61 Arrested At Kent

KENT, Ohio (AP)-Sixty-one persons protesting planned construction near the Kent State University hill near which four students were killed in a 1970 antiwar demonstration were arrested early today as they tried to reoccupy the site.

Within hours of the arrests, construction equipment was moved into the fenced-in construction site, and a bulldozer began preparing the site on Blanket Hill.

About 15 onlookers gathered at the site but offered no resistance to the construction work.

The demonstrators, defying a court order, had set up tents and a shrine to the four dead late Thursday, but the encampment lasted less than four hours as unarmed campus police began dragging the passively resisting protesters, linked arm in arm, to two waiting university buses.

Islands Jolted

By The Associated Press

A major earthquake struck the Solomon Islands in the Pacific Ocean early today, the National Earthquake Information Service at Boulder, Colo., reported. There were no early reports of casualties or damage.

The quake occurred at 7:16 a.m. EDT and registered 7.3 on the Richiter scale, spokesman Waverly Person said.

He said the quake was centered off the south coast of Bougainville in the Solomons and about 360 miles to the northwest of Guadalcanal, where two major earthquakes on April 20-21 killed 12 persons and caused considerable damage in the Honiara area.

'Vendor Hold' Placed

AUSTIN (AP)-Sloppy handling of medications has put Sen. Bill Moore's nursing home in danger of a temporary loss of Medicaid and Medicare funds, according to State Welfare Department records.

Moore, D-Bryan, is chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee and is a partner in the Sherwood Health Care Facility in Bryan.

The home was placed on a "vendor hold"-withholding of Medicaid and Medicare funds-for nearly two months in 1975 because of unsanitary conditions and patient care deficiencies.

Coins Are Problem

PARIS (AP)-Somewhere today four bandits sit and consider their loot-17 tons of shiny new coins, worth $3.54 million. They may know what they're going to do with the heavy haul, but to others it's a mystery.

"You can't buy a chateau, a car or even a pair of crocodile shoes with bags of change," the newspaper L'Aurore reminded them in an open letter. "And even if you go out to celebrate your coup, the owner of the smallest cafe will start to suspect before you drop the 10th coin on the bar."

"Please write to us and tell us how on earth you are going to get rid of it," the newspaper suggested.

Debates Energy

WASHINGTON (AP)-The House started work today on President Carter's energy program and Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said the plan comes to the floor just about as Carter outlined it in an April 20 message to Congress.

"Ninety per cent of his package is there," O'Neill told reporters. "The President should be extremely happy with the bill that has come to the floor."

The House Rules Committee cleared the bill for floor action Thursday night under guidelines which could mean several major floor fights on amendments challenging the administration package.

Only preliminary debate, no voting, was on the House's schedule for the day. Most of next week has been set aside in order to finish the legislation and send it to the Senate by next Friday.

Keeps Sale Alive

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter is beating a tactical retreat in the face of solid bipartisan opposition in Congress to his plan to sell $1.5 billion in sophisticated radar air-defense technology to Iran.

Carter kept the proposed sale alive Thursday only by agreeing to a month's delay in its consideration and by accepting a list of six conditions aimed at lessening the concerns of some senators about security and Iran's military ambitions.

Maiden Run Is Celebrated

Pipeline Oil Reaches Alaska

By ROBERT WELLER
Associated Press Writer

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP)-Sirens wailed, firecrackers snapped, horns honked, cheers erupted in bars. All celebrated the first gush of Alaska's black bounty of crude oil from the end of the trans-Alaska pipeline journey that started 38½ days-and a struggle of nine years-ended with arrival of oil from above the Arctic Circle at the line's southern terminus here. The North Slope crude officially ended its pipe journey at 11:02 p.m. Alaskan time 4:02 a.m. EDT.

Like the proud father of a newborn child, Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. President William Darch, contacted at his Anchorage home, bragged about the 800-mile, $7.7 billion pipeline. And he applauded Alaskans who saw the controversial project through to its first delivery.

"It even took dynamite and shrugged it off!" enthused Darch, referring to a sabotage attempt detected earlier this week.

Oil flowed immediately into storage tanks at the $1 billion oil handling facility. An Atlantic Richfield supertanker, the 120,00-ton ARCO Juneau, will take oil to the west coast after several days.

The journey of 38 days, 12 hours and 56 minutes ended a trouble-plagued maiden run of oil through the line. Problems included an explosion that killed one man and destroyed a pump station, reducing the 48-inch line's capacity by one-third.

It also ended a turbulent period of energy history in which the forces of development clashed with conservationists in a struggle over the rich Prudhoe Bay oil fields-the nation's largest pool of oil, discovered in 1968.

The crude will be the first shipments from what is estimated to be a nine billion barrel field at Prudhoe Bay along the Arctic Ocean. In the pipeline's present configuration, Alyeska hopes to deliver 800,000 barrels a day to Valdez.

The pipeline startup ordeal, which began June 20 at Prudhoe Bay, was as frustrating for Alyeska as was construction of the line, the largest privately financed construction project in history.

Major and minor shutdowns added 14 days to the time it took to move the neated oil from fields north of the Arctic Circle to Valdez, an ice-free port. Pump Station No. 8 southeast of Fairbanks was destroyed in an explosion, the line suffered its first sabotage attempt and one mishap spewed 42,000 gallons of oil onto the tundra.

Nutrition Project OK'd

Funds that would establish a nutrition program for senior citizens in Snyder and two other area towns were approved recently by the Texas Governor's Committee on Aging.

The West Texas Council of Governments announced Friday that rural nutrition project application funds submitted by the council's area agency on aging had been approved.

Total amount approved was $57,109 Title VII funds under the Older American's Act. In addition to Snyder, the funds will be used in Sweetwater and Loraine, according to Mrs. Chris Kyker, director of the area agency on aging.

The contract for the nutrition program for the elderly in Snyder is being developed in cooperation with Western Texas College.

This becomes the third project within the agency area since 1974. Abilene was the first and now serves an daily average of 460 meals in seven sites.

Brownwood began its project in 1976 and serves an average of 100 meals daily.

Attorney General Hill Visits Here Thursday

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill, possibly the most prominent non-candidate for the upcoming gubernatorial race, blitzed through Snyder in a whirlwind tour Thursday afternoon.

Hill stopped briefly at the chamber of commerce for an informal discussion and to conduct his own grass-roots survey of the mood of Texas and Texans.

When asked if he had decided to become a gubernatorial candidate, Hill said he was still considering the possibility. Hill added that he will formally announce his decision during the third week of September.

Citing a "growing sense of awareness on the part of our (Texas) people that we need to tackle our problems headon," Hill responded to questions fired at him from a group of approximately 20 persons present for the meeting.

When asked by City Manager George Patterson if the allocation of Texas oil and natural gas to other parts of the country is a political or legal problem, Hill replied that he will attempt to make a legal battle of the issue.

However, Hill noted that "if we can win some of these battles in Congress, we will not have to go to court."

Although a lawyer, Hill said, "You do not know how successful you will be in court. You just have to go in and try."

Hill said he is not adamantly opposed to the allocation of oil and natural gas produced in Texas to other parts of the United States "if it does not produce hardship in Texas" and if Texas receives "a fair value" for its oil and gas.

Hill said he is not sure about the ultimate answer to President Carter's proposed amnesty for aliens residing in Texas and the United States.

He said he is glad to see the problem being discussed, but added that "we owe our first allegiance to our own citizens."

Acknowledging there are problems in the structuring of the judicial system, Hill said he has "never wanted to substitute lawyer politics for people politics."

He said there are several

Emergency Room Action Weighed

The Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers Thursday night discussed weekend emergency room coverage and voted to discuss the matter further with the medical staff.

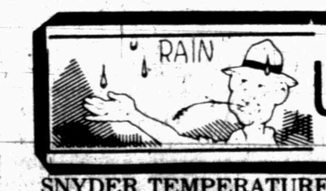

Representatives of the hospital board and administration have met recently with two different groups of doctors interested in providing weekend emergency room coverage at the hospital.

The board delayed a decision on the matter pending a joint conference committee next Monday. The board then asked board chairman John Jarrell to meet with the medical staff Tuesday night to further discuss the possibility of weekend coverage by one of the groups.

The short agenda included routine payment of bills, minutes and review of the financial statement by administrator Cy Miller.

The board also inspected the cardiac care unit which is under renovation to provide a larger cardiac monitoring area.

