Thunderstorm Early Friday Brings .80 Inch of Moisture

Thunderstorms which were general over this area Thursday night and early Friday morning brought .80 inch of moisture here, and boosted total rainfall for the year to almost two inches.

The early morning downpour, coming shortly after midnight Thursday morning, was accompanied by a Spring-like electrical disturbance which disrupted electric service for a time. However, no property damage resulted.

Precipitation was measured at .80 on the City Hall gauge, but was heavier in other sections of the city, with one inch being registered in the south part of town.

At West Texas Utilities Company's Paint Creek power plant, rainfall was measured at .95 inch, while farmers and ranchers in the southeastern part of the county reported a "good inch or more" of rain.

January rainfall of 1.10 inch, which was preceded by a heavy late December snow, had provided ideal moisture. This will be enhanced by the rain last weekend, to give farmers and ranchers the best prospects in recent years for winter grain and ranges.

His wife, the former Dawn Clifton of this city, accompanied her husband to College Station and they will make their home there while he is attending A&M. He is the son of County Commissioner and Mrs. Estle Gilleland of Haskell.

Proposed New F-M Road in Prec. 3 Discussed at Meeting Here Tuesday

Possibility of securing an additional Farm-to-Market road to serve the area southeast of Haskell was discussed informally Tuesday morning at a meeting of interested residents with the Commissioners Court and district highway engineer Jake Roberts of Abilene.

Between 35 and 40 residents of Precinct 3 who live in the general area between Haskell and Paint Creek community, were present at the meeting, held in the Grand Jury room in the courthouse.

Principal interest centered on when the road could be built, and its location or route. The proposed road, if and when it is designated, would extend from Haskell to an intersection with F-M 618, it was understood.

District Engineer Roberts explained to the gathering how the program of F-M or "secondary roads" had been set up by the State Highway Commission. A state-wide $35 million program adopted by the Commission in 1946 is now 70 per cent complete in the state, Roberts said. In Haskell County, the program is about 71 per cent complete, including F-M roads designated and allocated, he said.

In answer to a question as to how the route for any proposed F-M road was selected, the district engineer said that the State Highway Commission was the only agency with authority to designate and allocate money for a road project.

He explained, however, that recommendations of the local Commissioners' Court were considered. Principal determining factors include traffic over the proposed road, its service as a school bus or mail route, cost of construction, etc.

The district engineer was accompanied to Haskell by C. W. Westbrook of Stamford, resident engineer for the department.

Questions from the group indicated that in event a new F-M road was designated for the area, that two different routes would be advanced by interested residents. Consensus of opinion, however, was that regardless of the route selected, people of that area would cooperate in every way possible to secure the needed all-weather road.

A generous contribution by the Haskell Co-Op Gin to the current March of Dimes drive was announced today by J. M. Crawford, chairman of the drive in Haskell County.

Kid Baseball League Plans To Be Talked at Meet Feb. 15

Plans for organizing a Little League or Kiddies League for the coming baseball season will be discussed at a meeting to be held Tuesday evening in the Elementary School auditorium.

Purpose of the organization will be to sponsor facilities for a season baseball schedule for the younger bracket of boys from 7 years up. A similar program was successfully carried out last year as part of the Youth Recreation Program of the community.

At the meeting Tuesday night, plans will be discussed for erecting facilities and providing grounds for at least six playing fields. Sites are available, and facilities can be erected at small expense. Also, feasibility of joining the National Little League will be discussed. A 25-minute film, "This Is Little League" will be shown.

All persons interested in the project, and especially parents of boys in the Little League age bracket, are urged to attend the meeting, which will get under way at 7:30 sharp.

In addition to Haskell teams in the Little League, Mattson and Paint Creek representatives will meet with the local group Tuesday evening. Teams from the two communities will be included in the schedule for season play.

Fair Store Here To Be Closed At Early Date

After more than six years operation in Haskell, The Fair Store, located on the north side of the square, has announced a "Quit Business Sale" and will close out the store here, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. (Bill) Smith, managers of the establishment said today.

