

Football Guessing Is Getting Tougher

It was a hard week for the football guessers. The Enterprise football contest — or rather the upset victories gave more than 100 contestants all sorts of trouble.

Jerry McKay finally came out on top, picking 15 of the 19 games correctly.

He shaded Monte Chitwood, who picked the same number, by coming closer on the tie-breaker game, which Hale Center won, 14-13.

McKay guessed 20-12, Olton, and was nine points off. Chitwood was 18 off with his guess, 23-6, Olton.

Topper Maxey took third, guessing 14 games of the 19 correctly.

McKay will get a check for $10, Chitwood, $6 and Maxey, $4.

Eleven others in the contest came fairly close to the money, missing only six games.

They were Leo Ross Bryant, R. L. Lyon, Mrs. Bailey Hair, William Neinst, Benny Moore, James McCoy, Pat Trotter, Mike Gullett, Monty Roberson, Joe Hall and James Rogers.

Another contest is underway this week and it's easy to enter. Simply get a copy of the Sept. 24 Enterprise, fill out the entry form and turn it in to one of the sponsoring merchants by Friday at 4 p.m.

Sunshine Brings Smiles To Olton

Sighs of relief could be heard throughout the Olton area this week as the clouds finally broke and dry, sunny weather returned to the South Plains vicinity. Return of the sunshine ended a threat of potential damage to the area grain crop, and also ended a three-week long delay in the harvest.

By Wednesday combines were in the fields, and the harvest pace was beginning to pick back up. The resumption of harvest was a welcome occurrence for farmers, grain company operators and local merchants.

The weather forecast gave added hope that clouds and moisture will delay their return visit to the area until the harvest can be carried nearer its completion.

The general consensus was that the area harvest could be pretty well completed in three weeks if the weather stays nice. Asked about the return of good weather, Mrs. Elmer McGill said, "It's just wonderful." Corn harvest is underway again on the McGill farm southwest of town. The corn had started to fall a little during the seige of bad weather, but no excessive damage was done to the crop.

M. E. Haddad, who farms west and north of town, said he figured the sun would bring smiles to quite a few faces in the area. He reported things west of town beginning to dry up and said that some farmers in his area were beginning to get into their fields to cut crops.

The word from the Ott Patterson farm east of town was, "We are getting to combine, and that's something. We didn't get hurt by the cloudy weather, but we do need the sun -- and lots of it."

Four Injured In Collision

A two-car collision southwest of Olton Thursday, Sept. 24, put four people in the hospital and demolished both cars.

Driver of one of the involved vehicles, Jerry Leon Morris of Portales, N.M., was reported in good condition Friday at Olton Community Hospital.

Morris was released from the Olton hospital on Monday. Morris's wife, Glenda, was reported still in serious condition -- but improving -- Wednesday. She suffered multiple lacerations, severe concussion and possible skull fracture.

The five-month-old Morris child, Gary, was reported in fair condition with multiple lacerations, fractured femur and fractured ribs.

Driver of the other car, Mrs. Rossie Lee Brown of Olton, was reported in good condition with multiple lacerations, rib separation, but no fractures. Mrs. Morris and her son are due extended hospital stays as a result of the accident.

According to investigating Patrolman Weldon Parson of Littlefield, the Morris car was traveling north and the Brown car was traveling west when the two vehicles collided at a dirt intersection four miles west and three miles south of town.

The northbound '63 Chevrolet, struck at the right front, struck a utility pole and was further damaged. The westbound '62 Chevrolet, struck at the left front, was damaged only by the actual collision.

According to the investigating patrolman, the accident happened about 2:45 p.m. He said that the view at the intersection could possibly have been obscured by some trailers parked nearby, but he added that grass and weeds in the vicinity were not high enough to obliterate the sight of the oncoming vehicles.

Parson said that he did not feel the accident was the result of high speed. He said, "I don't think either vehicle was going more than 35 or 40 miles per hour."

But high speed or not, both cars were totally demolished, according to the officer. And all four people in the two autos ended up in the hospital for varying lengths of time.

PTA Meeting Slated Tonight

Olton PTA will meet for their second session of the year tonight in the school cafeteria. Devotional will be brought by the Rev. John E. Lewis. Leader will be Mrs. Winston Bley.

A film "Who Shall Decide" will be shown. An audience participation "buzz-session" will be held. Following the meeting there will be a friendship hour.

Boys 8-13 Have Week To Enter Punt-Pass Event

Only a few days remain in which Olton area boys may register for the community's annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition, sponsored by Fisher Ford Sales.

The event is open to boys 8 through 13 and registrations will be taken one more week at Fisher Ford.

Hart Woman Burns Candle In Quest To Finish Schooling

Mrs. Claude Cox of Hart is "moonlighting" in a big way these days -- and successfully, too -- as she tackles the many full-time jobs of being housewife, mother of four and student.

