Cutting horse show scheduled Saturday

Close to 100 participants are expected for Saturday's cutting horse event sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce.

The event, called "A Real West Texas Cuttin'", has eight classes and will be unique in that it will be held in an outdoor arena and in West Texas. It will be held at the county rodeo arena, west of Colorado City.

"We're expecting maybe 100 participants," said Carolyn Gully, secretary of the event. "Some will be staying over and spending money in town."

"Most of the cuttings are not outdoors and not in West Texas," she said. "This will be a unique situation, more like the old West."

She said the eight different classes, ranging from novice to open, will be held throughout the day with registration starting at 9 a.m.

Gully estimates that there will be three people in attendance for each horse entered.

"This could be a big asset to the town if we can make it work," she said.

Local merchants are donating a number of awards and prizes to be Cutting horse competition?

Cutting horse competition began as ranch recreation. Cowboys from two neighboring outfits would see which working cow pony and rider could do the best, fastest, showiest job of cutting calves - separating yearlings from their mothers so that they could be roped and branded.

Frequently the hands placed a little money on the outcome. By 1985 the sport had been formalized into a favorite pastime with prize money in the millions.

Although cutting was one of the essential tasks of every roundup, the way a given horse handled himself could be anything but routine. A good cutting horse can hop, pivot and spread his forelegs so wide that his chest almost touches the ground, putting him on eye level with a baffled calf. Cutting horse quality is a matter of talent, not looks, speed or flawless lineage.

A cow-smart horse wants to play with cow much like a cat plays with a mouse.

given away throughout the day, to both contestants and spectators.

"There will be drawings at random all day," she said.

In addition, there will be a barbecue lunch served from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Tickets are $5 per plate.

There is no admission charge to watch the cutting horse events, and the public is invited to buy tickets for the barbecue as well.

The chamber of commerce also will have a concession stand open throughout the day.

The chamber of commerce is putting up $1,700 for the show and each contestant will be paying money into the jackpot as well as a registration fee.

Besides prize money, contestants will be competing for buckles donated by Wood's Boots to top champions.

Those contributing prizes to be given away during the cutting horse show are First National Bank, City National Bank, Fuller Foods, Neff's Nursery, Plagens Printing, Colorado City Record, Maggie Compton CPA, Key Brothers Implement, Costin Implement, Snow's Exxon, Larabee Barbecue, Myers Auto Parts, Hutchins Ford Sales, Pizza Hut, McGaha's Sun Country Paint, Dr. Frank Kretzinger, Woods Boots, Rowe's, Colorado Feed & Seed, Mac-Michaels Restaurant, Clothes Barn, Candyland, Fort Wood Cafe, Cooper's Saddlery, Rafter B Saddle Shop, Matlock's, Ramage Appliance, Dairy Queen, Sonic, Anthony's Mitchell County, KVMC and B&B One Stop.

Ybarra wins football contest

The winners of the Record's Jackpot Football contest sponsored by local merchants were, first place - Janie Ybarra; who missed four games; second place - John Brown; who missed 5 games; third place - Pat Crow, who missed five games. Brown's tie-breaker prediction was closer than that of Crow's for second place.

Ybarra will be awarded $25 in football bucks; Brown will be given $15, and Crow with $10.

This week's Jackpot Football contest can be found on page 6.

Recycling awareness program suggested

Reducing, reusing and recycling was the message Brenda Casey delivered Tuesday to members of the Buford Extension Homemakers Club as she called for a county-wide awareness of the mounting garbage problem.

"As a nation, we're generating more garbage all the time and we have nothing to do with it," she said, adding that America has become a "throw-away society."

She said that reducing, reusing and recycling are the most viable alternatives as America's landfills continue to fill.

"There are so many things we can do to help save our environment," she said.

"No single method will solve the problem," she said.

She said that the United States is currently recycling only 10 percent of its waste and that the majority of the trash going to the landfills is not bio-degradable.