They have leased a building in San Angelo and plan to open a department store in that city when the Haskell store is closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith came to Haskell as managers of The Fair Store when the establishment was opened here in July, 1948. Under their management the local store has enjoyed a substantial and increasing volume of business.

"We have enjoyed a splendid patronage during the more than six years we have been in business in Haskell, and it is with regret that we are closing our store here," Mr. and Mrs. Smith said.

In order to expedite closing of the store, exceptionally low prices have been made on all merchandise. Store fixtures will also be offered for sale, it was announced.

Haskell Cagers Defeat Roby 71-40 Tuesday Night

Wendell Dixon scored 18 points Tuesday night to pace the Haskell Indians to an 8-A basketball victory over Roby, 71-40.

The Roby girls took their game 32-37 over the Haskell girls with Lucille Wilburn leading the way with 26 points. High for Haskell was Sue Bell with 24.

The HHS quintets have three more games on their district schedule. They host Albany here Friday night, and on Tuesday night entertain Roscoe in the home gym. Friday night, Feb. 18 they go to Merkel for their final district game.

Haskell girls team has a season record of 17-8, and the boys 15-7.

In district 8-A play, HHS boys are in fourth place, while HHS girls are tied with Roscoe for third and fourth position.

Contract Approved On Rodeo Stock For Roundup

A contract for rodeo stock for the annual Rice Springs Roundup was approved this week by directors of the Saddle Tramp riding club, sponsors of the annual event.

Contract for the stock is with Doc Fitter of Denton, widely known rodeo producer. He furnished the stock and assisted in staging the initial Rice Springs Roundup here last year. The event attracted widespread attention and drew praise from contestants and the public alike as one of the best rodeo events staged in West Texas.

This year's event will be a three-day affair, to be held May 12, 13 and 14 at the Saddle Tramp rodeo grounds.

As soon as the contract is approved by the Denton rodeo producer, plans will be started to publicize the event.

Bank Will Observe Legal Holiday Saturday, Feb. 12

Plans Completed for Rabbit Drive And Barbecue at Mattson Feb. 18th

Plans for the Mattson Rabbit Drive and Barbecue, to be held Friday, Feb. 18th, have almost been completed, Henry Smith, chairman of the drive, said this week.

Permission has been secured for use of more than enough land needed for the drive, Smith said.

The chairman added that the drive is being planned in such a manner as to get the maximum coverage and as many rabbits as possible. Men who will serve as captains during the drive have had experience and they have set out rules to be observed. It is specified that no rifles or pistols may be used, and no shotgun pellets larger than No. 4. They also request that minors be accompanied by their parents.

The captains would like to have the hunters assemble at the Mattson school around 9 a. m. Feb. 18, so the various groups can be organized. This is the most important part of the drive, they point out, because without organization and cooperation the drive will only be partly successful.

On the actual drive, transportation will be furnished all taking part. This will be done to keep the drive moving on time, to keep groups together, to prevent damage to cars, as some of the land is difficult to reach in a car, and finally, to prevent damage to landowners.

In addition to the barbecue at noon, cold drinks, coffee and candy will be sold by the Junior and Senior classes in Mattson high school during the actual drive. Also there will be 6,250 rounds of shells in sizes 410, 20, 16 and 12 gauge, both high and low velocity, for sale at a reduced price.

Tickets for the event are on sale at Mayfield Grocery in Wainwright and the Hub Store in this city.

Sponsors have announced that in event of bad weather, the drive will be held on Feb. 22.

Future Farmers of America will exhibit their livestock and poultry projects here Saturday, in the first annual Haskell County FFA Project Show.

Members of all FFA Chapters in Haskell County schools are expected to have exhibits in the four show divisions, for swine, calves, sheep, and chickens.

The show will be held at the livestock pens and building on the Saddle Tramp rodeo grounds. Show judge will be T. C. Blankenship, vocational agriculture teacher in Hamlin High School.

Grand Champion and Reserve Champion will be selected in each division, and judging will be carried to five places.

In the swine division, entries will be in six classes for barrows, in Duroc, Hampshire, and Poland China breeds, in light and heavy classifications. A seventh class will be open for other breeds and weights.

