BANK BANDIT AND OFFICER KILLED IN BATTLE

Death Strikes Swiftly As G.W. Peckham And Mrs. Leon C. Taylor Succumb

ATTACKS CLAIM FOUR VICTIMS IN FOUR DAYS

Peckham Falls Dead as He Steps From Elevator In Wichita Club

WOMAN ALSO DIES

Mrs. Taylor Dies Few Hours After Attacks Early Thursday

Two prominent citizens of Wichita Falls, one a pioneer and the other a resident for more than 10 years, succumbed to sudden attacks Thursday afternoon within a period of two hours.

G. W. Peckham, 46, 3200 Peckham street, well known oil operator and real estate man, dropped dead as he stepped from an elevator into the Wichita club atop the Hamilton building about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Leon C. Taylor, 32, 2209 Tajunar lane, wife of a pioneer real estate operator and herself a native of Wichita Falls, died about 1:40 o'clock Thursday afternoon after a physician and a nurse had worked desperately to save her life for more than four hours. Death came while she was visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Harpin, 2209 Buchanan street, life-long friends of her family.

Physicians gave coronary thrombois, a disease of the heart, as the cause of Mr. Peckham's death. He was dead when the first person reached his side, it was said. Mrs. Taylor died as a result of apoplexy physicians stated. She suffered the attack about 9:15 Thursday morning when she became unconscious. She did not regain consciousness and died shortly before 2 p. m.

Four Stricken Here

The two attacks Thursday marked the fourth sudden death in Wichita Falls within the past four days, Dan Hardy, a pioneer business man having dropped dead in his home late Tuesday night, and B. T. Griffin, local plumber, having succumbed to apoplexy late Monday afternoon.

Mr. Peckham, who apparently was in good health as he rode upward in the Hamilton building elevator, crumpled to the floor im-

Suspension of Houston School Child Reversed

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—The method used by Houston school authorities in suspending the daughter of P. W. Bishop for violation of a lunch-room ruling cannot be sustained under the compulsory education statute, the first court of civil appeals held today in reversing and remanding the verdict of the trial court which had upheld the suspension of the child.

Hearing rumors that school children who frequented certain lunchrooms in the vicinity of the school played games of chance and drank liquor, school authorities forbade children to go to those rooms. It was this ruling Bishop's daughter is said to have violated with consequent suspension.

Governor Moody Issues Red Cross Proclamation

AUSTIN, Nov. 7, (INS)—A proclamation issued by Gov. Dan Moody today designated the period between Armistice day and Thanksgiving day as the annual roll call period for the American Red Cross.

During the fiscal period last year 856,000 people were given aid through the efforts of the organization, the governor declared in his proclamation, urging Texas citizens to rally to the support of the society.

Body of Former Wichitan Taken From Gulf Waters

Remains of J. C. Brim Raised to Surface With Big Dynamite Charge After Five Days' Efforts

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—After a five-day search, the body of J. C. Brim, 30, of San Antonio, who was drowned Saturday night in Aransas bay off Fulton, was brought to the surface late this afternoon.

Brim and Clifford West, 27, also from San Antonio, were drowned when their boat capsized a mile off shore. Lieut. James B. Flannery, Brooks field aviator, swam ashore to bring aid, but the men were gone from the overturned boat when he returned.

Twenty sticks of dynamite were used this afternoon to bring the body to the surface.

West's body was found Sunday morning near the pier from which the three started their fishing trip. Brim's body was found midway between the pier and the place where the boat capsized.

Airplanes and boats have scoured the bay near Fulton and Rockport for the past five days searching for the body.

BRIM FORMERLY SALESMAN HERE

Joseph C. Brim, whose body was found Thursday after a five-day search of the waters of Aransas bay near Rockport where he and a companion drowned Saturday night, was a former Wichita Falls man and had left this city only a few months previous to his death.

He came to Wichita Falls in March, 1928, and was connected with a Fort Worth wholesale grocery concern. Leaving here in February of this year, he moved to San Antonio where he became connected with a Chicago wholesale grocery firm. He was a resident of that city at the time of his death. He came to Wichita Falls from Frederick, Okla., where he was a prominent member of several Masonic bodies and where he had many friends.

The father of Mrs. Brim, Mr. Zachery of Vernon, was in Corpus Christi during the search for the body, having gone there immediately upon receipt of a telegram from his daughter.

'Arizona Bill' Sent to Hospital in Mixup With Three Donkeys

GONZALES, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—Arizona Bill, 83, sometimes known more formally as Roy E. Gardner, who is trekking from California to Florida via the Old Spanish trail, got into a mixup a few nights ago with his three donkeys, Dynamite, Tipperary and Salome. But thought nothing about it. Tonight he is in a Gonzales hospital nursing two broken ribs and divers bruises.

The American Legion post took charge of the old timer when he limped into Gonzales, quite apparently just able to walk. Local legionnaires feel that Arizona Bill has already repaid them the hospital bill by his tales of experiences as a United States scout and Texas ranger.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER DECLINE

Early Selling Rush Dips Market to Low Level

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market struck a new bottom today when a couple of million shares of distress stock was thrown overboard at the opening, and then staged one of the most spectacular rallies in recent market history.

Early declines of 35 to $15 a share in many of the leaders were wiped out, and converted into gains which ran from $1 to nearly $18 a share. Recoveries in the general list were not so pronounced as nearly 500 stocks, or about half of those traded in, closed with net declines, the large majority of which ranged from a few cents to $2 a share.

Rush at Opening

Blocks of 5,000 to 75,000 shares were dumped "at the market" as soon as the opening gong had sounded, with the result that nearly 2,500,000 shares changed hands in the first half hour. The ticker fell steadily behind, and was exactly two hours late in printing the final quotation.

Total sales for the abbreviated three-hour session on the New York stock exchange were 7,184,000 shares, or at the rate of nearly 12,000,000 shares for a full five-hour day, which compares with 5,914,760 shares in yesterday's short session.

Evidence of the tremendous liquidation of speculative holdings that has taken place in the past week was furnished, after the close of the market, in the weekly federal reserve report of brokers' loans which showed a reduction of $656,000,000, following a decline of $1,096,000,000 the week before. This brings the total down to $4,882,000,000, the lowest since Oct. 24, 1928.

Street More Cheerful

Wall street, which has been suffering from a bad case of nerves as a result of the violent declines that have taken place since Monday and forced many of the leaders to new low levels on the current reaction, if not for the year, was in a much more cheerful frame of mind when the market closed at 1

Shawnee Man, Found Sane, Faces Charges

TECUMSEH, Okla., Nov. 7. (AP)—Arthur L. Fauble, Shawnee wholesaler, was pronounced sane late today by a sanity commission composed of Dr. G. S. Baxter, Dr. J. M. Byrum, and Jack Bradley, county judge, and 10 charges of attempted extortion were filed against him immediately by Randall Pitman, county attorney.

Weatherford Quiet After Murder Jury Acquits Hamilton

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—This city, the county seat of Parker county, which for the past 10 days was the scene of one of Texas' most celebrated murder trials, today had returned to routines of every-day-life.

Very little was evident of the large array of attorneys and witnesses that came to Weatherford more than a week ago for the trial of R. H. Hamilton, acquitted by a jury last night of slaying his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr.

The defendant, accompanied by members of his family, left Weatherford early today, supposedly for his home in Amarillo. He announced he would continue the practice of law there.

Dry Agent Sold Booze, Is Prosecutor's Claim

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (US)—A federal dry agent who could be either wet or dry tonight was receiving a taste of his own medicine.

The agent, William Payne, 30, was testifying against an alleged violator of the prohibition act today when, suddenly, United States Commissioner Walker, ordered the case dismissed and turned Payne over to a United States marshal. Later Assistant United States Attorney Daniel Anderson, said: "It was a case of buying his booze or being arrested by him. He and one Arthur Stuart have been using their badges to sell their liquor."

Horse Racing Expert Dies at Dallas Hotel

DALLAS, Nov. 7. (US)—J. L. Dempsey, 60, widely known horse racing authority of New Orleans, died in his room at a local hotel today. He had come here for the inaugural racing season at Arlington Downs, although ill. Death was reported due to heart's disease.

'ROUGH-HOUSE' BANK BANDITS GET $105,000

Robber Slugs Cashier When Official Sets Burglar Alarm Going

CAR REPORTED SEEN

All Roads Guarded as Officers Seek Trace of Big Black Sedan

JEFFERSON, Wis., Nov. 7. (AP)—Five men held up the Farmers and Merchants bank of Jefferson today and escaped with $105,000 in cash and securities. The loss was covered by insurance.

After slugging the cashier and firing two shots into the floor, the men sped east out of town. Sounding the burglar alarm failed to attract the attention of citizens. It had been ringing almost daily because of mechanical faults.

Although a check-up of the loot obtained will not be complete until tomorrow, bank officials believe $105,000 is correct. Of this $8,400 is in cash, $28,000 in negotiable liberty bonds and the remainder in non-negotiable securities. The bank had more than $240,000 insurance.

Roads Under Guard

All main roads in Wisconsin were under guard as county authorities watched for the robbers. They were reported seen at Hebron, a small town south of here, heading toward Illinois. Their black sedan bore, according to witnesses, an Iowa or Ohio license.

Only four persons were in the bank, during the noon hour, as the robbers drove up. One man remained on guard on the sidewalk while the other four entered. Charles Owen, a manufacturer, was looking into the bank window. The men seized him and bundled him inside before he could cry out. He and two assistant cashiers, W. S. Kispert and Frederick Bulwinkel, Lucille Langer, a clerk, and Leonard Vogel, a merchant, were ordered to lie down.

While two men guarded them the others scooped up the cash and securities in the cages and vault.

Alarm Brings Shots

When Kispert touched off the burglar alarm, one of the men fired twice. Kispert then was slugged with a gun and injured. As he raised himself on one elbow and groaned, the robber leveled his gun at him and said: "One more groan and it will be your last."

As the robbers dashed to their car, and sped away, several witnesses said they saw what appeared to be a machine gun in the machine.

The man who might have averted the robbery was powerless to do anything. He was Joseph Statz, the next door grocer.

"I knew something was wrong," Statz said, "but I was all alone. The fellow on the sidewalk kept walking up and down and watching me. When the alarm rang I was sure it was a robbery."

Southern Cities Seek New Air Line Routing

HOUSTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—Representatives from nine southern cities mapped out plans for a whirlwind campaign to secure the routing of an all-southern transcontinental air mail line at a conference here today.

Special efforts were made to induce Assistant Postmaster General Irwin Glover to make a personal survey of the all-southern route from Mobile to El Paso, via New Orleans, Lake Charles, Houston and San Antonio.

Doctors Give Advice Via Telephone for Dollar

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Nov. 7. (US)—When physicians announced today that they were prepared to give medical advice over the telephone at a charge of $1, they were not inaugurating a new service. The move was simply one to cut off free advice.

Dr. H. F. Hart, prominent Peekskill practitioner and mayor of the town, declared that physicians were being imposed upon and the action was a step toward self-protection.

Continuance Granted In Lester Slaying Trial

LUBBOCK, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—A motion for a continuance in the trial of Clay Lester, charged with slaying his wife, was granted here today by Judge Clark M. Mullican. The case was reset for Dec. 2. The motion was filed by the defense because of the absence of important witnesses.

Several days ago Judge Mullican refused to send the case to another county on a change of venue motion.

Jenkins Succeeds Dildy As Medical Ass'n Head

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Nov. 7. (UP)—Dr. D. J. Jenkins of Daingerfield, a practicing physician for 40 years, today was chosen by the council of the Texas Medical association as president of the organization, succeeding Dr. J. E. Dildy, who died suddenly Tuesday night.

Members of the council were here today to attend the funeral services for Doctor Dildy.

Chicago Scion's Alimony Bills Reach $1,000,000

FLOWER SHOW OPENS TODAY

Parade at Noon to Inaugurate Annual Fiesta

Starting the fourth annual flower show of the Woman's Forum at the Fritz Motor building, a parade headed by a car entirely covered with yellow chrysanthemums and bearing on the windshield, spelled out in flowers the words "Spanish Fiesta," will go through the streets of the city at noon Friday. Marching with the 14 cars full of senoritas in Spanish costume, will be the Playground band, with their director, Paul Seeds. A fire truck will have its place, carrying Spanish flags and covered with bunting in Spanish colors.

Elaborate Decorations

From a simple beginning, the flower show has become one of the biggest annual events of the city. Sponsored by the women of the forum, the merchants of the city have entered in it wholeheartedly, endeavoring to make it an outstanding event in Texas and southern Oklahoma. Fritz Motor company furnishes the space each year.

The display building has been transformed into a fairyland. In the show room, yellow paper moss covers and drips from the entire ceiling. In the back room vari-colored lights shine out from the same moss. More than 100 of the women have given their time for days, arranging this decoration.

Every booth is decorated in yellow and orange. Two fortune telling booths wait to mystify and en-

Once Gay Clubman 'Broke' After Three Divorces Flatten Wallet

Gordon Thorne's First Trio of Wives Win Alimonies Along With Decrees; Fourth Stays

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (AP)—Gordon Thorne's affairs of the heart have been affairs of the pocketbook, too.

Although the heir to a mail order house fortune with an income of $6,000 a month, the gay clubman is "broke," his attorney told a judge hearing alimony claims of two former Mrs. Thornes. Thorne is said to have spent $1,000,000 on alimony to three ex-wives.

Married Four Times

Four times Thorne has gone to the altar with as many different women. Three times there have been subsequent actions in divorce courts.

Once Thorne made the front pages when Mary Lygo, a chorus girl, slashed her wrists, saying that Gordon had "stood her up." Later she claimed breach of promise, and accused Gordon's mother of turning her son's course from a wedding.

Thorne's marital troubles reached the alimony stage in 1921 when Virginia Milner Thorne obtained a divorce. The court thought $750 would be right for her. She thought so, too, but believed the check should arrive every month. Thorne according to her arithmetic, is behind $4,000 and desires to have him in court for contempt.

Balm in Bulk

Helen Meginnis became Mrs. Thorne in 1922 and ex-Mrs. Thorne in 1925. Her balm was in bulk, $100,000.

Anne Clore married Thorne, subsequently joining the lengthening line of ex-wives. Thorne was behind $22,000, her books showed, when she called upon the judge.

Outside the courtroom the books were adjusted to her satisfaction. Anne Clore Thorne became Mrs. Anne Clore Thorne Hutchins.

The fourth Mrs. Thorne still is Mrs. Thorne.

Corsicana Cops Hunt Man Who Robbed Women

CORSICANA, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—Officers today were seeking a white man who last night robbed Mrs. R. L. Walling, Miss Bobbie Walling and Mrs. H. W. Carson, all of Corsicana, of between $1,500 and $2,000 in jewelry as they were returning home from Fort Worth in an automobile. The holdup occurred near Palmer. Mrs. Carson was struck by the man when she attempted to resist his approach.

Rites for Duncan Flat Pioneer Are Held

Special to The Record News.

SPUR, Texas, Nov. 7.—Funeral services for W. J. Duncan, 88-year-old veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic who died at his home in the Duncan Flat community near here, were held today. Mr. Duncan had resided in Texas since 1890. He is survived by three sons and three daughters.

BOYLE ISSUES LOYALTY CALL

San Antonio Leader Asks Demos to Rally

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)—Texas Democrats should follow the lead of Virginia and fight the next state political battle along strictly party lines in an effort to retrieve the commonwealth for the party of its fathers, John Boyle of San Antonio believes.

Boyle, leader of the forces in Texas that remained loyal and voted for the Democratic presidential nominee, former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, declared here today that so far there is not an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor that the loyal Democrats can pin their hopes to with any confidence of success.

"We must entirely and completely remove the religious issue from the coming campaign and make it one of party survival strictly," Boyle said. "To do this we must get behind an outstanding Texan who stood by the Democratic party in its trying days last fall and to whose candidacy cannot be attached in the slightest degree any religious interest."

He believes in strict party discipline and is advocating the barring from the next primaries those who bolted the Democratic nominees and voted for Herbert Hoover for president. Neither as voters nor candidates, should they be permitted to have a choice in the affairs of the party they turned against after having participated in its primaries and conventions and had a voice in selecting its nominees, he said.

