COTTON PLANTING in Mitchell County will soon be in full swing as evidenced by the fact that Richard Cox is already laying down his crop in his field near the Buford Gin.

Moisture Needed Cotton Planting Now Underway

As of the end of last week only about 1,500 acres of this year's Mitchell County cotton crop was in the ground but, according to ASCS Director Don Stewart, the planting will begin in earnest this week.

Stewart said that he expects from 39,000 to 40,000 acres of the crop to be planted this week because May 20 is generally accepted by farmers at the ideal date to plant cotton. He stated that he expected about 75,000 acres of cotton would be planted in the county this year, more than ever before.

As to why May 20 was given as the best time to plant, Stewart said that it was because the soil was generally just about right temperature and also cotton planted on that date had time to mature before the first freeze which is usually around Nov. 10.

Also he added, May 20 was late enough so that theoretically the insects which had hatched earlier in the spring would have already deceased because of lack of anything to eat.

Stewart added that, at any rate, farmers have until June 10 to plant and be in line with the ASCS cotton program. If conditions are unsuitable for planting by that date, they have five days after that to declare a prevented planting and file for government assistance with the ASCS County Committee. This Committee will then decide whether or not he should receive the government assistance.

Five such area farmers filed for the prevented planting last year.

Stewart said that the moisture situation for the crop was probably some better than last year when it was dry right up until the planting date.

He said that now however there were areas of the county which were badly in need of rain.

He went on to say that in the northern part of the county, north of Colorado City and Lorraine, the moisture at present was adequate but that in the south and southwestern areas of the county it was marginal and that around Westbrook it was very dry.

Stewart said that he personally thought that the best thing that could happen to the cotton crop would be a good soaking rain this weekend and then a drying off period beginning Monday, in time for area farmers to begin planting.

The ASCS Director went on to say that another factor which would have to affect the planting, especially right now, was the fuel supply. He said that it had always been somewhat of a problem for farmers to get all the fuel they need at planting time since they all need it at once and it must all be supplied at once. The problem of course is more serious now than before.

He said that a tractor can use up to 150 gallons of fuel per day and that with current prices, that means that it costs about $100 or more per day just for fuel.

Mitchell County Extension Agent Benson said Friday that there appeared that there was a light population of boll weevils in area fields this spring.

Benson said that the reason for this was probably the severe winter that Mitchell County experienced and also that a low number of the insects went into hibernation last fall.

He said that this next week a number of traps would be put out over the county to attract the insects and this would give a better picture of the population of weevils that the farmers would have to contend with.

TESCO Requests 16.1% Utility Rate Increase

Texas Electric Service Company Thursday filed a request for a 16.1 percent systemwide increase in revenues.

The request, which was filed with the cities served by TESCO and with the Public Utility Commission in Austin, would provide an additional $88 million in revenue.

The increase in rates is necessary because of the effect of inflation of Texas Electric's operation, including its program to build new generating plants that use lignite coal and nuclear fuels, said B.B. Hardee, TESCO manager in Colorado City.

TESCO can no longer obtain low-cost long-range gas contracts and the government has required utilities to help the nation conserve oil by using other kinds of fuels to generate electricity, Hardee said.

"Our goal is to see that our customers continue to have a reliable supply of electricity at reasonable prices," he said. "To do this, we must continue our program to reduce our dependence on natural gas and oil as fuels to generate electricity."

The company already has on hand long-range supplies of lignite and uranium, the two most abundant and most economical fuels available.

"We have made good progress in our program to build generating plants that use these two fuels," Hardee said.

But he said the company's fuel-changing program has been hit especially hard by inflation since it began 10 years ago, and also the every-growing costs of complying with government regulations.

"We are committed to operating our plants in an environmentally acceptable way," Hardee said. "But all these regulations add considerably to the price of electricity."

Despite the impact of inflation and regulation on construction costs, the company's lignite and nuclear generation units will continue to mean lower overall electricity bill for customers.

"The total price of electricity is made up of two items. Base rate and fuel cost," Hardee said. "By increasing the base rate, we are able to continue building plants that use cheaper lignite and uranium fuels."

Under the proposed rates, increases for specific residential customers would vary according to the time of year and the amount each customer uses. Generally, a customer whose bills are in the range of $30 to $40 per month would see an increase of about $5 a month.

