Anxious Area Farmers Welcome Greenbug Exodus

Kill Underway

The rolling terrain in southern Bailey County is beautiful. Pastures are green and cattle are grazing peacefully. Yet, the past few days, unusual activity have caused them to take note on the Jack Young ranch near the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge.

Foreign plants, mesquite, cactus, bear grass and other plants which require much water and slow down grass growth heavily infest that section of the county.

Henry Bliznak and a crew of 18 men have moved in on the ranch and are using ground equipment to rid the land of these plants.

A check of the sheriff's office reveals that one person was arrested in Guannah and another on Farmer county for Bailey county and held on worthless check charges for this county. The sheriff's department arrested one for misdemeanor theft, one for drunk and disturbance, two for drunk, one on three counts of worthless checks and one for speeding. City police records show that nine persons were jailed for drunk.

Bula School Swings Open September 2

The first full day of school at Bula will be held September 2 with students registering last Spring.

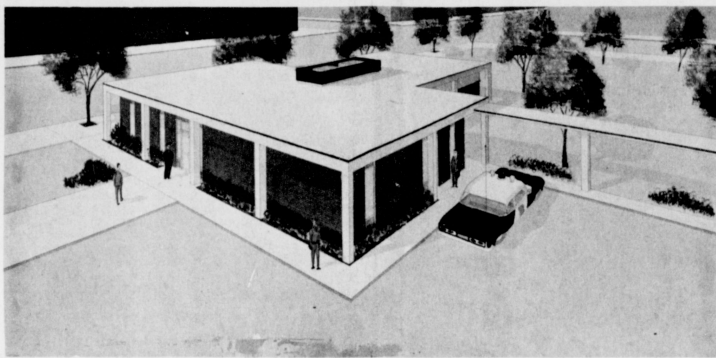

Buses will run, however, will operate on reserved routes. Announcement has been made that three new buses have been purchased for use, however they have not arrived to date.

New teachers for the Bula system will be Floyd Halbrook who will teach science and boys physical education; Dan Price, counselor and commercial business education. Two other teachers will be employed and are to teach math in high school.

The first football scrimmage will be at Welch with the Bula Bulldogs meeting Dawson. This will be played at 8 p.m., August 30. On September 6 Dawson will play Bula at Bula in a return scrimmage game.

HOW IT WORKS--- This is how the range land in Bailey County is being treated to rid it of growths of mesquite, cactus and bear grass which sap the soil of the major portion of the water content. The 'kill' of the foreign matter is evident within three days. A mixture of Diesel and 245T is used to kill the woody plants and is applied by hand spraying.

Proposed Bailey County Law Enforcement Center Judge Explains Law Center

"A Few persons have stated that the Commissioner's Court should have included in the bond issue plans to remodel the Court House, or that we should first modernize the Court house before we do anything to the jail. We could very well afford to do both with an ARBITRARY increase in assessed valuation, which would raise everyone's taxes, but I am advised that this was attempted in 1962 when the Court was petitioned to remodel the Court house and fail at a total cost of $360,000.00. It was announced at that time that valuation was to be raised to accomplish the remodeling job and the bond issue failed.

"Now as to the advisability of remodeling the Courthouse first before anything is done to the jail; A pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of taking an unruly prisoner to jail up five flights of stairs past public offices; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of paying your county tax money to Lubbock County, or budgeting $9000.00 of your tax money to pay for transporting prisoners and jail expenses; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of paying $900.00 each year for many years in the past and to continue in the future for rent to house the County Agent and the County Home Demonstration agent; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem (now receiving much publicity in Hockley County) of putting a juvenile offender in with adult prisoners; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of centralizing records and law enforcement agencies in this county; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of keeping 25 to 30 prisoners in a jail block built for 100; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of having no separate facilities for women prisoners; a pretty courthouse would not solve the problem of prisoners escaping from the present jail to escape punishment; a pretty courthouse would not ease the minds of persons who might otherwise come forward with information which could lead to the arrest of someone accused of a crime without fear of such person escaping and taking some measure of retribution.

The major topic discussed was the Young Farmer's banquet which will be held September 14 at Plainview.

Aubrey Heathington is area vice president and will teach an officers training clinic prior to the banquet. Several outstanding area speakers will be on the program.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Dale Black, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy White, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, Keith Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harmon, Bill Biskel, Mr. and Mrs. Roland McCormack and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Christian.

Athletic Boosters Elect Officers

At a called meeting of the Muleshoe Athletic Boosters Thursday evening, new officers were elected for 1968. Meeting in session at the Muleshoe High School cafeteria, Darrell Turner was elected president; Eddie Wayne Beene, vice president; Richard Hawkins, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, reporter.

Athletic Director Dick Stanford spoke briefly to some 26 persons attending concerning the prospects and possibilities of the 1968 football team.

Regular meeting night will be each Monday night at 8 p.m. at the high school cafeteria, however, there will be no meeting on September 26.

"It is very difficult for me to believe that the majority of the people in this county would rather see a nice pretty place for its public officials to work in, rather than a secure ground floor jail and centralized law enforcement center, which would alleviate all of the problems mentioned above.