"I think more of the Democratic party than I do of any candidate,"

Aged Couples Re-Enact Triple Wedding of Half Century Ago

ELLSWORTH, Wis., Nov. 7. (AP)—Violins throbbed softly, a male quartet crooned old love songs, a woman's song stabbed heartstrings as six old people yesterday re-enacted anniversary ceremonies in commemoration of their triple wedding 50 years ago.

George Krauss, 74, and his wife, 69; Henry Huber, 77, and his wife, 68, and Mark Sanderson, 75, and his wife, 69, renewed their vows while their children, grandchildren and friends stood by.

Fifty years ago—one couple in a new top buggy, another on the front seat of a rattling spring wagon and the third bouncing in the back of the wagon they drove to Baldwin, Wis., where the preacher was waiting.

Ellsworth closed stores and banks as the triple golden anniversary was celebrated. Farmers drove miles to congratulate their friends. The town hall, banked with flowers and permeated with music, was crowded as the minister repeated the words that 50 years ago awoke new thoughts and new ideals in six young minds.

It's all a question of compromise, not being too inquisitive into the secret recesses of your mates' hearts, good home cooking—yes—and children. That was the formula all gave for their happiness.

TWO DIE WHEN POLICE INVADE OUTLAW'S LAIR

Seminole Copper and Robbery Suspect Victims In Gun Fight

BANDIT OPENS FIRE

Slain Man's Companion Returns Volley When Shooting Begins

SEMINOLE, Okla., Nov. 7. (UP)—Two men, a Seminole policeman and a bank robber suspect, were killed here tonight in a gun fight during a raid by officers upon an alleged outlaw's nest.

Jim Kiersey, 40, was shot and killed by Owen Edwards, suspected of bank robbery. Owens, in turn, was shot down by Claude Cuyler, state officer.

Companions Escape

The shooting occurred in a secluded oil field two miles from Harjo, Okla., between the towns of Earlsboro and Maud.

Two companions of the slain bandit suspect, a man and a woman, escaped.

The suspects were wanted in connection with the bank robberies at Prague and Hendricks, Okla., two months ago.

The raiding party consisted of Kiersey, Cuyler, Jake Sims, Seminole chief of police, and George Hall, Seminole county sheriff.

Sims and Hall went to the front door of the rendesvous while Kiersey and Cuyler stepped to the rear.

Edwards Opens Fire

As Sims knocked on the front entrance, Edwards, the suspect opened the back door and began shooting at Kiersey, who fell mortally wounded. Cuyler returned the suspect's fire, killing him, but was unable to stop the escape of his accomplices.

Kiersey is survived by his widow and three children, of Durant, Okla., his former home.

Within a few minutes after news of the fight, a relief fund for Kiersey's family was solicited by the Seminole Daily Producer, local newspaper, and the wealth of this oil town responded immediately. Several hundred dollars were taken in tonight.

TWO WICHITANS DIE SUDDENLY

Mrs. Leon C. Taylor and G. W. Peckham Succumb

mediately after stepping out of the elevator door. All efforts to revive him failed. The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company. Funeral arrangements will be made sometime Friday.

Mr. Peckham was a native of Texas, having been born in Throckmorton in 1883. His father, Judge W. H. Peckham, was a well-known lawyer in Fort Worth for many years. Mr. Peckham moved to Kansas City where he remained in business for about 10 years and then moved to Wichita Falls about 1918. He married Mrs. Peckham in this city and has been actively interested in the oil business and in real estate operations since coming here. At the time of his death he was associated with his brother, W. H. Peckham, in the oil business and with J. T. Harrell and J. A. Kemp in real estate. The Marlborough addition to Wichita Falls was one of his holdings.

Oil Interests

At various times he had been associated with B. L. Fain and with C. P. Burton in oil interests. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Robert, 21, who is at present a student in the University of Texas, George, 9, and William 7; three brothers, Walter Peckham of Houston, Frank Peckham of Stamford and W. H. Peckham of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Roy Knepper of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Taylor had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harpin Thursday morning. She had been laughing and joking and apparently in the best of health, according to Mrs. Harpin. Suddenly, about 9:15 o'clock, she broke off abruptly and screamed, grasping her head between her hands. Mr. and Mrs. Harpin rushed to her side. Mrs. Taylor assenting when Mrs. Harpin asked if she would like to take an aspirin. Meanwhile the stricken woman rose from her chair and attempted to reach the telephone to call her husband.

She never reached the instrument, Mrs. Harpin said. As she started to fall, Mr. Harpin caught her and carried her to a bed. She was unconscious. A physician and a nurse were called immediately, but efforts to revive her failed in spite of constant administration up until the time of her death, about 1:40 o'clock.

Native of Wichita Falls

Mrs. Taylor was a native of Wichita Falls, having been born here in 1897. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cloud, both of whom are dead, were pioneers of the region. Mr. Cloud formerly owned the old Busy Bee building, where a new structure now stands. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor grew up together in Wichita Falls, her husband having moved to this city when he was about 10 years old.

She was a member of Faith chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and was also a member of the Daughters of the Nile, having been active in the work of both organizations. She owned the Cinderella Hat shop on Indiana avenue until last May, when she sold to another concern, and had been connected with the shop until about a month ago.

Survivors include her husband, one daughter, Evelyn, 14; two sisters, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, 2103 Berkeley drive, and Miss Thelma Cloud of Wink, Texas; and one brother, Grover Cloud, also of Wink.

The body of Mrs. Taylor was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary. Funeral arrangements will be made some time Friday.

$23 FISH

Wichitan Fined Second Time for Selling Lake Catch

Sold, one catfish. Total cost $23.

The price of catfish in Lake Wichita is growing by leaps and bounds, especially when the transactions are brought to completion in justice court. For the second time within the past week, a man was caught selling fish by E. A. Preskitt, game warden at Lake Wichita. The sale Thursday consisted of a lone catfish but the man was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $23, when he was brought before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace. He pleaded guilty to the offense, received a severe reprimand and was released on payment of the fine.

Flower Show To Open Friday Noon

tertain both old and young. The Spanish tea room, where maids in Spanish costume serve Spanish food, and deign to offer home made pies and cakes, will be open from noon to 11 p. m. on Friday and Saturday. String instruments will furnish music during the luncheon hour.

In the afternoon, from 2 to 3 o'clock each day, KGKO Bluebirds will furnish music down stairs, and adding to the afternoon entertainment, two imported professional Spanish dancers will perform.

There are booths for candy, cold drinks, ice cream, cakes and pies. A curio shop will hold antiques of many kinds. A bazaar will offer many pretty articles for sale that will be suitable for Christmas gifts

Auction of Merchandise

Merchandise from the manufacturer's booth, donated by local merchants, will be auctioned off each night on the dance floor up stairs.

The flower show has grown into a flower garden filling an entire end of the room. Every florist of the city has given generously and out-of-town exhibits are shown in beautiful profusion.

One new feature of the 1929 fiesta is the children's booth. And one thing there that will appeal to all the children and to children's mothers is the Christmas tree that has been hung with lollipop dolls, gaily dressed in brilliant colors.

In the evening of each day a frolic and dance will be given upstairs. The dance is sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce and participating in the frolic are the outstanding artists of the city who have given generously of their talent and time.

Funeral Services For J. J. Simon Held

Funeral services for J. J. Simon, 68, pioneer business man of Wichita Falls, who was found dead in a room of his house, 1817 Tenth street, early Tuesday morning, were held from the Grace Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. T. S. Pittenger of El Reno, Okla., a former pastor of the Grace Methodist church here, officiating. Interment was in Riverside under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

Active pallbearers were J. S. Bridwell, E. F. Gaston, O. F. Marchman, H. J. Anderson, T. H. Peery and C. D. Shamburger.

A quartet composed of H. J. Hunter, R. C. Carey, Mrs. W. W. Sherrill and Mrs. I. W. Karrenbrock, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Cole, sang during the services.

HAWES RAKES SHEPPARD PLAN

'Wet' Missouri Senator in Vitriolic Address

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—The effort to brand liquor purchasers criminals was denounced to a national radio audience tonight by Senator Harry Hawes as "a frank confession that prohibition under the present law has measurably failed."

The Missouri Democrat's vitriolic address was in answer to one in defense of the proposed amendment last week by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, its sponsor, who wrote the prohibition amendment. Both speeches were in the Evening Star radio forum over the Columbia system.

Attacks Dry Law

A wet, Hawes attacked the Volstead act and said because of its partial failure "we are now asked to include many millions of our people in a new criminal class, and to add to the power and immunity of the bootlegger by closing the mouths of his customers under the threat of five years' servitude in the penitentiary and a $10,000 fine for the purchase of beverage which contains more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol."

"This amendment would impede law enforcement and promote lawlessness," averred the Missourian. "It would give additional security to the bootlegger, provide a new field for the blackmailer, and create an enlarged 'gangland'."

He maintained that advocates of the Sheppard amendment should ask that it be made a constitutional amendment through a referendum and predicted "strange results" in event such a step were taken. He said bootleggers would favor the amendment "as they did in the recent Nova Scotia election."

Cites Nova Scotia

"Nova Scotia is the last of the big Canadian provinces to change from 'dry' to 'wet'," the senator continued. "For the temperance act there were 61,672 votes, and against it 56,024. For government control, however, there was the significant vote of 89,757 against 41,810."

Noting that the late Samuel Gompers and William Green, former and present leaders of the American Federation of Labor, had asked modification of the Volstead act, Hawes emphasized they derided the claim that labor's prosperity was due to the Volstead act, and asked:

"If union labor, which is nearly all concentrated in the big cities which are 'wet' in sentiment, has attracted prosperity, how about the improverished farmer in the 'dry' territory who has the sympathy of the nation and for whose assistance we have called a special session of congress?"

In answer, he said the Volstead act did not account for economic conditions. He added it had not prevented the increase in drunkenness and "did increase the underworld by adding to 'gangland,' the bootlegger."

County Offices To Close Armistice Day

The weekly meeting of the county commissioners court will be held on Tuesday instead of Monday and the majority of the offices in the county courthouse will remain closed next Monday in observance of Armistice day, it was announced Thursday.

The action of Judge P. A. Martin in directing the week's jury panel to appear Monday morning will necessitate the holding of court in the 89th district and the opening of the district clerk's office. The 78th district court will also be in session Monday. The constable's and sheriff's departments will operate with skeletonized forces and O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, and representatives of district attorney's office will be available.

Last Rites Said For Mrs. S. W. Ragland

Funeral services for Mrs. S. W. Ragland, 34, who died at the family residence, 1802 Seventh street, about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, were held from the First Baptist church at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. O. L. Powers, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Rosemont under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

Active pallbearers were Maurice Stephens, J. E. Roberts, George Lawler, Charles Smoot, E. Van Noy and Oral Staples.

Saco River Bridge Contract to Be Let

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)—G. G. Wyckline, state highway bridge engineer, said today that the contract for the construction of a bridge over the Saco river in Medina county between D'Hanis and Uvalde would be let at the meeting of the highway commission here Nov. 25-26. The bridge, located on highway 3, will cost about $40,000, Wyckline said.

D. P. WILLINGTON

D. P. Willington, 64, of Iowa Park, died in a local hospital about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The body was taken in charge by the Albert's Funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of a daughter, Mrs. O. W. Solomon, from Iowa Park Friday.

MOODY PRODS FARM BOARD

Promised Loans Needed by Farmers, He Says

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (UP)—Gov. Dan Moody today telegraphed the federal farm board calling on it to make good its promise to lend Texas farmers up to 16.35 cents per pound for their cotton.

Farmers in this state put their faith in the cotton market on the strength of that offer, the governor said, and have seen the market go down until their crop is worth from $5 to $7.59 per bale less than that.

Unless the farm board makes good its offer, farmers' confidence in it will be shaken, the governor said, declaring that it was imperative the offer be carried out.

Atwell Gives Order Of Business for Term

With 125 criminal cases pending on the docket for the federal district court opening here Nov. 18, the first three days of the court session will be devoted to trials of criminal cases, according to word received Thursday from Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas by Miss Jessie Cowan, deputy court clerk here.

Beginning with the fourth day, Nov. 21, trials of civil law cases will begin and will continue until the docket has been cleared, Judge Atwell stated. Dec. 2 will mark the calling of the equity docket.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

SOVIET UNION HAS BIRTHDAY

Anniversary Observance Is Nationwide

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Nov. 7. (AP)—Communist Russia today observed in traditional revolutionary fashion the 12th anniversary of the 1917 upheaval which ushered Bolshevism into the world and destroyed the ancient Russian government.

To bring the event closer to the hearts, if not the stomachs, of the people, the government gave bread and meat at cost price to every member of the population holding bread cards.

With the aid of millions of yards of red bunting, huge flaming placards, symbolical wooden floats, numerous speakers' stands and large portraits of Lenin, Marx and Stalin, historic red square was transformed into a mighty theatrical stage for the passing of a 12-mile long military and civilian parade led by the commander of the Moscow garrison.

Favored by perfect weather, this singing, shouting mass of humanity, carrying banners, flaming flags and chanting the internationale marched through the gate of resurrection where formerly stood the famous chapel of the Siberian virgin. Over the portals of the gates today appeared a gigantic red anti-religious placard reading: "Down with the deceit of popes! Give us books instead of religion!"

Over the slender steeples and towers of the kremlin fluttered huge red flags which, illuminated by a brilliant noonday sun, had the appearance of flaming sheets of fire. Within the shadow of Lenin's now empty wooden tomb an enormous red banner was flung to the wind reading: "Proletarians of the world! Stand under the banner of the Communist international! Forward to new battles and to new victories!"

The drone of scores of red army airplanes overheard mingled with the strains of military bands. The rumbling of dozens of military tanks and the staccato steps of marching soldiers imparted a distinctive martial touch.

Allegorical floats satirizing capitalism and imperialism and glorifying the triumph of Communism and Labor were a distinctive part of the procession which required eight hours to pass.

Letter Offers To Clear Up Bombing At San Francisco

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (INS)—Senator Schall, Republican, Minnesota, received a letter from a veteran soldier today stating he could obtain the name of the man who hurled a bomb into the preparedness parade staged in San Francisco, Calif., in 1919. He turned it over to Attorney General Mitchell.

The writer exonerated Tom Mooney, labor organizer, now serving a prison term as a result of the explosion.

Frank O. Stevens, the writer, is an inmate of the National Soldiers home at Dayton, Ohio. He declared that the man who threw the bomb died in Cleveland in 1922 after making a confession.

The letter read:

"The man that actually threw the bomb at the preparedness parade at San Francisco July 22, 1919, died about July 4, 1922, at Cleveland, Ohio. Before he died he told his sister in the presence of her husband, three sons and one daughter, all about the throwing of the bomb. These people all live in Ohio. Their affidavits are easy to procure.

"That is about all I can say to you at this time about the matter. There will not be much expense to getting affidavits; 20 gallons of gas in my old Buick will take me to their farm down on the Ohio river."

Senator Schall expects the attorney general to make an investigation of the statement.

Woman Prisoner Again Breaks Hunger Strike

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7. (UP)—Two full meals eaten by Mrs. Marilyn Suzanne Krause, had today broken her third hunger strike in an Indianapolis jail.

This time the eccentric widow capitulated without victory, after authorities had notified her that forced feeding would be resorted to today unless she ate voluntarily.

Mrs. Krause ate a meal in City hospital last night, where she had been taken from the jail.

She is held on a charge of assault and battery, filed when she attacked a pound employe with a hatchet as he entered her home to execute a court order for removal of her pet dogs and cats.

Foreign Nations to Be Invited to World's Fair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—The state department has been instructed by President Hoover to invite all foreign governments to participate in the world's fair to be held in Chicago in 1933.

The instructions were issued after the president had been advised by Rufus C. Dawes and Maj. L. R. Lohr, president and general manager, respectively, of the exposition, that Chicago had raised $5,000,000 to carry the project forward.

Congress authorized the president to invite other nations whenever Chicago had raised this amount.

Girl Scouts Consider Mrs. Hoover's Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover's suggestion of a five-year development program with a goal of 500,000 members, the raising of $3,000,000 for the work, and the Girl Scout objective of peace absorbed attention of the annual convention of girl scouts of America today.

The five-year development plan, recently promulgated by Mrs. Hoover, was explained in detail in an address by Mrs. Louis G. Myers of New York.

