

Mitchell County Jailbreak!!!

"It Was All My Fault," Says Sheriff

A 14-year-old Snyder girl remained at large Saturday after she and a Houston girl escaped sometime Tuesday night from Mitchell County's new $64,458.87 jail annex that includes a juvenile ward.

Mitchell County sheriff's officers believe the escape occurred about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday although the escape was not discovered until about 8 a.m. Wednesday.

The 15-year-old Houston girl called the sheriff's department about 2 p.m. Wednesday from her grandparents home on Lake Champion. She later surrendered to Deputy Ann Martin and Sheriff Bill McGuire.

"We don't have any idea where the Snyder girl is," McGuire said.

She was described as having long black hair, brown eyes, about five feet tall and weighing about 100 pounds. She was to have been transported to the Texas Youth Council facilities at Brownwood State School.

The Houston girl was put onto a plane and sent to Houston authorities Thursday.

"It was all my fault," admitted an embarrassed Sheriff McGuire. The sheriff said he was too anxious to move into the new annex and did not wait until bars were installed over a window in the juvenile ward.

The Mitchell County jail is used to house juveniles from Fisher, Scurry and Nolan counties as jails in those counties have been condemned as not being adequate to house juveniles.

The manner in which the two girls used to escape from the Mitchell County jail was described by Sheriff McGuire:

They apparently used eye bolts as pry bars to snap the strands in an expanded metal screen covering a window. From all indication, they obtained the eye bolts from kicking loose a separate protective screen. The girls opened a hole in the expanded metal screen measuring 10 1/2 inches by 14 1/2 inches, broke out the window glass and squeezed through the opening.

A welder who was repairing the screen Thursday told the sheriff he didn't see how it was possible for the girls to tear open the screen.

McGuire said bars are going to be installed over the window and that this type of thing will not happen again. Sheriff's Deputy L. M. Newby lives at the jail and was away from his home working at the apparent time of escape. There was no explanation of why the jail break wasn't discovered sooner.

News about the jail break was not made public locally and it became public knowledge only after it was picked up from out of town police by out of town newspapers late Wednesday.

McGuire said he had hoped to have the girls in custody within a few hours after the escape was discovered and if that had happened, nothing would have ever been made public about the escape, the youngest sheriff in Texas said.

Wolves Edge Slaton 14-13

Colorado City's game with Slaton Friday night was not a game for the faint of heart. The Wolves managed to get a 14-13 lead in the third quarter and then held on for dear life as injuries and cramps depleted the ranks of the Colorado City team.

With about two minutes to go in the game, Slaton drove to the Wolves two yard line and attempted a field goal on fourth down. The field goal attempt was no good as it went wide and then the Wolves ran off part of the clock and intercepted a Slaton pass in the dying minutes of the game to take the 14-13 victory.

The 2 1/2 hour game was a tough struggle from the very beginning.

The Wolves won the toss and elected to receive. The kick-off was short with Kevin Herm covering the ball for the Wolves at the Wolves 46 yardline. From there the Wolves picked up several first downs but then couldn't move any further and ran out of downs. Slaton was unable to move the ball and had to punt, giving the ball to the Wolves at their own 30. On the second play of the Wolves second possession of the night, Quarterback Ray Torrez dropped back quickly and threw the ball to Tight End Jackie Ellis who had slipped behind the Slaton secondary. Ellis grabbed the ball on the run and 68 yards later, the Wolves were on the scoreboard with a 6-0 lead. The try for extra point failed.

On the Wolves next possession, Torrez again went back to pass but this time, the ball fell into the wrong hands and Slaton's Mike Tumlinson raced 42 yards with the interception to put the Tigers on the score- See WOLVES Page 7

TESCO Asks For 9% Boost

Texas Electric Service Co. Manager B. B. Hardee will ask the Colorado City Council to approve new electric rates that will increase the company's revenues by 9 per cent.

The presentation of the proposed rate increase will be made at Tuesday's council meeting which begins at 7 p.m. Hardee said the exact size of the increase for any individual depends on the amount and pattern of use. A typical customer whose electric bill for the year averages $15 a month will have a 6.4 per cent annual increase. The increase generally will be less for users of small amounts of electricity and more for users of large amounts, he said.

