Because the Winters Volunteer Fire Department sends members to the state fire fighting school each year, fire insurance policy holders in Winters are saving about $6,000 a year in fire insurance costs.

According to W. D. Waggoner, of the Volunteer Firemen, who attended the school recently, the attendance of one man at the school decreases by 3 percent the key rate for fire insurance in Winters. If two men attend, the key rate is reduced by 4 percent, and for three men in the school, a 5 percent reduction is realized.

The city of Winters is allowed a decrease of 5 percent because three men from the local fire department attended the school this year. Attending with Waggoner were J. C. Wilkerson and Marvin Bedford.

However, Waggoner said, to qualify for the 5 percent reduction in the key rate, one of the three men attending the fire fighting school must take the fire marshals' course. Bedford was the Winters man taking this course during the recent school.

Although it's still a little more than two weeks before school begins, things are already stirring up around the Winters school plant.

Bob Gans, High School band director, has been working with the Blizzards marching band for several days now, and Football Coach W. T. Stapler is opening the pre-school football camp next Sunday afternoon.

Stapler has asked that all high school boys, sophomore and above, who are interested in football, to meet at the field house Sunday, Aug. 16, at 3 p. m., to begin the two weeks football camp and practice. Boys are asked to bring their own bedding, cots, and anything else they will need for the two weeks they will camp at the stadium. Meals will be taken in the school cafeteria. Workouts will begin at 6 a. m. Monday, and last until 8 o'clock. Skull practice and theory will take up the rest of the day until the afternoon workout, 3:30 to 5:30. This schedule will be maintained throughout the training period.

At the top of the front page of The Cisco Press is the motto: "If you spend a dollar at home, you have some hope of getting it back. If you don't, you just spend a dollar."

If that is true in Cisco, it is likewise true in Winters. When money is spent out of town for merchandise that can be purchased in Winters, there is little likelihood that even a small portion of it will ever find its way back home—for any practical purpose, it is gone forever.

The alley west of Main Street, between Parsonage and Dale Avenue, which has been a one-way alley for so long, has been changed to a two-way driveway by the City Council.

The only rule made is that traffic emerging from the alley onto Dale make right-hand turns, to merge with the west-bound traffic. To turn left, against traffic, would be considered an illegal turn, according to the council.

This conversion to two-way traffic means added convenience to the merchants on that block of Main Street, and makes for less troublesome driving and access to the stores for customers.

So if you have occasion to use that alley, drive carefully, and keep a sharp lookout; it would be very easy to get clobbered entering or leaving, because not everyone knows it's been changed.

As time goes, changes are taking place on Main Street. The front of Heidenheimer's has been completely remodeled, with the big show windows removed and glass doors installed flush with the sidewalk. Only a small area behind the big windows will be used for show-window purposes, and pedestrians are allowed a view of the entire store through the glass. It's going to be one of the most modern of fronts in these parts.

The sign over the Spill Bros. & Co. building has been repainted, and Herman's Men's Store is getting a new sign. Across the street, Bahman Jewelers has new signs up.

Reminds us of the remark we heard an out-of-towner make recently. He said he liked to come to Winters, "because there is always something going on."

Boat owners and operators might be interested in knowing that the

Mrs. Leland (Thelma) Hoppe and Billy Joe Robinson, both employees of Heidenheimer's and winners in the "Most Courteous Saleslady and Salesman" contest, received $50 Savings Bonds Friday from the Winters Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the contest. A. W. Libbe, president of the chamber of commerce, and John Waddell, director, made the presentations.

Mrs. Hoppe has been employed at Heidenheimer's since 1941. She has worked in all departments of the store and at the present time is bookkeeper. However, she still likes to sell merchandise and meet the customers.

She is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church where she is a Sunday School teacher, a member of the Evening Circle and the Chancel Guild. She is a past sponsor of the Goal Diggers Club.

Her husband is a stock farmer and the couple have one son, Jimmy, who is a graduate of Winters High School and San Angelo College. He plans to attend college this fall where he will study law.

Robinson assumed his duties at Heidenheimer's in 1946, following his discharge from the infantry. He served in the Pacific during World War II. He was married to the former Dean Moreland in 1946 and they have two children, Ricky, 11, and Jan, 7.

Robinson is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 9193, Booster Club, Rodeo Association, Sportsman Club, and the Future Farmers of America Stock Show Association. He has served as secretary of the VFW and is assistant Cub master. (Photo by Little)

Football Tickets Go On Sale Monday Morning, Aug. 24

Holders of last year's reserved seats for football games at Blizzards Stadium may purchase tickets for the same seats for the current year, beginning Monday, August 24, through Wednesday, August 26, it was announced this week by James B. Nevins, superintendent of the Winters Schools.

Beginning Thursday, August 27, through Wednesday, September 2, reserved seats will be sold on a first come, first served basis. All tickets may be purchased at the school business office and it will be impossible to sell or reserve tickets by telephone. School authorities urge home fans to purchase their reserve tickets since seats may be scarce due to the Winters Band and student section moving back to the east stands.

