Terrorists Free Girl

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP)-South Moluccan terrorists holding 105 children in a nearby village school today released their first hostage since the initial takeover, a small girl who complained of feeling ill.

The girl, 7 or 8 years old, was wrapped in a blanket and taken away in an ambulance shortly after noon.

A second group of gunmen today pushed a bound and blindfolded man, dressed in symbolic white to signify execution, from a hijacked train where they are holding 55 hostages, Dutch officials said.

Dorsett Now Cowboy

DALLAS (AP) — All-America Tony Dorsett today signed a million-dollar contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

A team official said the contract was signed in Pittsburgh. No terms of the contract were revealed.

Dorsett's agent, Mike Trope, held a long session with Cowboys vice president Gil Brandt Wednesday night and reportedly ageed to terms for the first million-dollar contract in the history of the Dallas team.

Dorsett, contacted at his home in Aliquippa, Pa., told the Dallas Times Herald earlier today that he had been told that Trope and Cowboy officials "were coming up with the contract."

TAC Authorizes Suit

HOUSTON (AP)-The Texas Air Control Board has authorized Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill to file suit against the Environmental Protection Agency EPA to halt enforcement of what was termed "no growth" regulations.

At the request of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the board backed from taking action on a resolution by its chairman that rigid federal clean air regulations be enforced.

Oil, Coffee Up Trade Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) Imports of oil, coffee and transportation equipment contributed to a record monthly trade deficit of $2.6 billion in April, the Commerce Department reported today.

The nation's trade deficit for the first four months of 1977 totals more than $8.5 billion, eclipsing the previous 12-month record dedificit of $6.4 billion in 1972.

Carter administration officials blamed the huge deficit primarily on oil imports, saying U.S. trade in other goods and commodities is healthy.

C. Fred Bergsten, an assistant U.S. Treasury secretary, said in a speech in New York today that the nation could have a deficit of $20 billion this year, which would be more than three times the record 1972 deficit.

The amount of oil imported in April declined from March. But petroleum still was the biggest single expense by far on the U.S. import list.

The Commerce Department said the nation last month imported nearly 288 million barrels of oil at a cost of about $3.9 billion. The nation spent about $4.3 billion for foreign oil in March.

Over-all, the value of imported goods during April totaled $12.6 billion, while exports totalled about $10 billion, leaving a deficit for the month of $2.6 million. The previous high monthly deficit of $2.4 billion was set last month.

During the first four months of this year, the total value of imports was set at $48 billion, with exports listed at $39.4 billion.

While oil imports declined slightly in April, the Commerce Department said this was more than offset by increases of $54 million in imports of coffee, $128 million in machinery and transportation equipment, and $26 million in imports of sugar, along with increases in other categories as well.

Imports ipcreased about 1 per cent during the month, but exports also declined about 1 per cent, largely because of declining shipments of manufactured goods and other nonagricultural products, the department said.

Administration officials professed not to be concerned about the enormous trade deficits, but large trade deficits have in the past caused a decline in the value of the U.S. dollar. A trade deficit means more dollars are leaving the country to pay for foreign goods than the nation is earning from its exports.

UNLESS CONGRESS REDUCES PRICE TAG

Veto Is Threatened On Major Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter today threatened to cast the first vetos of his presidency if Congress refuses to reduce the price tag of major bills dealing with farm programs and water projects.

"I certainly reserve the right to veto bills if I consider that necessary," Carter told a questioner at a nationally broadcast news conference.

Carter also described as "a very serious breech" of responsibility, the statement by an American general in opposition to withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Korea. The President summoned the general to Washington and ordered him reassigned.

Asked to comment on the expected accession of hard-liner Menahem Begin to the leadership of Israel, Carter said, "I have already seen some moderation in his views."

Carter added that he "would certainly assume" that Israeli withdrawal from occupied territories on the West Bank of the Jordan River would be a necessary part of any Middle East peace settlement. Begin has consistently opposed return of any part of the West Bank.

"All sides in this discussion have to yield to some degree," the Presient said.

In an opening statement, Carter noted that the farm bill, passed Tuesday night by the Senate, "has a very high cost, much greater than I think is necessary." The Senate bill authorized price support levels that could have a total price tag of $4 billion.

Carter also singled out a public works bill, approved Wednesday, by the House Appropriations Committee, which included funds for water projects the President sought to kill. Carter said the measure was $3.5 billion higher than his request.

The President avoided using the word "veto" in his opening statement, but the implication was clear and he later used the term in response to a reporter's question.

Carter called inflation "the main concern at this point on the economic scene," and added that too high a rate of government spending would "put excessive pressure on the ability to finance needed programs in the future."

The SDN Column

The people in CBS (television) News suddenly developed an interest in Snyder this week. First, Police Chief Bill Stone said he had received a call from Richard Kaplan of CBS inquiring about a murder case here in 1969. That was prior to Chief Stone's tenure here, and the date didn't ring any bell.

We thought he might be referring to the incident in which a young AWOL Marine killed an Abilene man, Jake Sellars, and concealed the body beside a road near Dermott.

Later we learned that Sheriff Kieth Collier's office also had received a call requesting information on the case, and Deputy Andy Anderson was looking into the files when we stopped by that office for a few moments.

Then, when we returned to the newspaper office, Wanda Rushing, our news editor, advised that Richard Kaplan had called requesting information on the Tommy Matthews murder case and requested a call back.

So, we went to our own files and sure enough, it turned out to be the case in which Thomas Wesley Matthews, an 18-year-old AWOL Marine whose home was in Pennsylvania, had been picked up in Houston when he tried to use a Sears credit card belonging to Mr. Sellars, who had been missing for several days. Mr. Sellars was returning to Abilene after attending a meeting in Lubbock and officers had been searching for him for three or four days. Matthews was returned here and led officers to the body. The young Marine then pleaded guilty to a charge of murder on Feb. 27, 1970, and went to prison.

So, why is CBS so interested in an eight-year-old murder case in West Texas when there are so many much closer to its home base in the "Big Apple?" Well, we returned Kaplan's call, and he said they were working on some sort of documentary on restitution for major crimes. They really were more interested in locating members of Mr. Sellars' family than anything else. We referred them to Abilene. So, indications are that this incident will be mentioned in a CBS documentary sometime in the future.

Texas Senators Accept Compromise Money Bill

BY LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)-The Senate unanimously approved a compromise $15.5 billion general appropriation bill today, and legislators sent three constitutional amendments to the people for final decisions.

