Poison Alcohol Fatal For Five

WEEK-END APARTMENT PARTY AT BORGER ENDS IN DEATHS; RADIATOR ALCOHOL BLAMED

(By The Associated Press)

BORGER, Nov. 16 — Alcoholic poison was blamed today for the death of five men who purportedly engaged in week-end celebrations.

Four of the men were reported to have drunk radiator alcohol at an apartment party. George Thomas 42, ditching machine operator; Arthur G. Whitaker, 39, boiler maker; and Albert B. Ward, 45, died last night.

John Elwood Mackey, 51, the fourth member of the quartet, died today at a hospital. Physicians said their deaths probably were due to alcoholic poison.

The fifth victim, Sylvon Badgley, 48, died at his home here. Physicians said he apparently had drunk wood alcohol. He was survived by his widow and four children.

An empty can which was labelled as a container of radiator alcohol was found in the apartment where the four men had been reported drinking.

Thomas and Whitaker died while being taken to a hospital. Ward and Mackey were taken to a police station, where they collapsed. Ward dying in a short time. Mackey lived until this morning.

Coroner J. D. Miller, preparing to hold an inquest, said his verdict probably would be one of death from alcoholic poison for the four victims involved in the apartment party.

DEATH PUZZLE AT SHAMROCK

BODY OF MAN, KILLED BY ELECTRICITY, IS FOUND IN RIVER

(By The Associated Press)

SHAMROCK, Nov. 16—Source of a charge of electricity which killed Dave Bowers, 30, and the mystery shrouding the presence of his body in the North Fork river were paramount problems confronting officers investigating his death today.

Bowers' body was found beneath a bridge yesterday. A gash on his left hand showed where he grasped a live wire. There were burns on the bottom of his feet where tacks in his shoes made contacts.

The coroner's verdict bore out the theory of officers he was electrocuted elsewhere and his body hurled from the bridge into the stream.

J. M. Hood, highway employe, found the body while inspecting the river channel. He said there were no tracks nearby, indicating the body was thrown from the bridge.

Black dirt was found on Bowers' shoes. The river bed soil is sandy.

The coroner's verdict said he came to death "from electrocution applied in some unknown manner. Circumstances indicate he was killed elsewhere and the body thrown off the bridge."

The season has been shortened one month, closing December 15. The states which permit hunting to-day include Texas.

Republicans To Sponsor Tax Increases

LEADERS MEET AND AGREE ON PLAN

BOOST INESCAPABLE, SENATOR WATSON STATES TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Congressional Republican leaders today agreed to sponsor tax increases at this session.

Senator Watson, the Republican leader who has consistently opposed new taxes at this time, said today after a conference with President Hoover that a boost is "inescapable."

At the same time Chairman Smoot, of the senate finance committee, announced "there will have to be further taxation."

Program Settled

Watson's reversal was accepted on capitol hill as settling a Republican tax program.

What the form of new or increased rates will be recommended is uncertain, pending further conferences between congressional leaders and President Hoover and Secretary Mellon.

While both Senators Watson and Smoot favors a sales tax, they agreed it was very problematical congress would approve such a plan.

Increased rates on the larger incomes appear certain.

Senator Watson would not state the president's views on the tax problem but the fact he changed position after his White House visit was interpreted on capitol hill as a sure sign that the administration would recommend new taxation.

Deficit Looms

Treasury officials fear a deficit this year of almost $2,000,000,000. It is known that Secretary Mellon would not like to meet this gap by borrowing without congressional authority.

Watson believes both increased taxation and additional borrowing by the government will be necessary this year. The deficit last year was $903,000,000.

As for the general legislative program, Senator Watson believed the president would send up his recommendations without any specific plea for partisan or non-partisan consideration.

YOUNG BANDIT ROBS STORE

WELL-DRESSED ROBBER GETS $1,500 LOOT AT HOUSTON

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 16—A well dressed and youthful appearing bandit held up the Gables, Inc., confectionery and drug store, early this morning and escaped with more than $1500.

The robbery was exceptionally well-timed, for the store had closed for the day and only G. T. Brieger, prescription clerk, and a negro who sweeps out were there when the robber appeared.

The negro was sweeping trash out the back door, detectives were told, when the young man, armed with a pistol, appeared suddenly and forced the negro to precede him into the store where Brieger was held up.

The clerk was forced to go to the front of the store where the safe had been moved because of previous experiences with safe crackers, and open the strongbox.

"Put it all in some paper bags," the bandit said and Brieger obeyed. With the bag filled with money of various denominations in his hand, the bandit backed slowly out of the rear way, holding the prescription clerk and the negro covered.

No trace of him could be found.

GRANDI PARTY REACHES U.S.

AIR TRIP PLANS FOR ITALIAN MINISTER BALKED BY FOG

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Low lying fogs today balked the state department plan to take Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy by air from the liner Conte Grande to Washington.

At noon Pan-American airways, which had rushed a plane from the factory, recalled Col. Lindbergh from the south and brought a fourman crew from Miami especially to take Grandi to Washington, announced the weather made the plan impossible.

Pan American officials said they did not know how Grandi and his party would proceed to Washington, but it was generally believed they would be taken on a cutter from the liner to the New Jersey shore and proceed from there by train. State department officials went down the bay this morning to superintend the projected transfer of the Grandi party from the liner to the plane.

The plane came to North Beach airport from its Connecticut factory and the liner Conte Grande with the Grandi party on board reached quarantine before noon. The plan to take the Grandi party to Washington by air was given up at the last minute when the fog failed to clear.

All grains spurted with wheat at the opening, corn gaining from 1-2 to 1 3-4 cents a bushel, oats from 3-8 to 1 3-8 cents and rye as much as 2 cents.

Brakeman Baker Makes An Error

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 16. (AP)—It was Brakeman L. L. Baker's error.

Riding a Louisville and Nashville freight engine yesterday, he saw a gleaming headlight directly ahead as the train rounded a curve.

Jumping seemed like a good idea at the time. Brakeman Baker and others of the train crew obeyed that impulse.

There was a crash, but it was not with another train. An automobile, one headlight burning, had stalled on the tracks.

In his jump, Brakeman Baker received a fractured hip and other jumping trainmen were badly shaken and bruised. The automobile, unoccupied, was a total loss.

NEW CONCEPT OF EVOLUTION GIVEN BY SCIENTIST; DISPUTES DARWIN THEORY

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 16. (AP)—A "new concept" of evolution was presented today to the national academy of sciences meeting here.

Based upon 42,000,000 years actual evolutionary records, the new idea indicates a creative force still at work.

It disputes Darwin's thesis that accidents are part of nature's progress. It challenges the ability of modern science to change human essentials quickly—even to change them in less than millions of years patient effort.

This new evolution was described by its author, Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American museum of national history, one of the world's foremost authorities on prehistoric discoveries.

His evolutionary records are those of the titanotheres, a family of animals which developed horned snouts, and of the elephant family, scientifically termed the proboscideans.

It has taken 62 years of observation, Dr. Osborn said, to demonstrate that living nature, like inanimate substance, does "nothing by accident or chance, but only by means of universal-

CHINESE MAKE NEW ATTACK ON FORCES

HOSTILITIES ON BIG SCALE EXPECTED TO ECHO REJECTION

BY HAROLD TIMLERY, (Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press.)

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 16 (AP)—Chinese circles here today feared that hostilities on the biggest scale since the Manchurian dispute started would result from General Mah Chan-Shan's third rejection of a Japanese ultimatum demanding withdrawal of his troops to a point north of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Yesterday morning General Mah received a new communication from General Honjo, the Japanese commander, presenting on behalf of the Japanese government the following demands:

(1) That General Mah's troops be withdrawn northward from Tsitsihar and returned to their original stations.

(2) That in future the general's forces be forbidden to advance south of the Chinese Eastern railway.

(3) That the Chinese troops must not interfere with operation of the Taonan-Anganchi railway (Japanese financed) and that if they do the Japanese forces will immediately take "effective measures."

General Honjo stipulated that those conditions must be carried out within ten days, and that when they are the Japanese will consider withdrawing their troops. A reply was requested by noon today.