There have been changes made in the district ruling on sale of reserved seat football tickets. For the 1959 season fans may purchase reserved seat tickets for 25 cents per game or $1.25 for all home games, paying an additional $1.00 per game general admission, or a total of $1.25 per game. Students paying 25 cents for a reserved seat ticket will pay 25 cents general admission, a total of 50 cents per game, if purchased prior to the game.

The new district ruling specifies changes in admission charges when tickets are purchased at the site of the game. In this case reserved seats will be 50 cents, plus general admission of $1.00 for a total of $1.50, while students will be charged 50 cents general admission in addition to the 25 cent reserved seat ticket. According to this new district rule, all tickets purchased at the site of the game will be 25 cents higher than if purchased prior to the game.

The general admission tickets may be purchased prior to the beginning of the season when the reserved seat tickets are purchased or they may be purchased at the gate on the day of the game. All reserved seats will be sold as a unit or student, which will include reserved seats for pre-school children. This method would enable the parent to have a reserved seat for a game for a cost of $1.25 and a reserved seat for a child or student for a cost of 50 cents.

Reserved seats for the Winters fans will again be on the east side of Blizzards Stadium between the 40-yard lines. Regular general admission tickets will also be available for sale.

The 1959 home schedule will include the following games:

Sept. 5 (Saturday) — Crane
October 2 — Hamlin
October 16 — Ranger
October 23 — Eastland
October 30 — Coleman

ROGER BABSON SAYS

"International Fishing Industry Might Be Key To Peace With Russia"

Babson Park, Mass.—My dream is that the fishes of the sea might be a connecting peace link between Russia and the United States. The ocean is the only area between nations which is recognized as free and equal to all nations. This is not only according to international law but also according to custom extending over a hundred years. Therefore, I have felt that the international fishing industry might be the opening wedge in terminating the "cold war."

Leading Fishing Ports
In view of the above I have been making a study of the fishing industry of the United States and Russia. There is not much conflict between us and Russia on the West Coast, as our principal catches are salmon and tuna. The conflict on the West Coast is between the United States and Japan. Our main fishing port on the Atlantic Ocean is Gloucester, Mass., which is now taking in over 300,000,000 pounds a year at a valuation of over $15,000,000 per year.

At present, Iceland is exporting considerable fish to the United States. There are demands from New England to erect a tariff wall against Icelandic fish. Various requests have been sent to Washington which President Eisenhower has wisely refused. He explains that we are very dependent on Iceland, Portugal, and other fishing nations for bases and airports. These we must maintain; we would be greatly handicapped if these nations made us move off in retaliation for increasing tariffs against them.

MR. AND MRS. B. H. PRITCHARD

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Pritchard Will Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Pritchard, residents of the Shep Community for 45 years, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a reception Sunday in their home.

Hostesses for the 2 to 5 p. m. event will be their daughters and daughters-in-law.

Their children are Mrs. Andrew Ritchey of Washington, D. C. Mrs. H. B. Atchley of Houston, Doyle of El Centro, Calif., B. H. Jr. of Montrose, Colo., J. E. of San Luis Obispo, Calif., John of Fairfield, Truett of Chulavista, Calif., and Bruce of Pawpaw, Mich.

All will attend the anniversary except J. E. and Bruce Pritchard.

The couple has 15 grandchildren. Mrs. Pritchard is the former Bertha Burkett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Burkett of Gorman. The family came to Texas in 1897 from Missouri, where Mrs. Pritchard was born March 20, 1889.

Pritchard was born March 10, 1888 in Gorman. His parents were

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pritchard.

The young Miss Burkett met her future husband at Sunday School at Midway Baptist Church. They were married Oct. 6, 1909 in the home of the bride's parents in Gorman with the Rev. Ed Morgan officiating.

In 1912 they moved from their home in the Midway Community to Abilene, where Pritchard attended Harden-Simmons University for two years. Mrs. Pritchard took summer courses at H-SU.

The couple returned to the Shep Community in 1914 and Pritchard taught in schools near Gorman and Wingate. He was principal of the Happy Valley School for 12 years. He also was engaged in farming and later served as justice of the peace at Shep.

Pritchard, now retired, is a member of the Masonic Lodge at Wingate. He and his wife are members of the Shep Baptist Church.

Our Canadian Policy

One of the world's most important examples of friendly mutual protection is the boundary line between the U. S. and Canada. Although it would be very easy for either country to invade the other, there has never been a suggestion that such might even be considered. Yet there is no military defense or offense between the two countries. There has been some conflict at times between our fishing fleets but since fishing boats do not carry guns or military equipment, we have had continual peace. My dream is that the fisheries can bring about a similar friendly relationship with Russia.

All the above means first that neither Russian or American fishing boats should carry guns or other protection, but should depend upon the good will of the other. Another requirement, sought by Russia, which seems very reasonable is that the mate on every American vessel should be able to speak Russian, and the mate of each Russian vessel be able to speak English. This is very important if the radio codes are to function properly. Real world peace must have some sort of international language — such as Esperanto — which would be sponsored by the United Nations.

