Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

If he doesn't marry, he's a "bachelor" - glamorous word. If she doesn't marry she's an "old maid."

When it's his night out, he's "out with the boys." When it's her night out she's at a "hen party."

What he hears at the office is "news." What she hears at the bridge party is "gossip."

If he runs the family he is "head of the house." If she runs it she "wears the pants in that family."

If he is overly-solicitous of her he is a "devoted husband." If she is overly-solicitous of him he is "henpecked."

If he keeps an eye on her at a party he is an "attentive husband." If she sticks close to him she is a "possive wife."

In middle-age he is "in the prime of life" or "at the peak of his career." At the same time and age she's "no spring chicken."

If he is an easy spender he "does not deny his family anything." If she does not count the pennies she's "extravagant" or a "poor manager."

If he hasn't any small talk he's "the quiet type." If she hasn't any she is "mousy."

Ain't it the truth?

The entire nation has been repelled by the brutal murders of at least 27 young boys in Houston. It has replaced Watergate in the national news. What a tragedy for the families of the murdered children and what a black mark for the state. It leads one to wonder if our liberal penal laws might have spawned the crimes.

It appears the main culprit has been murdered by one of his helpers, but what of the two helpers? Already one defense lawyer is asking for a psychiatric hearing for his client, and has complained that other prisoners in the jail where he is being held have used abusive language to the young animal.

No doubt crimes of this magnitude are carried out by those of unsound mind, but a stint in a mental institution for those of this ilk usually result in eventual release and then it's more of the same. A term of "life imprisonment" does not mean a murderer will be put away for his lifetime. Not in the State of Texas. With our liberal penal laws and so called "good behavior," he can be paroled and let loose on society within a few years.

Individuals who have committed crimes this heinous are beyond rehabilitation and beyond redemption. The death penalty should be reinstated and applied. Perhaps it does not deter crime, but it assures that those who receive this punishment will never prey on society again.

Bryan Montgomery Is Familiar Face

If you saw a familiar face around Ozona last week and thought you had seen it on T-V recently, you weren't being affected by the heat, you were seeing Bryan Montgomery, who belongs in Ozona as much as on television. He is at home both places and a very busy young man between times. Bryan flew home from Los Angeles last week to spend a week's vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Montgomery.

Young Montgomery, 27, is a man of many talents. Between reading for parts and commercials on television, he has the full-time job of owning and operating his own restaurant, the Razzle Dazzle on Wilshire Blvd. in L. A.

Bryan doesn't advise "heading to Hollywood" for youngsters. After receiving his B. A. degree in English at T.C. U. in Fort Worth, he spent a year in Dallas attending

Law School at S.M.U. It was here that he first became interested in television and acting. Realizing that there was only a limited field in Dallas, Bryan headed west and to Hollywood.

"The going was rough at first" Bryan doesn't mind admitting. He had a job delivering pizza for three months while learning the actor's trade at Actors' Workshop which he attended three nights a week, five hours at a time. "I never liked pizza, and now I hate it," Bryan says while reminiscing about his first days in the celebrity capital of the world. He also worked as a waiter, house-painter, etc.

He tells about reading for 20th Century Fox the second week he was in town. He actually got a role in a pilot film but it didn't sell, so his good luck was short lived. It was back on the pizza route and making the rounds for assignments picked up by his agent. Learning at the workshop and voice lessons to do away with his West Texas drawl did much for Montgomery. He read for a new series "Cat Ballou," and got the lead. The first time before the cameras he was "scared to death," to use his words. He felt he "wasn't ready."

The series did not sell, but the pilot was viewed on national television and Bryan reaped the benefits. He was finally off and running. He did parts on The F.B.I., "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law," and "Ironside," besides many commercials.

Meanwhile Bryan opened his restaurant, the Razzle Dazzle. Before opening, he completely decorated the building inside and out on his own and using his own ingenuity. He built the booths, tables, etc. He even designed his own menu. Come opening night, he found himself also the cook. His chef had received a $200 advance on his salary and just failed to show up.

Bryan's parents and sister, Mrs. Jeff Kearney of Dallas, flew out for the opening. As they drove up to the restaurant in the airport limousine, they expected a fully-dressed in the latest dinner attire Bryan to be greeting guests at the door. Instead they found him hard at work in the kitchen cooking beef stroganoff, chicken liver, halibut Florentine and Texas pecan pie. Instead of crying over spilled milk, they pitched in and helped. Father, Beecher, and mother Dorothy, were not strangers in the kitchen, having cooked big meals at the ranch for the help during round-up times.

Mrs. Kearney (Vicki Lynn) was also a good cook. Being the shortest one on the family, she had a little trouble reaching the menu. Come opening night,

In other business, Ozona Electric Co. was awarded the contract to install lighting at the new tennis courts, having the low bid of $1,090.

The court agreed to pay one-half the cost of a building to be used by 4-H and FFA members for a pig feeding facility. The school system will pay the other half of the estimated cost of $4,000. It will be constructed near the lamb feeding barn at the fairgrounds.

An expenditure of $200 was authorized to purchase more chairs for the Fire Department, due to increase in membership.