We will need afford both at the present time, it would be nice to have, but perhaps the rioters and looters and criminals in this country today if each one of us had been virtually concerned with swift and sure law enforcement rather than a nice place to work and what we can obtain for ourselves," Judge Don Cihak concluded.

Paul Harvey Column Starts In Journal

PAUL HARVEY NEWS, which begins today in Bailey County Journal is not just another column of political commentary. While it is based on the latest developments at home and abroad, this exciting new column will discuss a wide range of human interest, including economics, philosophy, art and literature.

Paul Harvey's purpose is to give his readers a deeper understanding of the events taking place around the world. He is never satisfied with superficial commentary, but searches instead for the hidden significance in the confusion of world problems.

The author of three best-selling volumes, Harvey has received citations from the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Freedom Foundation, the Disabled American Veterans and the Christophers. He has received seven honorary degrees; two Doctor of Letters degrees, two Doctor of Law degrees and three Doctor of Humanities degrees.

All of these honors testify to Paul Harvey's continuing battle for "old-fashioned" Americanism, as opposed to all the other "isms" which threaten to engulf the world. In the words of Freeman Magazine: "There is something of Walt Whitman and Patrick Henry combined in Paul Harvey."

His column, PAUL HARVEY NEWS, will appear weekly in the Bailey County Journal.

Board members said "In the interest of an educational atmosphere, dignity of the individual decency and pride in our schools and community, the following dress policy for students will be as follows:

No shorts or "cut offs" of any kind are to be worn by either boys or girls.

No "mini skirts" are to be worn.

Tips Given on Cotton Plants and Irrigation

The exodus of the greenbugs (wheat aphid) is more than welcomed by farmers throughout the High Plains.

County Agent J. K. Adams reports that farmers have reported next to no activity of this insect during the past week and the greenbug which caused so much alarm and some damage to grain sorghum is no longer a problem.

Much of this existing situation is attributed to the beneficial insects defeating the harmful insect in the "battle of invasion."

A beneficial wasp again appeared on the scene, Adams said, and although some people are not aware of their activity, it has been going on for some time. The wasp punctures the abdomen of the greenbug, deposits their eggs within, thereby turning the once active greenbug into an incubator.

The tiny brownish "pill" found underneath the leaves of the grain sorghum is the remains of the once damaging greenbug, due to this freak of nature type activity.

Adams also said that the cotton insect situation was improving with less activity from the beet armyworm. This sporadic feeder on many crops is also on the decline and farmers have expressed little concern due to insects during the past few days.

Shedding of small bolls and squares are causing some farmers to be concerned.

Adams points out that some of this is due to the sting of the Lygus bug and a certain percent caused by the tarnish plant bug. However, three-fourths of all the cotton formations on the High Plains grown cotton never reach the open boll stage, according to the Lubbock research station.

The excellent growing condition of the past few weeks has kept more than the normal amount of fruit on the cotton stalks.

Any sudden change in temperature or moisture brings about a normal amount of shedding.

Adams continued "To apply insecticides to cotton at this time of season would destroy beneficial insects and leave the cotton field a prime target for the cotton boll worm which is also known as the corn ear worm.

Although, some damage has been done by this insect to the corn crop, Adams said that the corn crop is expected to be a record breaker in production, especially the total production over the area.

when planning to irrigate late cotton. June-planted cotton has a limited time to develop fiber, so producers must avoid any practice that will delay fruiting or encourage vegetative growth. And this is where good water use comes into the picture, say Extension Specialists Dr. Robert Metzger and Leon New.

One of the best controls the producer has on the fruiting-vegetative balance is the judicious use of irrigation water. Often the producer tries to "catch up" with extra irrigation on late cotton. Too often this results in actually reducing yields as well as micronaire, points out the specialists.

Irrigation research for the past eight years at the South Plains Research and Extension Center has revealed some interesting facts on June 10 planted cotton.

Varieties included Gregg, Lankart 57 and Paymaster 101A. The researchers have concluded that if rainfall in July and August are normal or below, then irrigation should be profitable.

However, studies showed that if rainfall exceeded three inches during the two-month period, a summer irrigation was not profitable over that receiving only a pre-plant irrigation.

For example, a total of July-August rainfall of 7.84, 5.93 and 5.02 inches occurred in 1960, 1961 and 1962 respectively. A summer irrigation increased lint yields by 57 pounds below cotton receiving a preplant irrigation only.

But when only 1.91 inches of rainfall occurred during July and August over a three year period for 1963-65, the average lint yield was an increase of 280 pounds with summer irrigation.

In turn, summer irrigation increased yields only 48 pounds in 1966 when 3.44 inches of rain fell in July-August, yields were reduced by 148 pounds with a summer irrigation.

The producer should make sure late cotton is well into the bloom stage before applying the first summer irrigation, say the specialists.

Some late cotton will produce profitable yields without irrigation, especially in areas receiving above the average rain fall in July and scattered showers in early August.