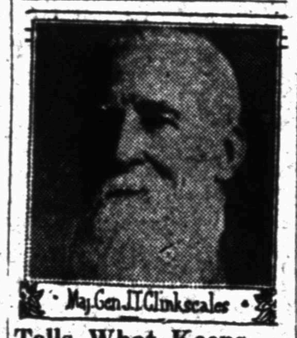

Brothers of Murdered Woman Seek Evidence

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7. (INS)—Believing that Leo "Pat" Kelley, so-called "butcher boy romeo," did not murder their sister, C. B. and G. M. Lewis, brothers of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, today asserted they would continue to seek proof tending to show Kelley's innocence.

After Kelley had been sentenced to the gallows, the state supreme court ordered the charges reduced to manslaughter.

Two Men Killed by Gravel Pit Slide

BAXTER SPRINGS, Kan., Nov. 7. (UP)—Caught in a slide in a gravel pit at Picher, Okla., six miles southeast of here, Clifford Jameson, 25, foreman, of this city, and Charles Brannon, 40, hoisterman, Picher, were killed last night. Jameson was caught in a second slide while attempting to rescue Brannon.

Maj. Gen. J. Clinkscales

Tells What Keeps Him So Active

It is doubtful if you could find a man who has more friends than Major General J. F. Clinkscales, Commander of Forrest's Cavalry, Western Division, and commander of the second division of Confederate Veterans in Texas. In telling how he keeps so active at his age, Gen. Clinkscales quickly launched into his favorite subject when seen at his home in San Antonio at 3000 So. New Braunfels Ave. "Nature's Remedy does it. When we disobey the laws of nature we must suffer. Nobody is immune. I am no different than anyone else, except that I know the minute anything goes wrong in my stomach or bowels, I take Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets)."

Any druggist will tell you that the little 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is what you need when your stomach becomes sour, bowels tight and you suffer from indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches. More than 3 million are used a day.—Adv.

ALMAZAN GETS NEW COMMAND

Hero of Revolution Given Vast Territory

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7. (AP)—Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, who drove the Escobar rebels out of Northern Mexico last spring, has been given command of the entire border from Chihuahua boundary line to Matamoros under a revision of military commands which became effective Nov. 1.

The revision gives General Almazan, expected to return from France some time this month, one of the strongest and most strategic commands in Mexico.

His territory includes in addition to the sates of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, the Tamaulipas border towns of Nuevo Laredo, Guerrero, Mier, Camargo, Reynos and Matamoros; the strategic towns of Mazapil, Concepcion de Oro and San Pedro Del Ocampo in Zacatecas, and Gomez Palacio and Lerdo in Durango.

Concepcion Del Oro is the terminal of a branch railroad to Saltillo, and Mapimi is the terminal of a branch line to Bermijillo, trunk line point for the city of Chihuahua. Gomez Palacio is about five miles from Torreon, embarking point of the railroad to Chihuahua.

Besides controlling a vast expanse of the border line, General Almazan will have charge of Monterrey, Saltillo and Torreon, three of the most important cities in northern Mexico.

Gen. Abundio Gomez, until recently sub-secretary of war, is given charge of the state of Chihuahua under the new division and Gen. Pablo Macias takes charge of Sonora. Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez remains in control of the northern section of Lower California.

Gen. Eulogio Ortiz, who headed Almazan's cavalry in the last campaign, has been given charge of the federal district here and part of the state of Mexico, and Gen. Jaime Carrillo commands the state of Durango, except for the towns placed under General Almazan, Tamaulipas, except for the border points, has been assigned to Gen. Jose Amarillas.

Co-Ed Wife Lists Woes in Counter Divorce Petition

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7. (UP)—Although her husband is a choir singer of a prominent church, he refuses to take her to church, Betty Mae Wiley, former Oklahoma A. & M. college student alleged in a cross-petition filed today against divorce action by her husband.

The two were married secretly at the college, the cross-petition relates. She lived with Wiley's parents at school after the marriage was disclosed. Since their marriage in 1927 he has slapped and abused her, the petition alleged.

"Although she is not without some spirit, she did not fight back except on one occasion, when she threw a teacup at him, but missed," the petition alleged.

Mrs. Wiley charged that although he had deserted her and the baby twice she had always taken him back but her patience never prompted him to take her to church or any social affair, she said. Wiley's petition for divorce alleged home neglect.

Moody Asks Louisiana For Texas Prisoner

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (INS)—A requisition was issued by Gov. Dan Moody today, upon the governor of Louisiana for the return of Floyd Brewer, under indictment in Winkler county for the robbery of W. E. Correll of $70 last Jan. 15. Brewer is now in custody at Shreveport.

'Super-Speeded' Sound Does Amazing Things

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. (INS)—Animated discussions were heard in scientific circles today concerning the phenomena demonstrated last night by John Bellamy Taylor, consulting engineer of the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., before a meeting of the New York Electrical society.

He demonstrated:

The transformation of a man's bass voice into a high-pitched musical jingle by bringing it within range of a photo-electric cell. This was called "super-speeded" speech.

The transmission of music along a beam of light.

The amplification of a burning match to a terrific roar.

In the demonstration of super-speeded speech, a talking film sound track of a man's voice was first reproduced at normal speed. And then at the increased speed at which the reproducing apparatus was operated. The voice came through at a higher pitch and much clearer.

However, at 100 per cent above normal the words ceased to be intelligible. At three times normal speed the voice became merely a high pitched musical phrase.

Poison Kills Inventor Of Radio Devices

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 7. (INS)—Bryan Vauchelet, 28-year-asserted poisoning, was about to be made fabulously rich by a magnetic pick-up device that had been accepted by the Radio Corporation of America, police learned today.

Kathleen Allen, a nurse, revealed the secret of Vauchelet's hitherto unexplained wealth. Miss Allen was found attending Miss Marion Moore fiancee of the inventor, prostrated by his death.

Mrs. Carrigan Tells Writers Of Caravan Journeys Here

An outstanding event of Thursday was the Writers luncheon and program, which took place at the Woman's Forum Thursday noon with the largest attendance the department has ever had at the forum clubhouse.

At a table beautifully decorated with golden and red chrysanthemums, Mrs. P. H. Neville of Henrietta began the program with a splendidly delivered pageant of music and poetry.

Mrs. C. R. Yauger read to the interested audience three lovely poems, "Beggared," "Dead Love' and "Dusk in a Quiet Street," the first two of which have been in print. Mrs. Yauger is a poet of real ability, according to all her hearers.

Mrs. C. J. Parchman of Henrietta was next on the program with one of the most unique and clever numbers ever given the department, "Snapdragon," which she illustrated cleverly.

The historical discussion, led by Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, was of particular interest. Mrs. Carrigan talked briefly and interestingly of the women who came to Wichita in caravans, telling of unknown names and of her own trip from Dallas here as a girl of 14. Mrs. Carrigan then called on a number of Henrietta women who gave short talks on old times. Mrs. H. O. Craven gave a vivid little reminiscence and Mrs. Lillian Kerr made a really snappy talk on her coming to Archer county and the introduction she had to Mrs. Carrigan. Mrs. R. E. Montgomery was introduced also as one of the members of an old family.

In the magazine contest, conducted by Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, the first prize was won by Mrs. Carl Yeager and Mrs. Henry Fulcher was winner of the second.

Covers were laid for Mesdames B. C. Nicholson, A. H. Carrigan, Lillian Kerr, Maude L. Lindsey, J. B. Montgomery, P. P. Langford, Geo. Keith Sr., Harry O. Cravens, Miss Nina A. Dent, Mesdames R. T. Belcher, Ben G. Oneal, Myrtle Bell Barber, J. C. H. Railey, James P. Bowen, Louis Campbell of Oklahoma City, Carl Yeager, Henry C. Fulcher, J. M. Whitworth, Sam Krueger, Max Shain, C. R. Yauger, Hubert Harrison, A. G. Holmes, Annie W. Barker, J. Truman Stevens, J. A. Kemp, Charles Hartsook, W. S. Langford, Curtis Atkinson, H. B. van Emden, R. E. Montgomery, James P. Waggener, W. H. Sanford, Wayne Somerville, E. C. deMontel and W. M. Cason. Members and guests from Henrietta were Mesdames George Cunningham, C. J. Parchman, P. H. Boddy, St. Andrew Myers, B. A. Weaver, Troy Douthitt, Margaret Suddoth, J. W. Douthitt, P. H. Neville, Miss Nellie H. Bates, and Mrs. W. S. Bulwelt.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Mrs. Lillian Kerr made a hit at the Writers luncheon Thursday when she told of how one day when she and a friend were eating watermelon and "covered with watermelon," a tall and stately young lady dressed up in a pink and blue gingham dress with high collar and long sleeves arrived to "call." Her name was "Miss Lula Barwise."

Since that time, Mrs. Kerr said, she and Miss Lula Barwise had gone through troubles and happiness but had always managed to have a good time such as in the old days—quoting the papers—"the beautiful and accomplished Miss Lula Barwise of Wichita Falls was visiting Miss Lillian Hart," or if she visited in Wichita Falls, "the beautiful and accomplished Miss Lillian Hart was visiting Miss Lula Barwise."

Mrs. Carrigan told of the trip she and her little mother and her five stalwart brothers made in the winter of 1879 in covered wagons drawn by oxen, from Dallas to Wichita Falls. Tears came to many eyes when she spoke tenderly of the "little mother."

Twelve days it took for the trip and the two incidents that stood out in her memory were of the time an ant got in her brother's ear and everyone was frightened about it except the "little mother" who flooded the insect out with warm water.

The other was of when they neared Bowie, she was curious to know where a great crowd of men and women on horseback were going. All the women, she said, wore long riding habits that caught the bushes and underbrush. She had to learn why they all hurried the same way and when she found it was to attend a hanging, another indelible impression was made.

Mrs. C. J. Parchman gave such an unusual number on the program that every person at the table was alert. She had spoken of breakdowns and began to tell them how to become normal again. "Legs crossed," she said, "at the ankles, not the knees." There was a rustling round the table and visibly legs went down.

When Wichita talked of pioneer days, Henrietta was always mentioned as the "city." Mrs. Carrigan told of the lady who came and sat by her side when they halted in Henrietta to make their camp fire, and whom she had thought of as a "little fairy." That fairy was Miss Lula Johnson, who still teaches in the Henrietta schools.

Mrs. Culweth from Henrietta was a peppy speaker who told of how her father and Miss Bates' father went there in 1873 and found the ruins of an old mill, which the Indians had burned. The families are still living on the land where they settled.

But Mrs. Harry Craven had the earliest reminiscence to tell. Her father, Henry Dent, came from Illinois to Gainesville and settled there, coming later to Henrietta, where he practiced law. She knew Indians, too.

Speaking of Indians, we heard how Quanah Parker with several of his Indian wives came to Henrietta to buy shoes. They would not fit them in the store, but went out and sat on the plank walk and let their feet hang over until they found shoes large enough, then paid for them and rode away horse back with new shoes shining.

Society and Coffee Cup Chatter of Wichitans

By LOIS ANGLIN

Novel methods of getting off on the right foot with a new congregation must go hand-in-hand with a strong yen for poetry in the preacher. Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, recently transferred from the pastorate of the Grant Street Methodist church here to the First Methodist church at Archer City, featured practical wisdom with truly poetic aptitude in his first appearance before the Archer City congregation last Sunday morning. Upon entering the auditorium for the morning service, members of the church were greeted with the view of numerous buckets of paint, attractively lining the rostrum. Explanations apparently being in order, the new pastor smilingly announced that his first view of the building suggested a poignant need for more color harmony; hence his business trip to the paint shop on Saturday. The congregation will paint the church.

Few Women Wed Nowadays Merely To Get a Living

The Girl Who Gives Up a Good Job To Get Married Can't Be Accused of Marrying to Get a Living, nor Should She Be Expected To Support the Family and Run It, Too.

A man writes me that he thinks the reason that so many marriages are failures is because what men desire in matrimony is love, while what women seek is some one to provide for them. Therefore, he considers that the answer to the conundrum of how to be happy though married is for both parties to marry only for affection and companionship and for the wife to follow some gainful occupation outside the home and contribute as much money for the support of the family as the husband does and to turn over the care of the children, if any, to outsiders.

I think my correspondent is mistaken in thinking that many women in these days marry for a living. Women did so in former times. When matrimony was about the only respectable avocation open to a female, they naturally embraced the only opportunity that was open to them, but very few of them marry now to get a man to support them, for the very good reason that they can support themselves better than any husband they can get is likely to. Matrimony has ceased to be a graft with women and has become a sacrifice.

Whatever else the modern girl may be, she is no fool. She knows her onions and is perfectly aware that the poor young clerk who is "keeping company" with her is no millionaire in disguise and that when they are married he will not take her to live in a palace and shower matched pearls and fleets of motor cars on her and doll her up like the queen of Sheba. On the contrary, having expert knowledge, gained through personal experience, of the size and inelasticity of pay envelopes and just how far a dollar will go, she does not befool herself with the theory that two can live as cheaply as one and that a man who is earning no more than she is can give her the luxuries she has when she has her whole salary to spend upon herself.

Also, she looks around and sees that the girls who have married are far shabbier and harder worked than those who stuck to their jobs. Sadie, who was a high-priced private secretary and the glass of fashion, is still wearing the wrecks of her trousseau. Mamie, who used to go to Paris twice a year to buy gowns, considers it a treat now if she can get some one to stay with the children so that she can go downtown for a couple of hours. Nina, who was a crackerjack saleswoman with big commissions, works 14 hours a day cooking and washing and baby-tending.

When a girl contemplates the lot of her married friends she beholds nothing that leads her to believe that she would improve her material condition by marriage and swapping a good situation for a husband. Nor does she deceive herself on the subject. She knows that it is far more fatiguing to perform on a gas range than it is on a typewriter; that housework is much less interesting than the work you do in a store or office, where you see new people and hear new things all day long. Furthermore, that the wife job has no pay envelope attached to it as has the job outside of the home.

So the girl of today may be acquitted of the charge of marrying to get some one to support her. She marries for love. So does the man. There is nothing sordid about the average American marriage. It is based entirely on romance and sentiment and the desire of two young creatures for each other, and yet nowhere else is marriage so often a failure as it is with us. We lead the civilized world in the number of our divorces.

Nobody can explain why men and women who marry for nothing but love should so soon fall out of love with each other. But they do, and so far as one is able to judge, it appears that the men are more quickly disillusioned than the women and that the affection of husbands is less able to stand the strain that the sacrifices of matrimony entail than that of the wives. There are more unfaithful husbands than there are wives. More wives who are clinging desperately to husband who are weary of them and trying to shake them off.

Whether this is the fault of the women or the men, who can say? Perhaps wives do not know how to play the game so as to keep their husbands fascinated with them. Perhaps husbands are constitutionally fickle and cannot help but roam. But I do not believe that the solution of the problem of making a happy home is for the wife to work outside of it.

I think, in the first place, that the man who is not willing to work for his wife and children and who resents supporting them is a poor creature who has nothing of real manhood about him and that he could never possibly keep the respect and affection of his wife. And, in the second place, I think that any woman who does her part as wife and mother and makes a comfortable home, has done her share of the work in the mutual partnership and should not be expected to go out and earn the money to buy the material out of which to make the bread as well as to make it.

The man should bring home the bacon. The woman should cook it to a turn. The man should provide the raw materials for the making of the home. The woman should be the home-maker. That is the fair division of labor, and the making of a home is an undertaking so vast, so complicated, requiring such an expenditures of thought and energy and intelligence that it leaves a woman neither strength nor time for anything else.

To expect a woman to work all day in an office and then come home at night and clean the house and prepare the food for the family and for her to furnish half the money besides to pay for the upkeep of the home is certainly handing her the hot end of the bargain and as none of us enjoy being cheated or over-reached, I cannot see how it would promote domestic peace and harmony for wives to be married to husbands who took all and gave nothing.

There may be a few men who feel that their wives and children are burdens upon them and who begrudge them the money they cost, but to the great majority of men the very fact that their families are dependent upon them endears them to them. It brings out all the tenderness and chivalry in their natures, and nine times out of ten you will find that the clinging-vine wife is more cherished than the go-getter.

But if men are going to demand that their wives shall contribute half of the support of the family, then, in all fairness, they should have half the babies.

Dance Tango on Spanish Fiesta Program

Miss Virginia Hampson and Jimmie Campbell will dance "The Spanish Tango" at the Woman's Forum Spanish fiesta Friday and Saturday evening at the Fritz building. Miss Hampson is a member of the faculty of the Knickerbocker Studio of Fine Arts. She is instructor in the senior dancing department. Mr. Campbell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Campbell, Country Club Estates.