Irene Cox started back to school seven years ago -- shortly after the birth of the youngest of the Cox children. Now seven years later, with all the children -- Veronica, 12; Steve, 10; Mike, 8; and Larry, 7 -- in school, she is plunging into a full-time academic schedule.

In the seven years of slow part-time education, she has reached just past the junior stage in high school (and done a little college work on the side), but now the pace has quickened.

Presently nine courses face the Hart housewife. She is taking algebra, geometry, and chemistry and typing at Hart High School; and she is also taking correspondence English algebra, geometry and ancient history from American Correspondence Schools. Piano lessons fill out her already full course load.

The piano lessons serve a functional purpose, as Mrs. Cox has also volunteered to play piano and substitute teach in Sunday School at the church.

As far as the courses themselves are concerned, she says, "All are about equally difficult -- but geometry does have its own problems."

And future plans are perhaps even more hectic than present activities for her. She says she plans to start her college education next year at either West Texas State University or Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

The actual choice of institution will hinge heavily on recommendations of the American Chemistry Society, as Mrs. Cox is figuring on a degree series with a primary major in the field of chemistry.

She says she plans to obtain BS and MS degrees at the college where she starts her chemistry curriculum, and then she plans to go on and get a PhD in chemistry at Texas Tech (as West Texas does not presently have a doctoral program in their chemistry dept.).

To go with her chemistry major, she figures on working toward a physics minor on at least the first degree.

With research chemistry as a final goal, she hopes to be able to get the PhD degree in eight years -- going to school summers. If she is not able to go to school during summer sessions, she says it will probably take at least 10 years to get the final degree of the series.

She says her basic interest is in the medical applications of the field, and that she eventually hopes to be able to do medically oriented laboratory research.

A typical day in the life of this housewife mother student begins at 5:30 a.m. From the 5:30 start, the activities begin to fall at a rapid rate -- breakfast, exercises; and go to school.

Mrs. Cox spends four hours each school day in classes and three and a half hours at the school in other study for her four local courses. The school-going members of the family arrive at home about 4:15 p.m.

Maybe a coke, and then to study. Supper, and then back to the books.

The final session with the books lasts for Mrs. Cox until she falls asleep.

Housework and shopping are saved for the weekends, and on Monday the "5:30" till exhaustion schedule is started once again.

Mrs. Cox says that the schedule is never dull or boring. She says she is searching for "why's" and that every answer just asks another question to be answered.

Olton, "Land of Abundance," town of beauties, has a new beauty to add to the population. Her figure isn't much, but ask any of Olton's 30 volunteer fire fighters -- she's a beauty all right.

The prettiest 500-gallon pumper to hit the town in quite a while is currently creating problems right and left -- problems for the city council and problems for the fire department.

The biggest headache raised by the presence of the new white truck is just where in the world to put it -- it just won't fit in the present fire station without some drastic modification to fire station, fire engine or both.

The question was raised at a city council meeting several weeks ago by Tom Smith, Olton's fire chief -- "What's going to be done to fit the new pumper into the existing facilities?" The answer was "nothing until the new truck arrives on the scene." The truck is here, and the problem is still pending.

The 500-gallon pumping unit is mounted on a Ford C-600 chassis. The chassis was purchased from Texas Fire Appliance and Equipment Company in Wichita Falls. The joining of pumping paraphernalia and chassis was done by Broadman Fire Equipment Company in Oklahoma City.

So the new addition to the fire fighting staff in Olton is already quite well traveled -- sort of a lady of the world. And such "ladies" come expensive -- this one cost the City of Olton between $13,000 and $14,000 equipped.

The new unit is quick on her wheels, with a 332 cubic inch displacement engine -- larger and more powerful than the engines on either of the other Olton trucks.

She can carry more hose than either of the other trucks, too -- a thousand feet of 2 1/2 inch line, 300 feet of pre-connected 1 1/2 inch line, 300 feet of additional 1 1/2 inch line and two reels with 150 feet of 3/4 inch hand line on each reel.

If necessary, the new pumper can take care of four lines at a time, and can throw the entire 500-gallon load of water on a fire in less than five minutes. Using fog and two lines, the water supply will last about 25 minutes, according to estimates from the fire chief.

Smith related that the volunteers have had to hook up to a hydrant only once in the past 11 years to get enough water to fight a fire to the bitter end. And he added that the volunteers have fought a lot of fires during the past 11 years.

Olton now has three fire trucks when needed, and the addition of the new third truck will lower the key rate for fire insurance to approximately 60 per cent of what it was 11 years ago -- and to about a third what the key rate is for insurance on rural property.

Presently the new unit is at Fisher Ford, getting a mechanical "once-over" -- and maybe even two or three mechanical checks.

And with no place to put the new pumper, no one really knows when the volunteers will get to take her to her first fire.

