Ike Receives More Reports On Laos Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today received additional intelligence reports on the situation in Laos from his top military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers.

Another high-level White House conference followed Eisenhower's action of Monday approving stepped-up military readiness in the Pacific.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Deputy Secretary of Defense James H. Douglas, Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles, and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, headed the group calling at the White House this morning.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Laos was among several matters taken up at the conference.

Hagerty reiterated to newsmen today that the government regards the situation in Laos as grave.

Laos Reports City Retaken From Rebels

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Bouan Ouam's government announced today that its forces recaptured the key northeastern city of Xiengkhouang from pro-Communist rebels Monday night.

Information Minister Bouvan Norsasing said the city was retaken by a battalion of paratroopers that jumped 3 1/2 miles east of Xiengkhouang.

Norsasing's announcement was the government's first admission that the rebels had taken Xiengkhouang. The minister said Tuesday troops loyal to his pro-Western government were holding out at Ban Ban, 30 miles northeast of Xiengkhouang, and that as far as he knew the city had not fallen to the rebels who last week seized the strategic Plain des Jarres, with its cross-country highway, and an airfield outside Xiengkhouang.

Castro's Latest Order Puts Strain On U. S. Relations

HAVANA (AP)—U.S.-Cuban relations grew more frayed today with a drastic order from Prime Minister Fidel Castro for a slash of the U.S. Embassy staff here on Wednesday night.

In a wrathful prelude to the U.N. Security Council meeting Wednesday, when Cuba will air new charges that the United States plans to invade Cuba, Castro declared the U.S. Embassy was filled with spies directing counter-revolutionaries.

He said the U.S. staff would be reduced to the same number that Cuba maintains in its embassy in Washington.

Eisenhower was represented as convinced that fast and clear action is the best way to avoid any Communist commitment to aggression in Laos. But he was said to be hopeful of a solution of military intervention by outside powers.

On Saturday, after word arrived here of what the Laotian government said was an invasion by seven battalions from neighboring Communist North Viet Nam, Eisenhower met with his top diplomatic, military and intelligence advisers.

That afternoon the United States issued a public warning to North Communist powers not to intervene in behalf of the Red Pathet Lao rebels. It also referred pointedly to the U.S. obligation in the Viet Nam, Red China and other Southeast Asia Treaty Organization for defense of the area.

On Sunday the United States called for a meeting in Bangkok of the council of SEATO, whose members include the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Monday the Pentagon announced—with White House backing—orders to step up the readiness of U.S. forces in the Pacific, including fast-moving airlift capability, "in view of the present situation in Laos."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had approved the move "in light of the SEATO obligations."

He spoke after the President had finished another White House session with the staff of State Christian A. Herter, Undersecretary Livingston T. Merchant, Acting Secretary of Defense James H. Douglas, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles.

LBj Resigns Post; Blakley On Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson of Texas resigned from the Senate today.

His letter of resignation was sent to the Senate by Vice President-elect Richard M. Nixon today after he had taken the oath of office for a new six-year term.

With Blakley on a visit to Johnson's office Monday was Jim Blundell, Blakley's assistant when the Dallas man was in the Senate in 1957 under an interim appointment by former Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas. Blakley was appointed today to fill the unexpired term of Daniel, who resigned to become Texas governor.

At a reception in Moscow on the Cuban anniversary Soviet Premier Khrushchev picked up the Cuban charge that the United States was planning an invasion by Jan. 18 to wipe out alleged Soviet rocket bases being constructed in Cuba.

demands that the United States give up its naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba. At the big glass-walled U.S. Embassy, Charge d'Affaires Daniel Blakley said his first word of the order to reduce the staff from 87 to 11 as he watched Castro on television.

Six months ago there were 120 on the staff. U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal was recalled last October and embassy wives and children were sent home last September. Cuba has not had an ambassador in Washington for months.

MISS 6-1—Miss Brenda Gail Elom bowed in at Cogdell Memorial hospital as the New Year Baby Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m. Weighing 6 pounds and 8 ounces, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Elom of Iro and has a sister 3 1/2 years old. Her father works for Dick Honks Drilling Co. Miss Elom will be the recipient of many gifts from Snyder Merchants.

'Whitewash' Claimed In Corcoran Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A finding that attorney Thomas G. Corcoran did not attempt to influence the Federal Power Commission was described in a Republican minority report today as a "shocking political whitewash."

The minority report took issue with the findings of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee and its staff. The group goes out of existence today with formal submission of its final report, to which the Republican statement was a dissent.

The minority report did not directly accuse Corcoran of wrongdoing, but said his conduct was "obviously improper."

The Republican statement, while dissenting from parts of the subcommittee report, hit particularly hard at a report issued two weeks ago by the subcommittee staff.

In addition to clearing Corcoran of any impropriety, the staff report accused two big government regulatory agencies of laxity and inefficiency harmful to the public interest. It also alleged possible misconduct by some officials of the two agencies—the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission. The officials were not identified.

As for Corcoran, a powerful White House figure during New Deal days, the staff report said he did nothing improper in privately contacting FPC members during a big gas pipeline case in 1959.

Bitterly dissenting, the Republican statement said: "The majority and its staff have sought to exonerate one of Washington's best known influence peddlers."

Corcoran, a Washington attorney for Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., testified at subcommittee hearings last May that he approached three FPC members late in 1959 in an effort to expedite a decision on the company's request for authorization for a new pipeline system.

Corcoran emphatically denied, however, that he sought to influence the commission.

Death Toll Expected To Hit Estimate

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic	338
Fires	66
Miscellaneous	78
Total	482

The New Year's holiday traffic death toll stood at 338 today with straggling reports expected to boost the final figure even higher.

The actual count of death compared with a preholiday estimate by the National Safety Council that 340 lives might be lost in vehicle accidents during the long holiday weekend.

The count for the 78-hour holiday period ended at midnight Monday. At that time deaths in traffic accidents reported numbered 338. However, as in all major holiday traffic surveys, final figures are not reported for several hours after the midnight deadline.

The death rate eased during the closing hours of the long New Year weekend, apparently averting what safety experts feared would be a record for a three-day celebration of the holiday. The record toll was 374 traffic fatalities a year ago.