"Colorado City residents today have electric rates among the lowest in the nation," Hardee told the Record, "and we want to keep it that way. But to continue to give our customers reliable service at the lowest possible price in the long run, we must build new plants using cheaper fuels than natural gas."

Hardee said the new plants will use lignite coal and nuclear fuel--both much cheaper than natural gas at today's market prices. Large reserves of lignite and supplies of nuclear fuel have already been acquired, he said.

Because of the high construction costs for the new plants, Hardee said, the cost of producing electricity will go up. "But these new plants, expensive as they are, will still produce electricity more cheaply than plants using gas at today's high prices," he said.

Currently TESCO's long term contracts for low-cost natural gas are helping to keep rates down. But those contracts will expire in about five years, and gas today--if it can be found at all--is much more expensive.

"The price of gas and oil has skyrocketed," Hardee said, "and we can no longer be sure these fuels will be available to serve our customers' needs."

TESCO now uses natural gas for nearly 80 per cent of its fuel needs, with lignite and small amounts of fuel oil making up the remaining portion. Company plans call for lignite and nuclear fuel to supply 65 per cent of power generation by 1982.

Hardee said the construction program is on schedule, with three lignite generating units already in operation and seven under construction. Work on the Comanche Peak nuclear plant near Glen Rose is also on schedule.

To finance the program--which calls for some $500 million in the years 1975 through 1977--TESCO must borrow large sums of money in the highly competitive money market, Hardee said. If the company's revenues aren't sufficient, he indicated, the company's credit rating will be lowered and borrowing would be more difficult and more expensive.

So far, he said TESCO has been able to borrow at the lowest possible interest rates because of its high credit rating. If that rating is lost, the company could only borrow at higher interest rates, adding millions of dollars to the cost of providing electricity.

"To continue raising the money needed to build these new plants," Hardee said, "we must have sufficient revenues to maintain investor confidence. But keeping revenues at an adequate level in the face of rising costs is difficult. Despite our efforts to cut back expenses, inflated costs of labor, materials and other needs are continually driving up the cost of providing our customers with electric energy."

By maintaining a sound financial position in the past, Hardee said, TESCO has been able to provide good service while keeping rates below those in most other parts of the country. He said a $20 residential electric bill in Colorado City today would be $56 in New York, $27 in Chicago, $32 in Austin and $27 in San Antonio.

Hardee, who said the increase was the "very minimum" required to keep the investor confidence needed to raise the funds the company needs, asked that the new rates become effective Dec. 1 and be applied to all bills calculated from meter readings on or after Jan. 1, 1976.

TESCO's last rate increase, early in 1974, raised revenues about 9 per cent. Before that, the company had received only three rate increases (in 1951, 1961 and 1972) and had made several rate reductions, most recently in 1963 and 1965.

A Public Utility Regulatory Act passed by the Texas legislature in its last session established a commission which will have jurisdiction over electric rates beginning Sept. 1, 1976, in unincorporated areas only. Municipalities will continue to regulate electric utilities within their corporate limits, but beginning Sept. 1, 1977, can transfer rate regulation to the commission.

$50,000 Available For Terrace Repair

A total of $50,000, allocated on two different approval dates, will be available to Mitchell County farmers to repair about 1,500 to 2,000 miles of terraces damaged by heavy rainfall in mid-July and mid-August.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office received notification of approval of $24,725 August 26 and on August 29, was notified that an additional $25,275 had been approved, a total of $50,000.

Don Stewart, ASCS executive director, said that sign-up dates will be from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 and that applications will not be handled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Indians

40-0 Over

Bulldogs

Jim Ned plowed under the Bulldogs Friday night at Johnson Field in Lorraine with the contest ending in a score of 40-0.

"We just had a poor night on offense," says Coach Ken Lightfoot, "and we just kept making mistakes over and over."

"We were playing with a lot of freshmen who were in their first varsity game and it is still early in the year and I believe we will come around for the game against Colorado City," he said.