Farmers are reminded to keep in mind that irrigation can be costly on late cotton if it encourages vegetative growth and produces many squares that will never mature, the specialists points out. Not only yield reduced on these plants, but equally important, boll maturation is delayed. This result is poor quality fiber.

In some cases the water may be more profitably used on other crops such as castors and soybeans.

County Agent Adams said within the county, the potato harvest is nearing the finish mark and tomatoes for the vegetable market should start sometime within the next week.

ROUGH IT--- Workmen who do the basel spraying to rid pasture land of plants which consume the major portion of rainfall moisture camp out. It is something like the old ranching days. There is the cook, with the makeshift kitchen, yet good meal ready when the men come in to eat. The chemical tank is kept centrally located among the men. The combination of Diesel and 245T is contained in a tank hooked to a pickup. The tank has an agitator which is used for about 15 minutes out of each hour to keep the chemical properly mixed.

As the men fan out of the plant infested area, the foreman of the crew keeps the rig within distance of the workers. The back tanks are refillable without being removed, therefore, this speeds up operation. Bilznak said that although he was running a crew of only 18 men at present, approximately 100 tanks were kept on hand at all times. They are easily repaired and kept maintained.

Henry Stoneham, Soil Conservation Service, said Bilznak would be working with 650 acres on this ranch and possibly others in the area to rid the land of these plants which sap the soil of so much water content and hampers growth of grass.

Boys will wear belts on trousers tailored with belt loops. Blouses and shirt tails designed to be worn inside of skirts or trousers must cover the "mid riff and backs, in the standing, sitting, or bending position.

No conspicuous or ridiculous costumes can be worn that will distract other students' attention and detract from a learning environment.

This policy was drawn up with the belief that if young people dress like ladies and gentlemen, they will act like ladies and gentlemen.

The factors that should be considered in selecting clothing and determining over all good grooming that will contribute to a good learning atmosphere are: Neatness, cleanliness, comfortableness, trimness, modesty, discreetness and non-embarrassing to the wearer or others.

the Long Arm of God

There may be times when your church seems to be growing slowly. when you become discouraged because your work seems to bear no fruit. Don't be discouraged. The Lord would say to you in Deut. 1:21. "Fear not. neither be discouraged." for I am with you.

During the very time you are discouraged, the Lord may have good news for you. This period of time may be more spring than winter. It is an open secret that God's arm is not shortened that he cannot save; neither is his ear heavy that He cannot hear.

Therefore, let us keep on working and praying that we may in our hearts possess the land of rest and comfort and peace with God. "The glory of the Lord shall be thy reward." He tells us in Isaiah 58:9. "Then thou shalt call, and the Lord shall answer; thou shalt cry, and He shall say. Here I Am."

We pray that the church and its fellowship will be your dearest treasure. May the church be the place where your "heart interest" lies. We invite you to attend services this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Lynn Ericson, Jim Francis Wed

Mrs. Jim Francis...The former Lynn Ericson

Laura Lynn Ericson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ericson and Jim Lewis Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Francis, were united in marriage in vows solemnized in morning services at the First Methodist Church on August 24.

The church was banked with Emerald trees set with lighted candles on spiral candelabra, centered by large arrangements of the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white and cathedral candles.

The bride entered on the arm of her father carrying a Colonial bouquet of Marguerite daisies, with picot loops and love knots with lily of the valley.

Uniting the couple was the Rev. J. Frank Peery of Canyon. Attired in a formal wedding gown of peau de soie, the bride's gown was highlighted with Alencon lace and was designed with A-line skirt and cathedral train. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a pea pill-box over which was arranged a mantilla of Belgium lace, Julie de Neufville of Boise, Ida, was maid of honor. She wore a collarless, A-line dress with princess seaming, in yellow, and carried a bouquet of baby breath with English Ivy and yellow and white streamers.

Beth Black, Muleshoe, and Lee, Jonesboro, were bridesmaids. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor, and carried bouquets the same as the maid of honor.

Members of the wedding party wore boutonnieres and head bands fashioned in yellow and white daisies, as were corsages presented to the mothers and grandmothers.

Charlann Graham of Brownfield was flowergirl and Roxie McDaniel, Big Spring and Gary Francis, Plainview, were candlelighters. Acting as ring-bearer was Therman Myers. Mart Francis was best man and serving as groomsmen were Neil Finley and Mike Ponder. David David and Charles Reese were ushers.

Traditional wedding selections were rendered by organist, Susan Leonard and she accompanied Brenda Tanner as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and Marsha Blackman, who sang "Oh Perfect Love," Miss Tanner and Miss Blackman also presented a duet, "The Joy of Love."

The lighting of a single candle by the couple concluded the simple and impressive ceremony.

RECEPTION LUNCHEON
A reception luncheon followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Tables were decorated with yellow strips of crepe paper entwined with ivy. Centerpieces on the tables were the bride's bouquet offset by yellow and white tapers and arrangements made from the attendant's bouquets.

Members of the reception luncheon were Mrs. Elizabeth Black, Cheryl Peat, Amarillo; Ann Phelps, Martha Chapman, Deborah McDaniel, Abilene; Renee Boling, Midland and Marcie Williams, who served the guests.