This New Year's holiday also was marred by scores of other accidental deaths, including 66 in fires and 78 in miscellaneous mishaps for an over-all total of 482. The totals compared to 63 fire deaths and 76 killed in miscellaneous accidents a year ago. The 1959-60 over-all total of 513 is a record for a 3-day New Year holiday.

In the nation's two major winter holiday periods, Christmas and New Year's, accidents have claimed the lives of more than 1,100 persons. Included were more than 800 killed in traffic accidents, counting 488 Christmas weekend. Fires killed 77 persons and 82 others lost their lives in various types of accidents during the Christmas holiday.

The motor vehicle death rate held a pace of five or more fatalities an hour during the daylight hours Monday but the pace slackened considerably during the night.

Battle Lines Drawn Early

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Congress convened today already embroiled in a liberal vs. conservative struggle such as clearly will be waged over much of President-elect John F. Kennedy's program.

In both Senate and House, Democrats who call themselves liberals were bidding for a bigger voice in charting the legislative course to be followed in the next two years.

House insurgents want to break up a coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans on the Rules Committee which has managed in the past to block or delay legislation not to their liking.

In this project, they had the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. One possible move was reported to be a purge of Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee.

Reports were circulated that four Mississippi members of the House who failed to support the Democratic ticket last November may be disciplined.

The four, are Colmer, Jamie Whitten, Arthur Winstead and John Bell Williams.

One member of Congress who declined to be quoted by name said that under present plans the four Mississippians are either to be removed from their committee seats or to have their committee seniority reduced.

In a party caucus, House Republicans apparently decided to wait and see what the Democrats do about the Rules Committee before taking a stand of their own.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., re-elected House leader by the Republicans, said the caucus was largely routine. In addition to picking Halleck, the caucus again named Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, and Rep. Charles B. Hovsen of Iowa chairman of the Republican Conference.

A resolution presented by seven Republicans calling for a repudiation of any coalition between Republicans and Southern Democrats during the congressional session was defeated by a voice vote.

As expected, Senate Republicans re-elected Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as their floor leader, succeeding Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the vice president-elect. Johnson resigned his Senate seat shortly after the new Congress convened.

Manfield had been whip, or assistant leader, under Johnson.

To succeed Manfield, the Senate Democrats tapped Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Galleries in both Senate and House were packed when gavels finally rapped to start the session.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, presiding in the Senate, read several communications. One was from President-elect Kennedy announcing his resignation from the Senate.

75 Called In Crash Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventy-five witnesses have been called to testify at a formal inquiry opening Wednesday into the nation's worst air disaster—the Dec. 16 collision and crash of two airliners here, killing 136 persons.

The hearing, being conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board, was described today by the CAB public information officer, Edward J. Slattery, as "one of the biggest ever held."

Among those scheduled to testify are 10 persons listed as witnesses to the accident.

Asked if any of these actually saw the United Air Lines DC-8 and the Trans World Airline Constellation collide over Staten Island, Slattery said only that "some of these witnesses saw pieces of plane falling."

Belgian Strikers, Police In Clash

By EDDY GILMORE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police and strikers clashed today in the streets of Brussels and in at least two other cities when demonstrators answered a Socialist union call for nationwide rallies.

State policemen mounted a charge to clear a Brussels square of demonstrators who had begun smashing windows in at least two other cities when demonstrators answered a Socialist union call for nationwide rallies.

Twelve civilians were hurt in Antwerp when police waded into a parade of 10,000 strikers who began smashing windows in at least two other cities when demonstrators answered a Socialist union call for nationwide rallies.

The Belgian state radio said tersely that at Tournai state policemen were overwhelmed. The broadcast gave no details of the trouble at Tournai.

Five thousand demonstrated at Liege smashed some store fronts. Miners at that industrial city of the German frontier threatened to flood the mines.

The new demonstrations against Premier Gaston Eyskens' austerity program were timed just ahead of the reopening of Parliament, which will resume debate on the proposals.

The strikers, entering their third week of protest, claim the proposed tax raises and cuts in social services will fall heaviest on the workers.

With the Socialists calling for mass demonstrations in every city of the country, soldiers were on duty at every strategic point. Power plants, railroads and public buildings all had their quota of khaki-uniformed men, determined to prevent sabotage.

The strike went on much as it has during the past weeks, with only part of the labor force heeding the Socialist call. Slightly less than half of the country's trade union membership is enrolled in the Socialist unions; the rest belong to Catholic unions who oppose the strike and call it a revolutionary attempt to overthrow Eyskens' Catholic-Conservative coalition.

A FLYING LEAP landed this car in the creekbed just east of Snyder on U. S. Highway 84 Sunday night and two Bolger Funeral Home ambulances went right by in search of it. The first one went almost to Hemphill and the second driver hauled up just past the wreck and came back to open the door and take Paul Romero to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment of facial lacerations. Above, onlookers watch as Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, left, inspects the wreck.

Young Marriages Create Problems

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Young marriages create problems. Parents and young moderns do not always see eye-to-eye in these matters as this letter reveals.

"My father had forbidden me to see a boy who was of a different religion. I obeyed because I feared my father's wrath, but we could not forget each other. Five months ago we were married secretly. I am 19. We are going to have a baby, and I'm still afraid to tell my father. I am living in a home and would tell my mother, but fear my father would blame her if she did not tell him. My husband wants to see my father, but I fear the meeting. What should I do?"

You belong with your husband, and should tell your parents at once. If you do not want your husband to face up to the task, a note written to your father could explain that your marriage and news of the forthcoming baby were kept secret to save the family any sterner moments. If you are a nervous type you should leave the house before he reads the note.

"Men can be exasperating," writes a girl of 18.

"When I was married two years ago, my husband knew that I could not cook. Now he complains about my cooking all the time. He tells me about other wives' good food, stories he hears at work. When we have company, he makes fun of my food, even before the guests have a chance to taste it. He embarrasses me. What should I do?"