House members, meanwhile, were on notice they would be asked to suspend rules and take up a Senate-passed bill prohibiting telephone companies from charging for directory assistance calls.

Speaker Bill Clayton said the House would take its vote on the appropriation bill written by a 10-member conference committee late this afternoon.

Final legislative decisions put on a Nov. 8, 1977, election ballot constitutional amendments that would:

-Allow tax exemptions for solar and wind-powered electrical generating equipment.

-Permit "cashless society" electronic fund transfer systems (EFTS) that otherwise would be outlawed by the constitutional ban on branch banking.

-Enable agricultural producers to vote assessments on themselves for research and promotion.

House members approved a compromise bill enabling the state to pay teaching hospitals up to $10,000 per year for each medical student-except those of Baylor and the University of Texas-and $15,000 for each resident they are training.

No money for the hospitals is provided in the appropriation bill, however.

Senators sent the governor, 17-11, a bill enabling gas pipeline companies with railroad commission approval to condemn played out gas fields to use as giant underground storage tank for natural gas.

One reason for the South Texas and Central Texas energy crisis was Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.'s lack of storage facilities, forcing it to sell its customers at high field prices.

Senators sent Gov. Dolph Briscoe a bill requiring the state to pay state employes' Social Security contributions, up to 5.85 per cent of a $16,500 salary, starting Sept. 1, 1978, at a cost of $105 million.

Backers said it was cheaper than giving a 6.8 per cent pay raise and would put more takehome dollars in the government workers' pockets.

Senate action also sent to the voters constitutional amendments that would:

-Change the Texas Judicial Qualification Commission's name to State Commission on Judicial Conduct and give it new power to suspend judges who are indicted for felonies, such as bribery.

-Allow the legislature to enlarge the present three-judge courts of civil appeals and break them into panels to speed up decisions, particularly in urban areas.

School Session Winding Down

The 1976-77 school term was winding down toward its last gasp in Snyder and Hermleigh Districts today.

Both Snyder and Hermleigh High Schools have graduation programs set for Firday night.

The Snyder seniors will recieve their diplomas in ceremonies set to begin at 8 o'clock in the Scurry County Coliseum. Hermleigh's graduation program also is set for 8 o'clock.

Snyder seniors completed their final exams Wednesday and members of the other three classes began their finals today.

The day's classroom activities were to end earlier than usual today and tomorrow, with classes to be dismissed at 2:30 p.m.

Friday will be the last day of classes in the Snyder Schools, although teachers and administrators will be back in their buildings on Saturday for an in-service session and to complete clerical work for the newly-completed term.

Report cards will be distributed at the various schools at 3 p.m. Saturday, which will officially close the term in Snyder Schools.

Rehearing Is Set On Insurance

AUSTIN (AP)-The State Insurance Board today set a June 22 rehearing on its decision to reduce property insurance rates by a statewide average of 2.8 per cent.

Insurance companies, which wanted a 6.6 per cent average rate hike, requested the rehearing, which is a necessary step if they intend to go farther and challenge the board order in court.

"This rehearing is being granted to the insurance companies not because we have any doubts that our rate cuts are justified but simply in an effort to be fair," said board chairman Joe Christie.

"If our rates are based on calculations which the companies can prove to us are erroneous, we will make any changes necessary. Otherwise, we expect to proceed with the original rate reduction which we felt was justified because of the large number of companies selling policies at rates below those set by the board," Christie said.

New rates take effect July 1, unless revised by the board.

The statewide decrease is deceptive because most homeowners will be paying more for their coverage-two per cent on the average.

WCTCOG Okays Apartment Loan

An application for a loan to finance an apartment complex here got a favorable review by the West Central Texas Council of Governments' executive committee.

The proposal went to the committee Wednesday at a meeting in Abilene and received routine approval.

The loan application was submitted to the Farmers Home Administration by Rogers and Rogers Investments, Inc., of Fort Worth. The firm is seeking a loan of $948,000 to construct a 60-unit apartment complex in Southeast Snyder.

The site is on the south side of 37th Street across from the Scurry County Coliseum. The five-acre site also is included in a request for annexation to the city which will be considered at the June 2 meeting of the city council. Property on the south side of 37th Street in that area is outside the city boundaries at present.

The council of governments must review applications involving funds sought through federal agencies for such projects.

Several months ago, the WCTCOG had cited a need for additional housing in Snyder.

The proposed project here will be known as Kingswood Estate Apartments, and will provide 60 rental units for middle and low income families. It was noted that the loan application now rests with the state Farmers Home Administration office.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Wednesday, 82 degrees; low, 67 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today, 69 degrees; precipitation, trace; total precipitation for 1977 to date, 8.14.

West Texas: Scattered afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms through Friday. Thunderstorms possibly becoming locally severe this afternoon and tonight. Continued rather warm and humid. Highs today and Friday upper 70s Panhandle to the mid 80s south and upper 90s Big bend. Lows tonight mostly in the 60s except lower 50s mountains.

our own decision

A little community pride can solve the financial problems of our community July 4th celebration, and Chamber of Commerce officials have indicated that they are willing to put their faith in it as they plan for the big 1977 event.

The 15 per cent assessment on each concession, which got the approval of the Chamber board earlier this month after it looked over the financial record of last year's Independence Day celebration, drew some protests. In its meeting Tuesday night, the July 4 Celebration Committee quickly let it be known that it would consider any alternative that might keep the event on a self-sustaining basis.

It was agreed that a greater effort should be made to remind the public that financial support is needed and that the event must be self-supporting if it is to continue. It was inaugurated in 1961 on that basis and has survived during the ensuing years. However, the alarm was sounded last year when the celebration came up with a deficit of some $1,900. No organization, including the Chamber of Commerce, has funds available to make up such a deficit. So, the obligation falls upon the community as a whole, and that is precisely where it should rest.

The July 4 celebration attracts more people to Snyder than any other annual event, or cumulation of events for that matter. It was instituted and has continued to function as a people's event, and it is apparent that it must continue on that basis if it is to survive. So, all of us will help make the decision by our response to requests for support.

new layer of fat

Can a person slim down by adding another layer of fat to his already overblown body?

Of course not. That's about as silly as you can get.

Yet there's a continuing push being made in Washington that is just as insane.