In the administrative report, average daily census for the month of June was 61.4 compared to the average of 71.4 for the year. During the month of June, there were 488 cases handled through the emergency room.

Indicators Signal A Slowdown

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-The government's index of leading indicators dropped six tenths of 1 per cent in June, foreshadowing a slowdown in economic activity, the Commerce Department said today.

The decrease in the index was the biggest since a drop of 1.3 per cent in January and followed a decline of two tenths of 1 per cent last month.

This is the first time the index has dropped two months in a row since August and September of 1976. The government index has increased steadily since last May and showed an increase as high as 2 per cent in March, reflecting recovery from the severe winter.

The administration has predicted a slight decline in the economy in the second half of the year after particularly strong activity in the first six months. Government economists still expect the economy to grow at a rate of 5 per cent in the last half of the year.

The biggest contributor to the decline was a drop in sensitive prices of raw materials, meaning less demand from manufacturers, the report said.

Government economists said the decline in the over-all index does not necessary indicate a sharp downturn in the economy since some indicators were up while others were down.

The index, put out monthly, measures the change in 10 fields that particularly influence short-term future economic activity. Also contributing to the decline in June were a higher layoff rate, change in liquid assets, contracts and orders for plants and equipment, the money supply and new orders.

Four of the 10 indicators increased: average work week, vendor performance, stock prices and building permits.

The Commerce Department said the index now stands at 129.4, meaning that activity is 29.4 per cent stronger than it was in 1967

Market Slump Extended

NEW YORK (AP)-Adverse economic news from government officials today helped bring the Dow Jones industrial average to an 18-month low, extending a slump that depressed the stock market for most of the week.

The noon average of 30 industrial stocks was off 6.59 to 88.340, its lowest point since Jan. 5, 1976. On Thursday, the average rose 1.56, reversing a 35-point slide over the three preceding sessions.

Losers held a 4-1 edge on gainers among New York Stock Exchange listed issues.

roaches spotlighted

The cockroaches got more attention than the matter being debated.

This week the U.S. House of Representatives have been tied up over food stamps, which in some instances are believed better than the American dollar.

A vote was to be taken on a bill that would allow the Department of Agriculture to print an unlimited supply of food stamp currency. The old bill required that food stamps be exchanged for real money, and the new proposal would have allowed the food stamps to be passed out free.

A bag of cockroaches were tossed onto the House floor Wednesday during debate on whether to bar food stamps for striking workers. The amendment to ban food stamps to strikers was eventually defeated.

About the only limit left in the bill is the eligibility requirement. Such a tongue in cheek analysis was made by the Wall Street Journal:

"Supposedly this has been tightened up to offset the generosity elsewhere. You have to say that your income after some still generous deductions, is below the poverty level. And you have to list assets to prove that you are not an idle millionaire.

"If one of your assets happened to be a Rolls-Royce, you could still get food stamps, provided that was your only car and used in your work. The limits sound a little squishy."

Some wisdom did come out of the Wednesday vote when the Congress failed to relinquish it's powers over appropriations. When all the stamps are passed out, the Agriculture Department will have to come back and ask for more funding.

The cockroaches found nary a crumb.

Texas lawmakers completed passage of a school finance bill in short order during the recent special session. Insistence on tax legislation, misnamed during the regular session as reform, didn't materalize. That brought the special session to a close with a minimum expenditure of time or cause for concern among those who feel a season of soul searching on the state of the State is in order.

During the past dozen years cost of government in Texas has risen faster than the cost of Federal Government, which is an achievement of no mean proportions. Accurate figures concerning the growth in the number of State employes are hard to come by, but enough is known on the subject to justify the statement that we have been adding new services and expanding old ones at a more rapid rate that most observers would imagine.

But State revenue has increased fast enough to absorb the increased cost without need for levying new taxes. The State of Texas has rarely had it so good over an extended period of years.

Three factors, none of which can be attributed to wisdom of our political leaders or the people themselves, explain the rosy condition of public business in Texas.

Inflation is first on the list of explanations. Much of the State revenue dollar comes from use and production taxes. As inflation pushed prices upward public revenue based on prices paid by consumers rose at the same rate.

The State gained both ways on oil and natural gas. Production has been at maximum potential most of the time in the past ten years, while prices were skyrocketing to unprecedented levels, due primarily to dramatic price increases on imports.

Meanwhile generous old Uncle Sam has been liberal, even lavish, in distribution of aid to states, counties, cities, sick industries and individuals. Much of it is channeled through the State Treasury. This process increases the State budget without taking any more out of the pockets of Texas citizens. There have been soft spots in the economy from time to time. In the main, however, conditions have been very good.

But it can't last forever. Serious thought should be given to levelling off on Texas brands of trying to keep everybody happy.

your chamber in action

SUCCESS!!

When the voters in Scurry County voted in a Board of Country Development not too long ago, it was a landmark decision. It became the first such organization in Texas. Many Board's of City Development had been formed, but we were the first operated under county supervision.

Today, we still stand as one of the few in operation. The Chamber contracts with the County to operate the BCD and expends monies under direction of five board members. The Commissioners okay the dollars spent. It's worked unbelievably well since inception and now others are trying to cash in on our success.

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce President Roger Brown recently announced a vote would be held in Howard County to form a BCD in the near future. Under it's present rather ominous economic situation, it should pass easily. Mitchell County residents are now discussing the proposition and should take steps in that direction before too long.

SEMINARS

We at the Chamber have been involved with both communities in discussing the operations of a BCD with their leaders. We stand as "experts" on the subject because of Scurry County's pioneering efforts and have been asked to address the issue of County-Chamber interaction at several seminars. We are happy to do so and wish all who try success because the operation will enhance the economic development of Texas.

While it could be termed "Competition," we feel the more economic development in all parts of Texas is good for us. If Snyder can't get it, we'd rather see a new industrial facility in Sweetwater than San Antonio, but San Antonio more than Yonkers, New York.

LUBBOCK

Lubbock has a Board of City Development which contracts nearly $500,000 with the Chamber to spur economic development. It has certainly worked well for them and the City feels it's one of the greatest investments it has ever made. We hope the Scurry County Commissioners' Court and the citizens of Scurry County feel the same way.

It's paid dividends, as our annual report to the Commissioners indicate. Millions of dollars have been brought into Scurry County in part through the help of BCD promotional funding. We continue to set records in building permits, bank deposits, retail sales and job expansion.

While we have yet to announce a new major industrial employer in 1977, it will happen soon. We are on the brink of landing at least one major employer and possibly more before year's end. If things work out as we hope, an announcement will be made by fall on an employer which will add more than $10 million in our economy and hundreds of jobs.

HOUSING

Housing has been the key and it looks as though it will be reinforced shortly. With the housing and high-paying positions open, we will get people in our community to work. These additional people and jobs will mean an increased quality of life in Scurry County through increased shopping, eating and recreational outlets.

Growth through economic development is important and we'll strive to continue in efforts to expand every available resource open to us. Our BCD budget, which accounts for less than two percent of the county's total, will allow us to continue in this drive.

We thank you for your support of the program and hope we can continue in the same manner we have in the past.

park eases up

The impending withdrawal of America's armed forces from South Korea over the next five years...the Carter administration's championing of human rights around the world...bribery scandals involving South Korean agents and U.S. congressman...

Any one of these developments could be enough to give South Korean President Park Chung Hee a severe case of paranoia and persuade him to turn his already dictatorial regime a notch more repressive.

Yet, happily, just the opposite seems to be happening.

South Korea's National Assembly-which doesn't do anything Park doesn't want it to do-has unanimously recommended repealing a 1975 emergency decree under which Park has jailed some 200 political dissenters, including one Kim Dae Jung, who had the temerity to nearly beat him in the 1971 presidental election.

It may be that President Carter's preaching about individual freedom has converted Park. Or, more likely, that the former general simply wants to be on the best possible terms with the United States when the day arrives that there is no buffer of American troops between North and South Korea. Park's motive doesn't matter, if repeal of the emergency decree signifies a genuine relaxation of his iron grip over South Korea's political life.

But Park has eased the screws on his opponents before, then quickly retightened them when they began opposing him too much. It could happen again.

The really encouraging thing is that despite all Park has done and might yet do to stifle dissent, a democratic undercurrent still runs strong in South Korea, ready to burst forth, it may be hoped, when the time is right.

letters to editor

To Snyder Daily News:

On the 25th of July my wife and two girls were coming through Snyder on a trip back home from vacation.