Gilts will be exhibited in six classes, for Hampshires, Durocs and Poland Chinas.

Calves will be entered in five classes, for dry lot calves in both light and heavy, milk fed, dairy heifers and beef heifers.

There will be one class for sheep, cross bred wethers. Each poultry exhibit will consist of a pen of 5 broilers.

The show will be open to the public.

Donors Asked to Give Trees, Shrubs For Scott Park

Persons interested in beautifying Scott Park on Paint Creek lake may help in the project by donating trees, shrubs or other plantings, County Judge Alfred Turnbow said this week.

Now is an ideal time for planting, the county official pointed out, and donors of shrubs, trees or flowers are assured that proper care will be given any plantings donated to the park.

Considerable work was done by the county on the park grounds last summer, and more is being planned. Water will be available to insure moisture for any trees or plants set out, Judge Turnbow said.

Persons desiring to donate trees for planting are asked to consider the best types and varieties for this section. Particularly desired are pecan and shade trees that will thrive in this section, the county official said.

Flower plants are also desired, and persons who do not wish to donate trees or shrubs can help in the project if they will contribute flower seed, Judge Turnbow said.

Fred Waring Road Show Coming to Wichita Falls

Wichita Falls—Fred Waring, whose choral group played to a packed Memorial auditorium here two years ago, is returning to Wichita Falls with a completely new and different show Tuesday February 15.

"Pleasure Time 1955," the title of the new Waring road show has been described as a pageant of listening joy. Originality and imagination are two of Waring's better known qualities—and both are clearly visible in his new production.

With an all-new treatment of his wonderful music, Waring has come up with the ultimate in entertainment. "Pleasure Time 1955" has won rare reviews in the midwest and northeast where the troupe has played.

Sponsors of the Fred Waring appearance in Wichita Falls are Radio and Television Station KWFT. Tickets may be obtained by sending orders to Box 420 Wichita Falls. Prices are $3.90 $3.25, $2.40 and $1.80.

Lions See Film On Exploration For Oil

Advances made in exploration and development of oil resources were interestingly outlined in a film shown members of the Lions Club at their weekly meeting and luncheon Tuesday at noon in the banquet room of the Texas Cafe.

The film was made available through courtesy of The Texas Company, and was shown by Principal Billy Snow of the Haskell Elementary School.

Contrast in exploration methods depicted the change from the former surface geologist, or "rock hound" who searched for surface outcroppings to indicate possible oil bearing strata, to the modern day seismograph instruments with an almost infallible accuracy.

The film depicted all operations involved in drilling an oil well, from setting up the drilling rig through the various phases of logging, setting casing, and completing the producing well.

Importance of the oil industry to the country's economy was emphasized in the fact brought out in the film that millions of dollars in lease money is paid out annually by oil companies in their continuous search for new oil sources.

Program committee for the day was composed of Cecil Gregory and Fred Gilliam.

life is based on free enterprise and individual initiative," he said. "When you destroy free enterprise and initiative, you do more to destroy a country than in fooling with a nation's economy." Dr. Foster said.

He preceded his talk with personal reminiscences of his residence here and the many close friends in Haskell and vicinity, interspersing with Texas "yarns" that kept his audience laughing.

New Officers Introduced
Carl Wheatley, retiring president of the organization and who served as toastmaster, praised officers and directors for the time and work given on C. of C. projects during the year.

Wheatley commended C. of C. Manager Rex Felker for doing a "wonderful job" in furthering the aims and program of the civic organization. Felker is now in his fifth year as manager of the local chamber.

Wallace H. Cox, Jr., incoming president, listed five points which he termed essential in carrying out the work program of the organization. These points are: co-operation and teamwork between the Chamber of Commerce and the citizenship; Optimistic thinking and approach to all community problems; Desire to better existing conditions in all phases of community endeavors; Exploration of all potentials for growth and development; Faith in Haskell, its people and its future.

"Working together, and with the combined efforts of our citizens, I believe we can make 1955-56 a profitable year for our community," Cox declared.