PRIDE AND JOY of the Olton Fire Department is this brand-spankin' new 500-gallon pumper which soon will go into service. The only holdup is to fix the door of the fire station so that the new fire truck will have a home. Here, a group of volunteer firemen proudly pose with their new machine.

DAMAGE WAS HEAVY and several persons were injured in this collision at the intersection of two dirt roads west of Olton last Thursday. A Portales, N.M., family was in one of the cars, while the other was driven by an Olton Negro woman.

HITTING THE BOOKS -- Five members of the Cox family are presently making a family project of homework. Pictured hitting the books are Mrs. Cox, head of the study brigade; Veronica, 12, second in command; Steve, 10, coming up through the ranks; Mike, 8, trying to catch up with his teachers; and Larry, 7, just getting started in the scholastic battle.

Russian Roulette

No one would place a loaded revolver in his child's hand and tell him to run along and have a good time.

No one gives his child a stick of dynamite and tells him, as an afterthought, to "Be careful."

Yet, as a matter of routine, we are guilty of placing an even more deadly weapon in the hands of our children.

The automobile is probably the greatest killer in this country today.

It is not a child's toy -- though it may appear to be after school hours and on Saturdays and Sundays.

This is a problem that the police, as hard as they try, can not handle alone. Their cars are much too obvious and easily seen, and, needless to say, they are outnumbered.

Just because Johnny or Susie has taken driver's training and has been given a driver's license doesn't necessarily mean he or she can drive.

Good driving is largely due to experience. It is up to each parent to be satisfied in his own mind that his child can drive....well....under all circumstances.

This means at night, during the day, on country roads, in heavy city traffic, on long trips, in rain, in snow etc.

Only when a parent is satisfied that his child has good driving ability, is capable of sound judgement and fully understands the power he holds in his hands should that child be allowed to drive an automobile.

Even then, it should be on a limited basis with the firm understanding that just one wrong step and he would be "grounded."

As parents, we should resist the temptation to think that "my child would never do anything like that."

Any suspicion, any rumor should be checked out by the parents.

Difficult as it may be, it is up to us to KNOW what our children are doing. At that, we may be the LAST to know.

However, it's well worth the time and effort spent.

It could save your child's life or save him from having to live the rest of it with the knowledge that he had taken the life of another person.

Stop For School Buses

Thousands of school children are now trooping back to school throughout Texas. Many of them will be transported by school buses.

Most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up school children or to allow them to alight.

However, we have already had some very bad accidents this year in Texas because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that very time.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children.

After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding 10 mile per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus.

While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply.

Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

Ground The Lawbreaker

Law enforcement officials, editors and any of the public concerned with the appalling toll of traffic accidents feel a commonfutility about how to cope with the problem.

There are many causes, and various remedies have been advanced by experts.

But a Dallas citizen, in a letter to a newspaper in that city, speaks more truth in blunt language than all of the learned dissertations on the subject we have seen.

Speaking of drivers' tests, the Dallas man wrote:

"Wrecks are not caused by people who do not know how to drive. Most of them are caused by the idiot who doesn't care. Grounding the habitual lawbreaker is more important than drivers' tests."

Drivers' tests are essential, and serve a good purpose, but they alone do not guarantee traffic safety.

The intent of the driver behind the wheel, toward law enforcement and toward the rights of others, unquestionably is the greatest factor bearing on traffic safety.

Texas' toll of accidents and deaths is increasing and unless the trend is reversed, and it seems unlikely, this will wind up a grisly year indeed.