Approximately ten miles west of Snyder, one of the rear tires blew out on our car. My little girls were frightened and crying. My wife finally got the car stopped.

It looked like my family was stranded there on the highway. About that time a good samaritan man that worked for Halliburton came by and changed the tire for her.

I would like to extend my appreciation to this man for the help he gave my family in their time of need.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - President Carter's effort to reward a controversial political supporter with a $50,000-a-year job on a federal regulatory commission already has produced embarrassment in the White House and probably will lead to rejection of the nomination in the Senate.

There has been previous Senate resistance to a handful of Carter nominees, but each of those cases involved substantive differences over public policy. The new case, however, represents the first time the personal integrity of a Carter nominee has been called into question.

The focus of that little-publicized but fast-growing dispute is Donald L. Tucker, the autocratic Speaker of the House in the Florida legislature and the first Democratic officeholder in the state to endorse Carter prior to the crucial 1976 Florida presidential primary.

On June 16, Carter nominated Tucker to be one of five members of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which regulates the nation's aviation industry. But the Senate Commerce Committee, which must confirm the nomination, took no action on it for almost a month.

At the request of Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the committee's aviation subcommittee, the full committee met in an extraordinary secret session on July 14 for the sole purpose of examining the results of the Federal Bureau of Investigation probe of Tucker's background.

When grim-faced committee members emerged from the 70-minute meeting they refused to discuss what transpired except to announce that they had scheduled a public hearing on the Tucker selection for Sept. 13.

The Democratic-dominated Senate has quickly and routinely approved almost all of Democrat Carter's previous nominations. The requisite committee hearings invariably are cut-and-dried affairs, seldom lasting more than a few hours.

But the committee's highly unusual postponement of hearings for almost two months was the tipoff to its reservations about Tucker's integrity, as was a Miami newspaper report several days earlier that Cannon "has told some of his colleagues privately that he saw enough FBI reports to make him wonder why the White House is going through with the nomination."

The content of the FBI reports remains secret, but numerous investigative stories in Florida's major newspapers in recent years raise serious questions about Tucker's ethics and conduct.

According to one account, a land development partnership in which Tucker was a member received preferential treatment in obtaining a $200,000 bank loan in May 1975 while Tucker was maneuvering the Florida House into approving a previously stalled bill to permit branch banking.

Leading the lobbying for the legislation was the Florida Bankers Association, whose president at the time also was president of the bank which granted the disputed loan to Tucker's group.

Another newspaper story disclosed last autumn that Tucker had purchased for his new office in the State Capitol a $4,429 desk and matching $4,002 credenza. After that revelation, Tucker almost was defeated in his bid for reelection by an unknown Republican.

Tucker's current financial statement indicates that he converted to his personal use more than $70,000 collected at a political "appreciation dinner" last year-a practice legal in Florida but hardly reflective of the high ethical standards Carter repeatedly has insisted upon for all federal officials."

Members of the White House staff who normally are highly loyal to the President already are privately expressing chagrin about the Tucker selection and are pointedly referring to it as "the President's nomination" to personally repay a political debt.

The St. Petersburg Times one of Florida's most respected newspapers, summed up the case against Tucker in an editorial opposing his confirmation: "Tucker has made himself a reputation in Tallahassee (the state capital) as a wheeler-dealer politician."

questions unanswered

NEW YORK (AP) - Still another servey tells us that mandatory retirement at age 65 is favored by a majority of top management, and that in fact they consider it necessary.

But even with this additional input the controversy we are left with questions we might never resolve. Isn't such an attitude flagrantly discriminatory? Isn't it wasteful of skills years in the making?

There is no end to the questions. Isn't it morally and politically wrong to force people onto a Social Security system that is already terribly overburdened? Is enforced idleness nothing but a denial of human rights?

More: Isn't there something inconsistent about a nation's attitude that denies, discrimination because of age, that encourages an individual to center his life around a job-and which then dumps him or her suddenly at 65?

But in the most recent survey of attitudes, by William M. Mercer Inc., which calls itself the nation's largest employe benfit consulting firm, a lot of these considerations weren't paramount in the minds of those queried.

This was a survey of senior management, and that makes a very big difference in many cases.

Senior management usually is well pensioned. Having been well, paid, senior managers have investment accounts. They have contacts; many of them continued to serve on board or as consultants.

"Contrary to popular belief," said A.J.C. Smith, Mercer president, "senior management does not seem to want to continue working indefinitely," an attitude that under the circumstances of executive retirement would seem to be understandable.

More so that those in other corporate positions, the senior executive can ease his way into the world of retirement, comfortably and often at his or her own pace. The talents involved are still in demand.

For the blue collar worker this usually isn't the case. Skills developed over a lifetime of work are suddenly unwanted. Should the individual attempt to use those skills, he might find he can do so only at the expense of cutting into his Social Security payments.

The issues involved in retirement, executive or other, have evolved over more than a century and roughly coincide with the development of the country from rural to urban, from agrarian to industrial.

Centuries of custom permitted the farm economy to accommodate the needs of both young and old. Three generation were able to gracefully combine their productive work.

The transition of power and authority was smooth. No bureaucratically computed age determined what a member could or could not do. The older generation eased off the work load, passing on its talents and chores to other.

There was a place, a role, a duty, for all members of the farm family. But that isn't so in industrial society.

The semi-precious turquoise gem is usually found in semi-arid regions, seldom in mines deeper than 100 feet.

Electric Bills "Shocking"

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)-Several hundred Iowa Power & Light Co. customers got a jolt this week when they opened their bills and found they "owed" $30,000.

A computor error apparently was made in figuring one day's mailing of bills, said Loyd Hornback, vice president.

He said the company's Council Bluffs office received 105 phone calls Wednesday concerning the bills.

"It certainly doesn't do anything for our image," he said.

16 Girls Attend Camp Booth Oaks

Sixteen local Girl Scouts and two adults attended the summer camp at Camp Booth Oaks with several girls receiving recognition for their achievements while there.

Serving on the staff were Mrs. Pauline Wimmer, camp cook, and Lynn McKinney, waterfront assistant. Mrs. Carl Voss served as Camp Visitor.

Local Girl Scouts serving as representatives on the Camp Council included Kim Albin, Susan Albin and Laurie Donelson.

Susan Albin was named Best All Around Camper for Sherwood Unit for session one. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Albin of Denton, former residents of Snyder.

Margaret Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Anderson, 2212 43rd St. received an All Around Camper award at the final campfire of the Girl Scout Camp Booth Oaks summer session. Margaret was elected by the girls in Sherwood Unit as the most outstanding Girl Scout of her group.

Those attending and the campsite in which they resided are as follows: Plateau--Kim Albin, Lisa Barkowsky; Sherwood--Laurie Donelson, Carrie Lieb, Rhonda Mullins, Shelly Mullins, Janetta Pylant and Karen Stipe; Gypsy Glen--Angela Lieb, Jane Sitton, Marika Sitton and Julia Ann Tucker.

Carrie Lieb, Janetta Pylant and Julia Ann Tucker each earned one-fourth campership from the cookie sales held in February.

Others attending were Jean Anderson, Letha Baldwin and Kim Baldwin.

Opening lead — 3♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some players use the second-best lead from a long suit that doesn't have as good as the jack at the head of it against all contracts.

If West had been playing this convention, his lead of the three of hearts would have insured the slam for South who could have just played the six of hearts from dummy at trick one. It wouldn't matter which high heart West held. If it were the king East would take his jack, but South would have a sure finesse against the king later on and would get to discard one of his clubs.

They weren't playing this convention and South decided to try dummy's queen. East took his king and returned the suit.

South still had a two-way guess for the queen of clubs to make his contract, but fine discarding by East and West led to his losing two more tricks.

South drew trumps, cashed the high diamonds and ran the rest of his trumps. West's last four cards were the nine of hearts and three clubs; East's the seven of hearts and three clubs.

West unguarded the queen of clubs on the last trump while East chucked his heart. So South led a club to the king, finessed against East and lost the last two tricks to the queen of clubs and nine of hearts.

Late Start Pulls Locals Through...

Snyder Whistles "Dixie"

By BILL McCLELLAN

ABILENE--The Snyder Little League All Stars staged a come from behind 6-4 victory over Dixie here last night, giving them the District 5 championship and the right to face Lubbock Western Monday.

A large crowd was on hand to view the playoff, held at Lone Star Field in Cobb Park.