Lorraine had to turn over the ball to the Indians following the first four plays of the game and Jim Ned took advantage of their first possession with a field-length run ending in their first touchdown of the game.

The Indians scored 28 points the first half of the game and 12 the second half with Lorraine seldom touching their home ground.

Lorraine only lost one fumble during the Indians rampage with Jim Ned losing two although the Indians did intercept three of quarterback Mark McDaniels' passes and Lorraine intercepted one pass.

Two of the Bulldogs did have an exceptional night with back Ralph Chavez doing some outstanding hitting on defense with his 125 pounds and Mark McDaniels, quarterback, was doing some fancy zipping as he switched from offense to defense because of an injury to the club's other quarterback, Ricky Moreno.

Boosters Meet

7:30 Tuesday

Lorraine's Bulldog Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the teachers' lounge at Lorraine High School.

Coaches Ken Lightfoot and Gene Rankin will discuss the Jim Ned game and preview the Bulldogs' next opponents, Colorado City Junior Varsity.

The Bulldog-CCJV game is set for 8 p.m. Saturday in Johnson Field in Lorraine.

He outlined procedures as follows:

--Any work done before application is made and approval granted is not eligible.

--Applications will be turned over to the Soil Conservation Service and they have the technical responsibility to determine needs--what and how much.

--After a field inspection by the SCS, applications will be turned back over to the ASCS.

--Approval by the ASCS county committee is the next step.

--After work is completed, the farmer reports back to the ASCS office and another inspection is made by the SCS to determine if the system meets specifications.

--If the farmer does the work himself, he needs to turn in to the ASCS the number of hours and a description of the type of equipment used in completing the work.

--If a contractor does the work, the farmer needs to bring an original cost statement of charges.

--After all the paperwork is completed, drafts will be sent out from the ASCS office, in most cases on an 80-20 cost-share basis, Stewart said.

Stewart requested after the first seven-inch rain in mid July that farmers report terrace damage to the ASCS office. Additional heavy rains, up to 5 and 7 inches in some places, fell in mid-August.

The ASCS county committee requested emergency aid to repair the damaged terraces and an aerial inspection by George L. Boenigk, state director of the Agricultural Conservation Practices part of the state ASCS office, was made in the county.

Boenigk was guided in his flying tour by Stewart and Warren Anderson, county committee chairman.

Dates Set For Show

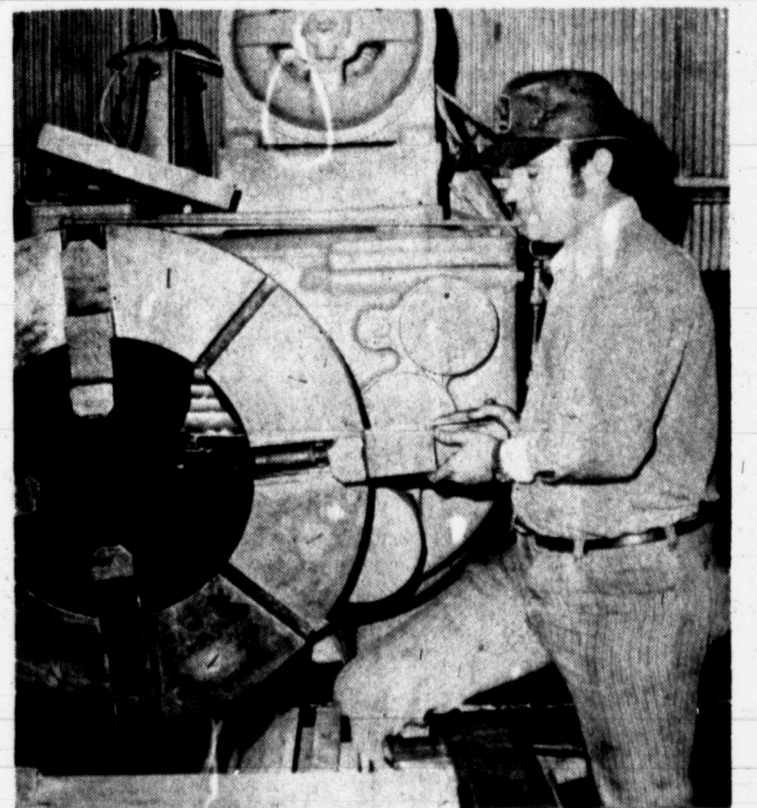

A recent meeting of the Livestock Association set dates for the 1976 Mitchell County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show for Jan. 8, 9 and 10.