Mrs. Casey, a Westbrook resident, said that there are many things people can do at home to reduce the amount of garbage such as using a good quality electric shave instead of disposable shaves and using reusable cloth diapers instead of disposable diapers.

She said much of the household garbage can be recycled and suggested using four separate garbage cans to separate glass, aluminum, plastics and paper. There are companies that purchase those items, she said, adding that old car batteries can be sold also.

"Minimize the use of paper towels and paper napkins," she said.

She said that many cleaning solutions can be replaced with

State sends rebate checks

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has sent a check totaling $1,888 to Colorado City as its share of bingo tax proceeds.

Colorado City is one of 110 Texas cities that levy the two-percent local tax of the games' gross receipts.

The 1990 payments to date are $4,100 compared to $412 received through the same time period last year.

Bingo is regulated by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Colorado City received a check for $455 and Mitchell County received a check for $648 which represent their share of the state's mixed drink tax collected during July, August and September.

The mixed drink tax is also collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. City and county tax rebates are sent out quarterly by Bullock's office.

PUTTING UP SIGNS - These city workers were busy Tuesday erecting four-way stopsigns at the intersection of Third and Walnut streets. The 4-way stopsigns will replace the lighted signal at that intersection.

Loraine Personals

Come, ye children, harken unto me: I will teach you the fear of the Lord, Psalms 34:11.

This scripture verse, was suggested by my friend Charles Bowen. It has some kind of a special meaning to him. Thanks Charlie.

We lost a good and loyal friend to our small city and its people when we lost Woodrow Pratt. He was a man who taught by example rather than words. We really did appreciate him. He will be sorely missed at the First Baptist Church where he served as church treasurer for many years. I know he is already missed at the local coffee shop where the group went every morning for a jam session. Also the golf course guys will miss him as he was a regular there. Last, but not least, he was a very good husband and father to Hazel, Willard and Sarah. We are sorry.

Jean Hale and her son Dusty of Austin came in Friday and spent the weekend with Jean's mother Irene Kidd and went to Lubbock for the Texas and Texas Tech ball game. As you know Jean has special accommodations at the games, a reserved seat and so on because she is married to Coach Clovis Hale who is on the coaching staff at Texas University, not bad for an ex-Loraine Bulldog is it?

Jean visited her mother-in-law,

Punch Hale in a Colorado City nursing home. She was ill over the weekend. Clovis came down from Lubbock to see her. She was some better when the Hales went back to Austin.

The Bob Neelys of Houston were here with his mother, Mattie Neely for Woodrow's funeral.

Also the Jay Neelys of Las Vegas also Phil Zelman, a grandson came, Ross Pratt and family and another grandson was also on hand. Also Jane, Mary Lee and Russell Coffee who you all know as they all grew up here. They are Mary Coffee's kids. Jenny's daughter Dorothy Jean Phillips and family. Also Mattie Neely's granddaughter Leonard and Kathreen Zigil of Albuquerque.

Jack and Reva Mayes of Dallas who is Hazel's brother were here. I am sure there are several I did not remember being here, but most of these people grew up in Loraine so I thought you who live away would like to hear indirectly of them.

We also lost a very good citizen in Ted Lefevre. I don't know about arrangements yet but if I did it would be over by the time you read this as I write on Tuesday and you read it, if you do, in the Thursday's paper. Anyway, Lula, Lela and Neysa and families, we are so sorry. If I'm not mistaken Ted and Lula, had been married 64 years. I will finish this next week.

Well, deer season got underway last Saturday and several guys from our town went to Spade Ranch in the afternoon and some spent the night, but I didn't talk to anyone who got a deer, but then I am sure someone did.

My kids, that is Maylon and Stacy were out there but I don't know anything about them either, except they had a sack of deer feed in my carport and it was gone when we got up.

Ronald and Nelda Bruce are back from a vacation to the Big Bend country and other places of interest. They enjoyed the sightseeing since they had never been down there.

