The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

OVER AT THE City Hall, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal has this sign on his desk: "If I tried to read, much less to answer, all the criticism made of me and all the attacks leveled against me, this office would have to be closed for all other business. I do the best I know how, the very best I can. I mean to keep on doing this, down to the very end." —Abraham Lincoln.

One of the mayor's friends sent him the card.

STOPPED IN AT the Roy Camfield home on Avenue E the other afternoon to see what he was doing in the garden. Roy has planted some more pecan trees and has everything ready to put out a lot of garden seed. He had his rose bushes wrapped up against the prospects of a freeze. He's looking for a new plow to arrive and has his water well ready for a busy spring.

Roy has recently completed an extensive remodeling program at their home. The front porch was taken into the house to add to the living and dining rooms. Closets have been added. And a lot of redecorating work has made the interior very attractive.

HAVE FOUND OUT what Dr. C. E. Paul is building up at his house on West 8th Street. They're adding several treating rooms and will do some interior re-arranging. See J. H. and Horace Latsion up there driving nails. Richard Phillips, son-in-law of the Dr. Pauls, has been transferred by the army from California to Fort Hood and now is able to spend most weekends in Cisco. Sam Draganis is home from Temple and was by the Savoy Cafe the other day. Glad to see you back.

THIS IS PUBLIC School Week and to emphasize the theme a group of girls were guests of the Lions Club on Wednesday and they were to be there again today to sing for the Rotary Club. After finishing their program, they were invited to remain Wednesday to see a special picture show about the Lions Club camp. The girls were delighted when Principal Doyle Holmes and Sponsor Lovell Paul Phillips decided it would be fine for them to remain.

As they departed after the picture show, we heard one of them expressing the hope that "the Rotary Club will have a picture show, too."

IF YOU HAVEN'T visited a school this week, drop by any or all of them on Friday. Cisco has 1,100 students in the various schools. The people of this community have a very substantial investment in equipment and buildings for educational purposes.

All of us should take more interest in our school program — for the many educational blessings that are ours. School Week should be a very big event in every community, and it's a tribute to our town that good crowds have attended this week's school programs.

SOMEBODY SENT us this clipping, which has quite a moral in it:

Genius: Can't understand why you failed in business.

Friend: Too much advertising.

Genius: What do you mean — too much advertising? You never spent a cent in your life on advertising.

Friend: That's true, but my competitors did.

ANOTHER CLIPPING sent us quotes excerpts from the 1850 almanac, as follows:

Expenditures, per minute, of the U. S. government, by administration: Washington, $3.82; Adams, $2.58; Jefferson, $9.95; Madison, $34.88; Monroe, $25.18; J. Q. Adams, $24.35; Jackson, $35.15; VanBuren, $65.78; Tyler, $43.95; Polk, $145.88.

Public debt, Dec. 1, 1848: $1,930,987.

1840 census showed 3,719,951 persons employed in agriculture; 791,749 in manufactures; 117,607 in commerce; 15,211 in mining; 56,021 navigating the ocean; 33,076 in internal navigation; and 65,255 at the learned professions.

Desdemona Dairymen List Benefits Of Trench Silo For Dairy Feeding

"Hay is higher in price and not near so good for our milk cows as silage," report F. F. and Jim Sparks, Desdemona dairymen, who are milking 23 cows, largely Holsteins, at the present time.

The father, F. F. Sparks, and son, Jim, are partners, and have been in the dairy business since January, 1951. Their milk goes into the Dallas and Fort Worth milkshed.

They put down their first trench silo in June last year when they bought some "burned out" corn crops from some of their neighbors, chopped it up and packed it down in a long trench. They later grew some honey drip cane and African millet. They started feeding it at once because of the need for roughage and the cows have never been off it, they said.

CJC Girls To Play Tilt Here Tonight

The Cisco Junior College Wranglerettes will play the Fort Worth Motorettes at the Community Gym at 8 o'clock tonight, it was announced by Cisco Junior College officials today.