Snyder got into trouble early in the contest as pitcher Brent Roemisch gave up three hits and four runs-aided by a pair of errors-in the first innings.

They came right back however, something Snyder had little experience at previously, with wins of 12-0, 12-1 and 11-0 under their caps. In the bottom half of the opening inning Snyder banged a half-dozen singles to tie the score, four-all.

Curtis Gafford got on with a single, followed by a trio of base-hits from Roemisch, Barry Davis and Chris Hicks. David Gee pushed some runners around on a fielder's choice, and Casey Peterson and David Gutierrez singled to complete the Snyder onslaught.

The six-hit barrage caused Dixie's staff to pull starting hurler David Hollingshead and insert Kurt Parker.

While Dixie continued to have mound problems for another inning, Snyder's Roemisch calmed to the pressure. The right-hander fanned five batters in a row, half of his night's total strike outs and allowed only 3.4 Dixie "at-bats" per inning for the remainder of the game.

Snyder grabbed their winning margin in the second period, largely due to two Dixie errors, before Parker settled down to a fine pitching performance.

John Overton led off the second inning effort with a single. A error got Roemisch aboard, and Davis' single put Snyder ahead by one point. Gee slapped a shot through the glove of Dixie shortstop McDorman and an overthrow at third gave Snyder the final run of the game as Roemisch took advantage and zoomed in to score.

The remainder of the contest became a pitching duel, coupled with some clutch catches by Snyder centerfielder David Gutierrez and Dixie centerfielder Greg Galbraith.

Snyder threatened late in the game as Casey Peterson and Gutierrez both singled with one out in the fifth inning. Parker fanned Britt Vincent to relieve the pain however, and an outstanding catch by Galbraith on a Gafford fly ball retired the side.

Dixie managed to get Phil Harding, catcher, on during their final effort at bat, but left him stranded on third base at the game's end.

Roemisch, 2-0 in all-star play, struck out 10, gave up five hits and two walks while Parker handed out seven hits, walked none and fanned four. Hollingshead gave four hits and struck out one.

Snyder All Stars will be on home turf Monday night as they challenge the District 2 champion, Lubbock Western, at 7:30 p.m.

The winner advances to the State Playoffs in Waco beginning Aug. 8.

North-South Tie In All-Star Game

DALLAS (AP)-Mike Mosley, the most valuable player in the Texas schoolboy All-Star football game, won't need his kicking shoe at Texas A&M, where barefoot Tony Franklin holds forth-but mercy, could he have used it Thursday night.

The South flubbed two extra point attempts off the toe of Mario Garza and the North escaped with a 20-20 tie before a paltry 11,848 fans in the Cotton Bowl.

Mosley of Humble, an all-stater and one of the most sought after blue-chippers in the country, kicked 61 of 65 extra points in high school.

"I just forgot my kicking shoe and left it in Humble," said Mosley, who hadn't been informed he would be doing any kicking anyway.

Mosley also wasn't informed he was going to play halfback more than his normal quarterback position. Again, it was a matter of being a "foot" or inches short when he was knocked just out of bounds late in the fourth quarter shy of the goal.

It was the first tie in the all-star game since 1955 but the contest was replete with big plays.

North linebacker Doug Carr of Gainesville tackled Allen Polk of Huntsville on fourth and one at the South goal late in the fourth period to keep the score tied.

Actually, the North had extra point problems of its own.

Mel Maxfield of Gorman fumbled an extra point snap after Tim Orr of Abilene Cooper had tied things 20-all on a one-yard scoring plunge.

The South appeared to take charge in the third quarter when Bobby Shaffer of Orange Grove romped 12-yards for a touchdown.

Then came Orr's tying touchdown run.

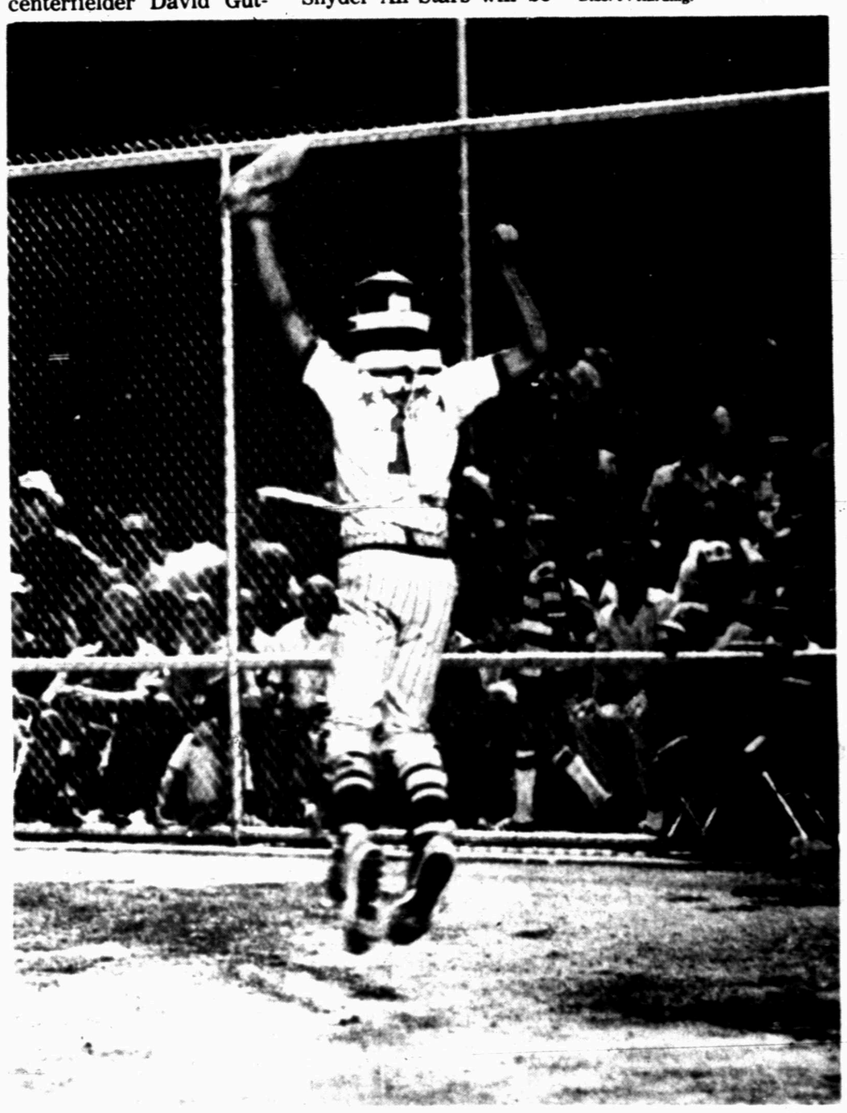

Billy Don Jackson of Sherman was named the game's outstanding defensive player.

Harrelson said the South should have won.

Auburn Raises 'Boy Brows

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)-Although there's a Heisman Trophy winner in the Dallas Cowboys stable of rookie running backs, a free agent from Auburn has drawn special praise from head coach Tom Landry.

Speaking of rookie Secedrick McIntyre, Landry said, "He's the best looking running back among the rookies right now. He doesn't always hit the right hole yet, but he is looking good."

Martin Feels He'll Catch Up

By The Associated Press

New York Yankees Manager Billy Martin still believes the role of his pitching staff will take added significance with each game as the race for the American League East Division title gets serious.

"I still think that my pitching will eventually overshadow Baltimore and Boston," said Martin after Mike Torrez tossed a four-hitter and beat the Baltimore Orioles 14-2 Thursday for his first victory in more than a month.

Red Sox 12, Brewers 0

Rookie Mike Paxton, a 23-year-old right-hander called up from the minors on May 22, tossed a four-hitter in his second major league start. Jim Rice, Bernie Carbo, Butch Hobson and Denny Doyle backed Paxton with homers in Boston's victory. Paxton, 4-2, struck out five and walked two.

Rice, the Red Sox's designated hitter, also doubled home a run in Boston's six-run third inning before leading off the fifth with his league-leading 27th homer of the season.

Mariners 5, Twins 2

Run-scoring singles by Bill Stein in the first and eighth innings, and first-inning triples by Dave Collins and Lee Stanton powered the Mariners past Minnesota.

Rangers 3, Blue Jays 0

Gaylord Perry, 9-8, pitched an 11-hit shutout to hand Toronto its seventh loss in a row-its longest losing streak of the season. Perry struck out eight in extending Texas' winning streak to six.