As new president, Cox introduced incoming officers and directors who will serve with him during the ensuing year. These include: But Holden, first vice president; Myron Biard, second vice president; and W. R. (Roy) Johnson, treasurer. Completing the executive board are new and hold-over directors C. D. Allen, C. O. Holt, Mat Eubanks, Hallie Chapman, J. C. Wheatley, Cecil Gregory, Belton Duncan, Ed F. Fouts, Carl Anderson, Alfred Turnbow, Charles E. Smith.

Guests were present from 22 towns and cities. Largest group was from Abilene, with 14 visitors. Other towns and cities represented included:

Sagerton, Weinert, Rochester Snyder, Wichita Falls, Stamford Rotan, Rule, Benjamin, Hamlin Munday, Graham, Anson, Seymour, Luaders, Fort Worth, Midland, Lawton, Okla., Waco, Amarillo, Knox City, Childress.

Also, a telegram from Fred H. Husbands, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was read, in which he expressed regret at being unable to be present for the affair. Husbands told of his appreciation for the leadership of John A. Couch of Haskell as president of the West Texas civic organization. The Haskell man is now serving as head of the regional unit.

Parasites Take One Farm Animal in 20

External and internal parasites are claiming one farm animal in 20, and are costing farmers about $1,000,000,000 annually, Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist of Texas A&M College reports.

That's a loss of five cents on every dollar invested in livestock. The entomologist says these figures, which are termed conservative, show that livestock raisers are not realizing full returns from their operations.

Ironically, says Dr. Fuller, modern research has found practical ways to control most of today's parasitic enemies.

Few, if any, livestock are completely free of infestation, he says. Even the best looking animal may harbor a dozen or more different parasite species.

Heaviest losses in cattle come from external parasites, hornflies and grubs. However, internal parasites likewise are a major problem.

For every eight animals shipped to market, the value of one is lost to parasitism, Dr. Fuller emphasizes. This means cattlemen are "giving away" each year an additional 2,000,000,000 pounds of meat.

Studies show that losses from parasites exceed 10 per cent in poultry. One battery in 10 is wasting space, feed, labor and equipment.

Parasites are robbing swine producers of the value of one pig in every 12, and sheepmen face the problem of combating a 25 per cent annual parasite loss.

They also are believed responsible for many disease outbreaks because their infestation leads an animal into a weakened condition.

Steps to help curb most of the troubling parasites of Texas livestock require time and expense, Dr. Fuller adds. Livestockmen who follow regularly recommended parasite controls usually bring home the highest profits from their livestock.

Extension Service Program Helping Beautify Texas

The use of hardy trees and shrubs in the planting plans for home improvement demonstrations has become increasingly important because of the drought. Many plants in this classification are native to the areas where they are used and are thus available at little or no cost except for labor.

Two activities have played major roles in popularizing native plants for landscaping uses about the farmstead. Sadie Hatfield, home improvement specialist for Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports that 4-H club members and their leaders and six workshops held at as many different locations over the state last year gave emphasis to the program. Through 4-H plant identification program, started in 1951, 4-H members learn to know and use in their home grounds improvement work plants which can take a lot of dry weather.

Last year almost 2,200 4-H members received this training, and 537 of their leaders also carried out home ground improvement projects.

The six workshops were attended by 813 persons. They received training in arranging the home grounds for more comfort and convenience and attractiveness, controlling insect pests, soil management and related subjects. These courses were held at state colleges.

Miss Hatfield reports that statewide almost 2,000 lawns were seeded, 778 driveways and 1,100 walks made, and 11,000 shade trees and 23,000 shrubs planted. In addition outdoor living rooms, play and barbecue equipment and trash burners were added in large numbers. Miss Hatfield estimates the value of all improvements made during the year by demonstrators at more than $800,000. She credits the home demonstration agents and their leaders in the counties with making the program successful despite the continuing drought. More she adds would have been achieved if the weather had been favorable, especially moisture-wise.

Trapping Slump Aids Predators

Austin — The combination of the trapping decline and the unbroken drought aggravated the predator crisis in Texas, particularly as concerns the ubiquitous raccoon, according to the chief clerk of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Formerly, the demand for furs stimulated trapping and helped curb the raccoons. But the general fur market has slumped primarily because of the depressing effect on it by imported products.