The Motorettes have a good record for the season despite two losses to the Cisco girls in earlier games. The Wranglerettes are undefeated.

The game tonight will be a warm-up affair for the Wranglerettes in preparation for the National tournament to be held in St. Joseph, Missouri, later in the month. The Wranglerettes were one of three Texas teams selected for entry in the meet.

The game between the Wranglerettes and the Goodfellow Air Force women's team scheduled for last Saturday night was cancelled at the request of the San Angelo team because of bad weather.

Mrs. I. A. Brunkenhoefer and Ann left today for a weekend visit in Longview.

DIVISION LEADERS ARE NAMED FOR COUNTY LIVESTOCK SHOW

Superintendents of the various divisions of the Eastland County Livestock Show to be held at the old airport in Eastland on March 26 and 27 have been named, according to C. M. McCain, Eastland, general superintendent of the show.

This will make the third year that McCain has served in that capacity. Assisting him will be Bob Lavender and Luther Wilson, both of Eastland.

P. C. Spenny, Rising Star, was named superintendent of the dairy division. Marshal Berry was named to assist him. Entries in this division have grown in recent years, it was reported.

Ed Harrison, Gorman, and R. E. Harrell, Ranger, both prominent Hereford cattle breeders, were selected as superintendent and assistant superintendent of

A total of 102 acres of the corn, honey drip cane and African millet was put down. The corn and honey drip ran from 3 to 4 tons per acre while the Millet did not produce as much. The entire cost ran to about $10 per ton.

At the present time the silage is being fed to 26 cows, ten heifers and ten goats. Around 1,000 lbs. of the material is fed per day.

"It has cut our roughage feed bill in half. Every man who raises cattle should have one," said Jim. "If I cut off silage and feed only hay for a few days it dries up my milk production just like a well going dry," he continued.

The cows on the Sparks farm eat only 2 to 3 bales of dry peanut hay at night. That's all the entire herd will eat. They need some dry hay as a conditioner, it was revealed.

"We only wish that we had been making and feeding silage for many years," say the Sparks.

A bulletin on making and feeding silage is free and is available by calling or writing at the county agent's office in Eastland.

There were more silos put down in Eastland County in 1953 than for many years.

Musical Program Is Rendered For Lions Luncheon

Students of West Ward School presented a musical program Wednesday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cisco Lions Club at the Victor Hotel Coffee Shop. Lion L. M. Cawley was in charge of the program.

Principal Doyle Holmes of the school reported that the program was arranged as a Public School Week feature. Mrs. Richard Phillips, music teacher at the school, directed a group of girls in several songs, and another group played tonettes under the direction of Douglas Stone, band director.

Girls participating in the program were Carole Mayhew, Peggy Hailey, Sharon Stewart, Mary Ann Doyle, Camille Lee, Ann Wallace, Sandra McGough, Judy Sittin, Barbara Jenkins, Evalyne Birt, Janene Bohanon, Nancy Park, Linda Curry, Karen Taylor, and Sharon Taylor. Peggy Hailey and Camille Lee also played piano solos.

A motion picture on the Lions Club Camp for crippled children at Kerrville was shown. Oral Davis of Rising Star was a guest.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN FOR WORLD DAY OF PRAYER HERE FRIDAY

The program for World Day of Prayer to be observed in Cisco, and thousands of communities, Friday, March 5, was released Thursday by Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, general chairman.

The Cisco program will be held at the First Methodist Church at 10 a. m. and is under the sponsorship of the United Church Women of Cisco.

The program this year will be dedicated to Sarah Chakko, its originator, who died on January 25. She selected the theme of the day, "That They May Have Life."

To begin the program Mrs. W.