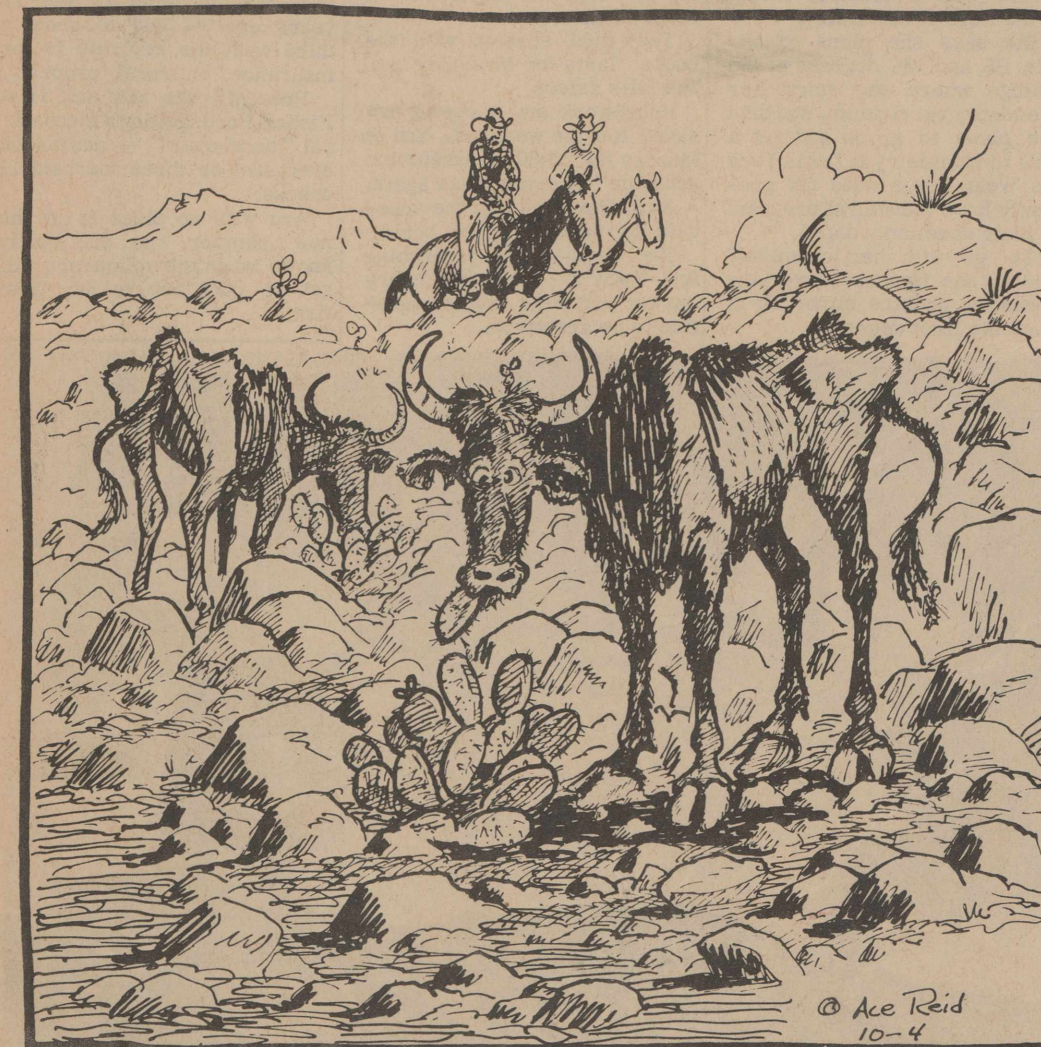

This problem deserves the most careful attention of the 59th Texas Legislature which will convene next January. Every cause and every measure relating to improving traffic safety should be considered.

If the laws need to be stricter on revocation of licenses of incorrigible drivers, it should be done.

Let us hope that the legislature does not become so burdened and preoccupied with the problems of congressional redistricting, legislative redistricting, teachers' salaries and higher education that the crisis on our streets and highways is slighted.

RUNNING WATER PHILOSOPHER

Cost Or Value?

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his Careless weed farm on Running Water Draw tackles the Presidential statement problem in his letter this week.

Dear editor:

As I understand it, it's not a Constitutional requirement, it's just a new fad, but Presidential candidates and their running mates are now publishing financial statements and we have now heard from all of them, none of whom are living in what you'd call a poverty pocket.

What I'm wondering is if the thing, will spread and voters will be expected to publish their financial statements before voting?

If so, there's one point I'd like to get over. I notice that there is considerable argument over the kinds of financial statements the Presidential candidates and the Vice Presidential candidates have published. Some are using figures based on what their holdings cost, others on what they could be sold for now.

This has brought on an argument with one side arguing what something cost is no basis for determining what it's worth now. "That's no way to reflect your financial standing," they argue. "Publish the true current figures."

Well now, technically I guess maybe they're right, but let's not go overboard about it. There are times when a cost basis is better than a sales basis.

For example, take my 1946 model tractor. It'd show up a lot better on a financial statement at its cost when new 18 years ago than its current market value, which I estimate is around $135. If I could get all four tires to stay on long enough at the same time to get it to town for an appraisal. The same is true of my two shares of General Livery Stable stock, or the rubber-tired buggy I've had in a shed out here for years, holding it against the day when man finally pumps all the gasoline out of the ground.

The current market value, you see, is not always the best basis for making a financial statement, but on the other hand, lots of times it can be fine for tax assessing purposes. A man who doesn't know whether he's making out a financial statement for the bank or a tax report to the tax assessor, he's in bad shape to start with. I'm not saying this is the way it ought to be, only the way it is.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

I have been married twice and always send birthday cards to my ex-husbands. Now husband no. 3 saw the cards I bought and asked me who they were for. When I told him, he nearly swallowed his cigar. Do you see anything wrong, Amy, in sending an innocent little card to the ex-men in my life?

Dear Olga:

What are you trying to accomplish by sending your former husbands these cards? Confine your messages to husband no. 3 or else you'll be looking for husband no. 4.