Fishing Ports In Russia

We all know the big fishing ports of the United States, but are not so well acquainted with the ports of Russia. At the east end of the Gulf of Finland the leading port is Leningrad (Petrograd). The only Russian port that is open all year is Odessa on the Black Sea. I have been trying to get figures from Odessa, but have been told that I can get them only by going there in person and giving the Russian Fishing commission, in exchange, certain figures which apply to this country, and especially to Gloucester.

The population of Odessa is over 600,000, and is growing rapidly. Nearby is the city of Yalta where President Roosevelt had his last very important conference with Stalin. A photograph of them at this conference shows that President Roosevelt must have been ill. This may explain why he permitted us to get into the Berlin mess and give the Russians all that portion of Germany which surrounds Berlin. This is now known as East Berlin.

The above explains why I am planning to leave here next month for Sweden and Denmark. At Copenhagen I will be the guest of Mayor Urban Hansen and will get data on northern Russian fishing ports. Then I shall go to Berlin and to Odessa and secure data on the fishing of the Black Sea and tributary rivers. I, however, will travel only as the "Gloucester lobsterman and fisherman" and not in any political capacity. I will report my conclusions to readers through this column when I return in November.

TOURED WEST COAST

Ike's Appeal For Labor Reform Bill Unprecedented

BY CONG. O. C. FISHER

Labor legislation continued to capture the headlines on Capitol Hill news, with a show-down vote in the House due this week. Editorials, columns, radio and television were all put to full use by proponents and opponents of effective measures to be considered.

President Eisenhower's appeal for a moderate bill was almost unprecedented for a President. Old-timers recall that during the war when John L. Lewis was threatening the war effort with repeated strikes, the Congress passed the Smith-Connally Act, giving the Government power to step in and stop a strike and keep the mines open. Roosevelt vetoed it, but the Congress by more than a two-thirds majority overrode the veto and it became law.

Again, after World War II when the nation staggered from long, inflationary strikes, the Congress responded to public demand and enacted the Taft-Hartley Act. President Truman's veto was overridden. And now for Ike to plug for even a moderate bill is without a precedent in modern political history.

Scores of cases where secondary and organizational and blackmail picketing have occurred are being brought to the attention of Congress. Sno-White Dining Room, in Detroit, is an example. There the employees refused a Teamster union demand that the employees take out Teamsters' insurance — which the employees did not want.

In the attempt to force compliance, the Teamsters picketed the place. When that didn't work, on July 10, 200 Teamsters walked in, sat down and drank coffee for two hours during lunch hour so the usual customers had no place to be seated. When that didn't work, they scattered roofing nails and carpet tacks on the customers' parking areas, and dumped grease all over the place.

In another case, in California, when a suburban restaurant employees would not join the Teamsters, the cafe was picketed for more than nine months! Literally hundreds of similar cases have been reported, most of them involving Teamster and small so-called paper unions.

tage points throughout the party room.

Mrs. L. W. Hollis Guest Speaker At Garden Club Meet

Mrs. L. W. Hollis of Abilene was guest speaker at the regular summer meeting of the Winters Garden Club Friday, August 7, at the City Hall.

"Treating and Drying Material for Winter Arrangements" was the topic of Mrs. Hollis talk and she stated that water treatment was the easiest to do. Material should be placed in a container of water and let stand until the flowers or leaves are dry completely. Remove, dry the stem, wrap in tissue paper and place in a box for storage until time to make your arrangements.

Celosia and cockscomb and all grains and seed pods should be hung upside down so as to dry in a natural position for arranging.

Glycerin treated branches and leaves give a brown toned leaf which is pliable. Place in a glass container with two parts of water and one part glycerin. Place stems which have been slit at the ends and leave in this solution until the desired brownness is obtained. The mixture should come up two or three inches on the stems and only to the fleshy part of the leaf. Magnolia, photinia and loquat stems and leaves are best for this method of treatment.

Another treatment is the sand method. Sunflowers, artichoke and dahlias are the best for this method. Place one-half inch of sand in the bottom of a box then lay the flowers on top and cover with another half inch of sand. Leave until they become dry then remove and place in a box with tissue paper.

A mixture of one-half borax and one-half cornmeal is also used in drying flowers but they must be watched more closely because borax has a tendency to burn.

Mrs. Hollis stated that any flower may be dried or treated if care is used in the process. She displayed over 30 different leaves, flowers and seed pods.

During the business meeting a report was given by Mrs. A. W. Libbe, chairman of the Garden Club's trash receptacle committee. She said that all ads had been sold the cans have been repainted and repaired and placed back on the streets. The Garden Club wishes to express its thanks for the donations of paint, feed sacks and transportation from American Supply Company, C. L. Green Milling and Grain Company and to everyone who placed an ad on the receptacles.

