hearing, advocates of stronger civil rights laws tour Capitol Hill today.

They plan to point to the testimony of eight Southern Negro witnesses before the make-believe commission meeting Sunday at Asbury Methodist Church as proof that additional legislation is needed to increase Negro voting in the South.

About 900 Negroes and 600 white persons filled the downtown Washington Negro church as one witness after another stepped up to the microphone and told of threats, intimidations and reprisals in their unsuccessful attempts to register and vote.

The simulated hearing, sponsored by 16 organizations, including the Southern Conference Educational Fund of New Orleans, was called to emphasize that the U.S. Civil Rights Commission has called off further hearings pending a Supreme Court ruling on a federal injunction in Louisiana.

A Mississippi witness, Grafton Gray of Charleston in Tallahatchie County, said he had tried in vain three times to pay his poll tax and register and that he and other Negroes were threatened with violence and loss of their jobs if they persisted.

A North Carolina woman, Mrs. Louise Lassiter of Seaboard, told how she and other Negroes were given educational tests when they sought to vote. She was told to read parts of the Constitution.

"I mispronounced a word," she added. "Everything had to be perfect. And for those who pass this, there is another test. There is nothing Negroes can do to pass."

The five members of the volunteer commission panel included Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Washington area, who told the audience that the question at hand was not political nor an economic one, but basically a religious issue.

Soil Bank To Cut Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated today its soil bank will retire enough crop land this year to avoid production of about 663 million bushels of surplus grains.

In addition, it will cut down cotton production an estimated 490,000 bales, peanuts 132 million pounds, tobacco 23,300,000 pounds, and hay and pasture the equivalent of 7,600,000 tons. Most of these crops are available in surplus supplies also.

The soil bank program will hold about 28 million acres of crop land out of production under rental payments totaling about 335 million dollars.

The cost of the unproduced commodities to the government under price supports would be more than half a billion dollars.

The estimated normal production of the idled land included: Corn, 183,200,000 bushels, wheat, 61,600,000 bushels, oats, 139,600,000 bushels; and sorghum grain 109 million bushels.

'Skyhook' Is Nearing End

ABOARD USS VALLEY FORGE (AP)—Project Skyhook drew closer to an end today with all of its giant balloons gone but some hope of a small success left.

Navy scientists had tried to catch cosmic rays on supersensitive film by ending the film in the world's largest balloons to an altitude of 22 miles. They tried three times but not once did a balloon stay that high for the recommended 48 hours.

One balloon did stay at the high altitude for 5½ hours. Its gondola containing the heavy pack of film, parachuted into the sea Sunday. Scientists hoped the film had recorded valuable data, and two destroyers were sent to retrieve it.

The biggest disappointment came Sunday when this carrier attempted to launch the third balloon, known as Skyhook Charlie. The ship was in the Atlantic Ocean, 450 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The big balloon had inflated perfectly. Wind conditions 22 miles overhead seemed perfect.

But at the moment of launching, several lines snapped in succession. Skyhook Charlie broke loose, leaving the gondola and its 800 pounds of nuclear emulsion film on deck.

Parcel Post Rates Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Parcel post rates went up today.

An increase authorized last fall became effective at midnight Sunday, boosting fourth-class rates an average of 17.2 per cent. This covers catalogues as well as parcels.

The higher rates are expected to net the government about 88 million dollars a year and will be used to cut down the deficit on this class of postal service.

Commuter-Style Flights Slated

DALLAS (AP)—Lone Star Airlines will begin commuter-style flights between Dallas and Houston March 2, its president said today.

David Segal, a broadcasting executive who conceived the idea for the low-fare commuter service between the cities, said the airline's first plane will be delivered here next week.

BREWTON, Ala. (AP)—A girl who fell from the fender of a speeding car in a drag race was in critical condition today.

Sheriff Gladin Byrne Jr. said Doris Williams, 19, Lyeffion, slipped off the fender and was run over by an auto driven by Mrs. J. C. House Jr. 15, of Evergreen, at Brewton Airport.

Transcript Spurs Debate In Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state calls a judge to the stand today, seeking to get a sensational transcript admitted as part of its murder case against Dr. R. Bernard Finch and pretty Carole Tregoff.

The judge is Albert H. Miller, in whose Municipal Court Carole first told of her love for Finch, admitted intimacies with him, and promptly was arrested on a murder charge.

She and the handsome physician are charged with murder and conspiracy in the fatal shooting last July 18 of the doctor's socialite wife, Barbara Jean, at the Finch home in suburban West Covina.

Dr. Finch, 42, was arrested in Las Vegas the next day and returned here.

Carole, 23, his onetime receptionist, testified voluntarily at his preliminary hearing in Judge Miller's West Covina Court. As she left the stand she was arrested.

Defense attorneys are fighting against admission of the testimony on the grounds that Carole's own words were used against her, a violation of her constitutional rights.

In her testimony Carole said she and Dr. Finch had driven from Las Vegas to West Covina the night Mrs. Finch was killed to "talk to her about the divorce." Mrs. Finch, 36, had filed suit for divorce from the wealthy physician two months before.

No other witnesses at the five-week trial have placed Miss Tregoff at the scene the night of the woman's death. At her preliminary hearing the prosecution stated its case against her would collapse if the testimony were barred from evidence.

Superior Court Judge Walter R. Evans, presiding over the Finch trial, is expected to rule this week on admissibility of the transcript.

Judge Miller will be one of the state's last witnesses.

The defense side of the case is expected to start in midweek.

Four Seamen Are Rescued

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Four seamen from Texas who spent 10 hours in freezing weather in an open boat after their tug burned in the Mississippi Sound, were rescued unharmed Sunday.

The seamen from the tug Orange were Capt. Ray Griffin, 32, of Navasota, mate E. W. Johnson, 31, of Seabrook; engineer Charles Boone, 19, and his brother, Second Engineer W. H. Boone, both of Houston.

Griffin said the fire apparently started in the engine room from an undetermined cause. The crew fought the fire for about 30 minutes, then left the tug when winds put the fire out of control.

Another tug sighted the burning vessel and notified the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard picked up the men.