New Well Found In East Texas Field

LONGVIEW, Nov. 16 (AP)—Scouts, royalty traders and oil operators representing practically every major and independent producing company in Texas today rushed to the site of the Cranfill-Reynolds No. 1 well in the Eubanks survey of Upshur county to determine whether a new field had been discovered or whether the oil frontier of the East Texas field had been advanced five miles northward.

Yesterday morning drillers working on the test had practically abandoned hope of striking oil in such rank wildcat territory. While machinery was being dismantled, a final core was taken. It showed 11 feet of highly saturated oil sand. A drill stem test later showed 27 fourbles of oil in 11 minutes, with the flow later threatening to come over the top.

Attempted Robbery At Abilene Fails

ABILENE, Nov. 16 (AP)—An attempted robbery here failed today when Albert Martin, cashier of the Paramount theater, instead of going down from a blow on the head, grappled with his assailant.

Martin was carrying about $500 of theater funds in three small money bags to a bank for deposit. As he passed an alley entrance in the downtown section a man stepped out, tossed a handful of pepper in his face and struck him heavily.

The cashier dropped his bags to clinch with his attacker. As they fell to the pavement, rolling toward the street, two bystanders leaped to Martin's rescue, capturing the hijacker and recovering the money.

At the sheriff's office the man under arrest gave his name as J. C. (Jim) Rose, Dallas.

NEGRO IS SHOT IN HOLDUP OF DICE GAME

CONFESSIONS MADE TO ROBBERY, SHOOTING NEAR CROSBYTON

(Special To The Journal)

CROSBYTON, Nov. 16.—Three white youths were charged with murder here this morning as a result of the fatal wounding of a negro cotton-picker in the holdup of a dice game in a tent five miles northwest of Crosbyton at about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The victim, T. C. Jackson, about 33, of Hillsboro, died at Lubbock 24 hours later as a result of shotgun wounds in the chest.

Sheriff Elmer Reed of Crosby county said charges of robbery with firearms possibly would be entered against the youths, who he reported had confessed shooting Jackson and another negro after Jackson refused to raise his hands and started toward the masked youths. Two of the suspects, J. D. ("Shorty") Boswell, about 18, of Paris, Texas, and Earlie Dyess, about 19, were arrested by Sheriff Reed at about 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of Dyess' father, J. P. Dyess, eight miles north of Crosbyton. Onnie Graham, not yet 17, was taken into custody by the sheriff about 2 o'clock Sunday morning at the home o fthe youth's father, R. B. Graham, about 10 miles north of Crosbyton.

Shotguns Found

Two shotguns were found under a bed occupied by Boswell and young Dyess and a third shotgun in an automobile, allegedly owned by young Dyess, at the latter's home, Sheriff Reed said. In their statements, the three agreed that Graham did not fire the gun he was carrying, the sheriff reported.

As related to the peace officer, the three youths left Dyess' automobile about a quarter of a mile from the tent in which the negroes were playing dice, walked to the tent, and back to the car. Jackson seemingly recognized Boswell and as the negro started toward the armed trio, two of the robbers fired. Jackson was struck in the chest and another negro, Ed Walker, about 40,

DEFECTIVE HEARING

IN THAT excellent book, "Lip Reading for the Deafened Child," by Stowell, Samuelson and Lehman, the authors state that there are in the United States more than 3,000,000 children with impaired hearing, and that "few of the school authorities are aware of the fact." A conscientious principal may have a number of such children in his school without his being aware that any of them has a hearing impairment. He may have classified some of these children as inattentive, careless, dull, and even feebleminded, because very few of these cases which involve slight hearing defect can be recognized without a special aural examination.

Our parents can remember when children with defective vision were charged with being careless and clumsy, were kept after school as punishment because they had not seen the things they could not see. For testing the sight of school children the modern school makes adequate provision and sees to it that glasses are furnished free to those children whose parents are unable to pay for them.

For our children with impaired hearing very little has been done, and many are the tragedies because of this neglect. There is a distinction between the deaf child who cannot hear at all, and the deafened child whose hearing is impaired. The problem with the deaf child is to teach him sound formations, speech combinations and the like. The deafened child has acquired these facilities. But as his ability to hear is below normal, he must be aided to employ his eyes in lip reading.

Many children begin talking late because of impaired hearing. The first thing to do with any child who is appreciably slow in development of speech is to have his hearing tested by a specialist. Hard of hearing children also may make slow progress in speech development once they begin talking. They are the more likely to have speech defects, since they cannot hear their own sounds distinctly and the sounds made by others who speak.

Impaired hearing results in personality defects. The hard of hearing child cannot hear all that is said by his playmates, and his failure to respond at all or respond quickly, may lead them to make fun of him, or even to avoid him. Inevitably he will develop many personality fears. At school he is handicapped for he fails to hear all that goes on in the classroom. Curiously enough, he is likely to choose a seat farthest from the teacher, since he unawares is inclined to conceal his handicap.

* * *

The day will come when the hearing of every school child will be tested at school once or twice a year, and when for those children with impaired hearing, there will be made special provisions for their classroom instruction, and for the education of their parents in proper treatment at home of such children.

Because impaired hearing often follows illness, particularly from such diseases as scarlet fever and measles, it is important that parents have the child's ears carefully examined by their physician at several intervals folowing any illnesss, and to have special guidance in the care of his ears.

Hard of hearing parents are greatly handicapped, especially if they have young children. They should be able to get a great deal of help by learning lip reading.

Individuality Develops In Early Life

Personality Depends Upon Birthright Of Each One

BY DR. BESS V. CUNNINGHAM
Chief Psychologist, Columbia University.
Written for NEA Service

When a fond mother boasts of the remarkable personality of her new-born infant, the more impartial bachelor uncle may scoff, for to the casual observer the new-born infant does not appear to lay much claim to individuality. Even his father, a decidedly prejudiced person, is likely to refer to this small bit of humanity as "it."

However, one day, a few weeks later, the baby may protest so vigorously against the bottle too long withheld that the admiring father proclaims, "That boy knows what he wants and he knows how to get it." In such ways as these does this young person put himself over, show his individuality, make definite human contacts, thus laying claim to "personality."

When our infant has grown to the age of two or three years, as I point out in my article in the December number of The Parents' Magazine, we no longer question his possession of a distinct personality and we find that he also shows definite character traits which predict pretty accurately what sort of adult he will become.

* * *

Suppose that we observe four-year-old Jimmy in a nursery school. We learn that he is regarded as a very good loser, that he is rated as gay because he laughs so often. We also note that as he pursues his jovial way, he finds himself in difficulty very often indeed, and that he is far from punctilious in his use of "thank you" and "if you please." We have a fair idea of what kind of person he has become, and it is probably a safe guess that these traits will remain with him through life and that he will be a happy, busy individual.

To appreciate his individuality, Jimmie should be compared with Alfred, another child in the nursery school group. Alfred is serious in appearance, gives little evidence of good or bad sportsmanship; is inclined to stand around and watch other children and seldom gets into trouble. Alfred, we learn, is very polite. Jimmie is not much like this "good" little boy and we are just a bit inclined to say that we are glad of it, but we cannot help but wonder why the two little boys are so different.

By studying certain types of individuals we can make a pretty accurate guess as to what sort of babies they were. For instance, there is the undisciplined motorist on a crowded highway—he apparently cannot be happy unless he is setting his own pace. He darts out of line and in again without regard to the safety of his fellow travelers. If he should be checked in his progress, he is not at all unlikely to lean out of his car and pour vituperations upon the head of the driver who has done nothing beyond unwittingly interfering with something which the belligerent driver wanted to do.

We are not favorably impressed with this man; we don't like this personality. We can safely guess that as a child he threw himself upon the floor, kicking and screaming when he wasn't getting his own way. His disagreeable personality he possessed as a child survived in the man, only slightly controlled by social custom.

* * *

If we were to select from a babies' hospital two new-born unrelated infants, normal in every respect as far as we could determine, and were to bring them up together in an attempt to make them exactly alike, we should find that while we could in time make them both honest, law-abiding citizens, we could never make them alike. We could instill in each child certain habits of fair play and certain beliefs as what we might consider right and wrong, but even then we could not make them alike. One child might be even-tempered and placid, while the other might be very easily upset, given to outbursts of emotion, grieving immoderately over the slightest disappointment.

