

DAWSON FARMERS RECEIVE $153,034.00

Pink Boll Worm Warrants Received Totalled $60,000

$60,000.00 hit Dawson county Thursday morning in Pink Bollworm Warrants for Dawson county farmers. Sixteen thousand dollars more will be mailed as soon as final adjustments are made according to information from the Pink Boll Worm Commission at Austin.

Co-incident with the arrival of the Pink Boll Worm Warrants, Senator Arthur P. Duggan, who introduced Senate Bill No. 52 in the Senate which passed making the appropriation, was in Lamesa as the farmers opened their envelopes and was rejoicing with the farmers that they were getting these warrants.

At the post office Mr. Dyer states that many envelopes have the wrong address, wrong initials and would be held in general delivery until they were certain who they belonged to. He said tell the folks if they did not get their warrants to call at general delivery window and inquire.

The Pink Boll Worm commission states that as soon as those they are holding for adjustments are ready they will be mailed direct to the claimants.

All remember the spring of 1928 when Dawson county was quarantined. We will remember when we sent Carl Rountree to Austin and he was instrumental in getting the law passed authorizing the state to pay expenses of farmers on the sterilization and fumigation. After the ban was lifted in Dawson county the legislature passed payment bills twice and twice the governors vetoed them.

Then in the special session of the legislature Senator Arthur P. Duggan got permission of the Governor to introduce it in the Senate. Senate Bill No. 52 he introduced. It was passed appropriating $500,000 to 18 counties in West Texas. The bill was signed by Governor Ferguson and now farmers are getting their warrants.

The banks in Lamesa are in position to handle all these warrants so state the bank officials here. The regular discount for cash is not to exceed 3 per cent. All are urged to deal with Lamesa bankers and business men if possible as they are in position to expedite the financing of these state warrants for you. Business men state they will give 100 per cent of warrant value in trade or on account.

The average value of the warrants to Dawson county farmers by the Pink Boll Worm Commission is 92 per cent of the claims according to Fred W. Davis. Some will suffer a greater discount from the amount of the claim on account of final failure to make adjustments. Others will be more because the records at Austin were more complete in such cases.

All in all we are appreciative of what we have got. It is like a find because many have said from time to time "no use trying further, we will never get the money."

Now let's try for the '28 at Washington. We can get it if we work as hard as we did for the state money.

Local Dentist Perfects 'Brown Stain' Remover

Dr. R. F. Nix, a local dentist who has operated here the past ten years announced this week that he had perfected a formula for cleaning "brown stain" caused from excess amount of fluorides in the drinking water. He states that he has applied for a patent to protect this formula.

For years Dr. Nix has been interested in this "brown stain" matter and has tried almost everything to remove it from the teeth, but with no avail and much disappointment. Not until a week ago was he able to say that he had the formula that would do the work.

Luncheon Club Enjoys Good Program

The Lamesa Luncheon Club enjoyed a good program Tuesday this week with Dr. J. C. Loveless in charge, the subject being "Boy Scouting." Dr. Loveless presented Bob and Richard Crawley who gave musical numbers and talks depicting scout life. Addresses were made by Rev. E. H. Surfae, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and J. D. Dyer, prominent in scout activities in the community.

The contest points were announced as follows: S. Richardson group, 5,000 points; W. D. Arnett group, 4,900 points. Next Tuesday noon closes the attendance contest. Much excitement and activity is expected during the week among club members. The losers of the contest will entertain the winners in a big party Tuesday evening of the 31st at the City Park.

Next week's program will be in charge of Ethel Iris Simpson and will have to do with Campfire work in the community.

ZANE GREY

THE immense popularity of the author of "Robbers' Roost," which is to be published serially in this paper, may be attributed partly to the fact that he writes something more than the conventional Western tales. Zane Grey has a more intimate knowledge of the real West than many other authors who write of the land of great open spaces because for many years he has lived the life of which he writes.

Though he was born in Zanesville, Ohio, and spent the early years of his life in the East, practicing dentistry in New York for a time after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania, the urge for a more active outdoor life caused him to abandon his profession and seek a home in the West. For many years he has lived in Arizona.

Mr. Grey began his literary career in 1904, with the publication of a historical novel entitled "Betty Zane." Since then he has written more than twenty books which have given him world-wide fame as an author of Western and outdoor tales.

It is something of an occasion when a newspaper obtains a Zane Grey story for serial publication and we take pride in offering "Robbers' Roost" to our readers. Do not fail to read it.