The push is for passage of the proposed Consumer Protection Act. This legislation first proposed eight years ago would create a new super government agency to represent the American consumer before federal regulatory agencies.

The Consumer Products Safety Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency, and a wealth of other federal agencies already employ thousands of people. Every official of these agencies has the assigned responsibility to consider the interests of all segments of society in making decisions.

Supporters of the proposed legislation thus seem to be saying that existing federal agencies are not carrying out their assigned responsibilities.

It's very difficult to see the logic of creating another federal agency to correct the deficiencies of other federal agencies.

A far wiser approach would be regulatory review and reform so that existing agencies and their appointed officials meet their responsibilities to the public.

That makes a lot more sense than adding another layer of fat to an already bloated bureaucracy.

"Since I lost my job, that's all I can afford."

cow is milking us

America's No. 1 sacred cow is Social Security.

We were supposed to be able, starting at age 65, to milk that cow from here to eternity.

Now the cow is milking us!

Few of us have dared to challenge the credibility of Social Security. Ever since F.D.R., generations of jelly-back journalists have assumed that "government insurance" was the best and most economical way.

And because our investigative reporters did not find this subject sufficiently challenging, Social Security has been allowed to escalate and degenerate simultaneously—to where now the whole program is headed for easily predictable bankruptcy.

The problem is that Social Security was based on a lie. Americans were led to believe that a deduction from their paychecks would be set aside, that interest would accumulate on this reserve—so that when the worker retired he would have the principal plus interest to draw on for the rest of his life.

Every bank teller and bootblack believed the fiction—that Uncle Sam was setting aside a nest egg in his name, that he was building a retirement account, similar to the ones accumulated through private insurance companies.

The truth is that there is no money in the Social Security kitty.

Indeed, if any insurance company should conduct its business as the Social Security system conducts its business, its doors would be locked and its officers prosecuted.

Social Security is bankrupt. Its outgo so exceeds its income that it can survive only through larger and larger contributions of public charity.

More than half of our nation's taxpayers now pay more in Social Security taxes than they pay in federal income taxes—and it's still not enough.

Thirty years ago taxpayers outnumbered retirees 22-to-1. Today it's only 3-to-1.

Now Congress is contemplating an additional transfusion of 83 billion tax dollars over the next five years.

Now the cow is doing the milking.

The several shell-game solutions presently under consideration all add up to the same thing: more taxes on individuals, more taxes on employers (which individuals end up paying in higher prices) and switching $14 billion from some other government pocket to this one.

Part of the problem is that Congress in 1972 worsened the imbalance by voting an automatic cost-of-living increase to Social Security recipients.

At the present escalation rate, recipients will soon be receiving more money in benefits than they formerly earned in wages.

Any criticism of Social Security sounds like an attack on the deserving recipients who worked for and earned their pensions. This criticism, instead, is of a system which lied to them, cheated them and somewhere down this road may not be able to pay.

my turn...

by john long

Motorists planning on traveling during the Memorial Day weekend will face the prospect of paying more for their gasoline.

According to a report issued by the Texas division of the American Automobile Association, motorists will be paying about 3.7 cents more per gallon for unleaded and premium gasoline than they did during the Thanksgiving holiday of 1976. Regular gasoline, the report states, has jumped about 2.9 cents per gallon.

A survey of 231 service stations conducted by the Texas division of the AAA, the report states, revealed average gasoline prices per gallon of 59.8 cents for regular, 62.7 for unleaded and 64.4 for premium. Corresponding prices in late November of 1976 were 56.9 for regular, 59.0 for unleaded, and 60.7 for premium.

Wacil McNair, editor of The Snyder Daily News, knowing full well that I was planning my vacation during the latter part of May, showed me the report and smiled tauntingly.

By the time this column is printed, I will be back home on my vacation and paying for my gasoline as I go.

Home, to me, is Lockhart, a town in South-Central Texas. During my vacation, I will be visiting relatives in Lockhart, Seguin, and Premont. I will also be visiting friends in Corpus Christi.

The thing I enjoy most about Central Texas is the German sausage. While I appreciate the company of my relatives and friends, I never forget to obtain a supply of decent sausage when I do go back home. The comradeship of friends and relatives is one thing, but good sausage is altogether a different matter.

My brother, who lives in the East and who, even more mysteriously, prefers living in such Eastern cities as Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia, related an incident that occurred to him several years ago aboard an airplane.

A group of men he was with came to discuss the most delicious meals they had ever eaten. One man said his most delicious meal was an obscure cafe in San Francisco. Another man claimed he received his best meal in an obscure restaurant in Philadelphia.

Another man, however, remembered his most delicious meal as one of sausage and barbecue he had in a little town called Lockhart in Central Texas...

There the men were, in a jet flying at about a 20,000 or 30,000-foot altitude discussing their most memorable meals and Lockhart was mentioned. The men had never seen each other before and knew they would never see each other again. Still, Lockhart crept into the conversation.

My brother, who is not one to claim kinship to any small town under any circumstance, never told the other men that he had been born and reared in Lockhart.

I have never quite divined whether that story is a good commentary on Lockhart or a bad commentary on my brother.

employes take cut

BY JOHN D. HOPKINS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP)-When Maurice Ferre became mayor of Miami four years ago, he was a millionaire riding the crest of a Florida building boom.

As president of the family controlled Maule Industries Inc., Ferre was putting together what industry sources called the largest building materials operation of its kind in the country.

Maule quarries, cement kilns, stressed-concrete factories and 27 concrete mix plants were turning out material for thousands of condominium units, offices, bridges and other projects from Jacksonville to the Florida Keys.

Maule reported its best year ever in 1973. Then the postoil embargo recession struck.

In three months, "we went from selling 2 million yards of concrete a year to 800,000," the Puerto Rico-born Ferre said. Florida's building industry went into a slump from which it has only begun to recover.

Recovery didn't come soon enough, however, and Maule filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal Bankruptcy Act. The chapter allows a company to carry on its business under court protection while its debt problems are worked out.

"What broke Maule," said Ferre, 41, "was spending $70 million or $80 million on a cement plant," a large, highly automated operation at Pennsuco, northwest of Miami. Industry magazines marvel at the plant, built to make 4.1 million tons of cement per year, and built mostly on borrowed money.

"Pennsuco is a racing machine all ready to go," Maule said in an interview in his office overlooking Biscayne Bay.

"It will do $100 million a year, but it's running at about $50 million.