Today is election day. I hope everything turns out okay and the people who should have the jobs get elected. I know my vote is a drop in the bucket, but I am so head strong I am gonna have my say and most of the time it doesn't help anyone, but I've had my say.

I saw Marnie May the other day and was glad to see her. Of course I see her different places in Colorado City, but seldom close enough to speak.

Our high school kids lost their ball game last week. We hope they will tighten their belts and give it a good try Friday night. We will be there for you and hope you win or make a good showing.

Over in my end of town they have a pep rally everytime UT plays on TV, maybe on radio. One group meets at Rick and Gloria's. Another group meets with Irene Kidd if any of her kids come home. I heard this little story that the day we had LHS homecoming the UT folks from Rick's and from Irene's all went out in the street to let the cars going and coming know UT won with their hook-em horns sign, little kids and big kids alike. Here tell Jean, Barbara, Bill and others down to Ryan size were in the rally. Proves we are all kids at heart.

...by Lois Phillips

I see Bill Scarber every now and then as Contel is working in our area: I always enjoy visiting with my ex-neighbor. Bill is Sharon Green's father if you didn't know.

I have just been up at school and they tell me there is a bunch of people stopped up and can't breathe very well, some vomiting, others with fever. Saw Jory Martin's mother taking him home. I hope this isn't too wide spread and that teachers and kids soon feel better.

We had our regular fire meeting last night and discussed the Christmas party which will be in the Senior Citizens building December 3 at 7 p.m. We nearly always have a good crowd cause that's when we get paid. If you decide not to come, I'll collect your money for you and spend it before you know where it was. See you there.

I guess we are in for more bad weather which we can do nothing about. Farmers, I am sorry you can get gathered what you have made but maybe in a few days it will clear up and it will all look better. Hope so.

I really do appreciate the people who furnished cars and picked up people last week for the revival but I am not the only one. I guess everyone does. Thanks, it was very nice of all of you. I don't know who all went out so can't tell you.

Bulldogs lose district match to Borden County

Last Friday night, November 2, the Loraine Bulldogs lost district win number two against Borden County by a score of 40-18.

Although the Bulldogs still have a chance of going into the play-offs, Friday night's loss will have a lasting affect on the Bulldogs.

The main cause in the loss is the fact that the Bulldogs had three touchdowns called back. One for a clipping penalty, one on a confused call about the advancement of a fumble, and another on an illegal block on a punt return.

The TDs that did account for the 18 points came from two passes caught by James Lopez from QB David Madrid. The other came from RB Anthony Williams.

"I don't want to take anything away from Borden County, they're a good ball club," commented a disappointed Coach Bob Loy.

"I thought we did a great job, and we will have to win to have a shot at the play-offs," he added.

If the Bulldogs win Friday, there could be a three-way tie for third place between Trent, Ira, and Loraine. If this occurs, a toss of the coin will determine who goes to the state play-offs.

As the Bulldogs look towards Ira in the final regular season game, Coach Loy believes that the defense will have to stop 6'7" James Sturdivant.

"He is there only real go to guy," said Loy, "if we can stop him, we have a good chance of winning."

If consistency is the big plus for the Bulldogs, a toss of the coin will then decide their fate.

Kick-off time is at 7:30 p.m. in Loraine.

THANK YOU!

My heartfelt thanks is extended to everyone who supported me in my election campaign for Mitchell County Judge. A special thank you goes to all those dedicated volunteers who spent so much time and effort on my behalf.

Mrs. Lewis gives program to extension homemakers

The Fairview Extension Homemakers Club met Oct. 25 at the home of Fleta Lewis who presented a program on spinning and weaving.

Mrs. Lewis raises lambs and goats and uses their wool to spin her yarn. She told club members about the various colors the yarn can be dyed and how these colors are obtained naturally. She showed how flax is processed to make linen and also showed the silk worm cocoon from which silk is obtained.

The club members enjoyed the program and appreciate Mrs. Lewis showing how our ancestors used to make yarn. It is nice to know someone is carrying on the tradition.