We might try to instill the same ideals in the two children, give them the same educational background, but when all is said and done we should have two decidedly different personalities.

Whether a child is beautiful or plain, tall or short, emotionally stable or easily upset, intelligent or dull—all of which go to make up his "personality"—depends largely upon his birthright. Training and habit can, of course, modify the traits the child inherits, or a glandular unbalance can cause unstable behavior which, if corrected, will create a new personality. Or, sometimes it is a child's place in the family which is responsible for the traits which mark his individuality. If he is less talented than his brothers and sisters, he may grow up to lack a certain confidence in his abilities. It is impossible to list all the factors which might enter into the making of different personalities.

Although children are born and educated to be "different," parents, educators and others who come in contact with children in some way help develop or repress this personality. For by personality we mean not only what the child does and tends to do, but how he behaves towards specific persons and how he makes others behave toward him. If we can grasp this fact it will be easy to see that what a parent does to his child and what the child does to his parent and how the parent and child feel about each other all enter into the making of personality.

"A calm, contented person interested in practical, every-day affairs" . . . is what the psychologist has to say about the baby in this picture.

EXPLAIN SIMILARITY OF ROASTING PROCESS AND HOUR-GLASS

Hills Bros.' Patented Process Produces a Fine, Even Roast Because Coffee Berries Pass Through the Roasters "a Little at a Time"

A stream of sand sifting from a globe on top through a narrow neck into a corresponding globe on the bottom . . . that's an hour-glass. And just as its accuracy depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the matchless, uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting — Hills Bros.' patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

Temperature and flow of coffee through the roasters are automatically controlled with this process. As a result, every berry is roasted to the degree that assures perfect flavor in every pound. Bulk-roasting methods seldom achieve such a thing.

It is Controlled Roasting that gives Hills Bros. Coffee a flavor no other coffee has. Insist on Hills Bros. Coffee. It is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Even ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is ever-fresh. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can.

MATADORS TO MEET NEW MEXICO IN HOMECOMING TILT FRIDAY

WESTERNERS GRIND FOR SANDSTORM

The mail brings a lot of communications we can't print for various and sundry reasons, among them being the failure on the part of the writers to affix the proper signature. Today we're going to set aside the rule which bars the printing of anonymous correspondence and let "Old Timer" tell you what he thinks of Lubbock athletics in general and this department in particular. The letter is addressed to Collyer Parrish, whoever that is.

"Dear Collyer:

I read with interest your column in Wednesday's Journal regarding the lack of attendance at the Tech football games by the Tech students. I have also wondered at this and by making a few inquiries have come to the conclusion that the students are not to be blamed overly much. You know and I know that Tech is a poor man's school; that is, that the fees are lower here than at any other state school and that everything is done to make Tech a democratic institution. This fact is also borne out by the large number of students who work their way through the school and the still larger number who are turned away due to inability to locate work.

"The athletic council finally did come alive at Tech and reduce the price of admission to $1.00 so us poor, tired business men downtown could see the games and also instituted night games which has materially increased the gate receipts. Tech has four home games this year and this means $4.00 to see them all. Tech students are charged $10.00 for athletic season tickets just like they have always been and we firmly believe that this should be cut in half at least and give these boys and girls a break to see their own team in action.

• • •

"Of course these $10 season tickets entitle the students to all athletic events such as basketball etc but you know and I know that football is the mainspring of the entire athletic department. These students do not lack in spirit but they do lack the $10 and I personally know dozens of good Tech students who would be Johnny on the spot at every game if they could afford it, but the tax is too high. I do not know whether you have had any experience working your way thru college, but boy, if you have, then you know that a ten bot looks mighty big to these boys and girls. The Matadors need the backing and support of these students much worse than they need the few dollars they take in from the students at $10 a throw.

• • •

"Now to take a slant at the colge from a purely mercenary point. I read in the Journal a few weeks ago figures showing that Tech brought nearly $2,000,000 yearly to Lubbock. Does the high school bring this much money? I have children in the high school and I am loyal to that body, but from past experiences it looks like another case of not being able to see the forest for the trees. You are guilty of playing with a lot of others of giving the Westerners more and better publicity than the Matadors. If you folks think that policy will prove better in the end you are very much mistaken. It is so easy to read between the lines of your paper and see these things out, just like listening to the broadcast of the Pampa-Westerner game when the announcer was pulling for Pampa so strongly that it was ridiculous.

Whether you believe it or not, Tech is going to get in this Southwest Conference along with A. and M. and Texas one of thes days and that is something the Westerners will never do, and then Lubbock will get some real advertising. Don't misunderstand me for I am for the Westerners just as strongly as anyone but but let's put first things first.

Another bone I have to pick with you is for not giving us play by play details of the Tech game in Las Cruces when you were supposed to cover the game. Frankly, you made a miserable failure of giving us fans at home information about that game. Please don't let it happen again. Another thing that burns away at your kind readers' nerves is your bush league method of starting a paragraph about one game and then jumping over to another before the reader knows what it's all about.

• • •

While we are giving you the rebats you also have a few flowers coming, and we are glad to say that your sporting page is much improved over what it was a year ago and we have hopes that it will continue to improve. Let's get the lead out of our eyes and give the readors what is coming to them.

Gentle readers, today's allotment of space is practically filled and even if it wasn't we'd need a little time to digest this and prepare a reply. Let us say here that such letters are appreciated. If you have like ideas or otherwise which you'd like to express, send them in. If we don't print 'em we'll say so and we can we'll be glad.

CLASH CLIMAX OF THE HOME SCHEDULE

TIME OF CONTEST IS NOT YET ANNOUNCED BY AUTHORITIES

Scheduled as a climax for the home season, the next football game in Lubbock will be played sometime between the hours of 3 and 11 p. m. Friday when the University of New Mexico Loboes come here to clash with the Texas Tech Matadors. The definite playing time has not been established yet. If favorable weather prevails it is likely that a night game will ensue.

The Loboes from Albuquerque come to Lubbock this week for the first time. The teams face each other for the first time. Coach "Crip" Golightly's Texas Tech Matador cagers opened athletic relationships between the two schools last winter with a basketball series in Albuquerque.

Is Homecoming Game

As a further indication of its importance, the Tech-New Mexico game has been designated as the main event on Texas Tech's annual Homecoming Day program. It is thought that hundreds of alumni and ex-students will come to Lubbock for the game.

Although the weather promised to be anything but inducive to hard and spirited practice today, but Coaches Cawthon and Smith indicated that nothing else but would be the order on Matador Field. The mentors returned late Sunday from Albuquerque where they saw the University of New Mexico and the University of Arizona fight to a 7-7 tie, reporting that the Loboes packed a world of potential strength, that they would be one of the most colorful teams to appear here this season and that it would truly be an accomplishment if the Matadors came out ahead.

Injuries sustained in games leading up to and including the Tech-College of Mines contest at El Paso last Wednesday were thought to be practically removed from the Tech ranks this morning and a workout was looked forward to with hopes of seeing the members in a state of eagerness to outdo their performance of last week. The Matadors, by failure to kick goal for extra points, were defeated, 14 to 12, by the Texas Miners.

Moffett Recovers

Milton Moffett, who was knocked "coo-coo" in the game last week and who stayed in thereafter long enough to jam things up considerable due to the failure of his mates to notice the change, appears to be completely recovered. It is likely that Cawthon will again start his "shock troops" Friday but it may be necessary to send in the regulars early in the game. Moffett is quarterback on the regular eleven, and one of the standout men of the Tech backfield.

By winning Friday's contest the Matadors will have passed an undefeated home season and will have won more than half the year's games, regardless of the outcome of the Tech-Simmonss Thanksgiving Day frolic at Abilene.

The announcement as made Saturday that a special train would be run to Abilene for the Thanksgiving game. The train is to be sponsored by the student body and has the support of the athletic council and the school faculty, according to the announcement. At least two hundred tickets must be sold before the train can be chartered, but active students suggested that more than 400 would buy round trip tickets.