Dear Amy:

In a recent column of yours, part of your answer to "Woke Up" was "your lawyer will help you."

How sure are you about this? When my wife ran off with the children and sued me for divorce, I consulted a lawyer to try and stop them. He said, "you can't stop them." When I suggested a psychiatrist or counselor, his answer was, "all they are good for is to take your money." When I said I was going to ask her to come back, he said, "Let her go. Don't ask her to come back. You're better off without her."

Could it be that today's lawyers are more interested in the large fees they can collect for a divorce case than they are in keeping a family together?

Awake

Dear Awake:

I do not know the extenuating circumstances surrounding your problem. But I do know that an ethical lawyer who feels a sense of duty to his client and to himself will attempt a reconciliation between husband and wife and will suggest outside help if need be before he starts divorce proceedings.

Your lawyer sounds like he has a chip on his shoulder. It also appears to me as if he allowed the affairs of his heart to determine his decision in your case. You should have sought out the services of another attorney, one whose opinion would be unbiased and whose inner satisfaction and wealth would be derived in attempting to keep families together. And there are such men. The Legal Aid Society can suggest one.

Dear Amy:

When I was 8 years old I started getting an allowance every three weeks. It has been that way for six years. Now I'm 14 and my father says I'm too old to get an allowance.

What should I do?

Big G.

Dear Big:

Ask your father what you can do to EARN an allowance!

Dear Amy:

Hang on to your hat! Here is a doozie.

I am a person with a family. I love my children but not my partner in marriage. Instead I love another person also with a family. I have known and admired this person for several years, and for the past several months, we have been very close. I guess you could say we have had an affair. I feel neither guilty nor dirty. In fact, it feels wonderful to know I have been so close to this person. It is not true to say we were only infatuated with each other. Had it not been for this person, I would have never known what real love is. To make matters worse, our partners-in-marriage love us very much and know that our love lies elsewhere. What should we do? With so many loves at stake, should we be selfish and live, or stay and everyone will suffer.

The Unfortunate

Dear Unfortunate:

Some people instead of mellowing with age and experience revert to sniveling children who are old enough to know better.

The sacred state of matrimony is tried and true. What you are saying and doing is like a broken record that sounds tinny, is old hat and will never be much else. I don't know how your mates in this bizarre affair put up with you two, but before you lose the best people in life you ever had, go home and live right.

PERSONAL to Annoyed (from Utah):

Snooping into other people's mail by any method is highly improper. One of my readers liked this problem by inserting a note earmarked for the guilty party with the rest of her mail and it worked!

OWLS IN 14-13 WIN OVER OLTON

A fired-up band of Hale Center Owls came on strong in the fourth quarter to erase a 13-0 lead and edge the favored Mustangs here Friday night, 14-13.

While the victory was an upset, it was richly deserved, for the Hale Center eleven dominated the game.

For the Mustangs, the loss was No. 2, compared with two victories, and it must have made the experts who picked them as district champion potential sit up and take notice.

The battle pointed up once again that there isn't an "easy" game on the Olton schedule this year, and the Mustangs will have to play outstanding ball to contend for the championship.

It was a touchdown by Hale Center with 1:16 left in the game that finally edged the Mustangs last Friday night.

But the finish was being forecast long before that, as Hale Center controlled the ball on 68 plays, compared to only 50 for the Ponies.

The possibilities were seen early in the game, when Hale Center had good drives stopped by fumbles, and when the Owls put up a ferocious goal line stand to knock out an Olton effort inside the five-yard line.

In all, Hale Center rushed for 19 first downs, compared to Olton's 14, and gained 254 total yards, compared to Olton's 238.

It all added up to a 14-13 loss for the Mustangs, but it must now be "water under the bridge" because the toughest part of the schedule still lies ahead.

After an open date this week, the Ponies face Class AAA Canyon here Oct. 9, then open district warfare.

Hale Center took the opening kick-off and got a pair of first downs before Olton tackle Dwight Clark recovered an Owl fumble at the Hale Center 48.

With Fullback Joe Costello

carrying the ball four of the first five plays, the Mustangs moved for two first downs to the Owl 28.

Halfback Dale DeBerry picked up five and his running mate, Richard Hall, made another yard before Costello made four more for a first down at the 18.

Then Costello romped for 11 yards to the Owl 7 for another first down.

The Hale Center line stiffened and held the Mustangs to two yards in a pair of plays, but half - the distance penalty against the Owls moved the ball to the 2 1/2 yard line.

On the third down, Hale Center forwards swept through to nab Hall for a four-yard loss as he tried to turn right end. Costello was able to get only two on fourth down and the Owls took over at their five.

Hale Center moved from there out to the Olton 43, rolling up four first downs in the process. J. D. Davis gained 20 yards on four carries and QB Dan Townsen completed one 15-yard pass to HB Mark Laney to spark the march.