Officers were also elected at the meeting and include the following:

- President, Kenneth Beasley.
- Vice president, Harry Dockrey.
- Secretary, David Stubblefield.
- Treasurer, Bobby Lemons.

Mitchell County extension agent Bob Benson said that the group decided to sell tickets on a raffle to be given away in a drawing during the Mitchell County Fair. Tickets are available at his office at the courthouse annex for 4-H clubbers and FFA members to sell.

Benson added that the special Jim Maddox Memorial Trophy for the best lamb bred in the county will be awarded this year by Mr. and Mrs. Don Powell.

To Open Soon

Ray Dillard, owner-operator of Colorado Machine and Tool, is getting his shop ready to open for business Sept. 15 in the location which formerly housed Colorado Machine Shop, 225 W. 3rd. He says his business will offer complete repair and rebuilding services. Dillard is standing beside the hollow spindle lathe which turns tool joints or pipe up to 18 inches in diameter, one of only two such machines in existence in the United States, he said.

Scrimmage Opens Volleyball Action

Wolves volleyballers played a scrimmage in Lamesa Thursday against Varsity and Junior Varsity teams.

Coach Susan Anderson, guiding the volleyball team for the first time this year, said that both teams looked good in the controlled action.

Each team member served five times and pickup and spike play continued until the ball was dead, but no score was kept. Wolves varsity team played for about one and one-half hours, the JVs playing about an hour.

"We're trying to pickup on the 5-1 offense this year and the girls looked good, Jackie Palmer is the main setter and the others are at spike, Susan Harrison's floor play was good," Mrs. Anderson said.

"The JVs looked good, too," she said, "even though they were nervous starting, but there are some young players who hadn't had any game experience before and I think they'll come on and get over their jitters."

"The teams will be working on serves and spikes this week and play a regular game in Odessa Tuesday against Odessa Ector, JV game starting at 6:30 p.m. and the Varsity game following," the coach said.

Freshmen girls play in Wolves Gym Monday night in a game against Snyder starting at 5:30 p.m.

Scenery At Center

Dobb Allen, cowboy for the Pitchfork Ranch, stops for a biscuit and coffee on a special visit to the Ranching Heritage Center at Texas Tech University. The chuckwagon is a part of the scenery at the center which eventually will be landscaped to conform historically to the structures which have been brought from throughout the state to give visitors an experience of the past. In the background are, left, the Masterson JY Bunkhouse and the Harrell House of Scurry County. The Rendonbrook Spade Ranch of Mitchell County gave a blacksmith shop to the museum also. Each denotes a different stage in the development of ranching in the American West. The Ranching Heritage Center's official opening is set for July 3, 4 and 5, 1976 as a part of America's Bicentennial celebration.

Ranching Heritage Center Planning Formal Opening

When the shot heard 'round the world was fired in Massachusetts no louder echo reverberated than the one from Texas.

Celebrating that echo July 4, 1976, will be the Ranching Heritage Center, an authentic outdoor ranching museum at Texas Tech University.

It is located in Lubbock, one of the first eight cities in the nation to be named an official Bicentennial City, with the expectation that the Center would have a major role providing "significant evidence of the history and development of the West."

The Center is scheduled for completion next July, although almost 50,000 visitors have toured its authentic buildings, depicting the history of ranching in America. The formal opening will take place July 3, 4 and 5, 1976.

Charlie Schreiner, one of the nation's leaders in the breeding of Longhorn cattle and a founder of the Longhorn Association, will boss a symbolic cattle drive arriving at the Ranching Heritage Center July 3. The herd's arrival will start the celebration.