Mrs. O. D. Bradford, chairman of the park committee, stated that there would be a workout at the park every Friday morning beginning at 7 o'clock Friday, August 14. The Garden Club has accepted the responsibility of landscaping and planting the entrance to the park. Every member is urged to come and work for an hour or two and also bring orange daylilies to be planted at this time.

Mrs. J. B. Gladden, chairman of the Golden Age Hobby Show, reported that the show would be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 17-18, in the Dillingham Building. Anyone over 70 years of age with a hobby of crocheting, quilting, collecting anything that might be interesting and are willing to show them are urged to contact Mrs. Gladden or any member of the Garden Club.

Believe It Or Not: You May Get An Income Tax Refund

Believe it or not, the U. S. Internal Revenue Service is looking for 4,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District with some good news for them.

Uncle Sam, in the form of the Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service, has thousands of dollars in the form of refund checks which rightfully belongs to Dallas District taxpayers.

These are checks left over from the recent filing period. The checks ranging from $1.00 to $4,000.00 have been returned in the mail for lack of proper address.

Ellis Campbell Jr., Director of the Dallas District, announced the figures this week in kicking off "Operation Remail."

He said a group of his employees have been searching telephone directories, contacting employers, and attempting through other sources to find the correct addresses of the taxpayers to whom the refunds are due.

Now Director Campbell is asking taxpayers to do themselves and his office a favor. In an appeal to readers of this newspaper, he said:

"If you are entitled to a refund check on the tax return you filed this year and have not received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service advising you that your return is being examined, then write me at 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas, or call RI 8-5611, Ext. 2572."

"When writing or calling, a taxpayer should state his or her name and address exactly as it appears on his or her return," Campbell said.

"Your social security number and the amount of the refund also will be helpful," he said. "Of course, don't forget to give us your new address."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to notify all concerned that D S & R Construction Company, owned and operated by Arnett Dorbandt, Bert Ross and Hunter Pendleton as partners, ceased operations and dissolved the partnership as of July 31, 1959. This does not concern the corporation, D S & R Construction Co., Inc., which is still in business.

Drownings Increase In Rural Areas

The purpose of swimming and boating is to have fun and relaxation, not to drown yourself as over 1100 rural residents of the U. S. do every year.

The large majority of these drownings could be prevented by observing simple safety rules, says Edwin H. Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. When you are boating, observe ten simple precautions and come back alive—not much of a hindrance to your pleasure considering you have your life to lose.

Cooper lists ten rules for water safety. Always find out how many passengers a boat can safely carry, and never exceed this number. Always carry an extra paddle in the boat, in case one is broken or lost. Before leaving shore, be certain you ask an informed person about hazards in the lake or stream, such as location of swift water, whirlpools or hidden obstructions. Always wear shoes and clothing that can be removed easily in case the boat sinks or capsize. Have a life preserver for each person in the boat.

When using a motor, make sure it is the proper size or horsepower for your particular boat. Be as cautious when steering a boat as you would when steering a car, and learn and observe the rules of the water such as speed limits, yielding right of way and forbidden zones. Don't stand in a boat unless necessary and then be careful of your balance. Always wear clothing that will protect you from sunburn, since sunlight is intensified by reflection off the water. And lastly, never go boating when warnings of high winds or severe weather have been issued, Cooper says.

These are simple rules, but their observance could save your life, Cooper concludes.

Fatal Accidents In Area For July Listed At Four

Lt. W. M. Howell of the San Angelo Sub Station of the Texas Highway Patrol, has released the rural traffic accident summary for July 1959 for Coke, Concho, Crockett, Edwards, Irion, Kinney, Maverick, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green and Val Verde Counties.

The Highway Patrol in this area investigated a total of 58 accidents with the following breakdown: Property damage, 30, personal injury 24, and fatal accidents 4. Lt. Howell reported a total property damage of $35,042 with 68 persons injured and nine killed. This is an increase of four accidents and an increase of three deaths for the same period of July 1958.

During July the Patrolmen in the above counties made 409 arrests for the following violations: DWI 12, speeding 279, improper passing 8, wrong side of road 10, defective equipment 14, all other violations 86.

It is a great temptation to agree with certain people rather than engage in a hopeless discussion and waste one's time.

We would all agree that money is one of the commodities about which we cannot say: "A little of that goes a long way."

When a lady precedes a man through a swinging door and lets it slap him in the face, but thereupon apologizes, you can safely put her down as most unusual—perhaps one in a thousand.

If the experts know so much, why are they not rich is a question that still puzzles me when I look over the stocks and bonds as listed today and tomorrow.

PLANT QUALITY ASSURED FOR TEXAS HOMEOWNERS

Texas homeowners can be assured of fuller protection in the quality of plants they buy under the improved Texas Nursery Law now in effect.

The new law, passed by the 56th Legislature earlier this year, will improve the quality of nurseries by setting minimum requirements for plant facilities and care, and by providing for increased inspection service. In addition to large-scale nursery operations, inspection also includes food stores and other stores which sell nursery stock. This is an added provision of the law to insure the quality of plants going to the consumer.