The Civic Center board reported on activities for the past two months and notified the Court that Garland Young had been retained on a permanent basis as Civic Center and Youth Center director. The court authorized the cost of two new fire extinguishers for the building.

The Court directed County Judge Troy Williams to ask for another 90-day extension from the State Highway Department on the removal of the county barn from the right of way of IH 10. The request was necessary due to delay in completion of the new county facility presently under construction by Spencer Welding Co. on county land north of Ozona. Spencer has given the court a completion date of Sept. 1.

The Court is also taking bids for the removal of the Little League Park to another location.

County Road Superintendent Jack Gillet reported that he is unable to get delivery on asphalt. Out of a purchase of 75,000 gallons, only 20,000 gallons have been delivered. This is an off shoot of the energy crisis, but is holding up paving projects in the county and city. The Court agreed to look into the matter.

The Court agreed to call for bids on a new wench truck for the County Road Department, and raised the salaries of all county road employees $25 per month, effective August 1.

Commissioner Jack Williams reported that new air-conditioning equipment has been installed at the hospital and is working effectively.

Mrs. Graham

Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, recently charged her newspaper was threatened by a Deputy Attorney General when it published the Pentagon papers. She was told, she related, that a newspaper guilty of criminal actions certainly could not own television stations.

The Post, of course, along with the New York Times, was not found guilty of criminal action in printing the stolen secret papers. Rather, with the tremendous power of the press, and many powerful figures backing it, it emerged from the questionable affair in a hero role, winning a Pulitzer Prize in the process.

Despite this, a large percentage of the American people have misgivings about newspapers printing stolen government secrets; they also often have misgivings about the growth of newspaper chains and the practice of newspapers owning television stations. The Post owns three of them.

The power of the giants in the press and television today is so great one suspects the Post could do more if it were out to "get" the President than vice versa. And the Post's reporting on the Watergate scandal seems to leave much to be desired. So it is a bit difficult to feel concerned for the powerful, aggressive, Post-Newsweek, television combine.

Ivan

Hedrick Smith, reporting from Moscow in the New York Times, says the recent trip of Leonid Brezhnev to the United States has stirred a desire among many Russians to visit this country.

He believes the visit, and improved Soviet-American relations, has convinced many Russians there will be no war in their lifetime, and that this might pave the way for a new chapter in Russo-American relations.

Two major goals of United States policy, however, remain thwarted even in the aftermath of the Brezhnev visit. President Nixon apparently was not able to pry from his Soviet guest in June concessions concerning a freer flow of American publications in Russia, nor a more liberal Russian policy to enable more Russians to visit the United States.

Smith and other reporters in Russia say travel restrictions have not been relaxed, and it remains almost impossible for the average Russian to visit this country. Also, American newspapers, magazines and other publications remain barred from Russian newsstands. No significant progress has been made along these lines in the recent Russo-American thaw. Until progress has been won in these fields, the danger of Russian expansion remains, even though the present regime is inclined to peaceful coexistence.

Social Security Curb

Under the Social Security program now in force, recipients are allowed to earn $2,000 in salary ($2,400 as of January 1st); if more is earned, for every two dollars earned one dollar is deducted from one's Social Security check.

Recipients can receive unlimited monies from dividends, interest, etc.—so that the elderly who wish to work or feel they must work are, in effect penalized. Nothing could be less fair, nor less desirable.

In two days of hearings recently before the Senate Special Committee On Aging, argument was heard on both sides of this question. The argument to retain the present system is based on the theory that Social Security is essentially insurance against a loss of earnings; it is also argued that only a relatively small percentage of recipients would benefit if the system is changed.

Neither argument is impressive. Since recipients have usually contributed for years to Social Security, to reduce these payments because they have the industry or ambition to continue to work is contrary to the American tradition and work ethic; they are entitled to their Social Security payment as they would be to a pension, and all the more so if more fortunate citizens owning stocks and bonds are to be allowed to earn unlimited amounts therefrom.

Second, the fact that only a small number would benefit from the proposed reform has nothing to do with the principle involved. If only one recipient were affected, the case for reform remains sound—and Congress should enact that reform.

Dog Days

Dog days usually begin in July and can last until September, especially in the South, so August is usually the month with the most dog days.

History shows that people living in more southerly latitudes sometimes lack the industry of people from more northerly climes, and therefore dog days logically have a slow-down effect on many. They are often sultry, humid and extremely warm. If one can find no other excuse to escape work, the existence of dog days is a good one, this month.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

BY BILL BOYKIN
Texas Press Association

The biggest oil and gas lease sale on Texas public lands in a quarter century is scheduled October 2.

Land Commissioner Robert L. Armstrong said 1,348,610 acres in 1,712 tracts will be offered for lease consideration.

Most of the state tracts are submerged acreage in the Gulf of Mexico. Nine hundred and 40 Gulf tracts totalling 998,610 acres have been nominated, plus 563 tracts in Texas bays and inlets including 267,678 acres.

Oil and gas firms and individual bidders offer bonus payments via sealed bids on leasing of the state-owned tracts for a period of five years to explore and develop minerals. Armstrong said a record high interest is indicated in potential oil and gas production on state lands.

"This will be the largest sale in more than 25 years," said Armstrong.