For a wedding trip to Victoria, Canada, the bride chose a pale mint green Italian silk suit.

After September 10, the new couple will be at home in Tacoma, Wash., where both will be enrolled at the University of Puget Sound.

Former Resident Wed

Mrs. Alan Richard Mayes... formerly Joy Lynn Hoover

On Saturday, August 24, an evening ceremony united in marriage Joy Lynn Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Hoover, Midland, and Alan Richard Mayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mayes, also of Midland.

The couple was married in the Crestview Baptist Church in Midland by the Rev. Collins Moore Jr., of the Alamo Heights Baptist Church in Midland.

The Hoovers are former Muleshoe residents and the bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. D. Hoover of Muleshoe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal empire style gown of white peau de soie and French re-embroidered Alencon lace. The bodice was traced with seed pearls and accented by long-sleeved sleeves ending with a slight flare at the wrist. The veiled applique design was carried out in the removable Watteau train. A shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was held in a circle of beaded appliques of Alencon lace.

She carried a crescent bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis centered with a catalpa, accented with English ivy and showery of white peonies mounted in a Bridal Bible.

Carol Lee Henry, maid of honor was dressed in a tangerine formal empire waist gown of peau de soie with matching bow as a headpiece. She carried an opened umbrella of yellow net and ribbon, adorned with yellow tulle pom-poms. The other attendants wore identical gowns of tangerine peau de soie with matching bows as headpieces. They carried opened umbrellas of angeline net and ribbon, adorned with tangerine tulle pom-poms.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bonnie Shaw and bridesmaids were Jackie Fitzgerald, Kristi Kennedy and Debbie Henderson. Rayburn Wenner, Muleshoe, cousin of the bride, and Mike Hoover were candlelighters and ring bearers were Jeff Stacy.

Joe Johnston was best man and Jerry Penfield, Jimmie Penfield, Charles Blocker and Jerry Hoover were groomsmen, with Glen Hoover acting as usher.

Traditional wedding selections were presented by Mrs. John Middleton who also accompanied Miss Jimmie Lynch, soloist.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with a large tree candelabra holding white tapers entwined with emerald foliage, flanked by pedestal arrangements of white gladioli and gypsophylla, and spiral candelabra holding palm arrangements. The family pews were marked with bows of white satin.

A reception following the wedding was held in Fellowship Hall of the Crestview Baptist Church.

The bride's table was draped with tangerine satin in a feathered fashion with clusters of tulle pom-poms tied with matching ribbon streamers adorning the table corners. A centerpiece of tangerine carnations and gladioli in a crystal compote centered the table.

Resident's Nephew Awarded

Lt. Alan Ray Terrell, 22, great-grandson of the late well-known J.N. (Jesse) James of Muleshoe, has been awarded the nation's third highest honor for gallantry in action.

He is a nephew of Mrs. H.F. (Callie) Dyck of Muleshoe. The Silver Star was presented to Terrell by Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Kenan, commandant of Fort Ord, Calif., where the lieutenant is now stationed.

He has also received two Purple Hearts during his tour of duty in South Vietnam. His Silver Star came for "heroism in action against a hostile force while serving as a platoon leader with the 25th Infantry Division on August 27, 1967."

According to the citation, Terrell and his men were engaged in a search and destroy operation when they were ambushed by a Viet Cong force using both small arms fire and claymore mines.

As a result of Terrell's actions on that day in removing dead and wounded soldiers he was presented the coveted Silver Star.

LLANO ESTACADO PLANS STYLE SHOW--Members of the Llano Estacado Civic Club met at the First National Bank last Tuesday to work on plans for their annual style show which will be held on Friday, September 6. Shown left to right are Nelda Hunt, president; Sandy Turner, Polly Oliver, Darlene Henry, Sue Bessier and Sharon Agee.

'That Night In September'

"That Night In September" is the theme for this year's style show which will be presented by the Llano Estacado Civic Club. It will be the seventh annual style show sponsored by the club which presents it each year as a "ways and means" project.

The style show will be presented Friday, September 6 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. Tickets are now available from any member of Llano Estacado at $1 each. Publicity Chairman Darlene Henry said, "The planning and preparation of this show starts from three to four months ahead of the show date."

"Two persons are selected to act as co-chairmen of the show and this year Polly Oliver and Vicki Young are serving in that capacity. The two women are directly responsible for seeing the project to completion."

"The job that these two must do isn't an easy task. They assign chairmen to each of the various committees and then assign the entire membership to work on various committees."

"They are responsible for selecting the date," she continued, "and the time, the place the show is to be held. They must select the narrator for our show besides having to pitch in and help out on some of the various committees. The club has been sponsoring a style show for several years, and we know the various committees and type of organization that one must have to put on a show of this type."

One of the main projects the Llano Estacado Civic Club participates in is the Girl Scout program. They have the responsibility of paying the monthly utility bills for the Girl Scout Hut, the electric bill, the gas bill and the telephone bill. In years past, they have helped with new paint, new lin-leum, a different refrigerator and with insurance premiums.