The Orange and the hull it was towing drifted aground. The 90-foot Orange was towing the 105-foot hull of the C. M. Depew from New York to Houston when it caught fire about 10 miles south of Gulfport.

First baseman Gil Hodges of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers has a .267 batting average for 39 World Series games.

Stock Show Record Due

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show appears headed for another record-breaking attendance, officials announced Sunday.

During the first three days, rodeo performances have been complete sell-outs W. R. Watt, president and manager of the show, said. The exposition runs another week.

The Hereford breeders, Albany, Shriners, Van, and the Dal-Worth Appaloosa Riding Club will be honored at today's activities at the exposition.

First place in the senior intercollegiate livestock judging contest went to a team from Texas A&M, which scored 4,740 points out of a possible 5,250.

The University of Wyoming won second with 4,692 points, and Oklahoma State third with 4,684 points.

Leroy Keese Jr., of Bandera, Donald Osbourn and Kenneth Smarr of Llano, entry Fitzhugh of San Antonio, and Darrell Smith of Crane, made up the winning team.

Orange County May Be Site Of Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — Orange County, Tex., is among locations being considered by Goodrich Gulf Chemicals, Inc. for a plant to produce two new synthetic rubbers in commercial quantities.

Lucien Crocket, Goodrich Gulf president, said Sunday advanced engineering work is under way toward commercial production of the new synthetics—Ameripol SN and Ameripol CB rubber.

Crocket called Ameripol SN the first man-made rubber with the same molecular structure as natural tree rubber. He said Ameripol CB could be produced interchangeably with Ameripol SN.

High-Level Reds Gather In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A high level political conference of the Communist world today appeared shaping up as premiers and party chiefs of the Soviet-led bloc converged on Moscow.

The Red leaders came for what was officially billed as an agricultural [illegible] but the big brass in the delegations gave the gathering more important political overtones.

There are increasing indications that Premier Nikita Khrushchev called the conference as a prelude to his talks with the Western Big Three in Paris in May. Western sources likened the meeting of Red leaders to the NATO conference held by the West in Paris last December.

Khrushchev can be expected to disclose his strategy and get an endorsement to strengthen his position when he confronts President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The Moscow session has a global scope. Among the arrivals were North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Mongolian Communist chief U. Tsedenbal.

Red China's delegates are awaited hourly. Their names were not made known. The makeup of the delegation could be significant.

Among the first arrivals were East Germany's two leaders, Walter Ulbright and Otto Grotewohl. Romania is represented by party leader Gheorghe Gheorgiu-Dej and Premier Chivu Stoica, Albania by party chief Enver Hoxha and Bulgaria by Communist leader Todor Zhivkov.

Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka and Hungary's Janos Kadar and Ferenc Muennich were expected today.

Anyone Can Bake Peach Dumplings

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Take Heart, you cooks who have trouble making delicious light and flaky pastry: Take it easy, too.

If your peach pies leave something to be desired, try your hand at peach dumplings. You won't have the problem of shaping and fluting a large crust just so, of easing the pie dough into the pan so it won't shrink woefully, of having edges scorch and the top center look pasty.

This dumpling recipe belongs to pastry's Promised Land. Unless you are "all elbows," chances are you won't go wrong even the first time you try it. You may overwork the dough a bit, but the results definitely still will be worth eating.

Old-fashioned dumplings were often baked in an extremely sweet sauce; sometimes they still are. Here we depart from tradition. In these dumplings canned cling peach halves are used, and just a little brown-sugar sauce goes into each peach cavity before it is covered with pastry. At serving time the rest of the sauce is passed separately so eaters may add it or not, as they please.

Fresh dates also go into the peach cavities, and we mean fresh dates. Other dates may of course be used, but the flavor won't be the same. When baked, fresh dates add something delightfully different and special.

Peach Dumplings

NGREDIENTS: 1½ cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup yellow shortening, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup orange juice, 6 canned cling peach halves, ½ cup slivered pitted fresh dates (about 12), Brown Sugar Sauce.

METHOD: Sift together the flour and salt. Cut in shortening until fine; cut in butter so it is in pea-size lumps. Gradually mix in orange juice with a fork, shape stiff dough into a ball. Cut into 6 portions. Roll each out into a 6-inch square on a prepared pastry cloth with floured stockinet-covered rolling pin; place each square in a 6-ounce custard cup or similar individual baking dish. Set a peach half in each cup; fill cavities with dates and about 1 tablespoon of the hot Brown Sugar Sauce; fold pastry up and over to cover fruit; pinch top edges together. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 10 minutes; brush with milk or cream; bake 15 to 20 minutes longer, top should be tinged with brown. Serve warm with remaining hot Brown Sugar Sacue. Makes 6 servings.

BROWN SUGAR SAUCE: In a small skillet simmer for abut 5 minutes ½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, ½ cup syrup from peaches, a dash of salt, 3 tablespoon butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind and 3 tablespoons orange juice.

Sticky Iron?

Are you bothered with your iron sticking to starch? There are reasons for this. Excessive starching, excessive sprinkling or too cool an iron can cause starch to stick to the iron. Fabric should be just damp when ironed. Starch and water should be accurately measured each time and an iron that is too cool will cause slow ironing and cause sticking.

Holiday Air Can Remain Year Round

VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The post holiday season calls for real imagination on the part of the homemaker. Youngsters and the man of the house loved the gay, lively look of the home durng Yuletide, and they'd like to preserve that special kind of glamor.

Gay festive decorations do add a good deal to the charm of a house. But there are many ways in which the same decorating trick can be employed to perk up the house all the year. The trouble with some homes is that they are just plain drab, period.

Greens that come into the house at Yueltide can be replaced by other type greens— rhododendron, laurel, lemon leaves, and hardy plants. If your greens made a hit on the fireplace, at the stir well, on tables, keep them going. Hardy greens and plants will last long enough to give you your money's worth, providing you give them the proper care.