A sale involving nearly one million acres of land in 1965 brought more than $39 million in bonus payments to the permanent school fund.

Armstrong said the current sale is doubly significant because leases will enable the state to take its one-sixth royalty payment in gas or oil instead of cash.

A court case is now pending to determine if this can be done on existing leases. The "in-kind" provision, specifically allowing the state to take oil and gas as well as cash, will be written into the October bid propositions.

Armstrong said this will permit the state to offer cities the option of buying some of their natural gas directly from the state at fair market value.

POLLUTION STANDARDS WEIGHED -- Differing state and federal penalties for water pollution control violations have stalled designation of Texas Water Quality Board as the agency to issue federal waste discharge permits in the state.

The federal government will study further authorizing the Board to issue "national pollution discharge elimination system" waste discharge permits under 1972 water quality amendments.

State penalties which apply to both municipalities and industries set a maximum of $1,000 per violation daily. Federal penalties call for a maximum of $25,000 a day per violation. TWQB Executive Director Hugh Yantis said the requirement that states have authority to impose $25,000 daily fines was received after the 63rd Legislature adjourned, and he did not feel a special session was in order on the question.

Yantis argued that the Texas penalties do represent a substantial deterrent. He said it is "inconceivable that approval will not be given eventually to our state program." Yantis noted a $125,000 fine levied against

Armco Steel was "possibly the largest ever collected under any state water pollution law." SINGLE-MEMBER LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS PUSHED First legal move in an effort to have eight more counties divided into single-member legislative districts was launched last week.

David Richards, Austin attorney retained by the State AFL-CIO, seeks authority for 10 individuals to intervene in a Tarrant County House redistricting case.

If the motion is approved by the three-judge federal court, judges will be asked to split Travis, Lubbock, McLennan, Jefferson, Nueces, El Paso, Hidalgo and Galveston into single-member House districts. Each of the counties now has two or more representatives elected county-wide. Richards claims this "unconstitutionally dilutes voting strength of racial and political elements."

DECEPTIVE PRACTICES AILED -- State Insurance Board will follow a practice of publicizing names of insurance companies and individuals cited for unfair competition and unfair or deceptive practices.

Board Chairman Joe Christie, meanwhile, announced eight cease and desist orders issued against firms or individuals in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene, Austin, Denton and Atlanta, Ga. for misleading advertisements or sales presentations.

The Board also announced plans to hire a consultant to examine its operations and help make them more effective and efficient. It plans to issue guidelines next month on establishment of Health Maintenance Organizations which provide medical service coverage at fixed fees. DESEGREGATION GRANTS APPROVED -- More than $13.1 million in federal grants have been approved to aid 54 Texas school districts support special programs to advance classroom desegregation this school year.

Texas grants will go to 31 basic education projects, 18 bilingual programs, nine compensatory programs, three special reading projects and two metropolitan area programs to help reduce minority isolation in large cities which have more than one school district.

LETTERS To The Editor:

Dear Mrs. Montgomery: Last week, my wife and I had the pleasure of visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clayton during the Lions Club sponsored Ozona Junior Rodeo. We have two teenagers that participated in the rodeo and they also participated in the Fort Stockton and Big Lake rodeos. Without a doubt, we found that Ozona was the friendliest community that we have had the opportunity to visit in a long time. We were impressed not only with the friendliness of the people but the cleanliness of the town and surrounding areas.

I think the Lions Club should be congratulated on the manner in which they conducted the rodeo, and I know much work and effort were put into the show. It is easy to see and understand why your motto is "Out in the West, where the air is pure, the climate agreeable, and the people friendly--the best place on earth to call home."

I would like to express our appreciation on behalf of all my family for the courtesies extended as while we were in Ozona.

Sincerely,
Don H. Carpenter
Durante, Okla.

Dear Kitty,
I would like to tell the people of Ozona how wonderful they are.

Cards, flowers, phone calls, etc. mean so much when you are away from home.

Ozonans are all heart.

Love,
Mary Deaton

Mrs. Deaton had surgery at Scott and White Hospital recently and is an out patient staying at Ponderosa Motel, Temple, Texas, for those who care to write.

-Ed.

Dear Mrs. Montgomery: I always read, with interest, your column and regret that the last one recounted an unpleasant episode for you. It was inexcusable.

But believe me, we encounter so much rude and unnecessary treatment now, wherever we go. Often even when we are invited. I do not know as to "why." Sometimes it frightens me.

I enjoy more and more my humble home.

Senator Tower Reports

SENATOR JOHN TOWER'S WEEKLY REPORT TO TEXANS

Recent disclosures in and around the Washington area of precise grand jury proceedings have shocked me and many other Americans. There still should be great confidence and respect in this country for the grand jury as a significant institution imbedded in the finest traditions of English common law and American jurisprudence.

Improper disclosures, such as the verbatim publishing of grand jury testimony in one of our leading newspapers and by a widely circulated syndicated column are extremely detrimental to the attainment of swift, certain and impartial justice. This practice cannot be justified under any circumstances.