This past year, other than helping the scouts, the club gave to the Muleshoe Area Public Library, helping with their monthly support and also placed two books in the library in memory of the two boys from Muleshoe who died in Vietnam. They also gave playground equipment to the Muleshoe Area Goodwill Center.

This year, as in past years, the proceeds from their annual style show will be used for the Scouts and other community projects.

Serving as president of Llano Estacado Civic Club this year is Nelda Hunt.

"Smart Girl" Chaplain Bruno said to little Alice? "Would you rather be beautiful or good?" She replied: "Beautiful, I can always repent."

CHINNING BAR--This chinning bar completed four pieces of playground equipment which was given to Mary DeShazo Elementary School by the school P-TA as a yearly project. The equipment was the first for the third, fourth and fifth grades.

Playground Equipment Installed at DeShazo

Each year, the Mary DeShazo P-TA chooses a project for the year.

Last year, the P-TA, under the leadership of Project Chairmen Mrs. John Gunter and Mrs. Roy Wrinkle, chose playground equipment for the third, fourth and fifth grades.

This equipment has now been installed and this week was painted by DeShazo Principal Bill Taylor and Lester Parker, custodian at the school. Z. N. Burris also helped install the new equipment.

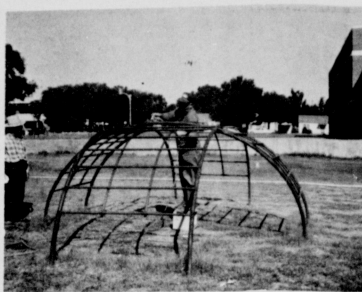

Wrinkle Welding furnished pipe at cost and Bill Bickel and his vocational agriculture boys made the equipment. Included are two monkey bars, a chinning bar and a "bunker hill."

According to Mrs. Wrinkle, one of the project chairmen, "The P-TA would like to give a special thanks to Mr. Bickel and his vocational agriculture students. They built this equipment as classroom work. Also, thanks go to Wrinkle Welding who furnished the pipe. Without this help, we could not have gotten the equipment. And, it is the first they have had for the school."

NATIONAL 4-H PLEDGE
The 4-H pledge explains the "4-H's" and the aims of the youth phase of programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "I pledge my heart to clearer thinking, my head to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country." More than 3 million boys and girls are currently enrolled in the nation's 4-H Clubs.

BUNKER HILL--Mary DeShazo Principal Bill Taylor doubted as a painter last Thursday as he began spray-painting playground equipment which was given to the school by the Mary DeShazo P-TA. Pictured to left is Lester Parker.

MONKEY BARS--This monkey bar is one of two which was built by Vocational Agriculture students under the direction of Bill Bickel to be installed on the schoolyard at Mary DeShazo Elementary School.

MORE ON FARM SITUATION

From 1960-67, the number of farms in the U.S. declined 23 percent. But, while those with less than $2,500 annual sales declined by 27%; those in the $2,500 to $4,999 sales category declined 42%; and those in the $5,000 to $9,999 declined 32% during the period, those with farm sales of $10,000 to $20,000 decreased only 1%. And those with farm sales of $20,000 to $40,000 increased by 40%, and those with sales over $40,000 and more rose by 62 percent.

The USDA report said farms in the largest three categories accounted for only 31.5% of all farms in 1967, they accounted for 85.1% of cash receipts from farming, more than 75% of the realized net income from

GOLDEN GLEAMS

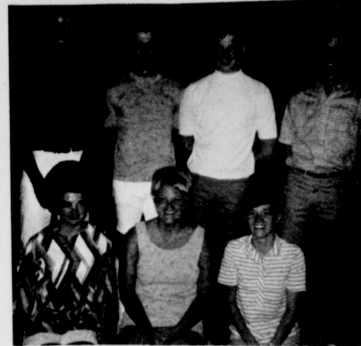

Many a life of the party is a wash-out at home.

One thing that fiction often has on life is the happy ending.

A foolish idea a day keeps the mind working, at least.

People only get old; life is continually new and full of change.

Getting an early start is just as important in life as it is in racing.

An organizational meeting for the Muleshoe Young Homemakers Club was held on Monday, August 12 at 8:30 p.m. At that time a president and vice-president were elected.

This was followed by the first regular meeting of the new club on Tuesday evening, August 20 at the Muleshoe Home Economics Building at Muleshoe High School.

They included Mrs. Robert Hunt, president; Mrs. Jimmy White, vice president; Mrs. Clarence Christian, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jimmy Black, reporter and historian and Mrs. Roland McCormick, advisor.

It was explained to the new members that the Young Homemakers organization is an educational organization and the many facets of the club were discussed. Included for this year, discussions of voting procedures, with guest speakers; home - self-improvement; household hints; sewing; drugs and narcotics were among the many areas to be covered by the group.

Although educational programs are stressed by the group there will be opportunity for many social gatherings during the year.

Part of the discussion Tuesday evening concerned those interested in attending the Area 1 Young Homemakers and Young Farmers Meeting and Banquet on September 14.