Keep the Lively Look

If you decorated your greens with velvet bows or ribbons or even Christmas ornaments, you still can keep up the livey look by replacing the ornaments, perhaps with sequin sprinkles. Put some colorful tailored bows on wire and insert them into your vase of greens or find other colorful ornaments to brighten up your vase. Florist shops sell small doo-dads that can be clipped and fastened to flowers. Butter-flies, for instance, are colorful. Why not get a batch of bright butterflies and clip them to your long-stemmed greens? The larger the vase, the better for that purpose.

The table centerpiece may have brought particular charm to your dining room. Why not continue the centerpiece with seasonal arrangements? In fall make an arrangement of pom-poms, autumn leaves, colorful gourds. Summer could suggest sea shells, star fish, perhaps some small glass or wooden animal ornaments floating around on a couple of green leaves. Make low-cut flower arrangement of garden flowers — zinnias, petunias.

Greens in Winter

Winter could make use of greens fir branches, holly when it is available — Pheasant feathers, dried flowers and cat tails makes an enchanting arrangement if placed properly in a low bowl in a wire frog or glass flower holder.

Spring is a good time for all-flower arrangements, with so many flowers available.

Plastic flowers now available can give long-time beauty to flower bowls, although some of these flowers are dust catchers. Choose the less-complicated varieties, and vacuum them whenever you do the room, using a round vacuum brush.

If you filled a big space in your room with the Christmas tree, and miss it, there are potted trees to be had that do very well in the house providing they are watered constantly and put outside in summer. Ordinary green trees can be interestingly perked up with plastic flowers attached willy-nilly over the tree.

Many Possibilities

There are many decor possibilities in hanging ceiling lights. An ordinary bird cage can be hung from the ceiling loaded with flowers and trailing-vines.

Those colorful coverings that flatter the table at Yuletide do not have to be dispensed with completely. Keep the table covered with a brilliant felt or linen cover that can also serve as an underpad for the table cloth. Felt comes in the gayest possible shades to harmonize with the decor of any household.

And don't forget that candlelight you were so liberal with during the holidays. There is no reason why candles can't be used all through the year.

Tallest Corn Grows Today On Seamy End Of Broadway

By INEZ ROBB

Q. Where does the tall corn grow tallest on Broadway today?

A. In that Hell's half-acre so assiduously cultivated by the seamy-side-of-life school of playwrights with their total preoccupation with drug fiends, perverts, prostitutes, procurers, sadists and rapists.

"Theirs is the real corn on Broadway today," in the opinion of Oscar Hammerstein II, the lyricist half of one of the most famous teams in Broadway history, that of Rodgers and Hammerstein.

"The 'wastelanders'," as Mr. Hammerstein tags this school of playrights, "are concerned only with junkies, prostitutes and low lives, as if no other kind of character existed and as if decent people had ceased to be."

Mr. Hammerstein, known as a gentle man up and down the theatrical world, has had his dander up ever since the latest Rodgers and Hammerstein opus, "Sound of Music," opened with Mary Martin and a record box-office advance of $2,250,000 last November.

At that time an extremely vocal group of critics roundly denounced the hit musical as a chocolate marshmallow fudge sundae and as so much sentimental mishmash. The key and fighting word here is "sentimental". In a day of angry young men and playwrights preoccupied with surrealism on the lowest depths, sentiment— honest, homely sentiment— is as gross and taboo, apparently, as the subject of preversion a generation ago.

I haven't attended a dinner party this Winter where you couldn't get into a heated argument over the merits of "Sound of Music," based on the life story of Maria von Trapp of the famous Trapp Family Singers. So when I found myself seated next to Mr. Hammerstein the other evening, I brought up the subject of what constitued corn on Broadway.

"Sentiment has never been unpopular except with a few sick persons who are made sicker by the sight of a child, the thought of a wedding or the glimpse of a happy home," Mr. Hammerstein began. "Now 'Sound of Music' is based on the autobiography of Maria von Trapp. The plot is no invention of ours.

"No incidents were 'invented' or dragged in to play on the sentimental suceptibilities of the audience, as some critics seem to feel.

"The fact is that the wastelanders play outrageously upon audience emotions by arbitrarily and insincerely introducing shocking words and situations in every one of their plays. This no more constitutes good art than for a playwright to hack on the audience's emotions with bathos.

"There is no more validity to the current theatrical viewpoint that all life is one great snake pit than that it is one huge, sunlit meadow. The truth, as usual, is somewhere in between.

"When I went recently to 'Sweet Bird of Youth' (by Tennessee Williams) I was enraged when the dope peddler who lived off women stepped to the footlights and asked the audience to identify itself with him, on the ground that there was some of him in all of us.

"There was nothing of me in that character. And it is both ridiculous and phony to make such an appeal to an audience. The accepted and fallacious assumption, in some circles, that this viewpoint is more true to life than decent hope is nonsense."

"And there," said Mr. Hammerstein, pointing his finger, "is where the corn really grows."

Columnist's Mail Starts Week Again

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Your son is least likely to become a juvenile delinquent, according to a Harvard University survey, if you earn more than $2,000 but less than $10,000 annually. Most delinquents come from poverty stricken families or high income ones in which there is "too much freedom and too much money."

Inflation Note: Eight years ago 55 per cent of U. S. restaurants still served a nickel cup of coffee. Now only 4 per cent do. Of the rest, 83 per cent charge a dime and the others 7 cents, 12 cents—and more.

People sometimes say, "I'm getting blind as a bat." But bats aren't blind. Naturalists believe bats can see pretty well in daytime.

Did you know that the most common ailment among horses is indigestion? One reason: Horses cannot belch.

Where-Did-it-Start Dept: Gin rummy, the most popular card game of the 1940s, was invented in 1909 by Elwood T. Baker, a Brooklyn businessman. It is a variation of an older game called "knock rummy."

Some psychiatrists now hold that nagging is the biggest single cause of divorce. (So, if you really want to keep your husband, Dearie, shaddup!)

Our Quotable Notables: "I have been driven many times to my knees," said Abraham Lincoln, "by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go."

Money isn't everything, but people have suspected for a long time it does have a lot to do with popularity. In Poland there is an ancient proverb: "When I had money everyone called me brother."

GOP Panel Head Not Optimistic

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man whose job is to lead the Republicans to victory in 1960—if that's possible—isn't bursting with optimism about their chances in Congress.