Schreiner's YO Ranch near Kerrville, stocks both Longhorn and exotic game. The drive to the Ranching Heritage Center will be a repeat, similar to Schreiner's famous drive of 1966 from Kerrville to Dodge City, Kansas.

Opening day visitors also will see the premier of a major theatrical production--the fore-runner of a unique mobile theater using the 12-acre Ranching Heritage Center as a stage.

Already there are 16 buildings on the site and four more are expected to be in place by the opening. The only building which did not once serve on a ranch will be an orientation center, providing visitors a glimpse of the broad aspects of ranching history.

At the Center are ranch homes reflecting a century of development, from a log cabin built in South Texas in 1836 to a three-story ranch home built in the Panhandle in 1909.

The Escobedo headquarters of the three-million-acre XIT Ranch has been restored. There is a half-dugout and a two-story dugout, a double log cabin and a box-and-strip house. One house at the center grew from a rock and mud room to a comfortable dwelling. Ranch facilities denote various historic periods. These include a bunkhouse, a meat and milk house, a ranch office, a blacksmith shop, carriage house and even a one-room schoolhouse. The blacksmith shop comes from the Rendonbrook-Spade Ranch in Mitchell County.

Furnishings within are as important as exterior restoration. Windmills on the site--an Eclipse, a Walpole and a ground tumbler--first drew water for Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas ranchmen. Two already are restored and the Eclipse furnishes water for the meat and milk house which once served the famous JA Ranch.

Some famous ranches had no historic buildings but helped financially in the Center's establishments, ranches like the Mallet, the Pitchfork and the Matthews Lamshead. Represented by Center buildings are the U Lazy S, the Rendonbrook-Spade, the Matador, the Masterson JY, and the Long S--names that to cattlemen spell the open range and lots of it.

The twice-decorated Marine captain (Silver Star and Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry) is currently teaching Naval Science at Prairie View A&M University near Houston and lives in Houston.

He said during a recent visit that there are scholarships available to deserving men and women and mentioned three areas that are short on filling scholarship quotas:

- National Selection Board, Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps scholarships.
- College scholarships.
- Marine Corps Platoon Leader Corps program scholarships.

Capt. Biggers said persons interested in information about these scholarships might check with their local Marine recruiter or contact him during one of his visits home.

He is a 1961 graduate of Colorado High School and went on to attend Jarvis Christian College in Hawkins, Texas where he participated in athletics.

In 1966 he enlisted in the Marines and subsequently completed the 10-month Officer Candidate School at Camp Pendleton.

On Dec. 23, 1968 he went overseas as a Second Lieutenant. During nine months in the Quang Tri province, he was shot three times. The first time he said he was sent to Da Nang and transferred to Okinawa 40 days later and after recuperating, was sent back to the action front and shot again after one day of duty while on patrol.

He then was shipped to San Diego Naval Hospital where he received the Silver Star and Purple Heart with two citations, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry and the Army Presidential Unit Citation.

"Then I went to the Amphibian Warfare School in Quantico, Va. and transferred to a class where I taught newly commissioned officers tactics until 1974 when I went overseas to Okinawa and was Company Commander there.

"We got into the evacuation of Saigon and Phnom Penh and were on stand-by for the Mayaguez rescue," he said.

After that experience, Capt. Biggers came back to the states and is currently teaching amphibian Doctrine and the Evolution of Warfare at Prairie View.

Is now the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

The Characteristics Of Conversion

Loren Gardner

Pastor

St. Luke Methodist Church

Colorado City

The objective of Christian witnessing is conversion. Conversion means the turning to Christ of one who has not acknowledged him as Savior and Lord. Christian conversion is a pilgrimage initiated by God in which a person commits his life to the transforming power of Christ.

It is described in biblical language as: being called out of darkness into marvelous light (I Peter 2:9), a new birth (St. John 3:3), redemption from all iniquity (Titus 2:14), passage out of death into life (St. John 5:24), a turn from the power of Satan unto God (Acts 26:18), a new creation (II Corinthians 5:17), a putting off of an old man and a putting on of a new man (Colossians 3:9-10), the indwelling of Christ in the heart by faith (Ephesians 3:17), a dying and rising again (Romans 6:2-8). It is a new life in which all the forces of one's being are turned into a new channel.