But after getting a first down at the Mustang 43, Townsen fumbled and Olton's Don Sopher recovered to once again stop the Owl offense.

Olton couldn't move and kicked to the Owl 24. Once again the Owls rolled for first downs, getting two to the Hale Center 48.

After Laney gained five to the Olton 47, the Mustangs Clark fired in to drop HB Davis for a two-yard loss to stop Hale Center's momentum. On fourth down, the Owls punted to the Olton end zone.

A 15-yard penalty stopped the Mustangs' next move and QB Joe Priest punted to the Owl 37.

With only a couple of minutes to go in the first half, Townsen went back to throw on first down, but the Owl plans backfired when Priest intercepted at midfield and returned to the Hale Center 30.

Priest's first down pass went incomplete, but on second down, he found HB Hall all along the end zone and threw a 30-yard play gave the Ponies a 6-0 lead and a Don Mitchell's extra point sailed barely wide, it was that way.

Hale Center got back to Olton 40 in the last 90 seconds of the half, but their three straight passes went incomplete.

Opening the third quarter Olton played its best ball the night. The Mustangs stopped the Owls' initial offensive move and took over after a punt to the Olton 24.

From there they drove the distance for a touchdown. After Costello gained two, Hall raced 24 yards to the midfield stripe chalking up the longest run of the night.

DeBerry broke loose for 10 yards, Costello got six and then DeBerry carried three straight times for a total of 28, moving to the Hale Center six. From there Costello carried three straight times, scoring from the one.

Priest added the extra point and Olton led, 13-0, with 4:46 left in the third quarter.

After the kick-off, Hale Center rolled right back for its first touchdown, scoring three minutes deep in the fourth quarter.

HB Davis gained 11 yards in three trips to get to the Owl 31. After two plays gained nothing, Townsen went to the air and hit HB Buddy Duke with a 30-yard gainer to the Olton 39.

The Mustangs tightened up on the next series, but Townsen sneaked for a first down on a fourth-and-one situation, getting to the Olton 27.

A half-the-distance penalty against the Ponies gave Hale Center a new first down at the Olton 2.

After three plays gained eight, Townsen came up with the fourth down play, driving to a first down by inches at the Olton two.

Two plays later, Davis barreled in for the touchdown. HB Ronnie Sherrord, although he appeared stopped, put out the extra effort for the Owl extra points a 13-8, Olton, win in the game.

Priest returned 12 yards to the from there the for two first down got the first win run and Hall picked on a third down get another at the DeBerry raced in the Hale Center second down Hall with a three-yard loss, down the Owls record Berry's fumble at the line.

Hale Center got yards on three plays, with backers Darrell Glover coming up with key defensive plays.

HALE CENTER'S J. D. DAVIS is met by Olton's Richard Hall after the Owl Halfback picked up nine yards to the midfield stripe early in the first period of last Friday night's game.

But on fourth down, the Owls went into punt formation and used a short snap to HB Davis. The move apparently caught the Mustangs by surprise and Davis rolled for 10 yards and a first down at the Olton 35. Hale Center's Leroy Taylor then came back into the ballgame and got key yardage for the Owls. The fullback carried three times for 24 yards, the last trip taking him to the Olton one. QB Townsen punched over for the touchdown to give Hale Center the lead for the first time, 14-13, with 1:16 left in the game. After the kick-off, returned to the Olton 31 by reserve QB Tommy Hall, Priest passed complete to Glover for 7 yards to the Olton 38. After the play, a ruckus developed when a Hale Center tackler hit after the whistle, and offsetting penalties prevented the Mustangs from getting closer to the Hale Center goal. Priest then hit Hall with a pass that the Mustang captain carried 22 yards to the Owl 40, giving Olton a first down with less than a minute to play. But Hale Center rose to the occasion and dropped Priest for an eight-yard loss. Costello got five back, but Priest's last two passing efforts went incomplete. The Owls' Davis led all rushers for the game with 108 yards in 26 carries, while Costello led Olton with 81 yards in 17 trips. DeBerry added 54 yards in 11 carries. Defensively, the Mustangs were led by Guard Steve Moss and Linebacker Hall. Gail Bizzell showed up well at center for the Ponies after replacing Dennis Givens, who was out most of the game with an ankle injury. Also showing well defensively for Olton were Glover, Don Sopher, Dwight Clark and Don Mitchell.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

It's almost time to vote again. General election ballots already are in the hands of local officials, for printing.

Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin has mailed out the sample ballot to the clerks. Along with it went a 44-page certified list of the state and district candidates. Many clerks had been pressing for the material so they could order necessary printing well in advance of the November 3 election date.

Absentee voting begins 20 days before the general election, and clerks must post ballots 10 days earlier than that.

This ballot will list Democratic nominees in column 1, Republicans in column 2 and Constitution Party candidates in column 3.