Jerry Garvin, 7-11, took the loss despite pitching a four-hitter.

Royals 5, Indains 4

Joe Lahoud's 11th-inning single scored Tom Poquette with the winning run and Doug Bird, 8-1, notched his 12th straight victory in relief for Kansas City. Bird, who got the win against Cleveland Wednesday night, has not lost in relief since Aug. 15, 1975.

A's 6, Angels 4

Oakland rookie Mitchell Page drove in two runs and stole his 25th consecutive base to tie a league record in the A's' victory. Oakland scored one run in each of the first three innings, then added three in the fourth.

Page singled to drive in a run in the third and drove in another on an infield out in the fourth. Oakland starter Joe Coleman, 2-1, had a one-hit shutout until the sixth, when California scored its runs.

Dave Giusti, relieving Coleman, gave up a run-scoring single to Bobby Bonds and a three-run homer to Tony Solaita.

'Bum' To Keep Pick Of Litter

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP)-Houston Oilers Head Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips says he is going to keep the "best 60 players," regardless of position, after upcoming cuts.

"I am not going to keep them by position-just what I feel is the best 60 players," he said Thursday at the Oilers' training camp here.

Defensive end Elvin Bethea, involved in a contract dispute with the club, did not report for practice for the fifth straight day. He reportedly is being fined $500 each day he fails to report.

Cubs Slip Past Cincinnati, 16-15 In 'Strange' Game

By The Associated Press

The game was a strange one, in many ways, for the Chicago Cubs.

Rick Reuschel, normally a starter, came on in relief and beat Cincinnati 16-15 Thursday. He pitched just two-thirds of an inning and scored the winning run in the bottom of the 13th inning.

The game marked the return to duty after 12 days of reliever Bruce Sutter, who pitched three innings, didn't allow a hit and struck out six.

The Cubs collected 24 hits against six Cincinnati pitchers, and there were a total of 11 home runs, tying a major league record, in the game which lasted 4 hours, 50 minutes.

Outfielder Bobby Murcer even played shortstop and second for a while when the Cubs ran out of infielders in the late innings.

Dave Rosello, shifting between second and shortstop, depending on whether a lefty or righty was batting, drove in the winning run. That made up for an error that had given the Reds a 15-14 lead in the top of the 12th.

The Cubs hit six homers, two in the first inning, and the Reds smacked five, three in the first inning. The five homers in one inning by both teams also tied a major league record.

Dodgers 2, Phils 1

Reggie Smith worked reliever Gene Garber for a bases-loaded walk in the bottom of the ninth, and Tommy John, 11-4, scattered six hits to give Los Angeles three victories in their four-game series with the Phils.

Todd Gets Jet Quarterback Job

CANTON, Ohio (AP)-Quarterback Richard Todd replaces his boyhood hero this season as the New York Jets try to climb back into National Football League contention.

"Joe Namath always had been my idol since the eighth grade," said Todd, who takes his first step as full-time successor to Namath Saturday when he starts for the Jets against the Chicago Bears in the year's first exhibition, the Pro Football Hall of Fame game.

Before the exibition, Bart Starr, Forrest Gregg, Gale Sayers, Bill Willis and Frank Gifford will be inducted into the shrine. They represent the largest class since 1971 and bring the hall's immortals to 93.

Todd alternated with Namath in the Jets' 3-11 season last year. Namath, who became a free agent, signed with the Los Angeles Rams in the off-season.

The Bears, in the mind of Coach Jack Pardee, already are a bona fide challenger and should challenge the Minnesota Vikings in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

"Our team has come to a point where we can make a real run at the Vikings," said Pardee, 7-7 in his second Chicago season last year.

Pardee will start Bob Avellini at quarterback against the Jets. He figures to use Mike Phipps, obtained from Cleveland, as Avellini's alternate.

At other NFL training camps, veteran quarterback Bob Berry of the Minnesota Vikings retired after 12 seasons in the league.

Pittsburgh's All-Pro linebacker Jack Lambert wants a raise or another team, according to his agent, Bucky Woy. The agent said if college draftees Tony Dorsett and Ricky Bell are worth $1 million, then the man who can stop them, Lambert, deserves more.

Atlanta Falcons running back Bubba Bean underwent knee surgery at Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta and will be lost to the team indefinitely, club officials said.

Men's Leagues

Snyder National Bank confirmed a place in the upcoming playoffs with their 15-2 win over the Jaycees in men's slow-pitch softball action last night.

David Doss, playing under pressure "with a sore foot", went seven-inning distance as pitcher for SNB. Robert Pinkston was catcher for five and one half innings. Staggs snared the pitches for the remainder of the night.

Taking with loss was the Ron Kelly (pitcher)-Dwayne Harris (catcher) duo.

In other competition yesterday, Atwood Construction fell to Pool in a close one, 15-12. Atwood came from five behind in the sixth inning to add a couple of runs, but couldn't eek out a win.

Jimmy Grice gets the win along with catcher Robert Romerez. Billy Tim Atwood and Emmitt Hataway were saddled with the loss.

$2.90 Wheat Target Would Aid Economy

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-If Congress agrees to keep the so-called target price of wheat at $2.90 a bushel when it sends the farm bill to President Carter, it will pump more than a billion dollars into this year's sagging farm economy, the Agriculture Department says.

The $2.90 wheat target represents an income supplement level which the Senate and the House have decided growers need to help ends meet this year. If the cash market price of wheat falls below the target, as is now the case, USDA will make up the difference in cash payments.

Department officials said Thursday the $2.90-a-bushel target will mean payments of around $1.2 billion to wheat farmers in 1977, the most they have received in federal subsidies since the government began price support programs 45 years ago.

According to USDA technicians, the market price of wheat nationally during the first five months of the 1977-78 marketing year, June through October, is expected to be around $2.25 a bushel. This is the price tentatively being used to compute payments.

The payments would be 65 cents a bushel, the difference between $2.25 and the target of $2.90.

Under the program, farmers are paid according to so-called "allotments" for wheat they plant, based on their average yields per acre.

For example, a farmer might have an allotment of 500 acres and an average or normal yield of 30 bushels an acre. Thus, his payments would be based on 15,000 bushels of wheat.

The farmer might have planted and harvested 600 acres with a yield of 32 bushels an acre this year-some 19,200 bushels-but under the program he would get payments based on the 15,000-bushel allotment.

Using this example, it might be possible for the farmer with a 500-acre allotment to get payments totaling $9,750 this year-15,000 bushels multiplied by a payment of 65 cents a bushel.

The payments, of course, would be in addition to what the farmer receives on the cash market for his crop.

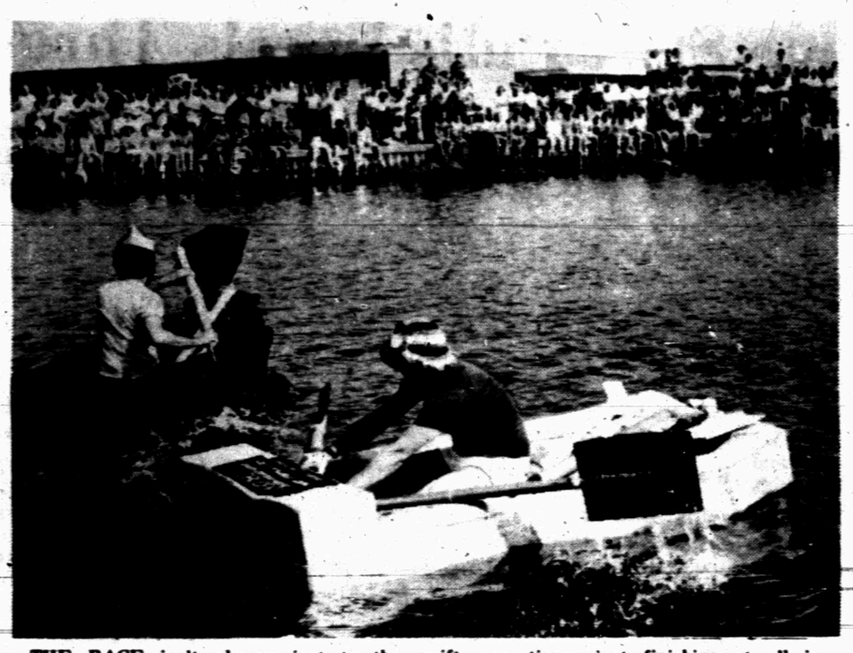

Nationally, approximately 1.9 billion bushels of this year's total estimated wheat crop of more than 2.04 billion bushels are eligible for target-price payments, USDA officials said.