The Ministry of Jesus: The work of Jesus in the making of persons begins with a call to all men for repentance. He saw men as self-centered beings, who not only lived for themselves (St. Mark 7:21ff.; St. Matthew 23) but also corrupted the "little ones" for whom they were responsible (St. Mark 9:42). His most striking judgements were upon those who reputed to be religious. They glorified self in the name of God (St. Matthew 6:2ff., 23; St. Luke 18:11).

Jesus therefore, called for a new pattern of life: "Unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of Heaven." (St. Matthew 18:3)

The new man was to have the faithful trust of a child in a Heavenly Father who would forgive his sins, deliver him from temptation, and guide him in spirit (St. Matthew 6:12-13; St. Luke 11:13). The crowning grace of a converted creature was his love for the unlovely and his sensitive concerns for the despised of this earth (St. Matthew 5:44; 18:21; 25:34ff.; St. John 15:12).

Then you say, "Preacher, where does that leave room for myself?" All that has been said included a Godly love of self.

The believer is not to mortify the flesh for its own sake (St. Mark 2:15-17). Repentance was the characteristic response of those who turned to Jesus. Disciples were drawn to him because He fulfilled the deepest hopes of their lives (St. John 1:35-51).

The Apostolic Proclamation: The preaching of the gospel was the chief instrument for conversion in the early days of the church. The sermons recorded in the book of Acts (1:14-39; 3:12-16; 4:8-12; 10: 36-43) contain three elements:

--A claim that the message was the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy;

--An exposition of the life, death and resurrection of Jesus;

--A summons to repent and accept forgiveness of sins in Jesus the Son of God.

The acceptance of this preaching was the life of believers. Peter became a man of courage (Acts 2:14ff). The disciples healed the sick (Acts 3:1-10). The church shared possessions (Acts 4: 32-37).

The seal of conversion was the reception of Christ's spirit and baptism (Acts 2:38). This upsurge of life was molded and stabilized by the church. In this vibrant fellowship men were trained to love and discipline one another (Acts 5:1-11; 6:1-6).

In our modern world we need to find time to witness of God's love to the lovely and to the unlovely.

GP System Motivates At CHS Says Everett

"We're off to the best start we've ever made, the students are enthusiastic and the teachers have a good attitude," Colorado High School principal Bill Everett said after three weeks of classes.
"Our motto this year is 'The Pack Is Back' and our kids are excited. The new high school has inspired some of this feeling but we think that some of it's being generated by the fact that students are being motivated, some of them for the first time this year," he noted.
Everett attributes some of the motivation to a change in the grading system to conform with the state norm and college grading.
"We've made 60 a passing grade and gone on a grade point system for the first time, rewarding students who take harder courses and at the same time encouraging those who might have some trouble with classwork."

"I think that eventually the state will go on a pass-fail system but for now, we're concentrating on giving our students an education and spotlighting skill-learning rather than grade accumulation," he said.
The reasons for changing the grading system are many, as Everett listed the following:
--Our programs here and elsewhere throughout the state are more and more aimed toward vocational training. There are presently 214 of the 482 CHS students in some type of vocational training during the day. "We're encouraging learning with the hands and mind and not worrying about the grade but the skills taught," he said.
--About 80% of Texas students are in the 60-passing system.
--Motivation is already paying off because students are trying, they're working hard and have good attitudes and no longer defeated before they start.

The main reason is to get on a level with colleges where D is passing and we're going strictly to the grade point average in class ranking.
"These are strong points to make in favor of the change," Everett said, "and we're not lowering our standards at all."
To emphasize his point, Everett said that the Superior Talented Student (STS) program which he initiated has been successful and is growing in popularity.
The way the STS program works is this: Freshmen students deemed to be STS material may take physical science and thus deepen their understanding in that subject; Sophomores may take STS biology; beginning with the Junior and continuing with Senior students, STS courses are available in Chemistry, Physics, Trigonometry, Elementary Analysis and English IV.
All of the above mentioned STS courses are meant to prepare a student for college.
In order to reward the student trying harder and perhaps learning a more difficult subject, the grade point average is weighted in his favor.
Students taking vocational subjects will not earn as many grade points as those in STS courses but will nevertheless earn grade points and be able to pass, Everett pointed out. "There are some students who want to learn a skill and others who want to prepare for difficult college courses. With this system, we think we have individualized our system and have a place for all."