Although the increase could take effect on June 21, in the past the PUC and city councils have postponed the effective date to study the request further. Therefore it is not expected to take effect before next fall.

Lorraine Council Nixes Contract

The Lorraine City Council in a short called meeting Thursday night turned down on a possible contract with Colorado City concerning the collection of their trash and decided to stay with what they have.

Despite the fact that they have been informed by the Texas State Health Department that their landfill doesn't meet state requirements, the Lorraine councilmembers decided to continue using it as long as possible because they didn't feel that the city and its residents could afford to pay the $4.50 per customer that the city of Colorado City had asked for Colorado City sanitation workers to make a weekly run to pick up the garbage.

At present, the City of Lorraine is absorbing the cost of $1 per customer per month for Sylvester Rose to pick up the trash and deposit it in the city landfill.

Councilmember Evert Henderson made the motion to continue using the landfill because he said that a number of Lorraine citizens had complained to him that $4.50 per customer was too high and he added that they were also unhappy that they would

Car-Bicycle Crash Kills 1

Nine-year-old Amanda Rivera was killed and her 7-year-old brother injured when the bicycle on which they were riding was hit by a car on the Sterling City Highway about 7:10 p.m. Friday.

The brother, Rene Rivera was transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo Friday evening. At last report he was in serious condition with a broken leg, cuts and bruises.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Luis Rivera who live on Central.

The 25-year-old driver of the car told police she was unable to stop as the bicycle the two youngsters were riding came right out in front of her car. She was southbound on Concho (Sterling City Highway) at the time.

The accident occurred just south of the Concho Street intersection with Fairmount.

Police Sergeant Jimmy Roundtree said the girl apparently was driving the bicycle. She was thrown some 61 feet by the impact while her brother was knocked about 24 feet.

The accident is still under investigation, Roundtree said.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Monday at St. Ann's Catholic Church with Father John Busch officiating. Burial will be in the Mitchell County Cemetery.

Amanda, a third grader at Hutchinson Elementary, was born Feb. 22, 1970 at Root Hospital. She is also survived by three other brothers, Jess, Joe and Edward of the home and two sisters, Rebecca and Anita, also of the home, and by her paternal grandmother, Catherine Rivera of Colorado City.

Substance Injures Woman

A 22-year-old Colorado City housewife is reported in critical condition after it was suspected she took "Angel Dust" sometime Wednesday. She was admitted to Root Hospital Wednesday about 2 p.m. and transferred to an Abilene Hospital Thursday afternoon.

A sample of what was thought to be Angel Dust was found in an area she had access to and sent to Abilene where it was confirmed to be PCP (Angel Dust) according to a spokesman from Root Memorial Hospital.

The young woman just turned 22 last Thursday. She is the mother of two children.

Town Talk

By MAC MCKINNON

A survey was conducted at Colorado High School earlier this year to determine how many students read the Colorado City Record and what they would like to see in the Record.

The survey was taken at my request and I would like to thank Principal Jerry Reynolds, the teachers involved in conducting the survey and the students for responding.

Of the 333 students responding to the survey, 285 said they read the Record, 42 said they didn't and six wrote that they read the newspaper sometimes.

Many of the students had suggestions to make about what they would like to see in the paper and we're trying to follow some of the suggestions wherever possible.

Some of the suggested ideas are not possible such as giving news coverage to the Cowboys and sports activities in area towns. This is something that would be interesting but the role of a community newspaper is to serve its immediate area. The Colorado City Record is for Mitchell County residents and about Mitchell County residents and those associated with Mitchell County.

We simply do not have the space for news from outside of Mitchell County unless it has something to do with activities of interest to local residents.

In this same vein, some of the suggestions applied. We would like to print news about concerts in area town, if we know about them. Also efforts have been and are being made to list the showings of theatres in nearby towns.

There were a number of comments about what people don't like in the paper but it should be remembered that all things aren't of interest to all people and by the same token, we try to serve all of the community by printing news of interest to as many people as possible.

Some students said there isn't enough news in the paper, some said there is too much news in the paper and some said they don't like the news.

A number of students commented they like the paper the way it is, some said they wanted more variety and one of the most common comments was that the students like stories about people.

A number of students commented they would like to see more coverage of various school functions and we will be attempting to follow those suggestions in the future. Comments also indicated the students like editorials.