O. Wylie will play a prelude of selected prayer hymns, then the entire group will sing "Come, Thou Almighty." Mrs. J. B. Elder will lead a prayer for World Day of Prayer and will conduct a business session.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace will sketch the life of Miss Chakko, and Mrs. S. H. Nance will give a scripture reading. The Cisco Junior College choir will sing some special numbers. Mrs. P. R. Warwick will lead a prayer of penitence; Mrs. S. L. Cook will lead a prayer of assurance and Mrs. Rex Moore will lead intercessory prayers. The prayers were prepared by Miss Chakko.

The group will sing the hymn, "Take Time To Be Holy," and Mrs. Wylie will play "Others." "These Others" will be dramatized, with the Rev. Sidney Spain, pastor of the First Christian Church, as the narrator.

The Lord's Prayer will be said in unison and an offering will be taken. Mrs. W. J. Armstrong will dedicate the offering. The group will sing "Blest Be The Tie," and the benediction will be said in unison.

An invitation to attend the program was issued by the church women.

Track Meet Planned Friday Afternoon

The Cisco, Moran and Eastland track and field teams will be in a tri-city meet at the Cisco track Friday afternoon if the weather permits, it was announced by Coach Jay Williams Thursday. The meet is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p. m. and a full series of events will be run off.

High School News Notes

By RHELDIA REED

The open house which was held at high school Monday night, was a big success. There was a very nice program before the parents visited the teachers in their rooms. The sophomore class had the largest number of parents there with the freshman class next.

The teachers enjoyed meeting some of the parents they had not met before and visiting with the ones they knew. It is hoped that there will be a better understanding between the teachers and the parents after this visitation.

Junior-Senior Banquet

Now that the coronation is over, the juniors have started working on their next project for the year — the Junior and Senior Banquet. It is to be held on Thursday night, March 11, at the Country Club. They plan to use the same theme in the decorations as they did for the Coronation. It is thought that this year's banquet will be one of the best ever held.

Talent to Eastland

Our girls trio, Johnny Turner, and Dash Crofts performed for the Eastland Lions Club last Tuesday. The girls sang several numbers, and Dash pantomimed some records. Johnny played several piano selections. They were most honored to be asked to play for that group and they enjoyed the meeting immensely.

Wanda's favorite song is "Ruby" and she likes "cat" music, too. This year she was P.H.A. secretary, a member of the girls choir, annual staff, speech club, Spanish club, and color guard. When she gets out of high school, Wanda plans to go to North Texas State College after going to Cisco Junior College. Then she wants to turn to page six.

West Ward Event Is Postponed By Cold Weather

The sports program at West Ward school, scheduled for Thursday afternoon as a part of the Public School Week Observance, was postponed until later because of bad weather, Principal R. D. Holmes reported.

A baseball game, a basketball game and a volleyball game had been planned at the school, and since the program was to have been held outside, it was decided best to postpone it until later.

Tuesday afternoon some 100 parents of junior high school students attended a program at the junior high school. They met in the auditorium where students put on the program.

The girls choir sang several numbers and the junior high band played a number of selections. The choir is directed by Mrs. Stanley Webb and the band is directed by Douglas Stone.

Other parts of the program were the reading of a poem by John Baum; a piano solo by Mary Wayne Houston and a vocal solo by Janice Justice. A volleyball game between the boys and the girls ended the program in the gym.

Following the program the teachers went to their classrooms and parents visited the rooms where the teachers were available for consultation.

Wednesday at noon the West Ward choir and tonette band entertained the Lions Club and Thursday at noon the same group performed for Rotarians.

Friday night a program has been arranged at the East Ward school and the public was invited to attend. The Friday program will conclude the Public School Week observance here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Poe of Beaumont were expected to arrive Thursday night for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Poe, in Cisco. Mr. Poe's condition was reported as good today at the Eastland hospital where he underwent surgery last Saturday.

Mrs. D. G. Stevens of Gorman is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Donica, and family.

Girl Scouts Are Ready To Begin Big Cookie Sale

Mrs. D. N. Morrison, general chairman of the Cisco Girl Scout cookies sale which will get under way Friday, reported Thursday that everything was ready for the girls to begin their house-to-house sale. Mrs. W. B. Cates is assisting Mrs. Morrison in handling the details of the sale.