Bridge Tea Is Social Function of Thursday

No social function in many years has surpassed in beauty the bridge tea given Thursday at the country club, when Mesdames Darrold Kahn and Sam A. Man entertained honoring their out-of-town guests. Named as honorees were Mesdames J. D. Brent of Piano, B. A. Man of Decatur, house guests of Mrs. Man; Misses Gertrude Melat of Fort Worth and Leah Belle Duff of Topeka, Kan., house guests of Mrs. Kahn and Mrs. Zeke Cleaver, who is the guest of Mrs. C. Y. Tully.

Bridge was played in the lounge which was gorgeous with chrysanthemums in orchid and gold. From the four light fixtures on the side walls hung huge baskets filled with these beautiful flowers and the mantels above the wide fireplaces were banked with southern smilax, the orchid and gold chrysanthemums in fluffy masses peeping out from the green.

Tea was served on the mezzanine floor where Mrs. J. C. A. Guest presided before a handsome silver service at a tea table where the white and golden motif was carried out in the lovely filet cloth over yellow satin with a centerpiece of golden chrysanthemums, and tapers glowing at each end.

The bridge tables were covered with yellow and orchid cloths and had flower centers in the same motif.

In the games, Miss Thelma Fisher carried off the high score prize, a lovely pair of silhouettes. Eight small silhouettes were given in cut prizes for groups. Winners were Mesdames Frank Wood, Howard Renfro, John O'Donohoe, J. W. Aiken Jr., Bob Mathis, Orville Bullington, S. M. Gose and Miss Frances Lomax.

Honor guests were all remembered with beautiful gifts.

One hundred seven-five guests attended the outstanding social affair.

Mrs. Shoop Hostess To Sewing Party

Mrs. F. E. Shoop, 35 Lakewood drive, was hostess to members of the Daughters of the Nile when they met Thursday for the purpose of preparing boxes of clothing and groceries for several needy families. Plans were also made to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner for one family here.

It was decided to sponsor the presentation of "Bluebird" by the Children's Little Theater under the auspices of the crippled children's hospital. Plans were also made to sell quilts made by the members on the next ceremonial day.

Luncheon was served to the following: Mesdames W. T. Martin, W. W. Haney, J. S. Pitman, F. E. Shoop, Fred Woosley, Ed Peterson, W. R. Bernhardt, W. H. Ruggles, Clyde D. Bartlett, R. N. Man, H. O. Rupnow, C. C. Owens, W. W. Watson, H. D. Wolfe, C. R. Lamphere, W. H. Caldwell, Ray N. Wilhite and J. T. Yeargin.

Miss Faye Fisher Named Honoree at Luncheon

One of the smart social affairs honoring Miss Faye Fisher whose marriage to J. Warner Zimmer will be an event of Nov. 20, was the buffet luncheon given by Mrs. P. King Smith and Miss Gene Nelson at the home of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. J. Frank Boyd, 2110 Winonah, Thursday at 12:30 o'clock.

The center piece was a basket of lovely marigolds. Chrysanthemums shared in the decorations throughout the house. At one end of the table Mrs. Boyd poured coffee from a silver coffee service and at the opposite end Mrs. Walter Nelson presided over the plates.

The bride-elect was presented with a handsome bridge table.

Guests included Misses Alice Graham of Graham, Faye Fisher, Thelma Fisher, Helen Grisham, Mary Jo Kell, Lucille Smith, Dorothy Nolen, Anabel Couper, Marguerite McDonald, Gene Nelson, Mesdames J. A. Fisher, Ray Arnhold, Clyde Strauss, George Collum, Walter Priddy, O. B. Kiel, Jouette Bonner, Joe Carrigan, Walter Nelson, P. King Smith and J. Frank Boyd.

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity many thousands who suffered just as you do. Mr. John Robertson, of 823 Spring St., Little Rock, Ark., says: "I couldn't eat anything, couldn't sleep, and working was almost an impossibility. But after 3 bottles of Tanlac I could eat a bull's horn and sleep like a log!"

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, barks and herbs. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Orgatone Is Worth Going a Hundred Miles to Obtain, States She

"I've Just Taken It Six Days and Feel Like I Was Years Younger," Says Waco Housewife

"From the way Orgatone has helped me, I would go for it, if I had to go 100 miles, rather than be without it," said Mrs. A. C. Goodwin of 1305 Jefferson street, Waco, Texas, while talking with the Orgatone representative recently.

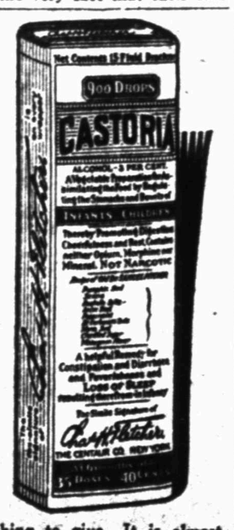

"I guess I suffered from stomach trouble, for I sure had symptoms" she continued. "I had terrible headaches that would last for days and nearly drive me distracted.

"I always had a hazy sluggish feeling, and didn't feel like doing anything. I lost my appetite and got to where I didn't eat hardly anything and kept going down hill. I didn't have any energy. I had dizzy spells sometimes and would have specks before my eyes, and could hardly see anything. I was in just a general run-down condition and needed something to build me up.

"Orgatone was advertised in the paper and I decided to try it. I've only taken it six days and I'm like a different person. I do not have that hazy feeling, or sluggish sensation any more, but have more vim and energy, and really feel like doing my work. When morning comes I'm refreshed and buoyant, and enjoy the day. I haven't had one of those dreadful headaches since I took my first dose of Orgatone. Orgatone is a wonderful medicine and I only regret that science had not discovered this medicine before for it is worth wonders to the people."

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

To Prevent Delicate Colors From Fading in Washing Machine

Simple Way to Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Soap eat of fragile things and fading of delicate colors in either washing machine or tub can easily be corrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of CLIMALENE is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

COX TALKS AT BURK TONIGHT

F. R. Knauth to Be Named Most Worthy Citizen

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 7. The Burkburnett post of the American legion will be host to two distinguished visitors Friday night.

Ernest C. Cox, state commander of the veterans, will be a guest speaker at an elaborate program arranged by the local post. His visit here has been anticipated for some time.

The second guest will be F. R. Knauth, road commissioner for this precinct who was voted as Burkburnett's most worthy citizen some months ago. Friday night this honor will be officially bestowed upon Mr. Knauth in the form of a certificate of merit.

Rotary Club Leaders Give Reports at Meet

Effectiveness of the work of its boys' work committee, which is headed by William B. Ward, was commented by members of the Rotary club in the regular weekly meeting held Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel.

The entire program was given to brief reports from various club committees as a mid-year review of the club's activities. Rabbi S. J. Schwab announced that a program for presentation at the Majestic theater on Armistice day, Nov. 11, is being prepared.

Other reports heard at luncheon included the following: Secretary's report, Tom B. Smock; classification committee, John W. Thomas; program committee, Dr. Ted Krohn; fellowship committee, Jack Barnard; inter-city committee, Linton Estes; community service, Horrace Robbins; student loan committee, Wiley Robertson; educational committee, Sam R. Hord; business methods, Dr. Q. B. Lee; attendance committee, O. D. McCoy; and rural-urban committee, Matt Gardner.

Weakened Demand For Gasoline Is Reported

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 7.—A decline of nearly 50,000,000 gallons in weekly gasoline demand caused Mid-Continent gasoline stocks to soar towards the 100,000,000 gallon mark the past week, a survey of the refineries of the six states discloses. Shipments approximated 50,000,000 gallons compared to 49,000,000 gallons a week ago, and while production increased almost 1,000,000 gallons to 51,000,000 gallons, and stocks were around 99,000,000 gallons.

Refineries cut their crude oil runs some 19,000 barrels a day to 346,000 barrels, but other oils made the total about the same, 60,000 barrels.

Danciger Well Starts At 100 Barrels Per Hour

Special to The Record News

PAMPA, Texas, Nov. 7.—The Danciger Oil and Refining company No. 7 Beck, in the northeast of the northwest of the northeast of section 28, block B-2, of H. & G. N. survey, in the Finley-Brown pool of Gray county, started off at 100 barrels an hour at 2,495 feet.

It is a southwest diagonal offset to White Eagle Oil and Refining company No. 2, in section 29, which is now doing 640 a day. White Eagle's No. 1, deepened from 2,815 to 2,840 feet increased from 500 a day to 1,250 barrels a day.

Backfield Error Defeats Kansas in Saturday Tilt

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 7. (UP)—An error in the backfield, not the decision of the referee, was why Kansas did not defeat Nebraska, according to H. W. Hargiss, Kansas mentor, who broke silence here today in a statement for the university team and coaches.

State Deaths

MRS. J. E. STYLES

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 7.—Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Styles, 62, formerly of Burkburnett, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Romer at Roxyanna, Texas, Monday at noon, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Owens chapel. Rev. Miles B. Hayes, pastor of the local First Baptist church, officiated. Interment was made in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Styles was well known in this city having lived here for several years with her daughter, Mrs. Romer. The deceased was a member of the First Baptist church.

The largest vessel now afloat is the steamship Majestic, which measures 956 feet over all.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug store. Renfro Drug Co.—Adv.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. —Adv.

STOCKS GO UP AFTER DECLINE

Strong Buying Support Brings Rally

p. m. Many brokers interpreted the opening decline as the completion, at least temporarily, of the forced liquidation which had been overhanging the market.

The rally in prices, which started before the end of the first hour, was greeted with loud cheers by floor brokers who could be heard a block away from the exchange. U. S. Steel common, after selling down to $161.50, rallied to $177.50 and closed at $174.50 for a net gain of $5.50. General Electric rallied from $195.50 to $234 and eased to $220 up $14. Atchison rebounded from $210.15 to $235.25, up $17.25, and American Telephone from 105.50 to $226, up $11.

Buying Origin Unknown

Powerful buying support made its appearance as soon as the necessitous liquidation had been completed, but whether this was supplied by the New York banking group, organized Oct. 24 to assure an orderly market, or by investment interests awaiting "bargain prices," or a combination of both, could not be determined.

No meetings of the New York banking group were held today, and no official statement was issued.

Prices of leading New York bank and trust company stocks dropped $10 to $50 a share in the early trading "over the counter," but rallied sharply with listed securities in the later trading.

Stocks on the New York curb market rallied after declines of $2 to $15 had developed during the first hour. Closing prices, however, were irregular, although a few of the leaders were able to show net gains for the day. Cities Service, again trading in large volume, closed at $31, up $1.12, after selling down to $25.12.

The following table illustrates the wide fluctuations in 40 leading issues:

Thin Underweight Men and Women Can Quickly Gain Needed Flesh

One Very Thin Man Gained 28 Pounds in Eight Weeks

Tens of thousands of exceedingly thin, yes, scrawny men and women have taken McCoy's Tablets and put on pounds of good firm flesh.

Not only will McCoy's increase weight, but taken regularly will cause frail rundown men and women to grow stronger and more energetic.

If the millions of skinny, scrawny men and women in America will start today and put their faith in McCoy's it is safe to say that at least 90 per cent of them will gain weight, health and attractiveness in a few weeks.

So why not start today? Why not fill out those deep hollows in neck, cheeks and chest? Why go on through life with sunken cheeks and narrow chest when you can take advantage of this straight forward offer.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.—Adv.

the JOY of LIVING

is founded on Good Health

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles?

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give to the blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate.

You will be delighted with S.S.S. blood-building and tonic effects. Take at mealtime. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

THE MAURETANIA, after 22 years of transatlantic leadership, isn't discouraged by temporary demotion to second place.

Instead of complacently accepting a thrashing at the hands of the Bremen, the former champion of the seas is busy planning a getback, contriving how to use some of its previously squandered energy to step up the speed of engines which lost none of their vitality when the broom fell from her masthead.

If an ocean liner refuses to recognize age as a handicap—and maintains faith in its prowess, despite the new-fangled ideas of a younger ship generation, any physically unimpaired human being who discounts his immediate prospects because there are more working years behind him than ahead, is a poor piece of tripe, by contrast.

The game is never over until the last card of Ingenuity's deck has been played—and the final chip in the stack is bet.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who is in doubt should not."

If you are in doubt as to whether or not it is right for you to do certain things, you will act wisely by not doing them until such time when the doubt has passed. Time often removes doubt as to the right or wrong of things. It is better to be safe than sorry.

The ex-kaiser is still the richest man in the German republic. The property which he and his family were allowed to keep is valued at more than $100,000,000.

The New York judge who sentenced a man to jail because he was lazy probably merely sent him up for a stretch.

A headline says, "Congressman Britten Asks Inquiry of Metric System." Another weighty matter.

Razor Strops vs. Halloween Gangs

IT IS HARD not to sympathize with the Wichita Falls man who applied a razor strop in the good old-fashioned way to one of a group of Halloween pranksters who persisted in hurling rocks at his house. Of course the Wichitan who let his feelings get the upper hand of his judgment placed himself in position of being hailed into court on a misdemeanor charge, but many of us can understand his position while the courts deal with the offense charged him in the usual legal manner.

We must expect, we suppose, a certain amount of vandalism and rowdyism on Halloween night, but The Record News doubts if persistent hurling of rocks at houses, which occurred in many instances here last week, could be classed as a legitimate Halloween enterprise. It is a distinct departure from the olden spirit of Halloween. Removing gates from hinges, ringing door bells, hanging buggy wheels from the barn roof or tying the cow out on the front lawn were once the accepted tricks for witches' night, and required no little ingenuity, hard work and intelligence on the part of the practical jokers. Quite often the intended victim triumphed in this battle of wits instead of the joker. Hurling rocks at houses however, seems to be more or less a modern development. It requires no brains, no work and only the modern gang spirit to make it successful. It has little excuse even under the license usually allowed youngsters on Halloween night.

Any mother or father, of course, is likely to become highly indignant at some stranger laying a strop across the back of the light of their life, regardless of how much the said light may deserve just such treatment. Because of this feeling of parents, the Wichitan who wielded the strop on Halloween night must answer in the courts for his actions. But we have a hunch that had the parent in question given a second application of the treatment when the facts were duly revealed, the young man in question would have gone his way with a much greater respect for private rights and private property, and a somewhat lower opinion of the power of gang rule, even on Halloween night.

A "Sucker" Town for Beggars

IT IS a timely warning the secretary of the community chest recently issued against the Wichita Falls habit of showering pennies and small pieces of silver on beggars. If the city made no provision for its deserving needy through organized charity, there would be some excuse for these contributions on the ground that at least those who deserved help would receive it, even if many who did not deserve it took advantage of our lack of organization. There is no reason for such an attitude here, however, sice Wichita Falls has provided assistance for those who deserve aid. There is always a meal for the hungry and a bed for the weary at either the Family Relief association or the Salvation Army headquarters, and then there is real assistance in finding employment if the person is capable of work.

Ninety-nine out of every 100 beggars on the streets of Wichita Falls are interested in getting more than a meal, a bed or a job. They are after money. Panhandling is their profession, and they flock to this city because the word has gone out that we are "easy" to work. Any Wichitan may test this by offering to conduct the alms seeker to the headquarters of one of the community chest organizations. A few will accept the directions, and dodge back to their work as soon as they believe they are unobserved. Others will tell how their cases have been "unjustly" refused, and a few will pridefully declare that they do not accept "charity."

This newspaper is proud of the kindness of heart that makes the average Wichita Falls resident willing and anxious to help his fellowman. It is, glory be, the spirit of real humanity we have here, and it ought not to be the vehicle by which we are victimized. It is not kindness or charity to give money to the street beggar. It is an act of weakness which, however well intentioned, brands the giver as a "sucker" in the eyes of the professional.

Show Day for the Ladies

WOMEN of Wichita Falls will open their annual flower show and display Friday in the form of a Spanish fiesta, an event which merits the support of the residents of this city to the fullest extent.

The flower show, with its incidental booths and displays, is at present the only community display of any sort sponsored in Wichita Falls, and for that reason, if no other, deserves our patronage and interest. For those who are not moved merely by patriotic motives, however, it is likely that no more entertaining or informative event will be given here this year, and if values in the booths hold to their former standard, these attractions, too, will present many bargains.

Fairs, exhibits and displays are valuable to a community for the spirit of unity and service which they develop in the citizenship, as well as for the material benefit which they bring to spectators and exhibitors. This spirit is manifest among women of Wichita Falls in many enterprises for the betterment of the city other than their annual show, and deserves to be fostered by the city as a whole.