Lamesa Gets Improved Mail Service This Week

Through authority granted this week both incoming and outgoing registered mail of nominal value may now be handled over the Lamesa-Snyder Star Route. Formerly registered mails have been handled only over the train via Slaton. Postmaster J. D. Dyer states that he has been working for a long time to get this additional service and that it will mean more expeditious handling for most registered mail in and out of Lamesa. Registers will now be delivered by city carriers on their morning runs, and those going to patrons on rural and star routes and to the District postoffices will be delivered a day earlier than has heretofore been possible. Also registered mail brought in by rural and star route carriers can be dispatched the same day at 7:00 p. m. thus advancing delivery equivalent to 24 hours in most instances.

Big Plans Being Made for Trades Day

Plans for one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a First Monday Trades Day in Lamesa, August 6th, are being made by business men of Lamesa. Car stickers bearing the message, "Meet Me in Lamesa, Trades Day, August 6th, Bargains—Political speaking" are being borne by cars from all parts of the trade area. Already candidates for Governor who are likely to be in the runoff have been invited to speak here on this date and they have accepted in the event they are in the runoff. This will afford an opportunity for the people of the trade area to see and hear the next governor of Texas. Other candidates in the runoff will be given time to speak also. Considering the fact that merchants of Lamesa will have for sale on this date bargains that are really bargains and the fact that hundreds of people will be here to hear the candidates for Governor speak, the largest crowd that has ever attended a trades day will be expected. The band will play starting promptly at 10 a. m. and followed immediately by speaking. Make your plans to come early and stay all day.

To the Voters of Justice Precinct 1, Dawson County

My name appears as a candidate for the office of constable, Precinct No. 1. The cost of placing my name on the ticket having been paid by friends. Due to the fact that I have had to be at work trying to make a living for my family, and that this office will not pay enough to justify a candidate in spending money that he does not have and can not afford, I have not spent much time in personally seeking the voters, and am taking this way of soliciting the votes of all citizens. If elected, I realize that I must continue to have some other employment in order to enable me to make a living as the Constable's office will not pay enough. But I will devote all of the time possible to enforcing the law and will try to be diligent when my services are needed. I feel that I can cooperate with county and city officers in the work of making Dawson County and Lamesa law abiding communities. I solicit your vote and will greatly appreciate your influence.

$93,034 Received In First Payment On Cotton Contracts

Approximately $30,000 Yet To Be Received on First Payments

A total of 1605 cotton reduction checks totaling $93,034, have been received in Dawson county this week Joe Williams, county agent, has announced. All checks did not arrive, and it is stated that about $30,000 worth are yet to be received.

These checks are made out separately to tenants and landlords. Producers who are expecting checks are asked to look for their name and contract number on the bulletin board in the main hall at the court house, before asking for checks as this will save quite a delay and will aid the force in the agents office to speed up the delivery of all checks.

These checks are for the first payment due the farmers in the 1934 cotton reduction program, the second payment to be received around September 1st, the parity payment to be made on December 1, it is stated. — Agreement Between Producer and Landlords

County Agent Williams give the following information in regards to the program. Any agreement between landlords and tenants contrary to the copy of the contracts will be investigated and a report will have to be made to the Washington office, as the contracts were signed up to give each party his just amount he is to receive and those who have different agreements should read Paragraph 910 of his contract which reads "Comply with terms of the contract and all regulations and rulings that have been made or may hereafter be made, by the secretary with reference to the 1934 and 1935 Cotton Reduction Acreage Contracts and any violation of said term, regulations, rulings or any misstatement herein, or in any information furnished by the producer shall be grounds for the cancellation of this contract" by the secretary. In the event of such cancellation, the producer shall pay to the secretary any sums theretofore paid here under the producer. The determination of the secretary that any violation or misstatement has occurred shall be final and conclusive.

STATE OF TEXAS: COUNTY OF DAWSON:

ALLRED, THE MAN OF INTEGRITY, COURAGE AND ABILITY
 In a barracks room of the naval station in San Francisco Bay more than 16 years ago, four young men from Montague county, Texas talked of what they would do after the war. One was going to get a farm in Southern Oklahoma. He did. Another planned to go into the cotton business. He did. The third to return to marry the hometown sweetheart. "I am going back and run for Governor of Texas" declared James V. Allred. He is running.

He has given to the state of Texas four years of eventful service as Attorney General. Collecting for the state the sum of $7,338,088.03. This sum alone represents more than twice the amount ever collected by any attorney general in four years. When Jimmie opened his campaign in Del Rio, he raised the one live issue that has not been raised by other candidates. His announcements hit a sore spot in the administrative activities at Austin. When he opened war on lobbyists and the way he has been dealing with them through out the campaign has caused unrest among the selfish interests that has in a great way controlled our legislation.