Pressed by creditors for $116 million, Ferre is asking his 1,048 employes to agree to a 10 per cent pay cut to help Maule survive.

"I've got close to 700 'yeses' already. It's amazing," Ferre said.

Receiver Cliff Herrell ordered last week that the pay cuts be carried out, saving the company $1.8 million a year, even if all the workers didn't agree.

Bankruptcy Judge Thomas Britten had said he was inclined to liquidate the company if the employes didn't take the cuts.

"We have done pretty well," Ferre said before the pay agreements were firmed up.

"Our ratio of wages to sales is down to 30 per cent, the best it's ever been."

Maule's outlook improved markedly with a report to Britten that banks, unsecured creditors and equipment suppliers all were ready to stand behind the company's efforts.

Maule also has reported gross operating profits in two of the last four months. But it managed that by skipping interest payments.

Any progress on an agreement between the major creditors is to be reported to the court June 20.

too much control

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In many instances, government is the problem and not the solution to our problems. The Federal Government knows that much more oil and gas are to be found offshore but the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches have thrown up a string of roadblocks to rapid development of offshore oil and gas.

As for the environmentalists, we remember that they delayed construction of the Alaskan pipeline for five years and caused the price of construction to be almost doubled. The pipeline could have been in operation in the latter part of 1973, the year of the Arab oil embargo.

The administration has now accepted notions advanced by the anti-nuclear lobbyists, foes of the automobile, opponents of deregulation of natural gas and the extremists who want to prevent the speedy development of new coal mines. Serious in the long term is the abandonment of the development of the nuclear breeder reactor which, according to some of the best scientific minds, could be the source of tremendous energy in just a few years. After the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, the President has announced the indefinite deferral of the reprocessing and recycling of plutonium produced in the U.S. nuclear power programs. The announced purpose of this action is to reduce the risk of the spread of the process which could be turned into atomic weapons.

The proliferation of nuclear weapons capability is and should be a legitimate concern of all Nations. The face is that we are not the only Nation which has the capability of producing such weapons and, according to the scientists, the breeder reactor is not necessary to make bombs. A number of other alternatives already developed are being used in a number of nations and there is no indication that they will follow the U.S. in limiting any process within their capability. Certainly, we should continue every effort between nations to do the best possible to stop the spread of nuclear weapons. This, however, should have little to do with developing the breeder reactor, using spent uranium fuel for the generation of electric power. The scientists tell us that the recycling holds the greatest potential of any source of fuel known to man. As explained in layman's terms, the full development of the plutonium breeder reactor could furnish our energy requirments for the next 700 years. It seems to be the perpetual motion of energy--the process lives on itself-hence the term "breeder."

This is for the longer range. The short range is to lift government restrictions coal mining, the development of oil from shale, offshore drilling and converting coal into synthetic gas to supplement natural gas supplies. Common sense should tell us that we simply have to have more sources of energy regardless of how much conservation we practice. Conservation alone can lead to more unemployment and a lower standard of living. America has become a poweful nation because it learned to use vast amounts of energy and to do nothing more than conserve could turn back the clock.

There was an energy crisis in 1910 when it was predicted by some "expert" that there would be no more petroleum by 1919. In 1919 they said we would be without oil in 20 years. The same thing happened in the 1930's and, again in 1946.

This crisis is no doubt different but our ingenuity to overcome it is much better than it was in those years past–if the federal government will just let some things alone.

SHS Homemaking Class Recipes

By JOANN NUNLEY

This class, called Home Management or Bachelor Homemaking, is taught by Mrs. Kathy Roberts at Snyder High School. It is a class of boys and girls and is for juniors and seniors only.

Mrs. Roberts said, "It is an enjoyable class to teach as it features quite a variety of techiniques from each individual, along with a lot of experimenting in fastes." They "get" to eat what they prepare. Mrs. Roberts has taught this type of class for about five years, and the last two years has taught more boys than girls in the total program. She stated that men like to eat and a lot of them make real good chefs. Girls were not included in the program when it first started but she found that the "females" help on the competition level.

A favorite recipe of the students that she demonstrates for them is following, along with some recipes from students.

Lemon Meringue Pie

By Sambo Kitching

1 9-inch pie shell
1 can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
1-3 cup lemon juice
3 tsps. grated lemon peel
6 egg whites

Blend can of milk, lemon juice and peel in large bowl. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; add two tablespoons of sugar per egg white (one at a time) and continue beating. Fold in one half the egg whites into the lemon mixture. Pour mixture into browned pie shell and put meringue on top. Seal it and garnish with lemon slices. Place in pre-heated oven at 375 degrees for 15 minutes or until desired color of brown is reached.

Strawberry Pie

By Becky Wafer

1 cup sugar
3 T. Cornstarch
1 cup water
3 T. Strawberry jello

Cook until thick and cool before mixing with fresh strawberries.

Barbecue Sauce

By Billy Rollins

2 lbs. lean beef cut in 2 in. Cubes-marinade 1 hour in one can of coca cola. Add 3 T. of sour pickle vinegar
1 c. HOT Kraft Barbecue sauce
½ c. catsup
1 medium size onion cut fine
1 T. of Brown Sugar
1 T. of liquid smoke
1 button of garlic mashed
1 can of tomato puree
1 can of tomato sauce
1 T. mustard (optional)
1 T. of Worchestrshire Sauce

Cook over low heat for 2½ hours or until meat is tender.

Orange Julius

1-6 oz. frozen orange juice
12 oz. cold water
1-3 cup powdered milk
½ cup sugar

Prepare in blender--add enough ice cubes or crushed ice to fill blender. Mixture will be rather thick. for variation, you can omit the milk and part of the water and use ice cream.

Red Velvet Cake

½ cup oleo
2 eggs
2 tsp. cocoa
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 ½ cup sugar
2 oz. red food coloring
2 ¼ cup cake flour
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. vinegar

Cream shortening and sugar then add eggs, mixing well. Make paste of cocoa and red food coloring and add to sugar mixture. Add salt to buttermilk and add alternately with flour to sugar mixture. Add vanilla and beat on high speed. Mix soda and vinegar and fold into mixture.

Bake in two 8 inch greased cake pans at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool. Ice.