It has been said that anyone who can read, can cook. If you don't have a good cook book, consider investing in one. If you have trouble timing company dinners, the problem to many inexperienced cooks, make simple meals such as casserole, salad and dessert that can be prepared in advance. Some young people put too much effort into their cooking, and run into trouble with too many ingredients and changes in oven temperatures. Your husband's bars are unfortunate, but if you are in the kitchen when he criticizes you, it would dispel the notion with your guests that he is serious. And perhaps he isn't.

Should a woman hold her job after she marries?

"I am 20, my husband is 25. When we were married three years ago we decided that I would keep my job for awhile to pay off some debts incurred in connection with furnishing our home and the honeymoon trip.

"My husband continues to run up bills with no thought of my quitting work or saving toward a family. He bought a new television set, a new car, and now is talking about buying a house which we cannot afford on his salary. He says we have plenty of time to settle down with a family, and that now we should get a few things we cannot hope to own on his salary. I would rather have a family while we are young, even if it means doing without some luxuries."

You have the right idea. Suggest to your husband that you save the money that you are earning, deciding later on what the most important use for it would be, if you should lose your job or give up because you are expecting a baby, you will be able to coast a little while until you establish a different standard of living. If you continue working, it will get more difficult to adjust to the idea of the lowered income.

Sex Reading In Milwaukee

AP Newsfeatures

Married women in Milwaukee read more books with sex themes than do married men, according to a survey by two Marquette University professors.

They found 30 per cent of the books read by Milwaukee wives and 25 per cent by the city's husbands fall in the sexy category.

Arthur S. McDonald, head of the Marquette Reading Center, said he does not consider the percentage of reading of sex theme literature to be extremely high. McDonald and Robert Craig, research director for the education department, conducted the survey.

The professors also determined that only about 25 per cent of Milwaukee's adults are consistent readers.

LONDON (AP)—An old medical dream of delivering babies without the dangers inherent in the use of forceps may be approaching reality.

A comparatively new method, applying a vacuum cup to the head of the child for passage through the birth canal, is catching on in Europe.

Two British physicians, Drs. J. A. Chalmers and R. J. Fothergill, have investigated 100 cases and concluded the method is here to stay.

In each, the "vacuum extractor," invented six years ago by a Swede, A. T. Malmstrom, was found suitable and safer than forceps.

the vacuum than either manually or with forceps, the doctors said. The extractor is connected to a vacuum bottle which can be controlled with a screw cap. To create the vacuum requires from 6 to 10 minutes. The doctors warned that this stage is vital and must not be hurried.

If the birth is head first, the operation is comparatively simple. But researchers said application should be broken off after a maximum of 40 minutes to avoid irritation of the baby's scalp.

Some slight irritation crops up in some cases but is remedied often within hours, they added, so long as the maximum time limit is observed.

Method Simple

In the research of 100 cases, the British doctors said, the longest time spent over delivery was one hour, and the shortest seven minutes. The average was 20 minutes.

The greatest advantage of the method "is its extreme simplicity," the doctors said. Thousands of cases are on record on the continent and in Scandinavia, but the usage elsewhere is still limited.

But forceps may never be completely replaced, the study suggested. There is still no substitute for them in cases of premature babies or those experiencing unusual distress.

Poetry Is In Classroom To Stay Despite Eliot's Plea

Should contemporary poetry be protected from young people? T. S. Eliot, whose poetry won him a Nobel Prize in 1948, believes it should. The American-born poet, now a British subject, would bar the study of contemporary poetry in the classroom.

In his ideal school only the poetic classics would be studied. Eliot's reasoning is both novel and personal. When he had to study "The Merchant of Venice" and "Julius Caesar" in the classroom, he developed a lasting dislike for both. Ergo, forced familiarity with poetry in the classroom breeds long-term contempt.

Apparently, if I follow Eliot's thesis, it is all right for kids to develop a hate on classic poetry, because classic poetry is here to stay. So, sooner or later, if such students wish to become hepatic, culture-wise, they will be forced to read "Paradise Lost" and "Canterbury Tales," is only to keep up with J. Alfred Prufrocks, who have also moved to Exurbia.

But contemporary poetry must be kept in the incubator, in the view of Eliot as set down in "The Teachers College Record," a publication of Teachers College of Columbia University.

Either that, or modern poetry should be exposed in the classroom "only for enjoyment." It may be naive, but isn't the enjoyment of poetry, no matter what its age, the aim of classroom instruction? And isn't it possible that Eliot's classroom experience is less than universal and that all students do not, of necessity, hate what they study?

How long does poetry have to be in the wood before it is safe for students to tinkle? Eliot's "Prufrock" may have been strange and strong stuff for students when it was first published in 1917. "The Waste Land" in 1922 may have seemed a very odd brew. But though both were landmarks then and now, and though classicists may once have been stumped by them, time has dulled their novelty if not their genius. The classroom is safe for them. Perhaps Eliot does not realize it, but these classics in an age of beatnik hard and thus qualify for student scrutiny.

It is odd that Eliot's tender concern for modern poetry should come at a time when poetry itself, and modern poetry at that, is about to receive the accolade of public respectability and approval.

For the first time, an American poet and a distinguished figure in the world of literature has been asked to read one of his superb poems at the inaugural of an American President. Robert Frost, who will be 86 on March 26, has been asked to "say" "The Gift Outright," a lyric outpouring to our land written 30 years ago.

Can it be that Frost's age makes his poetry classic and, therefore, safe for the classroom? Yet there must be something more to it than this. Despite Eliot's belief that study of poetry turns students against it, Frost is the most popular visiting professor in America. His annual readings of America's foremost, colleges is limited only by his time and strength. Wherever he lectures, his classrooms are crowded.

Furthermore, when Frost "says" his poems in public, there is never an auditorium quite large enough to hold the men, women and children who come to hear him. It is quite possible that this poet, so long overdue for the Nobel prize, attracts thousands because of the lucidity as well as the beauty of his work.

There is a great hunger in all ages for poetry, and this age is no exception. Somewhat, Shakespeare, Dante, Milton, Keats, Robinson, Masters, Amy Lowell, Cummings, et al. have escaped the classroom blight, and so, too, will Eliot. (Copyright, 1961, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Biting Cold Hits Midwest

Biting cold weather held an icy grip on northern Midwest areas today, with temperatures again plunging far below zero.