Three constitutional amendments also will appear on the ballot.

One would remove authorization for transfer of up to one per cent a year from the permanent school fund to the available school fund for current spending.

Another would set tougher requirements for creation of special conservation and reclamation districts; and

The third would permit the Legislature to authorize medical care payments (on a matching basis with the federal government) to needy persons over 65 who are not receiving old age assistance.

Martin held up his final certification of candidates pending a Supreme Court ruling on a Scurry and Borden Counties suit. Court declined to hear Snyder attorney J. Ray Martin's request for listing as an independent candidate for 132 and district attorney. Martin also sought, unsuccessfully, to keep Democratic nominee for district attorney attorney, Wayland G. Holt, off the November ballot.

EMPLOYMENT STILL ON RISE — Non-farm employment in July rose to 3,316,300 compared to 3,314,200 in June and 3,255,500 in July, 1963, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

Percentage of job-seekers in the period dropped from 4.4 per cent of the state's potential working force to 4.2 per cent — a healthy change from the 4.8 per cent of jobless in July a year ago.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN — A band of citizens from Nolan County came to Austin to call on State Highway Engineer De Witt C. Greer with a petition requesting his department to reconsider a decision to close the engineering officer at Sweetwater.

Greer said the decision to close was due to slackening of the work load in that area, but said that the petition will be given careful consideration.

MENTALLY RETARDED FACILITY APPROVED — Gov. John Connally has directed a fund transfer between two state agencies to create a Regional Diagnostic and Referral Center for mentally retarded at Denton State School.

State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools requested the executive action calling for transfer of a $467,000 grant from the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare by the State Department of Health.

Center will provide services in diagnosis, management of the retarded and training of personnel over a five-year period.

Application has been made for a Hill-Burton grant to finance construction of a building.

WATER — Water engineers from 17 Western States discussed and swapped ideas on how their states are attacking the coming water crisis at the Association of Western State Engineers' convention here.

Marvin C. Nichols of Fort Worth told the group that the proposal of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation for a canal along the Gulf Coast, to carry surplus waters from the Sabine and Neches to water-shy Gulf Coast areas of South Texas, should be held up until the state gets the money from the Legislature to investigate alternatives. He feels that canals or pipelines, carrying surplus East Texas water to upper points of Central and South Texas streams, would be far better. Thus the water could be used more than once.

Leon Hill of Amarillo, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, said that engineers can propose plans but they must be refined into "people plans" before they will gain enough public acceptance to reach reality.

John Simmons of Orange, general manager of the Sabine River Authority, endorsed the idea of that big river's surplus water being carried to areas which need it. He believes such transfers of water should be made by arrangements between river authorities, under supervision of the Texas Water Commission.

J. E. Sturrock of Austin, manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association, told the delegates that by the year 2010, population growth may necessitate the $100,000,000,000 proposal to move water from Alaska to supply the Southwest United States and North-western Mexico. He warned the water engineers that it is their responsibility to educate the people on the coming crisis in water, and to be ready with proposals to meet that crisis.

VETS LAND PROGRAM RENEWAL URGED — State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says Texans ought to vote again on whether to continue the veterans land program.

It just now is starting to make money for the state, he advises in his annual General Land Office report. Profits were reported as nearly $3 million last year and eventually should run to $80 million — maybe $100 million.

Voters last year turned down a proposal to issue an additional $150,000,000 in bonds to continue the purchase of land for resale to qualified veterans at low interest rates.

BUS TOUR — State Republican Headquarters here announces that a gold-colored bus — called the "Goldwater Special" — carrying Republican candidates for state wide office will arrive in Austin on October 3, following a three-day tour through East Texas, down the Gulf Coast to Corpus Christi, and up South Texas through Alice.

Passengers will include candidates Jack Crichton for Governor; Horace Houston, Lt. Governor; John Trice, Attorney General; T. E. Kemmerly, State Supreme Court; Don Flanagan, Railroad Commissioner; Dallas Calmes Jr., State Comptroller; Fred S. Naumann, State Treasurer; John Matthews, Land Commissioner; and John Armstrong, Agriculture Commissioner.

WENT FISHING

Horace Walker, O. B. LaFrance, B. C. Cooner, and Gene Wilson left Tuesday morning for a few days of fishing at Lake Stanford.

In Lamb County

Income Goes Up

A survey of family earnings in Lamb County, with particular reference to the distribution of income, shows a steady movement upward into higher brackets.

The progress has been a general one.

Many of those who were in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket a few years ago are now to be found at the $7,000 to $10,000 level. Their former position has been taken over, in turn, by families who had been in the $2,500 to $4,000 group.

For the average local resident, as a result, it has meant a higher standard of living than before.

And, for the business community, it has meant greatly increased consumer spending, especially for durable goods.