More than ever, this puts the spotlight on the presidential race.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican National Committee, in a TV interview Sunday, wouldn't go beyond saying he thought his party had a chance in just one side of Congress—the House.

Congressional Democrats, who gained their greatest victory since early New Deal days in the 1958 elections, outnumber the Republicans 65 to 35 in the Senate and 279 to 151 in the House where there are now seven vacancies.

Although the voters this year decide on all 437 House members, only one-third of the Senate seats.

A recent Gallup poll showed 58 per cent of the voters favored Democratic control of Congress. On the Meet the Press program Sunday Morton refused to challenge the accuracy of the poll.

But he said "poll or no poll, I still think we have a chance of capturing the House." If this seems something less than sunny for a politician, at least Morton has been a politician long enough to be realistic.

In the past 28 years the Republicans have had control of Congress only four years. They won in 1946 and again in 1952. This clearly establishes them as the minority party in the United States.

It would indicate the voters see and make a clear distinction between Democrats and Republicans although the further one gets away from the United States and its political atmosphere the smaller that difference probably appears.

In Britain, where the Labor party grows more conservative and the Conservative party grows more liberal, an Englishman may have difficulty seeing any difference between Democrats and Republicans at all.

For someone as far away as Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow, who doesn't have to worry about opposition parties of any kind, the Democrats and Republicans must look like twins.

Even the presidential candidates in recent years—President Eisenhower and Adalai Stevenson—didn't show any basic differences in outlook. There were differences, but they were in details.

Future historians may decide the voters picked Eisenhower over Stevenson for various reasons—such as personality, proven performance at war and in peace—in which fundamental political differences played little part.

Dallas Will Try On New Spurs This Fall

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas, the self-styled Big D that claims to do everything on a gigantic scale, will get its acid test come fall.

Dallas will have two professional football clubs and a major college team, Southern Methodist, trying to pull in the fans in paying quantity.

The Dallas Rangers will be in the old and established National Football League and will have such bait as Don Meredith, Southern Methodist's great passer, and Jim Mooty, the Arkansas All-America.

The Dallas Texans will be in the newly organized American Football League and have such stars as Jack Spikes of Texas Christian and Abner Haynes, the great back of North Texas State.

The Texans' owner, Lamar Hunt, says Dallas isn't large enough to support two professional football league clubs.

Tex Schramm, general manager of the Rangers, says [illegible] feel Dallas is either a one-team city or a minor league city."

And what of Southern Methodist, which heretofore has been holding a monopoly on football fandom in Dallas? SMU started drawing so well a dozen years ago that it had to move its games from the bandbox stadium on the campus to the cavernous Cotton Bowl.

"We will be able to get along," says Matty Bell, athletic director of the university, "but we'll have to have a good team every year to do well. We can't draw as we have with a weak team. But if we have a good team we might even hurt the professional football clubs. They better have good teams, too."

Bell admitted that the strength of the team was the most important factor in all instances but he pointed to one thing the professional clubs won't have: Southern Methodist has a large number of alumni and followers of long standing who will watch the school's football games regardless.

Bell isn't denying that pro football will hurt SMU although it will be played on Sunday while the university plays its games on Saturday. "The people won't all be spending their money to see more than one game a week," Bell explained.

All three teams will use the 75,504-seat Cotton Bowl. It has been estimated that there is a potential of over 1,000,000 fans within a 100-mile radius of Dallas (population 621,000).

Big D can start living up to its self-promoted reputation in September.

Horizons Unlimited For High Jumper

By ED CORIGAN
Associated Press ports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How high is up for John Thomas?

No one in his right mind would set a limit on the high jumping talents of the gangling Boston University sophomore.

But one thing appeared certain today: His newly acquired indoor record of 7 feet 1½ inches won't be on the books for long. He set it Saturday night in the Millrose Games and there wouldn't be an eyebrow raised if he upped the record a half inch or so this week before his hometown folks in the Boston AA meet.

If there is a nervous bone in the body of the 18-year-old whiz, it doesn't show. He analyzes his task as a physician does a patient.

His 7-1½ was just a quarter of an inch better than his previous mark, but when you get up that high, it means a lot.

"The Quarter of an inch is all in your mind," he said. "I don't do anything different, but I think about it, look at the signs and somehow set my sights higher."

Matter of fact, it didn't look like John's night at all. He missed twice at 6-11 after Charlie Dumas of Southern California, the world's first 7-footer, had cleared the height.

"My timing was off," he observed. "I was getting too close to the bar before taking off. But I wasn't afraid. I never approach the bar afraid. I was up there checking my form and looking as I went over."

John Rectified his timing and he went withroom to spare.

He tried 7-2½ three times, but the edge was off and he didn't come close.

"I don't know if I'll ever clear 7-2½," he shrugged. "But I'll keep trying. I don't know what the limit might be. Once I didn't think anyone ever would make 7 feet."

Thomas' performance took some of the glitter off Hayes Jones' 7 second flat 60-yard high hurdles. That tied the indoor record and marked the third time he has been clocked in 7 flat. Milt Campbell, who did it twice, is the only other timber topper who has done it in 7 seconds.

Other winners included Don Bragg in the pole vault (15-4 and missed three times at 16 feet), Tom Murphy of the New York A.C. in the half mile (1:53), Frank Budd of Villanova in the 60-yard dash (6.2), Mal Spence of Arizona State in the Mel Sheppard 600 (1:11.5), Jim Grelle of Oregon in the Wanamaker Mile (4:06.4), and Al Lawrence of Houston in the 3-mile run (13:38, second fastest ever indoors).

Lincoln Wins One In Big Spring Meet

BIG SPRING— The Lincoln High Trojans and Trojanettes participated in the Big Spring Invitational Tournament here Saturday, with the girls losing out, and the boys bringing home third place consolation laurels.

The tournament was single elimination for the girls teams and double elimination for the boys.

The Trojanettes dropped their first and only contest to host Big Spring, the team which went on to win the championship.

The score in that one was 33-17 with Louise Archie showing the way for Lincoln with 11 points.