He is being referred to by many outstanding people of our state as another Jim Hogg. When in a radio address he highly eulogized the life of and political attitudes of Governor Hogg, it at once became obvious that as he demonstrated sweeping popularity there would be an effort by special interest to unite on any one to beat Allred. Jimmie does not have the backing of the Great Press of our state to carry his message to the people and it has to be done by his friends, and D. 1934, it being the 7th day of said month, before the Court House door of said Dawson County, in the town of Lamesa the following described property, to-wit:
 All of the Southwest One-fourth (SW 1-4) of Section Seventy-Three (73) Block Thirty-five (35), Township 6-N, Abstract 257, Certificate 206 of the OCS and RGNG Railway Company Survey situated in Dawson County, Texas;
 Levied on as the property of J. W. Tipton and wife Mrs. J. W. Tipton to satisfy a judgment amounting to $4790.88 in favor of THE BOARD OF PENSIONS OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE U. S. A. a private corporation, and cost of suit.
 Given under my hand, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1934.
 Gus White, Sheriff,
 Dawson County, Texas.
 By A. N. Randle, Deputy.

County Club Work

By Miss Madeline Cox
 Dawson County H. D. A.

"I am planning on a big fall garden with my tile irrigation," says Mrs. J. M. Ranson of McCarty. Mrs. Ranson, with the help of her family, has made over a hundred feet of tile and are making a great many more. They plan to tile their whole garden. In spite of being busy with his crops and cows, Mr. Ranson has found time to help with the making and laying of the tile.
 Mrs. Ranson plans to start her fall garden in August. From the looks of things the Ransons will not starve this winter.

Row of Tile Irrigates Six Feet

Mrs. Claud F. Gowen states that tile in her garden irrigates a distance of six feet for each row of tile or a distance of three feet out on each side of the row.
 In setting out her tomato plants, Mrs. Gowen dug down a distance of three feet from the tile and found moist earth which was irrigated from the row of tile.
 The distance a row of tile irrigates is determined by the looseness of firmness of the soil. In loose sandy soil this distance is much greater than in tight soil.
 To determine the distance the rows should be placed apart, one row of tile should be laid and the water run through this. Measure the distance the moisture reaches on each side of the tile. If the moisture reaches two feet on each side of row the tile should be placed four feet apart, because the second row of tile will irrigate two feet to meet the moisture of the first row of tile.

CHEVROLET SALES IN JUNE HIGHEST SINCE MAY 1931

Detroit, July 12.—Chevrolet's record breaking sales continued their advance in June, shattering all monthly records since May 1931, and achieving the highest June total since 1929, officials of the Chevrolet Motor Co. announced today. Retail sales for the month, as compiled from dealers records, were the basis of the announcement.
 The showing is considered especial by notable in light of experts' predictions that automotive volume in general would fall off some 12 per cent during June. Instead of receding, Chevrolet sales showed a gain of more than 12 per cent. Dealer's credit Chevrolet's new low prices, which took effect June 2, with upsetting the prediction so far as Chevrolet is concerned, and paving the way for this substantial increase.

ROBBERS' ROOST

By ZANE GREY

COPYRIGHT W.N.U. SERVICE

CHAPTER I

One afternoon in the spring of 1877 a solitary horseman rode down the long, ghastly desert slant in the direction of the ford at Green River.

He was a young man in years, but he had the hard face and eagle eye of one matured in experience of that wild country. He bestrode a superb bay horse, dusty and travel-worn and a little lame. The rider was no slight burden, judging from his height and wide shoulders; moreover, the saddle carried a canteen, a rifle and a pack.

At length he rode into a trail and soon came in sight of the wide band of green cottonwood, willow and arrow-weed, and the shining, muddy river. On the far side, up on the level, stood a green patch and a cluster of houses. This was the town of Green River, Utah.

The rider needed to reach that town before dark. His food supply had run out two days ago. But unless there was a boat in which he could row across he would most likely not make it. His horse was too lame to risk in the eddies of that heavy, swirling, sand-laden river.

He rode on down the trail to enter the zone of green. In the thick dust he noted fresh horse tracks.

Under a cottonwood, some distance ahead, the rider espied a saddled horse, head down, cropping the grass. He proceeded more slowly, his sharp eyes vigilant, and was certain that he saw a man on the river bank.