Spelling Bee

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Tennyson, Browning and Swinburne spelled it "drouth." The department of agriculture spells it "drouth." The weather bureau, which knows one when it sees it, spells it "drought." Frank H. Vizetelly, the dictionery person, says it's "drought." And that makes it "drought" to you and me, stranger.

The French runner, whose tremendous stride is altogether different from the smooth-flowing stride of Paavo Nurmi, recently shattered Nurmi's world record for the one-mile run, stepping the distance at Auteuil in four minutes nine and one-fifth seconds. The previous best time for the mile was four minutes ten and two-fifths seconds.

NATION'S LEADING GRID SCORERS

(By The Associated Press)

Bob Campiglio backfield star of West Liberty, W. Va. Teachers college, has strengthened his hold on first place in the national race for individual football scoring honors.

Campiglio scored one touchdown Saturday to run his total points to 146, while his closest rival, Bob Monnett of Michigan State, failed to count.

The leader in each of the nation's nine major groups or conferences follows:

East—Campiglio, West Liberty 146; Midwest—Monnet, Michigan State 126; Rocky Mt.—Christensen, Utah, 90; Southern—Feits, Tulane, 74; Pacific—Mohler, Southern Calif. 66; Big Ten—Pardonner, Purdue 44; Manders, Minnesota, 44; Southwest—Ledbetter, Arkansas, 42; Big Six—Grefe, Iowa State 41; Missouri Val.—Duncan, Grinnell, 37.

STORM CLOUDS OVER HICKEY

CHIEF OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION TO BE OPPOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Storm clouds began gathering around Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association for the last 15 years as the club owners began assembling here for their annual meeting tomorrow.

Reports from outposts indicated there would be at least three candidates in the field for the presidency, although Hickey's supporters are convinced they have enough votes pledged to retain him in office. George Belden, owner of the Minneapolis club, was one of the outstanding candidates. W. E. Clauer of Indianapolis and Joseph Carr of Columbus, president of the national football league, also have been mentioned.

The club owners will go through the motions of awarding a trophy to St. Paul, winner of the 1931 championship, but the proposal to switch the St. Paul franchise to Winnipeg, appears to have fallen through.

While refusing to discuss the presidential issue, President Hickey appeared to be confident he would be retained in office.

S. M. U. TO PLAY NAVY THIS WEEK; FROGS FACE BAYLOR

BY BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Having accumulated eight consecutive football victories, five of them Southwest conference wins, the Southern Methodist Mustangs are happy boys these days.

They are one of the few major undefeated and untied football teams in the country and have only one more conference game on their schedule—Texas Christian, November 28. The worst they can do is tie for the conference championship.

Never extending themselves Saturday, the Mustangs beat Baylor 6 to 0 when Weldon Mason unreeled a 66-yard run for a touchdown in the first two minutes of the game. They breezed through and saved their strength for Navy game at Annapolis. The Methodists beat Navy 20 to 14 last year and are as confident of victory next Saturday.

Texas Christian uncovered a fine ball game Saturday at Austin—but not enough to stave off a 10 to 0 Texas victory. The defeat spoiled Texas Christian's perfect conference record and left the Frogs with only a chance tie Southern Methodist by beating Baylor next Saturday and the Methodist November 28. They are favored to wallop Baylor but not Southern Methodist. Lewis Weaver's 13-yard field goal in the first period for three points and Ernest Koy's six-yard plunge for a touchdown in the third period beat Texas Christian Saturday.

Texas, after a bad start, has walloped Baylor and Texas Christian Friday the Longhorns invade Shreveport to play Centenary.

Rice takes on Arkansas Saturday following their 7 to 0 defeat last Saturday by Texas A. and M. A 23-yard drive by the Aggies in the third period with Spencer carrying the ball over and Domingue kicking goal, sent the Owls down.

SIMMONS WILL MEET AUSTIN

COWBOYS SET PACE IN TEXAS CONFERENCE; TO PLAY TONIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP)—A sumptuous helping of football was spread before the Simmons university Cowboys, pace setters in the Texas conference, this week.

A last minute agreement between Austin college and Simmons university officials matched the Cowboys and the Kangaroos for a game in Abilene tonight. The schedule addition meant Simmons would play two important conference games in five days. Howard Payne college, defending champion, was on the schedule for Friday.

Simmons entered the last week of the Texas conference campaign undefeated, untied and its goal line uncrossed in conference play. Austin college and Howard Payne trailed along in the runner-up position.

SERIOUS WORK SLATED FOR THIS WEEK

TICKETS GO ON SALE HERE TODAY FOR TURKEY GAME

After loafing around last week following an easy win over the Plainview Bulldogs on Wednesday, the Lubbock High school Westerners were ordered out to the practice field today for the first of a string of conscientious workouts in preparation for the game with Amarillo a week from Thursday.

The game at Amarillo on Thanksgiving Day will be the most important contest of the season in District 1, a victory giving the Westerners the championship of the district and the right to meet Quanah in the bi-district tilt. One of the largest crowds of the football season in West Texas is expected to attend the game at Amarillo. Four thousand tickets have been ordered for Lubbock fans and are on sale at the Hilton Hotel drug store today. Three thousand adult and one thousand student tickets have been sent to Lubbock.

Still hampered by injuries, the workouts early this week will not be as constructive as later on. However, with the exception of Gene "Debs" Barnett, regular fullback, the injury list is fast diminishing. Barnett must remain on crutches throughout most of the week at least and even then may not be ready to workout any this week. Strong hope is held that he will be able to play against the Sandies but even this is doubtful. He sustained a broken foot in the Childress game.

Bill Davidson, injured in Wednesday's game, appears ready to go. He took a hard lick on the knee and the member remained somewhat swollen for a couple of days. Cecil Merrill appears ready again though his arm is still giving considerable trouble.

UNDEFEATED LIST CUT TO NINETEEN

(By The Associated Press)

The national list of undefeated football teams, shrinking rapidly, had been cut to 19 today and further casualties may be expected before the wind up of the season.

Eleven teams, previously undefeated, fell by the wayside during the past week. Of the survivors, Oklahoma City heads the parade with nine straight wins.

Tulane follows in second place and then come Tennessee and Southern Methodist university. The Mustangs have scored 145 points against their opponents' 35.

England broke all records in the number of books published last year, there being 9907 new books and 5468 new editions, translations and pamphlets.

Don Zimmerman and Jerry Delrymple, Tulane—Former's passes, latter's defensive play helped beat Georgia.

Weldon Mason, Southern Methodist—Beat Baylor with 66-yard run in first period, 6-0.

Bill Norton and Bill McCall, Dartmouth—Famed passing combination accounted for both touchdowns in 14-0 win over Cornell.

Lewis Brown, Nebraska—Ran 70 yards to score winning touchdown against Kansas State.

Martin Varner and William Bell, Ohio State—Former blocked Wisconsin punt, latter fell on ball for only touchdown of game.

Stanley Hamberg, Chicago—Intercepted Illinois pass and scored winning touchdown on 25-yard run.

JAVELINAS IN THE LEAD

TEXAS A. & I. WILL AWAIT OUTCOME OF OTHER GAMES

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Undefeated, untied and its conference schedule concluded, Texas A. & I. today awaited the outcome of other Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association games to determine the next necessary move in its drive for the championship.

The A. & I. Javelinas were the first of the association's eleven teams to reach the finish line undefeated. The North Texas Teachers and Abilene Christian college remained undefeated but they had crucial games ahead of them.

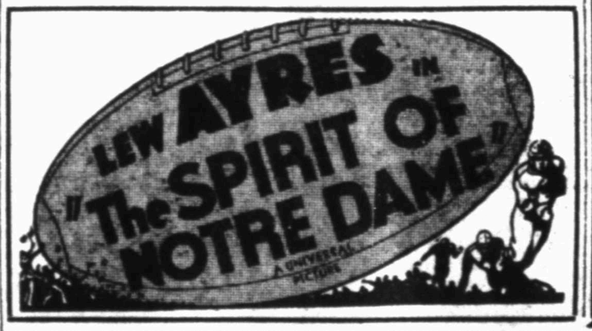

One of North Texas' major engagements of the season was scheduled for today, Sam Houston, defending champion. Confronting Abilene Christian college, leader of the western division race, was Daniel Baker of Brownwood, an in and out team this season. Should North Texas finish undefeated and untied it then would be necessary for a settlement of the eastern division spoils. Under the sectional plan the eastern and western division teams will meet for the championship of the T. I. A. A.