The money derived from the sale will be used in the erecting of a permanent Girl Scout camp at Lake Brownwood for troops in the Heart of Texas Area. The camp will be complete and will accommodate at least 60 per cent of the scouts in the area. The girl scouts are out no money in putting on the sale. All posters and supplies are furnished by the company furnishing the cookies.

The cookies are boxed and will be delivered by the girls as they are sold. On both Saturdays during the sale booths will be placed at Norvell and Miller Grocery, McCracken Grocery, A & P Store and the J. C. Penney Company.

The girls will be aided by the troop leaders, with Mrs. Joseph Brown aiding Mrs. Don Choate, who has two troops. Special awards will be made to girls making the 54 club, those selling as many as 54 boxes. A part of the proceeds remain with the local troops and the remainder goes to the area office for building the camp.

The camp will be complete in every detail and will provide facilities for training girls to become counselors. It will afford boating and water sport facilities along the 800 feet of shore line on Lake Brownwood. Plans call for making the camp one of the most attractive in the nation.

Scout workers in Cisco urged the cooperation of the people of the community in helping the girls to make the sale a success.

Condition Of Smith Girl Still Critical

Beulah Jean Smith of Cisco remained in a critical condition in Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth Thursday, it was reported by hospital attendants.

It was reported that she rested better Wednesday night and that there was a slight improvement over the day before when she was placed under oxygen and underwent surgery.

She was injured on February 24 in an automobile accident near Breckenridge.

Proper Disposal Of Refuse Called 'Most Important'

AUSTIN, March 4. — At this time of the year Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, asks, "What will you have — flies, rats, diseased hogs, stench, smoke, unsightly messes dotting the landscape, polluted streams, or fewer flies and rats, cleaner air, less disease, unblemished landscapes, cleaner streams and reclaimed land? You can take your choice and the best will prove to be the most economical."

Safe, sanitary and economical disposal of refuse is a serious public health problem in most communities in Texas. Poor methods of refuse disposal increase the potential spread of disease by flies and rats that thrive in such insanitary conditions. Indiscriminate dumping of refuse along highways and streams is a filthy habit, mars call for making the camp one of the most attractive in the nation.

Foul smoke from burning open dumps is unpleasant to everyone. The sanitary landfill method of refuse disposal is practical and within financial reach of most communities, even those in rural areas. A regular collecting system, designated dumping areas obtained by the city or county court with small landfill equipment moved about by trucks in coordination with the collecting system can solve this serious health problem.

The Texas State Department of Health will be glad to consult with any community regarding this basic sanitation problem. When all refuse is properly collected and disposed of, Texas will have better health and a more enjoyable environment in which to work and play.

Warmer Weather Is Predicted Here

Rain or snow showers and warmer temperatures were in prospect tonight and Friday for this West Central Texas region the weather forecasters reported at noon Thursday. Approximately an inch of snow fell during the morning, and this was expected to leave about two-tenths of an inch of moisture.

Temperatures were in the low 40s at noon. The thermometer dropped to 32 degrees Wednesday night, four degrees higher than Tuesday night's 28 degrees.

Some damage was suffered by blooming fruit trees, it was believed, although the extent of the damage was not expected to be known for several days. Forecasts had called for considerably lower temperatures.

Preparation of land for spring planting has moved rather slowly in most Texas areas due to the shortage of moisture.

The Texas weekly crop bulletin, issued this week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, noted that the dry weather situation was general in Texas. In the northwest, dust storms raged in varying degrees of intensity last week. Erosion during the last ten days of February was severe, even though farmers chiseled fields to retard soil movement. Sand drifts were piled to fence tops in places and the entire northwest was covered with a "flour-fine" dust.