We'll Know Our Way About

ANNOUNCEMENT that the city will soon start the work of placing metal street markers at all intersections will be received with joy by Wichita Falls residents. The event has been too long delayed. Our curb signs may have a way of becoming illegible after a few rains, and right now it is almost impossible for the average Wichitan to venture outside his own little domain without a compass and an engineering plat of the city.

It is doubtful if there is a city in Texas in which it is as difficult for the stranger to find his way about as in Wichita Falls. Not only does the visitor discover a lack of street signs here, but if he stops to question some local habitant he is met with a most surprising vagueness concerning even adjacent streets. Most Wichita Falls folks can't give directions because they are in almost as much confusion as the stranger. The city manager by all means should hasten the day when we may travel about our own town without the aid of a whisk broom and a magnifying glass to read the curb and block markers.

Patrolling the Broadway Beat

There are few nights in the week when this paragraph-gatherer fails to frequent Eddie Cantor's dressing room in Mr. Ziegfeld's New Amsterdam theater on Forty-second street, where the star of "Whoopee" invariably has a quip, nifty, gag joke or anecdote to unfold. His dressing room is a rendezvous for most visiting players and celebs, and all one need do to be entertained is to start telling Eddie something and he usually is reminded of something equally engaging.

Most of the better gags have come out of the Cantor room, and if it isn't a joke he has to offer, then it is a heart throb about some unfortunate chorus girl or ham. The other night, however, just as the curtain fell, Cantor went through his desk and brought forth a typical letter from a stage-struck youth, who wrote in part: "My friends tell me I have talent as a comedian. Won't you be kind and tell me how to start on Broadway?"

To which Cantor forwarded a form letter, which went something like this: "My dear Friend: Over 500 comedians with experience and talent are walking Broadway day and night looking for a job. And they know all the managers, too. They even have fat scrapbooks loaded with pretty writeups, but I wouldn't advise you to enter the show business where the ladder to success is as unsteady as Leon Errol's legs. However, if some one had written such counsel to me when I started, I wouldn't be a millionaire today, but I assure you I didn't make my coin acting. I happened to make friends with some of the country's shrewd bankers, who took a fancy to me, and put me in on the ground floor of Wall street, before it became a basement. Use your own judgment. Cordially yours, Eddie Cantor."

But, if you asked us, the recipient of such a letter will disregard the counsel, for the stage-struck boy and girl never learn until they are crushed and squelched by the bitterness that comes with striving to be clever in show business.

They must first weather the months of waiting for the so-called "break"; the officious office boys and phone operators; the "You're not the type!" reply of most casters and managers, or the numerous disappointments even after a sketch a play or a production has been launched. They must experience the smelly cellar dressing rooms, the third rate restaurants, the small town hotels, and the other rebuffs that all troupers know, and then, unless the boy or the girl has exceptional talent, he is forced into some staple profession or business where there might not be any glamour, but the wage envelope comes 52 weeks in the year.

There are but few Eddie Cantors and Al Jolsons and they will tell you that their coin came not from show business but from shrewd investments. Even George White, Ziegfeld's only rival, as a revue sponsor, confesses he made most of his coin dabbling in stocks and bonds—and lost most of it, incidentally.

In sum, 52 weeks bookings, as a wag once said, is not a route, it's a career!

An interesting episode was revealed at the Central Park Casino the other evening by Sidney Solomon, its owner. When the fashionable rendezvous was being plotted they encountered the problem of acquiring a first-rate chef. The better food-mixers were tied up by long-time contracts, by either the Ritz, the Sherry-Netherlands, the Savoy-Plaza, or the other snooty hotels and restaurants with which New York abounds.

Finally, after great to-doing, Solomon hired the Savoy-Plaza's assistant chef, who now is listed among the town's worthies. The irony of the sitch-ee-ay-shun is that the Savoy-Plaza had contracted for a chef at $25,000 a year, who was imported from Paris. But things didn't pan out well, for want of a better pun. And after much litigation and a settlement the chef was returned to Paris without so much as a goodby.

The Savoy-Plaza, then, which had searched all over Europe for a good chef, never thought of looking in its own kitchens, where the Casino discovered the cook who now entices most of the local smart set to Central Park.

Among other observations that make paragraphs is the plight of the handsome lad in a show who plays the leading male love interest. In the piece he two-times the heroine (who adores him for three acts), and before the last asbestos drops he breaks her heart and runs off with another.

But to those of us "in on the know" it is most amusing.

Matters are reversed off-stage.

He really adores her, and has been walking around in circles for a fortnight, because she can't be bothered.

Under the title "Hunk On Winchell" the current Variety reports: "When the Walter Winchells moved into their new apartment on 55th street last June, that's Mrs. Winchell, selected a special room as Walter's exclusive sleep den for his late hour nights. She shushed the Winchell kidlets when her husband drove in at his usual 8 o'clock the first morning. At noon, Walter's midnight, his sound proof room was penetrated by so many high C's he awoke with but four hours of dreams and a grouch. And he just signed a long lease! 'Right next door, on the same floor, is the studio of the noted vocal instructor, Kinney. Among his pupils are Ona Munson, Irene Delroy and Marjorie Petersen. They love Winchell like you love carbolic acid. His notices being such nice ones. And Miss Munson is reported to have requested that an amplifier be started hereafter when she runs up the scale."

Amplifier or no amplifier. It would be swell if they only stayed on key!

'EASY' The Love Story of a Modern Girl

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XXXIII

Alice had fallen asleep, still holding her burning cigarette in her fingers.

But at the sound of the door opening and closing she opened her eyes and sat up on the day-bed.

"Hello, Babesy!" she greeted Ann Marie in her company-voice, and then she got up and kissed her. "I got here at two and made the janitor let me in. I took a bath in your cunning little bathroom and made myself right at home. I knew you wouldn't mind."

She surely had made herself at home.

On the table were the remains of a meal she had had. Part of a lettuce sandwich and a half cup of cold coffee.

Her suit-cases were open on the floor and part of a box of powder had been spilled on the carpet. A pile of pale-pink silk underclothing decorated one of the chairs in the room, and three little felt hats were piled on another.

Through the open door of the bathroom Ann Marie could see that she had left her towels lying on the floor after her bath and that she had not even emptied the water out of the tub!

"I hope you won't mind my staying with you for a couple of months," she said, flopping down on the day-bed once more and lighting another cigarette.

A couple of months! . . . Ann Marie groaned inwardly. She had loved having this peaceful orderly little place to herself. The quiet mornings when she could pad around the room, putting her coffee on to boil, taking her bath and then going back to bed for a luxurious half-hour with the coffee on a table beside her and the morning paper propped up on her knees.

Besides it was going to be expensive, having Alice there for two months. For Alice never had any money of her own.

"It'll take every dime I can earn to keep us both," Ann Marie thought. "I'll never get those painting lessons now! I know I'm jinxed!" And despair closed over her like darkness.

"Why don't you ask me why I'm here?" Alice wanted to know after a moment, flicking her cigarette ash on to the floor.

"Why, I just suppose you'd come for a visit. I just took it for granted—' answered Ann Marie, picking up the damp towels from the bathroom floor and letting the water out of the tub.

Alice shook her sleek golden head.

"No. I came because I just couldn't stand living in that house of ours another minute!—It isn't ours, any more, really. It's Stella's!" she said. "Do you know what she's done? She's discharged Mrs. Leezy, and she told me and Jeanie that the three of us could do the housework! Can you feature that?"

Ann Marie couldn't. For she knew that neither Alice nor Jeanie knew anything about housework, and had always refused point-blank to learn anything about it.

"She said that Jeanie and I would have to take care of the upstairs," Alice went on in her brassy voice, "and that she would do the downstairs work. She said that she would do the cooking, but that Jeannie and I would have to do the dishes! Can you imagine that?"

No, Ann Marie couldn't imagine that, for the life of her.

"She said that we would send the bedding to the laundry—and that the three of us could do the rest of the washing ourselves!" Alice wound up her story. "Jeanie and me standing over a wash-tub when we're all but married to the two richest fellows in town! I liked her nerve. Well, the long and short of it is that I rowed with her and came here. And I'm going to stay until I marry Johnny in June!"

Ann Marie found herself hoping that nothing would happen so that the wedding would be postponed.

"Neal?" asked Alice opening her eyes very wide, and her hands flew to her hair. She began to fluff it out over her ears and to moisten her lips with the tip of her tongue to make them redder. "Is he coming tonight?"

"He lives in the flat next door," answered Ann Marie, wishing suddenly that he didn't live there. The thought flashed across her mind that she would be gone all day tomorrow, and that they would be here together.

"He does!" Alice was all excitement in a second. "How thrilling!"

She jumped up from the day-bed and reached for the vanity case in her hand-bag. Then, lying back against her pillows, she began to outline her lips with paint and to fluff powder on her nose and rouge upon her cheeks.

"Maybe he's at home now," Ann Marie said and went across the hall to knock on his door.

But there was no answer. He was not there.

"Let's go out and have a sandwich or something by ourselves," Ann Marie proposed, looking at the clock. "I'm starved."

Alice shook her head without raising her eyes from the magazine she was reading.

"I'm not the least bit hungry. You go out and eat something, and I'll stay here," she said. "I'm too comfy to move."

Ann Marie knew that she was waiting to see Neal.

But she left her there alone, anyway, and went across the street to eat a ham sandwich at the drug store counter . . . If Alice had made up her mind to have one last flirtation with Neal before she married Johnny Lawler and settled down, Ann Marie knew that nothing could stop her.

She got back to Susquehanna Hall at five minutes past eight.

Neal had come home while she was gone, and he and Alice were in his apartment.

They had left the door open so that they could watch for her, and she heard the loud music of the radio as she came up the stairs . . .

"—Do a dance called 'Raccoon,'

"It's the craze—nowadays—

"And it will get you soon—"

Through the doorway she could see the two of them dancing, their arms around each other and their faces all but touching as they moved slowly across the room. Together, they hummed the melody.

"It's just like the old front parlor stuff back home!" thought Ann Marie with a sinking of her heart as she paused for a second on the threshold, watching them.

Neal saw her before Alice did.

"Ah, here she is!" he dropped Alice like a hot-cake and came swiftly across the room to her. "Here's our working girl!"

There was a smell of cocktails on his breath and a brilliant reckless light in his blue eyes as he bent to kiss her.

"Alice and I have a grand idea!" he told her. "This being her first night in our midst, we thought we'd go out and celebrate! How about it?"

Ann Marie hesitated. She was tired for one thing and she was going to have to get up very early in the morning . . . and "celebrating" meant spending a lot of money.

"I suppose Neal has his mother's check," she said to herself. "But he shouldn't spend it foolishly. He ought to keep it and pay his bills with it." She knew how little money he had.

"Come on, let's go, Ann Marie. Don't be a wet blanket," Alice cut in sharply. "It's my first night, and I'd like a party!"

And so, against her will, Ann Marie found herself giving in to them.

"All right," she said slowly, wondering why she said it.

"Whoop-ee-ee!" sang out Alice. "I'll put on my coat right away!"

She went dancing out of the room, and Ann Marie was starting after her when Neal stopped her with his hand on her shoulder.

"Wait a minute, sweetheart!" he said. "It's all right with me if big sister wants a big night—but who's going to put up the money for it? You know how flat I am."

He turned away from her suddenly and walked over to the window staring into the darkness outside.

"Lord, but it's humiliating to be short of money like this!" he said. "To have to ask my girl to lend me money!"

Ann Marie's heart went out to him. It was humiliating, no doubt of that . . . Her fingers went into her handbag and came out with a $20 bill in them.

"Dearest," she said, crossing the room to him, "don't feel like this. It kills me—Money isn't so important. When I happen to have some we'll use it, and when you have some we'll use that. Let's not think about it." She put her arms around him, and when he kissed her she slipped the bill in to the top pocket of his vest.

At 12 o'clock that night they were still "celebrating."

They had found a tiny basement "night club" sort of place and there they had settled themselves at a little table in a very dark corner.

The whole place was dimly-lighted by orange-colored lamps and there were orange-colored covers on the table. The tiny orchestra banged out the worst music that Ann Marie Marie had ever listened to, and the dancers all looked cheap and common to her. They made violent love to each other as they danced, and between dances, and nobody seemed to mind.

"It's a tough place," thought Ann Marie, yawning as she watched Alice and Neal dancing their tenth dance together.

"You don't mind my dancing with Alice most of the time, do you, sweetheart?" Neal had asked her earlier in the evening. "You want her to have a good time, just as I do, don't you? Next time we go out we'll get a man for her."

There was no doubt that Alice was having a good time. She had had three tall glasses of ginger ale mixed with gin from the two flat bottles that Neal had brought with him from his flat. And her cheeks were flushed and her eyes bright now as she swung slowly around the shadowy spaces of the dance floor with him.

All evening she had been making eyes at Neal. Great childish blue baby eyes at him.

But now, Ann Marie noticed, she was making baby eyes at another man who had been sitting alone at a table near the flight of stairs that led up to the street.

He was standing beside his table, and as Alice and Neal swept by him he tapped Neal on the shoulder.

Ann Marie saw Neal stop with Alice in his arms and look up at the strange man. She heard him say something to him, but she couldn't catch what it was.

Then, without warning, the big man's arm shot out—and Neal, with Alice still clinging to him—crashed down upon the floor!

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Return of the Used Golf Ball

Immediate results of the stock market crash, debacle, panic, break, or what have you are being felt on the golf links of the country. Players have returned to the old-fashioned custom of making an extensive search for lost balls.

PHILLIPS

"I never saw anything like it," said "Red" Callahan, a well-known caddy, today. "For the past four or five years few players have shown any concern about a lost ball. They'd look a few seconds for it, but if they didn't find it right away they'd unwrap a new dollar ball and put it in play.

"You should see them since the Wall street crash! During the last few days golfers have been spending so much time in the woods looking for lost balls that you would think they was forestry students. A man won't stop looking for a ball now until his caddy has crawled around on his hands and knees through the underbrush and used everything but a search warrant to find it.

"Up to the big break in stocks most players thought no more of a golf ball than Heinz thought of a bean. I have caddied for men who would drive a half dozen balls in succession into a shallow brook and tell me not to bother to pick them out.

"Yesterday I had an ex-millionaire walk around a swamp up to his knees looking for a 50-cent ball, and he got sore because I refused to dive into a lake 50 feet deep and recover a repaint for him.

"Nobody's using new balls any more. The 'repaint' is back in popularity for the first time in years. Six weeks ago you couldn't sell a golfer a used ball. Today he stops every caddy on the links and asks him if he has a dozen old balls he wants to sell for a quarter or so.

"I even had a feller call me a rotten caddy the other day because I let him lose a wooden tee!

"Working on a golf course ain't what it was before this market, believe me. The golfers have turned sour, ugly and tight. The only good break a caddy gets is when the game is over. I have had a dozen twosomes come to blows over 10 cents a hole. These same guys played all summer for $5 a hole and never made a squawk.

"It's terrible. If you want to know where the stock market crash is being felt the worst ask any caddy."

Disqualified

"I can't make you a sandwich, sir," said the clerk.

"Why not?" demanded the hungry customer.

"Because I'm not a licensed druggist," he explained.

People have had to listen for the last five years to folks tell about their winnings in Wall street and now they'll have to put in the next five listening to them tell about their losses.

'SCHOOL NIGHT' AT REVIVAL

Reverend Finnell Talks on Moses

Moses as an outstanding man of decision was the subject of Dr. J. Leslie Finnell's sermon Thursday night at the First Christian church, where he is holding revival services. Doctor Finnell's sermon was directed especially to young people, Thursday having been set aside as "School Night."

"Moses was one of the greatest characters in all history," he said. "Samson was stronger; Solomon was wiser; David could sing more sweetly and Isaiah had more vision, but Moses was great in that he towered in all respects. He was versatile and well-rounded. He was a builder, a soldier and a scholar, and was great in almost every respect.

Made His Decision

"It is interesting to study the turning point in the life of a great man. Moses knew what he was doing when he made his great decision. It was a momentous hour, an hour which all of us must face. Standing there on a high tower, Moses could see the great pyramids, the plentiful wheat fields, the great armies of soldiers, the luxurious apartments of one of the wealthiest nations the world has ever known. But he saw also the people of his mother, lashed by the whip of Pharaoh and bound in slavery. There he made his decision, and there he began to become one of the outstanding figures in all history.