Icing

3 Tbl. flour
1 cup milk

Cook flour and milk until thick. Cool. Cream one cup sugar, one tsp. vanilla, and 1 cup oleo until fluffy. (takes long time) Blend two mixtures together until fluffy. Spread on cake and refrigerate

Give Your Coffee 'Abreak'

COLLEGE STATION —Give your coffee "a break"--replace it with more nutritious snacks and beverages throughout the day, a foods and nutrition specialist suggests.

Instead of a "coffee break," have a "snack break" and try a glass of fruit juice, an orange, apple or other fruit in season, says Mrs. Sally Coble, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

As the poet said: "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

South had just heard about the principle of restricted choice. This didn't get him to that six-spade contract, but a faulty application of the principle led to his defeat.

He won the heart lead in dummy and played dummy's ace of trumps. East followed small and West dropped the 10.

Poor South assumed that this was a case for use of the principle of restricted choice. He led dummy's last trump and finessed his nine. West won with the jack and led a club to his partner's ace.

Why didn't this principle apply here?

Because it only applies when the defender must play one of equal high cards. If West were placed under compulsion to play small from jack-10-small then the second round finesse would be correct. The principle would apply. As you see, West was under no such compulsion and had played the 10 instead of the five.

Ask the Jacobys

A Florida reader asks what we would lead from: ♠ A J 10 x x x ♥ 10 ♦ Q x x x ♣ Q x.

The bidding was open to our right with one heart. We overcalled with one spade and the next player bid six hearts which became the final contract.

We open the 10 of hearts. We don't guarantee this lead, we just make it and hope we have done the right thing.

MEET NEW ORLEANS TONIGHT

Bears Favored In South Central

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Lamar University of Beaumont, Tex. jousts Miami of Ohio and Baylor battles independent New Orleans tonight in the double elimination NCAA South Central regional baseball tournament.

Lamar, the Southland Conference champion, carries a 37-12 record into the first game against a 43-13 ledger by Miami, the Mid-American Conference runnerup.

In the second game, Baylor 39-12 represents the Southwest Conference against New Orleans, which had a 34-7 record. Baylor won the recent SWC post-season tournament after a third place finish during the SWC's regular season.

"There are a lot of teams in this tournament who aren't known as baseball powers who are very good," said Baylor Coach Mickey Sullivan. "I think this is a trend of the times. You'll start seeing different faces in the college playoffs because of the scholarship limitations. It pretty much makes everyone equal with 13 scholarships."

Baylor is the tournament favorite, boasting power hitting that included 60 home runs. The Bears also have a balanced defense and excellent pitching.

Shortstop Steve Macko, son of Texas Ranger equipment manager Joe Macko, hit over .400 as has the pro scouts drooling.

"This is the first time I've ever played in Arlington Stadium although I've been there a lot of times," said the younger Macko.

Sullivan said tournament champions usually do it with strong pitching and good defense.

"We hit the ball with power but the pitching usually is very good once you get to the tournaments," said Sullivan.

Perry 'Has Everything'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Gaylord Perry greaseball controversy flared again Wednesday night. Maybe when Gil Patterson is Perry's age they will be griping about him, too.

For the time being, the 21-year-old Patterson will have to be satisfied with his first major league triumph, a 3-2 victory over the Texas Rangers with seventh-inning relief help from Sparky Lyle. The 38-year-old Perry then upstaged the rookie in the second half of a twi-night doubleheader, hurling Texas to a 1-0 triumph, allowing only six scattered singles.

It was Perry's 235th major league triumph-he is one of only three pitchers to win 100 games in both leagues-and probably one of his best.

"I had everything," he said, "fork ball, fast ball, hard slider, breaking ball, and I tried to make every pitch my pitch. And control (he didn't walk a batter) was one of the greatest things I had going. Even my 3-2 pitches were hitting the corners."

Several weeks ago, when Perry was 1-4, people in Texas were starting to say he was finished. Perry knew better.

But according to Yankees Manager Billy Martin-who managed him in 1975-Perry still is loading up the baseballs with the greasy kid stuff.

Cop Joins 'Boys Game To Boot

LENOIR CITY, Tenn. (AP) — For Randy Tatham, a policeman who played in only a few games in one year of college football, a three-year contract with the Dallas Cowboys is a dream come true.

Despite the warnings of a few friends that he didn't have a chance, Tatham, 23, tried out as a punter at the Cowboys' spring training camp last Saturday.

"I kind of always thought I had the ability to play and I just went down there to give it a try," Tatham said.

This week, the team's personnel director, Gil Brandt, called with an offer totaling $70,000 plus possible bonuses for a three-year contract. It was the only contract the Cowboys awarded to a punter this year after the team's starter last season, Danny White, underwent a knee operation.

A policeman here the past 18 months, Tatham dropped out at the end of his junior year at Middle Tennessee State University after injuring his knee muscles in a 1975 spring practice session.

"I've always wanted to play," he said. "But after I left Middle Tennessee, I had to wait until my college eligibility was over."

Aaron Cut At Open

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Masters champion Tommy Aaron was one of two golfers to miss the cut Wednesday in sudden death playoffs in sectional qualifying for the U.S. Open Golf tournament. But touring pro Curtis Sifford of Los Angeles and five other golfers survived.

All eight fired 148s Tuesday and returned to the par-72, 6,808-yard Horseshoe Bend Country Club on Wednesday to fight for the six spots available.

Midland Athlete Signs With WTC Golfers

Steve K. Wise, a three-year golf letterman at Lee High School in Midland, has signed a letter of intent and a golf scholarship with Western Texas College.

Wise, a 1977 graduate of Lee, was District 5-4A medalist this year and placed sixth in regional. He was a member of the All-District team in 1975-76 and 1976-77. Billy Sitton, who will also be attending WTC in the fall, and Wise teamed to win a two-man Low Ball at the San Angelo Invitational with a score of 135.

Playing in junior PGA Tournaments, Wise took first place at Winkler County (70), Denver City (69), Brownsville (71), Brownfield (70), and Meadowbrook (71). He finished second at Ranchland Hills with a 70.

His lowest round ever was 63, and he has shot two aces and a double eagle. In the opening district tournament, he shot a 64 at Big Spring Country Club.

The WTC Westerners, coached by Bob O'Day, won the Western Conference title for the second consecutive time this season and will be competing in the national NJCAA tournament in Fort Myers, Fla., in June.

Welfare Plan Taking Shape

BY MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The new welfare system envisioned by President Carter would give recipients as much or more federal money as they get now, but would offer rewards to those who take jobs and supplements to workers at the bottom of the pay scale.