The grades, grade points and STS grade points compare as follows:
--98-100, 9 Grade Points; 12 STS Grade Points.
--93-98, 8 GP; 11 STS GP.
--90-92, 7 GP; 10 STS GP.
--88-89, 6 GP; 9 STS GP.
--83-87, 5 GP; 8 STS GP.
--80-82, 4 GP; 7 STS GP.
--78-79, 3 GP; 6 STS GP.
--73-77, 2 GP; 5 STS GP.
--70-72, 1 GP; 4 STS GP.
--68-69, 0 GP; 3 STS GP.
--63-67, 0 GP; 2 STS GP.
--60-62, 0 GP; 1 STS GP.
--59-59, 0 GP; 0 STS GP.

board. The extra point was good and Slaton took the lead, a lead which stood up until the third quarter.
To open the second half, Slaton got the kick-off and promptly fumbled on their own 42. From there, the Wolves went in for the score on runs by Manuel Arellano, Bill Everett, a 15-yard penalty and quarterback keep runs by Torres, who plunged over from the two for the score.
Torres then passed to Ellis for the extra two points to give the Wolves a 14-7 lead.
The Tigers then came right back and drove 82 yards, mostly on two long runs by all state running back Bill McCleskey, the scoring run coming on a 30 yard scamper around right end. However, the try for extra point was no good and the Wolves held a 14-13 lead.
On the ensuing kick-off, the Wolves Frank Sanchez took the ball on a razzle-dazzle play and went to about the Slaton 30 but the ball was called back as the officials said Sanchez stepped out of bounds on the Wolves 36.
It was apparently on this play that Sanchez, back-up quarterback, back-up running back and starting defensive safety, suffered a hairline fracture in his left wrist. He will be out of action for several weeks.
The remainder of the third quarter and the final period was a seesaw affair as both teams put small drives together but never seriously threatened to score until almost the end of the fourth quarter when Slaton got to the Wolves two yardline.
During much of the second half, the Wolves players were suffering from leg cramps that Coach Mike Farda believed to have been brought on by new fancy leg stockings. Farda said the stockings will not be worn any more.
As a result of the leg cramps, many of the younger players were pressed into service. These younger players, mostly sophomores and some juniors, did a good job, Farda said, but since they played Friday night, they are not eligible to play again in the same week and as a result, the junior varsity game scheduled with Coahoma for last night had to be cancelled as there were not enough players for the contest.
Farda said he was pleased by the play, the dedication and desire of the entire team, especially on defense.
The Wolves moved the ball particularly well on several occasions and once before the end of the second half, actually scored a touchdown that was called back because of an ineligible receiver downfield.
Drex Grisham caught the ball in the end zone with a Slaton defender hanging onto him but no pass interference was called and the drive of 82 yards went for naught.
The Wolves had a total of 12 first downs as opposed to 10 for Slaton. The Wolves had 193 yards on offense as opposed to 188 for Slaton.
The Wolves Wayne McKee recovered one Slaton fumble and intercepted a Slaton pass.
Next week, the Wolves will host the Sweetwater Mustangs at Wolf Stadium. Season tickets are still on sale for $7.50 each a savings of 50¢ a game for the five home games.

Drive Gets $2,273.20
Mrs. M. C. Burnett, drive chairman for the county's Muscular Dystrophy contributions during the recent Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon said that top money raiser during the drive was Carla Banks, 12-year old daughter of W. Banks of Lorraine, turning in $61.25.
Second high was the team of Casey and Elizabeth Matlock, children of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Matlock of Colorado City. They collected $50.82.
Robbie Collins, 14-year old niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ezell and Myra Burnett, 14-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Burnett, collected $33.87 during the local drive.