Texas A. & I. last week smothered Stephen F. Austin, 48 to 7. West Texas of Canyon defeated Sul Ross 7 to 2 and McMurry college triumphed over Daniel Baker 7 to 6.

Usual Thanksgiving Lull Cuts Schedules

NOTRE DAME, HARVARD, TULANE AND SOUTHERN METHODISTS WILL FACE CONTESTS THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The usual lull before Thanksgiving Day cuts sharply into the national football schedule this week but Notre Dame, Harvard, Tulane and Southern Methodist, among major unbeaten teams, will try to improve their records.

Notre Dame and Harvard appear to be in the toughest spots. The Ramblers will dig in at South Bend to repel the invasion of Southern California's Trojans who have bowled over six opponents in a row since absorbing a beating by St. Mary's of Oakland, Calif., in the opening game of the season.

Harvard Beats Yale

On paper, Harvard, only unbeaten and untied team in the east, looks too powerful for the Yale Bulldog but in this ancient rivalry season records count for less than nothing.

Tulane, victorious over Georgia last week, should be able to take it easy against Sewanee, and Southern Methodist will be a heavy favorite over the Navy.

A fifth national contender, Tennessee, will be idle until Thanksgiving Day when Gene McEver and his mates close their season against Kentucky.

Here's the way the schedule shapes up in the various confer ences:

East—Harvard and Fordham, unbeaten, and Pittsburgh, defeated only by Notre Dame, look strongest although New York University also must be given consideration despite defeats by Georgia and Oregon. Harvard-Yale clash head's the week's schedule. Southern Methodist comes north to take on the Navy.

Midwest — Northwestern apparently has a strangle hold on Big Ten honors and this week battles Iowa. Minnesota and Michigan are paired off as are Purdue and Indiana. Wisconsin and Chicago and Illinois and Ohio State.

Big Six — Nebraska and Iowa State, undefeated in conference competition, will clash for the title this week. Missouri plays Kansas.

South — Tulane and Tennessee lead the parade. Tennessee is idle but Tulane meets Sewanee.

Southwest — Texas Christian, beaten by Texas, must whip Baylor this Saturday to stay in the running. Victories over Baylor and Southern Methodist two weeks hence would give the Christians a tie with the latter for the title. Only other conference game sends Rice against Arkansas.

Pacific Coast — With Southern California virtually "in" as champions, Stanford, California and Oregon are battling for second place. California can clinch that berth this week by beating Stanford.

Rocky Mountain — Conference games involve Colorado college and the University of Colorado and Colorado Teachers and Colorado Aggies.

CANZONERI TO DEFEND TITLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Tony Canzoneri's third defense of his lightweight championship in little more than a year perhaps will be his last.

For the latest challenger for Tony's 135-pound crown is none other than Sardinias of Cuba, otherwise Kid Chocolate. They will battle over the 15-round championship limit in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Although the lightweight title will be the chief prize, one other championship and possibly two will be up for decision. The junior welterweight title Canzoneri took from Berg automatically will be on the block. And so will Chocolate's junior lightweight crown provided Canzoneri elects to make 130 pounds, the class limit for that somewhat synthetic division.

Canzoneri probably will be the betting favorite at narrow odds of 6 to 5 or 11 to 10.

DEAR OLD SING SING COMES THROUGH TO BEAT SOFTIES

QUARTERBACK 9845 CHISELS THROUGH THEM LEGITIMATE MUGS AS EASY AS CARRYING SAFE OUT OF JEWELRY STORE; SCORE IS 33 TO 0

SING SING PRISON, OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 16. (AP)—As I was sayin' when they ordered us back to the cell block, them Ossining state militia softies come in here yesterday with a crazy idea they could play football, and did our mob knock 'em off?

Are you telling me? The score was 33 to 0, and if you think the 33 wasn't us, you're cuckoo.

We played honest football, on the level, up-and-up stuff, if you know what I mean. We had some nifty heist guys on our side, but we turned amateur for the afternoon and went straight, playing according to Hoyle, or whoever wrote the rule book.

One of our boys gets a little nervous once and tackles his own teammate. Some sour grapes gents in the bleachers wanted him put on the spot, but gee, pal, everybody makes mistakes. That's why we're in this dump, ain't it?

I gets a big kick outta the way them guards gave all the customers the O. O. before letting them into the prison yard—I mean the stadium. First the guard would take the customer's ticket and then frisk him for a cannon. It's got so nobody trust nobody no more.

You'd be surprised the way No. 9845—our quarterback—played. Did he chisel through them legitimate mugs? He'd stand out there and catch forward passes and then wait until about three of the town boys had piled on his back; then he'd waddle down the field, just as easy as carrying a safe out of a jewelry store. He'll make a bum out of some of them professional stars when he gets out—in about 25 years.

Making scores was a cinch for our mob; just like selling a sucker the Empire State building for five grand. Why, in the first round we rolls up 13, and just to show that wasn't unlucky we does another 13 in the second inning. We lays off in round three and then in the final spasm we shoots a seven. Some of our mathematical experts—a couple of gents doing stretches for juggling figures—adds the two thirteens and the seven and announced it came to 33. I'm tellin' you.

It was our first game, and it puts us right up with the undefeated teams of the United States, so you can see we're pretty good. The warden's a swell guy, and he lets all the numbers come out and see the game—except the boys that are in the little house waitin'—; and he has the game broadcast so the boys in the hospital could get an earful and give three cheers for dear old jail.

They tells me that he gate receipts was $250, which goes to the Ossinining unemployment fund to help fellows who ain't got no place to sleep or nothing to eat like we got.

Thought For Today

A bruised reed he shall not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth judgment unto truth.—Isaiah 42:3.

* * *

Judge thyself with a judgment of sincerity, and thou wilt judge others with a judgment of charity.—Mason.

Abolishing The City

Bertrand Russell, British scientist and philosopher, proposed in a recent debate in New York that the state instead of the family ought to bring up children; and while there doesn't seem much chance that his plan will be adopted very soon, one of the arguments he used is worth thinking about.

He admitted that parents are usually better at the job of raising children than any state institution can be. But he insisted that this is true only if the parents live in good conditions, and he pointed out that most people nowadays live in cities, and that the small apartment—typical of city life—is very far from being a good place for children.

All of this is true enough. No one who has spent all or part of his childhood in a city apartment will deny it. But there may be another way out of the difficulty.

Since the city apartment is a tough place for youngsters, and an ever-increasing percentage of families lives in apartments—why not, instead of trying to abolish the family, abolish the city?

It is very possible that this is an issue which will engage a major share of the public's attention during the next half century.

The shift from a rural to an urban civilization in the United States is a very recent thing, and it isn't entirely finished yet; but it has gone far enough to make it perfectly clear that the city, in a great many ways, is not much of a place to live and rear a family.

It is crowded, noisy and dirty. When streets and vacant lots are used for playgrounds—as they have to be, in thousands of circumstances—the results are distressing. Among a child's inalienable rights (and a grown person's, too, for that matter) ought to be the privilege of wandering across open fields and through quiet bits of woodland; yet that privilege is simply unattainable to the average city dweller.

We have, by this time, developed rapid transit facilities sufficiently to enable us to abolish the closely-packed urban residential district if we choose. It may be necessary for us to group industries and offices together; but why can't living quarters be put a score of miles away, out in the open, away from the dust and congestion and noise?

Already there is a tendency in that direction. So far it is limited chiefly to the fairly well-to-do. Sooner or later it ought to extend to everyone.

Competition

Executives of the recently merged American ocean steamship lines are said to be ready, when the time is ripe, to build giant liners as huge as those now under construction in European shipyards. The competition for transatlantic passenger traffic is keen, and the public seems to be demanding larger and faster steamers; such steamers, we are assured, will presently be seen under the American flag.