Some of the comments concerned information never printing in the paper. In some of the instances, we printed all the information we could get and on others, we didn't know about them. If someone wants something in the paper, we ask them they phone us with the information. Sometimes we don't know about various happenings, at other times although we may know something in particular is going on, we have no way to get the details.

The prevailing items on suggestions concerned sports. While some thought there was too much sports news,

Westbrook Water Rates On Rise

The Westbrook City Council, facing increased water costs being passed on to them by the Westbrook School District, voted Thursday night to increase the city water rates to local customers beginning with the June billings.

Councilmembers W. A.
Bell, Sid Jones and Sam
Oden voted to increase Westbrook citizen's water rates as follows:

The minimum rate for the first 3000 gallons of usage will increase from $5.50 to $7.50 for users inside the city limits. For these users,
the rate per thousand gallons above 3,000 will also increase from $1 to $1.50.

The garbage pickup rate for residents inside the city limits will remain at 90c per month.

For water users outside the Westbrook city limits, the minimum rate for the first 3,000 gallons used will increase from $7 to $9 and the rate per thousand gallons for all water used over 3,000 gallons will increase from $1 to $1.50.

The councilmembers said that they were only increasing the rates because it was necessary to keep up with the increased rates given them and they also stated that they were only raising the rates enough to break even.

The costs being passed on the City or Westbrook came from their water supplier, the Westbrook School District and involved a 55c per thousand gallon increase up from 75c to $1.30 to the city.

The school district had said that their increase in rates was necessary because the City of Colorado City from whom they had been buying the water increased their rates from about 51c per thousand gallons to about 81c per thousand gallons.

The Westbrook councilmembers stated that rate increase to their customers was still in the trial stage to see if it would produce sufficient funds for the city to break even.

Individalism & Materialism Popular But Destructive Attitudes

Rev. Bob Grayson
Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church

In the gospel of Mark, Chapter 8, Jesus said the following, "If anyone wishes to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. For whoever wishes to save his life shall lose it, and whoever loses his life for My sake and the gospel's shall save it. For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world, and forfeit his soul?"

Two of the main problems in people's lives, our homes, and our society are individualism and materialism. "do your own thing", and "everyone for himself" are popular phrases and attitudes in today's society. More and more, men, women, and youth are leaving homes with no real concern for the other members of the family; all they know and care about is that they want to be on their own, free of responsibility and restrictions. This is the attitude of individualism about which I am talking. It is becoming hard to find people who can be described as faithful, loyal, dependable, and responsible. The person who lives for self doesn't have much to live for.
But, the person who denies self or dies to self-centeredness and lives for Jesus and others discovers true life, full and abundant. The world is trying more and more to find meaning and satisfaction in life but is discovering that life is empty and disappointing. Only Jesus can satisfy.

Along with individualism, which is almost totally self-centered, the world follows after the dream of satisfaction and fulfillment through materialism. We sacrifice our homes and children to have more income and luxuries. Credit buying soars and we have belived the lie that we should have all the things others have and that we can't be happy without them.
The phrase "I owe it to myself" is becoming the attitude of the majority.
God's Word tells us if we are irresponsible in handling financial matters then God is unable to trust us with spiritual matters. What we need is smaller houses and better homes but what we are getting is just the opposite.
There is nothing wrong with money but we need to re-examine what we are willing to do to obtain money and how prone we are to spend money we don't have.

The Man who lives for self will lose out in this life and the one to come.
The Man who denies self discovers true life. The man who lives to acquire more and more will end up with nothing but the man who lives for God will enjoy all things.

What costly mistakes can I avoid when buying insurance for my home?

Experience has shown that some people make these potentially costly mistakes when buying home insurance:

They under-insure by not keeping their coverage up-to-date with replacement costs or by not including home improvements in their present coverage.

They haven't reviewed their coverages recently with their independent insurance agent to take advantage of current changes in policies as well as in the value of their possessions.

They place too high a value on their home or on its contents. For example, if your furniture is several years old, it may have depreciated in worth.

They don't take advantage of premium-saving deductible provisions that can be explained by their independent agent.

They fail to advise their agent of sizable new purchases, such as boats, second homes, recreational vehicles, jewelry, etc.

Local Property Owners Warned Of Scheme

Colorado City Residents should be wary of anyone who anyone who comes around seeking yardwork and then ask for payment before the work is completed or even begun.