"His decision cost Moses a vast amount. Christian character has always been the most expensive thing in the world, and it cost him the wealth of all Egypt. He turned his back on the wealthiest nation of all time. He knew that the almighty dollar does not bring peace of mind, that it does not bring real friendships, that it does not bring Christian character.

"He turned his back on the applause of the world. You who are on the football team and are leaders in school activities are applauded for your efforts. When you go out into the workaday world against life's problems, there won't be any pep squad to urge you on.

Choice Determines Fate

"On the continental divide there is a courthouse on which the raindrops that fall are divided. Those which fall on one side eventually flow into the Pacific ocean, while those on the other side find their way to the Gulf of Mexico. The slightest breeze can mean a difference of thousands of miles in a raindrop's destination. Just so can one wrong choice, one failure to have the backbone to say no, change your destination from heaven to hell."

A score of uniformed Girl Reserves made up the choir, and sang as a special number their official song, "Follow the Gleam."

'Party Survival' Is Boyles' Plea

Boyle said, in recalling that his belief the regulars should not espouse the candidacy of any man against whom his opponents could not use the religious issue excluded some of his best friends.

Boyle, Roman Catholic, is one of the outstanding political leaders of Texas and he had a big part in the Beaumont state and Houston national conventions last year.

He was one of Governor Moody's staunchest advocates when the chief executive made his first campaign. He and the governor came to the parting of the ways at Beaumont, however, over the manner of selecting delegates to represent Texas at the national convention. Boyle wanted the respective congressional districts to choose their own delegates and he claimed that Moody had agreed to this plan in a pre-convention conference. At the convention Moody opposed this plan and advocated a delegation chosen by the convention irrespective of the delegations to the state convention from the respective congressional districts.

Dairy Authority Warns City To 'Get Busy' on Milk Pasteurization

"Wichita Falls' supply of whole milk is of unusual richness, possesses a high degree of cleanliness and has the property of remaining sweet, but if this city is to be the first in the state to rate 100 per cent for pasteurization of all the milk it consumes, you will have to get busy," declared Dr. H. A. Harding of Champaign, Ill., national dairy expert, in an address before approximately 350 persons at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night.

Dr. Harding stated that his object was not to persuade dairymen to pasteurize their production, since more than 70 per cent of them are doing so already, but to awake public thought to the importance of safeguarding health by demanding pasteurization. "So far as we can tell," he said, "there is no such thing as absolutely safe raw milk."

Germs find milk as appetizing and nourishing as human beings do, the speaker said, and develop with great rapidity if not exterminated by heat treatment. Spread of undulent fever in the United States during the past two years has done much to create a definite sentiment toward such treatment of all milk for human consumption, it was stated.

Speaking of the increasing recognition of milk as a valuable food for juveniles and adults alike, Dr. Harding stated that the Japanese government now is persistently educating that people to great milk consumption as a means of developing a greater average stature. In parts of China where milk is sparingly used, men are of about the stature of Japanese, he said, while in other sections, where milk is one of the principal foods, men often measure nearly six feet and exceed 200 pounds in weight.

Dr. Harding was introduced by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of the city schools. A concert by the 37-piece Playground band, directed by Paul Seeds, preceded the lecture.

J. E. Sharpe Dies At Residence Here

J. E. Sharpe, 53, resident of Wichita Falls for the past 15 years, died at the family residence, 1600 Monroe street, about 9 o'clock Thursday night. The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company.

Mr. Sharpe had been interested in real estate and insurance here during past years and with Mrs. Sharpe was operator of the Angelina tea room on Monroe street at the time of his death. Mrs. Sharpe also is manager of the cafeteria at the Y. W. C. A. The family came originally from Lufkin, Texas, and the body will probably be forwarded to Lufkin about noon Friday. Funeral services and interment were tentatively set for Saturday in Lufkin.

Survivors besides Mrs. Sharpe include two sons, B. J. Sharpe of El Paso, and J. H. Sharpe of San Angelo; two daughters, Miss Mary Beth Sharpe, who lives at the family residence, and Mrs. R. V. Fite, 1825 McGregor street; and a brother, R. A. Hall of Nacogdoches.

Rain Threatens All Day Thursday

Threatening weather again prevailed over Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma Thursday, after the region had been generously soaked with a slow rain Wednesday.

Slight precipitation was reported in the northernmost regions Thursday, while the South Plains area was blanketed with a heavy mist. As a result of the rain in the north portion cotton picking was paralyzed.

The Fort Worth and Denver railroad dispatcher reported that mists which hung over the area between here and Quanah Thursday morning turned to a light rain in the afternoon. The Katy dispatcher reported heavy mists, but little rain, over that railroad's lines. The Wichita valley territory received heavy mists but no rain.

Memphis, chief cotton center of the area, received .30 inches of rain. Cotton near that city which had been moving rapidly up until Wednesday, when the first rain came, was of necessity neglected.

Mrs. R. L. Bell, 69, Claimed by Death

Mrs. R. L. Bell, 69, died in a local hospital at 11:15 p. m. Thursday after an extended illness.

Mrs. Bell is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. G. Rowe, 1212 Monroe street, and Miss May Bell, 1210 Monroe street; two grandchildren, Gregory and Mabel Rowe; two sisters, Miss Emma Bell, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Sallie Hays, of Fort Worth; and a brother C. B. Hinton, of Valley Mills, Texas.

Funeral arrangements were incompleted Thursday night. The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company.

Thieves Take Money From Alamo School

Thieves entered the Alamo school building sometime Thursday and stole $7 in cash from the office of Superintendent James E. Park, according to the burglary records at police headquarters. There was no evidence of anybody having entered the building through a window, it was reported, and officers believed the thief or thieves gained entrance by means of a pass key.

EASTLAND JURY PONDERS CASE

Clyde Thompson's Murder Trial Closes

EASTLAND, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—Unable to reach a verdict after six hours' deliberation, the jury hearing the case of Clyde Thompson, charged with murdering Leon and Lucian Shook, was locked up for the night at 10 p. m.

An hour after receiving the case at 4 p. m., the jury asked for Thompson's signed confession, and for scholastic census reports dealing with the date of Thompson's birth.

Whether the boy was 18 years old at the time the crime was committed, more than a year ago, may have a bearing on the jury's verdict.

EASTLAND, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—The fate of Clyde Thompson, charged with slaying Lucian and Leon Shook, brothers, near Leray, Texas, rests in the hands of a jury tonight.

Testimony and arguments in the trial, which started here Monday, were completed this afternoon.

Thompson is on trial the second time in connection with the deaths of the brothers. In his first trial he was given the death penalty, but the verdict of the trial court jury was reversed and a new trial granted on an appeal.

The state's principal witness, 13-year-old Woodrow Davis, an eyewitness to the shooting, testified he, his brother and Thompson were hunting the afternoon of the slaying and that they stopped at Shook's cabin and induced the brothers to join them. He testified that Thompson shot the boys to death as they walked ahead of him and "then beat out their brains with the butt of his pistol."

His brother, Thomas, was convicted of murder in connection with the slayings, and now has an appeal pending. Woodrow has been promised immunity.

MEGARGEL OIL POOL OPENED

Duke-Oakes Test Shows as 400-500 Barreler

MEGARGEL, Texas, Nov. 7.—With oil slopping over the casing late Thursday, the Duke and associates well in section 2426, J. A. Young land, gives promise of opening an important pool for the Megargel district. The oil was found at 1412 feet and the sand was drilled three feet.

The well was heavily mudded and was considered well under control when the owners left for Wichita Falls. Later, however, it started slopping over the casing and from the present showing it is estimated good for between 400 and 500 barrels daily.

The new producer was later shut in by Jess Lincoln, drilling contractor, and will be given an open flow test into the tanks some time Friday.

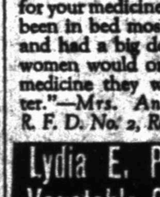

The well is located approximately in the center of 120 acres owned by W. R. Duke and Porter Oakes of Wichita Falls. Pandem Oil company and the Gulf Production company own the offset acreage. Locations were staked for the Duke-Oakes and associates No. 2 and the Pandem Oil company's No. 1 offsets to the discovery well Wednesday. The new strike is about a mile from the Pandem pool which is the closest production to the new Megargel producer. The well is one mile southwest of the town of Megargel.

JAIL CROWDED

A total of 19 prisoners almost filled the city jail to overflowing Thursday night, three of them women prisoners. The majority were held for investigation on various offenses, several for alleged drunkenness and one for vagrancy. Two young men, arrested about 11:30 o'clock Thursday night in a local theater, were jailed and booked for violation of the fire ordinance. They had been smoking in the theater and had refused after repeated requests to extinguish their cigarets, it was alleged. The two were released later in the night when officials of the theater stated they would not appear against them in court.

Graham Attorney Dies at Memphis

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Nov. 7.—An illness of nine weeks tonight proved fatal for J. E. Binkley, 69, prominent attorney of Graham, Texas, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. W. Kuhn, here.

Mr. Binkley, widely known in church and professional circles of Young county, to which he moved five years ago, was stricken with a fever nine weeks ago in Graham. Three weeks ago he came to the home of his daughter here. His son, Thomas G. Binkley, who was in partnership with his father in their Graham law office, was at his sister's home at the time of their father's death.

The body is to be forwarded Friday to Temple, Texas, for interment, it was announced.

DEATH CLAIMS IOWA PARK MAN

J. S. Owen Drops Dead at Mineral Wells

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, Nov. 7.—J. S. Owens, 56, widely known oil operator who had lived here for the last 16 years, dropped dead Thursday afternoon at a sanitarium at Mineral Wells, Texas, where he had gone for treatment six weeks ago after suffering a paralytic stroke, friends of the man here learned tonight.

Mr. Owens was the father of Gervis Owens of Wichita Falls. In addition he is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Bernard Curtiss, who live here, and a second daughter, Miss Imogene Owens, of Amarillo.

The body will be returned to Iowa Park for interment, it was said.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home
You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.
Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.
You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

COYOTES AND INDIANS GET BAPTISM OF MUD IN SCRIMMAGE

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Cagle in the West

While football is in sense an individual game, both the East and the Middle West are anxious to see what Chris Cagle can do against a strong conference defense at the first opportunity he has ever drawn.

Illinois can always be counted upon to present a strong standard defense that is not easily shaken. The Orange and Blue forwards and backs are difficult to fool or to batter down. Their attack may be nothing to marvel at, but attacking them is a tougher job.

It will be no new story to Murrell, as he once played for Minnesota before coming to West Point. Cagle's past experience with the Middle West has been against Notre Dame, so he should be well seasoned when it comes to facing hard-charging lines and alert secondaries. The main test to this game will be for the Army line. And the Army line will have to function before Cagle is going anywhere. If lines don't function, then backs don't function. Booth and Marsters both discovered this law of gravity last Saturday.

Illinois has been beaten and tied, and the Army has been beaten and tied, so they start even in this respect. Illinois has shown the stronger defense to date, and the Army has shown the stronger attack. It is doubtful that Illinois can send a back into action who carries the danger that Cagle lugs with him if given a fair chance to step along.

Minnesota and Purdue

The battle for the leadership of the Western conference now rests between Minnesota and Purdue. Minnesota has Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin to face; Purdue has Iowa and Indiana as her two main obstacles. All of which should mean that Iowa will be the storm center. If both can beat Iowa, both should win their other games, although Minnesota has much the harder job. Minnesota has to visit Iowa City, and Purdue gets her crack at Iowa on home turf at Lafayette. That makes a double difference in Purdue's favor. And it might be mentioned that Purdue has one of the best football teams in the U. S. of A., and that bars nobody. Minnesota is strong, but her big test comes tomorrow against a strong Iowa team.

Few teams in the country have as many stars as Purdue can name in Yunevitch, Welsh, Harmison, Slaight and Carroway.

Booth and Marsters

Yale and Dartmouth camp followers were still arguing the respective merits of Booth and Marsters after their meeting last Saturday. Booth did more continued damage all afternoon, but Marsters struck with more damaging power through his short spell of passing and running wild. They are two great backs, hard to compare after one game wherein the rival line play had a lot to do with the debate.

Booth is the better kicker. But so far as their respective merits are concerned, it will take an all-season record to furnish any answer worth putting down.

Booth is undoubtedly one of the great little men of football. He is smart, fast strong, wiry, elusive and tireless. He knows how to give with the blow when he has to. He can kick, pass, run, hit a line and tackle.

Marsters is also a great back, one of the best, who still has a number of hard games in which to show his stuff. There is still too much action left to render any verdict at this time.

Harvard and Michigan

It all depends on how far Michigan has come back in the last two weeks. If Michigan hasn't improved a lot the Wolverine is in for a depressing afternoon. Harvard hasn't a great football team, but Harvard has a good one, with a world of man power to put on the field. As Bachman, Fiorkla's coach put it: "We might have beaten any one Harvard team, but we couldn't beat two." Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt said about the same thing concerning the Minnesota contest. Harvard has a fine stock of reserve power. It is a better team than the Dartmouth score might indicate—a much better team. Michigan still has potential strength. There is a lot of good material wearing the Maize and Blue, and if it ever gets to clicking it can show much better football than Michigan has shown to date. The week's rest, with an open date last Saturday, should make a big difference.

COYOTES MAY MEET ORDEAL

Many Say Team Has Hit Winning Stride

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

Two Wichita Falls football teams got their baptism of mud Thursday afternoon when the Coyotes and the Indians decided to lock their horns in another scrimmage session. Though the practice field was not exactly a sea of mud it was slick and heavy enough to slow the two teams down and prevent any spectacular gallery play.

May Need Experience

Neither Barry Holton nor E. A. Baggett seemed at all disturbed on account of the aggravating nuisance of the muddy field. In fact Coach Holton seemed rather to think it was probably the experience his boys needed. For in the event of a big rain here before the Plainview game, the team would be called upon to play upon a tricky field at Athletic park and the Thursday scrimmage practice would certainly stand them in good stead for the fracas.

Indians Play Armistice Day

Both mentors have sent their proteges along at a lively gallop this week in anticipation of the next games on their schedules. The Indians will play the Arlington Aggies at Arlington on a big Armistice day program and the Coyotes will try and wallop the life out of the Plainview Bulldogs.

The Pack has rounded into a real threatening and winning team in the last 10 days and fans everywhere hereabout are heralding them as having a splendid football playing outfit. They are anxious to roll up a big score against the Plainview Bulldogs and show the Wichita fans how they have "snapped out of it" and can now play the game along with the best of them.

Amarillo Looks Wobbly

Once the team has hit their stride as they now appear to have done it is most likely that they are going to give somebody in the circuit a world of trouble. Amarillo looks a bit wobbly at this writing and may not be the "big storm" that they were at first popularly supposed to be.

Such is now the drift of football affairs in District 1 that the grid bugs are optimistically predicting that the Pack has more than an outside chance to be the runner-ups to Amarillo.

Harvard Will Invade West to Battle Michigan

Harvard will leave the Eastern front temporarily to strike at the Michigan Wolverines in Ann Arbor, Nov. 9. Ticknor, the Crimson's center, has stood out prominently in every engagement. Simrall, Michigan's quarterback, will direct the Wolverine attack.

Ponies Will Hold Weight Advantage Over Aggies in Clash at Kyle Field

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 7.—When Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie gridiron warriors take the field against the S. M. U. Mustangs of Coach Ray Morrison at Kyle field Saturday, they will find the Mustangs holding a decided weight advantage, comparison of the weights of the probable starting lineups of the two teams shows.

The Ponies, who average 183 pounds to the man, will best the team average of the Aggie starters by 11 pounds. In the backfield, the Aggies' average is 164 pounds while that of the Mustangs is 175. In the line the difference is virtually as great, the Mustangs tipping the beam for an average of 187 pounds to 177 for the Aggies.

Sanders Weighs 208

The presence of Choc Sanders, 208-pound guard, who won all-American honors with the Mustangs last season, and the 192-pound Neely, regular right guard of the Ponies, boosts the average of the Mustangs forward wall considerable. Sanders and Neely Saturday will be pitted against Chuck Richter, 180-pound guard, whose sparkling play is attracting much notice among those looking for likely all-southwestern prospects this season, and either Jack Christian, 172-pound sophomore, or Roscoe Van Zandt, 197-pound veteran.