Then said the chief clerk, the drought has depleted some of the natural food items of the raccoon, such as crayfish, frogs and turtles ordinarily found around accessible water holes. Vegetation likewise has been reduced by the dry spell.

So the raccoons, all the while multiplying because of the trapping decline, are running wild. And their predatory habits are proportionately enhanced, with damage to field crops such as corn and peanuts being listed.

Feb. 15 Deadline To Ask for Drouth Feed Assistance

Applications for hay and feed grain assistance under the emergency drouth program will not be accepted after Feb. 15. This word comes from the United States Department of Agriculture.

This announcement of a new application acceptance deadline is in keeping with the USDA's policy to bring the emergency feed programs to a close as spring pastures and forage become available.

One - hundred twenty - seven Texas counties are on the official drouth-aid list.

Applications approved before Feb. 15 cut-off date can cover needed hay and grain supplies up to the middle of April since the purchase orders may be issued for needed supplemental hay and feed grain for a period up to 60 days.

The feed grain program was set up to supplement the already existing hay program. Farmers Home Administration emergency loans and certain cost-share assistance designed to help eligible farmers and ranchers basic livestock herds.

Follow the pattern for the Church laid down in the Bible!

God intends for us to follow it. If He wanted us to substitute our ideas. He would not have given the pattern.

The plan for unity is clear. Eph. 4:4-6.

1. One Body—Unity of Organization.

2. One Spirit—Unity of revelation.

3. One Hope—Unity of Aim.

4. One Lord—Unity of Authority.

5. One faith—Unity of doctrine.

6. One Baptism—Unity of practice.

7. One God—Unity of worship. Here is an understandable and God given plan for Christian unity. We dare not unite on any less than these seven unities of the scripture. We would rather be loyal to Christ and divided from other professed followers of Him than to be united with all professed believers and be disloyal to Christ. We dare not divide the body of Christ on any point not herein presented. (Eph. 4).

The First Christian Church in Haskell can trace its origin to Pentecost and its doctrine to the Bible. Where the Bible speaks, we speak; Where the Bible is silent, we are silent. In faith, unity; in opinion, liberty; and in all things, love.

You, too, can become a part of this New Testament plan of Christian unity.

All we ask is for you to obey the commands of Christ. We welcome you to worship with us, and to become a part of His church in Haskell.—John Barry, Minister.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—Austin is full of "land-grab" investigations. Attorney General John Ben Shepperd blew the lid off veterans' land sales to start the movement and the lid is still sailing.

Both houses of the legislature have their own investigating committees. Also peering into the "land block sale" scandals are grand juries in Travis and DeWitt counties.

Voting to conduct a full investigation, the House set up a committee composed of Representatives Joe Burkett, Wade F. Spilman, Virginia Duff, Reagan R. Huffman and Jesse Osborn. Burkett is chairman, Spilman vice-chairman.

Recalled by the Senate investigating committee, headed by Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, was Attorney General Shepperd, for testimony under oath. This at the request of Sen. Jimmy Philips. Because of Philips' line of questioning, Rep. Leroy Saul charged that the senator was preparing to run for attorney general and using the investigation for "personal publicity."

Shepperd testified that minutes of the Veterans' Land Board showing him present and voting for individual applications were erroneous. He said that the board didn't pass on the applications, that it was an administrative matter turned over to the chairman—former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

The same practice is being followed under the new chairman, J. Earl Rudder, Shepperd said. Shepperd also said he didn't use his influence as a board member to get favors for any applicants. He further stated that a 1953 letter from G. Curtis Jackson, Jr., Zavala County Attorney, complaining of block land deals by C. O. Haggin, was not seen by him until after the investigation started.

Shepperd Files Suits
This testimony came as Shepperd filed the first two of a prospective long list of suits to forfeit block land deals and recover the money paid land operators. G. Curtis Jackson, Jr., was a defendant named in one of the suits. Shepperd testified that Jackson was identified in one of the land deals.