Several teenage boys have been reported recently in Colorado City to be seeking yardwork. After they and the property owner agree on a price for the work, the boys are reported to have said that they can't do the work right then but they wanted the money ahead of time because they needed it for school or some other reason.

According to County Judge Bill Carter, the boys have bilked at least four Colorado City property owners with this scheme recently. He said that on some occasions the boys had been able to get into the owner's house to further see if there was anything of value there.

Carter warned all residents to avoid this scheme and to always know who they are dealing with before agreeing to any yardwork or any kind of work.

Carter also asked that anyone who is approached with the scheme to call him at the Mitchell County Courthouse.

Council Meeting Tuesday

In a called meeting of the City Council of Colorado City Tuesday at 4 p.m., councilmembers will consider passage of an ordinance and resolution which are necessary to put the city in line for a possible federal grant.

The council will consider passage of a fair housing ordinance and will also adopt a resolution authorizing Mayor Marion Bassham as chief executive officer and City Manager Ray Mason as contact person for the Urban Development Action Grant.

Mason said that if Colorado City were to qualify for the grant it would greatly aid in the city's industrial development in that if an industry were to decide to locate here anytime in the future, the grant would provide the money for any needed facilities which the city didn't already have.

others thought news coverage of sports is just great and still others want much more.

The comments showed that students are interested in what's going on here with comments about politics, city finances, merchants and other activities in town not related to school.

Many of the suggestions dealt with wanting more news about young people. This is one of the reasons I asked that the survey be conducted so I could determine what the students want in the way of news coverage. The survey helped a great deal and efforts are being made to comply with request made if at all possible.

Several students noted that they wanted to see a bigger paper with more pages and we are endeavoring to do this.

My family made our annual venture to Six Flags over Texas two days after the Wolf Band was there and we were surprised to find very few people at the amusement park, despite the fact that it was a very nice day about 75 to 80 degrees.

Possibly one of the contributing factors in this was the rumor I've been hearing that service stations in the Metroplex are closed on Sundays. However, I failed to see a single closed station during the two days I was in that area.

I attended a Texas Ranger game one night and on the scoreboard was a message welcoming the Colorado Middle School Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Texas Press Association recently published several entries in a contest conducted by an Iowa newspaper with contestants asked to complete the sentence, "You're in a small town when..."

Some of the top entries were:

- "...you don't need to use your car's turn signals because everyone knows where you are going."
- "...you're born on June 13 and receive prizes from local merchants for being the second baby of the year born in the town."
- "...you can and do speak to each dog you meet by name and get a friendly wag in return."
- "...you dial a wrong number but end up talking 15 minutes anyway."
- "...during the harvest season, you get run off main street by a combine."

Theme Designated For Older Americans Month

"Better Health Through Better Care" is the theme of Older Americans Month this May. Health is the key to active, independent, productive lives for older people, who comprise the fastest-growing age group within the American population, according to the Administration on Aging, the Federal agency which funds nutrition programs, community services and senior centers reaching millions of people. AOA is the principal advocate in the Federal government for America's 34 million persons 60 and over.

Health for older Americans covers broad areas and measures which everyone should be aware of. Medical care per se is only part of it. Major factors in the health of each person or food, exercise, personal hygiene, housing, living conditions, avoidance of excess alcohol, drugs and tobacco, control of stress and tensions and, highly important to health of the aged, accident prevention.

The great increase in longevity now causing a dramatic aging of the American population is itself largely the result of general improvement in health and living conditions in the United States during this century.

More than 25 years have been added to the average American life since 1900. And this increase in life expectancy from 47 years in 1900 to 73.2 years in 1977 has added a whole new generation of living people to American society. This is one of the great human achievements of the century. But it poses a major challenge to make the added years a benefit to older people themselves and to American society.

America now has the richest talent pool of able older citizens that any nation has ever produced. And they are only the first generation to benefit from major social improvements over the past half century—better educational opportunities, better health care and greater economic prosperity. Each succeeding generation will be better educated and more highly skilled, better able to serve society.

possible performance during the years that have been added to each life.

Most older people are vigorous, alert and independent. Their active, productive lives are invalidating the stereotypes of old age.

More and more Americans now actually look forward to their older years as a time of personal fulfillment and freedom from responsibilities and constraints.