For the second straight morning, the mercury dropped to more than 25 below zero in International Falls, Minn., as the cold air mass held over Minnesota, the eastern Dakotas and parts of Iowa and Wisconsin. It was -26 in Duluth, Minn.

Temperatures stayed close to zero in many parts of the job belt Monday.

New seasonal readings were reported in other sections of the country. It was above freezing along the Pacific Coast, extreme southern parts of the Plateau and Rocky Mountain region, the Gulf Coast states, the Tennessee Valley and northward into the middle Atlantic Coast states.

Light snow fell in the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region southward throughout the Ohio Valley and eastward into the Appalachians. Snow on the ground in Pellston, Mich., measured 20 inches and in Caribou, Maine, was nearly two feet deep in Caribou, Maine.

Third Finch Trial Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his onetime Mistress Carole Tregoff come before the court today for their third trial on charges of murdering the doctor's estranged wife Barbara Jean in July 1959.

The jury deadlocked in two previous trials.

The scheduled appearance today of Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 24, centers around the physician's plea of double jeopardy. Last Dec. 12 the court held that this plea must be argued with the main issue, the third trial.

Superior judge David Coleman, at that ground, denied Finch a separate trial.

Mrs. Finch, 36, was shot to death at her suburban West Covina home. The state contends that she was slain in an effort to avoid an expensive divorce settlement.

Kennedys Set For Move Nearer Town

EDITOR'S NOTE: A change in presidents has significance for the whole world. But in this nation's capital, where John F. Kennedy has lived for 14 years and where the big event will take place, it has special interest. Here's a report on Washington's reaction to a short but important move by one of its leading residents.

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Well, the big news here this holiday season is that the John F. Kennedys are all set to move down the road a piece, a little over a mile near town.

For the Kennedys, for the nation, and for the world that's a mighty long and important mile between 3207-N St., in fashionable Georgetown, and 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., where the White House glistens with its new coat of paint.

Although the move doesn't look like much on the map, it has cost Kennedy four years of steady work, constant travel, incessant speech making and a big bundle of ready cash.

For Washington the move has special, home-town interest. Not only will the White House be in new and eager hands. But all the top executive spots also will be changed.

There will be new faces to get used to, new ideas to kick about, new directives to mull and maybe laugh over.

But the Kennedys themselves will supply the most excitement.

There has been talk that you have to go back to Theodore Roosevelt for a similar period in American history.

This is nonsense, of course. There is no similar period in American history.

It's true that Teddy had more bounce than his favorite tennis ball. It's true that he had six children, one of whom once sneaked his pony upstairs on a White House elevator.

But the Kennedys—brothers, sisters, in-laws, offspring—are more than an innumerable family. With their friends and friends of their friends they can become an active, combative army.

No one can say how often or how many of these will show up at the White House for festivities or touch football on the lawn. But since the Washington Redskins have just finished last in their division of the National Football League, the Kennedys, with their incredible will to win, may well become the best football team in town.

Even if the clan appears but fitfully, which seems unlikely, the Jack Kennedys' alone offer an abrupt change of pace.

One small example, featuring Jacqueline Kennedy, demonstrates this.

Can you imagine Martha Washington, Eleanor Roosevelt or Bess Truman in tans and pants?

You see? The Kennedys are unique.

At times it has seemed that the most formidable problems of the new frontier would be: How much entertaining will the Kennedys do? And what types of painting should hang on the White House walls?

But, with our sophistication both refreshed and gentled, let's look hopefully forward at each manifestation of this coming of the new order: the special platform at the Capitol where the oath of office will be taken; the big reviewing stand being built across from the White House; the bustle at inaugural headquarters where plans are made for the big parade and the big ball.

These political change-overs, by the way, don't come as often as you might suspect.

In the past quarter of a century we have had but one real shakeout similar to this: Dwight D. Eisenhower's triumph in 1952.

Before that it was Roosevelt, again and again and again.

With FDR's death, Harry S. Truman moved in, as dramatic a day as any in recent Washington history, but without any immediate changes in the supporting cast.

In all our history we have had but 15 party overturns in the White House.

And now Kennedy and his vice presidential choice, Lyndon B. Johnson, will take over. In a sense, both are Washington boys.

Each came here as a young man; each has stayed on to become a lively part of the Washington scene.

And yet it's easy to look back—it seems only a few years—to a visit to the House press gallery. Down on the floor of the chamber a tousled young man was sitting, talking with his elders.

And yet it's easy to look back—it seems only a few years—to a visit to the House press gallery. Down on the floor of the chamber a tousled young man was sitting, talking with his elders.

"Who's the kid?" I asked.

"That's no kid. That's a new congressman, Jack Kennedy."

Time, as if spurred by the restless Kennedys, has scurried by.

Now he's ready for that big move, and, as president in the difficult and challenging 60s, his inescapable date with history.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—An airliner coming in for a landing picked up three wild geese over Topeka Monday night.

The geese crashed through the cockpit windshield of the Continental Airlines DC3, cutting pilot A. A. Rippey of Aurora, Colo.

Rippey landed the plane, then went to the hospital for treatment. His seven passengers were taken by bus to Kansas City.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Braniff International Airways plane of Houston, Tex., was denied permission to refuel at Havana, Cuba, Monday, a Braniff official said.

The plane, Flight 601, was refueled here and resumed its run to South America.

No explanation was made for the plane being denied permission to land in Cuba.

Braniff said it was advised later by the Federal Aviation Agency that Havana landings were permissible following the incident.

Subpoenas Are Served By Probers

BEAUMONT (AP)—Agents of the Texas House Investigating Committee were trying today to locate Jefferson County Sheriff C. J. Meyer to serve him a subpoena for his appearance at a public hearing into vice conditions in this area.

The committee will open its public hearing on allegations of wide open vice and a breakdown in law enforcement at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Committee agents have served subpoenas on more than 50 persons. They include both residents of Beaumont and nearby Port Arthur.