For this reason, I have just introduced a bill in the Senate to make it a felony to violate the rule of secrecy before such panels. Under existing law, improper disclosures of grand jury proceedings may only be punishable as contempt of court. My bill would not affect the power of the court to punish for contempt, but would in addition provide that such unauthorized leaks of grand jury matters could be prosecuted as any other law violation.

I'm sure that the contempt procedure when utilized can be effective in restricting such unauthorized disclosures. However, it seems clear to me that an additional criminal remedy which the prosecuted can utilize is needed to promote and safeguard the true aims of the grand jury.

The independence of the grand jury and the secrecy of its proceedings has served as a basic foundation of our legal system since 1681. Since that famous trial of the Earl of Shaftesbury in England, the secrecy of the proceedings has allowed the grand jury to operate an independent body subservient to no other governmental institution.

The rationale for grand jury secrecy has been stated in a variety of ways. Basically, it is designed to prevent escape of those whose indictment may be contemplated... to insure utmost freedom to a grand jury in its deliberations, and to prevent importuning of grand jurors... to prevent subornation of perjury or tampering with witnesses... to encourage free, untrammelled and candid disclosures by persons who have information with respect to alleged criminal activities... and to protect the rights of the accused.

In recent years, there has been a trend in favor of limited disclosure of material relating to grand jury proceedings. Such limited disclosure, however, is only available to a defendant upon a showing that the information is essential to his defense at trial.

These disclosures must be authorized by the court, and therefore have no bearing on relationship to the situation with which I am now concerned. Furthermore, my proposed legislation protects the right of limited disclosure contained in the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure by specifically listing those instances where disclosure is authorized.

Present rules authorize disclosure of information upon a showing by the defendant that grounds may exist for a dismissal because of matters occurring before a grand jury. This is a proper procedure, but the types of unauthorized disclosures we have seen in recent months -- particularly regarding the Watergate investigation -- is not only injurious to the rights of the accused, but also to those questioned by a grand jury but never indicted. It also restricts the ability of the grand jury and the various law enforcement agencies to function in accordance with its prescribed legal duties.

Due process of law becomes impossible to ensure if there exists the possibility that a witness' secret testimony today will be front page news tomorrow.

There are those in our society who would rather indict and convict not in a court of law, but rather through a systematic policy of guilt by innuendo cloaked behind an aura of sensationalism. In this regard they are acting as irresponsibly as those who eventually may be found guilty of the wrongdoing which they now condemn. As soon as one criticizes such jingoistic policies, however, these individuals raise the specter that their first amendment rights are being trampled upon. It should be recalled that the Founding Fathers wrote the First Amendment to protect the basic rights of all Americans, and not as a shield to use by those who have violated some of our basic principles of due process and fair play.

I am hopeful that the Senate will give this legislation serious consideration. It does not affect any existing substantive or procedural statute. It is solely intended to stop the unauthorized leaks of grand jury deliberations that has had the effect at times of making the whole proceeding look as if it was a farce.

The enactment of the criminal measure which the bill proposes will permit investigation by federal law enforcement officers to determine the source of the unauthorized disclosures. It will serve to emphasize the seriousness of the effect of such disclosures on grand jury proceedings and therefore hopefully act as a deterrent against future unauthorized actions of this nature.

Miss Clegg and Mr. Hill Are Wed In Sat. Ceremony

Miss Carolyn Chris Clegg became the bride of Mr. Bruce Randall Hill Saturday evening, August 11, at 8:30 p.m. in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. Clyde Childers, former pastor of Ozona First Baptist Church and presently Vice President of Development at Hardin-Simmons University, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Clegg. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carson and Mr. Tom Clegg. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O. Hill of Lubbock.

Mrs. Buddy Baldrige, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Susan Hill, sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor. Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Steve Limbaugh, and Miss Brenda Anderson of Lubbock were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Miss Julie Carson and ring bearer was Mr. Cody Sutton.

Masters Ira and Clay Childers rolled out the white carpet. Best man was Mr. Bennie Pope of Abilene. Groomsmen were Jimmy Hill of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, Steve Smith of Lubbock, Luther Bailey of Lubbock and Ronald Ferguson of Clyde, cousin of the bridegroom.

Nuptial music was furnished by Fred Baker at the piano, and soloist was Tommy Sanders of Wall.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pure white, mist organza, fashioned with an empire bodice of Cluny lace. The long, full sleeves of organza were deeply cuffed in lace. The neckline was high and banded with lace decorated with a cameo pin. The skirt repeated the Cluny lace down the entire front with a double banding circling the hemline.

Her head dress was made of a lace bonnet from which a mantilla of imported re-embroidered Alencon lace fell the length of the chapel length train. The veil is a treasured family heirloom.

She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and baby's breath centered with a white orchid.

White caladiums, palms and white tapers decorated the altar. Planter boxes containing hurricane lamps, caladiums, and glads decorated the aisle.

The bride's attendants wore identical dresses of lemon yellow and white voile print with a scooped neckline banded in white and long, full sleeves. They carried umbrellas of yellow voile to match the gowns. The handles were covered with yellow and peach colored carnations.