For the first time, most people can aspire to lead active, useful, healthy lives into their 70's and 80's.

There are now about 13 million Americans over 65 who are vigorous, independent and able to participate in the mainstream of American life without assistance. They constitute about 60 per cent of the over-65 population.

About 40 per cent of the over-65 group do have limitations imposed by chronic conditions, physical or psychological, or suffer from poverty conditions. They total 9 to 10 million persons, and about 3.5 to 4 million of this group have limited mobility and are home-bound or at least need assistance in moving about to perform ordinary life tasks.

About one million older Americans reside in nursing homes or other chronic care facilities.

Studies of nursing homes show a large number of residents could live outside in the community if adequate home services were available.

The Administration on Aging has been helping communities build such services and coordinate them.

U.S. Commissioner on Aging Robert Benedict has said that comprehensive community services ought to be for older people what education systems have been for children, a rich mixture of public and private services including education, recreation, senior centers, congregate meals, transportation and escort services, home-delivered meals, in-home health and homemaker services.

The system would include community centers where older people can receive services and give services to others, and a variety of community living arrangements for people who need some support they cannot get at home. An essential part of the continuum of services to older people would be quality nursing home care, opening out on the community to allow residents access to the social, health, recreational and other services of the community.

Finance Committee Hosts B&PW Dinner Meeting

The Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club met recently for a regular dinner and business meeting at 7 p.m. in the Civic Center.

The Finance Committee hosted the meeting. Molly Bruce was chairman assisted by Ida Kirschbaum, Nell Shackelford, Sue Womack and Neva Turner.

The club president, Mildred Free, welcomed those attending. The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Molly Bruce and the club collect was recited by Ida Kirschbaum.

The program was presented by the members of the finance committee in the form of a skit. Participating were Katy Byrd, Ida Kirschbaum, LaRue Powell and Molly Bruce.

In the skit the importance of a good credit rating was stressed and how to obtain credit when it is applied for.

This is of importance to the widow, single person or the wife who wishes to establish her own credit rating.

The business meeting was called to order by the president. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and a treasurer's report was given.

Reports of the standing committees were also heard.

The B&PW helped sponsor a seminar, "New Options For Women" Saturday at the Wallace Center. This is a civic participation project. Shirley Delaney is chairman.

The club will also sponsor the queen contest this year for the Junior Rodeo on July 4. Molly Bruce, Margaret Ann Conway, Virginia Dearen and Ida Kirschbaum will assist Shirley Delaney in this effort.

Molly Bruce, chairman of the nominating committee, presented a slate of officers for the coming year. They are as follows: president, Margaret Ann Conway; first vice president, Juanita Schaffer; second vice president, Erdine Morgan; recording secretary, Annie Dixon; corresponding secretary, Shirley Delaney and treasurer, Nell Shackelford.

These officers were accepted by the club to serve for the upcoming year.

Thursday will be the date for the May social meeting. It will be in the Civic Center and members are to bring white elephants for prizes.

The club also decided to sponsor a girls softball team and elected the delegates to attend state convention in Lubbock in June. To attend are Margaret Ann Conway, Erdine Morgan, Sue Womack and Annie Dixon. Alternate delegates are, Juanita Schaffer, Elaine Fugate and Ola Mae Johnson.

Plans for the Fall

Improvement

Week To Begin

May 21-26 is "Mailbox Improvement Week," and Postmaster A.M. Morris urged all local customers to paint and repair unkept or damaged mail receptacles, in town and on rural routes.

"Customers should be sure their boxes provide adequate protection to the mail and are easily reached by carriers to help speed collection and delivery of their mail," Postmaster Morris said.

The Postmaster recalled that a man named Ira F. Collins was among the first to show interest in improving the appearance and security of the mailbox.

On April 29, 1903, he filed an application with the U.S. Patent office for a two-part, cylindrical mail receptacle. It consisted of a detachable scoop with a weather-proof outer casing, and a metal flag that could be raised to indicate when mail was to be collected.

"Until Collins came along," Postmaster Morris said, "many makeshift receptacles - including tin cans nailed to trees - were used as mailboxes, particularly after rural service began in 1896."

Today, he said, a variety of approved commercial mailbox designs are available for use with decorative posts, and those who prefer a custom-made mailbox may check with the Colorado City Post office to make sure it meets specifications and requirements.