State Rep. Tom James of Dallas, vice chairman of the committee, said the public hearings will be televised.

He said committee members hope to finish the hearings by Friday but that they could last until next Tuesday, the first day of the new state legislature.

James said he understood that Sheriff Meyer is out of town but is expected to return to Beaumont before the hearings get underway.

District Attorney Ramie Griffin, one of those summoned to appear before the committee tomorrow, called at committee headquarters in a Beaumont apartment building last night to pick up his subpoena.

James said those summoned will be sworn at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow and the committee will then assign them more specific time to appear before the committee.

Calvert Begins Tenure As Supreme Court Chief Justice

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—Robert W. Calvert, who by-passed a promising career in state and national politics for the highest echelons of the law, became today chief justice of the state Supreme Court. Calvert is widely credited with saving the Democratic party in Texas from complete fracture in the tense and stormy days of strife in the middle 1940s.

Couple Parts On First Anniversary

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Ernest Borgnine and Mexican actress Katy Jurado have parted after a spat at a party celebrating their first wedding anniversary.

The couple married on New Year's Eve, 1959, in Cuernavaca, Mexico. A spokesman for the Academy award-winning actor said Miss Jurado, 33, had left their Beverly Hills home with her two children by a previous marriage, Borgnine, 43, had no comment on the separation.

It was during this period that Calvert was strongly urged on several occasions to seek the governorship. Many believed that he could have won and gone much further in state and national politics had he so chosen.

Instead, he decided to stay with the practice of law at Hillsboro. He became a member of the state Supreme Court in 1950. He was elected to a full six-year term to begin Jan. 1, 1961, but was appointed to the court a few months earlier to fill a vacancy.

highest court in civil law matters. His interest in the law has led to his service on numerous top advisory committees on legal matters. He was Hill County attorney in 1943-1947 and was a member of the advisory committee appointed by the Supreme Court in 1940 to form new rules of civil procedure. He is a member of the state Bar committee on administration of justice and of the judicial section's legislative committee.

Texas Has Safest Holiday Since '58

AUSTIN (AP)—Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. says Texas had its "safest holiday since 1958" despite the heavy toll of traffic and other accidents.

Garrison said they are expected to come close to the predicted 90 motor deaths and 176 violent deaths in all categories.

The complete figures will not be available until several cases of critical injuries are resolved.

"Motoricides for the entire period were the lowest since 1958 when 63 were killed in traffic," Garrison said.

The official DPS count Monday showed 82 traffic deaths for the 10-day Christmas-New Year period.

Flexibility Of Politics Lost In 1860

By BRUCE CATTON.

Written For The Associated Press
It is sometimes said that the Civil War came because the machinery of democracy had broken down. That is not quite true. It came because the machinery of democracy was not used.

To see how this happened, go back one century to the presidential election of 1860. An enormous issue disturbed America's democracy in that year. Like most issues human beings have to handle it was extremely complicated and its deeper implications were not always clear, but in the main it had to do with the existence in America of the institution of chattel slavery. There were of course other ways or another they all seemed to revolve around this question of slavery.

There was no unanimity of feeling, because the institution itself affected different people in such different ways.

In the cotton states of the Deep South slavery in 1860, was a going concern, immensely profitable to a small but powerful group, buttressed by all sorts of prejudices and habits of mind; an institution, furthermore, that was so deeply imbedded in the social and economic framework of the cotton South that no one could see how to get rid of it without causing a shattering convulsion.

In the more northerly tier of southern states slavery was slowly but visibly withering on the vine. It was still something everyone was adjusted to, and people tended to approach it with their emotions rather than with their minds, but it was not quite the same here as in the Deep South.

North of the Mason and Dixon line slavery had been discarded altogether, and more and more people were coming to feel that it ought to be abolished everywhere as speedily as possible. Sentiment was by no means united, however, there were many people in the North who disliked slavery but were perfectly willing to go along with it on the ground that it was really a problem for the Southerners.

For a long time this slavery problem had seemed too hot to handle, and consequently it had not been handled. Yet there was not necessarily anything to it, in the spring of 1860, that would force the different states of the Union to go to war with one another—nothing that would compel 600,000 young men to die before the nation could come to a final decision about it.

As a matter of fact, this issue was peripheral even in 1860. The big argument centered on the question of slavery in the territories. Not even the Republicans argued that the federal government had any authority to limit or abolish the institution in the separate states.

The whole problem revolved around the territorial issue—and it was already becoming obvious that slavery was not going to put down lasting roots in the territories no matter what the federal government might do. Never did the American people get so worked up over a problem as they did at this.

When the slavery issue could not have been uprooted overnight from the states where it was central to the social and political organization—not without an upset too fundamental for society to bear. We can see just as clearly that in the very nature of things slavery was a doomed institution. It could not endure very much longer in the developing 19th century.

Furthermore, in April of 1860 all of the machinery of the democracy was at hand, ready to be used. The Democratic party was about to hold its presidential convention; a little later, the Republican party was about to do the same. After the nominations there would be the campaign itself in which nominees, party workers and newspaper pundits could examine the issue in detail. Then there would be an election and the people themselves would render some sort of verdict. Then there would be a new president and a new Congress; presumably, they would be able to provide some sort of solution.

The opportunity and the means to get the nation out of its tragic fix existed. Unfortunately, they were not used. In this one instance, democracy failed to meet the test. Instead of working for a settlement it worked for a show-down—which, within a year, it got, at a staggering price. The reasons for its failure are extremely complex, but one of the principal ones seems to have been quite simply that it was just too much trouble for the ordinary American in 1860 to sit down and think things through. It was easier just to feel—to respond to inspiring slogans, to turn emotions loose, to let anger and fear and suspicion have their way, to settle down in a fixed position and wait for the other fellow to back down. Politics lost its flexibility. The willingness to debate, to negotiate and at last to find some good middle ground disappeared.

Violence In Texas Kills 48 Persons

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 48 persons met violent deaths in Texas during the long New Year's Day weekend. Twenty-nine of the fatalities were blamed on traffic accidents. The Associated Press tabulation covered the period from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday. During a similar period at Christmas more than 80 persons met violent deaths in the state.