Carter said early this month he wanted to scrap the present welfare system and set up a new one, but he gave few details then of what he would propose.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. told reporters Wednesday the administration plan is beginning to take shape, although it remains tentative, incomplete and open to change as it is discussed with governors and congressional leaders.

The plan put forth by Califano would classify poor people as those not expected to work and those who are expected to. The most money would be used to supplement the pay of the working poor who can't earn enough to pull themsleves out of poverty.

Those who are not expected to work - the aged, disabled and single parents, with young children - would be given one monthly cash payment by the federal government. State and local authorities could supplement that payment.

That group, generally those now receiving Aid to Families with Dependant Children of Supplemental Security Income, would be encouraged to work but would not be penalized for continuing to accept benefits.

A family of four in this category would receive up to $4,200 a year in benefits, which Califano said is at least as much as such families now receive from federal sources in cash and food stamps. The stamps would be abolished.

People who fall in the expected-to-work category but are jobless, and those who have jobs but are still poor, would be eligible for what Califano called earned income supplements.

People in that category would be expected to work-and in some cases required to do so-but would be paid cash supplements to raise their standard of living. Training programs and estimated 1.4 million jobs would be made available to assure that those expected to work could get jobs either in private industry or in public service programs.

A family of four with at least one member working full time at the minimum wage would receive up to $2,300 in supplemental benefits.

But under the new system, no family on straight cash assistance could make as much money as it would if one member were working. Califano said this would eliminate the situation that now exists in some states where a family can make more money on welfare than if someone is working. And, he said, it would encourage people now on welfare to get jobs.

Other incentives built into the tentative plan would make it financially rewarding to take a job in private business rather than a government job. It also would encourage people to try to work their way out of poverty by not cutting off welfare as soon as they had taken a job.

There were no traffic mishaps logged overnight by city police and city firemen had no calls.

Harris Group Wants Bryant

HOUSTON (AP) — The State Bar of Texas may not want entertainer Anita Bryant to sing for them, but the Harris County criminal Lawyers Association would like to hear from her. The Bar canceled a June convention engagement, citing females lawyers' objections to her stand on the Equal Rights Amendment. The Harris County group has invited Miss Bryant to address its luncheon the day she had been scheduled to sing for the Bar.

Gay Activist To Start Vigil

HOUSTON (AP) — Gay activist Ray Hill says he's going to start a vigil outside Mayor Fred Hofheinz's office to protest what he says is police harassment of homosexuals in Houston. Hill says he'll keep the vigil until he gets assurance that the alleged harassment stops. Hill says vice squad officers have violated far more serious laws to get misdemeanor charges and harass gay people.

Solution To Cattery Sought

GARLAND (AP) — John and Edith Neal don't exactly live by themselves. They have 51 cats. Health Department officials in the Dallas suburb of Garland have investigated, and friends from the Humane Society are trying to work out a solution to any health problems the cattery might cause. Mrs. Neal says they just can't give up the cats and would move if they have to.

Nixon At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) - Here are highlights of former President Richard M. Nixon's comments in Wednesday's television interview with David Frost:

SPIRO AGNEW

"He did tell me...to the very last, that he did not feel that he was guilty of the crimes, the charges that had been made against him... I felt that in his heart he was a decent man. He was an honest man. He was a courageous man. He made mistakes; I made mistakes."

MRS. NIXON'S HEALTH

"All of the paralysis is gone from her face. And all of it from her left leg; she still has some in her left arm and the doctors think that within a few months, that will be gone. So, she will have a complete recovery."

WOODWARD AND BERNSTEIN

"For those who write history as fiction on third-hand knowledge, I have nothing but utter contempt. And, I will never forgive them. Never."

THEIR BOOK 'FINAL DAYS'

"Mrs. Nixon read it, and her stroke came three days later. I didn't want her to read it because I knew the kind of trash it was and the kind of trash they are...this doesn't indicate that that caused the stroke, because doctors don't know what caused the stroke, but it sure didn't help."

THE PRESS

"Let's not have all this sanctimonious business about the poor repressed press...I don't want them repressed, but believe me, when they take me on, or when they take any public figure on, Democrat or Republican, liberal or conservative, I think the public figure ought to come back and crack 'em right in the puss."

ASSETS ABROAD

"Not only don't I have any assets abroad, I never had a foreign bank account in my life."

PARDONS FOR HALDEMAN AND EHRLICHMAN

"I certainly intended to do it...Of course, I had no idea then I would be leaving office in the way I was leaving."

HENRY KISSINGER

"He said, 'I just want you to know that if they harass you after you leave office, I am going to resign'...and, his voice broke."

NIXON'S PARDON

"It was a terribly difficult decision for me, almost as difficult as resigning...I said, a signing of this pardon, acceptance of this pardon is going to be interpreted as a confession of guilt."

ALLENDE IN CHILE

"There wasn't any question about his turning all the screws he could in the direction of turning Chile into a Marxist state...There wasn't any question that Chile was being used by some of Castro's agents as a base to export terrorism to Argentina, to Bolivia, to Brazil. We knew all that."

RESIGNATION

"No one can know how it feels to resign the presidency of the United States. Is that punishment enough? Oh, probably not."

This weekend, call both families for practically the price of one.

It's true! This weekend—and every weekend between 11 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday—you can place two Long Distance calls for practically the price of one weekday evening call, when you dial the 1+ way.

For example, a 10-minute call to someone a thousand miles away weekday evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday) would cost you $2.44, plus tax. Which, you'll admit, isn't bad.

But for practically the same price, you could make two eight-minute calls over the same distance...any weekend.

It's almost like getting one call free!

So this weekend, enjoy a couple of Long Distance calls. And make three families happy!

Long Distance.
What else is so nice for the price?

Viral hepatitis questions

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you give me some information on viral hepatitis? The doctor treated my daughter with antibiotics for two weeks for what he thought was a sinus infection and when she turned yellow he said it was viral hepatitis. She is on a high protein and low fat diet and is to do absolutely nothing for 30 days. She is 28 and married and lives out of state.

Do you have a leaflet on this? Does it linger after the 30 days and is it hard to shake off? Is it infectious? How does it differ from infectious hepatitis? Is it more dangerous in young people than older adults? Are there other precautions to take?

DEAR READER — Viral hepatitis and infectious hepatitis are the same thing and there are two types — the kind that is commonly transmitted by food or water and the kind transmitted commonly by blood transfusions or infected needles (serum hepatitis). One of the main differences is the length of time it takes to develop the infection after the virus has entered the body. The food-borne type occurs much earlier.