B. J. Scaggs of Big Spring topped the scoring in that one with 21 points, while Pearlie Scott and Louline Brooks rounded out the point making for Lincoln with 3 each.

The Trojans dropped their initial title to Big Spring by a 64-52 count, although Lincoln's John Choyce led both teams in scoring with 17 points. Other Lincoln scoring was turned in by Randolph Williams (15), Charlie Archie (10), Beauford Thompson (5), Linwood Durst (3), and Kenneth McLain (2).

J. B. Wright and L. Brown were high for Big Spring with 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Lincoln came out on the long end of a 55-35 score in the consolation fray against Stamford with Choyce once again racking up 17 points to top all scorers. Completing the Lincoln scoring were Williams (16), Archie (8), Bill Phillips (4), A. C. Thompson (5), McLain and Mack Taylor (2 each), and Beauford Thompson (1).

C. Besl dropped in 9 in Stamford to lead that team.

Lincoln next sees action tomorrow night, as they travel to Big Spring for a doubleheader.

Buffs Shooting For BC Conference Tie

By The Associated Press

West Texas State gets the chance of pulling into a tie for first place in the Border Conference basketball race Monday night. The Buffs play Arizona at Canyon and if they win will have 3-0, the same as New Mexico State.

New Mexico State has no conference games this week and West Texas could take over the lead because the Buffs have a conference test against Arizona State University at Tempe Saturday night.

It's a busy week, in contrast to the last two. here are 10 games involving Border teams.

Arizona State University plays Hardin-Simmons at Abilene and New Mexico State gets New Mexico at State College Monday night. Thursday night New Mexico State meets Pasadena at Pasadena, Calif., and Friday night plays UCLA at Los Angeles. Also Friday night Texas Western hosts Sul Ross and Hardin-Simmons is at Centenary.

Saturday night Arizona plays Los Angeles State at Tucson and Hardin-Simmons battles McNeese at Lake Charles, La.

Hardin-Simmons got on the winning trail last week as the Cowboys beat North Texas State 98-96, in a nonconference go, then downed Arizona, 81-63, in a game counting in the standings. Arizona took a 77-69 drubbing from Arizona State of Flagstaff.

West Texas State made its conference record 2-0 by whipping Arizona State University, 87-84.

Texas Western was beaten by Eastern New Mexico, 71-67. It was Western's twelfth loss in 16 games.

Controversy Stirs Over Hoop Raising

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Raise the hoop to halt the scoring onslaught of basketball's seven-footers? Never, says Tulane's Cliff Wells who thinks scoring zone could make the little man a vital offensive factor again.

Wells, past president of the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches said lifting the baskets would hurt the small man more than the seven footers.

There have been outcries to raise the basket with the advent of such players as 7-foot-2 Wilt Chamberlain, who is rewriting pro scoring records. It's a jump and dunk deal now, say the advocates of a higher backboard, with the smaller guy lost in the shuffle.

"You've got to remember the seven-footer would still be closer to the basket and would still have the advantage," said Wells, whose answer is to divide the court into scoring zones to put the emphasis on long shots.

Wells would divide the court into three scoring areas. The zone within a 10-foot radius of the basket would be a one-point area, that within 20 feet would be a two-point zone and any shot made outside the 20-foot boundary would count for three points. Foul shots would remain unchanged.

This system, Wells said, would bring strategy back into the game and put more emphasis on distance shooting. The big man could dunk his shots, but they would count for only one point each.

On the other hand, Wells said distance shooters of the Bob Cousy pattern would be at a premium since their long-range shots would count for three points.

The three zones would be defined by lines drawn from the boundaries under the baskets and to facilitate calling the shots, the intermediate two-point area would be painted solid white.

Wells admitted it wasn't likely college coaches would go for such a revolutionary plan.

"But it would open up the game," he said, "and with a three-point zone, close games could hang in the balance until the last second. If basketball wants to get the little man back into the picture, this could be the answer."

Tony Windis of Woodside, N.Y., set a basketball scoring record at the University of Wyoming by netting 1,465 points in three seasons.

SWC Facing Big Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There can be some shuffling around the top in Southwest Conference basketball this week with all the leaders facing tough tests and two of them meeting each other.

As the race returns to full speed after a couple of weeks of little activity, Texas A&M leads with a 4-1 record while Arkansas and Southern Methodist are tied for second with 3-1.

The Aggies are on the West Coast for games with San Francisco Monday night and Santa Clara Tuesday night. But they come home for a clash with dangerous Texas Tech at College Station Saturday.

Meanwhile, Arkansas will be meeting Texas Tech at Lubbock Tuesday, hoping to topple the Red Raiders and set up a showdown battle with Southern Methodist at Fayetteville Saturday.

Southern Methodist must first hurdle Texas Christian. The Mustangs, who fear they will be minus their playmaker, Max Williams, clash with the Christians at Fort Worth Wednesday night. Williams is recovering from a severe ankle sprain and may not be able to play against the Horned Frogs. It is worrying the Methodists very much.

Texas, in fourth place with 3-2, plays North Texas State at Denton Wednesday night, then clashes with Texas Christian at Austin Saturday night in a conference struggle.

Baylor and Rice met at Houston Saturday night in the other game on the week's schedule.

Only Rice is lower in the standlast week and in one of them Texas Tech whipped Texas Christian 75-66 in overtime to move into fifth place in the standings and knock TCU down to next to last.

Only ice is lower in the standings and is the only team that can be considered eliminated from championship consideration. The Owls have lost five conference tests out of five.

Jay Arnette of Texas continues to lead the league in scoring with 275 points and he also has the top average — 19.6 points per game. Carroll Dawson of Baylor is second with 266 points.

JACK SPIKES
Snyder's All-American

Spikes Day Plans In Final Stages

This coming Saturday represents the "big day" for Snyder sports fans, as it has been set aside in honor of Jack Spikes—TCU's All-American and one which Snyder can call her very own.

All local fans are urged to pick up their tickets for the event as soon as possible, as a deadline of Thursday noon has been set for the sale of same. The ticket will entitle the holder to a buffet-type barbecue, which will take place in the National Guard Armory at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, which will also include the program for the night. Head coach Abe Martin of TCU will be the principal speaker for the program.