The latest deaths included: A man identified by police as James Henry Boring, 61, a painter from Nashville, Tenn., was found dead on Highway 6, west of Algoa, in South Texas Monday night.

A head-on crash between a pickup and a car in Dallas late Monday night killed Manuel Garcia, 22, of Dallas. C. D. Smith, 40, of Odessa, died Monday when his tractor overturned about three miles north-west of West Texas city.

Alberto Rangel Jr., 47, of Zapata, died Sunday when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car at Zapata.

Rafael Sandoval, 26, of Pharr, died in a San Juan hospital Monday of injuries received Saturday night in a collision of a taxi driven by Sandoval and a truck.

L. C. Winden, 42, of Las Vegas, Nev., died in a traffic collision 13 miles south of San Antonio Monday morning. Another Nevada resident, Marvin Hill, suffered injuries.

Mrs. Maude Zumwalt Massey, 58, San Antonio, died Sunday night in a traffic collision just inside the city limits of Boerne.

Walex To Merge With Halliburton

HOUSTON (AP)—Walex, Inc., an oilfield equipment manufacturing company with plants in Fort Worth and Houston, has merged with the Halliburton Co. of Duncan, Okla.

Walex, which was a wholly owned but independently managed subsidiary of Halliburton before the merger, said L. D. Campbell, chairman of the board of directors of Halliburton.

Walex, which will be a division of Halliburton, manufactures electronic logging, perforating and well surveying equipment.

Governor Knows His Problems

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Gov-elect Farris Bryant, to be inaugurated today, was asked what he regarded as the three biggest problems he will face as governor of Florida. "Julie, Cecelia and Adair," he replied. They are his three daughters.

Needy Youngsters Are Given Shoes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—More than 3,000 pairs of shoes were fitted on needy youngsters Monday when Brother Bill Harrod, minister of the Redmont Baptist Church in west Dallas, held his annual "shoe party."

"I guess we had between 3,000 and 4,000 pairs of new shoes and as many used ones. They were donated by individuals and stores throughout Dallas and came from manufacturers as far away as Canada, New York and Chicago," he said.

A corps of 25 expert shoe fitters helped keep the long lines of children moving at a steady pace.

60th Anniversary For Church Leader

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A family gathering Monday night was the high point of his 60th wedding anniversary for David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The 57-year-old church leader and his wife, Emma, were the first couple married in the Mormon Temple here in 1901. "We've had 60 years of happiness," president McKay said. Six of the couple's seven children are still living. President McKay is the spiritual leader of 1.7 million Mormons throughout the world.

Junior Editors Quiz on VOLCANOES

QUESTION: Where did the volcano get its name?

ANSWER: The word comes from Volcanus, the Roman god of fire, who also was called Vulcan. According to one legend, Vulcan angered his father, Jupiter, who flung him from his home on Mount Olympus. Vulcan then went to live on one of the Lipari Islands in the Mediterranean Sea. The island where he was believed to have lived thereupon was named Volcano, and this was the first use of the word. For hundreds of years the word has been used to describe eruptions from the earth of molten rock and gases. Scientists still are trying to learn more about the causes of eruptions. A laboratory for this purpose is located on the very brink of Kilimanjaro mountain in our new state of Hawaii where a number of volcanoes are located. In 1935 Hawaii's Mauna Loa erupted and its flow of molten rock, called lava, threatened the nearby city of Hilo. United States Navy planes dropped bombs which turned the lava away from the city. All the volcanoes in the United States other than those in Hawaii are believed to be extinct with the exception of one—Mount Lassen in California which last erupted in 1921.

FOR YOU TO DO: See how many products you can find made from volcanic lava, and read what you can about Mount Lassen and the Hawaiian volcanoes.

Here's Lineup Of New U. S. Senators

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are thumbnail sketches of the new members to come to the Senate, convening today as the 87th Congress.
J. Caleb Boggs, 51, a Republican elected to the Senate from Delaware after two 4-year terms as governor. The only Senate newcomer to unseat an incumbent in the Nov. 8 elections, he defeated Democrat J. Allen Frear Jr. Boggs, a lawyer, served three terms in the House (1947-53). Spoke out against federal encroachment on states' rights and charged Truman administration with creeping socialism. However, Boggs is regarded as more liberal than Frear on some economic issues.
Joe Hickey, 49, a Democrat, decided to relinquish the governorship of Wyoming in the midst of his 4-year term to have himself elected to the Senate. Hickey's candidacy was created Dec. 9 with the death of Rep. Keith Thomson, a Republican elected a month earlier to Senate seat from which veteran Democrat Joseph C. Mahoney retired. A quiet, unassuming, roly-poly lawyer, Hickey is a stickler for economy in government. Associates have called him more conservative than most Republicans.
Edward V. Long, 52, a Missouri Democrat, was appointed to the Senate last September after the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., and three weeks later Nov. 8. A lawyer, Long has been active both in politics and business. He has served as a prosecuting attorney, a city attorney and a state senator. He is president of two banks and several loan companies and life insurance companies. He also owns 1,000-acre farm. He is a past director of Rotary International.

Tot Found Beside Body Of Mother
NEW YORK (AP)—Three-year-old Patricia McKiernan lay in a critical condition in Misericordia Hospital today after a holiday ordeal of horror and starvation. A Housing Authority patrolman found her Monday in a Bronx apartment, sitting by her mother's body, staring blankly and shivering.
Her mother, Jennie McKiernan, 33, lay on the floor. She had been dead for days of a heart attack. The child was so emaciated and dehydrated she was unable to walk or talk.
A Christmas tree still sparkled with tinsel in the living room, under it were Patricia's doll and other toys.
Patrolman James Fortune took her to the hospital, where she was given clear soup and milk.
Fortune had gone to the apartment at the request of a relative who knew of Mrs. McKiernan's heart condition and was worried because she had not been able to reach her. Mrs. McKiernan's husband died three years ago and she had been living on social security payments.
A medical examiner said Mrs. McKiernan had been dead at least five days.