A film was shown the group which explained many of the aims and purposes of the Young Homemakers. Following the business meeting, the Young Homemakers joined the Young Farmers Organization for an ice cream and cake social.

It was decided to hold meetings on the second Thursday of each month from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Any woman interested in joining the club may contact either Mrs. Hunt or Mrs. McCormick.

Predicament
The constable in a country town was also a veterinarian. One night the telephone rang. "Is Mr. Jenkins there?" asked an agitated voice. "Do you want my husband as a veterinarian or as constable?" "Both, madam," came the reply. "We can't get our dog's mouth open and there's a burial in it."

Spiro Agnew

What is now widely accepted to have been G.O.P. presidential nominee Richard Nixon's canniest political move at Miami Beach was the selection of Governor Spiro Agnew of Maryland as his running mate.

Looking back over the list of potential candidates, it's surprising news media representatives didn't realize Agnew's unique qualifications earlier. After all, he made the nominating speech for Nixon, has experience in urban renewal problems and--important to millions--has made it clear he believes in law and order and will not coddle law breakers or violence in the streets.

Democrats face an agonizing task in selecting a running mate for Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Humphrey is a liberal (though tied to LBJ Administration policies) and selection of another liberal would do little to attract votes away from Nixon and Agnew. Yet Democrats hope to win by carrying the key industrial states against Nixon and to name a moderate or moderate-conservative as Humphrey's running mate would add little to the party's chances in eastern industrial states.

If a liberal is selected, Democratic chances in the South may be their worst in years. Thus the straight middle-ground G.O.P. ticket has put Democrats squarely on the spot, as does the flexible, general G.O.P. platform. It will be interesting to see how Democratic Party strategists meet these challenges at Chicago.

Time Out Improves Statesmen

BY PAUL HARVEY

Statesmen, a few years out of office, seem to make so much more sense.

Listen to the postscript public utterances of Harry Truman, Dwight Eisenhower; definitive, positive.

Delegates and eavesdroppers to the recent GOP National Convention were dumbstruck by the increased depth perception of Tom Dewey. "If he'd talked like that in '48, he'd have been elected President!"

Hopefully Richard Nixon has similarly benefited from a few years in quiet to vegetate, assimilate.

God required of Moses 40 years of preparation for leadership.

Winston Churchill was shaped for his finest hour by many defeats.

American history records many examples of men whose greatness was not recognized at first. Abraham Lincoln's several setbacks are the classic example. History rewards persistence.

John Adams sought and lost the Presidency twice before winning it in 1796.

Thomas Jefferson, who lost to Adams, came back four years later to win.

John Quincy Adams lost in 1820, won in 1824.

Andrew Jackson, defeated in 1824, was elected in 1828.

William H. Harrison lost in 1836, won four years later.

Grover Cleveland, defeated for re-election, returned four years later to defeat the man who had defeated him.

Of course, the formula is not infallible, as William Jennings Bryan and Tom Dewey and Adlai Stevenson could attest. But, more often than not, those politicians able to pick themselves up after a knockdown went on to win.

Arnold Toynbee observed that every political leader should have a few years of reflection--a period out of the public eye that he can spend coming to terms with himself and the world.

Nixon has ripened. He speaks with more self-assurance, more authority.

Let this not be construed as an endorsement of Mr. Nixon. Perhaps from Chicago a comparably seasoned statesman will emerge.

Then we will all go forth from November with great expectations deriving from the contagious self-confidence of the new leader.

Must that enthusiasm soon be supplanted by disillusion?

Why cannot we, collectively as a nation, pick ourselves off from the myriad defeats which we have suffered abroad and at home and go on with renewed self-assurance toward an expanding horizon?

As these individuals have surmounted setbacks, cannot we as a nation do likewise?

President John Kennedy, whatever his other debts and credits, gave our nation a sense of "onward and upward" during his historic thousand days.

If the next President, with four years in office assured, lets the magic evaporate--lets himself get bogged down in a morass of inevitable frustration--what a tragic waste of momentum!

We've allowed lightning communication and transportation to overinvolve us with the world to the neglect of ourselves.

A few years of enlightened selfishness could renovate our America the Beautiful and renew the esprit de corps which formerly characterized our now divided people.

As statesmen have been motivated by adversity to undreamed of heights, let us all now be!

NEWS NOTES

LASER BEAM & COLOR TV

Pasadena, Calif.--Dr. Nicholas George of the California Institute of Technology has reported the process of using laser beams to convert black and white photographs into three-D color. It is believed this technique could be applied to TV.

CASTRO ON FAIR OUTPUT

Havana--While speaking to the Cuban people on television recently, Premier Fidel Castro predicted Cuba will be self-sufficient in growing rice by 1971. He said each Cuban will consume 10 pounds of rice instead of the present ration of three pounds.

ICY RUNWAY CURE

Washington--A type of commercial fertilizer is being tested to prevent formation of ice on runways, the Air Transport Association reports. Urea, a commercial fertilizer, when properly applied, can prevent ice from forming during a snowfall or freezing rain.