All of this is more or less comforting to national pride. Yet it is permissible to wonder just why it needs to be done. An American merchant marine is needed, undeniably; but the freight steamer is the backbone of any merchant marine system, and the "super liner" is just part of the window-dressing.

Those who like to see the American flag flying on all of the seven seas should remember that their hopes will stand or fall, not on the construction of gigantic floating palaces, but on the success or failure of the lowly, unpublicized cargo carriers.

Southern California U. co-eds say five per cent of a man's appeal is his ability to understand clearly the word "no." Anyway, that leaves 95 per cent for maybe.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says waiting for the new model, which may be out any minute, is all that keeps her from accepting the Einstein theory.

* * *

Now that the new phone books are out, it's time for the efficiency expert to start changing the numbers again.

* * *

IF you have read "Young Man of Manhattan", or "Redheaded Woman" you are bound to be interested in the following announcement. If you haven't read either book, you should be interested in the announcement anyway, because it indicates what this country is coming to. Here it is:

"To whom it may concern: Katherine Brush and H. Charles Winans have renewed a three-year lease on marriage. Miss Brush, as you doubtless know, is the charming author of such best sellers as 'Young Man of Manhattan' and 'Redheaded Woman', and is a new literary figure of some consequence. Mr. Winans is her husband and somewhat of a financial magician."

* * *

The announcement goes ahead to explain that the couple has been wedded for two years and is exercising an option for renewal of the contract. Like the original agreement, the renewal is for three years and provides for separate homes, absolute social freedom and all that sort of fluff.

For instance, if Mr. Winans wants to have dinner with his wife, he has to call her and arrange the 'date' and, among other forms of modernism, she continues to go by her maiden name.

* * *

OF course, what the couple does is none of anybody else's business but it is unusual enough to draw considerable comment—more because it is unusual than anything else. But there are still enough men with hair on their chests and women with horse sense in their heads to feel that things are coming to a nice state of affairs when a man can't act as the head of his family—at least to all outside observations and indications—and that conditions have changed to such an extent in this country where a man has to ask his wife to have dinner with him.

Hey, hey—and so forth.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the last he heard about Alfalfa Bill was that he was standing on his head and reporters were dashing hither and thither to phone the city editor for cameramen.

* * *

The co-operative movement seems to have spread to football on the kind of a pass that's thrown forty yards and returned eighty-five.

* * *

A sophisticated Tech sophomore presented himself at the co-ed boarding house and was greeted by a freshman girl.

"Is May in?" he asked grandly.

"May who?" asked the co-ed.

"Why May O'Naise, of course", was the reply.

The freshman pondered a minute before answering.

"Yep, she's here", she said, "but you can't see her. May O'Naise is dressing!"

* * *

WE have leagues for this and leagues for that. There's the League for the Prevention of War, the Navy league, the Junior league, the League of Nations and Notions. The American league, the League for Entrance into the World Court and the Anti-Saloon league—but what this country needs most is a league for the improvement of bridge prizes.

* * *

Though not a bridge player by any exaggeration, The Plainsman happens to be one of that legion of males—the husband of a serious bridge player. Our house is filled from top to bottom with knick-knacks of all kinds and descriptions, picked up here, there and everywhere, until there isn't a corner not already piled full of gimcracks.

Just what any of them can be be used for is a matter of doubt—which is the basis for the declaration that what we need in place of Tom Marshall's nickle stogie is bridge prizes that can be used—or at least those whose use is apparent upon inspection by a poor old country boy who doesn't know vulnerable from invulnerable, and doesn't give a darn.

* * *

THE women-folks of this day and time have to play bridge. There's no doubt about that and the bridge habit takes a hold that makes addiction to narcotics look like a second-rate proposition.

But if they have to play they'd just as well be playing for something they and the rest of the family can use.

* * *

Without talking out of turn or attempting to disrupt the bridge brigade, The Plainsman respectfully suggests since these are somewhat uncertain times, that practical bridge prizes be offered the devotees of Ely, Culbertson and Lenz.

In other words, instead of playing furiously for a doodad, the ladies might shuffle and deal for winter underwear, cotton stockings and pulse warmers.

A side of bacon, or a dozen eggs, in which a non-bridge playing spouse could share, would also make good awards, or such things as gasoline, oil, orders for marcels and such might be substituted.

There are thousands of necessities that could be offered as prizes and thus serve as a double boon to the household of the various victors.

The prizes could be used—and the family wouldn't have to wear down its intelligence arguing on "what in the thunder is this thing for?"

If this isn't a good practicable suggestion there never was one printed.

Who wants to be the second charter member of the League for the Improvement of Bridge Prizes?

Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., Youngest Senator, Due To Exert Extraordinary Influence In The Next Congress

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Robert M. LaFollette, still the youngest senator at the age of 36, may exert an extraordinary amount of influence in both branches of Congress when the nation's legislators convene in December. He is certain to be one of the most important figures in the Senate and it is quite possible that he will have a lot to do with guiding the course of the House.

DUTCHER

The progressives are going to be more powerful in the Senate than ever before. "Young Bob" is the level-headed organizer among them, the keen and energetic namesake of a famous father who is the only real leader among them even though the strings of his leadership are almost invisible. Of equal importance, LaFollette is the one Republican progressive who has tracked the most pressing economic problems to their lairs and grabbed them by the tail. With his head full of facts and his feet on the ground, this industrious young senator will be in the forefront of every fight which arises in the next session over such subjects as business recovery, unemployment and relief.

The possibility of an important LaFollette influence in the House lies in the fact that there, too, the progressives will hold a balance of power between the Republicans and Democrats. The backbone of any co-ordinated progressive group would be the eight Republican insurgents from Wisconsin, members of LaFollette's political faction back in the old home state. There is little doubt here that those insurgents will co-operate with LaFollette right up to the hilt. Years ago the division between parties in the House was so close as to give the Wisconsin progressive prestige and power, but of late years they have been impotent and silent, buried beneath large G. O. P. majorities.

Already the eight Wisconsinites are said to be organizing a huddle with progressive of other states in order to devise and promote a progressive program and they threaten to prevent the Republicans from organizing the House unless they are assured of consideration for unemployment and farm relief measures as well as revision of the rules. Even if the Republicans have no paper majority, the progressives probably will hold a balance of power, for they are reasonably sure to find Democrats—such as Huddleston of Alabama, and Howard of Nebraska—to play with them on most issues.

Meanwhile, "Little Bob" has been laying his lines for an intelligent progressive onslaught against economic problems in the coming Congress by his hearings on his bill for a national economic council. There have been few Senate investigations to compare with this one of LaFollette's, held and presided over by him in his position as chairman of the Senate committee on manufacturers.

The organization, the selection of witnesses and the questioning have exemplified the care, the cool judgment and the vigor with which LaFollette operates. Along with an elite group of economists, statisticians, sociologists and other experts he summoned and examined the nation's industrial and financial giants—Sloan of General Motors, Wiggin of Chase National Bank, Farrell of U. S. Steel, Swope of General Electric and Harriman of the utilities. He obtained, to a greater extent than anyone else has obtained in a public manner, a composite picture of the "state of the Union" and ideas from some of the available "best minds" as to the possibilities of economic and social planning. This material he will use as groundwork for many arguments in the next Congress.

If, in the midst of efforts for relief and other economic or social measures sure to be opposed by a conservative administration, he can win the fight for a national economic council, LaFollette will have taken an impressive sock at the old stock argument that the progressives are never a constructive force in American politics.

Diet and Health

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 3 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1453 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Obesity." "Feminine Hygiene" "Indigestion and Constipation." "The Care of the Hair and Skin." "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

GOOD BODILY POSTURE

Good bodily posture is important from the standpoint of health, of comfort and of efficiency.

So far as the first of these is concerned, and leaving out such definite diseases as tuberculosis and atonic dyspepsia, which, while they may be associated with bad posture cannot be proved to be due to bad posture, the following conditions were reported by the White House conference committee as caused by faulty bodily position.

Dr. Clendening

1. In the absence of an organic disease, failure to gain weight and digestive disturbances although the diet is adequate and appropriate. Weight tends to increase and digestive disturbances to cease when poor body mechanics is changed to good body mechanics.