3 Ex-Presidents Due Little Action

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation will have three ex-presidents and three former vice presidents—but probably will find little or nothing for them to do—when Dwight D. Eisenhower steps out of the White House Jan. 20.
The three former presidents—Eisenhower, 70, Truman, 76, and Hoover, 86—have had vast governmental experience.
It has been argued the country could well use that experience. That's debatable.

Card Tricks Are Tricked

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Did you wonder what happened to Washington's spelled-out card tricks in their reporter's section at the Rose Bowl?
Many a TV viewer must have been puzzled, as were some of the spectators, when instead of "Hustlers," the cards spelled "Cal Tech."
A couple of other half-time card displays didn't go according to plan, either.
Two students at the California Institute of Technology had owned up later that it was a prank. A number of their fellow students were involved in the complicated plot, they said.
The Cal Tech perpetrators said they got samples of the instruction cards to be attached to the backs of Washington rosters' seats. Then they had 2,322 spurious cards printed. Last Saturday, while the Huskies were visiting Disneyland, the plotters got into the quarters of Washington's head cheerleader and substituted the forged cards for the originals.
A husky design of an Eskimo dog's head came out as a beaver's head, Cal Tech's insignia. Then "Hustlers" appeared in reverse spelling.
Just good clean fun, said the jokesters.

Firm Plans Huge Petrochemical Plant

HOUSTON (AP)—The Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. will build a large petrochemical plant on the Houston ship channel, a company official announced Monday.
J. J. King, senior vice president in charge of the project, said the company has formed a production and marketing association with Phillips Petroleum Co. of East Brunswick, N. J., that will put $40 million into the chemical business and strengthen Carr's financial status.
King said the plant will be finished some time in 1962. The cost and number of persons to be employed was not announced.

Contractor Enters Race

HOUSTON (AP)—A $3-million Houston contractor, who says he would personally lead an armada of shrimp boats to fight Communist "China" if necessary, announced for the U.S. Senate Monday.
W. P. Holland, one of nearly a dozen candidates in the special election for the Senate seat to be vacated by Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, said he knows many shrimp boat operators and believes 50 armed men could be put on each of the 14,000 shrimp boats he said operate in the Gulf of Mexico.
"If the United States government is so weak and afraid of Communist intervention in Cuba, then I would lead an expedition against Fidel Castro, and I have the means of amphibious transportation over the water without anything else from the government," he said in an interview announcing his candidacy.
Holland described himself as a Democrat at heart. Let's say I am a pro-Roosevelt Democrat for I cannot support the modern party's certain plunge toward socialism.
The special election, which will not be called until Johnson resigns or becomes vice president, will be held in the six-year term to which Johnson was elected in November.
Holland was born in Jacksonville and attended schools in Galveston.

Art Treasure Is Going Back Home

DERBY LINE, Vt. (AP)—A multimillion-dollar art treasure crossed the Canadian border into the United States today on its way back to Poland. It had been moved about for more than 20 years to keep it out of the hands of first the Nazis and then the Communists.

Two huge moving vans, accompanied by several cars, reached U.S. customs at Derby Line shortly before 6 a.m. A Royal Canadian Mounted Police escort handed over responsibility for the shipment to Vermont State Troopers.

For more than a dozen years Poland's Communist government has been trying to obtain custody of the collection, valued at $50 million or more. It includes tapestries, gold-encrusted coronation robes of Polish kings, jeweled crowns and other items including a gold saddle.

Officials in charge of the convoy declined information about its destination or its route across New England. They indicated they would have been happier if there were less public knowledge of the shipment.

One of the van drivers expressed surprise when a newsman told him of the value of the items he was hauling. He said he had not been told what his cargo was.

Antoine Roy, Quebec Province archivist, finally signed an agreement last Saturday for the return of the treasures to the Wawel Polish State Museum at Cracow.

The agreement was announced Monday night by the executive committee of Polish National Unity, an organization of Poles abroad.

The treasure, in 24 blue trunks, was taken from the Provincial Museum on the Plains of Abraham.

M. Dobrosielski, a deputy of the Polish ambassador to the United States, said the treasure would be taken to London and loaded on a Polish ship there.

The treasures were removed from Poland for safekeeping at the start of World War II. Two representatives of the Polish government in exile brought them to Canada in 1940. They were moved from one hiding place to another.

In 1948 Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec ordered them transferred at night to the provincial museum when he heard that some of the treasures might be sent back to Poland.

Asks Belgium To Stay Out

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in a sharp protest has called on Belgium again to stay out of the Congo's internal strife.

Hammarskjöld published a note to Belgian Ambassador Walter Lorrain Monday protesting that Belgium aided Col. Joseph Mobutu's troops by letting them pass through the Belgian-administered trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi to get at rebels in neighboring Kivu Province.

The secretary-general said Belgium's action had violated the U.N. resolution calling on all nations to keep hands off the Congo and leave peacekeeping there to the U.N. force.

Hammarskjöld demanded Belgium "take immediate and effective measures to insure that there will be no possibility of Belgian authorities in the trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi or elsewhere lending support directly or indirectly to military action by Congolese troops."

Tipsy Duck Is Jailed

WOODSTOCK, Ill. (AP)—A weeping, quacking duck, staggering around Woodstock New Year's morning, was picked up by police after a hectic chase.

It was the only drunken duck jailed for celebrating New Year's.

Police men Don Liston and Tom Pennington said that a duck was waddling along the icy streets and sidewalks, occasionally flapping its wings.

The policemen found that a duck, even if intoxicated, is not easy to catch. The duck scooted along just a few inches off the ground, sailed over a snow bank, something the policemen couldn't do, then paused until they had almost caught up with him.

Then he took off again. Finally he ran into a garage and the policemen captured him.

Liston and Pennington speculated the duck was a lame one and probably had some New Year's eggnog.

Burglar Goes Into Hiding

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Glenn Pennington tried to open the closet door. An unseen force pulled it shut.

Pennington tried again. It closed—opened—closed—and so on.