Wheat prospects, particularly on the high plains, took an additional beating as some spots were completely blown out; other areas were covered or partially covered with drifting sand and fine dust, and a soaking rain was urgently needed to check further deterioration. Some corn went into the ground in central counties but active planting will be delayed until sufficient moisture to assure germination becomes available. In the coastal bend sorghum planting was active as enough moisture was available to get the crop started, but rain will be needed soon to keep it coming along.

Cotton planting in the lower valley was well along but survival of dry-land acreage was uncertain. Only a limited cotton acreage in southern counties outside of the valley has been planted. South Texas flax came through the winter in very good condition but is in the critical stage and needs moisture. Frost on March 1 caught peach, plum and pears with buds swelling or in bloom over a large part of the State.

Native range grass and small grain pastures over the entire State collected a coating of unpalatable dust which settled from the recurring sand storms. Soaking rain was urgently needed in all areas to wash dust off and in the west to bring along new feed. Heavy supplemental feeding of hay and concentrates continues in the west. In eastern counties, and particularly the northeast where showers fell a week ago, clovers, rescue grass and small grains were supplying very good feed. Movement of lambs off the dry, eaten out plateau ranges and small grain pastures continued heavy. Goat shearing was starting in southern plateau counties.

V. F. W. To Install Officers Friday

Officers for the coming year will be installed at the regular meeting of the V.F.W. to be held at the hall Friday night.

Stanley McCracken will be installed as commander and C. J. Maples, senior vice-commander. Other officers to be installed are Mac Bean, junior vice-commander; Bill Searlett, quartermaster; Holland Nix, adjutant and Robert H. Donovan, chaplain.

All members were urged to attend.

FOREIGN TRADE IS IMPORTANT

To many Americans, foreign trade and the factors involved in it — tariffs, quotas, the need for a merchant marine, currency controls and all the rest — seems far removed from their own spheres of interest. This, of course, is especially true of people living in the landlocked interior states.

Yet there is plenty of evidence to show that foreign trade, in one fashion or another, is of direct importance to almost all of us. A particularly interesting and convincing example of this is provided by an article in the February issue of Harper's Magazine, written by Carroll Kilpatrick. It is based upon a unique investigation, made by experts from the Library of Congress Legislative Reference Service at the request of Representative Merrill of Indiana — a state which is far from any sea. Congressman Merrill wanted to know exactly what foreign trade meant to his constituency, which is the Eighth District of Indiana, by Evansville the principal city.

The study, according to Mr. Kilpatrick, shows clearly that if a high tariff wall was erected around the United States . . . there would be immediate unemployment on the farms and in the factories of the Eighth District . . . In fact, a severe depression could easily follow. Here, in part, is why.

First, agriculture accounts for close to a fifth of the District's population, and most of the farm commodities produced there are important export commodities — corn, soybeans, tobacco, dairy products, etc. For instance, about a third of our wheat goes abroad, and a quarter of our soybean and tobacco crops. So do substantial proportions of our dairy products, in the form of cheese, and dried and condensed milk. Thus, all or virtually all of the District's farmers, farm labor, and their families, have some stake in foreign trade.

Second, manufacturing is the District's biggest activity money-wise. The value of its factory products was $250,000,000 in 1947, when the last Census of Manufacturers was taken, and it must have been much higher in more recent years. In 1950, just under 40,000 people were employed in the factories. The biggest employer is the refrigerator industry, of which Evansville is the world center. Thirteen per cent of all the refrigerators produced in the country in 1952 were exported, and so was a part of every type of refrigeration equipment made.

Evansville also has a sizable concern making specialized food products — and 10 per cent of these go abroad. Farm machinery is made there — 12 per cent is exported. Several thousand workers are employed in auto assembly plants — and five per cent of our cars are sold in foreign countries. A chemical company reported that, while it did little export business, it depended on imports for various oils and other raw materials.

The experts also found that, "Such establishments as railway companies, motor transport concerns, warehouses, banks, and insurance companies all profit from foreign trade." It stated that expansion of this trade would result in "increased development and economic growth for the Eighth District." It looks as if people who live far inland have as much interest in a sound foreign trade as do those who live on the actual sea frontiers.