Using the formula of 65 cents a bushel, more than $1.2 billion would be paid late this year to 1977 wheat farmers, the first target price payments since the concept was adopted in the 1973 act which Congress is modifying and extending.

Previously, federal payments went to farmers under different formulas, including subsidies for taking wheat land out of production.

Under the plan seen likely now, corn farmers will not get any 1977 target price payments because the target of $2 a bushel in the House version, as an example, is the same as the $2 provided in 1977 loan rates for corn. Loan rates are the amounts farmers can borrow from USDA by using their crops as collateral.

The plan provides that payments will be made based on the difference between the target price and the loan rate or market price, which ever is higher.

THE RACE isn't always just to the swift, sometimes just finishing at all is accomplishment enough. Particularly in craft of the class that took to the water for the regatta at Boca Ciega High School, St. Petersburg, Fla. Paper boats created as class assignments were tried out by instructors David Haile, left, and Robert Orlopp, with the result below.

AS WE WERE SAYING, sometimes the trick is just staying afloat. The winner, still dry and moving, sort of, is Robert Orlopp.

Elvis Fans Wait In Line

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)-What 42-year-old overweight singer is worth a wait in line of as long as three days just to buy tickets?

Elvis Presley, that's who.

His fans demonstrated their devotion to the aging rock 'n' roll singer this week by waiting in long lines here and in Utica to buy the 8,000 tickets for his concerts next month.

The marathon wait ran counter to a report by the Literary Gazette, a Soviet journal in Moscow, which claimed Elvis "has been mercilessly tossed onto the scrap heap of those who have gone out of fashion."

The Elvis fans began lining up here Monday and by Thursday morning some 400 fans were outside the Onondaga County War Memorial to buy tickets for next month's visit by Elvis Presley.

Similar lines were forming 50 miles east of here in Utica where Elvis fans waited to buy tickets for a concert there next month.

Old Ryde Hotel Is Resurrected

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer

RYDE, Calif. (AP)-Here's Ryde, Pop. 60, Elev. 1 foot, a lazy crossroads you'd miss in the span of a sneeze. So what were those sophisticated trumpet sounds doing wafting up from somewhere under the barroom floor?

"Oh, that," said bartender Earl Berg. "They're rehearsing for the vaudeville show this weekend. It's live."

"Sure, sure," nodded the dubious winebibber. "And I'm Glenn Miller."

Berg stuck his chin out toward the basement door, inviting the skeptic to go look for himself.

Sure enough, down there in this barn of an old hotel alongside the tranquil Sacramento River in a flyblown delta levee town about 100 yards long was a night club with performers rehearsing for a show.

It was an unlikely byproduct of the resurrection of the Ryde Hotel whose namesake first saw the light of day more than 90 years ago; when sidewheel and sternwheel steamers paddled commerce between Sacramento and San Francisco Bay area cities through some of the richest farm land in America.

Operators Dave and Donna Phillips aim to stick Ryde back on the map by drawing hotel and supper business from San Francisco 60 miles to the west, Sacramento 30 miles to the east, and points in between and thereabouts.

"You should have seen this place July 4th," enthused the hairy bartender. "Full up. They were waiting to get in."

The Ryde has 42 "livable" rooms, musty, high ceiling jobs, many with share-baths, rentable according to a spicy schedule of rates calculated to tap the swinger set.

The rooms, except for the "honeymoon suite," all go for the same rate-$10. For that price you can get a room from noon until 2 p.m., or a half-hour at other times. If you stay just 15 minutes, the management promises "not to tell anyone."

"Unescorted ladies welcomed," advises the schedule.

Nobody would be surprised if the schedule were accurate, not with the racy history of the old river town.

According to legend, there is a secret tunnel under the hotel, since blocked off, that led to stills that produced wine, gin and whiskey during Prohibition.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

July 30, 1977

This coming year will be different in that you may form more partnerships than usual. Some will pan out — others may cause you headaches.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Irrespective of who you deal with on a one-to-one basis today, don't feel you have them under your thumb. A bolt from the blue may bring any encounter to push-and-shove. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Extra strength and fortitude may be needed for you to deal with unusual pressures today. Keep your recall — you, too, have limitations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct 23) Don't gamble today on yourself or others, no matter how well you know them. Even if you win, you're going to wind up a loser.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Shun any remarks that could trigger a domestic rumble today. If you get one started, chances are old wounds will be reopened.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Once in a while you tend to express yourself bluntly. If you do so today, there's a good chance you'll have to eat your words.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others may covet what you have today. If you leave your house or car, lock up well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your self-interests are extremely pronounced today, but those you must deal with match you in this area. You may have to make concessions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll know the signs if someone's trying to take advantage of you today. Don't be wishy-washy or you'll play right into their hands.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You must be extremely careful socially today. If something catches you off-guard, you could handle it poorly and later have regrets.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The most valuable thing you have is your reputation. Keep this in mind today so that your ambitions don't lead you to step on too many toes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There's a chance today you lack the ability to see merit in others' ideas. It's O.K. to push your causes, but don't feel you're the only fish in the sea.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The claws of the lions in the commercial arena are extremely sharp today. Don't go into the fray without your armor.

methods for altering the judicial system, especially in regards to the appointment and tenure of judges.

Hill said he has not considered entering the senatorial race, but is keeping his prospects open for entering the gubernatorial race.

"I think everyone knows I am highly inclined to enter the gubernatorial race," he said, "but that's as far as I think I should go right now."

Fantasy Idea Being Tested

MONTREAL (AP)-Judge Andre Morin is running an idea up the flagpole to see who salutes. The flagpole belongs to the Stars and Stripes.

Judge Morin, of Chicoutimi, Que., municipal court, said Thursday he and two partners in a project he calls "Positive Option," have put advertisements in two daily newspapers here to see if Canadians are interested in joining the United States.

The 55-year-old judge agrees his idea "is just a fantasy, but we want to know if people are interested."

He wants the option included in the forthcoming referendum on Quebec independence being planned by the Parti Quebecois government.

Judge Morin said Canada's interests coincide with those of the U.S., and that the untapped natural riches could be better exploited by Americans.

Boys Shot Playing Football

VERNON (AP)-Two youths, ages 12 and 14, were wounded by shotgun blasts last night while playing football on a residential street in this North Texas town.

Police said they arrested a 23-year-old man at the scene after they observed him standing in the street with his hands on his head. A shotgun was found nearby.

Investigators said initial reports indicate a man approached Tommy Hall, 12, and his friend, Kevin Collins, about 9 p.m. Police said the man reportedly said something to the youths then shot young Hall in the head. His friend, thinking it was a joke, ran up to the boy, saw the blood and tried to flee. He was struck by a .410 shotgun pellet in the back.

The Collins boy was treated at a Vernon hospital and released. However, Tommy Hall was reported in serious condition and evacuated to a hospital in Dallas.

Police are continuing to interrogate the man this morning. No charges have been filed.

Museum Seminar Here Saturday

A one-day seminar on museum management is scheduled Saturday at the Scurry County Museum.

The seminar is being sponsored jointly by the museum, the Texas Historical Foundation, the Permian Basin Museum Institute and the Texas Association of Museums, Sharon Sutton, Scurry County Museum director, said.

It will also serve as the quarterly meeting for the Permian Basin organization, and representatives from Van Horn, Midland, Alpine, Fort Davis, Odessa, Colorado City, Post, Sweetwater and Fort Sill, Okla., have made reservations. Personnel from the Texas Historical Foundation in Austin are also to attend, as well as several members of the Scurry County Historical Commission and the local Museum Association.

Louis Gorr, director of the Dallas County Heritage Society's Old City Park, will be the featured speaker. He is to speak on basic management techniques, planning and organizing budgets, keeping financial records and trustee relationships.

Gorr is the former director of the Division of Museums and Historic Preservation with the Fairfax County Park Authority in Virginia and has been a special assistant to the director of the national Museum of History and Technology at the Smithsonian Institution.

Local and area residents interested in attending the seminar are welcome, Miss Sutton said. Registration and a tour of the museum will begin at 9 a.m. The registration fee of $4.50 will include a luncheon.

About 75 persons had registered for the seminar by Thursday.

Friend Asks Her For Her Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: Last week I returned from caring for my ailing mother for the last five weeks. She has a terminal illness and lives 300 miles from here.