Club members then met at Southwest Savings and Loan Community Room for their business meeting. Billie Smith called the meeting to order with six members present. D'Dee Morris led the club prayer. Sherry Autry then gave the secretary/treasurer's reports. Mrs. Morris reported the results of the club's concession at the annual Railroad Arts and Crafts Fair. The annual club Christmas luncheon was discussed.

CHS upsets Owls, 17-14

In one of the most well executed football games of the season, the Colorado City Wolves literally took it the Reagan County Owls in the 17-14 victory on November 2.

With a cool, stiff breeze, the Wolf Pack mounted a second drive at their own 33. On a third down and long situation, QB Robbie Smith hit TE Jason Lawson coming across the middle for a 12 yard reception.

First down and ten from midfield, and the Wolves were running a ball controlled offensive game which moved the ball to the Owl 10. On fourth down, the foot of R. Smith gave the Wolves a 3-0 lead which capped off a 67 yard drive.

On the ensuing kick-off, the Owls were trapped deep on their side of the field. Already having stopped the Reagan County offense once before, the motivated Wolf defense forced a turnover and recovered the football at the Owl 6.

Moving into the second quarter, FB Bobby Silva helped move the ball to the 1 yardline. On the next play, R. Smith kept the oblong, pig-skin ball and scored on an option play with 11:01 to go in the half. The PAT was good for the 10-0 lead.

Receiving a bouncing kick, the Owls downed the ball at their own 30. Two plays later, RB Allen Strambler took a pitch 65 yards down the sideline outrunning the Wolf pursuit for paydirt.

Trailing 10-6, the Owl offense went for the 2-point conversion, but failed to get to the line of scrimmage as FB Jackie Hill was stopped on the pitch.

On the Wolves' kick-off, the offense began to "milk" the clock as the half was approaching.

With less than four minutes remaining, the Owl defense stopped the Pack's offense and went to work from their own 33.

With time running out, the Owl offense, behind strong running, worked the ball to the Wolf 7; however, a pumped up defense came up with one of several "huge" plays and got the goal line stance in the last seconds of the half.

Coming back from the half, neither offense could get rolling in the third because of two stingy defenses. The big key for the Wolves was the fact that the defense held the Owl offense with the wind at their backs.

Yet early in the fourth, the Wolf offense broke the defensive front and began to utilize their the wind and their momentum.

On consecutive runs by RB

Kevin Green and B. Silva, the Wolf offense was at the Owl 26. R. Smith then dropped back to pass and found Jeremy Strain on the sideline for a 13 yard pick-up.

That catch set up the Pack's next score which came on a 13 yard, over the shoulder grab by George Ramsey from R. Smith. With the reception, the Wolves had a 7 point lead with 8:12 to go in the contest.

The Owls were under pressure and immediately went to the air. On a few unsuccessful plays, the big pass came in a massive chunk as QB Jason Kohutiek bombed a pass to Jason Williams for a 45 yard catch. From the Wolf 14, the Owls scored three plays later as Hill got the call from the 1. The 2-point conversion was good as Hill burst through the line for a 14-17 game.

As the Wolf tried to run out the clock, the Pack suffered a miscue which gave the Owls the ball at their own 37.

Although the Owls had one more break, the Wolf secondary crew answered the call, but coming up with the interception for the Wolves was LB Mark Smith to seal the victory, 17-14.

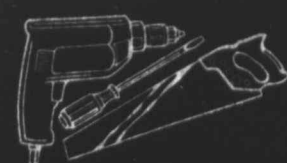

The Wolves improve to 2-2 as Reagan County dropped to 1-3.

"The turning points for us were the goal line stance before the half and holding our ground in the third when he had to go against the wind," commented a highly proud Coach Tom Ramsey after Friday night's win.

Wolves face Greenwood

Coming off a fabulous victory over Reagan County, the Colorado City Wolves will attempt to win the final game of the season tomorrow night against the Midland-Greenwood Rangers.