New Lawn Grass Result of Long Scientific Search

Supt. Joseph Valentine of Merion Golf Club, Ardmore, Pa., points to place on 17th tee where he discovered Merion Blue Grass growing.

A search planned on scientific lines by the United States Golf Association Green section, led to the discovery and development of Merion bluegrass, which many turf authorities say is a valuable improvement over standard Kentucky bluegrass.

The search began in 1936, when golf club superintendents throughout the country were asked to look over their fairways and send to the Arlington experiment station samples of grass patches which seemed to be superior to the grass surrounding them.

Supt. Joseph Valentine of Merion Golf Club, Ardmore, Pa., had observed such a patch on the 17th tee of his club. A sample of this was one of a hundred which were planted first at Arlington, then moved to Beltsville, Md., to make way for the Pentagon building.

War interrupted the testing of these samples until 1945, when Dr. Fred Grau, then head of the U. S. G. A. green section, revived it. Merion then known as E. 27, was selected as the best, and in 1947 seed was distributed for a widespread testing program in 14 states and Canada.

Christened Merion bluegrass, after the club where it was found, the new grass was pronounced in 1950 to be "superior to ordinary commercial bluegrass in the following characteristics: 1—Resistance to leaf-spot; 2—Lower growth habits (tolerates closer mowing than common bluegrass); 3—Rate of spread; 4—Vigor of rhizomes; 5—Turf quality and appearance; 6—Resistance to weed invasion;

7—Heat and drought tolerance." Scientists say the basis of Merion's good performance lies in its vigor of growth and resistance to the leaf spot disease, by which Kentucky bluegrass is often weakened in the spring. Merion throws off this disease and develops roots which go much deeper. It also grows more and longer rhizomes — underground stems, which spread widely and come up to produce new top growth, increase the leaf count and crowd out weeds.

How Merion originated is a mystery. It is believed it began with a single seed which took root on the golf club tee. When the secret of its origin is disclosed, if ever, new methods of improving grasses for use in lawns, fairways and playing fields may result.

Seed of Merion bluegrass has been grown from the original samples distributed by the U. S. G. A. green section, in Oregon and Washington. Seed is planted in rows which can be cultivated to keep out weeds. Some fields are irrigated, others not. The supply is increasing rapidly and will soon be available to lawnmakers throughout the area in which bluegrass can be grown.

Prof. H. B. Musser of Pennsylvania State University, a leader in turf research, told a meeting of the Atlantic Seedsman's Association last December: "As practical experience and critical records on this grass multiply, they continue to supply strong evidence that the Merion strain of Kentucky bluegrass is a definite improvement over the common type."

Feed Lawn in Spring as Deep Frost Leaves Soil

When frost comes out of the ground in the early spring, one of the first garden tasks should be to feed the lawn. There is a stage in the thawing process when the shrinking soil is perforated with small holes, which go deep into the ground, producing an effect often compared to a honeycomb. Plant food applied directly to the root area of these plants. Trees and shrubs also may be fed with the main plant food application of the season.

Commercial plant foods have an effect on plant growth when soil temperatures are still low; organic materials such as manure, sludge, and the like, must first be broken down by bacteria which do not become active until the soil warms up.

Seed to repair thin or bare spaces in the lawn can be sown on honeycomb soil, and will find cover without the need dressing which would be needed later. The making of new lawns should wait until the soil dries out sufficiently to be worked.

Alternate freezing and thawing in the spring shrinks and expands the soil, creating a heaving action which may push lawn turf upwards out of contact with the ground beneath it. If this is not corrected the sod may dry out and die. The remedy is to roll the lawn with a light roller, just heavy enough to prevent the sod back in contact with the soil. Do not attempt this while the sod is wet, but wait until it has dried out sufficiently.