A reception followed the wedding in the garden. Three round tables laid with white cloths were used for serving.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. James Childers, Mrs. Bill Carson, Mrs. Boyd Baker, Mrs. Carl Appel, Mrs. Alice Baker, Mrs. Bill Carson, Jr., Mrs. Pleas Childers, Mrs. Dixon Mahon, Miss Peggy Hagelstein, Mrs. C. Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

For mid-summer, the weather has been so very pleasant since the good rain, and the rest from watering day and night was most welcome. Trees, shrubs and other plants have all taken on new fresh growth after the deep moisture received. Keep all watered, if no rain soon, so that the foliage will mature properly. The new seed and nursery catalogues are arriving, so start your planning to help you choose bulbs, seed, roses, trees and shrubs.

Keep feeding chrysanthemums, about every ten days until color shows, also give plenty of moisture.

Annuals as well as perennials benefit from pruning now to remove all faded or long branches with no buds. Sometimes these will flower again in early autumn, (petunias, snapdragons and marigolds).

Roses given a light pruning in August will produce beautiful fall roses. Plan to feed your roses the last of this month or early next month.

For late fall and winter geraniums bloom indoors, start cuttings now. Healthy cuttings taken at this time will grow and mature into blooming size plants to enjoy during the winter.

Perhaps you have noticed how the crepe myrtle likes summer heat. The heat seems only to stimulate this popular plant to better flower production. They are easy to grow and have few insects or disease problems. Give them sun, good drainage, moderate water, and reasonably good soil and they present a colorful spot. Heavy pruning after they are dormant in the fall will result in large flower clusters, but fewer in number. Plan now to put one or more in your landscape for next year.

Platform Shoes - The Fashionable Accident

Texas Safety Assn.

The rising popularity of platform soled shoes has created a serious accident hazard at work and on the highways, according to Lloyd Palmer, general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

Clogs and platform shoes have resulted in a dramatic upswing in the number of women injured in falls, Palmer said.

New York designer Laura Tosato agrees: "With the speed of life what it is today, clogs are dangerous because they don't hang on."

Palmer explained that foot specialists are warning that the girl in platform shoes runs a much increased risk of a twisted ankle.

One leading orthopedic surgeon in Texas noted that most platform shoes are not as dangerous as the "spike heels" of the 1950's because they have a broader base of support.

He was quick to add however, that stability and sensitivity are diminished by platform shoes and clogs--indicators that the shoes can contribute to falls.

"The higher the soles of the shoes get, the more likely you are to misjudge your step. It is kind of like having a new pair of bifocals," he said.

The doctor said also that platform shoes with soles that slope sharply upward at the toe are a particular danger. Dr. Robert Morris of Irving, President, Texas Podiatry Association, supported that opinion, explaining the force with which the off-balance feeling such shoes create can be compounded.

"When we walk, our feet strike the floor with four times our weight. So, a 150 pound person makes a 600 pound impact on his foot with each step," said Dr. Morris.

Palmer cited the latest in fashion footwear as a hazard to the driver also. The thicker soles make it more difficult to place the foot smoothly on the clutch, the brake or the accelerator. In an emergency, an error in switching from the accelerator to the brake could be particularly disastrous.

In addition, decreased sensitivity can make applying the brakes and accelerator "a guessing game," Palmer said.

One Pennsylvania safety expert may have found an answer to the problem.

"If car manufacturers must recall their autos for safety defects, it would seem logical for fashion designers to be similarly responsible," said Roy D. Hanshaw, Safety Director of the Keystone Auto Club of Philadelphia.

A more likely solution, according to Palmer, is to choose shoes to fit the wearer's activities, remembering stability and sensitivity problems of platform shoes.

Considering the recent high-rise in men's fashion footwear, males should recognize trouble afoot too, he noted.

"Then, if people must wear four or five inch soles, Texas Safety Association urges them to carry driving shoes to avoid an elevated accident potential on the road," Palmer said.

Debra Says:

By HD Agent
Debra Price

After a summer of shorts and T-shirts, children and mothers are thinking about new school clothes. Before shopping, take an inventory of clothing the child has on hand. Examine these garments carefully, check their condition, and sort them. Usually, some are still wearable, others need minor repairs, and some should be discarded.

Next measure each child. This way purchases can be made by size--not age. Over the summer months, a child can grow one or two inches in height or width. When shopping for school clothes, take full advantage of sales--but don't go "overboard." Purchase only enough for the first two to three months of school. That way, the child won't outgrow them before he wears them.

Spreading clothing purchases has another advantage--most children are happier with new things periodically rather than all at once. Often building a small basic wardrobe around the child's favorite color is the answer. This way, items can be mixed and matched.

Several factors influence how much clothing is needed. These include the number of children in a family, their ages, and how often the homemaker does the family laundry.

When purchasing school clothing, consider durability, price and care requirements. For items receiving the most wear, buy the best quality the family can afford.

Read all labels and hangtags to determine care requirements. Remember dry cleaning adds to the initial purchase price--and hand washing takes time. Follow instructions for best results--and best return on money invested.

Also consider fashion trends. For example, classic looks--with plaids are "big" for fall. Highlighting the girls' scene are cuffed pants, stretch body-shirts, pleated or flared skirts, sweaters and jumpers. These items offer unlimited possibilities for the popular layered look.