Tackles Are Heavy

At tackles the Ponies again have the edge on the Aggies the comparison of weights shows, Hammon, 192-pound veteran, and Skeeters, 198-pounder, being matched with Otis Magrill and Carl Moulden, sophomores who weigh 188 and 179 pounds respectively.

On the wings the two teams are more evenly matched than at any other place in the line. Koontz, 180-pond left end of the Ponies, outweighs Pinky Alsabrook, Aggie right end, by eight pounds, while on the other end Rube Tracy, 172-pound wingman of the Aggies, tops Long of the Mustangs by seven pounds.

Center of Line Lighter

In the center of the line Powell, veteran center of the Ponies, tips the scales at 183 pounds while Joe Brown of the Aggies weighs 11 pounds less. In the event Powell, who was injured in the game with the Texas Longhorns, does not start for the Ponies, Saufley, who weighs 196 pounds, will give the Mustangs an even greater advantage. Abbey, reserve center of the Aggies, weighs 191 pounds.

Hopper Big Full

Ira Hopper, 200-pound fullback of the Ponies, is the man who accounts for the great difference between the backfield averages of the two teams, there being very little to choose as far as weight is concerned among the others. Ralph Dorsey, playing the same position for the Aggies that the 200-pound plays for the Ponies, weighs only 154 pounds. The other Mustang backs, Mason, Gilbert and Davidson, weigh 156, 170 and 173 pounds respectively while Capt. Tommie Mills, Brooks and Conover and Bull Floyd, of the Aggies, weigh 158, 172 and 176 pounds.

Sport Loose Ends

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

It's getting along about that time of the week, now, when all the fans begin to get worked up into a lather over the coming football feast of the week-end. And what a feast is set before the gridiron public! It makes most of our mouths water just to think of it. Saturday's potential thrills are scattered from coast to coast and from Canada on the North to Mexico (on the South) what with Harvard embarking for the "West" to play Michigan, Stanford journeying up the coast to take on Washington at Seattle, the young Iowa stalwarts faring forth to meet Minnesota in New Sweden, Northwestern entraining for Columbus to engage the Ohio State Buckeyes, the West Pointers heading for the prairie lands of Illinois, Georgia Bulldogs migrating north to the big city to play N. Y. U., the fiery steeds of S. M. U. looking for greener pastures down in the direction of College Station, and the Baylor eleven checking into Austin to try and put a "Bearish movement" on the Longhorn stock.

Oh, it is a most delectable football menu for this week, no doubt. The country is full of good teams this season but Saturday is sure to relegate many of them to the limbo of the forgotten ere another week is writ into history. The weeding out and killing off process is speeding up in a hurry now and in a fortnight or so the tale will be told as to who is who in the country's football camp.

We do not profess to be endowed with oracular powers and will not here name the mythical champions, at least not at this early date. Though we like Yale Notre Dame, Tulane and California. Albeit one man's guess is as good as another's in this day and time and so you are entreated to pick your own team.

The biggest thrill in the life of a multi-millionaire Texas cattleman, oil man, financier, and race-horse fancier came on Wednesday last with the inaugural races of W. T. Waggoner's Arlington Downs track. 10,000 turf fans thronged the huge grandstand for the opening races.

W. T. Waggoner is to horse racing in the Southwest what Tex Rickard was to boxing in this country. When the crowd passed the 9,000 mark, it is said the race fancier's sun-tanned face wrinkled into a smile as broad as the Texas plains as he chuckled: "I've got my money back already. I wanted them to be here and I'm glad." The day was a huge success in every way. Tex Rickard would have said, "I never seed nothin' like it."

They say that if you bring up a child in the way that you want him to go, when he becomes a man he will not depart from it. An excellent example of the truth of this old saying is represented in the respective sons of coaches Alonzo Stagg, Fielding H. Yost and Dan McGugin. Stagg's son is the brilliant young sophomore quarterback on the Chicago team. Fielding H. Yost Jr., is a halfback on the North Carolina Tarheel eleven, and Dan McGugin Jr., is a reserve guard on the famous Vanderbilt squad. These young fellows are veritably following in the footsteps of their illustrious sires. They have come by a fine heritage and have been brought up in the ways of football and now that they are in college they have not departed from their teachings.

If we are correctly informed by our spies, all is not well in the camp of the Golden Sandstorm. The Lubbock Westerners threw a man-sized scare into the Sandies last Saturday and they have not got over it to this day. That Dutch Smith is now in the throes of considerable uneasiness for his Golden Sandstorm is evidenced by the several lineup changes which he has made in his outfit this week. When for the first time several of the old guards and team regulars did not show up in a rough, tough scrimmage Tuesday the wise boys smelled a mouse. They figure that the Sandy Mentor senses danger ahead and that he has got to do a smart bit of purking up if he expects to cop off the district honors.

We're not making any prognostications just yet but the whole layout is simmering down to the point where it is worth watching. Certain it is that the district title is not in the sack right now and won't be for at least a couple of weeks or more.

Bowlers in Three Matches Sweep Set In Thursday Games

Ludlam-Riggs and Hub Clothing company each took three straight games from Ferguson Ice Cream company and Oriental Cafe in the bowling matches played Thursday night at the Spudder alleys. Huff Insurance company also took three in a row from Buick company.

As a result of the straight victories of Ludlam-Riggs and Hub Clothing company these two teams remain tied for first place in the standing of the City league.

Pete Turgeon was high three games with a 621 and also high single game with a 257. These marks were high for the week, also. Ludlam-Riggs put on the season's high single game with 1007 and high three games with 2944.

The inter-city matches between Wichita Falls and Dallas will bring together the following four matches: Ludlam-Riggs vs. Shepp Bakeries; Hub Clothing vs. Victory-Wilson; Cinderella Boot shop vs. Jefferson hotel; Elks club vs. American company.

On Sunday a round robin match composed of picked teams of one from Oklahoma City, one from Wichita Falls, and two from Dallas, will be staged at the Spudder alleys. These matches promise to be very interesting, for they will bring together some of the best pin toppiers in the Southwest. The public is being invited to come up and see the matches. No admission will be charged and the entertainment will be first rate.

Announcement as to full lineup and pairings for the Sunday matches will be made Saturday.

Georgia Tech Loses Star Left End by an Injury

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 7. (UP)—Just when Coach Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech was all set to pull Vanderbilt from its undefeated Southern conference position Saturday, Tom Jones, veteran left end tackled a dummy wrong yesterday and so injured his shoulder he probably will miss the Vandy game. Vance Matre was absent from practice on doctor's orders, but was expected to be available Saturday.

Mangum Team vs. Elk City Fight 9-9 Tie Thursday

MANGUM, Okla., Nov. 7.—The Mangum High school and Elk City elevens fought each other to a 9 to 9 standstill here today on a muddy field. The heavy field prevented any spectacular playing and the game was rather slow.

REAGAN JUNIOR BEATS B SQUAD

Captain Kossey Scores Lone Marker

The Reagan Junior high school eleven partly retrieved some of their lost prestige among the junior teams in these parts Thursday afternoon at Austin school field when they nosed out the Coyote B squad by the score of 6 to 0. The game was even harder than the score would indicate and both sides knew that they had been in a football game when the contest was over.

Captain Kossey of the house of Reagan proved to be the leading ground gainer of either squad and it was he who chalked up the lone marker for his mates.

The Reagan Junior high eleven will be seen in real big time action Saturday afternoon out at Athletic park when they are billed on the same card with the Coyotes. As a preliminary to the Pack-Plainview game the Reagan boys will mix it up with the scrappy Denton Junior high school lads. The Denton boys are reputed to be an up and coming little outfit and will give the local youngsters plenty to think and do about.

The double-header is the first of its kind here in recent years and will give the fans a big afternoon for their money.

The double bill is the start of an important experiment which will have as its purpose the organization of a league composed of the Junior high schools in this section. On Saturday coming at 11 o'clock in the auditorium of the Reagan school a group of school and athletic officials representing schools for a radius of 200 miles will meet to confer on the organization of a league.

Aggie Track Team Take on Longhorn Team on Friday

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 7.—Priming for the initial dual meet of the season Friday, Nov. 8, when Coach Frank Anderson's Texas Aggie cross country team, winners of the Southwest conference championship the past two years, will meet the Texas Longhorn harriers at College Station, members of the Aggie cross country squad will enter their final pre-season competition Saturday during the clash between Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie gridsters and the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks at Kyle field.

The competition Saturday will determine the personnel of the team that will meet the Longhorn hill and dale runners. The first seven men in the competition will carry the maroon and white of Aggieland in the Nov. 8 meet.

Two earlier competitions have given Coach Anderson little cause for worry since 10 men have been battling on almost even terms in both meets. Ed Thompson, Cameron, captain-elect of the Aggie track team, is the only veteran not in shape to run against the Longhorns a strained tendon having temporarily slowed him up.

Leaders in the recent competitions have been: C. Y. Shoemaker, Jacksonville, captain of this year's harriers; Dick Winders, Houston, cross country champion of the Southwest lasts fall; M. G. Perkins, Mount Pleasant, who has come up from a third place man of last season to lead the Aggie squad in both competitions so far in the season; J. B. Michael, Fort Worth, letter man last year; I. C. Hahn, fleet sophomore from Houston; Melton Smith, Sulphur Springs, R. M. Howard, Austin; Yale Griffis, Dallas; and E. A. Oberfell, San Antonio.

Longhorns Prepare for Terrific Onslaught With Baylor

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7. (AP)—Fully cognizant of the power of Baylor's Bears and realizing the importance of Saturday's home coming fray here, Coach Clyde Littlefield today drove the Longhorns through a strenuous dummy scrimmage with the ineligibles and the reserves.

"Bull" Elkins, halfback, was running signals with his teammates but he refrained from scrimmage. Littlefield said that his knee had loosened up considerably this week but it was doubtful if he would be used against the Waco eleven. Claude Meadows, quarterback, is on the sidelines, apparently for the remainder of the season.

With those two exceptions, the University of Texas eleven is ready for the Bruin invasion. Some of the other squad members have been suffering from bruises and minor ailments but are expected to be in shape to play Saturday.

If anything should happen to Nona Rees, the Longhorns' crack quarterback, Littlefield is expected to turn the direction of play over to John Craig, Eddie Beular or Jim Beard.

LUBBOCK SPECIAL

Plans Being Made to Send Special to Big Game

Owing to the unusual interest being manifested in the coming football game at Lubbock on Nov. 15 between the Westerners and the Coyotes, a movement has been initiated here to get up a special train to make the trip to the Panhandle city on the day of the game. A conference of school officials, townsmen and railroad managers brought out an agreement on Thursday whereby special rates will be offered to the people in this section who wish to follow the Coyote pack for the Lubbock game.

If the train is made up the round trip ticket to Lubbock and back may be had at the low price of $4.95. Ordinarily the same ticket sells for around $16.

The "Wichita Falls-Lubbock special" will be made up if the school officials can assure the railroad company of at least 200 passengers to make the trip. Many of the fans about town and school boys and girls have already declared their intentions of making the trip to Lubbock. However, those in charge are anxious to sign up for the full quota as soon as possible so that final arrangements with the railroad company can be completed and the special assured.

According to present plans the special train would leave Wichita Falls at 5:30 or 6 o'clock a. m. and arrive in Lubbock at noon, and would leave there as soon as possible after the game.

RACES EXTENDED

Arlington Downs Meet Will Go 11 Days Announced

FORT WORTH, Nov. 7. (AP)—The Arlington downs race meet has been extended one day—through Monday, Nov. 18, according to announcement made today by William Dondas, secretary of the Texas jockey club. The meet was to have closed Saturday, Nov. 16. There will be no races Sunday.

The extra day is to be for charity, 50 per cent of the gate receipts going to the community chests of Fort Worth, Dallas and Arlington. The Waggoners will put up all the purse prizes.

Owners with horses at the track have agreed to remain for the extra day of racing which was decided upon today after a meeting of jockey club officials and the mayors of the three cities. Fort Worth and Dallas will each get 20 per cent of the total gate and Arlington will get 10 per cent.

OFFICER KILLED

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 7. (UP)—Ralph Zahnle, 34, deputy marshal of Harbor View, near here, was shot and killed today as he and a companion attempted to stop a motor truck allegedly carrying liquor.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Nov. 10:

Sunday

Breakfast — Coddled eggs, Melba toast, dish of berries (canned, without sugar).

Lunch—Baked eggplant, lettuce, sliced cucumbers.

Dinner—Roast chicken or pork, spinach, asparagus. Salad of raw celery, apricot whip.

Monday

Breakfast—Oatmeal with milk or cream (no sugar), stewed prunes.

Lunch — 8-ounce glass of grapejuice.

Dinner—Vegetable soup, roast beef, steamed carrots, turnips, salad of shredded raw cabbage, no dessert.

Tuesday

Breakfast — Poached egg on Melba toast, apple sauce.

Lunch — Combination of salad of cooked and raw vegetables, consisting of cooked carrots and turnips from day before, with chopped celery and cabbage.

Dinner — Roast mutton, string beans, cooked celery, salad of head lettuce with olive oil if desired, carrot and date pudding.

Wednesday

Breakfast—Whole wheat muffins, coddled egg, stewed raisins.

Lunch—Glass of buttermilk with 10 or 12 dates.

Dinner—Clear tomato soup, Salisbury steak, okra; salad of raw spinach, tomato and asparagus; baked pears.

Thursday

Breakfast — Baked egg, Melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch—Buttered macaroni, molded salad of cooked string beans, peas, celery.

Dinner—Roast pork, baked parsnips, cooked lettuce, salad of quartered cucumbers, apple sauce.

Friday

Breakfast—Genuine whole wheat bread slightly toasted, peanut butter, stewed peaches.

Lunch — Raw apples and pecan nuts.

Dinner — Tomato jelly, baked white fish, stewed tomatoes, cooked spinach, stuffed celery, no dessert.

Saturday

French omelet, waffle, dish of berries.

Lunch—Boiled rice, mashed pumpkin, shredded lettuce.

Dinner—*Stuffed beef rolls, McCoy salad, pineapple gelatin with cream.

*Select a round steak of medium thickness, remove all fat and gristle, and cut into pieces about four inches in diameter. On each piece place a mould of the following dressing:

Slice and slightly toast the desired amount of real whole wheat bread or whole wheat muffins. Break into bits and moisten with milk. Add diced celery, minced ripe olives, ground roasted peanuts and seedless raisins, gauging the quantities to suit yourself. Mix all together by tossing about with a fork, being careful not to add too much milk—only enough to hold ingredients together.

Roll each piece of meat around the dressing and fasten with toothpicks, place on grill and brown on all sides. Put into heavy pan (such as an iron skillet) with a small amount of boiling water, cover tightly and let simmer for an hour over a slow fire or in the oven. The water in the pan should be replenished from time to time, and at the last a gravy may be made by thickening this liquid with a small amount of dextrinized flour.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grayish Eyes

Question—Mrs. H. G. writes: "I have noticed that the whites of my eyes are never entirely clear, but seem to be of a grayish-brown. I wear glasses and use a good eye wash, as I have astigmatism. I have been taking your eye exercises. Do you think this color is caused from biliousness?

Answer—The use of silver salts in eye washes often results in a brownish stain on the whites of the eyes even in very small doses. If this is not the cause in your case it is probably caused from biliousness which sometimes causes a brownish tone to the eyes.

Water

Question—T. U. asks: "Is water a food?"

Answer—Water must be considered as a food, as three-fourths of the bodily weight is made up of this indispensable element. There could be no form of organic life without water, and although a man can live for many weeks without other food, he cannot live more than a few days without water. Water is composed of oxygen and hydrogen gases, and when these gaseous elements are so combined as to form water they are able to have a more important effect upon metabolism than when they are extracted from any other kind of food material.

Misplaced Bursa

Question—H. F. D. writes: "I wonder if you could suggest what to do for a trouble in my wrist caused by hanging on bars in a gymnasium. It is a muscle or something popped out. The gym teacher says it can be put back. It doesn't pain, but I don't like the looks of it."

Answer—You have probably misplaced the synovial membrane or bursa of the wrist. Bursa of the wrist is sometimes difficult to replace, but the best method seems to be to stretch the affected joint by pulling yourself up on a horizontal bar, and have someone push the membrane or "bursa" in place while the joint is stretched apart.

Conscience Stricken Boy Caught Returning Loot

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7. (INS)—An 18-year-old youth, Clarence E. Lusby, was in jail today, because his conscience troubled him after he had looted a home here.