Presently he rode out into an opening from which he could see a place where a ferry touched. Moored to the opposite bank was the ferryboat.

The rider sat his horse, aware that the man he had observed had stepped behind some willows. Such a move might have been casual. Then the man moved out into plain sight.

"Howdy," he said, ironically. "Howdy," replied the rider. He became aware of a penetrating scrutiny which no doubt resembled his own.

The rider saw a striking figure of a man, gray with dust, booted and spurred, armed to the teeth. His wide sombrero shadowed a sharp bold face. "Alm'n to cross?" he queried.

"Yes. I see a ferry boat over there." But on the moment the rider was watching his questioner. Then he swept a long leg over the pommel and slid to the ground, without swerving in the slightest from a direct front. "Lucky for me if I can cross on it. My horse is all in."

"Noticed that. Fine boss. Wal, I've been hangin' around for an hour, waitin' to go over. Reckon he'll be along soon."

"Town of Green River, isn't it?" "That's the handle. You're a stranger hereabouts?"

"I am that." "Where you hail from?" "I suppose I might as well say Wyoming as any place," returned the rider, casually.

The other man relaxed with a laugh. "Shore. One place is good as another. Same as a name. Mine is Hank Hays." He spoke as if he expected it to be recognized, but it brought no reaction from his listener.

"You know this country?" queried the rider, and he too relaxed. "Tolerable."

"Maybe you can tell me whether I ought to stop or keep on traveling?" "Haw! Haw! I shore can. But that depends," he said, pushing back his sombrero.

"Depends on what?" the rider asked. "Wal, on you. Have you got any money?"

"About ten dollars." "Huh. You can't go in the ranch business with that. Not regular ranchin'. Lots of cattle between here and the brakes of the Dirty Devil. Henry mountains, too. Some outfit over there. Air you a cattlem'n?"

"No," replied the rider, thoughtfully. "Wal, that's straight talk from a stranger," replied Hays, who evidently took the blunt denial as something significant. "Hullo, another rider. . . . Shore the desert is full of strangers today."

Back up the trail appeared a short, heavy man astride a horse and leading two pack animals.

"I saw him a while back. And here comes our ferryman. Looks like a boy."

"Huh. You haven't seen eyes for nothin'. Wal, we'll get across now."

The rider, after another glance at the approaching man with the horses, took note of the ferry. Boat and third traveler arrived at the bank about the same time.

Hays, after a sharp look at the man with the three horses, led his animal aboard.

"How much is the fare?" queried the new-comer.

"Two bits." "For man or beast?" "Well sir, the regular fare is two bits for each man an' horse." Whereupon the stout man threw the packs off his horses and carried them upon the boat.

"Wall, now, what is this fussy old geezer about?" queried Hays, much interested.

It was soon manifest. He tied the halter of his lead pack horse to the tail of his saddle horse. The second pack animal was similarly attached to the first. Then, bridle in hand, he stepped aboard.

"All right, boy. Go ahead."

"But, sir, ain't you fetchin' your horses on, too?"

"Yes, but I'll swim them over behind the boat. Get a move on, now."

The ferryboy pushed off with his pole, and dropping that for the big oar, he worked the boat out into the current, which caught it, and moved it across quite readily into the slack water on that side.

"Didn't like that, did you, boy?" the rider said, as he led the animal ashore.

Hays slapped his mount, driving him off the ferry, while he watched the stout man lead his three horses along the gunwale of the boat, until they could touch bottom. Heaving and splashing they waded out, and their owner followed, carrying one pack.

"Fetch my other pack, boy," he called.

"Johnny, don't do nothin' of the kind," observed Hays.

"I reckon I didn't intend to," said the boy, resentfully.

Puffing hard the stout man carried his second pack ashore.

"You're not very-obliging," he said, gruffly, as he felt in his pocket for loose change. The ferryboy came ashore, followed by Hays.

Presently the stout man, grumbling, and evidently annoyed at the necessity of producing a fat pocketbook, took out a one-dollar bill.

The rider, amused and interested from his stand on the bank, saw something that made him start. Hays whipped out a gun.

"Throw Up Your Hands!" Suddenly Yelled Hays.

"Throw up your hands!" suddenly yelled Hays.

"Wha-at's this? R-robbers!" the stout man gulped.

Hays reached for the man's wallet. Then he stepped back, but still with gun extended.

"Get out of here now," he ordered. And apparently he paid no more heed to his frightened victim.

"Pretty well heeled, for an old bird," observed the robber, squeezing the fat wallet.