During Mailbox Improvement Week, residents should examine their mailboxes to determine whether they have been damaged by weather or vandalism - particularly those located along rural routes, city curb-lines, and highways - and should make any necessary repairs or improvements.

Improvement

Week To Begin

May 21-26 is "Mailbox Improvement Week," and Postmaster A.M. Morris urged all local customers to paint and repair unkept or damaged mail receptacles, in town and on rural routes.

"Customers should be sure their boxes provide adequate protection to the mail and are easily reached by carriers to help speed collection and delivery of their mail," Postmaster Morris said.

The Postmaster recalled that a man named Ira F. Collins was among the first to show interest in improving the appearance and security of the mailbox.

On April 29, 1903, he filed an application with the U.S. Patent office for a two-part, cylindrical mail receptacle. It consisted of a detachable scoop with a weather-proof outer casing, and a metal flag that could be raised to indicate when mail was to be collected.

Congressional Comment

BY CHARLES W. STENHOLM

A reporter once asked Winston Churchill what the qualifications were for becoming a politician. Churchill replied that a politician should have the ability to foretell what is going to happen tomorrow, next week, next month, and next year. And to have the ability afterwards to explain why it didn't happen.

Clearly our present inflation policy is testing President Carter's ability as a politician. For two years we have been hearing such jargon as jawboning, voluntary wage-price guidelines, hospital cost containment, real wage insurance, and chief inflation fighter. All this and we still have double digit inflation. The reason it has not succeeded is because it has lacked real substance.

Jawboning and voluntary wage-price guidelines have failed because labor unions and businesses expect the other guy to hold the line and have ignored pleas from the White House. Hospital cost containment would actually decrease the quality of health care in many of our hospitals and prevent construction of new facilities in rural areas. Real wage insurance could add as much as $15 billion to the deficit and start another costly bureaucracy. And we have got a chief inflation fighter who is very good at testifying before Senate committees but sticks and stones may break my bones but words will never stop inflation. Increased production will.

What is necessary is strong substantive action. It is time to decrease the growth of government and only spend tax dollars on essential services that the private sector is unable to provide. We should have a balanced budget by 1982 and a gradual reduction in taxes beginning in 1981.

A deferral of the increase in the minimum wage and especially the allowance of a 70th differential would reduce inflation and increase employment.

A repeal of the out-dated Davis-Bacon Act which compels contractors to pay inflated wages when they are working on Federal contracts or other Federally aided construction projects would be a step in the right direction. We need a massive reduction in government paper work which is often duplicative and unnecessary. A halt in the growth of the money supply by the Federal Reserve would prevent too few goods from being chased by too many dollars. And above all we need meaningful regulatory reform allowing firms to be subject to the regulation of the market place instead of the Federal government.

Too often "we," the government, express the need for economic growth but act to restrict production; we hear about the need for price stability but pass legislation that raises prices; we hear about the need for productivity but act to discourage savings and investment.

Inflation will be halted only when our needs conform to our words. It is my sincere hope that the people of this nation will demand and accept nothing less from those of us who represent you.

Chamber Of Commerce

BY LARRY WINDERS

As most of you know, I have been supportive of and mainly agreed with Congressman Charles Stenholm since he arrived in Washington. I am still inclined to give him the benefit of a doubtful situation.

In this issue of the Colorado City Record a "Congressional Comment" by Charles W. Stenholm appears. It was dated for release as of May 17, 1979. In this release he takes President Carter and Mr. Kahn, the mis-designated inflation fighter for the Administration, to task for their ineffective efforts. And I agree with him - so far.

In the third paragraph he states, and I quote, "What is necessary is strong substantive action. It is time to decrease the growth of government and only spend tax dollars on essential services that the private sector is unable to provide. We should have a balanced budget by 1982 and a gradual reduction in taxes beginning in 1981." And I agree with him there.

What confuses me is this. Last November the American people sent to Washington 535 members of Congress who, for the most part, promised to cut spending, reduced taxes and lower inflation. My memory says that every time I heard Congressman Charles Stenholm when he was running for election, this was the general line he followed. The First Budget Resolution for Fiscal 1980 gave these legislators an opportunity to do as they had promised. But, in both the House and Senate, Republican substitutes to higher Budget Committee approved spending and deficit totals were rejected on the floor.