2. Bowels that are sluggish and irregular tend to become more active and regular with improvement in body mechanics.

3. Cyclic vomiting and certain presumably toxic crises occuring in individuals exhibiting poor mechanics have ceased concommitantly with the correction of the poor body mechanics.

4. Increase in alertness, vigor and endurance is usually noticed with improvement in body mechanics, posture and muscle tone.

So far as comfort is concerned a large number of backaches, and "rheumatic" pains, especially in the legs, are due to nothing else than standing, sitting or lying in strained positions. Throwing the weight out of line causes foot deformities, or at least foot strain. This is capable of causing pain in the calf of the leg and in the knee.

There is a natural curve of the spine inward in the lower third. If this is exaggerated—if, in technical language a lordosis occurs, it may cause pain in the abdomen which can easily be mistaken for appendicitis or other internal diseases. Carnett, a Philadelphia physician, who has called attention to the frequency with which these pains in the abdominal muscles can be mistaken for surgical diseases, thinks this exaggerated lumbar lordosis the commonest cause of such pains.

The question of increased bodily efficiency with good posture, hardly needs to be argued. To make the point evident it need only be pointed out that the most frequent symptom resulting from faulty posture is fatigue. If one person becomes fatigued sooner than another person of the same age and weight, it is an indication that the efficiency of his body is reduced. So, if fatigue is the prominent symptom of poor posture, poor posture must necessarily reduce efficiency.

QUESTIONS FRO MREADERS

A. E. S.: "What is aspergillus? Who discovered the germ? Is it related to tuberculosis? What are the usual symptoms? In activity does it follow a drying process or hemorrhage? What treatment would you advise?"

Answer: Aspergillus is a fungus, widely distributed in nature. Bennett first described it in 1842. It infects the lungs, but is a very rare disease. It may implant itself on a tuberculosis of the lungs. The symptoms are cough, fever an expectoration. I do not understand what you mean by your fifth question. The treatment is that of pulmonary tuberculosis.

* * *

L. M. H.: "Will you please tell me if cancer is contagious. I am helping take care of a woman who has it?"

Answer: No. Absolutely not.

A movie actress recently planted fig trees in her back yard. Maybe she's planning to use the leaves.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Fancy salaries credited to screen, radio and stage stars are but slightly larger than those received by a number of performers whose names are completely unknown to the world-at-large.

These are the very special entertainers of the many foreign colonies in and around New York.

They are importations from the homeland and they bring native songs and dances to the transplanted peoples of the earth. Particularly are they demanded on such occasions as weddings, anniversaries, birthdays and holidays.

The other day, quite by accident, I encountered two Syrian dancers, who supply the necessary Arabic twist to gala events. Their ankles appeared the size of an average slim waist. I have no notion of their piano-side weights. They had just returned from an upstate wedding in a Syrian colony; and had received $250 per night for an appearance.

Brooklyn boasts the largest settlement. The only Arabic newspaper in America is issued there.

Every nationality has its quota of native artists. These command a loyalty and following such as is unknown to the most popular American favorites. It is more than that: it is a downright affection and adoration.

For generations the Yiddish theaters of the East Side held certain actors in veneration. Such performers could fairly hypnotize their audiences into tears of laughter. The uptown playgoers knew little or nothing of these heroes. But the Ghetto world have no others. This sad to say, is not quite the case today. Oldtimers have died or moved away; a younger generation has been brought up on movies and Broadway. Two of the famous old players have made their way from Second avenue to Broadway during the current season. One of the most modernistic of the "art" theaters of the East Side has closed its doors.

* * *

There is, however, but slight change in the huge family and neighborhood gatherings staged night after night in the hundreds of halls and ballrooms of the side streets. Almost every old-world festivity can be discovered by one who is patient and watchful.

Recently, I was seated in a Rumanian cafe in Second avenue when a party of 50 arrived bearing a colorful canopy under which marched a bride and groom. The parade was headed by the weeping parents of the bride; for the departure from the household is taken as a sad event.

On the other hand, I have often encountered crowds hilarjously celebrating a death. For among many people there is rejoicing and much bibbling when death ends the suffering of a friend or relative. The worldly worries have ended—and so become celebrant.

THE TREER TREED

GENEVA, O.—Pal, pet airdale of Capt. I. D. Howard, treed a husky woodchuck. Up the tree after the animal the dog jumped and succeeded in landing on the same limb ahead of the woodchuck. The dog couldn't back away from the animal, and the 'chuck kept advancing with bared teeth. The limb was about to break with the combined weight of the dog and the woodchuck when Howard appeared and rescued the dog by lifting it down from the tree.

WRITER COMMENTS ON ARMISTICE DAY SPEECH

Dear Plainsman: Dr. Cunningham's Armistice Day address at Tech college was to my mind far above the average speech on such an occasion in its thoughful, fair-minded quality. Yet, I must admit that to me and to at least one other person, who happened to be sitting with me, it was intensely disappointing, even though I heartily agreed with practically all the views expressed.

It was disappointing because of the speaker, after making a very good case for reasonable preparedness, did not go on to point out that to end the program here would surely be disastrous in the long run: that pure preparedness and pure pacifist programs are built alike on half truths; and that any attempt at a solution of the war problem which can pretend to be semi-permanent necessarily involves responsible and courageous attempts at international cooperation.

I had in mind asking Dr. Cunningham whether he would endorse the sentiments in this letter which supplement those of his speech. On second thought I reflected that he could not with modesty endorse the first sentence, and that it would be better taste to let him assert or deny as he pleases, if he cares to make any comment.

Very truly yours,
R. S. Underwood.

(Dear Mr. Underwood: I am sorry I was out of the city, thus missing the Armistice Day address. I beg your pardon for the late publishing of this letter, due to my being away on business. Thanks, The Plainsman.)

The Four Marx Brothers were one time concert players known the Four Nightingales. Since that time they've made their Marx.

The French athletes say they'll be slowed down without it. But they drink the stuff here they stop.

Authorities are debating whether French Olympic athletes competing in this country will be allowed to have wine. Well, wine hell not!

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote is taken on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds and flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

SIGNORA GRANDI WILL CALL HOME

S. S. CONTE GRANDE, En Route to the U. S., Nov. 16 (AP)—The first item on the program of Signora Antonietta Grandi Tuesday morning in Washington is a telephone call to her children back home.

The wife of Italy's foreign minister has been reciving radio messages from the children daily but what she wants is to hear their voices.

Franco, 6, and his sister Simonetta, 4, are at the family home at Frascati, just outside Rome. Before sailing Donna Antonietta promised the children she would telephone them as soon as she reached Washington.

The foreign minister and his wife expect to be in the capital this evening in time for dinner but Franco and Simonetta will be sound asleep at that time. Their mother doesn't believe in interrupting their rest, not even for a trans-Atlantic telephone call.

GARNER IS GIVEN HIS FIRST GAVEL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Representative Garner of Texas has received his first gavel.

It came to the Democratic choice for the speakership from Judge B. Bowling of Lafayette, Alabama, and was made by Lee Hunter of Buffalo.

Judge Bowling wrote "Lee is a Democrat and has heard me talk about you so much that he thinks you are a great man.

"Lee has been crippled up this summer and unable to get about. He made a gavel for me to use in court, and this morning brought me for you—made of native Chambers county hickory and walnut.

"When he handed it to me he said:

"'I made this expressly for Mr. Garner. I want to send it to him for me with my compliments and best wishes, and the first damn Yankee that raises up on him mash him over the head.'"

Garner replied:

"Tell our good friend Lee Hunter that if I never have the honor of using it in the speaker's chair to rap the house to order, I might have a chance to smash some opponent over the head with it."

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 1 to 5 points on liquidation and southern selling which was inspired by easier Liverpool cables. January sold off to 6.42 and May to 6.76.

While the selling continued and appeared to be in considerable volume, it was well enough taken to hold the market within a point or two of the opening figures during the first half hour. Trade buying was reported on the decline, while there was covering and the influence of the sharp break of silver probably was offset to some extent by the advance in wheat and corn.