Rolling with too heavy a roller or while the soil is wet may compact it so that the free entry of air and water is prevented. Grass roots cannot function without either. Notice how vigorously grass will grow in the flower border, where there is not wanted while you may have a difficult time to persuade it to cover a bare spot in the lawn. Excessive compaction of the latter is likely to be the reason.

Rolling should not be used to make the lawn level. The right way to reduce a high spot is to take up the sod, remove excess soil, rake level and replace the sod. A low spot should be filled in with soil applied beneath the sod, which is first lifted, then replaced.

Loosening of lawns to loosen the soil and allow air and water to reach the roots requires special tools. Everything should be done by the home owner to avoid need for them.

FILLING FINE—Donning a creation like this lovely white satin gown calls for altitude and pretty Megan Saxty got that with the help of a chair. Stiffened so that it will stand up without feminine support, the dress posed a problem in London, England. Megan finally decided to climb into the gown from above, but how she got back out of it is another matter.

FUN FOR ALL—Parisians put aside their famous bicycles and ignore the ice-bound rowboats to take advantage of the rare opportunity to skate on the frozen surface of a lake in the Bois de Boulogne. The cold wave, which has nipped most of western Europe, provided ice skating for the first time in several years.

OFF TO MARKET—When the Thames River froze over, shopping for the week's groceries proved something more of a problem than usual for one family in Staines, Middlesex, England. Their only approach to the nearest market was across the river, so something had to be done about that ice. Armed with poles and a heavy sledge hammer, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Minett and daughter Leander set their rowboat on the ice and chopped their way over.

THAT'S HIS MOMMY!—But just why mommy is in that box, 14-month-old Timothy Weston can't figure out. The lad is the son of singer Jo Stafford and bandleader Paul Weston and, in his Hollywood home, he was seeing his mama for the first time on television. Hers was one face that really caught Timothy's attention.

WELL REARED—Attending obedience trials at Pinehurst, N. C., to prove they've had good training despite their youth, these pups bring up the rear of the auto that took them to and from the three-day event. Mrs. Jane Thompson, of Detroit, Mich., is keeping the pups from getting too lonely for human company as they await their turn to show off.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A strong proposal is before the tax-writing committee of the Congress to increase the personal exemption on income taxes from 600 to 700 dollars. Thus far, the majority of the committee have turned it down. Such an increase is estimated to lower Federal income by approximately two billion dollars.

As a matter fact, an increase in the personal exemption would mean more to those with modest incomes than any reduction in the rate which could be passed in the Congress. The amount saved, those with lower incomes would increase the purchasing power of the nation, and certainly this would be good for business.

Also, a motion was made in the Ways and Means Committee, which handles the tax laws, to put a ceiling of 10 percent on all excise taxes. The Committee Chairman ruled the amendment to be out of order. There will be proposals for adjustment of excise taxes, but it remains to be seen what they will be.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell has endorsed a compulsory FEPC. Mr. Mitchell testified in favor of an FEPC measure introduced by Senator Hubert Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota, and Senator Irving Lves, Republican of New York. A bill of this kind raises its ugly head every once in a while, but I must say it is very disappointing that it is backed by the Secretary of Labor and to assume that it has the Administration's blessings. As I recall during his campaign President Eisenhower said he favored a "voluntary" Fair Employment Practices Act.

Republican Senators Williams of Delaware and Aiken of Vermont have introduced legislation to cut oil and gas depletion allowances from 27½ percent to 15 percent. The committee of the House of Representatives handling these matters has left it alone, but a fight may be made to lower the allowance when the tax bill reaches the Senate.

Many people not familiar with the oil and gas industry, which includes many Members of Congress, simply do not understand how vital the 27½ per cent depletion allowance is to the industry. It is the only thing which has kept the small independent producer in business, and he is responsible for about 85 percent of all oil discoveries.

There are a lot of people in the North and East, and in Washington in official positions, who think that the oil man only has to go out and drill a hole in Texas to be guaranteed oil and riches.