Primarily, the legislation redefines nurserymen into categories of growers and dealers, removes some loopholes of the old nursery law and makes the old law's provisions more enforceable. It also provides for a slight fee increase, added at industry request to give the needed increased inspection service.

Nurserymen say the bill will improve the quality of nurseries, and any store which handles nursery stock, by setting minimum requirements such as shade and water. Fees for inspection were previously determined by whether or not the nursery was wholesale, retail, or wholesale-retail, but under the new law fees will be based on acreage produced or handled.

FIRE ANTS RETURN TO CITY

First, the vicious little fire ant from South America showed up in Houston, then San Antonio, and now it has put in an appearance in Dallas.

The fire ant, whose sting is extremely painful and whose stone-hard earth mounds interfere with mowing and cattle grazing, has spread from East Texas to widely separated areas. In Houston, where more than 20,000 acres were infested, a cooperative city-county program was inaugurated and most of the area has been treated.

Approximately 1,000 acres was discovered infested with the pest in Dallas and the county had to be placed under the provisions of the imported Fire Ant Quarantine. The quarantine prevents the movement of soil, soil bearing plants or other possible carriers from infested plots without permits from the Texas Department of Agriculture. The known infestations are in isolated plots with the largest area centering in a county gravel pit. All materials moving from infested points is being fumigated by inspectors from the department.

BY VERN SANFORD

Fence climbers present a continual problem in the protection of wildlife.

When Sheldon Reservoir, near Houston, was opened for the 1959 summer season of fishing, fence climbing was one of the big problems confronting the wardens and biologists.

Sheldon Reservoir is a state owned wildlife management project. During the winter months it is a waterfowl refuge, closed to fishing. During the summer it is thrown open to fishermen.

Fishing piers and launching ramps have been constructed by the Game & Fish Commission. The entire 1800 acres was fenced, except for two entrance gates. Even ample parking space was allotted. Multiflora roses were planted along the fence to provide cover for birdlife and to help hold the soil of the impoundment together.

Signs were posted advising fishermen to go to the gates. Nevertheless, on opening day, scores of fishermen climbed the fences and beat down the expensive protective undergrowth.

Late in the afternoon a group of the biologists and wardens were drinking coffee and talking about the problem. It had been pretty costly the first day.

One biologist said he thought every man caught climbing the fence should be given a ticket. Another ventured the suggestion that a sign be erected saying, "It Will Cost You $42 To Climb This Fence."

"Yes, we could give them tickets," one of the wardens said. "Then they'd have to go to court and pay a stiff fine. They'd cuss the game department and the wardens. I try to keep from giving a ticket any time I can and still achieve the same purpose. Most of the fellows who fish out here are just like me. They work on salaries and perhaps not enough. If I gave one a ticket it would be just like reaching in his pocket and taking out a half-week's salary."

"That's all true," said the biologist. "On the other hand, think of the hundreds of thousands of persons who pay $2.15 for a fishing license who don't climb a fence and destroy the property they are paying for. They have some rights, too. We can use all the science we know in trying to make hunting and fishing better. Then some thoughtless or perhaps just plain troublesome person comes along and climbs the fence and we've lost a thousand dollars of sportsmen's money."

The argument continued, as arguments do, where game and fish are involved. It is especially true about the offense of trespassing. Somehow there is a resentment to fences. It is nothing new. Back in the early days of Texas we had wars over barbed wire.

We look beyond a fence and see a pretty stream, or perhaps a good place to shoot, and we feel we should be able to cross over to the place. Fortunately, however, most persons recognize the rights of a property owner.

There are a great number of malicious fence climbers. Usually when they are arrested they have a gun. Some even carry a headlight and are bent on killing game, in season or not.

Thus in protecting the rights of landowners, the officers also give protection to wildlife.

As our population increases, the wildlife problems also grow. We have more wildlife today than we've had in years. This has been made possible in most instances through landowner cooperation with conservation officials.

Many of our landowners today recognize wildlife as a crop and permit it to be harvested at a profit to them. They are entitled to that profit. They feed the game and watch after it.

Then we have another situation that isn't too good. We have hundreds of sections of land behind fences where the owners do not permit hunting. They are in the cattle business and they just don't want any hunters around.

As a result the die-off of wildlife is tremendous. If some of these ranchers could be sold on the idea of permitting selective hunting, it would help rather than harm the wildlife program.

We have another asset today, too. The Game Commission, with some license money and other monies that come from the federal excise tax, has been able to buy up some land. This land is thrown open to controlled public hunting.

In many of our states there is considerable government land that provides free hunting. In Texas we have bought approximately 100,000 acres in West Texas for wildlife management. We have some more tracts scattered around.

Surplus game is harvested from this land for free. Unfortunately not enough people get these hunts, but there is enough spread to make it interesting.

Another thing that would cut down poaching would be to provide more access. We have many fine lakes in Texas. Our engineers in motor fuel taxes. They should be considered when the highway department builds a new facility across a waterway. This would help to reduce fence climbing on private property.