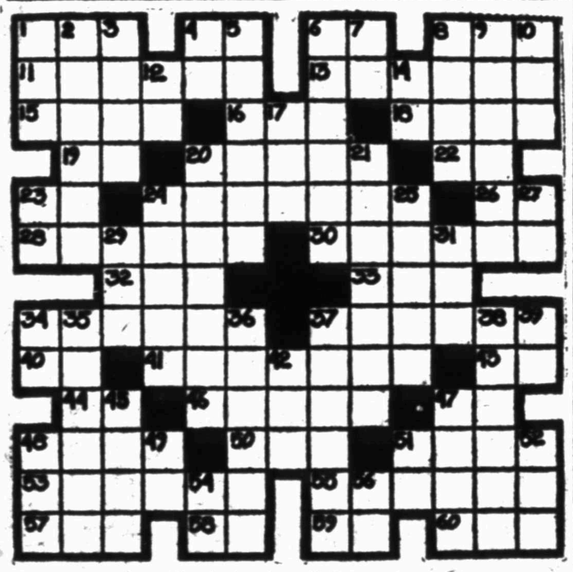

After robbing a house here he decided that he couldn't go through with his plan to be a "bad man" so he returned the loot to the person he had robbed. He was captured.

Pola Negri Keeps in Privacy of Special Car

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (INS)—Pola Negri, wife of Prince Mdvani, surveyed Chicago today from the privacy of her locked railroad special car.

A maid announced to the ever-present reporters that Pola was not feeling well. She is on her way to Paris to get her final decree of divorce from the prince who is reported enamoured with Mary McCormick, opera diva.

UNIVERSITY OIL LEASES SOLD

Rights on 2,100 Acres Net State $191,864

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)—The land leasing board of the University of Texas today sold the oil and gas rights on approximately 2,100 acres for $191,864. The land leased was in Ector, Crane and Hudspeth counties.

The board rejected all bids on eight other tracts, and no bids were received on 10 pieces of land advertised for lease.

The eight bids were rejected because the board did not think them sufficiently high. J. H. Walker, land commissioner and member of the board, said the board felt it should hold the land for more money inasmuch as larger bids were received on nearby property. Sale or leases was as follows:

Ector County—S½ of NE¼ section 1, B-1.35, Cosden company, Fort Worth, $56,800; S½ of NW¼, section 1, B-1.35, Cosden company, $40,000; S½ of NE¼, section 2, B-1.35, Cosden company, $56,000.

Crane and Ector Counties—NW¼ of section 12, B-1.35, Prairie Oil and Gas company, Eastland, $16,104.

Crane County—SE¼ of section 12, B-1.35, Prairie company, $9,840; SE¼ of section 13, B-1.35, Snowden & McWheeney, Fort Worth, $12,000.

Hudspeth County—Section 14, B-1.A, L. E. Lockhart, Los Angeles, $160; section 15, B-1.A, L. E. Lockhart, Los Angeles, $160.

The figures were in addition to one-eighth royalty and 50 cents an acre on the Hudspeth county land and one-sixth royalty and $1 an acre on the other tracts.

This was the second sale of mineral rights by the board created by the 41st legislature. At the previous sale 19 tracts were sold for $168,425.

New Production In West Texas Gains

Special to The Record News

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 7.—New production in the West Texas Permian basin went high last week, after several weeks of small initial yield. Twelve producers were completed in five counties with total daily initial output of 77,171.60 barrels, compared with the completion of only seven wells good for 2,642 barrels the week before. The gain was due largely to one Pecos county gusher, Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental No. 7 M. A. Smith, which gauged 2,927 barrels hourly, a rate of 70,248 barrels daily.

Pecos county added four wells good for 73,498 barrels, Howard county four wells for 1,750.60 barrels, Glasscock county two wells for 1,676 barrels, Crane county one well for 150 barrels and Upton county one well for 97 barrels. Eight tests were abandoned dry, five in Pecos county and one each in Glasscock, Howard and Irion counties. A Winkler county test was abandoned at a shallow depth, a Glasscock county hole was junked and three locations were abandoned, one each in Crockett, Irion and Pecos counties.

RAIN DELAYS TURKEY SALES

Gins Also Hampered by Showers Thursday

Continued rainfall put an effective damper not only on cotton ginning in the county, but upon the opening day of the 1929 turkey roundup, according to reports from poultry dealers in this area Thursday.

Cotton gins turned only to the extent of putting out 22 bales during the day, with Burkburnett and Kemp City ginners taking a day of rest. The county's total climbed a few points to 16,534 bales.

Few turkeys came in during the day, but inquiries and arrangements made Thursday indicated that Friday's yield will put the season's movement of these birds well under way, it was said. Twenty cents was the prevailing price throughout this district.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. (AP)—Rallies from an early decline in cotton today were attributed to trade buying and pre-bureau covering, but met some southern selling and realizing and were not fully maintained. After selling up from 17.21 to 17.47 January contracts reacted to 17.24 and closed at 17.28 with the general market closing steady, net 3 points higher to 3 points lower.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 9 points to a decline of 6 points and the active months soon showed net losses of 2 to 4 points under hedging and some further liquidation promoted by the opening declines in the stock market. This carried prices into new low ground for the movement and season, and seemed to bring in considerable trade buying or covering. The latter became more active when the stock market rallied and prices worked up sharply during the middle of the day with December advancing from 17.03 to 17.34 while March sold up from 17.51 to 17.87.

At these figures the market showed net advances of 20 to 24 points on the active months and recoveries of about 25 points from the low levels of the morning. The demand tapered out, however, as if the covering of shorts for over tomorrow's government crop report had pretty well run its course and the market sagged off during the afternoon.

Notwithstanding the extent of recent selling there appeared to be some further old long liquidation on the afternoon reactions, while there was also a little more southern selling. Taking the day as a whole, however, the southern selling was said to be in comparatively moderate volume and while much of the demand on the late forenoon advance was attributed to covering, the trade was reported a fairly good buyer.

Both Liverpool and the continent were credited with buying a little cotton here early and private cables received from Bremen said that continental spinners were more inclined to buy on the decline. One more of the private crop reports was published, placing the indicated yield at 14,880,000 bales and the ginnings prior to Nov. 1 at 11,120,000 bales.

Liverpool cabled repeated liquidation and hedge selling with a poor off take in that market. Port receipts today, 45,213. U. S. port stocks, 2,352,956. Exports, 64,487, making 2,465,054 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7. (AP)—Cotton was nervous and erratic today and price fluctuations were fairly wide. After a moderate early advance the market sagged in sympathy with the weakness in stocks and values made new low levels for the season. The market rallied again however, but the improvement met renewed liquidation and final prices showed little change for the day. January contracts declined from 17.33 to 17.10, then reached 17.42 only to ease off and close at 17.16, or unchanged for the day. The general market closed steady, net 1 point up to 2 points down.

Although Liverpool cables were easy initial transactions here showed advances of 4 to 5 points. The market continued to advance after the start on the unfavorable weather in the belt. December sold up to 18.11 or 5 to 7 points net up.

The early decline in the stock market induced sympathetic selling in cotton and as a result prices here traded to new lows for the season with December selling below the 17-cent line of 16.98. January traded to 17.10 and March 19.37, or 12 to 13 points down from the highs.

The subsequent recovery in stocks steadied prices and the apparent over sold condition of the market induced some additional support. The demand proved sufficient to carry all active positions up 32 points from the lows with December at 17.30 and March 17.69.

After the close of the stock market, 17 to 19 points of the recovery was lost, presumably on final pre-bureau liquidation and in the late trading prices nearly reached the low points. Final prices, however, were practically unchanged for the day with December closing at 17.04, net one point up and March at 17.46, unchanged.

MOFFETT SEES DIRIGIBLE ERA

Rear Admiral Picture Expansion of Flying

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 7. (AP)—A great era of dirigibles in the United States, connecting this country with the seven seas, making "sea" ports of the inland cities, surveying great stretches of unexplored lands and taking a foremost part in defense and prevention of war was visualized today by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, at the ceremonies attending the laying of the master ring of the ZRS-4 here today.

Admiral Moffett said he foresees such an era in the next few years. The ZRS-4 is the first of the navy's two giant dirigibles which are to be constructed here by the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation.

Electra Legion To Attend Burk Meeting

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 7.—C. P. Engelking, post commander of the Claude McDonald American Legion post, stated that the local post would attend the meeting at Burkburnett Friday night. Earnest Cox, state commander, whose headquarters are at Austin, will be present and address the two posts.

Electra Oil Field Workers Meet

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 7.—The Electra Oil Field union, No. 156, met at the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday night, with W. P. McCarty, president, presiding over the meeting. J. L. Coulter, international secretary of the unions in the South, and who resides at Fort Worth, was present and gave a splendid address on his recent trip to Toronto, Canada, where he attended the American Federation of Labor convention.

Mr. Coulter stated in his address that there would be another convention Nov. 18 and that it would probably be held at Washington, D. C. At this meeting ways and means will be provided for the organization of unions in every oil field in the United States. Mr. Coulter will also represent the Electra union at this meeting.

Plans are being formulated by the union to organize a labor council at Electra with members of the different unions in towns as members of the board of directors of the council. The purpose of this council is for the betterment and uplift of the laboring class of people in Electra. The plans will be completed at the next meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 12.

The program of the evening was in charge of J. D. Martin, who, with Mrs. S. L. Orr and R. L. Hickson, gave several musical scores. About 50 members were present.

Wichita Pastors At Electra Meet

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 7.—The third of a series of meetings sponsored by the Wichita-Archer Baptist association was held at the Baptist church Wednesday night. The Rev. J. L. Walters of Wichita Falls led the devotional. The Rev. E. M. Agee gave an address on "The Minimum of Christian Giving." Mr Agee is the Wichita county missionary for the Baptist association. Dr. O. L. Powers of Wichita Falls gave a very interesting address on "The Spiritual Value of Money."

The first of this series of meetings was held at Archer City Monday night with Rev. E. M. Agee and Rev. L. L. Cooper as the principal speakers. The second meeting was at Iowa Park Tuesday night with Rev. S. F. Martin and Rev. Ross A. Smith of Breckenridge as the principal speakers.

The fourth meeting will be held at Burkburnett Thursday night and the fifth at Wichita Falls Friday night. Dr. W. R. White of Lubbock and Dr. Glenn N. Neafus will be the speakers at Wichita Falls.

Electra Airport Work Progresses

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 7.—The Electra airport, sponsored by the Electra Chamber of Commerce, is well under construction. The port is located three miles west of town on the Electra-Vernon highway on a tract of land secured from the Magnolia company.

The weeds have been cleared from the grounds and runways one-half mile each way are being graded and oiled. Plans are being made for the hangar which will hold six planes. The field will be in a circle shape and a large aerial will be erected pointing to the north. The name "Electra" will be painted on the grounds so that the pilots may see it at a distance.

J. C. Shaw of the Magnolia company and W. T. Waggoner have been appointed to complete the arrangements of the grounds. The financial committee appointed include Shas. McGann, chairman; Gordon Douglas, J. G. B. Totten and W. T. Waggoner.

The committees met at the chamber of commerce hall Monday afternoon and discussed ways and means of completing the airport now under way. It was agreed to incorporate the port at $10,000, $5,000 of this amount to be raised at once and stock certificates valued at $50 will be offered to the public within a few days.

WALL STREET CLERK LEAPS

Woman Brokerage Filer Plunges to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. (AP)—Near exhaustion from the strain of the last hectic market days, Mrs. Hulda Browaski, 51, chief filing clerk in a brokerage house, today either leaped or fell from the roof of the 37-story equitable building in the Wall street district.

Although both relatives and Sutro and company, brokerage house where she had worked for 24 years, declined to give out any information it was learned she had been working night and day for a week or more and last night was near collapse.

C.-C. MEMBERS MEET TODAY

Joint Luncheon to Consider Business Questions

Members of the Senior and Junior chambers of commerce will meet jointly at a luncheon to be held at the Kemp hotel Friday noon for the annual business meeting of the organization, it was announced Thursday by J. W. Chatham, acting manager.

Appointment of three important committees will constitute the principal business to be transacted Friday, it was said. One committee will be named to nominate 20 men to be placed on the ballot for election of the 1930 board of directors. From this list of 20, five men will be elected in January. The second committee will be for the drawing up of a program of work for the ensuing year, while the third will be charged with preparation of a tentative 1930 budget.

Those present Friday also will be asked to vote on the proposed reorganization of the business council. This body was discontinued for the year 1929, but requests for its reorganization have been made recently, chamber of commerce officials said. It was composed of two representatives of each business classification in the city.

Reservations for Friday's luncheon must be made with the chamber of commerce before 10 a. m Friday, Mr. Chatham said.

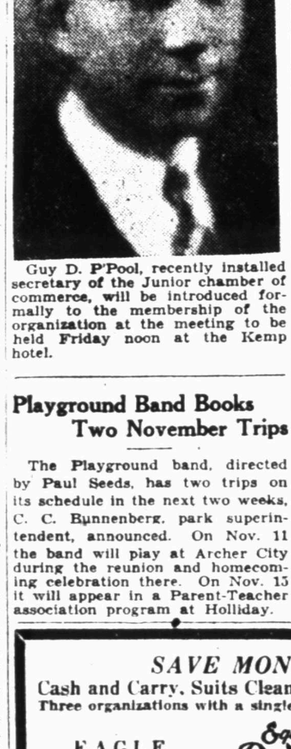

Dairy Company Heads Inspect Plant Here

Officials of the Southwest Dairy Products company from the general offices at Dallas made an inspection Wednesday of the Kraft cheese plant here, which will be taken over on Nov. 16 for the manufacture of powdered and condensed milk.

Installation and alteration of equipment has been under way for some days by the Southwest Dairy Products company, which purchased the Kraft plant about a month ago.

C. S. Dawley, president; R. A. Whaley, production manager, and T. B. Kennedy, secretary and treasurer, were the officials who visited the company's industries here.

Junior Secretary

Guy D. P'Pool, recently installed secretary of the Junior chamber of commerce, will be introduced formally to the membership of the organization at the meeting to be held Friday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Playground Band Books Two November Trips

The Playground band, directed by Paul Seeds, has two trips on its schedule in the next two weeks, C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent, announced. On Nov. 11 the band will play at Archer City during the reunion and homecoming celebration there. On Nov. 15 it will appear in a Parent-Teacher association program at Holliday.

C.-C. TO GREET ARCHER CITY

Junior Division Delegation To Make Trip

Members of the Junior chamber of commerce are planning to invade Archer City next Monday morning in large numbers for the golden jubilee celebration there, according to A. D. Lightsey, chairman of the trade trip committee.

Assisted by Frank Haley and Walter Nelson Jr., Mr. Lightsey is making plans for an extensive caravan to leave 904 Scott avenue at 10:30 a. m., Nov. 11, with the expectation of reaching Archer City before noon.

Between 6:30 and 7 o'clock Monday evening, it was announced, Messrs. Haley, Nelson and Lightsey will present a dramatic farce as part of the program of entertainment planned for the day.

WEETH SCHOOL PRAISED

An inspection trip to the Weeth school Thursday revealed that the school was one of the best equipped in the county and had a 100 per cent enrollment in the Texas State Teachers association, according to Burl Bryant, county school superintendent.

Superintendent Bryant and Principal S. A. Davis of the Weeth school made a careful check of the equipment which was recorded on the official score card for Texas rural schools and sent to the department of education at Austin. The teachers enrolled in the state teachers association are Superintendent Davis, Mrs. Davis, Miss Edna Mae Mills and Miss Lucile Hardigree.

Christmas Mailing

Posters bearing a warning to "shop and mail now for Christmas," were received by O. P. Maricle, postmaster, Thursday, and they will be displayed throughout the city at once, he said.

Manager Returns

City Manager George D. Fairtrace was back at his desk in the Memorial auditorium Thursday, having recovered from a severe cold which confined him for two days.

City Equipment Painted

Every structure on each of the city's public parks, and each piece of playground equipment, both in the parks and at public schools, is being given a new coat of paint by employes of the city park department, C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of the department, announced.

City Announces Hours For Zoo Inspection

Wild, but frail creatures in the city zoo will be protected from cold weather from now on, C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, announced Thursday. The structure housing baboons and monkeys, kangaroos and kinkajous and ocelots, Mr. Bunnenberg said, is to be open to the public in future only from the hours of 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., except Sundays. Cages of the hardier animals, it was announced, will always remain open.