The "feed" and program has been geared to appeal to any and all— young and old— and it is hoped that an especially good turnout is in evidence for the festivities.

Other TCU dignitaries who plan to be here for the "Day" include Dutch Meyer, athletic director, and Allie White, line coach for the Frogs. Also, Bill Van Fleet, Star-Telegram sports writer, and Texas Tech coach Beattie Feathers will be here.

B. J. "Doc" Weaver, president of the local Quarterback Club, has called a meeting of the club to tonight at 7 o'clock. The ticket-boosting meeting will be held in room 122 of the high school, and all members are requested to be in attendance.

One of the main attractions of the day will be a chartered plane from Fort Worth which will bring a group of Frog Club members here from that city.

Tickets may be bought at the following four points on the square: Texas Electric Service Co., Chamber of Commerce office, Thompson's Shoe Store, and Bennett's Office Supply. Also, any Quarterback Club member has tickets available.

Lamar Hunt To Attend Spikes Day

Word was received here this morning per telephone that Lamar Hunt, oilman owner of Dallas Texans American Football League club, will be here for the ceremonies this Saturday honoring Jack Spikes.

He has indicated that he, his wife, and two publicity men will arrive here Saturday afternoon by air.

Hunt is considered to be the "father" of the infant American Football League, which will see its first year of operation this coming fall. Spikes has signed to play professionally for the Texans at that time.

Fox Awarded Player Of Year Plaque

NEW YORK (AP) —The little fellow holding the baseball "Player of the Year" plaque didn't look natural. There was no chaw of tobacco to give his face a lopsided look. Nellie Fox at 32 could have passed for a college boy.

Fox received the Sid Mercer Award Sunday night at the annual dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Assn. His manager, Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, also was on hand to accept the Bill Slocum Award for "Long and Meritorious Service."

Ty Cobb, the 73-year-old Georgia Peach of yesteryear, was given a "Player of the Year" award for 1911, the first of an annual series for oldtimers. Hank Bauer, the ex-Marine the New York Yankees traded to Kansas City, was presented with a "Good Guy" award named in memory of the late Ben Epstein, New York Daily Mirror writer.

After it was all over and the writers had entertained with their annual skits, Fox lingered at the speaker's table. He was asked about the 1960 season.

"I think we (White Sox) are much better off than we were at this time last season," he said.

The opposition?

"I think Cleveland is going to be the toughest."

And New York?

"Any club that has Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford, and Bob Turley is going to be tough."

"I think Detroit is going to be trouble and maybe Kansas City too."

Nellie didn't mention it, but one reason the White Sox probably will be favored to repeat is a little guy at second base named Fox.

Houston In Split With Mo. Valley

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) —. The University of Houston resigned from the Missouri Valley Conference last night and will renew its efforts for membership in a major football conference.

Houston resigned at a special meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors here.

The reason given by Dean Ralph C. Bursiek of Cincinnati, president of the conference, and the league's commissioner, Norvall Neve, was that Houston had "a conflict of interests in scheduling football games."

Actually Houston, with a student enrollment of about 11,500, long has sought admission in either the Southeastern Conference or the Southwest Conference. The school entered the Missouri Valley in 1950.

Dr. Franklin Stovall, faculty representative at Houston, and athletic director Harry Fouke said in a joint statement:

"We will renew our interest and efforts to become allied with a major conference in our own geographical region."

Fouke said Houston would "fulfill contractural agreements in all sports" it has with Missouri Valley members.

Things came to a head a couple of weeks ago when the 1960 football scheduled released by Houston failed to include Wichita, a school that contended it had an oral agreement for games the next two seasons with Houston.

Nobody officially connected with the meeting with comment on reasons for Houston's withdrawal except for tesse statements saying the resignation was accepted with regret.

Dr. James K. Sours, Wichita faculty representative, and Tippy Dye, athletic director, made it clear, however, they were disappointed.

"It hurts the conference as much as it does us," Dr. Sours said, "and it hurts us plenty."

Dye said Wichita was in a real jam trying to find an opponent to replace Houston.

But the Valley Conference, plagued by a rapid turnover in membership since its birth in 1908, doesn't plan to sit still.

"We will have a football championship this fall," Neve said. "It might be that we will count Houston's games with Tulsa, North Texas and Cincinnati as league games and designate one of Wichita's non-league opponents as a conference game for Wichita."

Wichita has only three league games, one short of the number required to be eligible for the title.

Houston will not be playing for the championship. Its resignation becomes effective June 10.

The Missouri Valley is one of the nation's strongest basketball conferences.

Trophy Garnered By Local Boxers

CLOVIS, NEW MEXICO— Snyder's Boys Club boxing team fared quite well in the Clovis Regional Golden Gloves Tournament held here this past weekend, as the team—the sole Texas entry in the meet— managed to nab the novice team trophy, as they wrested it from perennial champ Clovis in ceremonies of Saturday night following the final bouts of the evening.

Individually, 9 of the 12 Snyder entrants brought home trophies.

Saturday night winners for the local team included Donnie Deere, David McKinley, and Reuben Gonzales. Deere downed Joe Valdez by a decision, while McKinley also won by decision over Wade Stevenson. Gonzales decisioned Wilbur Washington, a boy who has made the trek to the National Golden Gloves Meet in Chicago on three occasions, having never won less than two bouts there.

Complete Saturday results follow, with Snyder fighters being listed first:

Donnie Deere (100) over Joe Valdez, decision.

Adam Romero (103) lost to Roman Lucero, TKO second round.

Joe Cates (115) lost to Chris Gutierrez, TKO second round.

David McKinley (135 beat Wade Stevenson, decision.

Weldon Duke (160) lost to Phillip Seyes, split decision.

Leon Deere (160) lost to Jimmie Apodaca, split decision.

Reuben Gonzales (126) downed Wilbur Washington, decision.

Thursday Results:

Leon Deere over Phillip Seyes, decision.

Jackie Watson lost to Roman Lucero, decision.