"You'll hear from me, you glib-tongued robber," replied the other, furiously, as he rode away.

Hays sheathed his gun. He did not need to turn to face the rider, for, singularly enough, he had not done anything else.

"How'd that strike you, stranger?" "Pretty neat. It amused me," replied the rider.

"Is that all?" "I guess so. The stingy old skinflint deserved to be touched. Wasn't that a slick way to beat the boy here out of six bits?"

"It shore was. An' that's what riled me. Reckon, though, if he hadn't flashed the wallet I'd been a little more circumspect."

"Is there a sheriff at Green River?" "I never seen him, if there is. Wal, I'll be ridin' along. Air you comin' with me, stranger?"

"Might as well," returned the other. "Stranger, what'd you say your name was?"

"Call me Wall, Jim Wall," rejoined the rider.

Hays' nonchalance reassured Wall as to the status of Green River.

"Any dance hall in this burg?" asked Wall.

"Nary dance hall, worse luck. Any weakness for such?"

"Can't say it's a weakness, but the last two I bumped into make me want to steer clear of more."

"Women?" queried the robber. "It wasn't any fault of mine."

"Wal, women ruined me," returned Hays, sentimentally.

"You don't look it."

"Men never look what they air."

"Don't agree with you. I can always tell what men are by their looks."

"How'd you figure me?" demanded Hays.

"I don't want to flatter you on such short acquaintance."

"Humph! Wal, here we air," replied the robber, halting before a red store building.

A red-whiskered man appeared in the doorway that led into a saloon and lodging house.

"Howdy, Red."

"Howdy, Hank."

"See anythin' of a fat party, sort of puffy in the face? He was ridin' a roan an' leadin' two packs."

"Oh, him. Sure. He rode through town yellin' 'he'd-been robbed,'" returned the man called Red, grinning.

"The devil he did! Who was he, Red?"

"I dunno. Happy was standin' out here, an' when the feller stopped belerin' that he wanted the sheriff 'cause he'd been robbed, why, Happy up an' says, 'Hey, my friend, did he leave anythin' on you?' Then the feller up an' rode off."

It was this speech of Red's that decided several things for Jim Wall.

"I want to look after my horse," was all he said.

"Take him round back to the barn. I'm dog-tired. Send that lazy Jake after my hoss."

This edifice was the last one on the street. The barn mentioned was some distance back, at the end of a pole fence. Upon turning a corner to enter the corral he encountered a loose-jointed young man.

"Say, are you Jake?" he asked.

"You bet," returned the other.

"There's a man out in front who calls himself Hank Hays. He wants you to come get his horse. Do you know him?"

The stable boy's reply to that was to rush off, his boots thudding.

"Enough said," muttered Wall to himself. "Mr. Hays stands well in Green River, as far as this outfit is concerned."

Wall sauntered back and before Hank Hays and the two individuals with whom he was talking were aware of his presence he had seen them. They turned at his slow, clicking step. Neither of the two with Hays was the man called Red.

"Hullo, here you air," spoke up Hays. "I was speakin' of you. Meet Happy Jack an' Brad Lincoln. . . . Fellers, this stranger to Green River answers to the handle Jim Wall."

Greetings were exchanged, but not one of the three offered a hand. To Wall the man called Happy Jack fitted his name. The only contradictory feature lay in his guns. Like Hank Hays, he packed two. The other, Lincoln, was some one to look at twice—a swarthy, dark, restless-eyed man, who, like Hays and his companion, had nothing of the cowboy stripe in his make-up.

"Let's have a drink," suggested Hays.

"Don't care if I do," responded Wall. The interior, bright with lamplight, proved to be more pretentious than the outside of the saloon.

The men lined up at the bar, to be served drinks by Red, who was evidently bartender as well as proprietor. Wall missed nothing.

"Cowpuncher?" queried Lincoln.

"Yes. But I've not ridden the range much of late years," replied Wall.

"You're the cut of it. Where you aimin' for?"

"No place in particular," replied Wall, guardedly. "Might try riding here, if I can get on some outfit."

"On the dodge?" queried Lincoln.

"What might you mean by 'on the dodge'?"

"Anybody particular lookin' for you?"

"I darseny. More than one man."

"So I thought. Friend, you have the cut, the eye, the movement, the hand of a gun-fighter. I happen to know the brand."

"Yes! Well, if that's so I hope it isn't against me in Utah."