IN WACO

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Fulton and Donald of Hatchel, Mr. and Mrs. James McWilliams, Elizabeth, Kenneth and Clarence of Big Lake spent the weekend in Waco visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fuqua, Louis, Eldon, Ruby, Bonnie and Janet. While in Waco they attended the Gehrels reunion at Cameron Park.

Change, not habit, is what gets most of us down; habit is the stabilizer of human society, change accounts for its progress.

September 30 May Be Important Date

September 30, 1959, can be an important date for dependents of certain disabled workers, according to Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo Social Security Administration office.

The 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act authorized monthly payments to dependents of a worker who is receiving disability insurance benefits. Ellington explained. He added, however, that as in the case of other types of social security payments, retroactivity is limited to twelve months from the date a claim is filed. Thus, since the amendments became effective with September of 1958, an application must be made no later than September 1959, in order to avoid the loss of one or more months' benefits. Of course, no payments can be made for months before September, 1959, the month the law was amended.

The changes permit payments to all the following classes of dependents formerly eligible only as dependents of a retired or deceased worker:

1. Unmarried children under age 18.
2. Disabled children over 18 if the disability began before age 18, and they are unmarried at the time of application.
3. A wife over 62 years of age.
4. A wife of any age, provided the wife has in her care a child entitled to benefits.
5. A dependent husband age 65 or older.

Landowners Can Still Stock Quail

Some 34,000 quail have been released on Texas lands since January through the Game and Fish Commission's restocking program according to the assistant executive secretary.

Of this number there were 18,000 bobwhites and 14,000 cottontails. They have been planted on farms and ranches where there are suitable conditions both as to cover and feed.

Even though there has been a steady increase in quail populations throughout the State in the last year or so," Mr. Cutbirt said, "many areas remain underpopu-lated. Landowners usually know if their particular area is short of quail."

The Commission's game farm at Tyler is maintaining a large supply of quail for stocking such areas. Landowners can mail their applications directly to the Austin office or contact their local game wardens.

To insure landowners that quail will survive on a particular piece of land, a game warden checks the area to be stocked soon after applications are received. If the land is satisfactory quail habitat, the hatchery will ship the number of birds requested at 50 cents each.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	6	15-21
Monday	John	6	22-27
Tuesday	II Samuel	22	22-29
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-7
Thursday	II Timothy	4	6-12
Friday	I Corinthians	12	7-13
Saturday	Matthew	22	34-40

The imaginative adult waits for his ship to come in. The child watches his ship go out.

And only the ship which has gone out, will ever come in!

Success, in other words, comes to those who venture. Discovery is the reward only of the explorer.

But failure can repay our venturing; futility can frustrate our exploring.

What shall we seek when our ship goes out? This is the crucial question! Shall we seek the qualities of faith and noble life which make honest ventures worthwhile; or the selfish lures which make searching our downfall?

It is no strange coincidence that so many of the happy, contented, successful people in our community are also faithful church-goers. Jesus said:

Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.

State Capitol Highlights:

After the Hubbub, Tranquility Has Settled Over State's Capitol

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Quiet has settled over Texas' Capitol Hill after 202 days of hubbub. As legislators packed up to go home, directors and employees of state agencies were filling scratch pads with figures. For most state-supported activities, the new budget which goes into effect Sept. 1 will mean more funds. Altogether, $300,000,000 more.

There were some disappointments, of course, in the appropriations bill. Many programs got less than had been asked for, some salaries were cut, and there were riders and restrictions in other activities.

But, overall, there was more relief and rejoicing than tears and complaining. Most seemed to regard the new budget as the best that could be hoped for in such a "hard year."

For their parts, lawmakers were eager to get home and "mingle with the folks." Ahead lie probable showdowns on new spending for welfare and public schools, and, always, the inching up every two years in general spending.

BUDGET BREAKDOWN
Texas' new record high budget of $2,418,000,000 was reported out after 95 days of haggling in conference committee.

But once out, it zipped through both house, with only 8 dissenting votes in the Senate and 108 to 30 votes in the House.

Spending from the general revenue fund, the state's multi-purpose housekeeping kitty, totals $322,800,000. This is up $42,000,000 from the present biennium.

To show how hard up the state was, more than 56 percent of total general revenue spending — or $185,000,000 — will have to come from the new tax bill passed this session.

Here's how the pie was finally sliced on major items:

PUBLIC SCHOOLS — Received an appropriation of $774,904,500, an increase of about $85 million, mostly because school spending has an "escalator clause" which ties it to enrollment.

HIGHER EDUCATION — Got the biggest increase from the general revenue fund of any program. It was boosted by more than $12 million to a total of $130,933,424 for the state's 18 tax-supported colleges and universities. Increase was only about half what was asked by the Commission on Higher Education.

University of Texas officials saw one of their fondest dreams come true in that the "available fund" (income from the University's permanent fund) was left free for buildings and "excellence" programs.

HOSPITALS, SPECIAL SCHOOLS, YOUTH COUNCIL — Allotted a total of $90,456,554, an increase of $6,348,252.