Jeans styling remains the top favorite for boys' fashions. Jeans come in a wide range of fabrics. Denim and corduroy lead the "pack," followed by knits and stretch wovens. Highly patterned shirts complement solid pants. Also watch for knit sport shirts, cotton, polyester and blends, denim work shirts, western shirts and lumberjack plaids.

DON'T BE AFRAID!

Jeannie is still at the age when she can look at life unafraid. She's a happy and trusting little girl, and she is sure Daddy will catch her at the bottom of the slide.

As we grow older, our fears accumulate and sometimes they rule our lives. We grow afraid of losing our job, our health or our possessions. There is fear of being "different." We often go along with things that we know are wrong, just because we're afraid to take a stand. Many of our fears have no foundation. Yet we go through needless suffering, worrying about things that will never happen.

The Bible says, "If God is for us, who can be against us?" Through the Church, we receive assurance of God's constant love and protection in all our adversities. And we come to understand the comforting Truth... "Perfect love casteth out fear."

Furnishing Trends See Return To Comfort Now

Fall furnishing trends will see '73 fashions take a firm hold with billowy, pillowy, upholstered pieces to echo the return to comfort.

Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, reviewed other trends with a look toward progress of Oriental and Early American influence.

"Resurgence of Colonial-Early American-Federal styles is tied to the upcoming bi-centennial, so we can expect this trend to hold at least until 1976," she predicted.

"Oriental overtones are seen especially in accent furniture. Tables in antiqued-color finishes can fit into any decor. Rattan and wicker frames appear on many furniture pieces.

"French provincial, Mediterranean, English and German styles also are featured, as are the country styles derived from English and French designs."

Citing texture and color as still important, Miss Bradshaw described fabrics ranging from smooth nylons, flocked suedes, hopsacking, tufted velvets, and Olefins to materials and Italian antelope.

"Colors in new hues are smoke, wine, gold, asparagus and cerulean.

"In paint finishes, antique yellows and whites continue with contrasting stripes and glaze finish for richness and dimension.

"Wood furniture is in middle tones—with overtones carefully highlighted.

"To produce antique effects, distressing by hand color padding, spatter painting, crayon marking and smudging is common. A low sheen is used on a highly distressed finish."

Noting that furnishing trends effect themselves over a longer span of time than other trends, the specialist forecast a life of several years—with new variations each season—for today's trends.

Screwworms Increase In State Of Texas

Texas had recorded well over 600 cases of screwworms for 1973 as July drew to a close, and indications are that the year's total will climb rapidly in the next few months.

"The hot summer weather and recent rains have spurred the spread of screwworms in South and Southwest Texas," said Dr. M.E. Meadows, veterinarian-in-charge of screwworm eradication operations at Mission.

"From now until November 1 is considered the crucial time in the screwworm program," Meadows noted. Thus he urged livestock producers and pet owners to be especially alert for screwworm infestations.

About 80 percent of the screwworm cases have been occurring in the southernmost 11 counties of Texas. However, El Paso and Hudspeth Counties in Far West Texas have also recorded cases. In fact, El Paso County has already recorded six cases, more by this time of the year than any other year since the Screwworm Eradication Program began in 1962.

According to Meadows, current eradication efforts involve a two-pronged attack on the vicious flesh-eating livestock pest. Infested herds are being sprayed with a pesticide free of charge. The Texas Animal Health Commission, in cooperation with the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, is conducting this service for all livestock producers who submit a confirmed screwworm sample.

Sterile fly drops are also continuing at the rate of 1,000 to 2,000 flies per square mile each week in areas where cases are confirmed.

"But the spraying and fly drops are only part of the eradication program," pointed out the veterinarian. "We need the cooperation of all livestock producers and pet owners in inspecting and treating infested animals to make the program really effective."

Screwworm sample collection kits are available at any county Extension office and from livestock inspectors and veterinarians. All worm samples should be sent to the Mission Lab, Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572.

U.S. Savings Bonds help keep today's plans from becoming tomorrow's broken dreams.

We all have plans.

We plan for a vacation, plan to buy a boat, or a house; or send our children through college.

And, in order to keep those plans from becoming broken dreams, we need money.

That's where the Payroll Savings Plan comes in handy. When you join where you work, an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to save money and collect some interest at the same time.

Keep today's plans alive. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. You won't end up with a bunch of broken dreams tomorrow.

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months 14% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

THE NORWEGIAN RED -- A breed of beef cattle just recently imported into the United States, will make its debut before the American public at a field day and symposium near Dickson, Tenn., Sunday, August 26. Failure to meet minimum performance standards systematically eliminates the poor performing cattle from the breeding herd and they are sent to slaughter. Thus only the best cattle have been allowed to reproduce in Norway, leading to the development of a superior strain of cattle.

Appliance Service Contracts, Pro & Con

Today's appliances perform many modern wonders until something suddenly goes wrong.

"Repairing these appliances is expensive. As a result, many consumers turn to service contracts," Lillian Cochran, home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, said.

Usually these contracts are offered consumers when an appliance is purchased, she noted.

Some consumers consider a service contract "a way of insuring appliances against high repair bills."