Shepperd's first two suits were against L. V. Ruffin and B. R. Sheffield, both of Brady, and J. Paul Little, G. Curtis Jackson, Jr., and H. R. Stallings, of Crystal City. The Brady group was sued for $336,247; the latter for $150,000.

Sheffield has been identified as a former business associate of Bascom Giles, who quit as land commissioner and veterans' land board chairman on Jan. 1. Giles sea water to fresh water.

He visited many parts of the state where measures are being taken to utilize more effectively the critically-short supply of water.

The young East Texan favors building dams on streams to impound the water we have; then we can conserve this water and use it as needed.

"Another means of solving the problem is to divert water from the surplus-water area of East Texas, by gravity canals or pipelines, to more arid regions of the state," he points out.

refused to testify before the Senate committee on his business relations with Sheffield and other land operators.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe, J., author of the House investigation measure, also introduced a bill providing 10-year prison terms and $10,000 fines for using, concealing, or forging documents in land deals.

Insurance Committee Action
Corrective insurance bills have run into a slow-down.

Four were heard by a House Committee including one to regulate insurance company securities. All were sent to a sub-committee for two weeks.

In the Senate the insurance committee heard two bills. One would fix a $375,000 minimum capital and surplus for new legal reserve life companies, all in cash. One requires examinations of legal reserve life agents. Both were attacked as monopolistic—for the big companies and were sent to sub-committees.

Labor Bills
Legislative committees moved slowly on a mass of other bills awaiting their action.

Several labor bills were heard. One by Sen. George Parkhouse, dealing with "the Port Arthur situation," won favorable action. It would permit picketing only by employees representing a majority of the workers of a struck firm.

Another bill by Parkhouse would prevent pickets from interfering with common carrier service to a struck plant; and would fine or jail common carrier employees for refusing to cross a picket line.

Water Committees Busy
Two committees studied water legislation.

Rep. Harold Parish's constitutional amendment for a $200 million bond issue and a 1-cent property tax, was reviewed by the constitutional amendments committee and held for action. Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman's constitutional amendment for a $100 million bond issue and a 3-cent tax is awaiting committee action.

Another House committee heard arguments on a bill for setting up a water commission. In the Senate, two rival plans by Sen. Hardeman, who was chairman of the water resources study committee, and Sen. Crawford Martin, call for a water commission—one appointive, the other elective. All three would abolish the present Board of Water Engineers.

Miscellaneous
Attorney General Shepperd convened his fifth annual law enforcement conference in Austin with David Brian, "Mr. District Attorney" of TV, as a featured speaker.

A new drive for more stringent prohibition laws, including the possibility of an attempted constitutional amendment for something like the old prohibition law, is talked. Conference here by the Texas Council of Churches and the Council of Methodist Women may be the springboard.

Legislators are studying an A. & M. College report that Texas farm population slumped 47.9 per cent since 1940—as compared with a 28.3 per cent decline for the rest of the nation.

In 1954 the farm population was an estimated 1,126,000. That's 261,000 less than in 1950 and 1,297,000 under the record year of 1945.

Farms have increased in size to 517 acres average, or twice that of 1930.

Farm Families And Social Security

(Editor's Note: This is another series of articles prepared for farm families by R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager of the Social Security Administration office in Abilene.)

In our previous articles, we have described the general coverage provisions of the self-employed farmer and rancher, and those working as employees on farms and ranches. In today's article, we would like to describe how farm earnings for social security purposes is determined and reported.

A self-employed farmer or rancher determines his net earnings for social security purposes in much the same manner as the business man has been doing for the past four years. However, the simplified manner of reporting with two options available to him to determine his net income for social security purposes. This does not change the manner or method that the farmer and rancher reports his income for income tax purposes, and the option can be used only for social security purposes.

For low-income farmers and ranchers, those of you who report their income tax on a cash basis and those whose gross income is $1,800 or less, have the choice of reporting your actual net earnings, after taking all deductions allowed by law necessary in the operation of your farm or ranch or reporting one-half your gross income. Either the net or one-half the gross must be $400 or more.