This is to be used to improve medical care in state hospitals and to build a new mental hospital at Denton, a new dormitory for delinquent boys at the Gatesville school and a new building at the Gainesville School for Girls. It will also cover some salary increases and cost of some repair and remodeling in the vast hospital and school system. It does not allow for setting up the juvenile parole system ardently desired by the Youth Council and recommended by Gov. Price Daniel.

STATE EMPLOYEES — Lower-bracketed employees, from $2,400 to $6,000 annually, will get a $180 a year raise. It's not a lot—$15 a month more in the employees' pay envelopes—but it will cost the state about $14,000,000 for the two years.

JUDICIARY — Will receive $9,336,769 from general revenue, a $312,779 increase. Most of this goes for new district courts plus briefing attorneys and secretaries for the Supreme Court.

PRISON SYSTEM — Operating budget increased by $2,800,000 plus $7,720,000 to provide additional buildings for a prison population soaring toward 11,000.

LIVESTOCK DISEASE — A new program to control brucellosis was tabbed for $239,960, considerably under the $2,170,000 requested.

STATE ADVERTISING — State Highway Department was authorized to use $100,000 to lure tourists and the Texas Industrial Commission $20,000 to seek new industries.

CONSTITUTION — Texas Legislative Council was given $50,000 for a study of the State Constitution with a view to revising it.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT — All the furor over top officials' salaries brought little change. Commissioner of Insurance, William Harrison was cut from $20,000 to $15,000 a year; the three board members, from $15,000 to $14,000.

BUILDING PROGRAM — To further the Capitol expansion program, $2,753,000 was appropriated for buying land, $2,924,000 for a second state office building.

WATER PLANNING — Board of Water Engineers was allotted $2,037,000, an increase of $200,000, but nearly $800,000 less than requested. It will allow for some salary increases for board members and engineers and mapping to locate future damsites.

RIO GRANDE NAVY — Sen. Abraham (Chick) Kazen Jr. of Laredo, Texas fourth "governor for a day" this year, used his time in the spotlight to call attention to needs of his South Texas border country district.

As Senate president pro tempore, Kazen served as chief executive in the absence of the governor and lieutenant governor. He proclaimed Good Neighbor Day, created the Navy of the Rio Grande and urged Congressional approval for construction of Diablo Dam west of Del Rio.

Sen. Frank Owen III of El Paso succeeds Kazen as president pro tempore for the interim between sessions.

REPRIEVE FOR CHURCH — St. Martin's Lutheran Church, a beautiful, classically designed building one block north of the Capitol was to be destroyed to make way for the state building program.

Texas Employment Commission new building has already gone up within a few feet of it.

But the Senate, in a resolution

Special Stamp For Soil Conservation On Sale August 27

Persons wanting "first day" covers containing the world's first soil conservation stamp should send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Rapid City, South Dakota, within the next few days. H. Giesecke Jr., chairman of the Runnels Soil Conservation District said this week.

The four cent, three-color postage stamp in the commemorative series goes on sale in Rapid City Aug. 26 at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

The stamp will go on sale in local post offices August 27, the day following its issuance at Rapid City.

Giesecke said that this stamp was developed in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It portrays a modern farm-land setting signifying that conservation farming brings beauty as well as bounty to rural living.

The issuance of the stamp is a tribute to farmers and ranchers, their local soil conservation districts, and to the professional conservationists and other agricultural workers who have helped make the United States a world leader in soil conservation.

This is the black and white reproduction of the four-cent soil conservation stamp which will be for sale at the local post offices on Aug. 27.

sponsored by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, has asked TEC to study the possibility of putting the church to some use, such as a nondenominational chapel, before deciding to level it.

Penalties up to $200 and court costs can be assessed against operators of dual-wheeled vehicles without protective "mud flaps" after Aug. 9. Previously the law had required use of the mud flaps only when the pavement was wet. Now they must be used at all times. . . . Beginning Oct. 14, parents' consent and a three-day wait will be required between the application for a marriage license and the wedding if the groom is under 21 or the bride under 18. Changes in the law to slow down quickie weddings were voted by the Legislature in its recent called session. . . . Salk vaccine still hasn't put an end to all polio in Texas. Total cases in the state this year had climbed to 231 as of July 25, the State Health Department reported.

The stamp portrays a modern conservation farm, according to Woodrow Hoffman of the local Soil Conservation Service. Grasses in the rolling pasture, foreground, prevent soil erosion and conserve moisture. Grazing is regulated to favor growth of the best forage grasses. A farm pond, lower left, provides water for domestic and livestock use, for fire protection, for wildlife and for recreation such as fishing, swimming and boating. Contour strip-cropping and rotation systems left and right center, include grasses and cultivated crops in alternating bands. The grassed strips catch and hold soil that may move out of cultivated strips during rainstorms and they increase moisture insoak.

Trees and shrubs control erosion, provide a home for wildlife and protect the farmstead from the hot winds of summer and the cold winds of winter.