"For an annual fee or set amount, the buyer receives an agreement to repair the appliance as often as needed without further charge."

"This eliminates concern over cost of appliance repairs. Purchasers won't see another repair bill as long as the service contract is in effect."

Another big advantage is "deliverance from lemons." A chronically ailing appliance becomes someone else's "headache," Miss Cochran added.

"Nevertheless, a service contract may or may not be a good deal."

"If a repair bill is higher than the service contract cost, the consumer saves money. But when service isn't needed in a given year, money was paid out unnecessarily."

Also keep in mind that some appliances are less likely to need service, the specialist continued.

"Those with numerous mechanical parts--such as automatic washers or dishwashers--usually require more service during their lifetime than appliances with few or no moving parts--such as ranges."

When considering a service contract, read it thoroughly to understand its terms, Miss

Cochran emphasized. "Make sure you know precisely what it does--and doesn't--cover."

"Find out your obligations as well as the seller's agreement."

Before signing a service contract, determine:

What is covered--parts, labor, number of calls.

What are the time limitations? A contract may appear to be a bargain, but cover only 9 months instead of a year.

Is there a limit to number of service calls?

Are you paying for protection on parts already covered by warranty?

If you move out of the dealer's service area, are there provisions for a refund, or can the contract be transferred to a dealer in the new location?

If the contract covers labor only, can you obtain a price list of parts before signing the contract?

Baby Feeding Problems to Be Avoided

Feeding problems may develop early with infants.

"Some problems stem from lack of understanding from parents," according to Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"For example, parents may not realize how quickly a baby can sense their attitudes toward a particular food."

"Since a baby doesn't have preconceived ideas about foods, new ones should be introduced in a positive and pleasant manner," the specialist said.

In addition, parents may find an infant's appetite varies from meal to meal or day to day. "Don't be concerned--it's a natural pattern for all children," she added.

"Baby is a good judge of how much food he needs--and as long as he gains weight gradually and appears healthy, parents can be assured he's eating enough."

Playday Is Scheduled At W.T. Boys Ranch

(District V Hosts Benefit Playday At West Texas Boys Ranch.)

District V of the American Association of Sheriff Poses and Riding Clubs is hosting an open Playday August 18 & 19, 1973, to benefit West Texas Boys Ranch in San Angelo, according to Dr. Robert Morse, District V President. Registration for the week-end playday gets under way Saturday, August 18 at 8:00 a.m., with the first event, barrel race, to begin at 9:00 a.m. Other events, in order, are Pole, Flag, and Potato Races. All events will be judged according to AASP & RC rules and standards. Registration begins at 8 a.m. Saturday and books will remain open throughout the day.

Entry fees are 50 cents per person per event. Ribbons for the first five places in each age group will be presented, plus hand tooled leather breast collars for the high point winner in each age group of each event.

An arena Pony Express race is scheduled for Sunday, August 19 with a $10.00 entry fee per team. Hand tooled trophy saddle bags will be presented to the top men's and women's pony express teams besides ribbons. Pony Express racing gets under way at Noon Sunday preceded by horseback worship services in the arena at 10:00 conducted by the West Texas Boys Ranch Chaplain, Daymon White.

Contestants wishing to spend the night may camp on Spring Creek at the Ranch for a one dollar per camper charge. West Texas Boys Ranch will also host a goat Bar-B-Que Saturday night from 6-8 p.m. at $1.50 per plate. For those contestants camping out, other meals may be taken in the Ranch dining hall for one dollar per person. There will be no admission charge for spectators.

A registered filly quarter-horse to be given away as a highlight of the two day event. Tickets are a one dollar donation to West Texas Boys Ranch and are available from club presidents, Wagon Bosses, and during the Playday activities. Drawing for the quarter-horse will be held at 5 p.m. Sunday, August 19 at the West Texas Boys Ranch arena, site of the Playday. Tack will also be awarded to second and third places in the drawing. You do not have to be present to win, Morse pointed out.

A trail ride area will also be available for those wishing to participate. The arena at Boys Ranch is well lighted and Saturday's events can be run until completed. There are no stalls available but there is ample room to keep horses at the Camping area. There are spacious grandstands and rest rooms at the arena.

Dr. Morse added that other attractions are being worked on and will be announced at a later date. President Morse also said, "West Texas Boys Ranch has long been an outstanding institution in caring for dependent and neglected boys. We are glad we have this opportunity to sponsor a benefit Playday for them. The facilities are ideal for such a Playday at West Texas Boys Ranch and we can all have a great time while aiding a very worthwhile cause. We hope that all of you will make plans early to participate in the Open Benefit Playday August 18 & 19 in the West Texas Boys Ranch Arena 18 miles west of San Angelo."

West Texas Boys Ranch is located 18 miles west of San Angelo on U.S. 67. Now caring for 72 dependent and neglected boys, the Ranch was established 25 years ago and has always been supported by the public. All gifts and donations to West Texas Boys Ranch are tax deductible.

HUMOR — FOREIGN PORTS OF CALL

... For Travel And Adventure

By Edward H. Sims

KALUNDBORG, DENMARK--Northern Europe was once the land of windmills and there are still some to be seen here, and in northern Germany, Holland and elsewhere. But, generally speaking, the ease of obtaining electricity has ended dependence on the colorful, turning windmill.