For farmers and ranchers whose gross income is over $1,800, you must determine your actual net earnings. If these net earnings are less than $900, then you can report either the actual net earnings, or $900, whichever you prefer.

Free upon request from Abilene Social Security office, is an informative booklet called "Facts for Farm Families." This pamphlet should be in the hands of every farmer and rancher, as well as every farm and ranch employee. It describes how you can determine your net earnings from your farm or ranch operations under the new social security amendments, as well as a table showing estimated benefits how to report your farm and ranch employees, tells how you qualify for benefits, and gives the social security tax rates.

About 720,323,000 broiler chicks were placed in 1954 in 13 important commercial broiler areas. Placements varied from a high of 16,129,000 chicks for the week ending March 27 to a low of 8,759,000 during the week ending Dec. 25.

Texas Farm Cash Income in 1954 Lowest Since '46

Texas farm cash income in 1954 totaled $1,848,000,000—lowest of any year since 1946 and 1 per cent below 1953, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

The general conclusion reached at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's annual outlook conference is that 1955 will be very much like 1954, the Bureau adds. Most of the commercially important crops produced higher income in 1954 than in 1953.

Generally speaking, 1954 farm cash income from livestock and livestock products failed to equal the 1953 total. The only exception was sheep and lamb income, 14 per cent above a year earlier. Cattle income was off 5 per cent, eggs, 22 per cent, and milk and milk products, 17 per cent.

Attends General Motors Training Center

A. J. Lafoon of this city attended the General Motors Training Center at Garland, Texas, recently to learn advanced automotive service techniques which he will use in his work at Eubanks Chevrolet Company in this city.

Lafoon spent two and one-half days at the Garland school, one of a national network of training centers being set up by General Motors to keep employees of its car and truck dealerships abreast of new mechanical developments and service techniques.

A service manager with Eubanks Chevrolet Company for 11 years, Lafoon selected the 1955 Product Course, taking advanced study in model changes.

Mat Eubanks, head of the company, said he sent Lafoon to the Garland center to give his customers the benefit of improved service techniques taught there.

The Garland training center, with more than 26,000 square feet of floor space, has eight specialized shop classrooms, for use by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac, GMC Truck & Coach, Fisher Body and United Motors Service divisions of GM. Each division supplies a highly trained instructor for its courses at the center, which is managed by L. S. Kuehn.

GM officials expect a total of 5,000 mechanics to attend the center each year. Similar attendance is expected at other training centers when they are completed.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, explained that the purpose of the centers is "to insure that the people who buy our cars and trucks will continue to receive efficient and satisfying service." He said that "the centers will make it possible for dealer service personnel to keep up to date on a systematic basis with improved service methods and technological advances such as air conditioning, power steering, power brakes and other major improvements."

Attend Conference On Farm Storage At A&M College

R. W. Merchant of this city and Fred Osment of Stamford attended a Farm Storage Short Course on Grain Drying and Storage held last week at College Station.

The two-day session was sponsored by the department of agricultural engineering of A&M College, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Speakers on the two-day program discussed the various phases of farm storage of grain. R. W. Merchant is owner of Merchant Equipment Company in this city. The company handles pre-fabricated metal farm storage buildings, and Osment is representative of the concern in the Stamford area.

Best Texas Spot For Uranium

The El Paso area appears to be the most likely spot in the state for mining uranium on a commercial scale, Dr. S. P. Ellison, Jr., of the University of Texas reported.

Other finds have been made in Central Texas Llano area and in North Texas, but no commercial discoveries have resulted anywhere in the state so far, he emphasized.

The only important uranium discoveries in this country to date are in Utah, Colorado and New Mexico, Geology Chairman Ellison said.

The largest known commercial deposits are in the Belgian Congo of Africa and the Lake Athabasca area of Alberta, Canada, he added.

Use of Certified Planting Seed Hikes Profits

Guaranteed purity, higher germination and boosted crop yields await farmers who buy and plant certified seed this year. Germination and yields of course are dependent upon the available moisture, but farmers can't afford to gamble with seed of questionable quality, says Ben Spears, extension agronomist.