Liverpool cables reported hedge selling and continental liquidation in that market on the decline in Alexandria and Bombay. Egyptian futures in Alexandria were 14 to 42 points lower and there was a decline of 10 points in the spot quotation for Indian cotton in Liverpool.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The cotton market opened easier with Liverpool cables lower than due to weakness in Egyptian and a decline in silver.

First trades here showed losses of 4 to 6 points. The market continued to ease off after the start on long liquidation and on liquidation of the December position now nearing the first notice day. This caused December to be lower than the later months into which the near position was being transferred.

December traded down to 6.28, January to 6.38 and March to 6.58, or 6 to 7 points below Saturday's close. Near the end of the first hour the market was steadier and had recovered 1 to 3 points of the earlier loss.

The market became somewhat steadier after the first hour, recovering 2 to 5 points, but later eased off again on the weakness in silver. Silver in London dropped to 18 cents per ounce and declined 300 points in New York, that being the limit of fluctuations per day. This caused liquidation and there also was some hedge selling.

December dropped to 6.26, January to 6.38 and March to 6.54, or 7 to 10 points down from Saturday's close. At noon the market was steady, but at the lows.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today.

Dec 6.29; Jan. 6.41; March 6.60, May 6.80; July 6.97; Oct. 7.10.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady today.

Dec 6.31; Jan 6.42; March 6.58, May 6.78; July 6.96; Oct. 7.22.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Unexpected sharp upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations gave a decided early hoist to all grains today. Adverse crop reports from Argentina were a bullish influence, together with relative meagerness of supplies of wheat afloat for importing countries. Opening 1-2 to 1-4 cents up, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started at 3-8 to 1 3-8 gain and subsequently held firm.

MATADOR BAND TO PRESENT CONCERT

The Texas Technological college band directed by Harry LeMaire will present its first concert of this academic year at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night at the new high school auditorium. No admission will be charged, the director said.

Marches and overtures will be presented and popular numbers probably will be given as encores. Forty students are in the band which will attempt the heaviest concert yet given in Lubbock by a college organization. A feature number will be by a cornet trio composed of H. K. ("Hank") Godike, Ronnie Sheppard, and Robert Kornegay. Culver Hill will present a baritone solo.

The Matador band will appear at the Texas Tech-Simmons university game at Abilene, Thanksgiving day, and at a teachers convention at Amarillo the following Saturday. The Amarillo concert probably will be broadcast over station WDAG at 8 a. m.

Ruben Holland reported a .32-.20 caliber rifle a box of shells, a sweater, a flashlight, and a woman's handbag containing clothes were stolen from an automobile parked in front of his residence at 1311 Fourteenth street Sunday night.

Five dollars' worth of groceries and 10 gallons of gasoline were taken from W. T. Finney's automobile while it was parked at 2413 Thirteenth street, he reported Saturday.

Theft of a week-end case, containing a bathrobe, pajamas, a suit and blouse, a pair of hose, and some toilet articles was reported.

A sheeplined coat, two quilts, a hammer and a saw were taken from Bowles dairy near here Sunday, the sheriff's department was notified.

A portable phonograph, some blankets, dresses, a sheepskin coat, and some beans were taken after noon Saturday from a house near the old Hardy school house about 6 miles northwest of Shallowater, according to a report to the sheriff's department this morning.

Stolen Saturday night, a Buick coupe belonging to Dr. R. B. Hutchinson of Lubbock later was found in the 2400-block on Avenue Q with a broken steering gear and the lights burning. Two pairs of trousers were stolen from the car, which was taken from the 1000-block of Thirteenth street.

received superficial wounds on the arm and leg. Two other negroes also were in the game, in which only a few dollars were involved, although the negroes probably had a total of $35 or more on their persons, the sheriff said.

All four negroes were said to be from Hill county. Jackson's body will be sent to Hillsboro tonight.

Carl Lavendar, on whose farm the negroes worked, reported the shooting to the Crosby county sheriff's department within a few moments after it occurred. Jackson, first attended in the Lavendar home by a Ralls doctor, was received at West Texas hospital at Lubbock at about 5:30 p. m. Sunday and died at about 9 p. m.

Bond in the murder cases had not been fixed this morning. The three negroes who were with Jackson when he refused to be robbed still were in Crosbyton this morning but were not being held, Sheriff Reed said.

The youths used handkerchiefs as masks in the attempted holdup which resulted in the slaying. They gave no specific reason for wanting the money sought by robbery, the sheriff said.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 16 (AP)—Counsel for Harry F. Powers, "mail order romeo" accused of the Quiet Dell Killings, today asked for a change of venue. Judge John C. Southern took the petition under consideration.

ly prevailing adaptive principles, which are only revealed in long secular periods of time.

"Moreover," Dr. Osborn went on, "we are compelled to return to a creative concept of evolution—mark that the word creative is used without any reference to its old theological or philosophical implications."

For the kind of "creation" he means, Dr. Osborn said there is no word in Greek, so he calls it Aristogenesis. It means that the origin of creativeness is somehow bound up in the process of adaptation. In the language of the street, this adaptive creativeness might be expressed in the words "where there's a will there's a way."

BOOM JOHNSON AS NOMINEE

CALIFORNIAN WILL BE ASKED TO OPPOSE PRES. HOOVER

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Will Hiram W. Johnson seek the Republican nomination against Herbert Hoover?

He will be asked to by some western independents in congress who are down on a number of the major policies of the present chief executive. The party leaders are hopeful he will clear up his intended part in the 1932 race.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa is a chief mover in a boom for his Californis colleague; he has asserted that not only independents but "many of the regulars" would join him, if Johnson placed his hat in the ring.

The question was fanned up to energetic interest by Senator Johnson himself when he recently attaked the Hoover administration on its relations with the League of Nations in the dispute between China and Japan. He called for a ballot box repudiation of the Hoover policy.

Significant in the opinion of many political heads is the entry of Representative Swing into the senatorial race for California. Swing is a close friend of Johnson and if he and Johnson combine for a battle against the president in his home state next year something like a showdown in Republican affairs is expected.

The fairy floated 'round in air
Double Knot cried, "Well, look

Double Knot then motioned
he pretty little fairy, who soon ted down and landed near the d of Tinymites. Said she, "I w who you lads are, and you e traveled near and far. You're e and bold adventurers and ve seen a lot of sights.
Before I'm through you'll see more, cause I have thrilling gs in store. Of course you must

," Clowny cried. "We've all promise our behavior, fairy d, will be all right."

en Mister Double Knot broke nd shouted, with a silly grin, e don't forget, I am the one brought the fairy here. If to bring you lots of fun, a y deed I've surely done. Why you Tinies give ol' Double a friendly cheer?"
Tinies cried, with all their
t. "Hip, hip, hurray! You are all right!" Then Double Knot bowed low and said, "Oh, thanks for that hurray! And now the fairy lass can do a favor, if she's willing to. Please give me frog legs with your wand, so I can hop away."

The fairy said, "All right, I will."
She waved her wand, and, what a thrill! Frog legs appeared on Double Knot. It gave the boys a fright.
But when he jumped off of the ground, they knew that he was safe and sound. It only took a few jumps till he d'sappeared from sight.

Testing Parachute To Lower Stalled Plane

A giant parachute for planes, to be used to lower them when motors are stalled, is proposed by Colonel Roscoe Turner of Los Angeles. A view of the plane being used in tests, with the 90-foot parachute on the left, is shown at right. If tests prove satisfactory, Colonel Turner believes the hazards of flying will be greatly reduced. The parachute will prevent any possibility of the plane falling into a tailspin. Colonel Turner believes, and will allow heavily laden aircraft to descend slowly and evenly.

A new idea in airplanes, the gyroplane, which would be capable of flying 145 miles an hour and of climbing 1500 feet a minute has been designed by C. L. Stauffer of Elkhart, Ind. The plane, shown at left, is said by its designer to combine the advantages of the auto-gyro with those of the airplane. It can take off in 10 feet and clear a 100-foot object at 150 feet, Stauffer says. In landing or taking off the upper wing rotates. The wings are parallel in normal flight.