Lyndon Baize lost to Johnnie Olivas, decision.

Hollis Cox lost to Wade Stevenson, TKO 2nd round.

Friday Results:

Reuben Gonzales over Ignacio Rodriguez, decision.

Abe Gonzales lost to Danny Alvarez, decision.

Weldon Duke lost to Jimmie Apodaca, decision.

Joe Cates lost to Clarence Archie TKO first round.

John Gonzales lost to Wilford Haynes, decision.

Two Games Are Slated For Today

Three of Snyder's teams are slated for action today, with a pair of home games bolstering the day's cage menu.

Lamar's 7th graders get things underway here in the Travis Junior High gym, as they take on Colorado City in a 5 o'clock game. Lamar is 2-7 for the season.

That game will be followed by the Snyder 8th grade encounter against the C-City boys, with a tipoff time of approximately 6:15. This past weekend found the Blue Devils winning the consolation bracket of the Sweetwater tournament, and they now stand 12-4 for the year.

Snyder's Freshman team will be in San Angelo for a game against Edison in the remaining fray of the day.

The local freshmen are 12-6 for the year.

Cincy Plays Catch Up In Valley Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati hopes to catch up with Bradley in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race this week. And Oscar Robertson appears a cinch to break the three-year collegiate scoring record of 2,538 points set by Frank Selvy who wound up his career at Furman in 1954.

Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, trails Bradley, No. 2 nationally, by a half a game in the league. The Bearcats, 4-1, can pull even with the Braves, 5-1, by beating Drake Monday night and Houston Saturday. Both games are set for Cincinnati's home court.

Bradley has only one confernce game and that with last place North Texas State at home Saturday. But Bradley has a game with Seattle in Seattle Monday night and with Gonzaga in Spokane, Wash., Thursday. If the Braves can win all three of their tilts this week they can tie Cincinnati in all games played. The Bearcats are 15-1, Bradley 14-1 for the campaign.

Robertson, who now has a scoring average of 35.8 for 16 games didn't do too well last week. He was limited to 13 and 29 points, respectively, in the Bearcats' victories over Duquesne and The Citadel.

Jim Mudd of last place North Texas State got 103 points in three games last week and upped his scoring average to 27.3 points.

Former College May Become Haven For Wayward Youths

By JOE BENHAM

GOODNIGHT (AP) — Goodnight College, the pride of this Texas Panhandle ranching town at the turn of the century, may be back in operation soon as a school for young troublemakers.

A plan advanced by Judge Jerry Kolander of the Potter County (Amarillo) Court of Domestic Relations calls for renovation of the long-abandoned college buildings for service as a school for "pre-delinquents."

Kolander defines a pre-delinquent as a child "who exhibits delinquent tendencies but has not expressed them in such a way as to damage society or himself."

"They aren't bad enough to send to state institutions but they need close supervision," he explained.

The Amarillo Junior League, a women's civic group, is considering a campaign to raise funds for the project. The Amarillo Junior Chamber of Commerce also has expressed interest.

Renovating the buildings and adding facilities designed for juvenile use would cost around $250,000, Kolander said.

Children sent to the school from the 26 Panhandle counties would be given supervision and training designed to steer them back on the path to law-abiding, useful lives, he said.

Kolander said he wrote to the county judge in each county to get the local reaction to his plan.

He received 19 favorable replies, and failed to hear from the other 7. Kolander said the judges who didn't reply were in sparsely-settled counties which have few juvenile problems.

The school would be self-supporting after the initial campaign to establish and equip it, Kolander said, with operating costs paid by the counties who send children to the institution.

Each county would pay according to the number of studetns it sent.

The college was established by Col. Charles Goodnight, Indian fighter and pioneer rancher for whom the town of Goodnight was named.

Goodnight first set up school in the back yard of his home in 1890 with one teacher holding classes for the town's youth.

The college was chartered by the state in 1898. Goodnight donated two sections of land and spent an estimated $80,000 on buildings, including a four-story girls' Dormitory, an auditorium and four homes used as boys' dormitories.

Goodnight offered the institution to the Methodist Church, but was turned down, according to a history compiled by Miss Mary Miller, a Goodnight resident since 1905.

He then offered the school to the Baptist Church, which took over operations of the school in 1905 and ran it until 1917, when the college closed.

Miss Miller said the college, which had a maximum enrollment of 200, faded because of World War I, the addition of high schools to Panhandle school systems and the establishment of West Texas State College in Canyon.

The girls' dorm was operated as a branch of Dallas' Buckner Orphans home for two years, after which the buildings were turned over to the Goodnight school system.

The buildings have been vacant since 1953, when consolidation sent Goodnight students to schools in nearby Clarendon and Claude.

Kolander said Goodnight's deed requires the property be used for educational purposes, so "we feel quite sure we can get the property for that use."

He said the institution would not compete with Cal Farley's famed Boys Ranch at Tascosa, also in the Panhandle. The school proposed by Kolander would be co-educational, he said, whereas Farley's ranch handles only wayward boys.

Junior Editors Quiz on NAVIGATION

QUESTION: Why was Prince Henry of Portugal called 'The Navigator'?

* * *

ANSWER: In the 1400's, Portugal became a world power through its discoveries of new lands. Portugese sailors plied the seas of the world, traveling routes that were supposedly plagued by monsters.

The man who was responsible for these great voyages was Prince Henry. He spent most of his time on dry land, but encouraged navigation by offering prizes for discoveries.

He had a keen and intelligent interest in navigation and for 50 years kept sending ships voyaging about the known world and along the edges of the unknown. It was under his guidance and encouragement that Portugese seamen ventured down the west coast of Africa for more than 2,000 miles. The Portugese voyagers subsequently found the islands of the Azores and the Canaries, Madeira and Cape Verde.

Henry the Navigator had three ideas in mind: exploration, trade and conversion to Christianity. He supplied the money, ships and enthusiasm for the bold voyages that discovered the Americas, went around the Cape of Good Hope, and reached India. He was the moving spirit in what has been called the Age of Discovery.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a map and look up some of the voyages of the Portugese, then trace these upon the map.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

COLOR MAGIC MACHINE—Turner Beard, manager of Forrest Builders Supply located at 2109 Twenty-fifth Street, stands beside his new precision color machine for Benjamin Moore Paints.