In the House, Representative Delbert Latta offered a substitute bill that would have cut proposed spending by some $15 billion, and reduced the deficit by $10 billion, to a total deficit of $15.2. And the Latta substitute would have allowed a $15 billion tax cut next year, while the Budget Committee proposal makes room for none.

What confuses me is this. According to the roll call vote published in the Congressional Record of May 9, 1979, Congressman Stenholm voted against the Latta Substitute and in favor of higher spending.

When our legislators spend one billion dollars it cost every person in the United States approximately $4.82. That vote cost my family about $120. You can figure how much it cost yours.

I am confused because the rhetoric does not seem to correlate with the recorded action. I offer no personal opinion at this time. It seems to me that there should be an explanation and I shall wait until that time before voicing any divergence of opinion. But, in the meantime, I would prefer more easily recognized "strong substantive action."

Marla Bodine To Present Concert

Marla Bodine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bodine of Colorado City, has been chosen to travel with the Continental Singers and Orchestra during their 1979 summer touring season. Continental Singers annually sends over 300 outstanding young musicians across the U.S. and around the world during the summer months to proclaim the Gospel through contemporary Christian music.

Miss Bodine will be a sophomore next year at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. She is a music education major.

She plays the piano and is a II alto and a member of the HSU Choir. She is also a member of First Baptist Church.

Miss Bodine will present a concert to the public of Mitchell County Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church Auditorium. The concert will be entitled "An Hour Of Praise." The public is cordially invited to attend.

The tour on which she will be traveling is one of ten Continental

Singers tours that will cover the U.S. and several foreign countries in the summer of 1979. All tours will meet in Los Angeles in June for an intensive ten day rehearsal before beginning their 75 day tour of nightly concert performances.

Bodine's tour will travel to the northern part of the U.S., Holland, England and Scotland.

The ministry of Continental Singers, a non-profit Christian musical corporation, was founded in 1962 by its executive director and president, Cam Florida, one of America's most popular and outstanding Christian musicians.

It has grown from a single tour that covered five north western states to ten tours that cover much of the world. The corporation has its U.S. headquarters in Los Angeles and a European office in Rotterdam, Holland. Over the past several years, Continental Singers groups have toured extensively through all fifty states and nearly sixty foreign countries.

Each member of the Continental Singers summer tours is responsible for raising approximately one half of his individual cost for the tour. The other half is raised through offerings and record sales during the tour.

Marla Bodine's individual tour sponsorship, the amount to be raised is $1745. Persons interested in having a part in this exciting opportunity for ministry should contact her directly.

Marla Bodine To Present Concert

Marla Bodine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bodine of Colorado City, has been chosen to travel with the Continental Singers and Orchestra during their 1979 summer touring season. Continental Singers annually sends over 300 outstanding young musicians across the U.S. and around the world during the summer months to proclaim the Gospel through contemporary Christian music.

Miss Bodine will be a sophomore next year at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. She is a music education major.

She plays the piano and is a II alto and a member of the HSU Choir. She is also a member of First Baptist Church.

Miss Bodine will present a concert to the public of Mitchell County Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church Auditorium. The concert will be entitled "An Hour Of Praise." The public is cordially invited to attend.

The tour on which she will be traveling is one of ten Continental

Singers tours that will cover the U.S. and several foreign countries in the summer of 1979. All tours will meet in Los Angeles in June for an intensive ten day rehearsal before beginning their 75 day tour of nightly concert performances.

Bodine's tour will travel to the northern part of the U.S., Holland, England and Scotland.

The ministry of Continental Singers, a non-profit Christian musical corporation, was founded in 1962 by its executive director and president, Cam Florida, one of America's most popular and outstanding Christian musicians.

It has grown from a single tour that covered five north western states to ten tours that cover much of the world. The corporation has its U.S. headquarters in Los Angeles and a European office in Rotterdam, Holland. Over the past several years, Continental Singers groups have toured extensively through all fifty states and nearly sixty foreign countries.

Each member of the Continental Singers summer tours is responsible for raising approximately one half of his individual cost for the tour. The other half is raised through offerings and record sales during the tour.

Marla Bodine's individual tour sponsorship, the amount to be raised is $1745. Persons interested in having a part in this exciting opportunity for ministry should contact her directly.