Here Hays, who had heard this bit of dialogue, interposed both with person and speech:

"Wall, that's agin a man anywhere in the West, generally. So many fools wantin' to try you out! But I reckon it's a ticket for my outfit."

"Your outfit?" questioned Wall.

Wall followed Hays into a back room, where a woman waved them to seats at a table.

At the conclusion of the meal Jim Wall had to guard himself against the feeling of well-being resulting from a full stomach.

"Have a cigar," offered Hays.

"Don't care if I do."

"Wall, let's go out an' talk before we join the other fellers," suggested Hays. They returned to the big room. It was empty except for Red, who was filling a lamp.

"They've all gone down to meet the stage. It's overdue now."

"Stage! From where?" "West, so set easy," laughed Hays. "That one from east won't get in till next Wednesday. By that time you won't be here."

"No? Where will I be, since you seem to know?" "You may be in the garden of Eden, eatin' peaches," retorted Hays. "See

Requirements For Voters in Coming Elections Listed

With the first Democratic primary less than two weeks away, many persons have asked the question, "Who is qualified to vote?" Here's the answer to that query: All persons between the age of 21 and 60 who have paid their poll tax last January and who have resided in the state one year and in the county 6 months are entitled to vote. All persons who were 60 years of age prior to January 1, 1933, may vote without having paid a poll tax, provided they have lived in the state one year and in the county 6 months. All persons who have reached the age of 21 since Jan. 1, 1933, may vote without having paid a poll tax, provided they have lived in the state one year and in the county 6 months. The same exemption law applies to them as to the person who is older than 60 years. Every person who is blind, deaf and dumb, is permanently disabled, has lost one hand or foot is entitled to vote without being required to pay a poll tax. Persons who have moved into the state of Texas since Jan. 1, 1933, and who have resided in the state 1 year and in the county 6 months, provided they are 21 years of age, may vote without having paid a poll tax in this state. A person who moves from another county into this county or who has moved from one precinct in this county into another precinct and expects to vote need not have his poll tax receipt transferred by the tax collector. However, he must satisfy election officials, at the time of the election, that he is the person described in the poll tax receipt and that he then resides in the precinct in which he offers to vote and that he can meet other qualifications of a voter. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harold Collins and daughter Kay returned last Friday from a two weeks vacation in Dallas and Oklahoma. Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Alexander and daughter left Sunday for a two weeks vacation in New Mexico and Colorado. Marian Key returned Wednesday from a six weeks' visit in New Orleans with the Bill Wallace family. He was accompanied home by Bill Wallace Jr., who will visit here several weeks.

To the Voters of Dawson County

Friends, July 28 is almost here, and the duties of the county treasurer is very heavy this month, having an annual and a quarterly report to get out, and I find it very difficult to leave the office only for a few minutes at a time. So if I fail to see you personally I am asking you to take this as soliciting your vote. This office belongs to the tax payers of Dawson county. I am only your employee and I have tried to serve you in this capacity to the best of my ability. I appreciate the confidence you have placed in me as your treasurer and I have tried to show my appreciation by my service.

I have lived in Dawson county for the past 20 years and most of you know me, and know why I am asking for this office again. I feel that I am much better qualified now than ever before to serve the people of this county. So if you are willing for me to continue in this office there would not be any one who would appreciate it any more than myself and family.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Mattie Herndon.

To The Voters Of Dawson County

I wish to thank you again for having given me the privilege of serving you as tax collector. I have enjoyed serving you, and I have enjoyed learning to know you. I have tried sincerely to be the kind of officer that you expected me to be when you gave me this office. If I have succeeded in that, I am well pleased.

Now I am a candidate for a new office, that of Tax Assessor and Collector, and again I need your help.

I had hoped to talk with each of you personally, asking for your vote and your influence; but so little time remains I am afraid I shall fail to see some of you. In case I miss you, please remember that I wanted to see you, and that I do need your help very much.

The past two years have placed upon me many responsibilities—responsibilities which I myself must shoulder—and I need your support more than ever before.

Having served you as Collector, I am acquainted with the more difficult phases of the office of Tax Assessor and Collector; and through my duties as collector I have learned the duties of the Assessor and have come to know the values as fixed in this county. If you are pleased with my work as collector you need not hesitate to let me serve you in this new capacity.

I earnestly solicit your vote and your influence; and if you find me worthy of this trust, I assure you that I shall care for the duties of this new office as carefully, as conscientiously, and as thoroughly as I have cared for the duties of the tax collector's office, making sure that you will never have cause to regret your show of confidence.

Very sincerely yours,
Willie Belle (Pete) Cleveland