New Color Machine Installed By Forrest Builders Supply

Quite worthwhile seeing is a new color machine recently installed in the store of Forrest Builders Supply. It was developed by Benjamin Moore & Co. Paint Manufacturers, for the use of its dealers.

According to Turner Beard, manager of the store, the machine will make it possible to supply home owners and painting contractors with a very wide variety of special paint colors in a matter of minutes and at a reasonable cost. A further advantage is that both interior and exterior paint can be tinted automatically. The system is based on the same standard, well-known paint products so frequently used and is well liked and accepted by the store's many paint customers: Benjamin Moore exterior House Paint, REGAL WALL-SATIN, ALKYD SANI-FLAT, ALKYD DULAMEL SEMI-GLOSS, IMPERVO ENAMEL, and other popular paints handled by Forrest Builders Supply.

Accompanying the machine is a beautiful display designated as "COLOR AS YOU LIKE IT" Universal Tinting System. More than 2,000 colors are shown on a swinging panel unit that is attractive to look at and very easy to use. The wide range of hues, designed to meet modern decorating requirements, is arranged logically in color families to simplify color selection. For instance, the color chart which the user looks at peryqps shows from one to five "blues" and they offer 91 different blues on one panel of this wonderful automatic system, and it is a precision machine.

Customers may choose the colors they want from the display in the store or take home a preliminary selection of color chips for further consideration in the room to be painted. When the final color decision is made, the chip is returned to the store and the color mixed by machine according to a set formula supplied by the manufacturer. Thus the customer is able to duplicate the color later on when he is ready to repaint or if he decides to use the same color in another location.

"Such atservice is almost essential in this day and age of color; as people become more and more aware of the importance of color, they require a greater selection and are more exacting in their demands for specific tints or shades," Beard says.

Forrest Builders Supply continues to offer the many beautiful ready-mixed colors they have always had, but if you do not find your shade, see it made automatically with the famous Benjamin Moore Paints.

Cosden Hikes Output Of Ortho-Xylene

BIG SPRING—Cosden Petroleum Corporation, already a leading producer of ortho-xylene, will extend its interest in the petrochemical through new facilities to be completed early in 1961.

Dan M. Krausse, senior vice president, disclosed today that production will be in excess of seventy million pounds per year. The design will permit capacity to be doubled to meet increasing world-wide demand for this important chemical raw material.

Since April 1958, Cosden has been the world's only supplier of 99 per cent ortho-xylene in commercial quantities. Ortho-xylene is used in the manufacture of synthetic resins, pharmaceuticals, and dyestuffs. Cosden has been one of the pioneers in the utilization of xylene isomers. It was the first to derive ethylbenzene from this source for styrene manufacture and has been producing para-xylene since 1953.

Shrinking supplies of naphtalene, couped with major expansion of phthalic anhydride capacity all over the world, has focused attention on the need of a dependable source of raw material at stable prices. Advancing technology has made ortho-xylene competitive with naphthalene in phthalic anhydride yields produced. Furthermore, ortho-xylene is safer and more economical to transport and store.

Fallek Chemical Corporation of New York will handle all export sales for Cosden.

Unusual Sale On Newark Sidewalk

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The sidewalk of Newark's main thoroughfare was the scene today of an unusual bargain sale—used gargoyles, cheap.

Thirty of the ugly stone faces are being sold for as little as $150 by a wrecking company which spent several weeks lowering them from the ninth floor of a condemned office building.

The 60-year-old stone, pieces would cost about $3,000 each if carved today.

Seekers of stone lions were disappinted. A Newark lawyer purchased the only pair for $1,000.

Ike Aids Asks For End To Racial Truce

DALLAS (AP)—An administrative assistant to President Eisenhower Sunday appealed for "better communications between Negro and white" to end what he called a "racial truce" in the United States.

"We (the Negro people) have been so busy obtaining our rights and the whites have been so busy objecting, that there is hardly any communication left between us," E. Frederick Morrow told an audience of Negro leaders and students.

Morrow said the United States has a responsibility before the world at a time when thousands of Negroes in Africa are insisting on freedom now "to convince them the Negro is living in freedom and dignity."

"We can't convince other countries Democracy will work for them if it doesn't work for the American Negro, we have fought for preservation of a way of life that oftentimes did not include us."

Most of his talk centered on the Negroes' responsibility to "share the cost of Democracy."

He hit what he called heavy spending among segments of Negro leaders for shindigs, baubles and trinkets" and urged Negroes to take on a durable sense of values."

"Wherever there is war or conflict today in the world we find man clutching for the idea of first-class citizenship," Morrow said. "No one is going to bring us emancipation on a silver platter.

The dilemma of Little Rock should show us that there is no room for islands of segregation."

He told students in the audience that they faced a future filled with competition, that they must be ready for it, to read and learn:

"Color will be no excuse if you fail," he said.

Boy Falls From Bumper Of Bus

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A four-year-old boy clung desperately to the bumper of a city bus for five blocks Sunday, but finally had to let go and was killed.

Police Chief Jim Mitchum said Terry Pierce apparently was in front of the bus when it started up and clutched at the bumper to avoid being run over. He dropped under the wheels when the bus turned a corner.

Driver Lloyd Pierce, no relation to the child, was unaware of Terry's losing struggle with death. He broke down in tears when he was stopped by a motorist and told of the tragedy.

Carl Warwick of Victoria, most valuable player in the Texas League for 1959, is on the Spokane roster. He plays center field.

Soviet Officials Visit New Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A team of top Soviet officials take a look at what makes New Jersey tick today after meeting the Ivy League Sunday.

The group, headed by Dimitry S. Polyansky, premier of the Russian Federated Soviet Socialist Republic, will be guests of Gov. Robert B. Meyner as they tour the state government offices.

Sunday they had a tour of Princeton University. Polyansky's leisurely tour about the campus drew scant attention from the students but a group of Hungarian refugees paraded a sign saying: "we don't need Russian gangsters here."