Your daughter's story is rather familiar. Before jaundice develops the patient may have many symptoms of other virus diseases, particularly resembling influenza or gastroenteritis. Unless an epidemic is in process the doctor is not likely to guess that a flu-like illness is really the start of hepatitis.

In fact there are many more cases of infectious hepatitis than is ever diagnosed. Why? Because there is a mild form that behaves like other virus diseases and jaundice never develops at all. This mild form is more apt to occur in individuals who have had infectious hepatitis before and have some immunity or in infants or children.

I have included some remarks about viral hepatitis in The Health Letter number 7-8, Living With Your Liver. I am sending you a copy to give you more information. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There is evidence that patients with hepatitis do better at bed rest. Apparently this has something to do with the changes in circulation to the liver when you are sitting up as compared to lying down. Patients with jaundice are usually kept at bed rest. When they become too active too soon there is usually a relapse in the course of the disease.

There is no magic number of days for bed rest or resumption of activity. Doctors usually make this decision based on tests that evaluate liver function. As the liver function improves the jaundice recedes and the tests improve. When they show little evidence of liver disease the person's activity is increased.

Obviously the more severe the initial damage to the liver and the longer it takes to control the viral infection the longer will be the bed rest and the disability. And it is not uncommon for a person to lack energy for some time after initial recovery from the illness. With suitable rest and time most people with viral hepatitis recover completely.

Older people do not tolerate viral hepatitis as well as young people. Mild cases of hepatitis in younger people are sometimes treated at home but older people and those with more severe infections must be hospitalized until suitable recovery is achieved.

Wants To Kick Older-Man Habit

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y.News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old college girl with a high I.Q., but I have a big problem concerning men. I relate very well to older men, but college men seem so immature that I can't work up any romantic interest in any of them. Believe me, I've tried.

This year I've had two affairs with older men. I never thought I'd be "that kind of girl." It would really hurt my parents if they knew, so I'm very discreet about it.

These men weren't just men I'd picked up somewhere, but people I'd known a long time.

Abby, I want so much to be held and loved, but I don't want to be on the receiving end only. When a man gives me his love I do everything possible to give as much as I get.

Right now I'm flirting with a married man who is 47. I'm sure nothing lasting can ever come of it, but I can't seem to help myself.

Lately I've been having recurring suicidal thoughts and that scares the daylights out of me. Please help me.

WANTS TO BE LOVED

DEAR WANTS: You're normal. EVERYBODY wants to be loved, but you may have some deep-seated emotional problems that need to be resolved.

If there's a Suicide Prevention Clinic in your town, call them. They offer excellent counseling. Or call your mental health clinic for an appointment. If your college has a counseling service, take advantage of it.

Please write again and tell me which of these recommendations you've pursued, and let me know how you're doing. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Over drinks, my friend of 25 years informed me that the cocktail I was drinking contained more alcohol than the bottle of beer he was drinking.

I told him I thought there was as much alcohol in his bottle of beer as there was in my cocktail. An argument followed, and now we have a bet on. I'm sure I'm right, but I can't prove it. Can you help me?

A BET AT REILLY'S

DEAR BET: One shot of whiskey (one and one-half ounces), a glass of table wine (five ounces) and a pint of beer (16 ounces) all contain approximately the same amount of ethyl alcohol.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the same age, but he prefers older women. I don't know why he married me. He didn't have to. Soon after we were married, I found out he had been living with a woman in her forties since he was 18. (He was then 23). He wanted to keep on seeing her, but I put a stop to it. Then he started seeing a neighbor's wife. She was in her early fifties. We had to move away from there before she broke up our marriage.

When our first child was born, I hired an ugly old woman in her sixties to help me. I thought surely my husband could be trusted with her, but I was wrong. He was with her every chance he got.

Everybody tells me I am nice looking. Is there something wrong with me? Or is it him?

VEGAS

DEAR VEGAS: It's him.

Anti-Smoke Groups To Ask Ban On Cigarettes

BY DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-A number of organizations opposed to cigarette smoking are trying to force the Food and Drug Administration to regulate the sale of cigarettes as strictly as the agency plans to regulate saccharin.

The anti-cigarette Action on Smoking and Health, along with other groups and individuals, prepared today to file with an FDA hearing officer a petition that asks the agency to prohibit the sale of cigarettes containing nicotine, except by pharmacies.

The FDA has maintained that it does not have jurisdiction over the sale and use of cigarettes, but the petition by the anti-smoking groups challenges this on legal grounds.

"This is one of those funny petitions that nobody says will work," said John F. Banzhaf III, a law professor at George Washington University and the executive director and general counsel of ASH, the smoking and health group. "I think it will work. Nobody has proved to me that it won't."

He recalled in an interview that in past campaigns his organization won the right to free air time to reply to cigarette commercials, won an eventual ban on cigarette advertising on the air and got separate sections for smokers on airplanes, trains, and buses.

But a spokesman for the FDA said "it is our clear understanding that Congress never intended for us or any other federal agency to regulate the use of cigarettes."

Banzhaf's group was joined by 10 other organizations and by two former U.S. surgeons general: Dr. Jesse Steinfeld and Dr. Luther Terry.

The FDA plans to ban the use of the artificial sweetener saccharin as a food additive, but permit its sale over the counter. It recently held public hearings on the ban, now scheduled to begin in July.

The saccharin ban is based on tests in which rats were subjected to massive doses of the artificial sweetener.

The anti-cigarette groups' petition said the FDA had based its saccharin ban on "unproven assumptions." The petition noted the FDA "has suggested that the exposure of 200 million Americans to a reasonable amount of saccharin could result over a lifetime in 12,000 cases of cancer."

But, the petition says, cigarettes "needlessly kill over 300,000 Americans each year and cause more cancers each year than saccharin has been suggested to kill over a lifetime."

The petition also said the evidence of cigarettes as a cancer-causing agent is "overwhelming," adding that the cigarette evidence "consists of hundreds of studies on human beings not just rats at conventional rather than massive dose rates."

SRU Courses To End After Summer Term

Sul Ross State University has announced that it will discontinue course offerings through Western Texas College at the end of the second summer session.

Two summer terms are scheduled at WTC, one beginning June 1 and the second beginning July 7. Registration for the first summer session is now in progress and will continue through Friday.