The findings are contained in a copyrighted report prepared by Sales Management. It lists, for every section of the United States, the portion of the population that falls within each income bracket.

In Lamb County, it shows, no less than 3,080 households, equivalent to 43.4 per cent of the local population, had net cash incomes of $4,000 or more in the past year.

This was after payment of their Federal and state taxes. It compares with 39.6 per cent in 1961.

The rate of gain, which amounted to 9.5 percent, was greater than the United States' 5.7 per cent. It was 7.4 per cent in the state of Texas.

Since the study took into account only cash income, farm communities were not shown to their best advantage, as no allowance was made for the lower living costs on the farm. The breakdown also reveals the way income was divided among other groups of families in Lamb County.

There were some 7.7 per cent of the households with incomes of $7,000 to $10,000, 24.5 per cent in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket and 21.8 percent with incomes of $2,500 to $4,000. The remainder were above $10,000 or below $2,500.

Since 1959, according to Sales Management, households in the United States with incomes of $10,000 or more have increased 69 per cent.

Much of this has been due, it points out, to the "striking increase in the number of working wives."

Youth Arrested In Connection With Thefts

Two Olton teenagers were arrested this week in connection with the theft of farm pump batteries.

Police Chief Emmett Burrows said five missing batteries were recovered after the arrests.

One of the boys was fined $82 in justice of peace court and the other was to appear before the county judge.

Burrows also reported the theft of a safe at Roper Oil Company last week.

Working on the cases with Burrows are Deputy Sheriff Homer Whisenand and Night Watchman Harvey Castleberry.

The policemen reported a minor auto accident Monday morning about 8:15 in front of the high school building. A pickup, driven by Carlos Garza of Edinburg struck an auto being driven by Mrs. Jim Williams. Damages were estimated at $200 to the auto and $25 to the pickup. No injuries were reported.

New brush-type stripper

John Deere 277 flexible-roll stripper brushes bolls off... takes less bark... speeds harvest of heavy cotton

Step lively and strip clean. Try fourth gear. Scoot! The new 277 wades into tall cotton like a boy into watermelon. You cover more ground... get more cotton... fill trailers fast with this new brush-type stripper.

What makes this new John Deere stripper so hungry? New flexible stripper rolls... two per row. Each with alternate rubber flaps and nylon brushes mounted lengthwise. They come in low... sweep up the stalk. All bolls get the "brush-off," but less bark comes along. You can adjust*stripper-roll spacing and harvesting height from the tractor seat to match cotton and field conditions.

Roomy? All the way. Arches more than 3 feet tall, with chain curtains to prevent cotton jump-out. Speedy augers collect cotton, kickers keep it moving. Trash drops out through grates behind the big cross auger.

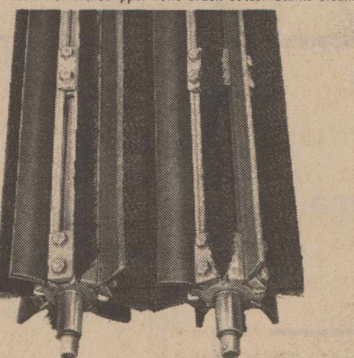

Your John Deere dealer has the new 277. Ask about his convenient Credit Plan.

PANZARITA DAUGHERTY P2121—The class of this Quarter Horse, owned by Frank Daugherty, continues to show as stock produced from her cops honors at Amarillo Tri-State Fair.

Breeding Importance Shown As Daugherty Horses Win

When three Quarter Horses owned by Frank "Curley" Daugherty of Olton won championships at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last week, it proved again the old saying, "Once a champion, always champion."

Eighteen years after Panzarita Daugherty (P2121) was grand champion at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show in 1946, two of her daughters and a grandson won honors at the 1964 edition of the Amarillo Fair. The grandson, My Music

Time, was named reserve champion stallion.

One daughter, Panzy Time, was selected grand champion mare of the show, while the other, Pandi Band, was winner of the filly Futurity trophy.

Panzarita Daugherty won the Produce of Dam trophy, and another Daugherty horse, Bee Play, won the Sire and Get. Bee Play and a daughter of Panzarita were parents of My Music Time, the reserve champion stallion.

In all, the Daughtertys brought home five trophies and a banner from the 1964 fair.

The fine record set by Panzarita Daugherty began with her honors at Amarillo 18 years ago and continued from year to year.

She was grand champion at the Tri-State Fair again in 1947 and the next year came back to win the title of "Champion of Champions."

In 1959, a daughter of Panzarita won grand champion honors at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, a granddaughter won reserve champion the same year.

The granddaughter went on that year to win the title of world champion halter class mare.

Mayflower Daugherty, a daughter of Panzarita, produced three colts for B. F. Phillips which ran triple A on race tracks and he sold them for $40,000.

In all, Panzarita Daugherty has won 16 grand champion trophies at the height of her showing, and her quality has shown ever since.