Conservation farming, as shown by the stamp, gives assurance of a plentiful supply of food and other

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR† Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

USDA Announces 1950 Conservation Reserve Program

Texas farmers will receive a basic rate of $12 an acre under announced plans for the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank for the 1960 crop season by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A tentative goal of 452,000 additional acres was also announced for the State.

Principal changes listed for the 1960 Conservation Reserve in the USDA announcement include regulations relating to publicly owned land, tenure of ownership, method of setting payment rates and the determination of priorities when more applications are received than can be accepted.

Land owned by a state, county, town or local government will be ineligible for the program. This rule is already in effect on federally owned land. Land which has a changed ownership (except thru inheritance) since December 31, 1956 is ineligible to enter the program in 1960.

If land under a 1960 Conservation Reserve contract is sold, the contract generally may be assumed by the purchaser only after it has been in effect for three years.

The priority system of accepting applications has been modified to assure consideration to farmers who were unable to participate in the 1959 program because of lack of funds.

Detailed information as to the application of these and other changes to individual farm situations will not be available in county ASC offices until mid-August, stated the USDA announcement.

This will be the fifth year of the Conservation Reserve program. If farmers contract for the expected 5 million additional acres in 1960, the total acreage in the program next year will be approximately 28 million.

Little Bluestem Grass Good Water User

Woodrow Hoffman, of the local Soil Conservation Service, reports that choice grasses, like the little bluestem plant in the picture above, are efficient users of water.

It takes about 600 pounds of water to produce one pound of dry grass like this, while it takes about 1800 pounds or three times as much water to produce one pound of dry forage from mesquite grass.

Texas Poultrymen To Meet In Dallas

The 36th annual meeting of the Texas Poultry improvement Association will be held in Dallas, August 18-20 at the Baker Hotel. Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, says the program has been planned to give those attending information needed to keep the Texas poultry industry moving forward.

President W.H. Schwedler, National Turkey Federation, Portland, Oregon, will discuss "Making Turkey Opportunities Today and in the Future" on the opening session of the meeting. Opening the Wednesday morning session, General Manager M.J. Framberger, American Dairy Association, Chicago, Illinois, will give the poultrymen a "Blueprint for Sales Success" and Thursday morning President Ray E. Parmenter, American Poultry and Hatchery Federation, Franklin, Massachusetts, will speak on "Factories...Industrial vs. Poultry."

Other speakers will include Drs. L.C. Grumbles, head, Department of Veterinary Microbiology, Texas A & M College and Dr. W. F. Kruger, John E. Quisenberry and J. R. Crouch, of A & M's Poultry Science Department.

A panel on Thursday morning will tackle, says Wormeli, some of the problems of broiler marketing. Panel members will be C.D. Hawks, general manager, Arkansas Poultry Federation, Little Rock; Arnold Sembera, meat supply manager, Dallas Division of Safeway; F.Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service; Alvin East, L. East Produce Company, Austin and Joe Fechtel, Western Hatcheries, Dallas.

Each afternoon, from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m., Ross C. Shannon of Ross C. Shannon Associates, St. Louis, Missouri, will conduct sessions on "Sales Management Counsel." The training is a follow-up on the very popular seminar offered at last year's meeting, said Wormeli.

The only glassware we seem to break at my place is a product of Steuben, not the five-and-dime kind.

Wool Producers To Vote In September

Sheep producers will have the opportunity to vote in September in a nation-wide referendum on the question of continuing to finance a market development program for wool and lambs, says A. B. Wooten, extension economist.

The program of advertising, promotion and related activities is carried out under an agreement with the American Sheep Producers Council. It is financed by deductions from wool incentive payments earned by growers under the national wool program.

The agreement has been in effect since the 1955 marketing year and if approved in the September referendum, will be continued for another three years. Favorable vote of producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum is required for approval.

Under the new agreement, deductions may not exceed the rates that have been in effect under the original agreement of one cent per pound for shorn wool and five cents per hundredweight for lambs.

To make it as easy as possible for all growers to participate, the referendum will extend over the entire month of September. Ballots will be mailed to producers from the county ASC office before Sept. 1 and may be voted and returned through Sept. 30.

The referendum relates only to the wool and lamb market development program. It will not affect the continuation of the payment program under the three-year extension of the wool act last summer.

Stubble Provides Protection From Erosion Losses

Stubble and other crop residues give valuable protection against wind and water erosion when left on the surface of the soil, says James Glynn, technician with the local Soil Conservation Service. Past experience has taught us important lessons, Glynn said. We know that burning crop residues is one of the worst mistakes we can make. And too much tillage wears out the residues, and therefore should be held to a minimum.

The use of chisels and sweeps in seedbed preparation and weed control are methods which destroy the least amount of residues. This type of tillage operation keeps the residues on the soil surface where it is needed. Management of residues in this manner will develop a soil condition that will take in moisture faster and keep it longer.

Glynn stated that most soils in the district require a minimum of 1500 pounds of residues per acre, on row plantings, to provide adequate protection through the critical wind erosion period.

Now that we've had a taste of it, winter doesn't seem all we thought it was—last summer.