PHI-HISTORIC BONES FOUND

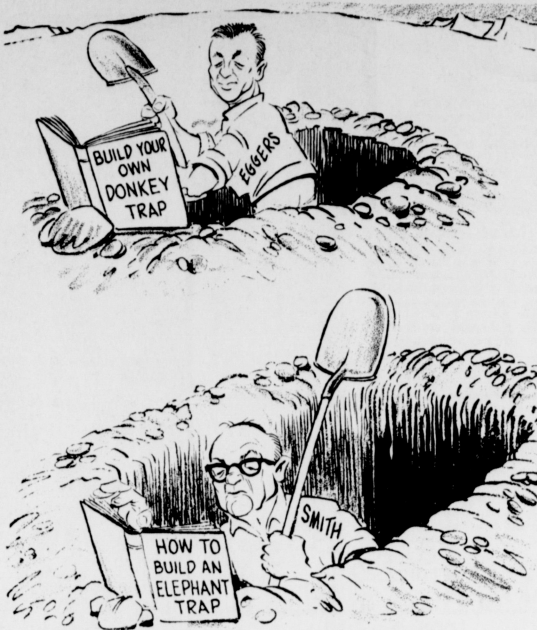

Encenada, Mexico--While construction workers were digging at El Gallo Creek, huge bones were unearthed. Nisikahau Kinunura, an oceanologist, asked that work be suspended for further study. The bones were turned over to the Marine Science School.

HIS AND HER BIG DOORS

London--To avoid embarrassment, a wig concern has separate entrances and exits. This explanation, given the High Court when applying for renewal of lease, was an effort on the part of the shop to avoid embarrassing divorced theatrical customers.

IMPORT DUTY TOO HIGH

Glasgow, Scotland--When a shipment of whisky to New York was unclaimed and shipped back, customs officials poured the 499 bottles of Scotch whisky down the drain. The distiller claimed the import duty too costly to pay.

TWO CANDIDATES, ONE THOUGHT

All letters to the Editor of reasonable length are welcome and will be published. Letters to the Editor must be signed, however, names will be withheld upon request.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editors note? The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm assigns himself a hard task this week, but he'll probably dodge it.

Dear editor:

I have been keeping tab on it in the last few months' run of newspapers turning up out here on this Johnson-grass farm and to the best of my reckoning the only group in this country which hasn't had a strike or a threat of a strike is the kindergarten pupils, and they may walk out tomorrow.

You name it and they've struck: telephone workers, steel workers, Broadway actors, television announcers, college students, convicts, airline pilots, school teachers, Olympic runners, printers (Detroit hasn't had a daily newspaper in 8 months), chorus girls, railroad workers...there are a lot more but I used the paper I had them written down to on the dip stick when I was checking the oil in my tractor and can't read the rest. It was two quarts low. Had it been empty, I could have finished the list.

However, I guess the strike that topped them all was the one by the professional football players.

This strike disturbed a lot of people, who claim the game will never be the same.

"When they're calling a play or a strike?"

I can't tell him, I have no answer to the problem, and when a man has no answer to a problem he appoints a committee. This country has so many committees out now studying problems we may have to appoint another committee to see what they're hung on.

What I'm working on now is finding something I can strike against, but the field is limited. I've tried striking against work but every time I do the only result I can see is that the work just piles up.

I have enlarged my thinking and am now working on a plan where the rest of us can strike against strikes, but I haven't worked out the details. Will give it some more thought. If any of you Journal readers have any ideas, write me at once, Yours faithfully, J.A.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Background On Races--The Key At Miami--The Key At Chicago--Veeps New Importance--

WASHINGTON D.C.--The race for President this year has become a battle of party pros. At this stage it appears the Chicago outcome will be similar to that at Miami Beach--where the regulars nominated Richard Nixon as expected. Thus the coming campaign is likely to be one between two men who made political hay as Vice President--a historical rarity in American politics.

Despite all the assurances that Nixon had the nomination won at Miami Beach, it can now be revealed that he had it potentially won, but not in the bag, even as late as the day of the nomination. At about 5:30 that day the Florida delegation voted to cast 32 votes for Nixon on the first ballot, not 33 for Governor Claude Kirk.

and then, at nearly midnight, the New Jersey delegation broke away from favorite son Senator Clifford Case and split 22 for Case and 18 for Nixon. It was this bloc of 50 votes that put Nixon over, for when the roll call on the first ballot reached Wisconsin (with only 12 Nixon votes to be tallied after that) Nixon would have had only 600 votes, Wisconsin's 30 and Wyoming's 12 would have left him short by 25.

And while it's likely some favorite son delegates would have begun to crumble under the pressure to get on the bandwagon, it's possible also that some dramatic gesture could have been made before that process began by Rockefeller or Reagan forces, in their elation that Nixon's first-ballot bid had failed; this might have created serious doubt and changed votes, in the other direction. Impartial newsmen, by the way, looking back on Miami Beach, have these observations: Rockefeller has not been overly generous or gracious to the G.O.P. victor, when asked after the Nixon nomination whether he would consider running with Nixon, he told a reporter: "Don't waste the time." This attitude, which also included him to refuse to back the party nominee in 1964, is probably the reason he isn't

Drinking & Driving

The Department of Transportation, after a broad and thorough study of traffic deaths in the United States, has announced that the survey shows "the use of alcohol by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 23,000 deaths in the United States each year."