The only thing riding on tomorrow night's agenda, a chance to share a district runner-up title with a little luck.

First and foremost, the Wolves will need the win, but the luck will have to come from Crane who need to beat Sonora. That should be the result, but one never knows in high school sports.

As for the Wolves, the challenge in the final game will be a dandy. Again, the Pack is physically out-sized and slower, but...the Wolves are playing on emotion which no team should be able to handle.

"Their outstanding athlete is their quarterback," said Coach Tom Ramsey, "we'll have to really watch him."

As for the Ranger offense, they are geared up in a wishbone attack behind QB Cody Mebane who loves to run the ball. Occasionally, the ball will go into the air if needed.

In last week's loss, the Rangers gave up the most points of the season in the 25-21 loss against Sonora.

The two big keys for a Wolf victory and as Coach Ramsey goes for career win 97 this Friday night is to capitalize on any Ranger turnovers and no mental mistakes.

TELCOT[®] Report

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

For The Week Ending November 1

After several days of rumors, confirmation of a large-volume sale of U.S. cotton to China was announced early Wednesday, October 31. W.B. Dunavant, Jr. told Knight-Ridder Financial News that his company, Dunavant Enterprises, Inc., had signed contracts with a Chinese trade delegation in Memphis Tuesday morning covering more than 500,000 bales.

Sources estimated the value of the sale at $200 million, making it possibly the world's largest cotton deal. They also said the contract calls for Texas/Oklahoma cotton along with some Delta and California growths. With delivery scheduled for November to February, sources expect strong nearby demand for West Texas and Oklahoma crops. They add that the schedule will put pressure on area warehouses and transportation systems.

Market reaction following the announcement appeared mixed as New York's December futures contract closed up only 11 points at 75.03 and March dropped two points from the previous close, settling at 74.95 on October 31. The previous day, December closed down 62 points and March was down 16 points following a surge on Monday, October 29 when December was up 128 points closing at 75.54 and March was up 103 points closing at 75.13. The November 1 close saw December futures fall to 74.79, down 24 points and March drop to 74.80, down 15.

Analysts surmised the market may have already accounted for the sale to some extent, leaving little excuse for a significant move. Strength in the market on October 29 probably was a result of aggressive spot market activity, another symptom of the generally tight supply situation. Other concerns continue to center on the quality of the Delta crop following late-season rains.

The Chinese purchase overshadowed Japanese market activity during the week. Japanese spinners bought approximately 25,000 bales, mostly from the U.S., for January through March delivery, according to sources in Tokyo on October 30. The volume may have been tempered by rumors that China was ready to export cotton to Japan. The rumor apparently was confirmed on November 1 when sources in Tokyo and Hong Kong said Japan had purchased approximately 45,000 bales of China's "high grade cotton." Sources told Knight-Ridder Financial News that the cotton was sold for slightly more than 85 cents per pound. They said the price was boosted by higher cotton futures in New York and rumors of the impending Chinese purchase of U.S. cotton.

Cotton harvest in the top 14 producing states reached 55 percent as of October 28. This compares to 28 percent at the same time last year and the average of 48 percent. U.S. Commerce Department figures show 4.7 million bales had been ginned by October 15. Of that, 2.7 million bales were Delta cotton, 951,243 Southwest, 562,474 Far West and 549,147 Southeast.

USDA reported 1.27 million bales were classed during the week ending October 25, bringing the season's total to 5.81 million. Cotton loan entries for the week ended October 24 rose 71,863 running bales for the 1990-91 marketing year, with outstanding upland loan entries now at 196,879 bales for the season, according to USDA.

TELCOT trading for Friday, October 26 through Thursday, November 1 totaled 37,538 bales, more than doubling the previous week's total of 17,678 bales. Bales under firm offer on November 1 was 20,504. The adjusted world price effective through November 8 is 67.11 cents per pound, adjusted to U.S. location and base quality, according to USDA.