On Tuesday of last week my colleague Congressman George Mahon introduced an amendment to a supplemental appropriation bill providing for a 30-million-dollar loan increase for the Farmers Home Administration. The amendment was defeated. This means that the lending power of the FHA may be rather tight.

Like all other things, there may be some mistakes in individual cases, but, all in all, the FHA has done one of the finest jobs of any governmental program in existence. It has saved a lot of farmers from ruin and has put them back on the road to successful operations without cost to the tax-payer. The over-all record of this agency is one of great accomplishment.

Loose talk and irresponsible statements are very old products in Washington, but in the midst of it I am often reminded of the old saying — "As hard as it is to say something, it's often harder to say nothing."

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

One of the most familiar types of contracts is the insurance policy, as nearly everyone carries some sort of insurance protection. Yet, few people take the trouble to read their policies and lawyers have to answer many questions regarding insurance generally.

Here is a problem frequently presented: "I have a hospitalization insurance policy. Will the company pay all my hospital bills if I become ill?"

It may or may not. Insurance is a contract between the insurance company and the policy holder. In the usual contract the policy holder agrees to pay a certain sum of money for the policy of insurance, and the insurance company agrees that should the policy holder incur hospital expenses that the insurance company will make payment to the policy holder of stated sums, as set out in the policy of insurance.

The insurance policy itself must state the complete contract between the parties. The oral statements of agents not in harmony with the policy are not binding on the company. The company is bound to pay only such sums as are specifically set forth in the policy of insurance. Practically all policies have a section called exceptions and exclusions. The policy holder should particularly read this section before purchasing a policy of any kind of insurance. It would be possible for a policy of insurance to have so many exceptions and exclusions as to practically nullify any benefits under the policy.

Another question often asked is: "Can I sue the insurance company which issued a liability policy covering the car of someone who runs into and damages my car?"

For all practical purposes you may not sue the insurance company which carries insurance on the other fellow's car to protect him from suits in case of his negligence. You must look to the owner or driver of the other vehicle for your damages. Upon his becoming liable to pay those damages to you, then he in turn looks to the insurance company to make the settlement for him, or to reimburse him for the settlement which he has made.

If the case goes to trial before the jury, even though you may know that the other party carries insurance, if there arises any discussion of the fact that insurance is carried by the other party, then the courts have held that it is the duty of the trial judge to declare a mistrial.

This means that you will have to start all over again and try your case from the beginning before the jury, at a later date. Your case is not dismissed, and you do not lose your rights to be heard on your case because of the word "insurance" coming into the case, but it does mean that the trial then in progress must be dismissed and you must start all over again before a new and different jury.

The theory of the appellate courts is that the mere introduction of any evidence or any testimony to the effect that there is an insurance company involved in any way in the case, is highly prejudicial to the Defendant and his cause of action.

The appellate courts further say that it is reversible error, that is, such error as will set aside the finding of the jury, if the jury in retiring to consider their verdict discuss whether or not either or both of the parties might or might not have insurance to back them up or protect them.

Look at it This Way —

... if the seller convinces the buyer that he has good title and no abstract is necessary then the buyer is entitled to a reduction in the sale's price for a sum equal to the abstract's cost. For the abstract is considered by property owners everywhere as being as much a part of the assets of sale as are the land and improvements. Better take the abstract. No real estate transaction is complete without it.

HAPPY CITIZEN—After flying to Austria two years ago to adopt a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Revits have been waiting for little Nina to become a citizen of the U. S. At a ceremony in Brooklyn, the tot was naturalized with 50 other children, most of whom were also adopted in Europe. Nina's only 3½, but she seems to understand what an important event this is in her young life.

SEEN IN IRELAND — A brilliant "red flannel petticoat" evening coat with no sleeves and quilted pattern was one of the highlights of Sybil Connolly's spring showing in Dublin. It was teamed with a white terylene short evening gown. Designers in Dublin are giving Paris and Rome a run for their money nowadays.