This is a significant finding, since the 25,000 figure represents half the deaths which occur on U. S. streets and highways annually. And the survey shows that 800,000 accidents can be attributed, or partially attributed, to the use of alcohol. It shows also that alcoholics and those with a drinking problem, a small fraction of the total population, account for a very large part of the traffic safety problem.

It is too early to predict what effect the exhaustive study and its findings will have on U. S. laws and traffic safety efforts. But taken with encouraging results of the British breath-inhaler testing system, only recently inaugurated, the study points to an eventual intensified effort or new methods to remove the drinking driver from our streets and highways.

the party nominee this year. CBS did a wider-ranging job in covering the first convention; NBC had reporters interviewing people on the floor at times when important things were being announced by the chair. NBC's floor reporters were hustlers, but CBS covered the hotels and outside-convention-hall affairs more closely.

Democrats meeting in Chicago will be hard put to handle the key unity issue with much finesse and savvy as did Richard Nixon and Republican officials. One thing to watch at Chicago is whether Hubert Humphrey and Democratic officials are able to reconcile Senator Eugene McCarthy and his enthusiasts, Nixon's surprise but master stroke in selecting Governor Spiro Agnew as his running mate may have put pressure on Humphrey to select a moderate also.

The library has been a busy place this summer! We have checked out 9,334 books. This is 2,436 more books than were checked out in 1967. And now is the time for all boys and girls in the Summer Reading Club to turn in to the library the list of the books they have read. We must have the lists before school starts, in order for the boys and girls to receive their certificates and award ribbons.

There will be Storyhour for preschool age children next Wednesday, August 28. This will be the final storyhour this summer. All children are invited.

Due to the heavy circulation, we have not been able to prepare and give the press releases on the many, many wonderful new books that have been added to our shelves, starting in September. Books in Brief from our collection will be published regularly, so that you may get an idea of some of the material available to you through your Public Library. The library wishes to thank the A. A. U. W. members who have done volunteer work at the library all summer. This was a great help in handling the large circulation that we have had.

Parks and Wildlife Commission Sets Hunting Season in Texas

AUSTIN -- The interest in hunting in Texas took a big step forward last week as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission adopted seasons and bag limits for the 1968 hunting seasons in those counties under the regulatory responsibility of the Commission. As discussed in public hearings, the Commission closed the alligator season in all counties where they had authority to do so.

The mourning dove season in the north zone will be held for 60 consecutive half-days beginning on September 1 through October 30 in the north zone. BIG AMISTAD LAKE ALREADY PRODUCING FISH FOR ANGLERS

DEL RIO--Amistad Lake near Del Rio, situated where the Devil's River enters the Rio Grande, is already producing fish, according to Biologist George Henderson of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Henderson said that fishing was already good in the Devil's River branch, with two fishermen catching flathead catfish in the 10 to 15 pound class this week.

The State Fish Hatchery No. 2 at San Angelo recently stocked 70,000 bass in the newly impounded water and this week added 5,700 fry and fingerlings. Public use of the lake is already beginning, and the fishery personnel have been taking seine samples of game fish and are reporting indications of good reproduction among channel, flathead and blue catfish.

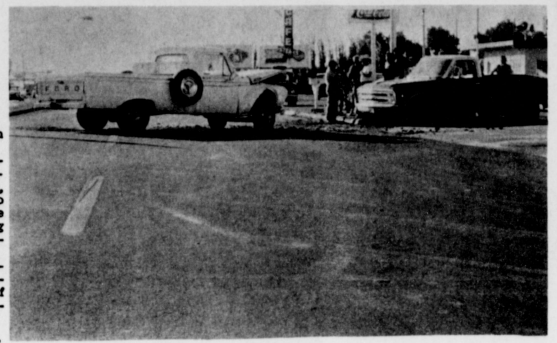

The water level is now 952 feet, impounding some 1,924 surface acres of water.

As Presidio flood waters enter the reservoir the lake is expected to grow rapidly and will have to pass sill elevation before any waters will be released on the Mexican side.

Henderson said the international Boundary and Water Commission has indicated if incoming waters pass the Mexican penstocks, the 10-foot by-pass tube will be closed and plugged, making future flood waters welcome.

If flood waters continue to enter the reservoir and reach an elevation of 977 feet, there will be 2,817 acres of water in the lake.

When you get rid of the idea that your mission is to regulate other people you are in a position to improve yourself.

CITY ACCIDENT--- Assistant Police Chief investigated this accident at West 7th Street and American Blvd, which resulted in property damages and no injuries. Dennis Williams, driving a 1968 Chevrolet pickup turned right, failed to yield right-of-way to an oncoming vehicle being driven by Joe Gonzales Fabela. The Fabela pickup estimated damage was around $800 and estimated damage to the Williams pickup was around $500.