Yesterday a friend of mine called on me and I am still in shock. She begged me to give my husband a divorce! It seems they saw a lot of each other while I was out of town. She said they were "in love," and he claimed I won't give him a divorce. She said my husband said we were "separated" and I had left him!

We've been married for 17 years and there never was any mention of divorce. In fact, I thought we had a good marriage. I am stunned, hurt and dizzy trying to figure this out.

Can you help me?

STILL IN SHOCK

DEAR STILL: What's to figure out? Tell your husband about your visitor, and let HIM explain it to you.

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather delicate problem. My husband comes from a large family, and I get along very well with all of them, but naturally I like some of his sisters and brothers better than others. My question: When I entertain, isn't it O.K. for me to invite, say, a few of my husband's sisters and brothers, and leave out some?

I was called on the carpet by my husband's grandmother who said if I couldn't invite ALL of the brothers and sisters, I shouldn't invite any of them. Abby, that would make 18 people every time. I don't expect to be invited every place MY sisters and brothers are. I'd like to add that I invite the whole tribe occasionally, so it's not like I'm snubbing anyone.

BIG FAMILY

DEAR BIG: I don't know who is calling the signals in your family, but she's out of bounds. If you "invite the whole tribe occasionally," no one should feel offended. Invite whom you wish.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I am a 66-year-old woman who is engaged to a 69-year-old man. He has been a widower for 11 years. He has asked me to go with him to visit his family. It would be a 900-mile trip by automobile.

My children feel that it would be "proper" for me to go with him if we flew, but "improper" if we drove. I have known this gentleman since childhood and see nothing "improper" about making the trip with him regardless of how we went. Will you kindly advise me, Abby.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I see nothing "improper" here, except possibly that which exists in the minds of your children. Go along with your fiance and have a wonderful time.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who is constantly correcting others in public about the pronunciation of words and their use? All involved in this situation are adults.

Thank you.

CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITIZED: The constant corrector is showing his ignorance. It is infinitely more important to be KIND than to be correct.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Seadock Ruling In 60 Days

DALLAS (AP) - Seadock, Inc., should know within 60 days wheather it will be able to complete its proposed deepwater port for supertankers in the Gulf of Mexico, according to Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The governor also said Thursday that despite his signing of legislation allowing the Texas Deepwater Port Authority to issue revenue bonds to build an offshore superport, he hopes the project can be accomplished by private interests.

Briscoe said, "They're still trying to put it together. And I will work with them in any way possible."

Seadock, Inc., a consortium of oil companies investing in the proposed port, has acknowledged problems in getting the terminal financed and government regulations.

The comments from Briscoe came at a news conference before he spoke at the annual awards banquet of the Dallas Mexican Chamber of Commerce.

Although he praised the Dallas gathering, he refused to compare it with the Zavala County Development Corp., which he has termed a "little Cuba." That project is a cooperative effort embracing several enterprises. "There is no comparison," Briscoe said.

Another subject that got a gubernatorial brush off was a recent Washington column by Jack Anderson implying that a campaign contribution from the Texas Nursing Home Association has made Briscoe "indifferent" to nursing home abuses.

The governeor said, "The legalislation passed by the special session of the Texas Legislature speaks for itself. It put the responsibility for nursing home regulation with one agency the Texas Health Department and made it a felony to mistreat residents of nursing homes."

He added, "There is no question that there have been abuses, they've been documented." But he said the new laws would curb such abuses.

Mixed Drink Sales Tax Up 25%

State Comtroller Bob Bullock this week reported that mixed drink sales tax for the April-June quarter totaled $134 million, nearly a 25 per cent increase over the same quarter last year.

Checks were mailed to cities and counties for their share of the mixed drink tax collected during the period. In Scurry County the total tax revenue generated by the 10 per cent tax was $9,241.27 and the county's share of the check was $1,386.19.

The total amount of tax collected in the city of Snyder was $7,865.33 and the city's remittance from the state is $1,179.80 for the three-month period.

The Comptroller's office remits to counties and cities 15 per cent of the total tax collected within their boundaries on a quarterly basis, and the state keeps the remainder.

Welfare Plan May Cost More

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter is hinting his welfare reform plan may cost more in the future as he reviews a proposal to spend $28.9 billion in its first year and to use some revenue from Social Security and crude oil taxes for part of the financing.

Carter and several Cabinet members met Thursday afternoon to discuss a 60-page welfare reform outline prepared by HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr.

If any decisions were made, they were not disclosed. One source present at the meeting said it was more for discussions than decisions.

The Associated Press gained access to the financing section of the document reviewed at the meeting. It argued for inclusion of $300 million in Social Security money and $1.3 billion from Carter's proposed wellhead tax in the funds available for welfare reform.

At a nationally broadcast news conference earlier, Carter said he was trying to hold down welfare costs and reminded his listeners that he had promised to keep initial costs of the program within present federal spending levels.

For more than a week, administration officials also have been emphasizing that the spending limitation applied only to the first year of the program Carter hopes to unveil by Aug. 4. The President himself said officials are estimating the program's cost by 1980 and 1985.

The present federal cost of welfare depends on what programs are defined as welfare. Califano's document includes the cost of many existing programs not viewed as welfare by the general public, thus allowing a higher initial cost for the new program.

He has been combing the government for months in search of programs which the new program can eliminate or reduce, thus freeing their funds for welfare reform financing. Advocates of some of these programs have mounted vehement protests, particularly over initial efforts to divert money from housing programs.

More money is required because Carter's guidelines for reform will provide benefits for more people.

It already has been disclosed that welfare reform will require many persons to work, emphasizing private over public jobs. A worker on welfare would find his benefits reduced, but not by enough to make it worthwhile to give up his job.

Yarbrough Returns TV Equipment

HOUSTON (AP) - Former Texas Supreme Court Justice Donald B. Yarbrough, asking newsmen not to "Roam over our yard at will", has returned television equipment he seized from a cameraman.

Yarbrough, who took the equipment Wednesday, called newsmen to his home Thursday. He spoke briefly about his seizure of the equipment and his reasons for doing so, returned the equipment but refused to answer questions asked by the newsmen.

A photographer for KHOU—TV went to the Yarbough home Wednesday following reports the home had been sold and an earnest money contract to buy a home in Austin had been entered by Yarbrough's wife, Julie.

Yarbrough said his wife, accompanied by a neighbor, asked the photographer to leave. Yarbrough said the camera equipment was parked in his driveway and the photographer was "roaming about our yard at will."

"Because I believe it's important that the privacy of our family and our home be protected. I felt like it was important that this particular newsman's supervisors know and understand my point, which is that we do value our privacy," Yarbrough said.

British Group Cancels Concerts

LONDON (AP)-Led Zeppelin, the British rock group formed in 1969 that became an instant success, has canceled the last 10 concerts of its trouble-plagued U.S. tour because of the death of singer Robert Plant's five-year-old son, a spokeswoman for the band said.

Plant flew to his farm near Kidderminster in the English midlands Wednesday form New Orleans after learning of his son's death.

Spokeswoman Moira Bellas said Thursday that the boy, Karac, died of an unknown illness. He had collapsed Monday.

Hormone production problem

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter, 39, and mother of three children developed Cushing's syndrome. She grew facial hair, developed a moon face, heavy body fat, dry flaky skin. She recently had surgery and the doctors removed both of her adrenal glands. I am told she will have to take cortisone orally.

Will the symptoms of facial hair, moon face and obesity disappear? We were told by her doctors that without surgery she would have lived one year. What causes this problem?

DEAR READER — The picture you have described is caused by an over production of hormones from the adrenal cortex, the outer shell of the adrenal gland that produces cortisone.

Surgery is commonly used in treatment of such patients. If both adrenal glands are removed entirely the patient does have to take cortisone the rest of his or her life. It is replacement therapy since the normal source of cortisone has been removed.

The obesity should reverse itself and the fat pads over the upper face that cause the moon face appearance should disappear, as well as the excess hair growth and other signs of Cushing's syndrome. The outlook depends a lot on what the real cause for the over production of adrenal cortical hormones was.

This is a rare disease but it points up the role that hormones have on obesity. The characteristic obesity of Cushing's syndrome involves the trunk of the body and face while it spares the arms and legs. The legs may be quite skinny while the abdomen may become quite large. The hormones influence the areas involved in the obesity.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have what my doctor calls a "Baker's cyst." It gives me a great deal of pain and I have a problem trying to be comfortable with my leg whether riding, walking, or lying in bed. I have quite a bit of stiffness in my knee after I have ridden in a car for a while.