Dr. Bob Pannell, Director of Off-Campus Study Programs for Sul Ross, made the announcement of plans to discontinue the WTC center. He pointed out that students now enrolled in the WTC program should make every effort to take advantage of the opportunity to complete coursework for the degree and or certification they are seeking prior to cessation of operations this summer. Students who are unable to complete their programs this summer may complete them on the Sul Ross campus in Alpine, and may discuss plans through their major advisor on campus.

Sul Ross has offered graduate level courses at WTC since the fall of 1973.

'Godfather III' Is Announced

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Now there will be a "Godfather III."

Paramount Pictures, which made millions with the first two versions of Mario Puzo's Mafia movies, announced that Alexander Jacobs will write the script for a third one. The new film will take place in today's underworld, with the sons of Michael Corleone involved in illegal doings.

Jacob's previous film credits include "The French Connection II," "Enemy of People" and "Point Blank."

"I think I've got it, but explain once more about the difference between the carburetor and the cigarette lighter!"

PRODUCTION HALTED 50-YEARS AGO TODAY

'Tin Lizzie' Capped Industrial Revolution

DETROIT (AP) — The last of the Model T Fords are 50 years old today, but the simple black "Tin Lizzie" still stands out as the most revolutionary of automobiles.

It capped the industrial revolution, introduced the world to mass production, made $5 a day the standard wage and drove the United States toward a lifestyle based on auto ownership.

Beginning in 1908, Ford turned out more than 15 million Model T's, and the car's popularity was unchallenged until 1927, when General Motors' Chevrolet took over first place. Affluence was spreading and Americans wanted a choice.

Model T production was halted by Henry Ford's order on May 26, 1927, at the principal plant in Highland Park, Mich., and a few months later at two other plants.

The 19-year total was 15,456,868 Model T's, a record that stood for 44 years. In 1971, the Volkswagen Beetle became the new champion, but only after 26 years of production. Beetle output now stands at about 18.7 million.

Model T popularity had peaked in 1925, when Henry Ford's assembly-line production facilities were turning out 2,000 cars a day, permitting the base price to drop to $290 and daily wages to rise to $5. His manufacturing innovations put a car within the means of millions of Americans. It was cheap, reliable transportation.

In its first 10 years, the Model T had to be started with an often-difficult crank. Uncounted broken fingers, hands, arms and noses were dispensed when the crank snapped back.

There was no door on the driver's side of those earliest Model T's. The accelerator was on the steering column. The brake pedal was on the right, a reverse pedal was in the center and a pedal for shifting gears - from low to high and back - was on the left.

The four-cylinder engine could push the car to 45 miles per hour and could run for 22 miles on a gallon of gasoline at that speed, but few people went that fast because the car would vibrate violently. Besides, roads were in no shape to support such breakneck speeds.

The Model T was gradually refined, and by the 1920s it had an ignition key on the dashboard and a starter button on the floor. It also had one gauge - an ammeter to measure electric current. But fuel levels were still measured by a stick. Speed and distance were guessed at.

From the start, the Model T came only in basic black, because that was the paint that dried fastest - important on an assembly line. Henry Ford once said people could have the Model T in any color they wanted "so long as it is black."

The Model T is far from extinct. Ford Motor Co. officials say there may be 100,000 Tin Lizzie owners around the country. It's obvious that some of them tool along, because Model T parts still are listed occasionally in automotive catalogues.

Your Birthday

YOUR BIRTHDAY - May 27, 1977 This year you'll find that the enterprises or projects you personally manage will be the more successful ones. Keep your hand on the tiller. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Gemini's Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P. O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order to reap a large return today you might find it necessary to first prime the pump. Spend proportionately to what you hope to get.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be willing to share your good fortune today with those who helped make it possible. Just looking out for No. 1 causes problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll do better in dealing with others today if your attitude is philosophical. Consider the source if offended by a person of little depth.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone who is indebted to you may discharge the obligation today in a manner far more generous than necessary. However, you may not recognize it as such.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In business situations today your timing must be sharp so as not to oversell. Make a quick exit as soon as you get a "yes."

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Joint ventures will not be successful today if what you have to offer is not commensurate to what the other party gives. The arrangement must be balanced.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There's a strong possibility today you could get involved in something with another against your better judgment. Let your logic prevail.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're very capable today of gaining goals that are important to you. Keep it to yourself. An associate could throw cold water on your accomplishments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) One who always gives you advice and counsel when you need it will be annoyed today if you take his ideas and claim they're your own.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're successful today in handling things affecting your work or career. The same may not be true of those you mix with socially.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're planning something fun with your mate this evening don't make too late a night of it. Your charm deserts you as the hours grow late.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today will be a very productive one for you, but do lay down your tools when the interest in what you're working on wanes.

15 Indicted In Drug Conspiracy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted 15 people on charges of conspiring to import marijuana from Mexico for distribution in the United States.

The indictment, unsealed Wednesday afternoon, alleged the smuggling conspiracy has existed for more than two years and operated in Texas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Mexico and other unnamed locations.

U.S. Atty. John Clark said the multi-state operation has been under investigation for about a year. He said the probe was conducted by agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration, federal prosecutors and state narcotics officials.

Those named in the five-count indictment were:

Wendell Glenn Johnson, 34, Bellmead, Tex.; Michael Ray Spivey, 27, Mexia, Tex.; John Wiley Watson, Waco, Tex.; Robert Lloyd Kibler, 26, Bellingham, Wash.; Howard Watson III, 33, Waco; Karen Lou Spivey, 26, Rt. 1, Mexia.

Also, William Wright Keitt, 42, Waco; Richard Lee Stricklin, Killeen, Tex.; Pedro Vasquez Jr., 27, Weslaco, Tex.; Benny Tyler, South Bend, Ind.; Fred Dennis Beckett, 26; John Norris Epperson, 41, Kenneth Leo Simpson, 34; and Robert Starr.

Beckett, Epperson, Simpson and Starr are reported to be in jail in Mexico.

The indictment said Johnson, Howard Watson, Epperson and Simpson are pilots.

Authorities said Johnson, Michael Spivey, John Watson, Howard Watson, Karen Spivey and Benny Tyler had been arrested when the indictment was unsealed at noon Wednesday.

The indictment did not specify how much marijuana was involved in the conspiracy but federal sources said it was believed in the thousands of pounds.