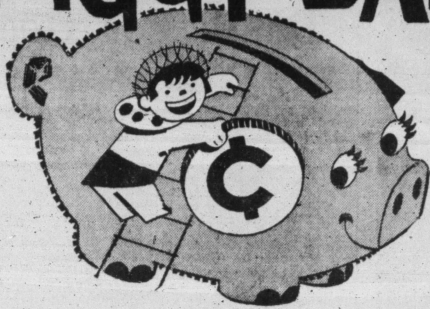

"I knew I had him," Pennington said, "but I couldn't get the door open long enough to get at him."

It was a burglar, Pennington became suspicious when he and his wife returned home to find the front door ajar early Monday.

Pennington, 29, sent his wife next door to a neighbor. He began a room-by-room search of the house—finally climaxed by the closet door tug-of-war.

"After awhile I figured I'd better call the cops. By the time I got back he was gone. Anyway, he didn't have a chance to take anything," Pennington said.

Gibbs Guns Rebels Past Rice Owls

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mathematicians, quite logically, will tell you there's no difference between one and one. But then, such reasoning could hardly apply to Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs, the big difference in a 14-6 Rebel victory over Rice in the Sugar Bowl.

Gibbs, a 22-year-old senior from Grenada, rolled for both touchdowns before 82,851 fans in Tulane Stadium and millions more on national television Monday, and in general was the "Mr. Big" of the Rebel attack.

Not that this was totally unexpected. Gibbs earned All America honors for his brilliant performance during the regular season when he guided the Rebels to a spot just behind Minnesota for the national football title.

The game was less than five minutes old when Gibbs circled left end for the first Mississippi touchdown. And there were 11 minutes left in the game when he went over from the 3 for the second Rebel tally.

In between, the game was largely defensive with Mississippi thwarting three Rice first touchdowns. The Owls punctured the barriers for a third quarter scoring march.

"We knew Gibbs was tough, and he was," said Rice Coach Jess Neely after the game. "If we hadn't let 'em get that first one so easy it might have been a different story."

Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaught, winning his third Sugar Bowl in four years, praised Rice as "the toughest team we faced all season." He called the game a "good, hard-knocking affair."

The Rebels went into the game 16-point favorites, but Rice must have forgotten to read the newspapers. After Mississippi romped to that first touchdown, Rice settled down to solid football.

Mississippi went 68 yards in seven plays for its first touchdown. The Rebels took the kickoff and started the drive on their own 35. Halfback Bobby Crescino accounted for almost half the yardage with a 27-yard gallop and Gibbs, on his pet follow-pass-run option, circled left end for eight yards and the touchdown. Allen Green booted the conversion.

With just a shade more than one minute left in the third quarter, Rice climaxed a 77-yard, 18-play march when halfback Leslie Blum cracked through right tackle for the touchdown.

Gibbs and Co. got back into high gear in the fourth quarter and ground out 87 yards in 13 plays before Gibbs swept into the end zone for the touchdown.

Rice quarterback Billy Cox gave the Rebels some anxious moments with his passing, completing 11 of 20 for 143 yards. He completed four for 43 yards in the touchdown drive.

Gibbs threw 18 times and completed five for 43 yards, several of his tosses bouncing just off the fingertips of Rebel receivers.

LONESOME END BLUES

Late TD Spells Death For Hogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—Lonesome end Tee Moorman, the toe of Art Browning and some little things turned into breaks vindicated Duke's angry Blue Devils with a 7-6 victory over Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

The dogged Blue Devils, driving to atone for defeats in their last two games of the regular season, waited until the clock had nearly run its course Monday before they rolled 73 yards for the touchdown that gave them the triumph in their first appearance in the Cotton Bowl.

For a month the lonesome end of Duke, a big fellow who lined up 15 yards away from his mates on every down, had been the major topic. Coach Frank Broyles had told how he feared this maneuver and how tough it would be to stop it.

Broyles was a soothsayer—it was the lonesome end, Moorman, who kept that desperate drive going and it was Moorman, a lonely man in the end zone, who caught Don Altman's nine-yard pass for the touchdown that broke Arkansas' heart.

Browning, the big guard, kicked the point that won the game. Micky Cassell, the Arkansas place-kicker, had to contend with chunky Dave Singer, the surging Duke wingman, who smashed through to block the extra point effort and thwart Arkansas in its third try for victory in the Cotton Bowl.

Little things? In the second period Arkansas was on the Duke 27-yard line despite two 15-yard penalties. George McKinney passed to Jim Collier standing on the two-yard line. It grazed Collier's finger tips and Altman, the brilliant Duke quarterback, grabbed the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Three times Arkansas moved into Duke territory in the first half and Duke could get into Razorback land just once, then on a recovered fumble. Yet Arkansas couldn't score.

Buckies Top Weekly Poll

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State, the defending national champion, stayed at the top of the weekly Associated Press basketball rating today. What's more the Buckeyes scored the maximum number of points for the third straight week.

Of the 36 votes cast by sports writers and sportsposters across the country who vote in the poll, every one had Ohio State at the top. That gave the Buckeyes 360 points.

The Ohio State sweep was hardly unexpected. Jerry Lucas' and Co. won the Holiday Festival in New York last week and in the process dumped St. John's and St. Bonaventure, both of which had been undefeated. That made Ohio State's record 9-0.

Bradley stayed in second place, but lost 15 points in the process. The Braves have a 10-0 mark and collected 304 points on the usual system of 10 points for first, 9 for second and so on down the line.

St. Bonaventure, which gave a good account of itself in dropping an 84-82 decision to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival final, remained in third place with 304 votes.

Past the big three, though, there was a wholesale shakeup. Three members of the top 10 a week ago—Indiana, St. Louis and Auburn—dropped out. Indiana took the most emphatic nose dive spiraling all the way down from fourth.

North Carolina, which won the Dixie Classic by knocking Duke from the undated list, made the biggest jump, right up to sixth place.

The leaders with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (36)
2. Bradley 300
3. St. Bonaventure 264
4. Louisville 225
5. St. John's (N.C.) 165
6. North Carolina 158
7. Iowa 118
8. Duke 76
9. UCLA 65
10. Auburn 51

Others receiving votes included: St. Louis, Indiana, Kansas State, Drake, USC, Wichita, Detroit.