They were an expense, their upkeep almost constant, and when the wind didn't blow the great windmills didn't produce. So electricity is more reliable.

A few still dot the Danish countryside and some enterprising types have located shops or cafes on the first floor of some. The bright red windmills around Slagelse and Kalundborg add much to the nostalgic atmosphere. One is not far from the airfield outside Kalundborg and the contrast between modern-day flying and the old windmill is inescapable.

On a recent day I visited the field. A Copenhagen sail club was operating gliders from the field, towed aloft by winch, and there were several graceful birds circling in the sky overhead.

From these sail planes the view of the countryside below is spectacular; the red windmills stand out as navigational aids. There is usually a wind in Denmark but not as many thermals as one finds in some parts of the South and Midwest.

One of the Danish sail plane pilots, engaged to an American girl and hoping to return to America and live in San Francisco, took me in to see a new sail plane being built by the Kalundborg glider club, which also flies from the field.

Here I found the latest thinking and absolutely up-to-date theory and construction--in the land of Old World farming and farming methods, just a kilometer from the field. The Kalundborg club is building a sail plane that will be both a sailplane and power-driven.

The builders are using a small light French engine which will retract into the fuselage when the pilot wishes to glide, or sail, as the modernists say. When he wishes to take off or go somewhere when there is no lift, the small engine will enable him to do so. Until now, most sail planes have been dependent on winches, tow planes or cars, to get aloft.

In recent years the idea of small engines has caught on and it is a sensible idea. The builders of the new Kalundborg sail plane expect it to have a glide ratio of better than 30 to 1 and that is good for sail planes without engines.

ing and lifting the big commercial utensils. All in all, things worked out well, and today the restaurant is a going concern.

Bryan has taken an apartment behind the restaurant and between reading for parts and doing commercials he spends most of his time at the restaurant. Several Ozonians have visited and Bryan describes hometown visitors as a "real treat." He now has 22 employees, including himself, and the restaurant is now a corporation. Bryan often seats guests and is still amused when someone says "Say haven't I seen you somewhere?" He is often asked for autographs, and was a little embarrassed by it all at first, but now takes it in stride.

Stars who frequent the restaurant include George Peppard, Jim Garner, Peter Sellers, June Allison, Stella Stevens, Sandy Duncan, Sally Struthers, Eva Marie Saint, Rod Steiger and the entire L. A. Lakers basketball team among others.

Bryan's day consists of being up at 4 a.m. and getting to bed when the restaurant closes at night. A less energetic young man couldn't stand the pace. He often reads for three or four parts or commercials a day, each taking from three to six hours.

Many times he must go back for readings two or three times. Bryan said that most actors read for ten parts and get one. However, he has had a little more luck than that. Bryan's most recent commercial is for Folgers Coffee with Mrs. Olson. It will probably be released within a few weeks. The commercial most Ozonians see most often at present is the Active tooth polish commercial. Bryan flew to New York to make the commercial, and the company flew him back for a one-week change. Other commercials he has to his credit include Pepsi, Chevrolet, Coke, TWA, Planter's Peanuts, Carnation, Bank Americard, Olympia Beer, Gillette, Tame Creme Rinse, Hugga Slacks, just to mention a few. Some of the commercials take days on location just for a one-minute or 30 second spot.

However, grueling, Bryan enjoys his work, and feels he is ready now for serious acting. He is looking forward to a part of this sort. Between his acting career and his restaurant, Bryan has been financially successful. He is not resting on his laurels, however, and is planning to expand in the restaurant business as well his acting career.

He returned to Los Angeles Sunday to take up his busy schedule, but hopes to be home for Christmas.

Fraud By Mail

To Eddie, the idea seemed like a sure thing. He mailed out phony invoices to a number of businessmen, billing them for ads they had never ordered, and waited for the money to roll in. Some money did. But so did two federal investigators, who haled Eddie into court on a charge of "using the mails to defraud." In short order he landed in jail, following the path of countless get-rich-quick artists who have run afoul of the United States Post Office.

Under our legal system, most crimes are local. Robbery and riot, murder and mayhem ordinarily come under the jurisdiction of local governments.

But mail fraud is federal business, because the Constitution gives exclusive control of the postal system to the federal government.

Of course, to constitute the crime, the fraudulent scheme must include some significant use of the mails. However, that need not be the central feature. Consider, for example, the case of a man who used chicanery to sell lots in a cemetery. All of his sales were made in person, not by mail.

But he followed up with letters to his customers, partly to allay their suspicions and partly to discourage them from taking him into court. Such use of the mails, a court ruled afterward, was enough to support a federal charge against him for fraud.

Still, there must really be fraud, not just deft salesmanship. In another case a woman was accused of mail fraud because she had been selling "lucky stones" through the mail.

But at the trial, she pointed out that she had made no claim of magical virtues for her product—beyond the name itself. Dismissing the charge, the court said:

"There is nothing immoral in the belief that amulets affect the wearer's fortune. If (the defendant) wishes to sell lucky stones for what they are, without lying about them, she is not acting fraudulently in so doing."