Certified seed usually are the best seed of a particular variety available. This seed with a "blue tag" comes from fields that have been inspected during the growing season, properly handled at harvest, cleaned and tested for purity and germination. Only after the seed has passed certain rigid standards does the State Department of Agriculture issue a blue certified tag for each bag.

Certified seed may cost slightly more, but the added cost is good insurance, Spears says. He advises farmers to buy now planting seed for this year's crop. Seed supplies generally are adequate but last minute shoppers may find local stocks depleted and forced to plant whatever seed is available.

If the planting seed has not been chemically treated for seed-borne and seedling diseases, farmers find this practice profitable and added insurance against poor stands and plant losses during early growth.

Local agricultural agents can supply information on seed treating and variety recommendations, says Spears.

Effect of Pollution On Fresh-Water Fish Studied

Austin, Texas—Moving a fish from one Texas fresh-water stream to another can kill it, and University of Texas scientists are trying to find out why.

The problem is important, not only because of sports interest, but because one of the most accurate ways to tell if a stream is polluted is to place fish in it and see if they live—accurate, that is, unless the fish die from a non-polluted cause.

"There are chemicals in our fresh water which apparently penetrate for the change by moved from a water body in one part of the state to a water body in another part," Dr. Clark Hubbs, zoologist, says.

"There may be only one chemical causing it. Anyway, a fish in water having either an excess or absence of that unknown factor finds the condition necessary for life," he added.

Central Ward School Sponsors Cage Tourney

(School Reporter)

The current term has been a very important school year in the history of the Central Ward School in this city, which has Dewey Mays as principal.

One of the highlight events of the season came last week, when Central Ward was host to three schools for a basketball tournament played Saturday in the High School gymnasium. Schools making part were Abilene, Stamford, and Botan. This was the first time Central Ward has sponsored a tournament.

Central Ward girls team were winners of the tourney, while the CWS boys team lost to Stamford.

The girls team, the CWS Wildcat, has compiled a 19-2 record for the year, while the boys' record stands at 14-12.

Principal Mays is doing a fine job with boys and girls basketball teams, both the A and B teams, patrons of Central Ward School point out. He has acquitted himself so creditably during his stay here that his head has been filled with various learning and of labor," one school patron said.

His motto is "Forward." His main purpose is to provide rich and varied experiences; to give intelligent meaning to everyday experiences; to increase the ability to observe and interpret experiences. Also to give information about, and an understanding of, the development of our way of living, and to stimulate growth in desirable character traits, to develop desirable habits of citizenship in the home, community, and state.

Principal Mays and his corps of teachers are grateful to all the people of the community for their cooperation. Saturday in making the tournament a success.

Faculty of Central Ward School in addition to Principal Mays, include Mrs. Ora Mae Ellis, Mrs. Obelia Greene, and Mrs. Dewey Mays.

Local Farm Bureau Members Attend Lubbock Meet

Eight members of the local Farm Bureau were in Lubbock Monday where they attended the Texas Farm Bureau state-wide Captains' Meeting.

The all-day meeting was the first of its kind held in the state. Attending from Haskell were Ed Hester, F. A. Ulmer, C. H. White, Adell Thomas, Luther Harris, Gene Tonn, S. M. Royall and C. H. Herren.

J. Walter Mammont, Texas Farm Bureau President, addressed the group with an inspiring speech for a stronger Farm Bureau. Another principal banquet speaker was Roger Fleming, the National Secretary of the American Farm Bureau from the Washington office. He spoke on the support Farm Bureau has given the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act in getting farm products exported to equal farm production of about seven southern states. About 300 representatives from several counties participated in the special demonstrations and door prizes given during the day. S. M. Royall, local president advised.

Free-choice feeding of penothiazine may someday help control cattle grubs but several problems regarding its use must first be solved. Main drawback to penothiazine is its taste. Cattle do not like it and a practical way to feed the product has not been found. Its future may hinge on whether research can "chocolate coat" penothiazine and guarantee that animals on the farm will consume enough to produce a grub-killing effect, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian. In preliminary tests, a definite drop in the number of grubs was noted among cattle fed 2 grams of penothiazine daily to free-choice in protein supplement.