My doctor has advised that the last thing I should do is to have surgery unless the pain becomes unbearable. He says surgery will leave me with a stiff knee. Since I am only 48 I most certainly would hate to go through the rest of my life that way.

The advice he has given me is to favor my leg as much as possible, and to take a towel and wet it in hot water, wring it out and apply it to my knee. Can you suggest anything else?

DEAR READER — A Baker's cyst is just the normal fluid in the knee joint that has escaped and become encapsulated in a sac-like structure of tissue. They are commmonly painless, unless there is associated disease in the knee joint.

Your story suggests to me that you may have more than just a Baker's cyst and probably have some disease of your knee joint to begin with. In any case I think you should insist on an evaluation by an orthopedic specialist. If it is something he can help you with he will tell you and also what the risks might be.

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

This Series Made Possible by These Business Firms and Individuals Who Support Our Right to Worship Freely.

TOMORROW

All the tomorrows of our lives have to pass God before they get to us. To those of us who know what kind of Father He is, that thought takes all the dread of the future out of our hearts.

He turns crosses into crowns, gives us bread instead of stones, and lifts our eyes and our aspirations toward the stars.

But how does one acquire this kind of knowledge about our heavenly Father? It happens only when we write in large letters across the pages of our lives, "For His name's sake!"

The Sermon on the Mount says it best—

"Happy are you when men persecute you, and tell all manner of lies against you for my name's sake . . . for great is your reward in heaven." (Matthew 5:11)

Every sacrifice becomes sublime and every burden a blessing when life is lived—"For His name's sake."

McIntire City Disputing Rights

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP)—Fundamentalist radio preacher Dr. Carl McIntire "will do anything he can to get his puss in the papers," Mayor Arthur Blomkvest says.

The city and McIntire, a defrocked Presbyterian minister based in Collingswood, are disputing who has the right to station lifeguards and collect the beach fees on the beaches in front of McIntire's Congress Hall and Windsor Hotels.

McIntire says the city is illegally collecting fees on his beaches and owes him more than $30,000. He also said he and members of his Cape May Bible Conference would "take possession" of the beaches.

Schoumacher Inks Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)-David Schoumacer, who joined the news department of a local affiliate of ABC television last year, after 12 years with CBS and ABC network news, has signed a multi-year contract with WJLA-TV here.

Terms of the agreement announced Thursday were not disclosed but it was recently reported that Schoumacher had been earning about $100,000 a year.

Comp Hike To Cost Business

AUSTIN, (AP)-Higher workers compensation benefits will cost Texas businessmen $50 million in insurance premiums in the fiscal year that starts Sept. 1.

The State Board of Insurance ordered a 7.2 per cent rate increase Thursday to cover the automatic increase in benefits provided by the 1973 legislature.

Board actuaries had recommended an 8.9 per cent increase to cover benefit increases that will raise the maximum from $77 to $91 a week.

The board, however, went along with an insurance industry recommendation to pare the staff proposal slightly because of a change made this year in the Workers Compensation Act.

In the past, an employer or his insurance company had to pay for an injured worker's total disability, even though the same part of his body might have been damaged in an on-the-job accident while working for someone else.

The new law makes an employer liable only for the portion of a disability arising from an accident in his shop.

Jim Yancy, senior vice-president of the Texas Association of Business, said the effect of the new law should have been to cut the increase to no more than 3.7 per cent.

Both Yancy and Bob Wilson of Wichita Falls, representing the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, cited profit data of the state's biggest workers comp insurance firm, Texas Employers, as evidence that rates should not by raised.

Texas Employers Insurance Association receives 16 per cent of the state's workers comp premiums, three times as much as any other company.

Although for years and years cooks have been directed to grease just the bottom of cake pans, greasing the sides of the pan ususally doesn't hurt and the sides of the cake will probably be less crumby. Greasing the sides of the cake pan is supposed to produce a cake with less volume but as a rule the difference in height is extremly small.

"I'll never send my husband again! Yesterday he bought two things that have to be COOKED!"

Bean Hole Beans Draw Big Crowd

SOUTH PARIS, Maine (AP) - Every summer, Doc Hall cooks beans-not your run-of-the-mill beans, but old-fashioned, Down East, bean hole beans, placed in a big cast-iron kettles, buried in sandpits lined with firebricks and cooked underground for at least 24 hours.

"An awful lot of people plan their vacation around it," said Charles "Doc" Hall as he prepared for the annual Bean Hole Bean Festival, which will mark its 24th anniversary Saturday. "I can't understand it. What the hell are they coming for? A plate of beans."

More than 2,000 people are expected to converge at the nearby Oxford Fairgrounds to sample Hall's beans, now a savory New England institution.

Hall, a South Paris optometrist, and some friends cooked up the idea of a bean festival in 1954 as a way to publicize South Paris, until then distinguished only by its position as the site of a murder.

Now it's known for the aroma of Hall's beans, and people have forgotten "about this other business," he said.

"There's four of us left who started this foolish thing," said the 62-year-old Hall, who has traveled around New England to show folks how to cook bean hole beans. "I'm the one who does the cooking actually. They're the ones who do the work."

For $3, Hall and company provide "a complete feed." including charcoal-broiled hot dogs, brown bread, sauerkraut and beverages.

He is preparing 900 pounds of beans-500 pounds of kidney beans and 400 pounds of pea beans- enough for 3,000 servings. Handing his recipe to a visitor, he said, "We used to call this foolish thing a secret."

His recipe for 100 pounds of beans calls for one gallon of molasses, two cups of natural salt, 1½ cups of dry mustard, a half-cup of white pepper and 25 pounds of salt pork.

Hall does not use tomatoes, catsup or onions. "That's not a Maine way of cooking," he said.

Red Meat Production Is Up 5%

WASHINGTON (AP)- Meat production by the nation's federally inspected packing companies last month totaled nearly 3.3 billion pounds, up 5 per cent from 3.1 billion in June 1976.

The Agriculture Department says that all categories of red meat increased in June from a year earlier. Beef output, at almost 2.2 billion pounds, was up 1 per cent, and pork production rose 14 per cent to more than one billion pounds.

Veal production also was up in June to 66 million pounds, 5 per cent more than a year ago, while lamb and mutton gained 7 per cent from June of last year to 29 million pounds.

Eating Binge Threatens Act

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - Gail Grabowiecki is a professional dancer with a problem. Her partner's overeating is threatening their act.

Ms. Grabowiecki says she could carry the act if she didn't have to carry him, too.

He's a 14-foot python named Herculs, who a month ago was a slim 110 pounds. Today he scales in at 135.

The snake used to be satisfied with one hearty snack every two weeks or so but recently he's been on a eating binge, according to his partner, who has writhed with him to go-go music in nightclubs and discos as far away as Australia.

Herc's eating problem surfaced recently when he tried to devour the heating bulb in his wooden chest.

After veterinarian found that Herc had swallowed most of the glass bulb, he got eight quarter-pound guinea pigs for dessert to ease his indigestion. That's when the bulge began to show.

Bionic Bear Roar Keeps Animals Away

BURNABY, Canada (AP)-What puts a scare into a polar bear? The roar from "Bionic Bear," a device that amplifies a bear's roar to keep marauding animals away from northwoods oil workers.

Don Wooldridge, a graduate biology student at Simon Fraser University, came up with the idea for Imperial Oil, which was looking for ways to protect its workers from bears.

"The idea was that the intruding bear might think it's the world's largest bear just over the hill," Wooldridge said.

Wooldridge says he analyzed the roars electronically and synthesized a sound similar to a roar-but twice as long as that of a real bear.

He experimented by taping the grunts and roars of captive bears fighting over a piece of meat near Port Angeles, Wash. When he played the amplified sound back, it sent one kodiak bear up the walls of the cage.

That was good enough for Imperial, which he installed the recordings, amplifiers and speakers at various oil drilling sites.

"One of Imperial Oil's concerns was the morale problem it causes immediately after," Wooldridge said of attacks by bear in recent years. "People start saying: Hey, wait a minute. I'm not sure I want to work here."

Wooldridge says bears in the wild are not naturally vicious and aggressive, but problems occur with young ones whose food catches are often stolen by larger males.

"We've seen them licking up diesel oil," Wooldridge said. "They're naturally quite desperate."

Wooldridge is now working on a system using bear bait containing chemicals to sicken bears in an attempt to drive them away and ensure they won't return.
